HOTEL AT STRAWN IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

STARTED IN RESTAURANT

Telegraph Offices, Depot, Saloon and Coal Chutes Also Total Loss

Special to The Telegram.
—STRAWN, Texas, Feb. 7.—The hotel, depot, restaurant and saloon building here was destroyed by fire shortly after noon today. The flames are believed to have started in the Chinese restaurant which was in the building. The loss is estimated at $20,000, and the amount of insurance is not known. The building was a two-story structure of frame, and was about 125 feet in length. It was owned by the Texas and Pacific Coal company of Thurber. Owing to the fact that Strawn had the fire department and the insufficient water supply, little could be done in fighting the flames. Fortunately for the town no wind was stirring and the flames spread only across the Texas and Pacific track to the coal chute, which was also destroyed. The hotel saloon, which was also destroyed, is familiar to most travelers on the Texas and Pacific for the reason that it is one of the last places where intoxicating liquors are sold after leaving Fort Worth for El Paso.

HOMESEEKERS HIE SOUTHWESTWARD

—CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The Record-Herald says: "Between 15,000 and 25,000 homeseekers started for the west and southwest yesterday through the gateways of Chicago, Memphis, St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha. According to declarations by passenger men who have been closely watching the movement which has been going on ever since cheap rates were put into effect late last fall, yesterday's movement was a record breaker and it is said more people sought homes in the southwest in the last three months than ever before during a similar period. John Sebastian, passenger traffic manager of the Rock Island, just returned from the southwest, said the movement of homeseekers in that direction is almost beyond belief."

FOOD POISONS KILL MILLIONS

Government Chemist Says Conditions Are Alarming

By Associated Press.
—WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—That more than a million infants have been sacrificed to various concoctions known as soothing syrups and pain killers and over twice that number killed by impure milk, was the declaration made last night by Prof. H. W. Riley, chief of the Bureau of the department of agriculture.
"We do not know anything about milk we have left at our homes or the conditions under which it is produced," he added. "There are a thousand and one possibilities which might be combined to make what nature intended for food the most virile poison that chemistry can produce. I have found that with germ life and harmful nature that I am almost afraid to go to the table."
"Butter is painted; there is little other to be found anywhere. Fat is kept for years. Fresh milk, if you know nothing of fresh milk, surely our knowledge is more limited to a product that is put in cans. This Lord intended us to resort to cans only to tide us over one season until green fruits could be had again, but canners don't know this. There is nothing requiring them to stamp the date upon their goods. If they did, it would kill the sale."

MINE OWNERS MAKE READY

Storing Coal in Anticipation of Coming Strike

BIG SUPPLY ON HAND

Said That if Mild Weather Continues, Mines Will Be Closed Anyway

By Associated Press.
—NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Following the meeting of presidents of several anthracite coal fields yesterday, there was an intimation given in quarters friendly to the operators that the anthracite which had been mined was so much in excess of the demand that a shutdown in the mines may be necessary if there is no strike on April 1.
Henry G. Fleming, secretary of the Bituminous coal trade, which includes most of the large soft coal firms, and the secretary of the Anthracite Coal Operators' association made public estimates of the coal supply. He said that the probable proportion of mines which will obey the strike order. In the anthracite district he said 90 per cent of the mines would strike.
"Claims miners are weak. In calculating the men who are likely to strike in the soft coal districts, he said he found that miners there were much weaker in organization than was usually supposed and he based his calculations on the proportion of non-union men and the result of former soft coal strikes.
"As to anthracite," he said, "the average summer consumption is two million tons a month, and the average winter consumption throughout the country is eight million tons a month. Up to the present time present consumption has been far behind the quantity mined. About sixteen million tons of anthracite have been mined in excess of the demand and there are nearly two months before April 1 in which coal can be mined. The coal supply is therefore plentiful. The negro barterers have been stockpiling up anthracite, and they never had such a large supply as they have now."
Minor Supply Big
Mr. Fleming estimated that even allowing for cold weather there would be easily a five months' supply of anthracite on hand on April 1.
The prospect of a coal strike has revived interest in the coal supply stations which the various railroad companies have constructed near the city since the last strike in the anthracite regions.
An estimate of the storage capacity of these stations was given yesterday as follows:
Delaware Valley railroad—Perth Amboy, 250,000 tons; South Plainfield, 310,000 tons; Jersey City, 45,000 tons; Newark, 25,000 tons; Newark, 75,000 tons.
The Delaware and Hudson railroad—Rondout, 260,000 tons; Welchewen, 50,000 tons.
The Pennsylvania railroad—South Amboy, 180,000 tons.
Delaware, Lackawanna and Western—Hoboken, 40,000 tons.
"Land is too valuable on Manhattan Island," said a representative of Huron Brokers of the country, yesterday, "to permit local dealers to lay in any considerable reserve supply in their yards. It is necessary to get the anthracite district is likely. Most of the local yards have already increased their supply to their capacity. Further increase is impossible on the existing roads. So far there has been no indication that a shortage of coal is likely, but if a strike is declared the tightening process will begin without much delay."

Manufacturers Seek Lower Price For Alcohol

By Associated Press.
—NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—A number of prominent manufacturers and members of various industries interested in securing the removal of the internal revenue from denatured alcohol, left this city yesterday for a conference at Washington, to attend the public hearing before the committee on ways and means on the various untaxed alcohol bills now pending in congress.
Automobile manufacturers and owners are also interested in the matter, as it is said that the supply of gasoline for mechanical purposes is threatened with exhaustion and a substitute may be found in alcohol if the latter can be had at a practical price.
The National Grange, representing about 800,000 of farmers, will be represented by representative Lagrange. The American Chemical Society will be represented.
Representatives of the temperance forces of the country will also testify at the hearings in favor of the legislation as being what they consider the proper use of alcohol.

GERMANS THINK FRENCH AFRAID

Declare War Over Moroccan Situation Improbable

By Associated Press.
—BERLIN, Feb. 7.—While government circles maintain an outwardly hopeful attitude regarding the conference at Algiers, indications are that much concern is felt about the outcome. Even the failure to reach an agreement on the police question is regarded as probable. This inference is drawn from the fact that the inspired press has begun discussing the probable results of failure to reach an agreement. These papers assert that failure would not involve danger of war so far as Germany is concerned and they argue that France would never go to war on account of Morocco.

OFFICER FOILS STORE ROBBERS

Effort Is Made to Enter Two Business Houses

Burglars were at work in Fort Worth again Tuesday night in the heart of the city, two efforts to rob business houses being frustrated through the efforts of Policeman Newton Hill.
Two establishments were broken open, one being the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company at 809 Houston street and the other the store of Hoyle & Rarick at 807 Houston street. There is an alley running from Seventh to Eighth street and it is believed that the burglars came through this alley. There was a hole about a foot square broken through the storm door of the establishment of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company and it is believed that the burglars must have used a crow bar or some heavy instrument. This door was about two inches thick and was covered on both sides with sheet iron. The wooden part of the door was decayed but owing to its thickness there must have been considerable trouble in breaking it open. The outside windows of the Hoyle & Rarick store were prized open but neither inside window of the clothing store nor the inside door of the tea store were forced open.
The police also heard a noise in the alley while patrolling his beat and went in to investigate. It seems that the burglars had some one on the watch for they found that the effort was coming before he got there and made their escape.
The police also acted under authority of a writ of replevin secured in a civil action brought against Mrs. Osborne by Miss Norma Leslie Munro. Miss Munro's jewelry consisting principally of diamonds, was all in the safe, which she opened under authority of a writ of replevin secured in a civil action brought against Mrs. Osborne by Miss Norma Leslie Munro. Her mother, Mrs. Mary McFarland, had come north from a small Ohio town three months ago with consumption, intending to seek health in the pine woods, but rapidly grew worse. Without funds with which to return the body to Ohio, the New Orleans girl spent the remaining money she had telegraphing for aid, but none came.
Then her plight became known to the citizens of Duluth and more than sufficient money was immediately forthcoming. The basket of the mother was covered with flowers, the gift of strangers, because of the sympathy they felt for the lonely girl in her trouble.
HE HAS A HARD JOB
A Problem in Preparing Uniform Country School Course
—AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 7.—Prof. R. H. Cousins, state superintendent of public instruction, has just begun the hard task of preparing and compiling a uniform course of studies for the country schools throughout the state. There are 10,000 school districts in Texas. Superintendent Cousins stated yesterday that he is finding the task much greater than he at first anticipated, but he is determined to inaugurate the system in the country schools.
"It is the hardest proposition I have ever undertaken since I have been in office," said Prof. Cousins, "but I intend to carry it through. The great difficulty is that the terms of the different country schools are not the same. In some places the term varies from three months to eight months. This it would not do to prescribe a course of studies for six months when the term of many of the schools is only three months or some of them seven or eight months. I am now trying to solve this problem."

TWO SMOTHER IN MORNING BLAZE

Negro Man and Girl Lose Lives in Shamrock Saloon Fire

MIGHT HAVE ESCAPED
Said That Neither Appeared at Windows Where Firemen Could Have Reached Them

With windows easy of access by which escape would have been possible, two negroes perished in a fire, which consumed the Shamrock saloon, in Rusk street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, about 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. The bodies were identified as those of Clarence Teague, 35 years old, and Jasper Watts, 22 years old. Both were found under beds in separate rooms.

It is believed that they became too frightened to exercise ordinary judgment. The windows were within four feet of where the bodies were found, and it was only about twenty feet to the ground. They could have jumped down in safety or, if they had appeared at the windows, the firemen could have given them ladders on which to descend.

A second negro man, who was on the second floor of the building, had a narrow escape, jumping from a second story window. He was running when he struck the ground and neither stopped, as far as the spectators could ascertain.

The building is a stone structure, but the interior is wood and there were several partitions of light, inflammable material, which burned very rapidly. There is a sloping roof on the ground floor. The woman, Gertrude Teague, who lost her life, was taken to her room early in the evening, and it is stated that the door was locked on the outside. This, however, would not have prevented her making her escape through the window. Watts' room was not locked, and instead of running out, he crawled under the bed. Watts had recently come to Fort Worth from Longview, Texas.

At an inquest held at justice Rowland, testimony developed that the girl, Teague, who was said to have been locked in her room, could easily have escaped by slipping out from a window and that the lock on the room door was a night latch. A verdict of death by fire was returned in both cases. No testimony was brought out at the inquest attaching blame for the fire to one or giving the cause for the blaze.

DAVIDSON WANTS PRYOR PRESIDENT

San Antonio Man Urged for Cattle Raisers' Office

Sam Davidson of this city is working for the election of the Pryor as San Antonio as president of the Texas Cattle Raisers' association at the meeting which will take place in Dallas next month. Mr. Davidson in talking to a telegram reporter Wednesday stated that he considered that Mr. Pryor was entitled to the office both through ability and the services that he had rendered the association.

"He has been vice president for three years and in my opinion is a very good man for the office of president. I want to see him nominated and elected when the convention meets in Dallas. He is from San Antonio, and has always been a good friend of Fort Worth whenever occasion has offered and I think that it is no more than right that Fort Worth should add him to this list. He has been a cattleman all his life and is of course known to almost all cattlemen, especially of the Texas association.

"As to the convention next year we are going to do our best to bring it back to its natural home in Fort Worth and there will be no stone left unturned which might be of aid in bringing the cattlemen back to the cattlemen's city of the state for their annual gathering. Fort Worth and north Texas for the convention for next year and San Antonio and south Texas for the preliminary meeting. My plan of action when it comes to the convention."

Little Range in Temperature for 24 Hours Past
The range of temperature in this city from 7 o'clock Tuesday morning until 7 o'clock Wednesday morning was the least that has been reported this winter. The minimum temperature, which was reported at exactly 7 o'clock Wednesday morning was 23.8 degrees, while the maximum during the 24 hours was 31.2 degrees, a range of 7.4 degrees for the entire time; the temperature, according to the weather bureau report, not going above the freezing point during the entire twenty-four hours.

The snow which fell in this city from 1:30 p. m. until 4:30 p. m. was reported as only a trace as a dry snow such as this city experienced was not enough to cause the precipitation gauge of the weather bureau to even record one hundredth of an inch.

Snow was falling at El Paso and throughout west Texas Wednesday morning at the time of the observation. The total at El Paso was one inch.

"The upper Mississippi valley is still experiencing the blizzard which has been there for some time. At Bismarck, N. D., the minimum temperature was 29 degrees below zero, while the freezing blow as high as thirty-six miles an hour. The temperature at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning was above the zero degree mark.

Official statement of the conditions of the weather is as follows:
The cold conditions are abating slowly throughout the northeast, zero temperature being confined to the middle and southern portions of the continent. The freezing line has moved northward but little since last report. Galveston, El Paso and Montgomery having 32 degrees this morning.

"Snow is falling in Georgia and sleet in North Carolina, incident to the low barometer area over the extreme south-east. The extreme southwest has a low barometer area, causing snow in west Texas, El Paso having one inch of snow this morning.

"The upper Mississippi is under low pressure, causing high winds in the Dakotas. Bismarck reporting maximum wind of thirty-six miles.

WALLACE TELLS A TALE OF WOE

Former Panama Engineer Testifies Before Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—During the course of his testimony before the senate committee on intercanal canals, John F. Wallace, former chief engineer of the isthmian canal, said that he did a year's work, and that his successors had no benefit of his analysis or recommendations "because," he said, "the secretary of war told me he did not intend to use my work for me except on the isthmus as a directing engineer. He was so angry in his treatment of me that I could not do anything but resign."

Monday Mr. Wallace was diverted from a description of conditions on the isthmus which he made at the beginning of his testimony to a minute account of the conditions he found there and the difficulties he encountered in getting the material and supplies and the delays that occurred in filling requirements.

"The work I did," said Mr. Wallace, "was to get the material and supplies in dry and wet seasons. I was working along a definite program, which I reported to you in writing in my annual report, and would have done so if I had been permitted to make a full report on the work I did on the isthmus. The French excavators, so as to tell whether it would be the more economical to use or destroy these machines, which I cost probably $50,000,000. I experimented far enough to know that these machines were not fit for use."

Telling of those experiments, Mr. Wallace said he had not estimated that excavating could be done in March for 43c a cubic yard. It could be done for the same cost in the rainy season in May. It was important to determine whether the higher cost of excavating was due to the heavy rain falls, the reduction of time to an eight-hour day, or the use of French excavators, said Mr. Wallace.

Concerning the cost of the work, he stated that the cost had gone up a great deal after he left. The organization was demoralized, he said, for the reason that the men had seen their chief discredited, and knew that a successor would be appointed who would not be in sympathy with the work that had been done.

CLAIM FILED FOR BIG CITY TRACT

Mrs. W. V. Waller Enters Suit for Property

MANY ARE DEFENDANTS
Large Residence District Included in Boundaries of Real Estate in Dispute

Probably the largest land suit ever brought in Tarrant county was filed in the Forty-eighth district court shortly after 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, styled Nannie V. Waller vs. H. H. Swayne et al., asking reinstatement into possession of certain valuable property in Fort Worth and damages in the sum of $10,000.

Co-defendant with Mrs. and Mrs. Swayne are several hundred in possession of portions of the land which includes parts of the Union Depot addition, Chambers' addition, the Texas and Pacific addition, Terrell's addition, Stephenson's addition, Williams' addition, Kennedy's addition and the M. A. Jackson addition.

In a general way, the property is bounded on the north by Leida street; on the east by North Glenwood and Glenwood; on the south by Terrell avenue and on the west by Kentucky avenue and Stephenson street, though not including all property in these bounds.

The suit is for damages as mentioned and the restoration of claimed undivided one-half interest in the property described, which is situated in the original M. A. Jackson survey, and so described in the petition.

In other words, the suit is brought for the recovery of the alleged ownership of approximately 169 acres of land situated in what is now near the center of the city of Fort Worth.

John R. Stanley, attorney for Mrs. Waller, makes the following statement of the claim:

"Mrs. Waller claims by inheritance through Vienna Johnson, the wife of M. T. Johnson, who had a community one-half interest in this and other surveys. Vienna Johnson died intestate about ten years prior to the death of her husband, owing no debts, but her interest was liable for community debts if proceeded against by community creditors within a proper time. This time had elapsed before the death of M. T. Johnson. After the death of M. T. Johnson, the community interest in the whole estate and his interest in the community property was sold by his administrators to the community interest of Vienna Johnson had ceased to be subject to sale for community debt. In so far as the probate estate of M. T. Johnson is concerned, the community interest of Vienna Johnson until by some act brought to the knowledge of her heirs that they had inherited the community interest, and until the time the notice of the said probate estate had been published, she was not barred for reasons that will appear at the trial."

SAYS PUSH CARTS CAN'T BE BARRED

Attorney Declares Proposed Ordinance Impossible

PEDDLERS HAVE RIGHTS
Business Is Legal and Permissible So Long as It Is Not Declared to Be a Nuisance

After examining into authorities in the matter of the passage by city council of an ordinance prohibiting pushcart peddlers to operate in the streets of Fort Worth, Assistant City Attorney Virgil R. Parker holds the opinion that council will not be able to frame any ordinance, nor any other person frame an ordinance, that will remedy the alleged evil and, at the same time, be in accordance with and the provisions of the constitution of the state of Texas.

Mr. Parker Wednesday morning read an extract from 159 Illinois, 284, to a reporter for The Telegram, as follows, regarding the provision of the rights to buy and sell property at any place in the United States:

"The right to buy, sell and exchange property is a necessary incident to its ownership and subject to reasonable regulation is as much protected by this privilege of the constitution as is the ownership itself."

Mr. Parker also read the following, from the State vs. Wagoner, 72 N. W., 67; 69 Minn. 206:

"The state can regulate the business of a lawyer or peddler only for the purpose of preventing it from becoming a nuisance. The business is inherently moral and legitimate in itself."

At a meeting of city council held in December, 1935, a deputation of members from the Retail Grocers' and Butchers' Association attended and submitted an ordinance, asking that the same be passed forthwith in order that peddlers might be prohibited from selling fruit in Main or Houston streets during the holidays. Finding that it would be impossible for such an ordinance to be passed at that meeting, they prayed action on the part of city council to relieve them of the necessity of competing with peddlers who paid no taxes, etc., and a committee was appointed, to include the city attorney and other city officials, to study the matter and report back to city council. This has been done and the committee report is as follows:

The question has arisen whether, under the wording of the ordinance as now proposed, it would operate as an infringement of the right of the owners of the streets by grocers for selling any article and the matter will probably be included in an opinion from the city attorney to the council at its next meeting.

The ordinance has not been passed upon finally by council.

Special to The Telegram.
CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Washington says:

Miss Alice Roosevelt spent another busy day shopping yesterday. She had a fitting of her wedding gown and it is understood that the entire outfit will be ready by the end of this week.

Miss Roosevelt has been important for photographs in her bridal finery, and she has partially promised several friends that she will consent to this ordeal.

It was stated at the White House that all details about the trousseau of the President's daughter will be made public at the wedding. This will include a full description of the material which was specially designed. A list of the most important wedding gifts will also be made public. The presents are catalogued as they arrive and then sent to the attic. The most valuable of plate and jewelry will be transferred to a bank vault.

In the diplomatic corps there is an aggrieved feeling because only the heads of embassies and legations acting charge d'affaires have been asked to the wedding. Even the daughters of the British and Russian ambassadors, Miss Josephine Durand and the Baroness Gluckstein-Rosen have not been included, although both girls are on friendly terms with the bride-elect. In society as well as among the relatives of the family, the President and Mrs. Roosevelt have observed the rule of asking only two out of each family. Only those girls who bear the intimacies of the bride are to be present in the blue room.

To Get More Strength from Your Food

LOTS of people are starving with a full stomach. You know, it's not how much we eat, but how we digest that makes us strong, or brainy, or successful.

It needs only one Cascaret at a time to stimulate all the Bowel-Muscles enough, without purging, discomfort or loss of nutrition.

Well, when food decays in the Bowels, through delayed and overdue action, what happens? The millions of little Suction Pumps that line the Bowels and Intestines then draw Poison from the decayed Food.

One Cascaret at a time will properly cleanse a foul Breast, or Coated Tongue, thus proving clearly its ready, steady, sure, but mild and effective action.

When your Bowel-Muscles grow flabby they need Exercise to strengthen them—not "Physic" to paralyze them. There's only one kind of Artificial Exercise for the Bowel-Muscles.

Don't fail to carry the Vest Pocket Cascaret Box with you constantly. All Druggists sell them—over ten million boxes a year, for six years past.

SHIPPING TO FORT WORTH

The cattle shippers of the country are coming to a full realization of the fact that it is to their interest to patronize and develop the Fort Worth market, and as this rule of procedure is indulged in it will certainly result in the further development of this market, which is destined at no distant day to become one of the greatest live stock centers in the United States.

One gratifying feature of the situation is that the Fort Worth market is commanding the bulk of the short supply of fed cattle that is now going to market. It is a well known fact that Texas this season is about 80 per cent short on the usual supply of fed stuff, and the outside markets are getting practically none of this.

On account of the scarcity of cotton seed throughout the North Texas belt during the past season, which has rendered cattle feeding extremely difficult during the winter months, the shipments from this territory are estimated at one-third and by many even less, than the number usually billed for the northern markets at this season of the year.

Now is the time when the cattle fed at the oil mills in Texas should be moving to the northern markets, and they are being moved, but roads which formerly handled one and two train loads per day are now having difficulty in securing one and two good shipments per week, and the prospects for the remainder of the season are generally regarded as darker.

All mill people have made a mistake in standing out for high prices for their products this season, for it has resulted in almost wiping out the oil mill feeding industry. Of course if they have another outlet for those products at the increased prices demanded, they have lost nothing by the operation.

WEST TEXAS HAS AN INNING

It begins to look like the long looked for era of railway building in West Texas is about to materialize. Fort the past twenty years every town along the line of the Texas & Pacific between Fort Worth and El Paso has confidently expected to become a railway crossing and grow into the Chicago of the West.

easy to take a railway map and draw a straight line from any point in the United States directly to the future railway center of the Southwest, and this process has been going on for years. It made no difference that there was little in the country to induce railway construction. The men of much faith have held on with a tenacity that was almost sublime and have never wavered one particle in their beautiful faith.

And in the meantime, West Texas has been growing and prospering. New people have been attracted to that section in large numbers, real estate values have taken on a decided boom, the country has settled up and developed in such a thorough manner that the real railway builders of the country have awakened to the fact that the situation is now such as to justify the construction of additional railways, and West Texas has awakened to the fact that the long dreamed of epoch is now at hand.

Stilwell's Orient line was the entering wedge in the railway situation out in the western portion of the state, and West Texas will always owe a great deal of gratitude to the Kansas City promoter. Stilwell's work out there has been slow and laborious. It has tried the nerve of the people of West Texas as that nerve was never tried before.

It is a case of build more railway mileage out in West Texas and prepare to see the other fellow do the business, and this is what has brought about the fruition of the West Texas dream. It is not railway enterprise that is doing this thing for West Texas, but it is the enterprise of one Kansas City promoter, who has overcome such obstacles as were probably never placed in the path of a railway builder before.

That Massachusetts girl who wrote the Temple postmaster that she wanted a Texas husband is a young lady of rare discernment and most excellent judgment.

President Roosevelt announces again that he will accept no compromise in the matter of railway rate regulation legislation, and the entire country, with the possible exception of a few pro-railway senators, looks on with grateful approval.

Fort Worth people have a little matter of $11,126,557.97 standing to their credit in the banks of this city, and that fact well demonstrates the truth of the claim that prosperity is lying around in great chunks where the panther once lay down.

John A. McCall is rapidly establishing the fact that he is in reality a poor man. His carriages and stable equipment have just been sold at public auction in New York, and the former insurance magnate is beginning to nestle close to the Simple Life.

The garbage plant proposition that is before the city for consideration should be carefully considered. When the Trinity is made navigable to Dallas we are going to be up against a serious problem. And the best way in the world to avoid trouble is to make careful preparations in advance of its advent.

Fort Worth is soon to have one of the tallest office buildings in the state, and in the erection of this building it will be noted that the old Fort Worth spirit of determining to lead in all directions is still doing business at the old stand. Straight up is about the only direction in which we have not already led the procession, and the construction of this new building will be the capstone necessary to completely develop the situation.

The situation now seems to be sufficiently clarified to warrant the assertion that Fort Worth is soon to have a market house that will be commensurate with the demands of the occasion. The council committee having the matter in hand will make a favorable report on the proposition submitted for the enterprise to be constructed on the block just west of the court house, and it is believed that matters will soon be entirely straightened out and work begun on the structure.

As predicted by General Manager Thorne, of the Texas & Pacific, the railways entering Fort Worth are already preparing to enlarge their terminal facilities in order to relieve prevailing freight congestion, induced by the inadequate facilities of the present. Additional trackage for the accommodation of 1,000 cars will have to be immediately constructed, which means four miles of additional trackage, and a belt line to connect all the yards is on the tapis. Fort Worth is growing so fast that it is working a great hardship on the railways, but they will prove themselves equal to dealing with the emergency. The Telegram would suggest that while they are at this work, however, they should look well to the future. Fort Worth will be a city of 100,000 within the next five years.

AMONG THE EXCHANGES

If C. K. Bell does not win the race for governor of Texas then we will be badly fooled. Charley Bell is one of the purest and best men in Texas politics today and as governor would do his whole duty regardless of friend or foe, and the grater would have no place in his administration.—Gainesville Star-Forum.

Judge Bell has developed a strong following throughout Texas, and the nice things said of him by the public in his old home town are but an echo of the kindly expressions from Texas papers generally.

The Telegram should keep in mind that Mineral Wells is a candidate for the state Democratic convention meeting. This city is better prepared to take care of the convention than any other city in Texas—Mineral Wells Index.

The Telegram would like to see the state convention brought to this city, but with two candidates for state office in the field, it would not be just to the other candidates. The convention should be held in North Texas, however, and Mineral Wells would not be a bad location.

The suggestion of The Express that Uncle Trav. Henderson inject a little ginger into the gubernatorial race has not with wide encouragement from the state papers. As a purveyor of ginger Uncle Trav is second only to "Fighting Dick" Wynne of Fort Worth.—San Antonio Express.

There will be ginger a plenty and to spare in the gubernatorial campaign before the contest is over. Matters are so shaping themselves that it promises to be a memorable campaign.

The sooner the newspapers of the country demand that respect for the newspaper that other enterprises exact the better off they will be.—Brownwood Bulletin.

That is the wrong idea. The newspapers of the country should not demand respect, but should be in a position to command it. And the paper that lives honestly up to its obligations to its people never fails to command the necessary respect.

Why not abolish the office of attorney general of Texas? It serves no good purpose and the salary and expenses could be put to some more profitable use.—Tyler Courier.

We need the attorney general for the same reason that we need the weather man. Those long-range opinions afford such an interesting opportunity for comparison with the long range weather forecasts. Abolish the office of attorney general and permit the weather man a monopoly? Perish the thought.

Cowhides will soon be worth more than cows if the prices on them continue to advance. As Texas furnishes the rest of the country with a great part of these hides, we can't see where Texas has much room to kick.—Collingsworth Courier.

Texas has reason to kick because these cowhides are all shipped out of the state to be made into leather, when there should be big tanneries located right here in Fort Worth for the purpose.

The attorney general's office is expected to locate the combination which fixes lumber prices whether it be among the millmen, jobbers or dealers. The result of locating the offending trust would doubtless be a general scaling of prices, whether a conviction was obtained or not.—Waco Times-Herald.

The price of lumber is getting so high that many improvements are being delayed in the hope that a decline will soon follow. If the attorney general can do anything to relieve the situation he should proceed to get busy.

Hon. Monta J. Moore rises to announce that he will not further entangle the gubernatorial race by becoming a candidate. The other aspirants will doubtless say amen to this declaration.—Waco Times-Herald.

That means one Moore will not be added to the list of those who also ran.

Fort Worth is to have a second canning plant. Following the erection of the plant recently put in by Swift & Co., and its phenomenal success from the start, Armour has concluded that the Texas field is too good a thing to pass up and will shortly put in a large plant at Fort Worth.—Ablene News.

Plans for the new Armour canning plant are being prepared and the contract will be let very soon. Fort Worth is destined to become a great live stock and packing center, and from now on developments in that direction will be rapid.

The packers of Fort Worth are calling for more hogs. They want 5,000 hogs a day for a year if they can get them, and promise at all times to furnish a good market. Moral: Raise more hogs and less Hades.—Ablene News.

That is good advice and strictly to the point. If all Texas would turn to the production of more hogs and less Hades there would be such a reign of general prosperity as the state has not known in all its past history. And Fort Worth has a ready and waiting market for every porker that can be produced in the state.

THE READY LETTER WRITER Letter from a gentleman to his son at college, to whom he has sent a check for $50: Beloved son:

It affords me great pleasure to inclose a check for $50, and at the same time extend my congratulations to you on the most excellent manner in which you have conducted yourself in your studies and in your general deportment. You cannot imagine the pleasure with which I received a letter from one of the members of the faculty, praising you for your conduct in the study rooms and outside of them, and I cannot conceal my pride in the manifestations of the regard in which you hold the confidence that I have reposed in you. I cannot at this time express my feelings without appearing fulsome, so I will reserve further comment until you are in my presence, which I hope will be in the near future.

I cannot refrain at this time, however, from urging you to expend judiciously the amount inclosed, observing the economy which persons in our stations should always practice, not with false shame but with a righteous pride in the thought that we are following the precepts of many who are our intellectual and financial superiors and for the additional reason that in my experience of more than fifty-six years, I have never seen any low-branched member of the vegetable kingdom upon which $50 bills grow.

It gives me great pleasure, my dear son, to extend to you my most cordial wishes for your temporal and spiritual welfare, and to subscribe myself, Yours Very Respectfully and Affectionately, FATHER.

Letter from young man at college, to his father, acknowledging the receipt of a check for $50: Dear Dad:

VERSES THAT RING

"COMFORT"

Comfort the sorrowful with watchful eyes In silence, for the tongue cannot avail, Vex not his wounds with rhetoric, nor the state Worn truths, that are but maddening mockeries To him whose grief outmasters all replies, Only watch near him gently; do not bring The piteous hear of silent ministering. Watchful and tender, this alone is wise.

So shall thy presence and thine every motion, The grateful knowledge of thy sad devotion Melt out the passionate hardness of his grief, And break the flood-gates of the pent-up soul, He shall bow down beneath thy mute control, And take thine hands, and weep, and find relief. —Archibald Lampman.

LITTLE TALES WELL TOLD

TOO MUCH LOYALTY

King Oscar, traveling through a small town in Sweden, saw a large transparency, with the inscription, "Welcome, Your Majesty!" hanging from a building. He inquired what the building was, and was told that it was the town prison. "Ah," exclaimed his majesty, "this loyalty is too much!"

MATTER OF POLITENESS

There is a story about General Sam Houston of Texas and a practicing physician who did not like the old general, being strenuously opposed to him politically. One day after a heated political discussion the physician said, "General, I like you well enough socially, but politically I would not believe you on oath." "I would believe you, doctor," was the quiet reply of the general.

NOT A CALAMITY

The late Hezekiah Butterworth, said a Boston Journalist, "had a high opinion of a woman's wit. He liked to prove woman man's superior in fancy, in humor, in retort. "He related one day to me a quarrel between a married couple that he had overheard in the subway. "This couple got on at Scoble square and rode in Mr. Butterworth's direction. "There is no calamity which can befall a woman that I have not suffered," the lady said in a bitter voice.

NEEDED HIS PRAYERS

Commissioner James R. Garfield, at a dinner in Chicago, told a story of Adam Black, the founder of the well-known publishing house. "One day a short time after Mr. Black had opened his book shop," he said, "a rough-looking man entered stealthily, leaned over the counter, winked, and whispered in Mr. Black's ear: "I've got some fine smuggled whisky that ye can have at a great bargain." "Go away," said Mr. Black. "I want nothing of that kind. You are a bad man. Go away." "But the smuggler must have doubted the sincerity of this repulse, for now, leaning over the counter again, he whispered still more earnestly: "I'll take prayer books for it."

New Men Have Little Chance to Shine Early in Councils of the Nation

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 7.—The strong men of the senate and the house representatives are not necessarily the men of greatest natural or acquired ability.

With caution which developed into wisdom he managed to secure delegations on important committees and according to senate custom, he gradually grew into leading positions on all of these committees.

Senator Morgan of Alabama occupies a commanding minority position on the committee on foreign relations; also inter-oceanic canals and Pacific railroads, also on Indian affairs.

These men are called the strong men of the senate because by reason of their college two years hence, they have gained standing, influence and actual power, such as can be acquired in no other way than by the experience of continuous service.

What is true of the senate is equally true of the house. Speaker Cannon, Grosvenor, Payne, Burton, Williams, Mississippi, DeArmond, Clark and Little of Arkansas would not be considered leaders were it not for their long service in the lower house.

Volume of Business Lightest in Months—Trading Features—No Changes of Importance

Special to The Telegram.
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Today's session of the Stock Exchange offered a vivid contrast to the scenes of activity in the recent past, being the dullist session for months, with the volume of business smaller than for many a day. Sales to noon were but 346,000.

The trading was strictly among the professional element, and void of features. Fluctuations were narrow and in most cases values hung around yesterday's final figures. Anticipation of a favorable dividend action by the executive committee of the Erie, which is to meet tomorrow, and bull points from London on this issue, encouraged some buying of that stock, not liberally sold, however, to cause more than a fractional advance.

The rumored merger between Copper and Smelting attracted attention to A. C. P., but there was no noticeable activity from either interest.

The close was dull but steady.

GRAIN

Wheat Prices Lower; Corn Off Shade; Oats Unchanged; Provisions Strong

Special to The Telegram.
CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Wheat was fairly active and weaker today. Liverpool prices did not make a full response to our advance of yesterday, and the foreign news had no effect on sentiment. The trading was principally among the local crowd and in the distant options, fluctuation in the current month being narrow, while there was some rather liberal selling for July and September delivery, causing a decline of 5c to 7c for these options. Closing prices were at the lowest.

Local receipts, 17 cars, of which 10 were contract grain.

Corn
Corn was quiet, with prices inclined to weakness. The close showed a net loss of a shade to 3/4c. The export demand for corn continues small, but the domestic demand is improved.

Local receipts, 260 cars, 16 of these were contract grain. Receipts this day last year were 147 cars.

Oats
Oats were quiet and steady, closing prices unchanged. The close showed a net loss of a shade to 3/4c. The export demand for oats continues small, but the domestic demand is improved.

Local receipts, 80 cars, 12 of which were contract grain; 42 cars were received this day last year.

Provisions
Provisions were active and strong on liberal buying for packing interests and a better market for live hogs.

The close of the pork was 10c to 17c higher, and was up 5c to 8c. Ribs were 8c to 8 1/2c higher.
