RESUME INVESTIGATION OF MISSOURI "DIPLOMA" MILL

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 21.(P)-

HARTFORD. Conn., Nov. 21.69—With a score of witnesses, including several physicians, under summons to appear a grand jury today resumed investigation of the Missouri "diploma mill" which enabled physicians to be licensed in Connecticut without sufficient training.

Interest centered about the possibility of the return to the state of Dr. George E. Sutcliffe, a former practicing physician of Unionville, this state, who has been notified by a message sept to his last known address in Albany, N. X., to appear before the grand jury or be subjected to extradition proceedings.

He is wanted to explain the circumstances of the death in his office May 22 last of Albert Hoody, an ex-service man of Unionville, while undergoing an operation for a crushed finger. Testimony given to the grand jury yesterday by Hoody's mother and L. E. Cook, a fellow workman, indicated that death was administered by him under Dr. Subsliffe's direction by pouring the contents of several cans into gause held over Hoody's mouth and nose.

Dr. James A. Christian, former secretary of the Connecticut Electric Medical Society, who was dropped from the position at a recent meeting of the society, is among the witnesses summoned to appear today.

Gas Meters Their use and Reliability

After natural gas has passed through the transmission lines at high pressure and entered the service lines, the next device it encounters is the meter.

Gas meters have been little changed in fifty years. They consist of a bellows-shaped contrivance containing a certain amount of gas. When the bellows are expanded, that amount is registered. By means of a counting device, the registry is made first in feet, then in hundreds of feet, and then in thousands.

Gas meters are more reliable han watches. They do not vary in ordinary use enough to be perceptible. When they do get out of order, which is unusual, by far the greater percentage runs slow, or registers less gas than is used.

Nothing but gas can get into a meter. It cannot record unless the gas actually passes through.

Up to the meter, the gas company is responsible for your gas supply. Beyond ity is yours. You can read the meter that responsibilyour own meter easily. Thus you can always keep a check on your use of gas.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Sarmslage and Candied Feel

Orange or grapefruit marmalade is delicious with toast for tea or breakfast.

If a dish of stewed prunes has been the breakfast fruit, a bit of marmalade with the toast and corfee adds just the necessary touch to the mea.

While many people object to the bitterness of marmalades, of citrus fruits this very tang makes a stimulant for faded appetities. Home-made marmalade can be made just a bitter as one desires it.

Candied orange peel is a sweet-meat ensity made at home and a delightful change from candy. A plate of orange peeling will be quite as acceptable on one corner of the bridge table as the usual dish of bom-bons.

No English tea is ever complete without its marmalade and the English people like it with a "tang." One recipe calls for "bitter," oranges to mix with the sweet, But the bitterness is controlled by the number of times the skins are parboiled.

A rather sour orange should be nosen. Lemons may be added if a mowhat tart marmalade is desired, mons do not add to the hitterness the marmalade.

California Murmalada One dozen navel orangez, sugar Cut oranges in halves and scoop out the pulp. Put peels in a large kettle, cover with cold water and bring to the boiling point. Drain from water and return to kettle. Addholling water to more than cover and slumer until tender. It will take about two hours. Drain and let cool. Scrape out the white inside with a strong spoon, leaving only the yellow outside. Cut into narrow strips. Combine peeling and pulp and weigh. Use three-fourths as and weigh. One three-routina as much sugar as orange. Put pulp and straws in preserving kettle and bring-to the boiling point. Bift in sugar and boil until thick and clear It will take about one and one-half hours. Turn into jelly glasses and cover with parafin when cold. The pulp is removed from the skins with a strong tas or orange spoot, leaving the membrane in the skins.

Will Appeal to Regulars

All this doesn't really matter to Johnson's new backers. The true theory of Johnson's present candidacy is not to appeal primarily to the progressives, but to the regular Republicans. The heart of the Johnson candidacy for the Republican nomination will be to prove to the regular party leaders that Coolidge cannot win in the subsequent election. In that program, Coolidge will be minimized, criticized, made the object of satire and every other variety of political attack. tries. Some of these entries will be progressive, who resent Johnson's attempted usurpation of the progressive field. Some others will be regular Republicans who would be glad to get the nomination themselves, but, next to themselves, prefer Coolidge. They will run largely as favorite sons in their several states. If it turns out that it is inexpedient to nominate Coolidge, they will contend among themselves for the honor. But if at the time for the honor. But if at the time of the convention Coolidge stands well with the country, they will throw their strength to him. The outcome depends largely on whether the progressive candidates as a group, or the regular candidates as

The objective of the Johnson managers will be to be able to say to the regular party leaders on the day the convention opens: "We have preved that Coolidge cannot will—therefore take our man." They will claim that Johnson is the best choice because he can carry at least some of the progressive and radical vote as against a Democrat like McAdoo, while at the same time Johnson is entirely "safe", from the standpoint of the regulars. As one Johnson adherent expressed it: "Ten years ago, the regular Republicans group have control of the conven-Pinchet Certain Entry, One of the most certain early entries will be Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania. A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

See that some render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good, both mong yourselves, and to all men-

Never let a man imagine that he can pursue a good end by evil means, without sinning against his own soul. The evil effect on him-self is certain.—Southey.

MR. MELLON RAISES AN ISSUE

Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, is quiet, conservative, dignified man, but he threw a bomb into political circles last week when he came out with a statement recommending a tax reduction of over $300,000,000-a reduction in income tax pay ments whose benefits would fall largely to those who pay tax on incomes of less than $10,000.

Mr. Mellon in his statement showed that the povernment could be run on less revenue and sugrested a definite plan of tax reduction.

His suggestion can hardly be welcomed by leaders in his own party for it will place them in an mbarrassing position if they fall to bring about the eduction suggested, and it can be guessed that they nded to vote appropriations as usual and talk about tax reductions in the future as usual. Anyway they must want to take credit for the reductions themselves, and here comes quiet Andy Mellon who has no political aspirations and who apparently his party or any member of it and suggests some thing that all the skill of politicians can't get away

Mr. Mellon has tossed the big issue of the cam paign right into the camp before the political chiefs had the material gathered to smother it. It is, in deed, one of life's embarrassing moments for them.

IN THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS

In a statement from the bench soon after his appointment Judge William H. Atwell, United States district judge announced that in the northern district of Texas, it would be unhealthy to violate the Volstead sct. It may be said that without undue harshness

Judge Atwell is making his warning effective. There are still violations of the law but they are by no means as frequent or as general as they once were, and there is being developed throughout the district a more wholesome respect for the federal liquor law along with other federal statutes. Seeing the progress that is being made, more and more citisens of this district are coming to believe that the prohibition laws can and will be enforced as well, at least, as other laws.

POPULAR EDUCATION AND FREE GOVERN MENT.

Popular education is necessary for the preservation of those conditions of freedom, political and social, which are indispensable to free individual development. And, in the second place, no instrumentality less universal in its power and authority than government can secure popular education. Without popular education, moreover, no government which rests upon popular action can long endure The people must be schooled in the knowledge and, if possible, in the virtues upon which the maintenance and success of free institutions dependy No free government can last in health if it lose hold of the traditions of its history, and in the public schools these traditions may be and should be sedulously preserved, carefully replanted in the thought and

Supporters of William G. McAdoe have won the first skirmish in the fight for the Democratic nomination for president. The occasion of the skirmish was the convention of Minnehaha county, South Dakota, Democrats to select candidates for the state convention to be held next month. This county yields approximately nine per cent of the Democratic vote in South Dakota. Supporters of Henry Ford and of McAdoo contested for the county delegation. The McAdoo supporters chose their delegates by

The action of the Minnehaha county Democrat may not have any great alguificance. Their convention, so far as reported, is the opening skirmish in what promises to be one of the most interesting contests in national politics for a number of years.

All of us strive to win the confidence of our felowmen. It is invaluable, for our own satisfaction and as a requisite for making good. To Charley it came naturally. People trusted him by Instinct. A great lesson in personality—the force that is born Personality is invisible, cannot be weighed. It is the real self.

Old-timers say that 20 million dollars in passed through the hands of Charley Mahoney. In 1904 he was holding $600,060 of bets, but was dangerously ill at home. No one worried, for they knew money with Charley was "all right." At midnight, election results were known. A cab drew ap at the curb./ Two men helped Charley out and into the cafe when he paid off. The exposure and excitement nearly killed him.

Men who are chronically late at keeping appoint ments, men who are not altogether reliable about meeting their obligations, reflect!

Charley Mahoney, outstanding figure of a period that was crowded with picturesque characters, was said to be worth half a million when he retired in 1910. He died in poverty and the explanation along Broadway is, "he had too many friends."

He left this bit of advice to gamblers: "Always bet with the idea that you are likely to lose, and if you can't afford to lose don't bet."

ACHIEVEMENT.

Buckle in, buckle in, buckle in to the task! For the commonplace duties and easy don't ask, Be glad it's your fortune to carry a load, To turn from the highways and blase a new road Be glad life has asked you great courage to bring To some difficult thing!

What man has done there are many to do, But the feat unaccomplished remains for the few. The problems unsolved and the mountains unscaled Will yet be achieved spite of all who have failed, And he will be great who'll tenaclously cling To some difficult thing.

Don't envy the idler who dances life through, Be glad life has called you some service to do. Rejoice in your burden, hold tast through the doubt, Pride will be your's when the problem's worked out Tread the long road of achievement and cling To some difficult thing.

When you buy a machine the manufacturers usually give with it a reasonable number of essential tools for repair and a book of instructions as to the care of 1t.

If you follow these instructions and take care of your investment, you get the maximum benefits from your expenditure.

I have been thinking of myself in this way. that applies to me applies to all of my kind.

When we are placed in the world we also are given a set of tools—a mind, a heart, hands, feet, and organs of marvelous efficiency. And as we learn a little about life we learn much about ourselves. We can take this equipment and put it to its highest use, or we can just pay no attention to it. The latter, of course, means that in the and we are going to deteriorate and that this fine equipment of surs will become as useless as rusted tools,

You have yourself. That is the great fact. Then you have your wonderful equipment. That is another great fact. Then what you make of yourself in the world is the answer to yourself and the equipment that came with you.

I said to Theophilus Sizughter, "You certainly give me a pain; you ask for the hand of my daughter, Jemima Jerusalem Jane. And yet, if reports can be trusted, you haven't she price of a hat; men say that you always are busted, and bankrupt and stony and flat. My daughter is used to the splendors that only the opulent share, and you couldn't buy her suspenders, or combs for her evergreen hair. Men say that your credit is sickly, and when you buy goods in the store, you dig up the kopecks or quickly the clerks head you off at the door. And how could my daughter endure it? Her credit's as good as a queen's; the coins of her father assure it, and she's never asked for the beans. My daughter with horror would shiver, if faced by a plebelan stew; and she would be lucky if liver and ontons were furnished by you. The accuracy of Mr. Craig's criticism is not discussed. EVEN CHANGE IF PLAYERS RECOVER

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 21.—"If we can get Captain Lane Tynes, Tackle Mortimer Sprague and End Nap Newell back into the lineup for the Thankagiving day football game with A. and M., the Longhorns will have a fifty-fifty chance of win-ning," stated E. J. "Doc" Stewart, the University of Texas coach, the University of Texas coach.

During the past few weeks the Longhorns have been playing without the services of three of their star players. Captain Tynes was injured in the early part of the Southwestern game. He was unable to play against Rice, Baylor and the Oklahoma Booners. Coach
Stewart had to remove his star end.

At the beginning of the year football critics predicted that the Longhorna would lose the Vanderbilt. Baylor, Oklahoma and A. and M. games. Coach Stewart has turned out a team that so far has not met defeat. If his team can win from the Aggies Thanksgiving, the year of 1923 will go down into the records as the most successful football season in the history of the Longhorns. Ten days later the haralded Longhorns failed to defeat A. and M. on Kyle field. Last year the Aggies had a poor season while the Longhorns made a remarkable record until the Thanksgiving game. Then the Farmers trounced the Longhorns, 14 to 7, en Clark Field in Austin. Comparative scores mean nothing in predicting the outcome of football games.

Behind closed gates the Longhorns are practicing this week for the final and most important game of the season. Coach Stewart and his assistants are giving their all to the champion.
