The old soldiers are getting 50 cents more for this quarter than they received for the previous quarter. Notwithstanding this fact there is still an increase in the number of pensioners, as besides 450 new ones who were added for this quarter, the comptroller has about 500 applications now on hand which are to be investigated New York. and if found that the applicants come with the provisions of the law, will be added to the pension list for the next quarter, which begins July 1, 1906.

Annual Spring Event Begins

Today Bock beer is in town and the sign of the goat may now be seen at certain bars in town, announcing the annual event. Bock beer is a pure malt beer, slightly older than the usual brew, containing about a half per cent more alcohol than the beer generally served. Its advent, usually about Easter time, is eagerly awaited by those with a special fondness for this brew, added stimulus being given the desire for the beer by the fact that it remains on sale but a short time. Closely associated with bock beer is the goat sign, always forming a prominent part of the notice that the bock is on tap.

Michigan Senator Gives Poor Heath as Reason

Special to The Telegram DETROIT, Mich., April 9.-Announcement was made today from Senator R. A. Alger's office that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself in the senate when the legislature meets January 1. The annour ment took the form of a letter which, it was stated, was received today from the senator. It says: "Owing to the condition of my health am compelled to withdraw my candidacy to succeed myself in the United States senate. While it is a great sacrifice to sever my connection of many years' standing with the public affairs of my state, that sacrifice has become necessary. I take this opportunity to convey to the friends who have so loyally given me their support my heartfelt thanks and sense of lasting obligation and to express to the state my deep gratitude for the honors it has seen fit to confer upon me.' The report to the effect that the senator was about to resign the senatorship, in addition to withdrawing his

PASSOVER HERE HAS OBSERVANCE WHO SHE WAS

Services Announced by Jewish

Congregations

THE FORT WORTH TELEGRAM

Celebration of the Passover begins Monday night, special services having been arranged by both the Reformed and Orthodox congregations. Services will be held in the synagogue of Orthodox Congregation Ahavath Sholom Monday night at 7:30 o'clock. Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock, and Tuesday .night and Wednesday morning in honor of the feast. The Reform congregation, Beth El, will hold services Monday afternoon about 6:30 o'clock and again Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. This occasion is one of the most magnificent of Jewish holidays. For eight days following the passover the members of the congregation eat only what is called matzos bread, which is made entirely of flour and water, with no yeast.

The services of the first two nights constitute the Jewish Sader. This time is especially pleasing to the members of the Jewish congregation, as they are a liberty-loving race, and this ceremony is in remembrance of their liberation from the Egyptian rule. Nearly 3,400 years ago, according to the chronologists, the last of the plagues came upon the land of Egypt, and the first born of every household and of every beast and bird was smitten. It was then the angel of the Lord passed over the homes of the Jews in bondage in Egypt, and before the nation went out to journey to the Promised Land the Feast of the Passover was instituted.

This year the Pasch, or Passover begins at nightfall on Monday, April Then, through eight days unleavened bread will be eaten by those Jews who are careful of tradition and religious requirements. There will be worship in the synagogues all over the world. It is said that never has there been a failure to observe the feast, and that this is the year 3393 since the founding of the feast.

going more and more beyond you every day of your life. Fort Worth Telegram. The Telegram is right in its opinion of now being the time to get a home in Texas; also, it is right about the limit of a man's influence who does not own his home. Those who do not own homes cannot be looked upon as permanent citizens, but are always regarded as transient people; and when they wish to take part in the affairs of the place where they live, they too often are regarded as intruders pushing themselves forward with only a selfish motive to gain personal influence, as people realize they have no other interest than to make their living and perhaps a little money to take away somewhere else. If hard times strike a place the people who do not own their homes are the first to grow dissatisfied, and there is absent in them that sentiment of patriotism that belongs to the people who own homes and who naturally feel a deeper interest, generally speaking, in the place where they have chosen to build a home. They spend their money to beautify their places and take a pride in them and train their children to follow their example. These are only a few reasons why The Telegram's advice to get a home while land is cheap is worthy of consideration .- Jacksboro Gazette. There are few men in Texas who do not realize the importance of owning a home. Even the man who never owned a foot of the soll during all of his shiftless career dreams of the day when he will be the owner in fe simple of an humble cot and he can sit and rest under the shade of his own vine and fig tree. But the trouble is too many of our people defer the acquirement of this great blessing too long. They are too content to serve as tenants for the man who has already begun the important work of accumulating of this earth's substances. They go along from year to year hoping that the next year will bring about some changed condition that will permit the purchase of a small home, and in the meantime their responsibilities are annually increasing and the price of real estate is steadly advancing.

Debt is a proposition always to be avoided when possible. But it is better for a man to incur a moderate debt in the acquirement of a home than to continue the occupant of some other man's property. As a general thing homes can be purchased on very favorable terms. The man who is able to put enough money by to make a respectable first payment can usually obtain credit on the remainder that will enable him to pay it out almost like paying rent. Some men cannot acquire anything in this world without going in debt. They have to set their stakes so much ahead and gradually work to them.

The Telegram does not advise any man to go and overload himself with an obligation that will weight him down. But it does believe it is the duty of every Texan to provide his family with a home, and the hest arrangements possible should be made in the premises. Next year that home will cost much more than at present, and now is the time for action. Get a home and soon become independent.

NORTH FORT WORTH MUNICIPALITY

While the people of Fort Worth were too busy to take much interest in the municipal election Tuesday, over in the thriving little city of North Fort Worth there was something doing that kept people guessing clear up to the time the votes had been counted and the result announced. North Fort Worth was intensely political this spring, and one of the warmest political fights was waged over there that has been known since city government was estab-

"FREEDOM AND LOVE"

How delicious is the winning Of a kiss at love's beginning. When two mutual hearts are sighing For the knot there's no untying!

Yet remember, midst your wooing, Love has bliss, but love has ruing; Other smiles may make you fickle, Tears for other charms may trickle.

Love he comes, and Love he tarries, Just as fate or fancy carries; Longest stays, when sorest chidden; Laughs and flies, when press'd and bidden.

Bind the sea to slumber stilly, Bind its order to the lily, Bind the aspen ne'er to quiver. Then bind love to last forever.

Love's a fire that needs renewal Of fresh beauty for its fuel; Love's wing moults when caged and captured. Only free he soars enraptured. Love's a fire that needs renewal

Can you keep the bee from ranging? Or the ringdove's neck from changing? No! nor fetter'd Love from dying In the knot there's no untying. -THOMAS CAMPBELL.

A nice thing about living in the suburbs is it never seems hard to die when your turn comes.

BUILD COTTON FACTORIES

One dollar on every bale of cotton produced in the state of Texas this year invested in cotton mills would add materially to the number now operating in this state, and the Farmers' Union as an organization can engage in no greater work than to start this idea to properly rolling. More cotton mills in Texas will do much to solve the problem of increasing production .--Fort Worth Telegram.

Why should not the Farmers' Union of Eastland county take this matter up and establish a mill at Cisco. They are materially interested in this matter, from the fact that a bale of manufactured cotton is worth from two to five times as much as a bale of raw cotion. Instead of selling your cotion to the spinner for from 8 to 10 cents, pocket the profits yourselves by getting from 20 to 50 cents a pound for it as a manufactured product .-- Cisco Roundup.

There is great unrest among the cotton consumers on the other side of the Big Pond on account of the continued high price of cotton. A big delegation of English spinners has been touring Texas and other southern states during the past ten days looking into the matter of purchasing lands upon which to grow for themselves every year the amount of cotton required to keep their spindles in constant operation. They have grown weary of the gambling methods employed in the marketing of this great staple, and they are doing just what the producers should have done iong ago-looking out for some effective method of self-protection.

It is a positive certainty that the people who consume the raw product of southern cotton fields are not going to accede willingly to the idea of 15-cent cotton, which is being urged with so much gusto by th men who are at the head of the Cotton Producers' association. They may pay it until means can be devised for getting around such unnatural conditions, but they are being forced to extremes that will surely result in the elimination of much of this market in future. It may be through the producing of more cotton in American fields owned and operated by foreign spinners, or it may be through the cultivation of more cotton in other sections of the countries where cultivation is possible. At any rate, the present situation is surely going to result in increased production, and if the producers of the country are wise they will proceed to take time by the forelock.

One dollar per bale on the next cotton crop produced in Texas would make a very substantial start in the matter of building cotton mills in Texas to convert the raw staple into the finished product, and enable the producers to go out and compete in the markets of the world for the trade of those nations who must have cotton cloth. If cotton can be grown in Texas, exported to England and there manufactured at a profit, it stands to reason that it can be handled to better advantage right where it is produced, and the producers should lose no time in setting the ball in motion that is to give them absolute independence of the men who are even now seeking methods to obtain the cotton they need in their business independent of the present producers. The Farmers' Union could engage in , no greater work than to take up and push this matter of building more cotton mills in Texas. It is a work that must be done sooner or later, and the sooner it is accomplished the better it will be

In the election of W. D. Davis as mayor, North Fort Worth is to be sincerely congratulated on the wisdom of her choice. Davis is a young man of vim and energy. He has a way of making things move when he gets in behind them that is characteristically western, and the result of that gentleman's long residence in West Texas. And Davis is capable and honest to the core. He has been tried in that respect to the complete satisfaction of his admiring fellow citizens, who have occasion to remember some tax renditions in which he was concerned, the proper rendition of which is alleged to have cost him a lucrative

And Mayor Davis is a young man, full of life and energy. He will give his city an administration bristling with progress and development. He will study no interest save that of his people, and he is going to give his people satisfaction in every particular. In fact, The Telegram does not hesitate to predict the Davis administration will prove the best and most popular North Fort Worth has ever known. He has been surrounded with some good material in the present board of alderman, and it is evident to all interests that the Davis administration can be depended upon to do things for North Fort Worth.

The state legislature has seen fit to indorse Allison Mayfield for a position on the interstate commerce commission, but when a Texas man is chosen for that position he will come from Fort Worth. And his name is Sam H. Cowan. Judge Cowan is not much of a politician, but it is known he has the interstate commerce business down to a finer point than any other man in all the broad state of Texas,

Judge A. W. Terrell announces since the restoration of his election law that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the state legislature. This will be a signal to the boys all along the line to proceed to whet their knives for that measure, and the next legislature will witness a mutilation that will be positively painful.

and the second s

The wounds in bleeding section 120 have all been staunched, but there are many knives being whetted to open more when the first opportunity presents itself. The people of Texas are becoming greatly displeased with many of the provisions of the Terrell law, and it will receive serious and careful revision at the hands of the next regular session of the state legislature.

The coal strike in Texas is over, and the easy manner in which the troubles were adjusted goes to prove that the differences could not have been very serious. There is general satisfaction over the resumption of work at the mines, and conditions that promised to become serious have been obviated.

The San Antonio cattleman who has announced as a candidate for the chairmanship of the Texas Republican executive committee, to succeed Colonel Cecil Lyon, must be a man who is actually spoiling for a row. And that he will be accommodated is one of the dead sure things of the future.

The Houston Post did all possible to induce the legislature to override the governor, and the Post is a paper that claims to be a leader in political affairs in Texas. It would have had the lawmaking body do something illegal in order to have gained a fancied

(Continued from yesterday.) "This is the last," said he, as he unfolded the clipping, and read us the following account which had appeared in a Cleveland, Ohio, daily: "CONFIDENCE GAMES VS. REAL ESTATE."

"The firm of Monk & Martin, real estate dealers on Broadway, this morning find themselves confidenced out of a seven-story block and four lots valued at $260,000, and are unable to either recover the property or to apprehend the criminals.

There is a woman in the case. which in real estate transactions of shady character, is unusual while the manner through which the swindle was perpetrated is exceedingly simple, though thoroughly effective in producing results.

"Many of the citizens of Cleveland will remember a woman known as Mrs. Reed-Starkweather, who first appeared in the city some six months ago. She managed to have it understood that she was a wealthy widow from the Pacific coast. She appeared thoroughly conversant with real estate transactions, and the impression soon got abroad that she was considerable of a dealer in that commodity and counted a shrewd opera-

"Nearly every prominent office in the city had at least a casual acquaintance with her, and in several she became as well known as most buyers usually are. "Her method of operating was simplicity itself, although to carry it out successfully required some capital.

"It was her custom to form the acquaintance of real estate men at some place other than their offices, then to direct the conversation so that they would invite her to call at the office for prices or other information. It was then an easy task to induce them to recommend a particular piece of property as being a desirable pur-

"In this way she made the acquaintance of the leading agents, each of whom looked upon her as a possible customer, whom in time they would be fortunate enough to secure. After a few weeks she began buying. and although her purchases were not extensive, she seemed always just upon the point of buying a valuable tract, or business block.

"Payments were invariably made in drafts upon San Francisco banks, and in every instance these were honored without delay. So thoroughly did she ingratiate herself into the good graces of several /irms that she was able to induce them to cash drafts for considerable amounts, at one time these aggregated something like $95,000, all of which were duly honored on presentation.

"To further assist her schemes she managed to ascertain in advance the names of parties who were about to burchase valuable property and by various methods induced them, as a favor to herself, to arrange affairs so that she appeared in the transaction, first buying the property herself and then re-selling to them at a fictitious advance in the price. So often was this done and so successful was she in inducing the parties to keep the matter a secret, that her reputation for keen operating was considerably enhanced.

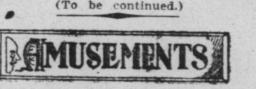

"In the last transaction of this nature she was supposed to have made a profit of $51,000 in three days, and when Monk & Martin proposed that she purchase Holton Heights she re-

The matter was Dozier then gave us a detailed description of Barlow, but unfortunately, could show us no photographs of him, which alone proved the ability of the man, for, although he was known as a crook throughout the country, his cunning had thus far baffled all attempts at arrest, hence his picture did not adorn the walls of any rogue's gallery known to us. The personal description of Barlow was unsatisfactory to me, for while in some ways it might apply to the man I had followed in Denver, in others it was too indefinite.

Taken altogether, the information we had obtained hardly warranted me in urging the chief to go to the expense of an investigation, for this, if once begun, might require a considerable outlay of time and money to prove or disprove our theories. Then there was the contingency that if we scored a failure, my own reputation and the confidence the chief had in me, might be destroyed.

"Marie Cahill"

Miss Marie Cahill, who will be seen at Greenwall's opera house Tuesday night, April 10, in what is called the "smart" musical play, "Mollie Moonshine," is a Brooklyn girl and afford3 in her career an example of opportunity long waited for, and taken advantage of when it did come.

Miss Cahill went on the stage as a little girl in a Brooklyn theater and played a small soubrette part in some sort of an Irish melodrama. She was therefore never in the chorus of any production, because immediately afterwards she commenced to obtain the positions in New York shows which gave her a splendid professional reputation as a dancing and singing soubrette. A year or two before Augustin Daly died, he took Miss Cahill into that singing organization which produced "The Runaway Girl." In this she created a role of a Venetian dancer and astonished the New York theater world with her unsuspected ability as a dancer. Miss Cahill then confessed that from the time she was 10 years old she had never missed her daily lesson in fancy dancing, and took advantage of an interview afforded her to recommend in her quaint way, the study of the art of dancing to all young ladies on or off the stage. It was immediately after this that Miss Cahill commenced to be looked upon as a Broadway fixture. She appeared in such productions as "The Wild Rose," "Sally in Our Alley" and "The Silver Slipper." New York liked her and she found it to her advantage to remain in New York. It was for this reason that she never went on the road, but as soon as a company had filled its New York engagement she would transfer to some other part that was sure to be open for her. Miss Cahill has stated since that her real reason for doing this was to avoid getting away from the singing and dancing teachers in whom she had the greatest trust.

MASS MEETING

Mrs. Sumpter T. Bibbs' reception omplimentary to Miss Tillman of Nashville, Miss Bibbs and Mrs. Richard Tillman Bibb last Friday afternoon was a scene of beauty seldom surpassed, even in Fort Worth, where receiving has become one of the fine arts.

Seashell pink shades threw a radiant light over the parlors, where pink roses and carnations filled vases and bowls.

In the dining room jonquils were massed on the table in an epergne, the base being a veritable garden of violets. Beneath was a cluny lace table cover. Silver candlesticks and cut class bon bon dishes were set around the floral centerpiece.

The punch room was a bloom of sweet peas, bouquets of them filling many vases. They also formed a bed for the punch bowl.

In the receiving line Mrs. Bibb was assisted by Miss Tillman, Miss Bibb, Mrs. Richard Tillman Bibb, Miss Crouse of Stephenville, Mrs. Darnell, Mrs. Kein, Mrs. John P. King, Mrs. M. E. Smith and Mrs. Leon Gross.

In the dining room Mrs. Rhome and Mrs. Campbell served tea a la Russe, assisted by Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. James Harrison, Mrs. Colvin, Mrs. Buchanan and Mrs. Bronquist.

LATE SPRING IN INDIAN TERRITORY

Continued Rains Near Vinita Have Delayed Pasture

"It has rained for three years," said W. P. Farley of Vinita, I. T., "up with us, but this winter has been the worst of all, for it has been wet and soggy and and ly all the time and the sunshine has had but little show. We had but five sunny days during the month of March and April has been trying to keep up the lick. There is nothing fat at present, and grass is just starting to grow. Of course, unter these conditions cattlemen have had but a poor show and have been more or less feeling blue over the prospects; but as the saying is, every cloud has its silvery lining, and the cowmen have lived un-der almost the same conditions so often and survived that in this instance they think that in the end the wat will redound to their benefit. There have been no losses, fed cattle have wintered well, but hay cattle are thin. Everybody will stop feeding this week. "Pastures are scarce up our way and I see no hope for any change. The land has all been allotted to the Indians and to facilitate this it was all sectionized. Of course, under these conditions there is no chance to fence anything bigger than a section and the expense of fencing each section separate no one would think of. The Indians under the Curtis bill that is now before congress allows the Indians to sell five-eighths of their allotments, if they are half-breeds and the other three-eighths must be held as a homestead and cannot be sold in any event. The full-bloods cannot sell any of their land. Heber Skinner is with me and we are on our way down to Ballinger to look after some 1,100 steers that we have down there. They are 2-yearolds and we will move them up into the territory and grass them. It has been very dry down in Runnels county this winter and we could have very well the disease will be sent to the pest house at once, and all those exposed to it will be isolated in the hospital spared them some of our wet. I hear, though, that it rained there a good hard rain, some inch and a half. This will be a great help to them and grass will now spring up like Jonah's gourd.

Tarrant County Farmers Going in for Stock Farming

"Tarrant county is not behind any other in her efforts in the direction of stock farming," said W. H. Rambo, "for up in the northeast corner of the county where I live they are all up and doing. I live near Branford and in a good section, too. Stock farming has come to stay and in a short time we will be furnishing unlimited numbers of hogs to the Fort Worth market. Every one of our farmers is fencing in every foot of available land, even their orchards, for hog pastures, and they have set their heads to get the best there is out of the business, and you can bet that when they got in that notion they are going to win out certain, so look out for some good stuff from this on.
