LARGEST ACCUMULATION IN FORT WORTH

MISSION MEN TO ATTACK TRUST LAW

Prepared to Question the Constitutionality of Law

CASES UP MONDAY

Twenty-one Separate Actions Against More Than One Hundred Defendants

Commission men of Fort Worth, members of the Fort Worth Live Stock Exchange, who are being sued by the attorney general on charges of violating the Texas anti-trust law, are prepared to attack the constitutional-ity of that measure when their cases come up in Austin Monday. Twenty-one separate actions against the commission men, the live stock exchange, Swift, Armour and others, are being filed in Austin Monday. The total list of defendants exceeding five hundred, and the penalties asked by the state under the penalty clause of the anti-trust statute amount to more than $17,000. Provision is made for a compromise or withdrawal of the suits pending a test case having been re-ferred by the attorney general. It is believed the commission men and attorneys will go to Austin Monday prepared for a finish fight, and unless the district court of Travis county shows out the cases at the outset, it is considered not unlikely they will be tried to the supreme court. A number of lawyers and commission men are already in Austin. Among them George Miller, S. C. Can-ning, M. Crane, Marlon Sansom, E. J. Baldridge, G. W. Shields, G. T. Reynolds and R. H. McNeat, met the attorney general Saturday but the result of their meeting was not given.

Answer Prepared

In answer to the pending suits which will be presented Monday when the cases are called in the Twenty-first district court, has been prepared by Capps, Cantey, Hanger and other attorneys for the commission men. Fort Worth, where their interest throughout not only Texas, but all live stock producing sections of the United States has been awakened by the present suits. It is generally conceded that their result will establish a precedent in determining the status of commission men and live stock exchanges. The first plea of the attorney general in the suits is that the defendants in the suits are not corporations and that the state cannot recover a judgment against each of the defendants for a separate and distinct liability and not such as would support a judgment against the defendants jointly upon which the same judgment could be rendered against each of them.

Offer Demurrer

Providing for the contingency that the court overrule the objection presented in the first plea, the defense will then enter a demurrer to the petition, stating that the matters and issues in the manner and form as herein alleged are insufficient and show no cause of action against them. The laws of 1899-1903 under which the suits were brought are then attacked on the following grounds: FIRST—The said act of 1899, if ever valid, was repealed by the act of 1903 which provided in the repealing clause that the act of 1899 was "inoperative from the date of its repeal." It is contended that the act of 1903 was not repealed by the act of 1903, and that the act of 1903 is still in force. SECOND—The act of 1903 is unconstitutional in that the same was uncon-stitutionally passed. It is contended that the act of 1903 is unconstitutional in that it is not expressed in the caption and the proviso attempts to retro-actively take away the right to recover penalties said act alone from domestic corporations, who are not reserving the right to recover same from foreign corporations or natural persons. It is contended that the act of 1903 is unconstitutional in that it is not expressed in the caption and the proviso attempts to retro-actively take away the right to recover penalties said act alone from domestic corporations, who are not reserving the right to recover same from foreign corporations or natural persons. Swallowed Diamond

Valued at $350

WYOMING, Neb., June 2.—Mae Thomas, a two-year-old girl, has swallowed a $350 diamond three weeks ago and who has undergone all the tortures by physicians in their efforts to remove the gem, will Sunday be operated upon by surgeons in an attempt to remove the stone. The girl has been in pain for several days and Miss Thomas' father is anxious to have an operation on any-thing. "I said I would not, but it is not my business to stand." The girl's mother said a difficult operation, "Other surgeons would look at it as being very dangerous, but I don't think so. The operation has been carried on in the home of Miss Thomas' attorney, who has promised immunity to the child in case the diamond is found." Tombs & Co., from whom the diamond was stolen, is included in a list which a number of prominent citizens have carried on to raise the $150 necessary for the girl's operation.

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, June 2.—Five years ago, just as American stocks and bonds were coming into high favor in France, the sheepard trust swindle started two continents and was the immediate cause of the great down-fall in prices which followed. At the very moment Europe began to buy our stocks it was discovered that American graft was planning nothing less than a grand larceny. Proof of crookedness in one trust caused the foreigners to condemn them all and ship loads of stocks and bonds were handed back across the sea.

Chas. Edwards Defeats Edmund for National Stakes

Special to The Telegram. BELMONT PARK RACE TRACK, June 2.—It is conservatively estimated that the public dropped $25,000 in the betting ring today, when Chas. Edwards came home in front of Rainey Bro.'s so-called $45,000 crack colt Demunw. Incidentally the Rainey lost $30,000 in the race. It was what many of the racing people are pleased to term the biggest racing day of the year—the occasion of the running of the National Stallion stakes of $20,000 and the International Steeplechase. Judged by the size of the crowd and the money bet in the ring such is the case. The grand stand, the general inclosures and the paddock were crowded, probably 40,000 persons on the grounds at the time the field went to the post for the start in the National Stallion stakes.

Only After Long Persuasion Does Queen Consent to Accompany Husband

Special to The Telegram. WINDSOR, Eng., June 2.—Despite her recent domestic griefs, Queen Alexandra has not lost any of her sparkle and does not fear to lecture her royal husband on his lapses from his domestic duties. The king and queen and Princess Victoria with the children of the Prince of Wales, were due to arrive at Windsor castle early this afternoon to spend the Whitenside holiday with a party of distinguished guests. Not arriving on time, the castle functionaries became uneasy. The lack of punctuality is extraordinary because the king moves with the precision of a rail-roads train. Telephonic inquiries from the castle to Lord Knollys, the king's secretary, at Buckingham palace, elicited no information concerning the delay Saturday morning. When the king arrived, he was informed that the queen had refused to accompany him to Windsor castle. For a long time the queen resisted the pleadings of the king and the petition of the Hon Charles Knollys, her secretary, and intimate friend. The royal automobiles were waiting hours by the palace door. Four o'clock arrived, but the queen still remained obdurate and refused to go. Shortly after 5 o'clock the queen succumbed to pressure and was fairly hustled into an automobile and the royal run to Windsor began. In Windsor tonight it is stated that the queen was angry with the king because of his majesty left the palace in a private brougham to visit one of his favorites and did not return until late Saturday morning. The king's absence angered his majesty left the palace in a private brougham to visit one of his favorites and did not return until late Saturday morning. BARON WANTS GIRL HERSELF

Interested in International Love Match

Special to The Telegram.
PITTSBURG, Pa., June 2.—"I know that your daughter does not have a cent in her own name. I don't care for that. I have some money—a little, enough, I think, for us to live on comfortably. Will you give your consent to our marriage?"

It sounds strange, this, from a titled foreigner, but that is what Mrs. James Neale says that Baron Riedel de Riedelmau said to her when he asked for the hand of her daughter, Miss Louise Magee, in marriage.

And Mrs. Neale ought to know how the match was made, for didn't she take her daughter abroad last winter to visit her aunt, Mrs. Christopher

MAN DIES FROM STING OF

Physicians Unable to Render Assistance and Are Frustrated

Special to The Telegram.
SPARTANBURG, S. C., June 2.—The death of J. H. Zimmerman, which occurred at his home at Cedar Springs this morning, is proving a puzzle to physicians and worthy of the attention of those who hold belief in the influence that mind exerts over the physical man. Mr. Zimmerman's death was due to the sting of a bee yesterday morning. When the bee lighted on Mr. Zimmerman's ear, he never realized, though he was well known to the knowledge of the attending physicians was done to sustain Mr. Zimmerman, it appears, had a mortal dread of bees and on several occasions when stung took to his bed and remained several weeks. Physicians explain that the poison from the sting of the bee was quickly absorbed into the region of the brain, which caused unconsciousness.

Mr. Zimmerman was a prominent farmer of his section and was a Confederate soldier, having served in the civil war.

It is said that George Fletcher, who lives in Killee, near Pomeroy, Chester, Tyronne, is the oldest subject of the Edward. He has recently celebrated his 118th year and may be the oldest man in the world.

Charles Haynes Haswell of New York, 87 years of age, is a prominent engineer, and was an interesting figure at the laying of the new engineers' clubhouse corner stone Mrs. Carnegie recently.

RAILROADS RUSHED

Lines of Steel Being Hurried to Bullfrog District

GOLDFIELD, Nev., June 2.—The several railway enterprises headed in the direction of the Bullfrog district are being pushed to completion with a rapidity which assures for the district three competing lines within the next few months. The Los Vegas and Tonopah, better known as the Clark road, will be first to arrive. The graders' camp may now be seen on the desert, eleven miles southeast of Rhyolite, and excavation has already been started on the heavy rock work between that point and Beatty. According to a statement made by J. Ross Clark when in the Bullfrog district a short time ago, the work will be rushed to occupation as fast as men and means can perform the task.

Similar activity exists among the Tonopah and Potosi water people. Rapid progress is being made and early fall will see the completion of this line into the Bullfrog district. Grading and steel laying crews are advancing the road toward the district rapidly, but some heavy rock work which will be encountered before reaching the mines may delay its completion till fall.

A corps of engineers in the employ of the Goldfield-Bullfrog road (an extension of the Goldfield line) was in the Bullfrog district last week arranging terminal matters. Steel is already being laid on the northern end of the line, permanent surveys will be completed into the Bullfrog district as soon as possible, grading camps will be established there, and active construction will be under way from both ends in a short time.

The gain in cash was $1,126,700 instead of the $6,000,000 to $2,000,000 predicted. Loans increased by $2,152,400 and deposits increased by $4,019,300.

ians Unable to Render assistance and Are Puzzled

The Telegram, S. C., June 1st of J. H. Zimmerman, which at his home at Cedar Spring, is proving a puzzle to the and worthy of the attention those who hold belief in the that mind exerts over physical. Mr. Zimmerman's death was the sting of a bee yesterday. When the bee lighted on Zimmerman's ear and left his ear, Zimmerman called out and his wife hastened to him, and about ten feet and fell in a convulsed condition, from which ralled, though everything the knowledge of the attendants was done to sustain life. Zimmerman, it appears, lived in read of bees and on several when stung took to his bed, and in several weeks. Finally was injected into a blood vessel and was quickly carried region of the brain. Feel Right When You Feed Right

You know one always feels very fit when the head and nerves swing along peacefully and with that certain sense of power that is unmistakable.

But when overwork or anxiety breaks down the soft gray matter in the brain and nerve cells (anxiety does it quicker than overwork) faster than the food you have been using replaces it, then to save yourself from that horror of darkness, nervous prostration, you must change food, and take on some sure rebuilders.

That's the mission of Grape-Nuts, made of selected parts of Wheat and Barley, containing the natural Phosphate of Potash which combines with albumen in the human body and makes the soft gray filling of the brain and nerve centers.

There's a Reason.

A woman once wrote us that she was not going to buy Scott's Emulsion any more because it cost too much. Said she could get some other emulsion for less money. Penny wise and pound foolish. Scott's Emulsion costs more because it is worth more—costs more to make. We could make Scott's Emulsion cost less by using less oil. Could take less care in making it, too. If we did, however, Scott's Emulsion wouldn't be the standard preparation of cod liver oil as it is to day.

Becomes Bride for Sixth Time, Now in California

Special to The Telegram. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 2.—Mrs. Grace Snell-Coffin-Love is the name that tells the story of the most-married and oftenest-divorced woman in the world. For the sixth time Mrs. Layman, who was the daughter of the late Amos J. Snell, wealthy Chicago real estate man, has married in Ventura, Cal. Her latest husband is Hugh M. Love, a young California newspaper man.

They were divorced in 1894 on grounds of incompatibility, but four years later, at the bedside of their dying child, they were remarried, and lived again divorced in 1899, and the same year Mrs. Coffin became the wife of J. C. Walker, a hotel clerk, whose wife she had outlived. She also gave him $20,000, and then discovered that he was not her affinity. They were divorced in 1900.

1901—Remarried to Frank Nixon Coffin, Nov. 17. honeymoon at Metropole hotel lasted four days. Divorced Coffin Nov. 11 for unknown reasons.

1903—Married Perkins A. Layman, a clerk at Vanuys hotel, Los Angeles. 1905—Divorced him. 1906—Married Hugh M. Love. Mrs. Coffin's mother died in 1900, leaving an estate valued at $800,000, to be divided among her three children. Mrs. Coffin's resources had previously suffered on account of her matrimonial ventures. She was sued for a cigarette bill in Chicago, for jewelry in New York, for board bills in San Francisco and for the education of her children. She went into bankruptcy, and was released of $50,000 in debts. Her latest alliance it is said, promises to bring her happiness after a long record of unfortunate matrimonial ventures.

Jaunty Frock for a Girl

For cool days during the summer, a jaunty frock for the girl still in her teens is of certain white serge, severely plain, the only touch of color being the blue enamel buttons and the embroidered blue ends of the saucy tie.

The waist is tucked into a plain black, which joins it to a gracefully shaped yoke. Fine white linen lace is used for the yoke, and upon this the sailor tie is suspended. The serge band which edges the yoke is ornamented with blue buttons. The tops of the sleeves are full and tucked, and are drawn into lace cuffs. These end a trifle below the elbow.

To be worn with this charming gown is a high crowned sailor of rough straw is made.

EARLY CLOSING PLAN APPROVED

Matter to Be Taken Up Officially Monday

Committees working for the early closing of freight offices Saturday during the summer months and referring to the matter will likely be made to the railroad officials Monday.
The committees have been interviewing the large shippers regarding the matter, asking their co-operation for the early closing of freight offices on Saturdays. Many favorable replies have been received and these will be used in presenting the matter to the railroad officials.
The total number of favorable communications received to Saturday noon was over fifteen, the companies represented being among the heaviest shippers at this place. As proposed the offices are to be closed at 1 o'clock each Saturday afternoon during the summer.
Casey Swasey writes that they are heartily in accord with the movement.
Scripps and Hobbie say they see no reason why the plan should not be adopted and that it would not inconvenience shippers when it becomes a custom.
The Wesco Supply Company announces it will offer no objection if the majority are willing to have the early closing.
The Fort Worth Macaroni Company writes the clerks endorsing their view regarding early closing and declaring sales for success.
Bery Wehmler Machine Company writes that whatever is satisfactory to the rest will suit them and the F. H. Williams Company declare they think it a good plan.
Among others declaring in favor of the proposition are the Texas Brewing Company, John W. Co., M. Williams & Co. and the Harkrider-Morrison Company.
C. E. Fagan has succeeded Ab Speight, resigned, as night station master at the Fort Worth union station, Monday, June 4, and Houston and Texas Central lines.
Announcement has been issued from the general passenger office of the Erie that owing to the inclement weather the annual picnic and outing of the railway trainmen, to have been held today at Burdette has been postponed until Sunday, June 19.
George B. Vorhees, recently appointed Fort Worth and Denver agent at American, was in Fort Worth Saturday, en route from Dallas to his station. Mr. Vorhees is one of the best known railroad men in Texas and one of the most popular. For several years he was the Cotton Belt agent at Cardale and from there was sent to Dallas as general agent for the same road.

COMMISSION MEN TO ATTACK TRUST LAW

The constitution of Texas in that (a) The act contains more than one subject, and the subject thereof is not expressed in the title.
(b) By the terms of the said act persons violating the provisions hereof are compelled to give evidence against themselves in violation of the Texas bill of rights.
(c) The act attempts to give district and county attorneys the right to inquire into the character of private corporations and to take action thereon in the courts in violation of the Texas constitution, which confers this power exclusively on the attorney general.
(d) The act places unreasonable restrictions upon the right of contract in that it denies the right to acquire, hold or dispose of property. By some of its terms the mere acquisition of property is made evidence of a violation of its provisions, while by other terms the failure to dispose of property is made unlawful, and for the exercise of either of these constitutional rights extreme penalties are inflicted.
Class Legislation
The act of 1899 is also pleaded as invalid because in its entirety it denies to citizens of the state, including corporations, freedom of contract and the right to acquire, possess and dispose of property and the equal protection of the process of law. Plea is also made that the act of 1899 makes unjust classification in that stock raisers, agriculturists and laborers, which include the larger part of the state's citizenship, are exempted from its provisions for reason of such exemptions and arbitrary and unjust classifications the act of 1899, under which the present suits are prosecuted, denies to the defendants the equal protection of the law, and to permit a recovery of penalties it would be a violation of the fourteenth amendment to the United States constitution.
Reference is also made to the eighth section of the act of 1899, which requires certain officers of corporations doing business in the state to furnish the secretary of state an affidavit in writing, denying any violation of the terms of the act by the corporation, and is provided that a failure to make such affidavit for thirty days shall be taken as prima facie proof of the violation of the law, which is declared making a corporation party in a criminal case to give evidence against itself in violation of the United States constitution.
Other phases of the act referring to the sale of patented devices, the excessive penalties provided for and the provision referring to the collection and

LINES TO BE RUSHED
South Side Work Will Be Pushed With All Speed
William Capps, attorney for the Northern Texas Traction Company, announced Saturday that the company proposes to begin at once the construction of the South side lines if the franchise is granted as proposed. Under the petitions being circulated for the referendum election, announcement is made that the company desires to build the line within six months.
Women are supposed to be vain, but no man is as handsome as he thinks he is.

handling of press dispatches are all attacked as unconstitutional.
Collection of Penalty
The part of the attorney general's petition referring to the recovery of penalties is also attacked on the following grounds:
(a) No penalty had been instituted and no judgment recovered for any of the alleged violations of the act of 1899, at the date of the passage of the act of 1903, if valid, did not reserve to the state the right to maintain a suit thereafter, because to give such right would give to the said statute the effect of a retrospective or ex post facto law.
(b) The said act of 1899, being a penalty law and being indefinitely framed and of such doubtful wording that it cannot be understood either from the language in which it is expressed or from any other written law of the state, the same is void for uncertainty under the terms of article 5 of the general provisions of the penal code of this state.
(c) The act of 1899, not sufficiently designating what shall constitute an offense and therefore the defendants cannot be held liable for any act of omission alleged to be in violation of the act of 1899, since under article 3 of the general provisions of the penal code of Texas no person shall be punished for an act or omission unless the same is a penal offense.
It is also made that the state's cause of action, if it ever had any under the act of 1899, accrued more than two years next before the institution of the suit and is therefore barred by the statute of limitations.
Act of 1903 Attacked
A special exception to the state's petition is made on the ground that it is insufficient, and that no penalties were collected, because of alleged violation of the provisions of the act of 1903, the same being alleged unconstitutional, null and void, because of its provisions which are in violation of its provisions may before a single violation, and the act of 1903 put in jeopardy for the same act in violation of the fifth amendment to the United States constitution.
The act of 1903 is also attacked on the ground that it is unconstitutional, and that it does not secure the infliction of the same character of punishment upon all persons within the jurisdiction of the state.
The act of 1903 is also attacked on the ground that it prevents the free exercise of the right of contract and the right to acquire, hold or dispose of property from another corporation purchase from another corporation property.
Exchange Incorporated
Exception is made to the state's petition on the ground that the Fort Worth Live Stock exchange of which the defendants are alleged to be members, was at the time of the alleged commission of the acts of the defendants incorporated under the laws of Texas and empowered under its charter and by the law to establish and maintain authority in connection with the city of Fort Worth in the sale of live stock and to adopt rules and regulations which should govern all transactions in which such exchange. The defendants say that the adoption and enforcement of such rules are not in violation of the act of either 1899 or 1903, and they move to strike out the parts of the state's petition relating to fixing the minimum charge for selling live stock, limiting the number of solicitors, imposing fines on members for violation of laws, prohibiting the members of the exchange from paying contingent charges on their respective shares, prohibiting the members of the exchange from soliciting shipments, the resolution prohibiting members from soliciting or obtaining commissions, except in case of bona fide sales, the rules of the charter limiting membership to 100, the rules of the exchange restricting for an assessment of money to pay expenses, and other rules of the exchange.
Charge is made also that the sixth paragraph of the state's petition is insufficient in that stockholders and employees are not by terms of the anti-trust law of Texas made liable for the violation of such laws by corporations.
A large number of pleas of insufficiency and irrelevancy are made to a number of paragraphs in the state's petition.
Plea of Not Guilty
A general plea of not guilty is also entered. Statement is made that the defendants, alleged to be members of the exchange, have not been convicted by the state, nothing that they have done has been done with any intention of violating the act of 1899 or the act of 1903, but everything they have done has been done for the public good.

Special to The Telegram.
MINERAL WELLS, Texas, June 2.—It is reported here that Colonel W. W. Johnson is about to re-open the old Conville mines near Gordon on Barton's Creek. Colonel Johnson discovered and opened the Thurber mines nearly twenty years ago. The demand for coal in Texas is greatly in excess of the output and it is said the Texas and Pacific railroad alone uses $5 per cent of the output at Thurber.

Mineral Wells Notes

The rush of visitors to the Wells is already in full blast. Large numbers of guests are registered now at every week's end, the popularity of Mineral Wells as a Sunday resort being long ago established.
Dr. Chalmers Prentice of Chicago delivered a lecture at the Crazy Well pavilion Friday on the "Immortality of the Soul." The lecture was well received by a large audience.
Mrs. Thompson and daughter Wallson have gone to Jackson, Miss., to visit relatives.
J. W. Higgins of Grapevine, who has been visiting here, has returned home greatly benefited in health.
In the storm Thursday night the large tent erected by the Baptists for the use of Rev. G. W. Truitt, was blown down, but was not seriously damaged.
A summer school will be opened in the rock public school building Monday by Professor M. S. Watts.

ONE OF BOSTON'S STURDY PITCHERS IS GIBSON

A pitcher from whom the Boston Americans expect a great deal this season is Norwood Gibson, the Peoria, Ill. boy, who graduated from the ranks of the minors several seasons ago. Gibson is a college graduate and expects to take up a professional career when his diamond days are over. Gibson

DOUBLE GAME MARKS RETURN

Panthers Home to Tackle the Boll Weevils

After such a "ragging, nagging" revenge from Greenville as the baseball season for 1906 has not forced Fort Worth to take from any other aggregation of the diamond, the Fort Worth bunch of Pretty Panther Pets will be Sunday pitted against the Temple Boll Weevils for a double-header. For the initial game of this dual Dupre will be the main attraction, operating from the box. He is expected to issue no deadheads, but make all horsehide messages read C. O. D. The catcher has not been announced definitely for the first game, but Berry and Irwin will divide the honors of the two passages at bat.

For the second game Sunday, it is expected that Clark will be in the box. The Temple team is expected to arrive this morning by an early train. Several of the fans have expressed a desire to see the work of Vance, the youngest pitcher in the Texas League, here today. It is not known whether or not he will be used by Temple during either of the two games. The fact that he has developed the use of the "spit ball" during the past two seasons accounts for the fact that he is considered one of the best men in the league in the box. Vance was the star attraction of the North Texas League during the season of 1905, being attached to the Texarkana team during that season. Collins will umpire the games this afternoon, the first being called at 2 o'clock.

Pity may be akin to love, but a girl isn't willing to accept it as a substitute.

Inside Work Is Big Factor in the Game

"Inside work is a big factor in modern baseball," according to Terry Turner, the risky little Cleveland infielder. "You will observe, if you look closely, that the winning teams are the ones that have developed this feature of the game. Inside work does not permit of individual playing as much as when every man is a unit, but it brings results, and after all that is what counts. The infield of a baseball team should be like a piece of well was with Charley Nichols when he managed the Kansas City Western League team during the war times among the minors out west and his excellent showing there attracted the attention of major league managers. He has a fairly speedy ball, but relies on curves and brain throbs to pull him out of the deep places.

No games played in the Texas league Saturday on account of rain.

SIR HURON WINS LATONIA DERBY

Lady Navarre Takes Lead and Finishes Second

RACE DISAPPOINTS

Winning Horse Was Favorite and There Was Little Contest and Betting

Special to The Telegram.
CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 2.—The Latonia Derby, run this afternoon, was won by Sir Huron, against a lone contender, Lady Navarre. Although somewhat quicker in starting, Lady Navarre soon dropped back to second place and it was Sir Huron's race without difficulty. He was the favorite with the public and the experts and his victory was confidently anticipated. His name on the card was the cause of the small field that faced the barrier when the bugle sounded. The race was disappointing to the public. The same can be said of it as a betting proposition. The odds on Sir Huron were 1 to 3 and 1 to 4 and the odds on Lady Navarre were 2 to 1 and 3 to 2.

BEVERIDGE WRITES OF INSPECTION BILL

Indiana Senator Says Packers Would Welcome It

CALLS LAW MODERATE Says He is Willing to Let Bygones Go, But if Opposed Further Will Open Rancid Fight

BY ALBERT J. BEVERIDGE. Senator from Indiana and Author of the Meat Inspection Bill, Which Has Passed the Senate.

The purpose of the meat inspection bill is to make certain that the American people shall get from our packers just as good meat and meat food products as the European people get from them.

The European governments demand that we subject all meats shipped to them to careful inspection, and we, on our part, concede that that demand is just. This is the reason why the Federal government provides for such careful inspection of meat sold abroad.

But if it is conceded that we ought to inspect meat sold to the people of other countries, we ought to inspect meat sold to the people of our own country.

I do not care to say at this time anything about conditions in any packing house of this country. I have no desire to punish anyone for past offenses. We are now in a period of the moral reformation of American business.

If the law is enacted I am willing that the American people and the world shall have the warrant of a statute of the United States that whatever conditions may have been in the past, conditions in the future shall be correct and beyond criticism.

And if there is any attempt to emasculate this bill the people will know whom to hold responsible. It was prepared with the utmost care, for violating the Elkins rebate act. The fine was $10,000 each...

MORE MEN ASKED TO FIGHT FIRES

North Fort Worth Department Asks Increase

At the regular meeting of the city council of North Fort Worth there will be presented to the council by the fire committee a petition for an increase in the number of firemen.

The department is now composed of six men, two regulars and four volunteers. The committee will contend that this number is inadequate, especially if there should be a fire of great size.

North Fort Worth has a good water supply, with sufficient pressure to handle any fire," stated Chief John Buckland, recently, "but if we were compelled to bring all of our apparatus into use we could not man it with our present department."

A member of the fire committee stated Friday that the committee hopes that the petition will receive favorable consideration by the council.

The North Fort Worth fire department has been resting lately, there having been but one call turned in during the last thirty days, and Chief Buckland is making arrangements for practice runs as the horses are in great need of regular exercise.

These practice runs will probably be made three times a week and will be two or three miles long.

The department was called to East Tenth Street and Rusk streets Saturday morning by a fire in the grocery store owned by Mrs. L. G. Copp at that corner. Mrs. Copp's explanation of the fire is that she had left the stove upon going to the office.

Bank Opens Next Week W. H. Grove of Fort Worth returned Thursday from a ten days' trip through West Texas and New Mexico, and reports a very pleasant as well as profitable journey.

North Fort Worth Exchange National bank, when asked of the progress being made toward opening for business, Mr. Grove said Saturday: "Friday we finished the work on the new vault, which is the best and best protected one we have ever had."

On account of the delay in the arrival of the office fixtures for the bank we will not get open for business before next week, and will then probably start before the permanent fixtures have arrived."

The order is for the most modern and convenient bank office fixtures made of quarter-sawn oak. The new building is a handsome addition to the business district of North Fort Worth, being constructed of red brick and trimmed with white stone.

The Exchange National bank is capitalized at $50,000. W. H. Grove is president with D. W. Dupree, late of the First National bank of Marshall, Texas, as cashier.

He wrote to her, declared his passion at every opportunity, threatened her, and swore that he would possess her even if he was compelled to commit crime. In St. Petersburg the baron had gone the pace. He indulged in the wildest dissipations and up to the time he met the charming Olga, he was not only feared, but hated by the peasants. Love for her became the passion of his life. He plotted and planned. He found a hundred pretexts for seeing her, and the more he became enamored the more the girl was filled with disgust. Her father warmly favored Baron Lupianoff's suit and encouraged it. But his love for his daughter was so great that when she told him that she would kill herself unless the baron discontinued his visits and attentions, he took the side of the girl. He wrote to the baron and told him that it was best that he should not call again at the Ostrelsky mansion. A few days later the baron rode up, threw himself from his horse, rushed into the house and seized the girl in his arms. He kissed her, swore that he would marry her, and fought the servants who came to the rescue of their mistress. There were bleeding noses and broken heads and much furniture was smashed. In his fury the baron killed Olga's pet dog, then remounting his horse, he rode away. Ivan Ostrelsky placed guards about his home and half a dozen attempts to kidnap Olga were frustrated. On the last occasion the baron was betrayed by a valet. He, the baron, had planned to hold up the Ostrelsky carriage on the way to church and capture the girl. When the holdup occurred, the carriage was found to contain five men who captured the baron and servants and bound them hand and foot. They were taken to the Ostrelsky villa at midnight and Ivan Ostrelsky told them that they were to be held prisoners until Olga had the protection of a husband. The baron and his two companions were placed in a cellar and chained. They were well fed and well treated, but they were prisoners without hope.

PATRICK CASE DELAY SCORED

Special to The Telegram. ALBANY, N. Y., June 2.—"Little less than scandalous" is the phrase used by Governor Higgins in a veto memorandum issued regarding "the law delays" in the case of Albert T. The governor's veto is of two bills introduced by Assemblyman Wade of Chautauque to amend the code of criminal procedure so as to permit an pending motion for a new trial on newly discovered evidence. I disapprove them for the reason that they introduce a new procedure to our criminal law and tend to defer indefinitely the termination of a capital case. "Rice, of whose murder Patrick is convicted, died on Sept. 23, 1900, nearly six years ago. The law's delays in this case seem to me little less than scandalous. In case of extreme hardship, where the judge before whom the motion for a new trial is made denies the defendant's motion without giving proper consideration to such evidence, the constitution provides a practical remedy. An amendment to the code of criminal procedure might, however, well be made which would permit defendant's application for a new trial in a capital case to be made to any justice of the supreme court within the judicial department where the conviction was had, so that the defendant may not be required in any case to present his motion to the judge presiding at the trial." Recorder Goff, before whom Patrick was originally tried, has now under consideration such a motion for a new trial for Patrick, and Governor Higgins has relieved the condemned lawyer for a third time until June 18 on

INSTRUCT FOR BRYAN Indiana Delegation Will Support Nebraska Man INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 2.—Delegates to the democratic state convention, which will meet in this city on Thursday next, have been selected in nearly all of the counties in the state, and almost without exception the conventions at which they were chosen have declared in favor of William J. Bryan as the party's candidate for the Presidency in 1908. In some of the conventions there were a few who questioned the wisdom of such a pronouncement at this time, but the great majority of the delegates were enthusiastic in the demand and the opposition melted away before the determined attitude which Bryan's friends assumed. It is now conceded by the state leaders that Bryan will be indorsed at the state convention. TO SECURE MORE IMMIGRANTS The Rock Island Will Pick Out Settlers for the Southwest in Europe CHICAGO, June 2.—Competition for colonists is becoming so keen among the railroads of the west and southwest that the roads are taking decisive measures to capture new settlers. John Sebastian, passenger traffic manager of the Rock Island, will go to Europe next week to establish an immigration bureau there to secure colonists for his road. He will be accompanied by an experienced immigration agent. They expect to perfect such arrangements as will result in a continuous flow of desirable settlers for the southwestern lands. Francis Joseph Will Be Asked to Aid in Russian Situation

Special Cable to The Telegram. (Copyright, 1906, by Hearst News Service.) (BY PAUL LAMBETH) LONDON, June 2.—The illness of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, who is expected to have a conference with the czar in a few days, and the almost certain outbreak of a general revolution in Russia are greatly worrying the German government, who fears that it may cause an insurrection in the German Polish provinces, where the government agents are busy in making public enemies. A general desire to have a change in the government is spreading. The government is daily assuming more and more importance in our country.

Professor Meyer has spent years in digesting and arranging materials for this book before entering upon the task of writing. The work is labor cannot but throw upon municipal ownership, as in Britain and the results obtained. These facts will furnish data for Americans to use when attacking a question of municipal ownership.

Imperialist Party Said to Be Planning New Coup

Special Cable to The Telegram. (Copyright, 1906, by Hearst News Service.) (BY MARQUIS DE CASTELLANE) PARIS, June 2.—The recent score which has prevailed in France has given rise in the minds of certain people to the thought of a form of government which would be very popular in a word, to the Napoleonic regime. As, however, the Napoleonic regime is officially represented only by Prince Victor Napoleon, who maintains the most absolute silence, the attention of the imperialist is turned toward another member of the family, Prince Louis Napoleon. Those who by a spirit of conservatism, rather than of gratitude or family tradition, are attached to the imperialist party are now wondering if the time is not ripe for another coup.

FRANCE SEES END OF ALLY

Russian Situation Compares to Reign of Terror in 1792

HISTORY REPEATS

Vacillation of Czar Said to Be Cause—Wrong Means Used to Placate

Special Cable to The Telegram. (Copyright, 1906, by Hearst News Service.) (BY MARQUIS DE CASTELLANE) PARIS, June 2.—Notwithstanding the disorders which reign at home, and the numerous preoccupations of the socialist turn of the elections in France, we still have time and attention to give to the crisis through which our ally, Russia, is passing. However much Russia may choose to shut her eyes to the real condition of things there is no denying that the appearance of things as they are will ward the close of the eighteenth century.

This year in Russia would turn out like 1792 in France. The monarch took back with one hand what he had given with the other. We also had an excellent army, but when the time came to fire upon the people it revolted and refused to obey the orders of its chiefs. So did we have legislators who proclaimed their respect for their sovereign, and at the very first call of the mob which invaded Paris for the purpose of making Louis XVI prisoner, joined in, some at the head, some as followers of the crowd, carried away by the pressure of public opinion instead of resisting it.

It looks pretty much as though Russia was going to go through exactly the same series of events. The revolutionary party has for its chiefs the princes who are revolting against the autocracy; Dolgorouki, Troubetzkoi, etc., who represent the element which in 1789 was led by such men as Talleyrand and especially Mirabeau.

The czar, wrongly advised, does not seem to take their complaints seriously. He is making a grand show of the princes of his house, who, in flashy uniforms, are appearing at the duma. He expects by means of much pomp and military display to drown the cries of the people, whom he has hitherto been in the habit of holding under his heel.

IN THE LABOR WORLD

Pittsburg plasterers earn $4.50 per day. Boston plumbers get a wage of $4.00 per day. Notices have been posted in all the cotton mills of New London and Windham counties, Connecticut, of a 10 per cent increase in wages, to take effect at once. The increase will affect 2,000 operatives, and numerous flourishing mills in that section of the state.

The shipment of the Pennsylvania railroad, who were reduced to twenty-five hours a week on April 2, were recently notified that hereafter the working hours would be forty-eight hours a week. More than 10,000 men between Philadelphia and Pittsburg will be benefited. By order of the Prussian minister of public works a nine-hour working day was introduced recently in the state railway workshops in the Berlin, Frankfurt-on-Main, Magdeburg, and Posen railway districts, and time wages were increased, so that no decrease in the workmen's wages should result from the reduction of the working hour.

The Brooklyn Rapid Transit has just raised the rating of its elevated station agents, shortened their hours at the busy stations and for the first time in the history of the company placed the women employed in this branch of its service on the same basis as the men. Since the successful strike of the grand opera chorus girls in New York several weeks ago, their union has been growing rapidly. The new union is known as the Actors' National Protective Union, chartered by the American Federation of Labor. Its members include Germans, French, English and Italian singers.

The laundry workers of Coshocton, Ohio, who were recently organized and who before their formation into a union were compelled to work ten and twelve hours a day, have been successful in having their working hours reduced to nine without any reduction in wages. They were also granted the Saturday half holiday. In Germany on an average of twelve trades cited, one hour's work represents, approximately, 12 cents of earnings. In the case of these trades in Germany, the British employer had to pay, on the average, of these trades, 46 per cent more for labor than the German employer pays, while the difference is against the American employer is 121 per cent.

There is a picturesque fight on in South Bend, Ind., between the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees of America and the South Bend Railway Company. For two years the union has tried to compel the railway authorities to recognize their organization. Now the union is turning to the courts, attorneys which were purchased especially for that purpose, in the streets of South Bend in opposition to the railway cars. The headquarters of Paris, France, who are on strike because their employers refused to close on Sundays, compelled the closing of the shops recently by the strike of the army and navy should make a desertion upon the shore early in the day, and a "big sea" day. The fashionably berber shops in the center of the city were closed by the strike, and customers were their eyes and their feet were bogged in and then fell. As a result every shop closed at 1 o'clock.

Governor Higgins of New York recently signed the Pass law, which provides for an eight-hour day and the prevailing rate of wages on all state and municipal contract work. This is a result of section 2 of the labor law, which before the adoption of the constitutional amendment last fall had been declared unconstitutional by the court of appeals. When the bill came up on the order of final passage in the assembly many of the members gave it as their opinion that if the bill became a law it would again be declared unconstitutional.

SCHOOLGIRL'S CHUM

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER. (Copyright, 1906, by Jas. H. Bowles) "Choosing partners" sounds as if we were going to play a game, and, in fact, that is just what we are doing every day of our lives. Whether we are in school or at home, busy or idle, happy or sorrowful, we are always playing the great game that begins when we are babies and goes on till we are grandmothers.

It is very funny, isn't it, to think of ever being a grandmother, when one is only 14 or 15, or may be younger? But I have been looking at the picture of a girl who is a grandmother, a picture taken when she was a schoolgirl, with dancing eyes and cool black hair and merry dimples, when she was as gay and light-hearted as any of you. She wore a yellow silk frock, and a black silk mantle over her shoulders, and she had a little bonnet tied under her chin. It was a good way of dressing, but it was the fashion then, and it looked as pretty as your fashions do now.

It is always the face that matters most, and fashions have little to do with the looks of sweet girls. This girl has never lost her beauty, nor her trick of smiling with dimples that chase one another over her face, and she is a bewitching grandmother and a fairy godmother to a bevy of young people.

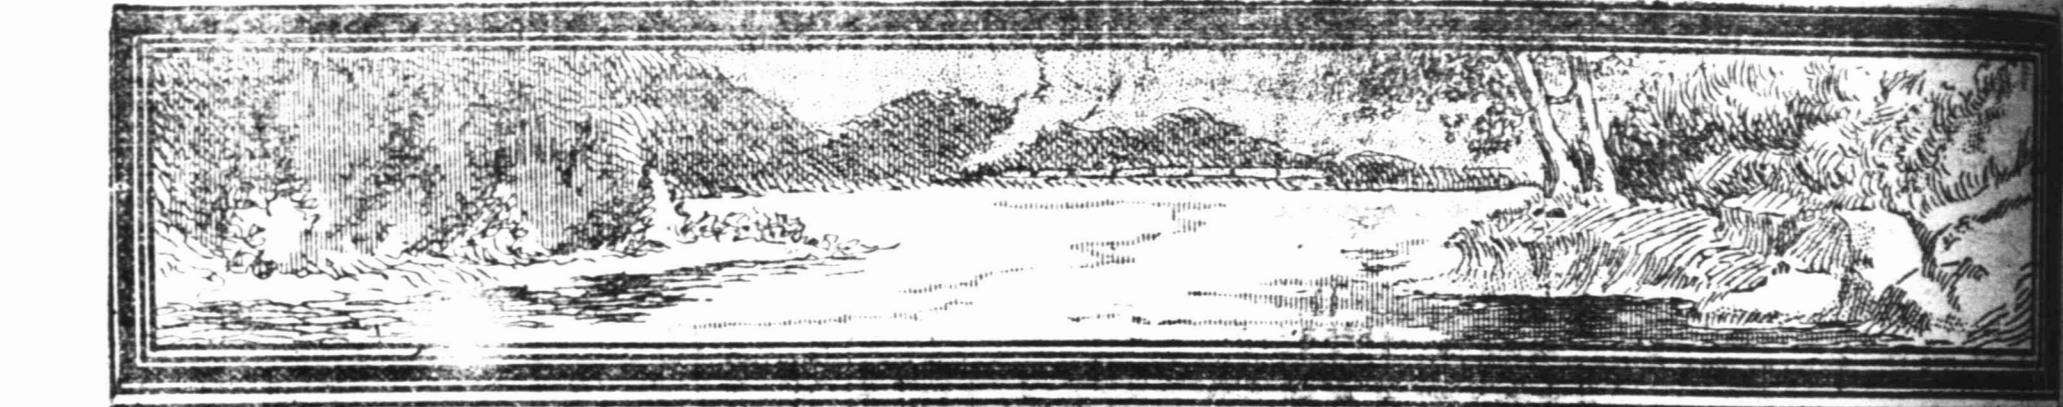

Choosing partners was what I thought of when I looked at her, for she was one that everybody wanted to choose. She had her chums, and her comrades, and generally there was one a week bit dearer than the others. On the day that school opens they may be sixty girls in a class, and they may be total strangers to one another. But very soon they will drift into groups and into circles of threes and fours and finally you will see them walking home together or strolling about the playground or the street, two and two. Nothing is so unnatural in a schoolgirl as to have no friends. Our friendships mean a great deal to us when we are growing up, a great deal more than older people dream.

To share one's desk or one's room with a disagreeable girl, or with a girl who is not in sympathy with one, is a real misery. The next worst thing is to have a chum forced on one against her will. Occasionally a teacher insists on putting together two girls who belong apart. The result is seldom blissful. Once in a while a mother makes the mistake of naming on the grace and amiability and the cleverness of Maude or Mabel to Mary and Jane, who very probably with nothing to do with either of the daughters. There is no surer way of antagonizing a girl and setting her against somebody else than the way of continually praising the somebody and showing off her good qualities at the expense of the other.

I remember two girls who ought to have been the best of friends, but who were driven into a condition very much like enmity, because the one was forever held up to the other as a bright and shining example.

Why Doctors Say "Drink Pabst Beer" CAREFUL inquiry shows that doctors, in perhaps the large majority of cases, prescribe Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer because they know of its absolute purity and positive cleanliness. "It is the cleanest and richest beer in the world," said one of Chicago's leading doctors the other day. "What appeals to me," he said, "is the Pabst process and Pabst eight-day malt, so very different from all the rest. We doctors appreciate sterilization and we are teaching the people in their homes the value of sterilization. On almost every visit we make we emphasize that. I have visited all the breweries of importance in the country, and I must say that for absolute cleanliness there is no beer to equal Pabst Blue Ribbon. I prescribe it in my practice and drink it myself." The aging of Pabst Beer is another point wherein the great Pabst brewery excels. Pabst is the perfectly aged beer. Not a bottle or a keg ever leaves the brewery until science and the test of time shows it fully aged and mellow, perfect in age, purity and strength. When Ordering Beer, call for Pabst Blue Ribbon. and study, who will share your ambitions and assist your untiring efforts. Your partner's triumphs are your own. I am glad to note that schoolgirls are democratic. They never choose a partner because her father is rich, or her uncle is famous, or decide against one because they never heard of her people. They care nothing whatever about her dress, but they do care about her manners and her ways. Personally counts for much with schoolgirls. They are careless about social distinctions, but they choose for friends those they love best. OLD CITIZEN DEAD G. W. Hamlett of Italy Passes Away After Successful Career Special to The Telegram. BUYS FEUDAL CASTLE
Reported That a Rockefeller Takes Historic German Building
Special Cable to The Telegram.
(Copyright, 1906, by Hearst News Service.)
BERLIN, June 2.—There is a rumor here, the origin of which I have been unable to trace, that a Rockefeller, it is not said whether William or John D., has bought the feudal estate of the bankrupt Freiherr von Cramm-Burgdorf and the Burgdorf. The estate has been offered for sale for some time. It consists of a magnificent park surrounding the castle, which is an interesting old building, containing some fifty rooms.

It was to have been sold at public auction June 18, but the auction was suddenly called off.

I can hardly believe that there is any truth in the rumor, but if there is the oil magnate will certainly not stay here very long for German taxes are high and swearing off does not go in the domains of the kaiser.

HOPE FOR GRANDSON
Stork is Expected to Visit the Crown Princess of Germany
Special Cable to The Telegram.
(Copyright, 1906, by Hearst News Service.)
(BY MALCOLM CLARKE.)
BERLIN, June 2.—According to an old custom, prayers will be offered in all the churches of Germany for the young crown princess, who is daily expecting the arrival of the stork. The kaiser is hoping that his first grandchild may be a son, who in time will wear the imperial crown, but says that even a granddaughter will be very welcome. In royal or princely families all over similar events are being looked forward to. Princess Alexandra, wife of Grand Duke Friedrich Francis of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, and daughter of the duke of Cumberland, is expecting a heir in July. It is also Princess Eleonore von Solms, wife of Grand Duke Ernest Ludwig of Hesse.

FOLLOWING THE FLAG.
When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases. Guaranteed at Walkup & Fielder, Holland's Red Cross Pharmacy and Renfro Drug Company. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

The New Building for The Store Ahead

The Building of a Business

We today picture our new home as it is to be when completed, which will be about September 1. We have said and will repeat it, that we propose giving this city the best store in the South—a mercantile institution that will afford you every trading advantage to be had in any large eastern city. While the builders are working constructing the building, department managers and buyers are laying plans and buying goods to fill this mammoth store. Knowing the people's wants and supplying same at the lowest prices is the root of business-building.

Every business to be successful must grow. Some grow without a firm foundation for growing and have to go back. But the substantial, conservative growth that adds when justified, slowly and surely—is the business that has stability behind it, and has the public support with every assurance of greater support when greater facilities are added.

In adding the additional floors and erecting this magnificent structure, we're meeting a demand that has been made upon us. The business as it stands today needs these additional floors. When we get them we can look further into the future.

We will here state that the carpenters are through with the first floor for the present and nearly so on the second floor. Hence we bespeak the easy and free shopping without obstruction will again be inaugurated Monday morning.

PHENOMENAL REDUCTIONS are printed below, that will make the store rebound with bustle and activity. Enthusiastic throngs will gather in response to the matchless pricings. Won't you be one of many to take advantage of these specials? Read the list.

JIMMY—HE GOES TO SCHOOL!

DOWN IN DER "PLUNK!"

WOMEN'S LATEST FINERY

TAILORED COAT AND SKIRT.

Smart plaited folds determine the skirt lines of this gown of heavy white linen, stitched at the top to form a high pointed girde, supported with two handsome embroidered bands reaching over the shoulders. The coat, shaped like the latest of pony coat models, has a small turn-over collar and short slashed sleeves, edged all about with heavy floral pattern linen lace.

SUGGESTIONS FOR HOME SEWER.

The model shown, and that by the clever Agnes, is fashioned of white handkerchief linen (the French use hardly anything else for these waists), and has a yoke made of cluster tucks through which narrow panels of embroidery reach from collar to waistline. The Vatican-shaped sleeve has many fluted frills on its elbow cuffs and is trimmed with cross-running strips of the same hand embroidery as is evident on the bodice.

THE TUNIC SKIRT REVIVED.

Tunic gown of raspberry hennetta, its underskirt, long and sweeping, tucked above the hem, which in turn is faced with a wide band of velvet matching the material. The overskirt portion cut en princess, has its smooth-fitting lengths trimmed at the sides with raspberry velvet buttons, while its apron-shaped edges, stiffened with a bit of hair-cloth, are trimmed with curiously curled soutache motifs.

The Princess and Other Modes

FOR many years past a single idea has dominated each season's modes, either a crinole overskirt, a basque or a color, or a cloth. This year has seen no such "oneness" of idea.

While the princess seemed to dominate at first, it has now been supplemented by the empire gown, both styles bringing with them the wealth of detailed accessories, wonderful and varied colorings and fabrics for which these styles were formerly noted.

We've had the princess regular and the princess two-piece gowns, but it remained for Easter day to show what the resourceful designer could do in the way of a three-piece gown, shown in a street costume with its skirt cut along snugly fitted hiplines and built into a perfect princess by a wide-fitted girde that appears to be an extension of the skirt. A tiny short-sleeved coat completes the suit. This use of the girde to accomplish the princess effect as accurately will doubtless prove a most popular fashion, as it is the simplest solution to what is a somewhat difficult problem to all but the expert fitter.

The woman of pronounced embonpoint has her requirements very carefully considered nowadays. It was Callot who recognized, or rather discovered, the flesh-concealing possibilities of the frilled skirt, and established prestige as a genius thereby. One of the newest Callot models is a dull gray-blue silk, which admirably shows the subtlety of the designer's darning. Its wide, full, sweeping circular skirt is made with-out plait of any kind. Upon the center, sides and at the back are applied long lines of soutache braid done in fancy motifs. About the hem are two double folds of velvet ribbon, gray-blue and dull green, these stitched together. These velvet bands appear again outlining the heavily braided coat edge and sleeves, finished with tiny buckles made of French blue and white brilliants.

Another Callot gown of Queen's-gray velveteen, is trimmed with two groups of wide tucks separated by bias bands of gray chiffon broadcloth. It is built over a lining of Paulin striped gray and blue silk. Narrow appliqued buckle-fastened bands of cloth simulate a girde. Upon the coat was shown the most exquisite touch of the designer's art, in the paneled trimming of gray gaulpore lace, edged with a wide white lace, which a center band over the lace made of veiling, showing the pretty striped silk lining. Beautifully embroidered gray and blue covered buttons showed peekaboo centers of raspberry-colored enamel.

Empire models, while worn abroad for many occasions, are little fancied here save for house gowns, though they serve as the inspiration for many delightful costumes for formal use. One such is for street wear, the short skirt simply hemmed and plaited, and the jacket, or more properly speaking, the coat, so cut as to strongly suggest the empire. It reaches below the hips in back, has opened side seams, and cuts away from the waistline in front, shaping gracefully to the back. The top is smooth fitting with sunray-tucked arms, removing all chances for disfiguring wrinkles to appear. The straight front edges are trimmed with fine Richelleu plaitings of cream lace, caught in turn under a banding of dark-brown fancy braid.

House gowns, or as we term them, afternoon dresses, bear relation to the present mode, only in their heritage of short and curved waistline. An Easter gown of this description had the full skirt shirred at the top into one piece with the bodice. Where heavy brocades were formerly used in elegant simplicity, together with the antique fabrics, are now the frivolous beauties, our modern girl is satisfied with gowns of the sheer materials only, but made with surprisingly many sheer linings, and the laces and braid trimmings used in conjunction, not only upon cloth, but upon velveteen, chiffon and green-gradine weaves. A gown of cream-colored voile linen, for instance, having a bodice and skirt trimmed with quantities of lace, designed with clusters of white-colored grapes done upon a lettuce-green net body, has the same design copied in soutache

PRETTY NEW MATERIALS.

The oriental silks are assuming considerable prominence, and there are several new weaves of the class broadly known as pongee, some of the prettiest having formal woven designs in self color. Burlington and Rajah are well to the front, and all of these silks take the dyes better than ever before, and are turned out in a remarkable soft and beautiful line of colors.

Egyptian cloth, rather heavy, loosely woven, deep eoru and very soft, is another material that has good possibilities for general utility wear.

Mirage silk, changeable, soft, lustrous, but rather rough of surface, is attracting attention, and foulards are certainly reinstated to some extent in public favor.

The polonaise has conquered. It has followed closely upon the princess gown and bids fair to equal it in popularity.

Some of the newer lace robes are being made in deep coffee shades, and for these the ideal foundation is white satin.

Elbow-length sleeves and long gloves seem especially adapted to the old-fashioned wide-band bracelet which is again in vogue.

At well affairs in Paris scarcely anything is now seen save the corselet skirt.

LINGERIE FROCK IN PRINCESS.

The entire gown is made in one piece with a charming girde obtained by horizontal rows of lace insertions. The skirt, gathered at the lower lace rows by corded shirings, is trimmed with V-shaped sections of lace, and embroidered above the hem with tiny pink roses.

NEW SEPARATE COAT IDEA.

One of the newest coats for summer is this charming skeleton also made of pompadour rose cream-colored taffeta. The back fronts extend in long, narrow plaited tails almost to the knees. The sleeve puffed sleeves have handsome lace cuffs, and the lace collar, reaching to the bust in front, is not of the chirky bows of pink velvet. The white lace straw, is trimmed with a pink ostrich plume, the crown made of many loops of broad, pink satin ribbon.

SERVICEABLE LONG COAT.

For the short sea trip, or for the traveling jaunt, this handsome coat of dark blue waterproof griffin cloth will prove a boon to its possessor. The long skirts, gored and lined from a square-shaped yoke are becomingly trimmed with straps of black velvet. The shawl collar of dark blue velvet, narrow cuffs and shoulder straps made of the same, are trimmed with white mohair and trimmed effectively with the smoked-pearl buttons. The coat is lined throughout with taffeta.

FOR THE COOK.

A currycomb makes an excellent fish scaler.

In order to have potatoes always white, the kettle in which they are cooked should never be used for any other purpose.

A tablespoonful of sugar added to the water for broasting roast beef will give a rich brown color as well as a fine flavor.

Eggs covered with boiling water and allowed to stand five minutes are more nutritious and digestible than when boiled rapidly for three minutes.

In flavoring cakes do not use lemon juice if a light cake is desired, since the acid sets free the carbon dioxide before baking.

The waxed lining paper to cracker boxes is excellent to wrap lunches in. It is very good to clean flat irons with also.

To prevent tomato soup from curdling add the tomatoes before the milk is put into it, and remember to strain the tomato juice before turning it over the flour and butter.

A soft varnish brush with a string, or wire through the handle to hang it by is a desirable utensil in every pantry to be used for brushing bread, rolls and pastry with melted butter.

In a fruit pie always mix a tablespoonful of flour thoroughly with the sugar—both dry. If butter is to be used spread it on the lower crust before putting in the fruit and it will be evenly distributed through the pie.

A fair substitute for maple sugar is made with equal parts of granulated white and dark brown sugar, boiled with one-half the quantity of water until of the desired thickness. When cool three drops of vanilla is added.

Sour milk in which soda has been thoroughly dissolved, in the proportion of one-quarter teaspoonful of soda to one cupful of milk, can be used as sweet milk if curdles a little less baking powder is used in the flour.

A novelty attractive to the cook is called a food protector—a dish of enameled wire, perforated and intended to be put in the bottom of kettles to prevent food from sticking, even should the water boil away. They can be had in various sizes, costing from 12 to 20 cents each.

If salt is sprinkled over the range before frying is commenced there will be no disagreeable odor if the fat splatters over.

In frying croquettes in deep fat be sure to plunge the wire basket in the hot fat first before the croquettes are placed in the basket; otherwise they may adhere to the wires and fall apart when lifted.

There is now on the market a "frying shield," and appliance which fits into a frying pan, preventing all possibility of the fat running over on the range.

An ingenious woman keeps her bread sponge at an even temperature the year around by putting it in the oven of a stove without a fire and putting a small lighted lamp beside it, leaving the door partly open.

SALADS.

Smooth Salad Dressing. One-half tablespoon mustard, 1/2 tablespoon salt, 1/4 cup sugar, mix dry, 1 egg well beaten, 7/8 cup of milk or cream, 1/4 cup of hot vinegar, four mixed with dry ingredients. Cook in double boiler. Stir in hot vinegar last, slowly, making it very smooth.

THIS SEASON'S TABLE DECORATIONS.

An attractive feature of table decorations this season is the use of the loving cup. It, however, appears more at small dinners than on formal occasions, when imposing center-pieces are necessary.

The three handed loving cup is the one most popular, and the mode is to have a little stand built for it, that it may be given additional height. This stand is made of wood, perhaps six inches high, and is then covered with velvet of whatever color the hostess most affects.

The loving cup is invariably filled with flowers and often there are, as well, vines burlied about the velvet base to prevent its looking too prominent. Roses are usually chosen to fill a loving cup. The ideal bases for holding loving cups are of Dresden china, but since these of the right shape and design are not easily found the wooden ones prove a happy substitution.

There is, as well, a novel and handsome lamp that is considerably seen this year in the center of up-to-date dinner tables. In itself the lamp is a thing of beauty, being made of exquisitely colored glass in something of the shape of a little parabol, with a stem of green bronze. It is not contrived for kerosene, but has underneath the top four electric bulbs.

In order to use this lamp the dining table must be left open for about an inch where it comes together in the middle, and the tablecloth also cut, in order that the electric cord may be slipped under the table and along the floor to the base receptacle.

The advantage of this light is that it lights the table beautifully, and when the rest of the room is kept dim it brings the decorations into most brilliant prominence. To the highly artistic eye, also, it is a relief from the inevitable candleabra. Sometimes these lamps are of plural colored glass and blended together like a mosaic.

BEAUTY HINTS.

Face powders do not injure the skin. They help and protect it. But, of course, they must be removed every night. Use a face cream for the removal of the powder. Powder is good for all those who are out in the sun a great deal.

Rubber gloves should not be worn at night. They can do no good and can injure the skin. Kid gloves, with the tips of the fingers cut off to give air are excellent. They must be large size.

A paste for scars is made of one-half an ounce of lanoline, one-quarter of an ounce of borate of sodium and one-quarter of a dram of salicylate of sodium. Apply night and morning with gentle friction.

Peroxide, combined with ammonia, may affect superfluous hair after a time by drying so as to kill it. Such a result is by no means sure, however.

A daily application of one of the following simple remedies will be found effective in dispersing warts: Touch the wart with a little nitrate of silver (lunar caustic); or with nitric acid. The lunar caustic produces a black, and the nitric acid a yellow stain, which passes off in a short time.

A DISCLAIMER.

Rat-tat-tat!
The old soldier stood on the doorstep and listened. "Washing day," he muttered; "no luck here, that's pretty sure."
"I expect it's only another bothering beggar—drat 'em!" muttered the sharp-faced woman within, as she hastily snatched her hands from the steaming wash-tub and marched grimly forward to meet the base disturber of washing day's ancient rites and ceremonies.
"If you please, mum," muttered the ancient hero, "I've lost my leg."
"Well, I ain't got it!" snapped the woman fiercely.
And the door closed with an awful bang.
