FRAUD IN COFFEE COMES TO LIGHT

Brazilian Product Labeled and Sold as Porto Rican

NEW YORK, August 16 .- Collector of Customs Stranahan conducted an examination yesterday in relation to the complaint by Scott Truxton, government agent of the Puerto Rico Commercial agency, that a firm here had made fraudulent declarations of a clearance of coffee from New York to Puerto Rico. It developed that the declarations were made, not by a member of the firm, but by a boy employed by them.

"Choice Red Beans." In manifesting several hundred bags which contained coffee as "choice red beans," the boy omitted to write the word "coffee" in the manifest, the form explained. Mr. Stranahan told the firm that in the future he would not tolerate such a practice. He said further that in future each manifest must be made out by members of the firm. Thus, he said, in cases where fraudulent declarations of clearances were made, a responsible person could be held. This decision of the collector will apply to all persons and firms making manifests of domestic exports.

Fake in Shipments. It was charged that certain firms had been in the habit of buying low grade Brazilian coffee and after it had been received here, shipping the bags containing this coffee to Puerto Rico, where it was emptied out of the original bags and sent back to this country in other packages as Puerto Rican coffee.

SULLIVAN GIVES ANSWER TO BRYAN

^~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Declares Nebraska Statesman Overestimates His Authority

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Aug. 16. - Democratic National Committeeman Roger C. Sullivan has given out a statement which he has prepared and mailed broadcast throughout Illinois in reply to William J. Bryan's demand that he resign from the national committee and his subsequent assertion that his opposition to Mr. Sullivan was prompted solely by his belief that "Roger Sullivan and John P. Hopkins had deliberately robbed the democrats of Illinois of their political rights."

Mr. Sullivan declines to concede to Mr. Bryan the right to question his democracy. "Judgment as to my democracy," he says, "rests with the democrats of the district in which I live. My title to membership in the national committee has been conferred and confirmed by higher authority than Mr. Bryan." Denies Alleged Fraud Continuing, Mr. Sullivan says: "In the letters attributed to Mr.

Bryan is this plain statement: 'Mr. Sullivan was selected as national committeeman by delegates who were not chosen by the convention.' If this statement is Mr. Bryan's, then he persists in a contention that was declareby the democratic national convention to be a misrepresentation. It is true that the seats of certain delegates were contested. But these contests were not decided by fraud, and Mr. Bryan knows it. Does Mr. Bryan deny the authority of the democratic national convention? The national convention by a vote of 647 to 299 confirmed the right of the legal Illinois delegates to their seats. Those delegates elected me national committeeman by a vote of 49 to 5. The national convention again confirmed that action. To allege fraud against my right to a seat in the national committee is to indict the last national convention and its leaders for compounding a felony. Can even Mr. Bryan sincerely and honestly do this? He cannot if he expects to accept a Presidential nomination two years hence, for such a nomination must come from those men I have named and their associates. No man, not even Mr. Bryan, can afford to accept any nomination, much less a nomination for the presidency, at the hands of men whom he believes to be

JUDGE BROOKS DROPPED

Completion of Count for Second Ballot Expected to Require Several Hours and Final N omination of all State Officers May Hold Delegates at Da llas Another Day-Fight to a Finish Now on.

Special to The Telegram. ONVENTION HALL, DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 16 .- Amid the wildest enthusiasm, Oscar Branch Colquitt this afternoon appeared before the state democratic convention and withdrew his name as a candidate for governor, in favor of the man who received the greatest popular vote, Thomas Mitchell Campbell, This was done immediately following the final test of strength in the vote on the appeal from the ruling of the chair on the majority rule. This action of Colquitt, in leaving the field to Campbell and asking his friends to vote for him, is taken on the platform to show the real strength of Senator Bailey, whose phrase, "The Campbells are coming," first set the convention wild, It looks like Campbell, and it seems all over but the shouts of the final and complete victory.

At 11:45 o'clock this morning the chair announced the result of the first ballot, as follows: Campbell, 213.341

There were cries for Brooks and amid the pandemonium Judge Brooks was escorted to the platform by Tom Ball and Edgar Watkins of ouston. Judge Brooks thanked his friends for their loyalty and ?? hood which followed him to defeat. He said that he had siways followed nominees of his party and that no populist in this state had been called to raise his voice in his behalf during this contest. (Great cheering.) He had stood for purity of homes in Texas and he said he stands today the rigid enforcement of all the laws. (Cheering.) The biggest dunce in Texas, he said, has never misunderstood him; that he favors the enforcement of the local option law in Comal county, the same as in Dallas county. (Cheering.) Everything he stood for in his campaign has been in the party platform for years he said, and he declared he would rather have thefriends that he has made than be governor of Texas. (Cheers.) "The senior senator of Texas has indorsed everything I have said." (Cheers.) Brooks said that he would go home to his wife, "the sweetest woman the angels ever gave a man and begin life anew for the advancement of homes in Texas." Great cheering followed this. The first ballot by convention votes, result of roll call last night and this morning was as follows: Campbell213,341; Colquitt, 169,934; Bell, 163,357;

Fighting Is Commenced Judge John M. Duncan of Tyler opposed the ruling of Frank Andrews, who was in the chair, regarding the disposition of emancipated vote. As a result of Brooks' withdrawal the chair ruled a majority of a delegation could control the casting of this vote: Bexar county had announced 985 for

Campbell (former Brooks vote), but one Bexar county delegate submitted 246 for Colquitt and the fight opened. Duncan appealed from the ruling of the chair and Andrews said: "If there is any man here who can truthfully say that he knows the Terrell election law, then I will yield to him. I only ruled as I thought the law required. The word majority is not in the law." (He read from the law referring to the dropping of a name and the casting of votes) "As the delegation may decide. "I construe the delegation to mean as a majority

Judge Duncan then withdrew his appeal, because Bexar county had been instructed under the unit rule and roll call for governor again started. Colquitt Goes to Campbell Vote was taken, ayes being 407 5.24 and noes 275 1.6. Following the loss of appeal which forced the majority rule in casting the emancipated vote, Colquitt was introduced and said Campbell is the choice of the people of Texas and that he had agreed with the "Distinguished gentleman from Palestine" that a popular vote should decide. Scores Terrel Law Continuing he said: "Gentlemen of the convention, it appears that the sentiment of this gathering is not going to be in my favor. Had the campaign lasted twenty days longer, I believe my opponents would be standing here as I am instead of myself. I have claimed all along that the Terrell election law was a monstrosity in that it is possible to defeat the expressed myself and I believe he's the choice of the people of Texas." Refers to Culberson Referring to Culberson's speech of yesterday, Colquitt said: "The senator almost quoted my report as revenue agent to him as governor, when he spoke of liquor traffic." He thanked his friends who stood by him in the campaign in feeling ton:s

the man who received the highest number of votes in the primaries. At this point the convention went wild. Colquitt Withdraws Men stood on chairs, got on each other's shoulders, threw hats in the air, yelled and stamped. In closing Mr. Colquitt said: "I again thank my thousands of friends for their loyal support and with-

Following the withdrawal of Colquitt, the chairman of the Dallas county roll was then continued. At 9:50 this morning Chairman Templeton pounded for order the delegates partially heeding it. Prorating calculations caused a delay. The chair asked the delegates to be patient, as about one thousand mathematical calculations would have to be made before anything could be done. The convention heaved a heavy sigh. Calling off the counties that failed to respond last night was resumed, three counties being out, Hutchinson, Kendall and Martha. The chair announced the first roll call would be completed at 10:40. #### and convention took recess. Plank Against Trusts

The platform committee announced that it had overlooked a very important plank and it was read and adopted as follows: "Be it resolved by the Democrats of Texas, That trusts, monopolies and combinations in restraint of trade are contrary to the genius of free government and are the most insidious agencles used to oppress the people and destroy the freedom of the citizen, and we denounce all such unlawful combinations and pledge the full power of the democratic party to utterly destroy them in this state. We heartily approve the action of our attorney general in vigorously prosecuting violators of anti-trust laws."

When morning dawned Thursday the gubernatorial situation was, if anything, more clouded than ever. The first ballot taken by the convention Wednesday did not serve to throw any more light than the public already had, and there was nothing in it to indicate what the final result would be. It simply confirmed past claims that I plause.

Brooks would be dropped on the first ballot, leaving the three remaining candidates to fight for his vote. It was claimed by Bell's friends that the larger portion of this vote would go to the Tarrant county man, but both Colquitt and Campbell contested this claim, both of them asserting that they would get the big end of it. It was not believed when the convention adjourned Wednesday at nearly midnight that a second ballot could be taken and the result announced before late Thursday after-

Five Hours to Get One Ballot It required five hours to take the first ballot and announce the result and it was certain that more time would be necessary to take the second ballet. This has put delegates to figuring on how long it will take to nominate the full ticket, and it is predicted that the work of the convention will not be completed before Saturday. Delegates are still talking of the Culberson incident in convention hall Wednesday when Governor Lanham was compelled to cut short his speech on account of the wild demonstration caused by Senator Culberson's appearance on the floor of the convention. It is generally conceded that the incident was a slap at the present state administration. The speech of Yancey Lewis of Dallas, placing Judge C. K. Bell in nomination, was one of the best that has been made since the convention met. The speaker was cheered to the echo by men who were not for his candidate. The speech of Colonel R. M. Wynne, seconding Bell's nomination, was also a piece of fine platform eloquence and the old democratic war horse was the recipient of hearty ap-

TO ENTER ARMY

Oldest Fan Lives in San An-

Special to The Telegram. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, August 16.-San Antonio lays claim to having the oldest professional ball player in the United States. He is Charles Leonard, a retired regular army sergeant.

Leonard played the national sport when it was in its infancy. He was a member of the first baseball nine organized in the United States army at Washington, D. C., in 1867. This team played the Nationals of Washington. The late Senator Gorman, a young man, was a member of the Nationals, and Nick Young, then a clerk in the treasury department, pitched the Quit Playing to Fight. He played with various teams until the civil war broke out, when fighting kept him too busy. Leonard says he played the first game of ball ever played in Texas. This was at Jefferson on the Red River in 1869. The state was under martial law and the game was between the Twenty-ninth infantry and the Fourth cavalry. Although too old to play now he is always in the front row at the ball games here and is the champion rooter for the home team.

Allen of Fostoria, Ohio. and others. In order that it may not be entirely a foreign concern, George White, Sam Rosen and G. E. Montcomery, all of Fort Worth, will own interest in the corporation. Many of the men who are interested in this deal are men of great wealth and are interested in electric street railway lines throughout the United States.

Possible Extensions Asked what would be the policy of the new company in regard to extensions, Mr. Smith replied: "It is not at all reasonable that these men, who are experienced in electric street railways, should come all the way down here to Fort Worth and be satisfied with merely operating the Rosen line and the Arlington Heights line. I have been in touch with the gentlemen ever since the deal began, and I know something of their purposes. The first thing they mean to do is to put into Fort Worth a complete street car system, making it in the fullest sense a of the Northern Texas tion Company. As to the Mineral Wells road, all that I care to say at nt is that they are very much inted in it. Perhaps their action in this respect will depend largely upon he way they are received by the city

"Does the new company intend to nsist upon the franchise upon the uth side that was asked for by Mr. llen of the Arlington Heights Trac-

Most assuredly the new company ts that franchise," answered Mr. "The lines upon Colleeg avend St. Louis avenue are the keys he situation upon the south side. the new company should fail to get ranchise, it will probably never able to build street railways in the th side and to meet the growth of lation in that portion of the city. se two streets are the only two that present practical for the operanew street railway lines on the Result of Competition Do you think that the people will rant to the new company the franhise on the south side?"

Mr. Smith said: "I see no reason my they should not; in fact, there is reason why they should grant it. the first place, it means the exditure of large sums of money here Fort Worth from outside sources, adding to the tax values of the elty and materially assisting in the city's growth and development. But hot think this is the chief reason why the people will want to grant the franchise. What the people of Fort

orth need is competition in the street

way business. "I call to mind the street car situaon between this city and North Fort Worth before the Rosen line was uit. You remember the people could not get transportation; had to wait id on street corners and then be ontent with poor service. When the n line was built things took on a ent aspect. Both companies ally did their best, better scheds were given by both companies, er cars were furnished, more skilled n employed in the service and the olt is that the street car service been here and North Fort Worth toy is all that could be desired. And is all due to competition; it is the by life of business in every line; it makes people do their best to please; and that is just what will occur on e south side if the people will give new company a foothold. The buth side line asked for by the new by will be in sharp competition with the Hemphill, South Main and on street lines of the Northern as Traction Company. The new company's franchise runs en those lines, and if the city ill let the new company build there, man when we walks out of his companies spend weary nights in devising schemes by which they can best please and serve the public. We predict that there will be no more citizens' meetings and league meetings called for the purpose of obtaining reforms in the street car service if the people will let the new company build on the south side. If Fort Worth ever expects to have competition in the street railway business, now is its opportunity." Paying for Franchise

"What about paying for the franchise?" the reporter asked. "Under the existing circumstances, the new company cannot afford to pay for the franchise. The lines, if built, will for every foot of the way, be in sharp competition with the lines of the Northern Texas Traction Company, which the new company's lines will parallel. The new company will be at the disadvantage of fighting a competitor which is already established in business and whose trade is built up. In addition to that, on account of the old company having two tracks upon the viaduct, we are not able to come over that thoroughfare and cannot come in as direct a route as the old company. We expect to overcome this difficulty by furnishing a better schedule, but this will be expensive to us. Now, if in addition to all this we should be required to pay a portion of our earnings to the city when our competitor pays nothing, it would mean ruin to us financially. "We couldn't compete with them, and would be within their power, if they chose to do so, to run us out of the business entirely. Why, that sort of thing is just exactly what built up the Standard Oil company, the biggest monopoly in the world; that is to say, the same principle is involved. The Standard Oil company succeeded in obtaining rebates from the different railways carrying its products, while its competitors were not able to do so. Hence the result was that in the conflict between the Standard Oil company and its competitors, the latter were all put out of business. We have no objection whatever to the principle involved in the franchise tax, but it should be applied equitably and upon all competitors alike. It should not be made an engine of oppression by which a monopoly is enabled to keep from the field all possible competition.

"What about the Northern Texas Traction company's application on the south side?" Mr. Smith said: "I do not think the old company wants the franchise which it has asked for on the south side. I think it fears competition and wants to keep the new_company out of the field. Mr. Allen had circulated his petition for the franchise on College avenue and St. Louis avenue, had gotten the necessary number of signatures and had filed it with the city secretary beern Texas Traction company wanting another franchise on the south side. As soon as it got news of our application it began to circulate a petition for a franchise on the south side, and in a few days filed the application, which will be voted upon on Sept. 1. An examination of the two applications will disclose the fact that the old company asked for a franchise on practically all of the same streets that the new company applied for, and asso asked for the center of the street, which is the way the new company's franchise reads."

OPEN RUPTURE LIKELY Vatican's Defense of Church Rights

May Cause Quarrel in France Special to The Telegram. ROME, Aug. 16.—The publication of the encyclical condemning the separation law seems likely to cause a sudden rupture of all relations between the vatican and France and to lead to greater difficulties in the future for the Catholic church in the republic, which is left entirely in the hands of the episcopate. The encyclical did not have the approval of a number of the cardinals, who, while sympathizing with the firm and energetic attitude of the pope, fear reprisals from the French government, possibly leading to the disorganization of the French church. Their counsels of moderation and forbearance, however, failed to move the holy father, who was determined to make a stand for the trampled rights of the church. He trusts in Providence for a future solution of the problem. It is understood that if resistance to the law produces a change of government in France the vatican is willing again to open negotiations.

PANHANDLE IS A FRUITFUL FIELD

Offers Many Inducements to Man Seeking Location

BY HERBERT VANDERHOOF, in Indianapolis News. The Panhandle country of Texas, comprising the northwest portion of the state, furnishes a fruitful field for settlement. From Fort Worth long lines of shining steel rails emerge in every direction, branching fanlike across the country of the Panhandle. The question of transportation has long since been satisfactorily solved, and the cattle raisers take full advantage of the facilities thus furnished. In the beginning of things Fort Worth was recognized as the center and headquarters of the cattle industry. The shippers in the Panhandle country found their best market there and continue to do so to the present day With eleven trunk lines converging at Fort Worth, radiating in sixteen different directions, the station had no rival worthy of the name. It got the business from the start, and, what was still better, having secured the traffic, managed to keep it. Now, much of the prosperity of the "Fort" was not due altogether to its excellent location. Facilities for handling business are capital things in their way, but and this is a large and convincing but, the business must be there in order to be handled. About three years ago the packing industry made its appearance in strong force, and an impetus was given to trade which has lasted ever since. Advent of the Packers A small concern, known as the Fort Worth Packing Company, had been in existence for several years, but proved altogether inadequate to handle the business, which was growing up with the country. Enter then the giants of the packing trade. Messrs. Armour and Swift. From then on there came a decided change over the industrial conditions of Texas. And right here it may be mentioned that the homely but useful hog is an absolutely necessary adjunct to the modern packing house. The cattle trade in itself is not sufficient to pay the expenses of a large packing house plant equipped with expensive modern machinery. Therefore, the establishment of the Armour and Swift plants was largely in the nature of a gamble. Hogs in the Panhandle country were scheduled as a drug on the market.

The farmers looked upon them as neither beautiful nor practical, In the first instance they were correct. There is no great beauty in a hog at his best. Even when the smiles he is not attractive. But in the second instance the farmers were wrong For a hog is nothing if not practical It remained for the packers to educate the farmers as to the utility of the ungraceful hog. And they went at their task with commendable energy, with the happy result that the hog supply today is the most important asset of the humble farmer of the Panhandle country

- Magnitude of the Industry There can be no doubt as to the boon which the packing houses have conferred upon the Texas farmer and live stock grower. They have created not only a demand in their own business, but have made a market which brings in the buyers from outside. Take a glance at the figures, which speak for the packing houses. They show that Armour and Swift have slaughtered more than 1,500 head per day for every working day of the year, and in addition to this number of cattle and calves, handled about the same number of hogs. These packing plants added during the last year departments which create other profitable sources of wealth to the farmer. Each of them can take care of 10.000 chickens. They also have egg departments in connection with the poultry, and have not yet reached anywhere near their capacity for handling this product.

The large proportion of crisp, bracing, sunshiny days makes it a delightful climate to live in. The black, waxy earth which has made Dallas county famous, is strongly in evidence in the country about Fort Worth. And the fact that the land in the Panhandle is but scantily settled offers tempting inducements to those who wish to found homes in this fascinating portion of the state of Texas.

The wealth of the territory in question lies chiefly in the luxuriant sward of valuable grasses it possesses. The buffalo grass, the curly mesquite, the different varieties of grazing grass all afford excellent grazing and render the country an ideal spot for the stock farmer.

Yet, without a good water supply the most promising land is little better than a desert. And in this matter na- | cago were in the machine.

ture has been especially provident as regards the Panhandle country. The entire state of Texas is underlaid with strata of water-bearing rock. From Eagle Pass on the Rio Grande to Fort Worth extends an artesian belt of tremendous width and limitless supply. It can be easily tapped by artesian wells at a low latitude. From the highest plains to the coast level water can be secured and brought to the surface by natural pressure. No Lack of Water. Apart from the artesian supply the river systems of Texas furnish a plentiful quantity of moisture for the use of the tiller of the soil. Also the natural rainfall can be depended upon to keep the crops in good condition. According to official statistics the average rainfall in Texas is marked by distinct zones and decreases from east to west at the rate of five inches for every sixty miles. It is fifty inches along the eastern border from the mouth of the Red River to the Sabine, twenty-five inches through the west central region along the one hundredth meridian, fifteen inches in the valley of the Pecos and Staked Plains, and ten inches in the trans-Pecos and along the border of New Mexico. Under the foregoing favorable conditions it is not to be wondered at that the Panhandle country is attracting a steady stream of immigration within its borders. Fruit culture and the production of garden vegetables have developed from an experiment to the dignity of an established industry, the wheat and oats crops are all that could be expected and the fact that alfalfa can be successfully grown in the Panhandle country appeals strongly to stock raisers.

Texas has always been looked upon as a livestock state and it is probable that this feature will continue for many years to be its crowning glory. But there are other resources which should be reckoned with.

SHOULD PAY MORE SALARIES

The matter of paying the state officials of Texas better salaries is now attracting considerable attention at the hands of the daily press, and the general sentiment seems to be in favor of an increase. The Houston Chronicle has the following very timely article on the

When the democratic convention gets to the point of making a platform the Chronicle hopes that it will put in a plank in red ink and italics in favor of paying. the state officials, including the judges of the district and appellate courts, decent salaries.

The position of Texas in the matter of salaries is a most peculiar and inconsistent one. She is a big state, and her people are broad-minded and think and do things on a big scale. They have built the most magnificent capitol in the world and furnished it on a scale of oriental extravagance, yet send to sit in it more narrow-gauged, small legislators than Rhode Island

Suggest to half of them the increase of salaries and they take an attack of economical rabies and declare the "peopul" are being robbed, yet if the salary of every judge and the governor and every other state officer were doubled, as they should be, it would not affect the tax levy one-fortieth of one per cent-that is, a man rendering one thousand dollars worth of property would only have to pay twenty-five cents per annum additional taxes, and to say that the intelligent, patriotic Texans, filled with state pride as they are, would complain of so infinitesimal an increase in order to pay their servants decent wages, is a reflection upon their patriotism and intelligence.

The Chronicle ventures to say that the people would not vote down a proposition to increase salaries. The very plainest, humblest farmer in Texas would be quick to resent and complain if any picayunish meanness in living or dress of one of his judges or any of the officers he helps to elect, and he wants to see the decency and dignity of the office maintained.

The small politicians, like the senator who said if he could defeat the bill to increase judicial salaries he would be satisfied, does not represent the real sentiments of the rank and file of the democrats of Texas.

They do not want their officials to have to skimp and save and pinch and plan to live within their salaries, and after years of fruitful service retire to private life bankrupt, as most of them do.

There are five hundred lawyers in Texas who make in legitimate regular practice twice the salary of any judge in the state, and no governor has ever left the executive office with as much money as he had when his term began, and if one were to live so niggardly and cheaply as to save money out of his salary the first people to abuse him would be the demagogues who are always howling about economy

The people ought to build a fifty thousand dollar mansion, furnish on a scale proportionate to its cost, pay the governor ten thousand dollars a year and allow him five thousand dollars more for entertainment of his constituents, so that he could live in a manner befitting the dignity of his office and worthy of the great people

Texas puts her treasurer under a seventy-five thousand dollar bond and he handles millions of dollars, and must be responsible for many millions more of securities, all for the petty pay of twenty-five hundred dolars, less than many of the bank cashiers of Texas get, and her chief fiscal officer, the comptroller, is paid the same ridiculous stipend, less than hundreds of bookkeepers get annually. Texas is too big a state and her people are too bighearted to be mean and small about money, especially when the amount involved is to them what a nickel would be to Carnegie, and when to be men does injustice to faithful public servants. The Telegram is most heartily in favor of paying the governor of the state of Texas an annual salary of $10,000, and believes the people will sanction it when they have had time to consider it in its proper light. So far as the appellate and district judges are concerned, they are now enjoying salaries of $4,000 and $3,000 respectively, and can manage to worry along on that for a while yet. The shame in the situation is the measly salary of $4,000 per annum paid the governor of the greatest and most glorious state in the union. It is so insignificant that it is a reflection upon the entire state, and it is to be hoped that a method will soon be devised and put into effect that will more nearly equalize

A MISTAKEN CONCEPTION

The claim is made for the Farmers' Union that it has elected a majority of the members of the state legislature. If this is true, it cuts no ice , for with a majority of the members from the ranks of the legal profession it has been impossible to frame laws that are capable of clear construction, and the farmers can do as well as this at least. Brains and business sense and honesty of intent are much needed as legislative assets.-San Antonio Light. If the farmers of the state could succeed in filling the legislature with more men of their class and retiring some of the army of fledgling attorneys that usually roost in the state capitol, it would result in fewer and simpler state laws.-Fort Worth Telegram.

Are we to understand from this that the esteemed Telegram endorses the idea that a man's order, whether secret or otherwise, takes precedence of his citizenship? If we understand the meaning of free institutions, the voter is obligated to forget that he is Baptist, Methodist, Catholic, Mason, Odd Fellow, Farmers' Union or any other thing save an American citizen wishing for his country's honor and prosperity with special privilege for none and equal rights for all. If the Farmers' Union has elected a majority of the members of the state legislature, what has become of the democratic party? If the democratic party is merely a vehicle for registering the will of a class, whether farmers or bankers or merchants, must it not, in the very nature of things, cease to be a party of equal rights and so forfeit the.

confidence of a large portion of its membership? The Times-Herald is not disputing the proposition that the legislature would be more efficient had it fewer lawyers and more farmers; that is outside this consideration. What the Times-Herald is objecting to is the creation of orders and societies and associations inside the democratic party, for these breed class distinctions, tend to creat special privileges and destroy in large part individual freedom and personal responsibility. For it is conceivable that a man might be boycotted for refusing to vote as his order or society or union dictated, and thus bring free citizenship into contempt, the loss of which would destroy our institutions. Every question and every candidate must be subject to open discussion. Anything which tends to the owl meeting is repugnant to true Americanism. The Farmers' Union blundered, seriously blundered, if it took part as a body in the recent political contest in this state. Not only has it put in motion a current which will work injury to itself, but it has introduced into our political life an element destructive of equal rights, the forfeiture of which means lords of the few and vassals of the many.

The esteemed Waco paper seems to have a mistaken conception of the situation. The Telegram did not mean to imply that farmers had been elected to the state legislature in opposition to members of the democratic party, and it is a forced conclusion that our esteemed contemporary indulges in. Certainly, a man is not debarred from being a member of the democratic party because he is a farmer, for the rank and file of the party is made up from the honest yoemanry of our land. And it is equally obvious that a man can be both a democrat and a member of the Farmers' Union. At least, there are thousands of such instances already in evidence.

The Telegram does not hold that membership in any secret order should dominate a man's citizenship, for The Telegram holds that man's first duty after that which he owes his God and his family is to his country. Would the Times-Herald debar good men from serving the laboring classes? If so, it has devised a form of democracy that is quite repugnant to the general ac-

Does membership in the Masonic order disqualify a man from practicing the tenets and principles of demoeracy? And how about the other secret orders? If the farmers want an organization of their own they are at perfect liberty to enjoy it, and the real leaders of the democratic party will not question their action in one single particular. If the farmers have elected members of the state legislature they have been nominated as democrats, and The Telegram can imagine no sane reason for questioning their democracy. The legislature will be but the better for the leavening influence. The old idea that all public offices should be monopolized by lawyers is

WORTHY OF HIS HIRE

Hogg complained that the governorship of Texas left him poor, and the mere ambition has cost the present candidates dear. Some plan should be devised to reduce the cost of the campaigns or increase the emoluments of the office; otherwise, it will become strictly a rich man's office.—San Antonio Express.

And James S. Hogg gave to the people of Texas the best and most active years of his life. It may be true that in return he could have had any honor he desired at the hands of the people, but the honors of that kind do not satisfy the butcher and the grocer. During all the time Hogg was governor of Texas he was a constant borrower of money, and all because the state of Texas did not pay its executive, who was a poor man, sufficient salary to enable him to live in accordance with

If the idea is to sell the office of governor to the higest bidder and limit the holding of that position to men with fat bank accounts, then the present method is the proper procedure. But if the idea is to aways call to the gubernatorial chair men of unquestioned ability, lofty patriotism and thorough devotion to the best interests of the masses, then it must be borne in mind that the laborer is worthy of his hire, and the state should fix the financial emoluments in conformity with the real demands of the situation. The governor of the great state of Texas should be paid an official salary of not less than $10,000 per an-

ALWAYS BARRING FORT WORTH

It may be a fact that the census people at Washington persist in the determination not to accord this city her rightful dues in the matter of census estimates, but other Texas cities are not blind to the fact that Fort Worth is the fastest growing city in the southwest. The San Antonio Express says: The latest estimate of population of the four leading cities of Texas, as given in a special report of the census bureau, credits San Antonio with a population of 59,581; Houston, 54,468; Dallas, 49,678, and Galveston, 32,613. When the next decennial census is taken it will probably show not less than 100,000, if growth shall be as rapid as is now promised. With the exception of Fort Worth, no city in Texas is growing as fast as San Antonio. The Telegram violates no confidence when it hastens to inform the esteemed Express that this city already has in excess of 50,000 population, and is growing faster than any other city in this state. This may not be a palatable fact when considered by some of our sister of Fort Worth progress and development.

When the next decennial census is taken it is going to put Fort Worth right up in the front rank of the big Texas cities, and the one that comes ten years later is just as sure to put us in the front place as that time is to come around.

There is an alarming frequency of railway accidents of late, but it does not appear to seriously affect the volume of travel. Passenger trains on all lines are constantly crowded, and many roads are taxed to the utmost to furnish adequate facilities. There are runiors that some of the lines entering this city would put on additional trains if they could obtain the equipment. And when we consider the fact that eighty-five lassenger trains arrive and depart daily already from Fort Worth, it gives but a faint idea of the real volume of the passenger traffic.

If you have not yet enrolled your name on the very honorable list of those who are trying to promote the fat stock show, it is high time you were doing it. There is no reason in the world why the entire subscription list allotted to Fort Worth should not be finished this week, and the news sent out to our allies that Fort Worth has done her part and is now waiting to see what they are going to do with the proposition. The money has to be raised and delay will only make it harder of realization. Let every progressive citizen do

The best thing the Federal government can do is to speedily remove all negro troops from Texas. The disgraceful conduct of those negroes down at Brownsville-the murdering of inoffensive citizens and shooting of bullets into residences, constitutes a breach that time will never heal. Unless those troops are taken out of this state their presence will be a constant incentive to trouble.

Again The Telegram takes occasion to remind those who have in charge the matter of promoting the Fort Worth cotton market that the time is now near at hand when the fleecy staple will begin to move. There should be a determined effort this year to bring to this city every bale of cotton that is produced in legitimate Fort Worth trade territory.

If Governor Lanham was making that same old Confederate speech that he has been accused of carrying in stock since the surrender, when he was hooted down at Dallas then the blame was not altogether on the one side. The governor has delivered that speech until it has become a trifle wearisome and Dallas was too hot a town for the indulgence of many platitudes.

There was one thing very noticeable at the Dallas convention of democracy this week, and that was the absence of two of the greatest characters that have ever taken part in party deliberations. John H. Reagan and James S. Hogg left a void in the democratic party in this state when they died that will long be painfully apparent.

Some other papers may have had their traps set to catch the gubernatorial nomination both coming and going, but The Telegram is not built that way and has never found it either necessary or expedient to hedge. The Telegram stands for its principles always and when necessary takes its medicine.

Senator Charles A. Culberson has not made himself very conspicuous at the Dallas convention during the past few days. Senator Culberson seems to have their country in the capacity of lawmakers because | a correct opinion of the proprieties of such occasions, they are known to be farmers or in sympathy with and has no desire to pose in the light of a senatorial > Colonel Cecil Lyon was re-elected at El Paso, just as The Telegram has predicted would be the case. It will take more than the efforts of Gooseneck Bill Mc-Donald to put Lyon out of business as the head of the rej-ublican party in Texas.

> Work is already progressing on a new railroad into Fort Worth, which is destined to ultimately open up a fine scope of country. In the language of the old Fort Worth Gazette, "On to Glen Rose."

The defects of the Terrell law have not all been uncovered by a long shot. The state convention itself vil reveal a few.—Houston Post. And the state convention will take the first action

Fort Worth may develop into a great cement manufacturing point as a result of recent discoveries of deposits suitable for cement making.-Stephenville Fort Worth has two big cement factories that will soon be under way, giving employment to hundreds of men, and marketing a very superior article of cement. . . . .

Cotton mills in Texas, when well managed, have been and are paying industries. Many of them have been forced to enlarge to accommodate increased business. Austin should have a large mill operated by cheap water power. She has the power and all you have to do is to build the mill.-Austin Tribune.

Cotton mills in Texas are paying propositions, and Fort Worth is preparing to set the pace in cotton mill building as in all other things. Work is soon to begin in this city on the construction of two big cotton

The most expert mathematicians of the state are engaged on the Fort Worth papers. They figure Judge Bell a winner, notwithstanding the election returns place him at Zero.—Bowie Cross Timbers.

The Fort Worth papers have not figured Judge Bell the winner. They have simply stood with that gentleman in the declaration that the nomination for governor will be made by the state democratic convention

. . . . It is rumored that Hon. A. S. Burleson of Austin and Judge James B. Wells of Brownsville will be two of the candidates for governor four years hence .-Georgetown Commercial.

It is to be noped if such is the case they will wait the two years before making announcement. This thing of a perpetual gubernatorial campaign in Texas has played out. The people want a rest and are going to have it.

If the President comes to San Antonio and meets the stockmen he will be treated with the courtesy due the executive head of the nation, but the unbounded enthusiasm which greeted him a year ago will be sadly lacking. It is not likely that the strenuous one will come to the state, however.-Abilene Reporter.

If the President comes to Texas again he will be received with all the honor that belongs to his exalted position and high personal character. The people of Texas think well of Theodore Roosevelt, and politics would cut no ice in his reception

THE KING OF CANYONS

West of Aztec, Ariz., and almost to Winslow, the Santa Fe passes through a region as yet in the hands of a few pioneers. The soil is a deeper red than even that where the Brazos river of Texas gets its war paint preparatory to a big rise. It looks like good soil and as there is a Red river passing through much of it, the possibilities of eventual irrigation are apparent, Now it looks little better than a desert, but near Hotbrook some venturesome farmer has planted crops, arranged a system of irrigation, and appears independent

Near Winslow, Ariz., the soil is less promising, but even there alfalfa is grown successfully whenever water for irrigation can be secured. It does not seem unreasonable to look for the ultimate settlement and cultivation of the greater part of the northeastern Arizona plateau from the eastern border to the pine forest that marks the approach to the San Francisco peaks. Winslow is a junction point, a typical southwestern railroad town. While weary passengers are getting off the trains for a stroll during the twenty-five minutes' wait for meals, Navajo Indians flock around selling uncut Arizona "rubies" or garnets. The Navajoes do not mine the rubies. It is said that industrious ants in digging their hills, bring the stones to the surface. The Navajo children talk Indian, Spanish and English with

The Navajoes are not the only ones who have things to sell. A native, white, fifty and fat, offered me .a six-foot diamond back rattlesnake for only $10. He said it was the biggest snake ever captured in the territory and offered to prove it by his own word. I told him that in Texas a rattlesnake which showed itself before it reached seven feet was sent tack to the prairies and told to get its growth before trying to butt into civilization. He declared Texas had no diamond back rattlers, and I replied that Arizona couldn't support four candidates for governor. We had quite an argument, which ended in the train's nearly pulling out and leaving me.

From Flagstaff to Williams the way lies through forest and Williams has a location surpassed by only that of Flagstaff itself. At Williams the altitude is over 6,700 feet, a thousand feet higher than Colorado Springs. The tallest mountain in the vicinity is 8,000

Flagstaff, Ariz., has been heard of in the papers for years. One reason is because it gets a daily place on the weather maps all over the United States. It is seldom heard of as headquarters for the largest sawmill in the territory, for its normal school and for the scenic advantages of its location. Pioneer tourists to the Grand Canyon used to be forced to stop at Flagstaff and stage it to the canyon through the beautiful San Francisco peaks, but railroad progress has made this trip unfamiliar. Flagstaff is surrounded by hills and the Arizona divide, a few miles west, has an elevation of over 7.200 feet, but the most striking mountain in the vicinity is Mount Bellemont, which rises to something like 13,000 feet above sea level. It is a few hundred feet lower than Pike's Peak and does not have the snow in summer, but it is a much more attractive mountain and its slopes clad with yellow pine and pinon almost to the crest far surpass the rough and unpromising rocks so common among the Rockies.

Around the Flagstaff region the timber is part of the government forest reserve. It looks like a park, Deer, in the early mornings, feed down to the edge of the clearings. The only trees are the big yellow pines. The air in August is cool and bracing, and at nights has a sharp edge. To enter this forest paradise with the imagination northern of finding northern Arizona nothing but a desert is one of the great surprises at which eastern tourists never cease wondering.

WHERE THE WAYS END

What is the sorrow? A little space-The cry of the fallen in the race-The dying cry which the world heeds not-Ill remembered, or soon forgot. Joy or sorrow will end in rest-Dust, and a rose on a dreamless breast.

What is the singing? It is not long; One in the end are the sigh and song, One the faith, and one the doubt-The cry of the vanquished—the victor's shoul Victor and vanquished must creep for rest Where the dust is blown o'er the dreamless breast

And what in the transient gioom and glow Is the beautiful love that we cling to so? The rose red lip, and the sparkling eye? A gracious greeting-a sad good-bye! With pallid faces and lips grief prest The lovers creep to the rose for rest.

So we smile at the dark-on the pathway rough: There shall be sunshine and rest enough After the stormy ways are past. Rest shall be sweeter at last-at last! Joy and sorrow will end in rest-Inst, and a rose on a dreamless breast, -Atlanta Constitution.

Western Union Steadily Increasing Facilities

near-by supply.

The Western Union has completed the stringing of two new copper wires between Fort Worth and Dallas, making the number of wires of this company now on the poles between the named points at least twenty-two. These wires, eight or ten of them being quads, are equivalent to about sixty circuits, making the line from Fort Worth to Dallas the most important telegraph line in the state, so far as the pole wires go, and in the capacity, or, as the wire key men say, it is the largest lead in Texas.

Among the quads are the Denver, the oool room, the commercial business, the press and others.

It has long been the contemplation of the Western Union to string a through wire from Fort Worth to San Francisco, and part of that is done, the line being completed to Abilene. The work on the extension westward is to begin Thursday morning at Abilene, and the big copper wire will be strung through to the coast as quickly as can be done and done efficiently.

That can be, or will be, a quadruplex wire also, and the same gauge of big copper as is used in the Fort Worth-Dallas lines and other important circuits. The next part of the through line to be finished and put in operation will be the Abilene-El Paso line. It is the subject of remark among the telegraphers that in the railway part of the business there has been no branch of the car service of the railways that has kept pace in development with the telegraph, and the demand for the increased facilities on the Fort Worth-Dallas line are no matter of surprise.

H. McCann of Dallas, one of the sub-officials of the Western Union, was here Wednesday.

Mr. Buck stated Wednesday evening that he regretted leaving Fort Worth and his many friends and it was only after long deliberation that he decided to make the move.

Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. # SIDELIGHTS ON THE STATE CONVENTION

BY D. O. EDWARDS. Staff Special.

CONVENTION HALL, DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 16.-The Texas state convention of the democratic party in session Wednesday night presented a scene never to be forgotten. First, there was the excitement attending the last speeches made by W. T. Henry of Dallas county, R. W. Finley of Travis county, Gus Shaw of Red River county and W. B. Townsend of Wilbarker county. Mr. Henry added eloquence to the enthusiasm for Judge M. M. Brooks; Mr. Finley extolled the characteristic merits and official life of Commissioner Colquitt; Gus Shaw said he spoke as a farmer, for Colquitt, and Mr. Townsend did his full duty for that portion of the Panhandle in favor of Candidate Campbell.

Wearied by a strenuous day of the opening routine work attendant upon hearing and discussing the reports of the committees on credentials, permanent organization and platform and resolutions, the convention could hardly wait for the preliminary and initial nominating speeches and expressed a thorough discontent, not to say disgust, when more than one speech was made seconding a nomination.

Probably the true facts about the "finer work" of political manipulation connected with this Wednesday night session of the convention will never be fully told. There were little caucuses held on the floor of the hall: knots, squads and relays of delegates were seen to leave the hall together and gather on the green outside; signs were made at intervals and those in the secrets were each intent on his own purpose or following the suggestons and directions of his leader, while none appeared to care what the other fellow was about. At times, when the discussion in one group would seem to "strike a stump," dense clouds of smoke would float hazily toward the concave roof, while the puffing politicians gazed at each other from under half-closed eyelids.

Lemons in Great Demand The secretary and his assistants worked the calling of the roll on the installment plan. Such work they think is a sort of patient patriotism. The chairman's table was covered with lemons. These were used extensively, and, mingled with draughts of fective in rejuvenating the vocal chords of speakers. Before 10 o'clock delegates and visitors alike began to feel the pangs of hunger and the passage to and from the hall of those seeking the lunch stands outside made the building appear as busy as a beehive in June. The extent of the menu offered at the improvised restaurants under tents adjoining convention hall was too items of solid food and two (possibly more) of liquid satisfaction. The latter received by far the most liberal patronage and was served in bottles bearing decorative bows of ribbon. Selah." Big Hall in Darkness

At 10:30 o'clock an assistant sergeant-at-arms rushed down the center aisle to make the important announcement that, owing to a defeat in wiring, would be necessary for the electrician in charge to switch off the lights for a few minutes to make a change in the circuit. This was done and the delegates amused themselves in making more noise. Cone Johnson of Tyler, who had been called to the chair, was asked to make an address, but desisted when advised by a few score members of the convention that enough speeches had been made for one day. The lights came on again in four minutes and no cases of pickpocketing were reported to the police. Water was served Wednesday on the floor of the convention. There was also a quantity of ice and neat wooden candy buckets were carried about at what delegates declared seemed interminable intervals, while the hydrant fluid refreshing was dispensed in glittering tin cups. Rows of chairs at the front and regulation "meeting house benches" near the rear were provided as seats for the delegates. The chairs, for the most part, were camp chairs, the kind that fold up and go into covered wagons at intervals between using.

The rear of the platform was decorated with two huge national flags, between which was suspended a republic of Texas standard. The railings on either side, in front of the galleries; weer decorated with the national colors and United States flags hung from the ceiling of the galleries. The offices of the Postal and Western Union Telegraph Companies were located at the rear of the platform, while the Southwestern Telephone Company had water that once knew ice, proved ef- | booths near the entrance of the hall.

> "Twelve years ago I stood, as I said, before the state convention. Some of you may remember it. I was younger then and stronger than I now am. Eight years after that I again stood in the assembled delegates' electorate of the democratic party of Texas in the beautiful city of Galveston. I was there again an aspirant for the favor of the democratic party. I was there without a single opponent. I shall never forget to my dying day the words spoken of me by the last great member of the Confederate government. I have them treasured today in my memory, the kind words spoken by that grand old man, John H. Reagan. He offered my name to the democratic convention. Since then he has gone to his home in the skies. Were it possible by any medium or process of spiritual telepathy to reach his person in the land of the blest, I would send this message: I have kept the faith; I have earnestly endeavored to verify the kind and generous presentation you made of me." -Governor S. party hoping for success dare deny it. Already, two years in advance of the convention, has it nominated the democratic candidate for the presidency. Texas has been singularly free from corruption in her public officers, but no less than her sister states has she suffered from the evils that have aroused the nation to action. Her laboring men retarded in their ambition to build homes for their loved ones by the exorbitant prices for material exacted by the lumber trust, her commercial interests circumscribed in its development by unjust railroad rates, her manufactures, with raw material at hand, that should place Texas in the very forefront of the manufacturing states of the union, unable to compete for Texas trade with competitors in distant states, her farmers seeing the profits of bountiful harvests going to fill the coffers of foreign owners of watered stocks and bonds issued upon inflated values are demanding of this convention the nomination of a man who is not a 'dreamer of dreams,' but who does things."-Barry Miller, nominating O. "Next to the consciousness of having faithfully discharged his duty, the highest satisfaction that can ever come to a public servant is the approval of his acts. The earnest desire to deserve it sustains him amidst the perplexities and difficulties of his high station, Receiving it fortifies him against criticism and attack of disappointed malevolence. Your generous kindness rewards me a hundred fold for all the labor I have performed in your behalf. It touches my heart with gratefulness and softens the resentment which the bitterness of political strife lays there forever. When I have been pursued with an injustice that I could not understand I have been consoled with the belief that those guilty of the wrong constituted so small a per cent of the brave and honest democracy of Texas that I could well afford to pass it by as the idle wind which I regarded not. In the bitterness, if it ever came, and sometimes it did come, with a rejoicing spirit I have recalled the words of John Randolph. After a great contest in which he had won a famous victory he exclaimed with an affectionate and grateful pride. 'No man ever had such constituents as those who have honored me.' I have more than once borrowed that exclamation of the brilliant Virginian and I have felt that I have even a better right than he to say that no man ever had constituents like these. "My countrymen, the fifteen years during which I have served you are my pledge that during the six years to come I will serve you after the same fashion. "Perhaps you will permit me to say without seeming to boast that I have served the state of Texas with absolute fidelity, and, if it will not be deemed immodest, that I have served you with a fair degree of distinction. When the end shall come to my present term I shall still be able, as I am today, to lay my hand upon my heart and in the presence of my God say to my countrymen that I have never cherished a thought which did not comprehend the welfare of these people and the glory of this state."-Senator J. Women Refuse Work Unless Permitted to Wear Trousers

Special to The Telegram. DES MOINES, Ia., August 16,-Five hundred women engaged in the culture of beet sugar in Bremer county, where the industry is important, have struck' and the industry is threatened, because church people invoked state law in order to keep women from wearing pants in the fields. The women workers say it is far easier to work in trousers than in skirts. People led by the Rev. Thorkelson insist that bifurcated garments are immoral, and even indecent. Seven girls who belonged to Thorkelson's church have withdrawn. The justices of the peace side with the girls and have refused to prosecute. Owing to the fact that the men are all engaged in harvest fields, the beet sugar inlustry will suffer greatly if the girls cannot work, and they say they will ot work in skirts.

amount of sweetening than any other kind. and has a wholesome, stimulating and satisfying effect on chewers. SCHNAPPS is the brand that made the

Reynolds factories famous as the manu-of chewing tobacco, and made necessary the enormous growth from a small factory in 1875 to the largest flat-plug factoryintheworld.

The men who started the Reynolds Co., in 1875, are directing it to-day. There are a greater number of manufacturers making imitations claimed to be just as good as SCHNAPPS than any commodity manufactured; yet there are more pounds of SCHNAPPS chewed than the total amount of all imitative brands, or tobacco of similar appearance.

Traders Think Bottom Reached-New Low Levels Established and the Market Turns Dull. Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, August 16.-The big slump is still on in the cotton market and although there were indications and many conservative people believe, that a stopping point has been reached the day's session produced new low levels for prices at a decline of 6 to 8 points from those of yesterday.

One of the day's favorable features was the attitude of Liverpool reflected by a steadier market than expected and private cables expressing the opinion that the bottom had been reached. The local opening was quite steady, prices being 1 at 2 points higher on the first call. But no buying orders were attracted to the market and soon the old crowd renewed their hammering tactics, while those verbally favoring a reaction stood idly by and saw prices pounded down 10 to 12 points from the opening figures. The market became dull at the decline with covering by scalping shorts about the only trading. On this prices reacted a few points before noon.

Active covering during the afternoon brought about a substantial rally and the market closed very steady, with prices unchanged to 4 points lower. Spot cotton market ruled steady, prices being unchanged at 10.30c for middling.

New Orleans Cotton

Special to The Telegram. NEW ORLEANS, August 16 .- After the first hour at the Cotton Exchange trading was desultory and the market presented a dull aspect. The belief that prices are now at debatable levels is becoming more general and was strengthened somewhat by more favorable Liverpool cables than expected. However, there seems to be no legitimate ground for this belief and in the absence of actual support, bears who at first were disposed to be lenient found it a comparatively easy matter to send prices down 13 to 15 points from the opening figures, which were 1 to 2 points above yesterday's finals, the low point being touched before

Covering continued on a small scale throughout the afternoon, but first selling was also noted and the market closed barely steady, with prices at a net loss of 5 to 6 points. The spot market closed irregular. prices dropping 1-16c, middling being

The future market was quiet and without special feature. Opening prices were 3 points lower, which was about as due, but some covering caused a partial reaction and at 12,15 prices were unchanged to two points lower. On the reaction further selling occurred and the market closed easy with prices at a net decline of 3 to 5 points. Futures

Wheat Prices Reach Turning Point, Market Dull but Support Forthcoming Under 70c

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Aug. 16.-Wheat prices reached the turning point for the time being at least early in the day's session, with September selling 1-16c, or in board of trade parlance, a split under 70c, and many traders believed that this marked the culmination of the bear movement.

At any rate there was little effort to depress values after that point had been reached and quite a little buying was noted at the low level, with the result that a rally was soon effected. Aside from the establishing of the new low level the session was entirely void of feature, trading being the lightest for days and the market very inaminate. However, a steady tone was maintained at all times and closing figures showed a net loss of only 1/8c. Liverpool prices reflected yesterday's local slump, and crop accounts as well as weather conditions were favorable. Promary receipts 934,000 bushels as compared with 672,000 this day last year. Shipments 633,000 as compared with 635,000 this day last year. Corn

Corn news was all bearish. Prospects for increased movement in the near future are flattering and the Price Current summary said that the crop was expected to fully equal last year. Liverpool closed %d down. Locally, liquidation of long lines continues and the near delivery was weak all day, a loss of %c being noted at the close, while deferred deliveries were off 4c

Primary receipts 414,000 bushels as compared with 439,000 this day last year. Shipments 443,000 bushels as compared with 412,000 this say last year.

Oats prices declined gradually throughout the session despite the fact that Price Current told of delayed thrashing and damage to grain in the shock as the result of rain. Finals were %c to %c net lower.

Provisions Provisions were again firm on a rather dull market, light hog reecipts continuing the dominant influence. Closing prices showed gains of 3c to 7c for September deliveries of all prod-

Chairman Sherman Not Satisfied With Way They're Coming Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Aug. 16.-The scheme for raising campaign funds by means of popular subscriptions is apparently not very successful. The plan has brought very little money to the coffers of the Bryan reception committee, and yesterday Chairman Sherman of the national congressional campaign committee of the republicans admitted that he was dissatisfied with the returns from the appeals he has sent out for contributions.

"While the plan seems likely to work received subscriptions from thirty-seven states and territories, but I regret that there are a few states and terri-tories from which I did not hear." Mr. Sherman said he received yesterday gratifying reports from Maine and Vermont of the progress of the cam-

Reynolds was a former teacher in the Houston schools, but the last two years conducted a private school. For the second time he organized summer excursions in Colorado, and this season secured parties from Houston, Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio and Galveston. They left in a special train, with about a hundred persons, who had rented two houses in Denver as headquarters.

A special to the Chronicle says the rent was unpaid and the officers are unable to locate Reynolds, who collected the money from the party before departing. The excursionists are stranded and are wiring for money to get home. OUTBREAK EXPLAINED Black Troops Rioted at Brownsville to Get Even With Texans.

Special to The Telegram. FORT NIOBRARA, Neb., August 16. The outbreak of the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry at Brownsville, Texas, is said to be the result of vows made by members of that regiment when it was stationed at this post. At that time the negroes vowed that if ever they were in Texas they would get even with the Texans for alleged threats to kill the negro troopers during maneuvers if the negroes were sent to Texas.

The Twenty-fifth infantry, which is composed of negroes, was ordered to attend the maneuvers of the Texas state troops, along with other United States troopers. Rumors came to the department headquarters that the Texas state troops had ball cartridges and intended using them on the negroes if they attended the encampment. Fearing trouble, the Twenty-fifth infantry was not sent to the maneuvers and the negroes swore that they would get even with Texas at the first oppor-

Special to The Telegram. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 16.-Homer Bassford, staff correspondent of the Republic, today cabled his paper from Bordeaux as follows: By the breaking down of the engine on which William J. Bryan and his party left Paris for Madrid today, connections were missed and Mr. Bryan will be able to spend only a few hours in the Spanish capital tomorrow.

The accident occurred at Poitiers, capital of the department of Vienna, sixty miles south, southwest of Tours. The town was for three centuries a British possession. Poitiers is an historic spot and boasts of several old churches, a cathedral, a castle, a college and numerous factories. It is inclosed by old walls, but its chief claim to distinction lies in the fact that it was the scene of the triumph of England over France in 1356, when Edward, the black prince, captured John, King of France.

The accident delayed the Bryan party only about half an hour, but this was sufficient to upset Mr. Bryan's plans during his stay in Ma-

To the Man Who Appropriates $1,000 Annually for Advertising

A great many of Lord & Thomas' most successful clients began their advertising with appropriations of a thousand dollars and even less.

THE Lord & Thomas Agency has grown to be the largest advertising agency in America through the successful development of small advertisers.

Today our volume of business -$4,000,000.00 per year—represents the appropriations of nearly 700 clients, so the average appropriation is less than $6,000.00 per year.

Some of our clients who started with small appropriations are now placing over $100,000.00 yearly with us; and their businesses have grown and are continuing to grow in proportion.

The great majority of our clients are now appropriating less than $3,000.00 per year. Our future growth depends upon the development of these $3,000.00a-year advertisers into the $100,000.00-ayear class.

We want an opportunity to show you how YOU can start advertising with a small appropriation and get into the $100,000.00-a-year class.

The small investor always is in greatest need of protection for his. investment. We realize that the $1,000 appropriation of the beginner means more to him than the $100,000.00 appropriation of the older advertiser. We govern ourselves accordingly. We want to tell you how we safe-guard your advertising appropriation by bound) covering advertising in all its phases, basing your investment on the only which we send free to interested advertisers.

Lord & Thomas Record of Results. Our exclusive Record of Results is the classified, indexed tabulation of actual results from hundreds of small and large advertising campaigns.

This record is interpreted, and the positive knowledge gained thereby is applied to your business by the ablest and highest salaried corps of advertising men in America.

That is why we can and do develop small advertisers, because we eliminate practically all of the waste in advertising due to the use of wrong copy and wrong media.

We want to explain to you, in person, the detailed workings of the Lord & Thomas Record of Results and just how our organization can apply what it teaches to your business. We want to explain to you why we are particularly anxious for small accounts and how we are peculiarly organized to develop them with the greatest care. One of our representatives is in your city every few days looking after the best. Up to the ninth inning not a single run had been made. Boles pitched for Fort Worth and worked hard. He fanned seven men, including some of the best batters in the Railroaders' bunch. In an unguarded moment, however, he was surprised by Rick Adams, who was pitching the game for Cleburne. Rick hit the ball and took three sacks, but was unable to score. The next time up Rick got in a drive and took two sacks, but could not get home.

It was in the ninth inning that the only runs were made, at which time two of the Railroaders' fleet-footed players came over the home plate amid deafening applause from the fans. A hot grounder was driven to Dupree, which he fumbled. This allowed Captain Shelton to take the first sack. Then Whiteman drove a stiff one to third and was safe on first by Cavender dropping it at the same time Shelton taking second. Then Poindexter came to the bat and struck out, but Erwin allowed the ball to pass, which allowed the two men to advance a base each. Then Speaker came to the bat and drove the pellet over Wilson's head in left field, scoring Shelton and Whiteman. The latter half of the ninth was Fort Worth's, but the ball was

Democratic Convention Takes Workers Away to Dallas-Present Week Last of the Canvass

Stockmen from the west and those who have talked with them say it is the desire of the stockmen out of the line of the Texas & Pacific, up the Denver and out over the Rio Grande to Brownwood and thence on to San Angelo, to have a share in making permanent the fat stock show by subscribing to the stock and that if these men are approached they will gladly subscribe. They do not, it is said, wish the Fort Worth people to get all of the shares of the stock. The work here has been hindered this week by the interest in the Democratic convention at Dallas, which took so many of the citizens of Fort Worth interested in Judge Bell's candidacy for governor, or in the workings of the convention itself, to Dallas. Some of the best of the workers in matters of this kind, getting subscriptions, have gone to the convention as delegates or workers or as spectators. #### CAR FRANCHISES TO BE DISCUSSED

Third Ward Club Will hold an Open Meeting

The various civic organizations of the city have been invited to participate in a meeting tonight at the hall of the Third Ward Club at Sixteenth and Elm streets, the purpose of which meeting is the discussion of the pending franchises which the Northern Texas Traction Company and the Arlington Heights Traction Company have asked for and on which a referendum election will be held Sept. 1. As yet there has been no definite action on the part of the civic bodies toward united opposition to the franchises, although this has been attempted in a desultory way. At the several meetings which have been held to discuss the granting of franchises without remuneration there has been apparently a majority in favor of demanding some pay to the city for the valuable rights which the franchises give the companies.

As there remain but two weeks until the date set for the election the clubs now propose to take up an active campaign and tonight's meeting, if well attended, will probably be the signal for the opening of the struggle between the companies and those memupon remuneration for franchise
