Although the girl admitted she killed Gerdon, the circumstances surrounding the shooting are so unusual they have given rise to charges that a member of the police had secretly urged the girl on.

Bertha Claiche said Gerdon brought her here from France when she was 15 years of age and for nearly six years she was the slave of the man who she was wanted him arrested.

As she gave herself up to the officers she cried, "I am glad I killed him, and I would do it twenty times over. He made me his slave, but he will never raise his hand against another woman."

ORGANIZED LABOR FOR BIGGER NAVY

New York Federated Union Passes Resolutions

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The attitude of organized labor on the subject of increasing the size of the United States navy was reflected last night in the discussion of a resolution presented in the Central Federated Union, urging the building of more battleships. The resolution was adopted with the important proviso that the ships be built in government yards instead of by private companies. Not all the delegates were agreed as to the advisability of increasing the navy, a representative of one organization saying that he considered it forbade him to sanction the manufacture of machines to murder human beings. Another delegate said his feelings were just as sensitive in the matter but "so long as murderous machines are to be built" he argued that union men ought to be employed in the work.

WANTS UNION MEN IN NAVY

A delegate from the Seamen's Union said that the battleships the government is now building at the Brooklyn navy yard will soon be completed. It was affirmed that 20 per cent of the employees already have been thrown out of work because there are no more battleships now ordered to be constructed there and that fifty per cent of the men will be discharged as soon as the Connecticut is ready for launching.

TURNING POINT IN HISTORY

The government is now carried on by royal decree. This cannot last, as parliament has refused to vote the budget, and unless the army collects taxes forcibly, no funds can be raised. Today's proceedings mark a turning point in the history of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy. The recognition of Hungarian rights and liberties are the bottom of the trouble. The specific point of the contest was the proposed substitution of the Austrian words of command for Hungarian in the Hungarian army. Today's action of the emperor was in absolute disregard of the national constitution.

Some time ago one of my friends recommended Cuticura to me. I secured some, and after using it several months I was completely cured. Cotton Belt Likely to Make Further Efforts to Move Offices

Special to The Telegram. GEORGETOWN, Texas, Feb. 19.—Vice President Green of the Cotton Belt held a long consultation with Attorney Hiram Glass here relative to the recent decision of the supreme court in the matter of the general offices.

However, as the opinion of the court has never yet been received by the attorneys of the road no statement as to definite policy can be made, as that will depend upon the points involved in the ruling of the court. Cotton Belt officials are very much disappointed in the turn given their case by the court and are at a loss to understand upon what logical ground the opinion could have been rendered. Most of them, while it is not given out authoritatively, it is clearly evident that the matter has not reached the end of its history. Those who have supposed that the Cotton Belt would quietly submit or take this court opinion as final, when there are so many multiplied evidences showing that the court practically stands alone in its contention, have evidently been mistaken.

THE TELEGRAM AND WEST TEXAS

The Fort Worth Telegram has been giving West Texas some very beneficial advertising during the past two weeks. A. W. Grant, managing editor of that paper, is contributing these descriptions of sections of Western Texas and its wonderful resources—Big Springs Enterprise.

The Telegram has been doing some very effective advertising for West Texas during the past few weeks, and the descriptive articles furnished by its special staff correspondents have attracted widespread attention. That these articles will redound to the great benefit of that section is already clearly apparent and well known to West Texas people.

The Telegram was inspired by a genuine desire to contribute its mite toward the proper development of that portion of Fort Worth's great territory. The city and that portion of the state are so welded together in commercial and social affairs that we feel all West Texas is a part of Fort Worth and Fort Worth an important part of West Texas. Our interests are identical and must be for all time to come, and the pleasant and friendly relations now existing must be further cultivated and developed.

West Texas is now undergoing a transformation from a stock country to a stock farming country. While its agricultural interests are being highly and successfully developed, it must ever rely principally on its live stock interests. Fort Worth has provided West Texas with a great market for every class of live stock it can produce. While other Texas cities had been figuring on such a procedure for years, it was reserved for Fort Worth to step into the breach and provide the market, and it has been of inestimable value to West Texas.

Fort Worth wholesale houses are in direct touch with all that portion of the state, and Fort Worth capital is invested in many enterprises out there. Fort Worth is the great market center, business center and kindred spirit that awakens a sense of pride and kinship in the breast of every citizen of West Texas. These were the things The Telegram had in mind when it sent its correspondent into that section to do gratuitously a work that had long been neglected by more pretentious publications. And The Telegram is not yet through with this labor of love. From time to time it will continue in this great work, and at no time neglect the good people who are doing their full share in promoting not only the development of West Texas, but a greater and more prosperous Fort Worth. West Texas can always pin its faith to The Telegram, even as The Telegram is pinning its faith to West Texas.

"THE SERENE ATTITUDE"

A Chicago club woman has been advising young married women who have to struggle against insufficient income to adopt the "serene attitude" and find peace from worry.

Another woman who has recently come from the Orient has started a fad of the East Indian philosopher of "repose," and it is running through all grades of New York society like wildfire. She teaches that the one thing necessary to human happiness is to sit comfortably in some quiet corner, fold your hands lightly but firmly and keep softly saying "Um" over to yourself until you are what she calls "in tune with the Infinite."

All this sounds very sweet and enticing. But the good, plain old-fashioned word "laziness" expresses the whole doctrine better.

It is a fine philosophy for turtles. Turtles never worry. Something like "Um" is all they ever have been known to say. Lazing all day long, they have the "serene attitude" and the "repose" in highest perfection. And it is said that they sometimes live 1,000 years.

People who never worry never do anything else of consequence. They may not be turtles, but they might just as well be.

Worry of the right sort is a spur to effort. Discontent with wrong conditions is the mind's first step toward right ones.

Worry has its uses. Who has not noted that the dame who fusses and frets and scolds the most generally keeps the cleanest kitchen and makes the best bread?

The Frisco railway company announces its intention of complying with the provisions of the Williams intangible assets bill, and the Frisco is thus setting the other railways of this state a timely example.

The Sunday Telegram was fully up to the usual standard, and printed just about all the news that was fit to print. The readers of The Sunday Telegram are never disappointed in the quality and quantity of the matter that appears in its columns.

Work has commenced on the extension of the Santa Fe railway south from Canyon City, and the contract will carry it down into the Lubbock country. The Texas railways are getting busy out in West Texas these days, and much dirt is flying.

The last vacant lot on Main street, comprising a frontage of fifty feet, has just been sold for $35,000, or about $700 per front foot. It will be graced with a modern building, and the time is not far distant when not a shack will be left to deface this great thoroughfare. Fort Worth is growing and business property is in active demand.

Governor Lanham has taken the public sufficiently into his confidence to impart the information that the special session of the state legislature will be convened on March 26. The matters to be legislated upon are still wrapped in the secrecy of the executive breast, however, and will not be divulged until the official call has been promulgated. It is a relief to the entire state to know that the special session is to be called, even though the governor remains as uncommunicative as ever.

AN EVERYDAY ESSAY

WASTE AND WEALTH

Rubbish. Useless stuff that men threw away and paid to have carted off to the dump.

That was the basis of one of the greatest fortunes in England and the stepping-block to a peerage. Lord Masham, who died the other day, had a career which was one of the most remarkable romances the world of invention and manufacture has ever known.

As a young man he was a spinner in Yorkshire, who had mastered his trade and owned some mills. One day when in London he came across a heap of silk waste mixed up with dirty rope ends, leaves and sticks, all knotted together.

"What is that?" he asked.
"Oh, simply rubbish. It is impossible to do anything with it," was the reply.

But the trained spinner from Yorkshire knew better. He bought the great heap of waste at a half-penny a pound, and was laughed at.

For nearly ten years all the profit from his mills went into experimental machinery for the utilization of this waste. Then came the startling announcement that he had produced a machine which at small cost turned the waste rubbish into beautiful fabrics. The result is that today waste silk pours into the great Manchester mills from all parts of the world to come forth worth hundreds of thousands of pounds.

In nature there is no waste. It is only because of man's limitations that the world is littered with what to him seems rubbish. Some day a ray of genius falls upon a dead heap of waste and turns it into gold.

And the form of wealth thus created remains in the world for all time.
As a yearly product the product of gold of all the world is much less valuable than the hay, or eggs, or corn, or cotton. But these perishable products pass away, while gold is almost indestructible and remains. And so does a process for turning waste into wealth remain to permanently enrich mankind.

QUAKER REFLECTIONS

Even the bald-headed man can go to foreign parts. Is the woman who lives on the top floor always dressed up?

Fortune never knocks at some doors because it can't get by the janitor.

Don't sigh for what you haven't got. Wings make fall-birds as well as angels.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Every time one man loses his temper another gains his point.
No matter how often a man's heart is shattered it is always good for another break.

A man may believe that he is better than his neighbor, but his neighbor never believes it.

Perhaps the longevity of most actors may be due to enforced walking as a means of exercise.

Wise politicians climb into the band wagon rather than risk being knocked down and being run over by it.

Somehow a talkative wife never takes advantage of the many opportunities her husband gives her to quit.

After a woman has been married about so long she ceases to pay any attention to rumors about men neglecting their wives.

AMONG THE EXCHANGES

Six cents for hogs is pretty good for Fort Worth, the big swine market of Texas.—Sherman Democrat.
Six cents per pound for hogs on the hoof is pretty good, but $6.29 is a fraction better, and that is what Fort Worth has been paying for the festive porker this week.

Fort Worth has a good evening paper in The Telegram.—San Antonio Light.
The Telegram has always been true to Fort Worth and has never asked to be treated except as a purely business enterprise. The Telegram has never asked for assistance and only wants the recognition warranted by its merits.

It is asserted that a genuine cypress lumber trust was perfected at a recent secret meeting in New Orleans. Pahaw, that's nothing! Texas is said to have a pine lumber trust that is making things hum all along the line, regardless of protests or kicks.—Brethren Banner.
Here is another suggestion for the attorney general at Austin, who recently admitted he was reading all the trust information that was drifting in his direction.

"Intangible Tax" Williams should come across with an opinion on the lumber rate row. He battled in head first when the Pirate Islanders attempted to "hog" the cotton business of the state. Perhaps he sings his flippers in that interesting scrap.—Dallas Times-Herald.
Judge Williams only expressed an honest opinion on the cotton differential question, and thereby drew the fire of the Houston light artillery. He is never afraid to speak his honest convictions.

Texas isn't at all slow when it comes to its representation in the United States senate. We have two of the brainiest men on record looking after our interests there and they can be depended upon, you may rest assured of that fact.—Austin Statesman.

Texas has two senators that rank with the ablest men of this nation, and the entire Texas congressional delegation is not to be sneezed at. They are brainy fellows and always active in the discharge of every duty.
The shippers of North Texas are going to make common cause for what they believe they are entitled to. It is the only logical thing for them to do. The organization of a North Texas Freight Bureau will result in consideration of the demands which individually will never receive more than passing attention.—Denison Herald.

The shippers of North Texas have acted properly in organizing a freight bureau, and are to be congratulated upon their action. In union there is strength, and when the shippers present a united front and forces they are in position to command respect.

Hogs sold for 6 cents on the Chicago, St. Louis and Fort Worth markets Saturday, and at $5.95 in Kansas City. It will be readily noticed that the Fort Worth market is no longer satisfied to remain in the Kansas City class. We are stacking up with the best in the land these days.—Fort Worth Telegram.

The hog market is making Henderson county prosperous in spite of the boll weevil. If Fort Worth will keep up the price Henderson county will furnish twice her share of hogs.—Athens Review.
If Henderson county will stick to the hog proposition she will soon be in position to defy the boll weevil—and Fort Worth continues to pay the very top prices for porkers—we got 'em up to $6.29 Thursday.

The whole face of the earth is being torn up in Fort Worth to make room for the erection of new buildings. No other city in Texas can make such an excellent showing in this regard. And people do not build fine buildings in a dead one.—Fort Worth Telegram.

Fort Worth is a live one all right and has some A1 newspaper exponents.—McKinney Gazette.
Fort Worth newspapers have to measure up. The people of this city would never be content with a newspaper that did not reflect the growth and prosperity of the city.

PUBLIC OPINION

The revival of patriotism and national feeling in China continues to attract interested comment. It is something likely to have a tremendous influence on the future of Asia. The Boston Transcript observes:

The present nationalist wave in China has submerged all those old distinctions between the provinces and between north and south China. It already has reached a point of unity and solidified front toward the occidental nations, realizing that after all its heavy investments in Kinchow it must begin to withdraw, and cease putting out those feelers for territory beyond which it had begun to send forth. Even Japan has been made to realize that despite all she has done to win desperately China's gratitude she must be satisfied with less than she had anticipated as a reward for service rendered. Her recent attempts to preserve the moral welfare and educational development of the Chinese students residents in Japan have been met with very decided rebellion and discourtesy on the part of many of the students, 1,000 out of the 3,000 studying in Japan having returned home rather than submit to regulations which the education department ordered.

The New York Sun argues that recent statistics of urban life show that there is less degeneracy of physical type in cities than has popularly been supposed. It asserts, however:

The weight of recent scientific opinion opposes the belief in town degeneracy, so far at least as typical modern cities are concerned. Special investigations in several leading German cities have disclosed the fact that the country bred element was but slightly represented among the mercantile and professional classes and among the skilled trades, while it formed the bulk of the lowest ranks of wage earners. On the other hand, the descendants of the country bred in the first and second generations were found in increasing numbers in the better paid trades, in commerce and in the professions. In other words, the country bred element in so far as it manifested a tendency to advance in industrial efficiency and ease of circumstances a manifestation which undoubtedly runs counter to the theory of degeneracy.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

AND ALONG CAME A REAL PIRATE

THE IDLER'S NOTE BOOK

I'm glad it's over.
That the last shimmering gown has swept its owner (when the bill is paid) out of the White House portals. That the servants have taken the flowers out of the vases and thrown them into the backyard garbage cans, and have swept the rice off the front steps.

That the happy bride and bridegroom (they're always happy in Associated Press dispatches and country weeklies) have been whisked (why is it they are always whisked?) away in an automobile to begin their wedding tour with a camera accompaniment.

That the newspapers can resume their normal rational plane and tell us the rest of the story about just what Count Boni did to make the Countess Anna shut the front door in his noble face. Did he kiss the parlor maid or just come home with talcum powder traces on his left shoulder? We have never yet found out and the newspapers have been too busy to tell us.

That we can resume our sane and normal discussions about the case of Lou Dillon and Herbert Hadley, Tom Lawson, Mrs. Tolla, Senator Patterson, Andrew Hamilton and Joe Gans. Perhaps, if we're good, the dispatches may even have room to tell us what has become of Mrs. Chadwick, Washington Gladden and Ida Tarbell.

Really I do not think we are always as truly thankful as we should be for the daily store of information we are permitted to glean at two cents per glean or a dime a week if you pay the carrier. Think if you are not already grateful for your blessings, what a privilege it is for you to know that just before going to the White House, Nick took time to smoke a cigarette. True, the dispatches didn't tell us whether it was trust manufactured, whether his valet made it for him the night before, or whether Nick himself, rolled it nonchalantly (they always do it that way in dispatches), and pulled the string of the tobacco sack with his teeth while moistening the paper to hold it together; but they at least told us about the cigarette and we ought to be glad for that.

You also would not have known if the dispatches had not told you, that some of the guests drank a champagne toast to Toodles, and that the selfsame Toodles was brought downstairs, arrayed in his wedding finery, consisting of a large bow gracefully tied back of his left ear. (Toodles, dear reader, if you happened to skip this particular dispatch, is a dawg.)
Neither would you have known, without the same authentic sources of information which supplied the story of Toodles, that Mrs. Hotty Green sent a $20 gold piece as a wedding present. If the dispatches hadn't told you, you might have been led into the error of guessing it was a fiver.

Some one, the dispatches also told us, sent the happy bridegroom a large yellow dog. We trust that the dispatches will keep us informed should this new arrival ever get into a friendly argument with Toodles, but alas, we know in advance, they won't. The press associations never do send us the kind of news we want anyway. In our humble opinion, a White House dog fight would be worth at least a column, but there is no use hoping for vain things.

It is a good thing when something happens which everybody can read about, that is it is a good thing for everybody except the newspapers. The dear public demands details and then kicks because the details are too long. It buys extras to read columns which, with the only exceptions of changed date lines, it read the week before, not because the newspapers want to print the extras and re-hash the old material, but because it howls unless the whim is satisfied and newspapers long ago have learned to heed howls, even as a youthful father in the midnight watches.

And then when it's all over, the dear public says it's glad that the newspapers can quit their foolishness and give them some sensible information, straightaway forgetting the foolishness was furnished to feed its own demand.

Isn't it too bad? Not a bit of it. It's human nature, and human nature not only makes the world go round but makes weddings for the world to read about as it spins. We've finished reading about the wedding and our feelings are like those of a small boy who has eaten a seven-course dinner, six of which were desserts, surfeited but satisfied.

Now let us turn over the pages and see if any more Illinois preachers have committed suicide.

THE IDLER.

The house committee on military affairs has learned that the army has wasted $36,000,000 since 1898. Sounds like one of those John W. Gates stories.

VERSES THAT RING

GOOD-BY

"Farewell! farewell!" is often heard
From the lips of those who part;
'Tis a whispered tone—'tis a gentle word,
But it springs not from the heart.
It may serve for the lover's closing lay,
To be sung 'neath a summer sky
But give to me the lips that say
The honest words, "Good-bye!"
"Adieu! adieu!" may greet the ear,
In the halls of courtly speech;
But when we leave the kind and dear,
'Tis not what the soul would reach.
When'er we grasp the hands of those
We would have forever nigh,
The flame of friendship bursts and glows
In the warm, frank words, "Good-bye."

THE READY LETTER WRITER

A letter from a young bride thanking her friend for her wedding gift:
You Dear, Sweet Thing:
Oh, how can I tell you how delighted I was by your lovely present! So beautiful, and so useful, too! Herbert exclaimed when he saw it, "Oh, a clock! Just what we needed! And a beauty!" How delighted I am that you happened to select a clock. You always do have such good judgment, and you once more have exhibited in the clock you selected the splendid taste that I have so often complimented. A thousand thanks, you dear, good old thing. Eternally yours,
ETHEL.

Another letter from the same young bride to another friend, thanking her for a wedding gift:
Dear Old Chum:
Oh, how I wish you could have seen our joy and surprise when we opened the package you sent and saw the beautiful clock. What a dear it is! And just what we wished for!" "Isn't it lovely!" exclaimed Herbert, "I'm glad she happened to think of something sensible! And what a beauty!"
You don't know how pleased we are. We have given it the place of honor on the mantel, and every time I look at it I'll think of what a dear, sweet thing you are.
Yours forever and ever,
ETHEL.

A letter from the same young bride to her rich uncle, thanking him for his wedding gift:
Dearest, Lovely Old Uncle:
How can I ever thank you enough for that gem of a clock you sent us? It is such a dear, and so useful, too. When Herbert saw it he said, "Well, your uncle is a brick! It's the handsomest I ever saw!" How did you happen to hit on such an appropriate thing, and such a lovely one?
Two of our friends gave us clocks, but they can't be compared to yours. They are pretty, but they look insignificant beside the beauty you sent. Of course, we can't use them, so are going to exchange them, one for a salad dish and the other for some lovely pink granite ware.

You must come and see us and have a look at the dear clock. It has the place of honor on the mantel. Haste do come as soon as you can.
With bushels of love, your

STOCK SHOW PLANS

Arrangements Being Made for Comfort of Guests and Exhibitors

C. C. French, secretary of the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, in speaking of the arrangements being perfected for the comfort and convenience of the exhibitors, said:

"The Telegram can say that hay from Kansas will be furnished for bedding and feed for all stock above the quarantine line. The hay will be kept in the cars until desired for use, as an extra precaution.

"The catalogue the company is preparing will be after the style of that gotten out by the International Live Stock Exhibition. It is so arranged that it will become a record of each animal and can be kept for reference. Every animal will have a number on the front of its head to indicate the class to which it belongs, and on the side an official number which is intended to refer the public to the pedigree, color, etc., which will be found opposite to that number in the catalogue.

"With the book so arranged with numbers corresponding with those on the animal, it will be possible for a person by referring to the catalogue to find every thing about any particular animal without any trouble to himself or the employees."

FIGHT RENEWED FOR PATRICK

Examination of Witnesses to Last All Week

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Another chapter in the long fight for life being made by Albert T. Patrick, the convicted murderer of William Marsh Rice, was begun this morning before Recorder Goff in the court of general sessions when the examination of twenty-five witnesses whose affidavits the motion for a new trial was based, was begun.

All the Texas witnesses state that Jones, the valet on whose testimony Patrick was convicted, had admitted in Texas that he had lied at the trial.

The affidavits were procured through the work of John T. Milliken of St. Louis, a brother-in-law of Patrick. He has also undertaken the expense of the defense. The affidavits of the doctors are to show that Mr. Rice was not killed by chloroform, as alleged by Jones. One of the affidavits, Dr. Thomas L. Bennett of No. 297 West Ninety-first street, will testify that the chloroforming of the alleged millionaire in the manner described by Jones at the trial is absolutely impossible.

All of the witnesses will be examined by Mr. Olcott, Patrick's counsel and by District Attorney Jerome personally. Mr. Olcott said that it would probably take the entire week to examine them all.

OLD SORES SAP THE VITALITY AND UNDERMINE THE HEALTH

Old Sores that refuse to heal are a constant menace to health. They sap the vitality and undermine the constitution by draining the system of its very life fluids.

These ulcers grow deep and almost desperate as one treatment after another fails. They patiently apply salves, washes, plasters, etc., but in spite of all these the sore refuses to heal and eats deeper into the surrounding flesh.

The source of the trouble is in the blood. This vital fluid is filled with impurities and poisons which are constantly being discharged into the sore or ulcer, making it impossible for the place to heal.

It will not do to depend on external applications for a cure, because they do not reach the real cause, and valuable time is lost experimenting with such treatment; the most they can do is keep the ulcer clean.

Any sore that will not heal is a cure can be brought about only through a remedy that can change the quality of the blood, and this is what S. S. S. does.

It goes to the very bottom of the trouble, drives out the poisons and germs with which it is filled, and purifies and builds up the entire circulation.

By the use of S. S. S. the sore is supplied with new, rich blood which corrects the trouble, soon stops the discharge, and allows the place to heal naturally and permanently.

S. S. S. also reinvigorates the entire system, and where the constitution has been depleted or broken down it quickly builds it up and restores perfect health.

Write for our special book on sores and ulcers, and any medical advice you are in need of; no charge for either. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

ITCH—RINGWORK. E. T. Lucas, Wingo, Ky., writes, April 25, 1902: "For 10 or 12 years I had been afflicted with the manly known as the 'itch.' The itching was most unbearable; I had tried for years to find relief, having tried all remedies I could hear of, but to no purpose. I was finally cured by the use of Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic. I wish to state that one single application of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me completely and permanently. Since then I have used the liniment on two separate occasions for ring worm and it cured completely." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Covey & Martin.

Sore Feet and Strained Muscles For sore, tired, throbbing, blistered or aching feet nothing in the world equals Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic as a relief.

Muscle-soreness and strains also are instantly relieved by rubbing well with Antiseptic. It stops all pain, prevents inflammation, heals blistered parts and hardens them against the same kind of trouble in the future. Accept only the genuine. Sold by all druggists.

MONEY IN HOGS? WELL A LITTLE

Fort Worth Packers Paying Out $1,000,000 a Month

TOP PRICE PAID HERE Porkers Fetching $6.20 Fattened on Corn Costing Only Thirty Cents a Bushel

A million dollars per month for hogs alone seems a large sum of money, but this is about what Fort Worth is paying, according to the record established last Friday. The exact disbursements for that day by the packing houses for hogs was $35,449.87, and a little figuring will show that this would amount to $988,945.97 per month.

Those who have given the matter much attention state that hog raising is profitable when hogs can be fattened on corn at 50 cents per bushel and sold for as much as $5. Some of the hogs marketed here sold for as much as $6.20, and were fattened on corn at only 30 cents a bushel.

The farmers throughout Texas, however, do not have to buy the pigs or the corn either, if they choose to raise them, and by producing their own feed and raising their own pigs, the revenue which they will receive will be all their own.

OLD AGE Depends Not Upon Years, But Upon Vital Force

In Fort Worth lately there has been a good deal of discussion in regard to old people. Some at fifty years call themselves old, and really appear so, while others seventy years seem active, vigorous and young.

It is not years, but it is loss of vital force that makes a person old. Weakened digestion, thin blood and poor circulation soon start functional power and vitality on the wane, and then the symptoms of old age quickly appear.

Our well known druggist, Mr. R. A. Anderson, says "that old feelings may be warded off, and we wish every person in Fort Worth who feels old, whether they are so in years or not, would try the great discovery, Vinol. We know that it has vital principles which will in a "vital" manner strengthen digestion, send rich, red blood coursing through the veins, and give new life and strength to every organ of the body, and this is what makes the old feel young again."

Mrs. H. W. Avery says: "I am fifty-nine I felt the need of a tonic, something to strengthen and build me up. For some time I have been taking Vinol, and I have found that it brings vigor and renewed vitality to the aged as nothing else will. Vinol repairs worn tissues, checks the natural decline and replaces weakness with strength. It is an ideal food for the aged."

We promise you that Vinol is, first of all, agreeable, because it contains no fishy oil. Second, that it is a genuine food, containing all the medicinal curatives and strength-making elements taken direct from fresh red liver and cod liver, and will return your money if it does not do exactly what we claim for it." R. A. Anderson, Druggist.

There were about 200 people at the game, and these became very enthusiastic before the first inning was played. The game was not marked by brilliant features, but by the even, good playing of all.
