Savings of Years Invested in Postage Stamps

Special to The Telegram. LAKE AINSLEE, Cape Breton, June 8.—By the confession of Thomas MacDougal, made on his deathbed, a mystery of ten years has been cleared up. Here is the story: Twenty-five years ago MacDougal and Jonathan MacFarlane were neighbors, and both fell in love with the same girl, a pretty young woman of Hawkesburg, MacFarlane won out, but his neighbor did not consider that the means he used were quite above board, and being a disbeliever in the old saying that all is fair in love and war, he became a bitter enemy of his old friend. After the marriage he became a recluse and seldom left his house except to go to the store to purchase supplies. Both men were prosperous, and made money farming. MacDougal banked his money in Hawkesburg, but what his neighbor did with his cash was a mystery. It was known that he sent sums of money to Boston, and received in return small, flat packages, forwarded by registered mail, but what was contained therein no one could guess. They were always received at stated times, and were guarded so carefully that every one judged them to be of great value. Bought Postage Stamps Finally, in some way, MacDougal discovered that the mysterious packages contained United States postage stamps in various denominations, and that his neighbor was secreting them somewhere in his house. He was well aware that MacFarlane was afraid of banks, but why he should convert his wealth into foreign postage stamps was not clear. On making the discovery, a way to square accounts for the fancied or real wrong done him suggested itself, and he bided his time. In the summer of 1905 a servant who had been employed by the MacFarlanes since the day of the wedding died, and when the body was taken to the grave the entire family accompanied, leaving the house unguarded for the first time in ten years. The day after the funeral MacFarlane suffered a slight shock of paralysis, and two years later died from the effects. At that time his widow created a sensation by telling of a statement made by her husband while he was dying. This was to the effect that his entire wealth had been converted into United States postage stamps and concealed in an old copper kettle in the cellar. The stamps were in good condition when he left for the cemetery the day the servant died, but when he returned he found that some one had bolted them during his absence, and that they were dissolved into a sticky, unrecognizable mass. His reason for putting his wealth into stamps bought in the United States instead of into Canadian postage was that thieves would be unable to dispose of the plunder without leaving Cape Breton. How much money was lost he refused to say, but the shock killed him. MacDougal was suspected, but there was no evidence against him, and no arrest was made. His confession was complete, and bears out the story of the widow. He said that he sneaked into the house after the funeral, searched until he found the stamps, and then boiled them in the kitchen range. He completed his work an hour before the party returned from the grave. Denver Weather Report Denver weather report for 7 a. m. EDUCATOR TELLS STUDENTS THE ELEMENTS OF SUCCESS

REV. H. A. BOAZ, PRESIDENT OF POLYTECHNIC COLLEGE. Commencement address to the graduating class of the Fort Worth High school was delivered this week by Rev. H. A. Boaz, president of Polytechnic College, who spoke on "The Elements of Success." Peculiar interest attached to the address for the reason that Dr. Boaz is himself one of the most successful educators in the southwest. In a few years he has risen from a boy on a Tarrant county farm to the head of probably the fastest growing college in Texas. Dr. Boaz's suggestions as to the elements of success outlined the necessity for a fixed purpose in life, preparation to undertake the life work and pertinacity in performance. Sketch of His Life Dr. Boaz received his early education a few years ago in the schools of Tarrant county and Fort Worth. While quite a young man he graduated with honors from the Sam Houston State Normal at Huntsville, Texas. He was immediately elected to a position in the public schools of Fort Worth, where he taught with great success for two years. At the end of this time he entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, joining the Northwest Texas conference. Two years later he entered the Southwest-ern University, where he graduated in 1893 with the B. S. degree, taking the

WENT ON CRUTCHES

UNTIL DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS CURED HIS RHEUMATISM.

A Printer Tells of the Accident Way in Which He Learned of the Remedy That He Praises.

"Some years ago," says Mr. W. H. Clark, a printer, living at 612 Buchanan street, Topoka, Kans., "I had a bad attack of rheumatism and could not seem to get over it. All sorts of medicines failed to do me any good and my trouble kept getting worse. My feet were so swollen that I could not wear shoes and I had to go on crutches. The pain was terrible.

"One day I was getting the type of an article for the paper telling what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for a man afflicted as I was and I was so impressed with it that I determined to give the medicine a trial. For a year my rheumatism had been growing worse, but after taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I began to improve. The pain and swelling all disappeared and I can truthfully say that I haven't felt better in the past twenty years than I do right now. I could name, of hand, a half-dozen people who have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at my suggestion and who have received good results from them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are guaranteed to be safe and harmless to the most delicate constitution. They contain no morphine, opiate, narcotic, nor anything to cause a drug habit. They do not act on the bowels but they actually make new blood and strengthen the nerves. If you want good health you must have good blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure rheumatism because they make rich, red blood and no man or woman can have healthy blood and rheumatism at the same time. Rheumatism is a disease of the blood and to cure it you must treat it in the blood. Every part and every tissue of the body is dependent on the blood for health. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. That is why they have cured so many cases of anemia, neuralgia, sciatica, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia and other diseases that have not yielded to ordinary treatment.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

MRS. J. M. ADAMS WIDELY MOURNED

Death Occurs at Taylor Street Home After Long Illness

The death of Mrs. Fannie O. Adams, wife of Captain J. M. Adams, which occurred Thursday night at her residence, 310 Taylor street, has occasioned many tributes to her life and expressions of sorrow. The cause of Mrs. Adams' death was Bright's disease. She had been ill since last Thanksgiving. The funeral was scheduled to take place Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church to Oakwood cemetery, with services conducted by Rev. William Caldwell, pastor of the First church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Monk of the First Methodist Episcopal church, South. Mrs. Adams was prominent in the work of the First Presbyterian church and also in charitable work of the city. She was one of the early workers in the associated charities movement in Fort Worth and she retained her interest in benevolent work until her death. A Friend of Young Men W. J. Bailey, a friend of Mrs. Adams of twenty years standing, was one of many who paid tribute to her memory. He said she was a woman who always thought of others and never of herself and he believed, that the number of young men who had come to Fort Worth and afterward been the recipients of her motherly kindness would never be known. So far as his knowledge went there was never a worthy young man who was in the need of that care and comfort and sympathy which only the mother or the true motherly woman can show with such inflexible tact, but was indebted to Mrs. Adams for kindnesses. Her's was of that large nature which was not centered in self, but always looked beyond to the end of doing good.

Fort Worth Skating Rink A large crowd at the Fort Worth Skating Rink Thursday night showed copious applause upon the efforts of Professor Waltz, who gave an exhibition of fancy and trick skating, following a much enjoyed session by patrons of the place.

The fancy and trick work of the expert on rollers lasted twenty-five minutes and was pronounced by a large number of those present to have been the best performance seen here.

The second part of the entertainment following the session of skaters at the Fort Worth Rink Thursday night was the amateur Walter Galt medal contest, which takes place each week, Thursday nights. There were this week eight starters in the race, but when five laps had been completed it was seen that the winning race was decided by the last exertions of two skaters, Calvin Emmins and Bob Stitt, both of whom showed excellent speed from the time of starting, the latter having the advantage of about a half lap, until the eighth round, when he fell and thereby losing his lap and losing the race. Emmins, who won the medal, will defend it on the floor next Thursday night.

Professor Waltz will appear next night this week at the rink and on Saturday matinee, the latter giving the one at which he will give other special exhibition of fancy and trick roller skating.

Saturday night will take place a weekly amateur two-mile gold medal contest, the medal being held by Royal Cox, who will be in the rink Saturday night.

BLOODIEST BOMB THROWER ESCAPES

VICTIMS
Killed	Wounded
At Rissa	5
At Wilna	12
At Libau	1

Special to The Telegram.
 BERLIN, June 8.—Escaping five times from execution, Ivan Tchichikoff, Russia's bloody terrorist, has made his way to Germany, en route to a permanent refuge at Geneva. Bombs thrown by him have claimed over fifty victims, all of them members of the czar's police.

On the last occasion, at Libau, he was captured red-handed and dragged into a court yard. A police lieutenant gave orders for him to be shot on the spot. Tchichikoff was placed against a wall and a policeman went to fetch a detachment of soldiers to carry out the execution. Tchichikoff dealt the police lieutenant a terrific blow on the head, knocked down three policemen and made a dash for the street. He was recaptured, but he had escaped death for the moment. The police lieutenant had rendered unconscious and the subordinate policemen refused to take the responsibility of executing a man so summarily.

Tchichikoff was tried by court martial on the following day. His trial lasted ten minutes and ended in a sentence of death, together with a formal order to carry out the execution at dawn the following morning. Tchichikoff was led to the place of execution on the following morning and the firing party was awaiting the order to shoot, comrades of the revolutionary were pitched a bomb which killed the commanding officer and wounded several of the soldiers. Tchichikoff utilized the ensuing confusion to make another dash for liberty.

The pursuit was immediately taken up and again resulted in his recapture, but orders were issued that now he should not be shot like a common criminal. Next morning the gallows were hastily erected. This time, with chains on his arms and legs, Tchichikoff was led out of his prison to the place of execution on a plot of waste land outside the town. A detachment of 100 soldiers guarded the gallows. Just as around Tchichikoff's neck, a desperate onslaught on the troops was made by a force of more than 800 rebels, all armed to the teeth. The troops were overpowered, the gallows demolished and Tchichikoff was carried off in triumph.

Within twenty-four hours Tchichikoff was again seized as he was taking train from Libau to Wilna. He was placed in the condemned cell again to await his execution. This time his revolutionary friends smuggled implements into his cell where, through the bars of the window, he scrambled out, climbed to the roof along parapets at giddy heights and finally slid down from a height of eighty or ninety feet, hanging onto a water pipe. Once more he was recaptured by a lucky chance, but only after he had succeeded in leaving Libau and reaching Minsk.

Next time he resorted to a more desperate method. He utilized the only piece of furniture in his cell, a wooden stool, to deal the warden who brought him his supper a terrific blow on the head. Tchichikoff then bound the warden hand and foot and placed a gag in his mouth. Leaving the cell he walked quietly out of the prison in the warden's clothes. A few minutes brought him to his revolutionary friends from whom he procured a change of clothes. After many more narrow escapes Tchichikoff succeeded in reaching Germany. He was received as a hero by the Russian revolutionary group in Berlin and speedily sent on his way to safety in Switzerland.

 Mrs. Chadwick is known to have borrowed an immense sum from Friend, supposed to have been over $100,000. Much of this is said to have been in the form of collateral. Mrs. Jutte's attorneys are trying to prove that this collateral really belonged to Jutte.

COBURN TAKES BURTON'S PLACE

"Fatal Succession" Falls to Union Soldier

Special to The Telegram.
 TOPEKA, Kan., June 8.—F. D. Coburn, who has been appointed by the governor of Kansas in place of Burton to the United States senatorial "fatal succession," was born in Wisconsin 61 years ago. At the age of 18 he joined the union army and served till the close of the war. He then went to Kansas where he began farming, and has been allied with agriculture ever since, as farmer, then agricultural editor and, for fifteen years secretary of the Kansas state board of agriculture. He was appointed head of the live stock department of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition and planned what was one of the greatest and most complete live stock shows ever held. Before the time for the live stock show arrived failing health forced him to resign. It was said, but the real reason was that the president and board of managers wanted to tie his hands by rulings and conditions that he could not submit to. He returned to his work with the Kansas agricultural department.

Secretary Coburn is one of the best known men in the west. His bulletins, reports and other publications have had wide distribution and general acceptance by agricultural authorities. He has been the most ardent supporter of Kansas agriculture that the state has ever had, and his efforts have done much to build up the reputation of the state.

they were completely alone, they heard a voice coming from the Doubs, singing a song of love. They approached and saw the watchmaker erecting a tent on the bank of the river. "Hey! my friend!" said the brigadier, "why are you not joining the others at the dance and games?" "I expect my affianced," answered the watchmaker, with a strange inflection in his voice. "I shall go to meet her. Will you become my traveling companion?" "I offer you a place in my boat."

..... and his wife had marched a long way, Jeannette was tired. They accepted the offer. They sat down at the stern and the tent protected them against the rays of the burning sun and hid from them the sights of the banks of the river. The watchmaker took the oars, resumed his singing and seemed to forget his precious freight. Appreciating his discretion, Jeannette and her husband thanked him warmly, and soon they returned to their dreams of love. The boat glided gently, the watchmaker sang softly. All of a sudden the boat obeyed to a more rapid impulse, and the watchmaker ceased to sing. He abandoned his hold on the oars, and the boat was borne along, addressing the young couple, with a terrible voice, exclaimed: "That is my affianced, my own! the mouthful of bread that I have nothing to expect of this earth."

And throwing the oars far away from him, he continued: "The boat only loves once, Jeannette, and in order to love you again in Heaven I consign you to death."

The "table" had led so many chateaux to favor and large salaries, has excelled that work in his latest volume, which offers over 3,300 recipes gathered from many nations. The designs of this book varies somewhat from the former. That it will be remembered somewhat embarrassed the plain but ambitious cook by having innumerable reference to numbers. This objection has been done away with, and straight recipes with full particulars are given.

The book is all the name implies; it is international. Its author has been gathering his material for the past years, and during a leave of absence from his superiors of the International Navigation Company, made a tour of the world, visiting hotels, restaurants and private houses in all countries.

Mis curries and fish soups were added to in Japan, his stews, his "Bambonngroiles" from China, and are modified to suit American prejudice, as Mr. Filippini thinks these dishes of the far east are too rich for our palates, and considers the Chinese ideas of cooking both original and fine. The recipes for birds' nests and shark fins sound quite attractive. Greece, Turkey, Germany, France, England, Scandinavia have each contributed.

Not the least attractive portions of the book are the little histories that improve the text, relating to episodes, manners and customs regulating the preparation and service of certain dishes. He gives three suggestions of menus for every day of the year, and a supplement of dishes not included in the body of the book. A complete index makes reference easy.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

THE CATARACT OF DEATH

A Tragic Story of the Neufchatel

A small river—the Doubs—separates France from the canton of Neuchâtel, in Switzerland. This stream forms in its tranquil course, several lakes, whose banks rise hundreds of feet above their waters, with centenarian pine trees around their summits. Amid these immense solitudes is Les Brenets, a village built 2,400 feet above the level of the river. A noise which mingles itself with the hoarse voice of the wind passing through the forests, is heard for miles around. This noise is made by the Doubs falling ninety feet down into a bottomless abyss. Every year the 28th of June the young people of the surrounding villages, dressed in their best clothes, descend the valley, embark in a fleet of newly-painted and tastefully decorated boats and confine themselves to the current of the river; but as soon as the terrible cataract is signalled, and the sound coming from the gulf is heard, a gun is fired and the boats scud away from the banks and death.

In the village of Les Brenets Jeannette Morlot lived with her father and mother. She was the heroine of the landscape of her native place and pure as the air she breathed. She had a legion of lovers, and although 18 years of age, had refused all offers of marriage. Among the discarded was a watchmaker, whose accented features and deep look indicated violent passions. His rejection did not seem to affect Jeannette. He laid in inverted platts at the back and fitted with darts over the hips. It is quite separate and attached to the belt. The shield can be made of the same or some contrasting material as liked and also is entirely separate from the suit, closing at the back with buttons and button holes. When used, it is buttoned into place by means of button holes worked under the sailor collar and buttons attached to correspond to the quantity of material required for the medium size is 10 1/4 yards 21, 9 1/2 yards 27 and 6 1/2 yards 44 inches wide, with 3 1/2 yards of banding, serge and the pattern, 5374, is cut in sizes for a 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44-inch bust measure.

The Farm Account Book

The farmer has been about the last to adopt the account book. Even yet many farmers trust to their memories to carry on their operations and transactions. This is very unbusinesslike, to say the least. What would you think of a groceryman or a merchant who tried to carry on his business without a knowledge of his receipts, expenditures and profits? It is just as necessary that the farmer have such a knowledge. To be sure, most farmers estimate in a general way what they have been and are paying out and have some idea of the receipts. But if a transaction comes down to a narrow margin of profit or loss, they frequently do not know on which side the margin really is.

The farm account book should include the cost of, and receipts from, every crop grown. Sometimes, of course, the various operations on the farm become so intermixed that it is absolutely exact statement of cost and returns of any one crop cannot be given; but the figuring can be close enough for all practical purposes.

The account book should also demonstrate what crops are and what are not remunerative. There is no doubt whatever that some of our farms are not profitable and that some of our farmers are losing much hard labor by bestowing it on crops that pay little or nothing. With the assistance of an account book these crops may be dispensed with and others that would be more profitable substituted.

Many farmers do not otherwise keep account of their transactions, do not do so on account of the labor and time it would require. There is no disputing the fact that the burden of having to charge one's mind with transactions during the day and putting them into the books at night is considerable. Indeed, the farmer who follows this method usually keeps books only a short time. He gradually loses interest in the account, the lapse of time between the addition to it become longer and longer, the account more and more unreliable and soon certain lines of labor are entirely lost track of. The farmer becomes an easier matter to entirely abandon the work.

Perhaps the best method is for the farmer to carry with him at all times a small account book and write down in brief form, the transactions as they occur. The book should be a pocket-size, sticleric little touch that carries with it the charm of individuality.

The long, narrow strips of the linen which may be left over in cutting off the handkerchiefs will make pretty collar and cuff sets, or lingerie ties to wear with stiff, embroidered collars.

How to Make "French" Handkerchiefs

The prettiest handkerchiefs are being made as fancy work out of plain and colored handkerchief linens which came out in the spring for blouses and shirt waists and morning dresses. French handkerchiefs, exactly like them, have been popular for several years, but if you hesitate to duplicate the French ones may be yours for the mere fraction of the cost. For a yard of the stuff costs less than a single made-up handkerchief. And a yard makes a good many handkerchiefs!

Make them up with a narrow hem, and if you can, embroider one or all three of your initials in the middle of one of the squares, setting the initial across on a slant.

Or, if you've a soft first name, write it on with a soft pencil and embroider it over. The name may be written in a sticleric little touch that carries with it the charm of individuality.

French handkerchiefs, exactly like them, have been popular for several years, but if you hesitate to duplicate the French ones may be yours for the mere fraction of the cost. For a yard of the stuff costs less than a single made-up handkerchief. And a yard makes a good many handkerchiefs!

Make them up with a narrow hem, and if you can, embroider one or all three of your initials in the middle of one of the squares, setting the initial across on a slant.

Or, if you've a soft first name, write it on with a soft pencil and embroider it over. The name may be written in a sticleric little touch that carries with it the charm of individuality.

The long, narrow strips of the linen which may be left over in cutting off the handkerchiefs will make pretty collar and cuff sets, or lingerie ties to wear with stiff, embroidered collars.

LOCAL LIVE STOCK NEWS

RAIN AT SWEETWATER
A. Nussbaum Reports Conditions Excellent
A. Nussbaum, the Dallas stockman who almost always buys something on this market or ships some in to sell, came along from Sweetwater with four cars of cattle for market. "It has rained every day for three weeks out at Sweetwater and vicinity, and the country is flooded," of course this makes a season in the ground that will not get out in a hurry and grass will have an excellent chance to outgrow itself. Cattle interests seem to be all they should be under the conditions and there is no disease among them. "The calf crop will be a big one. Altogether everything is all right from a cowman's standpoint, except the market, which seems to be inclined to resent the cowman's good times and go against him accordingly. I fear we have not seen the last of the low prices, however, for there is bound to be a reaction before things settle back in to their old groove. Fishing is about the best business to be at just now and I think that I will go myself."

SAN ANGELO WET
S. P. Clark Says Rain Has Been General
S. P. Clark, who has been down in the San Angelo country, came in from that at present very moist country and in answer to questions said, "The San Angelo country is about as wet as any part of Texas at this time, it having rained the bottom out down there. Of course after the way the weather man has conducted things this spring, grass is good, as fine as it could well be, and cattle could not be better living on any grass. No sickness of any kind that I heard of among any stock and cowmen are just bragging on their big crop of calves. "Investigation by myself proved that the great majority of stockmen down that way do not approve of the fight made on the commission houses, the

OLD SORES OFTEN LEAD TO CANCER

Whenever a sore or ulcer does not heal and shows signs of becoming chronic, it should arouse suspicion, because many of these places lead to Cancer. It may appear as an ordinary sore at first, and is given treatment as such, with some simple salve, wash or plaster, with the hope that the place will heal, but the real seat of the trouble is in the blood and cannot be reached by external remedies, and soon the sore will return. After awhile the deadly poison begins to eat into the surrounding flesh and the ulcer spreads rapidly, becoming more offensive and alarming until at last the sufferer finds he is afflicted with Cancer. Cancerous ulcers often start from a boil, wart, mole or pimple, which has been bruised or roughly handled, showing that the taint is in the blood, perhaps inherited. Another cause for non-healing ulcers and constitutional disease or the effects of a long spell of sickness. S. S. S. goes down to the very root of the trouble and cures so thoroughly that there is never any sign of the trouble in after years. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the place begins to improve, the discharge gradually grows less, the inflammation leaves, the flesh resumes its healthy color, and soon the sore is well, because every vestige of the cause has been removed from the blood. DENVER TO HAVE NEW LOCAL TRAIN
Additional Service to Qnanah Will Begin Sunday

The Fort Worth and Denver revision of the summer schedules for the season of 1906 is announced. There is no change in the leaving time of the trains from Fort Worth, although there is a shortening of the running time of the Denver special, leaving Fort Worth at 9:45 a. m. by two hours. Additional sleeping car service applying to both of the through trains, morning and evening, will be provided. It is announced that this service will be increased until it is adequate.

The new Denver local service between Fort Worth and Qnanah will go into effect at the same time of the date fixed for the through changes, being June 10, Sunday next.

The Qnanah local will leave Fort Worth at 10:45 a. m. and returning will arrive at 1:30 p. m. The trains are numbered on the time card No. 3 and No. 4. The arrival time of the train from here, No. 3, at 10:45 at Qnanah is 7 p. m.; the southbound train, No. 4, will leave Qnanah at 8 a. m. and arrive at Fort Worth at 1:30 p. m. It is a daily service.

BOYCOTT BY JOBBERS?
Missouri River Situation Puzzles Traffic Men

One of the puzzles for the freight traffic men at Chicago is the "boycott" which the Missouri river jobbers are working, as is alleged, against all but one or two of the trunk lines, a situation thus described in a Chicago dispatch.

Chicago, June 7.—The boycott which the Missouri river jobbers are said to be operating against all but two or three of the railroads is now in full bloom. One day in three weeks the barge hauls into Omaha 100,000 pounds of dry goods which was consigned to that road from Buffalo. Agents of the Missouri river jobbers have given instructions to route all dry goods over that road from Buffalo until further notice.

Railroad traffic men in Chicago are greatly puzzled over the situation and are watching the shipments closely with a view to ascertaining what course is being pursued.

HOMESEEEKERS DUE HERE
Clover Leaf Special Will Stop at Fort Worth

The Clover Leaf homeseekers special which the Katy got at St. Louis June 6 is scheduled to arrive in Fort Worth June 8 at 4:50 p. m. Here the tourists sleepers will be abandoned to be shipped to St. Louis, and the homeseekers will scatter out where their wishes may dictate.

Long Way Between Turns
While the Katy is putting in a new turntable at Hillsboro it is necessary to run the engines from Muskogee, I. T., to Hillsboro, Texas, for there are no other turntables between the points named than the one at Denison. The engines are stopped at Denison, cleaned and repaired and then go on to the end of the next division.

Equipment Overhauled
Taking time to overhaul and anti-rattling an unusually large business in the movement of coal and grain this spring and summer, the Katy has had all of its equipment put in a state of high efficiency. The work is now being done at a full force of men during the dull season. Now it is prepared to reap the reward of forthright.

Waterman May Go South
It is the expectation of his friends that C. A. Waterman, the commercial agent of the Missouri Pacific at Dallas, will be transferred to Denver to take the place of H. B. Kosser, who for some time has been acting as the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain at Denver. Mr. Kosser has been made the general agent of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain system with headquarters at Dallas and will assume the duties of his new position July 1. H. C. Post, commercial agent of the Missouri Pacific at Pueblo, succeeds Mr. Kosser at Denver and that leaves the latter place open for Mr. Waterman.

Special for Ball Game
The Katy will run a special from Waco to Fort Worth and return Sunday afternoon on the occasion of the playing of the Waco team of a ball game with Fort Worth. Fare $1.50 for the round trip. Train will arrive in Fort Worth at 11:30 a. m. and returning will leave at 7 p. m.

INTERLOCKING DISCUSSED
Railway Managers Refuse to Tell Result of Conference

At the meeting of the general managers association of the Texas railroads at Houston Thursday one of the matters discussed was a more equitable division of the expenses of maintaining the interlocking plants. The managers were divided, but the executive committee declined to state what was considered on the plea that the questions were purely technical and related mostly to operation and maintenance.

TOTAL $15,300 IN SEVEN DAYS
May and June Building Permits Compared

Inspection of the building permit book at the office of the city engineer shows that for the first seven days of June permits were issued for the construction of buildings to the aggregate of $15,300, while for the same period in May the total values reached $94,650. It is also shown that but seven permits were issued during the May period, and against nine in the June period. The largest amount falling off in value of construction work is explained by the fact that two of the permits issued in May were for large blocks and these two alone represent a value of $82,000. One of these was for the addition to the Burton-Peel store building and the other the Winfield Scott building in lower Main street.

Another May permit allows the construction of the eighth ward fire hall at a cost of $6,000. All of the June permits are for residence structures with the exception of a small frame store building.

Building in the city and suburbs is going on rapidly, the South side still leading in the city proper. At Ross Heights eight houses are in process of erection.

TEARING SHOE SAVES HIM
Brakeman Falls in Clear After Foot Caught in Frog

Special to The Telegram.
POTTSVILLE, Pa., June 8.—"I'm a goner, boys," shouted Joseph Devine, a brakeman from Palo Alto, as with his foot fast in a frog, he saw a train bear down upon him at the Eastern Steel Company's works.

While walking down the track to turn a switch his foot caught and was held in a viselike grip.

The car came chugging down and struck him, knocking him down, between the tracks when his shoe tore and allowed the foot to slip out.

The two cars passed over him as he lay between the tracks, but beyond a sprain of the ankle he escaped unharmed. It is the most remarkable escape on the railroad ever known here.

NERSEYS IN DEMAND
S. A. Overton Says Milch Cows Are Wanted

S. A. Overton, a Jersey cattle raiser, says his line of trade is going on very well and that sales are averaging about the same prices as at first. It seems that the demand is growing for Jersey stock, both here in Texas and in foreign parts.

"I kept pretty well sold out, having on hand generally about enough to keep business up until the arrival of my next shipment. I have just sold a consignment of fifteen cows and calves to a man who wants them in Cuba. Thus you see my market is expanding and will soon take in the South American countries, I hope. I have a pasture now for them between the yards and town, for it has gotten too hot to keep them in a pen all the time. Jerseys need both grass and shade to do well. Things are all right in the cow line down in old Smith county now and people are feeling good."

It was a modern milling plant, costing, when built, about $250,000, and was partly insured.

MILLION-DOLLAR HOME HIS WEDDING PRESENT

Waldorf Astor Weds Nannie Langhorne Shaw

Special to The Telegram.

LONDON, June 8.—Cliveden, the splendid Thames residence of William Waldorf Astor, and $100,000 per year is the wedding gift of the former American to his son Waldorf, who has just married Mrs. Nannie Langhorne Shaw.

Cliveden was formerly the property of the Duke of Westminster, who sold it to Astor in 1893 for $1,250,000. For years it has been the show place of Buckinghamshire. It lies on the north bank of the Thames, near Maidenhead, a great park of beautiful woods rising gradually from the stream.

The river is a public highway, the most famous in England. Until Astor took possession of Cliveden persons were allowed to stroll through the park, but Astor put a stop to that.

Young Astor and his bride will make the place their home.

FREE ALCOHOL PROMISES MUCH

South Interested in Possibility of Silk From Cotton

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Extensive experiments are planned by Secretary Wilson, of the agricultural department, to determine how best the farmers and manufacturers of the United States are to take advantage of the new free alcohol legislation.

"In my opinion," said the secretary, "this investigation should be thorough and include, for instance, a study of the potatoes grown in Maine, Colorado and other states where white potatoes grow abundantly; a study of the sweet potato and the yam, the cassava and the yucca in the south; a study of the sorghum plant through the central portions of our country; a study of the stalk of the Indian corn in practically all parts of our country; and a study of the possibilities of producing alcohol directly from the sugar beets in California, Michigan and other parts of the country where sugar beets grow in abundance.

"Experiments should be done toward adapting a small still to the use of beets. Many farmers seem to think that the alcohol can be made upon the farm. This is not practicable.

Wonderful things are predicted from the new free alcohol legislation. In Germany the consumption of denatured alcohol in 1903-1904 amounted to 73,675,249 proof gallons. It has been growing "thick by leaps and bounds. Five years ago it was only 55,393,617 gallons.

Denatured alcohol will be used in the country in the manufacture of the following:

Aniline colors and dyes, hats, stiff, silk and serges, electric apparatus, transparent soap, furniture, picture moldings, burial caskets, cabinet work, passenger cars, pianos, organs, whips, toys, rattan, goods, leather, pencils, brushes, varnishes, boots and shoes, smokeless powder, fulminate of mercury, brass bolts, gas and electric light fixtures, various kinds of metal hardware, incandescent mantels, photo-

Massachusetts Woman Stricken Suddenly While Kneeling

Special to The Telegram.

WARE, Mass., June 8.—Mrs. Pierre Charron, 52 years old, died suddenly in her home in Otis avenue from hemorrhage of the brain. Mrs. Charron was stricken while in the act of saying her evening prayers, and fell beside the bed, dying before medical aid could be summoned.

Mrs. Charron appeared to be in good health and during the evening had talked over at some length their proposed removal to Canada, where they expected to buy a farm and spend their remaining days. Soon after 11 o'clock she said she thought she would retire, and going to the bedroom adjoining, disrobed and knelt by the bed. A short time after Mr. Charron heard a fall and called to his wife. Receiving no reply he went in and found Mrs. Charron lying by the side of the bed. He thought she had fainted and dashed cold water in her face.

This did not revive her and Dr. Williams Pariseau was summoned, but the woman was dead when he arrived.

HYDE PARK DEED MADE TO CITY

Question of Transfer to City Recalls Old Gift

DEDICATION DESTROYED

Part of Record in History of Small Tract Lost When Fire Destroyed Courthouse in March, 1875

Now that a tender has been made for the property commonly known in Fort Worth as Hyde Park, or that portion of it not occupied by the Carnegie library, the interest in the status of that parcel of land is revived. The offer made for the property at the last meeting of the city council was $20,000, and it is a bona fide offer, too.
The people of Fort Worth have long entertained the understanding that the property in question was dedicated to the people of the city for park purposes and that the city hence had no right to sell it.
With the view of resolving the doubts about this matter the records of the county were searched for deeds bearing on the transfers of this property.

What Records Show
There being no question about the perfect title of the Jennings family to the land known as the Jennings East or Avenue addition to the city of Fort Worth, the records were not searched further back than the first conveyance of part of this property known commonly in the city as Hyde Park. There is a general or almost general understanding that the property known as Hyde Park was deeded for park purposes and if that were true it could not be alienated to the city.
There are four deeds relating to this particular property recorded in the deed records of Tarrant county, and they are to be found in the order named, and as hereafter recited below. As follows: Book 55, page 130; book 55, page 216; book 145, page 549, and book 180, page 381.

The first deed recites that for and in consideration of the sum of $600 paid to Grant by H. W. Williams, S. G. Jennings conveys to said Williams part of block 1, Jennings' East or Avenue addition, being all that part of said block lying south of Tenth street and east of Throckmorton street and north of Tenth street, and that deed is dated Dec. 31, 1888.
The second deed recites for and in consideration of the sum of $1,200, the receipt of which is acknowledged, S. G. Jennings conveys to W. J. Bailey part of block 1, Jennings' East or Avenue addition, being all that part of the said block lying south of Tenth street and east of Throckmorton street, and the said streets were extended through said block by said S. G. Jennings, by deed of even date herewith, the date of this deed is Dec. 31, 1888.

The next deed is that of W. J. Bailey to the Fort Worth Public Library Association, a sheriff's deed and executed by Sterling F. Clark as sheriff, by virtue of a certain execution issued out of the district court of Tarrant county in favor of the First National Bank vs. Drew Fruit and W. J. Bailey, based on the judgment of the court rendered by said court March 15, 1894; levied on by said Sheriff Clark, May 15, 1899—the last 9 in that place on the records has been altered from some other figure to 9, though it is evident that the 9 is the correct figure and the one erased was the "wrong one—by virtue of a judgment rendered by said court 15th of March, 1894.

And, after stating the facts of the public notice of the sale given, as required by law, the sheriff's deed recites that he sold at the door of the court house on Sixth street on Thursday, Sept. 5, 1894—again a wrong figure (4) was evidently introduced in the copying into the records, but not afterwards changed—to the Fort Worth Public Library Association for the sum of $20,000 the best bid made, all that parcel or lot of land known as Hyde Park, bounded on the east by the west line of lots 3, 4 and 5, block A6, Daggett's addition, and the west line of House of Commons street, by the south line of the Hirschfeld's addition to Fort Worth, Throckmorton street, and the east line of block 7, Jennings' east, or Avenue, addition; on the south by the Jennings' Avenue addition, Throckmorton street and north line of lot 10, block 7, Jennings Avenue addition. There are certain palpable errors in this deed, evidently due to lack of care in making the deed or copying it on the record book, whichever may be the fact in the case.

The Fort Worth Public Library Association conveys the foregoing tract to the city of Fort Worth, the consideration being the annual appropriation of $4,000 for the purpose of maintaining a public free circulating library in the city of Fort Worth, the association to erect a library building of not less than $40,000 in cost nor more than $50,000 in cost, and to furnish it with necessary shelves, furniture, etc., and books of not less than $10,000 in value.
The deed then conveys the property known as Hyde Park to the city, together with the fire-proof, two-story library building and all of its appurtenances. This latter deed is acknowledged May 28, 1903.

Dedication Destroyed
Captain B. B. Paddock, repeatedly mayor of Fort Worth and the present secretary of the board of trade, said Friday morning that there was no question of the dedication of this tract of land to the citizens of Fort Worth by the former owner, Thomas Jennings, the father of Hyde Park, and that he, Captain Paddock, had repeatedly talked to Thomas Jennings about that tract of ground and there was never a question raised but that the dedication to the city for a park was absolute and that therefore the city had nothing to sell in so far as it related to Hyde Park. And Captain Paddock added: "My opinion of the man who would vote to sell that piece of land would not look well in print."

It was further added that the deed of dedication was properly filed, but that when the old court house was burned, in March of 1875, that record, in common with all of the others, was destroyed and that there was never a re-dedication made by Mr. Jennings that that paper might be placed on file or recorded.
Captain Paddock has a blue print of the original map of the property in question and the adjacent property and stated there was a map exactly, as to lines, corresponding to his blue print in the office of the city engineer, notwithstanding the fact that it is true, but eaten or worm eaten, it is true, but still readable enough to enable one to see that his blue print is correct.
It is understood that the intention of the people who want to buy Hyde Park is to put that tract in such condition as to title that it cannot be built on. Practically none of the older citizens will galsay Captain Paddock's recollections, for they are held in common by many others.
The stripes that formerly decorated the hats have now moved down onto the costumes.

REPORT ON COTTON ACREAGE. The New York Chronicle last Friday issued an acreage report, the summary of which is as follows: In some parts of Texas the crop this season got a very early start, in some counties in the southern part of the state returns show the season at least twenty days earlier than usual. The same thing was not true over the entire state, however. In some sections the start was no earlier than usual. The Texas acreage is harder to compute than of any other crop because of its size and diversified conditions. In some of the best counties there seems to have been very little if any increase in acreage, while, on the other hand, in some newer counties there has been a decided increase. In the old weevil belt of the southwest there has been more cotton planted than for some years. The complaints of weevil are already heard, as, for instance, one correspondent writing from Harrison county, and telling of a 20 per cent increase in acreage there, says that will not be more than a 40 per cent crop owing to the early appearance of the weevil. On the other hand, however, Texas cotton men seem very much inclined to be optimistic this season and many well posted men seem to look for a very good crop in that state. There has recently been some complaint of dry weather, but on the whole complaints as to very serious damage are lacking as yet. So little fertilizer has been used that no attempt is made to report on this, although from some sections come reports of its use where it had not previously been employed. The average for the season reported shows that the crop for the season as a whole, is about normal. The average showing is about two days late. It must be remembered, however, that this is simply an average and that in some sections the crop is early and in others late.

CZAR MAY FORCE GOREMYKIN OUT. Russian Premier Is Unable to Steer Ship of State. Special to The Telegram. ST. PETERSBURG, June 3.—According to reliable reports from Peterhof, Emperor Nicholas has about decided to retire Premier Goremykin. From the first it was apparent to outsiders that Goremykin did not possess the force, capacity or skill necessary to steer the ship of state in the present crisis, and the emperor, who is extremely dissatisfied with the premier's sorry failure to make any headway toward approach with the lower house of parliament, is now ready to sacrifice him. The emperor, however, seems to be torn by conflicting counsels of a few of his advisors, urging him to make a rank surrender and accede to the parliament's demand for a minority government, and others, who are heavily likely to prevail against the party headed by General Trepoft, which believes no further concessions will be made.
