DENVER ROAD IN SIGHT OF GULF

Colorado Southern Will Have Line by September 10

By Associated Press. DENVER, Colo., Aug. 10.-'The extension of the Colorado and Southern railway to Galveston will be completed by Sept. 10.

Michael Sweeney, vice president and general manager of the Trinity and Brazos Valley railroad, who has been in active charge of the construction work, is in Denver, urging the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company to send more rails south, so the work will be completed by that time.

"We have the extension completed to Houston by Sept. 10," says Mr. Sweeney, "From Houston to Galveston we will use the tracks of the Santa Fe, with which line we have made trackage agreements. We have also made trackage agreements between Fort Worth and Mexia, which is the northern terminus of the Trinity and Brazos line."

The Trinity and Brazos Valley railroad was purchased a few years ago by the Colorado and Southern interests and is being extended to close up the gap between Fort Worth and the Gulf.

B. F. Yoakum a year ago instructed Mr. Sweeney to have the line completed by Sept. 1, Sweeney is asking for but ten days' grace and would not ask for that much time were it not that the work has been delayed by the steel rail shortage. The steel mills are having difficulty in turning out rails as fast as they are

"I do not mean to say that we will be able to use the through line by Sept. 10," says Mr. Sweeney. "Some little time will be required in fixing the roadbed, but we will rush the work as fast as we can."

Mr. Sweeney is going over many matters with Vice President A. D. Parker and T. E. Fisher, general passenger agent of the Colorado and Southern, as the time is near when arrangements will have to be made to run through trains from Denver to Galveston. A few weeks ago Mr. Sweeney was seriously injured while riding in an automobile inspection car on the Trinity and Brazos Valley line. The car was wrecked and turned over on Mr. Sweeney. He received several scalp wounds and it was feared that the mishap would result fatally. However, he gained strength rapidly and aside from a scar on his forehead and several on the top of his cranium, he appears to be in his usual good health. Net Earnings Show an Increase The gross earnings of the Colorado and Southern for the fiscal year ended June 30, according to the preliminary statement, were $11,879,953, an increase over 1905 of $2,222,373. The net earnings, less taxes, were $3,489,325, a gain for the year of $1,220,667. For the month of June the gross receipts were $999,183, a gain of $51,-207. During the year $1,200 per mile was expended in maintenance of way, which has resulted in vast improvement to the property.

Auto Turned Turtle The automobile was bound south in Jerome avenue, going at a high rate of speed. Smith hailed the driver and when Elliott did not stop, started in pursuit at a gallop. He came up with the automobile in Burnside avenue, where the machine swerved to the right, striking the policeman's mount. The horse went over and at the same time the automobile struck the curb and turned turtle, spilling out the occupants. Elliott was the least injured of the occupants of the automobile and was arrested. Just before the machine overturned, Elliott made a frantic effort to pro-

CHASED BY OFFICER SEE HOPE AHEAD LETTERS POUR IN

Lays All Blame on Unknown Demented Person for Originating the Scheme

By Associated Press.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 10.-So much annoyance has been caused to the Right Rev. William Lawrence, Episcoacademy united in an address extolling | pal bishop of Massachusetts, by the flood of letters which has been pour. ing in for several months regarding the so-called "endless chain of prayer," which is alleged to have been started by him, that the bishop found it necessary to issue the following denial that he was connected with the matter:

"The endless chain prayer said to have been written by Bishop Lawrence is a hoax. Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts never wrote it and knows nothing about it. It is the work of some demented or mischevious person.'

Denial Published Everywhere

A denial that such scheme has been started by many church officials and dignitaries was promptly published in all Episcopal church papers, as well as in local and secular papers in many cities. Church officials also sent to the Episcopal clergymen throughout the country a letter describing the hoax. Despite this there is scarcely a day when Bishop Lawrence does not receive letters containing inquiries concerning it. Such queries came recently from Florida, Texas, northern and western states and points in Canada. while only this week a query regarding it was received by Bishop Lawrence from Paris, France.

STOCK SHOW BUILDING EQUAL TO ANOTHER PACKING HOUSE

EVER have persons interviewed by The Telegran been more willing to talk and never has there been more unanimous enthusiasm in favor of any Fort Worth project than has been displayed since reporters for this paper began getting opinions of leading business men and stock raisers regarding the plan to establish the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show as a permanent institution and erect an exposition building where it may be held annually.

Captain J. B. Mitchell, who has had long experience with stock of all kinds, even goats, and who is now engaged in the business of selling stock, was requested to give some idea of what he thought would be the result of building the auditorium for an exhibit of all kinds of stock with a view to the improvement to the industrial interests of the city and state. He said: "You may say for me that it is my honest opinion that the benefits that will result from the building of the auditorium and the resultant permanency of the show in this city will equal if not surpass the establishment of another packing house. "The fact that in addition to the Fat Stock Show the institution will, through the various new departments that will be added, become the favorite resort of the farmers as well as the stockmen should certainly add to the importance of the institution. It may be relied upon that in a short time after or even before the building is finished there will be hundreds of small farms established within a short radius of the city and all tributary to it, which will be breeding places for the finest classes of stock of all kinds which will have exhibits at the show to call the attention of producers to the value of their different breeds and through this sell their products to the many stock farmers over the state. This will make it the central point of the industry. It is a fact that already many breeders from the north who have earned fame for their various breeds have established small places in neighborhoods in Texas, where they have induced the people to purchase their stock hogs from them and thus established a school in that community that will educate the people in the need for first-class stuff. Not long ago a car of hogs was shipped to this market from away out in Gray county on the plains, and they were a fine lot, sure. It surprised some people that there should be any hogs at all in Gray county, but it was the result of just uch causes as I have mentioned in this reply to your questions, the estab lishment of small breeding places for the finest qualities of stock of all kinds and the education of the people. Yes, the building of the auditorium and making it a permanency for all kinds of stock will be a great help to this city and to the whole state." Nothing of More Benefit

J. K. Rosson, Cattle Commission Man -I can think of nothing that is more for the benefit of Fort Worth, that would be more for the advantage of the city and state. Then, if you will pardon the personality of it, I can say,

Business Men and Stock Raisers Enthusiastic Over Idea of Making Fort Worth Fat Stock Show a Permanent Exposition and Erecting Place Where It May Be Held An-

from my own chances for observation, extending over a long period of service with railroads, as live stock agent, and since then as a cattle commission man, there is a large number of fine cattle in Texas and a larger number of grades than any other state in the country. As large as that business already is, it will be enlarged, almost beyond the thought of man, by the establishment of the Fat Stock Show on a permanent basis, and that is what the exposition building means for the city. The question of permanency being fixed, there will, necessarily, folan additional development of the already important Fat Stock Show until it will be second to but one in the country, if to any. The effects of this on the market here will be as great as the increase in the show itself. It is hard indeed to estimate the value and about the only way to get at it to the satisfaction of the individual will be to place his figures on the benefit as high as his conscience will permit, and then some more."

Will Add to Prosperity

H. W. Nye, a real estate dealer, when questioned as to what he thought would be the effect of the building of the proposed auditorium building for a permanent home for the fat stock show, replied: "It can have no other to a question: "I have been really too busy to give the proposition the consideration in extent that its importance deserves, but I heartily indorse it and am sure that it will cause a great increase in the interest of the people of Texas in the stock and farm interests. and will build up the cattle interests of Fort Worth and also lend an additional current of prosperity to all the industries of this city."

Nothing of Greater Benefit

Arthur Goetz, general agent of the Texas and Pacific Coal Company and the Thurber Brick Company, said: "If anything suggested for Fort Worth ever was, or can be, of greater benefit than the fat stock exposition hall, for that means fixing the fat stock show on a permanent basis, I have never heard of it. Fort Worth is the acknowledged meat packing and live stock center of the southwest as we, with reason, think. The building of the exposition hall with what it means will so cinch the matter that every one. be he whom he may, will be enforced to acknowledge the fact. It will be of vast benefit to the development of the city's cattle market and the time will soon come when, in that respect, there will be no rival this side of Chicago. No one has had more experience in such matters than J. Ogden Armour and the remarks he made to Captain Burnett and to others while this question was first under consideration, accurately forecasts the future of Fort Worth as the greatest live stock market of the southwest, if the fat stock show is put on a permanent basis, if the exposition hall is built, and that will be if the people of the state and city will give the small guarantee

Worth Millions to City

C. T. McIntosh, real estate dealer-"The fat stock show exposition hall will be worth millions to the city of Fort Worth. Fort Worth is already the railroad center, the live stock center, the meat packing center for all of the southwest and it will, as a necessary comcomitant, be the center of the cattle marketing of the southwest. I believe the benefits of the exposition hall will be immediate but, on a much larger scale, the resultant good will come to the city until it can only be estimated by millions. Relatively, that will be soon, though not necessarily, the first year or the second ear, after the fixing of the fat stock show on a permanent basis, will the full benefits begin to accrue. But it will come grander in its proportions than most of us think or now real-

OFFICIAL STATEMENT FROM DENVER ROAD •

An official statement of the ♦ Fort Worth and Denver railroad regarding the wreck of the north-♦ bound passenger near Fruitland, • early Friday morning, embraces • the following points:

• The train was running at the • rate of eighteen miles an hour • • when the wreck occurred. It was • hauled by two small engines, made necessary by the size of the load.

The wreck was caused by a broken rail, due to a defect, ap-• parently on the inside, which could not have been detected on • the surface. The ties near where the rail broke were sound and in • good condition. The list of injured is in the neighborhood of twenty. *********

the chair car next to it to topple over the embankment of the roadbed. The track where the wreck occurred was straight and the train was moving comparatively slow at the time. Probe these two facts account for the slight injuries of so many passengers, The section of the rail which broke was about twelve inches long.

Cars Overturned

Both the sleeping car and the chair car were almost completely overturned. The embankment down which they rolled is high and when they stopped the wheels of both cars were almost directly above the tops of the coaches. which lay in the bottom of the ditch alongside the track.

Woman's Warning Fortunate Passengers were tumbled about inside the two cars, from chairs and berths, cushions were piled up in heaps and indescribable confusion followed. A woman who was thrown from her berth, seeing the gas lights in the sleeping car still burning after the car stopped rolling, instantly called to a man who was also thrown out into the aisle to extinguish the light. He did so immediately, and this foresight probably prevented fire breaking out and adding to the confusion. Almost instantly after the light was extinguished the sleeping car filled with gas' but repeated shouts from cool-headed men ordering those in cars to strike no matches, prevented the ignition of the gas and no fire broke out.

Work of Rescue Slow

So complete was the confusion in the cars that it was with difficulty those who escaped uninjured, succeeded in helping women and children from

They worked in darkness, and quickly as circumstances would permit. As fast as they were helped out the women and children seated themselves on the embankment near the scene of the wreck. All were in their night clothing, but as quickly as blankets and cushions could be taken from the cars they were made comfortable.

"Please help me out," cried a woman who was almost smothered in her berth, and one of the men slightly injured in the wreck who heard her cries, worked for five minutes before he removed the weight of cushions, matresses and clothing, and freed her from her perilous position.

Conductor C. A. Roberts, who was cut about the head, bled so profusely that many passengers thought he was fatally hurt. Nevertheless he aided materially in the work of rescue and worked steadily despite his wounds. The entire work of rescue was come ducted in an orderly way and the was almost an entire absence of confusion after the first few minutes.

Valuables Scattered

A peculiar feature of the wreck was the manner in which the property of the occupants of the two cars was

Comstock's Assault on Them Set Down for Sept. 14

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Aug. 10.-The examination into the morality of the Art Students' league publication has been set down for Sept. 14 before Magistrate Mayo in the Essex Market police court. E. C. Crowley, attorney for the Art Students' league, was before Magistrate Mayo in the west side court yesterday afternoon and put up $300 cash bail for the appearance of Anna Robinson, the bookkeeper, who is the prisoner in the case. Miss Robinson previously had been paroled in custody of Charles J. Bamberger, a special agent of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, represented Anthony mstock yesterday. Bamberger's name appears with Comstock's on the complaint. Mr. Bamberger said that he was confident that Comstock's contention as to the character of the publication would be sustained. He said he did not believe a male officer of the league would be substituted for Miss Robinson in the action. Mr. Crowley was not certain on this point.

Mr. Bamberger said he thought there would be no action taken in the Federal courts, despite alleged violations of the postoffice laws. The complaint characterizes the league's publication as "a certain obscene, lewd, indecent, filthy and disgusting book."

IMPORTED MEXICAN LABOR

Contention That Emergency in Railroad Building Permits it to be Used Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 .- An important case involving the contract labor law is up for consideration before Lawrence O. Murray, acting secretary of the department of commerce and labor. For several months employment agencies supplying laborers to railroad contractors in the southwest have been bringing Mexicans across the border. They allege that that kind of labor cannot be secured in the United States. The point has been made that such importations are in violation of the contract labor laws. Under the law skilled labor can be brought into the country in an emergency, but there is no such provision as to unskilled labor. It is alleged by those interested that an emergency exists in the southwest for the reason that it is impossible to secure help in the United States and that the only source of supply is Mexico. It is contended that as the labor cannot be provided in this country the federal authorities have the power to permit importations of Mexicans, and that while the law is silent on the question as to whether unskilled laborers can be imported in an emergency undoubtedly the officials have authority to admit them. Voluminous evidence on the subject has been collected and the record in the case is a lengthy one. PUNISHING LAND THIEVES

Continued Success of Secretary Hitchcock's Prosecutions

Special to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 10 .- It was generally supposed that with the conviction of United States Senator Mitchell and a number of other prominent citizens of Oregon about a year ago the more important of Secretary Hitchock's land fraud prosecutions were completed, but judging from reports constantly being received by the secretary, this is not the case. Following the conviction of two prominent citizens at Portland a week ago comes the announcement of the conviction of Attorney H. H. Hendricks, secretary and treasurer of the Butte Creek Land, Live Stock and Lumber Company of Portland, for suborning perjury to defraud the United States of its public

Mr. Hendricks is a prominent attorney and for sixteen years was United States commissioner of Oregon. Thaddeus S. Potter, a lawyer of Portland, who has been sentenced to six months in jail and a fine of $500 for similar crimes, was formerly in the office of Carey & Mays.

Bell Will Go Into Convention Second Man

Affairs are quiet in political circles at present but behind scenes there is much going on and the nearer the Dallas convention approaches the more complicated the situation seems to be. No more returns are reported and the four gubernatorial candidates will go into the convention as they now stand. It is conceded that Beil will be second man.

At any rate Bell, Colquitt and Brooks will be bunched together and it is up to the convention to solve the problem. They stand as follows: For Governor

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 10.-A good many of the papers and a number of the politicians and others interested appear to be laboring under a misapprehension as to the number of countes in the state in figuring the result of the recent primaries. They generally base their calculations on a total of 228 organized counties of the state, but the official records here disclose that there are 233 organized and 12 unorganized counties in Texas.

Katy Property Saved by All Night Work of Laborers

Special to The Telegram. DENISON, Texas, Aug. 10 .- By the persistent efforts of several hundred men working day and night, the danger to the Missouri, Kansas and Texas rairoad bridge at the Canadian river has been averted for the present. The river is falling very rapidly and the channel has resumed its natural course. Thousands of dikes of sand are protecting the approach, and it is expected that trains will cross the bridge Friday. The big washout north of Crowder City is being repaired as rapidly as possible, and the main line will be intact within the next forty-eight hours. The Frisco people crossed trains over heir bridge at the Canadian last night. The approaches to both the Katy and the Frisco are being repaired. Fourteen coaches and sleepers crowded with delayed passengers left yesterday over the Katy, going by the way of the Fort Smith and Western. Several hundred more have congregated here. Passenger trains are late and no attention is paid to schedule time.

NEW MEAT INSPECTION

Regulations governing the meat inspection of the United States have been received here. As the regulations designated as order No. 137 are announced by Secretary Wilson as becoming effective at once, inspection under the new provisions of the law will he installed as soon as possible. Ante-mortem inspection in these regulations is ordered to be made in the stock pens, alleys or chutes of the packing houses, where inspection is maintained. The section referring to this work, which, is of special interest to livestock shippers, is known as regulation 13, and is as follows:

"An ante-mortem examination and inspection shall be made of all cattle, sheep, swine and goats about to be slaughteerd before they shall be allowed to enter an establishment at which inspection is maintained. Said examination and inspection shall be made in the pens, alleys, or chutes of the establishments at which the animals are about to be slaughtered. The proprietors of the establishments at which the said ante-mortem inspection is conducted shall provide satisfactory facilities for conducting said inspection and for separating and holding apart from healthy animals those showing symptoms of

"All animals showing symptoms or suspected of being affected with any disease or condition, which under these regulations, would probably cause their condemnation when slaughtered, shall be marked by affixing to the ear or tail a metal tag as provided in regulation 20.

"All such animals, except as hereinafter provided, shall be slaughtered separately, either before regular slaughter has commenced or at the close of the regular slaughter and shall be duly identified by a representative of the establishment to the inspector on duty on the killing floor before the skins are removed or the carcasses opened for evisceration.

"Animals which have been tagged for pregnancy and which have not been exposed to any infectious or contagious disease are not required to be slaughtered, but before any such animal is removed from the establishment the tag shall be detached by a department employe and returned with his report to the inspector in charge.

"If any pathological condition is suspected in which the question of temperature is important, such as Texas fever, anthrax, pneumonia, blackleg or septicomia, the exact temperature should be taken. Due consideration, however, must be given to the fact that extremely high temperatures may be found in otherwise normal hogs when subjected to exercise or excitement, and a similar condition may obtain to a less degree among other classes of animals. Animals commonly termed 'downers' or crippled animals, shall be tagged, as provided for in regulation 20, in the abattoir pens for the purpose of identification at the time of slaughter, and shall be passed upon in accordance with these regulations."

THE PASSING OF THE PASSES

The politicians of the Democratic stripe who attend for the last time to a gathering of that kind as the guests of the various railways, And the Republicans who meet in El Paso at the same time will undergo the same experience. This free pass business has been Cornocked out by the new federal law, which goes into effect the first of next January. Following are the provisions of the new law as they apply to free passes. "No common carrier subject to the provisions of this act shall after Jan. 7, 1907, directly or indirectly, or free transportation for passengers, except to its employes and their families, its officers, agents, surgeons, physicians and attorneys at law; to ministers of religion, traveling secretaries of railroad Young Men's Christian Associations, inmates of hospitals and charitable and eleemosynary institutions and persons exclusively engaged in charitable and eleemosynary work; to indigent persons when transported by charitable societies or hospitals, and the necessary agents employed in such transportation; to inmates of the national homes or state homes for disabled volunteer soldiers and of soldiers' and sailors' homes, including those about to enter and those returning home after discharge, and guards or managers of such homes; to necessary caretakers of livestock, poultry and fruit; to employes on sleeping cars, express cars and to linemen of telegraph and telephone companies; to railway mail service employes, postoffice inspectors, customs inspectors and immigration inspectors; to newsboys on trains, baggage agents, witnesses attending any legal investigation in which the common carrier is interested, persons injured in wrecks and physicians and nurses attending such persons;

"Provided, that this provision shall not be construed to prohibit the interchange of passes for the officers, agents and employes of common carriers and their families; nor to prohibit any common carrier from earrying passengers free with the object of providing relief in cases of general epidemic, pestilence or other calamitous visitation.

"Any common carrier violating this provision shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and for each offense, on conviction shall pay to the United States a penalty of not less than $100 nor more than $2,000; and any person, other than the person excepted in this provision, who uses any such interstate free ticket, free pass or free transportation shall be subject to a like penalty.

"Jurisdiction of offenses under this provision shall be the same as that provided for offenses in an act entitled "An act to further regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the states,' approved Feb. 19, 1903, and any amendment thereof."

The provisions of this law are plain enough, and it was passed in deference to popular clamor. The railways have claimed they were forced to give passes for their own protection, and now that a remedy is at hand it is to be presumed they will not be slow to avail themselves of the opportunity to say nay to all

BELL TAKES SECOND PLACE.

It is a crushing disappointment to the enemies of Judge Bell, who have so persistently misrepresented him during the entire gubernatorial campaign to see him advance from the bottom of the gubernatorial list, where they had placed him, to his rightful position under the primary law and election, as second in the

During all the time that Judge Bell's opponents have been figuring it out how they were going to be first, second and third, the next governor of Texas has said nothing-has made no extravagant claims, but has contented himself with the simple assertion that the state Democratic convention at Dallas August 14 would name the next governor of Texas.

That same conservatism that has marked Judge Bell and attended him during all the heat of the political campaign did not forsake him in those trying days when his opponents were so strenuously seeking to relegate him to the lowest position in the race. Like a man he waited for all the returns and now when they are practically complete, this true and tried friend and champion of the people has his vindica-

It makes no difference to Judge Bell that the politicians of this state set about to encompass his defeat from the very beginning of the campaign. It makes no difference to him that combinations were effected and candidates brought out to split up the vote as much as possible and rob him of much of the support that was rightfully his. It makes no difference that United States senators forgot their real duties to the people and set about to name the next governor in the payment of political obligations. It makes no difference that newspapers have been hostile and stump speakers have traduced him from one end of the state to the other. He is today the strongest man before the people and he is going to be the next governor of the great and imperial state of Texas.

It makes no difference that seeming friends have shown a disposition to lend their influence to the enemy at the very time their help and support was needed the most, by prorating votes and keeping up the agony as long as possible. The people of this state want Bell for governor and the politicians and wireworkers are not going to be able to defeat his nomi-

TAFT IS ROOSEVELT'S CHOICE

Justice David J. Brewer of the United States supreme court was in Kansas City the other day, and induriged in a little political talk. He says President Roosevelt will not accept re-nomination, but is pushing the candidacy of Secretary Taft. For William J. Bryan he had a kind word and said in comparing Bryan and Roosevelt that their cleanliness and purity of life were such there would be no scandal in the White House, no matter which of the two should be President. He disposes of the report that Roosevelt will again be a candidate as follows:

"Mr. Roosevelt will not run again, from a standpoint of honor. He believes in the Washingtonian principle that a President should have but two terms, though technically Mr. Roosevelt has had tut one. But he has stated through various mediums that he will not again issue or give any free interstate free ticket, free pass | be a candidate and any man who knows Mr. Roosevelt | governor of the knows that he means what he says and does not say what he does not mean. I should be most wonderfully astounded to see him enter the race again,"

Justice Brewer says that Taft is not as impulsive and decisive as Roosevelt, but he would make this ration a great President.

It will be noticed that Judge William D. Williams is not following in the wake of Judge Storey and making extravagant claims in the matter of his prospects for nomination as railroad commissioner. Williams is not built that way.

It is said the Farmers' Union has quietly elected a considerable number of the members of the next state legislature and if such is the case it may be confidently predicted that these farmer members will make some hay during the next session.

The Hogg amendments are going to bob up at the Dallas convention, and now that Hogg is dead and his enemies have all united in paying such high tribute to his sterling virtues, his pet measures ought to have very smooth sailing in a democratic convention.

It was an ugly and untimely flood that visited the Concho country during the past few days, and there has been considerable loss of property as a result. But a little thing like that will not hurt west Texas. That portion of the state has wonderful recuperative power.

The usual campaign barrels now being closed to the republican congressional campaign committee, the rank and file are being invited to come up with dollar contributions. But it's no use.

The Dallas Times-Herald is advertising for the return of the Gray Fox of Lamar. There is a new member of the state legislature from Lamar county who has captured the brush.

The cotton mills in Texas are all doing nicely and each season witnesses an increase in their facilities. This ought to be sufficient argument for the erection of more cotton mills in the state. this man being placed in jail. How many white lawyers are there in Texas who have not paid their occupation tax?

Who was it said just before the primaries that Tarrant county was becoming a Campbell stronghold? Judge Bell only secured something over five thousand votes there. No other gubernatorial candidate can show such a vote from one county.-Houston to announce that it is to be the greatest institution of its kind in the southwest. The bartenders of Fort Worth are demanding Sunday as a day of rest and at the same time it is stated that all of the saloons are properly closed as is required by law. A strange situation certainly, and one worth looking into by the officers of the law.-Terrell

The vote given Judge Bell in Tarrant county was a record breaker, but Fort Worth and Tarrant county always do things that way.

It would seem that those bartenders protesting against Sunday work could furnish the county offieers with valuable information that might be used in keeping the lid on. *** * * ***

Is there any further use in continuing the publication of The Fort Worth Telegram?-Tyler Courier. Yes; The Telegram still has an important mission to perform. There should be enough cotton factories in Texas to manufacture every bale of cotton that is raised in the big state. It would make an era of prosperity that no country has ever enjoyed. We not only need cofton factories, but we need all kinds of factories. They will pay well and will build up the country. The little cotton mills at Waxahachie and Corsicana show what can be done in this respect. GEORGIA MULE PROVED A HERO

Kicked Down Barn Door to Let Hodge Tells Eighth Warders Sheep Escape Fire

"I don't think public opinion is altogether fair with that hybrid beast, the mule; nearly every class of the brute creation breaks into story books, magazines and newspapers, shining as four footed heroes or particularly sagacious animals, but everything we read about the mule is written in a sarcastic vein and aims at putting the joke on the big, foolish looking beast. However this may be, I'll wager that if the mule I once knew were given his due he would get a medal, or at least a special mention in the hero bunch, ani would be dubbed the savior and protector of the weak."

During the dull hours of the Lumbermen's Exchange a few evenings ago, says the New Orleans Picayune, several contractors and builders while i away the idle time with story telling, and John Clausen, representing an eastern firm, engaged in buying up cypress lands, when it came to his turn, started off by lauding the poor plodding mule to the skies.

Made Friends With Sheep "When I was a young man I lived on a farm in the southwestern portion of Georgia," Mr. Clausen took up his yarn, "and one of the worthless adjuncts to the place was an old gray mule named Bob. Bob had passed his day of usefulness, and, the weight of years resting heavily upon him, he was no longer able to drag along a plough cutting furrows in the rich earth or to do any other kind of hard work. But he had been a willing laborer when the strength was his, and, as a matter of sentiment father kept hira about the place as a pensioner. Bob had nothing at all to do but roam the broad pasture land looking for appetizing tufts of grass and playing patriarch for the rest of the animal

"Bob would remain out in the fields all day and all night in the summer time, and only come in to the barn to get his share of the feed at meal times. In the winter he affected a snug corner of the barn and had his own quarters, just like any working horse

"Bob wasn't bright in an extraordinary way. He had funny little ways that earned for him the reputation of being a bit above his kind, but aside from coming in answer to his name and catching an apple thrown him he couldn't do anything startling or

"Bob, in his free roaming over the pasture, made friends with a flock of sheep, and wherever the sheep went he was sure to follow, and at times would even go with them to the door of the barn where they were kept during the cold months of the year.

"One night late in October when everybody about the place was sleeping soundly the loud, startled braying of Bob disturbed the stillness and brought the farm hands with a suddenness from their slumbers. Bob was given to braying, but his brays were usually delivered at intervals, and the hands, hearing the discordant notes stretching themselves out into a continuous ear-splitting noise, quickly concluded that something was amiss and that Bob either had a case of colic or was trying to sound an alarm. "When several of the men scrambled from their beds and went outside they heard another sound, the piteous baaing of the sheep, tocked up in the barn in the cow lot, and the unmistakable odor of smoke filled their nostrils. They soon saw the cause of the disturbance -the sheep barn was on fire, and thick clouds of smoke were already beginning to issue from the top of the building. The farm hands, never having been brought face to face with such a condition before, lost their heads, and instead of hastening to the burning barn and breaking open the doors to free the frightened sheep

they ran to the shed, where buckets were kept, intending to go to the lit-tle creek in the rear of the main building for water. "Bob was in the cow lot galloping back and forth trumpeting the alarm with his shrill, shricking 'hee-haws. and, seeing the men leave the yard and run to the shed, he took in the situation, and, although he was only a mule

he did the proper thing. Kicked Down Door

"Galloping up the inclined board walk which led to the entrance of the barn, he turned, and, steadying himself, let fly his heels with terrific force agains the frame door. Again and again those heavy hoofs crashed into the door, and soon the frame work began to yield to the assaults. The door was solid enough in its construction, but it was not very firmly placed in sliding grooves, and, just as the men were coming back with buckets of water and scaling ladders Bob's work was complete. The door fell inward, but it did not crash to the floor, as its weight was sustained on one side by a beam which ran across the barn under the eaves as a support for one end of the hay loft. "An aperture was created large enough for the sheep to pass through, and the fleecy coats, basing and sneezing from the smoke in their nostrils, rushed down the board walk past Bob in a solid drove and gathered shivering in a corner of the lot. Bob, his work done, trotted after the sheep and stood with them while the farm hands fought and subdued the fire, which was only in one portion of the

"Bob lived for many years, and the story of the way he saved the sheep became one of the legends of the district where our farm was located."

TALKING ABOUT CIVIC AFFAIRS

About Asphalt

At the meeting of the Eighth Ward Civic League at the corner of Hemphill and Magnolia streets Thursday night, Judge N. B. Moore and F. E. Dycus spoke of the franchise situation, and C. T. Hodge wanted to know who was opposed to asphalt pavement for Hemphill street.

In Judge Moore's speech, he referred to methods of street sprinkling in other cities and said that restrictions should be placed in all new franchises granted here which will provide for sprinkling the streets over which the franchises are granted. But he did not think the companies could be compelled to sprinkle the streets over which they now have rights. He urged the granting of 21/2c fares for school children, and thought this could be obtained. As is well known, the Northern Texas Traction Company now controls all crossings of the railroad tracks on the main thoroughfares to the south side. Judge Moore expressed the opinion that this company could be compelled to allow other companies to use its tracks at these places and gave as his authority the decision of the courts in the case of the Union Pacific bridge at Omaha, where this company was compelled to allow other lines to use the bridge as it was the only crossing.

Sprinkling Discussed

F. E. Dycus, chairman of the committee appointed to see the officers of the traction companies, reported that no answers had been received to nis questions regarding their attitude on the sprinkling proposition. He said he was opposed to granting any franchises without some remuneration and referred to the situation in Chicafo, where, he said, the city receives 10 per cent of the net earnings of the Union Traction Company. C. T. Hodge spoke on the Hemphill paying question, and wanted to know who was opposed to asphalt. He said he has signatures of people owning 6,-000 of the 8,400 feet of street to be paved and said that council members had told him there was strong opposition to asphalt as a paving material. Yet, he said, he has been unable to find a single property owner who would say that he was opposed to it. The committee appointed to confer with similar committees from other clubs reported that it would meet with the Board of Trade and others soon, to discuss fully the advisability of offering united opposition to the pending franchises. The club adjourned meet at the call of the president,

IMPURE WATER

Typhoid in nearly every case, as well as malaria, dysentery and the other hot weather complaints, that so often end fatally, has been traced to impure water.

Quite often people think because to the naked eye the water seems clear that it is all right when if they either knew its source or looked at it through a magnifying glass they would see that it contained thousands of microbes.

Water is taken from wells which are often contaminated from one of a number of causes. In the impure water lies the great cause of typhoid and malarial and many other ills. Physicians of all schools claim that a teaspoonful of

Denver Paper Says Cowan Would Fill

While President Roosevelt is looking around for material to make up the new interstate commerce commission, his attention is called to Hon, S. H. Cowan of Fort Worth, Texas. There is probably no man in the country who has made a greater study of railroad freight rates and economics than Judge Cowan, and no man could perform the duties of a commissioner under the new law better than could he. It is probable, however, that the railroads will offer strenuous objections to Mr. Cowan. Sam has been too far on the inside and is too well posted regarding railroad conditions and railroad metheds to be fooled on any proposition concerning rates. From the people's standpoint, however, Judge Cowan would just about fill the bill .-

American Girl, Now Countess, to Establish Home in Colorado

Special to The Telegram. DENVER, Colo., Aug. 10.—Countess Maria Franfanelli-Cibo, a native born American, who married into the ranks of the Italian nobility, is preparing to establish a big colony of Italians near Greeley, Colo. The countess has been in this state some time studying of David Maffat, president of the Moffat road. The Italians to be brought to Colorado from the old country are to engage in farming. The countess' husband is a descendant of the same old Italian family to which Pope Innocent VIII belonged. He has a palace in Rome and a villa outside of the

Ed Geers, the maker of more trotting and pacing champions than any other driver living, made his debut on the turf in 1872, just thirty-four years ago. Geers was early recognized as a driver of exceptional ability, and the rapidity with which he gathered in championships made him the most formidable driver on the trotting turf. Geers gave records to such famous horses as Robert J., 2:01; Lady of the Manor, 2:044; Joe Patchen, 2:01½; Direct Hal, 2:04¼; Heir-at-Law, 2:05%, and Hal Pointer, 2:04½. He also drove The Abbott when he made his mark of 2:03%, a world's trotting record at the time. Geers drove the winner in the Chamber of Commerce stake race at Detroit last year and at Glenville this season. He lowered the record for the event with Walter Direct and set the record for that event at 2:05%. This year he again lowered the record by sending Ardelle the mile in 2:05%

ATTEMPT TO ROB BANK IS CRUDE

Man Arrested at Amarillo Says He Is Innocent

Special to The Telegram.

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 10 .- J. B. Edens is the name of the man who was placed under arrest here by City Marshal Snider on the charge of having attempted to rob the Amarillo National Bank in this city near midnight, the attempt being one of the boldest but probably the crudest ever made in Seeing a man running away from the bank building when he walked in that direction to ascertain the meaning of a terrific noise of crashing glass, the city marshal ordered the man to stop and, upon his refusal, opened fire, missing the fugitive. The officer followed and found Edens under a culvert. He insisted that he is not the man who was in the bank and still persists in his denial. He gave his name as J. B. Edens and his age between 19 and 20 years. He is a blonde, stands five feet eight inches in height, weighing 143 pounds. The fingers of his left hand are off to the hand, and his arms, hands and face show that he has done manual labor. He says San Antonio is his home, although he has not been there for several years. He came from Hastings, Colo., and says he intended to go to work for E. F. True. He said that he had been in the coal mines at Hastings for several months. A telegram has been received from San Antonio as follows:

"Edens not known here." Investigation revealed the way of entrance as being a window on the side of the building. Indications, however, are that his first attempt to gain an entrance was through the office of Lee Bivens, which is at the rear of the bank. The doors of the office are badly battered and the glass broken out, presumably by a rock. His discovery that no entrance to the bank could be gained through the office caused him to change his plans, so the window on the side was next attacked. The lower portion was broken in with

Bill Hudson, the negro porter, who was sleeping inside the bank office was awakened by the intruder, and, though being somewhat excited. reached for a Winchester and inquired the nature of the visit. The porter states that when first discovered the man was astride the lattice work that divides the front of the bank from the office, and on his asking what was wanted, the intruder slipped down and jumped through the window, at which time he was seen by City Marshal

The prisoner, when asked concerning the matter, denied knowing anything about it, and asserted that he merely

FIGHT OVER POLE Railroad and Electric Light Companies

Have Small Skirmish Special to The Telegram TEMPLE, Texas, Aug. 10.-The

Santa Fe Railway Company and the Temple Electric Light Company engaged in miniature war yesterday, regarding the setting of an electric light pole on the company right of way directly opposite the Harvey House. The railway company objected to the electric light company running its heavy feed wires over the Harvey House, fearing some accident might occur, and suggested another route for the wires.

The light company was obdurate, however, and started digging holes for the posts. The railway company interposed with the use of sufficient force to overcome the post hole diggers. Then the railway company proceeded to bring up a switch engine and snake away the enormous pole, loaded it on a car and hauled it clear of their property. The engagement ended with the railway company holding a decided advantage.

When Poindexter came to bat Whiteman stole second. Poindexter then rapped a hot liner to Boles, who caught it and put out Moran to Carlin at third, whereupon Carlin returned the ball to Boles in time to catch Whiteman at second. It was one of the prettiest plays seen here this season and the second triple Carlin was the Kandy Kid in the pinch and pounded out a double. Bolese scoring. Salm reached first on an error of Coyle's, and Wilson died via the Speaker-Arbogast route, but Carlin had already chalked up another one.

In the fourth inning, Moran being safe at first, Whiteman rapped the ball to Boles, who threw to Clayton. nding Moran's base running for the nning and Clayton made good with swift throw to Salm, catching Whiteman at first.

In the eighth inning, Cleburne at Arbogast slipped a short one oward Carlin, who did his duty. Adams gained first on a decent hit to left field and Aiken came to bat, Aiken hit to Boles. The Panther shortstop threw the ball toward Salm.
Adams, by this time, was traveling the circuit of the bases at a 2:40 gait and, when he passed third, Wilson had found the ball and started it toward s point about four feet above Erwin's load. Adams scored and it was found that Salm had been struck by the ball he had tried to catch from Boles. Passing of Rupert Gonzales at Cattleman's Hands

Special to The Telegram. CABEZON, N. M., August : .- Rupert Gonzales, roadman, escaped convict, horse thief-as bad a man as the wild Jamez mountains ever knew, is dead. He had the satisfaction of cashing in with his boots on.

Carl Vogel, a young cattleman, killed him-shot him through the heart after a hand to hand battle from horseback, on the verge of a fifty-foot precipice. "No one but Vogel could have done it." any cowpuncher will tell you, "Vogel is the most skilled horseman in all New Mexico. His aim is the truest, he knows the mountains, and besides-Vogel hated Gonzales; Gonzales had stolen his cattle. Vogel has become the most popular cowpuncher in New Mexico since he killed Gonzales. Double night watch is no longer necessary to protect the herds from the raids of the clever Gonzales, and for the time the range is Vogel posed for the above picture on the day following his encounter with Gonzales. The norse is the one he rode in the fight. "The posse had been on Gonzales' trall six days following his escape from the penitentiary at Santa Fe," said Vo-"On the morning of the seventh day I started out alone. Toward evening was galloping along a road that skirted a deep arroyo, when Gonzales and I met. He rode his horse right on to

Proved Healthfulness

Scientists Affirm the Healthfulness of Good Beer

Purity means an absence of foreign matter -nothing else.

Cleanliness is a well known brewing ESSENTIAL. It is a matter of self-preservation with ALL brewers.

Purity and cleanliness alone do not assure Good Beer nor Healthful Beer.

Healthfulness depends solely upon QUALITY, and quality depends solely upon the ingredients used and upon the method of brewing.

Beer may be brewed from almost any cereal.

Many brewers use Corn as a substitute for Barley-Malt, because Corn costs less.

But the element of QUALITY, the essential of Healthfulness, must be lacking in such Beer.

Choice Barley, Selected Hops and extra quality Yeast are the prime essentials of Good and Healthful Beer.

This is a well known scientific fact.

We use the choicest Barley and Saazer Hops in brewing our Beers, adding a small quantity of Rice in pale beer.

These Saazer Hops, from a small province in Bohemia, have been found by Scientists to contain a superior quality of that wonderful health-giving substance-Lupulin.

Lupulin is creating a stir in the scientific and medical world because of its marvelous results in the treatment of nervous and digestive disorders.

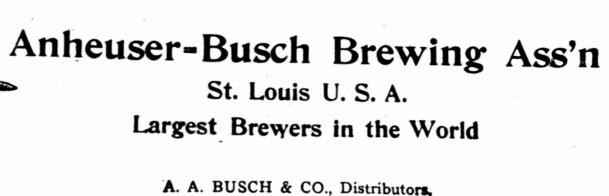

We import a greater quantity of these expensive Saazer Hops than all other brewers. combined.

Our storing capacity - 600,000 barrels, more than double that of any other Brewery in the United States-makes it possible for us to store (lager) our Beer from four to five months, the time necessary to thoroughly age it.

This perfect maturing brings out, to the utmost, the health-giving qualities of the choice ingredients used.

These are the facts relative to what constitutes good beer.

They are worthy the attention of every person who demands the best when eating or drinking.

"As we swayed back and forth I pulled the trigger. The bullet went astray. We were so close I could have struck him in the face had I dared release my hold on the rifle. "Suddenly, Gonzales let go my gun.

'D- you, Vogel," he hissed. As he drew his pistol I pumped another shell into the rifle and patted the trigger. Gonzales fell backward with a halfmuffled curse and the death grip carried his gun with him. I pulled my pistol and leaned over him in the fast gathering darkness. If he had moved I would have fired again—but Gonzales lay perfectly still I lit a match and the dead man's lips were curled in scorn. It was the same look as when I met him on the road. Gonzales' contempt for law, order and for me was still stamped in his terrible face when we buried him.

COMMON POINT RATE REMAINS

Texas Cities Affected by Proposed Change Victorious

The victory of the public in the natter of the Texas common point rates, for so it must be held, is the cause of great rejoicing in the part of the state which was adversely affected and that is about all of Texas to the northwest of Fort Worth, beginning at a line drawn through Santo and then to the southwest, as well, on even a more extended scale.

The restoration of rates will become effective on the 15th inst. It will be recalled that the rescinding of the old common point rates became effective July 5, and thus it will be seen that the new rates only lived through the storm of protests for forty days. In speaking of the new rate, O. P. Thomas, secretary of the Abilene 25,000 Club, said:

"While definite news advising of the re-establishment of former common point territory is gratifying indeed, yet our people have never believed for a moment that those having the control of this matter would allow the proposed contraction to stand after a thorough investigation and a serious consideration of the great injustice it would have inflicted upon so large and important a section of our great

"Our people do not belong to that class that sometimes appear to everlastingly 'have it in' for the railroads on every turn but rather do we feel the great importance of cordial relations existing between towns and cities and the various railways of our country, and realize the vast benefits to accrue mutually by a closer relation and consistent co-operation by all parties con-

"In placing before the railways the injustice of the proposed contraction we feel that others have rendered us and our cause valuable assistance, in which are included two very important tribunals of our state and country, and to all who have contributed in any way to accomplishing the re-establishment of the matter and to the railroads who have magnanimously shown their appreciation and regard for our section of grand old Texas, we feel very thankful indeed, and confidently expect this action upon their part to cement anew in stronger bonds if possible than before the cordial relations existing between the business people of Abilene and the great railway systems of our state.'

Railroad Notes and Personals President A. J. Davidson of the Frisco system, who made an overland trip over the route of the proposed extension of the Fort Worth and Rio Grande division of that road between Brady and San Antonio, a distance of 160 miles, says that the work of construcing the new line will begin very soon. Another road will be built south from San Antonio to a connection with the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico, which is a Yoakum property. The position of trainmaster has been abolished by M. Sweeney, vice president and general manager of the Trinity and Brazos Valley road. J. M. Lee, who has been appointed superintendent, will have charge of transportation and the mechanical department. His headquarters will be at Cleburne. as The Telegram stated in its issue of Thursday.

A recent order of the Southwestern tariff committee will result in the bulk of the banana shipments going through Galveston en route north instead of through New Orleans, as has been the case heretofore. This applies espacially to shipments to Illinois, Missouri and Iowa and become effective Aug. 22,

The territory washouts have caused a great congestion of freight at all of the gateways on the northern border of Texas, but it is hoped that the relief from the conditions will begin to materialize by Friday evening.

Special to The Telegram. OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 10-Preslident Roosevelt was appealed to by the Standard Oil Company yesterday in the matter of its controversy with the department of the interior regarding oil land leases in the Indian Territory. Both declined to discuss the object of their

Mr. Jones said the call related purely to a matter of business, but he refused to say what results were accomplished. The oil lease controversy n the Indian Territory has been a matter of lively contention before the department of the interior for some time, and the status of these leases was made the subject of protracted consideration by congress in the recent statehood legislation.

mosque of Omar and the temple Area. For the next few days it was noticed that Mr. Haffenden's nose was rather put out of joint; while Grindlay, who had expected to find in Miss Dorincourt a mere society beauty, was delighted to discover that she was not only extremely well read, but also an excellent talker. She even induced him to confide in her about the plain little governess who had occupied her cabin previous to their arrival at Naples. Said Miss Dorincourt: "I suppose you only talked to her out of pity for Dick Grindlay found himself blushing as he replied: "Well, it certainly began like that.

But, do you know, I very soon learned to like her for her own sake." Whereat Miss Dorincourt laughed. On the day that their time at Jerusalem came to an end they left in special train for Jaffa, where they were to join the Aldeboran again, Now the harbor at Jaffa enjoys the distinction of being rated at Lloyds as the worst harbor in the world. Dick Grindlay had gone in one of the earlier boats and was leaning over the watching the exciting task of embarking the other passengers. When it came to Miss Dorincourt's turn the big Arab who was standing at the foot of the gangway tried to catch hold of her as he had done the others, but she slid through his fingers into the sea. Montie Haffenden, who was just behind her, peered anxiously over the side of the boat, hoping to catch hold of her when she came to the surface. Long before this happened, however, figure had slid swiftly down a rope and, plunging in had brought up the unconscious form of Miss Dorincourt, Later in the afternoon Miss Dorincourt appeared on deok looking a lit-

A PARIS MODEL

A suggestion of autumn comes with Paris model for a coat. It is extremely handsome and made of deep French blue lainage, with small plaids of green upon it. This latter color, in a grayish tone, forms the outlining pieces. The short sleeves are supplemented by deep frills of heavy lace dyed to the green shade.

The coat is close fitting in the back and open in the front, permitting the under frock to be seen. It is long, reaching three-quarters length of the figure, and is fastened with a large green bronze clasp.

Dashingly trimmed is the hat to be worn with this coat. The velvet upon t has a touch of late summer. The hat is a handsome Tuscan straw, with tle pale, but otherwise none the worse Mr. Grindlay was at some pains to explain that he had done nothing that required any thanks. Marjorie, with a curious look at her rescuer, said, with assumed carelessness, "By the way, Mr. Grindlay, did you notice anything curious about my appearance after you had got me out

"Yes, Miss Dorincourt," he said, slowly. "I did." "Then you have found out my se-

"Oh, it was more a lark than anything else," said Marjorie, laughing. You see I was a little tired of having fortune hunters like Mr. Haffenden dangling round after me, and I thought it good fun to spend the first ten days of the trip getting to know the passengers in the character of a dowdy governess. Do you see the idea?"

"Perfectly," said Grindlay. "And my disguise as Miss Jackson was so successful that I was not recognized when I came aboard at Naples in all my fine feathers." "I believe I like the dowdy little governess best," said Grindlay with an ef-

5494 Blouse or Shirt Waist

Blouse or Shirt Waist 5424

To be made with roll-over or stock collar. Unquestionably the rollover collar that leaves the throat comparativery free and that is so cool on a warm day is a pronounced favorite of the season. Here is one of the newest shirt waists that includes that feature but does not render it obligatory, inasmuch as the regulation stock can be substipecially well adapted to embroidery. There are five narrow tucks in each front at the outer portion of the shoulders, so leaving ample plain space for needlework when this is desired, although the model does not render so much elaboration necessary, for it is equally fashionable when left plain. In this case white handkerchief linen is embroidered by hand but all waistings suit the model equally well, and when work executed on the material requires too much time, yet the effect is desired, applique can be substituted.

The waist consists of the fronts and the back. The back is laid in three tucks at each side of the center which are turned outward and give the effect of box plait and tucks, while the front is finished in a double box plaited effect at the center and is tucked to yoke depth at the shoulders. The turnover collar is joined to the neck, but when the stock is used the neck is fincollar is made separate and closed at the back. The sleeves are the favorite ones that are finished just below the elbows with straight bands and rollover cuffs. The quantity of material required for the medium size is 3% yards 21, 31/2 yards 27 or 2 yards 44 inches wide. The pattern 5424 is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40-inch bust measure.

F. C. HOWE IN SCRIBNER'S

An interesting statement of what | offer no obstruction to other traffic. Glasgow is doing under municipal ownership is given in an article by Mr.

Frederic C. Howe in the July number of Scribner's magazine Glasgow had tramways owned by a private corporation up to 1894. Then the city took hold. They charge you by distance there and not a set price for a single ride on the cars, no matter how long. A ride of a half mile costs you a cent; you pay 2 cents for a ride of two and one-third miles, and 3 cents for three and a half miles.

Two-Cent Car Fares

Here is how it averages up. In 1906 the average rider paid 1.89 cents for his ride, while the average fare charged per mile was nine-tenths of a cent. the 185,000,000 passengers carried, 30 per cent paid 1 cent, 60 per cent 2 cents and 10 per cent of the total number carried paid more than 2 cents. The city not only reduced fares, but it also increased the wages and reduced the hours of the employes; it gives free uniforms to the employes and it gives each of them five days' holidays every year, with pay. Furthermore, the tramways turn over to the city an enormous profit each year. In 1905 it was $1,852,855.

A One-Cent Fare Possible The cost to the city of carrying the average passenger in 1905 was less than a cent apiece. Says Mr. Howe: "An examination of the earnings and expenses shows that the Glasgow tramways could pay all operating expenses, could maintain the system, could pay local taxes the same as a private company, and still carry passengers at a universal fare of 1 cent. It could do this and make money. On the basis of last year's earnings, it would make about $75,000, even if there was no increase in traffic.

"But there would be an increase in traffic. Glasgow proved that in 1894, when it reduced its fares by 33 per cent. In three years' time the number of passengers carried doubled; in 1905 the number had more than trebled. This was accompanied by a great increase in the mileage of the system, as well as the electric equipment of its Fine Service, Too And, withal, they give good service.

They are said to have the best tramway system in the United Kingdom, "The service is as frequent as could be asked, and you get a seat for a fare. You get it on top of the cars, if you want to smoke, and the cars go everywhere. They are cleaned and disinfected every night; they are bright as fresh paint can keep them; they have no advertisements on them; they are easy riding and are laid on concrete foundations, with grooved rails, which The conductors are courteous.

Gas at Forty-Three Cents Per 1,000

Feet

The tramway system is Glasgow's chief success in the municipal ownership line, but it is not the only one. The city runs its gas supply. "It is run for the benefit of the people, and not for the sake of dividends. Gas is sold at 51 cents a thousand cubic feet for domestic use; for power purposes the price is but 43 cents. The very poor are encouraged to use gas by penny-in-the-slot devices, by which one can get enough gas with which to cook a meal for 2 cents. It also encourages industry by low prices. This diminished the smoke nuisance. Despite the reduction in price, the net profits in 1905 amounted to $271,930.

And Telephones

For five years the Glaswegians struggled with parliament to get the right to operate a telephone system. In 1901 permission was got, and the system started. It now has 12,000 subscribers and covers 143 square miles. Unlimited service costs $25.55, limited service $17.93. Profits from the telephone service last year were $100,961.

Water Supply, Too

It owns it water supply system, of course. It gets its water from Loch Katrine, thirty-four miles away, one of the finest supplies in the world. Its rates are 10 cents in the pound of rental. This means that for every $100 of house rental paid a charge of $2 is made for water rental.

Cheap Electricity The city owns its electricity supply system. It paid $75,000 for a plant and has spent $6,000,000 in extending its system. It reduced prices. It sells power to the tramway department and to the manufacturing establishments. For very small consumers the rates for lighting are 12 cents per kilowatt hour and 2 cents for all current in excess of a small minimum. For power and heating purposes the charge is from 11/2 cents to 3 cents, according to the quantity used. The average price received from all consumers is 5.09 cents. The city's profits from this system last year were $543,952.

And Other Things

Glasgow does other things. It gets good income from the sale of sludge. composed of its sewage; it runs several farms, upon which it uses its street refuse as a fertilizer, and has a net income of $3,000 a year from them The city fire department builds its own apparatus and the tramway department its own cars. Some time ago it asked for bids for the construction of a sewer. The lowest bid was $600,000 The city suspected a combine, and built the sewer itself. The cost was $375,000. Glasgow provides model dwelling houses for the poor, and makes a profit out of them. It gives really fine concerts-admission fee 2 cents. It has acquired fine public buildings, and has a splendid art collection.

A City Without Graft

And, according to Mr. Howe, it has no graft. It "offers no franchises whose values run into the millions a a tempting measure to gamble for. There are no privilegs to corrupt the council, no big financial interests to unite the rich and influential, the press and the bar, the club and the church on one side, and leave democracy, untaught and unled, blindly to carry on the burdens of self-government." The merit system goes there without saying. There are no laws requiring it, but there is no other idea.

ANDY'S CHORUS GIRL

Agnes Carrol was only a chorus girl, only one of a score who sang and danced in the big show at the Star theater. She was in the back row of the horus, too, and no one noticed

That is no one noticed her but Andy McGee. McGee was a fireman and was on duty every night on the stage of the Star. All the girls liked the big, handsome fireman and all had smiles and cheery greetings for him as they passed him coming onto the stage. But Andy had eyes for no one but Agnes Carrol. But he admired her from atar. er had he spoken to her, save to swer her nightly greetings as she a wed at the theater.

"There a girl who is too good for this but ness," said Saunders, the stage manager, to Andy one night as Agnes passed. "She isn't like the other girls and ought to get out of the business. She don't take any interest in it, and while she can sing a little she can't do the dance steps a little bit. It wen't long before Andy's admiration for the quiet little chorus girl was observed and laughed about in the company. But still Andy said nothing, although his devotion manifested itself in many little ways. One night as Agnes passed out of the theater after the performance she was greeted by a half drunken man in the passage way, who demanded the envelope containing her salary which she carried in her hand. She tried to escape, but the man grabbed the money from her hand. The next instant he reeled across the passage from a blow administered by Andy McGee. Andy followed him, but his arm was grasped. "Stop," said Agnes. "He has a right to it. He is my husband."

Andy asked the next day to be relieved of theater duty, and his request was granted. Six months later he met Saunders on the street. Saunders was glad to see the fireman and for half an hour told him all the gossip of the com-

"By the way," he concluded, "do you remember the little Carrol girl? She's still with us. It seems that she was married to a drunken brute, but he took one drink too many one night and walked off a ferryboat. They found his body the next day. We're at the Bijou, why don't you come around and

"The Carrol girl is going to quit," said Saunders to the manager a month later. "She says she's going to get married again. Well, it don't make much difference. She can sing all right, but she can't do the dance steps

KILLS TWO PRISONERS

Crazy Man Uses Iron Bucket to Mur Bpecial to The Telegram.

LUFF N. Texas, Aug. 10.—A horri-ble critis was committed in the Lufkin jail yesterday. As Deputy Sheriff Nadinola Nerren opened up the doors to breakfast the prisoners, consisting of three, he was met at the door by Wilson. Not seeing the other prisoners he asked of Wilson, alias Welch, if all were up. Wilson replied that he did not know, that he could go in and see. Upon reaching the cell occupied by Traweek he found him apparently asleep in his bunk, but on further investigation he discovered that his head was crushed into a pulp, and that he lay bathed in his own blood. He then crossed the hall into the cell of Sam Chandler and found him in a similar condition. Both dead men lay upon their backs as though asleep, neither seemingly having made any resistance to the attack their assailant,

Upon inquiry by Nerren of Wilson, he stated that they had had a little row during the night and that he had fixed them with that bucket, pointing to a heavy iron slop bucket. Both dead men would have, in a few days, served their sentences. Tra-week was charged with attempted criminal assault and Chandler was convicted of carrying brass knuckles. Wilson, who apparently seemed to be a crazy man, was arrested in Pollock, Texas, some few days ago on suspicion of a criminal character. Feeling runs high, but it is thought that the law will take its course.

Household Hints

In boiling meat for making soup the meat should be put in cold water, in order to extract all the goodness from the meat.

Grained and varnished imitations of hardwood are best cleaned with borax soap suds, never letting water touch them, but rubbing well with cloths wrung dry. Afterward they should be rubbed with a flannel barely moistened with kerosene. If there is too much kerosene it will dissolve and blur the colors. Clean hardwood with a flannel wet in turpentine, and rub afterward lightly with boiled linseed oil. Take off spots with fine sand mixed in oil. Apply it with a leather and rub with clean leather afterward to bring back the polish. To clean zinc dip a piece of cotton rag in paraffin, and rub the zinc with it until all the dirt is removed. Well rinse with clean water and dry with a clean towel.

It cannot be said too forcibly nor too often that in every kind of cleaning the first thing is to brush or wipe away every particle of loose dirt. A shabby black bedstead will look greatly improved if rubbed with a loth dipped in paraffin. This will both clean and freshen it. State laws and state boards of health will be the people's only reliance to protect them against unwholesome neats and canned stuff soid within the state where they are produced.-New York Times.

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private ills, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fall to cure female disease

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are correspon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydis E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise sick women more wisely than the local physician.
Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T.

C. Willadsen of Manning, Ia. She writes Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you talling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady, and spent lots of money in medicines besides, but it all failed to do me any good. I had described for the latter than t besides, but it all falled to do me any good. I had female trouble and would daily have fainting spells, backscib, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do, and also commenced to take Lydia E. Stockmen of Concho Country Have Plans Under Way

The stockmen of the Concho country have under way plans for the establishment of a feed yard near San Angelo where cattle can be bought and fattened for market. The yard will get cotton seed meal and cakes from the cotton seed oil mill. The plan is meeting with a good deal of encouragement from stockmen who see in the idea a chance to shape cattle better for shipment and send them direct to the marto some other point to fatten and then

W. D. Jones is having his Bismarck cutting in into small tracts. When the farm surveyed with the intention of survey is completed Mr. Jones expects to put these tracts on the market. He only decided to do this after a great deal of solicitation on the part of many persons who wished to secure some of this excellent land.

The Bismarck farm has a state reputation as one of the best irrigated farms in the whole state. Mr. Jones takes great pride in the farm and it is in about as fine shape as any man ment to decide him to cut it into smaller tracts, but the fancy prices some people offered for it convinced

R. Graftenreid was in from El Yeso oday and reports that he has 77.000 pounds of fine wool, clipped from his locks in Chaves and Guadalupe counties. It is stored at Pastura and he is here interviewing the local buyers. He says it is an extra fine clip and he proposes to hold it until he gets 20 cents per pound. He has never yet lost by holding his wool for a good price, he says. His is the fourth largest clip in this section of New Mexico.

Catarrh cannot be washed away with sprays, inhalations and such treatment, nor can it be smoked out with medicated tobacco, cigarettes, etc. When you attempt to cure Catarrh with such things you are wasting time and allowing the impurities and poisons in the blood, which produce the disease, to get so firmly rooted as to become not only a disgusting trouble, but a very dangerous one. The annoying symptoms of ringing noises in the , "hawking and spitting," headaches, mucus dropping back into the throat, impairment to the senses of taste and smell, and a feeling of general debility, prove that there is a deep-seated cause for Catarrh. This cause is a polluted and unhealthy condition of the blood, and the disease cannot be cured until this is removed. The only way to get rid of Catarrh permanently is to purify the blood, and S. S. S. is the ideal remedy for this purpose. It soon clears the system of all impurities, purges the blood of all catarrhal matter and poisons, and effectually checks the progress of this disgusting and far-reaching disease. S. S. S. puts the blood in perfect order, and as this pure, healthy blood goes to every nook and corner of the body Catarrh is permanently cured. RIVAL SNAKES IN BATTLE ROYAL

Music Stirred Them to Fight in Which Charmers Figure

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 10.-While Mrs. Patrick Sheedy of this city was hanging out her wash several days ago she happened to whistle a few bars of "The Wearing of the Green." As she whistled a large whip snake crept from a pile of boards nearby and with its body swaying gently, followed Mrs. Sheedy, with evident fascination, as long as she whistled. When she ceased whistling the snake peacefully withdrew under the board pile, where it evidently made its home.

Mrs. Sheedy was greatly excited by the appearance of the snake, and when her husband came home from work he went into the garden and began to whistle the same tune to see if the snake would appear. It did. retiring as soon as the whistling stop. ped. Since then one of the Sheedys has whistled for the snake every morning and evening, and it become quite a pet with the family. Last week an Irishman from a nearby county named Ryan moved into the house next door to the Sheedys, and as he was going about his back yard he happened to whistle "Boyne Water." He was amazed to see a large whip snake crawl from under his barn where it evidently lived, and follow the music with every sign of pleasure. Hearing of the Sheedys' snake, he supposed it was the same

Friday Ryan and Sheedy both happened to be in their back yards at the same time. Sheedy began whistling "The Wearing of the Green," whereupon Ryan began whistling "Boyne Water." They had hardly got started when one snake crawled from the board pile and another from under the barn and each followed his respective whistler with every sign of

Suddenly the snakes caught sight of each other through the fence and before either Sheedy or Ryan, who are both peaceable citizens, could interfere, they started for each other like a flash and engaged in deadly combat each half twisted through the boundary fence. They writhed and struggled till finally Sheedy's snake was nearly strangled when, by a last desperate effort, it pinned its adversary in a corner and began to swallow him alive. Sheedy and Ryan then interfered and parted the two snakes. which retreated, the one to the board pile and the other to the barn with evidence of animosity for each other. RAIN IN CLAY COUNTY

Captain Meyers Says Prospects Are

Captain Billie Meyers of the Blue Grove ranch in Clay county, who breeds fine cattle and shows them, too, whenever he can find a chance, came in Thursday, having nothing to sell, but simply looking around and shaking hands with his friends. "We had a powerful big rain as we came through the cross timbers last night," said he. "It was certainly a gully-washer and sod soaker. We did not especially need it at this time, but we accept all rains unless attached to the tail of a cyclone with complacency up in Clay county, for we have had some dry weather up there in the past years that has compelled us to rely on prayer and salvation weeds to get through to grass. Everything is still O. K. with us and we can see no streak black across our vision of prosperity

"You may just say that I am certainly in favor of the auditorium for here is a stockman anywhere who would not be willing to put up a hunired for the purpose of having this thing come off. Why, there will be more fine cattle, horses, sheep, mules, jacks, hogs and chickens, geese and turkeys and ducks shown here than he people of Texas ever thought were n the state and this exhibit will increase every year, sure. Fort Worth is a hummer now, but she will be a brass band of industry when this thing

You can certainly say that all is well with us Lands are advancing in price all the time, quarter sections near the town selling as high as $30 an acre. It is just wonderful how the country has developed in the last few years. The lands that are known as the "Clyde" lands which ten years ago could be bought easily for 50c an acre and the owner think he had done well, are now selling for $100 per acre and are considered the garden spot of west Texas. Our lands are selling just as well in proportion to distance from railroad facilities and should a railroad, which we expect, bould up our way we can show just such prices as the Clyde lands, for they are as fine for the purposes that make the people purchase them. The country is good for farming, producing all the

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Aug. 10.-Cotton market transactions were again on a large scale but the movement of prices confined to a slightly smaller range than that of yesterday. Yesterday's developments, climaxed by the acknowledged flop of the erstwhile bull leader, caused a general espousal of the big crop idea and this morning found sentiment almost unanimously bearish, so much so in fact that the rather favorable character of the Liverpool cables was ignored and renewed liquidation and short selling on the call caused an initial drop, of 3 to 4 points in prices. The heavy Texas movement, as indicated by an estimate of 3,500 to 4,000 bales for Houston tomorrow, increased the desire to sell and price brokers were active participants in the putting out of short

Although short profit taking was interspersed with the selling and soon after the call prices worked up two points above yesterday's finals, the gain was maintained only a short time and at noon the new crop months were selling at a net loss of 12 to 13 points, this being a new low level. A renewal of profit taking by shorts set in around this level and the market developed a steady tone, while from several quarters came talk of a reaction. Prices regained about half of the early loss, the market closing steady at a level 6 points under finals of the previous session. Spot cotton market ruled quiet,

New Orleans Cotton Special to The Telegram. NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 10 .- The cotton market continued active with a weak undertone today. Despite a favorable Liverpool opening, prices were unchanged to 3 points lower, and with the publication of the heavy Houston estimate for tomorrow, all support was withdrawn and selling became general, long scalpers being active on the short side, and a drop of 9 points ensued. At the low level the desire to sell suddenly ceased and the market turned comparatively dull, but later the selling started afresh and October was hammered down to

At this level the crowd suddenly became imbued with the idea that a reaction was a dire necessity and although there was nothing developed to inspire such a theory, aside from rumors of hot winds and high temperatures, enough buying orders appeared to arrest the downward course and cause the recovery of several points, the close being steady with prices at a net loss of 5 to 6 points. Spot cotton market ruled quiet, prices being unchanged at 10 5-16c for middling. Sales, 200 spot bales and 50 to arrive. The into sight for the week is approximately 43,000, as compared

Wheat Crop 493,434,000-Market Holds Up Well, Although Prices Touch New Lowe Level Special to The Telegram.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 10.—The department of agriculture report was the principal feature of the day's news regarding grain crops, and being issued an hour earlier than former ones, gave the crowd a chance to trade after its issuance. Nevertheless, it did not instill any great activity into the market, which ruled comparatively dull all day. The figures were bearish for wheat, the yield per acre of winter wheat being estimated at 16.7, making a total crop of 493,434,000, as compared with 419,481,469 last year, and the condition of spring wheat $6.9 as compared with 89.2 July 1 and 89.7 at the corresponding time last year, indicating a combined crop of winter and spring wheat of 7,600,000 bushels. But the crowd seemed afraid to sell and the only immediate effect of the report was a break of %c from the best, placing the price of September below 72c Final figures were at a net loss of %c. There was a somewhat better demand for cash wheat, and the English market was firm. Local receipts 449 cars as compared with 185 cars this day last year. Estimated for tomorrow, 369 cars. Primary receipts 833,000 bushels as compared with 835,000 bushels this day last year. Shipments 1.084,000 bushels as compared with 400,000 bushels this day last year. Clearances 72,-000 bushels.

Corn Corn condition was placed at 88.1 as compared with 87.5 July 1, and 89.0 at the same date last year, indicating a crop of 2,609,000,000 bushels. The market was not affected much, prices breaking only about half a cent after the report was issued. Finals were unchanged to %c lower. Local receipts 82 cars as compared with 173 cars this day last year. Estimated for tomorrow, 99 cars.

Primary receipts 277,000 bushels as compared with 404,000 this day last year. Shipments 380,000 busnels as compared with 413,000 this day last year. Clearances 120,000 bushels.

Oats Oats in farmers' hands comprise 7.1 per cent of the last year's crop. The condition of the crop on Aug. 1 was 82.8 as compared with 90.8 at the same time last year. These figures were construed as bullish, but had little effect and did not dispel the dullness which had prevailed all day. The market closed steady with prices unchanged to %c lower. Local receipts 220 cars as compared with 420 this day last year. Estimated for tomorrow, 179 cars. Clearances 18,000 bushels. Provisions

Light Receipts of Cattle-Slow Market at About Steady Prices-Hogs Decline a Nickel

Cattle receipts on the combined basis of calves and matured stuff were in light receipt, cattle coming in thirty-seven cars and carves in nine. The total number of head received reached 1,625.

Steers Beef steers were in quite short supply, perhaps six loads of cattle fat enought for the block. A fairly active demand took over all offerings early, tops being $4.25, with two loads of cake and seed fed steers on grass, averaging 1,100 pounds selling at $3.70. Two other loads of light but quite fat steers made $3.30. These were about all the flesh carrying steers, and the market was quoted steady. The demand for stockers and feed-

Vivion Commission Company FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 10 .-Cotton developments were not of material importance today, the only feature of note being the increasing Texas movement as indicated by the estimate of 3,800 to 4,000 bales for Houston tomorrow. Weather conditions were good, only light scattered showers being reported by the map, while temperatures were normal.

Liverpool advices were encouraging relative to contracts at the start, but spot prices dropped 16 points, with sales of 5,000 bales and features closed 6 to 8 points down. In New York new low levels were touched at 9.54c and 9.66c for October and December respectively, same being a drop of 12 to 13 points from yesterday's finals. After opening about 3 points lower, prices worked up 5 points on some buying and covering of shorts caused by the favorable cables, the above noted slump occurring about the middle of the session. Price's turn to the bear side, while not altogether a surprise, probably had much to do with the day's slump, as many of his fol-lowers liquidated and his brokers were also reported selling. The long interest seems to have been pretty nearly eliminated and many are looking for a reaction. On this theory there was some good buying during the afternoon and the larger portion of the early loss was recovered, finals showing comparatively small changes for the worse. New Orleans reported Spanish mills making good bids for lots of cotton for immediate shipment and for shipment by the middle of September. Spot markets ruled generally quiet, prices being unchanged at New York and 1/8 lower in southern markets. C. T. VIVION.

CACKLES FROM THE HEN HOUSE The Dorking is pronounced an ideal farm bird and comes in a variety of colors. The red, colored and grays are the principal ones in America. Kill the head lice of the chicks with vaseline. Grease their heads slightly and see that none gets in the eye. Repeat the dose in ten days.

During Crystal Palace show week, Nov. 7-10, 1905, no less than 14,657 entries of poultry, pigeons and rabbits were shown in London. Early maturity is good when it is real maturity. Pullets can be made to lay long before they are really mature.

When they do that they never gain a real maturity. Turkey eggs may be hatched in an incubator, and some breeders are getting very satisfactory results. The method of operations is the same as for hen eggs. Young chickens should be fed at least every two hours until a week or 10 days old; it is better if they are fed this way for two weeks. After this longer intervals may intervene between the feeding hours. Never overfeed the young chicks; feed a little and often; keep them satisfied, but not overfed. When the American Poultry Association meets next winter at Auburn, N. Y., every poultryman present should attend the poultry institutes that are to be held. These institutes are of great benefit to the poultry industry, and the more information disseminated the greater will be the demand for poultry.-American Fancier. The principal fattening station for southern geese is at Richmond, Va., where a firm known as the Neffs fatted about 10,000 the past winter. Their fattening pens hold about two thousand at a time, and when these are thoroughly ready for the market enough more have been collected to take their places in the pens. Kentucky is one of the great goose states, and breeders claim that she will make a record this year in the production of goose eggs. expectation that they will begin to lay in winter will be disappointed as a rule. Such pullets seldom begin to lay until the warm weather of the spring season begins. Birds do not lay in winter in their natural state and the barnsard fowls are no exception as they must receive assistance in the way of food and warm shelter.

SHEARINGS It is impossible to raise big mutton sheep on short pasture and without grain and roots.

In investing in sheep to form a flock purchase none but first-class animals, healthy and vigorous. On their summer keep depends the thrift and consequent profitableness of the flock.

It does not take much to fence a farm sheep tight if you will just go at it with a determination to do it. Good pasturage is a good fence, so be sure that your sheep have a good pasture and they will never go visiting. Any kind of stock, especially sheep, are benefited and will do better when their appetite is stimulated by hunger. Old sheep men have long since considered it a very bad practice to breed ewe lambs so they will lamb soon after they arrive at 1 year of age. They usually disappoint their owner and they lose growth in consequence. The ewe should have her first lamb when she is about 2 years old.

Merino breeders in Vermont took a sheep that sheared nine pounds, and they developed a sheep that sheared forty-four pounds. They took a carcass that weighed 100 pounds and they made one that weighed 300 pounds. They sold rams for $3 per heal, and they sold rams for $3,000 per head. They sent merinos to every-part of the world where better sheep were wanted.

An investigation of the sources of supply of the materials entering into the manufacture of musical instruments in Germany has revealed the fact that nearly 70,000 pounds of sheep gut are used annually for strings. ren of results and is an unfair trial for | gram, Fort Worth, Texas.

SUCCEEDING WITH PURE BRED STOCK

By Geo. E. Martin, before the Iowa Agicultural College.

The problem confronting the man contemplating engaging in the business of growing pure-bred stock is, "What shall I do to dispose of my surplus stock? How shall I find a buyer for the products of my herd, stud or flock, and what are the best means available for this purpose?"

These are problems that are perplexing to the beginner and doubtless are the means of keeping many from engaging in business who, if they could be assured of a market, would not hesitate to embark in a business that is both fascinating and profitable The market is unlike any other for the reason that it is not stable. Purebred animals, unfortunately, are not yet regarded as a necessity by a large majority of those engaged in farming and the breeder must look for an outlet with those who appreciate the worth of the pure-bred sire, and those who are constantly being converted to the cause of improved blood and the part it plays in the material advancement of the country and the man who is properly fitted to engage in its production.

The market is steadily broadening, however, and the producer of purebred stock at the present time finds easy sale for his products compared with the pioneers of the business. The live stock press, agricultural colleges, experiment stations, fairs and expositions are potent influences at work at all times in disseminating knowledge that is fast making converts to the cause of the pure-bred. The pioneers, comparatively speaking, were without these influences, and they fought the battle unaided and alone, but the seed they planted took root, grew and developed until at the present time it is one of the strongest industries of the country identified with agriculture. In the opinion of the writer, two things are necessary to succeed in pure-bred stock breeding. The first and all-important question for the beginner is: Have I the proper qualifications and the necessary determination to prosecute the business to a successful basis? If he feels that he has and has a liking for good stock and the facilities for the proper care of his breeding animals, he need not hesitate in such a business, for he is bound to succeed. With such a breeder the problem of the satisfactory disposition of the surplus stock is half solved, for few breeders who give their herds or flocks the required care and attention and whose aim is to produce something creditable, have any trouble in disposing of their surplus. It is the careless, indifferent breeder who proceeds with no definite aim in mind and whose productions are of the mediocre sort that complains of a slackness in the demand when his neighbor's surplus is being taken at satisfactory prices. To the person who is qualified to succeed and asks how am I to dispose of my surplus stock, I would say, advertise. Let the people who need your productions know that you have them and can fill their wants. This may be done through the live stock press and by the exhibition of your stock at state and county fairs, and such other expositions as are available.

Of the two it is generally conceded that the pulse of the press is the quick est, most far-reaching, its value more permanent and the better means of building up a permanent trade than any other method.

The exhibition at the fairs should be encouraged, but is not absolutely necessary. Some of the most successful breeders of this country whose trade extends where good stock is known are strangers to the show yard. Their one aim is to please their patrons, realizing that a satisfied customer is a strong advertisement. The question of newspaper advertising, the amount to expend and where for the most good is not a difficult problem. The question of the expenditure should be determined by the amount of stock, value and quality. No definite rule can be followed in this for the reason that the demand is not always stable and greater effort is required at one time than at another. Use mediums known to have a live stock constituency and whose columns are devoted to the advancement of the pure-bred animal. The farmer who maintains stock reads such mediums will have use for your products and will look for the advertisements, while the other one, whose farm is devoted entirely to grain growing and maintains little, if any, stock will not hence such a paper would be worth nothing to an advertiser who desired to find buyers for pure-bred stock. Select mediums that appeal to your best thought, that are ably edited and your fullest confidence, for when they have earned yours you may feel assured that they enjoy the confidence of the reader, and for this reason it will be of much more value to the advertiser. In the advertisement state the important facts relative to that which you have to sell briefly and accurately, relying on the letter of re-sponse for details. In the matter of the preparation of the copy, etc., you have the assistance of the advertising solicitor, whose judgment, as a rule, in such matters governing space, composition and anything pertaining to the roposition, is sound. Such assistance may be had for the asking. Don't expect too much the first season.

The benefits from advertising are cumulative, and under normal conditions each succeeding announcement in a good medium should be more valuable than the one preceding. The repeated publication of your advertisement in a paper inspires confidence in the reader and it will cause him to inquire about your stock offered. The in and out policy of some advertisers is unsatisfactory, usually bar-any paper. Give all inquiries careful attention. Answer promptly, giving all information asked for and much more where they failed to ask it. Remember that the inquirer is a prospective customer and the question of the sale depends to a great extent with the measure of tact displayed in the correspondence. Stick to facts and hew close to the line of truth. If you can't do this, better not engage in the business, but if already in you had better get out. There is no business where the integrity and honor in the individual engaged in it cuts as much figure as it does in the pedigreed stock business. A reputation for square dealing is the best capital, and the breeder who does not have the golden rule as his motto is soon found out and his Do not be disappointed if you do not succeed in selling to every one who inquiries about your products.

Others in the same business may get the same letters, and as a rule the advertiser who gets out the best letter effects the sale.

Do your part and you need have no fear of the outcome, for you will build up a trade that will gradually expand until there is a demand for all of your productions at prices that are entirely remunerative to you. Persistent advertising to sell stock that is meritorious and square dealing will bring the trade and you will in time number your patrons by the score that you may have never seen. The writer knows of a successful cattle breeder who disposed of twelve bulls the past season to 'ndividual buyers who did not take the time to visit the herd and inspect them, but relied solely on the vendor's description, which was of such a degree of accuracy that not a single complaint was received. Keep a record of your inquiries and date of answer, and if the writer is not heard from in a reasonable length calling attention to the fact that you can still supply his wants and would appreciate his order.

The time consumed in writing the second and sometimes the third letter often results in a sale, and such time is profitably spent. Have a ring of sincerity about your etter and advertising matter that will inspire confidence in the buyer and cause him to feel that what you have will fill his wants.

Customers cost money and an effort should be made to sell them. Aim to produce good stock; take care of it; if for sale have it in sale condition; let the buyer know that you have what he wants; have the golden rule as your motto and you will build up a business that will be profitable as well as satisfactory, and you will take rank among men who are engaged in a calling that demands your best thought and best effort and has attracted to it many master minds of several centuries. THE OLD SPECKLED HEN remember the day when the brought 'em our way, The new-fashioned eggs from the newfashioned pen, Commercial Poultry says that "breeding turkeys constantly improve until about four or five years old. They hold their own for another year or two, after which they begin to decline and frequently do not survive the sixth season. This is especially true of toms. The earlier in the season one buys breeding stock, the better chances the birds will have to get accustomed to their new home and be ready to give the best satisfaction when the season opens in the spring. We have been raising turkeys for more than twenty years and find them as easy to raise as any other fowl. There is more profit in a flock of turkeys than in anything raised on the farm."

SOUTH TEXAS SPRAYING

Sixty-Nine Head Go Through Process Before Inspector

The first South Texas cattle were put through the Seabury spraying machine at Adolph Real's place near Converse Tuesday. There were sixtynine head in the lot. Ten head were sprayed in arsenical solution No. 1, sixteen head in Mayo's arsenical solution and forty-three head in 20 per cent Beaumont oil. Dr. Joseph Parker, the Federal inspector, was on hand as a representative of the bureau of animal industry and while this work is experimental in that the quantity of the different solutions necessary as well as the percentage of arsenic and oil is yet to be determined, he is very well pleased with the progress made He said Wednesday to the Express: 'The spraying machine operated without a hitch and apparently every part of every animal was thoroughly saturated with the medicine. A few of the cattle went through the machine very swiftly-about two seconds-and they seemed to be thoroughly saturated. Of course conclusions will be reached only after examinations to determine if the ticks were killed. I will begin examinations Thursday and we expect to spray more cattle Friday at the same place. I am hopeful that the machine will prove thorough and that we will reach satisfactory conclusions as to solutions that will kill the ticks without injury to the cattle."

CHALLENGE COACHMAN IN THIS DIVORCE CASE, TOO

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Aug. 10.-The telephone plays a great part in the divorce proceedings of Norton B. Tillotson, who has taken his beautiful twin daughters out of the state, that their mother may not see them. After a long series of hearings, Referee F. W. Pollock recommends that the supreme court give the husband a divorce. Tillotson belongs to an old New York family. His father is a millionaire, and his mother was a sister of John H. Beach, who left her his fortune. About fourteen years ago Tillotson married a Chicago girl. One of the witnesses against Mrs. Tillotson was Adelaide Stringer, the mother of little Queenie Barker. Two years ago is was sought by legislative enactment to legitimatize the birth of this child. Her father, Charles Bell Barker, millionaire yachtman and clubman, wished to gain possession of her. Miss Stringer, who is the mother, refused to give her up. Barker was named as co-respondent by Tillotson, and Miss Stringer testified to the terms of endearment that she alleges Mrs. Tillotson applied to the wealthy yachtsman over the telephone.

"Miss Stringer was fearful that I might wean Mr. Barker from her," is what Mrs. Tillotson says in explanation of this testimony. "I have never seen her in my life. She testified that she recognized my voice over the telephone. It's absurd on the face of it. "I should have demanded a jury trial and I shall appeal my case. The riminal authorities shall be cal and the sensational developments will equal those of the Hartje case. I have been treated as badly as Mrs. Hartje.

"My husband was a victim of the alcohol habit and he went to his people because they were faith curists and claimed that they could cure him. That was two years ago. I have not seen him since. He did not provide for me or the children in any way. Then I became very ill and had to go into a hospital. When I came out I had no money or place to go. "I met Mr. Barker, who was an old friend I had not seen for sixteen years. He invited me to go out to his country home and stay until I was fully recuperated. All the time I was there I was carefully chaperoned, and a portion of that period Mr. Barker was not

TENDERFEET ON RANCH Colony Having High Old Time on No.

Ranged in a circle in a shady grove on the banks of the Salt Fork of the Arkansas river on Ranch "101" are a number of comfortable three-room summer cottages where a number of young men from Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Cincinnati, Los Angeles and Chicago are playing cowboy and enjoying the novelty of ranch life. They are the sons of wealthy parents, and have been sent west to get strong muscles, good lungs and a rich, deep tan on their cheeks. They pay handsomely for their entertainment an enjoy luxuries as well as the usual comforts. The members of this tenderfoot colony eat their "chuck" in common in a dining hall twenty-five by fifty feet in size. Their chef is a slant-eyed Chinese, and their waiter an unusually dark-complexioned Sambo. A bath room with porcelain tubs adds to the comfort of the colony. One cottage is used as a library and club room. The apartments of the tenderfeet are adorned with college pennants, pictures of handsome young women, and such other things as attract the fancy of college students. The contract for entertainment provides each guest with a good horse, saddle and bridle. The other cowboy paraphernalia is purchased by the tenderfoot and some of the outfits would cause Alkali Ike and his friends to stand wide-eyed in astonishment. The tenderfeet choose their own hours for rising. When ready for their day's jaunt a genuine cowboy brings a bunch of ponies from which the riders choose their mounts. Visitors from nearby towns are entertained occasionally at dancing and cards. Ranch "101" trains polo ponies for eastern markets, and in this sport the eastern tenderfeet are more at ease than in punching cattle. The tenderfeet are a good-natured lot of young men and enjoy the bantering of their western acquaintances. It is said that for general safety and to insure their return to their parents each tenderfoot, upon his arrival, is photographed for the purposes of subsequent identification should he become lost. After he has cast his "store clothes" and arrayed himself in sombrero, blue flannel shirt, leather leggings, high-heeled boots and spurs, he is photographed a second time to permit his being traced and located should he wander away in his wild west outfit-

RESERVATION OPENING Two Million Acres of Land Going to Public Aug. 16

Great interest is being manifested in the opening of the Shoshone Indian reservation, comprising over 2,000,000 acres of land in Montana and Wyoming, much of which can be irrigated and will mean fortunes to those who win lucky numbers in Uncle Sam's gigantic lottery, which will be pulled off on the 16th of August. These lands are the last of any importance owned by the Indians that will be thrown open for settlement. When these rich lands have been distributed among the winners of the gigantic land lotteries, the glories of Lo as an extensive land owner will have departed, for there will be little more property in the Indians' hands worth the white man's trouble in appropriating. About 1.000.000 acres will be thrown open in the Crow reservation. in Southern Montana, and the same amount in the Shoshone, or Wind river reservation in Wyoming, several hundred thousand acres are to be opened in the Flathead reservation, near Missoula, Mont. It is estimated that from one-half to two-thirds of this vast acreage will offer opportunities for irrigation, and the rest will be available for grazing purposes. On the estimate

CITIZENS NEED AN ORGANIZATION

Commercial Club to Start in North Fort Worth

A great deal of enthusiasm was manifested at the first meeting of the promoters of the Board of Trade, or rather the Commercial Club, as the permanent organization will in all probability be styled in North Fort Worth. Interest has been growing steadily since that first meeting and Rochester Haddaway, temporary secretary, after having interviewed a number of representative citizens to ascertain popular feeling on the need of such an organization, said Thursday that he is confident there will be a membership of from two hundred to two hundred and fifty citizens from the start. The meeting for Friday night will be held in the North Fort Worth fire hall and every resident is expected to be present. It has been said by several of the promoters of the club that the dues will be placed at a nominal figure, so that every person having the least interest in North Fort Worth, no matter how small his holdings, may become a member and thus a worker for the best interests of his

WINFIELD SCOTT TAXES LOWERED

Equalization Board Cuts Assessment $69,350

The equalization board did more work in lowering the figures of Assessor Gilvin Friday morning than they have done in all the rest of the time they have been in session this summer. Winfield Scott and his secretary, Norman Nelson, appeared before the board and succeeded in securing assessments from $585,500 to $516,150, or a total reduction of $69,350. The largest reduction was made on the Metropolitan hotel block. This reduction was made because the building was not completed on Jan. 1, 1906, at which time the valuation of the assessor is supposed to be made. The board took $23,350 off Mr. Gilvin's estimate on this property. There was opposition on the part of some of board to lowering some of the values, but before Mr. Scott left the room the assessed values of every piece of his property in the business district of the city had been owered more or less and he left the room satisfied with the action of the

Trinity and Brazos Valley Railway Official Makes Announcement pecial to The Telegram. DENVER, Colo., Aug. 10.-Vice President and General Manager Mike Sweeney of the Trinity and Brazos Valley railroad, a part of the Colorado and Southern, is in the city. Mr. Sweeney stated when seen this week that the extension from Fort Worth south would be completed into Houston Sept. 10. From Houston the road will reach the gulf by the Santa Fe, with which line a trackage arrangement has already been made. The Trinity and Brazos Valley was purchased some months ago by the rado and Southern and is being extended to close up the gap between Fort Worth and the gulf. Mr. Sweeney stated that the completion has been delayed some because of the fact steel could not be secured rapidly enough to keep the construction going. "I do not say that we will be able to use the through line by Sept. 10, as some time will be necessary to put the roadbed in proper condition. However, cars will be running from Fort Worth south to the gulf by that date."

Mr. Sweeney was in conference with Vice President Parker and General Passenger Agent Fischer on matters pertaining to the opening up of the line to Galveston and for through trains from Denver.
