GORKI PREDICTS RUSSIA WILL BE FREE IN A YEAR

Prophecy of Russian Writer Looks Bad for Czar

FIGHT NOT YET HALF OVER

Czar's Advisers Cling to Opinion That Their Master's Will Is as Law

BY ROBERT CROZIER.

Special Cable to The Telegram. ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 3.—"I predict that a year from this time Russia will be as free as is the United States today."

Such was the hopeful prophecy of Maxim Gorki, when I interviewed him today for the Hearst News Service.

Apparently the change has done him no harm. The Gorki I met today, though still in doubtless health, is a very different man from the lean, hollow-cheeked creature arrested by General Trepoof a year ago.

JAPAN TIRED OF GREAT BRITAIN

Land of Mikado Sees Trick Behind Alliance

Special Cable to The Telegram.

TOKIO, Feb. 3.—Japan is heartily tired of her alliance with England. More and more the impression grows that England has simply sought a compact with the new power in the Orient to bolster up her waning power in the east.

"I am strongly opposed to the Anglo-Japanese alliance. The war with Russia was the result of our first alliance with Great Britain, Russia having originally intended of getting into war with us.

"In case of another war between Japan and Russia, England would very soon find a pretext to let us fight alone, but in case of an attack on India she would force us to come to her aid.

"Russia cannot think of attacking us on the sea during the next twenty years and her armies are too far away. But Russia knows that she must do something to regain her lost military prestige.

"The real question before Russia today is whether she herself or the slightest remnant of the old government is to frame the political and social conditions of the future.

"I am very doubtful whether the dooms can meet and be fulfilled. The first difficulty is the holding of elections. How can you hold elections in the midst of our revolutionists?

"No Peace Before Constitution Absolutely. I am convinced that until the enacting of a constitution or a constituent assembly is reached, there will be no peace.

"I am very doubtful whether the dooms can meet and be fulfilled. The first difficulty is the holding of elections.

No Hope of Make-up Appears Possible

CHILDREN ARE WITH HER

Count Is Now "Electioneering" in Southern France—Case Will Proceed

Special to The Telegram. PARIS, Feb. 3.—All hope of reconciliation between La Comtesse Anna Gould de Castellane, the American wife of Count Boni De Castellane, and her nobleman seems doomed.

The countess has instituted legal proceedings for a separation from the count. Count Boni, who first remained in his home, while his wife left to live in the Hotel Bristol, has gone to the De Castellane estate in the south of France.

Boni Liked Another The countess learned that Count Boni was paying attentions to a noted society woman, who is married.

NEVER USED PASSES Gillespie Is Not Moved by Resentment Against Railroads

Special to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3.—Representative Gillespie is keeping in close touch with the work of the interstate commerce commission in preparing information about the alleged Pennsylvania merger asked for in his resolution.

Among the stories that have been circulated here as purporting to give the motive for the introduction of the resolutions which was agreed to Monday was one to the effect that Mr. Gillespie resented the cutting of his passes. He said today that he had never ridden on a pass, but had always paid full fare, not only for himself, but for his family.

R'Y TAX CASES NEARING END

Court of Appeals Is Likely to Render Blanket Decision

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 3.—Judge N. A. Steadman, general attorney of the International and Great Northern railway, on behalf of the railroads, and Assistant Attorney General W. E. Hawkins on behalf of the state, today appeared before the court of civil appeals regarding the order or suggestion made by the court at its last sitting requesting counsel for both sides to file a written agreement on the appeal of the railroad injunction suits, recently submitted.

Judge Hawkins and Attorney Steadman explained that both sides are hard at work preparing briefs in each of sixteen cases brought in behalf of the state for taxes, and that briefs will be filed shortly.

In the other three suits for taxes, the state is appealing and the railroads make cross assignments of error. As no decision has been rendered in the injunction cases and, as appeals in other cases will be submitted in a short time on printed briefs and argument, it is considered probable that the court of civil appeals will decide all cases together and write only one opinion covering the six injunction cases, and the sixteen tax cases.

Either way the cases are decided, they will go to the supreme court, but in the event the railroads lose out, then they will appeal to the United States supreme court. These cases involve over $1,000,000 in taxes, penalties and forfeitures.

In the Event of Divorce Boni Can't Collect

THE INCOME IS TO ANNA

Money From Gould Estate Will Still Belong to Countess and None Other

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Should the Countess De Castellane secure her legal separation from the count, it would cut off the count's income from the Gould funds. The French court cannot compel his American wife to pay him alimony. That is the opinion of former Judge John F. Dillon, chief counsel for the Goulds, which is an authority on corporation and international law.

"All the power of the French courts cannot touch the income of the countess," said Judge Dillon, when asked if he did not think an effort would be made by the count to make his wife pay him alimony. The judge said: "Income paid in America

"Under the terms of her father's will Anna Gould gets an income from her share of her father's estate. That estate is in this country and this is the place where the income is paid. It is paid to her or her legal representative for her or her children and there is no power in the French courts that could divert any part of it to the Count De Castellane."

"Then it begins to look as though the count's source of income would be shut off," was suggested.

"All I know about the suit for separation is what I have read in the papers. Mr. George did not come to his office today, but went to Lakewood. I am merely speaking of the law in the matter in case she wins her suit for separation, which I have no doubt she will, as I don't imagine such a grave step would have been taken without due cause."

It is understood that the Gould family will carry out its original agreement to pay off the count's debts that were contracted prior to the time he was sued by the bank creditors and others, but when it comes to settling up a lot of debts contracted since that time by the count, in direct violation of the agreement with George Gould, that will be a different matter. The Goulds agreed to let $400,000 of the wife's $600,000 a year go to the payment of the count's back debts, leaving the countess only $200,000 a year income in the meantime.

George Not Surprised Before leaving for Lakewood George Gould sent word to the newspaper men that he was aware of the new trouble between the pair, but he did not know sufficient of the details to make any comment, except that he was not surprised.

MOODY TAKES HAND IN PROSECUTING PACKERS

COPS WANT MONEY San Antonio Officers File Claim for Salaries—Over $100,000

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 3.—A claim was filed with the city clerk this afternoon for salaries for the members of the police department under the proceedings of the civil service board, and will be presented to the city council at a meeting Monday.

The claim includes the names of forty-eight policemen, who demand salaries for six months, served from June to November, and also salaries for the remaining eighteen months of their term. The men assert that they were illegally discharged and the salaries aggregate over $100,000.

If the claim is refused a suit will be brought.

KENNEDY TALKS AD VALOREM TAX

Representative Goes Into Detail as to Tax Laws

Special to The Telegram. MART, Texas, Feb. 3.—Representative A. M. Kennedy gave out the following statement today:

"It has not been my purpose or desire to intrude my views upon the public in regard to any pending or proposed legislation relative to the taxing laws enacted by the Twenty-ninth legislature. Having performed my duty to the best of my ability, in assisting in securing their adoption, I was quite content to leave their enforcement and construction to our executive officers and to our courts.

"At the same time I was fully aware of the conditions that unavoidably creep into legislation when it is hotly contested, and I sincerely hoped for an early judicial interpretation of these measures that the succeeding legislature could meet the requirements of the courts with remedial measures.

"But the proposition of the express companies that the so-called Kennedy law be void as to them because the last clause of section 1 provides that the tax herein provided for shall be in lieu of all other taxes now levied upon express companies, and not in addition thereto is to my mind positively absurd. Let us suppose that I hope to make the section void is to show that the legislature meant by the other taxes the ad valorem tax, and the able attorney representing the express companies explains: 'Of course the legislature meant the ad valorem tax is shown by the similar words used in the inventory required to be made by taxpayers on the railroad, telegraph and steamship companies must render their property specifically.

"Was Occupation Tax The law levying an ad valorem tax is a tax levied on all property and not upon specific individuals or companies. The legislature was dealing with a specific tax upon a specific business—an occupation tax—and it was supplanting one tax act with another. It is not a tax levied on all property, but on a specific business."

"The clear intention of the legislature was not to exempt express companies from the ad valorem tax is shown by the similar words of the legislature. On the same day that the Kennedy bill was filed by the governor he also filed an amendatory act enlarging the scope of the inventory required of the ad valorem taxpayer and there was no exemption in it for the express companies.

Express Companies Must Pay "Still later on this same legislature re-enacted the ad valorem tax law and the same word can be found there exempting the express companies from an ad valorem tax. Can it be doubted that had it been the intention of the legislature to have exempted the express companies from the payment of ad valorem taxes that they would have enacted two laws? The first step of the passage of the Kennedy bill that levied an ad valorem tax upon all kinds of property without exempting them? Is it not too unreasonable for serious consideration?"

OUTLOOK GOOD AT ALGICERAS

Moroccan Conference Likely to End Peacefully

(Special Cable, Copyright by Paul Lambeth.) LONDON, Feb. 3.—The outlook for a successful termination of the Algiceras conference is considered very promising in view of the adjustment of the customs difficulty and the practical settlement of the contraband question.

Germany is greatly pleased with the results achieved to date. Although the questions have been satisfactorily adjusted, there is no abatement of activity on the part of Buchanan and his forces on the north coast of Morocco, and there is reason to believe that a cargo of contraband goods is now on its way to him aboard the steamer Zenith, for which French cruisers are on the lookout.

It is believed that some action will be taken by the conference looking to the suppression of this threatening risk.

Attorney General to Spend Several Days in Chicago

CONSULTS WITH ASSISTANTS

Arrival of Chief of the Secret Service Also Regarded as Significant

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Attorney General William H. Moody arrived in Chicago today for the avowed purpose of investigating more closely the trial of the stock yards packers for immunity, and he will attend the hearings Monday and Tuesday and possibly longer, giving District Attorney Morrison the benefit of his advice. The simultaneous arrival of Chief Wilkie, of the secret service bureau, is regarded as significant, although the men declare it is only a coincidence.

Making No Secret "I am making no secret of my reasons for coming to Chicago," said the attorney general. "It is for the express purpose of looking at closer range into the beef case. This case is of most vital importance to the government, and a long conference with District Attorney Morrison is desirable.

"While there is no development which requires my immediate attention, I am anxious to be on the scene to watch the proceedings for the next few days. I feel that the case so far is being handled competently and to the satisfaction of the government. The results of this trial may be potential. Like the development of commerce and labor, the interstate commerce commission looks into railroad rebate matters and the testimony from officials on the railroads. If the packers are granted immunity it may have an important bearing on the rebate case now pending. It might be that if the government loses in this case it would have something on the taking of testimony by the other body."

May Be a Witness During the day the attorney general was in conference much of the time with federal officials who have participated in the case. The governmental reply to the immunity charges was outlined by District Attorney Morrison.

It is said to have been with the approval of his superior. The hearing Monday may be a continuation of the testimony given by J. P. Lyman, of the National Packing Company, who asserts that District Attorney Morrison had used the Garfield report in the grand jury report. Attorney General Moody may be called as a witness for the defense, to testify if any of the information secured from the packers was included in the report.

ing by international action. Great Britain's military organization has been the subject of a great deal of comment during the past week, owing to the criticisms from widely different sources, both carrying great weight.

Russia's struggles at home are witnessed with a great deal of interest, not only by diplomatic circles, but by French and German bankers, who fear repudiation in the event of the radicals coming into power.

Contrary to general belief it is Berlin that has the most to fear from any collapse of Russian securities, because of its mercantile account Russia owes Berlin more than she owes Paris, London and New York combined. This estimate gives full consideration to the recent statement of the Washington bureau of statistics that the balance of Russo-American trade for 1905 was in favor of the United States by $5,900,000.

In stipulations the French financiers make basic to a loan, they revive a disconcerting suggestion. They insist that the new Russian parliament shall give immediate recognition of all Russian external debts. There are not wanting good British judges of the way things are drifting who believe that if the program of the leaders of the League of Nations, which met in Imatra, Finland, the other day and decided to abandon participation in the dooms, were to prove successful, the first step of the constituent assembly for which they are striving would repudiate every ruble of Russian foreign debt.

They might imagine has not been employed for the good of Russia.

RANDELL ANTI-PASS

Texas Congressman Introduces Drastring Bill

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3.—Believing that the only effective way to prevent senators and representatives in congress and judges from receiving passes from railroad and ship companies and franks from express, telegraph and telephone companies is a change of law, Representative Randell of Texas today offered a bill in the house which provides a severe penalty for both the giver and receiver of such "testimonial of friendship."

An senator, representative or judge who receives, transmits or franks, by the terms of the bill, is liable upon conviction, to pay a fine of not less than $1,000 or imprisonment for not less than one year or both, and forever be disqualified from holding office for the government.

MORRILL HAS RESIGNED

President of New Orleans Southern League Steps Down

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—Frederick P. Morrill today resigned the presidency of the New Orleans Southern League Baseball Club after selling his holdings to A. J. Heilmann for a sum said to be close to $30,000. It is believed that Heilmann will be made president of the club. Morrill, who is one of the most prominent sportsmen in the South, gave as his reason for withdrawing from baseball, that other vast business interests would not permit his proper attention to the affairs of the club.

CLAY PREDICTED HIS OWN FUTURE

Georgia Senator Mentioned in College Address

Special to The Telegram. GEORGETOWN, Texas, Feb. 3.—An address by Rev. Dr. George C. Rankin, editor of the Texas Christian Advocate of Dallas, Texas, marked the opening of the spring term of Southwestern University here yesterday.

During the course of the address, which was attended by all the students of the college, girls' annex and fitting school, Dr. Rankin related an interesting circumstance connected with the career of Senator Clay of Georgia. Dr. Rankin attended the same school with Mr. Clay and was selected to coach the future senator for a debate in public, which was one of the absorbing features of college life then, the same as it is today. The debater-to-be had never appeared in public, and was untutored in the ways of speaking in public meetings, especially to college debate judges. After many long and strenuous visits to the woods, Mr. Clay was drilled in his speech and repartee.

"On the evening before the debate," said Dr. Rankin, "we had finished the final practice speech, I asked young Clay what he intended to make of himself in life, and he said he would be a lawyer, a member of the legislature and a member of congress.

FOR LOCK CANAL

Report of Commission is Formally Filed in Office of Secretary Taft. WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3.—The report of the Isthmian canal commission, recording its decision in favor of an eighty-five foot level lock canal, was submitted to Secretary Taft today.

The report is accompanied by a report of the board of engineers, the majority of whom declared for a sea level canal. It will now be for Secretary Taft to express his views on the great project in his indorsement when transmitting the papers to the President.

Board of Mine Workers Doing "Routine" in Secret

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 3.—The national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America went into session behind locked doors today. President Mitchell said nothing but routine matters would be considered. When asked as to the defense fund matter, which was referred to the national board by the national convention, Mitchell said: "It is possible that a statement will be prepared, but none has been prepared as yet."

YOUNG MAN KILLED

Wagon Crushes Body of Youth Near Rock Springs

Special to The Telegram. ROCK SPRINGS, Texas, Feb. 3.—John Simpson, aged 15 years, son of S. P. Simpson, was instantly killed by a heavy freight wagon which he was driving. He was riding one horse and driving four horses. A freighter who was driving in front of him, becoming uneasy about the boy, returned to look for him and found him dead with the second wheel of the wagon standing upon his breast. The wagon had not broken the skin, but had crushed his ribs and breast bone. The accident occurred on the Benkin ranch, eight miles from Rock Springs. The body was brought here for burial.

Attorneys for Colonel Graves presented a petition to the court asking for a modification of the order. It was charged that Colonel Graves' editorial on "The Joys of Neutrality" had overstepped the bounds and that the editorial on "A Story of Journalism in Florida" was as high a compliment as a man could pay himself. Colonel Graves had been enjoined from landing himself in the paper. General Manager Charles Daniel finally consented to the restoration of Colonel Graves on the condition that in addition to keeping out laudatory references to himself he will in future publish no editorial referring to politics in Georgia.

Heart Trouble

The heart itself has no power—no self-control. It is made to beat by a tender nerve so tiny that it is scarcely visible to the naked eye. Yet ten thousand times a day this delicate nerve must assist the heart to expand and contract.

This nerve is only one of the branches of the great sympathetic, or inside, nerve system. Each branch of this system is so closely allied with the others that weakness or irregularity in one point tends to spread. Heart trouble frequently arises from stomach trouble through sympathy, and kidney trouble may also follow. For each of these organs is operated by a branch of this same sympathetic nerve—the inside nerves.

In Heart, Kidney or Stomach troubles, it is but little use to attempt to doctor the organ itself—the most permanent relief lies in restoring the Inside Nerves. Dr. Shoop regards these nerves to be the real cause of such troubles. The remedy—known by physicians and druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative—restores the result of years of endeavor along this very line. It does not dose the organ to deaden the pain—but it aims to do so at once to the reverse—the inside nerve—the power nerve—builds it up, and strengthens it and makes it well.

Every heart sufferer will have Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Heart it will be sent free, and with it you will receive the "Health Token" an intended passport to good health.

PLAN BOWLING LEAGUE

Four Teams to Join Amateur Organization

Plans are on foot for the formation of a bowling league among the business houses of the city, which will start its schedule in a week or so.

The present plans of those interested in the league are to have four clubs of five men each interested, games to be counted in the final reckoning as played and not two out of three for each match.

There are at present four teams that are interested in the league and who have signified their intention of entering. The teams that will be entered will be representative of the city.

The first three teams will be composed entirely of employees of the three institutions. Plans for a fourth team have not been made yet, but it is expected that each team will bowl two series of three games with each of the other teams. This will make a total of nine games for each team.

A match game between two five-men teams representing The Telegram and the railway mail clerks will be played at the Main streets alleys Tuesday night.

HITCHCOCK

Secretary Blocked Sale of Valuable Territory Land

109,000 ACRES ARE LEASED

Curtis Bill Postpones Sale of Coal and Asphalt Land Many Years

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—There are three individuals at the national capital from Indian territory who are demanding more than ordinary attention and identified with them is the fate of 440,000 acres of so-called coal and asphalt lands in the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations.

They are J. H. Sheppherd of South McAlester, Dr. E. N. Wright of Olney and Delegate D. C. McCurtain of the Choctaw nation, son of the present governor of that commonwealth. Mr. Sheppherd is representing the eighteen cities of the coal belt. Dr. Wright is representing the Indians of that section and the delegate is representing the Choctaw council or national branch of the city to confer with the secretary of the interior as to what the future status of these lands shall be.

When the coal lands of the territory were put up at auction last year but $3,000,000 was offered for them and the bids were so low that it was seen fit to reject all of them. As a matter of fact the bids received were in almost every instance below the agricultural worth of the lands to be sold. For it must be remembered that the coal in this section is not of the variety found in the surface, but considerably below the surface. In almost every instance the surface of these coal lands is fit for farming and promises good returns to the Indians.

109,000 Acres Leased

Of the total acreage of coal lands in the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations 109,000 acres are under lease and being developed as coal properties. And these lands are the pivot upon which the fate of the remainder rests, for the time being at least. Choctaw and Chickasaw politicians look upon them as a good graft and worthy of exploitation.

It was not long ago when the Choctaw council proposed for Governor McCurtain to sell the lands and pocket 10 per cent of the proceeds. The governor, it is alleged, had a party in eight months willing to pay $15,000,000 for the lands and 10 per cent of the proceeds. The deal had gone through, would have worked up the next morning and found himself a millionaire, and probably the richest man in the territory. But, fortunately for the people of the territory and the nation, nothing became of the deal. Should the people have submitted to the coal trust the Indians would probably have gotten plenty of money, but instead of that they would have lost their homes, and the soil and homes, etc., miners would have come in and instead of bundled wheat in grain, mounds of coal dust and unsightly pits, etc., would have been the result.

Hitchcock Blocked Game

That the deal between the two nations and the coal trust was not consummated was the fault of Secretary Hitchcock, for it was that official who vetoed the act passed by the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations. Secretary McCurtain with the power to dispose of the Indians' coal lands and at the same time allowing him a commission of 10 per cent of the transaction. All of this happened after the failure of the secretary to get decent bids for the land, and the secretary's only lukewarm support to the contrary, and recently, before the senate committee on Indian affairs, advocated that Uncle Sam buy the lands in question and the proceeds over to the new state of Oklahoma as a school fund. It may be added here that the committee disapproved this suggestion without consideration.

Sale Postponed

The Curtis bill, which provides for the final disposition of tribal affairs in the Indian territory and which passed the house, contains a provision which provides for the sale of the Choctaw and Chickasaw coal and asphalt lands not until the expiration of the existing leases, which, as already stated, would postpone the sale of these lands anywhere from eighteen to twenty-seven years. It is this feature of the bill that the Indians and whites of the two nations want changed and for which purpose Secretary Hitchcock has drafted two amendments; one providing for the sale of the lands in 140-acre tracts to actual settlers and the other for the appraisal and sale of the leased lands to the present occupants.

Judge Sheppherd thinks that the senate will adopt the secretary's amendments and that Secretary Hitchcock deserves a vote of thanks from the people of the territory for his stand in this matter. Mr. Sheppherd is a great admirer of the secretary and thinks him a very much maligned and outraged man. "His being in constant contact with the schemers and unscrupulous men," continued Mr. Sheppherd, "perhaps has made him a little suspicious of everybody, but that is only human nature with him, and I for one am willing to say that the time will come when Indian Territory, no longer precluded, will look upon the man from Missouri as the greatest friend they ever had in the Indian department."

Inspecting Stock Feed

B. C. Pittuck, feed inspector for Texas, states that this office has issued permits for 4,500,000 tons since the law went into effect last summer. As each tag represents the tax on 100 pounds of feedstuff, it will be seen that the state has received for Texas cattle has passed under the eyes of the inspector. Over 500 Texas manufacturers of feed have complied with the law, and nearly 100 from other states. The following are Oklahoma, 29; Kansas, 15; Missouri, 15; Indian Territory, 10; Illinois, Pennsylvania and Arkansas one each. These represent mainly oil mills, cornmills and flourmills and their numbers indicate the activity of outside parties in securing Texas trade. The inspector's office force consists of two men and two chemists besides three deputy inspectors, who are kept on the road most of the time.

EARTHQUAKE NEWS FULLY CONFIRMED

Other South American Disasters Are Reported

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Confirmation of the fears expressed Friday that the cutting off of cable communication with the West Indies and South America was due to some volcanic disaster was received today in the news that the city of Buena Ventura, Colombia, has been destroyed by an earthquake.

The cables had been broken and it is impossible to secure details of the disaster. It is further reported that the earthquake extended to the city of Guayaquil, which has also suffered damage, to what extent, however, is not known. Tidal waves in the Pacific to the south of Panama are reported from the latter point. This is as near the scene of the disaster as could be reached today.

Since Wednesday last extraordinary disturbances have been noted in Panama. Tidal waves have been observed sufficiently serious as to indicate the existence of a submarine volcano. The islands cut off from cable communication are St. Thomas, Santa Cruz, St. Kitts, Barbados, Trinidad, Antigua, Montserrat, Dominica, Nevis, St. Lucia, St. Vincent, Martinique and Tobago. Breakers in the cables have occurred between Jamaica and Porto Rico and Fara and Cayenne and an interruption is holding up the cables in the French Cable Company's line.

Similar cable breaks preceded the eruptions of Mont Pelee. Cable offices are making every effort to ascertain what has caused the breaks. Although Buena Ventura, the little town reported destroyed, is nearly a thousand miles from the lesser Antilles, where the breaks in the cables are supposed to have occurred, it is rumored that there may be some connection between the occurrences and that seismic disturbances have caused the break in communication.

TAXES PAID TWICE

Records Checked Up After End of Month Rush

W. J. Gilvin, city assessor and collector, and his office assistants, have just finished checking up the returns for the past week, and they are breathing a sigh of relief. Mr. Gilvin says the entire force have been working after regular hours for two weeks past, and have been taxing strenuously during and after business hours. The office was kept open until 9 o'clock every night for two weeks prior to the closing of the month.

A GIRL'S HAPPY THOUGHT

Supplies Overseer to Clerks in City Office at 5 Cents a Week

The furnishing and laundering once a week of overalls to the small charge of 5 cents to each customer is an enterprise a little demure, pleasant girl has launched upon. She is meeting with liberal encouragement from the clerks in the several departments of the city hall, and she has already a large number of patrons. Every man and woman employed at the hall is patronizing her, and she said yesterday that she intends to enlarge her field of operations and try and interest the occupants of the large office buildings in her undertaking.

WILSON PREPARES CATTLE BULLETIN

"Texas Fever Tick and How to Kill Him"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A publication will soon be issued by Secretary Wilson on the subject of Texas fever, the disease which has been a very serious obstacle to the development and prosperity of the cattle industry in this country, especially in the south.

Some years ago it was conclusively proven after extensive investigation, that this disease, which is also known as spotted fever and southern cattle fever, is transmitted by the cattle tick, and that, without this Texas fever tick, there would be no Texas fever. Later experiments have been made with the object of determining the best methods of eradicating the ticks and preventing the disease.

The bulletin contains valuable information for stockmen concerning practical methods for eradicating the Texas fever tick from both animals and the pastures, and also describes measures to be taken to prevent a treatment of disease itself.

The cattle tick is not only a carrier of Texas fever infection, but is a parasite which depends partly on man for blood, retards growth, reduces the milking capacity and induces an irritable state known as the "tick worry." It therefore becomes manifest that the extermination of this tick will be of the greatest advantage to the profitable raising and feeding of cattle in the entire country.

This territory has been carefully studied and a quarantine line established which extends across the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It is well known that animals coming from below this line and sold in the northern stock yards bring an average of one-fourth to one-half a cent less per pound than the quoted market prices. If all losses are taken into consideration, it will be seen that the Texas fever is responsible for the loss of about $40,000,000 annually to stockmen of this country. This appalling loss and annual sacrifice by cattle raisers, it is believed, can be entirely effaced in time, by the method outlined in this publication and at a small proportionate cost, for with the general application of the measures described, the cattle tick may be wholly exterminated.

Every dollar wisely expended in this work will be returned many fold during each succeeding year.

More Splendid Bargains in Winter Goods And Some Hints of the New Incoming Styles for Early Spring!

Notwithstanding that thousands of women have freely and thriftily bought of the wonderful bargains during our great sale, there is still a considerable quantity of desirable winter merchandise that must be gotten out of the way quickly, for winter will soon be over in this store. Already the new things are stacked up awaiting space for the new season's showing, so we invite you to take immediate advantage of these offerings. They are made regardless of worth, simply to sell quickly is our aim now. We would remind you that many of our best values are not mentioned in the papers, because assortments are small, and the entire lots are likely to be sold in less than a day. Best plan when you come shopping here is to read every sign you see. New Silks are in—new Dress Goods, Wash Goods, White Goods, Laces, Embroideries and Trimmings, new Lace and Embroidered Robes, new Suits, Waists and Skirts. See them—they're exclusive and will not be duplicated!

New Silks for Spring

It's to be largely a silk spring—Dame Fashion says so. There will again be great use of silks for shirt waist suits and for gowns of pretentious make and effect. The new spring silks include colorings and designs especially adapted for practical runabout silks, and rich, tasteful effects for afternoon occasions, semi-formal evening wear and calling. There are the new Gingham Silks, the broken plaids, the conventional checks, the shaded Louisine, the Persian stripes, checks and warp print. Then, too, the society silks, beautiful printed Beau de Cygne, Louisine, radium effects; also the pompadour Gauze du Sole, Foulards, Diana, Sappho and many other new things, showing the prices are certainly an eloquent inducement to choose now.

- 75c A line of the new spring Louisine Silk, white grounds, black stripes and checks; a durable quality for suits and waists.
- 98c A new line of the 27-inch Checked Louisine Silks, in all the leading shades. This is a most superior quality and a leader.
- $1.00 Beautiful Persian stripe and warp prints, broken plaids, choice soft finished fabrics—a leader in style and quality.
- $1.00 The new 27-inch Gingham Silks. Just out for the spring shirt waist suits. You will be pleased with this superb line.

- 85c A superior line of this season's foremost styles in figures, stripes and checked, soft Silks, white and dark grounds.
- 98c The new Radium Taffeta, new Beau de Cygne, in the leading colors, soft and durable—best silk goods made.
- $1.39 At this price you buy the warp print Louisine Silk for evening wear, medium and light shades; also new Silk Waistings.
- $1.00 Is the price for the latest Pompadour Gauze du Sole. We could only secure a few patterns; very exclusive, large designs. See them.

Beautiful Spring Robes

If you have not already seen these new robes you must not fail to come early Monday. You'll be tempted to buy, for you have never seen such beautiful, practical gowns of Baby Irish Lace, Batiste Embroidered and Batiste and Baby Irish Robes; also the latest things in Net Robes, Pointed and Espirit and Lace Robes, white, pink and blue; not expensive. These box Robes are skirt made up, ready to put on the band and designed waists. Priced from $85.00 on down to $5.98.

New Spring Linings

Marvel Silk, in every shade. It has always been a great task to find a lining in cotton to take the place of silk. We have found it—the Marvel Silk is finished like a taffeta, rustles like a taffeta, comes in all the dainty shades of a taffeta, 28 inches wide and only 25c. Then the Princess Satteen Lining, very high finished, equal to any 35c quality you have ever seen, any dark or light color, 35 inches wide; price, yard, 25c.

More Embroideries

This time the very fine imported goods are mentioned for special show. Indeed, it would take a mighty pen to picture in words these beauties in embroidery, practical gowns of Baby Irish Lace, Batiste Embroidered and Batiste and Baby Irish Robes; also the latest things in Net Robes, Pointed and Espirit and Lace Robes, white, pink and blue; not expensive. These box Robes are skirt made up, ready to put on the band and designed waists. Priced from $85.00 on down to $5.98.

- At 10c Wide, showy Edges and Insertions, dainty patterns in nainsook and Swiss, a great task to find them; choice 25c to 35c values; take your choice tomorrow, 10c.
- At 19c A bargain lot that we won't be able to duplicate this season; fine, wide, dainty and showy openwork Embroidery, superbly finished, 50c; insertions and edges.
- At 25c Embroideries worth up to 75c; open and Japanese work, fine cambric, Swiss and nainsook; wide and narrow Edges and Insertions; superb lot of rare qualities, 25c.

Some Very Fine Laces

To see them you wonder who could think them all out. Truly masterful brains have done their prettiest this season, for not only are high quality laces new and charming, but also the more moderate sorts. Tomorrow we will show some very extreme styles. We do not hesitate to say that an equal line will not be shown in Texas. Elegant Princess, Point Gauze, Pompadour, Venice, Baby Irish, Oriental, Broderie, Llerre, Duchesse, Ruban, Mechlin, Medica and Cluny. There are many others to see when you come in; graduating bands, gowns, edges, flounces and allover to match, from the lowest price on up to $15.00 yard.

- 25c Dozen 100 dozen Valenciennes Lace Edge and Insertions, new patterns, in every way a 50c value, but to make the sale a great success, we shall offer this lot, per dozen yards, 25c.
- 50c Dozen Hundred dozen Valenciennes Lace Edges and Insertions. You can't go wrong. For whole season and later you'll pay $1.00 per dozen for this same lace. As a special, we say per dozen yards, 50c.
- 75c Dozen French and German Val. Lace Edges and Insertions. Your frock will be covered with it this season and later you'll pay $1.00 per dozen for this same lace. As a special, we say per dozen yards, 75c.

Pretty White Goods

The dainty White Goods will play an important part in your dress wear this spring and summer. White is the thing. We have provided amply in these light, sheer, elegant weaves. Many ladies will be glad to know that stocks are now ready; others who do not provide so early will be equally interested in these charming fabrics. Batiste, Organdies, Mulls, Chiffons, French Cambric, Nainsook and Swisses. We mention a few extra good values:

- 10c A yard for white Dimity, in sheer quality, worth 15c. This is an opening special.
- 19c A yard for 40-inch wide fine sheer Lawns, regular 39c grade, mill remnants.
- 29c White Shirt Waisting, a fine light weight madras, with neat small cords and patterns, 50c value.

Burson Fashioned Hose

are the only stockings in the world knit to fit, without a seam. Most seamless stockings are straight and shapeless, especially after they are washed. BURSON FASHIONED HOSE fit at every point—leg, ankle, heel—and they are beautifully tapered, just as grandmother used to "taper off" though the BURSON HOSE are all done on a wonderful machine.

When you try on a pair of BURSONS just notice the ease and comfort—no binding at one place and looseness at another; that often causes poor circulation, when you wear cheap stockings. The BURSON STOCKINGS are delightfully smooth, comfortable, neat in fit and have no seams to hurt the heel or cause corns or calluses—seams do that.

Guarantee—A new pair for every pair that falls. Come in and learn about Burson Hose. Daily talks this week in our Stocking Department.

Remember Doll's Day—Saturday—when we give a pair of genuine BURSON SEAMLESS HOSE to fit each Doll. We only ask that each little girl be accompanied by her mother or some other grown person, to escort her to and from the store.

Story of a Great Indian Fighter

Captain W. F. Drannan is of French descent. He was born in mid-ocean and left an orphan at the tender age of 4 years. When but 15 years old he left his foster parents and walked from Nashville, Tenn., to St. Louis, Mo., a distance of over 600 miles, where he met the noted and famous trapper and Indian fighter, Kit Carson. He immediately adopted Kit as his protector, and off to the plains they went to hunt game and trap for a livelihood. Captain Drannan soon became an Indian fighter of fame, and while but a mere youth he captured, killed and scalped five Indian warriors. For this daring feat he was promoted by Captain Elliott to the high honor of chief of scouts, which title the captain defended with many laurels for 31 years. He conducted and defended the first train of emigrants across the plains of the wild and woolly west to the gold fields of California and rescued the two Gordon girls from the redskins and killed their captors. He also captured Captain Jack, the noted Modoc chief, which was one of his most daring and thrilling feats. Captain Drannan was commissioned by the managers of the St. Louis World's Fair to gather up the various tribes of Indians, as he is perhaps more familiar with the customs of the wild Indians than any man now living. He writes of the wonderful effects of Dr. Thurmond's Catarth Cure as follows: Lewiston, Idaho, April 19, 1903. Dr. W. J. Thurmond, Dallas, Texas: Dear Sir—I have been a sufferer from Catarth since 1873. I contracted the disease during the Modoc war in that foggy climate of the Lowan beds. I have tried almost all known remedies without any permanent relief. Your Catarth Cure was recommended to me and I decided to try it, although I had no faith in it. Up to the time I commenced using your remedy I had to use a handkerchief constantly during the night, many nights sleep being impossible. I have not used one bottle of your Catarth Cure yet, and am not troubled at night at all, and but little in the daytime. I think your Catarth Cure is the greatest blessing and friend to the people suffering with this disease ever discovered, and I would recommend it to all sufferers from Catarth in any form. Sincerely yours, CAPTAIN W. F. DRANNAN. P. S.—You are at liberty to publish this letter in any way you wish. Yours, etc., W. F. D. For sale by all druggists.

FIRST BALL GAME OF SEASON TODAY

"Play Ball" to Be Heard at Rosen Heights

First baseball game of the season will be played today between Rosen Heights and Draughton's Business College.
 The Rosen Heights baseball team has been reorganized and has already played a few practice games with other teams. At the time the team was reorganized a canvas showed that all of last year's team were again in line up for this season.
 J. J. Riden was elected manager of the team and C. Lockett selected as captain. Among the players who are already connected with the team are: R. McDonald, R. Mallory, C. Thomas, C. Thompson, B. Ware, A. Ware, C. Lockett, C. Allen, A. Markland and A. Price. All these players have had experience with other teams and have played for the past two seasons together on the Rosen Heights team. Two pitchers are among the number so far.
 The team uses Rosen Park for practice and play ground and there they expect to play a number of games the coming season.
 It is thought Rosen Heights will again join the City League.
 The Rosen Heights team announces that it is ready to play any amateur team.

AMUSEMENTS

In "The Lily and the Prince" presented at the Greenwall opera house Saturday matinee and night, Mildred Holland and her company give an excellent presentation, unusually well staged, of a drama of the times of Lucretia Borgia and the strife between Florence and Rome for the mastery of Italy. Well-written, well-staged and well-played, the drama is one to interest all theater goers.
 Miss Holland, a star of five seasons standing, has attracted around herself a number of lesser luminaries who twinkle together in a well-proportioned constellation. Of good dramatic feeling, with a stage presence that is captivating and personal beauty which shines both before the footlights and away from their enhancing glamor, she gives, in the part of Angela de Savelli, a good presentation of a young Italian

LIVE STOCK MEN HOLD MEETING

Ft. Worth Exchange Discusses Commissions for Sales

The regular meeting of the Fort Worth Live Stock Exchange was held Friday afternoon and several matters of importance were discussed, some of which were acted upon with reference to the future and others it was deemed best to leave in "statu quo."
 For some time past the delays caused in transferring cars of stock from the Fort Worth railroad yards to the stock yards has caused much feeling among those interested, and at this meeting the matter came up for action. It seems that the railroads, in delivering cars of stock to the belt road, do not deliver them promptly as they arrive in their several yards, but have a habit that has become almost a rule to detain the cars that arrive in small lots until sufficient are yarded to make up a considerable train. Therefore it naturally occurs that cars that have arrived first remain undelivered to the belt line for several hours, anywhere from two to five, and as a consequence the cattle are kept in the cars, when, if delivered promptly, they would be unloaded into the pens and be at rest that much sooner.
 Very often this delay causes the arrival of the stock too late for the day's market, which, from various causes, often results in loss. To investigate this condition and provide for the delivery of the stock to the Belt Line promptly and in shorter time, the exchange has appointed a committee, consisting of E. E. Balridge, John K. Rossion and R. H. McNatt, who will have control of the matter.
 The interpretation of several new rules that went into effect on Jan. 1, were discussed, especially rule 3, which governs charges on live stock shipped in one car by different owners, requiring separate weighing and grading. To arrange this matter so that all can interpret it alike in their dealings with customers, the committee who has such matters in charge were instructed to proceed in the matter. This committee consists of the following: Ireland Hampton, Bob Barre and R. H. McNatt.
 Other matters were discussed, but in the interest of harmony no action was taken. The application of J. A. Montague, salesman for Evans-Montague Commission Company, and E. P. Freeman of Evans-Smith and Mill Commission Company, were acted upon and they were elected members of the exchange.

CHESS ROUND ENDS

Correspondence Tourney for State Being Completed
 The play in the first round of the Texas state correspondence chess tournament has closed and play will be started soon on the second round. The match is being played for the Morgan Digest prizes, and will end some time in the future. The first round was started in September and close to the first of the month.
 S. M. Freeman of this city is referee and adjudicator of the tourney.
 There were sixteen players in the first round, and the winners will enter the second round. There are no players in this city entered. Correspondence chess is a slow game, as ever move has to be sent by mail, one move at a time, and in case of absence of one of the parties from his regular place, or in case of sickness, the game will be necessarily delayed longer than ever.

STRAWBERRIES HERE

The first strawberries of the season were in the market Saturday, most of them being sold before reaching the open market. So small was the supply that there were no regular prices quoted, the berries being gobbled up at fancy prices. The berries were raised near Houston.

Removal Notice

C. W. Connery, special agent Travelers' Insurance Co., has moved, his office 5th and Houston sts., over Pangburn's drug store, phone 153.

TO THE PUBLIC

We, the undersigned planning mill men of Fort Worth, have resolved, inasmuch as all our competition in surrounding towns, such as Waco, Cleburne, Dallas and Sherman, operate their mills nine hours daily, it is impossible for us to build up a shipping business with surrounding towns under the eight-hour system.
 Fort Worth has lost many thousands of dollars, due to the existing conditions under which we work, and also a large proportion of the mill work that is used in Fort Worth has been done by the aforementioned towns, due to the fact that working under the nine-hour system enables them to undersell the home mills.
 One of the largest planing mills in Fort Worth is now running nine hours per day and an open shop, and the union men are making no protest against putting up their work, all of which makes it harder and impossible for us to run under the present eight-hour system.
 In view of the fact that wages here are much higher than in other towns, Dallas having a minimum scale of $2.75 for nine hours, while here the scale is $3 for eight hours, which we consider unjust and unfair, and the union men being satisfied with the present high scale, having made a demand for forty-five cents per hour after April 1, next, we have resolved.
 Resolved, That in justice to ourselves and to Fort Worth, that on and after Monday, Feb. 12, 1924, we will run our mill nine hours per day and an open shop.

A HATCHET!

Did you ever buy a hatchet? Of course you did. Probably got a hatchet at some 5c and 10c store. Paid 25c for it, didn't you? Tried to use it, found it very inferior. Probably you cursed the hatchet and the man who sold it. Why didn't you go to a hardware store, where they have a variety of hatchets, from 10c up to $2.00?

Ever buy a bottle of whisky? You can get one at a cheap corner saloon or some grocery store, but if you want a bottle of whisky that will satisfy you, go to a liquor house, where they make a specialty of bottled goods. Go to H. UNIVERSITY PROGRESSING

First Session of Summer Law Term, 1906

WILL BE PERMANENT

Texas Institution to Continue Practice to Begin This Year at Austin

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 3.—With the opening of the regular summer school for the session of 1906 will come also the first session of the summer law school, just authorized by the board of regents as a permanent feature of this summer work.

This opening of a summer law school will fill a long-felt need in the educational system of Texas and will be of the greatest benefit to a large class of people. Its aim as laid down by the authorities is to meet the needs of the following classes of people: First, those who have studied law without instruction and are not able to attend a regular law school...

Second, to aid those who cannot afford to take the regular three years' course at the university law school, but who wish to take the degree in less than three years.

Third, practicing attorneys who recognize that legal principles are more important than precedents and who desire to review their elementary studies for professional development.

Fourth, those who have attended law schools in other states and who desire to make Texas their home, and hence need to become familiar with the many peculiarities of the state before attending the bar examinations now required of them.

Fifth, and probably of the most wide-reaching importance, for those who do not expect to practice law, but who desire to devote a part of their time to it as a matter of general information and culture, recognizing this study as the greatest exponent of the real philosophy of life found in text form.

DEATHS

McEachin
GARLAND, Texas, Feb. 3.—After an illness of only half an hour Mrs. Annie McEachin of Sachse, Dallas county, died of heart failure at about 9:30 o'clock tonight. She was nearly 70 years of age.

She was the mother of H. A. McEachin, editor of the Texas Stockman Journal and editorial writer of the Fort Worth Telegram.

Take Courage!

If you are naturally not as strong as your more fortunate sisters, and for this reason experience dread rather than joy at the prospect of becoming a mother, take courage and assurance from this fact: Mother's Friend is meant for you, and by its use you may pass through that glorious maternity which is yours by divine right with no more discomfort than that experienced by those who by nature are possibly more adapted for the role of motherhood.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

is a liniment of proven merit, and its great worth can be no better attested to than by the countless strong and healthy children who through its kindly offices have entered this world unhandicapped by any deformity or weakness. It is a liniment which by external application acts upon the abdominal muscles and permits of a painless parturition.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Concerning Mme. Galski

When Mme. Galski sings at the Majestic next Thursday night, she will be the first singer of international fame ever heard in Fort Worth.

The great singers of the world may be counted on the fingers of one hand. Galski is one of them. Many musicians place her first in this class. She was the highest priced singer of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company under the Grau management, because she was and is the only singer now living equal to every role Wagner wrote. When Coareld took charge of the Metropolitan opera house he revised the salary list, placing Galski on the same scale as the other singers, to avoid financial failure that year. She thereupon left him. She comes to Fort Worth in her youth and the full perfection of her vocal gifts. She is no picturesque ruin of a greatness wrought by Time—every singer's fateful foe.

Mme. Galski's coming is the personal undertaking of a private individual. No club or society has believed that Fort Worth's musical loyalty would justify the expense. Should the patronage be unsatisfactory, neither individual nor society will again for an indefinite period introduce a great artist to Fort Worth.

The tickets have been placed as low as a margin for expenses will permit. In Dallas no ticket can be bought for less than $2. The Majestic scale of prices makes it possible for every music lover to enjoy the greatest event in the musical history of this city.

NEW CURES REPORTED

Every day is adding to the already long list of remarkable cures being performed by the celebrated physician, Dr. James W. Kidd, Jr. Kidd shows his confidence in his own ability by offering to supply free proof treatments entirely at his own expense and without a cent of cost, to every sick and afflicted person; in other words, offers to prove his ability before he asks for money.

Hundreds of cases of rheumatism, kidney trouble, heart disease, partial paralysis, bladder trouble, stomach and bowel troubles, piles, catarrh, bronchitis, weak lungs, asthma, nervousness, all female troubles, lumbago, skin diseases, scrofula, impure blood, and general debility have been cured by him.

A letter from any reader of this paper, describing their condition, addressed to Dr. James W. Kidd, Box 706, Fort Wayne, Indiana, will bring by return mail, on charge, a complete trial treatment.

$2,000,000 LOST IN ST. LOUIS FIRE

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 3.—The Union elevators in East St. Louis and the Washburn freight house here, entailing a loss of about two million dollars. The elevators were valued at $2,000,000 and contained one million bushels of wheat worth $1 per bushel. Several freight cars and a number of small residences were also burned and for a time the Burlington freight house was in danger. The flames for two hours lighted the heavens, reaching 75 to 100 feet above the elevators. The elevator was 200 feet long and 150 feet wide. The main portion of the building, erected seven or eight years ago, was seven stories high. Three years ago an addition was built on the east and extending the height to twelve stories. More than 100 horses were burned in a stable near the elevator. Everybody in East St. Louis, thousands who were employed on the other side of the river and thousands whose curiosity drew them to the scene converged to the Edes bridge as a focal point.

The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have been due to spontaneous combustion. There was no fire in the building except in the engine room and there was 500 feet from where the fire started.

NORTH FORT WORTH and ROSEN HEIGHTS

- North Fort Worth and Rosen Heights office of the Telegram is located at 117 Exchange avenue, old phone 3519, where news items, subscriptions, advertisements and complaints of delivery should be left.

Charges of disturbing the peace and aggravated assault were made tonight against S. E. Calhoun. He was arrested in North Fort Worth Saturday morning on a charge of disturbing the peace, returning after he had been released on bond. In a short time City Marshal Howell and Dave Hackney received a telephone call to arrest Calhoun again. They then took him before a Justice of the Peace, on a charge of aggravated assault. Officer Dave Hackney stated that he disarmed Calhoun of two knives.

Hurt in Runaway

George Hamilton of North Fort Worth was thrown from his buggy at the north end of the Trinity river bridge Saturday night, and was badly bruised about the face and hands. He was thrown from his buggy by the wheels sliding on the curve of the street car track, causing him to lose his balance. His right cheek was cut open from the cheek bone to the chin.

MINERS FORM STRIKE PLANS

Will Be Five Million Dollars in Strike Fund

WILL BE NO INTERVENTION

Roosevelt Is Not Expected to Take a Hand—List of the Miners

Special to The Telegram.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 3.—The coal miners and operators have left Indianapolis for their homes, the miners leaving behind them their national board members to map out plans for the threatened big coal strike on April 1.

The board was in session today, but no information to give out. He said, however, that at the afternoon session that the matter of levying the $1 a week strike assessment was taken up and discussed informally, but no definite action taken. Such an assessment added to the present funds amounting to a little over $2,500,000, in the national district, subsidiaries and local treasures, would give the organization $5,000,000 available cash on April 1.

Discusses Suggestion

The board also discussed the suggestion made by Secretary-Treasurer W. B. Wilson in the national convention, providing that the districts should take care of their own distressed members for six weeks before calling on the national treasury funds.

The session this morning was devoted to important and tedious matters and plans.

President Mitchell said this afternoon that he would not go to the anthracite districts before Feb. 10, when he will visit the coal fields of the anthracite operators, which is to be held on Feb. 15.

The board remained in session until 5:30 o'clock, and it is altogether likely that a special session will be held tomorrow, owing to an urgent demand for the meetings will then continue next week.

Threatened Strike Has Effect

Already the threatened strike on April 1 is beginning to have its effect. While there has been no advance in the price of coal as yet, orders have been sent by large consumers, who are now buying on a ten days' supply, for the operators to double their deliveries. At the present time, so the operators say, this is an impossibility, and no promise are being made. These customers are told that their demands will receive the best attention possible.

WAR TO KNIFE BY DEMOCRATS

To Read Out of Party Rooseveltvelt Senators

UNPRECEDENTED STEP

Means Bitter Struggle, Perhaps Break-up of Party Organization

Special to The Telegram.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3.—The Democratic senators today, in caucus assembled, after a five-hour debate, decided that any senator who voted for the San Domingo treaty proposed by President Roosevelt will be read out of the Democratic party.

Never before in the history of politics has such drastic action been taken in the senate of the United States. It means that Senator Patterson of Colorado will have to walk the plank if he votes according to his ideas and sentiments as given before the senate, a speech in which he declared positively for the Roosevelt policy in the treatment of the black republic affair.

17 HURT IN WRECK

Special to The Telegram.
TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 3.—In a head-on collision on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton at Leipsic, at about 2 o'clock this afternoon, seventeen people were more or less injured, four or five very seriously. Those most seriously injured are:

August Kleckel, aged 70 years, and his wife of Detroit, badly crushed. Mrs. Kleckel cannot recover.

but they must not expect them to be carried out in full.

No Intervention Expected
According to the best information obtainable, neither the miners nor the operators are expecting anything like immediate intervention by the President or the National Civic Federation. A prominent operator said today:

"There is little probability that President Roosevelt or the Civic Federation shall take a hand, at least not until April 1. It is most likely the complication will be allowed to solve itself along natural lines and conditions as they develop. It is too early as yet to predict what may come to pass. The operators do certainly expect the miners to go out on April 1. It is the only logical outcome of the failure of the joint conference to agree on the wage scale."

MISS PINKA JONES IS NOW AHEAD IN CONTEST

Without more ado the boys lit into each other. From out the tangled mass of hair and limb rose muffled judgments.

"I loves her! I loves her!"—"Gwan, yer skate, I'm it!"—"Holler 'nuff, lub-ster!"

From within the house came two more spectators, drawn by the noise of battle. One was a young lady with flowers in her hair and roses in her cheeks. A stalwart, handsome young hero followed her, clasping her hand, which she strove to withdraw, but without conviction.

"Why, John, what's the trouble? Stop your laughing, and make them quit!" she said. The master of the house was howling with mirth at the struggles of the gladiators.

"Why, they're—they're fighting for their lady!" he stammered through his teeth. "Let the brave knights alone. Reminds me of Sir Miles and the Black Knight."

"If you don't pull them off, I will," she exclaimed indignantly. Descending the steps she stamped heavily on the wood. "Boys! Boys! Stop your fighting!"

It Was Her
At the sound of her voice the gladiators ineffectually ceased their mutual punning and broke away.

"It's her!" one cried. And both were overcome with bashfulness.

"Catherine, Catherine, are you it?" shouted the master of the house. He burst into fresh laughter, loud, hearty, uncontrolled. "Comfort your gladiators. They bleed for you."

At the sound of his laughter both boys turned to flee. But the cause of combat called them back. "Is that you, Jimmy? and Tom? What's the matter with you?"

"It was a surprise," returned Jimmy, sullenly.

"I should say it was," she said sharply. "What were you fighting about?"

"You," he answered, digging the toe of his shoe into the ground.

"Me?" she questioned in amazement.

"They are both your school pupils. I gather," said the master of the house, still clutching his throat in the last throes of his laughter. "The one of your class who brings in the most votes in this highly popular Evening Telegram contest gets the right to propose to you first, and you are supposed to accept at once. So this King Arthur and this Sir Miles are scrapping mightily on the green to see which shall be your future husband."

The two boys glanced guiltily at each other, and then up at her.

"Why, boys!" Struggling against her amusement, the winsome prize sat down on the bottom step and laughed, but with tears in here eyes. "Come here, both of you," she said. They came, willingly. She put an arm around both.

"I love you both," she said, "just as much as I can—just as much as I can. And I'm grateful to you, and ever so pleased, and I'm going to kiss you," which she did, to their infinite embarrassment. "But you see, I can't marry either of you, even if you asked me, because—because—" she hesitated shyly.

The other man, who had not yet spoken, came down the steps. "I'll tell you why, boys," he said, and bent down and took her hand. "I don't want you to look on me as a rival, but she has just promised to marry me, and I don't think we can wait till you grow up so we can all three have an equal chance."

The two boys extricated themselves slowly. They gazed on the ground, and gazed up the sky. Two broken hearts showed in two pairs of eyes.

"Well, we'll work for you, anyway," said Tommy. "If you ever want to get sick, and we'll pile so many votes into the old Telegram office they can't keep counting them. An'—an'—we forgive you, sir."

Grasping the hand of their victorious rival, they marched sadly away down the garden path.

"Bless their hearts," said the teacher.

All over town small forms are scurrying shortly after dark, hunting for copies of The Telegram. Hardly a house do they miss, and every house they visit yields up a Telegram, which is promptly despoiled of its coupon.

Votes are pouring in. Interest in the contest has been excited throughout all schoolroom, and both boys and girls are working like beavers for their teacher.

Conditions
The conditions of the contest are these: All votes must be written on coupons cut from The Telegram. One is printed in each issue. The name of the teacher, her grade and school, and the voter, must be written in. Votes must be brought or mailed to The Telegram office by 5 o'clock of the Straight Talk to Women.

The Spectacles of Sex Have Two Eyes

You Can't Get Things Properly Focused Unless You Use Both.

A man may think that his point of view—the masculine one—of looking at a thing, is the only correct one; but it's not. Neither is a woman's. The male and female points of view are the spectacles of the race. They have two eyes, and to be really happy you must have the use, through marriage or friendship, of an eye of the opposite sex, so that you can judge things at their proper value, since unhappiness is generally caused by a distorted, one-sided, one-sexed view-point.

This question of sex makes itself felt in every undertaking of life, for sex development is merely another term for the grand instinct of nature—the CREATIVE faculty.

Great writers, inventors, artists, and those who, in any sphere of life, have caused "two blades of grass to grow in place of one," have all been strongly SEXED.

Naturally, a disturbance of that part of your system has more far-reaching effects than disorder of any of your other functions. Mere indigestion, liver or lung trouble, can never do as wide-spreading harm as a disturbance of your natural sex functions will, because these last affect the highest powers of your life and mind, and, in time, effectually destroy all vitality and life force, of brain or body.

For women, afflicted in the manner peculiar to, and so common with, their sex, relief and cure are to be found in Wine of Cardui, the specific, health restorative, and curative remedy for women's complaints.

This great medicine has been for over 70 years in use in thousands of homes, and HAS BENEFITED AND CURED OVER A MILLION WOMEN.

It is prepared from pure, safe, vegetable ingredients, which have a tonic, curative effect upon weak, inflamed, irregular female organs; and by inducing regular and proper functions, it restores sick women to health.

As a prompt relief and cure for uterine pain, menstrual irregularity, improper discharge, periodical backache, sick headache, falling or dragging sensations, etc., Wine of Cardui is without a rival in the field of curative medicine.

It can be obtained in $1.00 bottles at all drug stores. Try it, I say. Try it.

SCHOOL GIRLS ARE STRENUOUS HERE

Life Is Not All Routine in Fort Worth

If Fort Worth high school graduating class for 1906 should give a banquet, trouble would probably arise among the members of the arrangement committee with the others as to what member of the class should give voice to the toast, "The High School Girl," and the one finally selected to hold forth on that topic would doubtless exhaust his supply of diction in the presentation of a subject of such fascination.

A HIGH SCHOOL GIRL.
Miss Lena Ellis, 509 South Lake Street.

The praises of school girls have been sung in every land under the sun and none have been more effusive than in America, where free schools abound and high school girls are most attractive and vivacious.

High School Has Restaurant
In the place of the meager fare probably enjoyed by her grandmother at school for lunch, the Fort Worth high school girl may take herself to the mess hall of the building, there to gaze languidly at a menu card upon which is printed an ever-changing bill of fare supplying such things as baked beans, chocolate, puddings, etc.

Days Are Strenuous
The day of an average high school girl of Fort Worth is a strenuous one. She is awake early, believing in the old maxim, "Early to bed, early to rise is a sign of a healthy life."

Routine Is Interesting
Arriving at the school building in the morning, the first recess comes after she has probably had one recitation and one study period. She will recite probably twice before noon, and during the thirty-minute respite for lunch she will watch the baseball team at practice.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

L. R. Taylor, for four years clerk of the district court of Tarrant county, but now of Jacksonville, Fla., is in the city, having been called here by the serious illness of his daughter, Mrs. T. J. Huntoon.

Mr. Taylor left Fort Worth three and a half years ago for Jacksonville and he is now chief clerk of the county court of that city and also of the court of criminal records. Prior to his election of clerk of the district court here he was Texas and Pacific depot agent at Arlington, and he has a host of friends all over Tarrant county.

Sam M. West, scale safe and clock inspector for the Texas and Pacific railroad, was at the Texas and Pacific passenger station Saturday morning on a tour of the road westward. Mr. West has held this position with the Texas and Pacific long enough to grow gray in the service, but he had not yet turned 40 today as he did fifteen years ago.

RACE TRACK IMPROVED
Preparations Being Made For Washington's Birthday Races.
Many improvements have been going on at the tracks of the Fort Worth Driving Club during the past week, preparatory to the matinee races to be given Washington's birthday, at which time the club expects to entertain the bankers in attendance at the bankers' meeting here.

Cash Consideration for Rosen Heights School Land
A deed of conveyance was filed in the county clerk's office Saturday by which the Rosen Heights Land Company conveys in fee simple to the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Heart of San Antonio a tract of land in Rosen Heights addition 140 by 300 feet, the consideration being $10 in money and the further consideration that the Sisters will erect thereon a college for the education of white children. This building has already been erected, the school being in active operation.

MORE BUSINESS FIRMS
Figures Compiled By Mercantile Agency Show Big Gain
A count has been made by the local agency of R. G. Dun & Co. in Fort Worth of the total number of individual, firms and corporations doing business in this city on the first day of the year. The total for 1905 was 1,075, a gain of 120 for the one year.

BOWLERS PLAN STATE CONTEST

Championship Games May Be Rolled

Arrangements are now being made by the bowlers of Fort Worth for a home and home match with Dallas, which will probably be played this month. Three games will be rolled on the Fort Worth alleys, the team having the highest number of pins for the six games to be declared the winner.

SECTION HANDS DECLARED SCARCE

Shortage in Branch of Railroad Work

Reports received at the office of the vice president and general superintendent of the Rock Island are to the effect that while there are numerous applications for positions as clerks and operators, there is a scarcity of men for section work.

Sand for Cattle Cars

The Rock Island is to build a track in the near future from a point Ferral, T. to a sand bed on the Red River.

Railroads Want Gravel

Owing to the high price of gravel in the vicinity of the growing towns, the railroads have been forced out of the market and are seeking gravel anywhere it can be found.

Peruna Should Be Kept in Every Household

Where There Are Little Children

Peruna should be kept in the house all the time. Don't wait until the child is sick, then send to a drug store.

Peruna Contains No Narcotics

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind.

Interchanging Cars

The congested conditions of the freight yards of this city has brought about a system of interchanging cars of freight and in some cases freight is being declined by one road because the other simply offers to turn freight over to another company without taking any away.

Uniform Time Needed

Passenger agents here meet with frequent complaints from passengers who miss trains by reason of the lack of uniform time in this city.

Rock Island Changes

Circulars have been received at the general office of the Rock Island here, announcing several important changes on other divisions of the system.

Arkansas Appointments

Circulars have been received announcing the appointment of George N. Lee as general passenger agent of the Arkansas Southern railroad.

Passes Cut Off

The pass committee of the western roads has decided upon the limit in granting exchange passes to so-called territorial railroads.

THE BEST FRIENDS OF PE-RU-NA ARE THE MOTHERS AND CHILDREN

MR. F. BROOKMAN WIFE AND CHILD

MRS. J. C. STERLING'S CHILDREN

G. H. FARMER and SON

Mrs. F. Brookman, 813 Meade street, Appleton, Wis., writes: "I have never had a return of the catarrh, which had made me so miserable and unhappy before I began taking Peruna."

No Doctor Required

Mr. Edward Otto, 927 De Soto street, St. Paul, Minn., writes: "I cannot say enough for Peruna. It has done great work in my family, especially for my oldest boy."

The Benefit Which the Children of the United States Have Received From Pe-ru-na Can Never Be Put Into Words

The chronic ailments it has prevented, the suffering it has mitigated, will never be fully recorded.

A Child's Life Saved

Mr. G. H. Farmer, New Martinsville, W. Va., writes: "Our little son, Harry, is well and healthy now and we think if we do as you directed us, he will keep his health and grow strong."

Mrs. J. C. Sterling, 123 Brown avenue, Norfolk, Va., writes: "My little boy, Meredith, suffered with indigestion so badly he could not eat anything without it making him very sick, so I thought (as many others have) that I would try Peruna, and it worked like a charm."

"Now he eats anything he wishes, and I would not be without it for anything."

"My other little boy, Alfred, two and a half years old, has taken it and received as much benefit from Peruna as his brother."

"I hope my testimonial may be of some benefit to others, as I feel as though I cannot praise it enough."

Mr. Howard Andrew Sterner, Muddy Creek, Pa., writes: "I have Peruna in my house all the time and won't be without it. It is good for children when they take a cold or croup. It cured my baby boy of croup."

"I have introduced Peruna into six families since I received your last letter, and four have seen relief already."

Per-ru-na Protects the Entire Household

As soon as the value of Peruna is appreciated by every household, both as a preventive and cure, tens of thousands of lives will be saved, and hundreds of thousands of chronic, lingering cases of catarrh will be prevented.

When Sickness Comes to the Little Ones

It is the Mother Who Chiefly Suffers

She suffers even more than the child who happens to be sick. Her sympathy is deeper than that of any other member of the family.

The mother looks forward with dread to the torrid heat of summer, thinking of her children and the many liabilities to disease that are before them.

A Multitude of Mothers

Have discovered that Peruna is their savior, and that in many of the ailments of spring and summer to which the children are subjected Peruna is the remedy that will generally quickly relieve.

Whether it is spring fever or stomach derangement, whether it is indigestion or bowel disease, a catarrhal congestion of the mucous surfaces is the cause.

Peruna quickly relieves this condition of the mucous membranes. Its operation is prompt, the children do not dislike to take the medicine, it has no deleterious effects in any part of the body.

It simply removes the cause of the disagreeable symptoms and restores the health.

Every mother who has not tried Peruna in her family should familiarize herself with Dr. Hartman's booklet, "The Ills of Life." This booklet should be in every family. It gives most valuable advice as to the use of Peruna for the various catarrhal diseases so general today.

Peruna is a household remedy for all catarrhal ailments of winter and summer, acute or chronic.

The mothers all over the United States are the best friends that Peruna has.

The Mothers Hold Pe-ru-na in High Esteem

Not only because it has cured them of their various ailments, but because it promptly rescues the children from the throes and grasps of catarrhal diseases.

We have in our files many testimonials from mothers whose children have been cured by Peruna. However, the large majority of mothers who use Peruna, we never hear from.

But we do hear from a great number of mothers who are so overjoyed at some special good they have received from Peruna that they cannot restrain their enthusiasm. They are anxious to share these benefits with other mothers.

GREAT DUTCH ACTOR OF SEVEN PARTS

Henri De Vries in Season's Sensation in Stageland in New York—Takes Seven Parts in Remarkable Little Play. Every Part Portrayed With Marvelous Fidelity, Though All Are Different

lutely another character. He is the heavy Dutch peasant type, with coal black hair and eyes, his drooping mustache adding to the cold, steely harshness that envelops him.

The inn-keeper, Puttin, a jovial wag, has the red nose and familiar air of one who sells tipple over the bar.

The garrulous old father-in-law of John Arend gives a clew to the awful deed. Twisted with palsy, he shakes his withered body as he tells of his son-in-law's financial debt to him, and a light begins to dawn upon the justice, and a fatal gloom appears that later comes the manufacturer.

The other witnesses are a heavy, dull-faced police officer, a farming grocer's clerk and Bix, the painter.

SHIP TRUST SUED

Defendants Asked to Repay Alleged Loss of $1,005,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—A suit for the recovery of $1,005,000 has just been begun in the supreme court of Nassau county, in Mineola, L. I., against James Hesen Hyde, former vice president of the Equitable, James W. Alexander, its former president; Gage E. Tarbell, Charles B. Alexander, Daniel Leroy Dresser, Stuyvesant Fish, George C. Boldt, Perry Belmont, Geo. J. Gould and a number of other prominent men, stockholders of the Commonwealth Trust Company and of the North American Company, who financed the United States Shipbuilding trust in 1902.

Charles W. Mayer, the plaintiff, alleges that he lost the amount named in connection with the flotation of the shipbuilding company through the unlawful acts of the trust company and other defendants named, and asks the court to compel them to make good his loss.

BENARD SHAW ILL

Dramatist's Condition Causes Anxiety to His Friends

LONDON, Feb. 3.—George Bernard Shaw, the dramatist, is seriously ill and his condition is causing great anxiety to his friends. His illness, which was regarded as slight at first, is now admitted to be much worse and the chances of his recovery are said to be slight. His malady is said to be an affection of the bones.

HO! LIPTON AGAIN

Sir Thomas Gages With Longing on America's Cup

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—English dispatches state that Sir Thomas Lipton has still an eye on the America's cup. The consensus of opinion seems to be, across the water, that if the New York Yacht Club will agree to modify the racing rules relating to measurements, the popular Irishman will at once commission Alfred Miles, the Glasgow naval architect, to design and Denny Brothers of Dunbarton to build a Shamrock IV.

A great many things will have to be taken into consideration before another race can be definitely arranged. Yachtsmen on this side are divided as to the advisability of allowing Sir Thomas to try for the cup again under any but the old conditions.

North Texas Telephone Company of Pecos Gap, Delta county, filed an amendment increasing its capital from $5,000 to $10,000.

His Advice

What do you think we had better do to stop the railroads? asked the man who is patriotic but nervous.

NEW SCHEDULE ON INTERURBAN

To Take Effect Sunday, February 4

NEW ERA in electric transportation — swift, clean, comfortable cars. The Interurban way between Fort Worth and Dallas.

The Special Interurban car to Dallas, which has been leaving at 4:55 a. m., will, beginning on the morning of February 4, leave the courthouse at 4:20 a. m., and will arrive at Dallas at 5:20 a. m.

This Fort Worth passengers are drawn nearer to this splendid portion of imperial Texas.

problem no man can solve. Electricity is a force. Friendship is a force. One is as definite and understandable as the other.

There is anybody who has not at some time wondered at the success of some man whose talents and abilities seemed quite out of proportion to the importance of the place he filled in the life around him?

Success is a quality that belongs to friendship, or to the family, or to the social relations, quite as much as to business. To hold the loyal affection of one's own family, the esteem of one's neighbors, to be thought of with kindness by one's business associates—this marks a success that surpasses any given to man to achieve.

Every heart enjoys loving. Don't argue about it. It is true. The only trouble about the habit is that it becomes as many different ideals of beauty as men hold as to types of beauty. It is easy to make our affections a burden for those we single out for them.

Spontaneous unthought affection is one of life's wonders—and one of its blessings—but, like some other gifts, its appearance sometimes causes embarrassment. There is no place to put it. The gift is unthought, and the recipient is already occupied.

The man who gives out of his abundance kindness to others, who receives gratefully every manifestation of good will from his fellows with no sense of oppression or burden, has won the greatest success that can come to any man.

A reading of the will of the late Marshall Field illustrates the point aimed at in this sermonette. One of the three or four richest men in the world, he yet had time and thought and care in disposing of the fortune he had built up.

How to Fool a Lazy Liver with Artificial Exercise

EVERY serious Sickness has a small beginning. And, in nine cases out of ten that small beginning is made in the Bowels.

Indigestion is the beginning of most diseases.

It paves the way for all others.

Lack of exercise, hasty eating, improper food, are its first causes.

Laziness, and postponement, permits it to grow into Chronic Constipation, which means life-long Discomfort.

It isn't necessary to be sick-a-bed, you know, in order to be mighty uncomfortable.

Even slight indigestion affects the nerves, dulls the mind, and obscures the merry sunshine of Life.

And, indigestion once started, grows fast, corrodes temperament, and discounts happiness, good cheer, capacity.

It does that long before it puts you on the Sick list.

Every thinking Doctor knows why.

- If your tongue is slightly coated,
- If your breath is under suspicion,
- If your Head feels a trifle heavy or dull,
- If digestion seems even a little slow,
- If Heartburn, Belching, Colic or Restlessness begin to show themselves,
- That's the time to eat a Cascaret.

Don't imagine the Cascaret is ineffective because it is pleasant to eat as Candy. It acts as pleasantly as it tastes. It is as congenial to your Bowels as it is to your Palate.

It is not a "Bile-driver" which floods out your stomach today with fluid juices needed for tomorrow.

But, it acts like Exercise, instead. It stimulates the muscular lining of the Bowels and Intestines, so that they mechanically digest food and drive out the waste.

The time to use a Cascaret is when you first suspect you need one.

The only way to have them ready to use precisely when you need them is to carry them constantly in your pocket, as you do a Watch or a Lead pencil.

The ten cent box of Cascarets is made thin, flat, round-edged, and small, for this precise purpose.

Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

IT'S FREE TO OUR FRIENDS!

We want to send to our friends a beautiful French-designed, GOLD-PLATED BUBBON BOX, hard-enamelled in colors. It is a beauty for the dressing table. Ten cents in stamps is asked as a measure of good faith and to cover cost of Cascarets, with which this dainty trinket is loaded. 718 Seed in-day, mentioning this paper. Address: Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago or New York.

CATTLE SHRINKING ON BOSQUE RANGE

Grass Is Not Good as Usual on Account of Heavy Rains

Valley Mills is in Bosque county and from its flourishing country came A. F. Edmondson Friday with cars of cattle for this market by Parker Kellum.

"Grass down with us is plentiful and has not rotted much even with the excessive rains of the fall and early winter. Cattle on the range are doing fairly, but have shrunk some and are thinner than usual, cattle wish Everybody feeds range cattle more or less on sorghum, cotton seed and cake (kaffir) than they do in the past. Our county is becoming a good stock farming country and every farmer is raising cattle and small bunches of sheep, besides hogs, etc. The Germans especially are adapting themselves to this kind of stock raising and all farmers are breeding a good grade of Durham and Hereford crosses, which we think makes a fine animal for all purposes. Since the Fort Worth market was established we can dispose of classes of stock at remunerative prices that before that event happened we could not sell at all because they would not stand the wear and tear incident to getting to market in the north, and the indifferent prices after they got there. The largest ranch in our county now is the Fitzhugh place, as it was formerly known, which has been purchased by Reynolds & Miller, and which will be used hereafter as a breeding farm for registered cattle. We are all much pleased with the location of this farm among the hills, and the first place it proves that Mr. Reynolds, who knows his business if anyone does, considers Bosque county as suitable in every way for stock farming and breeding the best classes of cattle, and secondly it will enable us to supply ourselves with acclimated registered steers and dams without fear of fever and consequent loss.

There are no large lot of market cattle to come, but there are several small bunches on feed, among the feeders being Charles Cagle and A. A. McNeill, the latter feeding mixed Johnson grass and alfalfa. Alfalfa does very well with us and will grow in favor as its good qualities become better known to the people. An acreage of four cuttings a year is about what we get with a yield on an average of one ton to the acre. When cattle get used to it I do not think it will hurt them in any way, but if they are very hungry and are turned into it they are apt to get much and then they will "blow" them, but most any kind of green feed will do that if eaten in the same way and in the same quantities.

"There are a good many small farms in the county, not in large flocks, but in small bunches, which in the aggregate furnish a lot of mutton for the market.

"Lands are being absorbed by farmers very rapidly and turned into stock farms. One is selling at $15 per acre, and cultivated land from $15 to $20. Not many of our people are selling their farms, but a few have done so when offered $35 per acre. Parker Kellum sold his 10,000 acre place for $15 per acre. Altogether we are in fine shape at the beginning of the year, and hope that everything will continue on through the year before us in the same way."

J. H. Winter, who resides in the Indian Territory, eight miles north of Denison, Texas, at Colbert, on the Katy, and who has a string of good feeding stuff, was interviewed with respect to conditions in his "neck of the woods."

"First," said he, "I want you to know I was born in Tarrant county. My father moved to Hunt county, while I was too small to remember, and then to Grayson county where I was raised and I think in present good part of old Texas. Everybody in our county feeds more or less, for we have no grass practically at all during the winter for stock on pasture on. It is true the winter or rescue grass comes on but it only gets of any real use about this time of the year, when the winter is more than half over. Sage grass, you know, never does amount to much after frost hits it, and is ready to fall down and decay whenever it rains hard.

"I am a 'non-resident.' We raise corn, cotton and hay and for these products have a fine country. We expect that statehood will come, but are too busy to pay much attention to what is going on, but we suppose the politicians will allow the people to have what they want whenever they get things to suit themselves and not before."

Conditions Out West

E. E. Teague, on his return from Crowley, where he had been to see his mother, visited the Live Stock Exchange and very pleasantly yielded to the interrogation points that were aimed at him and said:

"My sister, Mrs. John Clark, and I found mother much better and I am on my way to the ranch and will meet my sister today and we will continue our journey to Merkel together. I have been over the greater part of west Texas, and I have seen its best, but I do not think that there is any part of it that is any better, if as good, as that portion in the south of the divide between the Brazos and Colorado rivers, situated in the northern part of Runnels, Coleman and Coke and southern parts of the adjoining counties of Taylor and Nolan. Grass is extra fine now and the 'needle grass' having shed its needles is eagerly devoured by the stock. This grass, not being so thick a sod as the 'curly mesquite,' does not hold the water as the 'curly' does and consequently it dries or evaporates much more quickly and saves the grass from rotting. Cattle are in splendid shape everywhere, except on the divide, where there is no protection from the northers. There are a good many more stock cattle in the country than I suspected, but shipping cattle will be light. However, Odum has a large number in his pastures in the south and west part of Nolan county. His ranch interests are very extensive, how many acres I do not remember, and he has many stock cattle—white faced and all kinds. Mrs. Humphrey of Wingate, Runnels county, also has a lot of shipping cattle on her ranch which is managed by Owen Parish, I am manager for Sterling Clark's ranch of 8,000 acres. This place is five miles from Spring creek and six or seven from Moro. You know the country and that it is a good one. This used to be the 'buffalo garden' during the winter, and the famous 'trap' through the divide that they passed through on their way to the vast southern pastures still retains the name 'Buffalo Gap.' John Clark, who has a 60-acre farm just a few miles from here, and married a sister, hunted the buffalo over this country as early as 1872, and still grows enthusiastic when those times of the 'wild cattle' are recalled. We had 3 1/2 inches of snow three weeks ago which lay well, but no rain."

sentative, who receives messages through Uncle Sam's mails at Valley View, says that besides cattle which he feeds he cultivates 400 acres in cotton, corn, wheat, oats and sorghum, and has some Johnson grass which latter he declares is good feed both for cattle and hogs, especially if you plow up the roots for the hogs. He has a few pasture lands left west of Valley View, but not much, and he has a part of what there is rented for the grass. The German colonists at Lindsey and Minister are all stock farmers and raise cattle, horses, mules, and hogs and make a success of the business. "I am on my way to Tyler," he remarked, "to trade for a Jersey cow for milk purposes. We have a stock law now in Valley View and the Jerseys being small and generally peaceful are the best for town purposes where one cannot keep a pen full of cattle."

Frost Hurt Grass

John Lovelady, a Mitchell county stockman from Colorado City, was in and was caught talking about his country to Marion Sansom. He had the usual pride and enthusiasm of the west Texas stockman for his territory and had nothing to say about the farmer's invasion of the stockman's privileges, but said that the grass was as good as dead for the season. The frost having killed it while it was soft. Otherwise things were in as good shape as could be desired for the end of January and beginning of February.

Cattle Are Thin

W. B. Worsham, a director in the Cassidy-Southern Commission Co., and a wealthy and influential stockman and banker, whose domicile is at Henrietta in Clay county, was a visitor Friday at the Live Stock Exchange, and was in his usual cheerful and happy mood.

"The grass is not good as it could be wished," said he, "because of the excessive moisture produced by the rains of the fall and early winter. In consequence the cattle are thin, this condition being superinduced in addition to the poor grass by the large number of ticks that are on hand to annoy the stock. However, the tallow weed is coming on fast, and we old-timers called it, 'the salvation weed,' and this will be a great help in getting fresh on the thin cattle. There are not many feeders, but I am feeding my stock to keep them up with cotton seed, cake, sorghum and Johnson grass. I am not hurt by Johnson grass, but am rather benefited, for it is a good feed when green and a fine hay, good for any kind of stock and the roots plowed up in the fall of the year prove very satisfactory feed for cattle and hogs. Of course, it is rather apt to hurt some one who plants it on cotton or corn, and receives a lot of abuse, but to the cattleman it is all right.

"There are quite a lot of steers to come out to market, about the usual per cent I presume. Wheat and oats sell well with us, and Johnson grass does not interfere in the least with the successful growth of either. Sorghum does well up with us, as it does everywhere in Texas, and Milo maize and Kaffir corn do not do well with us, as for some reason it does not head well, and, again, there are so many birds to destroy the grain.

"Yes, the farmers are taking up the land very fast, and Johnson grass is now held at from $15 to $25 per acre, and I am of the opinion that there will not be any fall in price. When the country is settled up by the communities of agricultural people, and the soil is begun to be cultivated, it immediately assumes value that has never been attained to it while held for grazing purposes, and the assessors immediately assess it as 'cultivated' and give it a value as high as what it had as raw land, and it retains and increases this value as the population grows and the demands upon the people for more funds to conduct the public business. For these reasons, therefore, I do not think that the lands of Texas will ever be as cheap in any communities as they have been while in the hands of the stockmen for grazing purposes alone. All my stock interests are doing finely."

NEWS, REVIEWS AND COMMENT OF THE NEW BOOKS AND MAGAZINES

YOLANDA

Charles Major distinguished himself before the Macmillan company published "Yolanda, Maid of Burgundy," but, if he had written nothing else than the life of this fair woman, it were probably enough to place his name among the eligibles to fame among subscribers...

The charming Princess of Burgundy, while the handling of the plot shows how well founded is the reputation of the author. The story, carried to a happy consummation after the usual space of doubt and fear necessary to retain the interest of the ordinary reader...

A MAKER OF HISTORY

"A Maker of History," by E. Phillips Oppenheim (Little, Brown & Co.) serves to show what great significance may hinge upon even the blowing out of a railway car window of a single piece of paper...

"The Coming of the Tide" is an agreeable romance by Margaret Sherwood (Houghton, Mifflin & Co.). The scene is laid in a New England town. The hero is the son of a reserved, exclusive old family...

ardent feelings about apple dumplings." "It is true that I have been exposed to education, but I only took a very mild type." "He drank only in the presence of ladies because he was sure, as he explained, that if he followed such a rule, he should never exceed moderation."

Popular Science Monthly

"The Fairy Godmother-in-Law" by Oliver Herford, may be described as a literary lark. The title relates to the first "poem," which is Cinderella retold. It is as clever and unimaginable and astonishing as only Oliver Herford knows how to be, and even quite sad folk may get a laugh out of it if they try...

The opening article in the Popular Science Monthly for February is an account of the passing of China's ancient literary examination system, by Professor Charles Keyser Edmunds, of the Canton Christian College. This is a most interesting and scholarly article of unusual importance.

Octave Thanet has a pleasant way of continuing her characters from one book to another. Harry Leroy, for example, the labor leader mentioned in "The Man of the Hour," had appeared already in "The Heart of Toll," Harry Lossing, also in the popular novel, and figured in "The Heart of Toll" and "Stories of a Western Town."

The leading feature article of "Success" Magazine for February is the beginning of a history of the telephone industry in this country. Under the title "Fighting the Telephone Trust," Paul Latzke tells the dramatic story of the battle of six thousand independent operating telephone companies in the United States to overpower the gigantic trust that operates two and a half million telephones...

"Nothing is so bracing to courage as company." "I'm afraid I came awfully near being bumptious." "I shall never learn to hold my opinions and my tongue at the same time, I guess."

"The unions are a good deal like a lawyer. If you've got anything coming he'll see you ain't beat out of it. But he can't make it for you." "We've got to judge a man by what he does, but I guess the Lord will judge us more than our doings."

Spring announcements contain accounts of the chief books which the Macmillan company will publish between December and June, including such notable volumes as "The Life of Lord Randolph Churchill," by his son, Mr. Winston Spencer Churchill; "The Progress of American Playwrights," by Morton Menpes; "Pre-Raphaelitism and the Pre-Raphaelites," by Mr. William Holman Hunt; new plays by Mr. Clyde Fitch and Mr. Stephen Phillips; new novels by Mr. Weston Churchill, Mr. Owen Wister, Mr. Eden Phillips, and Mr. Egerton Castle; "Tarry at Home Travels," by Dr. Edward Everett Hale; and "The Bitter Cry of the Children," by Mr. John Spargo.

THE BEYOND

BY ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

(Copyright, 1906, by W. R. Hearst)

IT seemeth such a little way to me Across to that strange country—the Beyond; And yet not strange, for it has grown to be The home of those of whom I am so fond; They make it seem familiar and most dear, As journeying friends bring distant regions near.

SO close it lies that when my sight is clear I think I almost see the gleaming strand. I know I feel those who have gone from here Come near enough sometimes to touch my hand. I often think but for our veiled eyes We should find Heaven right round about us lies.

I CANNOT make it seem a day to dread When from this dear earth I shall journey out To that still dearer country of the dead, And join the lost ones so long dreamed about. I love this world, yet shall I love to go And meet the friends who wait for me, I know.

I NEVER stand above a bier and see The seal of death set on some well-loved face But that I think, "One more to welcome me When I shall cross the intervening space Between this land and that one 'over there'; One more to make the strange Beyond seem fair."

AND so for me there is no sting to death, And so the grave has lost its victory. It is but crossing—with abated breath, And white, set face—a little strip of sea, To find the loved ones waiting on the shore, More beautiful, more precious than before.

HEART'S DESIRE

"Heart's Desire," by Emerson Hough (Macmillan Co., $1.50), takes its title from an imaginary ideal western mining town the inhabitants of which are made up of men—a veritable "Eden, without an Eve," until about the time of the opening of the story. As such, the place is full of men who, for the most part, have had a short, checkered career and it is intimated that, in almost every case, a woman had something to do with the desire for reunion from female society which found its expression in their abode at Heart's Desire.

Engaged as chief counsel for the railway corporation, the young man ascertains that he is expected to aid in the robbery of the community by assisting to plat the town anew, while the emissaries of the company hasten to the test, the young man refuses to join in the conspiracy against Heart's Desire and flings the $1,000 retainer with the millionaire's feet at a public meeting.

Free water drinking is another essential to vitality and to the development of staying power. All the operation, absorption, elimination of poisonous waste, and so on, are carried out by means of water, and an insufficient amount of water in the system means embarrassment of every function. The body of a man of average weight contains more than half a barrel of water, and such a body needs for its proper operation at least two quarts daily of pure water.

Later the railroad is built, or about to be built, after the young man's election to be delegate of the territory in congress and his final "making good" with the young lady, and all ends happily. The book is more valuable for the preservation of certain forms of speech and customs of the earlier West than as literature.

FOUR TRACK NEWS

Magnet, by Henry Harrison Lewis, is a description of the emptiness of modern business establishments. Anderson, one of the cleverest of our humorous artists, contributes a set of special sketches of some of the best known cartoonists of the country.

The February number of the Four Track News opens with a most interesting article from the pen of Bertha Smith, entitled "The Kitting of the Manhattan Stocking." This is descriptive of the growth of New York city on Manhattan, from its small beginning at Battery park until it embraced the entire island, describing how it wove into its limits the many little towns that had sprung up along both the East and North rivers.

magazine for February. The text has a definite, interesting, well rounded theme, and the photographs were especially taken of actors and actresses distinguished in character parts, by Alice Boughton. The frontpiece, a photograph of Mme. Bertha Kolich, the Jewish actress is especially effective. For perhaps the first time we have got away from the photograph of an attractive woman, in an attractive gown descending an attractive staircase: it is a relief.

SAINT Valentine, to you one late did pray, AND your assistance plaintively besought. IN bitter tears she was, and much distraught, NOW that some knave had stolen her heart away. THIS little that I ask—I heard her say, VOUCHSAFE that he return but what is mine, AND many a candle shall be—deck thy shrine. LO, then a miracle took place that day— ELSE did I dream, for thou, O Saint, didst speak; NAMEST thou reward for stolen property? THERREAT soft blushes did beset her cheek; IVE naught to give, except myself, quoth she. NO thief am I, but such reward as this ENTICED me so, that straight I stole a kiss.

OUR LAY SERMON

It was Napoleon Bonaparte who once remarked that he would give two hundred millions for a man. "I have two hundred millions in my coffers," said the little Corsican, "but I would give them all for Marshal Ney." Napoleon felt the need of a man at that moment, which was one of the crucial periods in his eventful life, and he would have given all he possessed for the privilege of leaning on a manly man he knew to be worthy of his utmost trust.

Napoleon Bonaparte has passed off the scene of the world's stage, and no longer would give the coffers of his empire for one man, but the demand for manly men goes on just the same as ever. The world needs men in every walk of life today just as badly as Napoleon Bonaparte needed the true and gallant Marshal Ney. And the great trouble with the general situation is that real men are so scarce.

Men in every line of business today are hunting for men. They are craving the touch of a hand they know they can rely upon in any kind of emergency and that will be true even to the death. They hunger for the presence of the one man in their business affairs they know they can trust and lean upon when business cares rest heavily upon them. There are thousands of such opportunities existing around and about us, but the eyes of the average young man of today seem strangely closed to existing opportunities.

Fort Worth business men are continually looking for the man they need at the head of some great department—a man of probity, of energy, push and hustle, who will strive to do something more for his employer than draw his weekly or monthly stipend. They are looking for practical men—men who have an idea about watching the office clock and sighing for the moment they can pull on their coats and hike to more congenial surroundings. They want men who are more interested in the development of the firm's business than in the playing of the races or the quality of the liquid refreshments dispensed at some convenient grocery. They want men who can do a man's part and who are willing to do that part every day in the week without any form of complaint or remonstrance.

If the average young man of the day could be brought to properly realize these things and quit the usual process of rainbow chasing through the general disposition to acquire a living with just as little effort as possible, and realize that every young man's opportunity really lies within his own grasp, there would soon be a wonderful change in the situation. The young man who cultivates and develops his own strength of character and is not content with his work until he has evolved a manly man is creating his own opportunity.

Rather, he is putting himself in line to attract the favorable attention of the business world that is on the qui vive for just such material as he is fashioning.

There is one thing, too, that the young man of today can absolutely rely upon, and that is when he starts out with the mission in life to make a man of himself, the world is going to meet him more than half way and render the closing part of the program a matter of very easy procedure. If the young man starts on the right foot he will have no difficulty in overcoming every obstacle, for watchful eyes are on his every movement. If he is a real man, or promises to develop into the real man, there will be plenty of hands extended to help him over the hard places.

To this extent at least, we are the architects of our own destiny. Power and success lies all around and about us. All we have to do is to extend a comprehending hand and grasp that which lies within easy reach. The great cry that has been heard throughout the world since the days when Adam left the garden of Eden has been for a man—not a thing clothed in the semblance of manhood, with cigarette between its lips and the smell of a swill tub on its breath, but a real man, fashioned after the style of his Divine Creator, and with the insignia of manhood written upon his brow, betrayed in his manly tread and reflected in his every action.

And it is not a difficult undertaking for any young man to ascend to such heights. All he has to do is to eliminate the streak of yellow dog that is said to permeate all human nature, call his manhood into requisition and resolve that he will be a man.

Young man, you cannot afford to do otherwise. You cannot afford to remain a travesty on manhood when all the world is crying out and begging for the privilege of rewarding true manhood. You cannot be content to occupy any other position than that of a real man among men.

The world is full of opportunities. The demand is for men to see and grasp them. Let the other fellow remain the heaver of wood and drawer of water.

VERY GRATIFYING INCREASE

Tarrant county will have an increase in voting strength this year of 2,232 over last year, according to the number of poll tax receipts that have been issued, and of this number the city shows an increase of about 1,000. Last year the number of voters qualifying in the city amounted to 4,620; this year the number reaches 5,513.

The total number of qualified voters in the county this year is 11,665, as against 8,431 last year. This is a very gratifying showing, when it is considered in connection with the remarkable indifference shown all over the state in the matter of paying poll tax. North Fort Worth shows the largest increase of any voting precinct in the county, the actual figures being 799. Some increase is shown at every voting place, which serves to demonstrate that the wheels of progress are revolving in every portion of Tarrant county.

It will be remembered that Tarrant county showed the largest increase of taxable values of any county in the state, and that fact has been very favorably commented on by people all over Texas. The large increase in voting strength is but additional evidence that the county is well to the front in all things, and it is doubtful if any other county can exceed the showing made in this respect.

As a matter of fact, there are considerably more voters in Tarrant county than revealed by these figures, but they will not be permitted to vote this year. They have suffered themselves to be placed among the list of those present but not voting, and when the occasion arises for the exercise of the right of suffrage during the year, as it will arise many times, they are going to be very remorseful over their action.

Every citizen owes it to his country and himself to exercise the right of suffrage. Unless the citizen takes the proper interest in this matter good government is not possible. Many men have turned from politics with genuine disgust, and are content to let things rock along without let or hindrance, but this is all wrong. Every citizen should do his duty in the premises and qualify every year to exercise the right of suffrage.

Every man who failed to pay his poll tax this year is not in it. When the political fight opens up at a lively clip as it will during the next few months, the only thing he can do is to stand on the corner with the women and children and watch the procession go by.

PRODUCTION OF HOGS IN TEXAS

The big packing houses located in this city have created a great demand for hogs, and a demand that as yet the Texas producers have been utterly unable to supply. It is a humiliating confession to make, but the bulk of the hogs purchased here and converted into packing house products are not to the manner born in Texas. Commenting on this feature of the situation, the San Antonio Stockman and Farmer says:

In 1904 Fort Worth packers paid $2,651,000 for hogs, and of this amount $2,384,000 went to Indian Territory and Oklahoma shippers. Other packing houses in Texas also purchased the great bulk of their hogs outside this state, many being bought in Kansas and Missouri. Texas can grow hogs as cheaply as can be done south of the Rio Grande, and certainly farmers in those sections are producing hogs at a profit, or they would not continue in the business from year to year. It is some consolation, however, to know that Texas packers were able to buy more hogs from Texas farmers last year than the year before, and we hope that the year 1906 will show a still greater number of hogs produced in the state.

It is gratifying to note that the production of hogs in Texas is very considerably on the increase, and all over the state the farmers are turning more and more in the direction of growing the festive porker to supply the Fort Worth demand. But the great trouble is that the Texas farmers have so long been accustomed to the idea of eating northern cured bacon that they have lost sight of the fact that hogs a plenty and to spare can be produced right here at home. As the most progressive ones in each neighborhood turned in the right direction, however, others will be induced to try hog raising as an experiment until the movement will gradually attain the proper proportions.

There is no reason on earth why the Fort Worth packing houses should have to go outside the state for one single hog, except that the farmers of this state are too indifferent to a golden opportunity. Money can be made in the hog business a great deal easier than in the cotton business. The production of hogs is directly along the line of diversification—a plan that has commended itself to the farmers of the entire state, and they should take hold of it with avidity.

It is to be hoped that the end of the present year will show a very decided change for the better in the situation, and that Texas farmers instead of getting the short end of the large amount annually paid out here for hogs will be taking the great bulk of it, as they should have been doing ever since the packing houses were created. They are entitled to it and can have it if they will only go after it.

The Texas supreme court has declared the anti-gambling law valid, and this is a severe and distinct blow to the knights of the green cloth.

Dallas is the only county in the state that leads Tarrant in the matter of qualified voters. And the time is not far distant when we will give Dallas a run for her money.

Democratic members of congress are apprehensive that President Roosevelt is about to swallow the party, and they are now making something of an effort to herd to themselves.

All railroads entering Fort Worth must increase their terminal facilities this year. So says General Manager Thorne, of the Texas and Pacific, one of the safest and most conservative railroad men in Texas.

The fact of the matter is that Fort Worth is now growing so fast that even the railroads are at a loss to know what to do with the situation. They cut out a garment that becomes too small before it can be adjusted.

There are a lot of safe crackers operating in different portions of Texas, and the Montague bank robbers are given the usual credit. The killing of a noted crook at Montague in connection with the attempted robbery at that place is pretty good evidence that a bunch of those kind of people have doubtless been attracted to the state from the east by stories that have gotten abroad as to the prosperity existing in Texas.

President Harvie Jordan has made it so uncomfortable for Director of the Census North that the gentleman expresses the hope that congress will relieve him of any further connection with cotton statistics. If Dr. North will open communication with a certain distinguished citizen of Calvert he will find a fellow-feeling that might serve to keep him from feeling lonesome.

Candidate Monta J. Moore, of Cameron, who aspires to be the next governor of Texas, is out in a long public statement to the effect that the lumber trust has Texas by the tail and a down hill pull. He might tell his troubles to the attorney general. That gentleman is alleged to be listening attentively now to all the trust talk that is wafted in his direction.

There are too many burglaries being committed in Fort Worth, and the perpetrators of these usually nocturnal acts should be run to earth and given just what they deserve. The police department should be given all necessary assistance in the matter of freeing Fort Worth of this class of undesirable citizens.

Again you are reminded that The Sunday Telegram is just such a paper as every progressive citizen delights in reading. Get a copy and you will find it measures just exactly up to the requirements of the situation.

A strong effort is being made to have all the states adopt a uniform insurance law, and if the plans outlined can be adopted it will at least have a tendency to greatly simplify the situation in dealing with these big combinations of capital.

Fort Worth will send a strong delegation to Dallas for the purpose of bringing the next annual meeting of the cattlemen back home, and notice is served on other Texas cities and towns that there is no use in making an application.

President Calvin says the Farmers' Union of Texas is strictly a non-political organization. The scheming politicians will please take due notice and govern themselves accordingly.

AN EVERYDAY ESSAY

A young man committed suicide the other day in the Western part of this state. "I have been bad, mother, but now good bye. I am sorry for any trouble I have made," were the concluding words of his letter. He was found dead with his head resting upon the Bible.

Pathetic is a mild term for such a tragedy. A young man hardly in the prime of manhood raising his hand against his own life and leaving the sad message "I have been bad."

Do you ask what drove him to this end? Painfully conscious at the last of not doing the right thing, it wore upon his nerves and then he thought of his mother.

He had promised here again and again he would turn over a new leaf. His temptation was his master. He knew it, but he could not throw it off. Again and again he struggled with it, and thought of his mother, but alas! he was at its mercy.

He opened the good book, and every line he read cast a reflection upon his past. The failure to please his mother, with the awakening words of the Bible, pressed heavily upon him. He reached the crisis of his despair, and then all is over.

Many a young man will fall into the same pit of destruction. He must come to himself. He is not himself when at the beck and call of some temptation.

As long as he goes on having a good time and escapes scot free he is perfectly satisfied. It is this satisfaction that is the seat of his trouble. It is our contentment with ourselves that blinds us. Every temptation throws so much dust in our eyes.

Seldom do any of us get into trouble with our eyes open. It is the young man who will not be misled by weakness that stands on top.

He knows it. He even grates his teeth and gives many mortal knockout blows.

How many awake out of their sleep of indifference like Rip Van Winkle, wondering what has taken place during this interval! Remorse sets in and puts in some telling work. It is too much to stand. This present man could not stand it.

There was the promise to mother. What will mother think of me now? Never mind! Mother is the best forgiving creature on earth. She will stand by you in all emergencies.

Don't worry over what mother thinks. She will always help you to get back to where you want to be. Only screw up your courage to the sticking place. Spare her feelings in reading despondent notes and from witnessing the ruins of a misspent life.

No boy should lose heart as long as his mother is around.

To bequeath to her the memory of self destruction is the most cruel legacy.

Says Coleridge: A mother is a mother still, The holiest thing alive.

Let the world knock you around as you please, but always remember that mother is somewhere near at hand to keep up your spirits.

To lay down your burdens with your life at her feet is the sorrow she can never forget.

A MORAL REVIVAL

When the conscience of a community is quokened the effect is made the same as that which takes place when only an individual is concerned. There is a desire for better things in all respects. There is new reverence for law and new desire to repress the lawless. The determination to have cleaner streets and more honorable public officials affects the attitude of the communities most interested toward every form of vice and all laxity in the enforcement of the laws. The truth is that the American people are experiencing a far-reaching moral revival. It manifests itself in different degrees and forms, but in its essence it is the same in many states and cities.—Cleveland Leader.

SUCH A BUSY YOUNG ONE!

BEATRICE FAIRFAX SAYS

Self confidence, when not carried to excess, is a wonderful help to success.

When you begin an undertaking do so with the idea that you are going to succeed.

Don't be fearful that you are doing the wrong thing all the time.

Lack of confidence will hold you back, and you know the old saying, "Nothing venture, nothing have."

You must run a certain risk in order to succeed.

And if you fall the first time, don't be daunted, go at it with renewed energy and the determination to win in the long run.

Don't be constantly asking the advice and opinions of others.

If you feel doubtful of the wisdom of the course you are pursuing, think carefully over all your friends. Select the one of whose common sense you can most rely and consult him.

Even if he is not an expert in your line of business he can give you good advice as to whom it would be well to consult.

If you consult every one you know you will grow so confused that you won't know where you stand.

Every one will have a different theory and in the attempt to follow them all you will arrive nowhere.

Once convinced that you are on the right track follow it unflinchingly.

For there is a best way to do everything if you are fortunate enough to find it.

Never make a change unless you are convinced that you will benefit by it.

Don't underestimate your own powers of judgment. You are a grown man or woman, and you must have some idea of which is the best course to follow.

You know it is a moral impossibility to please every one, and though you may be doing exactly the right thing, your neighbor may think you are all wrong.

But perhaps your neighbor does not know half as much about it as you do yourself, so don't worry over what he says.

Too much humility is just as tiresome a quality as too much conceit.

You will never succeed unless you learn to step out by yourself and trust to your own common sense, judgment and intuition.

Acknowledge your blunders, but don't talk too much about them.

It will only shake people's confidence in you.

Don't get blue and discouraged over your failures; fight, fight, fight, until you have your feet on the ladder of success, and when you get there hold on for dear life.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

A self satisfied man is always condescend.

It's not good for lovers to be too good to be true.

Many a man who knows his place has his eye on a better one.

Strange to say, the speaking likeness of a woman goes without saying.

Be sure you are right—but don't be too sure that everybody else is wrong.

Many an otherwise truthful man will lie about the fun he had while camping out.

Our idea of a fool man is one who waits for the bartender to tell him when he has enough.

Many a man looks upon a marriage license as a blotter with which he expects to blot out his past.

It frequently happens that a woman who was proud of a man as a beau is ashamed of him as her husband.

When wise thieves fall out they proceed to plant their graft before getting themselves investigated by a legislative committee.

To die for a woman may be brave, but the man who leads her to the altar and agrees to make a living for her is the real hero.

If a woman is wise she will inform her dressmaker that she needs her new dress at least a week before she actually does need it.

Some states have a law requiring women to remove their hats in a theater—and there should be one to prevent men from stumbling over a row of women between the acts.—Chicago News.

VERSES THAT RING

OUR RAIMENT WON'T COUNT

We've heard all kinds of preaching— Some in dulcet tones beseeching, And some in words so kind and sweet our heart was in our throat.

We've heard how our transgressions Outnumbered our professions, But we never knew our meanness till the preacher pulled his coat.

We have turned the sacred pages That have stood the test of ages And read the good old Bible till we know the text by rote.

We have seen how animation Was all started by creation, But there's nothing in its pages that insists we wear a coat.

Men preach in style that's graphic, Some have a face seraphic; While others talk in ways sublime that makes your senses float.

Some preachers satisfy us, And others gratify us, And some in heat of ardor feel called to shed their coat.

But look the good book over From front to back of cover, You'll find there's nothing stated 'bout the clothes you ought to wear.

And he ye saint or sinner, Long started or beginner, You'll face the bar of judgment for exactly what you are.

—Clarence A. Brakeman.

AMONG THE EXCHANGES

There is a growing suspicion that there is more or less politics behind this 15 cent cotton idea, and it is bound to react so far as the men who are boosting the project are concerned.—Telegram.

There is not likely any politics in it, simply an effort to organize a force of material that won't be organized. The only holding of cotton that will be of any account is the individual holder. When a man gets strong enough financially to house his cotton, and say we will wait awhile, it may keep the price.—Glimmer Mirror.

The politics behind the 15-cent cotton movement is believed to lie in the aspirations of the men who are fathering it. They may desire to pose as the ones who led the children of Israel out of the wilderness and claim an appropriate reward.

Congressman Gillespie is evidently attempting to make good his claim that although he did nothing of record during his first term, he wasn't idle at all, but was quietly gaining information and experience from which to act intelligently during the second holding of the office. Gillespie made a sure enough hit in his investigation resolution, and though it is the first thing he has ever done, his stock at home has begun to get up in consequence.—Cleburne Enterprise.

Gillespie has done other things—one of which was to defeat the congressional aspirations of a favorite son of Johnson county twice in succession. The memory of which seems to linger about Cleburne still. The Tarrant county man has made this district a faithful and efficient representative.

WOODEN BABY SPOILS PLAY

"Grierson's Way" Is Strong Ibsenesque Drama IS FULL OF TRAGEDY H. V. Esmond Is Author, and Achieves Much Fame by Ability Shown

By Acton Davies NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—If you asked Mr. Henry Miller the star of "Grierson's Way," for the cause of the company at the Princess, he would probably lay all the blame on the blessed lay all the blame on the blessed baby, which plays such an important part in two of the principal acts, and I am not at all sure that he wouldn't be right.

Asked the Mayor However, wishing to be perfectly above board in the matter and falling to see why it could be any more harmful for a baby to leave its mother's arms for possibly ten minutes in the course of an evening than for children of three or four years older growth to play through an entire performance.

lar baby to appear, there would be a glut of infantile melodrama in the market. He refused. And Mr. Miller, reduced to Hobson's choice, was obliged to cast a mechanical doll for this most important part.

Tinge of Ibsen That there is a strong tinge of Ibsen in this play can be seen from this brief synopsis: The action passes in a flat-house at Chelsea. Pamela Keen, the daughter of an old sea captain, has loved Captain Aynesley Murray, a married man, not wisely, but very much too well, and finds herself in a desperate situation.

Two other men who live in the flat-house are desperately in love with Pamela. One of these is a crazy young violinist, who has lost his hand in a railway accident, and the other is old Jim Grierson, a man quite ancient enough to be Pamela's father.

Grierson, on learning of her situation, offers to save the girl by marrying her. He promises to take her away from England for a couple of years so that no one will know that the expected baby, when it arrives, is not his.

Asked the Mayor However, wishing to be perfectly above board in the matter and falling to see why it could be any more harmful for a baby to leave its mother's arms for possibly ten minutes in the course of an evening than for children of three or four years older growth to play through an entire performance.

Fort Worth theatergoers, let it be said with all charity, apparently have a habit of neglecting a good play the first season it appears and then turning out en masse the second season to see the same play presented by a company inferior to that offering it the first season, because the few people who saw it the first time were enthusiastic in their praise.

FLORENCE DAVIS AND ELLIOTT DEXTER IN "THE PLAYER MAID" AT GREENWALL'S THIS WEEK.

Orange lass, who took London by storm, was a slave of Sir Cholly Gibber, the English poet laureate, and a hundred of other lords and dandies, and finally she is married to the Bracciorille in the company of players at Covent Garden theater, in a historical figure around whom has been thrown, by the glamor of the stage, in perspective, a most alluring atmosphere.

NEW SENSATION IN AUTO PLAY

Thrilling Race of Express and Devil Car STAGE WORK PERFECT Most Startling Scene Beheld on Boards in Years Say Many Critics

Acton Davies NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—No one can ever consider "Bedford's Hope," the new automobile melodrama at the Fourteenth Street theater, as a promoter of melancholia. Quite unexpectedly this new play of Lincoln J. Carter's has caught the town. It promises to prove one of the greatest melodramatic successes of many seasons. The thrilling race between an express train, carrying the villain as excess baggage, and an automobile, in which the lovely heroine is hastening across the bad lands of Montana to save both her lover's honor and life, carries one back to the old days of "Blue Jeans" and "The Still Alarm"—those halcyon days when the good old Fourteenth street was the original manufactory of all sorts of stage shocks and thrills.

Coon Songs to "La Boheme" Steps Bessie Abbott

By Acton Davies NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—There were very few persons who witnessed Miss Bessie Abbott's successful debut at the Metropolitan Opera house Saturday night in "La Boheme" who remembered that she was in any way concerned in the making of a song which created quite a furore in both musical and unmusical circles some nine or ten years ago.

MOBS MAR ELECTIONS

English Campaigns Are Filled With Violence

PLATFORMS STORMED

Political Meetings Regularly Broken Up by Crowds in Great Britain

(BY LADY SOMERSET.)

(Copyright, 1906, by W. R. Hearst) Special Cable to The Telegram. LONDON, Feb. 3.—Courtesy is certainly not a characteristic of the English nation, and nowhere is this more apparent than during an election contest. During the hottest fight, when political feeling runs highest, the first rule in America is all that speakers should be heard.

There is unquestionably a restraint and an innate sense of decency throughout the continent which is singularly absent in the British public. During the recent campaign thirty-seven meetings in English towns were broken up, nineteen platforms stormed and carried, and over fifty speakers bowled down, two people killed and a couple of hundred injured.

We hear a great deal about the British love of fair play, but this boasted characteristic is strangely lacking in an English crowd. Violence and rudeness are traditional at election time, and an orderly election would be considered a sign that little interest was taken in the contest.

An English election audience who either differ or object to a speaker make him headbutted by boobying. The Americans show their disapproval by an empty hall, and it would be almost impossible to imagine what the four months' campaign of a presidential election would mean, were it conducted in the spirit which reigns in English election times.

There is, however, one vast difference which, to a certain extent, may account for the angry controversies which take place in our meetings. There is more scope for boobying in the English member of parliament, than there is in the American political representative, for instance a Republican stands for the Republican platform and a Democrat stands for the Democratic, but in England a conservative may have all sorts of personal views on many subjects, and these are appreciated, and more patiently listened to than in England. Moreover, an American political crowd is as a rule more good tempered and less bellicose than the surging masses that gather on polling days in this country.

Did Woman Vote? A sensation has been created here by the fact that a lady voted at the polls recently at East Marylebone. Fraulein Alwyn Russey is a teacher of music in that division of London. Eight years ago she came to America and took a studio at Welbeck house and paid rent. Her name was placed on the register, presumably by some mistake. Evidently, and consequently took the opportunity to assert her right.

At the door of the polling station the police tried to stop her, but when she showed her voting paper she was passed on, as it would have been illegal to prevent her recording her vote. The authorities stated that they would until they could consult their law books, but she said she was a busy woman, and was at last allowed to put her paper in the ballot box. And so one woman—and that a foreigner—has in this instance broken the iron gates that bar woman's way to the poll.

Signs are not wanting however that woman is becoming a power to reckon with in general elections. The girl creator, Miss Dorothy Hunter, who has stood on the platform pouring forth figures and facts which demolished the arguments of men who have held cabinet rank. But it was as a heckler that Miss Hunter first made her reputation. She put a series of pertinent questions to Mr. Broderick, one of the late conservative candidates, who displayed such mastery of her subject that there was no possibility of the unhappy victim wringing out of her relentless little hands, and he had a most uncomfortable quarter of an hour, under one of the most skillful cross-examiners whom he will ever have to encounter.

Miss Dorothy Hunter is the daughter of Sir Robert Hunter, who was appointed solicitor general of the post-office in 1882. Many women, however, are making their mark. Mrs. Herbert Gladstone has loyally helped her husband's election, which has now been splendidly victorious, and Lady Edmund Talbot, whose husband is a conservative, has been carrying on his entire campaign, owing to Lord Edmund's illness, by canvassing, speaking and enlisting sympathy of the voters.

GERMAN PRINCESS TO SEEK HEALTH

Report Is She Has Symptoms of Consumption

BY MALCOLM CLARKE.

(Copyright, 1906, by W. R. Hearst) Special Cable to The Telegram. BERLIN, Feb. 3.—All sorts of ugly rumors are afloat concerning the health of the young crown princess, who, it is said, shows alarming symptoms of incipient consumption, and who, it is heard, is to be hurried to a milder climate as soon as this can be done without arousing too much sensation. Only a month or so ago the young couple, who are, if possible, even happier than their royal ancestors, were eagerly looking forward to a certain event which was to happen in a few months, and which would have made the Kaiser and Grandfather, but their hopes have been crushed and now the court physicians are bending all their energies to save the young princess from succumbing to the dread disease which has claimed so many victims among the Romanoff family, to which her mother belongs.

Officially no statement has been given out concerning the health of Crown Princess Cecile, but no one at court tries to conceal that the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern is being made ready for a long Mediterranean cruise. When the order was first given to put the yacht in commission it was generally thought that the Kaiser, who was then suffering from a heavy cold, had been ordered to go south again this year, but it is now known that his health is exceedingly good, and that although he may go along, the cruise which will begin immediately after his silver wedding, has been arranged to give the future empress of Germany a much needed change of air.

The news of her falling health has created a deep impression here, as the crown princess is exceedingly popular because of her simple, charming and unaffected manners. There is one reason why Germany is better entitled than any other European nation to meddle in the affairs of Morocco, which will probably be used as an argument at the Algeiras conference now in session, but which nevertheless is interesting and little known.

It is a fact that the present sultan of that semi-civilized country has German blood in his veins, his grandfather having been a German. Her name was Saghita, and she was a native of the grand duchy of Hesse. One hundred and sixteen years ago, in 1790, when she was only 18 years old, she was made a prisoner by Moroccan pirates, who sold her as a slave to Sultan Moulay, who fell in love with the German girl and made her his fourth wife.

Documents left by an Austrian army officer who resided at Tangier at that time, and who often was a guest at the sultan's palace, leave no doubt of the fact that his officers in Morocco is a direct descendant of the German girl, who until her death was always longing to get back to her native country, but who died within the walls of the harem.

Kaiser Likes Freytag's Book "Colonel Freytag has expressed exactly my ideas of how an ideal soldier should feel in his book, 'The Personality in War,' the Kaiser is reported to have said the other day. The colonel's book is in many respects a most unusual work. It is from cover to cover a glorification of personal courage, which the author considers the most essential quality in a military leader, even if carried to a point of foolhardiness, which he calls 'a beautiful fault,' which does honor to the army and which 'is an exuberant plant which bears witness of a fertile soil.' 'More courage in a commander-in-chief is not enough,' the colonel says: 'he must possess a perfect contempt

FRENCH EXPECT TO WIN IN ALGECIRAS

Paris Confident of Outcome of Moroccan Conference

(By Paul Villiers.)

(Copyright, 1906, by W. R. Hearst) Special Cable to The Telegram. LONDON, Feb. 3.—The general public is showing a tendency to sympathize with Princess Ena of Battenburg about her engagement to King Alfonso of Spain. It is a common occurrence to hear some remark at a dinner party: "How awful for that poor girl being made to marry some one she doesn't care a rap about!" As a matter of fact, however, it is no secret in court circles that Princess Ena worked heroically to "catch" the young king when he paid his state visit to London.

The king was far more impressed with the charms of Princess Patricia of Connaught, but "Princess Ena" would have nothing to do with any matrimonial arrangement. Princess Ena secured the young king absolutely by her own exertions. She is an intensely ambitious girl, and, although very charming, has always been a little jealous of her various cousins. Her late father, Prince Henry of Battenburg, was always looked down upon by members of the royal family, and consequently the Battenburgs had a poor position. Princess Ena will, as queen of Spain, be in a position to patronize her two cousins, Queen Maud of Norway and Princess Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden.

out delay for the orders to mobilize the army. The people have no desire for war, they want peace. Workingmen have no interest in war. "They have to pay the cost in labor and blood, if for the workingmen to demand peace. Do not let us be led astray by the words 'national honor.' They are used only by capitalists who want to see us massacred. Germany and France agree on this point—the proletariat refuses to go to war."

Locked Doors Troubles American students at the Sorbonne are at the bottom of an order issued by the professors of that famous institution which has aroused the ire of all the young men studying at the university. Since New Year's the doors of all auditoriums are locked as soon as the lectures begin and remain locked until they end.

War Against War. The antimilitarists of France on their side are trying to make the most out of the present situation, which they are endeavoring to make appear in the most dangerous light, though with little success. The other morning Parisians awoke to find walls in all parts of the city covered with glaring posters reading thus: "War against war!" "Workmen!" "Tomorrow perhaps you may be confronted by the fact that war has been declared. For three years the French colonial party, headed by M. Delcasse, have been preparing for the conquest of Morocco. Capitalists and army officers want us to invade that country, the first to increase their wealth, the other to gain new military laurels, no matter how bloody."

Capitalists and militarists Germany, inspired by the same desire, is opposing them. One must shudder at the thought of what this may mean—millions of men fighting, shooting each other down with magazine rifles, rapid fire guns and mitrailleurs. Millions of French taken from the pockets of peasants and laborers. "There is no exaggeration in this. We are preparing for war in our naval ports, our army is ready to take the offensive." "In June, 1905, war was only avoided by the resignation of M. Delcasse. On December 19 the order recalling the German ambassador from Paris had been signed by the Kaiser and for four hours all telegraph lines in France were closed to private parties, that the Kaiser of war might use them with-

AMBASSADOR RETURNS

Presence of Prince Radolin at Paris Thought to Presage Well for Outcome

(Copyright, 1906, by W. R. Hearst) Special Cable to The Telegram.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—The eyes of all Paris are turned in the direction of Algeiras. It is there that will be decided the questions which are to be solved in peace, or to result in plunging all Europe into a bloody conflict. The return of the German ambassador, Prince Radolin, to Paris, is considered a hopeful sign, indicative that the emperor of Germany will be satisfied with having created an uproar and will not push matters further. The German ambassador made no bones about declaring before he left for his holiday that if his imperial master insisted upon his assumption of an attitude of provocation with regard to France, he, Radolin, would flatly refuse, and would consequently send in his resignation and be seen no more in the sumptuous embassy in the rue de Lille.

His return therefore is a sure sign of William II's peaceful intentions. The Algeiras conference may cause considerable bluster, but it is unlikely to result in a gate which will develop in a hurricane of armed forces. By this time the world should be pretty well convinced that William's bark is worse than his bite. His majesty would really make a first class circus manager. If ever the socialist ousted him from his job as emperor he has a career all out for him self.

King Defines Marriage. His majesty, the king of the Belgians (not so quiet a man as he seems) has had the report that he had contracted a marriage with the Baroness de Vaughan categorically denied.

It has even been reported that the baroness had presented him with a son upon the very day of the death of his brother, the Count of Flanders. Now it appears that not a word of all that is true. As a proof of the falseness of these rumors the king's advanced age is cited, and on the other hand it is pointed out that the Baroness de Vaughan is not divorced from her husband. The other explanation must be found for the growing friendship between the charming baroness and Leopold II.

She is not his wife—that is plain. Now she is merely his cousin, a person to while away by her charm and gaiety the enervating melancholy which is taking root in the Belgian monarch's soul. The king of the Congo, as we call him in Paris, has ever before him the example of his great uncle, Louis XIV. He imitates him in every possible way, and he would consider that he was lacking in duty toward his illustrious relative, if like him, he did not have his Madame de Maintenon to cheer his declining years by her companionship. At Laken, where his majesty generally resides, he has had a subterranean passage built to lead from his palace to a pretty dwelling where his friend resides. Hither, by this discreet way, the King goes in search of his Madame de Vaughan. It is known that the Baroness de Vaughan is no more to Leopold II. of Belgium than a pleasant companion who serves to dispel some of his gloom.

Private Theatricals Popular. Drawing room theatricals have never been so much in vogue in France as they are this winter. In all the chateaux amateur plays take up the attention of the guests alternately with hunting. Today every one talks and thinks dramatics, tomorrow the all-absorbing topic is the chase. At the Chateau de Conde, which belongs to the Comte de Paris; at the chateau de Lucret, or de Brissac, musical comedy has been given, and the revues presented, and of all theatrical entertainments there is none more ultra-Paris than the revue. Needless to say that these amateur theatricals are always crowned with the greatest success. Our readers who do not disdain the services of the professional stars, and may be heard playing together with some of our most popular comedians.

Czar Virtual Prisoner. The calm which seems to be gaining ground in Russia is deceptive. A young friend of mine who is pursuing his studies in St. Petersburg writes me to the following effect: "The czar is literally a prisoner under lock and key and his jailers are composed of two conflicting parties who are strong in mutual hatred. The head of one of these parties is Grand Duke Vladimir, who advocates autocracy, and who in his desire to get the supreme power into his own hands has gone so far as to level his pistol at the emperor, but without effect, since his majesty still lives. Prince Dolgorouki is head of the other party, and he is a liberal, and he too awaits the propitious moment for riding the world of the czar of all the Russias."

Such is the prevalent rumors among the younger classes in St. Petersburg. Within the next three months a tragedy as bloody and awful as that which stained Serbia recently will take place in St. Petersburg. It is horrible to contemplate, but inevitable. So writes my young friend, and I do not hesitate to repeat his words for the edification of my American readers, for he gets his facts from a source of undoubted authority. It is from a highly-placed personage among the autocratic circles that he receives his information. He goes on to say that German Poland is preparing to join forces with Russian Poland. The revolutionary movement which is bound to spread on every side. The German emperor knows this well enough, and that is why he is so busy seeking a peaceful solution of the Moroccan difficulty.

CORBETT'S COSMOPOLITAN OF THE FIGHTING GAME

BY JAMES J. CORBETT. James W. Corbett's dream of a carnival of fights to decide the world's championship question will never materialize. Corbett is probably the most versatile and broadminded sport promoter the fistic game has ever known, but he would be undertaking too large a job to pull off a series of encounters. In the first place, no locality outside the financial straits of several big fights within a narrow space of time. It takes the public, as a rule, several weeks to recover from a big battle and to get in the proper mood to support the next one. Then the fighters could not stand the strain, especially of training. The plan to pull off three big fights on three different holidays is not so far-fetched, and if Corbett does as well in the future in making matches the coast fans are in for several treats. The possibility of a Jeffries-O'Brien battle is out of the question entirely. There is a lot of hope, however, to bring either Hart and O'Brien or Ryan and O'Brien together in the next championship contest. Kid Herman, the Chicago boy, is going to make a lot of trouble for the top-notchers before he gets through and Battling Nelson is not expected.

SPORTING SALAD
Al Herford "wants his black baby back" but Gans says he is through with the Baltimore promoter. Let us hope so.
Notre Dame College has a Filipino student who wants to become a professional ball player. In his far-away island home the "little brown brother" is said to be a sure enough datto.
Eddie Hahn has returned the New York contract sent him by Clark Griffith, and says he won't sign unless he gets a substantial raise. Hahn lost nearly all his money in a bank failure last fall, and he's sore on general principles.
Hahn's proposition to put the pitcher in the center of the diamond is finding little favor with the other baseball sharps. Some say the pitcher would get many hard hit balls that he is now unable to field, and that this would more than offset any advantage that might come from moving the pitcher back.
Billy Murray, manager of the Jersey City team in the Eastern League, is a great believer in college baseball players. He says they infuse more life into a team than players recruited from town lots, are more tractable and the scrappy fellows who come up from the bushes. He wants you to look at our next heavyweight champion of color, the "Harlem Coffee Cooler."
And after that Craig was always spoken of as such.
The passing of Fitzsimmons has called to the mind of many fight fans the career of Young Griffo, who along with Fitzsimmons made a pair of fighters of whom Australia should be justly proud.
Griffo became known to Americans generally when he fought "Australian Billy" Murphy sixteen rounds and the latter pulled off the gloves and refused to go on, claiming that someone had tampered with them before he put them on. It was only a bluff, as Murphy afterward admitted. Griffo had him beat and that was the best way to get out of it.
Griffo often said that he had met a lot of tough propositions, but that one, Pluto, a colored lad from Melbourne, was the worst not he had ever tried to crack. Pluto fought Griffo no less than five times and every battle resulted in a draw, the last one going seventy rounds.
Many of the old prize fight followers claim that Griffo shared with Fitzsimmons the honor of being the greatest fighting machine the world has ever seen for his inches.

GENERAL STOCKS HAVE A DECLINE

Wall Street Active Issues One to Five Points

SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM.
NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—To general stock market suffered quite a severe decline in prices this morning, the losses in the active issues running all the way from 1 to 5 points.
The sudden advent of rather severe, even if seasonable weather conditions was also named as a disturbing influence. In its possible effect upon the winter wheat crop and other agricultural conditions. Trading was upon a very large scale of activity, but speculative interest seemed to be centered largely upon a comparatively few issues.
The leading features in respect to activity were Amalgamated Copper, Reading and the United States Steel shares.
In addition to the other conditions named as contributing to the liquidation which was apparent there might be cited the growing uneasiness that sufficient pressure would be brought upon congress that some railroad regulation measure would be forced to enactment.
Stock Summary
There was no development sufficiently adverse to account for the sharp general break and the extreme declines of 1 to 5 points in practically all the leading issues, besides a few even larger losses in specialties. The lowest prices were scored in the late trading, or following the publication of an unfavorable bank statement with a smart decrease in surplus reserves.
Adverse rumors as to the coal labor situation, and the outlook for an Im-house coal strike next April had a depressing effect.
Foreign markets were generally steady but dull. Americans closed at declines. The important foreign happenings, however, were the $200,000,000 increase ordered in the Bank of France's circulation, and which clears the way for gold exports to that center.
Stock Record
The number of shares of stock sold today was 832,606, against 539,100 the same day last year.
The total par value of bonds sold today was $1,589,000, against $2,735,000 the same day last year.

MARGARET SANGSTER

(Copyright, 1906, by Joseph B. Bowles.) I heard Louise declare the other day that she hated to write a letter, and that she put off the unwelcome task as long as she could.

Well, most of us do. When the postman comes in the morning, it is a pleasure to find that he has brought you a letter from the girl who visited you last summer, or your cousin at Yale, or your favorite uncle whose letters are a little old-fashioned, but who at Christmas, Easter, and birthdays, proves himself a generous friend.

One always feels satisfaction at being remembered by the absent. If one is away from home, the mails are eagerly watched for letters from father and mother and the rest of the dear home group. It is wonderful how fast and how safe are the trains that carry the letters with the little red stamp affixed, to show that Uncle Sam is responsible for their rapid transit.

I do not think girls would dislike to write letters if they observed two or three rules. One is not to write a letter in too great a hurry. If you are on tip toe to go down the street with Jean, or have made an engagement to skate with your brother and his chum at 4 o'clock, you will hardly be able to write a creditable letter, if you give yourself only five minutes to do it in.

A girl needs a sense of leisure and a spare half hour in which to write the letter that shall carry something of her real self to her distant friend, or her anxious mother, miles away. No compliment is conveyed by frantic haste. Decide what you can do and what you can omit and get a little clear space and unhurried time before you begin a letter. Next, always answer a letter as soon as you can after you have read it. It is then fresh in your mind, the questions it asks and the news it conveys are alike full of interest to you, and you can carry on your part of the written conversation without its being one-sided and indifferent.

"I have a letter from Ruth," complained Ruth's sister, Rose, "and she has not told me a single thing I wanted to know, nor given me the address of her music teacher, nor so much as inquired how grandmother is and grandmother will be sure to ask me to read her the letter."

In this case Ruth's letter was a disappointment. A good plan before one begins to glance again at the letter received and note the particular points that should not be overlooked in the reply.

A third suggestion concerns one's correspondents. A school girl ought not to engage in letter writing about which her parents and friends are in the dark. For instance, Adeline consulted me the other day about the propriety of corresponding with a boy whom she casually met at her Cousin D's, when spending a day there, last summer.

"He seems a very nice boy," she said, "and I like him very much. Now he is at the university and has written to me and wishes me to write to him. What shall I do?"

The thing for Adeline or any other girl to do in this instance is to show her friend a letter to her mother or teacher, and be guided by the advice given her. My own would be simply to answer such a letter very politely, but to explain that I was too busy to engage in a correspondence. A girl's letters to boys should be limited to members of her own family, to the cousinhood, and perhaps to somebody whom she has known all her life. When you meet a person accidentally and only for a short time, you do not know him well enough to write to him or receive his letters.

A fourth bit of counsel concerns itself with the dress of a letter. I do hope you girls write a legible hand. Whatever else handwriting may be, it is a failure if it is difficult to read. Such little things as correct spelling and punctuation are very important. Misspelled words are as unightly as ink spots, and dashes do take the place of commas and periods. Write plainly, spell correctly. A good quality of note paper and black ink are indispensable in the correspondence of a young lady. Every letter should have at the top the full postoffice address of the writer and the date of the writing. Many people date their letters at the end, a fashion that has little to commend it, and which should be changed as soon as possible by us.

Never write a letter to anyone which would give you uneasiness or disturbance should it fall into the wrong hand. Write as you talk, the more naturally the better. Stilted, high-flown letters are not welcome anywhere. In old times people began a letter by saying, "I take my pen in hand to write you a few lines, hoping and this will find you in good health, as I am now."

Sometimes they were even more formal than this. When I was 14 I received a letter which began in this way: "Respected Miss." Nobody would think of starting a letter in that fashion today, and talking one's pen in hand and the allusion to a few lines has quite gone out. Write naturally as if your friend were in the room with you, and you were cooly chatting with her. It is proper to address a stranger as "My dear Mrs. C.," and not as "Dear Mrs. C." The personal pronoun adds a touch of ceremony. "Dearest" is to be reserved for those to whom it applies, mother or sister, or the chum who is your very confidential friend, and almost your other self.

If you are obliged to write a business letter, address the firm or the person by name, following it on another line with Dear Sirs, or "Dear Sir," or "Madam."

First, last and all the time, regard a letter as a thing with which politeness should be taken. Long years hence the letter a girl writes may come back to her out of the past for, strangely enough, letters are among the most indestructible of earthly possessions.

Men will treat a girl according to her own standard. If she respects herself they will treat her with respect. If she does not they will show her none. So you see, girls, if it is in your own hands. Set a high standard and live up to it.

she has only herself to blame when unpleasant attentions are forced upon her. A man knows perfectly well the girl who will permit familiarities and the one who will not. The self-respecting, dignified girl may walk unmolested from one end of Broadway to the other. And if by any chance a man should speak to her, the best thing to do is to quietly ignore him and walk on. If he persists in his unwelcome attentions she can follow either one of two courses.

The first is to complain to the nearest policeman, the other to quietly turn to her tormentor and tell him that his actions are most objectionable, that she does not intend to talk to him and that if he persists she will report him to the first policeman she meets. When a man sees that a girl has absolutely no interest in him or admiration for him he will soon tire of his pursuit.

Men will treat a girl according to her own standard. If she respects herself they will treat her with respect. If she does not they will show her none. So you see, girls, if it is in your own hands. Set a high standard and live up to it.

"The Robin Sings in the Apple Tree," by Edward MacDowell, "Der Kleine Fritz," by Weber, and "An Irish Folk Song," by Arthur Foote. Now what happened? The audience applauded the German songs cordially, but redemanded MacDowell's "Thy Beaming Eyes" and Foote's "Folk Song." To appreciate the significance of this fact it is not necessary to agree with the writer of this notice that MacDowell has written more first-class songs than either Weber or Brahms. The only moral to be entered is that singers no longer need be afraid to sing American songs.

"There was another excellent American song, Mr. Van der Stucken's 'Come with me in the Summer Light,' which is bright and remarkably effective. It came at the end of the program, and Mme. Gadski sang it splendidly. She was recalled a number of times and had to add two extras, by Oscar Well of California, and Schumann. Truly, Mme. Gadski deserves much praise and gratitude for thus doing missionary work for our unjustly neglected American music. Praise is also due her for giving so great a part of her program to the lovely songs of Franz, seven of which were included. Ambros once remarked that concert singers hunt through volumes of Franz's songs, seeking for some of the musically best among the Franz songs—'Willkommen' and 'Im Wald,' 'Fuer Musik,' 'Im Herbst,' 'Aus meinen grossen Schmerzen,' 'Lieben den Nacht,' 'Es ist gekonnt men,' and the 'Es hat die Rose sich beklagt,' which she had to add as an extra. She sang these with the proper 'Willingkeit.'"

Mme. Gadski began well with the Brahms and the first MacDowell number, but throughout the first part of the program, and part of the second, her intonation, especially in the softer passages, was not always correct. Before the "Bible Song" of Chelius had been reached, however, she was herself again, and sang with the full beauty of her voice. Cornelius, Anson, Max Reger, Hildach, and R. Strauss were represented; also the pianist of the occasion, Mr. Frank Le Forge, whose "Ich fuschte mich in meine Klause" had to be repeated. He played this exceptionally well, better than any of the other songs he accompanied. It was no doubt a clever feat to play twenty-seven songs without the music, but as his memory several times failed him, it would have been better to use "the notes."

"Hap" Ward, who opens his engagement in "The Gaffer" at the Grand Opera house, January 23, tells of a specialty performer that he met in the days when Ward himself was a variety man. The actor in question was a charming fellow personally and was blessed with an adoring wife, but his act was so dire bad that he seldom got an engagement. One night Ward happened to be on the bill with him. The unfortunate actor was hoisted and jeered, but he stuck to his post and completed his act. His wife stood in the wings. Ward approached her, expecting to find the lady in tears, but, no, her face was wreathed in smiles. "I'm sorry your husband's act didn't go better," remarked Ward. "Go better!" exclaimed the proud and happy wife, "it was splendid! This is the first time an audience has ever let him finish!"

The company played Wilmington, Del., this season, and the actress who is joined in wedlock on the stage was informed after the play was over that repeating the marriage ceremony before witnesses constituted a legal marriage in the state of Delaware. "But," she exclaimed, "I am married!"

HER OWN SELF-RESPECT IS GIRL'S BEST DEFENCE

BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

The other day a girl told me that she never went out but what some strange man spoke to her. At first I wondered why, as she is not particularly good looking and dresses quietly enough.

But after walking a few blocks with her I fully understood the reason. She looked at every man we met, and I did not wonder that they felt at liberty to address her.

Perhaps she did not mean to be bold, but her glance was a challenge. She provoked the men to ogle her and was insulted when they did so.

There are some men, of course, who will speak to a girl, no matter how modest and lady-like her behavior may be. But these men are comparatively few, and as a rule she is treated as much respect as she demands.

If she goes about her business in a modest, sensible manner she will have very little to put up with in the way of insult. Naturally a man will look at a pretty girl, but if she is modest, as well as pretty, the look will be simply one of respectful admiration.

But when a girl walks along the street with eyes roving here and there in a bold attempt to attract attention

Fear of Strike by Mine Workers Causes Sharp Slump—Partial Recovery—Close Firm

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The expectation of an unfavorable bank statement influenced considerable liquidation in the stock market during the initial trading and the prospective strike of the miners was another adverse influence causing an uneasy feeling on the street. London reported a weak market for Americans, and on this side the general list suffered a sharp slump. The coalers were the stocks most affected, Reading in particular being very weak, opening a full point lower and selling off in the first hour to a net decline of 5 1/2 points. Erie also lost about a point, while the Pennsylvania group exhibited weakness. A. C. P. sold off 2 1/2 points and Colorado Fuel and Iron lost 4 points. Others showed declines of various proportions. Although the bank statement when issued proved to be about as expected, the effect had been partially discounted in the earlier trading and it caused only a momentary flurry. Shorts covered quiet actively in the last few minutes and the market developed a better tone, all indices regaining a substantial portion of the early loss. The close was firm. Among the rails Reading showed a net loss of 2 1/2 points, N. and W. is off 1 1/2 points, B. and O. lost a point. Union Pacific closed 3 points lower. St. Paul declined 2 1/2 points. New York Central lost 2 points, while Louisville and Nashville and Erie were both off 1 point. In the industrial Tennessee lead and iron were the heaviest losers, closing 6 points below yesterday's finish. Colorado Fuel and Iron came next, with net loss of 4 points. Smelter showed a net loss of 2 points and A. C. P. closed 1 1/2 points lower, while National Lead lost 2 1/2 points. The balance of the list showed losses ranging from a substantial fraction to over a point in proportion.

GRAIN

Wheat Prices Advance Sharply on Predictions of Colder Weather—Corn and Oats Firm

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 3.—Colder weather tomorrow and tomorrow night, complaints from Kansas and Nebraska respecting the winter wheat crop and the prospect of a material decrease in the visible supply for the week gave the wheat market a strong tone and disconcerted shorts. The Minneapolis market was fully as strong as Chicago and an oversold condition is supposed to exist there. The bullish feature in the domestic situation offsets the large Australian shipments and eases continental cables. Sentiment underwent considerable change. Flour stocks at the first of the month were 30,000 barrels, less than for the corresponding period of the year before and about the same as on the first of January. Clearances were quite liberal at half a million bushels. Closing prices were almost 1 cent higher.

Corn

Corn was firm throughout the session, with a continuation of purchases of May against sales of the July, the July selling at about 1-1/2c premium. The strength in provisions and purchases by packers had something to do with the strength in corn. It is possible that the visible supply will show considerable decrease Monday. Clearances today were again large at 444,000 bushels. The cash market was steady and 1/4c higher. Liverpool was unchanged at the close. Local receipts were 224 cars, with 203 expected tomorrow. This estimate includes 153 cars to cover Sunday work on two roads. Total primary movement 690,000 bushels, or 200,000 more than a year ago.

Oats

Oats were very firm, advancing moderately on a light trade. The strength on the floor had considerable influence in inducing shorts to cover. There was little of interest in the news. Local receipts were 184 cars, with 244 expected Monday. If this estimate is realized, the market is to cover Sunday work. Clearances, 9,000 bushels.

Provisions

Provisions scored some very sharp advances the first hour of trading, but the market very well maintained, although there was considerable realizing by longs. Hogs were 3,000 under the estimate and $5.25 was paid for the quality, which is the highest price for the season. Shipments of meats for the week were 4,500,000 pounds larger than last year, and about 500,000 pounds larger. Estimated receipts for Monday, 405,000.

Prices Make Early Response to Bearish Influences But Recover Later

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The bullish effect of the baron estimate seems to have been entirely dissipated yesterday, at any rate there was no indication of strength in today's proceedings on the local market. Liverpool ignored our advance entirely, opening prices at that market being 2 points lower when according to our close of yesterday they were due to advance 2 to 3 points. The most pronounced bearish influence was the weak end statistics, especially the falling off in the spinners' takings. On the first call prices were 10 to 15 points below yesterday's finish. During the initial trading the tenor of the market was similar to that of the early part of the week. Bears resumed their hostilities and in connection with this there was considerable liquidation. Although there was no pronounced activity, prices eased off to a matter of 3 points for March from the opening figures, but recovered before the end of the first hour and worked up to a level 1 to 4 points above the opening figures. The balance of the session there was a better demand, and it was reported that the erstwhile leader of the bear forces was buying rather liberally, while some shorts were getting out. Prices eventually attained a net gain of 2 to 4 points, but the close was barely steady with a loss of 2 points lower to 1 point higher. Spots were unchanged on a basis of 11 1/2 for middling uplands. Futures ranged as follows:

Weekly Market Review

Fort Worth marketings of cattle, calves, hogs and sheep, exhibit gains over the preceding week. Receipts show 12,375 cattle, 2,900 calves, 14,900 hogs, 1,750 sheep and 513 horses and mules. Compare these with 10,925 cattle, 2,251 calves, 15,223 hogs, 734 sheep and 861 horses and mules for the previous six days. Very little change noted in the cattle trade, and that is mostly for the better with the exception of calves. Fed steers are fully steady, grass steers show a loss of 10c, and medium steers 10c to 15c lower. Stockers and feeders are fully steady with last week's prices.

Good butcher cows and heifers

Good butcher cows and heifers have appreciated in value since Monday, and supplies of these sorts have dwindled. The advance amounts to a full dime. Medium cows have gained nothing, while canners and cows in the cutter class are a little lower for the week. Butcher bulls show a loss of a dime since Monday, and feeder bulls of good quality are steady.

Calves have been short in point

Calves have been short in point of number, with choice veals hardly obtainable. Heavies and thin lots 25c to 50c for the week. Quotations on the general market follow: Full fed calves, weighing 1,200 to 1,500 lbs., $3.50 to $4.00; 1,500 to 1,800 lbs., $3.50 to $4.00; 1,800 to 2,000 lbs., $3.50 to $4.00; 2,000 to 2,500 lbs., $3.50 to $4.00; CITATION BY PUBLICATION—The State of Texas, in the District Court, Tarrant County, Texas, February term, A. D. 1906. To the Sheriff or any Constable of Tarrant County, Greeting: You are hereby commanded, that, by making publication of this citation in some newspaper published in the county of Tarrant four weeks before the return day hereof, you summon Reesie McElwainey, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the district court, to answer the petition of H. T. McElwainey, as plaintiff, filed in said court on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1906, against Reesie McElwainey, as defendant, in suit being numbered 24508, the nature of which demand is as follows, to-wit: Plaintiff sues for divorce from defendant, alleging that they were married in Fayette county, Georgia, Dec. 25, 1898, and lived together until August 28, 1898, when on account of defendant's acts in being quarrelsome and abusive towards plaintiff, refused to prepare his breakfast in time for plaintiff, which she requested plaintiff to purchase and accused plaintiff with intimacy with other women, they separated, their former living together being insupportable. Wherefore, plaintiff prays for citation by publication, for decree of divorce dissolving said marriage, costs of suit, and any other relief in law or equity to which he is entitled. Herein fail not, but have you then and there before said court this writ, with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same. Witness, JNO. A. NEWSBOY NOW LEADING WRITER

Fort Worth Lad Has Made Rapid Advance

Shep. Friedman, now of the editorial staff of the Dramatic Mirror, whose mother still lives in Fort Worth, was in the early 80s, a Fort Worth newsboy and now the Fort Worth Mail-Telegram, now The Telegram, on the streets.

—A boy Shep, was a hustler, and from the day he began his career as a newsboy his ambition was to become a newspaper man—to gather news and have it printed. There was not much of an opening for him in Fort Worth at that time and, as his ambition reached higher, he determined to strike out. New York city was his Mecca.

Mr. Friedman remained with the Telegram until eight years ago, when he accepted a position on the editorial staff of the Morning Telegraph, a paper devoted largely to dramatic and sporting news, and soon became one of the ablest men on the paper, rising to the position of advertising manager. He is a brother of Leon Friedman, also of New York, who is now on a visit to his mother's family in this city. Both the boys sold papers on the streets of Fort Worth and both have made themselves prominent places in New York.

There was no kind of weather that would keep the two boys from their work. They stuck to it and won. They are as much alike as twins and their most intimate friends often mistake one for the other. They are object lessons of what can be put in store for the lads who cry the daily papers on the streets of Fort Worth.

An Appeal

To Be Fair to Yourself--To Learn by a Test what Liquozone Means to You. The First Bottle is Free

To you who are sick and are waiting--this appeal is to you. An appeal to be fair to yourself. Don't think that the help which you need is impossible, because common remedies fail, as they must fail in germ troubles. Please send us this coupon and learn, at our expense, how much a new remedy means to you.

In the past two years, millions of people have begun to use Liquozone. Today there are countless cured ones, scattered over half the world, telling what it has done. We ask you to learn its wonderful power as they did. Let us buy you a bottle to try.

What Liquozone Is

The virtues of Liquozone are derived solely from gases, created from five substances, all of which are stated on the bottle. These substances include the best products of oxygen, sulphur dioxide and other germicidal gases.

The process of making requires large apparatus and from 8 to 14 days' time; and it is directed by chemists of the highest class. The object is to fix and combine the gases as to carry their virtues into the system. The result is a blending of gas-made products, each of which is now endorsed, as a remedial agent, by the world's highest authorities.

The gases are harmless, and the product they create is harmless. The gases are beneficial, and the result is a tonic. The gases are germicidal, and uniting with the liquid multiplies their germ-killing power.

Liquozone contains no alcohol, no opiates, no narcotics. Every virtue comes from gas alone. The invention of Liquozone has meant a way to utilize gases in the treatment of germ diseases.

Kills Disease Germs

The main value of Liquozone lies in the fact that it is deadly to germs, yet helpful to bodily tissues. It is a

Since then we have let every sick one we learned of test it at our expense. The result is that millions have learned by experience some things that Liquozone can do. Most of the cured told others, and the others told others. The result is that about 12,000,000 bottles of Liquozone have been used, mostly in the past two years. There is now almost no hamlet--no neighborhood--without living examples of its power.

Now other chemists and companies, in alliance with us, are supplying it to other nations. It is hoped, before long, that every nook of the world where sickness exists will have Liquozone there to combat it.

Germ Diseases

In the past few years, scores of diseases have been traced to germ attacks. All of these diseases, until a few years ago, were attributed to other causes, and treated in various and ineffective ways.

The list of known germ diseases now numbers about one hundred. It includes most of our minor ills, and most of our serious sicknesses. And there are very few diseases which are known not to be due, directly or indirectly, to a germ infection.

Some germs--as in skin troubles--directly attack the tissues. Some create toxins, causing such troubles as Rheumatism, Blood Poison, Kidney Disease and nerve sickness. Some destroy vital organs, as in Consumption. Some--like the germs of Catarrh--create inflammation; some cause irritation. Directly or indirectly, nearly every serious ailment is a germ result.

Any disease which calls for a germicide, or for a tonic, calls for Liquozone. In this class of troubles, Anis gas-made product has rendered immeasurable service. It brings such results as may not be brought without it.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquozone, after its power had been demonstrated. This was after the product had been tested for years, in hundreds of cases, including many of the most difficult diseases of mankind. At first the results seemed incredible, and the tests were repeated again and again to confirm them. When the power of the product was thus proved beyond question, we purchased the rights and brought it into wider fields.

In any ailment caused in any way by germs, we supply the first bottle of Liquozone free. Then in all--no matter how difficult--we offer each patient a possibility of further test, without the risk of a penny.

50c Bottle Free.

If you need Liquozone, and have never tried it, please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on a local druggist for a full-size bottle, and will pay the druggist ourselves for it. This is our free gift, made to convince you; to let the product itself show you what it can do. Its acceptance places you under no obligations whatever.

If your ailment is not one to which Liquozone applies, we will tell you so. If it is, we will give you the fullest advice and directions, based on our own experience.

Please don't delay or hesitate. Don't suffer from a trouble that Liquozone can end. Please learn at our expense how much this product means to you. Send us this coupon today. Liquozone costs 50c and $1.
