SURPRISED DOCTOR

Illustrating the Effect of Food The remarkable adaptability of Grape-Nuts food to stomachs so disordered that they will reject everything else, is illustrated by the case of Mrs. H— of Racine, Wis.

Two years ago, she says, "I was attacked by a stomach trouble so serious that for a long time I could not take much of any sort of food. Even the various kinds prescribed by the doctor produced most acute pain."

"We then got some Grape-Nuts food, and you may imagine my surprise and delight when I found that I could eat it with a relish and without the slightest distress."

"When the doctor heard of it he told me to take several small portions each day, because he feared I would grow tired of it as I had of all other food."

"But, to his astonishment (and that of everybody else), I did not tire of Grape-Nuts, and became better day by day, till, after some weeks, my stomach entirely recovered and I was able to eat anything my appetite craved."

"My nerves, which had become so weakened that I feared I would become insane, were also restored by the Grape-Nuts food in conjunction with Postum Coffee which has become our table beverage. I appreciate most gratefully and thankfully the good that your food preparations have done me, and shall be glad to answer any letters inquiring as to my experience."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pinks.

TELL OF OLD TEXAS DAYS

C. P. Thomas Talks Interestingly to the Washington Post "I knew many of the old men of desperate courage and iron nerve who participated in the deadly fray that used to be common in Kansas towns in the days when the Texas ranchmen drove cattle by thousands up the trail," said Mr. C. P. Thomas of Montana, at the Arlington, says the Washington Post.

"I knew personally 'Wild Bill' Hickok, Luke Short, Doc Holliday, 'Shotgun' Collins, 'Bat' Masterson, and many of their kind. 'Wild Bill' was the quickest man with a six-shooter who ever illustrated the border. He could operate two pistols at once with lightning rapidity and unerring aim. He was killed in a most cowardly manner while engaged in a poker game in which he failed to sit with his back to the wall, as was his habit."

"Doc Holliday was a native of Georgia, and take him all in all, he was possessed of the most dare-devil and reckless bravery of any of his associates. He feared not man or devil, and acted with such insane disregard of danger that it was generally believed he really courted death. Luke Short was a Texas boy, a quiet and even bashful man. In his demeanor one who would never be picked as a desperado. In fact, this was not his real role, for he avoided trouble whenever possible, yet when it was necessary he would fight like a fiend, and he rarely missed his man. He was absolutely loyal to his friends, and in Fort Worth, where he came to a peaceful end, he was highly popular. 'No man of all this frontier crowd was braver than Doc Masterson, and I think that in time of peril he kept the coolest head of any. No matter how hot the engagement, old 'Bat' never showed excitement. His generalship in a fight was superb, and I have always thought that if he had been a military leader, he would have risen to very high rank. He and Bill Cody are the only survivors of the old turbulent days when the survival of the fittest meant the man who could shoot quickest and surest."

"We have one advantage now in feeding, and that is our cheap corn. Corn with us is worth 25 cents a bushel, and that is so much cheaper than cotton seed meal at present prices that it gives us a decided advantage in feeding. We shipped more corn from our county this year than ever before, as much as 150,000 bushels from the little station at Enid, Texas, however, seems to be taking up the question of raising corn to be the best advantage and to give her splendid capacity for doing everything she tries her hand at will succeed admirably in this, and what she accomplishes this year will not be much doubted but that she will crawl to the top of the pile as a corn raiser. Every condition up our way presents an appearance that at this time would indicate a great success this year, just as there was last, and the people are feeling good."

"From every appearance the packing house industry here and the stock yards interests will become the third largest in size in the country."

AMUSEMENTS

With new jokes, new melodies arranged for the "Texas Steer" quartet, but with the same Tim Murphy and an all round good support. Hoyt's "Texas Steer" was presented to a packed house at Greenwall's Monday night and received with the genial, outspoken liberality of applause which always marks a visit of Mr. Murphy to Fort Worth, as well as the remainder of Texas.

IS AFTER COWS

Jack County Man Wants Two Thousand Head H. Kapp, the well-known stockman and feeder, passing through this city on his way home to Jack county from Oklahoma City, stopped off long enough to visit the Exchange and yards, shake hands with his friends and look in the pens to see if there was anything of the cow kind that would do to mix with strings of feeders. "I am feeding at Oklahoma City 1,200 head of steers and they are doing nicely. We have some stock in our section and consequently our feeding pens are in great condition, but the country needs moisture to get things properly started. Let the farmers get into the fields to plow. I have in addition to my string in Oklahoma, some 250 head of steers on feed and I am on my way there now to look after them. I want 2,000 head of steers that meet so much in the lot of steers on grass in pasture in Western Oklahoma. I already have 150 head out there."

South Texas Rain

At the Fort Worth stock yards Monday morning the reports from several sources was that the country below San Antonio had had general rain, but that it was very light and had done very much good. The grass and succulent weeds that meet so much in the development of cattle in the spring will now get a fine start and proceed to grow up that startlingly swift manner that is peculiar to the semi-arid torrid zone of the southwest. Cattle are going ahead at present in great shape and with another hot summer time will soon be showing their fat carcasses in the yards at Fort Worth.

Cattle Raisers

At the office of the secretary of the Cattle Raisers' Association of the state of Texas it was learned that for the quarter which will end March 31 there had been ninety-eight additions to the membership up to date, and the opinion was expressed by those present that these matters that by the time set for the convention of the association this number would have been increased to 120 or 150 members. The association is in a very healthy condition, and as the years roll by the careful management of all the affairs of the association in the past has begun to bear fruit and cattlemen, seeing and feeling the efforts being made along the line in the interest and for the betterment of the material welfare of their brethren, are coming to the front, joining the association and doing it with encouragement in every way possible.

Sousa and His Band

"Sousa and His Band" appear at Greenwall's tonight and there promises to be the usual big crowd to receive him. His program includes besides some of his own popular selections, Weber, Clarke, German, Ziehnener, Mendelssohn and Wagner. As soloists he has this season Elizabeth Schiller, soprano; Jeanette Powers, violinist; and Herbert Clark, cornetist. The finest musical performance anyone can ask will be for those who attend this entertainment tonight.

Chauncey Olcott

Chauncey Olcott, the romantic singing comedian, established himself a unique favorite in this city last season and his advent at Greenwall's opera house Wednesday and Thursday nights, matinee Thursday (Washington's Birthday), Feb. 21 and 22, insures for him crowded houses. His new romantic play, "Edmund Burke," is a romantic comedy and the title role is said to be much to Mr. Olcott's liking. The supporting company, too, is said to be altogether satisfactory. Mr. Olcott has written four new songs, all of which have hit the public fancy.

CORN PLENTIFUL IN TERRITORY

Selling at 30 Cents a Bushel to Feeders

Douglas is in Garfield county, Oklahoma, and is near Enid. J. S. Evans, who resides there, came in with a car of stuff Monday, and like all dwellers in that splendid section of Uncle Sam's domain, was ready to bet what might be found good up there. "We are just on the dividing line between Kansas and Texas as to rates, one having no advantage over the other with respect to rates. The market governs the shipper in making up his mind as to whether he will sell his stuff. It is generally conceded that as Texas has so many cattle to draw from, our market is in Kansas City, but as hogs are a scarce commodity relatively, Fort Worth is the best for us; therefore, heretofore we have followed this course in the main, but this year Texas has been closing in on her rivals and the market here has been but little behind, or rather not enough, to make any material difference to a shipper. Texas is certainly coming out rapidly more so. I presume, than any other state. As soon as her people understand that stock farming with all its means, is a surety of success in this world, they will push forward with their accustomed energy and win a place for their state alongside of the best."

A Trite Saying.

It is a trite saying that no man is stronger than his stomach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape to make pure, rich blood—helps the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body and thus cures both liver and kidney troubles. If you take this natural blood purifier and tonic, you will assist your system in manufacturing each day a pint of rich, red blood, that is ingoing to the brain and nerves. The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people suffer from, is usually the effect of poisons in the blood; it is often indicated by pimples or boils appearing on the skin, the face becomes thin and the feelings "blue." Dr. Pierce's "Discovery" cures all blood humors as well as being a tonic that makes one vigorous, strong and forceful. It is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes that contains neither alcohol nor harmful habit-forming drugs, and the only one, every ingredient of which has the professional endorsement of the leading medical writers of this country. Some of these endorsements are published in a little book of extracts from standard medical works and will be sent to any address free on receipt of five stamps or by letter or postal card, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. It tells just what Dr. Pierce's medicine is made of.

The "Words of Praise" for the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicine is composed, are published in several schools of medical practice, and recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised, should have far more weight with the sick and afflicted than any amount of the so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public—those who are afraid to let the ingredients of which their medicines are composed be known. Bear in mind that the "Golden Medical Discovery" has five awards or testimonials on every bottle wrapper, in a full list of its ingredients.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, invigorate the liver and regulate stomach and bowels.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page Illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent to any address on receipt of 21 cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

nothing better has ever been brought north. Ricardo jumps into a snare cage which seems none too large for the six full grown lions already inside, and for a quarter of an hour more makes the big cats go through their tricks, despite their snarls, growls, roars, and other angry protestations. They slap at Ricardo with their paws, leap toward him until driven back by whip, prod or pistol, and in spite of all their rages, go through the evolutions he orders.

It isn't a pretty act, but as a rival bear-raisor, so tactics now on the market need apply.

WACO GOLFERS COMING

Team Will Play Return Match at Country Club A return golf match will be played here Saturday between the Waco Golf Club and the Fort Worth Country Club. It has not been decided as yet whether the match will be played with six or ten on a side. A letter was received Monday night from Waco stating that the team from there would probably be composed of ten men. In case that number can be brought from Waco the local club will be more than glad to play that number instead of six men.

The match will be played on the old course at the Country Club as the new course is not near ready for use. The matches between the members of the two clubs will be arranged in the order of the handicap. As the two clubs, the two scratch men playing together and so on through the list. In case only six men come the matches will be arranged as nearly like the were at Waco in the preceding match as possible.

Following the golf match a game of polo will be played by the members of the polo club for the entertainment of the visitors. A program of entertainment will be prepared by the members of the local club.

BOTTLERS AT WACO

J. S. McDaniel Leaves to Attend Convention J. S. McDaniel, treasurer of the Texas Bottlers' Association, left this morning to attend the third annual convention of the association, which is being held at Waco. The first meeting of the organization was held Monday and was opened with an address of welcome by Mayor James B. Baker. The address on behalf of the Business Men's Club was delivered by Allan D. Sanford. The address of welcome on behalf of Waco bottlers was delivered by Tom L. McCullough, while the response by the visitors was delivered by W. C. Heath of Pittsburg, Texas.

The session will probably consume today and tomorrow, and among the subjects to be discussed will be the location of a supply factory in Texas, a gas plant owned by Texas bottlers, and legislation against unlawful traffic in bottles. Following are the officers: W. C. Heath, Pittsburg, president; vice presidents, W. S. Mitchell, Sulphur Springs, and J. M. Sharp of Tyler; J. S. McDaniel, Fort Worth, treasurer, and W. P. Reeves, secretary.

THE EASY OIL.

Scott's Emulsion is "the easy oil"—easy to take, easy in action. Its use insures deliverance from the gripping and nauseating sensation peculiar to the raw oil. Nobody who has any regard for the stomach thinks of taking cod liver oil in the old way when Scott's Emulsion is to be had. It is equally certain that no one whose health is properly regarded will accept a cheap emulsion or alcoholic substitute for Scott's Emulsion. It fulfills every mission of cod liver oil and more.

POLICE START TO CLEAR SIDEWALKS

Merchants Must Remove Signs Violating Ordinance

The police were instructed Tuesday morning to have the blocking of sidewalks stopped and the officers have been enforcing the order. Officer Temes, whose beat extends from the Texas and Pacific station to Thirteenth street, was seen by a Telegram reporter Tuesday afternoon and asked concerning whether or not there was any difficulty in enforcing the ordinance. He said that he had met with no objection at all except in two instances and then he did not argue the matter, as he was simply under orders and enforced them.

ROTHSCHILD AT CHICKASHA I. T.

Member of Famous Family Reported Living in Territory

Special to The Telegram. LAWTON, Okla., Feb. 20.—A special dispatch from Chickasha, I. T., says: Baron De Rothschild, brother of one of the money kings of Europe, is visiting J. D. Marcott near this city and has been for several weeks. His identity was recently made known by the local press, and he is now in Chickasha, I. T. He has been in Oklahoma for more than a year and was the victim of the cyclone at Snyder last April. All his family were swept away by the cyclone and for many months he had difficulty in re-establishing his identity. He is a small man and speaks English fluently. He recently drew drafts on banks in London and Paris for some aggregating $200,000, but the drafts have not as yet been honored. He claims that the late Cecil Rhodes was his uncle.

LONGWORTHS AT SAVANNAH

Neither Bride Nor Bridegroom Appears When Train Stops

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Longworth arrived in Savannah this morning via the Southern Railway, the train being four hours and 15 minutes late. A small crowd met the train, but those who hoped to see the occupants of the private car were disappointed, as neither appeared.

HUSBAND COLLAPSED

WYOMING, Feb. 20.—John W. Waters collapsed today when he heard the news of the tragedy aboard the steamer Plymouth. Mrs. Waters, 42 years of age, has three children: a boy of 10 years; a girl, aged 8 years; a boy, aged 5, and an infant girl.

A HEALING GOSPEL

The Rev. J. C. Warren, pastor of Sharon Baptist church, Bristol, Ga., says of the Electric Bibles: "This method of marketing the Bibles is a real back, stiff joints and complete physical collapse. I was so weak it took me half an hour to walk a mile. Two bottles of electric Bibles cured my condition. I feel like a new man, and I can do all my work."

HEBURN MEASURE

Reasons in Favor of a Thirty-Six Hour Transit Law

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20.—Senator Warren has submitted the report of the committee on agriculture on Senator Heburn's bill pertaining to railroad companies upon the written application of the shippers to continue the transit of live stock in the market for as long as twenty-eight hours, as at present, without unloading them for rest, water and feed, and fixing a minimum speed limit while the cattle are in transit on the cars of sixteen miles an hour, unless because of accident or unavoidable delays.

FOR CITY COMMISSION Resolution Asking Amendment to City Charter at Next Legislative Session Passed

At the regular meeting of the Fort Worth council Monday night Alderman Q. T. Moreland introduced the following resolution: "Whereas, Municipal government under commission, has proved an undoubted success in several Texas cities where same has been tried, "Resolved, That we, the city council of the city of Fort Worth, hereby earnestly request our representatives in the next legislature to secure such an amendment to the city charter as will place the city under a commission form of government instead of a board of aldermen."

The resolution was passed very quickly, and Alderman Waggonman stated that he desired to be heard upon the question. Mayor Powell stated that inasmuch as the chair had been a little hasty in putting the matter before the council, he would permit Mr. Waggonman to be heard, and the latter took the floor. He said that he favored a commission, but not the kind that Dallas had. That he favored an elective commission to be elected by the citizens of Fort Worth and not an appointive commission. That he had some amendments to the charter that he wanted inserted, too.

Alderman Lehane said that it did not look well for a retiring alderman to present a resolution providing that there were to be no more aldermen, but commissioners in the future, but that he favored a commission nevertheless. There was no serious objection to the commission advanced, and after a rather informal discussion the resolution was carried.

Under the suspension of the rules an ordinance regulating ticket brokers was passed, which is very exhaustive and specific and which will become effective as soon as the publication and the return thereon, as provided by law, has been made. The ordinance requires that ticket brokers shall secure a license from the city annually, the fee for which will be $50, and that they shall furnish a bond in the sum of $2,500, that it shall be unlawful for them to sell tickets marked non-transferable, which would involve the necessity of the purchaser impersonating another to make use thereof. That the seller of a ticket which will not secure the passage paid for shall be liable to the purchaser in a sum four times that paid for the ticket, if not paid by the vendor; that in addition to the civil liability, the seller of the bogus ticket shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $25 or more than $100. It is further provided that

ALL NEW TO VISITOR Steady Flow of Immigrants From the United States Seems to Presage an American Dominion

To the Telegram. Monterey, Mexico, Feb. 14, 1906.—A traveler going from one part to another of his own country finds a difference which is one of degree rather than of kind, but the case is otherwise when he journeys into a foreign land, Mexico and the United States, bordering upon each other for more than a thousand miles, are often referred to as sister republics, and yet their degree of relationship, otherwise than geographical, is scarcely that of two sister countries, also in that the swarthy, half-civilized, sandal-wearing people of their lower classes, the Mexican, are chiefly of American Indian descent, with a further admixture of white blood of the Latin race, and the difference between them and our own people, mainly of Anglo-Saxon origin, is a racial and racial one—a difference in garb, in social customs, in religion, in business methods, in moral and intellectual capacity, in aspirations and ideals and in methods of government. The people of these two countries, adjoining though they are, have no history or traditions in common, and the people of the United States are no more of Magna Charta and the American declaration of independence and the rights of freemen than we know of the English, and they, in answer to an inquiry, why a street of this city and one of its public plazas were called in honor of the Virgin of May, and what that commemorates.

Everything Novel The charm of novelty attaches to nearly everything with which the alien visitor is here brought in contact. The customs, the manners, the ideas and their expression or that of material substance. We ascend to our rooms in the hotel, to a patio or open court in the center of the building, where large orange trees and banana plants loaded with fruit and its people only half civilized, stand at the door of the room we open it by turning the key to the right instead of the left, and the door opens, and always guarded by iron bars if it be on the ground floor, not by rating the sash, but by separating apart the bars of iron, and the door opens, as one would open a folding door. Looking out across the Hidalgo Plaza with its heroic statues, by the sidewalks and flower beds, we see on a way opposite the business sign of a fountain, a man in a striped shirt and trousers (Flores), announcing that he sells beds of iron and brass—which might seem a rather hard proposition but on fact that the Spanish words for bed, "cama," and for iron, "hierro," are both derived from the Latin name of the metal, "ferro," which is literally "My father," and the word for neighbor standing by slaps him on the back and exclaims "Jesus!" to exorcise the evil spirit which is said to afflict one to suddenly cry out after that manner. It was well that I learned of this custom in time for the morning of my visit to the Waco. Waco, is the champion sneezer of America, his sneezing and mighty sneeze being the subject of the boast of Gabriel's trumpet summoning to the final judgment. Once when we were passing by the Waco, we cut there suddenly came, like an awful clap of thunder from the sky, one of Laughlin's terrific sneezes, almost deafening, and the man was so frightened by the noise, that he fled, causing the motor to plunge wildly, and spreading consternation among the passengers, and promptly rushed forward crying about the exorcism and patting Laughlin on the back thus discharging the exorcism, and the man was so frightened by the noise, that he fled, causing the motor to plunge wildly, and spreading consternation among the passengers, and promptly rushed forward crying about the exorcism and patting Laughlin on the back thus discharging the exorcism, and the man was so frightened by the noise, that he fled, causing the motor to plunge wildly, and spreading consternation among the passengers, and promptly rushed forward crying about the exorcism and patting Laughlin on the back thus discharging the exorcism.

No Danger to Chief City Attorney Orrick said that he did not think there would be any danger from the action of the chief, as the course necessary to pursue in the premises did not involve the use of force, and that the ordinance without a warrant, but that the course would be rather through filing a complaint and securing a warrant from the court. Mr. Orrick said there was an ordinance against the maintenance of these obstructions, and that the chief had no answer to an inquiry, why a street of this city and one of its public plazas were called in honor of the Virgin of May, and what that commemorates.

Electric Light Asked A petition from the residents of Cummings street asking for an electric light was read. It was suggested here as referred to the city council, which committee with power to act, Mr. Waggonman objected to the power to not clause stating that he had already been refused in the past for several months. On further explanation of the petition he withdrew his name from the matter, and it was referred to the committee.

Interest amounting to $4,000 on the seventh series of bonds was ordered paid. The finance committee was instructed to arrange for a settlement of the bonds, and to accept it. The mayor appointed Frank Jones, C. H. Day and W. L. Dyer, to ascertain the cost of making the proposed crossing and report at the next meeting of the council. This was carried.

Changing Sewer Route A communication from Judge George W. Armstrong was read in which he referred to the acceptance of a proposition made by him to the city under conditions prescribed by the council with which he would comply and withdrawing his proposition if the council maintained its attitude. In the communication Judge Armstrong objected to the clause providing that no connections be made with the city sewer until after he had received notice of the city limits, and come inside of the city limits and dedicated a park to the city. Judge Parker stated that the proposed park was offered in the way of a donation and not as a matter of a bargain sale, and that he stood ready to donate a five-acre park north of the city limits, as part of the contract, but a gift. He repeated a portion of his former proposition relative to his paying the additional cost of the sewer involved in bringing it to the route he desired, which he considered was a good business proposition for the city.

T. T. Andrews, who resides outside of the city limits, but who lives in certain contiguous to the proposed sewer under the old route, decided upon prior to the acceptance of the proposition of Judge Armstrong, to change in route, as it would effect his home and sixteen others in his vicinity who hoped to be benefited by the sewer as originally planned. Mr. Andrews said that his locality was settling up rapidly and that he favored the extension of the city limits. He also touched upon the drainage problem and endeavored to show that the old route was the best under the circumstances.

Judge McLean addressed the council and urged the change of half of the residents within the city limits who would be affected by the proposed change. He referred to the fact that some of the property affected is now occupied, but stated that the building of the sewer might hasten their occupancy, and he failed to see any economic reason or any engineering reason why the route should be changed and why the council should entertain a proposition to take a sewer out of the city at the request of a man living outside to the detriment of the property owners within the city limits already.

Alderman Lehane stated that he was not present when the resolution to accept the proposition of Judge Armstrong was passed, but that he understood that the sewer was to be built outside of the city limits anyway. He took the position, however, that if the property owners inside were to suffer from the proposed change, he was against it.

On motion of Alderman Moreland, the matter was referred to the sewer committee and the city engineer to be discussed with the parties interested and to be reported upon at the next meeting of the council.

Third Ward Street Car The report of the assessor and collector to the effect that the required number of signatures of property owners had been attached to the petition for election to pass upon the granting of a franchise to the Northern Texas Traction Company to build a street car line through the Third ward was received and filed. Alderman Waggonman stated that the matter of obstructing the sidewalk by show windows, and other intrusions of side-walks was going on and that while it had been referred to the street and alley committee, no report regarding what action was to be taken in reference to obstructions already in existence, there were more being erected, and that he desired that the chief of police be instructed to have them stopped. He referred to the case of the street between the third and fourth streets. Chief Madrox stated that there had been but one building constructed during his incumbency in violation of the ordinance. Alderman Lehane said that he had attached his friends to the sidewalk at the last meeting during his absence, and that if he had been there he would have been heard for "I want to state right now that I don't believe the chief is the best chief we have ever had and that he will do his duty as he sees it. He does not care for regulations. I want to know if there is an ordinance to prohibit Chief Madrox should be attempted to enforce the removal of the obstructions," said Alderman Lehane.

Interest amounting to $4,000 on the seventh series of bonds was ordered paid. The finance committee was instructed to arrange for a settlement of the bonds, and to accept it. The mayor appointed Frank Jones, C. H. Day and W. L. Dyer, to ascertain the cost of making the proposed crossing and report at the next meeting of the council. This was carried.

Changing Sewer Route A communication from Judge George W. Armstrong was read in which he referred to the acceptance of a proposition made by him to the city under conditions prescribed by the council with which he would comply and withdrawing his proposition if the council maintained its attitude. In the communication Judge Armstrong objected to the clause providing that no connections be made with the city sewer until after he had received notice of the city limits, and come inside of the city limits and dedicated a park to the city. Judge Parker stated that the proposed park was offered in the way of a donation and not as a matter of a bargain sale, and that he stood ready to donate a five-acre park north of the city limits, as part of the contract, but a gift. He repeated a portion of his former proposition relative to his paying the additional cost of the sewer involved in bringing it to the route he desired, which he considered was a good business proposition for the city.

T. T. Andrews, who resides outside of the city limits, but who lives in certain contiguous to the proposed sewer under the old route, decided upon prior to the acceptance of the proposition of Judge Armstrong, to change in route, as it would effect his home and sixteen others in his vicinity who hoped to be benefited by the sewer as originally planned. Mr. Andrews said that his locality was settling up rapidly and that he favored the extension of the city limits. He also touched upon the drainage problem and endeavored to show that the old route was the best under the circumstances.

Judge McLean addressed the council and urged the change of half of the residents within the city limits who would be affected by the proposed change. He referred to the fact that some of the property affected is now occupied, but stated that the building of the sewer might hasten their occupancy, and he failed to see any economic reason or any engineering reason why the route should be changed and why the council should entertain a proposition to take a sewer out of the city at the request of a man living outside to the detriment of the property owners within the city limits already.

Alderman Lehane stated that he was not present when the resolution to accept the proposition of Judge Armstrong was passed, but that he understood that the sewer was to be built outside of the city limits anyway. He took the position, however, that if the property owners inside were to suffer from the proposed change, he was against it.

On motion of Alderman Moreland, the matter was referred to the sewer committee and the city engineer to be discussed with the parties interested and to be reported upon at the next meeting of the council.

Third Ward Street Car The report of the assessor and collector to the effect that the required number of signatures of property owners had been attached to the petition for election to pass upon the granting of a franchise to the Northern Texas Traction Company to build a street car line through the Third ward was received and filed. Alderman Waggonman stated that the matter of obstructing the sidewalk by show windows, and other intrusions of side-walks was going on and that while it had been referred to the street and alley committee, no report regarding what action was to be taken in reference to obstructions already in existence, there were more being erected, and that he desired that the chief of police be instructed to have them stopped. He referred to the case of the street between the third and fourth streets. Chief Madrox stated that there had been but one building constructed during his incumbency in violation of the ordinance. Alderman Lehane said that he had attached his friends to the sidewalk at the last meeting during his absence, and that if he had been there he would have been heard for "I want to state right now that I don't believe the chief is the best chief we have ever had and that he will do his duty as he sees it. He does not care for regulations. I want to know if there is an ordinance to prohibit Chief Madrox should be attempted to enforce the removal of the obstructions," said Alderman Lehane.

ALL NEW TO VISITOR Steady Flow of Immigrants From the United States Seems to Presage an American Dominion

To the Telegram. Monterey, Mexico, Feb. 14, 1906.—A traveler going from one part to another of his own country finds a difference which is one of degree rather than of kind, but the case is otherwise when he journeys into a foreign land, Mexico and the United States, bordering upon each other for more than a thousand miles, are often referred to as sister republics, and yet their degree of relationship, otherwise than geographical, is scarcely that of two sister countries, also in that the swarthy, half-civilized, sandal-wearing people of their lower classes, the Mexican, are chiefly of American Indian descent, with a further admixture of white blood of the Latin race, and the difference
