Amateur Organizations to Be Merged Into One

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 13 .- President Joseph B. Maccabe of the Amateur Athletic Union will start on his western trip in the interest of the Amateur Athletic Union on June 16, going direct from Boston to St. Louis by way of Detroit. President John J. O'Connor of the Western Association of the Amateur Athletic Union will meet President Maccabe at St. Louis, where the latter will address a meeting at the Missouri Athletic Club.

President Maccabe's next stop will be Kansas City. From there he will go to Denver to form the Rocky Mountain Association of the Amateur Athletic Union. He will visit the Pacific Coast Association, which has its headquarters at San Francisco, where athletics have not been lost sight of, despite the recent earthquake and fire.

To Visit Portland Leaving San Francisco, President Maccabe will visit Portland, Ore., where he will arrange a meeting with President Fordman of the Pacific Northwest Association. It is expected that the trip will materially increase the interest in amateur sport, and an effort will be made during the trip to add club members to the Amateur Athletic Union.

PATRICK COOL

Makes No Comment When Told Execution Is Postponed

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 13 .- A dispatch to a morning paper from Issinning, N. Y., says that Albert T. Patrick, sentenced to death for the murder of William Marsh Rice, heard last night of the action of Judge Day in granting him the writ of error and stay of execution pending the bringing of his case before the United States supreme court

The information was brought to his cell while the condemned man was busy on papers to be used in his case. Patrick had no comment to make and it was evident that he had expected that the stay would be granted.

Grand Lodge Holds 31st Biennial Convention In Philadelphia

By Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, June 13. - The thirty-first biennial convention of the supreme grand lodge of the Loyal Orange Institution of American convened here yesterday. The delegates were welcomed by Mayor Weaver. The report of the secretary showed an increase of 15 per cent in membership in the last two years, which gives the organization an American membership of nearly half a million. Addresses were made by George T. Leven of New York, a past master, and Dr. Hulle of Boston, the grand master.

100 STATE BANKS CREATED IN YEAR

Total Capitalization Exceeds Ten Millions

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, June 13 .- The prediction made by the advocates of the law passed by the Twenty-ninth legislature providing for the creation of state banks and trust companies when it was being considered that before the law had been in effect one year there would be 100 state banks and trust companies organized in Texas, has more than come true, as the 100 mark was reached yesterday, according to the records in the state insurance department. The law went into effect on August 14 ,1905, just ten months ago, and since that time there has been an average of ten of these state banks and trust companies filed in the secretary of state's department a month.

$10,000,000 Capital A complete record of the officers, capital stock and other information is ept in the state department of insurance and the total capitalization of all of these banking institutions exceed $10,000,000, the capital stock being from $10,000 to $500,000 for each concern. Of the 100 of these corporations chartered during the past ten months, sixteen are trust companies, one a savings bank and the remainder are plain state banks. With this number of state banks in operation, State Bank Examiner S. H. Flake will be kept busy all the time inspecting them, and the fees derived from that source will be sufficient to maintain the examiner.

BATTLE WITH YELLOW JACK

New Orleans Places 60 Blocks Under Inspection

GUARD ORGANIZED

City Prepares for Campaign Against Mosquito and the Dread Disease

By Associated Press. NEW ORLEANS, La., June 13 .- As precaution against possible yellow fever outbreaks in this city, the state and city boards of health announce the sixty city blocks now under a searching system of inspection and those portions of New Orleans outside this closely-guarded section are being watched over through co-operation of every physician in the city with the health board.

The sixty blocks under especial supervision are those in which the yellow fever epidemic originated last summer. Each house in this district is visited by the inspectors at least once every two weeks, their duties including the enforcement of the law that all cisterns be screened and general sanitary regulations. A second set of inspectors in this same district watches and reports every case of sickness, no matter of what nature, and makes an attempt to discover the contributing causes of dis-

Examine Mosquitoes

Mosquitoes are especially under continuous observation. In several cases where deaths occurred within the sixty blocks microscopical examination of mosquitoes has been made by the city board of health in search for the stegomia, the mosquito by which it is believed yellow fever is carried. In one case as many as fifty dead mosquitoes were examined with this object in view after they had been gathered from a house which had been fumigated. The city board of health reported that no stegomia were found.

Health Map Used

A special health map, colored in red, vellow and green, is kept at the health office to indicate conditions daily reported by inspectors and precautions taken. Several cases suspected to be yellow fever have already been reported the health authoritis this year. Each of these has been examined several times by the state board of health, acting in conjunction with a committee of three local physicians. These examinations resulted in each case of finding the disease was not yellow fever.

HEARST EMISSARY MEETS W. J. BRYAN

Reported New Yorker Seeks Compromise With Bryan

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, June 13 .- The Record-Herald's correspondent at Berlin says: William R. Hearst's chief agent in Europe arrived in Berlin to confer with William J. Bryan two hours before the Nebraskan left for St. Petersburg Tuesday night. The appointment had been made by cable with the agent, who lives in London.

Mr. Bryan did not disclose the nature of the interview, but the impression gathered by some of his friends who saw him during the day was to the effect that he expected Mr. Hearst's representative to propose some sort of compromise whereby the Bryan boom would not be allowed to clash with the Hearst propaganda in New York.

One version is that Hearst's emissary attempted to induce Bryan to decline the proposed big reception in New York in August.

BIRDVILLE A

From Tarrant Co. Town

OLDEST VILLAGE

Used to Be County Seat Before Fort Worth Defeated It in Now Historic Election

The postoffice department has deivered a numiliating blav to Birdville once the proud county that of Tarrant county, by discontinuing the postoffice at that point and directing that all mail for Birdville be hereafter sent to Fort Worth for distribution by rural free delivery.

This is indeed a sad blow to the pride of Birdvillians, who years ago regarded it as the metropolis of not only Tarrant county but of all the country west of Dallas. For years and years t was the county seat of Tarrant county, and it was the best busines point in a large area of country. The leading lawyers in this section had their offices in Birdville n those days and there are yet living lawyers who began the practice of their profession in that town.

Fort Worth outgrew Birdville in course of time and then came a movement to change the county seat to Fort Worth. An election was held and the campaign that preceded it was the most bitter ever held in Tarrant county, the prohibition campaign in 1887 not excepted.

Lost County Seat Fort Worth won in the fight, but Birdvillians for many years claimed that the election was not a fair one and a long time there was bitter feefings between the two places. The loss of the county seat was bad enough for Birdville, and the wound made required years to heal. It is hardly healed yet and this new blow inflicted by the postoffice department will come with double force to the once proud metropolis of the county.

MOB THREATENS TO LYNCH NEGRO

Marylanders Cross Virginia Line to Seize Prisoner

By Associated Press. NORFOLK, Va., June 13.-M. Lee, a negro, charged with criminal assault on Mrs. Robert Barnes and her cousin Miss Frances Powell, was brought safely to Norfolk today and Portsmouth troops were hurried to Eastville yesterday evening by orders of Governor Sanson to protect the prisoner in the Eastville jail and prevent him being lynched by angry Marylanders who came down the peninsula from the scene of the crime, just across the Virginia line. In the confession at the jail today the negro admitted the assault on Mrs .Barnes and the attempt to assault Miss Powell. The time and manner of the prisoner's delivery to the Maryland authorities is yet to be determined. The excitement is still great. Immediately on the delivery of the prisoner at the Norfolk jail the militia was disbanded.

BRIGHAM YOUNG UNDER ARREST

Claims to Be Grandson of the Noted Mormon Leader

Special to The Telegram. BUTTE, Mont., June 13.-Brigham W. Young, claiming to be grandson of Brigham Young, and a son of J. W. Young, a Wall street broker, is under arrest in this city as the result of an alleged attempt to pass a worthless check upon M. Scegel, pawnbroker. Young practically has confessed the forgery, and claims that whisky was the cause of his wrongdoing.

The check was drawn on W. S. Greenfield & Co. of Spokane for $50, and was made payable to J. W. Wilson, an alias used by Young. The broker paid part of the money, instructing Young to call this morning for the remainder. In the meantime communication with the bank proved the check to be a forgery. When Young called at the broker's office this morning he was invited to accompany Scegel to the bank and get the rest of the money. Young acquiesced, and was piloted immediately to the city jail, where he was placed under ar-

At the station here Young admitted that his name was not Wilson, and told of his family connections. When asked for an explanation of his actions, Young shook his head remorsefully and answered, "Booze." Several other checks made payable to J. W. Wilson were found in Young's pocketbook, and the local police believe he has committed numerous forgeries.

Scientist Makes Queer Discovery in Oriental Interior By Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 13.-Prof. Pischel yesterday before the general meeting of the academy of science read a letter from Prof. Gruenwedle, chief of the Prussian exploring expedition in Chinese Turkestan, dated February 21 at

The writer describes the archeological discoveries made in the cave of temples, indictaing that the founders of the temples were a red haired, blue eyed race and wore Persian costumes. Huge iron swords were found among the remains and also important manuscripts of the Mingo period, a Buddhist pantheon and ancient bronzes. The letter has aroused the greatest interest among archeologists.

PARDONS GRANTED

Men Serving Terms for Manslaughter in Kansas Penitentiary Released By Associated Press.

LAWTON, Okla., June 13.-Private news were received here early today that citizenship pardons have been issued by Governor Frantz to William Smiley and Ed Dixon of this county, who have served about one year out of a two years' sentence in the Kansas penitentiary on the charge of manslaughter.

These men were charged with killing Ed Finn and wounding Alex Wynn of the Wichita mountains after the opening of the Kiowa Comanche country in 1901. The killing grew out of a dispute over a mining claim and the trial was the most celebrated held in the new country.

JETT CONFESSES THREE MURDERS

New Light Thrown on Kentucky Tragedy

By Associated Press. LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 13 .- The Courier this morning, in a dispatch from Cynthiana, Ky., prints the confession of Curtis Jett, which gives the details of the assassinations of James B. Marcum and James Cockrill, and also throws new light on the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox, the three crimes having been committed during the reign of feudalism in Breathitt county. The confession is authorized by Jett's attorneys.

Jett says he, John Smith and John Abner killed James C. Cockrill; that Robert Deacon went after Abner and Smith to aid in the murder, and that Elbert Hargis, James Hargis, Ed Callahan, Jesse Spicer and Bill Britton are the men who formed the conspiracy.

Starting out with these statement he enters extensively into details of the murder and lays bare every feature of the conspiracy and the events before and after the murder.

Murder of Marcum

He then confessed to the murder of James B. Marcum, which he says, was at the instance of James Hargis and Ed Callahan, declaring that the pistol which he did the the shooting was furnished him by Callahan for the purpose. He says B. J. Ewen told the truth about the killing.

Jett's statement in regard to the assassination of Dr. Cox is little less sensational than his statements in regard to the other murders

Heard Three Shots He says he was at the jail and heard three shots after which the telephone rang. He went to Alex Hargis' house and Hargis asked what the shooting was. Jett continues the story in these words. "I said, 'I did not know,' and Uncle Alex said, 'Let's go down and see if Jim or any of them are hurt.' Uncle Alex stopped at Jim's garden fence. I guess he was afraid to run in. But know, and I went into the yard, and I was fearless and did not care, vou in the shadow of the smokehousemoon as bright as day. I shall never forget it-stood Ed Callahan, Jim Hargis. Bill Britton, Jess Spicer and Elbert Hargis with two shotguns. I saw no pistols.' Jett closes his confession by saying that he has told the "plain truth, nothing more and nothing less." He relieves Alex Hargis of any complicity in the Cockrill and Marcum murders saying "he is an innocent man."

STARK FAVORS THE 8-HOUR WORKDAY

Printers Produce Figures on Birth and Death Rate

By Associated Press. CHICAGO, June 18 .- Employers who agree with President Roosevelt in his anti-race suicide ideas can do much to advance the cause by granting their employes an eight-hour workday. This is the belief of the members of Typographical Union No. 16, who say the fact has been demonstrated in their own experience. The Typographical Union made public yesterday a report which contains much interesting material on the subject. The officials of the union profess to have established, among other things, a close relationship between the large family and the short workday. Bitrhs Increase

Since Sept. 1, when the eight-hour schedule first was put into effect, in the printing shops in Chicago, there has been a remarkable increase in the birth rate among the compositors families. The total number of births recorded during the period is twentyfour, which represents a per cent better showing than appeare ceding ten months.

Death Rate Decreases Another effect was, the printers credit to the shortening of the hours of labor, is a lowering in the death rate among the members. From tables kept by the union in former years, the average mortality in the organization has been forty out of a total of about 3,000 men. For the last ten months, the records kept show a death

Docks, Shipping and Valuable Freight Destroyed

IS $1,000,000

Big Steamer Burns and Crew of Forty Sailors Have Narrow Escape

By Associated Press. RALTIMORE, June 13. - A million dollar fire early this morning wiped out the big Savannah docks of the Merchants' and Miners' Transportation Company, totally destroyed the steamer Essex of that line, all of the valuable freight, with which the dock was crowded, and a number of scows loaded with cotton and rosin, with their freights, besides causing great anxiety as to the fate of the crew of the Essex, said to have consisted of about forty men.

Two Burned to Death

All of these save two are known to have escaped. The two others were almost certainly burned to death, as they were apparently unconscious when last seen by their fleeing mates. They were Edward Atkinson, a cabin assistant, and John Costello, a fireman. The burning steamer and scows drifted to the other side of the harbor and for a time there were grave fears that extensive damage would be done there as the wind carried the flames from the vessels directly toward the shore and shipping on the side, but the firemen were successful in preventing serious damage there.

Blaze Spectacular

The blaze was spectacular, the burning rosin and cotton giving off immense volumes of dense smoke, made lurid by the furious flames. The fire originated in a district surrounded except on the water side by extensive lumber yards, but the direction of the wind saved these from damage.

Sent to Safety

At 5 o'clock the flames on the Essex were extinguished and the shell vessel listed badly from water in he hold. Five men were rescued with difficulty by the tug Mary, two of them hardly escaping death by the flames or drowning as they were forced to make flying leaps to the rescuing vessel from the deck of the Essex as the former boat pulled away from the burning steamer. Residents living the neighborhood of the fire and whose houses were threatened became panic stricken and the police assisted many women and children to a place of safety. ALLOW CONTRIBUTIONS

Rosen Heights Census Shows Increase in Number

Rosen Heights Independent school district board met in regular session Tuesday night in school house No. 2, with Chairman L. T. Knight presiding. One member, G. S. L. Cox. was absent.

A discussion was at once taken up of the pending suit filed about a week igo against the Washington Heights ident school district for posession of about two square miles of rritory belonging to the Rosen eights district claimed by the Washngton Heights district when the organized three months ago. The suit filed is to recover possession and is waiting trial in court. No other action on this matter was taken Tuesday

The board is now working on the tax list and J. H. Reilly, tax collector and assessor, will commeace his work

During the past year the scholastic census in Rosen Heights has increased about 100 in number and it is necessary that action be taken at once for enlarging school facilities. At the next meeting of the school board it will be decided whether or not it would be advisable at this time to build another school building. In case it is found not, a suitable house will be leased for use during the next fall and winter terms. The board adjourned subject to the call of the chairman for the next meeting.

CANDIDATES OUT LATE

Meeting at Keller Lasts Until a Late

The largest crowd of voters since the county campaign opened gathered at Keller Tuesday night, and as Keleir is one of the big boxes of the county, nearly every county candidate was on hand. The attendance, it is claimed, was double as large as that of any former meeting and this is regarded by the candidates as evidence that interest in the campaign is in-Speeches were made by all the candidates, the time of each being limited in order to enable the last speakers time to get back to the city and get a little rest before breakfast. It was after 2 o'clock Wednesday morning when the man who made the last peech reached Fort Worth. The meetng throughout was harmonious.

Walter B. King, candidate for county clerk, was the only man at the meeting who had a kick coming to him when the meeting closed. He went to Keller prepared to stay until Saturday night, taking a grip sack full of clothes with him. He left the grip in his buggy while he told the people why he ought to be elected county clerk, and when he went back to the buggy his grip was gone. When the last re-turning candidate left Keller, King was still hunting the lost grip.

ELKS PLANNING TRIP TO DENVER Prickly Heat

Fort Worth Lodge Makes Rock Island Official Route

Plans are about shaped up for the movement of the Elks to Denver, where the grand lodge of that fraternity convenes July 17.

The Fort Worth Lodge of Elks has made the Rock Island its official route. There will be a concentration of the South Texas Elks at Houston and, leaving there at night, the special over the Houston and Texas Central will arrive in Fort Worth the following morning and go out over the Denver road. There will be at least three sleepers and a commissary baggage car in that train to start with, and the sleepers will be added to as may be necessary, it being the expectation that two or three more will be needed. The day's movement of passengers for Denver will control the number of additional cars to be added.

The Louisiana Elks will, as far as is practicable, concentrate at New Orleans, and thence via the Texas and Pacific, leaving at night, July 13, come to Fort Worth, July 14, where they will go via the Fort Worth and Denver City to destination. Leaving Fort Worth on the 14th, they will arrive in Denver early Monday, July 16.

Both of these trains will stop at Amarillo to accept the hospitality tendered by the citizens of Amarillo and the Elks at that place, and the especial treat wil be a barbecued buffalo. The stop there will be two or three hours, or long enough to thorously enjoy the treat offered.

It is expected that the miscellaneous novement of passengers, because of the reduced rates and the attractions offered at Denver, will amount to from three to four hundred out of Texas alone. All of the lines will be prepared to do their share of the business and the Denver has ordered and is receiving an additional amount of equipment which, added to that it has, will enable it to take care of its share of the business in fine style. New coaches, double daily service and the use of new and powerful passenger engines will place it in better condition to handle the traffic than ever before.

N. H. Lassiter and R. W. Harrison Interested

The dispatches from Austin tell of the formation of the following named company and the filing of the charter: The Gulf Coast Irrigation Company of Kingsville, capital $500,000. Purpose, to construct, maintain and operate dams, reservoirs, etc. The incorporators are N. H. Lassiter and R. W. Harrison of Fort Worth, R. A. Jackson and others of Chicago. N. H. Lassiter is the general counsel for the Rock Island in Texas and Mr. Harrison is in his law office. The other incorporators are all Chicago people, generally connected in important capacities with the Rock Island. Mr. Jackson is the general counsel of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific. Mr. Miller is with the Eastern Illinois. Ben F. Cable is a son of the Cable who for so long was one of the heads of the Rock Island, and The property this company has is, in part, the old King ranch. The water supply is to come from wells and storage lakes and if that supply is found insufficient the water of the Rio Grande will be used by canal. The first plans provide for the irrigation of 38,000 acres of land, and that will be added to as the need arises. The incorporators named in the charter are: N. H. Lassiter and R W. Harrison, Fort Worth, and R. A. Jackson, H. I .Miller, Benjamin F. Cable, S. F. Fulton, C. E. Craig and M. L. Bell,, all of Chicago. When the first and only prospectus was issued the stock of the company was over-subscribed three-fold.

W. C. T.V. Should Favor Beer

Miss Phoebe Cousins Speaks Plainly and to the Point on Temperance.

Every day seems to bring us nearer sane, sensible, and practical solution of the temperance question in the U. More than one noted speaker and thinker have of late shown a leaning to a practical rather than a theoretical effort to aid in the cause of temperance. One of the most noted women of our day and age is Miss Phoebe Cousins, for a quarter of a century the leader in the woman's suffrage movement in the west. She recently said: There never will be a law to compel prohibition and the sensible thing for the Women's Christian Temperance Union to do is to aid in the substitution of mild, nourishing drinks like beer which seldom produces drunkenness.' This broad assertion may bring a storm of criticism from the fanatical upon this devoted woman's head, but in the end the living truth of her words will prevail. She is borne out in her statement by statistics. It has been clearly shown that with the increased use of malt beverages in this country there has been a corresponding decrease in intemperance.

Recently a prominent army officer in the west operated canteens at three different army posts at which only beer was sold-no alcoholic liquors whatever were allowed. He made the canteens so acceptable to the soldiers. who found beer satisfying their demands, that he actually ran all the low dives out of business. Yet it was through the efforts of the W. C. T. U. that the army canteens were driven out. Let us hope the many noble women comprising the W. C. T. U. will be broadminded enough to recognize their mistake and join Miss Cousins and others who are sincerely striving to stem the tide of intemperance by the substitution of mild, harmless beer for strong drink. In this connection it might be well to mention that chemical analysis shows Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer, which is perhaps the best known of all bottled beers, to contain only a fraction over 3 per cent alcohol-as one eminent physicians puts it, "just enough for a good tonic effect to the stomach, while in food value it is far superior on account of the Pabst exclusive eight-day process of making malt."

clerks reaching this city from Los Angeles report the organization there last week of the Railway Postal Clerks' association, formed to secure a revision of the regulations in the service and secure as far as possible an average eight-hour day, with remuneration for extra service.

Petition to Mr. Cortelyou

A petition was prepared at the meeting which will be forwarded to Postmaster General Cortelyou, each representative and senator and to the headquarters of each of the eleven divisions of the service, asking their support in efforts to secure the change. The Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles, as well as other western cities, is reported to have endorsed the movement, as tending to secure a sufficient force of men, thus preventing delays because of "stuck" mail. One thousand petitions in all will be sent out, being mailed the early part of this week. The effort is a direct result of shortage of men in the Seventh division with headquarters at San Francisco. This has thrown much extra work on the men. An application for remuneration was made by W. W. Walker, a clerk working out of Los Angeles, but refused and in turn carried to the superintendent and the assistant postmaster general. It is declared there is no provision under which the extra pay can be granted.

Many Clerks Resigning Clerks running in here report the situation serious in California, all eligibles beng reported exhausted and men constantly resigning as a result of the extra work given them. The clerks do not expect a strict eight hour day, but ask that each eight hours worked, no matter what the length of the run be considered a day's service.

Railroad Being Tried for Granting Concessions in Freight Rate

By Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, June 13 .- The trial of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, charged with granting a concession of 12 cents a hundred pounds in packing house products from the Mississippi river to New York for export was resumed here today in the United States district court. The government rested its side of the case after examing a few railway officials on tariffs. O. M. Spencer, counsel for the Burlington, then asked the case be taken from the jury. Judge Mc-Pherson adjourned court for luncheon without passing upon the motion.

TOWNS TO FIGHT FOR SUPREMACY

New Village to Be Established Mile From Rowe

Special to The Telegram. CLARENDON, Texas, June 13.—Donley county is feeling her oats. For a number of years her people hae been avering that she was the "crack" agricultural county of the Panhandle, and successful crops for several years have materially helped in substantiating this boast. Now the county has another feather in her cap. To Donley county belongs the honor of having the highest priced land in the Panhandle. This week O. D. King, who lives near Rowe, this county, sold his farm for $55 an acre. The farm consisted of 100 acres and bears the distinction of having twice brought a record-breaking price, several years ago. The place then brought $12 per acre.

Mr. King having paid the highest price known for this section for the place

To Establish Town As land in the neighborhood surrounding this farm is held at from $10 to $35 an acre, it seems strange that this particular tract should bring such a price, even though it be a shade better than its fellows. This is explained by the fact that the King farm is situated at a point that is considered the best spot in the east end of the county to build a town, and a townsite company has procured it for the purpose of establishing a town. It is the intention of the company to make an effort to induce the people now living at Rowe to move to the new town. It is stated that a number have signified their willingness to move. As Rowe and the new town are situated within one mile of each other and are in the most prosperous neighborhood in the county, the fight of the rivals for supremacy will be watched

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

One time it was "Jim" and "Jack;" now it was "scoundrel" and "rascal." And why? They were old enough to know better. Jim Brady was 60 if a day, and John Snowdown was not his

But age only intensifies bitterness when two men become infatuated with the same woman. There is no fool like an old fool-except it's a young foolbut I guess I'll cut out this second-hand philosophy.

The two had been apprentices together. Afterward they became inseparable. "Brady & Snowdown" became a prosperous firm, and simultaneously they had retired rich.

Truth to tell, the woman wasn't worth the trouble, though she was undeniably pretty. They had met her on the beach. She had flirted her skirts and smiled at them-and immediately the two old chumps became rivals. Which one of them did she mean?

Of course she meant either or both. But you'll find that out later. Honors seemed even. Brady secured he parasol by the handle; Snowdown had a firm grip on the ferrule. Both swore quietly. The parasol broke in the middle and each had a portion to return to the fair owner. "I alone am responsible," said Brady with a gallant bow. "It was my fault,

He was certainly a tough looking mug. "I'm a man of few words," he said, gruffly. "You have placed yourself in a painful position, Mr. Brady. You have been seen by various persons walking arm in arm with my wife."

"What!" roared Brady. "My wife, I said," went on the gent 'I believe she has been passing as the Widow De Troop. I'm afraid you'll both have to appear in court. Snowdown, as a witness. I may also say that the lady and I have become reconciled and she is willing to give evidence against you. Of course I don't want to expose two such well respected and wealthy gentlemen as Brady and Snowdown, but-

"What's the price?" asked Brady. "Well, five hundred from each," said the gent.

Without a word Brady and Snowdown dug down and handed out the amount. Smilingly the gent pocketed the money and departed. Outside he joined the Widow De Troop, who, through the window, courtesied most pleasantly to Snowdown and Bradythe rivals. "Jim," sald Snowdown, "you're a

GLAD AND SAD RAIMENT

Fifteen questions about clothes were | irritate the sense organs at the base o recently submitted to 182 normal school girls and the answers compared and tabulated. Here are some of the results as given in the San Francisco

Heavy dress goods are found to cause mental depression. Heavy hats in particular weigh upon their wearers' spirits. But a broad, light hat makes one girl feel jolly, while a fancy hat brings on an attack of coquettishness in another case.

Soft dress goods make these girls feel dainty, talkative, happy, demure, light, graceful, girlish, gentle, refined, etc., while stiff clothes cause them to feel uncomfortable, awkward, formal, self-conscious, walled in, as if in a case, bold, etc., these being their iked by nearly all of the wearers. Yet, while the feel of certain smooth materials is pleasant, there is a great deal of variation from person to person. "I like to rub my hands on a velvety

Hints for the Traveler Dark bags are more stylish than brown or the light tan ones, and walrus and black calfskin with grass trimmings are decidedly smart. Elephant seal and the sea elephant are also in demand, though none is so smart as the smooth calfskin bags. For a cash bag such as a woman would carry the price asked this sea-, son for calfskin is about $16.50 and for walrus about $2 more, that is, without any toilet pieces.

There is one innovation in bags and that is the crash bottom that looks the same as others when packed. This has decided advantage when packing the bag in a trunk or stowing it away in closet, for it can be rolled up and put in a very small space where one with a stiff bottom could not possibly

In black calfskin or yellow pigskin they are especially attractive, and are finished with the dull brass clasps and locks. Handles on them as well as the others are broad and thick, so that a person can get a good grasp in carrying, a comfort not to be found with all hand bags. If the latter are of a large size such as a man would need two handles are put on, one on either side. With the price of leather advancing and that of silver soaring higher the woman who invests in a traveling bag this summer will have to pay an increase of from $1 to $2 more than was asked last year. For in addition to the advance in the price of leather, silver fittings have gone up, so that a big equipped with toilet articles in silver will sell at an advance of from $5 to $8. This big advance in the prices of bags that are now considered so necessary for week-end trips or for long tours is caused, according to one dealer, by the enormous demand for leathers and the shortage in the supply, while the silver pieces have gone up because of the increase in the cost of the crude metal. A bag of plain calfskin of medium size sells for about $16, while a similar one completely fitted with the necessary toilet pieces for traveling retails for from $30 up. Of course those equipped with ivory, ebony, etc., are not so expensive.

Gauzy stuffs and laces, especially, are discovered by the psychologist to whether they are or not. In most cases is decidedly annoying, like a scratching pen or a knife scraping across a plate. Still to others the rustle of silk is it. The delight of his daily surprise and the pleasure of playing with each in turn kept the small boy amused by the hour. Parasol in Shadow Work

Shadow work has found its way into parasols—the loveliest version being done in an effective design of chrysanthemums upon white linen, with the many stitches upon the wrong side characteristic of shadow work, hidden away under a pink lining. The color was just deep enough to delicately tint the outside.

Changes in Beauty

We are, almost without knowing it, witnessing considerable change in the standards of taste in female beauty. Many of the representations in the female face and figure to be seen in some of the masterpieces of the Flemish and other schools might be conceivably regarded not so much ideals of beauty as types of female ugliness.-The Out-

Her Pie Won Him Gossips in Somerville are busy with what they call the chief quality in Mrs. C. C. Swanson that won the heart of Grover Cleveland White, 18 years old, who married the window of 42 after jilting her daughter, Juniette, who is 17. All went well with the young sweethearts, it is said, until Juniette

There is no better maker of pastry in Somerville than the woman who is now Mrs. White, and there is no youth in the community fonder of cranberry tarts, crullers and turnovers than the boy who is now her husband. Here was an affinity that left little Juniette no chance at all. That Mrs. Swanson was not insensible of her advantage, the gossips are insinuating. The Broadway Presbyterian church was more than filled Tuesday evening with the friends of Miss Virgile Paddock and Guy Richardson Pitner. The ceremony that united these two popular young people was simple in the extreme, but there was not one in that large company that was not impressed with the sweetness and solemnity of the ceremonial and who did not give affectionate response to its keeping with the bride who, in her own dear person, is all that is unaffected, sincere and lovable.

The center ailes of the church had the pew ends roped with white ribbon entwined with asparagus ferns and at the church door the ropes met to form a ribbon gate for the bridal party. The altar was banked with palms almost hiding the choir rail, and, in the center, stood a large vase filled with Bermuda Hlies.

Mrs. F. E. Dietrich was at the organ and, with Mrs. G. V. Morton, violinist, accompanied Mrs. Maud Peters Ducker, who sang Meyer-Helmid's "Magic Song." The march from Lohengrin was played for the approach to the altar of the bridal party.

Rev. H. A. Boaz officiated and, forming a semi-circle to his right and left, stood W. B. Paddock, Miss Mary Harrison, W. C. Guthrie, Miss Ida Tailor, B. K. Goree, Miss Ray Saunders, John Rogers of Paul's Valley, Miss Anna Webb of Athens, Ga.

Two matron friends, Mrs. C. G. El-Hott and Mrs. A. M. Waldropt of Bryan, preceded the bride and her father, Captain B. B. Paddock. Mr. Pitner, who was attended by C.

G. Elliott, met the bride, and they formed the center of the wedding After the ceremony members of both families went to the Paddock home and spent a happy half hour in joyful and affectionate congratulations. The wedding gown was of chiffon satin, with panels and flounce edged with German "Val." The bodice had a V yoke of hand-run lace, with a deep bertha finish of Duchesse. The veil was fastened with lilies of the valley, and the bridal bouquet was of white roses. The bridemaids' white frocks were all elaborately lace trimmed. The maids' bouquets were of English daisies. Mr. and Mrs. Pitner will spend several weeks in the mountains and, on heir return, will be at home tempo rarily with C. E. Guthrie, in Pennsylvania avenue. At the Paddock home there was no elaborate display of the wedding gifts. though the Hbrary and parlor were filled with articles of silver, cut glass and rare and costly bric-a-brac. A chest of silver bore the card of the directors of the Board of Trade. \diamond \diamond \diamond

AMERICAN MINTS COIN FOR MEXICO

Southern Country Gradually Increases Gold Circulation

Special to The Telegram. DENVER, Col., June 13.-Chief Coiner Francisco Valdes of the Mexican government has been in Denver several days investigating the workings of the Denver mint, and is reported to have made arrangements for the local mint to coin $10,000,000 worth of pesos for the Mexican government. The Philadelphia mint is now working on an order for $25,000,-000 worth of pesos.

Blow to Silver Standard

"The day of the silver standard is passing," said Mr. Valdes. "Our silver peso is a thing of the past and the death blow to the contentions of William Jennings Bryan is given with its passing. Mexico was always pointed to by Mr. Bryan as the country which was always prosperous under a silver standard. His arguments are now refuted by the action of our government. We were forced to place orders for coining our gold with the United States and Great Britain because our mints are unequal to the occasion. We are making a radical change in our monetary system, and to do so we have to have large quantities of gold coin at once. It would require ten years of time to turn out all the gold coin we need, and business would be disrupted." The silver coin was the principal coin of the Mexican government. It will now be superseded by the gold coins, 5, 10 and 20 pesos, which are worth about $2.50, $5.00 and $10.00 respectively in United States gold and by 10, 20 and 50 c The Philadelphia mint is now to coin 1,000,000 5-peso means that $25,000,000 in gold to ing turned into specie.

The North Fort Worth Baptist church will commence a two weeks' period of revival services next Sunday. The pastor, Rev. E. N. Bell, will have charge of the services, probably assisted by other local and foreign ministers. The church has just dedicated the new church building, paid for it in full, relieving themselves entirely from any church debt, and a great reviving of interest in the church's work is felt will be the result of these meetings.

The Sunday school children of the North Fort Worth Christian church spent Wednesday in picnicking at Dr. Massie's park on Sycamore creek. The occasion was their annual picnic. At 8 o'clock the party met at the corner of Main and Fourteenth streets and took their special car for the picnic grounds. A large crowd went and at noon reported they were having a fine time.

Mrs. Robert Bafley of San Angelo mother of Mrs. I. T. Valentine, Twelfth and Clinton streets, North Fort Worth, arrived Tuesday on her way to Blackford, Idaho. Mrs. Bailey will spend about one week in North Fort Worth.

ROSEN HEIGHTS *****

(Items for this column may be left with either the Red Cross drug store or the Rosen Heights drug store, Rosen Heights.)

A debate has been planned for next Thursday night in the Rosen Heights M. E. church, north, on the following subject: "Resolved, That the United States should give women equal suffrage rights of men." The debaters are: James Lewis and Walter Sloan, affirmative; S. O. Lovejoy and C. E. Prater, negative. Much interest is being taken in the coming debate of this much talked of question and the members of both sides assure a hot discussion. Thursday night the judges will be elected in this manner. Each side in the debate will elect one judge, the two judges will elect a third, making the three necessary judges.

Mrs. Rev. J. A. Christian, 2224 Chestnut avenue, Rosen Heights, left Tuesday for Alexandria, La., where she expects to spend a good part of the summer with relatives.

Cobb & Lovejoy have moved their office in the Pritchard block in North Fort Worth to the New Exchange National Bank building. Mr. Lovejoy lives at 2323 Chestnut avenue, Rosen Heights.

Rev. T. H. Sturges, who lives at Stop No. 6 on the Interurban, has been called to accept the pastorate of the new Baptist church organized last Sunday in Rosen Heights. Rev. Mr.

Sturges is now pastor of the Baptist church at Candon, Texas. The Baptist revival meetings are continuing in Rosen Heights. Tuesday night Rev. E. N. Bell, pastor of the North Fort Worth Baptist church, preached a most impressive sermon.

POPULATION GROWING

from Hall County

W. F. Sterley, general freight agen of the Denver, has a letter from D. A. Grundy of Memphis, Hall county, giving a statement of the increase in the scholastic population of the county. The item is incomplete to the extent that it fails to give the figures on which the comparison is based, but it has a value in showing that the rural population of that plains county is making a healthy increase for the gain in the scholastic population in the county is 46 per cent and that of the town of Memphis is 42 per cent. That means, since the agricultural possibilities of the Panhandle have been realized, there is a steady increase in the country population and that the farmer is to an extent at least taking the place of the cowboy. Hall county is not the only one of the plains counties from which come similar reports.

VAST THRONGS VISIT OLD KENTUCKY HOME

Greek, seeking Promethean fire and oracles of Delphos, nor as the Roman filled with the joy of living and the lust of conquest; not as the Viking, springing to the call of wind and wave, nor as the Latin, dazzled by the glitter of gold, mad with the thirst for glory: neither as the Briton and the Teuton, eager for mastership on land and sea, the Keuckian, whom we, in filial homage, salute progenitor. He was as none of these. Big in bone and strong of voice—the full-grown man prefigured by the psalmist-never the ocean mirrored his fancies nor snowclad peaks that reached the skies inspired; but the mystery of strange lands, the savagery of nature and the song of the greewood tree.

In Early Days

"The star that shone above him and led him on was love of liberty, the beacon of his dreams, the light of the fireside. He cut a clearing in the wildwood and called it home. He read not romance, he made it; nor poetry, he lived it, his the Forest Epic, the Iliad of the Canebrake, the Odyssey of the frontier, the unconscious prose-poem of the rifle and the camp, the blockhouse and the plow, the Holy Bible and the old field school.

Welcome, All Welcome

"I am here to welcome you in the name of all the people of this lively city, in the name of all the people of the renowned commonwealth, to welcome you as kith and kin; but you will not expect me, I am sure, to add thereto more than the merest outline of the history of Kentucky, as it is known to each and every one of you, from the time when the pathfinders, under the lead of Harrod and Henderson, of Boone and Kenton, blazed their way through the forest, and the heroes, led by Logan and Shelby, by Scott and Clark, rescued the land from the savage, to the hour which smiles upon us here this day; a history resplendent with illustrious names and deeds; separating itself into three great epochs and many episodes and adventures in woodcraft and warcraft and statescraft; the period of the Clays, and Breckinridges and the Crittendens, with its sublime struggle to preserve the union of the states, as it had come down to them from the Revolution. "Kentucky, which gave Abraham Lincoln to the north and Jefferson Davis to the south, contributing a very nearly equal quota of soldiers to each of the contending armies of that great conflict-in point of fact, as many fighting men as had ever voted in any election-a larger percentum of the population than has ever been furnished in time of war by any modern state-Kentucky, thus rent by civil feud, was first to know the battle was ended and to draw together in reunited

Kentucky Fighters

"Kentucky struck the earliest blow for freedom, furnished the first martyrs to liberty in Cuba. It was a Crittenden, smiling before a file of Spanish musquences.

"Though our jests be sometimes rough, they are robust and clean. We are a provincial people, and we reone living Kentuckian who does not look back with horror and amazement upon the passions and incidents of those evil days?

Frictions Were Many

"Let me frankly confess that, peacemaker though I am, and at once the most amiable and placable of men, there have been times when I, even I, half wanted to go down to the cross roads 'and swear at the court.' That was when things did not swing to suit me. That was when the majority appeared to think they knew more than I did. We grow so used to blessings that we heed them not and look be-

Yes, when trouble or danger assails us, or humiliation or sorrow-or when leagues, oceans, continents lie between ourselves and the vanished land from whose sacred lintels ambition has lured us, or duty torn-and the familiar scenes rise up before us-how small these frictions seem, how small they are, and how they perish from us! I have stood upon the margin of a distant sea and watched the ships go by, envious that their prows were westward bent. I have marked the glad waves dancing to the setting sun, heartsick with thoughts of home.

Home Again

"Always home, whether it be tears or trophies we bring; whether we come with laurels crowned or bent with anguish and sorrow and failure, having none other shelter in the wide, wide world beside, the prodigal along with the victor-often in his dreams, yet always in his hope-turns him home!

"You, too, friends and brothers—Kentuckians each and everyone-you, too, home again; this your castle. Kentucky's flag, not wholly hid beneath the folds of the nation's above it; this your cottage, Kentucky-like, the latch string upon the outer side; but whether castle or cottage, an altar and a shrine for faithful tears and hallowed memories. Be sure from yonder skies they look down upon us this day; the immortal ones who built this commonwealth, and left is consecrate, a rich inheritance and high responsibility to you and me; who, like the father of Daniel Webster, shrank from no danger, no toil, no sacrifice, to serve their country and raise their children to a condition better than their own. In God's name and in Kentucky's name, I bid you something more than welcome: I bid you know and feel and carry yourself as if you knew and felt that you are no longer dreaming, that this is actually God's country, your native soil, that, standing knee-deep in blue grass, you stand full length in all our homes and all our hearts!"

The picnickers still continue to choose beautiful Lake Erie as a place of meeting. Tuesday the Presbyterian Sunday schools of Fort Worth and Dallas held a mammoth gathering on the grounds, which was attended by about 500 children from both cities. The weather conditions left nothing to be desired and a cool breeze blowing over the lake made the Palace skating rink the mecca for the majority of the picnickers. Seated on the broad veranda overlooking the lake, listening to the band, or skating on the smooth floor, the children and their teachers enjoyed themselves to their hearts' content. Gilbert Teague Wins One of the most exciting races of the skating season was that which took place Tuesday night at the Fort Worth skating rink, between Elmer C. Ball and Gilbert Teague, Teague winning by an exceedingly small margin. The race Tuesday night was the third and deciding heat for the threemile championship of the southwest, each contestant having won one heat. At no time were the skaters as far apart as seven or eight feet, and it was, indeed, an excedingly close decision. * TUESDAY IN CONGRESS ******

With a very large proportion of the members present, due to the activity of the democratic and republican whips, the house Tuesday passed a rule sending the rate bill back to conference, as asked for by the senate, without even an expression of its wishes as to any amendments.

utes. The leaders participated in the discussion, the democrats taking the position that the time was inopportune to confer in the sleeping car amendment and instruct the conferees as to the anti-pass amendment. Although the democrats were aided by eight republicans, they could not command votes enough to defeat the rule, which was adopted, 184 to 99. While the sundry civil bill was under consideration, the house in committee of the whole adopted an amendment offered by Mr. Bower of Kansas, prohibiting canteens in soldiers' homes. Unexpectedly the Neill-Reynolds report on the condition of Chicago packing houses came in for severe criticism, Mr. Mondell, Mr. Slayden and Mr. Fuller moving the advisability of the report in scathing terms. Mr. Ames defended the President in making the report and insisted the packers should pay the cost of inspection. The house at 5:45 p. m. adjourned until 11 o'clock Wednesday.

The rule was debated for forty min-

In the Senate

The conference report on the statehood bill was withdrawn and again presented to the senate, the new report containing the compromise agreed upon by the conferees of the two houses. There was some discussion of the power of the conferees to withdraw a report and the withdrawal was only permitted by a vote. The new report was not considered and much of the remainder of the day was devoted to the bill extending to thirty-six hours Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the time that live stock may be carried in transit without unloading. Senator Warren was in charge of the measure, and he and a number of senators debated it at length. During the discussion there was some reference to the proposed legislation for the regulation of packing houses and Senator Lodge said the packers are standing in their own light in not inviting the most rigid inspection. The bill was passed.

It was another Kentuckian, the gallant Holman, who, undaunted by the dread decimation, the cruel death-by-lot, having drawn a white bean for himself. brushed his friend aside and drew another in his stead. Ah, yes; we have our humors along with our heroics, and laugh anon at ourselves, and our mishaps and our jokes; but we are nowise a bloody-minded people; the rather a sentimental, hospitable, kindly people, caring perhaps too much for the picturesque and too little for conse-joice in our provincialism. We have always piqued ourselves upon doing our loving making and our law making, as we do our plowing, in a straight furrow; and yet it is true that Kentucky never encountered darker days than came upon us when the worst that can befall a commonwealth seemed passed and gone. The stubborn war between the old court party and the new court party was bitten enough; but it was not so implacable as the strife which strangely began with the discussion of an honest difference of opinion touching a purely economic question, of national, not state policy. FACTORIES IN TEXAS

There is a slight wave of industrial development sweeping over Texas. Our people are awakening to the necessity of building and encouraging factories and thereby seeking to build up and develop their respective communities. There are so many things needed in Texas and imported into Texas from other states that could be easily produced in Texas that an impression has been made on those people who have been doing a little intelligent figuring on the situation. It is dawning upon Texas people that millions of dollars could be kept circulating in Texas if we could only learn to produce the things we need at nome.

All the wagons sold in Texas should be made in Texas. All the vehicle and implements shipped into the state by the trainload should be manufactured right here at home. Dallas has done some intelligent work along that line and is today reaping the benefit of her timely action. Implement firms in the East were compelled to come to Dallas with big branch houses by the establishment of these home factories, and the result has been that Dallas has become one of the implement centers of the world. And what the city of Dallas has done in this particular can be done by other cities and towns in other lines.

The main thing we want to learn is to produce in Texas the articles that are needed in Texas, and when we cannot land a factory in our own town we should always be ready to encourage it to go to some other town. What we want in Texas is more factories of every kind, and no Texas city or town can hope to monopolize all the opportunities. The Sherman Register shows the proper spirit. The Register says:

Every factory that is located in Texas benefits all garts of the state in a greater or less degree. There should be sharp competition between Texas towns and cities in securing factories, but there should be no knocking. If we can't land a factory in Sherman, let's try to locate it in Grayson county, if we can't locate it in Grayson, let's help to locate it in Fannin, Collin. Hunt, Cooke or Denton counties, and failing there, try Dalias and Tarrant counties. One factory brings another. If any particular town in Texas is made a factory town, that is good reason why other towns should have factories, and an argument to use in securlog other factories in the state. If we pull together we can accomplish wonders. If we pull against each other, we hurt ourselves.

Texas is a state of magnificent natural resources, and there are Texas cities and towns that afford ideal locations for manufacturing enterprises on a large scale. Fort Worth perhaps leads in that direction. We are the great railway center of the Southwest, with lines radiating in every direction, and with many other advantages of favorable location. We are within forty or fifty miles of an abundant fuel supply, the coal fields of Wise, Parker and Palo Pinto counties lying at our very doors. We have an abundant water supply We enjoy favorable labor conditions. We have the healthiest country on earth. We are the gateway to the great cattle country, the gateway to the great grain country, in the midst of the great cotton country, and the acknowledged trade centers of a magnificent stratea of country that almost amounts to an empire.

Fort Worth needs more factories of every kind, and Fort Worth is continually reaching out for every enterprise of the kind that can be induced to come here. Experience has taught Fort Worth the value of manufacturing enterprises, and the success of those already established proves the value of the Fort Worth location. Still, Fort Worth does not aspire to monopolize all the factories in Texas. She wants her share of all the good things going, but Fort Worth rejoices to see tals factory feeling developing over all Texas. Smokestacks in action in any part of Texas constitute a pleasing sight to every progressive Texan. What we need is more factories in every portion of our great and growing state.

COSTLY FORM OF REVENGE

According to report Colonel Ned Green, former chairman of the Texas Republican executive committee, and official pie distributer for this empire state, is out after the scalp of Colonel Cecil Lyon, the gentleman who succeeded him as such, and is willing to spend the very handsome sum of $50,000 to encompass his purpose. That is a good round sum of money to be spent the purpose, it will at least serve to show that Colonel Green has a liveller recollection of past events than he has generally been credited with.

DAILY, SUNDAY AND WEEKLY BY THE FORT When Colonel Green was in control of the pie counter in Texas he gave scant recognition and encouragement to the Lyon contingent, and it is but natural that When Lyon succeeded in unhersing Colonel Green that he should develop something of a similar disposition. "To the victor belongs the spoils," is a political principle that has become an aphorism, and when the Green forces went down in defeat they had no right to expect any thing but that the hungry Lyon men would be hitched to the front rack and take in all that was > with a rod of iron and will brook interference from no source. The Republican party in Texas is composed of composite material. It represents many strange bedfellows and many surprising combinations, but the strangest thing about it is its apparent fondness for a fight in its own ranks. For years and years the Republicans of Texas have been fighting among themselves much harder than they have been fighting the Democracy. It may be that this is on account of the fact that there was nothing to be gained from fighting Democracy, as it is too big to be handled. The loaves and fishes that fall from the national pie counter are the only things in sight for the hungry Texas Republican, and this is perhaps what has engendered the apparent disposition to root the other fellow away from

Lyon proposes to say who shall feed at the trough. and Green men are compelled to give place to Lyon men. At least, this has been the rule in the past, and when the Green men are thus displaced it is but natural they should look in the direction of their old leader. And when Green sees his friends turned down for no other apparent reason than for their loyalty to him, he doubtless feels he would be false to their trust and confidence if he did not make an honest effort to tring about a collapse of the Lyon machine. If the Lyon machine can be smashed it means the building up of a Green machine, and Colonel Green seems willing to spend the handsome sum of $50,000 as a starter to get the Green machine in action.

And Green has some scores to settle on his own acbunt. He has not forgotten the past, nor will he soon forget it. He has a score to settle with Chairman Lyon, and the indications are he is going to make a very determined effort to settle it. He is shaping up the disgruntled element in the Republican party in Texas for no other purpose than the overthrow of Chairman Cecil Lyon, and the Republican conference to be held in this city is an important step in that direction. The calling of the state convention at El Paso has given the pro-Lyon people an excuse to get into action. But in Cecil Lyon they have a foeman worthy of their steel. The Sherman man is dead game to the core, and when it comes to putting up a political fight within his own party he is able to do the subject full justice. When the Green crowd get through with their revengeful attack on the Lyon forces they will realize they have had the livelist kind of entertainment and go home bearing unmistakeable evidences of having been mixed up in something closely akin to a bear

THE NEXT STATE LEGISLATURE

The people of all Texas should bear one fact very strongly in mind at this time, and that is the next state legislature that assembles at Austin is going have to wrestle with some very weighty problems. There are matters of moment to the people of the entire state that will have to be legislated upon, and he point that should be carefully considered in this connection is the propriety of sending men to the captal city in the capacity of lawmakers who are able measure fully up to the requirements of the situa-

When we come squarely down to real facts in the ease, it is true that the selection of the proper legislaive material is of vastly more importance to our people as a whole than the question as to who shall be the next governor of Texas. The Telegram would not seek to rob the gubernatorial situation of any of ts importance. It would not have the people of the state lose sight of the importance of choosing the right man for that exalted position, but the matter f who makes our laws for us is one of paramount mportance and must not be overlooked in the excitenent and confusion incident to making a choice of

Certainly the people of Texas have had ample exerience with grossly incompetent legislators. They must know full well the results that are to be natrally expected from sending any kind of material to the state legislature that presents itself. For the past several terms the record speaks for itself. It has been one of almost complete failure. It has been one of ecklessness and extravagance, disregard for the expressed will of the people and personal exaltation of its members. It has been a lasting reproach upon the qualified voters of this state that they would permit

It may be true that it is difficult to arouse the proper sense of patriotism and self sacrifice in the creasts of some desirable material, and the time has gone by when new or additional material may be called nto requisition: The entries are now closed by virtue f the operation of the Terrell election law, but that loes not prevent the voters from exercising discrimiation and good judgment in choosing from the array f candidates that has already presented itself. The entire offering should be raked through with a fineto thed comb and a choice made of the very best material that has presented itself.

It should be borne in mind that these men when Sected to the state legislature are clothed with great power. They are the individuals who make and unmake all our state laws. They say what the rate of taxation shall be, they pass on all matters pertaining to the legislative functions of government, and they should measure up fully to the requirements of the situation. The choosing of the membership of the egarded lightly by the people of the sovereign state

The coming of the state democratic convention to ort Worth was objected to on the ground that this city was the home of Judge Bell. It went to Dallas, which is the home of Judge Brooks, and there is a condition precipitated that does not altogether dovetail with the principles of consistency. But perhaps the executive committee had a straight tip to the effect that Dallas would not be the home of a gubernatorial candidate by the time the convention assembles.

The Telegram favored the holding of the state democratic convention out at Handley park, seven miles cast of the city. The convention comes within twenty-three miles of The Telegram's limit, and that is a horse play, seems to have gained general credence,-In evening up the political game, and if it is devoted to horse on Austin, Waco and other convention aspirants. Sherman Register.

The letters from Judge Robertson and Mr. Faulk to Judge Bell prove just what Mr. Colquitt contended. The brewery suits were instituted by Mr. Faulk and Judge Bell came into the case later. His participation in the case may have been greater than Mr. Colquitt was led to believe, but it seems to the Post that Mr. Colquitt's statements have been abundantly vindicated. The controversy arose, it is recalled, as a result of Judge Bell's statement that he turned more penalties into the state treasury as a result of anti-trust prosecutions, than any of his predecessors had collected. Mr. Colquitt replied by alleging that the suits against the breweries were Lyon is ruling the Republican machine in this state instituted by Faulk. And this seems to be the case.—

> Those letters from Judge Robertson and Attorney Faulk prove that Colquitt made statements he is unable to verify. The Post knows full well that such is the fact, and should not uphold its candidate in a campaign of misrepresentation.

. . . . Why should passengers be carried for 21/2 cents per mile, in order to give the railroads a chance to raise freight rates? The people who travel can pay 3 cents; out the merchant is now taxed the limit.—Richardson

Railways are compelled to earn a certain amount of revenue annually in order to meet their fixed charges and expenses. When that revenue is imposd in one direction it has to be made good in another. Texas is not yet sufficiently populated to justify a reduction in rassenger fares.

. . . . Editor Johnston of the Houston Post has quit the arker ice cart for the Bryan band wagon. And in his neart of hearts he is saying, "Mr. Colquitt, turn me loose."-Waco Times-Herald.

The Bryan band wagon is going to be crowded with conservatives," who realize they have made a bad break. Editor Johnston is only giving evidence of his ability to catch on to a good thing. In the case of Colquitt, he is actuated by the belief that Colquit is "a friend to Houston."

. . . . Bell is not a calamity howler. He is a matter-ofact business man, conservative in all his views, and just the sort of a man to make the greatest state in the Union the best governor it ever had. Charlie Bell and "A Square Deal" is what the people of Texas want,

It is the fact that Judge Bell stands for a square fea! that has rendered him so popular throughout Texas. He is a man who does not believe in raising false issues for the mere sake of political effect.

 \diamond \diamond \diamond \diamond There is a big row in progress in the ranks of the Republican party in Texas over the question of party control. Colonel Cecil Lyon, present state chairman and member of the national Republican executive committee, is a candidate for re-election. A meeting will be held in Fort Worth this month by the disgruntled element, and E. H. R. Green, former chairman, publicly has announced his willingness to spend $5,000 to encompass the defeat of Lyon.-Clarendon Chronicle.

Colonel Eddie Green has evidently not forgotten the lifting of his political hair by Colonel Cecil Lyon, and is going to make a big play for even. Fifty thousand dollars is a big sum to spend for political revenge, but Colonel Green is a man who is able to indulge all his political fancies so far as financial expenditure is con-

Men who are candidates for public position they are suddenly brought to realize they cannot hope to attain should not permit their chagrin to cause them to make an unseemingly exhibition of themselves. The man who makes charges against a successful opponent his is utterly unable to substantiate generally finds himself hoisted by his own petard.

. . . . We are sorry for the Fort Worth papers. It is laudable in them to lend their support to their home that we imagine it requires great efforts to keep up their enthusiasm, with Tom Campbell, the East Texas man leading out so far ahead and gaining so rapidly .--

The confidence of some of the East Texas papers in the nomination of Campbell is touching, from the fact they are so honestly mistaken. The Fort Worth papers will have nothing to grieve over from the gubernatorial

THE SUN STILL SHINES

The Fort Worth Telegram should rub up its specks. The sun is still shining brightly and there are many tinings to be thankful for. Judging from the following The Telegram is seein' things:

With the federal government continually poking its nose into the affairs of the citizen, where is this thing of government regulation and control going to finally end? We are drifting rapidly toward the strongest form of centralized government the world has ever seen, and one of these days we will awaken to the fact that we have no more rights than a serf in bloody Russia. Less government regulation and control and less government interference with the rights of the individual will soon be the popular cry from one end of the country to the other.-Denison Herald. \diamond \diamond \diamond \diamond

NOT ANGRY BUT WEARY

And now the usual placid Fort Worth Telegram oppears to be getting mad. It says:

"Candidate Colquitt charges Judge Bell to a joint discussion throughout the state and Candidate Colquitt served as a newspaper man long enough to fully appreciate the benefit of advertising. Judge Bell has nothing to gain from a joint discussion with Candidate Colquitt, and the people of the state have no interest in personalities. Judge Bell is but human and can be depended upon to defend himself from all aspersions, but there is no occasion for reiterating continually the falsity of the Colquitt allegations."-Austin Tribune.

\diamond \diamond \diamond \diamond REBUKING POLITICAL HORSE PLAY

The little bit of horse political play embodied in the attempted reduction of passenger fares on the Houston and Texas Central railway will be properly estopped by the application of an injunction. The courts of the state will not permit the perpetration of any such rank injustice.-Fort Worth Telegram.

A train had been sidetracked in a small South Carolina town, and several passengers had alighted to walk up and down the platform. Presently a lanky "cracker" sauntered up, a gun over his shoulder and a string of birds in his hand, a beautiful, full-blooded Irish setter following at his heels. STANDARD OIL AT BAY

It is disgusting to read of petty bribe giving for the sake of unlawful favors from railroad employes. It is hauseating to contemplate so vast a corporation fighting so foul a battle against comparatively insignificant refiners of petroleum. There is no grand strategy of trade, no bold leadership in industry. The Standard does not appear as a giant in enterprise and initiative, but as a careful and unscrupulous reaper where others have sown the seed of industrial and commercial success. It is a pitiful picture of smallness in great power and meanness in immense wealth.-Cleveland Leader.

The following dispatch indicates that the long hoped for union depot at Dal-

St. Louis, Mo., June 13.-Progress was made yesterday with the project for a union passenger and freight terminal system at Dallas. All the roads that operate into Dallas were represented at the meeting, which was presided over by B. F. Yoakum, chief executive of the Rock Island and Frisco

Several suggestions were offered at the meeting, although none was adopted. The suggestions outlined differnt plans for ground, buildings and necessary facilities and they were discussed rather thoroughly. Estimates of the original cost of the improvements contemplated by each plan and at the expense of operation and maintenance will be prepared for submission to the interested roads. The next step will be to make arrangements to incorporate a union terminal company. Mr. Yoakum finished his work in St. Louis yesterday and departed tonight for Chicago. Notwithstanding the effect of the appendicitis operation his health is good. WATER BASEBALL GAME

Will Be Played at Lake Como Friday

Afternoon

Among the many amusement features being introduced by the managers of Fort Worth amusement resorts is that of water baseball, to be inaugurated in Fort Worth for the first time Friday afternoon at Lake Como. Water baseball for some time has been played with much interest at Galveston. Captain J. O. Doves brings an organized team from that city to introduce the game here. The management of Lake Como will have the park Huminated for the game Friday night and the ball will be followed with a searchlight. The game will be played in water twenty feet deep. These baseball teams are composed of experienced swimmers. It requires as many men to play water baseball as it does to play the national game, even including the umpire, nineteen in all.

REPUBLICANS ROAST LYON

Resolutions Denouncing Party Leader Passed

CONDEMN METHODS

Plans Laid for Holding Independent State Convention. New Executive

The republicans of the State of Texas, "insurgents" as styled by the Lyon adherents, independents as they call themselves, completed late in the afternoon the work begun at 12:45

There was a notable address, carefully prepared, made by Dr. Acheson of Denison on the causes for the decline of the republican party vote in Texas from 167,000 votes 10 years ago to about 50,000 in the last election.

Four Causes Cited Dr. Acheson said the conditions tending to diminish the vote of a party First-A change of policies.

Second-The doctrine becoming exhausted. Third-The color line. Fourth-Absence of enthusiasm.

He took these conditions up seriatim and contended, first, there was no change in policy or sentiment among the republicans, or it would show in increased votes of the other parties. As a fact, all suffered a derease in vote, the "pros" and "pops" polling such small votes they were not worth considering. Second, the republican doctrine is not exhausted, for the vote of the party has showed an almost uniform increase of 500,000 vote every four years (presidential elections), and that increase continues to this day. Third, the color line is not a factor, for the republican vote is steadily increasing in all of the states surrounding Texas, where there are many negroes, except Louisiana. The point was made that the republican vote under chairmanship of Wright Cuney (negro) was much larger than under the present Lyon "slik stock-ing gang." Fourth, want of enthusiasm must be considered local, for no where else in the United States is it a fact. And that lack of enthusiasm is due largely if not entirely, he asserted, to the present management of party affairs.

Fault With Voters

He contended the fault lay with the voters, the national management, but most dargely with the state or "Lyon"

Activity in defense of their interests, avoidance of interference on the part of the national executive committee of the party, and crushing out the state ring, supplied so plentifully with money by assessments on federal office holders, the net revenue being estimated at from $25,000 to $75,000 per year.

Committee Reports

After Dr. Acheson's address the committee on policy et al. reported as follows: Section 60 of the Terrell election law reads as follows: "No one who holds an office of profit or trust under the United States or this state, or in city or town in this state, except a motary public, or who is a candidate for office or who has not paid his poll tax, shall act as judge, clerk or supervisor of any election; nor shall any one act as chairman or as member of an executive committee, either for the state or any district or county, who has not paid his poll tax, or who is a candidate for office, or who holds any office of profit or trust under either the United States or this state, except a notary public." Whereas, The Hon. Cecil A. Lyon is receiver of the irby Lumber Company, and received his appointment from the Hon. Walter T. Burns, judge of the United States court of the Southern district of Texas, the said receivership being clearly an office of profit and trust, under the United States, and Whereas, The said Cecil A. Lyon is also colonel of the state militia, and draws pay when in camp, the said office of colonel being a salaried one under the state government, and Whereas, All the so-called members of the state republican executive committee, which met in the city of San Antonio May 8 last, were candidates for office under the United States, or office holders under the United States, to-wit

Candidates for Office-Cypert of Hillsboro, Wren of Austin, Smith of El Paso, Williams of Hamilton and Waldrip of Canton. Office holders-Harris of Sulphur Springs, Green of Dallas, Wilson of Marshall, Boynton of Waco, Myers of Bryan, Bone of Beaumont, Rodgers of Lagrange, McLemore of Galveston, Nolte of Seguin, Baker of Haskell, Carter of Arlington and Lyon of Sherman, Whereas, The Hon. Lott R. Whiting. who was regarded as a political opponent of Colonel Cecil A. Lyon, was elected a member of the republican state executive committee from the Nineteenth senatorial district, but was holding the office of a fourth class postmaster on and before his election as a member of the said republican state executive committee, and Whereas, Colonel C. A. Lyon made the following ruling against his acting on said committee, to-wit: "Sherman, Texas, March 28, 1906 .-

L. R. Whiting, McCraven, Texas-My Dear Sir: Referring to the matter of the contest between yourself and Mr. Dwyer, senatorial chairman, Mr. Dwyer had written me some time ago that he had withdrawn his claims in your favor. On account of the fact that paragraph 60. Terrell election law, prohibits any person who is holding a federal position from being chairman of any political organization, it will be impossible for me to recognize you as senatorial chairman. This applies to Mr. Dwyer also, and therefore have no alternative, but to consider the chairmanship of that senatorial dise trict vacant, and have notified Mr. Dwyer of this also. Yours truly,

"C. A. LYON, "National Committeeman and State Chairman." And whereas, The above ruling is in accord with a plain provision of our state election law and applies with equal force to partisans of Colonel Lyon, who are holding office, as well as his opponents, and Whereas, Colonel Lyon refused to require his office-holding friends to vacate and retire from acting as members (himself included) of the state republican executive committee, and Whereas, Two-thirds of the county and congressional chairmen are holding office, or are candidates for of-fice, in plain violation of our state election law; now, therefore, be it

Law Violation Declared Resolved, That Colonel Cecil A. Lyon in holding the office of state chairman and the office of receiver of the Kirby Lumber Company, is violating the Terrell election law, and has disor-

all delegated power which was and is supposed to have been vested in all such republican chairmen and committee men, has reverted back to the republican electors, and Resolver, further, That all political power is vested in the people, and that they have a right to assemble and organize and should and ought to assemble in a state republican mass convention and reorganize the party upon a firm and patriotic basis in accordance with the laws of our state, Resolved further. That this conference appoint a committee of thirtyone with plenary power to name a place and fix a basis of representation, issue a call for a state convention, and secure rattroad rates to said convention, and to do whatever is proper and right to end the that complete reorganization of the party is had

Resolved further. That the said committee of thirty-one is to represent each senatorial district in Texas. Each senatorial chairman so appointed shall have power to appoint a county chairman in each county within his respective district for the purpose of calling county conventions of the republicans residing in his county, to perfect county organizations, and, when the said county organizations are perfected the chairman so elected shall meet and elect the congressional chairmen of their respective districts.

Resolved further, That a copy of these resolutions be given to all the daily papers of Texas.

H. C. Alder of Victoria, Texas, then read these resolutions, which had been handed to him by a republican who had not signed them. The paper as read and passed was as follows:

Resolutions

Whereas, This meeting has been called to review and denounce the actions of Colonel Cecil A. Lyon, long time state chairman of the executive committee and national committeemer

Whereas, It has been demonstrated by a preponderance of evidence and an overwhelming weight of testimony that his stewardship has been far from faithfully rendered during the years which the republican party has allowed him to occupy the exalted positions which he now holds: and

Whereas. He has attempted to set up a "silk stocking" party in Texas and has refused to listen to the opinions and pleas of the men from the forks of the creek; and

Whereas, He has set up a dictatorship in the state and dealt the patronage with a lavish hand to suit Colonel Cecil A. Lyon: and Whereas, Colonel Lyon has held his present positions of honor and of trust too long already, and has set up a personal machine in the state which is gnawing at the vitals of the party; Whereas. The vote, under his administration, has dwindled to only a semb.

lance of its former splendid proportions: and Whereas, The vote in 1900 was 151 .-000 in Texas and the vote in 1904 was only a fraction over 50,000; and Whereas, Some of the best workers in the party, including Green, Mac-Gregor, Atcheson, Adler, Sansom and a score of others have become disgust. ed with the present state of affairs;

Whereas, Mr. Lyon has asserted that the ex-union soldiers have already received more than they are entitled to, in spite of the fact that the said exunion soldiers are the ones who served as billets to stop the rain of lead which threatened to riddle the flag of the nation; and Whereas, The said ex-union soldiers have done nothing which should entitle them to such treatment at the hands of the man who is the son of an erstwhile union soldier, which fact should cause every tender emotion in his bosom to rise up in response to the praise of the old soldiers, and

Whereas, Mr. Lyon has too evidently been instrumental in placing the coming convention at El Paso, which is ostensibly a move on his part to perpetuate Lyonism in the state and not allow the members of the party to take that course which is for the best interests of the institution; and Slightly Sarcastic

Whereas, If it is possible that the offices now held by the Titian Lyon are a burden, they should be lifted from off his galled and fretted neck; and Whereas, If the offices he now holds are an honor, there are many good men in the state who are entitled to share in the honor; then be it Resolved, That we, in convention assembled, do announce our intention of defeating the man who has spat upon us in spirit if not in fact, and scuttle his barque of prosperity in the deepest shoals of party degradation; and be it further

Resolved. That we call to our aid those republicans of the state who are for the best interests of the G. O. P. and not for Lyonism, which is a new political faith just appeared on the horizon, but which is looming dully against the sun of republican prosperity; and be it further Resolved. That we bend every effort to oust the man who has lowered the party in the state and has allowed it to sink materially in prestige and im-portance; and be it further. Resolved. That we transmit a copy of these resolutions to the leading papers of the state for publication. After the adoption of these resolutions, Harry Beck of Hillsboro, said ganized the republican party, and that he owed nothing to Colonel Lyon nor did he fear him or "his gang." He had been postmaster at Hillsboro for years and his record was in Washington, and in the minds of the people of Hillsboro, to speak for itself and on that he stood. Under the President's merit system and with the indorsement of the patrons of the Hillsboro postoffice he was sure of reappointment, if he desired it, but his self-respect would not permit him to continue to held office where an individual like Colonel Lyon deals out the patronage. At this point a telegram was read from P. F. Dennis of Marshall, which read as follows:

"Cannot be in Fort Worth, but East Texas is with you in a body."

McDonald Happy

The next speaker was W. M. (Gooseneck Bill) McDonald, who has long been a prominent factor in the party of Texas, but who has been silent for some time since the convention of 1900 when Lyon and his following bolted the

Among other things McDoneld said that he was too happy to make a speech. When he was angered at some wrong he could say plainly what he thought, "but the perfect harmony of this meeting, and the earnestness displayed in opposition to the "doings of the upstarts of the party in Texas who are trying to drive from the party such men as made McKinley and Roosevelt possible as leaders disarmed

He said he was opposed to "the whole Lyon cigarette smoking gang, who meet generally in the seventh story of palatial hotels, drink fine wines and smoke expensive cigars.'

He wanted to lend his efforts to the overthrow of that "gang." After one or two other brief addresses, A. S. Legate of Denison was selected as the temporary chairman of the executive committee of thirty-one, to be named by the chair, and Dr. G. P. Phipps of Corsteana, colored, was elected as sec-

S.S.S. STANDARD TONIC

The ingredients of which S. S. S. is composed, and the method of combining and preparing them so that they gently and pleasantly build up and strengthen every part of the body, make it the ideal tonic for a disordered condition of the system. Every one feels the need of a tonic sometimes The system seems to get "out of gear," the appetite becomes fickle, the energies are depressed, sleep is not restful or refreshing, and the entire body has a nervous, worn-out feeling. When the system is in this depleted, run down condition it must be aided by a tonic, and S. S. S. is recognized every where as the standard. Being made entirely of roots, herbs and barks selected for their gentle action as well as their invigorating effect on the system, it will not disagreeably affect any of the delicate members or tissue as do most of the so-called tonics on the market which contain potash or some other harmful mineral ingredient. These derange the stomach and digestion, unfavorably affect the bowels or otherwise damage the health. S. S. S. tones up the stomach and digestion, improves the appetite, produces refreshing sleep, rids the body of that tired, run-down feeling, and supplies tone and vigor to the entire system. It re-establishes the healthy circulation of the blood, acts more promptly and gives better and more lasting results than any other tonic, and because of its vegetable purity is an absolutely safe medicine for young or old. S. S. S. acts admirably in cases of dyspep sia, indigestion and other stomach troubles, and after using it that uncom fortable feeling of fullness, dizziness or drowsiness, after eating, are no longer felt. Not only is S. S. S. the greatest of all tonics but possesses purifying and alterative properties, and if there is a taint in the blood it will promptly remove every trace and restore perfect health. In selecting you tonic for this year do not experiment but get S. S. S., the recognized stand ard.

CATCHES WOLVES WITH HANDS

Much has been written about wolves, their habits, tralts, characteristics, eto, and to the casual observer or reader it may seem that there is litthe left to say. But to those who have made a special study of these ani-mals, and who have come in almost personal contact with them. find there are many things which L for one, have not heard before. For instance, there is the theory that the male wolf always remains with the mother and helps take care of the young. President Roosevelt, in his Outdoor Pastimes of an American Hunter," expresses a doubt about this, and says: "I wish, for instance, that I could get trustworthy information of any instance in which the male wolf, or coyote, remained with his mate and joined in the care of the cubs. In the cases of breeding wolves which have come to my knowledge, the mother has been alone, and the male has not had anything to do with the care of the family."

Male Will Care for Cubs As I have been trying to find out all I can about wolves from various authorities, I asked this question of each one. From thirty-nine I received the answer "No," but Dr. Frank Baker of the National Park, Washington, D. C., in a letter says:

"With regard to the care of the young by the male wolf, I would say that a pair of American gray wolves has raised a litter of young here each year since 1897. The male has regularly remained with his mate, and has never failed to share in the care of the young, helping in the feeding after they began to eat meat ,and giving them then almost as much attention as they received from the mother." From another source I am told that one male wolf attempted to stay with his family when thte mother had cubs, and was so bullied and ill-used by the mother that he was taken away for fear she would kill him! From yet another source I hear that on one occasion when cubs were born in the next cage to the male wolf he tore through the boarding and killed three of the cubs before he could be prevented. These facts prove that in this case, as in all others, it is impossible to say exactly what each animal of a species will do. It depends largely on each nature and temperament.

America's Champion Hunter There is one man who has had perhaps more opportunities to observe the habits and dispositions of wolves and to study their conduct than any other. This is John Abernathy, now United States marshal for the territory of Oklahoma, who accompanied President Roosevelt on his last hunting trip. Mr. Abernathy is certainly the only man in the world who is able to eatch wolves alive with his hands, or, I should say, his hand, for he only uses one to actually catch the animal.

His mode of procedure is this: Galoping along on his sturdy white pony, he waits until the critical moment when the wolf will try to attack him wiht open mouth. Then he suddenly reaches down, and with a swift movegent passes his hand quickly behind the canine teeth, squeezing the under jaw as tightly as possible, before the animal has time to close down on his hand. If this were done the wolf would undoubtedly gain the victory, for the canine teeth are very long and deadly poisonous. The bite of any wolf causes intense pain, suppuration and high fever; in fact, it produces a kind of pseudo-hydroprobia, which continues for about a week or ten days, and often ends in death. Once caught in this manner the animal is powerless. It has always been said that these animals are cowardly, but this does not seem to be Mr. Abernathy's opinion at all. He says they are very cunning and will run rather than fight, but when fighting is necessary, they will do it with a viciousness and bravery wonderful to wit-

A Hair-Raising Experience One of his thrilling adventures, which seemed at one time to be likely to be the end of this plucky hunter, happened some time ago. Mr. Abernathy had broken camp at Deep Red, in the southern part of Oklahoma, and had started for home with seven wolves in a cage in a wagon, driven by his nephew. He had given instruc-

At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh "He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk. My Aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. So great was her faith in it that she gave me a small piece of

"I sent to the drug store and got a cake of the Soap and a box of the Ointment and followed the directions, and at the end of about two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since. "He is now strong and healthy, and I can sincerely say that only for your most wonderful remedies my tions that when he had started in a face with any welves his nephew was to stop the wagon, take an extra horse and follow him.

Mr. Abstrathy had not gone three miles when he "jumped" three welves. Having only two dogs with him, the race monitor to be interesting. race promised to be interesting. After going another three miles one of the dogs threw a welf. Mr. Abernathy's horse was going so fast at that moment that he ran over one of his dogs, killing it instantly, at the same moment tumbling to the ground. This caused a little delay, so that by the time he had mounted again and sone back to the wolf it had cut the dog severely and was making off.

This made the hunter more determined than ever to get that wolf, and urging his horse on he chased him hard for over a mile over frightfully rough ground, followed by the wounded dog. This plucky dog, instead of giving in, kept up until he actually succeeded in catching the wolf by the hind leg, when both tumbled over together in a heap.

In a Desperate Plight

By this time Mr. Abernathy was riding side by side with the dog and wolf, and as the two fell together he leaped on the wolf, letting his horse go free. By a wonderful sleight of hand he caught the wolf by the jaw, held him as though in a vise, and then realized that he was indeed in a desperate plight. His horse was gone, his dog completely done up, he was him-self exhausted with the long ride and the final struggle; he held a live, victous wolf by the jaws, and to add to his difficulty at this moment the other two wolves, who had been running cautiously at a distance until they saw the hunter fall from his horse, now came up and began to attack him fiercely. He had nothing whatever with which to protect himself except his feet, as he was astride the wolf with boht hands in his mouth, the animal showing untual signs of

With all the strength at his command he kicked the two wolves until he got one hand free, and with this he managed to get out his knife and open it with his teeth. Kicking at one wolf with his feet, he struck with all his might at the other, breaking the blade of his knife in his shoulder. Subdued, but not at all daunted, the wounded wolf drew back and crouched down with an evil glare in his eyes, There was a deep gash in his shoulder, but he showed no signs of giving in, and looked as thought likely to attack again at any moment. It was useless to try to kill the wounded wolf now that his knife was bladeless, so, dragging his captured wolf by one hand, Mr. Abernathy walked to a high mound near by, hoping he would be able to see some one, but to his horror saw a large herd of wild steers not more than a quarter of a mile away!

Attacked by a Herd Seeing some moving and struggling objects, the steers at once advanced toward the struggling mass, their heads held threateningly, and sniffing and snorting in a way these animals have when approaching an object with which they are not familiar. By this time the hunter was indeed in s hopeless plight. A live wolf in his hand, a wounded one behind him, a herd of wild range steers coming toward him, and not so much as a stick or stone to protect himself with. However, John Abernathy is not man to be easily daunted, even in such an emergency as this, and thinking matters over quickly, he decided that the wisest course would be for him to hold his wolf as close to the earth as possible and lie down flat on him. As soon as the hunter did this the whole herd, with a series of bellows made a rush toward him, pawing and throwing up the dirt, snorting and puffing through their nostrils, and it seemed that he would certainly be trampled to death. Fortunately, at this moment his nephew, who been told to follow him, had climbed on the top of the wagon to see if he could see his uncle, and just as he did so he noticed the big herd of steers and their peculiar movements. Saved in the Nick of Time Suspecting that something was wrong, although he was unable to see anything of his uncle, the boy seized a revolver, and rode toward the herd at a breakneck speed. On coming within shooting range of the wild cattle, he fired a few shots into them at random. This caused an instant stampede among them, and they scattered in all directions, jumping clean over the fallen hunter and the wolf, kicking, snorting and puffing in terror. It seems an absolute miracle that the man and wolf were not instantly killed, instead of which, wonderful to celate, neither was injured. I think it says much for the endurance of wolves that after all this time, the racing, struggling, being held tightly by the under jaw by a man's hand, which was half-choking him, being dragged along, and then thrown o the ground, and then nearly suffocated by the size and weight of a fullgrown man's body, this particular wolf even then showed no signs of giving in.

Mr. Abernathy says that even after all this struggle he watched the eyes of this wolf, but he showed not the slightest sign of submission; he was simply resting, hoping to struggle anew as soon as he could get the opportunity. As with all his kind, once he had made up his mind to fight, he meant to keep it up, and although he must have been in great pain by this time, and exhausted to a certain degree, he uttered no cry of distress of any kind, not even a whimper, and did not give up until he was dead.

Quickest and Most Cunning Mr. Abernathy's opinion is that wolves are the quickest, most cunning and smartest little animals which inhabit his western country.

Rain in Atlantic States Encourages Bears and Market Is Hammered Hard-Prices Drop

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, June 13.—The cotton market had a decidedly easy undertone today. Rains in the Atlantic states and put a crimp in bullish and put a crimp in bullish hopes, which had been fostered by the ex-pectation of a protracted drouth. Good reports sent over from this side were reflected in lower prices in Liverpool, and the local market in turn responded to the foreign weakness, prices on the first call being two to four points lower. Shortly after the call the crowd found out that a certain broker had orders to sell July and buy December, and they quickly hammered July down to a level ten points below yesterday's closing figures. New crop months lost about six points, engendered by the reports of rain in Georgia. The official weather map when issued showed that the rainfall in South Carolina and Georgia was very heavy, and this checked the selling for a time, causing a slight reaction, as bulls claimed that the rains weer detrimental instead of beneficial.

The forecast for fair weather tomorrow, however, encouraged the bears and the hammering was soon renewed, the low level being touched during the afternoon with summer months selling thirteen to eighteen points below yesterday's finals, and fall options at a net loss of twelve to thirteen points. The close was steady, with prices near the lowest. Spot cotton market ruled quiet, prices losing five points, placing middling at 11:20c. Sales 35 bales.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, June 13 .- The cotton market exhibited a tired feeling today, and while the trading was not at all actives prices were lowered materially.

Unfavorable Liverpool advices and reports of showers in Georgia with prospects for showers west of that state influenced an easy opening with prices one to five points lower. Bears assumed control of the proceedings in the summer months shortly after the call and soon forced the price off eleven points for July, Short covering on this decline caused some reaction, but eventually another slump

The weather news weakened the new crop position and prices for these options lost nine points. The market closed steady and near lowest level. Spot cotton market ruled easy, prices being unchanged at 11 1-8c for middling. Sales 1,050 bales, including 850 f. o. b.

Liverpool Cotton Cable Special to The Telegram.

LIVERPOOL, June 13.-A revival of activity in the spot department was the principal feature of the cotton market today. For the first time since the beginning of the Whitsentide holidays sales aggregated 10,000 bales, including 9,400 American, and this fact was encouraging to the longs. The price, however, was two points lower, American middling being quoted at 6.09d. Receipts, 4,000 bales, all American. The contract market opened quiet, with prices one to two points lower, against a decline of two points

Unfavorable advices from America caused scattered selling, which weakened prices, and the close was steady showing a net loss of five to seven Wheat and Corn Prices Tumble, but Oats Continues to Climb Special to The Telegram.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 13.-Wheat prices reacted today, being affected by iquidation and a not inconsiderate volume of short selling. Higher prices in Liverpool and unfavorable advices from Russia caused a firm opening here, prices being 4c to %c higher, but opening figures were the best of the day and the strength was of short duration, for after some little hesitancy a decline was started under realizing which the adance attracted, and shorts took up their cudgels and hammered prices down a cent in a comparatively short space of time. There was support forthcoming on the decline and a partial reaction ensued, which was followed by another slump, increasing the previous loss to 1%c. The market closed weak, with prices at a net loss of 1%c. Local receipts, 3 cars, against the same number this day last year. Estimated for tomorrow, 6 cars.

Corn Corn futures are cheaper, as the result of today's proceedings, despite the fact that the day's news as a whole was bullish, the principal feature being the absence of prospects for rain in Nebraska, where the crop is suffering. Liverpool advices were favorable and the market opened firm, the July option selling %c to %c highr on the first call. Although there was liquidation by longs during the initial trading, the strength was maintained until after midday, when prices sympathized with the break in the wheat market, dropping 14c from the best. The market closed steady with prices showing a net loss of 1/2c to 5/8c.

Local receipts, 280 cars, against 225 cars this day last year. Estimated for tomorrow, 879 cars.

Oats Oats was by far the strongest of the cereal markets, the strength, however, being principally in the July option, which gained more than 1c during the day, under short covering and good buying, induced by unfavorable crop news. Final figures showed a net gain of 1/2c for July. Local receipts, 106 cars, against 91 this day last year. Estimated for to-

Provisions The provision market was dull and featureless, closing figures showing small losses for all products.

Panama Government Reports That No Cases Are Found on Isthmus Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, June 13 .- The Isthmian Canal commission received the following dispatch today from Governor McCoon, at Panama: "No suspected cases of yellow fever in Colon. Doubtful case was reported May 23, evidently not yellow fever, as Cristobal Colon contains over two thousand nonimmunes and there has been no case since. Wyman advised us of the reported cases taken from the steamship Whitehall at New Orleans, but our medical staff thinks the Ship island diagnosis is erroneous. The health condition is excellent. Deaths of employes during May are five whites and forty-five colored, the smallest percentage for the past twelve months."

Good to Choice Steers Higher-Cows Lower-Hogs

Receipts of cattle ran to 2,700 head, including 900 calves. Beef steers ran mostly to good to choice, with a few medium to common.

Packers had orders for good steers and paid most attention to this part of the supply. The market had a stronger outlook on the best cattle, one load of 1,405 pounds average making $4.50 and another of 1,258 pounds going at $4.15. Some 1,000 pounds, good grassers sold at $3.35. The demand for common to medium steers was weal; corresponding with the market. Sales of steers:

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 13. -New Orleans cotton: Trading was limited in volume today. Sentiment was strongly bearish and under it prices eased off to the extent of 13 points for July and 6 points for the latter positions before noon, but the bears lacked organization to carry the decline further. The belief that large holders of July had let go a part of their loads on the recent advances caused less confidence among the weaker long, following which resulted in considerable liquidation. Taken all around, the market had few friends this morning and the wonder is that prices held up as well as they did. Crop news could hardly have been better. Heavy rains in the eastern cotton belt effectually put an end to any tales of drouth and provided moisture for some time to come, while private reports were to the effect that considerable rain fell along the gulf coast, where it was badly needed. Few bearish reports concerning the crop were received and it would appear that the conditions surrounding the crop are as satisfactory as could be expected. The market is again in a waiting attitude, for much uncertainty is felt over the July position. If July was out of the way the whole attention of the trade would be probably taken up with the new crop, but the now rather vague threats of the bulls concerning July serve to devide the interest and attention of operators in general. Spots were inactive. Buyers did not display so much interest in the market as usual and there were some who called offerings, both on factors' tables and also from the country, freer than they have been for some time. It is certain that exporters did not pay so much attention to requests for bids from the country, but this might have been a result of the general bearishness of the market quite as much as a result of exporters being well covered.

Vivion Commission Co. FORT WORTH, Texas, June 13.-Cotton markets were dominated entirely by weather conditions today. Rains which fell in Georgia and South Carolina wer responsible for a slump which started in Liverpool and was carried further on this side. The only favorable feature of the foreign news was the improved spot demand as reflected by the sale of 10,000 bales at a decline of 2 points in price at 6.09d for American middling. The New York market opened easy with prices 2 to 5 points lower, and under selling which was caused by the reports of rains in the Atlantic states new-crop months eventually lost 11 to 12 points, while July sold almost $1.00 a bale under yesterday's finals. After the official weather map was posted there was talk of crop damage by the rains, inasmuch as they were considered excessive, ranging from 2.64 to 7.14 inches in Georgia and South Carolina, the forecast for tomorrow called for fair weather in the sections visited by rain last night and the market derived no benefit from the talk. Southwest Texas and Louisiana continue to suffer from drouth. The semiweekly statement today favored the bulls, the movement being the lightest for several weeks. Spot cotton prices dropped 5 points, middling being quoted at 11.20c. The long side looks C. T. VIVION. the best.

TRADE NOTES

The man who sells the best cows and the best calves out of his dairy is surely whittling with the blade of his knife toward him. He will be luckly if he does not get cut

The best dairy cow is not the one that gives the biggest mess for a short time-it's the one that shows up at the end of the year with the biggest total production. That's the point to watch.

A system of drying milk is said to have been successful in London, England, and Australia. The milk is dried between steam rollers and sold as a powder, from which nothing but water has been extracted and to which nothing but water requires to be added to make wholesome, clean and sterile milk.

It is poor policy to let cows dring ice water. It takes a lot of feed to warm up an animal that has filled herself with ice water on a cold day. It is much cheaper to have a small heater -a kettle on three stones will answer -to warm the water. A kettle of boiling water will take the chill off of water sufficient for a dozen cows. In feeding roughage feed only what saves feed, but a cow does better when she is not stuffed to her full capacity with hay. Over feeding lessens the digestibility of all the feed. O. M. Hite, a constant shipper from

POLYTECHNIC HEIGHTS

 Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Thomas and litte daughter of Shreveport, La., are visiting this week with M. Newson and family in Polytechnic Heights. Mrs. C. G. Mitchell and children of Polytechnic Heights have gone to Palestine, Texas, where they will visit relatives for the next six weeks. Mrs. Easton of Polytechnic Heights. who was reported a few days ago as being in a very critical condition, being confined to her bed by illness, is now much improved.

LECTURE ON CIVICS McFarland to Use Stereopticon Views at City Hall

In connection with his lecture at the city hall Tuesday night on the subject of "Civics," J. Horace McFarland will exhibit stereopticon views illustrating the improvements in appearance effected by a small amount of work in the right direction. These views are similar to those being published in the Ladies' Home Journal, with which paper Mr. McFarland is connected. He comes here from Dallas, where he is attending the meetings of the National Nurserymen's Association. The lecture is open to the public and no admission fee will be charged, the local civic federation bringing the speaker to the city for the purpose of arousing public sentiment in favor of improving the general appearance of the city.

LEGAL LIGHTS IDLE

Court Dockets Show Few Cases and Lawyers Complain Special to The Telegram.

WACO, Texas, June 13 .- The lightest court dockets in years have been handled by the courts recently. Attorneys report that there is but little legal business and that people do not seem disposed to go to law. Whether the prosperous times caused this making it easy to arrange concessions, or whether it is due to other causes, does not appear.

MILL DOUBLES OUTPUT

Waxahachie Concern to Make Big Addition Before Cotton Season

Special to The Telegram. WAXAHACHIE, Texas, June 13:-Work will soon be commenced on an addition to the cotton mill which will double its capacity. The contract for the erection of the annex has been awarded to E. J. Zimmerman of Cleburne. It is planned to have this addition ready for operation by the opening of the next cotton season.

Examining Trial Set Examining trial of Henry McCastle, colored, charged with the murder of Eddie Rogers, also colored, has been set for 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

WHEAT CROP LIGHT

Yield Is Smaller Than for Many Years In Waco Vicinity Special to The Telegram.

street. Phone 2986

WACO, Texas, June 13.-Mr. H. H. Crouch, a prominent grain dealer, states that oats are coming in freely now, and that the crop is a good one, with prices from 30 to 35 cents per bushel. As to wheat, Mr. Crouch says that the crop is the lightest for years in this section, both as to acreage and yield. Wheat will begin coming in the latter part of this week,

NOTED SURGEON DEAD

Major Paul R. Brown, Once With Custer, Dies in Pennsylvania

Special to The Telegram. TULSA, I. T., June 13.-Major Paul R. Brown, a retired army surgeon, once professor of Roman languages in Cornell university and recently a resident of Tulsa, is dead at Maple Hill sanitarium, Pennsylvania, after a protracted illness. Major Brown had been in government service twenty years, during which time he was stationed in most of the principal army posts in the United States. He was in the saddle during the celebrated Custer raid and was present at the capture of Geronimo in Arizona. Major Brown was the father of Dr. Paul R. Brown of this city. The funeral was held in

Philadelphia. STATEHOOD BILL UP

Great Privilege Will Likely Be Conferred on Territories This Week Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The pros-pect that the privilege of statehood will be conferred on Oklahoma and Indian territory this week is excellent. The obnoxious report which Mr. Beveridge brought in two weeks ago was withdrawn Tuesday morning without a word of debate, and late Tuesday afternoon the conferees brought into both houses a new report in harmony with the agreement made. The report will be called up in the senate today, and it will be adopted perhaps without dis-cussion. It will then only remain for the house to adopt it to put the bill in readiness for the scrutiny of the President. Signed by him, as of course it will be, and the act which will enable Oklahoma and Indian Territory to come into the union will be a reality.

The kind of baseball you read about but seldom see resulted in the shutting out of Maloney's Dallas Giants at Haines' Park Monday afternoon, the Panthers netting two runs off Pitcher LOANS on farms and improved city property. W. T. Humble, represent-ing Land Mortgase Bank of Texas, Pruitt's puzzlers.

Clark, formerly of Birmingham but now of the Panthers, has a strong bid for the fan's gratitude as a result of his masterly pitching, but had it not been for major league fielding by the Panther garden squad the four hits off his delivery would have netted more than a cipher.

Cavender alone bagged five flies against the sun and Gfroerer pulled in a long deep swat which would have been good for a two-bagger had it touched the grass.

Carlin was playing some baseball also and his catch of Sullivan's foul was a great stunt. The lanky third baseman also netted a couple of hits. Batting honors went to Boles, whose home run in the first sent the fans up in the air with delight. The Panthers did not score again

Anxious Fan-Pruitt denies that he is throwing a spit ball this season because it is a wet year.

Gfroerer had hard luck Tuesday at the bat, but he redeemed himself out in the field. Soprano Fink is quick on his feet, but his voice would sound more natural in the Boston Bloomer aggregation. A double play between Boles, Clayton and Salm at the very opening of the game made the fans sit up and take notice. Now that the outfield is cut Wilson doesn't seem able to find the fence any more.

WONDERFUL CURES OF STOMACH TROUBLE

The Marvelous New Medicines With Which L. T. Cooper, the Young Philanthropist, Has Effected the Most Startling Cures of Stomach Trouble, Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble and Other Diseases Continue to Cure the Most Obstinate Cases and Are Proving a Blessing to the Sick and Suffering

The grateful patients that have been cured of Stomach Trouble and diseases arising therefrom by these famous remedies number among the hundreds of thousands and letters from them are pouring in every day, telling of the remarkable results that have been obtained from their use and thanking Mr. Cooper for the restoration of their health and strength.

MR. HEISER

The phenomenal sale that these preparations are having has been heretofore unheard of. Thousands of bottles have been sold in this city and many cures have been reported right here at home. Mr. W. M. Hiser, a well known business man of Portland, Ind., in a recent letter says:

"Some time ago I began to have a great deal of trouble with my stomach. It would pain me constantly all day. I had no appetite and when I did eat a little it would not digest. I tried various remedies that had relieved me in former attacks, but I only grew worse and worse. I had heard a great deal of Cooper's New Discovery, and when nothing else did me any good I resolved to give it a trial. I took three bottles and 1 can truthfully say that the pain disappeared and has not returned to this day. I have a good appetite and never suffer any more from indiges-

Mrs. Eva Edmonson, 407 Twelfth street, Louisville, Ky., says of the Cooper Remedies: "I am pleased to have an opportunity of letting the sick and suffering know what these wonderful medicines have done for me. My stomach troubled me for nearly ten years and nothing I could do seemed to afford me any relief. My food did not digest and I had a dull heavy feeling all the time. I often had severe headaches that would last for a whole week. I suffered also from constination. I noticed quite an improvement soon after I began taking Cooper's New Discovery. My appetite returned, my digestion improved and my headaches left me entirely. I sincerely recommend Cooper's New Discovery to every sufferer from stomach trouble, for I believe it a wonderful medicine that will do all that is claimed for it."

Nothing is more conducive to perfect health than the proper digestion of food. Poor digestion means poor blood. When the food is not properly assimilated it sours on the stomach and become stagnant. Its poisonous fermentation or gas impregnates the blood. It causes constipation, sick headache, pimples and poor complexion. The tongue is coated and you feel tired and listless and no account. Cooper's New Discovery will quickly correct this trouble by restoring the stomach to its natural healthy condition. As soon as the food is digested and the poisonous matter driven from the system you will notice a marked improvement. Your appetite will return, your headache will cease and you feel like a new person. Take the advice of those who have

FORT WORTH PROOF

W. H. Davenport, jeweler, living at 625 Hemphill street, Fort Worth, Texas, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me two years ago and I have never had the least sign of a recurrence of the trouble since. I gave a statement for publication at that time, telling what your medicine did for me, and I have ecommended it to a great many people and have always heard satisfactory reports in every case. My trouble was all in my back, a sort of dull aching and soreness just over the region of the kidneys. When stooping or turning around suddenly a sharp twinge of pain would strike me. As I have said above, I have never had any return of the symptoms since."

NEGRO HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Young Black Fatally Wounded at 910 Chestnut Street

In the front of the residence of James F. Wellington, 910 Chestnut street Wednesday morning, Ed Rogers, a young negro man, was shot three times, the weapon being a 32-caliber revolved. Rogers is lying dead at the morgue and Henry McCastle, another young negro man, who surrendered to Police Officers Bibb and Waller, was given into the custody of Sheriff John T. "I work for Mr. Ward, W. B. Ward the lumber man, at 1010 Lake street; my wife works for George Clayton at 1014 Lake street. Last night my wife told me of meeting a strange man who insulted her. I had seen the meeting, but did not know what the man had said to her, until she told me. This morning the man was passing along the street. His name is Eddie Rogers don't know what he does. I went out into the street and said to him that my wife had told me he had insulted her and asked him why he spoke to her as he did. He cursed my wife and myself and, running his hand in his pocket, jumped at me. He had passed before and I had seen the way he was looking at me, so I went into the house and secured a pistol. The pistol does not belong to me. It was loaded. I pulled the pistol from my pocket when he jumped on me and, when he grabbed my head and seemed about to pull his hand from his pocket, I pulled the trigger. The first snap did not shoot the gun, so I kept pulling the trigger and, when all the shots were gone used the gun as a club. Then I went home and dressed and when the officers came, surrendered to them. I am a peaceable man and don't think I have a bad reputation among the people for whom I have worked." The dead man's body showed three

"You see, Fort Worth is a fast growing town and many classes of people drift in here, some of them being, as a glance will show, not of the best strata of society. It is with these traveling criminals that the police are called on primarily to deal and, considering the circumstances, Fort Worth is in a better condition today than ever before in her history.

BUILDING FOOD To bring the Babies Around,

When a little human machine (or a large one) goes wrong, nothing is so important as the selection of food to bring it around again. "My little baby boy, fifteen months old, had pneumonia, then came brain fever, and no sooner had he got over these than he began to cut teeth and, being so weak, he was frequently thrown into convulsions," says a Colorado mother.

"I decided a change might help, so took him to Kansas City for a visit. When we got there he was so very weak when he would cry he would sink away and seemed like he would die. "When I reached my sister's home she said immediately that we must feed him Grape-Nuts and, although I had never used the food, we got some and for a few days gave him just the juice of Grape-Nuts and milk. He got stronger so quickly we were soon feeding him the Grape-Nuts itself and in a wonderfull short time he fattened right up and became strong and well. "That showed me something worth knowing and, when later on my girl came, I raised her on Grape-Nuts and she is a strong healthy baby and has been. You will see from the little photograph I send you what a strong, chubby youngster the boy is now, but he didn't look anything like that before we found this nourishing food. Grape-Nuts nourished him back to strength when he was so weak that he couldn't keep any other food on his stomach." Name given by Postum Co., Battle
