the palm for stories and, better than the palm, he always holds his crowd.

He can tell stories that will make men sit up until 2 o'clock in the morning to listen and when he has finished he leaves the impression that he has merely torn a page or two out of the preface of a long book which might contain his autobiography since he came to Texas. The charm of Jones' stories lies in the fact that he tells only his own experiences. Most traveling men, if they attempted to tell merely their own experience, would recite only yarns about grouchy customers, and hard luck tales of bad hotels. But Jones came to Texas in 1868. For twelve years he was a cowboy and slept for the most part of that time under a buffalo robe and the wagon and instead of experiences on slow trains he can tell hair-raising

CO. DELEGATES MEET

Business Sessions of Convention Being Held at the Labor Temple

That the Farmers' Union contemplates entering into industrial manufactures is shown in the proposed business plan for the Tarrant county orranization referred to the various local unions from the meeting held Dec. 6, upon which delegates are expected to gun in Fort Worth Friday morning. Section 2, article 6, of the proposed form of government, as sent out to the various locals by F. V. Evans of this city on behalf of the committee, is "The association will enter industrial pursuits as early as its capital will permit, and will undertake to turn the raw material from the earth into the finished products for use, and will buy or build and operate cotton gins, oil mills, elevators, warehouses, flour mills, packing houses, factories, etc., for that purpose. All workers in same to be shareholders, thereby preventing strikes and lockouts." The organization as outlined is to be divided into three departmentsfinancial, commercial and industrial, Scope and Object

The scope and object of the union is declared to be "to supply the economic needs of its members; to buy, sell or produce any of the products of labor; to buy or cell, build or operate any of the means necessary to production or distribution which may now be owned or operated by an individual or private corporation; to negotiate and guarantee loans to its members upon gilt-edge security."

Co-Operative Plan As an industrial organization the union is to be co-operative and shares will be sold and held by members only, no member being allowed to hold more than four shares for himself. Four additional shares can be held in the same family for a member of the family over 16 years of age. This distributes the power equally among the shareholders of the union. Members may also transfer their shares upon payment of a transfer fee of 10 cents per share to any person not prohibited by their constitution from holding them upon consent of the board of

SAYS HE MARRIED MRS. CHAS. YERKES

San Franciscan Tells Reporters Wife Is Shy

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 2.-Wilson Mizner, the young San Franciscan who says that on Tuesday he married Mrs. Charles T. Yerkes at her home at 846 Fifth avenue, returned to the Hotel Astor at midnight last night after several hours' absence and said genially to the reporters: "I have just paid a visit to Mrs. Mizner at her home, 846 Fifth avenue. We had a long talk and canvassed the situation thoroughly. I tried to persuade her to see you newspaper men at least once and settle the whole business. She would not do it tonight, but may give out a statement tomorrow. I expect her to, anyway. News Came Too Soon

"Now, as a matter of face, the reason Mrs. Yerkes denied she is married to me was that the news came not through any fault of my own. She did not expect that the marriage would be announced for a good while and when she woke up Wednesday morning and found that the newspapers were full of it she was pretty angry. She was so angry that she denied the whole thing, and after she once put herself on record, so to speak, she did not want to face about. You see, Mrs. Yerkes rather believes that it is not anybody's business but her own what she does, and perhaps she is inclined to resent inquiries. The whole matter will be adjusted within a short time. "I am going to stay right here in New York, which is the place for me just now, I imagine. I certainly have no reason to conceal anything, although I would not have said anything about the marriage if the news had not leaked out and if it had not been put up to me so strong that I had to

CONSPIRACY NOT SHOWN Plea of Railroad Man and Broker Upon

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 2 .- The Burlington road freight traffic manager, George H. Cosgrove, and a freight broker, George L. Thomas, in replying to the indictments returned against them in the federal court, filed motions to quash the entire proceedings. The Burlington has been indicted on seven counts. It made seven answers, all of them identical in text, and demurring on the grounds that the allegations contained in the criminal suit brought against the railroad was insufficient. In the instance of Thomas, have had a deal on with the Burlington, his clerk, Taggart, and Cosgrove, the Burlington's freight manager, motions to quash were also filed.

After demurring on the grounds of insufficiency of the allegations, of no reasonable certainty and "because the Indictment charges no offense against the United States for treason, the alleged conspiracy became merged in complex offenses, which are alleged to have been the object of alleged conspiracy," the demurrer reads: "Because the objects of the alleged concert were offenses of offering, granting, receiving and giving rebates, concessions and discriminations, which offenses in themselves required concert and participation of a plurality of agents, and the said indictment shows no concert or combination of persons other than Backhouse seemed to have been drinking more than was good for him, and the men played practical jokes on him until he closed the saloon. As he left the jokers Backhouse called out: "Well, boys, it will be different to-at 11 cents, sold ten minutes after-Mrs. L. S. Orcutt of Cleveland, Ohio, has filed suit in the district court of this county against the Pullman Company, seeking to recover $1,950 damages. This suit is based on the charge that one sleeping car state room was sold to two different parties, which caused Mrs. Orcutt to remain in Fort Worth a day longer than she intended. The petition in the case alleges that one week before the 3d of January, 1906, the plaintiff, knowing that she was going to Los Angeles, Cal., purchased a sleeping car ticket from the Texas and Pacific passenger agent in this city, which entitled her to a certain state room on a certain train to be run between Fort Worth and Los Angeles on Jan. 3; that when said train reached Fort Worth from the east she was refused the use of said stateroom for the reason that it had been sold to another passenger at Dallas, who then occupied it; that because of this and not being able to secure another state room, she was unable to proceed to Los Angeles until a nearest blacksmith shops. We could sun shining on the fans of an oldwe had only about two gallons of water in our keg.

"We decided to camp, eat supper, and wait for morning before planning what we should do. We had a supper of antelope steak, drank a little of our water, the horses were forced to do without, and then lay down to sleep as best we could. "In the morning when we woke, the first thing we noticed was that our horses were gone. They had either been stolen or half-crazed from lack of water had run off.

"We suspected that they had been tolen, and taking our revolvers and oridles, started out to see if we could trail them. The two Wyatts went in one direction, while I took another. Soon I found the horses' trail, but there were tracks of five horses instead of three, which was all we had. "I went back to where we had left the wagon and soon the other boys loined me. I told them what I had found and we decided that one should stay and guard the wagon while the other two went after the horses and the men we thought had stolen them. We tramped for several miles and finally we spied five horses in a litthe canyon. We didn't know whether the thieves were there or not, and we debated some time whether we should advance or retreat. Finally I said, 'We might as well go on. If we stay without our horses we'll die from thirst and starvation. If the thieves shoot us we won't be any worse off.' "So we went ahead and found the five horses together, but no men were near. Two stray horses, also crazy for water had joined our three during the night, and had led them off in Search of a well. They were all so weak we could not ride them; we didn't have our saddles anyway, so we started to lead our own horses and let the others follow, taking the direction in which we supposed the new well in Johnson's run was situated.

Walked All Day

"All day we tramped without anything to eat or drink. We were so weak we could hardly stagger along, and the horses were little better. Our throats became so dry neither of us could speak above a whisper. mouths were open and we could not close them. We had pretty nearly reached the end of our endurance and still no water was in sight.

"Just about sundown I suggested to my companion that we might shoot my saddle horse, which we were leading, and drink enough blood to sustain us over night at least. He agreed, but we decided to tramp on until at least

I was treated by many different doctors and they gave me many different medicines, and I even spent seven years in exile from my home, thinking change of scene might do me good. You may judge of the gravity of my condition when I tell you I was sometimes compelled to use morphine for

I can eat absolutely anything I wish, without stomach distress. I am a business woman and can walk my two or three miles a day and feel better for doing so. Court of Appeals Dismisses Appeal of Concern

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 2 .- The dismissal of the appeal by the court of civil appeals yesterday in the case of the Fidelity Funding Company of San Francisco et al. vs. Sam Hirschfeld, from Travis county, means a victory for the appellee, Hirschfeld, and the intervenors in this case. This is the company, it will be remembered, which operated in Texas about a year ago and proposed to pay investors in its certificates a profit of 50 per cent on the amount invested. This appeared to be such a "good thing" that the company did a thriving business in Texas, but, some time later, before most of the certificates had matured, the company was thrown in the hands of a receiver. On the application of Hirschfeld, Joe Koen of Austin was appointed receiver. The trial court denied the appeal of the funding company to vacate the appointment of a receiver and the case resulted in a victory for the certificate holders. The funding company appealed to the court of civil appeals and that tribunal, as stated above, dismissed the appeal vesterday, which makes the judgment of the trial court stand. The court of civil appeals dismissed the appeal on the ground that an appeal from an order appointing a receiver must be perfected within twenty days from the entry of such order, which was not done in this case. MAN BURNED TO DEATH

STATE NEARING A CASH BASIS

$65,363.86 Is Increase in Tax Collections

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 2.-Although there was an increase of $65,363.86 in the amount of tax collections received by the comptroller during January. being December collections, over that of January 1905, it is not believed that the state will be on a cash basis until the latter part of this month or the first of March. The total amount received from taxes in January, 1906, for December collection by the co was $497,787.94, against $432,424.08 for the same month in 1905, making an increase for January, 1906, of $65,363.86. This increase is not considered great when it is taken into consideration that the ad valorem tax rate has been Increased from 16 2-3 cents to 20 cents on the $100 valuation, and there has been beside quite an amount collected from the new revenue bills passed by the last legislature, which is included in the amount of collections. The deficit in the state treasury at present is, in round numbers, $1,100,-000, which, it is expected, will be wiped out this month, as the collections for February, which are January payments of taxes, will amount to probably $1 .-350,000. The total collections for last February, 1905, were $1,168,819.20, when the tax rate was lower and none of the tax producing measures, such as the Kennedy and Love bills, were in existence.

San Antonio Traction Company Accepts Half Fares from Ghildren

Special to The Telegram, SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 2 .- The San Antonio Traction Company has issued instructions to its conductors to accept 3 cents in payment of the fare of one child under the age of 12, and 5 cents in payment of the fares of two children under that age. A number of persons, knowing this was the law, proffered these amounts and they were accepted by the conductors. The matter of issuing tickets for the other half fare, when 5 cents is given for one child, is being considered by the officers of the company and their egal advisers, but no conclusion has been reached. The decision of the company to put the half-fare rule into effect in the case of children under 2 years followed the reception of the lecision of the supreme court of the United States by the company's attorney. This decision was in the case involving half fares for school children, but it covers the law relative to children under 12 years.

TELEGRAM'S 20-PAGE DAILY BEATS FT. WORTH RECORDS

Biggest Regular Week-day murder case, which will be called for trial in the Seventeenth district court Edition Ever Printed by Local Newspaper

The first day of the shortest month in the year marked a new era for The Telegram, in so far as a week-day paper is concerned. Yesterday's paper contained twenty pages of news matter and advertising, and was only one of the six week day and one Sunday papers delivered to the homes of Fort Worth for 10c per week. It is not often an appreciative public demonstrates its approval of the efforts of a newspaper in a city the size of Fort Worth to make it necessary to run twenty pages on a week day, but it did yesterday, and even with this number of pages there was left out many columns of matter that would have made up more pages had time permitted.

January brought to The Telegram another big increase in the daily average circulation. The net paid circulation during the past three months has

January, 1906 11,156 Advertising

The Telegram yesterday printed 447 more inches of reading matter and 1381/2 inches of advertising than any other Fort Worth paper. If you want the news first and all the time subscribe for The Telegram. The Telegram accepts advertising on a positive guarantee that its circulation in Fort Worth exceeds any other paper. Circulation books, records, or any other information at the office are open to the inspection of advertisers at any time.

FATHER FILES SUIT

W. H. Womack Asks $1,950 Damages from Swift & Co.

W. H. Womack, father of I. S. Womack, the boy who brought suit Thursday by his next friend against Swift & Co. for $1,950 damages, has also filed a suit against Swift & Co. for the same amount on account of the same matter. Young Womack, who, the petion alleges, is only 16 years of age, was an employe at the Swift & Co. packing house and was put to work boring holes in barrels, a work, the petition alleges, he knew nothing about and for which he was unfitted, and that on account of his inexperience he was so injured that he will be unable to work hereafter as he could work had he not been put by Swift & Co. at the work that injured him.

Claims Reversed

Word has been received in this city of the action of the United States circuit court of appeals at New Orleans in the case of the Bank of America vs. J. W. Coffee and others, an action tried in the United States circuit court here in 1900, by which the decision in the lower court is changed and first right in mortgages of cattle involved declared to be in the National Bank of Commerce of Kansas City. Second claim is given the Bank of America of New York. Tom Wagoner and R. C. Houssels were given judgment in the original suit, involving about $7,500.

Judgment Upheld

Attorney George E. Miller has been advised that the United States circuit court of appeals at New Orleans has rendered a decision in the case of J. E. Henderson Jr. and P. L. Henderson vs. the Missouri Pacific railway, affirming the judgment of the lower court. The case was tried in the United States circuit court at Dallas in December. The plaintiffs claimed $2,-175.85 damages to cattle and were awarded judgment for the full amount.

LANGUAGE LESSON

Professor Prewett Charges High Rate

For Instruction Judge Prewett assessed an exceptionally heavy fine Friday morning on a charge of abusive language. This fine, one of $15, was assessed against Joe Burns. The abusive language complained of was declared to have been addressed to Officer D. E. Loyd who arrested Burns on the charge of disturbing the peace.

J. M. Carrington, fined $1 on a charge of being drunk. His comments in the court caused this fine to be changed to $3 instead. The cases against Frank De Beque, charged with violating the ordinance relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors at places where theatrical or dramatic entertainments are given is set for Saturday. The case against Dave Houghton, who has a similar

Grover Cleveland's Address Is Received With Enthusiasm

Special to The Telegram. ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 2 .- At the celebration in honor of the 100th anniversary of the Medical society of the state of New York, former President Grover Cleveland was one of the speakers. Mr. Cleveland received an ovation when he was introduced. His speech did not touch upon any question of great political importance, but was largely a witty discussion of the relations of doctors with their patients. "For the purpose of our argument," said he, "let us divide humanity in two sections-one composed of a few doctors and the other embracing the many millions of their actuar or prospective

"Owing to this changeable climate and unseasonable weather, there has been a good deal of sickness in Fort Worth during the past few weeks, said our leading druggist, Mr. R. A. Anderson, "and we want to say to the people of Fort Worth that the one thing to aid recovery after sickness is to give the patient a blood-building and strength-restoring tonic, one that will create an appetite and give strength to every organ in the body." "Now," continued Mr. Anderson, "from an intimate knowledge of almost every medicine on the market, we do not believe there is another remedy in the country equal to our delicious cod liver oil preparation, Vinol, for

"Vinol is not a patent medicine, as everything in it is named on the back label of every bottle; it contains every one of the body-building, medicinal elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but without a drop of the system clogging oil to upset the stomach and retard its work "It acts directly on the stomach, tones up the digestive organs, creates a healthy appetite, makes pure, rich, red blood, healthy flesh and muscle tissue, and creates strength for every organ in the body.

613 Main Street. ONLY ONE GIRL TO WEAR TIGHTS

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Feb. 2.- Who could believe that Newark, N. J., is so modest that in its quarter of a million population only one woman could be found who was willing to wear tights? She's married and 40 years old. The discovery of Newark's shrinking propriety was made by Henrietta Crosman,'s business manager. In preparing for the Newark engagement of "As You Like It" Miss Crosman's manager explained the need of extra people to the manager of the theater, and went into a description of what would be required. Among other details it was set forth that a certain number of young women would be dressed as boys, in the costume of foresters of those times. This meant dark brown fleshings. There the matter rested until the house manager was asked, 'How about the extra people; are they all right?"

For Over 60 Years

"I can get as many as you want."

was the reply, "but only one of them will wear tights. There's one married woman who is willing to wear

'em, but none of the others will."

So Miss Crosman's business manager had to engage girls from New York.

Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years underherdirection, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge. Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great. Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill. don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pink-ham. Lynn Mass., for special advice. When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

Actor-Adventurer

SYNOPSIS Agar Hume, a young, impoverished actor, takes employment as valet to Sir William Dagmar, who is member of a secret society of consumptives. Serving a banquet at one of the regular monthly meetings of the club, Brown, as Sir William has decided to call his valet, tells his master, in answer to a question, that he cannot understand French. The conversation being in French, Brown learns that the society sustains a hospital where, later, disguised as Sir William, he sees a wonderful surgical operated performed in which the blood of an ape is substituted for that of a man. The operation being the nineteenth and a failure. one of the members of the society present kills himself. He is tortured and refuses to tell where the treasure secured by his blackmail, secured by masquerading as Sir William, is concealed, saying that Marion has the money and jewels. he denies and shouts "Torture him, torture him! That's all I have to say!" Marion rescues Brown from Venner and takes him away, where, in the belief that he is dying, he causes his treasure to be brought to him.

(Continued From Yesterday.) Sir Charles shrugged his shoulders and cocked his revolver. "We must quit Paris, or die in the attempt," he replied. "Mr. Hume, if you wish to live, you will be silent. Fulton, look out of the windows again." Dr. Fulton obeyed. "I can no longer see any one." he reported. Sir Charles suppressed a curse. "They must be on the steps, perhaps entering," he muttered. "Ah, Beudant! Thank heaven! Bind him, Beudant. The negro passed a rope around my arms and in a trice I was secured. A bell began to tinkle in a distant portion of the house. Sir Charles Venner started at the sound, and paused for a moment, intently listening. The bell rang again. Sir Charles threw a cloak across his shoulders and tiptoed "Hola! within there," cried a raucous voice in French. "All right!" shouted Sir Charles. 'We'll be with you in a moment!

I smiled grimly. Some passing policeman, observing the street door open, had rung the door bell in order to inform the household of its carelessness. Sir Charles Venner, however, believed that one of my agents had called out to his confreres, wno had already entered. A moment later

Vernet and Fulton reappeared, dressed though for a journey. Obeying the guidance of a heavy hand that gripped my shoulder, I marched from the room and began to climb the staircase towards the third story. The whole house was now wrapped in impenetrable darkness. A match was cautiously struck, and we entered a small, unfurnished room, the door of which was locked behind us. the middle of this apartment was der that communicated with the roof. Beudant climbed it with the agility of a monkey and raised a traj in the skylight, through which we all passed in quick succession. Before the muzzle of Sir Charles Venner's revolver I crossed the slightly sloping roof of lead, and stepped over a kneehigh parapet of stone. Thence we traversed the tops of three other houses. A moment later we were standing in a long, low-ceiled chamterrible blow on my skull deprived me consciousness. When I awoke I thought at first I must have died in my sleep and have been thrust into hell. Every fiber of my being was racked with pain. Darkness encompassed me. I tried to cry out, but could not utter a sound. An iron wedge had been driven into my mouth. My limbs were bound, and I was tightly enclosed, in a doubled-. up position, in a square box. I discovered these details slowly, one by one, and gradually awoke to the fact that I was still alive. It occurred to me at last that I was being borne along upon cart. I began at length to dream, and I ceased to be able to distinguish between sleeping and waking or even to feel much pain. I awoke to find myself lying fully dressed, but free, upon a bed of down in a cool and pleasant room. A comfortable lounge chair stood near the bed. I saw also a heavy mahogany clothes press that was furnished with mirror-backed doors. So totally unprepared was I to encounter so gentle an experience that I rubbed my eyes to make sure that I was not still dreaming. The exercise obliged me to discover that my limbs were frightfully stiff and cramped. By dint of a good. deal of exertion. I climbed from the bed and essayed to rise, when the door opened and Sir Charles Venner stood before me. "Good morning, Mr. Hume," said he,

Some skin diseases are active in Summer, while others wait until cold weather to manifest themselves. Winter Eczema sleeps in the system through the long hot months, and gives no sign of its presence; but at the coming of Winter the trouble asserts itself and it becomes one of the most painful and distressing of all skin diseases. The blood is filled with poisonous acids which seem to be excited by the cold; and as these are thrown off through the pores and glands, the skin cracks and bleeds, the flesh becomes hot and feverish and the itching intense. The natural oils which keep the skin soft and pliant are dried up by the cold, bleak winds, causing it to become hard and dry, giving it that shiny, leathery appearance, characteristic of the disease. The head, face, hands and feet are the usual points of attack, though other parts of the body may be affected. So painful and distressing is the trouble that the sufferer constantly "doctors" and treats it trying to get relief. Soothing washes, medicated ointments and salves are used, but aside from giving temporary relief they do no good. The cause is poisonous acids in and most desperate man. I glanced the blood, and these must be removed before a cure can be effected. The only cure for Winter Eczema is S. S., the greatest of all blood purifiers. It cleanses the entire blood supply of the acrid poisons and sends a fresh, healthy stream to the diseased skin, healing and softening it and cur-ing the painful, itching eruptions. S. S. S. enters the blood and purifies it of all waste and PURELY VEGETABLE. foreign matter, and cures Winter Eczema—or Tetter as it is sometimes called—safely as well as surely; besides it does not contain any harmful mineral to derange or lamage any part of the system. the service. The St. Petersburg woman postman of today drives to the door of the lucky recipient of correspondence in her carriage or automobile, and often a page or footman carries the parcels into the houses. At the postoffice fair hands, manicured and bejeweled, are engaged in sorting mail. The air of the office, once stale with tobacco, is now Latand it is whispered in quarters where jealousy dwells that there is more tea drinking than work performed. Among the "postmen" are Mile. Postkorsa, the famous opera singer: the Princess Ourosoff, the Countess Mordvinoff and Mlles. Labunskava, Papayan and Polakova, three popular ac-

"Are you!" I muttered stupidly. I was overcome with surprise at his curious change of manner. He helped me, dumb with astonishment, out of the room and along a passage into a fine old dining hall. Seated at table there were Dr. Fulton, Dr. Venner and Marion Le Mar, now Lady Dagmar. At the sight of the beautiful woman whom I had so passionately loved I cried out loudly, and stood still. Her face was pale. She was attired in deep mourning, and her eyes were resolutely downcast. Sir Charles Venner uttered a low, cynical little laugh. "Marion!" gasped, looking at her straight and

Very slowly she raised her eyes, and returned my glance with a look of cold I thought her a thief and a traitress, and yet my eyes fell before her gaze. Beudant entered the room. "The grave is dug, master," he announced. I looked at Sir Charles. He was biting his under lip and curiously regarding me. "Whose?" I demanded

"This is some ghastly joke!" I cried. Marion glanced up and smiled. "Say cynical, monsieur," she murmured quietly. "My good friend, Sir Charles Venner, persists in believing that we love each other you and I in spite of the fact that scarcely a month ago I deserted you in order to marry Sir William Dagmar.' "On his death bed, madame!" cut in

Sir Charles in tones of ice. "You forget that you are now a rich young widow." "Well, sir?"

"And that you have steadily refused o account to me for his money, which should have been placed, long ere this, it the disposal of our order." "Sir William Dagnar bound me with an oath as he lay dying--

"You have told me that story before," interrupted Sir Charles. Marion shrugged her shoulders, and put into her mouth a morsel of bread. "Go on! someone," I cried impatient-"See! I am utterly in your power. Why not enlighten me?"

Beudant placed beside my plate a up of coffee. Sir Charles coughed behind his hand. "We will see," he rejoined. "You have a nerve, I know, but keep on eating while I talk-if you can! I nodded. Sir Charles laughed. "Jussieu is here," he said, "and we know now that you have no connection with the police. We were fools indeed to allow you to frighten us away from the Rue D'Engheim.' "Do you intend to kill me?" "Yes"

"When?" "After breakfast."

"In broad daylight?" I asked, much

"Ah! Mr. Hume." he replied, "I read your mind. But this chateau is placed in a wood and is distant seven miles from the nearest human habitation.' "Then I have not long to live?" "As one measures time."

"You have," she replied. "Can you forgive me?" I asked hoarsely "It is late to make amends."

"They will not kill you. Marion?" I asked in English. "Surely they are jesting. "Yes-and no," she said. "Last night they forced me to make a will leaving them my money. They tortured me." "How?" I gasped. "They dragged me to the room where you lay bound and senseless. If I had refused to obey they would have cut you into pieces before my eyes." "My God!" I cried. "And that broke your will. But I would have deserved it all for doubting you." "Not quite," she answered, and she smiled in exceeding sadness. "Marion, dear Marion," I whispered, "you love me still."

She looked up at me and her eyes filled with tears. "How could you treat me so?" she muttered

I felt the blood rush of a sudden through my veins, singing a veritable poem of joy and triumph. We were both about to die, but Marion loved me, and by that knowledge I was transformed on instant from a weak, half-broken creature into a life-loving quietly about me.

GROUND HOG SEES SHADOW

Six More Weeks of Winter Is Indicated

The winter is here to stay. At least such was the decree of Master Ground Hog upon turning over from his winter sleep this morning and discovering the sun gazing down upon him and causing such a shadow that will take him six weeks to summon courage for venturing forth for the bright summer weather that he so well enjoys. Ground Hog day is the day for the observation of a popular custom throughout the entire country. There is probably hardly a person in the country who does not look to see whether there will be six more weeks of winter because of the fact that the sun is shining today. If perchance it is cloudy people have become so used

LODGE MAKES CHANGE U. B. A. to Install Officers at Opening of New Hall

The meeting night of Fort Worth odge No. 1, U. B. A., has been changed from Thursday night to the second and fourth Monday nights of the month. The next meeting of the lodge will be a public one for the installation of officers and will be held in the new meeting place at 106 Houston street. The change in the date of the meeting caused the installation of the local odge officers by the supreme officers to be postponed from Thursday night until a week from Monday, the next regular meeting. At the open meeting there will be a program of music, short addresses and luncheon.

The following officers will be installed: President, J. C. Scott; past president, J. G. Watkins; vice president, M. S. Smith; secretary and treasurer, M. T. Pankey; trustees, W. R. Booth, C. C. McAnnally and N. B. Moore; chaplain, Mrs. Stella Booth; conductor, W. H. Granger.

STOMACH ON THE BRAIN

What if a Man Gain the Whole World, and Lose His Appetite?

The man with a well-behaved stomach never thinks about it? He eats what he likes and likes what he eats. He knows he'll enjoy it, because he knows he has a stomach that will easily digest it. All things look good to him; he will sit close to the table, and with a merry twinkle in his eye and a world-peace expression, he will "start" on the delicious meal before

But the man with the bad, brashy, gurgly stomach is the man who is always thinking about it. He can seldom eat what he most likes, and seldom likes what he eats. His stomach worries him before meals, after meals and between meals. It is on his brain. It robs him of his cheer and interferes with his daily work. Around him is a dark spirit which presses itself forward in his thoughts, crying: "I am agony, I am disgust, I am nausea. I am sickness, languor, worry. I am conceived in quick lunches and pappy food, and nourished by gulpy meals. I rob brains of their force and bodies of their life. I steal away nerve and vim. I bring heart disease and apoplexy. I make the world a pit of weariness and darkness. I am woe, I am death. I am dyspepsia. But yet, I bring also hope, light and future health, because by my gloomy presence I give you warning and a chance to escape me.' This is a bad dream, but it is the daily dream of the dyspeptic. If it were not for the white we couldn't tell the black. If it were not for dyspepsia, we couldn't know the joy, the happiness of a well-ordered digestion. All the world looks bright to a man of good health, and good health is impossible without a good, hardy stomach. And any sick or weak stomach can be made a good, strong one by just taking something which will digest your food for you, instea! of letting your tired stomach do it. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the most effective little tablets in the world for this very thing. If you feel bloated after eating, or you have nausea, aversion to food, brash, irritation, sour stomach, heartburn or dyspepsia, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will stop it because one grain of an ingredient of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of food. Your stomach is overworked. Let it take a rest. You're not yourself when you have a bad stomach. These tablets will do the work that the stomach has to do and make you feel bright, think clearly and give you ambition and power to concentrate your attention on your work. You'll feel good. You should always have a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on your dining table. They will make you get all the good possible out of everything TICKETS NOW ON SALE. | you eat, and you'll enjoy it.

Suit Against City

The suit filed by Mrs. J. C. Hill et al against the city of North Fort Worth, seeking to recover $15,000 damages on account of the death of William L. Hill, son of Mrs. J. C. Hill, as contained in The Telegram of Thursday, is a sequel to the alleged bad condition of Fourteenth street at the time young Hill received injuries that resulted in his death.

The petition cites that on Nov. 22, 1905, W. M. Hill, son of plaintiff, Mrs. J. C. Hill, in the pursuit of his regular business, was driving a wagon and team along Fourteenth street, and that on account of the bad condition of that thoroughfare he was jolted from his seat, falling over the front end of the wagon in front of the wheels of the vehicle, which passed over his body, causing such serious injuries as to cause death in a short that W. L. Hill was the main support of the plaintiff's, and that he earned the time of receiving fatal injuries $1,000 per year, and that in the natural course of life he could have been expected to have continued to earn $1,-000 per year for fifteen years; wherefore plaintiffs ask that the city be adjudged to pay $15,000, it being alleged that the city was responsible for W. M. Hill's death, by falling to keep Fourteenth street in good and safe repair as was its duty to do. A large amount of street repair work has been recently made in North Fort Worth, while plans for the macadamizing of Main street from end to end have been completed.

TICKETS IN DEMAND

Sale in Interest of New Car Line to Be Started

An active canvas will be started the first of next week by residents of the south side interested in the new street car line as proposed by the Rosen Heights Street Car Company for the subscriptions for tickets. A large number of citizens living in the neighborhood of the proposed line have already promised to take from $50 to $100 worth of tickets.

A regular subscription list will be handled by several of the residents of the streets along the proposed line, in which each subscriber will be asked to pledge his amount of tickets according as he wishes.

It is expected that quite a large sum will be raised for the new line by this means. Sam Rosen has stated that if the residents of the south side are in earnest about the matter and will subscribe a sufficient sum he will gladly build the line.

The people of the south side are advocating two different routes for the line proposed. One is to have the line go out with the double track, as given in The Telegram the other day and then come back within a few blocks on a narrow loop. The second route is for a loop that will be much broader and which will serve really as a cross-town line. The adherents of the narrow loop state that the time consumed in crossing town would be too great, especially for those who wish to get to town.

BARKLEY WILL BE POSTMASTER

The tempest in a teapot that was stirred up by the announcement that the confirmation of Lon Barkley as postmaster of Fort Worth would be held up pending the investigation of charges that had been filed against him, has entirely subsided. The nature of the charges preferred have not been made public, but the instrument has been withdrawn, and the nomination has been confirmed.

About the only thing that can be successfully alleged against Lon Barkley is that he is a consistent Republican, and judging from the true and staunch friends he has among the leading Democrats of this city, he must be a very decent sort of a Republican. He has long been prominent in the councils of his party, and has always been a loyal and progressive citizen of Fort Worth since he first cast his lot among our people, and knowing the man so well, The Telegram does not hesitate to say that the Republican party of Texas would only be the better if it had more men like Lon Barkley in it.

Of course, we would all be glad to see a true and tried Democrat occupy the position of postmaster of Fort Worth. But this is not Democratic year, when it comes to the matter of federal patronage, and Democrats can only console themselves with the realization that the office has fallen in competent and deserving Postmaster Barkley announces that the services of Assistant McKee will be retained under the new administration, and his action in the premises will meet with general approval. Assistant Postmaster McKee has proven himself a most careful, efficient and painstaking officer.

MATTER OF STREET IMPROVEMENT

The campaign inaugurated the beginning of the new year by the most progressive citizens of Fort Worth for better streets and sidewalks still goes bravely on, and promises to lead to some very satisfactory results. The joint meeting of the committee from the Factory Club and Board of Trade held Tuesday evening unanimously indorsed the suggestion of Mayor Powell that the sum of $10,000 be appropriated by the city to provide street crossings where sidewalks have been provided. Inasmuch as the finance committee of the city council is doubtful of its ability to meet the suggested appropriation of $10,000, it has been decided to modify the situation by requesting the council at its next meeting to appropriate the sum of $2,500 per annum to provide crossings where citizens have done the proper thing in shaping up the sidewalks, and it is believed the request will be promptly complied with.

The action on the part of the city will doubtless serve as a very considerable stimulus in inducing every progressive citizen to do his plain duty in the matter of complying with the requirements of the law which make good sidewalks mandatory on the part of all property owners. If citizens will not only comply with the law themselves but endeavor to induce their neighbors to do so, Fort Worth will soon be known from one end of the state to the other as the city that boasts the best sidewalks in all Texas. And this is a matter that should not only appeal to the pride of Fort Worth people, but it should be very properly regarded as an absolute necessity. No property in Fort Worth can afford to be relegated to the list of run down realty where people care nothing for appearances or conveniences. There is no property in Fort Worth that would not be materially enhanced in value by the building of good sidewalks in its front, and property owners can truly regard money so expended in the light of an investment. The Telegram is heartily in sympathy with this movement for better streets and sidewalks in all Fort Worth, and hopes to see the good work go on until every portion of the growing and prosperous city is trimmed up and provided with just what is needed in the premises. It is a matter in which every property owner is deeply and vitally interested. Let the good work go on and on.

JUDGE BROOKS SHOULD RESIGN

The Times-Herald was the first paper in Texas to suggest to Judge Brooks and Commissioner Colquitt the propriety of resigning their positions in order to conduct their respective campaigns for the gubernatorial office.

The Dallas News, The Fort Worth Telegram and other papers agreed with the Times-Herald and presented some additional reasons to those suggested by this paper for these gentlemen to resign their present positions.

Now comes Judge Brooks and says that he has no Editorial Rooms-Phones 676 idea of giving up the place he holds. "The old idea," says Judge Brooks, "that judges should be wrapped in from the people, has long since been repudiated in this Practical, progressive country. Here, when not discharging the judicial functions of this office, a judge is expected to mix and mingle with the people and ment, and is permitted to take an active interest therein." There can be no reasonable objection to a man on the bench mixing and mingling with the people; in fact, we rather think such a practice is to be encouraged. But the framers of this government thought proper to divorce the judiciary from the other departments of government; in truth, made it the final arbiter in all matters of dispute. Here we have that rigid separation which Judge Brooks affects to despise.

Possibly and quite probably Judge Brooks is sufficiently strong not to be influenced in his decisions by political considerations. But all men on the bench are not built four square; they might swerve a little from some special interest or particular fashion, hoping that has any edge on Texas. thereby to win support for the political office being so persistently pursued.

For the sake of his weaker brethren, Judge Brooks should hand in his resignation to Governor Lanham .-Waco Times-Herald.

The suggestion of Judge Brooks as to what the people expect a judge to do may be the proper conception of the situation, but the trouble is that it does not go far enough. The people may be willing and anxious for the judiciary to mix and mintle with the common herd and take an interest in the wellfare of the masses, but not in the manner that is being practiced by the learned jurist. He is not expected to do this mixing for the selfish purpose of building up his political fences at the expense of the people. He is not expected to take the time the people are paying for upon the bench and devote it to an effort to convince these same people that he constitutes the very best gubernatorial timber that can be found in all the state of Texas.

There is no objection to any judge in the state mixing and mingling with the people when there is no ax to be ground, and when there is time from official duties to permit of such action. But we have been told that the demand upon the higher courts from the pressure of official business is so great that only a few years ago a whole lot of new courts had to be created in order to relieve the congestion. And today we see the head of one of these self same courts finding plenty of time to make a campaign for governor of Texas, and claiming that such campaign will not seriously interfere with the duties of his official position. Either the learned jurist is mistaken, or the people who begged for the new courts on the ground that they were a crying necessity. Those new courts were either not a necessity or sentiment has changed and congestion does not hurt like it did before the new courts were

There is no question but that the usefulness of Judge Brooks on the bench of this state is already seriously impaired by reason of his political ambition. Whether justly or not, the idea prevails among many people that he is the candidate of a certain element in this state, and that his candidacy for the governorship was brought about through his decisions and general friendliness for this special interest. Those who know Judge Brooks well do not entertain such views, for they are confident all his decisions are predicated upon his construction of the law. But those who do not know him and appreciate his probity of character indulge in the belief that he has been making a whole lot of grandstand plays in the interest of his personal political preferment, and entertaining those views, they will never have the confidence in him again that should rest in a man who occupies so exalted judicial position.

The people of Texas are willing that Judge Brooks should take an interest in all things pertaining to the political situation in this state, and none would deny him the privilege of becoming a candidate for any office in the state that his heart covets. His resignation would place him in a more enviable position.

A COMPARISON New York was shrouded yesterday in a fog as dense as a sensational speech on the Philippine tariff.-New York Herald.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Chicago Record-Herald thinks that the readiness of the Republicans in congress to accept Democratic suggestions and amendments to the rate bill and so report a measure that will represent legislation irrespective of party affiliations "cannot but be regarded as impressive proof of good faith on both sides and, at the same time, as a striking recognition of the strength and universality of the demand for effective and honest rate legislation." It goes on to say:

Now contrast the action of the house committee with the action-or inaction, rather- of the senate committee on interstate commerce. The do-nothing policy of that body has not failed to attract the notice of even neutral correspondents and observers. It was originally instructed to report a rate bill within ten days of the meeting of the Fifty-ninth congress. It has not reported one yet; it has no intention of reporting one in the near future. It is holding meetings, "informally" discussing the Foraker bill, the Newlands (freak) bill, the Elkins bill, the Morgan bill and every other bill purporting to deal with the rate problem, and we are assured that no senator on the committee knows what any one of his solemn colleagues thinks or how he feels about the matter. The American people will note the contrast. They are not likely to make any mistake regarding it. * * * *

We are likely, unless changes take place, the Boston Herald thinks, to enter on the severest tariff war in the next few months that this country has ever known, following the imposition of a 25 per cent additional duty When the lazy man has anything to do he hates to to present tariff rates for use against Germany. The

> The Republican leaders at Washington are playing a desperate game. Of course, if they can succeed in forcing Germany to back down they will have accomplished their immediate purpose, though this back down can hardly fail to be attended by hard feeling on the part of the Germans. On the other hand—and this to our mind is the more likely-Germany may not back down, and in that event, we shall have a serious political defeat for the Republican party. Why the Republican leaders should foolishly assume risks of this kind, it is difficult to say. They had much better leave the matter alone if they do not intend to handle it properly. It would be just as easy to take 20 per cent from the present duty rates and thus form a minimum tariff as to add 25 per cent to these. The former operation would indeed constitute a horizontal reduction, which is said to be in opposition to Republican tariff policy; but it is equally in opposition to such policy to make a horisontal advance, and this advance will be made unless the Germans are bluffed into

A. J. Rosenfield Rises to Find Clothes Gone

When A. J. Rosenfield of 2000 Lipscomb street retired about 9 o'clock Thursday night he hung his trousers on the head of his bed, placed his vest on a table and the remainder of his garments in another place in his sleeping room. When he was awakened by a fire alarm whistle at 3:30 o'clock Friday morning, he found his clothing in a wheel-barrow in the back yard. Fourteen dollars which was in his trouser pocket and the watch which was in his vest were missing. In speaking of the affair to a Telegram representative Friday morning Mr. Rosenfield said: "I heard the alarm and got up to investigate. The first thing I missed was my trousers. I knew exactly where I had put them and they were not there. Then I looked around for the rest of my clothes and I found that they were all gone. Of course I had other clothing in my wardrobe and did not have to come down in my night clothes. I was interested in the fire and also in looking up my missing garments so I donned an old suit of clothes and went out in the back yard to look around. The first thing that caught my eye was my clothes piled up in the wheel-

"I am thanking my stars, however," said Mr. Rosenfield, "that I did not get my check cashed yesterday afternoon. I received a check for $96 Thursday afternoon but it was after banking hours so I did not get it cashed. This check was in my pocket but the burglar did not take it, evidently being afraid that he could not cash it and that it would lead to his detection. My watch only cost $3.50. Some time ago I lost a valuable watch and since that time I have made a custom of buying cheap watches, which would keep the time. It was one of these watches that the burglar secured and I am not worrying much

"My daughter lelephoned for the police as soon as he burglary was discovered, though I told her it was no use, because we did not know how long the burglar had been gone before I awoke. He might have gotten in any time between 9 o'clock and 3:30

Same Method of Entry

The method of gaining access to the house was the same as that employed in getting into the house of Mrs. Rector at 610 Missouri avenue, Thursday night, except that it was not necessary for the burglar to break the screen door. The house was entered through a screen door at the back and this gave the burglar access to all parts of the house. After entering the house the burgiar took the precaution to turn the night latch on the front door, also so that he could get out either way. The front door could not be opened from the outside.

Mr. Rosenfield called at the police station Friday morning and gave the officers all the information he could relative to the affair in the hope that they might be able to apprehend the burglar. There are no clues, how-

The frequent burglaries which have been reported here, many of which have been reported exclusively in The Telegram, have caused the people to become thoroughly alarmed and has done much good. There were several calls received Thursday night from various parts of the city where prowlers were discovered, and the police believe that there have been many other houses tried, where the entrance could not be effected because the people had read The Telegram reports and had taken precautions to lock their doors and windows carefully.

Officers Busy The mounted police officers were kept busy answering calls and their horses had hard service. When a report comes in the mounted officers run for their horses and they speed their horses to their limit because every minute counts in burglary cases. Sev-

Untold Suffering and Constant Misery-Awful Sight From that Dreadful Complaint, Infantile Eczema - Commenced at Top of his Head and Covered Entire Body.

MOTHER PRAISES CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Our baby had that dreadful com-plaint, Infantile Eczema, which afflicted him for several months, commencing at the top of his head, and at last covering his whole body. His sufferings were untold and constant misery, in fact, there was nothing we would not have done to have given him relief. The family doctor seemed to be wholly incapable of coping with the case, and after various experiments of his, which resulted in no benefit to the child, we sent to Lazon, Ill., to a druggist and got a full set of the Cuticura Remedies and applied as per directions, and he began to improve immediately, and in about three or four days began to show a brighter spirit and really laughed, for the first time in a year. In about ninety days he was fully recovered, with the exception of a rough skin, which is gradually disappearing, and eventually will be replaced by a healthy one. "Praise for the Cuticura Remedies has always been our greatest pleasure, and there is nothing too good that we could say in their favor, for they cer-tainly saved our baby's life, for he was the most awful sight that I ever beheld, prior to the treatment of the Cuticural Remedies. The thermometers in Washington and Oregon at 7 o'clock Friday morning ranged from 30 to 50 degrees above

Fair weather seems to be bound to Fort Worth as the forecast for tomorrow is still the same. Statement of conditions as given out at the weather bureau is:

"The country is generally under high barometer influence, causing clear cool weather in all sections except in the extreme southwest, the upper Mississippi, and the upper Missouri, where low barometer conditions prevail, causing rain in eastern Washington, snow in Minnesota and New York state. A low barometer area central over the Carolinas is causing high winds in Georgia and Illinois. "Colder conditions prevail in the northeast quarter of the country, zero temperatures prevailing along the south border of the lakes. The 30 degree isotherm extends as far south as Little Rock and Amarillo."

MAY JOIN ASSOCIATION Organization of Golf Links Would Include Fort Worth

No members of the Country Club attended the meeting of the golf professionals which is being held in Houston. It was expected that a large number of the enthusiasts from here would go down to see the professionals play as they form perhaps the best aggregation of golfers that has ever played in Texas.

A meeting will also be held at Houston for the organization of a state association. The fact that there will be no one there from this city does not mean that the Fort Worth club will not be included in the state association if one is formed. It is still possible, however, that some one of the members will go to Houston tonight for the meeting which will be held Saturday and also for the purpose of witnessing the play for the prizes offered by the Houston club.

H. M. Govan, the professional in charge of the Fort Worth club, who at first intended to make the trip, cannot play, as he has an injured foot.

TRICE TO STAY WITH I. & G. N.

Has Declined Good Iron Mountain Offer

Leroy Trice, vice president and general manager of the International and Great Northern railroad, arrived in Fort Worth Thursday night and left Friday morning for a further trip over the line. Mr. Trice was here on a tour of inspection, which he is making for the purpose of finding out what is necessary to be done in the way of improvement to put the road in a thoroughly first-class condition.

Construction trains are now scattered all over the line of the International and Great Northern, ballasting the tracks and making improvements in the roadbed. No extensions are being made at present, but the company proposés to put the lines already built in better condition than they have ever been before.

The most important item of general news which leaked out during Mr. Trice's visit here is the fact that he is not to leave the International and Great Northern. Palestine reports have had it for some time that he was to leave and as that point is the headquarters of the system in Texas, they were generally accepted. Mr. Trice has been remaining silent. There was something in the wind, but it has developed that Mr. Trice has decided not to make the change. It is stated. however, that he was offered the position of general manager of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern railroad and has declined to accept it. Mr. Trice is well known all over Texas and it has long been known that he was looked upon favorably by the Goulds, but he already occupies an important place and one which he prefers to the advancement which has n offered him.

Those in the International and Great Northern party were: Leroy Trice, vice president and general manager; A. Bowers, superintendent of bridges and buildings; C. J. Larimer, superintendent of the Forth Worth division, and C. J. Rogan, general roadmaster of the Fort Worth division. The party left here on a special train at 8 o'clock Friday morning.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Sam Houston, was in Fort Worth Thursday morning en route to west Texas. Mr. Houston was for years in the railway mail service, his run being in and out of Fort Worth. While he was at the Texas and Pacific passenger station old habits led him into the transfer room, where all the mail boys that pass through the big station make their headquarters. He was known to all the employes there and between him and them a running talk of old times was kept up. In appearance Mr. Houston is almost a double of his illustrious father.

R. E. Dodson of Houston was in Fort Worth Thursday and said to a Telegram man that he would in future make his home in this city. "Houston is a good town," said Mr. Dodson, "but I regard Fort Worth as the coming great city of the state. The railroads are here, you have the packing houses and there is no better country in Texas than that which surrounds Fort Worth. I have for some time been contemplating a change from Houston and have determined to come to Fort Worth."

Record The annual reports of ticket sales made by the International and Great Northern at Fort Worth show that the receipts during the past year have exceeded those of the preceding year by exactly $177 more than 100 per cent, or in other words that the sale for 1905 were $177 more than double the sales of 1904. D. J. Byars, the city passenger agent, says that he attributes the increase largely to the volume of tourists who have gone from Fort Worth to Mexico during the year, but the volume of local business has also made favorable showing.

Special to The Telegram. market was quiet, with the general list inclined to weakness during the first hour of trading. Tennessee Coal and Iron and Amalgamated Copper were exceptions. The first named issue performed some more of the acrobatic feats for which it has been famous in the past. Opening figures were 11/4 points above yesterday's finals, and a series of rapid advances carried the price to 165, or a net gain of 8 points. A. C. P. advanced 1% points, but did not touch yesterday's high mark. Londan reported a firm market for Americans. The volume of business was hardly up to the usual standard and there was more or less liquidation throughout the general list, with the result that the market developed an irregular tone before midday. Union Pacific was the most active among the rails. Although there was considerable liquidation noted in this issue, it was well absorbed and there was also buying of a good character, especially in the afternoon, and the price held firm at a fractional advance. The general list weakened in the afternoon trading. Tennessee Coal and Iron, after the initial spurt of activity, quieted down and lost about 4 points of the early gain. Amalgamated Copper probably attracted the greatest share of attention throughout the session, and with the exception of temporary periods of depression, inclined toward a higher level. The best price of the day was reached in the final trading, with the stock selling at 116%. The general

FORTUNE FOUND IN OLD MANSION

Woman's Death Reveals Long Suspected Insanity

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 2.-More than $250,000 worth of goods bought in four years of shopping in New York, piled unused in rooms close by and halls, and nearly filling a four-story brown stone mansion in Brooklyn, lay for nineteen years unheeded.

Laces were heaped upon calico, furs on cotton, the daintiest of linens and silks were stored with common household garments, $500 gowns from the most fashionable of dressmakers were laid on cheap mother hubbards, solid silver and cheap plate, the most fragile of China sets were mixed with ironware, crystal and cut glass with common glassware-all cost in piles reaching as high as the ceilings, stuffed in closets and lying on the stairs.

House of Mystery

This was the result of a search of the "House of Mystery," No. 178 State street, Brooklyn. It tells of the mania of Mrs. Mary Cook King, who died two weeks ago in a flushing sanilarium, and it explains what became of part of the $500,000 estate left to her by her husband twenty years ago. The search was conducted by J. P. Squibb, executor of Mrs. King's es-

There were no children born to the Kings and when Mrs. King came out of mourning two years after her husband's death it was found she had developed an accentricity of character bordering on insanity. She discharged all her servants; she had the windows and doors of her home iron-barred and she refused to receive visitors. She grew worse, and at the end of four years, about 1889, it was thought best to send her to a sanitarium. At the time she was promised that no other should enter her home until after her

Refused to Tell

When the court appointed a committee for her estate, it was impossible to find more than $25,000 in a bank and she refused to tell what had become of the rest. There was then no Taken Up thought of searching the house. Mrs. King died two weeks ago and by her will, Mr. Squibbs was the executor. When the legal formalities were concluded, he began a hunt for the missing securities and on Thursday of last week he turned the key in the rusty lock and entered the house. The astonishing discovery was then made.

Wheat Market Scalping Affair-Clcsing Prices Slightly Changed-Corn Firm-Provisions Strong

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 2.—Wheat prices were affected by the poorer tone of the foreign market and the absence of demand locally for the cash article. The opening was at a decline of 1/4c to 1/2c. During the initial trading the market was dull and fluctuations were narrow. The May option before midday sold at a net loss of %c. It was mostly a scalping market for small profits, and when the shorts began to realize a better tone developed and prices worked back in the afternoon. The final figures were the best of the day and from a shade under to a shade above those of yesterday.

Corn was quiet but firm. Closing prices were %c to 4c higher. Oats

Oats was steady. There was a fair demand for the cash article and closing prices for futures were from a shade to 'sc higher. Provisions Provisions were active and in good demand by packers. Prices were strong. The feature of the trading was the buying of pork for both May and July delivery. At the close prices were at the best of the day, showing a net gain of 25c for pork, 81/2c for lard and

James B. Gray Makes New Figures at

The record for the Country Club links was broken Wednesday afternoon by James B. Gray, who went around the nine-hole course in bogey figures of forty-two strokes. The previous amateur record for the course was forty-five, which was held jointly by James B. Gray and W. T. Humble. The next best score of forty-six has been made by I. H. Burney.

The record made by Mr. Gray gives him one that is several strokes better than his nearest opponent. The record was made while playing in a match with W. T. Humble, president of the Country Club. This is the first time that the bogey figures for the course have been equaled by an amateur. The bogey record of the link is a hard one to make, as the course is naturally rough and a bad lie is likely to occur at any time, which will spoil the score. The fences about the greens will also spoil a good stroke now and

Prices Only Slightly Affected by Census Estimate-Close Is Steady. Spots Are Higher

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 .- After the controversy which has arisen among the trade as to the amount of cotton to be ginned and the influential pressure brought to bear on the census bureau for the purpose of securing the desired information from the hands of the ginners direct, the figures, when given out today, had comparatively little amount was 250,884 bales, and was considered bullish. However, the immediate effect was an advance of only about 10 to 15 points.

In the trading before the issuance of the report the market had shown decided weakness, opening 11 to 12 points higher in response to the extremely favorable course of the foreign market, and breaking rapidly under liquidation and selling pressure 16 to 17 points from the opening figures. After prices had worked up 23 to 24 points from the lowest, longs unloaded a recession from the high point. The close was steady, with prices at a net advance of 7 points. Spots are quiet and 10 points higher, at 11.45c for the middling grade. There were no sales reported. Regarding the bureau figures, Speaker Cannon said that accuracy

New Orleans Cotton Special to The Telegram. NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 2.- The extremely favorable character of the early cables influenced an initial advance on the local market of 3 to 7 points, which, however, was not a full response to the foreign advance.

The bulls were not enthused to any noticeable degree by Liverpool's strength and evidently considered discretion the better part of valor, con-sequently a majority of those who were on the long side unloaded during the initial trading and the market weakened, prices breaking 9 to 13 points before the end of the first hour. The census figures were bullish and checked the declining tendency of the market, sending prices up about $1 per bale from the low point, later, however, realizing and some selling for short account caused a recession from the best of the day and the close was steady with prices only 1 to 2 points Spots were steady and unchanged at | decline. The supply of hogs ran somewhat light today, around 1,500 head. The quality coming fresh was good in the main, with nearly ten cars left over from Thursday. These were lights and thin pigs. Opening bids were fully steady on heavy corn-fed hogs, and when the medium corn-fed hogs were reached, the market bettered a nickel. One packer has kept in the background for the past three days, so that selling has been scarcely on its merits.

Pigs were selling slow, but generally steady with yesterday. Sales of matured hogs:

Agrarian Disorders on Large DRAMATIC SCENE Scale Expected to Occur in the Spring

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 2.-In view of the profound conviction prevailing among the nobility, members of the zemstvos and other classes, which are in direct touch with the peasants, that spring will witness a renewel of the agrarian disorders throughout the country on a more deplorable scale than ever before, the emperor has addressed a plain, outspoken mandate to the peasantry, setting forth the rights of property as sacred, and that the peasants will be violating his will if 5; wethers, $5.25@5.60; yearlings, $5.50 they attempt to enter into possession of private lands. At the same time, his majesty assures the peasants that with the co-operation of the national assembly, he will institute measures for their

The emperor's words were delivered personally to the deputation from the Kursk government, and will be sent broadcast throughout the empire, in the hope of counteracting the widespread belief prevailing among the masses of peasantry, that his majesty has ordered the distribution of all private lands, and that only the land owners and local officials are hampering the execution of his will.

Addresses as "My Brothers"

The emperor on this occasion addressed the Kursk peasants as "my brothers," and talked to them in simple Russian terms, capable of being understood by the most ignorant peas-

He said: "I am most glad to see you. You must know very well that every right of property is sacred to the

"The owner has the came right to his land as you peasants have to yours. Communicate this to your fellows in the villages. In my solicitude for you, I do not forget the peasants, whose needs are dear to me, and I look after them perpetually, as did my late father. The Gosudar Stvennaia Douma (national assembly) will soon assemble, and in co-operating with me will discuss the best measures for your relief. Have confidence in me. I will said that there was a statute in reassist you, but I repeat you must re- gard to lawyers divulging privileged member always that the right of prop- communications from clients and that is holy and inviolable. Apprehensive of Spring

Count Eugene Tobestkoy, who presented the resolutions of the marshals of the nobility to the emperor, in an interview attributed the agrarian troubles to the revolutionary propaganda. He expects excesses in the spring, when the peasants throughout the empire, in preparing to take possession and sow the private lands, become wilder than ever, because they will be unable to agree on a division of the spoils, and will fall to fighting among themselves. The land owners are now practically ruined. A convocation of the national assemble immediately is necessary to enable the government to raise money abroad, set it on its feet and enable it to carry out its plans for wholesale colonization of Siberia, which means an imperative measure for relief.

Gov. Frantz Clears Himself of Charge-Abernathy Is Up

Special to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 2,--John Abernathy, President Roosevelt's wolfchoking friend, recently nominated for marshal of Oklahoma, is here to answer charges made against him which allege undue relations between Abernathy and an ex-bandit in the territory. Governor Frantz accompanies the marshal. The new executive, ever since he cleared himself of the charges preferred against him by Dennis Flynn, has the upper hand in Oklahoma. The way he cleared himself was most dramatic. The accuser and accused were brought face to face in the White House, with results which

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.-Preparations are being made by the district attorneys' office to oppose the motion of Albert T. Patrick for a new trial. Assistant District Attorney Garvan had a conference with Dr. Otto H. Schueltz yesterday to go over the affidavits of physicians who swear that the evidence does not show that William Marsh Rice was chloroformed and that the embalming fluid could have reached the lungs in Rice's body.

The district attorney's office is also looking into the story of Alexander B. Stanbury, who makes the principal affidavit concerning statements alleged to have been made by Charles F. Jones in Texas. Attorney Frederick B. House was :. asked yesterday about the statement of a confession before him. Mr. House

COURT ORDERS GRAVES REMOVED

Editor of Atlanta News Deposed by Georgia Judge

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 2 .- On an order signed by Judge Pendleton of this city, John Temple Graves was last night removed as editor-in-chief of

The grounds on which the order was based were the appearance of several editorial articles recently printed in the News which, in the eves of the judge, violated an injunction prohibiting Mr. Graves from publishing anything in the editorial columns of the paper laudatory of himself in connection with his candidacy for governor of the state of Georgia. This injunction was granted by Judge Pendleton on the application of Chas. Daniel, general manager of the paper, who alleged that the articles written by Mr. Graves and published in the editorial columns of the News were ruinous to the business interests and financial prosperity of the paper. One of the objectionable editorials was headed "The Joys of Neutrality," and dealt with the court's prohibition against Colonel Graves taking a stand in favor of any of the candidates for In another one, "A Newspaper's Functions," the objectionable paragraph appears to have been this: "But there is a clean conscience behind the hand that guides the lines." "ALICE" FOR SALE

Chief Puc-aa-un had been in ill health all winter, and yesterday morning Dr. Yenni was summoned. There was no relief beyond prolonging the old man's life a few hours, and at 4 o'clock the end came. He was surrounded by the leaders of his tribe. The native priest was in attendance, and when death came to the chief the priest announced the sad news. Singing immediately followed and the doleful noise could be heard for several blocks. Dr. Hunt, who has charge of the tribe, gave directions to have the dead chief's body embalmed, as under his agreement with the government he must return the bodies of all dead Igorrotes. A dozen chickens were purchased, their throats cut and warm blood sprinkled over the dead chief's body. As the blood of the chickens fell upon the body the tom-toms kept up a monotonous sound. The gongs are supposed by the Igorrotes to drive evil spirits away from the dead.

Undertaker Lynch then took charge of the body. Men and women followed the body to the gates of the sacred farewell dance, with a big fire. The priest prayed for the successful journey of the body home, and the gong beating was kept up. When the reserves arrived they tried to round up the drunken elephant, but she broke through the cordon and dashed into Lake Albano. For twenty minutes she splashed around in the lake and then came out tamely enough, the cold water seemingly having destroyed the effects of the whisky.

G. A. and C. W. Wright, countrymen, who gave Maude the whisky, were arrested. They said that in taking a drink themselves they spilled some near the elephant. She eagerly licked it up and they continued to ply her with liquor until she had drunk two quarts, all they had.

Colds

A cold is always the result of undue exposure to low temperatures. The rapid cooling of the surface, when not balanced by proper reaction, produces the congestion and inflammation of the nasal and bronchial membranes, commonly called a cold. As the slightest cold predisposes the individual to attacks of the most severe and dangerous character, the necessity for its quick cure need not be emphasized. Take as soon as the first indication of the cold appears and all dangerous results will be avoided. It not only cures a cold quickly but counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. This fact has been fully proven during the epidemics of colds and grip of the past few years. No case of either of these diseases having resulted in pneumonia when this remedy was used, has ever been reported to the manufacturers or come to their notice, which shows conclusively that it is not only the best and quickest cure for a cold, but a certain preventive of that dangerous disease-pneumonia.

There is no danger in giving this remedy to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug. It is pleasant to take.

The excited bride ctasped her hands in despair. The minister was late in arriving. According to the schedule they had arranged, there would be only just time enough to be married, change clothes and drive to the station to catch the train for New Orleans, where they were to spend their honeymoon during the Mardi Gras. And if the train was on time, they would have to make other plans, and that would lose them the reserved section on the train, all because the minister hadn't come.

"Call up the depot, quick!" The agonized mother sprang to the elephone. "Give me the depot, quick!" e exclaimed, while central calmly

It was the custom in former times in Scotland to have a football match on Feb. 2. All the young men took part, the unmarried men against the benedicks, or one parish against another. "Candlemas ball" was looked forward to by all the young men of the village and on one occasion it is reported that one merry party with the cry, "Put out the Candlemas lights," led the ball game down a hill and into the creek. where the game was played in the Candlemas day was celebrated in the Patrick's church this morning at 20 o'clock, in connection with the regular First Friday of the month mass. At the ceremony all the candles which must be of pure bees' wax, to be used during the entire year in the church, were blessed, and also a sunply of candles for the laity. All lay members of the church are supposed to have at least one candle, which has been thus blessed in the home for the purposes of Holy Communion or Extrme Unction if necessary.

Origin of Feast

It is said that the original feast was first instituted to take the place of the old Roman februation, or purification of the people of pagan Rome, but there is no proof of this. The festival was, however, declared in honor of the purification of Our Lady. The lighting of the candles are in honor of the words of Simon, when he took in his arms the infant Christ. proclaiming Him "a light to lighten the Gentiles."

There are many customs in connec tion with the day, one of which is given above. I Catholic England the people believed that the burning of candles at the procession of early mass. brought good fortune, and the best to those whose candles burned the longest; and that if pieces of the burned candles were kept they would keep away evil spirits for the year. Ends Christmas Season

On Candlemas Eve it is the custom some places to remove every bit of Christmas decoration. Another Scotch custom was for all pupils to make presents to their teachers of money, supposedly to buy his candles for the coming year. The boy and girl giving the largest sum, which was supposed to be in accord with his parent's ability, were crowned 'Candlemas King and Queen." The teacher then made a bowl of punch, in Senke, janitor of 269 Broadway, an

two men the Fort Worth Telephone verage is slightly less.

About ten calls come in a day, every day in the year, on the average. Phones are out of order, wires crossed or grounded or broken or cut. And these men mend them with accuracy, quickness and dispatch.

Constantly and energetically the elephone companies are working to throw still farther their outposts of communication. In every direction over rivers and hills and across the brown rolling Texas plains, the thin opper lines are pressing out and away, oringing outlying settlements and villages into instantaneous touch with every great center of population in America. In the city they are constantly at work stringing new wires, changing routes, putting up new conections, renewing old wires.

Every block or so in the business listrict, and every two or three blocks in the residence district, is a pole with a torpedo-like cap on top. That is a center of distribution. Heavy cables of two or three or five hundred wires twisted together run out from the heavy initial cables at the central station, run up to the top of one of these poles, and in the little miniature central within the torpedo can branch out. They are carried on individual smaller cables, or in single wires, into the residences and business houses direct. In some large buildings the heavy cables are carried underground to the middle of the building, and led up through the floor.
