VESUVIUS AND THE CITIES AT ITS FEET

There are 1,000,000 people within the danger zone of Mount Vesuvius. Within a radius of a dozen miles there are scores of cities, towns and villages. The largest of the cities, Naples, is the biggest city in Italy, having 661,000 people, about the same as Baltimore, Md. It has been ruled at different times by Greeks, Oscans, Romans, Goths, Normans, Germans and Spaniards.

Torre del Greco, another city, has 35,000 population, about the same as Canton, McKinley's town in Ohio.

Torre Annunziata has 30,000 people, about the same as Chattanooga, Tenn.

Sarno and Resina hold about 20,000 each and are cities about the size of Columbus, S. C.

This picture of the danger zone around the volcano Vesuvius is drawn from a relief map of Italy. It is accurate as to distances and shows all the larger towns and cities.

TEACHERS DISCUSS GRADED SCHOOLS

County Institute in North Fort Worth

Graded system of schools was declared the best in a discussion of the advantages and disadvantages of the method by W. D. Williams, principal of the Fort Worth high school before the county teachers' institute at North Fort Worth school Friday morning.

In treating the subject, Professor Williams, who is being urged by his friends for school superintendent of Fort Worth, named as disadvantages of the system the fact that it does away with individualism; that in case of sickness of any considerable length the pupil is so handicapped as to be forced out of the class, and that under the system there is too great a tendency upon the part of teachers to help pupils.

It was pointed out, however, that the system is the only one possible where a large number of pupils are assigned to each class, as must be done in public schools, declaration being made in this connection that it is easier to teach a large class where enthusiasm may be aroused than a small class; that the system tends to keep children more nearly of age and size together, and that course of study may be made more symmetrical under it. The effect of promotion was said three times a year was also discussed.

There was a good attendance at the institute held in the auditorium of the new Fort Worth school building. The numbers on the morning program were: "How to Teach Good Manners," discussion; "Superintendent's Visit," Miss Mollie G. Childers, Arlington Heights; "Composition," W. A. Barr, Birdville.

Afternoon program is: 2 o'clock, "Physiology," L. K. Smith, Benbrook; "Reading," Miss Kate Burrough, Mansfield; "Spelling," Miss Elizabeth Gillis, Smithfield; "Grammar," R. F. Peden, Riverside; "Teaching as a Stepping Stone to Some Other Occupation," L. A. Speer, Azle.

County School Tax
Action will be taken during the present institute upon the following resolutions presented before adjournment of the preceding session:
"Whereas, it is clearly demonstrated that it is impossible with resources now provided under our state constitution to maintain a school term of adequate length and provide competent teachers with fair remuneration, especially in our rural districts; therefore, be it

This photograph was taken from a point nearly on a level with the spouting main crater. The camera was taken as near as the photographer could safely go. The picture was taken at the beginning of the present eruption.

WORK OF SURGEON MADE MODEL BOY

Bone Taken From Head in Operation Works Wonders

Special to The Telegram, TOLEDO, Ohio, April 13.—By a surgical operation a miracle has been wrought in the life of Harold Hurley, Harold, aged 12, was one of the worst boys in the city. He grew so bad that he was finally sentenced to the reform school. Then it was that his mother remembered that her boy had once suffered a fractured skull, and it was decided to have an operation performed on his head.

A bone nearly an inch long was found imbedded in the brain by Dr. Donnelly and now from an incorrigible boy, who would jump out the second-story window at night to stay down town and sleep in alleys, Harold has been transformed into a tractable and loving son.

Dr. Donnelly said that the case was a very rare one.

TAGGART IN GOTHAM
Democratic National Chairman Will Have Conference on Politics
By Associated Press, NEW YORK, April 13.—Thomas Taggart of Indianapolis, chairman of the democratic national committee, came to New York yesterday on private business, but while here he also saw some party friends. He said he expected to see Vice Chairman Delancy Niooli today for a long heart-to-heart talk on the general political situation.

Culberson Resolution Proposes Change in Burleson Bill

Special to The Telegram, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.—The senate adopted a concurrent resolution yesterday according to the request of Senator Culberson, authorizing its conferees to agree to an amendment which will make members of congress liable to the provisions of the Burleson bill prescribing a penalty for those who traffic in statistics or other information collected by the government.

The passage of the resolution through the house is assured, and when this is done the Burleson bill can be perfected easily.

MURDER CHARGED
Prisoners Say They Found Man Dead by Conn. Roadside
By Associated Press, NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 13.—Mrs. Ida T. Jennings and her son, Hubert W. Taylor, were indicted by the grand jury yesterday for murder in the first degree in causing the death by shooting of Joseph E. Jennings, husband of Mrs. Jennings, in East Haven Sunday night. Both are held without bail. The prisoners assert that they discovered Jennings lying beside the road about a quarter of a mile from his home, in a dying condition with two bullet holes in his body.

P. O. RECEIPTS LARGER
Each Office in Ellis County Shows Big Increase
Special to The Telegram, ITALY, Texas, April 13.—The postal receipts of every town in Ellis county including Italy, show a decided increase over the corresponding period last year. The greatest gain is in the Midlothian office, which shows an increase of 18 per cent, giving Postmaster McEldowney a raise of $100 in his salary. This is the best indication that Ellis county is prosperous.

MAN BEGS TO BE ARRESTED

Prisoner Says He Has Uncontrollable Criminal Instincts

Special to The Telegram, NEW YORK, April 13.—Uncontrollable criminal instincts which he wanted controlled has led into court a prisoner who told a strange story.

"Gustave Geiber" (a fictitious name) is the prisoner who believes a sort of subconscious personality drives him to crime. He was arraigned in the Yorkville county jail and held for burglary. He confessed his crime, but he had to prove it. Few men have had such difficulty in getting into jail. It was easier for Geiber to loot the flat of A. N. Carson.

The robbery was committed last Wednesday. Geiber sought arrest and made every effort to attract the attention of the police during the day following the robbery. Finding he could not be arrested, he went to police headquarters and demanded to be locked up. He proved he had stolen various articles from the Carson apartments. A detective took him to court yesterday. Geiber said that he was trying to break away from vice and that he was delivered when it is needed by the spinner. It means much to the business man, as it will give the farmer more money to spend and put him on a cash basis.

WANTED FIREMEN TO PAY REVENUE
Town Might Burn, But Custom Laws Must Be Obeyed
By Associated Press, BERLIN, April 13.—An illustration of the faithful enforcement of bureaucratic customs is given in the Burger Gazette of Mulhausen, South Germany. A group of buildings at Huenlinen, near the German-Swiss frontier, caught fire Sunday. A fire engine from Basle, Switzerland, just across the frontier, came to help in extinguishing the flames. The customs officers, however, would not allow the Swiss fire engine to cross the border unless the firemen paid duty for it, and while the discussion went on the buildings, which were within 100 yards of the custom house, burned to the ground.

LAPSE OF GRAMMAR CAUSES DETECTION

Filipino Forger Substitutes Inimitative for Participle

Special to The Telegram, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.—Because the forger of an old Filipino document alleged to be a pass issued by a United States army officer failed to use good English in the execution of what is said to be one of the best imitations ever seen at the department, a large claim made by the church will probably fail to be allowed by the government.

It is a fair sample of Filipino cleverness and was unearthed at the war department in the course of the examination of some old claims by the church authorities for property alleged to have been commanded by American troops in the early days of the insurrection.

The church authorities in this particular case, alleged that some of their valuable herds of cattle had been taken by the American troops, while this claim is offset by the charge that the insurrectos seized the cattle. In support of his later statement was what appeared to be a pass issued in duplicate by General Stanley, commander of the Eighth division in February, 1901, to Belluzar Ramon and twenty fellows who alleged they were sample herders, but were charged with having stolen cattle from the church.

The curious feature is that this pass in every line is executed by pen, although the body of the document is supposed to be clean English; it is in printed characters. The imitation is so clever that it almost defies detection and this would have been the case save for a curious idiomatist blunder made by the forger whose mission was set out in the pass as "for the purchase of, to buy biffs, horses and caribao."

TO BUILD WAREHOUSES
Farmers' Union Will Erect Five in Ellis County
Special to The Telegram, CLEBURNE, Texas, April 13.—A meeting was held in Cleburne by W. A. Houchin, G. W. Patterson and S. C. Folwer, who constitute the warehouse committee of the Johnson County Farmers' Union. With them was P. V. Evans of Fort Worth, who is in the employ of the union. The matter was fully considered in detail and the determination reached was to erect five warehouses in the county.

Mr. Evans said: "It will save the cotton from country damage, that is the saving of the farmers' cotton on the world's market and in position to be delivered when it is needed by the spinner. It means much to the business man, as it will give the farmer more money to spend and put him on a cash basis."

SUN SHINING OVER NAPLES

City Rejoices as Work of Rescue Continues

EXPLOSIONS OVER

Prof. Mattuci Visits Slope of Vesuvius and Believes the Worst Has Passed

By Associated Press, NAPLES, April 13, 7:50 a. m.—All news received here this morning is encouraging. For the first time since Tuesday the sun is shining all over Naples, and, although above the city, the usual gray clouds are discernible, the fall of ashes has almost entirely ceased.

As a result the automobile coats and goggles, ash storm costumes, have been replaced by the usual colored apparel of people, driving about in open carriages, and much color has returned to surroundings, the grayness of the buildings, palms and other ash-covered trees make a pleasant contrast with the sapphire-tinted sea.

Several men have apparently braved the terrors of the wind wastes of lava about the Royal Observatory on Mount Vesuvius. One of them returned here this morning and gave an account of a most interesting conversation which he had with Professor Mattucci, director of the observatory, who is in a very hopeful mood. When the visitor left him, the professor said:

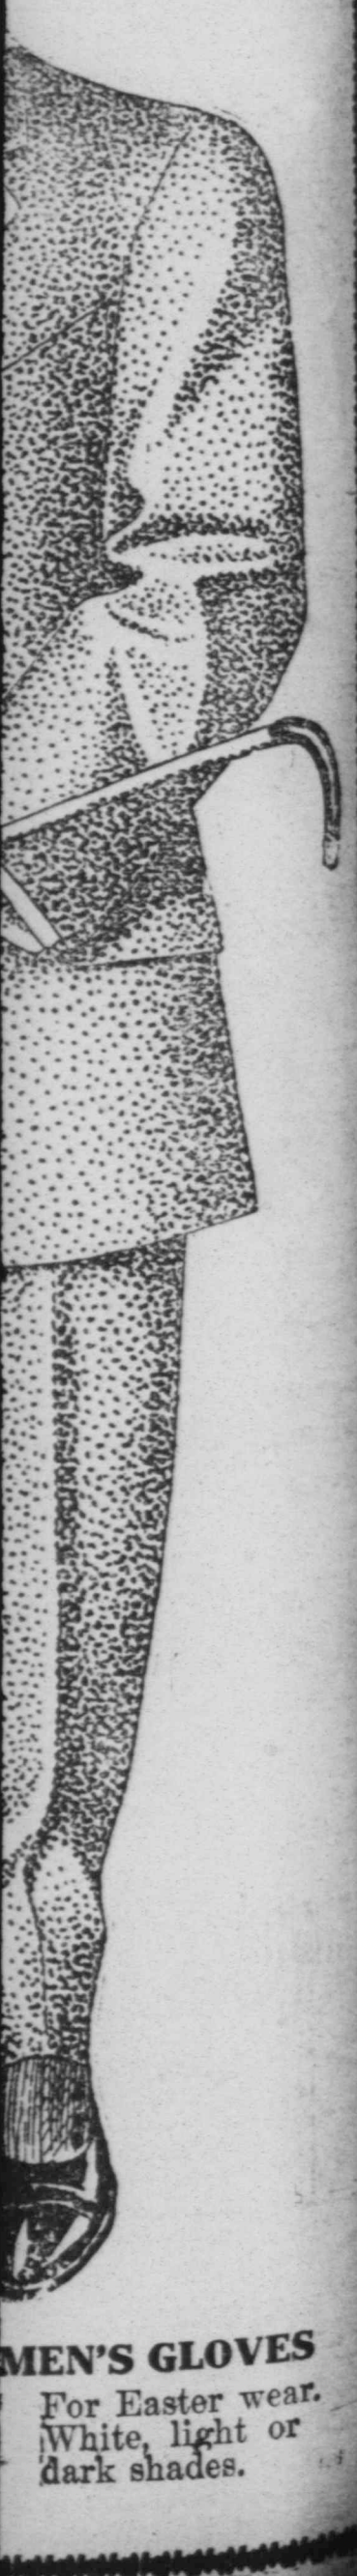

"Very little is known of volcanic forces, so one can never safely predict what is going to happen, but I think I can, with some confidence, express the hope, based on my experience here, that the explosive period of the eruption is passed. It is impossible to make a positive statement to this effect, but the probability points to the quieting down of the volcano. This, however, does not mean that the activity has entirely ceased. Unless the crater definitely assumes new shape—that is to say, when ridges have been smoothed down, there is a possibility of further disturbances. For the present a light wind is blowing, which, in all probability, will carry the ashes in the direction which leaves Naples free from further annoyance and ashes, and as it is an ill wind, it is blowing good to other places. For the ashes are the best fertilizer it is possible to secure. It is merely a question just now of having too much of a good thing."

Professor Mattucci today climbed up Vesuvius to a point along the way above the observatory at an imminent risk of his life and ascertained that unless the conditions change radically, there will be no further discharge of lava at present. He added that it is impossible to determine the quantity of lava to be discharged, but, as it has come to be diminished considerably in height and the showers of cinders thrown out have been transformed into ashes, he believes the end of the disturbance is near. Professor Mattucci is not the only person who regards the situation as having improved.

AMERICANS AT GIBRALTAR
By Associated Press, GIBRALTAR, April 13.—The North German Lloyd steamer Barbarossa, which left New York April 3 for Naples, having on board the American athletes who are to compete in the Olympic games at Athens, Greece, returned here today. All members of the team enjoyed the voyage and are in good condition.

At present there are only a few stores and office buildings going up but there are several in prospect.

MILK DIET

Not So Good As a Better. A merchant in a thriving interior town writes: "I can recommend Grape-Nuts food to all, whether well or sick

"For about six years I was unable to be in the store much of the time. I was suffering from gastritis and constipation, which confined me to the house part of the time and at last put me to bed and kept me there for almost a year.

"The doctors finally gave me up; then a friend advised me to change my food and use Grape-Nuts food and Postum Food coffee.

"I commenced to get well at once, and in the first eight months I gained about 40 pounds. The gastritis and constipation left me in a very short time, and in the six years that have followed I have enjoyed the best of health and attend regularly to my business.

"There's a reason. Read the little book, 'The Road to Wellville,' in pkgs.

CARPENTERS LOOK FOR A SETTLEMENT

Believe Differences Will Be Adjusted in a Few Days. There is an optimistic feeling in the carpenters' strike situation in Fort Worth.

While comparatively warm in this state, the contrast is great in New Mexico, where the freezing line reaches as far as the border.

The weather report made to the general offices of the Denver Road show a generally cloudy condition is prevailing over the entire line in Texas.

A severe rain and wind storm east of Big Sandy Thursday tore down the telegraph wires of the Texas and Pacific railway and during Thursday night communication by wire was destroyed.

The official statement of weather conditions this morning is as follows: "The valleys of the Mississippi and the Missouri are under low barometer influences, resulting in snow and rain in Nebraska, rain in Minnesota, Missouri, South Dakota, Kansas and South Texas, accompanied by thunderstorms and winds reaching as high as forty miles an hour in Kansas, Heavy rains are noted in South and East Texas.

The Rocky mountain states are dominated by high pressure conditions, causing clear, cool weather in the middle northwest, and the southwest, the freezing line being as far south as southern New Mexico.

"Texas is generally clear, except on the coast, rain falling at Corpus Christi."

"The Missouri are under low barometer influences, resulting in snow and rain in Nebraska, rain in Minnesota, Missouri, South Dakota, Kansas and South Texas, accompanied by thunderstorms and winds reaching as high as forty miles an hour in Kansas, Heavy rains are noted in South and East Texas.

LAST DEFENSE OF MR. SMOOT

Counsel Makes Final Argument for Utah Solon

TWO-THIRDS VOTE

Committee Is Told It Takes More Than Majority to Oust Alleged Polygamist

By Associated Press.
 WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.—Final argument in the investigation of the protests against Senator Reed Smoot being permitted to return to his seat in the United States senate was made today before the committee on privileges and elections by A. S. Worthington, counsel for the Utah senator. For the first time since the proceedings were begun, three years ago, Mr. Smoot attended the session of the committee.
 In opening his speech Mr. Worthington took up the subject of Mr. Smoot's qualifications to serve as a senator and followed this by citing authorities to support his contention that it requires a two-thirds vote of the senate to oust Mr. Smoot.
 Answering Mr. Carlisle's argument that Utah might go so far as to send President Joseph F. Smith to the senate, Mr. Worthington said that, if such should be the case, he should be permitted to serve, if he gave up his plural wife and lived only with his legal wife. In the event Smith should fall to live in obedience to the laws, said Worthington, then he should be expelled. Mr. Worthington pointed out that Smoot's life has been blameless and that he is a law-abiding citizen in every sense of the word.

Greene and Gaynor Sentenced to Four Years

Special to The Telegram.
 SAVANNAH, Ga., April 13.—John Gaynor and Benjamin Greene were today sentenced to serve four years in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., and to pay a fine of $575,649.90, the total amount alleged to have been embezzled.
 At 11 o'clock the prisoners were brought into court. Judge Speer asked the counsel for the defense if they had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced. Colonel W. P. Meldrin answered in the negative, whereupon the court imposed the sentence. Each defendant had been found guilty upon all counts of the three indictments, charging conspiracy, embezzlement and presenting false claims. The sentence upon the three indictments was respectively two, four and four years, but the court ordered that they be run concurrently, so that sentence was really for four years. The imprisonment is to be in the Federal prison at Atlanta. The defense will file a bill of exceptions, and they asked for an order of the court extending thirty days the time permitted to counsel for preparing this bill, which will be very voluminous, and that the order act as a supersedeas.
 The defendants may escape the fire by making oath that they are not possessed of more than $20 each.

Conference Set to Hear Overseer's Ideas

By Associated Press.
 CHICAGO, Ill., April 13.—The Dowie elders passed through the corridors of the hotel here today in full regalia.
 Dowie arose before noon and said he never felt better, but his appearance indicates that he is not robust.
 Attorney Wetten had another conference with him and the proposal from the Voliva forces will be received at a conference set for this afternoon. Voliva suggests a board of ten deacons to be appointed, five by each faction, to conduct Zion affairs. Wetten said: "Dowie will agree to nothing which deprives him of his temporal or spiritual rights."

ELKS GETTING READY

Big Minstrel Show Parade Comes Off Monday

Everything is being rapidly put into shape for the big show. The chorus and balladists are singing with enthusiasm and with the swing of old-time professionals and the comedians are working hard to make their production as a production has been favorably commented on in comparison with the largest regular minstrel companies and the audience will not be sensible of the fact that they are witnessing an entertainment which is almost made up of amateurs.

JUDGE BOB MILAM, IN HIS FAMOUS ACT ENTITLED, "10 AND THIRTY DAYS."

The parade will be on the streets at noon on Monday and will be on a par with everything the Elks do. Remember this is the show you have been waiting for. The show at the Majestic this week is altogether different from that of the preceding week. Some persons will find the program of last week more to their liking; others will be much more pleased with the features now offered. Comedy drama, burlesque, a funny talking act and three instrumental musical numbers held the fort, only being relieved by a single spectacular or novelty act, as features like those of Amets and the hazardous jumps are designated in the theatrical business.

"Dockstader's Minstrels"
Lew Dockstader, described by the Morning Telegraph as the most conspicuous figure in modern minstrelsy, was asked by a critic of that paper how he accounted for his being able to always appear new and fresh, and he replied "I live among the people. That is the explanation." He makes his work a color and interest, and reproduces their quips and lollies in his stage stories and thus gives that work a freshness and interest that is entirely lacking in the labor of other comedians. He will be here with his minstrel show at Greenwall's opera house Thursday, matinee and night, April 19. Seats on sale Monday morning, 8 o'clock.

Several buildings for the home are now under consideration and a choice will be made within a short time. It was originally planned to open the home April 1, but it was found impossible to do so, a large amount of work being necessary in securing funds and supplies for the project.

A paper in the interest of the work of the army is now being issued from the headquarters in Houston street.

A telegram from El Paso was received in Fort Worth Thursday afternoon, stating that R. L. Boaz of this city had been found dead in his room at a hotel in that city at noon. The telegram did not state the cause of death, an inquest not having been conducted.

"Lon" Boaz, as the deceased was better known here, was a nephew of William J. Boaz of this city and was popular with all who knew him, being particularly noted for his generous manners made friends rapidly. For some time he was an employee of J. B. Burnside, but afterward entered the employ of the William Henry & R. E. Bell Hardware Company, in Lower Main street. Leaving this firm, he took service with a Kansas City wholesale hardware establishment and was on the road for it at the time of his death.

Mr. Boaz leaves a wife and one child, who are now in Kansas City, and the body, at the wife's request, will be taken to that place for interment under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias, of which order he was a member. Lon Boaz was about 38 years of age at the time of his death.

Auxiliary to Seventh Ward Association Organized

Organization of an auxiliary to the Seventh Ward Park association was effected at a meeting held Thursday afternoon at the school.

Mrs. James Swaine was elected permanent chairman and Miss Cassia Janney temporary secretary, after which the objects of the auxiliary were thoroughly discussed by Mrs. Swaine.

A committee composed of Miss Flora Weltman, Miss Maggie Barton and Mrs. Berry was appointed on by-laws and constitution.

The next meeting will be held Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Women of the Seventh ward are taking a great deal of interest in the work outlined by the park association.

Regular meeting of the Park association is scheduled for Friday night at the school house.

CATTLE MOVING TO PASTURAGE

Grassers Are in Good Condition After Light Winter
There has been a large movement of cattle from the part of Texas about Brady, the present southern terminus of the Rio Grande division of the Frisco and south and west of there, one of the most important points in Texas for the origination of "grassers."

The cattle shipped through Fort Worth from Brady are thin in flesh and yet strong, just in the condition to be ready to go to pastures in the two territories and in the Osage Nation. They will remain until they are fat, and in August the final shipment to market will begin and continue until all are marketed. That will run the sales up well into fall. Some cattle from north of the line are going to the northwest and from there they will, after gaining the required amount of flesh and fat, go to market. As a rule the cattle from above the line are a higher grade than the others, though practically none of the Texas cattle now are of the old long-horn type, for in no part of Texas have the cattle raised and overlooked the value of improved blood in raising the grade of the cattle they send to the markets or sell to the pasture lot men.

At the stock yards Thursday the never plan of spraying cattle for the fever tick was tried. It is not so severe on the cattle and if the government inspectors will pass them it will be a great thing for the cattlemen. The old method of dipping cattle to free them from ticks, forcing them to pass through tanks containing the dipping solution, and was followed by injurious results. The use of crude oil or other solution on animal weak and in some cases followed by death if the animal was not allowed to rest several days after the dipping.

BOAZ PLEADS FOR THE SIMPLE FAITH

Polytechnic President Speaks to Methodists at Dallas
CRITICIZES THE CRITICS
Warns Hearers to Beware of "Advanced Thinkers"—Outlines Connection of Church and Schools

A strong plea for 'The Simple Faith' was included in a notable address on 'The Future of Texas Methodist and Methodist Schools,' made by Rev. H. A. Boaz, president of Polytechnic College at Dallas Thursday at the Texas Methodist educational convention at Bush Temple.

'The Role of the Prophet'
'According to the statement of my theme, the program committee has assigned to me the role of a prophet. They ask that I forecast the future of Texas Methodist and our Methodist schools. I am not a prophet of this order nor the son of such a prophet.

'Baby Covered with Sores'
Would Scratch and Tear the Flesh Unless Hands Were Tied—Wasted to a Skeleton—Awful Suffering for Over a Year—Grew Worse Under Doctors—Skin Now Clear.

WOULD HAVE DIED BUT FOR CUTICURA.

'My little son, when about a year and a half old, began to have sores come out on his face. I had a physician called, and he said that he would cure him, but the sores grew worse. Then they began to come on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. Then I called another physician. Still he grew worse. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad I did not tie his hands in clothes at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh.

holds rich promise for the material interests of this great commonwealth. During these years of great material progress in our state, Texas Methodism has been making similar strides in spiritual affairs and is gratefully advancing the kingdom of God.

'The Future of Texas'
'With such stores of undeveloped resources what will be the future of this great state? Time alone can tell. When the Panama canal is finished and the central western states could their great wealth of resources, Texas to deep water ports, through our marble quarries, coal fields and various other mineral resources are opened to the world, when the best of soil is better understood and fruit farms, vegetable gardens and extensive farming become general, when the blast of the furnace is seen against the night and the hum of the machine is heard by day, when thriving cities, prosperous villages and happy homes are found throughout our entire borderland, when the head of the school is in every community, when strong Christian colleges are built, equipped and endowed for the education of our youth, Texas will then be coming into her rightful heritage. This day need not be far distant. If we follow wise and aggressive leaders and adopt far-seeing and comprehensive plans the rising generation should see great results. On the contrary, if present tendencies, forecast the distant future and lay plans to meet coming conditions. Ignorance looks only at today.

'Within the next thirty years, if we continue our present rate of growth, Texas will have a population of 10,000,000 people. It is of interest to note that the increase in the population of Texas and the increase in the membership of our church has maintained about the same ratio through the past few years. Should our church continue this same rate of increase for the next generation there will be in Texas more than one-half million Methodists. It is for us to provide this half million with churches and schools. We are building now for future generations. If we are wise we must lay foundations at strategic points, we must work toward evangelizing and educating this great state. Texas has a greater area than Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi combined. In this territory there are now 663,939 members in our church and eleven recognized colleges. They have three times our Methodist population. We in Texas Methodists do their duty and measure up to the opportunity there is no valid reason why we should not in the next thirty years have an equal number of communicants and at least two good colleges, well equipped and splendidly endowed. In the northern territory, comprising Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan, equaled in area by Texas, the Methodist Episcopal church has seven flourishing universities.

'In order for us to continue our normal growth and to help to evangelize this state we must preserve the pure doctrines and simple faith of our fathers. With all my heart I believe that the people called Methodists hold the simplest faith of purest form of Christian doctrine known to the world. This must be preserved and handed down to our children. I desire to know the truth, the whole truth, the pure, simple truth and to follow wherever it may lead. But I do sincerely hope that Texas Methodism will never become even tainted with the form of destructive criticism that deforms faith in the Bible as the Word of God, that eliminates the miraculous element in our holy religion and robs the church of its spiritual life and vitality. I desire to know the truth, the whole truth, the pure, simple truth and to follow wherever it may lead. But I do sincerely hope that Texas Methodism will never become even tainted with the form of destructive criticism that deforms faith in the Bible as the Word of God, that eliminates the miraculous element in our holy religion and robs the church of its spiritual life and vitality.

'Using Dr. Graves' Tooth Powder'
twice daily will remove tartar, whiten and brighten the teeth, harden the gums and make brown teeth white. Most people use it twice-a-day. Ask a dentist why.

'The future of Texas Methodism is closely identified with the present and future of our Texas schools. The attitude of a church towards the cause of education largely determines the future of that church. The denomination of Christians that has no school will soon have no communicants. The

WHY

Fort Worth People Should Take Vinol

Our well known druggist, Mr. R. A. Anderson, says: "We do not believe there is a man, woman or child in Fort Worth whom our famous cod liver oil preparation, Vinol, will not benefit at this season of the year."

We believe there is no need for so many people to drag around rindown, tired out and debilitated, or for old people to remain weak and infirm when we guarantee Vinol will restore health and strength."

Continued Mr. Anderson: "For centuries cod liver oil has been recognized as the best of all body-building agents for wasted human strength and vitality, but on account of the heavy, nauseating and system-clogging oil which enveloped its curative properties few could take it with any benefit."

"In Vinol you get in a concentrated form every one of the curative and strength-creating elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, and without a drop of oil to irritate the stomach and retard its work."

"Vinol is not a patent medicine, and you know what you are taking, as everything it contains is named on the back label of every bottle."

"Vinol is guaranteed by over two thousand of the leading druggists of the United States to create strength in the old people, for the rundown, tired, and debilitated, weak, sickly women and children, and after a severe sickness."

"We ask every persons in Fort Worth who have hacking coughs, chronic colds, throat and bronchial troubles, to try Vinol on their general health. It costs nothing if it fails." R. A. Anderson, Druggist.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

J. R. Kuykendall, chief clerk of the steam engineers' department, Philippine Islands, at Cavite, is in Fort Worth on a vacation. This is the first visit Kuykendall has made to the state since he went to the archipelago eight years ago.

The whole country appears to be on a boom," he said, "and I have yet to meet the first business man who complains of business conditions."

"Conditions in the Philippines are good and under American rule are fast growing better. The completion of the natives as a whole is being bettered and they are fast becoming reconciled to the new administration of their affairs. In some remote sections it is true there are sporadic outbreaks, but these are confined to savage bands and are to be compared to the Indian raids in Texas thirty years ago. These outbreaks do not indicate that the Philippines as a people are restless under American rule. It simply evidences the fact that these savage outlaws on the islands who would not keep peace under any government, whether of their own or given them by some one else in their interest."

PANHANDLE PLAINS THE POOR PEOPLES' PARADISE

BY CLIFTON H. TUPPER.

Northwest Texas offers unexcelled opportunities for industry, investments, happiness, health and wealth, and Amarillo is the natural trade center of that vast section of almost unlimited agricultural possibilities.

Special to The Telegram.

AMARILLO, Texas, April 13.—No city of 7,500 people is leaping forward with greater strides than Amarillo, the Queen City of the Panhandle plains of Texas. That seems a rather bold statement, but its absolute verity is substantiated by actual facts. The permanent prosperity of any land depends, of course, in the first place, upon the natural resources with which generous Dame Nature has endowed that land; and, in the second place, upon the readiness of its people to properly develop those resources. The Panhandle has been blessed in both respects.

Indeed, the Queen City of Northeast Texas is the geographical trade center of a splendid territory of vast natural wealth. The Panhandle appropriately derives its name from its very peculiar shape, comprising, as it does, a tier of counties stretching about one hundred and fifty miles to the north and one hundred and seventy-five miles west of the main body of the Lone Star state and embracing 25,000 square miles of rolling prairie lands, nearly all of which is excellently well adapted to the successful pursuit of agriculture.

Amarillo is the county seat of Potter county, situated in the northwestern extremity of Texas, and has no rival cities nearer than Fort Worth, 334 miles to the southwest; El Paso, 500 miles to the southwest; Oklahoma City, 273 miles to the east, and Denver City, 469 miles to the northwest. It is the very hub of all Northwest-Texas, being the terminus of Kansas Southern, Pecos Valley and North-eastern and the Rock Island railroads, and also being one of the chief division points on the Fort Worth and Denver City road. By means of the latter cut-off, Amarillo will enjoy the advantages of being on the main line of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe system, running from Chicago to California. A dispatch yesterday is to the effect that work on the Erie-Sunnyvale gap on the Eastern railway of New Mexico is progressing rapidly, and that by July trains will be in operation from Kansas City to the Pacific via Belen. Passenger trains arrive daily at Amarillo. Several narrow roads are in the course of construction that will complete the network of roads already entering Amarillo. Now, the importance of the Queen City as a railroad center cannot be realized until one has considered its unrivaled geographical position. If, for instance, there were even possibilities of other competitive cities springing up, then the unsurpassed railroad facilities now enjoyed by Amarillo would not necessarily mean the certain rapid and permanent growth of the metropolis of the newest southwest.

It Is Wealth-Producing

The economist stands aloof and views the progress of an exchange center, such as Amarillo is, from strictly a permanent standpoint, realizing that any exchange center must necessarily depend for its continued growth and support upon the actual production of wealth in that city or in the trade territory tributary to it. Aside, then, from the already proved agricultural resources of the Panhandle, its metropolis has achieved commercial importance and accumulated wealth, exclusive of the benefits derived from its magnificent contiguous territory. Here are the cold facts cited in substantiation of the broad statement.

Amarillo has three national banks, the First National, the National Bank of Commerce and the Amarillo National, with a combined capital stock and surplus exceeding $500,000, and deposits aggregating $1,000,000. Amarillo has seven churches, artificial ice plant, planing mill, ten wholesale houses, electric light plant, thoroughly equipped fire department, unexcelled schools, the machine shops of the Pecos Valley and Northeastern railway, 470-600 court houses, water system, with reservoir capacity of 1,500,000 gallons; rock sawing plant, local telephone system, United States weather bureau and building, board of trade, with a membership of more than a hundred; two sanitariums, two long-distance telephone systems, stone and brick plant, sewer system, $45,000 in bonds having been subscribed; broom factory, flour mill, foundry and machine works and numerous plants in various lines that will be in operation ere the end of the year. The J. I. Case Company is erecting a large building here and will make this a distributing point. The wholesale houses do an annual business of more than $2,900,000, and as a few short years ago the trade record is not transcended by any city of the same size in the United States. This is because Amarillo is not only a trading point for the entire Panhandle, but also has additional territory from which to attract trade of almost 20,000 square miles.

Can Manufacture Home Products

In its immediate domain can be produced at a small cost a variety of raw products that would supply a multiplicity of manufactures. The fear of any overshadowing competition is at once dispelled by the strategic position of the Queen City as a railroad center. The owners of the vast tracts marked parts of their land holdings and the wasteless and unbounded prairies were soon converted into farms, which became the homes of scientific breeders. The longhorn has made its disappearance forevermore, and in its place has come the high-grade and registered whiteface or Hereford, which receives care and attention and which matures early and commands a good price. In another column of this issue is the account of this change for the better as told by Judge Nelson, a pioneer cattleman.

Important Cattle Center

Amarillo in its earliest days became a cattle center, being located in the very center of the plateau lands, where the long-horn wandered at will, wheat, on account of its exceedingly hardy constitution, there was no necessity of the care of the rich cattle lords. Gradually the owners of the vast tracts marketed parts of their land holdings and the wasteless and unbounded prairies were soon converted into farms, which became the homes of scientific breeders. The longhorn has made its disappearance forevermore, and in its place has come the high-grade and registered whiteface or Hereford, which receives care and attention and which matures early and commands a good price. In another column of this issue is the account of this change for the better as told by Judge Nelson, a pioneer cattleman.

Agriculture the Pursuit

The cheapness of lands, the fertility of the soil, the never-failing water supply—and the Panhandle is watered by the Canadian, Red, Tule, Big Blue, Double Mountain rivers and their many tributaries—offer wonderful inducements to all those seeking a home, health and wealth and happiness. Land values range from $3 to $15 an acre, and many farmers have paid for one section and two and three sections with the profits earned in one year or two years after settling in the Panhandle. A wide variety of crops flourish in the high, healthy plains. Corn, oats, milo, kaffir corn, barley, wheat, rye, alfalfa, cotton, vegetables and many fruits thrive excellently. Thus the almost unlimited resources of the soil is sufficient to provide for the ever-increasing tide of immigration.

A Colorado Climate

It is thought in at least some of the older states that the Panhandle of Texas is an arid waste where Ceres, the goddess of agriculture, stungly lets loose only a scant amount of rain every now and then. To the contrary, the annual rainfall in the Panhandle, as shown by the United States weather bureau at Amarillo, exceeds twenty inches, which is more than sufficient to insure crops every season. There has never been a failure since the virgin soil was broken by the plow. Within the past three weeks there have fallen three good, general, healthy, wholesome rains.

In a latitude of 35 degrees, the same as that of Memphis, and having the same altitude as Eastern Colorado and the best portions of Kansas, the Panhandle enjoys a climate second to none. The elevation is 3,500 feet above the thin, dry, invigorating air makes life a continual joy.

The mean temperatures are as follows: Summer, 74 degrees; fall, 57; winter, 36, and spring, 56 degrees. It is absolutely free from malaria. The heat is seldom oppressive, even during mid-summer, and the cold is never disagreeable, and all of the Panhandle of Texas offers a superb home for all those who suffer from weak lungs and kindred ailments. The plateau lands surrounding Amarillo are really but the southern extension of the great Rocky Mountain system, except that the prairie lands of Northwest Texas happen to be fertile flats, the garden spot of all fertile Texas. This city has two modern and enterprising sanitariums, the management of which have taken advantage of the healthiest climate in the south.

Population Rapidly Increasing

The population of the metropolis and also of the entire Panhandle with the possible exception of a few break-along the water courses, is increasing at a faster rate than that of Kansas

City increased when that city had a population of 7,500. The present influx of desirable immigration justifies the assertion that Amarillo will soon have more than ten thousand people as permanent residents. The handsome homes of the business men and stockmen and ranchmen that adorn Amarillo's pretty residence districts would do justice to a city of ten times its population. Magnificent homes are being built throughout the Panhandle and thrifty villages are springing up everywhere, as evidence of the prosperity enjoyed by all alike.

Men worth only a few hundred dollars a few years since have made handsome harvests of their toll in the Panhandle, and no better opportunities can be found anywhere in the world.

Class of Population
The population of Amarillo is of course quite cosmopolitan. Ambitious immigrants have come from all parts of the north and the south, blending their cordiality and energy. There are less than a half dozen negroes in the city.

The hand of welcome greets the stranger on every side, and a veritable new world of opportunities for progress is before him. An atmosphere of kindness and industry that make life all that it should be.

Poor People's Paradise
When we speak of the Panhandle plains as the poor people's paradise we, of course, do not mean, as the very title implies, the dreamer's village of fancy, whither, as the proverbial philosopher, Martin Farquhar Tupper tells us that the pleasant fields of folly follow forevermore. Nor are the billowy landscapes festooned with perennial bloom, and curtained with sweet-scented groves, where the orange and pomegranate hang like golden globes and ruddy moons. Indeed, our friend, Whitcomb Riley would better describe it as a land where "the birds are ever singing and the flowers are ever fine."

The Panhandle is land of practical opportunities, a real, genuine paradise for the man with the hoe, and the undeveloped natural resources, but the hand of man to properly develop with those which kind nature has endowed the Panhandle plains of the greatest state of all.

FOR NERVOUS PEOPLE

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS THE BEST NERVE TONIC.

A Michigan Mother Preserved to Her Family by This Wonderful Remedy.

When the blood is impoverished the nerves starve and neuralgia or something more serious swiftly follows. Nervous people are generally pale people. By supplying through the blood those vital elements that the nerves need, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have performed those remarkable cures that make it impossible for any nervous sufferer to neglect them with justice to himself.

A recent case is that of Mrs. Peter Morrisette, of No. 815 Eleventh street, Alpena, Mich., who writes as follows: "My trouble started with childbirth. After one of my children was born I had a kind of paralysis. I was very weak and my mouth was a little crooked. I was always tired and was so nervous that I could not bear to hear a dog bark or a bell ring—even the little bird in its cage would annoy me. My heart fluttered a great deal and I had dizzy spells. I was not able to be left alone. "My doctor gave me different kinds of medicine, changing it several times. When it was evident that he could not help me he said he did not understand my case. This was three years ago and I was very much discouraged, when my brother, who had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, recommended them to me. I tried them and noticed a change for the better when I was taking the second box. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me and I have been well ever since. I now do all my own housework, sewing and washing for seven of us. I have recommended the pills to my neighbors and people I am very glad to make this statement." The fact that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured this stubborn case, as well as others more severe, leaves no doubt that they will cure lesser troubles arising from disordered nerves and lack of nerve force. They have also cured diseases caused by impure or impoverished blood such as rheumatism, anemia and after-effects of the grip.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or the remedy will be mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

CLAPP CLASHES WITH TILLMAN

Five Tribes Bill Causes Cautious Comment

Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.—The senate took up the report of the conference committee on the bill for the settlement of the affairs of the Five Tribes Wednesday and Senator Tillman opposed the adoption because of the retention of the senate amendment ratifying the disbursement of $126,000 made by A. J. Brown and Jas. E. Jenkins to the loyal Seminole Indians, under an act of congress of May 31, 1900. Mr. Teller defended the action of the conferees in the course of a sharp colloquy with Mr. Tillman expressed apprehension that before the matter was disposed of the South Carolina senator would accuse him of stealing something.

Senator Tillman was unusually severe and indignant in his criticisms and he aroused not only Senator Clapp, but Senator Teller. At times Senator Tillman and Clapp stood on opposite sides of the aisle and shook their fingers at each other in a way that raised the expectations of the galleries to the highest degree.

For more than three hours this amendment was discussed, at times in a most acrimonious way, and then the debate was deflected to the subject of the Seminole money. Money of Mississippi expressed his disapproval with the agreement on this subject. He said that the Indians, having been made citizens, could claim the right to dispose of their property as they saw fit. He predicted, too, that should white men, knowing that congress had no right to impose restrictions on the property, would negotiate with the Indians for it and rely on the courts to confirm their title. The only effect of such legislation, Senator Money declared, would be to cloud the title and, from this the Indians and not the white purchasers, would suffer.

Senator McCumber challenged the assertion that congress had no power to impose such restrictions on the lands of the Indians. He read some decisions which he said left no doubt on that point. He declared, however, that even if it were questionable, congress ought, nevertheless, be satisfied with nothing less than its utmost effort to save the homes of the Indians from white swindlers.

When Senator Clapp moved the adoption of the conference report, Senator Tillman called for the yeas and nays, but there was no second. Then Senator Tillman raised the question of a quorum.

The bells were rung and the roll was called. It disclosed the presence of forty-six senators—a bare quorum. Then Senator Fye suggested that after deducting the pairs it was manifest there would not be a voting quorum, and therefore, he moved an adjournment, and this motion prevailed.

The vice president yesterday designated Messrs. Lodge, Kean, Burkett, Sutherland, Foster and Latimer to represent the senate on the occasion of the celebration of the two hundredth birthday of Benjamin Franklin at Philadelphia.

HARBINGER OF GOOD TIMES

There is no question but out in the range country there is a decided tendency in the direction of higher prices for all classes of stock this spring.

When the cattlemen of this country, and of this state, are in clover there are good times for the whole state. It was thus in the days when the cattlemen was king in the Lone Star state, and it has not ceased so to be.

It is a singular fact and often commented on that when the cattlemen of Texas are prosperous, practically every other interest in the state is in the same condition.

But, unfortunately, this rule does not work in both directions. For the past three years practically all other interests in Texas have been fairly prosperous while the cattlemen have been weeding one of the hardest rows in all his experience.

Out in West Texas the condition of almost any town can be gauged by the status of the live stock industry. As that industry flourishes and prospers, so do the towns which have so long been very largely dependent upon that industry.

But the bullish tendency that is now apparent among Texas cattlemen is accepted as the harbinger of good times throughout the state.

making themselves felt even in the affairs of this nation.

It is gratifying to note the confidence that is now existing among these people. They are not only standing up for their rights as a general proposition, but they are serving notice on the world that the era of cheap beef making is gone never to return.

It is high time the cowman was again permitted to enjoy what is properly and legitimately his own.

PROPER HANDLING OF YOUR BOY

The Telegram has from time to time printed a number of suggestions to parents in the matter of the proper handling of their boys, and many of the lay sermons it has attempted to preach have been fashioned out of the same kind of material.

We do not know who wrote the above editorial, but we do know where it came from, hence give the proper credit as far as we know.

Indeed, we are so enthusiastic on the question that we have given it first place in our paper and we are going to find the man who wrote it when we go to the Texas Press association.

The boys of today are the men of tomorrow. That is a fact that every parent in all this broad land should continually bear in mind.

There is said to be a streak of the yellow dog in every boy that is born into the world, but while conceding that point, we must also bear in mind that in every boyish heart there is also instilled more or less of the true principles of manhood.

Another important fact that should be borne in mind by the men of today in the formation of character for the men of tomorrow is the marked difference existing between manliness and manliness.

And the real men of tomorrow are not growing up in the public street and permitted to rule their homes, like despots from unhappy Russia.

They are inmates of happy homes, submitting to home government and discipline, honoring their parents and finding satisfaction in doing the things they are told to do.

The average parent does not appreciate the responsibilities accruing from the proper training and handling of the boys of the family.

Fort Worth was not content with raising the $12,000 required to put the fourth story on the new Y. M. C. A. building within the allotted time, but went ahead and raised enough more to put the fifth story on the structure.

There are whispers that the Rock Island railway is about to begin the great work of extending from this city to the gulf, where it already has valuable terminal facilities, and when the Rock Island does start to building it always throws dirt faster than a West Texas badger bent upon exorcising himself in a prairie dog hole.

Colquitt campaign clubs are being formed in Houston on the ground that this particular candidate is a friend to that city. In other words, as railroad commissioner, the acts of this gentleman have been sufficient to insure him Houston support.

There is a little matter of difference between President Owens of the Texas Lumber Dealers' association, and Candidate Monta J. Moore, as to the existence of a lumber trust in Texas.

John Alexander Dowie was in a perfect frenzy of rage against his suppliants while in Texas, but his ardor cooled down as he journeyed toward Zion City, and upon his arrival there he presented very much the appearance of a henpecked husband bowing in humility to the powers that be.

Colonel Tom Campbell is to formally open his gubernatorial campaign with a public address at Athens on April 21. And in the meantime, the Bell boom continues to grow.

Times must be dreadfully slow in Houston when the enterprising highwaymen of that city are compelled to resort to holding up lady visitors at the point of a pistol.

About the only substantial development in connection with the great coal strike is the alacrity with which dealers have taken advantage of the opportunity to advance prices.

The roller skating craze now raging throughout the country will receive attention just as soon as the weather permits the opening of the spring revival season.

FALL OF ELIJAH III.

Caesar had his Brutus, Charles his Cromwell and "Elijah III." his Voliva.—New York Tribune.

THE TEXAS PRESS

Commenting on some statements made by the Athens Review, The Fort Worth Telegram says that the last state legislature, that is the last session of the legislature now going through the mileage and per diem collection, holds the record for carelessness and inefficiency.

The Telegram still sticks to the original assertion and defies all attempts at refutation. For all around inefficiency, incompetence and general failure to measure up to the requirements of the situation, the Twenty-ninth legislature of the state of Texas is entitled to all the honors.

Politicians may try to sidetrack and discredit W. J. Bryan, as the hope of the Democracy in 1908. But they can't do it. Bryan's place in the heart of the Democratic masses is too secure.

Those Fort Worth lawyers who threaten to test the validity of the Terrell election law ought to be pleaded with. Don't they know that everybody knows that there are fifty places in that law that can knock the whole thing into a cocked hat, and why on earth do they want to be so mean as to burst up the Democratic party's organization charter?

The nomination of Governor Jeff Davis of Arkansas for United States senator is now being pointed to as a strong argument against the election of United States senator by direct vote of the people.

Fort Worth was selected by the Cattle Raisers' convention as the place of meeting in 1907. No more appreciative place could have been selected, because that city is in the midst of the great cattle interests of the state.

Washington, April 13.—At the close of a long day spent on District of Columbia matters the house took up a bill to which there were many amendments. Some of them aroused opposition, and at last Mr. Fitzgerald raised the point of no quorum just as the speaker was about to call for a vote.

The bill was up extending to the capitol the provisions of the law prohibiting child labor in the district, and Mr. Madden of Chicago was advocating it.

LITTLE STORIES WELL TOLD.

GOOD FOR NOTHING

They were talking about a friend of hers who had married a bishop stationed in Kamshatchka, or some other heathen land.

"I never could understand why she married him," said the young woman. "She seemed the last girl on earth to marry a bishop. She cared so much more for the theaters and concerts than she did for church work and sewing circles."

"Girls are pretty wise nowadays," said the young man, "and they generally have a good reason for marrying the way they do. A girl friend of mine married a doctor so that she could always be well for nothing, and maybe this girl married a bishop so that she could be good for nothing."

A GENERAL IN PERIL

An amusing story is told of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, when she was a small child. Her majesty was not allowed to eat dinner with the elder members of the royal household, but was permitted to make her appearance at dessert and place herself beside some particular favorite. One day she was seated by a courtly old general, and after eating some fruit the little girl turned and gazed up at him. Presently she exclaimed:

"I wonder you're not afraid to sit next to me." Everybody in the room turned at the sound of the childish treble.

"On the contrary, I am but too pleased and honored to sit next to my future queen," replied the old general. "But why should I be afraid?" Assuming a woebegone expression, the little queen replied: "Because all my dolls have the measles—they're all down with it."

IN ALABAMA

A story is told of an old negro in Alabama who was the owner of a very small, ancient and moth-eaten mule, but of which his owner was inordinately proud. One day Uncle Mose was observed leading this animal along the road with two large sacks of corn upon its back.

"Say, Uncle Mose, that is too heavy a load for that little runt," some one remarked. Uncle Mose bristled with indignation.

"Harcome yo' call dis hayh mule er runt?" he demanded. "Yo' don't know how much dis mule kin tote! Why, dis mule could tote dis whole world!" "Oh, say, Uncle Mose, I thought you were a church member! The whole world?"

"Yassar! De whole world!" "Well, you will have to prove that to us." Uncle Mose promptly removed the corn from the mule's back, grabbed him by two legs, and threw him on his back between two posts. He then tied a rope from one post to the other, the rope crossing the animal's body. The mule brayed and waved his feet in the air.

"Dar, now!" Uncle Mose exclaimed. "Dar now! Yo' dis gib him sumfin ter walk in, an' he'll des tote dis world right off!"

ONLY JUSTICE

Lancia, the noted chauffeur, tells the following to illustrate the use of railroad excess checks:

In the south, on a small railroad they did not use excess checks. A man riding on this road, without a ticket, paid the conductor his fare—a matter of $3. The conductor took the money, counted it, and then carefully put part of it in his coat pocket and the rest in his trousers pocket. "Why," said the passenger, "do you divide the money that way?" The conductor, with a frown, replied: "The company's got to get something, ain't it?"

VERTICAL RING

A PRAYER

Give me the grace each day to see The duty that is nearest me. The will to heed that duty, though It lead me where I would not go; The strength that copes with little things, And from their smallness greatness brings; The might to meet the cares of day And send them blest upon their way.

Give me the heart to feel and know Another's grief, another's woe; The hand outstretched in helpfulness, The soul that lives to others' bliss; More care for brothers, less for self; More love for all, less greed for self; Less of the thought which makes its plea: "Why need these others? All for me!"

Fain would I know how small am I, And not "Self! Self!" forever cry; Fain would I feel, as God is good, One Fatherhood, one brotherhood; And when I reach the wall of mist And heed the call that none resist, Fain would I then my spirit tell: "I cared for others—all is well!"

My words drop down as fabled things, Like birds of air with broken wings, Yet, struck though the songster lie, His dying instant bids him fly; Thus may my broken words avail To tell the One who hears their tale That, though a falterer am I, I still would mount, I still would fly.

JEROME AND THE JUDGES

The insurance grafters and all connected with them are probably rejoicing at the row that has broken out between Mr. Jerome and several of the New York judges over the court procedure in the insurance cases. It makes for their benefit. It is certain still further to confuse public sentiment on the whole subject, and answer in some measure as a shield for those under charges. Conviction, although guilt is so clear, would have been difficult under any circumstances. Now it is extremely problematical. Not only are the accused men of social, political and financial influence, but the community itself, from which the juries are to be drawn, has witnessed so much grafting, and pardoned so much in politicians, that these developments in the business world are not the shockers they would otherwise have been. And when we consider that the legal talent that will appear for the defense is of the first order, regret is increased that the state's attorney should not be at his best at this time.—Washington Star.

Sale of Ranch Land Is Said to Be Direct Cause

CATTLEMEN COME HERE

Selling Grazing Lands to Farmers They Invest in Fort Worth Business and Residence Property

All who are interested in the welfare of Fort Worth, and that means as a matter of course all of her 50,000 citizens, have noted the almost phenomenal activity in the real estate sales of late, and the explanation has been sought far and wide. Some of those who were here and were caught in the "boom" of the early '90s look with some apprehension on the activity as a "boom," for the boom generally bursts. When it does the collapse is complete and many are hurt financially. So is the city. This is shown not to be the case at present.

Inquiry among the real estate agents, and especially the rental agents, discloses the fact that there are but few if any dwelling houses vacant, and the newly-built houses are often rented in advance of their completion. There is in Main or Houston streets but one vacant house, and the explanation is to be found in the fact that the city is so desirably as to location or conveniences for doing business.

A prominent real estate agent of this city made an explanation Friday morning which will shed some light on the causes for the great demand for Fort Worth real estate, and it is additionally satisfactory for the reason that it gives a lucid explanation for investments which are being made in this city, especially by cattlemen.

The possibilities of the west part of Texas from the agricultural point of view have but lately come to be appreciated and the consequence is the man with the hoe is crowding out the cowboy. For many years the western Texas and that fact established has led to a demand for the lands that has swollen the price from the nominal 20 cents or 35 cents per acre to $10 or $15, or even $20 per acre, and the cattlemen have been almost forced to sell, for they hold they cannot raise cattle at a profit on lands worth from $10 to $20 an acre. As the price of the land value the taxes are increased, and while they may still hold lands that only cost them from 50 cents to $1 or $2 an acre, they are paying taxes on land which is valued by the tax collector from $10 to $20 or more an acre. Then it is very tempting to be offered the larger sum for land which cost so little.

Farms Replace Ranches

Hence many sales of West Texas ranch property are being made and the big pastures and ranches cut up for farms. The nearly assured fact that the benefits of the United States government irrigation schemes will be extended to Texas has also an influence. Then there are private irrigation companies which are operating successfully in the western or Panhandle parts of the state or are building dams to impound the water on ever-living creeks or streams and canals to conduct that water to the lands lying under them. All of these things help the farmer who turns to the western part of Texas for cheap lands which are good.

The cowboy as a rule knows nothing but the cattle business. He values the land from the standpoint of pasture for his cattle. Take the cattle from him and he is almost helpless from the business side of the question. He is not a professional man as a rule; he is not a merchant; he is not a farmer. Some, it is true, have made successful investments in other lines of business, but the good that the cattleman is a cowboy and nothing else.

The result is that when he finds it expedient to good business to sell his grazing lands naturally he wants to invest the money so accruing in realty again. Just as naturally his thoughts turn to Fort Worth, and finding that he can buy here in such a way that he is sure of 4 per cent or more on the money received for the lands he has sold in the west or in the Panhandle, he invests in realty. Fort Worth property, improved or unimproved, as the case may be, and he becomes a citizen of the city where he feels most at home.

Texas Land Advertised

The development of the state, and especially the western part of it, is helped by advertisements which are being printed in many papers published in the states north of Texas. A typical advertisement appeared in the latest issue of the Glasgow (Ky.) Weekly, which contained on the first page a big double-column ad, which calls attention to the advantages of the Texas Panhandle as a field for investment, and especially its merits as it affects the homeseeker who wants low-priced lands. The lands are described as rich, fertile, new, never before, and Water is said to be abundant and the climate leaves nothing to be desired. The prices named are from $2 to $10 per acre and the advertiser promises "The Telegram's informant said he simply selected that as a type and that similar advertisements were printed in many papers and the result was a large movement of homeseekers this way and a tremendous inquiry as to the possibilities of Texas for the small farmer."

The Glasgow advertisement supplemented the alluring description of the land and climate with a promise of a free ride to Texas, based, it is presumed, on purchases reaching a specified amount.

In this way, it is declared, the cattleman is being crowded out. He knows land as he knows cattle. He is not, as a rule, otherwise a business man, and so comes to Fort Worth for a legitimate investment in what he understands and which he or his friends have found heretofore pays a fair rate of interest on the investment, and Fort Worth gladly welcomes him.

Crop Outlook Record One for Fifteen Years

D. B. Keeler, vice president and general manager of the Denver, has returned from a trip up the Denver road, delighted with the conditions as to crops he found prevailing there. And it was not a selfish pleasure, though, of course, the general good conditions as to crops means a large business for the Denver road. For fifteen years Mr. Keeler has been intimately associated in business with the people of the Panhandle, as the country along the Denver is called, and they have come to be to him like neighbors. They have the most abundant reason for rejoicing now, and he rejoices with them. Mr. Keeler said that in the fifteen years that he has had an intimate association with the Denver road territory and its people he has never known the conditions to be as favorable as they are at this time. This applies to the present growing crops and the prospect for the crops that come on later is also good, for the reason the ground is more saturated with moisture than for many years past and experience has demonstrated that when the early spring season begins with the ground well moistened the future of the crops is almost assured.

H. L. Cromer Secures Valuable Stock

H. L. Cromer of this city has returned from a trip through Missouri, Illinois and Indiana, bringing with him two fine colts and a mare that will add greatly to the quality of animals now here.

The animals secured are now in this city. They include Tomaso 41655, a chestnut colt secured from Walter Palmer of Ottawa, Ill., a fine yearling also secured from Mr. Palmer and a standard bred mare bought at the John S. Lackey sale.

Tomaso 41655 is by Colbert, p. 2:07 1/2, dam Tomassie by Tennessee Wilkes; second dam, Villette, by Brown Hal, 2:12; third dam Sweepstakes, dam of Star Pointer, 1:59 1/4, Hal Pointer, 2:04 1/4, and Elastic Pointer, 2:06 1/4.

In speaking of Tomaso, the Horse Review for April 3, says: "This is said to be the grandest looking yearling that ever left Sunnyside Farm." Tomaso is also a half brother of Nervolo, 2:04 1/4, who holds the world's record for a mile and a quarter race, and the half-mile race for stallions. A half brother of Colbert, Oxnard Silver, is the highest priced horse ever exported from this country, going to Italy.

The standard bred mare is by Harrold and is a half sister of Maud S., who held the championship from 1885 to 1891, having a high wheel record of 2:08 3/4. She was secured at Cambridge City, Ind., at the John S. Lackey sale. The mare is now in foal to Imperial Jay, son of Jaybird.

Mr. Cromer also bought a fine yearling from Mr. Palmer. This animal is the Admiral, p. 2:07 1/4, dam by Harry F.

Mr. Cromer, while on the trip, visited several of the principal breeding farms, going to the old home of Dan Patch at Oxford, Ind., where he saw the dam and full brother of Dan Patch, Dan's Brother, and a full sister.

On the Maywood farm at Indianapolis he saw Sidna Dillon, the sire of Lou Dillon, the first two-minute trotter, and at Terre Haute he saw Margrave by Baron Wilkes. He reports that the czar of Russia now has a number of mares being bred to Sidney Dillon.

Mr. Cromer will keep Tomaso and will use the mare as a brood mare. The other colt, he says, was secured in company for Tomaso. Mr. Cromer is an enthusiastic regarding the outlook for fine horses in this country and declares that with the progress being made, it will be but a short time until Texas is the leading horse state in the country.

The climate here he considers an especial advantage, referring to the fact that the breeders of the northern states make no claim in that respect. A large number of fine horses are now being secured in Texas, especially at Itasca and Waxahatchie, and Mr. Cromer looks for a great interest in this respect in a short time.

Tomaso 41655 and perhaps the other animals will be exhibited at the fall horse show in this city.

WHITEWASHED DIAMONDS THE EXPERIENCES OF JOHN WALLACE, DETECTIVE, Under JACMUTH ADAMS, CHIEF

(Copyright, 1905, by Orlando Kilgus)

Synopsis. Jacmuth Adams, detective, in Denver, detects a secret sign used only by high-class criminals, made by a well dressed woman to a man, following her hurried exit from the Coliseum, where, during the dog show, a large Newfoundland canine expressed unbounded rage at the sight of her person. He goes to St. Louis to report the matter and his chief arrives at the conclusion that the antipathy of the dog may be traced to the fact that the woman is a criminal, believing that dogs possess an instinctive hatred for persons intending to commit crime. Records are searched, a possible connection is developed between the woman and the disappearance of a fine dog in an eastern city. From what is found the chief decides that there is a connection between the disappearance of the dog and the antipathy of the Denver dog show canine and Wallace is detailed to have charge of the case, with assistants, among whom is a female detective who is introduced through the Denver press as an author. His attention is directed to Jackson's jewelry store, where many diamonds are being reset after a fashion introduced by Mrs. Wheaton, whom the detective suspects of being one of a gang of high class expert robbers.

On several occasions I had noticed Mrs. Wheaton in the store, and could only conclude that she was one of his best customers. One afternoon, during one of her visits, Gilmore came in. They met as casual acquaintances and after a commonplace conversation, separated. Mrs. Wheaton then engaged Jackson's attention, but I was the far away to understand the drift of their talk. In a few minutes, however, I was greatly startled by seeing Jackson, by use of one of the secret signs, telegraph Gilmore, who stood at the other end of the store, a message of some sort. He answered the signal, and it was evident that Mrs. Wheaton understood both the question and its answer. I had hoped, from the first that it might be my good fortune to see Mrs. Wheaton and Gilmore make use of the "code" in this way, but to learn that Jackson understood this secret mode of communication used bound for Galveston, this time," and then added: "Say, I believe that's the lightest watch I ever saw." His companion balanced it in his hand and agreed with him. They went on with their work, and I returned to my office, where I remained until past midnight trying to solve the problems that the mysterious actions of Jackson and the others had created.

The next morning I determined to devote more time than ever to the Jackson store, and after breakfast, called there on my way down town. The hour was early, but they seemed exceedingly busy, and I found Jackson engaged in the examination of various parcels and packages. Some were prepared to go by mail, but the majority were packed for transmission by express. Nearly all of the latter were addressed to towns located in southern Texas, and valued from three to twenty dollars each. I decided it the wisest plan to appear to take no notice of what was going on, although the magnitude of their business in Texas impressed me.

As I looked about the store I could see that many changes in the arrangement of their goods had taken place within the past few days. Less cases were in use, and the quantity of fine and expensive goods had materially diminished, although to one not accustomed to the habits of keeping such details, the general effect was about the same, and to all appearance everything was going on as usual. Jackson himself, seemed interested in my visit, and neither by word or action indicated that he had any other business in life to please his customers. He informed me that in short time he intended going to New York to replenish his stock, talking very freely of the length of time he would be away, and of other details of the trip. When customers came in he assisted in attending to their wants in every particular, and I was beginning to think that it would require shrewdness of the keenest order to fathom the mystery which surrounded him.

CHAPTER V.
Whitewashed Diamonds

It was now past noon, and the newsboys were importuning me to buy copies of the first edition of the evening edition. At last the cry "The Savings Bank sold," caught my attention, and I purchased a paper to learn the particulars of the transaction. The article stated that nearly all of the capital stock of the City Savings Bank had just been sold to a party by the name of Gilmore, and his customers. He said Gilmore was none other than the friend of Mrs. Wheaton to whom we had been devoting so much of our time and attention. He said that "was a state of things." For it seemed absurdly ridiculous that an adventurer would care to encumber himself with such a thing as a bank stock, especially if he had to obtain it by purchase at its probable value. What to think of the affair I could not tell, and I acknowledged to myself that I needed the assistance of some one of experience to help me out of the dilemma.

Entering my office the first object that caught my eye was the familiar color of the envelopes of the Postal Telegraph and hastily opening the message I was overjoyed to learn that Jacmuth Adams, my chief, would reach the city the next week. The relief and satisfaction I felt was almost beyond expression. For I knew that I could rely upon his ability and shrewdness to unravel the tangled web which just then seemed almost too bewildering for my brain to follow. That an ingenious scheme for robbing the unsuspecting people of Denver was being planned, I felt was certain, for, although neither Mrs. Wheaton, Jackson or Gilmore publicly appeared to be particularly intimate with each other, the possession of means to communicate secretly, proved plainly to me that they were in some way connected.

I spent the remainder of the afternoon in reviewing the reports of my assistants, in order that I might give the chief as brief and correct a synopsis of what had transpired as possible, knowing that he would prefer to have it told him as soon as he arrived.

The next morning I devoted to an investigation of the sale of the savings bank to Gilmore, and learned that the bank had been chartered with a paid-in capital of only one hundred thousand dollars. With the exception of about fifteen thousand dollars, all of the capital had been supplied by two parties, who had a proportionate amount of interest, and had been active managers of the bank since its incorporation. Its business extended over the entire Rocky mountain region, and its assets usually contained not less than three-fourths of a million dollars in currency and coin. It was currently reported that the sale was made because one of the parties desired to retire from business, and the other did not care to continue his connection with the bank without the other, but diligent inquiry developed the fact that differences of opinion had existed for some time, out of which had grown a quarrel so bitter that an amicable adjustment had been impossible. I also learned that while each of them had been negotiating with Gilmore, neither was aware that the other was attempting to make a similar sale until each had accepted the first payment on the purchase price, after which they had been obliged to complete the transaction.

The smaller holdings were in the hands of business men who took no active part in the management of the bank. These, I found, were men who were quite intimate with Gilmore, and therefore I was not surprised when I learned that he had installed himself as the directing manager and now had entire control of the affairs of the institution. He changed none of the employees, and through the announcement that the rate of interest would be increased, succeeded in preventing the withdrawal of funds by the depositors. Business at the bank seemed to be following its usual routine. Gilmore, adapting himself to his new duties with an air of experience that inspired confidence in his abilities. Many of his acquaintances dropped in to congratulate him on his fortunate purchase of a business in which they would gladly have invested, and he knew that the opportunity existed. In fact, it appeared from the talk on the street that had more publicity been given the matter, the sellers would have obtained a higher price for their stock.

Among the callers, I noticed Jackson, who came in with a package of bills amounting to several hundred dollars which he had placed in his credit. As he passed Gilmore's desk he stopped to chat with him, and others had done, but his conversation showed me plainly that he must have been informed of Gilmore's probable purchase before it took place, and finding him at the desk excited no surprise.

After leaving the bank I studied all the shifting phases of the matter permanently. Mrs. Wheaton had done nothing to indicate that she intended leaving the city, so it would seem that their plans, if they had any, were still unaltered, or possibly they had failed and new ones must now be made. A more perplexing state of mind than this produced it had never been my fortune to experience, and never was news more welcome than that which announced the arrival of the chief on the evening train. The telegram had been left at the office in my absence. It gave no explanation of why Mr. Adams was coming several days in advance of the time he had named, but that made no difference to me, if he only came, that was the thing that I most desired just then. In my anxiety to see him, I would gladly have taken an eastbound train to meet him before he reached the city, but I knew that such an act would be injudicious, without orders from him to do so, and it might seriously interfere with his own plans, therefore I decided to remain at the office during the evening, that he might either reach me by messenger or find me there should he call in person.

The waiting was tedious, but about 8 o'clock the sound of familiar footsteps down the hall told me that it was at an end, and I had the pleasure of once more grasping Mr. Adams by the hand. His greeting was cordial and without the shadow of anxiety in his manner that I knew was apparent in my own actions, and I soon felt that the influence of his presence was restoring my own self-confidence. It was some time before he allowed the conversation to drift around to a point that gave me an opportunity to broach the subject that was uppermost in my mind, and when he did so, he allowed me to tell my story in my own way, without questions or interruptions on his part. When I had explained everything fully, including all the perplexing incongruities that had not been able to harmonize, he asked a few trivial questions and then turned the conversation to other subjects entirely foreign to the case in hand.

Another hour passed, during which time he had not allowed the conversation to lag, neither had he allowed it to drift back to anything even remotely connected with affairs at the office. Finally, reaching for his hat, he remarked that it was time to retire, and prepared to return to his hotel. By this time I had become extremely anxious to hear him express whatever opinion he might have formed, and I now feared that he was going to leave me without doing so. It was not advisable that I attempt to question him, for I knew that he was doing such a procedure, as one of his favorite maxims was "all things will come to him who waits." Therefore, I was most happily disappointed when he turned, at the last moment, and said:

"Now, Wallace, don't lose any more sleep over these little difficulties for they will adjust themselves in good

JAP-A-LAC

A STAIN AND VARNISH COMBINED

INDISPENSABLE AT MOVING TIME

JAP-A-LAC is manufactured by one of the oldest and best known Varnish Manufacturers in the world. It is made by a special process, from the finest materials possible to obtain. Only pure pigment is used for coloring, and pigment is the only substance used in either paint or varnish, which will not fade.

JAP-A-LAC is especially made for general use about the home, by any one. It does not require an expert to apply it, and the result of its use on shabby, scuffed furniture or floors is magical.

It dries with a beautiful luster and as hard as flint. On hard or soft wood floors, heel prints, mars, and scratches will not show white. Tables, Chairs, Andirons, Chandeliers, Window and Door Screens, Weather-beaten Doors, Ranges, Wicker Furniture, and in fact everything of wood or metal you may have about your house, is better for a can of JAP-A-LAC.

WHEN MOVING OR CLEANING HOUSE, don't fail to JAP-A-LAC everything that is not in spick and span condition. It costs but a trifle for the JAP-A-LAC. By its use you will save many dollars.

For sale by Paint, Hardware and Drug Dealers at prices from 15c to $2.50. Sixteen beautiful colors

JAP-A-LAC

OAK, MAHOGANY AND NATURAL are three of the colors you can use on a Weather-beaten Door with magical effect. Doors become disreputable looking, quicker than anything else about the home. They are constantly exposed to storms and weather changes. Few people know how easy it is to keep their doors spick and span with JAP-A-LAC. A few minutes' time in washing, and two or three coats of JAP-A-LAC, will put your door in as good condition as new—you will forget what the JAP-A-LAC costs when you see the result. Try it on your front door—your paint dealer will tell you how much you need.

JAP-A-LAC

A WARNING AGAINST THE DEALER WHO SUBSTITUTES.

One of our good customers wrote to us, that she asked her dealer for JAP-A-LAC, and he said, "I don't keep it, but here is something with a name ending in 'LAC'; it's the same thing."

She asked him if he had ever kept JAP-A-LAC. He said, "No." Then she asked him how he knew it was the same thing. He DIDN'T know it. He simply lied, but then the substituter regards lying as a virtue.

Trade with the dealer who gives you what you ask for—that's JAP-A-LAC.

If you contemplate building a home, insist on having GLIDDEN'S GREEN LABEL VARNISHES used. They are the standard of quality. Descriptive price list mailed on application.

NONE DEAD IN CYCLONE

First Storm Reports from Briggs Exaggerated... TEN ARE INJURED... Schoohouse of Burnet County Town Is Destroyed—Business Houses Damaged... Special to The Telegram, AUSTIN, Texas, April 13.—Additional particulars received this morning from the town of Briggs, which was reported to have suffered from a cyclone, with loss of life, last evening, show that the reports sent out last evening were grossly exaggerated, and, in fact, no one was killed, but a number were injured, though none of them fatally. This information was obtained this morning by a correspondent from Loberg Hill, Williamson county.

Prof. L. L. Price, who was in the school building at the time, sustained several injuries, but none of them are fatal. The number of injured has also been reduced from thirty, which had been estimated by the town. Several stores and business houses were, however, partially demolished. Other injured are: J. T. Hall, postmaster, Young Wolf; Professor L. L. Price, Hickman and daughter, Arnett Tabor and wife, R. J. Patterson and wife.

BOSTON HAS BEST RECORD OF MAJOR LEAGUE CITIES

With the beginning of the National and American pennant seasons this week, some facts and figures concerning previous races in the two big leagues are timely.

The race in 1906 will be the thirty-second annual trial of the National League, and the seventh annual campaign of the American League...

The Chicagoans have won six pennants and finished last but once. That once was in 1877, when they were one of five clubs in the National League...

The number of years each city was or has been in the National League is shown by the number of figures or groups of figures. It is interesting to note the shifting each year of the different clubs...

and their percentage was .798. The best twelve-club circuit percentage was by the Bostonians in 1897-795, representing 93 victories and 59 defeats.

The poorest percentage was made by the Clevelanders in 1899, when there were 29 victories and 134 defeats and a percentage of .184. The difference in points between the winner and the tallender that year was .533, which is the extreme in this regard.

The interest in the game today is intense for its result will determine the holder of the honor of the all-Texas championship.

Fort Worth has won two games, the first by a score of 4 to 2, the second by a score of 4 to 1. Houston the third by a score of 5 to 3, and the fourth by a score of 1 to 0.

CASTORA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought

What from the Houston point of view was the best played game of ball seen in Houston this year was that between the Texas League champions and South Texas League champions and Fort Worth, the former was defeated by Houston, the latter by a score of 1 to 0.

Two of Harlow's hands were out. Jeffries landed on one that dropped safely behind first. Newnam, Houston's first baseman, after a couple of fouls, caught one just where it suited him and slammed the horsehide against the right field fence.
