

LET IT DROP," SAYS LOEB TO DR. MORRIS

Husband of Woman Publishes Letters

APOLOGY REFUSED

Secretary Says President Is Satisfied With Investigation of Incident

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21.—Dr. Minor Morris, whose wife some weeks ago was ejected from the White House, where she had gone to present alleged grievances to the President, today gave out for publication the correspondence which recently passed between himself and the President regarding the case.

Dr. Morris demanded a public apology of the President "for this outrage on womanhood and common decency."

Secretary Loeb replied to the letter, stating that an investigation by the chief of police showed that the arrest was justified, and that the kindest act of Mrs. Morris and her kindfolk was to refrain from giving the case additional publicity. The letters follow:

To the President of the United States—Sir: Having waited patiently a number of weeks that you might have ample time to ascertain all the circumstances connected with the incident recently offered my wife at the White House and that you might have some expression of deprecation, which would naturally be expected, it is now incumbent on me as a husband and father to demand a public apology for this outrage on womanhood and common decency.

It is unthinkable that such brutal treatment would be tolerated anywhere in this country, but above all in the White House. That my wife has been confined to her bed for six weeks by the shocks and injuries of this deplorable treatment is bad enough, but I can say to you in all calmness that had the original orders from the White House been carried out as to her longer incarceration, it is, therefore, incumbent on me to repeat my urgent request that you take action at once to give to the public a public apology which has shocked the entire nation. Respectfully, MINOR MORRIS, Feb. 15, 1906.

obj's Answer

The White House, Washington, D. C., Feb. 19, 1906.—Sir: In reply to your letter of the 15th inst., I am glad to state to you that he had the superintendent of police of the district of Columbia, Major Sylvester, make a careful investigation of the circumstances connected with the arrest of Mrs. Morris for disorderly conduct at the executive office and the president submitted to the President all the affidavits of the persons whom he had examined. The President carefully read over the affidavits and also personally saw Major Sylvester and some of the persons making the affidavits. He came to the conclusion that the arrest was justified and that the force used in making the arrest was caused by the resistance offered by Mrs. Morris to officers in the discharge of their duty and was no greater than was necessary to make the arrest effective.

"Under these circumstances the President does not consider that the officers are properly subject to blame. He was also satisfied that the kindest thing that could be done to Mrs. Morris and her kindfolk was to refrain from giving any additional publicity to the circumstances surrounding the case. Yours truly, WILLIAM LOEB JR., Secretary to the President. Dr. Minor Morris, Washington, D. C."

33 OPERATIONS IN 15 YEARS

Man Loses Limb and Is in Hospital Four Years

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Charles Roonan submitted in the German hospital at Newark, N. J., to the thirty-third operation that has been performed on one of his legs within fifteen years.

The thirty-second preceding operation had taken away most all of his leg and the surgeons found only a stump yesterday. Besides losing his leg, the operations have cost Roonan four years of his life. Most of the operations have been due to Roonan's eagerness to leave the hospital in which they were performed, accordingly there was no time for him to heal properly.

Roonan hurt his foot in an elevator accident ten years ago.

The first operation cost him only a part of his foot. The surgeons say he will be fully cured in a month.

RAID LEADS TO EIGHT ARRESTS

Detectives Make Charges of Vagrancy Against Blacks

Detective S. P. Maddox, Police Officer W. Z. Turner and Deputy Sheriff Robert Cloud arrested eight negroes Monday night and placed a charge of vagrancy opposite each of their names on the police blotter. The arrest was effected in a servant's house in an alley leading from Texas street between Taylor and Lamar.

The raid was made on information conveyed to Officer Turner by a negro who took refuge under a bed and was some negroes in there gambling. Turner, knowing that it would be a difficult if not an impossible task to arrest a whole party of feet-footed negroes, decided to secure assistance before disturbing them. Detective Maddox and Officer Turner, with the aid of Deputy Sheriff Robert Cloud also joined the officers.

Apparently the precautions were wisely laid because when the officers arrived the lights in the house were put out and there was some lively scrambling for the doors and windows. These were guarded, however, and none of the party escaped. One negro was registered as follows: John Baker, Albert Able, Asolior Sloan, Louis Sisson, Addison Oliver, Arthur Louis, Paul Williams and Willis Wilson.

Several packs of cards were secured by the officers. The negroes under the original document. It had been Baker, Albert Able, Asolior Sloan, Louis Sisson, Addison Oliver, Arthur Louis, Paul Williams and Willis Wilson.

MAN ROASTED TO DEATH BY INCHES

Fell Into Vat of Boiling Glue at Rochester

Special to The Telegram.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Gustave Nowack, a painter employed at the Stromberg-Carlson telephone factory, was literally roasted to death by inches when he fell into a vat of glue. The vat pipe was two feet in diameter constructed of wood, and Nowack had entered it to paint the interior. He carried a light lantern with him, and in some manner turned it over. The boards of the flume were saturated with acid fumes and burned fiercely. Nowack started back, crawling as rapidly as he could, but in his frenzy he forgot the location of the trap door through which he entered. He tried to thrust himself through the blades of a large electric fan which draws the fumes through the vent pipe into the open air, but his head became fastened in the blades and he was held a prisoner.

The flames were soon upon him, licking first the soles of his feet, then gradually creeping up his clothing, roasting his legs, trunk, arms and head. Nowack uttered piercing shrieks that could be heard for blocks, but lapsed into unconsciousness by the time help arrived.

All of the firms affected were wiped out by the big fire four years ago and only recently were re-established in business.

Commissioner Contradicts the Packers' Statements

SPEECH EMPHATIC

Testimony Is Directly Opposite That Given by Prominent Beef Packers

Special to The Telegram.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 21.—Commissioner Garfield on the stand today emphatically and repeatedly denied having promised the packers immunity and declared he had said nothing to warrant them to believe he would keep the information obtained from the department of justice. He positively denied the testimony of Jesse Lyman, former president of the National Packers' Company, Edward and Charles Swift and Thomas Connor, Armour's superintendent.

Denies Promise of Immunity

Edward Morris, Edward Swift and Arthur Meeker, representatives, respectively, of the packing firms of Nelson Morris & Co., Swift & Co. and Armour & Co., have all testified that Commissioner Garfield told them that his department had the power to compel information if they refused to give it willingly.

Mr. Garfield on stand Tuesday declared that he had never made such a statement. He also denied that he ever promised immunity to the packers, saying that the only protection that had been promised was that for their confidential figures. This, he said, had been given them, and although the amount of the confidential figures had been given in the report of the commission in the beef inquiry, individuals had not been reported and their names had not been given.

He also denied positively that he promised that all information would be regarded as confidential. He also denied that he had at any time said anything regarding an oath in connection with the investigation.

President's Letter

Attorney John S. Miller read the letter of President Roosevelt to Attorney General Moody, which was authorized some time ago by the attorney general. This is the letter which declared that the department of corporations and the department of justice were working together in the beef investigation. Attorney General Moody, who in Chicago some time ago admitted that the letter had been written by the President, but claimed that the statement of collusion between the departments was incorrect.

When he had finished reading the letter of the President to Attorney General Moody, Mr. Miller offered in evidence. The district attorney objected.

"This letter is immaterial," declared District Attorney Morrison. "It is written by no person who could bind the government. The President cannot bind the government more than anyone else. He is the highest officer of the government, but still is only an officer. The letter is not written under oath and is merely hearsay. If it is admitted into this case we could have the right to cross-examine the President upon it."

Legal argument as to the admissibility of the letter continued at some length and the court finally ruled the letter admissible.

ORDERS PIG BUT RECEIVES CORPSE

Express Shipments Are Some-what Mixed in Indiana

Special to The Telegram.

ALTON, Ind., Feb. 21.—William Archer of Cromwell purchased a prize shorthorn several days ago and ordered it sent to him by express. Yesterday he went to meet the train. When he approached the express car he saw the messenger struggling with a heavy box, and contacted a coffin.

Archer protested that he was not expecting a corpse, but a live pig. He, of course, refused to accept the box. A telegram to the express company revealed the fact that the directions for the two shipments had been mixed, and the pig was sent to Archer. The mistake was corrected. Archer got his prize porker on the next train, which is assumed that the corpse was finally delivered to its proper destination in Ohio.

WEDDINGS

Goodykuhns-Leinard

F. H. Goodykuhns of this city and Miss Angela Leinard of Thayer, Mo., were united in marriage at the Delaware hotel Tuesday night at 7 o'clock. Rev. Father Guyot performing the ceremony.

Mrs. Frank Corgan, cousin of the bride, acted as matron of honor. Frank Corgan was best man. A number of friends witnessed the ceremony, and afterward partook of a sumptuous course dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Goodykuhns will make their home in this city.

No subject has of late been more widely and more exhaustively discussed in the columns of newspapers and periodicals of all kinds, both in this country and abroad, than that of adulteration.

The causes which led to the investigation and discussion of this matter are found in the widespread adulteration of liquor. This evil has grown to such proportions as to not only prove a menace to health, but to become, in fact, the foundation of a national calamity which afflicts mankind. It were time the press and people took up arms against the unscrupulous adulterators of the country with products which, while pretending to be pure, are the vilest and most pernicious of substitutes, not only endangering the health of consumers, but endangering their lives as well.

Not only are the jobbers and wholesalers at fault, but also the retail dealers. Whisky when it leaves the distillery is necessarily pure, but after passing through the dealers' hands much of it reaches the consumer in a most dangerous state of adulteration. The temptation to adulterate the goods in order to make more profit is too strong for the average dealer to resist. Therefore, the only absolute protection the consumer has is to buy direct from a United States Registered Distiller. Then you know the whisky you save the enormous profits of the dealers. This method of selling direct prevents any tampering or adulterating by a second or third party, and should receive the praise and patronage of every American who is in favor of purity as against villainous safety as opposed to danger.

The Hayner Distilling Company's announcement, elsewhere in this paper, is worthy of your careful consideration.

ITCH—RINGWORK.

E. T. Lucas, Winko, Ky., writes, April 25, 1922: "For 10 or 12 years I had been afflicted with a malady known as the 'itch.' The itching was most unbearable; I had tried for years to find relief, having used many remedies I could hear of, besides a number of doctors. I wish to state that one single application of Ballard's Snow-Liniment cured me completely and permanently. Since then I have used the liniment on two separate occasions for ring work and it cured me completely." 25c. 50c and $1.00. Sold by Covely & Martin.

SEBASTIAN GETS NEW POSITION

Combination of Frisco-Rock Island Offices

ACTION IS SIGNIFICANT

Much Speculation Here as to Effect of Change in Passenger Traffic Management

Advises were received here Wednesday morning of the appointment of John Sebastian as passenger traffic manager of the Frisco and Illinois Eastern railroad. These positions he will hold in addition to the one he holds already, that of passenger traffic manager of the Rock Island. Advice of the appointment were received by both the Rock Island and the Frisco here, though it is not believed that this will mean any change in the method of handling business at Fort Worth, further than that business will not be divided between the Rock Island and the Frisco where there is a chance for one road to handle the business during the entire route. In other words, it will mean that there will be no competition between these two lines and a division of business except where necessary.

The appointment was made by Vice President Bidde of the Rock Island-Frisco and is in accordance with the previously stated policy of combining the offices of the Frisco and Rock Island as far as possible, with a view of handling the business more economically. The news created great interest in the Frisco-Rock Island circles here, but there are no officials here sufficiently cognizant of the movements of the Frisco and Rock Island to know what further changes, if any, are contemplated, or if they possess such knowledge, they care to disclose it.

M. C. Byers was also appointed engineer of maintenance and way of the Frisco-Rock Island at the same time that the jurisdiction of Mr. Sebastian was extended. Both of the appointments become effective at once.

Home-seekers Coming C. W. Strain, general passenger agent of the Frisco, is due to arrive here Wednesday night with two passenger train loads of home-seekers from the old states. The bulk of the home-seekers will stop in Fort Worth for a time at least, and the facilities of the hotels in the neighborhood of the depot are expected to be taxed in taking care of them.

Railroad Auctioneer Col. William S. Hadley, a lot representative of the International and Great Northern railroad, is in the city. Col. Hadley and Captain J. H. Hosack will always be found at Ex-Expressman, on the International and Great Northern, next Saturday. Three more auctions will be held in the near future for the disposal of people's belongings. Col. Hadley states that this is a great opportunity for people to invest. "I would invest a dollar in Texas mail anywhere now," said he, "and I would invest a dollar in Texas mail anywhere now. I have been engaged in selling town lots in Texas for over thirty years. There have never been but one town to my knowledge where the lots did not enhance in value. I was in San Antonio with Captain Hosack a quarter of a century ago and at that time Captain Hosack sold off lots for $5 each which sold afterward for $200. Others were sold at auction which I sold afterward for $700."

Ordinance Suits Agents Passenger agents here are pleased with the new ordinance regarding the ticket brokers business in Fort Worth and they seem of the opinion that the brokers will have to quit business. It is claimed that the ordinance is exactly like the one passed in Dallas which, while pretending to be pure, are the vilest and most pernicious of substitutes, not only endangering the health of consumers, but endangering their lives as well.

Truck Express Cars The Wells-Fargo company is to send ten new express cars to Texas, which are to be used primarily for the purpose of moving Texas truck farm products. The cars, which are being repaired will also be rehabilitated and placed in first-class condition, so that they will be able to accommodate the freight of this character. Just now the great part of the Texas truck movement is in south Texas, consisting of citrus fruit, melons, peaches and early vegetables produced in the vicinity of Corpus Christi. A few months later the season will be here and then the express cars will be required in west Texas for moving this fruit. While it is early to venture predictions

Advises were received here Wednesday morning of the appointment of John Sebastian as passenger traffic manager of the Frisco and Illinois Eastern railroad. These positions he will hold in addition to the one he holds already, that of passenger traffic manager of the Rock Island. OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

MIDGET THE BALLAD GIRL She Lost Her Stock in Trade But Fortunately Found Paul

"What will become of poor little Midget now?" whispered not a few. The object of this solicitude was the 12-year-old daughter of Ludovic, whose mother, dying outside her memory, left her to know nothing of maternal love and care.

She determined to try her luck selling ballads. On pleasant days she had been wont to accompany Ludovic on his rounds, offering ballads for sale, at times accompanying his instrumentation with her voice.

Not until further effort to save them became useless did she find time to scan the author of the mishap. "Midget," "Paul!" at which, bursting into tears, Midget gave vent to her too long pent-up fears.

The two children had grown up together. Paul's mother, a German by birth, living in an adjacent tenement house to that of Father Ludovic until six months previous, when her death had compelled the boy to seek the aid of an uncle living in a distant part of the city.

To impress Midget with the influence he wielded over the operatic stage, Paul gave her a pass for that night to the gallery of the opera house. Between the acts up voice of Paul hawking his librettos reached even to her elevation and at the close of the last act he met her with: "Midget, good news! I've spoken to the chorus master, and he says you may come along with me to the trial of appauce for the ballet of 'Les Papillons' tomorrow afternoon."

The appointed time on the morrow found both punctual at the theater. The training of Ludovic and the aptitude of his pupils were now to be put to the test.

As Midget's turn came the apprehension of a natural timidity made her first steps uncertain and incoherent, but this diffidence, giving way more and more with every new step, entirely disappeared by the time she concluded. Ludovic had taught her pretty dances.

A severe trial awaited him on the night of the performance of "Les Papillons," following the opera. It was torture for him to watch his successful competitor as Lucas, the shepherd's boy, go through the pantomime maneuvers, the movements of which part Midget invested a blending of grace and agility.

Health of American Women

A Subject Much Discussed at Women's Clubs—The Future of a Country Depends on the Health of Its Women.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen Miss Mattie Henry

At the New York State Assembly of Mothers, a prominent New York doctor told the 500 women present that healthy American women were so rare as to be almost extinct. This seems to be a sweeping statement of the condition of American women.

Such testimony as the following should be convincing. Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Ia., writes: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham—I can truly say that you have saved my life and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words."

GRANDPA'S CHILD WIFE

By CYNTHIA GREY

gray-haired father was jealous of his child. There they are, the child wife and the gleeful kittens, and the little mother finds scant cause for play.

This is not the first time an old man, from whose very heart youth has fled afraid, has dragged with him into age a wife scarce passed beyond the sportive age of curls and pinnaflore.

PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRY

The Telegram is heartily in favor of the campaign that is being opened up by the Fort Worth Factory Club, looking to the better recognition of all home industries...

Fort Worth has the largest flouring mills in the country, but they do not supply all the flour used in Fort Worth.

Fort Worth has the largest brewery in the Southwest, but that brewery does not supply all the beer consumed in Fort Worth.

Fort Worth has large packing houses, as good as can be found in any packing center in the United States...

Fort Worth has a big cracker plant and a new candy factory, but they do not furnish all the articles in those lines consumed in this city.

Fort Worth cigar factories turn out cigars equal to those produced anywhere, yet we annually smoke millions of cigars made in some other factories.

Fort Worth has iron works, machine shops, fence factories and hundreds of enterprises that are not afforded the proper recognition by home people...

Every dollar that we send out of Fort Worth for an article that is produced in Fort Worth, is not only robbing Fort Worth of that much in the way of progress and development...

As encouragement is given to home industries in just that measure will they grow and expand, and the time will not be far distant when the balance of trade will be in our favor.

It should be our constant aim to not only encourage the coming of other manufacturing enterprises to Fort Worth, but to increase the patronage and output of those we already have located here.

way that the volume of Fort Worth manufacturing business can be developed and the city become the manufacturing center we all hope for.

And every interest in the city would be benefited from such action. We will all prosper according to the manner in which we take hold of this proposition.

AN APPOINTIVE COMMISSION

Judge McLean of Fort Worth believes railroad commissioners should be appointed by the governor. In California they are appointed and the people haven't had a representative since the creation of the commission.

It is a well known fact that since the Texas commission became an elective body it has become a veritable hotbed of politics, and the state cannot afford to pay men the sum of $4,000 per annum to run political machines.

PREMIUM LIST PLEASES THEM

The 1905 premium list at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show next March will amount to $1,500 or $2,000 more than offered before.

The stockmen of the entire country are pleased with the manner in which the impending Fat Stock Show is being shaped up for the coming exposition.

Those who are in close touch with this great enterprise say it is going to be a genuine eye-opener so far as magnitude and excellence of the exhibits is concerned.

The accidents are beginning to happen to the fast mail trains, but that fact will not prevent fast schedules.

The Fort Worth firm which obtained the contract to build the fencing on the Galveston sea wall is to be congratulated on its enterprise.

That new $50,000 college for Arlington Heights is quite an acquisition for that flourishing suburb and a great advantage for Fort Worth.

The Burton-Peel people are going to give Fort Worth the largest department store in Texas, and that enterprising firm is to be commended for its foresight.

The supreme court of the United States has decided that negro members of a jury are not imperative in the matter of making a conviction stick.

That bunch of big steers that sold on the local market Monday evening for $5 per 100 pounds, brought the best figure paid since last June.

The state railroad commission has as yet seemed to be entirely unable to compel the railroads to run their passenger trains on time.

That bunch of big steers that sold on the local market Monday evening for $5 per 100 pounds, brought the best figure paid since last June.

February 22 is Arbor day, and the people of all Texas should show respect for the occasion by planting trees.

Cotton mills are reported to be coming to the South in large numbers, but Texas does not seem to be obtaining her just proportion of these enterprises.

The city without civic pride sufficient to keep its house in good order does not deserve to grow and prosper.

The movement toward beautifying the larger cities throughout Texas appears to be general.

A man lost a leg in a railway accident, and when they picked him up the first word he said was "Thank the Lord, it was the leg with the rheumatism in."

THE MAN WHO PUT THE MONSTER RAILROAD COAL TRUST IN A HOLE

BY MARLEN E. PEW

Special Correspondent. PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—Through the daring action of one man, who happens to have the courage, a body blow has been struck at the citadel of the greedy railroad-coal trust.

A sweeping investigation is to be made of the trade methods of the spiderweb of railroads that dominate the hard and soft coal fields of the country.

The man is Logan M. Bullitt, president of the Red Rock Fuel Co., a relatively obscure bituminous mining company of West Virginia.

The report of the commission was sent to every member of congress, and President Roosevelt became interested.

These plans are resultant from the bold action of Bullitt, who, as he said in a petition to congress, urged an investigation into the interests of all independent coal shippers.

Shortly after this rebuff Bullitt again appealed, this time to Oscar G. Murray, president of the Baltimore and Ohio.

"Dear Sir: Your communication of March 2.

"The present coal development on the road is to a considerable extent beyond the ability of the operators to market the product, or the company to control the Pennsylvania are associated in the control and domination, largely through the Pennsylvania's management of New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Norfolk and Western, Chesapeake and Ohio, Philadelphia and Reading, Jersey Central, Lackawanna, Erie and numerous smaller lines, all forming a perfect network through the soft and hard coal fields of the east, south and middle west.

Though the motive for the investigation is to show that the combination is in restraint of trade and a violation of the anti-trust law, its ramifications are expected to show a system for arbitrarily fixing coal prices, freight discrimination of various kinds and all of the high finance tactics of the modern American trust.

The Red Rock Fuel Co. owns something like 4000 acres of valuable coal lands in the Fairmount district of West Virginia, which it is endeavoring to develop.

It is on the line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. To do business it must ship over that line, and to reach the railroad it must have a sidetrack.

A year ago the company applied for a sidetrack connection, agreeing to pay the cost of construction.

G. H. Potter, third vice president of the railroad, replied that the Baltimore and Ohio would not give the connection, would never permit the little independent concern to have a siding until forced by law.

That official replied by letter, saying: "Dear Sir: Your communication of March 2.

"The present coal development on the road is to a considerable extent beyond the ability of the operators to market the product, or the company to promptly or fully furnish transportation facilities to move it.

The truth is, Baltimore and Ohio interests own more than the $5,000,000 of the capital stock of the Consolidated Coal Co., which, in turn, owns control of the Fairmount Coal Co., Somerset Coal Co., Pittsburg and Fairmount Coal Co., and the Clarksburg Fuel Co.

The Red Rock concern evidently did not see the "propriety" of the position in any way, for it carried the case to the interstate commerce commission, which found that the chief reason why the Baltimore and Ohio declined to grant the connection was that it "desired to protect coal companies in which it is interested."

The final stroke came in the under the provision of the only tickets to buy are such as the ticket office.

Congress' investigation into this rapacious trust may explain why bituminous coal at the mine averages $1.25 a ton today over an average of 60 cents before the railroads joined hands to control the mining of coal

AMONG THE EXCHANGES

Sam Cowan of Fort Worth is said to be slated as one of the new men who will be appointed to a place on the interstate commerce commission.

Judge Cowan would be a decided acquisition to the interstate commerce commission, and his appointment would be viewed with profound satisfaction by the live stock interests of the entire country.

The Dallas Times-Herald and Fort Worth Telegram are boasting of the showing their respective counties will make in the matter of poll tax payments next year.

The people of Tarrant county are a progressive and patriotic people. They can be depended upon to pay their poll taxes every year.

If the cotton growers of Texas will reduce their acreage two per cent this year, and then refuse to sell their cotton for less than 15 cents, they will not only get the price desired, but they will demonstrate to themselves the supreme power they possess in this respect.

If the farmers of Texas will increase their cotton acreage this year one-third and agree that the increase shall be invested in stock in cotton mills to be built in Texas, they will be surprised to discover how nearly they have solved the cotton problem so far as Texas is concerned.

There are 3,993 convicts in the penitentiaries of Texas. Of these, 1,244 are worked within the walls and the rest are out in the state competing against honest labor on farms or railroad work.

The roads have been yawning for short term convicts for many years, but to no avail. The average Texas public road remains a road only by courtesy, and the public continues to put up with the same inconveniences that have always prevailed.

The state railroad commission has as yet seemed to be entirely unable to compel the railroads to run their passenger trains on time, and no doubt the members of that august body are already beginning to appreciate their undertaking.

Candidate Williams can be depended upon to solve many of the problems in which the people are directly interested in the event of his election as railroad commissioner. He is built that way.

Judge C. K. Bell, with his suave manners and gum shoes seems to be the "conservative" candidate for governor. He is very smooth.

The movement toward beautifying the larger cities throughout Texas appears to be general. It is impossible to pick up a paper from Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio or many of the smaller cities of the state and not find an article relating to the betterment of the streets, sidewalks, public buildings, residence and business property.

The city without civic pride sufficient to keep its house in good order does not deserve to grow and prosper. This is a matter that has been too long neglected in all Texas cities, and it is gratifying to note a general awakening throughout the state.

LITTLE TALES WELL TOLD

The Unexpected Surprise P. P. Johnson, president of the National Trotting Association, said at the annual meeting in New York: "The faking of trotters continues."

"All sorts of fakes are adopted by crooks in order to disguise a trotter with a good record. Then the trotter, believed to be a beginner, gets enormous odds, and when she wins—what a surprise!"

"It is like the surprise a friend of mine met with on a train in West Virginia. "As the train traversed Wicke county my friend, entranced by the scenery, stuck his head out of the window.

"The brakeman hurried to him and said: "Keep your head inside, can't you?" "What for?" asked my friend. "So as you won't damage any of the iron works on the bridges," said the brakeman."

The Flight of Time Professor G. A. Hill of the national observatory was describing the duties of an astronomical corps during an eclipse.

"The eclipse," he said, "may only last five minutes. Each man in the party has a certain line of work mapped out for him during these precious minutes. One man makes hurried pencil sketches. Another man photographs. A third man takes observations, while a fourth jots down his remarks.

"And so it goes. An astronomical corps during an eclipse is a very busy body. An interruption would be as unwelcome to it as—"

"An interruption would be as unwelcome to it as it once was to a young friend of mine in Elizabeth. "My friend, according to the story, was calling on his sweetheart, who lived on Elizabeth's outskirts. "As the young man was taking leave for the night his voice, as he stood on the piazza, rose passionately in the still air. "Just one," he said, "just one." "Then the young girl's mother interrupted, calling from her bedroom window: "Just one? No, it ain't quite that yet. But it's close on to 12, so I think you'd better be going 'til the same."

Better a clever enemy than a fool friend. A cunning man is seldom wise, and never honest. Adversity sometimes transforms a coward into a hero.

With dice the best throw one can make is to throw them away. A blush is one of the few things that cannot be counterfeited. Surely the man who deceives himself is an easy mark for the other deceivers.

When a real estate agent begins to go downhill he loses ground rapidly. A man may be short of ideas and still be able to hand out a long line of talk. The reason why everybody loves babies and kittens is because they always act natural.

Everybody wants to boss somebody, and there's always somebody who wants to boss everybody. As a rule married men do not care to attend public lectures—probably because they get too many lectures at home. Those three balls displayed by a pawnbroker indicate that the odds are two to one in favor of his getting the best of the transaction.

A man lost a leg in a railway accident, and when they picked him up the first word he said was "Thank the Lord, it was the leg with the rheumatism in."

TICKET BROKERS PLAN CONTEST

Will Try to Prove New Ordinance Unconstitutional

IS NOT CITY BUSINESS

Declare Courts Have Held Railroad Traffic Can Be Regulated Only by the State

The Fort Worth ticket brokers regard the ordinance passed Monday night as a death blow to their business and will contest its constitutionality in the courts.

The clause about providing for a license and a bond would have been welcome to some of the ticket brokers who have been urging that the council provide for such a license and bond to limit the number of brokers, and also to make the general public have more confidence in the tickets bought.

A State Business "The court of appeals has held that the municipalities cannot regulate railroad traffic, a state business, and that this power is vested in the legislature. We will fight it out on this basis."

A representative of the American Ticket Brokers' Association, who declining to be interviewed regarding the course which the organization would pursue in the present, admitted that the ordinance as enacted would make it impossible for the ticket brokers to do business at all, and that it was up to the ticket brokers to prove that the ordinance was unconstitutional or quit business. This representative also called attention to the fact that he had purchased here, providing for transportation to Atlanta, Ga., at the top of which was a printed statement that the ticket would be redeemed in cash value or any unused portion thereof, prior to the date of expiration.

Warmer conditions are prevailing throughout the south and on both coasts of the United States. South from Boston and extending 10 miles or more inland the temperatures are reported higher as the distance south increases. During the past 24 hours Texas had little rain, none was reported to the weather station at Fort Worth. While the temperatures did not reach the high maximum of previous day, the temperatures averaged quite warm throughout the state. The warmest city in the state was San Antonio, the thermometer reaching 78 degrees at that place. At Amarillo top figure was 68, and at Fort Worth, Galveston and Abilene the temperature reached 65 degrees.

Official statement of conditions throughout the country is: "A low barometer area is central over Montana, influencing the west and northwest portions of the country, causing rain in California and Oregon. Another 'low' dominates the regions east of the Ohio, causing rain in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Tennessee, and winds varying from 28 to 40 miles in the regions between the extreme upper Mississippi and Florida. Alabama reports heavy rain, 1.16 inches being recorded at Montgomery. High temperatures prevail in this low area, Boston having 48 degrees at 7 o'clock this morning, and Jacksonville reported 64 degrees. Texas is clear and cool, and in the presence of high barometric conditions centered over southwest Texas.

"Fort Worth and vicinity may expect fair weather tonight and Thursday, and warmer conditions tonight."

AMUSEMENTS

John Philip Sousa and his band gave a concert at Greenwall's opera house Tuesday night to an audience which filled the house almost to overflowing. Before the curtain went up "Standing room only" was the answer received at the box office. The performance was by the band under the leadership of Mr. Sousa, pleased the entire audience and continued applause followed every piece that was rendered. The music rendered this year was more classical perhaps than any other Sousa has ever given here. The new march composed by Sousa, "The Diplomat," which was given for the first time in this city, was especially well rendered and was greatly applauded by all present. This march proves to ones interested in the marches of Sousa that he is still capable of composing music that will be whistled and played from one end of the country to the other. The new march departs somewhat from the run of Sousa marches, but as it burst into the full swing of the middle part with all the instruments playing, there was no mistaking that it was a Sousa march of the highest type. "The Diplomat" was the only Sousa march on the program, but several more were rendered by the band, including "The Stars and Stripes Forever," "King Cotton," "Manhattan Beach" and "El Comodoro." The band was assisted by Elizabeth Schiller, who possesses a beautiful soprano voice and rendered "The Call" as an encore "Love Light of My Heart," and by Jeannette Powers, a violinist who played a concerto by Mendelssohn and as an encore gave Schubert's "Serenade" with the accompaniment of the band. The program which pleased every one present in the highest degree, Herbert L. Clarke rendered a cornet solo, "The program given Tuesday night was a most varied one, ranging from the softest of Lucie, rendered as an encore to Mr. Clarke's solo by six of the players of the band, to "Everybody Works But Father," the last being rendered in a most amusing fashion, the deepest base horn coming in with the air every few bars. "The program of some fifty pieces, all wind instruments excepting the one harp and the drums. The pieces were about equally divided between horns and reed instruments. The program was as follows: Overture, "Oberon"..... Wagner Cornet Solo, "Bride-Elect"..... Clarke Herbert L. Clarke Solo, "Looking Upward"..... Sousa Solo, "Card Song" from "Bride-Elect"..... Sousa Miss Elizabeth Schiller Solo, "Vienna Darlings"..... Ziehrer Air de Ballet, "The Gypsy"..... Ganne March, "The Diplomat" (new)..... Sousa Violin Solo, "Mendelssohn (a) Andante..... Wagner Chaucery Olcott Chaucery Olcott, the romantic singing comedian who made a most favorable appearance in this city last season, comes to the opera house tonight and tomorrow matinee and night, presenting a new play entitled "Edmund Burke," by Theodore Barre. Jeannette Powers, a violinist who has proved a delightful entertainment to give this graceful Irish star opportunities to show all his pace and to sing the dainty ballads with which he has embroidered the several acts of the play. The play is of the middle of the eighteenth century and affords many opportunities for picturesque scenery and beautiful costumes. The story is founded on the life of Edmund Burke, who from a poor boy won fame and fortune. He became the idol of the people and a leader in the common sense movement. This is a very pretty romantic love story in Mary Nugent's and Edmund Burke's life.

FLYING SQUADRON T. P. A. COMING Visit to Be Paid Fort Worth March 14

The "Flying Squadron" of the Travelers' Protective association will visit Fort Worth March 14. The "Flying Squadron" as it is called consists of the national directors, J. Herbert Stafford and Jerry M. Porter, National Representative W. A. Kirchoff and other national officers. Notice of the visit of the committee to the various Texas cities has been sent out by State President Adolph Boltz of Houston. The object of the coming of the national officers to the city is to devote the day in conjunction with the local members in calling on the jobbers of the city with a view of securing new members and creating greater enthusiasm. The letter sent out by the state president suggests that a meeting of the post in this city be called and a committee appointed to co-operate in the work of the national officers. The matter of the entertainment of the national officers and what state officers may also come will be taken up at the next meeting of the local post. It is probable that a special meeting of the Fort Worth post will be called for this coming Saturday. A notice will take up the matter of the entertainment of the officers and arrange for the business of the day while they are here. The itinerary of the "Flying Squadron" in Texas is as follows: Dallas, March 12; Fort Worth, March 13; Waco, March 15; Austin, March 16; San Antonio, March 17; Houston, March 19, and Galveston, March 20.

DOUBLE HOLIDAY FALLS THURSDAY National and State Celebrations Concur

Washington's birthday is also the state Arbor day. The official proclamation of this fact was not issued until Monday and on that account it is expected there will be but little done to observe it throughout the state. It is hoped by the governor, however, that the issuing of the proclamation will call the matter to the attention of the people and that there will be some whom it will influence to plant trees on their property. Arbor day this year in Fort Worth will not be celebrated to any great extent, the planting of trees having been going on for some time. There have probably been more trees planted in this city and suburbs this year than any other year. This is especially true of the suburbs of the city, many of which have been almost bare of trees. In many places trees have been planted by the citizens and the land companies in large quantities at one place. A number of trees will be planted, however, at Polytechnic college. The official proclamation of Governor Lanham is: "I, S. W. T. LANHAM, governor of Texas, do hereby request the people of the state to observe Arbor day, the same being Thursday, the 23d of February, 1906, as a legal holiday. "Let this day, as contemplated by the statute, be devoted to the planting and cultivation of forest, shade and ornamental trees throughout the state, and observed for that purpose in such manner as may seem best to the people of each community. "In testimony whereof, I have hereto signed my name and cause the seal of state to be hereon impressed at Austin, this 15th day of February, A. D. 1906. S. W. T. LANHAM, Governor. "O. K. SHANNON, Secretary of State."

CATARRH FIRST A COLD THEN CATARRH THEN CONSUMPTION A cold in the head is a common ailment, but it rarely ever stops there. It often grows stubborn and protracted, the mucous membranes, or inner lining of the body, become inflamed and secrete a filthy, unhealthy matter which is absorbed by the blood and soon produces that disgusting disease, Catarrh. Then follow the unpleasant symptoms of "hawking and spitting," ringing noises in the ears, headache, poor appetite, mucus dropping back into the throat, and a feeling of general debility. Every day the blood becomes more heavily loaded with these poisonous secretions, and if the trouble is allowed to run on, the lungs become diseased from the constant passage of poisoned blood through them, and then Catarrh terminates in the most dreaded and fatal of all diseases, Consumption. The only way to get rid of Catarrh permanently is to cleanse the blood, and S. S. S. is the ideal remedy for this purpose. It soon clears the system of all impurities, purges the blood of all Catarrhal matter and poisons, and effectually checks the progress of this dangerous and far-reaching disease. S. S. S. keeps the blood in perfect order so that Catarrh cannot remain; and as this pure, healthy blood goes to every nook and corner of the body, the entire system is strengthened and invigorated, and the symptoms all pass away. THAT ONE WEAK SPOT Kidney sickness robs the back of all its power and strength. It's hard to lift, to stoop or straighten, and even to get up from a chair. This indescribable weakness of the back, the endless dull aching that goes with it, are never-failing symptoms of kidney complaint. A back-ache is nature's signal of distress, a call for help from the kidneys. The aching tells of dangerous congestion that robs the kidneys of their blood-filtering power, or painful, wasting inflammation. There is immediate need for Doan's Kidney Pills, to relieve the pain and heal the diseased kidneys, to ward off more fatal and painful disorders. If you are not sure your kidneys are affected, but do suspect it, try the urine. Set a bottleful aside for 24 hours, and if it then shows a cloudy settling at the bottom, or a sandy sediment, you will know you need Doan's Kidney Pills at once. Neglect of such little troubles as these is what brings on thousands of cases of dropsy, diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. Healthy kidneys keep you well by keeping the blood pure, and by turning keep you sick by failing to purify the blood. This is the cause of many forms of rheumatism, neuralgia and

"COLORADO GIRL" IS A CLEVER ATHLETE

Special to The Telegram. DENVER, Colo., Feb. 20.—Miss Edith Draper, a brown-eyed, brown-haired student at the Colorado Agricultural College at Fort Collins, has been pronounced the living model of the "Colorado girl." This typical young western woman is barely 19 years old. Her home is at La Junta, Colo., where her father is a wealthy business man. She is a graduate from the La Junta high school. She is a clever student. Miss Draper is five feet four and a half inches in height and weighs 130 pounds. Her form is said to be absolutely perfect. She began displaying a fondness for athletics when 8 years old and today she is proficient in half a dozen different branches in that line. She can box like a professional and daily dons the gloves with her classmate and chum, Miss Thrum. She can manipulate an oar like a veteran oarsman, knows all the ins and outs of tennis, plays golf like an expert, has done a 100-yard dash in 1 1/2 seconds—very fast time for a woman—is perfectly at home in water and has made a creditable record for swimming under the surface. As a bag puncher she has few equals among women.

Miss Draper is a sturdy basket ball player, being captain of the Agricultural team and filling the position of guard, where strength, brains and muscle are the chief requisites for success.

Two bookmakers at City Park, New Orleans, fleeced a banker out of $10,000 by inducing him to put up money to make a book, representing to him that Dave Nichol, the leading jockey at the track, would "ride for the book." They introduced a boy as Nichol and the banker put up his money. Nichol knew nothing of the plot. The banker was notified that a "killing" was to be pulled off and that they would lay odds against a favorite to be ridden by Nichol. The favorite won and the banker Nichol explained to the banker that the horse ran away with him. The story came to the ears of Presiding Judge Trevelyan and bookmaker W. H. LITTLE FANNING BEE

According to Pitcher Charlie Nichols, sacrifice hitting has been largely instrumental in destroying the art of base running. "It wasn't so very many years ago," he says, "that Hamilton was stealing a 100 bases a season. Now he is lucky if he purloins forty or fifty. The sacrifice hit has done away with the necessity for the base runner taking the chances he used to take. I sometimes think a mistake is made in deliberately giving an out for an advanced base, but that is the scientific line along which baseball is being played, so I presume it will continue until the post-season games are also a benefit. Look at the wonderful interest all over the country last year when New York and Philadelphia played for the world's championship. I think such a contest between the minor leagues would also prove financially profitable to the club owners."

"There is no doubt that two big leagues help baseball," says Jimmy Manning. "The rivalry between the clubs is of financial benefit to the players, as the salaries are better than ever before. The two leagues make a greater demand for good baseball talent and they help stimulate interest in the towns in which two clubs are located. The pennant race is practically decided by July 15, so that the interest in the home team has a local bearing on the fans that would be lacking were there only one team in a town. The post-season games are also a benefit. Look at the wonderful interest all over the country last year when New York and Philadelphia played for the world's championship. I think such a contest between the minor leagues would also prove financially profitable to the club owners."

They were discussing great baseball players. "Whom do I think is the greatest ball player I ever knew?" said Pitcher Charlie Nichols, "why, Frank Chance of Chicago. I think he is the peer of any man in the business. He is the headiest player I ever saw, he never loses his courage, and he knows the ins and outs of the game as well as any man that ever caught a ball. Many games that would have gone to the other fellows had undoubtedly have been won by the skillful headwork of Chance. Take that 29-inning game between Chicago and Philadelphia in 1905. If it hadn't been for the superb manner in which Chance handled his team Chicago would undoubtedly have lost the game. As a player Chance is strong in every department, and he is a natural leader of men—he gets the best out of them possible."

"Some of the baseball writers of the twentieth century school," said Dope Fanning, "are complaining over the reserve rule and talking of traffic in human flesh." It sounds well, of course, but let me quote you the wisest words that have yet been uttered on the reserve rule. In 1886, when the Brotherhood was organized, John M. Ward said: "In order to get men to invest capital in baseball it is necessary to have a reserve rule. Some say this season could be modified, but I am not of that opinion. How could it be modified? Say, for instance, we begin this season by reserving men for only two, three, four or even five years. At the expiration of that period players would be free to go where they pleased—and capitalists who invested say $75,000 or $100,000 would have nothing but the grounds and grand stand to represent their outlay. It would be unfair to reserve one man for two and another for five years. The reserve rule, on the whole, is a bad one, but it cannot be modified without injuring the interests of the men who invest their money."

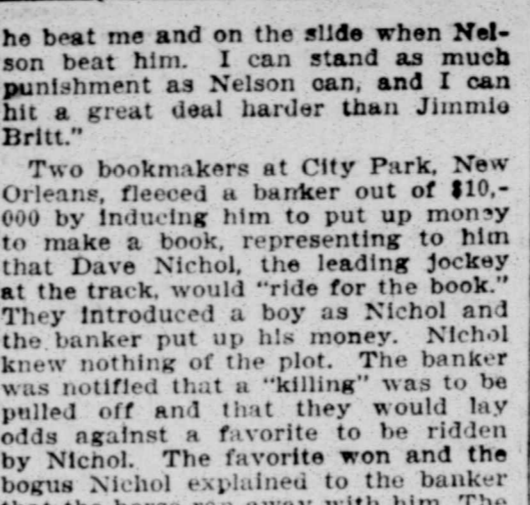

No Excuse for Them "They say there's a fool born every minute." "But that isn't the worst of it; there are a whole lot of fools that were all right when they were born."—Detroit Free Press.

COAL OWNERS THROTTLED?

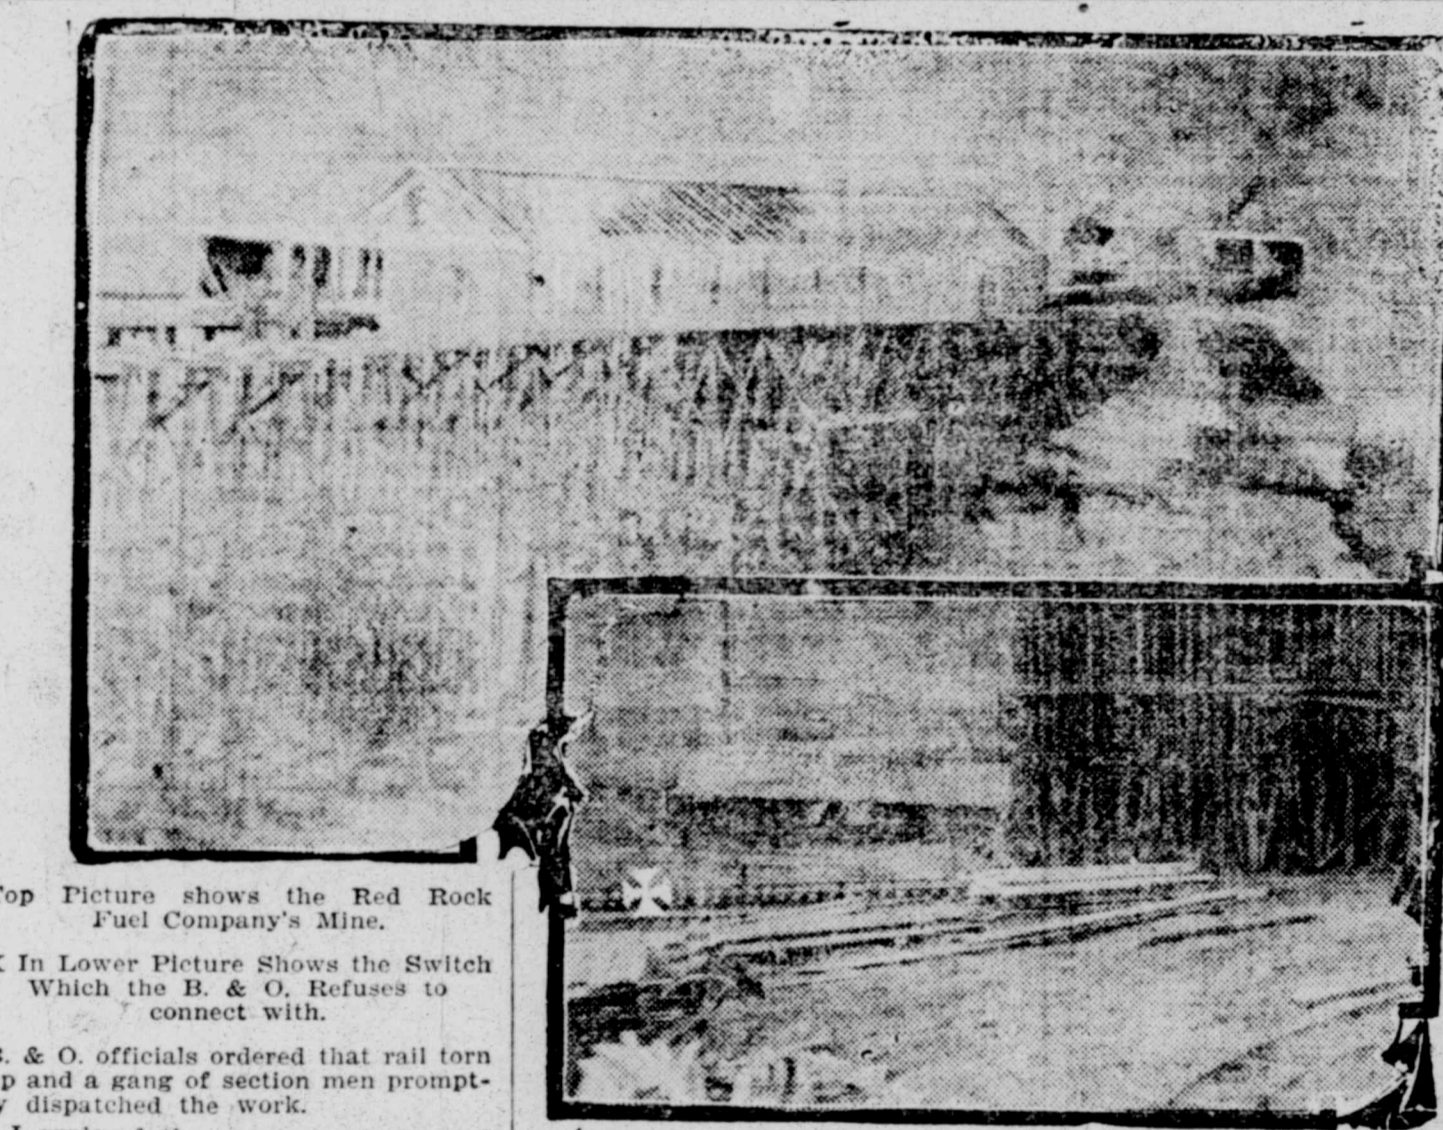

Story of Conditions at Buckhannon, W. V.

TRUST IS BLAMED

Independent Operators Can't Get Switch to Provide Outlet for Products

(By Marlen E. Pew.)
Special to The Telegram.
BUCKHANNON, W. Va., Feb. 21.—Trust oppression has erected to itself an impressive monument in the country surrounding this little mountain town. This is a region where rich, gaseous bituminous coal runs in thick veins through almost every hillside. Nature has wonderfully blessed this country with an industry which only requires the operation of human effort to make for prosperity. The coal is there, millions of tons of it, ready to be mined. Thousands of miners are willing to come in and do the work for honest wages. But the mines are idle, as they have been for months and years. All this is an incident of the power of the greedy railroad coal trust, which at the instance of President Roosevelt, congress is to investigate. This trust, composed of practically all of the eastern trunk lines and dominated by the gigantic Pennsylvania and New York Central railroad powers, has monopolized the soft coal fields of this state of West Virginia. I have visited the mines of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Coal company and those of the Red Rock Fuel company, both owned by interests independent of the railroads. A branch line of the Baltimore & Ohio railway, one strong arm of the trust, and admittedly controlled by the Pennsylvania system, runs alongside both these mines. The Pennsylvania Consolidated has been ready for operation for two and a half years. It has a sidetrack running to the railroad's right-of-way. But the P. & O. refuses to build a switch. Twenty minutes' drive from this mine the big tippie of the Red Rock company rises between two hills. From the tippie for 4,000 feet runs a new sidetrack to the same B. & O. railroad. When this sidetrack was built, a year ago, one rail projected onto the railroad's right-of-way for a few feet.

X In Lower Picture Shows the Switch Which the B. & O. Refuses to connect with.

B. & O. officials ordered that rail turn up and a gang of section men promptly dispatched the work. I explored the openings of the Red Rock mine and saw the buried treasure lying ready for the mine's pick. Everything has been in readiness to operate for one year. But not a pound of coal has been shipped and will not be unless the United States court of this circuit district enforces the order of the interstate commerce commission and compel the B. & O. to build a switch and transport the shipments of this independent concern.

Can't Lay Track
Another instance of aggravated railroad discrimination is to be found four miles south of here. There the Buckhannon River Coal company owns 5,000 acres of coal lands. The company is made up of interests entirely independent of the railroads. The B. & O. line runs just east of the mine. The company has made many applications for sidetrack privileges, but has always been refused.

Investigation in this, the Fairmont district, shows very clearly the motive of the trust to shut out independent competition. The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company owns the Consolidation Coal Company, which, in turn, controls the great mines of the Somerset Coal company, Fairmont Coal company, Pittsburg & Fairmont Coal company and the Clarkesburg Fuel company. This forms the railroad's soft coal monopoly, 80 per cent of all coal mined along the B. & O. route, and these mines operate the year round to their full capacity.

Mines in which officers or directors of the railroad companies are personally interested are also favored. This holds true in the cases of the Keystone Coal company and Commercial Coal Mining company, in which the high and mighty A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania and the real ear of the hard and soft coal fields, is heavily interested. C. W. Watson is the president of the B. & O.'s mining concerns and he, with Jerry Wheelright, vice president of the Consolidation Company, run the B. & O. coal business and rule with iron hand the West Virginia soft coal region.

G. H. Whitescarber, an independent mine owner, of Buckhannon, said: "If congress is seriously interested in the oppression worked on independent miners in this district, it has but to investigate here. The trust wants to monopolize this entire field and will use means foul or fair to accomplish that end. The soft coal output is practically cornered now."

Petty Immorality
"As showing the petty immorality in finance today, I want to tell you of an incident in connection with our Red Rock deal."

"When we found that we could do no business were approached by a man representing one of the largest financial houses in New York, and one closely connected with the eastern railroad coal trust. He made a proposition to buy at a good figure, conditional upon the granting of switch rights by the railroad. We were to deposit $50,000 as a forfeiture in the event of the railroad's refusal to give the switch. We understood that the railroad would be favorable to this man, but at a meeting at Columbus, O., we discovered that his game was to have, us deposit the $50,000 and then effect the forfeiture through his railroad connection. A gentleman in our company called him a thief and a scoundrel."

MANY WOMEN IN MATRIMONY MART

Scores of Letters Being Sent to Wyoming

Special to The Telegram.
CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 20.—The campaign to secure wives for Big Horn county ranchmen, which was inaugurated by the Grey Bull club of Meeteetse two months ago, has resulted in Wyoming receiving national advertising as a good place for husbandless women to look for relief. Not only has the Grey Bull club been deluged with letters from women in all parts of the United States, but has received more or less communications inquiring relative to the possibilities of eastern women securing husbands in Wyoming.

Some of these letters have been highly entertaining, while through others has run a rather pathetic strain. They established that there are many women who are willing to take husbands whom they have not seen, and with whom they have had but slight communication. They come from women of all ages and in all walks of life. One letter to a Big Horn county postmaster is from a mother with several grown daughters, none of them married and the mother a widow. The job lot is offered to whoever wants them, first come first served, provided the applicants are respectable. The postmaster of Laramie has received a letter from a woman at Carthage, Ill., part of which is as follows: "I am a widow without children, five feet four and one-half inches in height, blue eyes, dark hair and weigh about 125 pounds. My friend is a trained surgical nurse; I am a dressmaker. Both are good cooks, and would delight in making a good home for a good, worthy man." The letter of this little lady, which is a fair sample of those received by other postmasters, will be referred to some Mormon community in northern Wyoming, as it appears that the two women mentioned desire to make a home for one man.

A striking feature of the letters in the aggregate is that the general eastern impression is that Wyoming is a howling wilderness, and that all men in the state are either cattle barons, cowboys or horse thieves. One letter states that the writer does not wish to be placed in communication with anyone residing in any of the notorious settlements of horse thieves and outlaws. Generally the women writers would like to marry wealthy cattle barons.

As a matter of cold fact, Wyoming men are taking little interest, other than that resulting from amusement, in the many letters, and there is slight probability that even a single wedding will result from all the correspondence. As a general rule, your plainsman is a canny, cautious and worldly-wise creature, and far too wise to risk his future happiness in the hands of a woman that would marry a man who courted her by mail.

The London county council has decided to pave with noiseless material the portions of street car tracks in front of churches and the education committee has proposed that similar material be laid in front of schools. The natural gas wells which have yielded the greatest amount of gas and shown the most tremendous force in its outburst have revealed a pressure of about 450 pounds to the square inch on the rock confining the gas.

In Australia, under a new law, no contract can be made for the carrying of mails by any steamship line which allows a colored man to work on any of the ships. The mail steamers hitherto have been largely manned by dark-skinned British subjects from India.

Wheat Prices Affected Favorably by Moroccan Situation—Advance Only Temporary

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 21.—The wheat market was rather irregular today. The Liverpool market exhibited unexpected firmness, being affected by covering of shorts as a result of the unsatisfactory news regarding the conference at Algiers. Cables reported prices had advanced.

Corn

Corn was active. After an early promise of strength the market weakened under liberal selling and liquidation.

Oats

Oats were fairly active, with prices firm under a moderate volume of short covering.

Provisions

Provisions were weak the entire day. Liberal unloading by longs was the feature of the trading.

Receipts

Estimated receipts for Friday are as follows: Wheat, 6 cars; corn, 416 cars; oats, 154 cars.

The youths are: Alsbury and Fritz Wallner, each given two years in the penitentiary; Johnny Harris and Louis Sanders, each given two years in the state reformatory.

COTTON

Prices Slump $1 a Bale—Bears Flood the Market With Selling Orders

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The fact that tomorrow will be a holiday and the day following is the first notice day for March contracts, was a disturbing factor and influenced the considerable liquidation throughout the early trading, as the anticipation of a heavy March delivery has intimidated those who are long of that option, and created a desire to get out at prevailing prices rather than to accept the actual price at its former value.

Steers

Supplies of steers were in fair proportion to the run, but that there was a very light supply on hand, owing to the liberal supply yesterday.

Cows and Heifers

The quality largely medium, but the demand was not of a very urgent nature and the moderate supply of the market did not do much to sustain prices on a level with the decline yesterday.

Calves

Calves were light, with the bulk of medium quality. Trade from the market was steady.

New Orleans Cotton

Hogs

Hogs were liberal again today. Early receipts were estimated at 2,500.

"You say you have known Jones a long time," asked District Attorney Jerome. "Well, a month or so. We both call a month a long time. I mean by a long time in your affidavit?" "Yes, sir," replied the witness. "The next witness was Lilla Gaylord, a school teacher in Morris county, Texas. She said that she had met Jones six times in the last three years. The first time she met him she said a detective named Lloyd of Dallas was with her. The meeting occurred at a picnic. At this point a recess was taken.
