VOICE UNABLE TO FIND TRACE OF BUD ANDERSON

Letter to Mayor Says Writer
Will Drown Self

MAN STILL MISSING

Family at Knox City Have No
News Since Departure
Wednesday

Old Bud Anderson of Knox City, Texas, write the letter received by Mayor Harris Thursday night, to which his name was signed and which stated directly that the man intended drowning himself, was the letter written by some practical joker who, knowing that Anderson would be on a railway train when the letter was received thought to have a quiet bit of humor by himself or did Anderson himself write the letter and leave the question of this is the question that was raised by the receipt of the letter while Mrs. Anderson with her five children at Knox City, Texas, Jim Newman, a friend of Anderson, at Sweetwater, and the First National bank of Knox City are all interested in its solution. The letter was written on the stationery of the Richelieu hotel, but the man, if he stopped there did not register in the name of the hotel. It is considered doubtful if he stopped there.

Nothing Known Yet.
At a late hour Friday afternoon no developments that would lead to direct knowledge as to whether the expressed opinion of the letter had been known to the man, and the man dead, whether he had simply left this portion of the country.

Following the receipt of the letter the chief of police Friday morning telegraphed to the First National bank of Knox City, Texas, asking that bank to give information as to Anderson. The reply came as follows:
"We have received, know Anderson well. His family here. Wire quick if you know of his whereabouts."
The letter.

The letter received by the mayor is as follows:
"Dear Sir: I have decided to drown myself. Wire Ernest Daniels at Abilene and Jim Newman at Sweetwater. I am about 100 miles from here, dark hair and eyes. I am from the east of the town about 25 miles. Respectfully,
"BUD ANDERSON, Knox City—don't tell the cause."

Communication with Mr. Couch of the First National bank at Knox City Friday morning by the Telegram developed the fact that Anderson was known by the name of Bud Anderson at that place. Mr. Couch said that he was about 40 years of age, had a wife and had not been seen since that time. Mr. Couch stated that Anderson left Knox City Wednesday of this week and that it was understood he was coming from that place to Fort Worth, but had not been seen since that time by any one at Knox City nor has his family received any knowledge of his whereabouts or his plans.

Just before noon Friday Chief Maddox received a second telegram from the First National bank of Knox City stating that the body had been found in the river near the place where the chief replied that there had been no further developments.

Message was also received from the New Orleans Sweetwater, who said he knew Anderson and asked for any information which might lead to ascertaining the whereabouts of the missing man.

KELLY SUIT BEGINS

Shurtage from State Treasurer
TOPEKA, Kan., July 6.—Examination of witnesses in the suit against T. J. Kelly, state treasurer, to recover an account shortage of $10,000 in office, began here yesterday by Attorney General Coleman. The supposed shortage of $17,000 in the state treasurer's account was discovered through two administrative investigations several months ago and made public by Governor Hoch. Treasurer Kelly is alleged to have failed to account for certain interest-bearing warrants supposed to come into his possession.

New Zealand Has Odd Method

NEW YORK, July 6.—Sir Joseph G. Ward, premier of New Zealand, who with his wife and daughter is on his way home from Europe, was asked yesterday in an interview of an extended interview what action would be taken in New Zealand if an ice company increased the price of the commodity to consumers to obtain more than a reasonable profit. He said:
"How Trusts Are Killed.
"The solution of that problem is simple. If any man or company should buy up all the ice plants, control the supply of ice on hand, and then push up the price to consumers, we would immediately build ice plants and give the people all the ice they wanted at all prices and a fair profit. We would not allow a man to buy up the ice plant and use it to his own advantage and use it to down

Over 3,000,000 Acres of State School
Properties Sold in Eight Months
Special to The Telegram.
AUSTIN, Texas, July 6.—Activity in state school lands still increasing. Some time ago Land Commissioner Terrell reported the sale of 3,118,284 acres in eight months beginning first of last September. He now reports the sale of 533,362 acres in the last thirty days. This is an unprecedented quantity in a single month. He says prices are better than ever before. This means a large increase in the available school fund when the interest becomes due.

WOMAN TAKEN IN FT. WORTH

Parker Co. Sheriff Takes Viola
Jennette to Weatherford

YOUNG MAN KILLED

Will Burroughs Is Stabbed to Death—Officer Says the Woman Saw Murder

Sheriff D. C. Bratton of Parker county made an important arrest in Fort Worth Friday morning, capturing Viola Jennette, a white woman, charging her with being chief witness to a murder committed Thursday night near Weatherford, as she stepped from an eastbound Texas and Pacific train. With the woman in charge, Sheriff Bratton returned to Weatherford on the Mineral Wells 8:45 a. m. train.

To a Telegram reporter Sheriff Bratton told the particulars of the murder and of the flight of the woman, the only witness to the killing except two men, who are now in the Parker county jail, charged with the crime. Sheriff Bratton said:
"There had been a three days' picnic in a grove near Weatherford in progress for several days, attended by a large crowd of men and women. Thursday night, Will Burroughs, a young man, well known in Parker county, was stabbed to death at the picnic with a knife in company with Viola Jennette, and the alleged murders are now in jail at Weatherford."
"Will Burroughs and this woman went to the picnic together and walked out into the woods some distance from the main crowd, and before they had been there a great while, according to information I have, they were approached by Charles Langford and Edgar Barton, two young men, also well known in Parker county. Just what took place, just what brought on the trouble, is only known to the two men in jail at Weatherford and this woman, Viola Jennette, but for a while there was a fight between Will Burroughs on one side and Charles Langford and Edgar Barton on the other, the woman standing by, but taking no hand in it."
"Burroughs was bent over the head with the heavy end of a buggy whip that one of the men had, and he was stabbed in several places, dying in a short time afterwards. Realizing that the woman would be an important witness of the killing and taken to the little town of Abledo, east of Weatherford, where it remained until the morning of the eastbound Texas and Pacific train Friday morning. She boarded the train when it arrived and had a ticket for Fort Worth. She was arrested here and arrested her as she got off at Fort Worth."
"The body of Burroughs was discovered shortly after the flight of the two men and the woman. It was well known that he had been in company with the woman, and it did not take long to get all the evidence that was needed. Langford and Barton were arrested during the night and lodged in jail and I took the first train east after the woman, who is the most important witness in the case."
"The examining trial of Barton and Langford will take place as soon as I get back to Weatherford with this witness."
"Woman Was Frightened
Viola Jennette did not give The Telegram reporter any facts as she saw them, and in answer to a question as to why she had left Weatherford and came to Fort Worth, she answered, "I was just scared out of my senses and done whatever I was told to do. I didn't have anything to do with the fight, and I am willing to tell I know about it."

CHICAGO, July 6.—America's climate, regarded by scientists as the prime factor in the country's marvelous growth from colonial days, may be the cause of its degeneracy, according to Prof. John Mason Tyler of Amherst college, one of the leading pedagogists of the world.
"Every decade," he explained to students at the University of Chicago yesterday, opening a series of lectures, "our climate has been drawing the year of our nervous system tighter and tighter until now they are ready to snap." Physical degeneration is noticeable now in the children of the business and professional men, he asserted.

A dispatch from Seattle on July 3, reported the police of that city acting at the instance of the German government, raided a house formerly occupied by August Rosenberg, a brick layer, and found a plant for manufacturing bombs and infernal machines. Rosenberg left Seattle for Hamburg, Germany, May 1. At that time the German government received a warning from Seattle of the attempt to be made to assassinate the German emperor. The German consul at Seattle subsequently received a cablegram from Hamburg instructing him to investigate. The articles seized included more than 200 bottles of acids, explosives, crucibles, mortars, moulis, furnace and considerable scrap iron.

COLONEL TOM CAMPBELL'S RECORD

Colonel Tom Campbell is finding himself squarely up against some things in his record that are causing him a lot of perturbation in his campaign for governor. That record shows that while Colonel Campbell was general manager of the International & Great Northern railroad the practice of giving rebates to shippers was practiced. This fact is substantiated by some other records that are fortunately in existence.

Colonel Thomas M. Campbell was general manager of the International & Great Northern railroad at that time, his service with the company in that capacity not being terminated until 1897.

And Colonel Tom Campbell has an additional record as a railroad manager and a railroad lobbyist. The fact of the business is that aside from his record for sunny geniality, that is about all the kind of a record that Colonel Tom Campbell is in possession of.

- 1. That Tom Campbell has never done one thing in politics or in past performances to entitle him to the office of governor.
2. That Tom Campbell who now denounces railroad passes and complains of officers and Texas legislators being debauched with passes, gave way more free passes and "debauched" more legislators than any other man who ever visited Austin.
3. That Tom Campbell, who grows so eloquent in denunciation of lobbying, was one of the most ardent and most successful lobbyists who ever traveled to Austin in a private car.

President Roosevelt announces his intention of helping the republican party in the impending congressional elections, and at least three of the members of his cabinet are to take the stump in congressional districts that now seem to be in doubt.

The Telegram has always admired Tom Campbell, for he is unquestionably a very able man. But Tom Campbell has gotten off on the wrong foot in his gubernatorial campaign. He has essayed the role of the slick and smooth politician in attempting to hood-wink the people.

Colonel Tom Campbell in his true light of a railroad manager and lobbyist, who practiced rebating and who fought measures determinedly of vital interest to the masses.

Colonel Tom Campbell may storm continued denunciations of the things with which he is so familiar, but that will not remove the fact that the record is against him. It will not cause the people to turn to the man who is guilty of so many of the things he now professes to denounce and despise.

THE BURDENS OF TAXATION

In speaking of the attitude of the different candidates for governor on the matter of taxation, the Dallas Democrat says: "Judge Bell declares that taxation is the main issue and opposes any change from the present unequal and unfair system."

This is not a fair statement. Judge Bell recognizes the present inequalities of taxation, especially the tax on thrift and industry, and would apply the remedy, not by any rash or radical experiment, but by a just and judicious distribution of the burdens of taxation.

In his opening speech at Hamilton, Judge Bell explained his attitude in the tax question and has reiterated his position in all, or nearly all, of his subsequent speeches, so there is no excuse for not thoroughly understanding his attitude and purposes with reference thereto.

There is one thing sure—if Judge Bell is elected governor, we will have a chief executive against whom there is not the least whisper of insinuation. The papers are condemning Brooks and Colquitt for taking money from the state when they are not earning it, some object to Campbell because he has long been identified with the railroads.

There is one thing sure—if Judge Bell is elected governor, we will have a chief executive against whom there is not the least whisper of insinuation. The papers are condemning Brooks and Colquitt for taking money from the state when they are not earning it, some object to Campbell because he has long been identified with the railroads.

Colquitt's plan is even worse than that of Colonel Campbell, which would exempt from taxation millions of dollars worth of urban and real property held under the homestead exemption law, thus increasing the burdens of the other taxpayers.

And the Express sizes up the situation just exactly right. There is nothing chimerical in the taxation policy of Judge Bell. He is lending no support or encouragement to vagaries that are sprung for the mere sake of political effect.

From some quarters come expressions of surprise that Railroad Commissioner Colquitt should have been a prohibitionist, then an anti, a local optionist and then an anti. But why the surprise? Since the gubernatorial race began buzzing in the railroad commissioner's bonnet he has been on both sides of every important question which involved politics, and his every act as railroad commissioner has been carefully studied as to the effect it would have on his campaign for governor.

President Roosevelt announces his intention of helping the republican party in the impending congressional elections, and at least three of the members of his cabinet are to take the stump in congressional districts that now seem to be in doubt.

When Senator Bailey declared for William J. Bryan for President at Abilene the other day it settled the matter of that impending Texas indorsement. Texas Democracy will speak at the Dallas convention in no uncertain tones.

Those reorganized Texas Republicans are going to feel very uncomfortable after their contact with the Lyon pile driver, and look just as if they had been up against something with jagged edges.

The hot weather has had no effect on building operations in Fort Worth. This city continues to grow and expand in every direction. There are no idle laborers or artisans in Fort Worth.

Texas seems to have gotten off lightly in the matter of Fourth of July casualties, but it is probable the nation has suffered as usual.

THE TEXAS PRESS

Judge Bell was introduced to the big crowd that had assembled in the auditorium by Colonel John Bowyer and his speech was along the lines of his other speeches in different parts of the state.

Judge Bell always holds the attention of an audience, from the fact that he eschews sophistries and gets down to real issues. His Abilene speech was no exception to the general rule.

Captain John T. Lytle, secretary of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, was among our welcome callers last week. The genial captain looked just a little "drawn" as the result of his recent illness, but his friends are glad to know that he feels well and strong again.

Colonel Cecil Lyon continues to consult with President Roosevelt regarding federal patronage in Texas just as if nothing had happened. Funny, isn't it?—Denison Herald.

There is one thing sure—if Judge Bell is elected governor, we will have a chief executive against whom there is not the least whisper of insinuation. The papers are condemning Brooks and Colquitt for taking money from the state when they are not earning it.

Fort Worth is still bragging about its baseball victory. It was characteristic of the Dallasites to give Fort Worth the first series, but there is yet another series to play and then the finals.

And Colquitt says nothing just like his very life depends on it. His platform, on which he is making the race for governor, covers everything from the declaration of independence down to the signs of the Zodiac employed in last year's almanac.

That high sense of dignity should have inspired Senator Bailey with the realization that the senate was no place to conduct a personal defense in answering a magazine article. There is where he made his great mistake.

TEXAS PRESS COMMENTS

From some quarters come expressions of surprise that Railroad Commissioner Colquitt should have been a prohibitionist, then an anti, a local optionist and then an anti. But why the surprise?

In Mexico they raise beggars like we would bull pups. The children are taught that it is right to beg, and to that end they are frequently crippled in order to carry out the scheme. We would call this graft.—Bonham Herald.

Some men, after being married a few years, imagine that all a wife needs is a home and three meals a day, with now and then some new clothes. And yet during the process of winning the love of that wife he told her he could not live without her.

The prediction is confidently made that the opposing candidates for the presidency in 1908 will be Bryan and Roosevelt. In that event we shall indeed have cause to thank the Lord for Mr. Bryan's "gift of gab."—El Paso Times.

As a complete letter writer, Mr. Candidate Colquitt could win from the world in a walk. He can say less in more words and say it oftener than any other man in public life in Texas.—San Antonio Express.

LOTS OF COMPANY

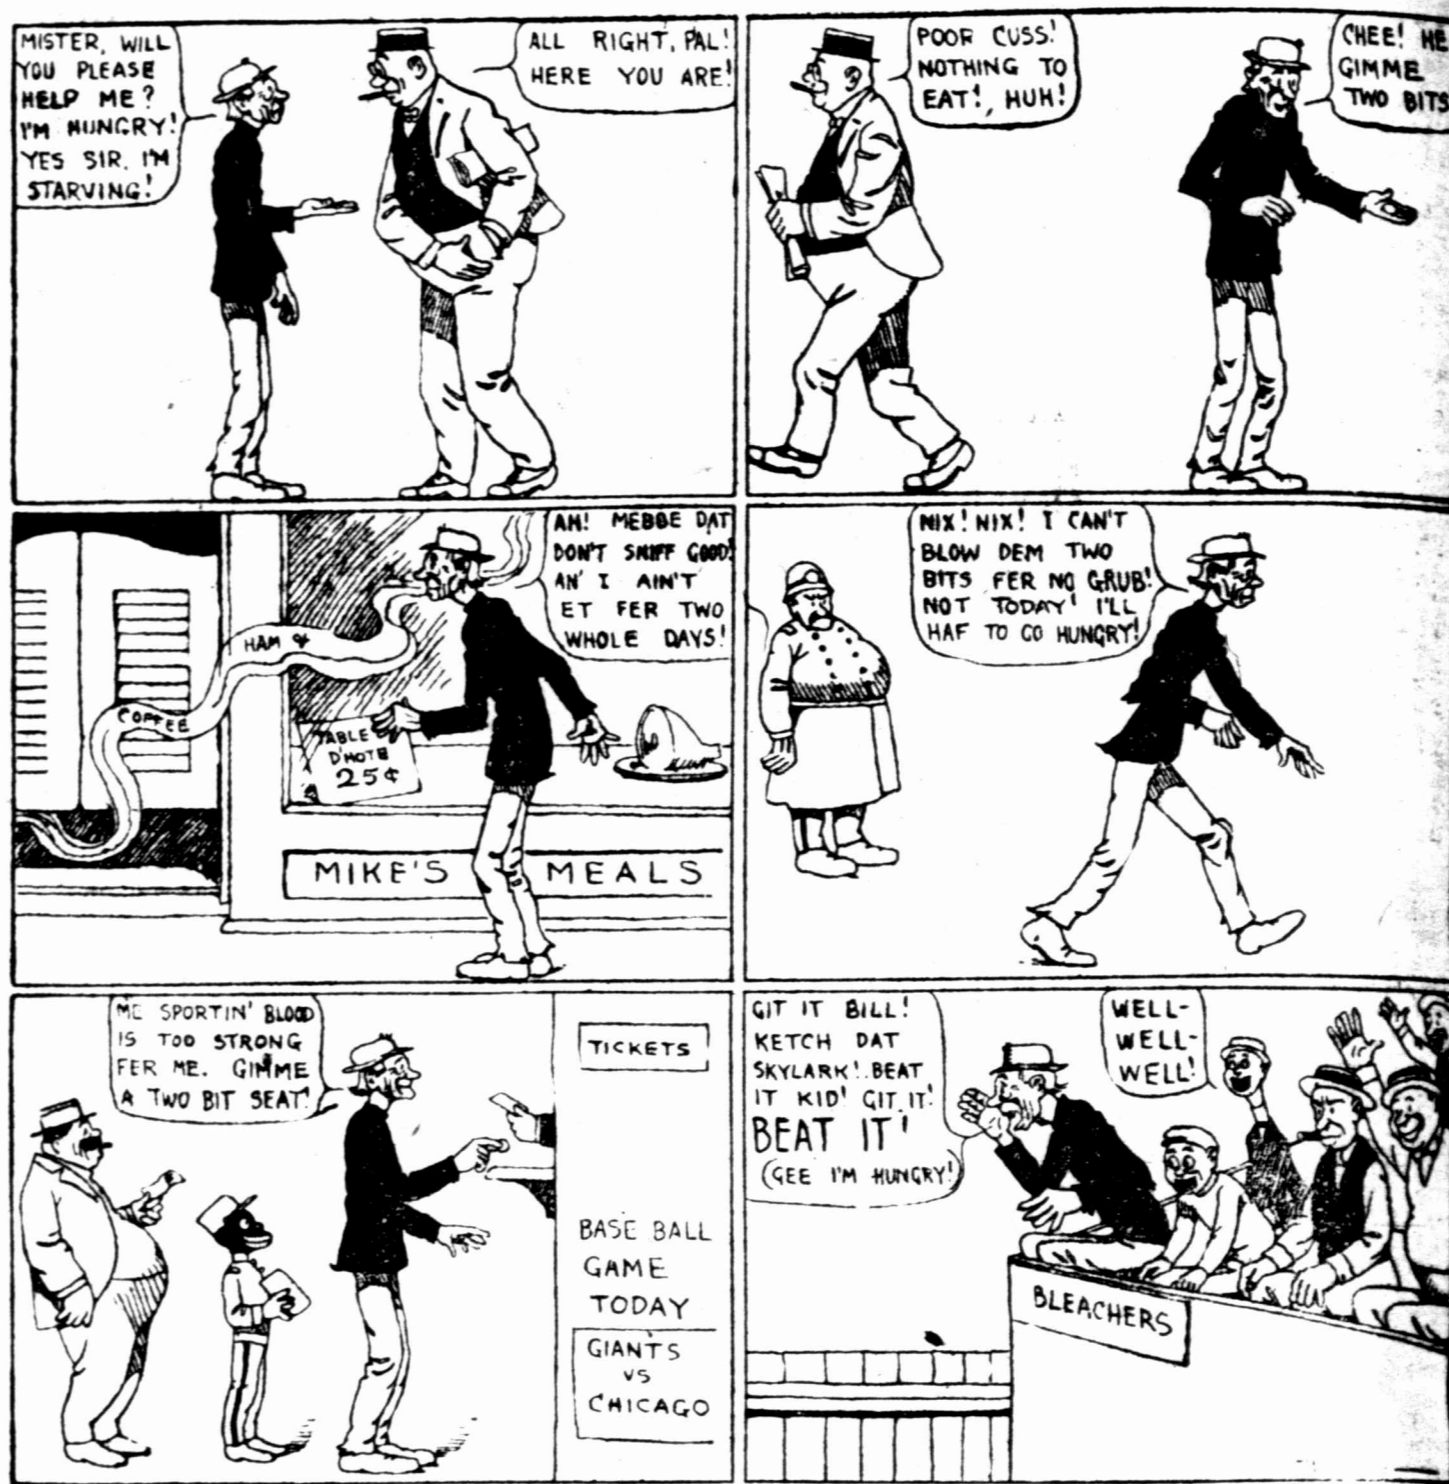

And as to the rate bill—well, this packing house business must be something of a comfort to the railroads. For it is well known that misery loves company.—Indianapolis News.

NOPE, NOT A BIT

Would it make very much difference to you if you should hear that employes occasionally drop an old shoe into the stuff that made Milwaukee famous?—Washington Post.

THE FOOLISH LIFE

BY R. W. TAYLOR

THE TELEGRAM AND THE TEXAS PRESS

JUDGE ALEXANDER WATKINS TERRELL. Judge A. W. Terrell retired from politics too soon. There is going to arise a crisis in the continued existence of his famous election law next year that bows ill for its future.—Fort Worth Telegram.

WADE AND NOT WANTING. We fail to note the name of Captain H. W. Wade among the list of those who have qualified under the law as candidates for governor.

AN ENCHANTED VIEW. And Colquitt says nothing just like his very life depends on it. His platform, on which he is making the race for governor, covers everything from the declaration of independence down to the signs of the Zodiac employed in last year's almanac.

PUBLIC OPINION. Discussing the President's inheritance tax proposition the St. Paul Pioneer Press is not afraid of the socialistic or paternalistic doctrine that may be involved in it.

QUAKER REFLECTIONS. It looks as though the failure of the Delaware peach crop was a failure. The mother-in-law joke may be very ancient, but it can't be traced back to Adam.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR. There is nobody in the world can guess what color a little girl's black hair is going to be when she grows up.

AW, QUIT IT. Doubtless the Pennsylvania officials feel that the worst thing about a coal road is the way in which one gets pilloried in its stocks.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

VERDICT THAT RING

AN INTERRUPTED PREACHMENT. I am very tired on Monday—in the abstract sense, of course. Though, my feelings notwithstanding, I appreciate its thought.

TIME CHANGES ON TEXAS & PACIFIC

Sunday Will See New Table Inaugurated

The new passenger schedule on the Texas & Pacific that makes numerous changes in the arrival and departure of trains is out and will become effective Sunday. The changes are important to the public and are as follows.

The west bound El Paso train No. 3 will arrive from the east at 10:20 a. m. instead of 9 a. m. and will leave at 10:50 a. m. instead of 9:45 a. m. The Cannon Hill No. 5 will arrive at 7:40 p. m. and leave at 8:05 p. m. instead of 7:20 p. m. and 7:45 p. m. as heretofore.

The Mineral Wells and Dallas train from Mineral Wells that formerly arrived at 8 p. m. will arrive at 4:05 p. m. and leave for Dallas at 4:15 p. m. No. 8, Wills Point local, which under the old schedule, left Fort Worth at 3:15 p. m., will leave at 6:15 p. m., going through to Marshall, where it will make through connection to New Orleans.

No. 12, formerly leaving for Dallas at 7:10 a. m., will under the new schedule leave at 7 a. m.

No. 7, that formerly arrived from Wills Point at 11 a. m., will under the new schedule come from Marshall and will arrive at 8 a. m.

No. 13, Dallas and Fort Worth local, that under the old schedule arrived at Fort Worth at 6 p. m., will arrive at 5:45 p. m.

No. 22, Fort Worth to Texarkana, via Sherman and Paris over the Texas Central division, formerly leaving Fort Worth at 7:50 a. m., under the new schedule, will leave at 8:05 a. m.

No. 21, Texarkana to Fort Worth, will arrive at 4:55 p. m. instead of at 4:35 p. m.

The new schedule necessitates an additional train, on account of the extension of the rail of the Wills Point local to Marshall.

RAILROAD IS SOLD

Velasco, Brazos & Northern Railway Brings $236,000.

H. C. Alexander of Dallas has purchased the Velasco, Brazos & Northern Railroad at receiver's sale, held at the town of Velasco, the price paid being the receiver's upset figures, $236,000.

It is not known here what interest Alexander represents in making the purchase or what will be done with the property. The road has 202 miles of completed track running from the town of Velasco to Houston.

The sale was made by virtue of a judgment rendered in the Forty-eighth district court of Tarrant county by Judge Irvy Dunklin, in the case of Kaufman et al. against the railroad company, the plaintiffs holding bonds of the company to the amount of $236,000, for which amount judgment was rendered. The judgment rendered by Judge Dunklin was also for the appointment of a receiver and the sale of the road, which has just been made to Alexander.

Railroad Personal.

The Texas and Pacific has ordered ten new engines, 10-wheel 100's, to be delivered Oct. 1 next.

C. H. Hufsmith, superintendent of motive power and rolling stock of the International & Great Northern at Austin, has resigned. An Alabama railroad man is to take Mr. Hufsmith's place.

There is a rumor that the Gould lines and the Orient, as far as may be, will pool issues and that the first tangible evidence of that is the use of the Orient of the Texas and Pacific from Sweetwater to Barstow, saving the building of that much line from Kansas City, Mo., to Topolobampo, Mexico.

To continue until further notice, the Rock Island will run a special live stock train from Graham to Fort Worth, stopping at intermediate points, leaving Graham at 5:30, Wednesday afternoons and arriving in Fort Worth in time for the Thursday morning markets.

NO WORD FROM REV. BURROUGHS

Temple Divine Has Not Indicated Intentions

The committee charged with the duty of selecting a pastor for the Broadway Baptist church has extended a call to Rev. Prince E. Burroughs of the First Baptist church of Temple, Texas, but that gentleman has not yet accepted the call.

Mr. Burroughs is the son of a Baptist minister who among other fields of work had charge of the Baptist church at Weatherford for several years.

Rev. P. E. Burroughs is a young man, only about 34 years old, and except the time he was at the Southern Baptist theological seminary of Louisville, Ky., he has had pastoral charge of the same church since he took his B. A. degree in Baylor, in 1891, when he was but 19 years of age.

One of the Fort Worth attorneys, R. H. Burk was a college mate of Mr. Burroughs at Baylor, and speaks of him in laudatory praise.

Mr. Burroughs is married and the aid of his wife in his church work is fully acknowledged.

He is a good worker, much esteemed and his associates in his various branches of church work say they will use every effort to dissuade him from leaving Temple.

STOCK IN TARRANT COUNTY

Rains Have Put Grass in Unusually Splendid Condition

Frank Corn, a representative young stockman and farmer of the western part of Tarrant county, was at the yards yesterday and said that he had nothing to sell but would not mind purchasing something good if he could find it.

"Our stock is all doing well now and is fat. Grass is so good that it does not take the five acres it usually requires to put them in shape this time of the year and although it is a little past the average time when they are put on the market, still it is not at all past the period when they can be marketed profitably direct from the grass. Grass is strong and heaps up flesh fast during the summer time."

REMOVAL NOTICE

The Citizens' Light and Power Company has moved into their new quarters on Throckmorton street, opposite fire hall. The rapid growth of the business has necessitated moving into more central quarters for their own and the public's convenience.

Old Table Maxims A true friend never keeps a dinner waiting. Pastry is cooking what rhetorical figures are to a discourse. One should pass in order from the most solid to the lighter. Method is the key to an edifice. It should be prepared so as to give an idea of the feast to follow, just as the overture of an opera should announce the subject of the piece.

Mr. John Bartels entertained the "Social Season" Thursday afternoon with a joyous Thursday afternoon with cards. There were two trophies given for good playing. They were silk hose. Mrs. H. B. Gately carried off the honors for the Wages and Miss Edna Pendleton for the Daisies. A delicious repast was served after the game to the following guests: Misses Margaret Carter, Myrtle Hosmer, Irma Hosmer, Annie Mae Kennedy, Anne Newlin, Mary Montgomery, Elizabeth Wells, Ellis Mills of Sherman, Mrs. Dugan, Edna Pendleton, Helen Murdoch, Hazel Hull, Lucy Edgell of Dallas, Lillian Fuller, Edna Kiffin, Jess Wombwell, Edna Mae Card, Alice Lusk, Gwendolyn McCarthy and Mrs. H. C. Gately.

Elwell Bridge Club The Elwell Bridge Club played their weekly game with Mrs. Charles Ware Thursday morning, spending seven hours in the most enjoyable and absorbing pastime. Mrs. E. E. Fosdick was the lucky winner of the trophy for the morning, a pair of silk hose. She will be the next hostess.

A Luncheon Mrs. P. V. Crandall, assisted by her daughter, Miss Peach Crandall, gave a luncheon of seven courses Thursday in honor of Messrs. W. W. Richards of San Francisco and Frederick Rice of Fort Worth. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Q. T. Moreland and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Burgher.

At Lake Erie Misses Elizabeth Wells, Hazel Walker and Mary Montgomery, entertained with a dance at Lake Erie, Sunday.

Society Personals The Misses Simmons of Denton are the guests of Mrs. Winfield Scott. Miss Norma Brown left Thursday morning for Chattanooga, New York. Harry McCullum spent Thursday in Greenville.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Rindley left Thursday for the city where she will spend the summer.

Who has found the paradox that has no one but me? Who can tell the difference between her first child and a genius? Who most admires those eyes which belong to a man who understands her? Who acknowledges the allowance made her by her husband by making allowances for him? Who appreciates that the largest room in any house is that left for self-improvement? Who manages to keep not only her house and her temper, but her servants and her figure as well? Who reads a book that two husbands of 25 years each are not necessarily as good as one of 50? Who can give a more distinguished hostess the laugh of amusement and the same amount to show off a diamond? Who wears a trolley cap the right way, though she may be the only one in town who has one in disguise? Tom Watson's Magazine.

Let the children help you with the work. They may be of some help in many ways. They can be a real help to you and bring them into companionship with the mother.

WHAT WOMEN ARE WEARING

In spite of the princess and empire fashions, which would seem to do away with need for belts and belt buckles, the shops show great quantities and any number of new styles both in belts and in separate buckles to be worn with ribbon belts or those made of the material of a gown. Broad girdles are shown made of the most elaborate combination of linen, flowered silk, embroidery and lace. There are also broad crush girdles of linen and leather, embroidered and trimmed with lace. The newest idea in buckles presents a combination of embroidery, metal and semi-precious stones or paste jewels. Others show the same designs with beads used instead of embroidery. These buckles are very remarkable and at the same time are really pretty. The buckles are almost all large, being square, oval or rectangular in shape. They are made of silver or nickel, the frame being set with stones or made of cut steel. The center of the buckle is formed of a large branch of solid-embroidered flowers, but although the embroidery is solid the flowers are cut out of the material. The buckle, of course, has been made for this special branch and back of the flowers is a metal plate, to which the flowers are fastened. A fabric of fine linen cloth is used for the inside of the buckle, and a spray of cherries used in this fashion. Grapes, apricots, little apples, currants and small peaches are also used. The same designs are carried out in hand embroidery instead of silk. Buckles made entirely of beads, especially in mounting beads, or white beads with a scattered sprinkling of color, are highly fashionable.

ITS MERIT IS PROVED RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Cincinnati Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "About nine months ago I was a great sufferer with female trouble, which caused me severe pain, extreme nervousness and frequent headaches, from which the doctor failed to relieve me. I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and within a short time felt better, and after taking five bottles of it I was entirely cured. I therefore heartily recommend your Compound as a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women.

WOMAN OF CIVIL WAR FAME DIES

Attended Husband in Many Hard Fought Battles

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 6.—Mrs. Elizabeth M. J. Mougher, widow of General Thomas F. Mougher, who led the famous Irish brigade in the civil war, died yesterday at her home in Rye, Winchester county, of heart disease. She was born in Southfield, Orange county, New York, in 1826, and was a daughter of Peter Townsend. Mrs. Mougher's great grandfather made the chain that was stretched across the Hudson during the revolution to prevent the British from ascending the river above West Point. Her grandfather was the first man in the country to make steel rails.

With Husband in Battle. Mrs. Mougher met her husband in the city which he had made his home in, because of his connection with the Patriotic League there, was becoming famous for his oratory. Mrs. Mougher attended her husband during the civil war and was with him at the first battle of Bull Run. She succeeded in nursing him back to health when he was given up for dead after the battle.

Husband Drowned. When he was made territorial secretary of Montana after the war she went with him. One evening he was drowned mysteriously while crossing the Little Missouri river at Fort Benton. Mrs. Mougher had divers hunt for his body but never found it.

S.S.S. HEALS OLD SORES

Every old sore exists because of a polluted condition of the blood. This vital fluid is infected with some germ or old taint, or perhaps has been left in an unhealthy condition from a long spell of sickness, or the trouble may be inherited. The poisonous germs and matter with which the blood is saturated force an outlet on the face, arms, legs or other part of the body and form a sore or ulcer. This being continually fed by a polluted blood supply, grows red and angry, festers and eats into the surrounding flesh until it becomes what is very aptly termed an "old sore." The relief produced by external treatment is only temporary. The only treatment that can do any real good is a blood purifier that goes to the very root of the trouble and removes the cause, and for this purpose nothing equals S. S. S. It drives down from the circulation all morbid matter and germs, even reaching down to hereditary taints, and by cleansing the blood heals old sores permanently. S. S. S. not only removes all taints and poisons from the blood but builds it up by supplying it with the rich, health-sustaining properties it needs to keep the system in health. S. S. S. makes pure blood and a sore never heal if the blood is pure and healthy. Book on Sores and Ulcers and medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, Ga.

$117,000 IN SIGHT FOR CITY SCHOOLS

Trustees Talk of Income and Expense

The school trustees of the city of Fort Worth met Thursday evening in the Fort Worth National Bank, Mayor W. D. Harris, Trustee Van Zandt, Capps, Williams and Woods, Superintendent Williams and Secretary Montgomery being present.

The important questions to be decided were: How close an estimate can be made of the amount of money which will be available for the use of the schools this year?

Trustee Capps wanted to know if it was not possible to issue bonds, the proceeds of which might be used in the erection of useful school buildings in part, but Mayor Harris stated that the city's limit of bonded indebtedness was reached and paid.

Trustee Williams and Woods had on July 4 visited six of the school buildings and found conditions unsatisfactory in the main.

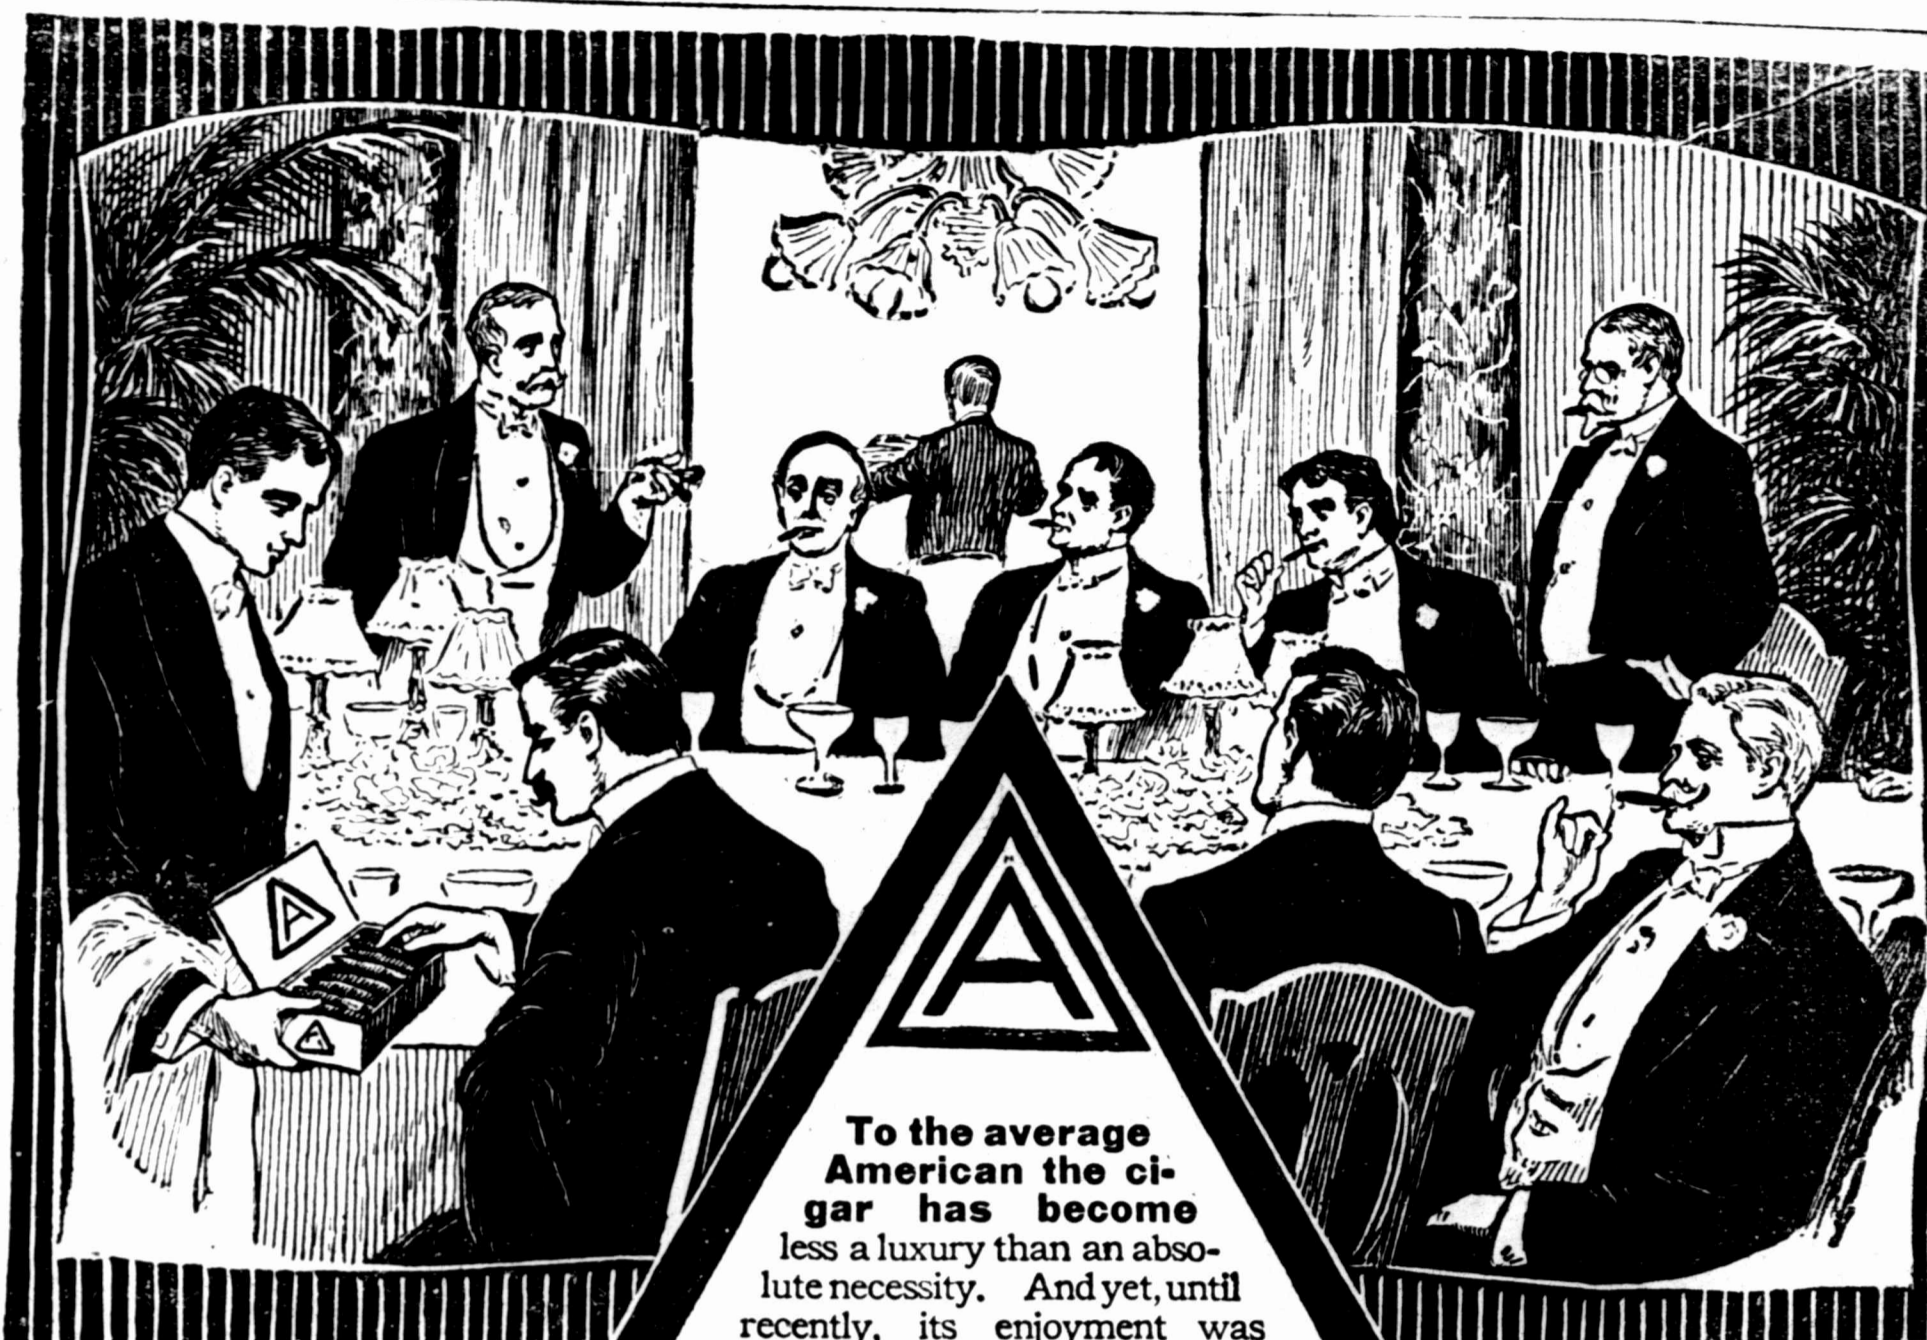

SKIN ERUPTIONS FOR 35 YEARS Suffered Severely With Eczema All Over Body—Examined 15 Times by Government Board Who Said There Was No Cure—An Old Soldier Completely Cured.

A THOUSAND THANKS TO CUTICURA REMEDIES

"For over thirty-five years I was a severe sufferer from eczema. The eruption was not confined to any one place. It was all over my body, limbs, and even on my head. I am sixty years old and an old soldier, and have been examined by the Government Board over fifteen times, and they said there was no cure for me. I have taken all kinds of medicine and have spent large sums of money for doctors, without avail. A short time ago I decided to try the Cuticura Remedies, and after using two cases of Cuticura, two boxes of Cuticura Ointment, and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, two treatments in all, I am now well and completely cured. A thousand thanks to Cuticura. I cannot speak too highly of the Cuticura Remedies. John E. Rouse, Richmondale, Ross Co., Ohio, July 17, 1905."

FEEDERS RUN RISK IN CATTLE MARKET
 Supply and Demand Does Not Affect Prices

T. J. Pamill, the vigorous young stockman, came in on one of his monthly trips and smiling on his friends and acquaintances as always. "It is all right up our way," said he, "and we are all busy getting everything ready for the coming stock season. What cattle there are, are in excellent shape and I suppose that when the final round up among those who make a business of buying comes the check up will be largely in excess of what is now expected. This is almost always the case and we hope that it will prove so this year. We are not feeding anything just now and are discussing the question as to the advisability of our doing any feeding at all.

Risk in Market
 "It is a serious question with a feeder whether he can take chances on such markets as we are having and no one can tell what will happen when he is ready to put his costly stuff on the market. Supply and demand are the only things that are sure in prices just now, does it?" The stockman's position today relative to the market for his stuff is something like that of a farmer who has a cotton crop about him at any little old price whether he liked it or not, and no questions asked. The farmer wishes to have a good price for his rough ground but just by coincidence it is able to keep the price of his stuff up to a level all the year, that is it has been so for two or three years and he seems to have a notion that he is going to continue to have a say as to what it shall bring.

Stockman Unprotected
 "The stockman is not so well protected of protecting himself and it will only be after stock farming has gone to the big end of the cattle business that the control of prices will fall into the hands of those who make it a business of raising them for market."
ANGELO COUNTRY DRY.
 But Cattle Are Reported to Be in Good Condition.
 Asked if he knew how conditions were down in the Angelo country Captain W. H. Shields replied: "I learn from correspondents that it is dry pretty much all over the Angelo country and rain is needed for crops and grass. Nothing is suffering materially as yet, but some herds are quickly a change can come over the face of the land when it gets dry. There is plenty of stock water here, but there are some places where gasolene engines everybody can have water who will go to the trouble of supplying himself with a pump. The cattle are in good condition here and unless some unforeseen trouble arises they will keep up their flesh."

CALF CROP BIG
 Crop Expected to Go Beyond the Average This Year.
 W. H. Green Jr., the successful stock farmer and shipper of Eastland, was in the city during the last rain. "We are in a fine condition out our way as we could see and stand just growing to beat the band or a half dozen of them for that matter," said he. "Cattle are doing nicely and the calf crop is big. The calves are scattered all around. It will go above an average this year sure. There is no sickness of any kind with us and none anywhere that I can hear of."

Crops Better Than Ever.
 "Crops are better than we have had for a long time and as the people are paying more attention to raising feed-stuffs, way that makes it all the better for us in the cow and calf business. The more iron in the fire the more sure there will be that money will be made. It was raining when I left home and I called about all the way down. This will assure the corn crop that was just in shape to need it. I am just down here looking around. I have nothing to sell, but might buy."

CUPID AT THE BALL GAME.
 When Tom Sumner received the intimation that he had been selected as one of the team to represent—let's call it Yaleard—he thought there had been a mistake. But there was his notification signed by Steve Roach, the captain.
 Nevertheless Tom was elated, although he couldn't forget his terrible failure to "hit and run" or "bunt" or "get hit by a pitched ball" on occasions when he had been ordered.

He knew the game well, but for lack of confidence he had always done something or other that wasn't right. "I don't know why Roach has placed me," he said to his particular chum, Jim Barley. "I will probably only make an idiot of myself."
 "Perhaps that explains it," replied Jim, meaningly.
 Tom stood short. Barley had given him the solution. There was little love lost between himself and Roach. Both were head and ears in love with pretty Nora. Roach, however, was Roach, the son of a wealthy man had everything in his favor.

The great day dawned at last and the game was on. Long before the time for play was called the grounds were packed with shouting enthusiasts. Tom saw Nora chatting with Roach and I her father.
 "They have worked in a professional on you fellows to pitch," said Barley to Tom. "I wouldn't wonder if he were Rube Waddell."
 Tom didn't feel good over the information. Rube Waddell! Lord! Tom, from past experience, didn't think he could hit a curve ball pitched by Rube. The game started. Yaleard at bat. Roach, with "malice prepense," put Tom at the head of the batting order. Poor Tom struck out on three pitched balls. Way fallen he went and hid himself behind the grandstand, where Barley found him.
 "I'm going to quit," said Tom.
 "You keep right on or I'll knock the stuffing out of you. Be game, I've got a seat alongside Nora and her father and I saw tears in her eyes when you hit the air."

In the second half with three on bases, and two out, the ball was hit on a line to left field. With determination born of desire, Tom went after it, grabbed it with his gloved mitt amid tremendous applause and retired the side, scoreless.
 "That was a great catch," said Nora's father. "It was a beauty" responded Nora. But Roach, who was visiting the box, said: "If he hadn't struck out that last time we might have made some runs."
 "That man is a conceited ass. I'm beginning to think," commented Nora's father, as Roach went onto the field. The game went on as most games do. Tom, encouraged, played brilliantly, but neither side had scored when the ninth came around. Tom was up again, and landed a terrific swipe over party favored the repeal of the occupation tax, but not until some adequate method of taxation had been devised to meet the deficiency such repeal would cause. Judge Bell told his hearers that the immediate repeal of the occupation tax would mean an annual loss in revenues to the state of $250,000, called attention to the fact that the state is now facing a big deficit, that state officers are compelled to accept their pay in warrants and cash them with warrant shavers in order to get their salaries, and asked his hearers if they favored a proposition which would still further add to the state's financial embarrassment.

Local Option Repeal

Judge Bell deprecated the injection of the local option issue into the present campaign. He declared it was not a matter for discussion, inasmuch as the laws on it are adequate and the duty of state officers is made plain as to leave no room for doubt. But inasmuch as there had been some talk of the position of candidates on the question, he said he would tell his hearers his own record on that question. Then he recited the story of his authorship of the bill years ago, asking his audience if that alone should not be sufficient to establish his position on the measure.

Revenue and Taxation

Judge Bell devoted a large part of his remarks to a discussion of revenue and taxation, declaring he was not in favor of changing the policy under which Texas has prospered for years, in favor of some untimed experiment. He then repeated his exposure of the proposed exemption plank in the Campbell platform, and again secured many expressions of approval. His discussion of trusts and monopolies was brief, but he referred to his record and his unswerving challenge that in the four years' service as attorney general had not brought more

Denton Speech Masterly

While the Pilot Point speech took well with the crowd and in the opinion of many impartial judges was the best campaign address delivered there this year, it was at Denton Judge Bell took advantage of the opportunity his extended time afforded to make one of the most masterly speeches he has delivered during the week. Speaking practically two hours, covering only a few of the more important issues of the campaign, Judge Bell held his hearers' complete attention, and in all his lengthy address he did not repeat a single proposition he advanced, or was he forced at any time to reiterate an argument. Speaking rapidly—Judge Bell's campaign addresses are speeded close to the 200-word a minute mark—and covering thoroughly the few subjects discussed, he left with the hearers a striking impression of the immense fund of material on which he has to draw for campaign arguments. The realization on the part of his audience that they were listening to a man talk on local option, who had written the local option law now in force in Texas, that they were hearing arguments about local option legislation from a man who had driven the trusts out of Texas and had written the anti-trust law in the state, that they were hearing democratic doctrines explained by a man who had served as chairman of the party in so great a state as Texas; these self-vident facts created a genuine impression and gave more than common force to all that Judge Bell said.

Brilliant Introduction

T. J. Milliken, a Denton attorney, introduced Judge Bell in a brilliant and laudatory address, reviewing his record, and praising his achievements. He said that Judge Bell's record speaks for itself, that he did not seek to argue on issues which had been thrashed out years ago, that he did not seek to magnify local option into a state issue, that he was not a man who would appeal to prejudice, that he came with no new and untried schemes of taxation, but that he was making his campaign solely on great and vital issues of state interest.

"Texas, he said, is at a critical period in its history, that it needs a man for governor who can control and regulate all the various interests within its borders and at the same time deal fairly with the interests of both capital and labor; a man who has a record of past performance that speaks for his conduct in the future; a man well versed in legislative affairs; a man who knows the needs of Texas; a man who is clean, who is honest, a man of the people. Such a man, a democrat without guile, a public officer without reproach, he said, was Judge C. K. Bell, who he then introduced.

Judge Bell opened with a story of the circumstances leading up to his entrance into the gubernatorial campaign, said that he had seen as a result of his experience in the office of attorney general some of the defects in Texas laws and thought that he could do some service by introducing his withdrawal from office in order to make that race.

Speaking of issues on which he said there was no marked diversity of opinion among the different candidates, he discussed the free press bill and said that there was unanimity in the belief that the time had come when this privilege should be taken away from the trustees of Texas. He had held these views since years ago, he said, and still held them.

Local Option Explained

He said he submitted no arguments on the question of the local option bill, that he had always held the view that the local option law is merely a wise police regulation and that solely on this theory the courts had upheld the local option law. He reported his statement, frequently made, that if he lived in a community where public sentiment was such the local option law could not be enforced, he would not be in favor of the law for that community.

Then Judge Bell narrated the story of how he and the late Senator Simpson wrote the present local option law (save a few amendments) and how he himself had reported it to the senate as chairman of the Judiciary committee and carried the measure through. "Who is the candidate," he asked, "whose friends can point to his record and say that man has done more for local option than the man who stands before you?" Judge Bell said he took no particular credit for his part in the passage of the law, that the constitution had provided such a law should be passed, and that it was his plain duty as a legislator to help accomplish that end, and that it was purely accidental he had charge of the bill and participated in its authorship.

He declared that the man who declared he was going to vote for some particular candidate because that candidate would enforce the local option law, should not cause for credit. Any of the candidates, he declared, would be bound by oath to enforce not only the local option law but all other laws, and for a person to make a suggestion that any candidate would do more in this respect than another would be equivalent to the charge that the others were not honest men.

Revenue and Taxation

Judge Bell then took up revenue and taxation, declaring that not only the policies of the founders of Texas government had pointed out, but also experienced and thoughtful men of the state, the collection of revenues to meet the state's needs was by a direct ad valorem tax.

He called attention to the deficiency in the laws which permit such condition as that noticeable the past year when the report of the United States controller of currency showed more money in the banks of two Texas cities, subject to the order of depositors, than the rest of the state, and showed on deposits subject to taxation in the whole state of Texas at the same time covered in the controller's report.

He called attention to the advantage of the intangible assets law but said further legislation along the same line is needed. He repeated his position in opposition to a change in the present system of taxation and regarding the change made by the proposed measure, declared that he took that title as the highest compliment which could be paid him.

He said the method of assessment, and increase the ad valorem tax to meet the needs of government, mainly revenue, economically administered, he urged.

Homestead Exemption

Taking up then the question of homestead exemption from taxation, Judge Bell expressed the fallacy of that plan. "Any man that can maintain and keep up the expenses of a $2,000 homestead, is able to pay the taxes on such a homestead," he declared. "To take off the taxes from such homesteads would be to take off the taxes from those who can least afford it, for homestead valuations represent half the total taxable values in the state."

A man that would make such a proposition as exemption of homesteads, he said, Judge Bell said, is a man, "Thank God we are not a rational people" (Applause).

Then he quoted the scriptural injunction that both shall be given and from him that hath not shall be taken away, even that which is offered, he said, the only logical way had been able to find for the proposition. (Applause and laughter.)

Campaign Charges

Taking up some of the campaign charges that have been made against him, Judge Bell never to press the statement, frequently made, that if he lived in a community where public sentiment was such the local option law could not be enforced, he would not be in favor of the law for that community.

Then Judge Bell narrated the story of how he and the late Senator Simpson wrote the present local option law (save a few amendments) and how he himself had reported it to the

THE RECORD IS EMBARRASSING

Col. Campbell Cannot Dodge Issues of the Past

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, July 6.—The records are again proving a stubborn thing to surmount on the part of one of the candidates for governor.

So far as records are concerned, they usually get right in a fellow's way and constitute an obstacle, which at times prevents him from reaching his cherished goal.

Of course, when a candidate announces for a public office, his record, if he has one, is a fit subject for legitimate criticism. He should not get mad if his past acts are held up to the public scrutiny, in case his record of ten he does not. His friends do, though, simply because they had no way of finding out everything prior to the time they judged him their support. The lukewarm friend is the one who flaps, and in some instances the sensible supporter turns to another candidate. The friend who kicks the loudest is the one who is a creature of politics, and who is expecting a seat on the executive to make the nomination works off with the victory.

Now in the race for governor Judge Bell has set out, head and shoulders above all of his opponents, the one record. It is flawless and without blemish. For that reason he has many more supporters than any other candidate in the race against him. His opponents have been digging into his record for the past year, in the fond hope of finding something on which to gain a position of vantage. All of them have failed. One of them thought he had discovered a spot on the record of Judge Bell, but it vanished the first time the judge had an opportunity to make a speech. At Roundup the Fort Worth statesman showed the charges against him to be groundless and he had documentary evidence to substantiate his position. Since that time very little has been said that could in any way reflect on his record, and those who have been looking for "muds" must have forsaken the task, and they are almost ready to make the nomination of Judge Bell unanimous.

Colonel Campbell's Record

Unfortunately for Colonel Campbell he has a record, and the more it is placed in the limelight the less his following grows. In other words, the holding of his record up to the public gaze, is causing the ranks of the "Campbellites" if your please, to become thinner and thinner.

It has heretofore been pointed out that the Colonel, while at the head of the International and Great Northern railroad, was in the habit of giving rebates to shippers. But here is another one.

It must be remembered that just now the Colonel is having a great deal to say about platform demands. He uses this with a great deal of force in connection with what he has to say regarding the Hoag amendments. They were platform demands, but were never put into operation by any legislature. To hear the Colonel express himself on the subject, that is the failure on the part of the lawmakers to execute the will of the democratic party in convention assembled, one would think that this grand old state has been in the hands of professional loafers for many, many years.

Perhaps the Colonel has overlooked the fact that he was partly responsible for the failure of the platform demands to be carried out. He was largely responsible for it, and it would not be out of place at this time to call the attention of the Colonel to the fact, and let him see for himself whether or not he is acting just a bit inconsistent in his talks about the legislature failing to carry out the platform of the party.

The Fellow-Servant Demand

The state democratic convention, which assembled in Fort Worth in August, 1906, adopted a platform as of late conventions do. The late Judge John H. Reagan was chairman of the revision committee, Section 9 of the platform which he reported and which was adopted by the convention contained this plank: "We favor such further amendments to the present fellow-servant law as will attain the purposes sought to be accomplished thereby, and will protect employees of railroads and other corporations in their lives and against injury."

Now when the legislature convened the following January, Senator Perry Lewis of Bexar county, introduced in the senate the following servants bill, in compliance with the demand in the platform of the democratic party, introduced at the Fort Worth convention. It was the very first bill introduced in the legislature for its introduction in the senate. For it is labeled senate bill No. 1.

The bill never passed, Colonel Campbell well will be proud of his record, and worked against it. Every member of the legislature at the time will testify to this fact.

The C. Moore bill was one of that type, likewise numerous revenue measures.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Cures Colds, Croup and Whooping Cough.

ures, one of which was directed at the insurance companies. There was a big lobby on hand fighting the fee bill. There was also another lobby fighting the insurance bill. The fellow servants' bill and the fee bill were direct platform demands. The insurance revision bill was not a platform declaration in any sense of the word, but shortly after its introduction in the legislature a powerful lobby was organized to compass its defeat.

Those who are familiar with legislative history at that time, say that these three powerful lobbies, the ones opposing the fellow servants bill, the fee bill and the insurance bill, pooled their issues to combine to defeat the platform demands. They were successful. Colonel Campbell knows all about it, for he was in the thick of the fight chloroforming platform demands.

Speaker Dashiell's Bold Stand

The Houston Post of April 27, 1907, shows that Speaker Dashiell took the floor and read the riot act to the house for not passing the platform demands, and that he was aware that certain elements and combinations had been formed to defeat the fellow servant and the fee bills. That he had been censured for continually placing platform demands before the house, but that he would not do so to put the democratic party in a hole. The populists were thick about that time and that Speaker Dashiell meant in his remarks about putting the democratic party in a hole.

THE TELEGRAM'S DAILY FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL REPORT

NEW YORK STOCKS

Market Was Buoyant—Selling Movement Extends to Initial Trading, But Soon Checked.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The stock market was turned to the bull side in a pronounced manner today, although the start there was a continuation of the retrograde movement started during the latter part of yesterday's session.

Toward middle of the day the liquidation of the market was checked, and the market soon presented a buoyant aspect. The buying was of a good character and before the end of the first hour a full recovery had been effected.

As for the day's session, it was dull, opening prices being unchanged for the most part.

Table with columns: Quotations, Open, High, Low, Close. Lists various stocks like Am Loco, Atchafalpa, B & O, etc.

NEW YORK COTTON

Market Continues Dull—Plan For Dispersing Stagnation Believed To Be On Foot

NEW YORK, July 6.—The cotton market was quiet today and the trading was without particular features, but from rumors which are in the air and the partial revival of activity around the bull header's camp, it looks as though some plan was being perfected to lift the market out of its state of stagnation.

As for the day's session, it was dull, opening prices being unchanged for the most part.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The cotton market was quiet today and the trading was without particular features.

Table with columns: Quotations, Open, High, Low, Close. Lists various cotton grades like Am Loco, Atchafalpa, etc.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Prices Lower For List—Missouri Crops in Better Condition and Liquidation Follows Report

CHICAGO, Ill., July 6.—Despite the firmness of the foreign market engendered by a decided falling off in Argentine shipments the local wheat market had an easy tone today.

Opening prices were 1/2c below yesterday's and the market exhibited a doctored tendency from the start.

Corn market after early firmness developed an easy tone under a renewal of liquidation and profits at one time were 1/2c to 3/4c lower.

Provisions were not in demand and prices eased off slightly under scattered liquidation.

Table with columns: Quotations, Open, High, Low, Close. Lists various grain and provision prices like Wheat, Corn, Oats, etc.

CATTLE AND HOGS

Good to Choice Steers Sell Steady, Others No Sale—Cows Steady, Calves Lower—Hogs Steady

Receipts of cattle for Friday ran to 2,500 head, a moderate run for near the end of the week.

The run again ran largely to grass and short fed cattle, the general quality of the stock not being as good as the average for the week.

Cows for butcher purposes were in good supply, about a dozen loads being offered.

Hogs continued to command only mean prices, and the quality of offerings is no better than the price.

Table with columns: Quotations, No. Av., Price, No. Av., Price. Lists various livestock prices like Steers, Cows, Hogs, etc.

First Building of New College

WORK BEGINS ON THE NEW COLLEGE

Construction of the Arlington Heights School Is On

With the confident hope that the building will be ready for occupancy by October, work has actually begun on the construction of the Arlington Heights College. As the material to be used is to be cement blocks, an essential part of the construction work is to get ready, and as the making of these blocks will be done on the ground, the putting up of the sheds and the erection of the block making machine are very necessary. Much, or most, of this work is already done, and the ground for the college is staked out.

This college will be for girls and will be a school of several grades, culminating in the best type of the college. It is the claim of Dr. E. Thompson, who is at the head of the enterprise, that it will be fully the equal of any college in the south.

Concrete Building
The first building will be 64x72 feet in size, and the equivalent of four stories with a total height, to the apex of the roof, of fully fifty feet. It was expected that the concrete work of the foundation would extend about five or six feet from the bottom, or floor, of the basement, but solid rock, as soundings disclosed, is so close to the surface that the cement work of the foundation, below the line of the earth's surface, will not be more than three feet or so, and the main mass made will appear in the additional height of the building above the ground.

The basement will be a high pitched roomy place, fully seven and a half feet in the clear; the ground or main floor will be 11 feet 6 inches; the second floor will be 9 feet 6 inches high, and the third floor will be 8 feet 6 inches high, all of these measurements being inside dimensions.

In making the concrete blocks the unusual strength of 1 to 1 will be used in the erection of the strongest blocks of the kind ever used for such work in the city, and indeed as strong as ever used anywhere.

Thirty-five Rooms
In the first building, which is only one of several the college will have to have, there will be thirty-five rooms, including school rooms, administration and dormitory rooms, etc., and there will be good accommodations for at least fifty girls.

The work of building the college is done by the Sunday League of America, and it is especially noteworthy that the erection of the first building of the college will be entirely done without asking the aid of the people of the community. All that part of the financial matters of the college are so arranged that the building of this first edifice is assured. It is the expectations of the promoters of the new enterprise that many more buildings will be needed. For this, the college has ample room, for they own forty blocks at the heights.

When the new building is ready for occupancy it is the confident expectation of those in charge of the college

FACTORY CLUB DOINGS

Membership Roll Shows an Increase of Fifty Names
At the monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Factory Club Thursday afternoon, Secretary Evans reported that during the month past fifty names had been added to the membership roll and this in spite of the fact that the membership committee had done no work because of the illness of its chairman. The names were secured by Secretary Evans.

Mr. Evans stated that he was kept busy answering inquiries regarding business possibilities in Fort Worth and that he had no doubt the correspondence would result in the location here of some new industries. Representatives of the company desiring to open a sugar and pickle works here were before the club, and these people are certain to begin business here soon. The site for the location of the box factory was not decided upon, pending further inquiry. It was announced that the plant of the former Standard Food Company of Dallas was opened in Glenwood Thursday morning and the first product put out since the removal to this city. The products are Saratoga chips, extruded essences, bluing, ink, etc. A permanent site for the factory has not yet been chosen.

Ohio capitalists were said by Secretary Evans to be in the city looking for investments and possibly for the location of a large business here. They will be in town several days.

Local Claimant to New York Estate Talks

Several Fort Worth people are more or less interested in the matter of a claim for a very large estate in New York city, which is valued at something like $500,000.00.

The property in question is some 169 acres in the residence section of the city and it is said that the rightful owners of this land are the heirs of one Andrew Hartford, who owned the land in the latter part of the eighteenth century and upon leaving the city in 1780 leased the tract to the city. In Fort Worth Mrs. C. P. Marklee, 1024 Monroe street; E. B. Haywood, North Fort Worth; Mrs. W. P. Hartford, 109 St. Louis avenue; and J. M. Hartford, 401 West Hattie street, are all distant heirs of the deceased Andrew Hartford.

Mrs. Marklee said that J. T. Cowan, of Dallas, who is an heir and is endeavoring to obtain a settlement from the present occupants of the New York property, has been working on the matter for several years, but that she has never taken much interest in the subject as she thought it too near the impossible.

She said that there are a very large number of heirs scattered over the country, the nearest heirs living in North Carolina, where Andrew Hartford lived and died. Her ancestors were prosperous North Carolinians but she never knew of any of them having great wealth.

"NO ROOM IN FORT WORTH FOR CHRIST"

Topic for Revival Sermon Friday Night

At the Cannon Avenue Presbyterian church Friday night the evangelist, Rev. Walter E. Spoonst, will preach on the subject "No Room in Fort Worth for Christ." In this discourse he will discuss local conditions as he has observed them during his stay here. Thursday evening he preached on "The Brazen Serpent," and not, as announced in Thursday's Telegram, "The Serpent of the Grass." The sermon throughout was a parallelism, the speaker frequently drawing comparisons between the fiery serpents in the wilderness of sin and the sinful effects of Satan's bite. He closed with an appeal to those present to look to Christ for salvation as the children of Israel had looked to the brazen serpent uplifted by Moses.

At First Congregational Church.

The singing of Professor Stout at the First Congregational church continues the development of the revival meetings in progress there. People who have heard the evangelist sing assert that he is one of the best singers they have ever heard and his songs have touched the hearts of many which might otherwise have remained sealed to the appeals of revivalists. Thursday night he sang at the service, "Only One Soul for Jesus," "What Will It Profit a Man if He Gain the Whole World and Lose His Own Soul" and "Lord, I'm Coming Home."

Rev. G. W. Ray preached Thursday night about the small man Zachaeus, who climbed a sycamore tree to await the passing of Jesus. He drew many comparisons between the conduct of Zachaeus and the man today who would see Jesus and said that Jesus is just as anxious now to be our guest as He was to be a guest at the house of Zachaeus. "Jesus is passing by and will stop with any man who will make him welcome," said he.

At the meeting Friday night Rev. Roy will preach on "Howards" and Evangelist Stout will sing "The Handwriting on the Wall," "Who Will Answer for Me," "Only 'A Veil Between'" and other songs.

STOCK FARMING GROWS

Montague County Man Tells of Its Possibilities

W. R. White lives at Forestburg in the southeast corner of Montague county and is a stock man and farmer. "Stock farming," said Mr. White, who was in Fort Worth a day or two ago, "is becoming one of the leading industries of the country. And why should it be? It is a sure thing, and the conditions that will make it a success and our people are just as intelligent as those of any other part of the state. It is sometimes hard to move a conservative people as farmers generally are from old ways, and in Texas, people have been so long accustomed to raising cattle on acres that a very few still cannot believe there is any other kind of grass that will be better. They are the most of our southern people used to a country where the hogs could not be raised without corn and horses would do no good unless they had it three times a day, forgetting that a great deal of the imported animals for generations of time had never seen or smelt corn, much less eaten it. "Cattle are all doing well with us and small grain was a fairly good crop. Unless it rains at once, though, corn is going to be small. It is suffering now, but a good rain will bring the average yield up greatly."

MAN KILLED FOR ASKING PAYMENT

Two Dallas Men Have Fatal Quarrel Over Money

Special to The Telegram.
DALLAS, Texas, July 6.—Because W. A. Mims, a livery stable proprietor, had pressed C. C. Williams, a horse trader of Farmersville, Texas, for a sum of money due him for stabling horses, he was shot and killed in Dallas this morning. Williams made his escape, but was arrested down town an hour later. Mims was shot in the back as he was taking a drink of water and again shot as he faced his assailant. He said as he fell: "My God! Williams, you have shot me for nothing."

Williams is lodged in jail, the charge of murder being preferred against him. He refuses to make any statement, but does not deny shooting Mims. Both men are prominent and the affair created quite a sensation.

AMUSEMENTS

The first roller skating tournament ever held in the southwest will be presented at the Palace rink, Lake Erie, tonight. This is a new and extremely novel form of amusement, in which ladies and gentlemen from the audience take part. Prizes are offered by the management for the successful contestants in the various events. On Saturday night the first of the series of one mile amateur races for the Palace rink medal will be presented. A large number of entries for the race have been received and the fastest amateurs of Fort Worth and Dallas are entered.

Young Man Shot While oner of City on Charge of a Misdemeanor

Following the circulation of that a police officer of Fort Worth shot a prisoner in the city's charged with a misdemeanor, a prisoner was alleged to have deavouring to aid and abet a livery. Mayor Harris called a livery of the police committee of Fort Worth to meet in the office Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock to decide just what steps will in the matter.

Mayor Harris' Call

The call was made by a cation to Alderman Jake Zurn police committee Saturday. Alderman Cook's Statement

Regarding the call for the police committee, R. F. Cook man from the Third ward, said after for the Telegram. Alderman Cook's Statement

In last Monday's issue of the gram there was a statement of fact that a prisoner in the city incarcerated for a misdemeanor attempting to escape through the floor above, had been through the hand by a member of the force, and in this morning of the Record, I note that a man proposes to bring this before the police committee. I believe that it is the duty of every good citizen of Fort Worth to have a member of the force charged with this duty, to lend toward locating the officer who be guilty of the perpetration of act. I have believed for some time there were some members of the department who were unfit and petent to serve in that capacity have been quietly gathered together that I shall gladly submit to a committee when it meets, if they will call an "eye opener" on me. Some time ago, a police officer high in authority unkindly and brutally beat a prisoner in the city who was so much intoxicated that he could stand up. I have several witnesses to the and will give names of them to the committee when they meet. Chief Madox was not ordinarily here headquarters after 9 p. m. him credit for not knowing of the graceful and brutal conduct met above.
