Destructive Windstorm Wrecks Practically Every House in Clay County Village. Flames Starting After Storm Complete Work of Ruin-The Citizens Are Left Without Any Kind of Food or Shelter

APPEAL FOR RELIEF ISSUED BY CITIZENS' COMMITTEE

Two Men Burn to Death Beneath Ruins---Mother and Four Children Perish---Storm Cellars Save Majority of Population from Injury---Eye-Witness Describes Terrible Scenes Witnessed by by Members of Relief Party From Bowie---Requests for Clothing, Especially Underwear for Women and Children, Are Made

The little town of Bellevue, Clay county, located on the Fort Worth and Denver railroad, eighty-six miles northwest of Fort Worth, was completely destroyed by a cyclonic windstorm shortly after 6 o'clock Thursday evening.

Thirteen persons were killed, nearly a score injured, 600 persons made homeless and every building in the town, with the exception of less than a half dozen residences, destroyed. Flames, which broke out from a ruined drug store soon after the storm had passed, completed the work of destruction begun by the wind, and the ruins blazed all through the night.

So complete was the work of the storm that no food was left in the town and acute suffering was experienced Friday morning until relief trains from Fort Worth, Bowle and Henrietta began arriving with supplies.

Storm Cellars Saved Lives

The great number of storm cellars in Bellevue, together with the fact that the citizens of the town had several minutes' warning before the storm broke, accounts for the comparatively small loss of life in the wholesale

Practically all of the population took to cellars when the heavy black storm cloud was seen soon after 6 o'clock, southwest of the town. All of those killed or injured were those who remained outside of cellars, either from choice or from inability to reach shelter in time.

There probably has never been a tornado in the storm-swept section of the southwest which eaused such complete destruction of property, and yet the storm was not what is popularly called a cyclone or even like a tornado. The wind blew almost straight in its course, no twisting nor whirling motions being noticed. The path of the storm was nearly a mile wide, instead of a few rods, as is customary with tornadoes. The storm did practically no damage except at Bellevue and at the small town of Stoneburg, in Montague county, a few miles to the east. At Stoneburg the cotton gin, blacksmith veral residences were wrecked, but so far as reports have been received in Fort Worth, no one was injured. Two men pinioned under the debris were burned to death in the fire following the Bellevue cyclone, both having remained in one of the business houses at that place when the storm was seen approaching. One of these men were a painter named Mount. The name of the other could not be learned Friday night. A. W. Bell, candidate for county tax collector, who also remained in the business portion of the town, was also killed, his crushed body, however, being found before the flames swept the ruins. All who did not take refuge in the storm cellars, of which there are a large number, were either killed or injured, the most accurate figures obtainable placing the number of dead at thirteen and the injured at seven-

Horseback Rider Brought News

This summary of the work of the cyclone is brought to Fort Worth by L. C. Hollis of 917 Penn street, who formed a member of the relief party which rushed to Bellevue from Bowie in box cars immediately upon the re ceipt of news from a man on horseback. Even before the train could be loaded with drugs and other supplies that it was thought might be necessary, flames from the wrecked city were seen to spring up, being plainly visible

The story of the wreck as it appeared immediately after the storm is most graphic.

"First news was brought to Bowle by a man riding on horseback," said Mr. Hollis. "Physicians and many others at once started for the scene in any conveyance to be secured, while a train of two box cars and a caboose was at once gotten ready and startel for the scene.

"The train was delayed at a trestle, a man who had been endeavoring to reach Bellevue on foot having fallen from the trestle, a distance twenty feet, and being found severely bruised, though not dangerously injured. "The train reached Bowie about 8 o'clock, one from Henrietta, however. having arrived a short time before. There all our preconceived ideas were shown to fall far short of the true conditions, all parts of the town, with the exception of four or five houses at the extreme outskirts, being leveled, while fire in the ruins was slowly eating its way across the ruins in a path covering about two blocks.

"We found there was little to be done, as the survivors had rushed fr ma the storm cellars as soon as the wind had passed and had rescued all the injured from beneath the ruins, with the exception of two men, whose bodies had already been burned.

"Food and shelter seemed to be the only need of the peopl', as there were pienty of physician; on the sc-ne to attend the wounded and it was useless to attempt to check the flames, which could add little to the general

Citizens Alert

The storm moving directly from the southwest struck the city at 6:20 and lasted about five minutes. The people had had between twenty and thirty minutes' warning from the heavy clouds and practically all of the population, estimated at 600, had rushed to the storm cellars. Remarkable caution was displayed by some.

"One man to whom I talked, had called twenty-three people to his storm cellar, and had also taken the precaution to gather all matches from the house and put them underground. Fires in the house were also put out. "In his cellar the twenty-three people remained until the noise ceased. They then endeavored to leave and found the door jammmed by the house, timbers of which had blown directly over the opening, forcing them to tunnel their way through the ground. "Similar crowds had been gathered in other cellars, and all seeking safety in this way were saved. Emerging from the cellars, the people at once went to the rescue of those under the ruins, the flames that had already started showing the necessity for prempt action. A. W. Bell, who had been seated in the hotel reading a paper when the others left him, without his heeding their warning, was the first victim found, having evidently been killed at once.

Census Taken "Cool heads at once suggested the taking of a census, and a man was appointed to secure a list of all residents. In this way the loss of life was soon ascertained and much need. less worry saved. Dead were removed from danger of the flames and the wounded taken into the storm cellars and given attention. "The people displayed great calmness and nothing further could be done when our relief train returned to Bowie about 1 o'clock.

Scene of Desolation

"The scene of desolation, however, was complete. Not so much as a third of a wall was left standing in the main part of the town, while box cars loaded with grain and heavy timbers were seen scattered in all directions. The force of the wind was shown by the fact that practically all the frame buildings were not merely toppled over. but their timbers found widely scattered. The two-story frame hotel was so completely scattered that parts were found at various places.

"The wind appeared to have cu swath almost a mile in width at places. It did not display the usual jumps of cyclones, the path being a straight one from the southwest and leading to Stoneberg and on toward the Red river. "Bark had been completely torn off the west side of trees left standing and all were stripped of branches. "When we arrived men were shooting horses in the ruins of the livery stable. All were pinioned under timbers, with the exception of one ani-

Barney Williamson. Several others were injured, but as all of the injured have been removed to homes of farmers in the surrounding country, it is impossible to get their names. It is not believed any were more than slightly hurt, in addition to those whose names are given.

Caring for Survivors The great work now in progress at Bellevue is caring for the survivors who were left practically destitute by the storm and fire. So complete was the work of the elements that the site of the little town which, yesterday, was covered with business houses. homes, trees, shrubbery and gardens, is today as bare as the unbroken prairie which surrounds it. Not even the stocks of goods in the stores were left intact. Foodstuffs were completely destroyed, or scattered in every direction. Save for a few houses left standing about the outskirts of the town, out of the path of the wind, there was not left an upright wall in Bellevue, or even a lean-to under which the survivors might find

"I was standing on the steps of the forward car when we reached Bellevue," he said. "Timbers were scattered everywhere and as the engine threw them to either side they began falling against the steps with such force as to drive again within the car. "The station is entirely leveled as were all buildings in the path of the storm, which hit the town squarely, cutting a swath a quarter of a mile in width. It extended in length as far as we could see. "Station Agent Lelas Moore, who was at first reported killed, we found to be uninjured. All members of his family are safe but entirely without "A pathetic case was that of a Miss Russell, whom we had taken to Henrietta the afternoon before. She returned on our train to Bellevue, the report of the death of all the other members of the family, numbering seven, reaching her. It was later discovered that her father was living. "Sydney Webb also returned to Bellevue on our train. His family is safe, but all his property is gone." Emile Reck of Claude, Texas, agent of the New York society finding homes in Texas for orphans, was a passenger on the train. Mother and Children Dead

"We heard many heartrending

stories while the train remained there, he said, "the most pitiful being that of a mother and five children found dead together. "All the rock buildings which comprised the business part of the city were leveled, while timbers from the others covered a wide territory. I should estimate the wind, which appeared to have moved from northwest to southeast, to have covered a width of over 200 yards, swept clean. This passes directly through the town. Many trees were uprooted in the path of the storm, and those that remained showed still more forcibly the terrific force of the wind, the branches being stripped from them so that they were as bare as telegraph poles. "The storm appeared to have traveled in a straight line, the path cut extending as far as the eye could "Relief train had brought large parties to the town, though for the most part they were helpless in the face of the fire. As the buildings are destroyed anyhow the fire can cause little additional loss.

The provisions, together with several bundles of clothing, were shipped at 9 o'clock, the merchants responding quickly to the call of Mayor Harris. Merchants who contributed were:

Fort Worth Produce Company, Mc-Cord-Collins Company, National Biscuit Company, H. H. #### Measures for Relief Seldom has relief following a destructive storm, been more quickly sent than that hurried to the aid of Bellevue citizens. Bowie started a relief train early Thursday evening, which arrived there but a short time after one had been sent from Henrietta. Both trains carried physicians and volunteers. Tents for the survivors were hurried to Bellevue from Wichita Falls. A carload of provisions was donated by Fort Worth wholesale merchants and flour mills, and sent to Bellevue Friday morning on the first northbound Denver train.

The Fort Worth & Denver Railroad company officials were especially active in measures for relief. A telegraph order for $500 was forwarded early Friday morning.

Announcement was also made that the Fort Worth & Denver railroad will haul supplies free to Bellevue when they are consigned to the relief com-

Eight Cases Compromised During This Week

Judge Irby Dunklin of the Fortyeighth district court has been endeavoring all the week to reach verdicts in cases tried before him, but with the exception of the case of Joseph D. Turner et al vs. J. This is not the judge's fault, however, for he would get the cases started off all right but before the jury could bring in a verdict the parties would get together and compromise. This has been done in eight cases in a week. Int two of the cases the jury had been charged and were considering their verdict when the cases were taken out of their hands, having been compromised outside of court, and in another case it was taken from the jury while they were in the box, the evidence not having been concluded, it also having been settled out of court.

Miss Spivey has been interested in work of this nature for several years. Her father, of the firm of Melton &

Mass Meeting Called at the City Hall

ACTION IS URGED

Recent Action by State and County Officers Topic of Discussion

Mass meeting of citizens to discuss the anti-trust suits recently filed at Austin has been called for 8 o'clock Saturday night at the city hall. The call for the meeting is issued in the names of Judge George Armstrong, R. E. McAnulty and others.

In discussing the matter this morning Judge Armstrong declared that he believed it was proper for the people of Fort Worth to show their appreciation of industries and show that they are interested in all things 'affecting the welfare of such institutions.

Mr. McAnuity also declares the advisability of action by the citizens, declaring that if the packing industry were forced from the city the blow would be the most severe ever given the city. "The packing houses can be moved," he said, "and it is foolish to take the position that such a step is

SUN STROKE

Does Not Come If One's Nervous System Is Well Fed

"I must tell you how food changed my condition. Seven years ago I had a sunstroke and was confined to bed 19 months.

"I was in bad condition to resist the shock at the time, as my nervous system had been poisoned from chronic constipation. My nerves were shattered by the stroke, kidney trouble followed, and my stomach became so weak that everything I ate, particularly everything containing starch, seemed to turn at once to gas in my stomach, causing palpitation of the heart and sinking spells from pressure on that organ.

"My head was packed in rubber icebags constantly for five months to reduce the temperature which sometimes ran as high as 108. The doctors frankly told my people that they could do nothing for me, to be prepared for my death at any moment. "While in this condition, helpless and hopeless, a friend one day called my attention to an advertisement of Grape-Nuts food, which he had found in a magazine, and advised me to try it. I did so, and the effect was salutary from the beginning. I found that I could digest Grape-Nuts and cream without distress, and my improvement the very first week I used it was so encouraging that I persisted, steadily growing better, till at last I was entirely recovered-nerves, heart, stomach, all resumed their normal tone, the poison symptoms entirely disappeared, and I gained 35 lbs. This was more than 5 years ago. I was soon enabled to take up my regular duties. I need not say that I continue to eat Grape-Nuts food, and that it is an important part of each meal to all of us. It has made of my eleven-year-old son, who, before was a nervous sickly child, as rosy, robust and healthy a by as you would care to see, and has relieved my other children from stomach and bowel troubles, from which the formerly suffered." #### ONLY RUINS ARE LEFT

Town of Bellevue Completely Obliter-

W. L. McMasters of Trinidad, Col., en route to San Antonio, was a pas-senger on the southbound Fort Worth and Denver train that passed through Bellevue Friday morning after the

"From what I could see from the train," said Mr. McMasters to a Telegram reporter, "the work of destruction was complete. I could see only three houses that escaped total destruction, and as far as I could see the place where the town stood yesterday was today nothing but a heap of smoldering ruins. In the early hours of Friday morning the scene presented was one of pitiful desolation, wreck and ruin.

"As far as I could see there was nothing but wreckage of houses and articles of household goods scattered by the fury of the storm. Near the railroad I saw trees nearly as large as my body uprooted and others had been snapped off near the ground, as if cut with some sharp instrument.

"I saw the dead carcasses of a number of animals, one horse having a long piece of timber protruding from his body-blown into him by the wind. Dead hogs, cattle and chickens could be seen all around.

"While the train was at the Bellevue station I talked to a man who escaped with his family of four by taking refuge in a storm cellar. He told me that when first warned of danger he was at his barn feeding his horse. He heard the roar of the wind and saw southwest of the town the storm cloud coming towards him at the speed of a

"I just had time to reach my house and get my wife and two children into our storm cellar when the cyclone struck the town. While in the cellar we could not hear each other talk for several minutes, and when we come out there was not a vestige of our home left, even the fence posts around the place were blown out of the ground. My horse and cow were blown away and I suppose killed, and where my house stood was swept clean by the winds. It seems that the wind just caught up my house and carried it away. There is not a timber of it on the lot.

"This man (I never learned his name) told me that the dead would reach fourteen at that time, and that there were others who would die. The injured will probably reach twenty."

Many of the women and children who escaped the storm are in need of clothing, the majority escaping with only that which they work. Underwear is the principal articles needed, especially for women and children.

All consignments should be made to the relief committee, Sidney Webb, chairman, which will see that proper distribution is made.

Scores Going to Town

All incoming trains are crowded with visitors from surrounding towns, either coming to help the relief work or seeking to get word of relatives who lived here. There is no need for workers, as there are plenty of able-bodied men in the town. The great demand is for food, clothing and bedding.

Professor Cooper, a teacher in the school at Bellevue, had been with his wife, visiting in Fort Worth, but expected to return here last night. They missed the train, and probably for this reason were saved from injury in the storm, as their home was wrecked. Mrs. Cooper is still in Fort Worth, but Professor Cooper came here this morn-

Discomfort Anticipated

There probably will be much discomfort here tonight, as provisions are wholly inadequate for sleeping quarters and many will have to spend the night in the open air. It is probable, however, that all women and children will be cared for.

Bread Will Be Sent

The Eagle bakery of Fort Worth will send 250 loaves of bread, its available supply, to Bellevue tonight on the Fort Worth and Denver northbound train. The bread will be distributed free to the storm survivors, being given by the bakery for that purpose. It is probable that many other food supplies will be sent to Bellevue from Fort Worth tonight. The Fort Worth and Denver railroad has received word from Bellevue that clothing for women and children is greatly needed.

CHICAGO, April 27 .- Fifteen thousand five hundred dollars was raised to: the relief of suffering San Francisco at the benefit performance neld under the Bernhardt tent on the lake Twenty-five thousand would be a conservative estimate of the number of people who visited the scene of festivities in the name of charity in the six hours of excitement.

Among the performers were E. S. Willard, E. H. Sothern, Julia Marlowe and their companies; Mrs. Leslie Carter, Richard Carl, Robert Loraine and company, the "Mexicana" company, the "Before and After" company and

Meacham's OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

The Touraine has been the scene of some of the handsomest affairs given this season. Mrs. Robert E. Buchanan gave a: unusually attractive luncheon there Thursday in honor of Mrs. DeLos Van Alstyne Williams of Mexico, Covers were laid for twenty-six on a square table, handsomely ornamented with a solid circular mound of bridesmaid roses as a centerpiece, individual cut'glass candelabra with pink candles, hand-painted rose place cards, inscribed with the full name of the guests, broad satin bows of pink ribbon, entwined with ferns and smilax and dainty baskets of sweet peas. There were engraved menu cards and an eight-course luncheon was served.

The hostess called upon some of her guests to give talks on different foreign cities. Mrs. Fakes told of witnessing the Passion Play in 1900. Mrs. Williams, the honoree, told of some of the unusual features of Mexican life in easy and most graceful fashion and told of a number of customs that were quite a surprise. Mrs. H. W. Williams told of her visit to Scotland, Mrs. Willard Burton gave an interesting talk on Havana, Mrs. F. D. Thompson on Brussels, Mrs. Waples on Florence and Mrs. Dake gave her impressions of the music in foreign lands. Mrs. Orrick proposed an impromptu toast to the hostess and Mrs. George -Clayton toasted the hostess and homemaker in most gracious and charming fashion. Large muffs were in vogue last winter, but they are small when compared with the gigantic models that are being sold this season. One of them is that of a dog collar that clasps the neck snugly and terminates in front in cravat ends, centered by bars of velvet and tiny gold buttons. The bill to be entitled: "An act for the promotion of medical science by the distribution and use of unclaimed human bodies for scientific purposes, through a board created for that purpose, and to prevent unauthorized uses and traffic in human bodies, and to legalize dissection and experiments by authorized persons." The bill embraces the creating of a board to be known as the anatomical board of the state of Texas, to be composed of the professor of anatomy and the profesgor of surgery of each of the incorporated medical schools or colleges. This board shall have the power of distributing, among such institutions, pauper bodies.

There will be kept records and methods of identification. This exemplifies the bodies claimed by friends and organizations and those who died of contagious diseases and of travelers, thus leaving those only required to be buried at public expense. Doctors are in earnest regarding the passage of such a bill by the state legislature, which would provide sufficient material, thus helping the profession to greater efficiency in work in anatomy, pathology and operative Other states have similar bills, and

GUTHRIE RETURNS TO FORT WORTH

Was Hospitably Received by People of Asperment

W. C. Guthrie returned: to Fort Worth from Asperment Friday morning, accompanied by his attorney, W. A. Hanger, and his bondsmen and friends, who had accompanied him to that place to appear before the grand jury, which entirely cleared him of the charge of being implicated in the death of J. D. McGaughey of Stonewall county, whose death occurred shortly after a visit made by Mr. Guthrie and a friend at the McGaughey ranch. Mr. Guthrie was, of course, pleased at the prompt action taken by the grand jury in entirely clearing his name, this, however, having been a foregone conclusion from the developments' following the hurried arrest of the young man.

Mr. Guthrie expressed gratitude at the interest displayed by his friends and also pleasure at the manner in which he was received at Aspermont, the entire satisfaction of the people there that he is entirely innocent being a matter of gratification. "I wish to thank The Telegram," he said, "for notifying my folks here, as that was the first word they received, all my efforts to reach them from Asperment having failed."

As first announced in The Telegram, Mr. Guthrie's vindication occurred Wednesday night. The grand jury convened Monday, but was unable to take up the case until witnesses had been summoned. Mr. Guthrie and a party of Fort Worth business men, including N. Harding, W. G. Turner and William Bryce, reached Asperment last Saturday and remained there until final disposition of the case. They were hospitably received on all sides, nothing but expressions of regret that the name of Mr. Guthrie had become involved in the case being heard. W. G. Turner, who also returned Friday morning, declared that the people of Asperment have nothing but kindly feeling for Mr. Guthrie and regret the part he was forced to play in the case by the circumstance of having been at the Mccaughey home shortly before the death.

"The jury was unanimous in finding all charges unfounded," said Mr. Turner, "and all called upon Mr. Guthrie express to him personally their confidence in his integrity. The same opinion is shared by all the people we

CAR LINE IS WANTED

Eighth Ward Citizens Urge Extension of South Eighth Avenue Line Eighth warders are still urging the extension of the Northern Texas Traction company's car line on South Eighth avenue.

The southwestern portion especially of the Eighth ward is quite thickly settled and these persons who feel the for their convenience to the city are earnest in securing the extension. As yet there has been no official action by the traction company. The suggested route of extension is south from its present terminus on Eighth avenue to Morgan avenue, connecting on the east with Cactus street or one block farther south, to Farwell, extending east by way of Bois d' Arc to a junction with Hemphill, then across to Main. Thence north on that street to a connection with the present line at Magnolia.

SMUGGLING TO STOP

City Prisoners to Be Kept Carefully Secluded

It is announced at police headquarters that a rigid investigation will be instituted into the practice of outsiders passing whisky and money to prisoners confined in the city jail. While several cases were being tried in the corporation court during the last few days, testimony showed that there had been frequent smugglings. One of the jail windows faces Throckmorton street and is in such a position as to permit communication from the outside. In some manner much liquor has been placed into the prisoners' hands and the window offers the only solution of the matter to the police department. Heretofore the officers have permitted any one upon request to visit any prisoner. This also will, to a great extent, be discontinued, and good reason must be shown in the future for visiting the jail.

Following the election of directors the directors held a meeting and elected officers for the coming year. J. B. Googins was chosen for the office of president of the club. W. T. DIES AT HOME

After several weeks of lingering illness death came to Jacob Samuels Thursday night at 9:05 o'clock at his residence, 1210 East Belknap street. In the death of Mr. Samuels Fort Worth loses one of its pioneer citizens and promoter of the city's welfare, Mr. Samuels having since the day of his arrival in Fort Worth, fifty-six years ago, taken a prominent part in public affairs, assisting materially in the development and prosperity of the frontier town to the city of the present

Mr. Samuels, who was 70 years of age, was born in Warsaw and lived a. short time in New Orleans and Galveston before coming to Fort Worth. When the civil war broke out Mr. Samuels was among the first to offer his services to the Confederacy and was the organizer of the first company which left Fort Worth to fight for the southern cause. Mr. Samuels served during the entire four years of the war gallantly under General Tom Green. He was offered promotions on several occasions, but they were always declined by him. Among his comrades were the late Colonel John Peter Smith, Captain J. C. Terrell and many other prominent citizens of Fort Worth.

Returning to this city when the war closed, Mr. Samuels engaged in the mercantile business, in which he continued until ill health forced him to give up active management of his business. His investments and holdings in real estate in this vicinity and other Texas places were many. Just after the close of the civil war Mr. Samuels married Miss Bertha Wadell of New Orleans. He is survived by his widow, four sons and two daughters, as follows: Mrs. Jacob Samuels, Sidney L., Bertrand B., Isadore, Alfred, Mrs. A. G. Dawson and

Miss May Samuels. Mr. Samuels was a life member off Fort Worth lodge No. 148 A. F. and A. M, and was also a member of the Knights of Honor and the Knights and Ladies of Honor. The funeral services were held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon from the residence to the Jewish cemetery under the auspices of the

SORES AND ULCERS TROUBLESOME-OFFENSIVE-DANGEROUS

Nothing is more discouraging than to have an unhealthy sore or ulcer resist one treatment after another, sometimes scabbing over and apparently getting well, then returning with renewed energy and becoming worse than before. Sores and ulcers are not due to outside causes; if they were, salves, plasters, lotions, etc., would cure them. They are kept up by a diseased and polluted condition of the blood brought on by the absorption of refuse and waste matters of the body into this vital fluid. These accountilations find their way into the blood, usually because of an inactive and sluggish condition of the system. Nature intends that they shall be carried off through the usual channels of waste, but the different members failing to perform their duties properly leave the matter to sour and ferment. The blood then, in its effort to keep the system healthy, absorbs these poisons and at the first bruise, cut or wound the sore is formed, and the constant drainage of foul matter through it keeps the place open and irritated so it cannot heal. Another cause for old sores and ulcers is the polluting or weakening of the blood from the remains of some constitutional trouble or the effects of a long spell of sickness. S. S. S. begins at the fountain-head and drives out all poisonous matter and germs, and makes a lasting cure. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the inflammation

CONVICTION OF LOWDEN AND STEFFENS

There is a lesson in the conviction of J. G. Lowden and Otto W. Steffens to a five years' penitentiary sentence that comes with special force to Brownwood people who know Otto Steffens. There is not a person here who knows Steffens who believes that in using the funds of the bank with which he was connected for cotton future speculation he intended for a minute to beat any one out of a cent and the same can no doubt be said of the acquaintances of Mr. Lowden. Steffens was a good man, is still a good man, and will always be so regarded by his friends, who are legion. He was tempted, not to steal, nor to swindle, nor to beat any one out of a cent (he was far above such things as that) but in an unguarded moment, spurred on by the temptation which speculation in stocks so often entices its victims, he used funds not his own to protect his margins, in the confident belief that a brief time would enable him to replace it, and that it would never be discovered. This is not an isolatel case, but every day the story is repeated and every day the victims of this mania are entering the doors of the penitentiaries of the land.-Brownwood Bulletin.

The conviction of James G. Lowden and Otto W. Steffens, prominent bankers of Abilene, of misappropriating the funds of the defunct American bank of that city, came as a great surprise to the friends of both gentlemen throughout west Texas. And few there are who believe these two men guilty of any wrong in-

James G. Lowden and Otto W. Steffens have been identified with the banking business of the city of Abilene practically ever since the city was established, and each of them has always been regarded as the very soul of honor and business integrity. The proud and prosperous young city of Abilene owes much of its greatness to the liberality and enterprise of these two men, and there are thousands of individuals in the western portion of this state who were tided over trying times by the money and resources of these men.

Back in the days when the devastating effects of long and cruel drouth rested upon the Abilene country and penury and misery stared the majority of the people in the face and money was scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth, James G. Lowden and Otto W. Steffens opened up the coffers of their strong boxes and tided the people over the tight places. They had confidence in the people and they had confidence in the country, and their action in the premises saved the day for many of the people of the Abilene country who are enj ying great prosperity today.

When public enteririses in the city of Abilene had just about run into the ground-when the water supply was about sufficient for a dirt dauber and the electric light system about equal to the glowing end of a lightening bug, these men came to the rescue and enbled these systems to be rehabilitated and brought to their present state of usefulness, and so it was with many other enterprises. They have proved their loyalty to their town and their people in a manner that admits of no question, and if they have been guilty of any infriegement of the federal banking laws, it is probably but the result of that old spirit that has always prophet business, but the old man has so far proven prompted them to stand up for their town and their

The custom of the world is to administer a kick to every man who starts down the ladder, but in the case of James G. Lowden and Otto W. Steffens these kicks are all misdirected. They are men who deserve a much better fate than that which seems to have overtaken them, and although they may be made to pay the penalty for the alleged infraction of the law, it will be a difficult matter to convince public sentiment that they have sinned more than they have been approval.

THOSE EXCHANGE SUITS

Telegraphic advices from Austin that suits had been filed by the attorney general against the Fort Worth Live Stock Exchange, the Fort Worth Stock Yards Company, Armour & Co. and Swift & Co., :0 forfeit their right to do business in Texas and recover penalties aggregating about $17,000,000, occasioned much surprise here. It has been known for some time that these institutions were being investigated with this end in view.

The state evidently trusts in its ability to establish its contentions, else the suits would not have been filed. But in the meantime the general public should bear in mind that the state has as yet done nothing but make some rather startling allegations. The facts must come out in the trial of the respective causes, and the law supposes all men to be innocent until guilt is established. Commission firms, packing houses and stock yards companies are very necessary adjuncts of the live stock business, and each must be maintained in Fort Worth if the live stock market here is to be made to serve its proper purpose. These are all Fort Worth institutions, and the ends of justice demand they shall not be deemed guilty until the state clearly establishes its contentions.

Out at the Live Stock Exchange the situation does not seem to be creating much apprehension. In speaking of the action of the state, President Flato of the exchange says:

I think the suits are ridiculous wherein they contain allegations that the commission men, stock yards and packers have entered into an agreement to fleece the cattleman, when, as a fact, the commission men and packers are at war all the time.

The last time Assistant Attorney General Lightfoot was down here the exchange appointed a committee to go over the rules, by-laws and constitution governing the exchange; also to show him through the minutes of the meeting. If we were a trust or were in any way violating the anti-trust laws we wanted to know it and to govern ourselves accordingly. As a matter of fact, the Fort Worth Exchange members charge less than any other yards in the state. At Houston and Galveston the commission men charge 5 per cent for selling cattle. At San Antonio the commission firms charge 4 per cent. The charges realized at Houston and Galveston are twice as great as those charged at Fort Worth. The New Orleans commission charges for a carload of cattle are $25 per car, and while at the other markets named the shipper has to wait sometimes two and three weeks to hear from his cattle and get returns, we furnish returns the same day as the cattle are sold. The majority of the members of the Fort Worth exchange are cattle owners and are among the largest cattlemen in this state. We also have several bankers of Fort Worth members of the exchange. Now the cowman who is a member of the exchange would hardly let a little side issue as the commission business interfere with his conscience, when, as a fact, his cattle sell for the same price as the cattle of the smaller shipper and at the same time.

THE TREND OF THE PRESS

The Waco Tribune has been doing some figuring on the trend of the state press in the gubernatorial campaign, and the following constitutes its deductions:

It is interesting to note the gradual trend of the big newspapers of Texas on the gubernatorial contest. Up at Fort Worth the Evening Telegram is sturdily for Bell, with the Fort Worth Record on the fence, undecided. Over at Dallas the News playing no favor-Ites, though quite friendly to both Bell and Colquitt, and the Times-Herald solid for Colquitt. Get down to Houston and the Post is manifestly friendly to Colquitt, while the Chronicle leans to Bell. Out at San Antonio the Express looks lovingly toward Bell, as does the Statesman at Austin. The Waco Times-Herald on the fence but thinks mighty well of Bell. And away over at Beaumont the Enterprise also friendly to Bell, as is the El Paso Times at the other far-off corner of the state. The Galveston News is of course with the Dallas end. And there you are and how will it

It will turn out in the supporting of Judge Bell enthusiastically by every democratic paper in the state after the holding of the state convention. Of course, until Judge Bell is nominated, every paper is at liberty to support its individual preference, but when the party has spoken they will all be found riding in the Bell band wagon and rejoicing at the splendid choice that has been made by the democratic party.

The Telegram has given Judge Bell a warmer support than has been accorded to him by any other paper in Texas, and The Telegram was inspired to do this first, by the fact that it believes him to be the ablest candidate before the people and the best qualified to serve the state as governor. And in the second place, Judge Bell is a citizen of Fort Worth, and this paper always stands toyally by home institutions. The papers that are on the fence will come off in time. They are only waiting to make certain which way the feline is going to jump. At that time they will join in the chorus and make just as much noise over the result as if they had been in the fight from the be-

Things have settled down in an orderly manner in San Francisco, and the work of rebuilding the city has already begun. Some of the more desperate convicts must be confined within penitentiary walls and some must be worked in the iron furnace at Rusk, but there are enough of the others to do a great deal of public road building in Texas if they were employed in that behalf. -San Antonio Express.

Texas has a multitude of convicts and a wilderness of bad roads, but the idea of putting the convicts to work on the roads, while long agitated, has never been productive of any tangible results.

LE & TR, Minn., April 22.—The married life of Mr. and Mrs. Gonzalaus Schefferle, residing on a farm nine miles east of this place, began yesterday in a very stormy manner, and the bride, whose malden name was Miss Peach Willow, gave much evidence by her conduct just prior to the ceremony that she intended to have a good deal to say in guiding the matrimonial fortunes of the happy couple.

Mr. Schefferle began paying attention to Miss Willow about seven years ago, when they were quite young, and kept it up pretty steadily year after year, but without getting very definite about it. His parents, with whom he made his home, opposed the match and did all they could, which was considerable, to discourage the young man. Miss Willow seemed not to get much interested in the case for several years, nor, indeed, till about a year ago, when her parents both died and left her alone on the farm, the sole owner of it and with only hired help to aid her in carrying it on. It then occurred to her that it would be a fine thing to have a good, industrious husband on the premises, and, inasmuch as young Schefferle possessed all the required qualifications and seemed to be anxious for the position, the young people became engaged.

No sooner had they done so, however than opposition on the part of the elder Schefferles became very manifest and they declared that if Gonzalaus married Miss Willow they would cut him off with a shilling, turn him out of doors with curses, and never speak to him again as long as they lived. He tried to make head against their authority, but the habit of years was too strong and on two separate occasions when the wedding had been set to come off he failed to put in an appearance and the festivities had to be postponed. He never failed in his love for the girl though, and she realized that it was only the influence of the old people that kept him from marrying her and bore with her continued disappointments as bravely as possible. The young fellow was continually in rebellion, and day the wedding was again set to come off at home of the bride. But for the third time the were disappointed, for the groom did not come and messenger who arrived from the parents just a hour set for the wedding brought with him the line torn into shreds, and thus cancelled.

Then Miss Peach did indeed conclude that part had ceased to be a virtue, and decided to take viscon action in the matter herself. She hitched up a to and drove eleven miles to the county seat, obtained license in place of the torn one, by exhibiting the torn ments and saying that it "had got torn up," and the she turned and drove straight to the home of the radi lating groom and his obdurate parents

She was met at the door by the mother, who to bade her to enter, but she pushed past the old his and when she entered the first room and was our fronted by her wished-for father-in-law and he took her by the shoulder and tried to put her out are she turned on him with her vigorous young street and gave him such a drubbing as he had not had along he was a boy. The unwilling mother-in-law fainted dead away at the sight of her lord and master bein thrashed by a woman, and when the girl had polished off the old gentleman to her satisfaction she carried Mrs. Schefferle into a bedroom, locked her in and then, after locking the old gentleman up in another part of the house, she compelled the young man who had been a horrified witness to all these events to me into her buggy and go with her to her own home where they were promptly married by the justice of the peace, who had been ordered by the young wom to await her return.

Later in the day the elder Mr. and Mrs. Schottes regained their liberty and then drove over to the wa low farm, made their peace with the young people and everybody was happy.

JUST LIKE HIS FATHER

At the annual reunion of the Grant family, which was held a few nights ago at the Hotel St. Denis, General Frederick Dent Grant was protesting against having been made the principal speaker.

"I went over on the East side one night to address a civic organization," said the general. "The chairman, in introducing me, remarked that I was very much like my father. In fact, that was the principal claim which he put forward to command attention. When I had finished my speech some one in the front row growled. in an audible whisper:

"That wasn't much of a speech!' in a tone of great disappointment.

"'Didn't I tell you he was like his father?' the chairman whispered back. 'He can't speak at all.'"

REFORM ALWAYS IN ORDER At the recent dinner of the insurance underwriters

at the Hotel Savoy, Paul Morton, president of the Equitable, was telling the agents what he thought of some of the movements now under way for insurance reform. To illustrate his point he told this story of Hoke Smith: "It was when Smith was secretary of the interior,"

he said, "that he was asked to speak at a dinner which is an annual event in Washington and which is never taken seriously. The secretary got up and made a long and severe reform speech. He told what he was going to do in his own department, and he offered suggestions as to reforms in other departments. It was a most unusual speech for this particular dinner, and the guests were much surprised.

"The situation was relieved, however, when the president of the dinner arose and, in the most solemn tones imaginable, announced: "'Let us all join in singing "I Want To Be an

"I do not care to say what action we will take until the demands have actually been made. A general strike of the rockmen and excavators took place two years ago and stopped work on hundreds of buildings. Some of the contractors yielded. #### YOUNG FARMER WAS SCIENTIFIC

Made His Hens Lay by Keeping Phonograph Going

Diversification has become the panacea for all ills on the farm, and especially is this so among those amateurs at the business who believe in practicing what they preach, and thus show their elder neighbors in the business that there are some new things in agriculture that have never been exploited before. Sometimes these amateurs got into any amount of trouble from listening to some yarns about one thing or another connected with their business, and find in the end that they have been "cold."

Among the lighter methods of making ends meet on the farm is the encouragement of hens in their duty to man by laying eggs day by day, and many are the methods used to encourage them.

"I had a young neighbor once," said Farmer Itill Jones of Tarrant county, "who was an earnest advocate of reform in the o'd-fashioned methods of doing the cuitivation act, and this led him sometimes to become the butt of the cross roads' wag. He advanced one idea that was liable to wear a hen into a frazzle, and that was that it was the duty of every hen to bring forth one egg at least a day, and if properly encouraged more. He had a fine lot of hens, but after various trials with different kinds of food he found that his hens failed to do their duty even to laying an egg every two days, and refused to rejoice over that performance as a reasonable hen should do by announcing the event with a cackle. Now a hen can't keep from cackling when she has laid an egg, as every one knows that has seen them with head and tail erect, stepping cautiously about the yard uttering their dis-cordant yells of delight.

"The only way to stop a hen from cackling is to pull her tail feathers out, and then when she goes to cackle and locks back and misses her tail she will scoot for the brush and squall for hawks. These are some of the peculiarities of a hen that all new beginners are not familiar with, as they are not set forth in the hennery books as they should be for the assistance of the young beginner. "What ever was the matter, the young one that I am speaking of, and whom we will call Willie for short, found it difficult to get his hens to come to time. Leaning over his back fence he could hear the hens on the next farm doing their duty in fine style, eachling to beat the band, and he knew from this that there were eggs there for sure. After thinking seriously for a time a thought struck Willie, that if he could induce the hens over the way to come over and sing for his the difficulty would be overcome, but r.c had learned how hard a matter it was to make a hen leave ner quarters for any purpose.

Thought of a Phonograph "As a last resort he became convinced that if he had a phonograph and could get some lively singing hens to put their veices on a blank record, put it in his harn and turn her loose that the difficulty would be solved. He went into the house, got his phonograph, inserted a blank record, placed it at his fence and soon had as nice a collection of cackles as any hen was ever fooled into laying an egg by. He then installed the phonograph in his own hen house and started it going. The first day his hens were simply amazed, and were too taken up with the new cackling and trying to find the hens who were invading their territory to do anything else. The second day, however, they got down to business and ground out an egg every time the phonogral cackled. "It was a great strain on the hens, but a greater one on Willie, when he found that the rens had stopped cackling themselves, and when the phonograph stopped they stopped laying and Willie, the originator of the idea, has to stay in the ben house all day to keep the rhotograph wound up or lose eggs. How long this will last is not known, but one thing is certain, either Willie vill have to buy a new set of hens and stop the phonograph, or give up all his other plans for the reform of the agricultural interests and confine his taining to raising eggs by mechanical nesse. This don't sound reasonable, but it is what the boys in the country say is a fact, and they all belong to 'he church.

"Everything has to have beginning, and I suppose as it advances it evolutes and takes on another form or manner, and this is what is happening in Texas now. When this matter of diversification takes a good hold on the farmers of Texas you are going to see many new things, and the progress of the industrial interests of the state will be a world's wonder, and probably by that time Willie will have worked out his problem of how to make hens cackle and lay without the aid of a phonograph."

PAPER FOR GOLD FOR VENEZUELA

S. A. Country to Establish a National Bank

Special Cable to The Telegram. NEW YORK, April 27.-The Tribune today savs:

The government of Venezuela is to establish a national bank and substitute a paper currency for the gold basis on which the country has been operating. It was learned yesterday that among the missions with which J. Torres Cardenas, secretary general of Venezuela and Manuel Corao, who arrived here from Caracas on Monday are charged is the negotiation for the national bank contemplated by President Castro

"Heretofore the Banco de Venezuela in Caracas has been the national depository and fiscal agent for the government. The bank issued paper money for use only on the commercial centers -Caracas, La Guira and Puerto Cabello-while the Banco de Maracaibo did the same for the convenience of the business people of the city. This issuance of bank notes was because of the little use made in Venezuela of check books and the difficulty of handling gold in large sums. But the plan of Castro is to establish a paper currency for general circulation.

Senor Corrao will try to interest local bankers in the plan for a national bank while Senor Cardenas will sail tomorrow for Europe, where he will open negotiations with foreign financiers. About seven years ago President Andrade made a similar effort to establish a national bank, but the plan feil

Special Cable to The Telegram. NEW YORK, April 27.- Speaking of the southern states at the banquet of the Southern Society last night, Francis B. Loomis, former assistant secretary of state, said:

"The uncontaminated, uncalculating Americanism of the south promises to be a potent, a conservative and saving influence at a time when people are talking feverishly of strained economic conditions of political unrest and social upheaval.

"Will you describe him?"
She closed her eyes, seemingly in an effort at recollection. "He was a short, heavy-set man," she said, at last, "with a dark face and dark mustache which turned up at the ends. That is all I can remember."

"In dark clothes; he wore a slouch hat, I think. I didn't see the face The answer came without hesitation, but it seemed to Godfrey that there tere where Mr.-Mr. Thompson was waiting. I entered and closed the door. We were talking together, when the door of the inner room opened and a man came out. Before I realized what he was doing, he had raised a bar of iron he held in his hand and struck Mr. Thompson upon the head. Then, standing over him, he drew a revolver and fired one shot at him. I had shrunk away into the corner, but thinking him a madman, believing my own life in danger, I drew my pocket pistol and fired at him. Without even glancing at me, he opened the outer door and disappeared. The janitor rushed in a moment later." "Did your shot hit him?" asked Sim-

"I don't know; I think not; showed no sign of being wounded." Godfrey turned to an examination of the opposite wall. "Miss Croydon's shot went wild," he said, curiously elated at this confirmation of her story. "Here's the bullet," and he pointed to it, embedded in the woodwork of the bedroom door. Simmonds took a look at it, then he returned to the inquiry. "Did you know this intruder?"

"No, sir; I'd never before seen him,

With Irritating Skin Humor-Whole Body Affected - Scalp Itched All the Time and Hair Began to Fall Out-Wonderful Result From

APPLICATION OF CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I am never without Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment since I tried them last summer. About the latter part of July my whole body began to itch. I did not take much notice of it at first, but it began to get worse all the time, and then I began to get uneasy and tried all kinds of baths and other remedies that were recommended for skin humors; but I became worse all the time. My hair began to fall out and my scalp itched all the time. Especially at night, just as soon as I would get in bed and get warm, my whole body would begin to itch and my finger nails would keep it irritated, and it was not long before I could not rest night or day.
A friend asked me to try the Cuticura Remedies, and I did, and the first appli cation helped me wonderfully. For about four weeks I would take a hot bath every night and then apply the Cuticura Ointment to my whole body; and I kept getting better, and by the time I used four boxes of Cuticura I was time I used four boxes of Cuticura I was entirely cured, and my hair stopped falling out, but I continue to use the Cuticura on my scalp. It keeps all dandruff out and scalp is always clean. I always use Cuticura Ointment on my face after shaving, and have found nothing to equal it. I will never be without it." D. E. Blankenship, REGOMMENDED TO ALL MOTHERS "I have used Cutieurs Ointment for chafing of infants, and as they grew older all skin diseases were given treat-ment with that and the Cutieurs Soap I never found it necessary to call a doc-tor, as these Remedies are a sure cure, tor, as these Remedies are a sure cure, if used as directed. It was an ordinary bedroom with a single closet, in which a few soiled clothes were hanging. The bed had been lain upon, and evidently by a person fully dressed, for there were marks of muddy shoes upon the counterpane, fresh marks as of one who had come in during the evening's storm. An empty whisky bottle lay on a little table near the bed. "Well, the man we're after ain't in here; we'll have to search the house." "Can't we let Miss Croydon go home?" said Godfrey. "She won't run away-I'll answer for that. Besides, there's nothing against her.

Suddenly she felt the scrutiny he bent upon her. She raised her eyes to his and he saw a flash of defiance in them. Plainly she did not fear him; he fancied there were few things in the world she did fear.

Cut and bleeding about the head, shoulders and hands, four vegro women were arrested and taken to the police headquarters Thursday night. The fracas occurred in Calhoun street. The melee was at its height when Fred Steinfeldt, an employe of Wells-Fargo Express Company, passing by, heard cries of "murder!" and "help!" and entering the house, stopped the fight probably in the nick of time to prevent the participants from inflicting serious fatal wounds. The police department was notified and Officers Porter and Aiken made the arrest. The quartet arrested were Mary Smith, Mattie Smith, Minnie Munn and Johnnie Jones. It is alleged that Minnie Munn started the fight by going after one of the number with a large pocket knife and that in a few moments a half dozen became involved in the fray, It is also charged that Mattie Smith broke a pitcher over the head of Minnie Munn, the jagged edge inflicting several bad wounds. At the city jail several physicians were summoned and dressed their wounds. The charge of assault was preferred against the four

Sixty Thousand Notices Issued-Bulls - Stop Them and Hold Market Steady

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, April 27.-The much heralded May notice day brought out about 65,000 notices, but so far as weakening the position of the longs they had little or no effect, as they were well taken care of, it being estimated that the bull leader himself stopped 60,000, and at the close of the day's business bulls were seemingly as strongly entrenched as ever, although owing to the extent of the certificated stocks here the number of bales issued was not considered heavy and it is probable that further tenders will be issued during the month. The May situation overshadowed all other developments and the day's news such as favorable weather, etc., was not a factor. However, the reports of splendid demand for actual cotton caused favorable comment. The market opened firm with prices 3 to 4 points higher for May and July. Trade was entirely professional at the start and confined principally to squaring up of accounts in the May option shorts being very eager to purchase owing to the ready absorption of all tenders. Offerings were light and prices soon worked up 4 to 5 points from the opening figures. Around mid-day rumors of the failure of a local insurance company caused some sharp selling of the July option, and prices broke 15 to 18 points from the early high, but upon a denial of this rumor by the local board of underwriters there was a quick rally and the market received good support the balance of the session, closing steady with prices unchanged for May and 3 points lower for July, while new crop options were

On this covering movement prices worked up 7 points, but around the middle of the session longs were intimidated by a report that a large insurance company was in trouble and the pronounced weakness of July in New York, and unloaded some of their holding, resulting in a quick break of 12 to 17 points from the best. When it became definitely proven that the rumor referred to was the result of an over productive imagination, fresh support developed and the market steadied, prices regaining a portion of the loss. Wheat Market Quiet-Price Drops 11/40 For May-Partial Reaction

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, April 27.—The wheat market again ruled dull, although fluctuations covered a fairly wide range, the May option eventually selling 14c below yesterday's closing

The day's news was of an indifferent character, the weather conditions being favorable and Liverpool advices not calculated to exert much influence, on prices. Opening figures here were unchanged to %c higher. Evening up of May contracts was about the only feature of the trading and produced the above mentioned results.

The local pit crowd endeavored to unload their long July commitments, but were defeated in the attempt, owing to some good buying of the May option at the low level. The market closed easy with prices

%c lower for May and %c off for July. Local receipts 4 cars vs. 65 cars the same day last year. Corn exhibited a firm undertone despite the extreme dullness of the session, and closing figures showed a net gain of 1/4 to %c. Local receipts 219 cars against 156 cars this day last year.

Oats were quiet and steady, final figures being unchanged. Local receipts 141 cars, against 72 cars this day last year. Provisions received little or no support and consequently the scattered liquidation which the market encountered, resulted in lower prices. At the close prices were 41/2 to 20c lower for pork, 4½ to 5c lower for lard and 3 to 5c off for ribs.

FWYORK STOCKS NEW YORK COTTON CHICAGO GRAIN CATTLE AND HOGS VIEWS ON THE MARKET

Ware & Leland

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 27 .-New Orleans Cotton-Liverpool furnishing no cause for worry, everything depended on the news from New York. As this was to the effect that all notices were being stopped and that money is ready to care for any amount issued, people felt reassured and bought the market, wondering afterward why there was no boom. There is simply not enough speculation. New crop news is favorable, weather conditions are not sensational enough and all in all, the outlook for next season is more important than the fate of the remnants of this crop. A few notices were issued here for effect but people that have stock are not anxious to part with it on futures

at such a discount in the face of good general spot demand. The short interest in actual cotton among importers seems to be greater than expected. Buyers were not early this morning paying full prices for good grades, which are particularly needed. A favorable weather forecast promising showers in the eastern belt where rain is badly needed, checked the buying spirit somewhat, but futures are very steady and supported by strong spot news, yet there is some disappointment over the ignominious showing made by the markets where a sensational spectacle was expected on such display of monied force in New York, which combined with inactivity toward the week-end and possibly an unfavorable visible supply statement tonight might cause temporary uneasiness.

Short selling of summer positions, however, appears to be risky at pres-

Vivion Commission Company FORT WORTH, April 27.-Cotton prices held up well under the weight of 65,000 notices on May contracts, which were issued in New York today. As has been generally anticipated, these were well taken care of and circulated only a short time, the bull clique storping most of them. They showed no hesitancyi n coping with the situation and from all appearances are strong in their position.

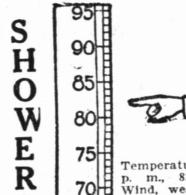

Liverpool news was not much of a factor, contract prices being about as due, while spots were 2 points up, at 6.07d, with sales of 10.000 bales.

News regarding Manchester trade conditions was very bullish, but crop prospects throughout the belt were flattering. In the New York trading, as a matter of course, all eyes were centered on the May option, but with the issuing of the first notices it was plainly evident that bulls would take care of all tengers. Shorts in the May were anxious to cover and during the first hour the price for that option advanced 9 roints. Later a rumor that a New York insurance company had failed C. T. VIVION.

DRIVING PARK RACES

Frank Breaks Record for the Half

Some good records were made at, the matinee races held at the Fort Worth Driving Park Thursday afternoon, the most notable made by Frank, a sixyear-old bay owned and driven by John Bostick Jr., who paced a half mile in 1:09, lowering the track record previously held by Waldie, owned by Dr. Duke of Alvarado, whose time for the same distance was 1:09 \( \frac{1}{2} \). The best time Frank had made until Thursday for the half was 1:091/2. There were three other races held, a 1:20 trot, won by Edwa; green trot, won by Sable J., and the one-fourth mile dash, won by Domino. Good time was made in all races. and many of the finishes were close. The attendance was fair and about $75 were the gate receipts which will be turned over to the local relief committee for San Francisco sufferers. A large number of people wishing to attend the event were unable to do so on account of the Arlington Traction Company having a breakdown on their line. The company states a generator burnt out and there was no power. Following is a list of the officers of the day, and of the entries and time, named in the order of finish: Starter, Ed White; judges, Dr. Ike Mayfield, William Cantrell and J. H. Maddox; timers, Dr. Armstrong and

Baseball Season Opens Saturday Afternoon

With the opening of the Texas League baseball series in this city Saturday afternoon, between the Fort Worth and Cleburne teams, the handsome pennant purchased by Manager Ward as a trophy of the championship of last season will be raised. This will take place at 4:30 o'clock at the ball park, after which the umpire will call the first local game of the sea-

The pennant will be raised to the top of the pole in deep center field by W. H. Ward, owner of the Fort Worth franchise. It is a handsome affair, and will be at the topmost part every day, in order to inspire the Panthers to win another.

The ceremony of raising the flag will take place promptly at 4:30 o'clock, the Panthers and the visitors marching to the center of the field, and then to the pole in a body after their preliminary practice. They will be grouped about the championship pole as the banner is unfurled and then they will march back to the field and the Panthers will take the field and the first ball will be served by the pitcher to the first Cleburne batter. The 1906 season will then be on in full blast in Fort Worth.

According to the usual custom, the league gaines will begin at 4:30 o'clock this season, except Sunday, when they will start at 4 o'clock. For the first Sunday game in Fort Worth the following named railroads will make special excursion rates: Rock Island, with $1.50 maximum from Terral or Graham; Santa Fe, both ways, north and south of Fort Worth; Katy, both ways, over the joint track and south of Fort Worth; the Denver Road, the Frisco and the Cotton Belt.

AGED MAN WILL GO TO MOTHER

Announcement Startles Corporation Court Attendants

Grizzled, gray, bent with the burden of years of misfortunes, Charles D. Cannon stood before Judge Prewett in the corporation court Friday morning to answer to a charge of vagrancy. The court extended its clemency to the aged prisoner on his promise to leave the city. Cannon himself is 65 years of age and his story is a pathetic one. Time has worked deep furrows in his face and his voice trembled as he pleaded guilty to the charge preferred against him. The unique part of the story told by

Cannon while in court was that he was living with his mother and would go back home if permitted to leave

FAINTING SPELLS

Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the Remedy Which Actually Makes

OF THE BLOOD.

Auæmia makes the patient short of breath so that there is often a sense of suffocation, sometimes there is a cough and the sufferer seems to be going into consumption, at others there is a murmur of the heart and heart disease is feared. In the following case severe fainting spells were an alarming symptom resulting from "too little blood."

Mrs. George Forrester, of 7 Curtis street, Watertown, N.Y., says: "Some time ago I took a heavy cold and it left me in a very weak condition. I became worse and worse until finally I had anæmia. I lost flesh and appetite, had no color and was subject to fainting spells. Sometimes they would attack me suddenly and I would fall to the floor with hardly any warning?

"I had one of our best physicians," but after he had been attending me about a month without any improvement in my condition, I decided to see what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills would do

"The pills were well known to me for, about two years before, members of my family had taken them with the best results. I soon found that the pills were just what I needed for I soon began to notice an improvement. After I had taken them a while longer I was entirely cured, and we all believe in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and recommend them highly."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mrs. Forrester because they actually make new blood. They do that one thing and they do it well. Impoverished blood is deficient in red corpuscles. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills increase the number of these red corpuscles and in this way send health and strength to every tissue. Medical authorities are agreed that the health of the nervous system depends directly upon the red corpuscles in the blood and in this way Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured many nervous disorders as well as blood diseases that have not yielded to ordinary treatment.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.
