City Assessor and Collector Gilvin completed the Fort Worth real estate assessment rolls Saturday noon and the total assessed valuation of the city real estate is given above. The increase, which is the largest in any year of the city's history, unless it be in the boom days of the early '90s, is accounted for by the rapid advance in values in business property. This advance has been chiefly in Main, Houston, Rusk and Throckmorton streets and in Jennings avenue. The assessment of lots on Main and Houston streets are from $1,000 to $2,000 higher for 1906 than for 1905, and on streets on each side of these the valuation has been raised accordingly. But the value of real estate has increased over the whole city and in the residence sections property owners will have to go deeper into their pockets this year than in any former year The new buildings over the city have been an important factor in the increase, and while most of the building has been in the residence portion, several substantial business houses built during the last year go to help the increase. Blood Clot on Brain Six Inches

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 30 .- Applying to surgery the axiom "While there is life there is hope," surgeons in Washington Heights Hospital placed Weiner Koch. aged 33, on the operating table yesterday, but there was so little life in Koch that the surgeons felt that work was well nigh futile. Koch entered his home a week ago, sought his bed without arousing any of the family and was found unconscious in the house on the morning of June 22. Efforts to arouse him were unsuccessful. Examination disclose1 no wounds on Koch's body and there was no symptom of drug or alcoholic poisoning. Day by day he grew weaker. He was taken to a hospital where a slight depression in the skull was discovered and an operation performed.

Clot Six Inches Square Removing a small area of the skull blood clot was found. As more of the skull was cut away, the clot was seen to be extended, and it was soon found to cover a six-inch surface of the brain. It was speedily removed and doctors were still at work when Koch opened his eyes, drew in a deep breath and sat bolt upright on the table. Quickly but feebly he told of receiving a blow on the head.

Comes to Life Restoratives were administered and as his faculties cleared rapidly he said he was struck down at Amsterdam avenue and One hundred and fiftyseventh street. Two hours after Koch had come to life on the operating table detectives brought to the station two men who admitted being with Koch. They had been arrested on his Koch is in a fair way of recovering.

Since the killing of Stanford White Monday night, Thaw has been arraigned, has been before the coroner's jury, formally charged with murder, indicted and yesterday added the final page to the first chapter of the court proceedings by appearing in the court of general sessions and personally pleading "not guilty." Today finds Mrs. Thaw not only a willing witness for her husband, but an active assistant for his atorneys. Yesterday she was under a gruelling examination by his lawyers for fourhours, and related every incident of her life that may bear on the case. When she had finished stenographers had nearly one hundred closely written sheets of the story. The examination may be continued later. The state's lawyers were in th meantime as busy as Thaw's, and this morning they delved deeper and deeper into the case, striving for the direct motive for the killing. Truxton Beale, who was with White at the dinner which preceded the shooting, has not appeared at yet, and is believed to be in Washington. His evidence is wanted to follow that of Thomas McCaleb, Thaw's California friend, who dined with the Thaws Monday night and who appeared before the acting district attorney yesterday. McCaleb was at the roof garden with the Thaws at the time of the shooting. From what could be learned McCaleb's story 18interesting in showing that Mrs. Thaw and he started to leave the roof garden before the shooting and were on their way out when they heard the shots. When they got to the roof garden he sat down with Mrs. Thaw. Thaw after a while got out of his seat and left them. # MRS. BOUVET NOT YET ARRESTED

Action of Grand Jury Next Week Is Awaited

The case against Mrs. Mattle Bouvet, charged with killing her husband by shooting him with a pistol at the Bouvet home on Arlington Heights boulevard Wednesday, is still pending in Justice Charles T. Rowland's court. Mrs. Bouvet is at her home and, having read in the papers that she was charged with murder, called in her lawyer to consult him about the matter. Notwithstanding Mrs. Bouvet is charged with a capital crime, no further steps have been taken. At Justice Rowland's office, where the case is pending, a Telegram reporter was informed Saturday morning that Mrs. Bouvet would not be arrested unless the grand jury meeting Monday found a bill of indictment against her. What evidence there is on which to base a charge of murder against Mrs. Bouvet, The Telegram reporter could not learn.

All inquiries regarding the presence of Mrs. Gilman in Pittsburg elicit the answer that such a person is not known to the Corey family.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Mr Proctor yesterday presented to the senate the report of the conferees on the agricultural bill containing the meat inspection provision. He requested the senate to authorize the conferees to accept the house provision and entered a motion to that effect, which Mr. Beveridge supported. Senator Nelson declared that the bill had been shaped in the interest of the packers and the range cattlemen and hat in the absence of a correct label seems a legislative abortion and we submit like licked dogs and accept their meat, not knowing whether it be fresh or as old as Methuselah." Senator Stone confessed to speaking n behalf of the packers among others of his constituents, and complained especially of the practice of holding the packers of the entire country responsible for the derelictions of a few Senator McCumber said: "We have met the enemy and we re theirs; indemnity $3,000,000." Senator Proctor withdrew his moion and the bill went back to coa-

FRIDAY IN CONGRESS

In the House

Special to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.-We're going home; we're going home omorrow," was in the minds of the members of the house Friday when they assembled on the last real hard lay's work previous to adjournment. Conference reports were considered hroughout the day. The final report on the agricultural ppropriation bill containing the meat aspection provision was adopted, the senate eventually agreeing that the government should pay the cost of inspection. Other matters of vital moment were the agreement to the conference report on the pure food bill, the Ohio river and Lake Erie ship canal and the naturalization bill.

In the Senate

Special to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.he senate devoted most of its time Friday to conference reports on the railroad rate and pure food bills and the meat inspection provision of the agricultural bill, but all were adopted. The principal controversy was over the rate bill, when Senators Tillman and Bailev had a heated colloquy on railroad lawyers. There was also much discussion on the meat inspection provision. A number of senators expressed themselves as only willing to accept the house provision because it was attached to an appropriation bill and a deadlock would cause a failure of the supply bill.

At the obtset of last night's session of the senace Mr. La Follette sought to secure a vote on his bill, but Senators Gallinger, Carter and McCumber argued delay. Mr. La Follette said if the bill should be defeated he would show that the act is in the face of the recommendations of the industrial commission, the interstate commerce commission and the President of the United States. He added that the President had that day commissioned him to say that it was his earnest hope that the senate would take action on the bill. Mr. La Follette charged other senators with preventing the consideration

Mr. Foraker moved to recommit the bill to the committee on interstatcommerce and Mr. La Follette moved to lay the motion on the table. The motion was lost, Mr. La Follette called for a division and pending a settlement the senate adjourned.

THE MODERN RAKE

The sensational killing of the well known New York architect, Stanford White, by Harry Tnaw, the rakish young millionaire of Pittsburg, has furnished the people of the United States with a genuine sensation. Young Thaw is a man who has been much in the limelight by reason of the fact that his millions afforded opportunity for indulgence in all sorts of sensational escapades. After the elder Thaw in his will had tied this young man of vicious tendencies to a modest allowance, his doting mother made him an equal sharer in the large estate, and with an earning capacity of perhaps $1 per day and a spending capacity of perhaps $1 per minute, Harry Thaw came into an annual income of $80,000. With this princely income at his command, young Thaw has proceeded to set a very fast pace in extravagance, senseless luxury and Turkish sensuality. The following are some of his most noteworthy achievements: He raced a cab down Broadway in the middle of the day when Broadway was crowded from curb to curb.

He threw a theatrical performance into a panic by throwing bottles at a soubrette who didn't sing to please

He caused the proprietor to close up a famous night restaurant an hour earlier because he stood on a table and threw $5 bills to all the waiters.

He went to the Waldorf one night, sat by himself at a magnificent table, and ordered a $50 dinner. When it was finished he sent for the chef and gave him $25.

One night after the theater, when he found his cabman asleep, he got astride of the horse and drove the cab and the sleeping cabman through the most brilliantly lighted thoroughfares of New York.

When a young woman's eyes pleased him he would send a pair of rubies to match them, or emeralds, or sapphires, as the case might be enough in New York, and so sought a more expansive field for spectacular extravagance in Paris. He succeeded so well in the gay French capital that in a single night he sprang into fame. He gave a dinner in midsummer to about twenty-five women. It cost $50,-000. It made Paris sit up and gasp. Harry Thaw hung his jewels on a midsummer Christmas tree in the center of the table.

On this tree he nung a miniature of every yoman present. The guests chose their own pictures and found the miniature to be the lid of a small box, which contained a set jewel. He had found out the favorite jewel of

And the culmination of all this is witnessed in the incarceration of the misguided young man in a felon's cell, after his hands had been stained with human blood. It may be true that Thaw's victim was a very bad man. It may be a fact that he also did many stunts along the same lines himself, and it may be there were things in his private life of a very shocking nature. But the point to be considered is what the possession of great wealth has the new state.

brought to Harry Thaw. He could have taken his money and done much good in the world. He could have engaged in business and become a successful and honored business man. But he chose to give his life over to frivolities and one continued search for pleasure. There was nothing that appealed to him like the gratification of his own selfish desires, and the gratification of those desires has very promptly brought him to the level of the common

There is a lesson for young men in the career of Harry Thaw. There are thousands of such in this broad land of ours who are sighing for opportunity to do just as Harry Thaw has done. They want nothing out of life but a good time, and the penalty of the continued good time is fittingly revealed in the career of the man who is now held under the charge of murder. His millions will avail him nothing. They will not wash the stain of blood from his hands or restore the lost years of a misspent and misguided life.

HURTS THE CANNING INDUSTRY

The report of the government inspectors on the condition of the Chicago packing houses sent to congress by President Roosevelt, together with the special messages on the same subject, has served to give the public a violent dislike for all kinds of canned goods. The meat packers have suffered the most as a result of this public aversion, but it has extended to the packers of all other edibles, and an industry that it has required years to build up is thus feeling the brunt of a very discouraging situation.

The process of hermetically sealing fruits to preserve them for future use was given to the world by a Frenchman, Nicolas Appert, about the year 1810. Like many other valuable inventions, it was first appreciated away from home, and the Appert process was taken up in England, where it was perfected and practically applied commercially. From there it was brought to the United States and started in a small way by a man named Underwood in Boston, about the year 1820.

The canning of fruits and vegetables in the United States, however, as a business really dates from about the year 1825. At that time we commenced shipping consignments of pickles and preserved fruits in sailing vessels in charge of the captain, to be sold in South America, the West Indies and the Philippines. We also had some trade about that time with India. The varieties of goods now put up are legion. Twenty different kinds of soups, and a great variety of catsups, sauces, mincemeat, corned beef, canned chicken, turkey, vegetables of all kinds, and fruits in almost endless For many years our canned goods were sold under a foreign label, even in America. The idea of anything of that nature worth having coming from a factory in the United States was entirely out of the question. Some of our canned goods found their way to the far north with a polar expedition and proved to be a valuable acquisition to the menu of the ice imprisoned explorers, and when they returned to civilization they did some very effective advertising. They told how canned goods had warded off the scurvey and made a stay of months and even years possible in such places for the first time. The first overland pilgrims to California in 1849 carried supplies in this convenient form, adding to their growing popularity and establishing the precedent for almost living on canned goods that has continued to prevail in the west.

During the civil war the United States government bought canned vegetables and fruits for the hospitals, and in a few instances as an addition to the rations of the soldiers, thereby creating a mild boom for American canned goods. Since about the year 1865 the business in the United States has steadily grown, each succeeding decade showing very satisfactory increase both in home consumption and foreign sales. The export trade developed slowly-capital was limited, sailing vessels were slow and international credits unknown. People are slow to adopt any innovation in the eating line, and ninety-five years have come and gone since Appert published

The problem of supplying food for a constantly growing population all over the world was partly solved by the canning industry, and as yet it may be said to be in the infancy of its development. Small canning plants have come into existence in different portions of Texas and are an important factor in the general situation. None of these plants can operate, however, unless there is demand for their product, and in sizing up the canning proposition the consumer should learn to discriminate between the good and

Fort Worth learns with much gratification that prospects for the building of the proposed interurban line from this city to Mineral Wells are growing brighter, and trusts that pending negotiations in that direction may soon be consummated. The construction of this line means much to Fort Worth, Mineral Wells and all the intervening country. It is an enterprise that should already be in successful

Speaker Cannon has served notice on the United States senate that congress will continue in session until its work is finished, and Uncle Joe means -business. He does not intend his presidential boomlet shall be hampered by a record of dereliction if it can possibly be avoided.

Cattlemen in the Indian Territory believe that statehood will mean the winding up of the cattle business in that section. Indians, they believe, will lease the lands to farmers and in this way the cowmen will soon be pushed entirely beyond the borders of

The public has long wrestled with such problems as what was the true age of Ann; it has long debated the question as to the constitution and the flag, but there is a brand new one, whereon man has never thought before, and it is certainly worthy of the deep thought of any man: "If a man puts a seidlitz powder_in a glass of soda to make it sizz, how many powders will he have to use to make a pair of scissors?"-Terrell Transcript.

LEAGUE LEADERS IN HOME STRETCH

First Half of Baseball Season Ends Saturday

PANTHERS NEED ONE

Have Taken Two Out of Three From Dallas, Last One as Result of Salm's Home Run

Friday afternoon, on their own grounds, the cup of despair, flavored by a strong spice of failure, was pressed to the lips of the Giants when, in the eighth inning, Salm, the big Panther first baseman, walked up to the plate and, after two strikes and three balls, gently placed his "good, stout piece of oak" against the nose of the horsehide sphere and made a home run. The ball fell over the right field fence. May it rest in piece at some point near the Trinity river until, the Panthers having retained the rag for the first half of this season, some fan may be permitted to fish the ball out of the mud and hang it in glory about the neck of the Peter Smith monument.

Mr. Salm was more than generously treated by the sportive Fort Worth fans (or, one of them) who were present when he slammed the home run against the midsummer sky--a fan who had won a few extra twenty-dolar bills, or one-dollar bills, or half dollars, gave Mr. Salm "one wheel." Dallas fans saw it and grunted. That home run, under ordinary circumstances, viewed by real, live people, would have been worth at least $50. But it must be remembered that Fort Worth had but a small crowd thereonly 500 people climbed up the posts of the Dallas grand stand when Salm did the stick work which caused that unhappy feeling to creep over the vertabrae of the Giants; and, in the eyes of the Dallas fans, it's really wonderful that a dollar was finally found for Salm

A dollar for a home run is worse than any St. Louis clothing bargain sale in July-its a howling shame, said the crowds on the Dallas cars, while people from Fort Worth looked out the windows in sudden oblivion of all else beside the beautiful scenery along the street car lines in the Town on the Trinity.

But if the Fort Worth fans were dead broke in cash, when Salm plumped the ball down the road toward Waco (or, where was it?) they had plenty of steam left and rose en masse to whoop. Dallas sighed. Then Whoop again. Regular whoop-andcough game around that grandstand for some short intervals of time. Following the home run by Salm in the eighth, an enthusiastic young man ran his hands into his pockets, filled them with various and sundry bits of green and spotted paper (fixed up. probably, at Washington) and, in a frenzy of elation (praying Pope's pardon), shoved his arms up into the heavens, all the while saving: "Tootowonon'em nowgitdown interjeans ancoverdisscads.

Many Hundred Sinners

If it is wicked to bet on ball games, then there were several hundred sinners at the Dallas grand stand Friday and a few thousand dollars changed hands on account of the way Mr. Salm rapped Rodebaugh, Policemen and deputy sheriffs swarmed about the There were even police from Fort Worth present, but what can a Fort Worth cop do in Dallas? When the Panthers register a victory over the leaders in the pennant race it is a galling defeat and there is joy in Fort Worth. With the chalice of despair hanging up within their own gates and the potion of hemlock ready poured and waiting, what can e Dallas Giants say, except, with Socrates of old: "What's the use?"

How it Was Done

Boles had been retired from Burleson to Ury when Salm came up in the eighth. Rodebaugh put one squarely over and he lifted it high and sent it far away over center field fence. Wilson and Carlin, who followed Salm, were retired without trouble. The Giants were unable to do anything in their half of this disastrous inning, but they made a desperate stand in the ninth. Sullivan was unable to do anything with Walsh, but Maloney singled. Burleson tried hard to get a hit, but the best he could do was to put one in the exact place necessary to cut Maloney off at second. Hackney popped up an easy one and the game was over. The belief is that young Garrett, who won the first game from the Panthers, will probably pitch Saturday. The Giants have won one game of the present series and the Panthers have taken two. Each needs one game to cinch the place at the head of the percentage table. Therefore the contest Saturday afternoon will decide which will lead the league for the first half of the season The score:

TEXAN HANGED FOR MURDER OF WIFE

Jack Wilkinson Pays Penalty on the Gallows

Special to The Telegram.

LIVINGSTON, Texas, June 30.-Jack Wilkinson was hanged promptly at 2:03 o'clock Friday afternoon for the murder of his wife, formerly Miss Hooker. She was his second wife. Wilkinson made a short talk after ascending the scaffold, denying that he was guilty of any of the several charges laid to him, but the killing of his wife, which he very much regretted, and would not do it again for all the world if he could but recall her.

He said he had made peace with his God and was prepared to die; that he had prayed to God for strength on the gallows, which prayer seemed to have been answered. His talk was calm and deliberate, the man showing practically no excitement.

Gave No Reason for Killing

He refused to say why he killed his wife, and that God only knew why he did it. He said the sheriff thought he knew the cause, but did not, and that no one would know. His last words were, "People, it is an awful thing to witness, but I am prepared to meet my

ALFALFA FIELD IS 1,000 MILES LONG

Unique Pasture Planned From Ogden to Omaha

Special to The Telegram.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 30 .- There is a probability that before long travelers on Union Pacific trains will ride through an alfalfa field between Omaha and Ogden-a remarkable, attenuated field 200 yards in width and a thousand miles in length.

For a long time the Union Pacific has been considering the problem of eliminating weeds along the right of way, and numerous schemes have been suggested with this end in view, but it was not until demonstration was made that alfalfa will grow without irrigation that the possible key to the problem was found. Now, it is said, the railroad company will experiment with aifalfa on the right of way, and, should the experiments be successful alfalfa will be planted between the fences of the right of way the entire distance from Omaha to Ogden.

Alfalfa is a hardy and close grow ing plant, and where it has obtained foothold all other vegetation is stangled and exterminated quickly. Weeds cannot grow in an alfalfa patch, and those which obstruct the Union Parific right of way would quickly be killed, once alfalfa was planted. The purpose of ridding the right of way of weeds is to prevent the growth of vegetation on the roadbed. At present the section gangs are waging onstant war against the ever-encroaching belts of weeds on either side of the rails. Alfalfa also will spread, if permitted to run to seed, but the scheme of the Union Pacific to eliminate weeds with alfalfa has dealt with this problem, and has solved it by providing that the farmers and ranchmen residing along the right of way be given permission to cut alfalfa between the fences and apply it to their own purposes.

The experiment of turning a thousand-mile strip of land into an alfalta field will be watched with interest. If successful, this system probably will be adopted by other railroads.

TILLMAN AND ELKINS CLASH

Dramatic Scene Marks Passing of Rate Bill

RAPS PRESIDENT

South Carolina Senator Quotes Bible and Declares Congress Was "Fixed"

Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, June 30.-Senator Tillman called up the conference report on the railroad rate bill yesterday and renewed his attack upon the pipe lines as being in the interest of the Standard Oil Company.

"About the time the Allison amendments were incubating," he said, "there was a great furore about the Garfield report on the Standard Oil Company, and we were told that the exposures of its crimes would help the vote on the rate bill and under the cover of this debate, the President came from his announced position on railroal legislation and accepted the Allison provision. There the big stick and the pitchfork, which had been in al. liance, found themselves separated, and the pitchfork, while doing duty on the firing line, looked around only to see the tail of its associate hustling toward the rear, sliding towards the Allison base, to use a baseball phrase. The big stick was rushing in on all fours to get between Father Allison's

He had no fault to find, he added, except that he considered the fact that the President had been inconsistent in not coming to the assistance of the senate conferees. He considered it "a little remarkable that just when he might do something to thwart the policy of this gigantic monopoly he is as mum as a mouse, except that there is now another hurrah about what the President is going to do to the Standard Oil Company in the way of suits."

People Are Bamboozled

"So it goes, the dear people are bampoozled every day, but the hurrah goes on. The President assures us from time to time that the crimes of the Standard Oil are to be punished, but when it comes to a real fight and when there is an opportunity to do something he sits dumb and allows the house conferees to compel the sen ate conferees to yield to the demands of the Standard Oil Company." Senator McCumber protested against the elmination of the provision of the pass amendment permitting the free transportation of farm laborers. Senators Dolliver and Tillman agreed in as at present, as "harvest excursions." to which the North Dakota senator replied that if that was true the bill is not worth the paper it is written ference report on the commodity amendment, saying that as originally adopted the provision means a confiscation of the property of the independent oil operators. He also took ex. ception to Mr. Tillman's criticisms, saying in reply that he, Mr. Elkins, is as free from the influence of Standard Oil as any member could be. H also declared that the President needs no defense and he charged that the South Carolina senator was aggrieved because the President did not agree with him. He declared that the effect of the Tillman policy would be to break down the independent companies and said apparently that was that Mr. Tillman was trying to do He admonished the South Carolinian that ever if he desired to injure the Sandard Oil Company he should not at the same time destroy the business of thousands of others. He said the Standard Oil Company is able to take care of itself, and to the latter point Senator Bailey replied that "whether the company needs help or not, it gets

Tillman and Elkins Clash In a colloquy between Senators Elkins and Tillman relative to what the former knew of West Virginia, Mr. Tillman said: "What you want in West Virginia is votes," to which Mr. Elkins retorted:

"You are hunting votes in South Carolina yourself." Tillman and Bailey also clashed when Tillman spoke slightingly of the lawyers in the senate, the Texan replying in their defense. Tillinan quoted Jesus' characterization of the lawyers as "hypocrites," and said that the "dirty creatures" who run the political conventions are the men whom he would shut off from the pass privilege. Court of Criminal Appeals Overrules Mays' Opplication for Writ Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 30 .- Just before adjourning yesterday the court of criminal appeals overruled the application for a writ of error to the supreme court of the United States in the case of H. L. Mays, the negro from San Antonio who is sentenced to hang at San Antonio on Aug. 3, for the murder of Leo Woods, a young white man at that place.

The grounds for the application for writ of error were based on the ground that Mays had been discriminated against in the selection of a jury because he is a negro, which is contrary to the constitution of the United States.

Little Hope Left This was the first time that this question has been raised in the case. The last hope of the negro has now vanished as far as the state courts are concerned. The only recourse that

Mays has now is to appeal to a federal judge for the writ and in the event

this is refused, then he must die for

BANKS DECLARE GOOD DIVIDENDS

Prosperous Condition of Local Institutions Shown

The conservative and careful management of the Fort Worth banks has been the subject, in part, of several items in The Telegram lately, and the decidedly healthy dividends, declared by the same banks for the six months ending with the close of the banking hours June 30, give added proof to the prosperity and general good management of the banks. The dividends are about the usual, or average, and all sustain the contention that Fort Worth bank stock is a good investment. The last report on the condition of the Fort Worth banks was a fine one. The Hunter-Phelan Savings Bank and Trust Company declared a dividend of 10 per cent for the six months ending today or, if that is maintained the stock is on a 20 per cent basis past six months. The dividend of the State National Bank for the six months just ended is per cent, and the sum carried over to the surplus is $15,000. The Traders' National will pay its stockholders a 4 per cent dividend for the six months ending June 30, and carry over to the surplus $25,000. The Fort Worth National Bank will pay a 5 per cent dividend for the last six months, placing that bank as are nearly all of the others in Fort Worth, except where they do better, on a 10 per cent basis annually. The sum added to the surplus is $200,000, making the total surplus for this bank $400,-The Western National Bank comes in with a 4 per cent dividend for the six months ending today.

Probably the only official change will be an addition to the American National Bank's force. Thomas B. Van Tuyl was elected assistant cashier of this bank at 10 o'clock Saturday morn-

Bears Still Energetic-Market Does Not Respond Readily, but Values Generally Lower

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, June 30 .- Bears resumed their attack on the stock market today and although the retrograde movement was not so forceful as during recent sessions, the list as a whole sold, at times, substantially below yesterday's final prices. Foreign news was unfavorable, particularly that regarding the French and Russian situation, and opening prices were generally lower. There was some covering noted and also scattered buying for long account, which checked the decline for a time, some few issues even selling fractionally above closing prices of the previous session, but bearish sentiment was too unanimous, and the support insufficient to stem the tide for any length of time, consequently low prices as a rule were touched in the final hour of trading, there being, however, a slight rally before the close.

Although the leaders of the bear movement switched operations around quite a little among the different issues in an effort to ascertain which would be the most responsive to pressure, the Steels and Reading seemed to be the most vulnerable and were the leaders of the decline, Steel preferred again touching a new low level at 99 a drop of % from yesterday's finals, while Reading at one time sold 2% below closing figures of the previous session. Copper stocks hold up well, neither Anaconda nor Amalgamated selling at any material concession. The market closed steady. Total sales,

July Shorts Apprehensive of a Squeeze

Avail Themselves of Opportunity to Cover

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, June 30 .- Despite the fact that conditions were against the market, weather reports being favorable and the Chronicle summary bearish, while the Journal of Commerce condition figures of 82.7 up to June 23, as compared with 82.1 last month, showing a practically insignificant deterioration in Texas, which state the bulls have depended upon to turn the government report in their favor, prices held up well and showed a slight gain at the close. Strength of the July option was responsible for the steadiness of the list. Liquidation by old crop longs in Liverpool caused that market to make an unfavorable showing and our market in turn reflected the disappointing course, opening prices being 5 points lower for July and 2 points off for new crop months. The anxiety of shorts to cover their Julys, superinduced by an incipient squeeze in that option in New Orleans and talk of a joint corner in both markets, made that option the center of attraction, and sent the price up 14 points from the opening figures, while the inclination to sell new crop options was subdued by the advance in July, and they eventually attained a level 5 to 6 points above the opening figures. The market closed steady with prices near the best.

Spot cotton market ruled with prices unchanged at 10.80c for middling. No sales were reported.

New Orleans Cotton

Special to The Telegram. NEW ORLEANS, June 30.-Shorts in July today felt the first pangs of a squeeze, being largely responsible for the existing conditions themselves, inasmuch as their anxiety to cover caused the throwing of discretion to the four winds and resulted in a rise of 25 points in prices, despite the fact that the parties who would be most interested in a corner endeavored to stay the advance after it had reached 15 points, by offering July at 11.10. This fact was ignored as rumors of concerted action of the local and New York crowd looking to another squeeze and the extreme difficulty experienced in obtaining July during the early trading, had intimidated the horts too thoroughly to allow of any same conclusions in their minds. Conditions were favorable to a decline in this new crop months and they inclined to weakness, but any inclination to sell them was checked by the July situation and prices sympathized to a certain extent with the advance in that option, working up 6 points during the session but finally closing unchanged. Final figures for July showed a net gain of 16 points. The tone was

Trading Light in All Pits-Wheat Prices Lower-Corn and Oats Show Strength

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Ill., June 30.-Wheat while steady at times, the market was weak. The buying was chiefly to cover shorts. There was little in the news to encourage taking the long side at this time. The bulls, of course, were banking on some setback in the northwest to give them a further advance. For the moment conditions in the southwest govern. Exports indicate that yield is fully up to expectations and the quality fine. Fair weather is indicated through the harvesting districts, and if this proves true Monday t will certainly facilitate cutting, thrashing and movement. Southwestern millers are said to be unusually indifferent to new-crop offers, and there is no export demand. A cable from the Argentine notes an unpropitious start of the wheat cdop. Seeding is going forward slowly, on account of adverse conditions, and where already sown progress is checked bp drouth. Liverpool was %d to %d lower. Local receipts were 16 cars with 14 expected Monday. Northwest reports 246 cars as against 214 last year. Total primary movement 390,000 busnels; nearly the same as last season. Clearances 122,000 bushels; world's shipments estimated at 9.600.000. Corn

Corn was a very firm market with interest centering to some extent in the July. There is nothing new in the situation and the strength simply reflects a light country movement, prospects of smaller receipts next week, and a fair cash demand. The trade seems to have settled what the weather shall be from now on and seem sure of an unusually hot and dry July. Cables came firm, closing %d to %d higher. Local receipts were 605 cars with 675 expected Monday. Total primary fovement 686,000 bushels; clearances 139,000 bushels.

Oats continue to be a strong, stubborn market. The combination of shortage in the oats and hay crop gives the speculator a bullish situation in which to work. Receipts are moderate and cash demand continues good. Local arrivals today were 185 cars with 245 expected Monday. Total primary' movement 561,000 bushels; shipments 788,000 bushels; clearances 1,000 bushels.

STOCK MARKET SUFFERS

Over Extended Speculators Given the Hardest Blow

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 30.—The stock market has been subjected to heavy liquidation this week and prices have suffered accordingly. The discrepancy between the interest return in the money market and the income return on securities at the ruling level of prices furnishes the keynote to the course of the market. Over extended speculators have been first in line of pressure and have suffered most. Interest rates carrying over the end of the year have approached the 6 per cent level with an active demand and scanty offerings. Large capital requirements, heavy outlays in real estate and the usual extra demands for money to be expected in the fall are held responsible for the hardening course of the money rates.

Receipts Small on Steers and Cows. Calf Run Normal-Market Normally Steady—Hogs Steady

Market receipts of cattle were confined to three cars of steers, one of cows and eight of calves, one of the latter being on through billing. The run totaled 621, a number small, even for a Saturday.

The steer supply was made up entirely of grassers, two loads being Mexicans. None of the steers was due to sell above $3. The demand was poor, and buyers held aloof. Two loads were shipped and two held over. Butcher Stock The cows in a mixed load were only of medium grade and sold steady.

Hardly any of the calf supply would class above medium, and the greater portion of the run was exceedingly common. There was demand enough for the supply and an early movement, well sustained, cleared the yards early. Prices were steady with the week's decline. Sales:

HARRIS

A free discussion of traction matters present and future, the passage of resolutions indorsing Mayor Harris and dealing with 'street sprinkling, the appointment of investigation committees, the letting fall of numerous hard words for the Northern Texas Traction Company, and speeches by A. J. Baskin and O. S. Lattimorethese are the chief items which went to make up the program of a meeting of the Eighth Ward Civic League at the Magnolia Drug Store Friday night. Minor matters were broached, but the evening was spent in disposing of the above mentioned numbers. F. E. Dycus, president, called the meeting to order at 8:30 o'clock with about seventy-five men present. He recalled that in a previous meeting the sidewalk question had been thoroughly discussed and said that discussion had resulted in great activity In sidewalk building. At this point City Attorney Orrick interposed and moved that A. J. Baskin be heard. This failed to receive a second and Orrick then moved to suspend the regular order of business and hear Baskin. This was lost by a loud vote. After some hesitation on the part of those present as to what should be done, Dr. Frank Boyd asked what they were there for. Chairman Dycus then said that several questions might, he thought, with profit, be discussed. He mentioned the present condition of "city hall politics," street car franchises, referendum and the matter of cleaning up the premises of the property owners of the ward. Some one in the crowd suggested that there was one more thing to discuss, namely "the abominable service on the Hemphill car line." In the meantime C. E. Orrick had endeavored again to get through a motion to hear Baskin without getting recognition by the chair. At a period of momentary quiet he renewed his motion and secured a second. The motion was voted down by a large majority. The regular order of business was "Quite a number of subjects have ween suggested for our consideration. but perhaps none of these is of greater importance than what you have termed 'city hall politics.' We as citizens did not indorse what had occurred at the city hall during several years past and at the last election we awoke to our duty. We turned them down and elected Judge W. D. Harris mayor (cheers). We should be recreant to our duty if we should not at this time put the seal of our approva upon his attitude toward recent events at the city Hall. With your permission I wish to present a resolution for the consideration of this body aimed o express our appreciation of the mayor's efforts." His resolutions were amended to ad as follows and so adopted: "Be it resolved by the Eighth Ward Tivic League that, whereas, the Honbrable W. D. Harris, since his election to the office of mayor of the city of Fort Worth, has labored earnestly with the patriotic purpose of serving the masses of the people, but is opposed by the obstructionists to patriotic effort, and "Whereas, our said mayor has been ompelled, in pursuance of his duty, to veto several acts of the city council,

That it is the sense of this league that our said mayor has earned the confidence and good will of the people of this city, and we do heartily commend him for his official acts, including his vetoes of public The words "obstructionists to patriotic effort" were suggested by some one in the crowd after there had been some criticism of the words "ring and clique who work in their own interests and not in those of the people," which lution. Mr. Lane accepted the amendment with protest. Mr. Lane had many supporters who shouted "Just right," "Not strong enough," and similar expressions. Street Sprinkling Judge W. R. Booth secured the floor and brought up the street car franchise question. He said in part: "We now know there are two companies asking for franchises over the streets of our city. We also know that the sprinkling of our streets has given and is giving much trouble to our city authorities. Now is the time to remove this source of worry by compelling these companies to place in their franchises the promise to sprinkle the streets as a condition in securing the franchise. I understand that the Northern Texas Traction Company, by putting on one water car, could sprinkle all the streets over which its line runs, and do it well. With the city furnishing the water this would mean no additional expense to the company but the wages of a motorman-say $60 to $65 per month." He said that W. M. Knight had a resolution to present on the subject and called for it. The resolution was read and adopted as follows:

"Resolved. That it is the sense of the Eighth Ward Civic League that any franchise hereafter granted by the people of the city of Fort Worth to any traction company permitting the use of any streets of the city should be granted only on the condition that the company to whom granted shall obligate itself not only to keep in repair the street between the rails and for eighteen inches on each side thereof, but also to sprinkle all streets occupied by said company, requirements to made by the city authorities." Chairman Dycus then called attention to the fact that out of all the valuable franchises granted by the city not one, except that of the Rosen Heights Company, had netted the city one cent. He thought the -council should incorporate these desirable clauses in the franchises before they go to the vote of the people. He only feared that all the valuable franchises would be granted away before "we have some authorities in the city hall." It was thought best to appoint a committee to recommend resolutions on the referendum question and E. C. Orrick moved the appointment of such a committee. The following were appointed: W. R. Booth, H. P. Lane, J. N. Winters, A. J. Baskin, W. C. Strong and J. L. Meyers. Active discussion of the franchises asked for by the Northern Texas Traction Company and the Arlington Heights Traction Company followed and various opinions were expressed Some feared that if the old company obtained the franchise alone very poor service would be given, while others said that the proposed route of the Arlington Company was too long to offer competition to the old line. One mentioned the possible consolidation of the Rosen and Arlington companies and thought this would result in good competition. One speaker said: "Deny the Arlington franchise and you will have no new line on the south side. Grant both and let them fight it out between themselves." This expression met with vociferous approval, Judge N. B. Moore made a strong speech against the old company and predicted the consolidation of the Rosen and Arlington companies and the building of the Mineral Wells line by the owners of these two. He urged the Eighth warders to "not let paid voters defeat the Arlington franchise." After full discussion the following committee was appointed to report to the next meeting on the granting of the two franchises: J. M. Benton, W. M. Knight J. M. Ellis, T. S. Hart, S. F. Atha and F. E. Dycus.

Judge Moore moved that the Eighth Ward Civic League, through its president, ask the Northern Texas Traction Company to furnish a ten-minute schedule on the Hemphill line.

Baskin and Lattimore Heard

The business of the evning having been disposed of, A. J. Baskin was heard. He devoted the time to a short description of the commission form of government as practiced in Galveston. saving that as far as he could learn that was the best system practiced anywhere. He favored for Fort Worth a similar government and spoke of bringing it before the next legislature if elected a representative from his O. S. Lattimore was called for and made a few remarks on the franchise question. Place for meetings of the league was discussed and the chairman was instructed to ask for the use of the new fire hall for future meetngs. The next meeting will be held Thursday, July 12.

Work on Arlington Heights Extension to Begin Soon

Some of City Engineer Hawley's assistants Saturday morning ran the lines for the Arlington Heights street railway extension from the present stop at the city hall across Hyde Park or Ninth street at the intersection of Throckmorton, Jennings avenue and Hyde Park, in front of the city hall and the Carnegie library and then on down Ninth street to the connection with the track, at present laid, in Ninth street, between Main and Rusk streets. The lines are to establish the route and grade and if the survey is completed, as it will most probably be, construction work will begin Monday
