Street Car Difficulty at San Francisco May Result in Bloodshed

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 .- The Times

Another special train loaded with strike breakers was started for San Prancisco last night by James Farley. who has been employed to put an enl to the big street railroad strike in the Golden Gate city.

Three Farley trains are now trying cross the continent in four days, saving a day on the average passenger schedule. Another train will leave Jersey City tonight and still another may tomorrow night.

Twelve Hundred to Be Carried Farley's headquarters resemble the dquarters of a general in the field. His expedition is being equipped with unition, medical supplies and surgical instruments. Thirty-five hundred rounds of cartridges have been ordered for the men, twelve hundred revolvers of heavy caliber have been furnished and only men seeking adventure cr high wages are enlisting in his serv-

"There is nothing in our oath of allegiance to the government," he said, "that forbids us joining a labor union for our mutual benefit. We understand that any improvement in our conditions must come through legislation, and we expect to have the support of organized labor in trying to seure such legislation. If we cannot directly appeal to congress in our own behalf, we must do so indirectly, and this we expect to do through the legislative committee of the American Federation of Labor and of the various central labor bodies throughout the country. HIPPLE IS A SUICIDE

No One Knew of Private Transactions of Late President Until After Wreck

By Associated Press.

HILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 29. -So great was confidence reposed in Frank K. Hipple, late president of the Real Estate Trust company, which yesterday was forced to the wall because of secret business transactions of Mr. Hipple, the institution was virtually the bank of the Presbyterian church. Not only the general assembly, which was a large depositor but even the smallest Sunday school organizations and hundreds of individuals, which had abiding faith in the integrity of the late president, entrusted funds and savings to the institu-

"It almost destroys a person's faith n human nature," said H. P. Ford, private secretary to 'Dr. Alexander Henry, secretary of the board of publication and Sabbath school work of the Presbyterian church.

"As treasurer of the trustees of the general assembly, Mr. Hipple controlled over $1,000,000 and as the treasurer of the permanent committee on home missions and sustenation in the synod of Pennsylvania and Presbyterian hos pital of the city, had other large amounts at his command."

Since the failure of the Trust come pany it has been learned only a few months ago the institution had under consideration the possible depositary or the foreign mi Presbyterian church.

It is likely the investigation of the manner in which President Hipple came to his sudden death will now be made by coroners. Physician Read of Norristown admits Mr. Hipple may have committed suicide. A few friends who attended the private burial of the late president of the Trust company on Monday had knowledge of his difficulties, but none of them were aware of his greatly involved financial con-

He was known to have been a stock speculator, although financiers say he was one of the many who lost heavily in the Consolidated Lake Superior stocks several years ago. Late last night Adolph Segal, his counsel, and District Attorney John C. Bell held a conference. Mr. Bell said he had been called in by Segal because the promoter thought it entirely feasible to raise $3,500,000 needed by the Trust company. Mr. Bell said he in no way was connected with the case other than he might aid in raising the funds necessary to place the company again on sound basis, It is the expressed opinion of bankers the Real Estate Trust company failure does not involve any other banking house in the city. Three depositories for funds of the trust comoany, Franklin National bank, Market Street National bank and First National bank, aside from having deposits of the Trust company, are declared by officials of these institutions they are in no way involved in the failure. Ellis P. Passmore, cashier of the Franklin National bank, stated the three institutions and Finance company of Pennsylvania advanced half a million to the Real Estate Trust company for current needs. The very best form of securities is pledged, he said, "consequently the banks and the Finance company are

According to John M. Michener, president of the Clearing House association, that body stood ready to advance all the money required by the Trust company, provided proper security was offered. The directors of the Trust company are severely criticised by the member of the Clearing House association for the failure to acquaint themselves with conditions of the company and transactions of President Hipple.

Today the name of Adolph Segal is on the lips of everybody in Philadelphia. His rise from a toller over a op cauldron in a 10x12 cellar in west Fine-delphia less than twenty years ago to a handler of millions of dollars has been spectacular. Little was known of his personality until newspapers were read today. After buildng a large independent sugar refinery in Camden, N. J., across the Delaware river from Philadelphia and selling it to the American Sugar Refining company at an alleged profit of $100,000. he built another in the sugar district in this city along the river front, but as far as known the second venture was never bought by the purchaser of the first, although the statement was made by those whose money was tied up in the structure they receive 6 per cent on the investment from some source. Segal has been a promoter of several enterprises in the state outside of Philadelphia. It is said the Real Estate Trust company has been involved in all of them to some extent.

Traction Manager Says Lines Will Be Built at Once

The Northern Texas Traction Company begs leave to say to the public that it make application for a franchise to extend its lines of street railway in different parts of the city, as expressed in the two ordinances which are to be submitted to a vote of the people next Saturday. This application was made in deference to what it believed the public demanded, in the way of additional street railway con. venience and facilities. When the application was presented to the council, and at the same meeting, W. O. Allen, for himself and associates, applied for a franchise over two of the streets mentioned in the ordinance presented by this company. It has been asserted by some that the Traction Company applied for these franchises for no other purpose than to defeat the construction of any other lines into that territory; and these assertions have now taken the form that the Traction Company will not build the lines since Mr. Allen has withdrawn his application for a franchise. Some people have given credence to these rumors and

* POLYTECHNIC HEIGHTS ***********

Professor Mister of Polytechnic colege returned with his family last Tuesday from Eureka Springs after a Professor Bean and family of Polytechnic Heights, returned home last Monday from Misouri, where they had spent a pleasant summer vacation. Miss Effie Cowan of Mart, Texas, vill be a visitor at the home of J. T Owen in Polytechnic Heights for several ydas. Professor Rinker is home again from Ohio, where he has been spending a few weeks with relatives.

 GLENWOOD **************

Several inquiries have been made recently concerning the prospects at this time for securing an electric light plant in Glenwood. Nothing has been heard lately of the proposed plant to be located at Polytechnic Heights serving both communities, a proposition for which was presented to several citizens some time ago.

Mr. Griffin of Bessie street, Glenwood, who was injured in an accident while driving his horse hitched to a light wagon near the union station several days ago, is now reported quite well, though his knee joint will be lame for some time.

Dr. W. R. Love of Glenwood re ceived a telegram Tuesday night from Jacksonville, Texas, stating that his sister is in a very critical condition, having been taken suddenly sick. Dr. Love left Tuesday night for that place. Mrs. Fred Brown of West Bessie street, Glenwood, is spending this week in Cleburne with relatives.

PASSED EXAMINATION

st of Successful Applicants Received by L. M. Barkley

The list of those who were successful in the civil service examination held Aug. 1 for clerks and carriers in the local postoffice has been received by Postmaster L. M. Barkley, and from this list he will appoint six carriers and two clerks. Out of seventy-two who took the test forty-four passed. Of these thirty-one want to be carriers and thirteen clerks, Twelve negroes took the test and out of these nine passed. This is a better record than the white men who took the examination made, as but thirty-five whites out of sixty passed.

the Gibson Girl!

In art circles of this city it is common talk that the creator of the fameus pen and ink sketches, whose fame is world-wide, has tired of his search for inspiration among the paintings of Europe, and longs to return o the face that made his fortune. When Charles Dana Gibson sailed away less than a year ago, it was his ambition to become a great painter, and to that end he proposed to spend several years in study. But he did not ount on the Gibson Girl. When Gibson looked at the Del Saros in the Pitti Palace he saw the face of the Gibson Girl shining through the canvas. When he studied Giorgione at the Ufizzi a procession of Gibson Girls trooped under the stately trees of the landscapes. In fact, Gibson had begun to pack up reparatory to coming back to New ork when his friends persuaded him "stick it out;" to hold fast to those deals" about painting. The friends accomplished a compro-

Charles Dana Gibson is homesick, and is coming back to New York. "Gibson will soon return to New York," said a New York illustrator, who is intimately acquainted with him, and I am much mistaken if he doesn't again take up the pen-after declaring that he wouldn't. CUBAN REBELS ASK AMERICA TO HELP

Insurgent Leader Appeals to People of United States

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—An emissary arrived yesterday from the insurgent camp in Cuba, bearing messages from Colonel Pino Guererra, the rebel leader in Pinar del Rio provnce. Major Jose Augustin Castellinos, the messenger from Guererra, came by way of Tampa from Havana, after passing unmolested through the government lines. Wants American Help

Among the dispatches which he care ried was one addressed to the American people. It says that the insurrection is to cause intervention of the United States for a new election for president. Colonel Agurira, a local resident adherent of the insurrection, Major Castellinos brought an authorization officially to represent the insurgents in this country and organize a junta, such as existed in this city luring the revolution against Spain.

Major Castellanos denied vehemently he reports cabled from Havana yesterday that many of the rebels were ready to lay down their arms.

S.S.S. BLOOD POISON

The first outward sign of Contagious Blood Poison is a small blister. As the poisonous virus becomes more firmly entrenched in the blood a red eruption appears on the body, the mouth and throat ulcerate, the hair begins to come out, glands in the neck and groin swell, copper colored spots appear on the breast, back, etc., and the unfortunate victim finds himself diseased from head to foot. Mercury and potash do not cure Contagious Blood Poison; they shut the disease up in the system and remove the outward symptoms for awhile, but when the treatment is left off the trouble returns. Then the system being weakened from the action of these strong minerals the disease makes more rapid headway than before. S. S. S. is the antidote for Contagious Blood Poison. It cures permanently and certainly by going down into the blood and removing every vestige of the virus is free from all minerals, and while purifying the blood it builds up the entit system by its fine tonic effects. S. S. S. destroys every particle of the poiso and removes all danger of transmitting it to others. S. S. S. cures tagious Blood Poison because it is a perfect blood purifier. Gustav Hausmann Had Been in Fort Worth Since 1895

Gustav Hausmann, of Fort Worth, ged 56 years, died at Glendale, Mo.. resterday after a prolonged illness. No word has been received here as to arrangements for the funeral, but the interment will not be made at this place, and it is probable that the body will be interred in Glendale. Mr. Hausmann is survived by a widow, who was with him at the time of his death. He had been living in Missouri since last Christmas and was in very poor health during this time. Mr. Hausmann was secretary of the Texas Brewing Company, having taken that poition in April, 1895, and served continuously since that time. He was a highly educated gentleman and leaves many friends in this city. Mr. Zane-Cetti said Wednesday afternoon that his death is a great loss to the brewery. For a number of years Mr. Hausmann occupied rooms at the residence of A. R. Mignon, Vine and North streets and it is said that in his apartments he had one of the finest collections of coins in

It is said that he had coins of every issue since the establishment of the rare coins from foreign lands. He was a native of Germany, and, while yet a boy, became interested in coins through an accidental discovery of old Roman coins. These were exposed by workmen who were excavating in an old cemetery which had been in existence since the invasion of the land by the Romans. In one of the graves was found a large number of coins of the realm of Caesar and the young man gained possession of these, which served as a nucleus for his future splendid collection.

Court Decides Reorganized Republicans Are "Out" BLOW TO GREEN

Mandamus Proceedings on Secretary of State Shannon May Be Result

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 29.-Judge Claude Pollard, office assistant attorney general, today handed down an opinion in which he held that the Cecil Lyon wing of the republican party is the official party. He ruled that the ticket put out at the Houston republican convention and designated as the "Reorganized" republican party cannot be placed on the official ballot because it is not political but merely a faction of the republican party of

This opinion was handed down at the request of Secretary of State Shannon, who was in doubt as to which was the official party and whether or not he should place the names of the nominees of the Lyon faction or the faction headed by Ed Green on the official pallot. It is now believed that this will result in mandamus proceedings against Secretary of State Shannon, instituted by the "Reorganized" part of the republican party to compel Shannon to place the name of the pominess on the ticket.

Little Betty Hargis Goes From Kentucky to Mexico Alone

Betty Hargis, aged 7 years, and as pretty as a pink, passed through Fort Worth this morning, en route to Mexico. There is nothing startling about Betty's coming through the city, but way from a mountain town in Kentucky to Juarez, Mexico, where she is to make her future home with a very dear relative is interesting. The little lady, who traveled from the blue grass state this far without accident and who was bright enough to change cars at several places suc cessfully, deserves notice. Betty's mother and father are both dead. For the last year she has been with Kentucky relatives, but an aunt in Juarez wanted Betty and promised her an education if she would come to her. And then, too, as Betty expressed it, "She could ride all the 'ittle mooles (meaning burros) that she wanted to." The temptation was great, and with the consent of the Kentucky relatives, it was decided to let Betty go to Mexico. When questioned Betty answered questions put to her in an astonishingly intelligent manner. She stated that her uncle had accompanied her as far as Louisville, put her on a train with instructions to the conductor, and that she had come "all this long way without giving anybody any trouble at all." When Betty spoke of her dead father and mother tears crowded the baby eyes and the little lip trembled.

URGING LOWER RATE

Attorney Cowan Calls Commerce Com mission's Attention to Ruling That a check may be established and maintained on the cattle shipments the railways will place check men at various points. The especial use for these check men is to notice the records of the stock shipments so there may be no violations of the 28-hour law. It will be recalled that 36-hours without unloading is now permissible on the request of the shipper which request must be in writing. Shipments without such written requests, will only be handled under the 28-hour law. Employes of some of the companies are directed to ask the shippers to file the written request that the stock be kept in cars thirty-six hours, with every shipment, the claim being made that it will work to the advant age of the shipper and will not b harmful to the live stock. The Texas Cattle Raisers' Associa tion, through the efforts of the general attorney of the association, Sam H. Cowan, is trying to effect a reduction of 3 cents in the cattle shipping rate from the southwest to the northern markets. After a hearing before the interstate commerce commission the rate was held to be excessive to that degree, but the commission then lacked authority to enforce its judgment. Mr. Cowan has now called the attention of the commission to that former judgment ,and has asked that the necessary ruling be made to give it force

SEEK SITES IN NORTH FT. WORTH

Many Companies Corresponding With Commercial Club

As the result of the directory meeting Tuesday prospects are still brighter for the speedy location of several new manufacturing industries in North Fort Worth by the Commercial Club. For some time it has been known that there existed a bed of what is believed to be glass sand in the near vicinity of North Fort Worth, and it is now the purpose of the club to make this known abroad with hopes of inducing manufacturers to locate a plant here and utilize this supply which is thought to be almost inexhaustible. There is a sand bed just north of the city owned by C. R. Daniel, Mr. Danfel's brother is professor of chemistry in the University of Wisconsin, and has often expressed a high estimation of the value of this particular bed. A committee composed of Messrs. Pritchard, Haddaway, Conway, Hopkins and Grove will at once present propositions to investing capitalists and prospecting manufacturers of glass. An effort is now being made to secure for North Fort Worth a postoffice independent of the Fort Worth city office. Mayor Davis, P. J. Conway and L. G. Pritchard were appointed a committee to confer with the federal authorities on the matter. Secretary Haddaway is now in correspondence with eastern parties who are seeking a location for a paint factory, and who state they are very favorably impressed by the inducements held out by the city through its club. The owner of several lots near Main street has made a proposition to the club by which he will erect a building for a skating rink, providing he is given support in form of local effort and capital. A committee composed of F. R. Hopkins, J. W. Condon and T. M. Thannisch has this enterprise in hand. Many replies from advertisements have been received by the secretary, and great confidence is expressed in the good to be derived from a continued campaign of advertising. The club committee now has in charge the drinking fountain proposition and the early erection of a handsome concrete fountain is now quite certain at the intersection of Main about 10:30 o'clock at the time of closing his feature for the night. Lampkin had turned on the electric current and was waiting for the machinery to come to a stop when in an attempt to catch and hang onto one of the pending carriages he jumped on the beit wheel, which was still moving at a fast rate. He at once lost his balance and in falling his feet caught in the spokes of the wheel, twisting his body over and over at a rapid rate. He had sustained many bruises by the time the speed of the wheel was lowered and his body drawn from danger. Wednesday it was reported that Lampkin's injuries are not very serious and he will soon resume his work at the park.

F. S. Lampkin, manager of the circle swing concession at White City, was painfully injured Tuesday night

Foster was wounded by cutting. It is possible that the injury may have a fatal result. Complaints were filed against Dr. Thomas, John Thomas and George Irwin, charging them with aggravated assault committed on the person of C. E. Foster. The complaints were made by Deputy Sheriff Wren, based on information telephoned to him Sunday. The comaints are dated Aug. 27 and are filed in the county court. No other action has yet been taken n the cases. Foster is a mail carrier employed in

Son Roughly Handled By Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 29.-Hipple's son had a rough experience today when he emerged from the bank building. A man in the crowd saw him and shouted: "There goes the son of the rogue who said he had no faith in men who smoke cigars and chew tobacco."

Immediately the mob took up the cry and made a rush for young Hipple, and for a few moments it looked as though he would be roughly handled, but the police succeeded in beating the mob back and rescuing the frightened man from its wrath.

HALF RATES FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

Northern Texas Traction Company Makes Announcement

TICKETS READY SOON

Boston Officials Consent to Reduction to Become Effective Within the Next Three Weeks

FFORTS of the civic committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs to secure half rates for school children on street cars of Fort Worth have been rewarded as far as the lines of the Northern Texas Traction Company are concerned. Within three weeks, it is announced, the tickets will be printed and for sale. Announcement of the concession was made Wednesday in the following letter to Mrs. J. F. Swayne: FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 29.-Mrs, John P. Swayne, President City Federation of Women's Clubs, Fort Worth, Texas-My Dear Madam Early in July a committee from your organization called upon me and asked ne to take up with the officers of this company the question of giving half-fare rates to school children, which I promised to do when I went to Boston. I have just returned from my trip east, where I had a consultation with the officers of the company regarding the matter, and am pleased to inform you that this company will give half-fare rates on all of its city lines. In order to do this it will be necessary to sell tickets, and it will take some two or three weeks to have these tickets printed, the order for the same having been placed yesterday. As soon as the tickets arrive we will put these rates into effect, and we will put the necessary notices in the city papers, so that everyone will understand what it is necessary to do in order for the children to get the beenfit of this rate. These tickets will be good on all of the lines in Fort Worth, including the lines in North Fort Worth and the Polytechnic College. Yours very truly,

H. T. EDGAR, Manager. Work of Club Women

Several weeks ago Mrs. A. H. Mc-Carty, chairman of the civic committee of the Federation, presented in her report to the Federation the action of the Penelope Club months before in desiring to secure for school children this half rate. The Federation heartily took up the cause and a committee was appointed to interview the management of the Traction Company. Mr. Edgar said he could not answer definitely until he communicated with the Boston authorities. He returned Sunday from Boston and at once notified Mrs. Swayne and Mrs. McCarty that their request had been favorably received at Boston. The petitions that have been circulated in the city are, therefore, called in, by order of Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Canfield Proud of Dozen Children

That Mr. and Mrs. James Canfield, who formerly lived in a West Texas town, do not believe in race suicide was evidenced this morning at the with twelve children, all well and healthy with excellent appetites. The couple and their large family were en route to Bessemer, Ala., where Mr. Canfield goes to find employment in the steel plants of that city. The twelve Canfield children ranged in age from 8 months to 15 years. There were five boys and seven girls and each one except the three smallest carried a bundle of some kind. Mr. Canfield is proud of his family and when approached by a reporter took the greatest pleasure in telling the names of all the children and wanted some of them to show the newspaper man that they could sing, dance and say speeches. Mrs. Canfield is a little woman, not over five feet in height and the brightest kind of face. They both declared that they wanted as many children as

LEGISLATURE IN REBELLION

Since Colonel Tom Campbell remarked at Dallas that he would see that the platform demands of the democratic party were made into law if he had to keep the state legislature in continuous session, there have been numerous evidences of discontent among members of the lawmaking body. There seems to be a spirit of independence in the members that already promises to blaze into rebellion against the Campbell Big Stick, and unless there is a calming of the angry waters some interesting developments may be looked for when the new governor and legislature get together at Aus-

Senator George W. Glasscock of Williamson county, who will be a member of the next senate, is among the number inclined to take exceptions at the announced policy of Colonel Campbell.

Senator Glasscock says that the governor-to-be will find it rather a difficult task to "make" the legislature do his bidding unless that body is inclined to be in favor of the proposition, whatever it may be. This has been demonstrated with past administrations. Eenator Glasscock declared that the legislature is an independent part of the state government, and the chief executive may recommend measures but he cannot force the lawmakers to pass this or that law if in Its judgment and wisdom it does not see fit to do so, or agree with the views of the governor.

Speaking of probable legislation for the next session, Senator Glasscock asserted that in his opinion the financial question will be paramount. He thinks this is a serious question, and the next legislature will have to solve the problem of placing the state on a cash basis and keeping it there in the future. The revenue measures passed during the last session have not proved the revenue producers that its promoters and advocates believed, and they will have to be so changed that they will provide enough money with which to run the state government.

There is no question but that if the state legislature gets in an ugly humor and is disposed to rebel against the crack of the executive whip, the Campbell administration is going to be seriously handicapped from its very inception, and the result will be that the people of the state will be disappointed in the enactment of laws they believe to be necessary for the general welfare. In the interest of the masses of the reople it is to be hoped there will be no widening of the breach that is already slightly in existence. Governor-to-be Campbell and the next state legislature should proceed at once to harmonize their differences.

WAITING FOR DEAD MEN'S SHOES

The state of Alabama has just introduced a decided innovation in the political procedure of the country by electing what is termed alternate United States senators. In other words, Senators John T. Morgan and E. W. Pettus, who have just been renominated to represent that state in the senate, are to be afforded the pleasing spectacle of two other men standirg around waiting to occupy dead men's shoes-two men who will be gratified at their passing away as the tarrier standing between themselves and the satiation of their political ambition. The present term of Senator Morgan expires March 3, 1907, and that of Senator Pettus March 3, 1909. The legislature of Alabama meets but once in four years, like that of Mississippi. General Pettus did not care to have an extra session of the state legislature called in 1909, so he decided to enter the present primaries and take his chances along with his colleague. Senator Morgan is in his 83d year, and Senator Pettus is in his 86th year. Senators Morgan and Pettus are two grand old and insurrect no more.

eien whose fame as statesmen extends throughout the anion, for they are men who have been in political prominence for a long time. They have grown gray and feeble in the discharge of the duties they owe the people and their statesmanship is of that broad order that is sufficient to reach the necessities of the entire people, and in spite of their advanced age, they are regarded as among the leading statesmen of

It must be a peculiar feeling that wells up in the hearts of these two grand old men when they contemplate the action taken by the Alabama people. It is true they have reached an age where they may expect to be called to their eternal reward at any time, but the providing of their legal political heirs when they. are still discharging the duties they owe the people is a shame upon the state of Alabama and must be a keen mortification to two grand old men who deserve auch better treatment at the hands of the people they have served so long and so well. It would have been more merciful to have formally retired them.

EAST TEXAS POLITICALLY SPEAKING

The Fort Worth Telegram bemoans the fate of east Texas and sees visions of an industrious and thrifty people deserting its farms and orchards to enter the political arena. East Texas may do it, but most east Texans love money mighty well.—Timpson Times. Politics used to be an industry in east Texas; now it is only a diversion. As an industry it has been suerseded by fruit and truckgrowing, which east Texas. has found to be incomparably more profitable. Still, it does not follow that east Texas will lose any of that keen zest which it has in politics. The ordinary cast Texan goes into politics with as much assurance as a duck waddles down to the pond, and he is as much in his element, when engaged in political strife, as the duck is in the water. Besides, every east Texan, though his modesty holds back the avowal of the thought, is conscious of a superior fitness for office, and in taking office he feels that he is taking only his own. Above it all there is a political fraternity among east Texans, which, if it does not make them invincible, at least renders them formidable. Therefore much political activity is to be expected from east Texans, but to suppose that they will ever abandon or even neglect their orchards and their truck patches is to betray great ignorance both of the east Texas character and of the blessings with which nature has hedged them in.-Dallas News. No man can faithfully serve two masters, and when the east Texan flushed with the glory of political success and burning with an ardent desire to offer himself News Co.; Hotel Jefferson News Stand, Twelfth upon the sacrificial altars of his country has to choose between politics and the truck patch, it is the truck patch that is going to suffer. It may not be intentional and it may not be premeditated, but the fact is there, however, as plain as the noonday sun in a cloudless sky, and The Telegram says it without any desire to disparage the eastern portion of our great

> Human nature is the same the world over, and the principle is pretty well established that the future is best judged by the past. We can all remember east Texas in the flush of past political successes, and when that section is again able to step up and control the effect of sharpening the east Texas appetite for such leaves and fishes. And those east Texas fellows are all natural born politicians. They take to politics just as naturally as a Fort Worth man does to artesian water. Flushed with their present shining success they are going to reach for all there is in sight. The Telegram happens to know something of the east Texas

THE TERRELL ELECTION LAW

Republican papers all over the country are busily engaged in twitting the democratic party over the Terrell election law. The Alamogordo News, a republican publican that emanates from New Mexico, says:

Democratic Texas, with her 250,000 democratic mapority, isn't able to produce an election law that is sensible and one that will prevent juggling among politicians. The recent primary election whereat four candidates were on the ticket for governor has proven a grand disgust to sensible people of Texas. As it stands the candidate who did get the greatest number of votes in the primary election may be nominated by the state convention, thus showing the failure of the choice of the people as to the candidate for governor. And it is also claimed that it took four lawyers to every clerk at the polls in order that the monstrosity election law might be legally interpreted. What a pity,

There is a whole lot about the Terrell election law that is displeasing to the democracy of Texas, since the real effects of the law can be judged through the medium of practical experience, and that law will in due time be revised and perfected or wiped entirely off the statute books. But we want our republican friends, and especially those in New Mexico, to understand that it is none of their funeral. The Terrell election law can be handled without outside interference.

And while we are on the subject, it will not be out of place to remark that the Terrell law with all its mperfections and absurdities, its drastic provisions and its exceeding ambiguity, is nothing to compare with some of the measures enacted by our republican triends during the time they were permitted to guide the helm of the ship of state. The Terrell law may seek to make the political party the master of the people, but it does not go quite so far as was once undertaken by the republicans. There are no provisions for Federal troops and bayonets to enforce any of its provisions.

The United States district attorney at San Antonio has been instructed to prepare for the defense of the pegro soldiers charged with riot and murder in Brownsville. The United States government may defend these men to the limit, but that will not prevent them from being properly prosecuted. The people of Texas will probably be just as zealous in the matter as the

The Telegram stands in the matter of free franchises in this city just where it has always stood. For instance, identical lands near Mart, where three counties meet, have different assessment values. How is that sort of thing going to be corrected?-Waco Times-Herald.

An equalization of the tax problem is one of the erying needs of the state, but it seems very different of accomplishment. Any near approach to the subject is the signal for indignant protests from every interest involved. But the tax laws of Texas must be equalized. 0 0 0 0

The republican party in Texas is not color blind. It has given the voters their choice between Green and Gray for governor. That may be all right, it is a sure fact that most of the Green crowd are black.-Denton

And the indications are the Gray contingent will be very blue after the state election.

There is not much said about eating crow until after nominations are made. But there is more crow being eaten at the present writing, because of the Bryan boom, than at any other time in the history of this country. Our esteemed contemporaries like the Dallas News and Fort Worth Record, that went into ecstacies over the nomination of Parker, are eating crow by the dozen. Our sympathy goes out in large sized chunks, but we cannot control their appetites .- Amarillo Daily Panhandle.

The Parker crowd had to eat so much crow they look upon it now as a delectable dish and are loudest in their acclaims for Bryan. But Bryan is now much "broader" than formerly, according to their view.

 \circ \circ \circ The announcement comes from Washington that the idea of abandoning Fort Brown as a post has been under advisement for some time, that the disturbance of the negro troops, on being refused drinks at the white saloons, had nothing to do with the determination to abandon the place. Who is a "liah" now?-

The announcement is also made from Washington that Fort Brown is to be abandoned in accordance with the policy President Roosevelt adopted with reference to the Indianola postoffice. And that is the

Now some of the newspapers are predicting a great prohibition contest in Texas in 1910. As 1910 is a long ways off there is no occasion to become unduly excited about what may happen then, especially as so many important events are scheduled to transpire in the interim.-San Antonio Express.

There is not much danger of a prohibition election in Texas at any time in the near future. Texas is already very nearly a prohibition state under the workings of local option and the people generally seem very well satisfied with the situation.

The Terrell election law is a doomed document. The next legislature will tear it into smithereens the first pass it gets at it. It is one law passed by a democratic legislature that does not please any one .-

There are not many champions appearing for the Terrell election law, but there seems to be a general feeling of dissatisfaction with the measure. Its drasticprovisions are utterly intolerable to a free people. 0000

By the unwritten law a governor of Texas is alowed to serve two terms. Why not make the term of governor four years, and then fix it so that he cannot succeed himself? This would do away with all and the confusion that is always associated with the olding of one.-Terrell Transcript.

That is just exactly what should be done. A big political fight in Texas every two years, with candidates in the field perpetually results in such a disturbance of business conditions that it should be

"Fortune does not favor man of our years," said Louis XIV. to Marshal Villeroy, after the battle of Ramillies. Despondent Louis was then not quite 70, and did not foresee that an American would arise to prove his maxim false. Youth will be served, indeed! Speaker Cannon, a likely young fellow turned 70, has steadily risen in popularity as he has risen in age. The formal launching of his Presidential candidacy in Illinois yesterday is but the culmination of that good fortune which, in defiance of French proverbs and the sour sayings of the Ecclesiast, has steadily increased with his years. We do not mean that he is to be taken too seriously as a candidate; but the universal feeling of amused kindliness for a gallant-veteran, with a sort of diffused personal interest in the quaint and frank character of the man, is a more striking tribute than the bestowal of many offices.-New York Evening Post,

NEGRO DOMINATION IN TEXAS

The information that Fort Brown is to be abandoned on account of the objection of the people of Brownslile to the presence of rioting negro soldiers, is an exhibition of government asininity just about on a par with that which closed the postoffice at Indianola, Miss, because the people objected to a negro postmistress. If the people of Texas had asked the presence of these negro soldiers and then treated them with ncivility there would be some reason or justification for the threatened action. But they were sent into this state of the government's own volition and of the expense of holding an election every two years | in defiance of public sentiment, and it will take a little more than this small bit of government recrimination to compel the people of any portion of Texas to submit to any form of negro domination .- Fort

Now, you have said something. The government at Washington seems to have but little regard for the wishes of the people of the south, anyway. Negro postmasters, customs house collectors, and negro soldiers are pushed on them. People will not stand this thing very much longer.-Gainesville Messenger.

. . . . MAKING HOMES IN TEXAS

There is nothing to carry Texans back to these states but old memories. There is everything imaginable to bring them back after a short visit and make them better citizens than they were before.-Fort Worth | He informed his happy children that they, too, should

All the "home-comings" that are now under way, and twice as many more, would not in the least affect the "great one" to the Lone Star state. The sweet old memories of bygone days are but drops in the bucket when compared with possibilities of a happy home in Texas, as an incentive for immigration. The Panhandle offers this incentive and the old states people are coming. Seventy car loads of homeseekers one week is the evidence.-Amarillo Panhandle.

. . . . ONE STAINLESS AMERICAN

It is wonderful now the Bryan sentiment has grown among the people without any apparent fostering influence. It seems to be a procedure that is wholly spontaneous among the masses, who are turning to the great Commoner with rare unanimity from one end of the country to the other. It is a great tribute to William J. Bryan, but he deserves it .- Fort Worth

It is because Mr. Bryan is one of the greatest living Americans and his fair name has never been tarnished in the two campaigns which he made. From the rapid manner in which things are going, it may be judged that in 1908 he may be styled the one stainless American.-Gainesville Messenger.

. . . . THE TERRELL ELECTION LAW

We are not inclined to question the accuracy of the Fort Worth Telegram's conclusion that there is one demand of the state democratic platform with which the next legislature will cheerfully comply, to wit, a thorough revision of the Terrell election law. The question, however, is, will the next legislature make it any better or more satisfactory? We hope it will, but are not prepared to go so far as to say it will.-El Paso

THE VETERANS IN CAMP RECALL MEMORIES OF '60S

Biggest Crowd in History at Confederate Park - Nights Devoted to Recounting Stories of War-time days-Complete Program Prepared for Each Day's Session

rant County, Texas, Aug. 29 .took its long flight to join he warriors' souls when the Southern Confederacy went down in defeat before overwhelming numbers now floats over the grizzled veterans of the most gigantic struggle known in the history of the world, at Confederate park. Last night as the old soldiers with their families gathered in front of their tent homes, remembering the camp life forty years ago, sang: "We are tenting tonight on the old camp ground" the song that is claimed by both north and south, made moist the eyes of men who never weakened before the cannon's mouth.

Large Crowd at Opening

The fourth annual reunion of Confederate veterans, Sons and Daughters of the Confederacy at Confederate park under the auspices of the Confederate Park Association, of which General K. M. Van Zandt is president, and R. R. Keith, vice president and general manager, opened this year with a larger first day crowd than ever before. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Tuesday, there were fully three hundred people on the grounds and by night there were not less than 350, with people still coming in from the surrounding country, Fort Worth, Wise, Parker and Palo Pinto counties. At night there were a large number of arrivals from Springtown and Poolville and as the crowd grew larger the scene presented grew more interesting. Flambeaux were burning all over the grounds, the merry-go-round was in full blast, the young people were dancing in the big pavilion and the ice cream, soft drink and other stands were all doing

Under the supervision of General Manager R. R. Keith the park had een put in good shape, the arrangements being better than ever before, and Mrs. Felix Gaither, assisted by Mrs. George Ellison and Miss Maggie Morrow of Fort Worth, had fitted up the Daughters' headquarters, where onade to the visitors, in such a way as to make their building a real house

There was no program Tuesday, opening day, the entire time being consumed in getting ready. Tents were pitched along the different thoroughfares and by night the park was a city of tents.

General K. M. Van Zandt and family arrived Tuesday afternoon, his headquarters having been prepared for him during the day. John A. Kee of the Sons, pitched his tent Monday and with Mrs. Kee has been dispensing open handed hospitality to later arrivals, who had not established themselves for camp life. There is no lack of comfort and amusement, as camp life goes, and there is no lack of those things that visitors hope to find at the park, There is a well conducted livery stable, where teams are cared for and fed, restaurants where good meals are served, a barbecue stand, ice cream, lemonade and cigar stands, a shining parlor, watermelons on ice, soda pop stands, a merry-go-round for the children and old folks and a splendid dancing pavilion with a good band to furnish music for the dances.

Miller Jr., the Belton banker, for control of the majority of stock in the Temple Waterworks Company, also the electric light company. Both companies were formerly controlled by J. T. Smither, now a gold miner in Nevada. Mellor obtained a $65,000 judgment against Smither as the result of a transaction in cotton. About this time Miller came into possession of the water and light stock. Mellor claimed fraud and set about finding a way to divest Miller of con-

THE AUDITORIUM FUND IS INTACT

$2500 Will Not Be Used for Fat Stock Show

The $2,500 which has been raised in Fort Worth during the past two years as a nucleus of a fund for the building of an auditorium in the city will remain intact and be held in trust for its original purpose instead of being diverted to the aid of guaranteeing the livestock show pavilion. This was decided at meetings of the directors of the Board of Trade and the auditorium committee Tuesday afternoon in the Board of Trade room. The retain-. ing of the fund is largely due to the efforts of F. W. Axtell, who worked hard to raise the fund and who still feels that the proposed livestock pavilion would not answer all needs of in trust for the purpose originally intended Mr. Axtell proposed to the Board of Trade that he would endeavor to secure twenty-five subscribers to the stock show fund at $100 each, the money so raised to take the place of the auditorium fund on the stock show guarantee subscription. After discussion of the matter the board accepted the proposition and adopted a resolution recommending that the auditorium committee also accept the plan. In presenting the matter before the board Mr. Axtell said that he was deeply interested in the successful outcome of both enterprises, but felt that the money which had been raised to erect a building here in the city should not be used to aid another building, which would not answer all the requirements of a building

At 5 o'clock the members of the auditorium committee assembled in the rooms of the Board of Trade, the ollowing being present: W. G. Turner, hairman; Brown Harwood, W. P. Lane, J. W. Spencer, J. E. Weeden, Mrs. H. Brann, Mrs. B. B. Paddock and Miss Margaret McLean, F. W. Axell also attended this meeting. The committee was decidedly in favor of retaining the $2,500 for its original purpose and accepted Mr. Axtell's plan without dissent. This plan included the lacing of the money in banks for afekeeping until such time as its removal may be authorized by the members of the committee and the Board

The question came up as to which bank should be entrusted with the money and it was finally decided to adopt Mr. Axtell's plan in this particular, which provides for the deposition of the fund in the first three banks passed en route up Main street from he Board of Trade rooms. These are the Farmers & Mechanics, American National and Fort Worth National. The money will at once be transferred to these institutions and they will act as trustees. Mr. Axtell told the committee that he felt reasonably certain that he could secure the twenty-five subscriptions to the stock show fund and he will begin work on this task at once. He has been unusually successful in such matters heretofore and is friends anticipate no trouble for im in this undertaking.

"GET BUSY," HIS ADVICE TO RACE

Dr. J. M. Mosely Delivers Address at Negro Meeting

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 29.-The National Negro Business League began a three days' session here today with many delegates present, all of the southern states and some of the northern states being represented. The league eschews politics, it claims, and practically all of the talks made today and those on the program for the two following days have a practical side to them. Among the number, and one that may be regarded as typical, is that address of Dr. J. M. Mosely of Fort Worth, who spoke in part as follows: The Modern Drug Store

"Mr. President of the Negro Business League, Ladies and Gentlemen: The first thing we see of a drug stora is the sign; this denotes much, just as the look of a person will portray his character, so the kind of a sign you hang out will greatly aid the public to determine who and what you are. A plain sign written in plain letters so that 'he who runs may read' will do more to attract the majority than all of your fancy ones. "We come next to the show window, which must be kept nicely arranged with something new in it as often as any new thing comes out. For it is this place that everybody watches, and the store is judged, to a great extent, by what is seen in passing. "On entering a drug store, we come first to a soda fountain, which must be kept tidy and clean to a fault if you wish the people to enjoy their stay with you and be happy. This fountain clerk is hired to work and make it convenient for the customers and n to engage with them in conversatio except they draw him in, then answer in as few words as possible and stop, thereby giving the visitor to see that all of it is for his pleasure and enjoyment. Keep an eye always on the able, for sometimes a person may fancy they see something in the cream or soda; be ready to correct it with pleasure. I threw away four dishes of cream just the other day because the guests fancied that it was salty, which was not, but it pleased them an they were satisfied and left feeling that their whims and wishes had been respected (same cream). "Keep chairs and tables dry and ertainly clean; as soon as one gets through be there and ask if more? if no-then remove dishes; if yes-get a new set of dishes to serve them and not same ones. Always take it for granted, 'they have their eye on you. "We pass to the drug store proper, with bottles well proportioned on the shelves and not a speck to be found or nearly full, showing that there is more for the next prescription. Study your business and be able to say yes at once when asked for anything, and never say no, because it must be there. There is nothing so disgusting in drug business as to hear the clerk say, "We are out;" the next thing, you will be out of business. "Keep your want list in a place where you can reach it, place thereon all shorts before they are out, and when the wholesale man comes, hand it to him and he will do the rest, provided the proprietor's purse is ail right.

"We pass next to the show cases: With shelves as they are today we are able to expose every article to view so that the customer has only to look and see what he wants. "The life of a drug store depends on the one behind the counter. He can fan life into it at every turn or he an so dampen the life of your store hat it will die only for the want of man behind the counter. "If a customer asks for a certain kind of medicine, it matters not how old and out of date it be, that is what he called for, so get it for him, just as though he called for the latest nedicine; say not a word except he asks you, then you may give your opinion as you think. The customer he next time will consult you before

"Drug stores have character. like people, and after that character has been molded, it can not be destroyed in a day. You can hear one say, 'If you cannot get it at that drug store, is not in the city,' or 'someone short-changed me; I can't say who, but I know it was not that drug store. "Confidence is won and success is easy; every man and woman looks on you with perfect delight. Except you can establish such a character, sell out and try something in which you can

"Ladies and gentlemen, there is one hing in my people I don't like-they are too easy; they are satisfied at mere existence. I say to you as I have always said: If I can't be the best doctor, then I will be the best wood chopper. I would rather be the best farmer than a poor druggist. Get busy and follow that profession at which you can best succeed-get busy."

It is Superior Teachers that make a Conservatory Famous

YOU WANT THE BEST FOR YOUR CHILD

The greatest American Pianist is Edward Baxter Berry. The greatest Violinist of the South is Chas. D. Hann. The most successful Vocalist in the South west is Katherine Stewart. These famous musicians are at the head of departments in the Landon Conservatory and are assisted by thoroughly trained teachers of marked inborn gifts for imparting instruction, each teacher being enthusiastic in the work of teaching, and each has a strong magnetic and forceful character, being teachers "by the Grace of God" the Germans say. This shows how Landon Conservatory has earned National Reputation, and has attracted students from thirty-three states during its seven years of wonderful growth and remarkable success. The director has furnished four teachers for a well-known conservatory in New York, twelve to the Randolph-Macon Colleges of Virginia. The presidents of colleges in the Southwest call for many times more teachers than it has graduates to supply. Landon Conservatory has a Home Life with active religious influence. CHAS. W. Bears Triumphant, Bulls Disconsolate Support Withdrawn and Prices Go Scurrying Downward Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Disconsolate cotton bulls saw the last vestige of their air castles destroyed, for the time being at least, while complacent bears look on their own handiwork with satisfaction today. Fickle Liverpool smiled upon the shorts this morning, cables reporting a decline of several points more than expected in the prices on that market, and, as a consequence, the local market opened with a rush of selling, and prices at a decline of 5 to 6 points. But shorts proved to be the market's best friend, as many of them believed yesterday's decline too severe and influenced somewhat by the Journal of Commerce report on Arkansas and Louisiana conditions, were good buyers during the initial trading, checking the downward movement for a time. However, little or no new buying was attracted and when reports of good weather and heavy southern receipts began to come in, shorts withdrew their support and became aggressive sellers, and the decline was soon again in full swing, values incurring a net loss of 11 to 13 points before the noon

Not being content with this the bears hammered prices down a few points further during the afternoon, new low levels being reached for all options and it was reported that the bull leader was selling, but toward the close of the session shorts again became active purchasers, and the market rallied, prices working up with celerity until the greater portion of the loss had been recovered. The close was steady with prices at a net loss of 4 to 5 points. Spot cotton market ruled quiet, prices being 10 points

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 29.-The cotton market battled with adverse conditions today, but while prices were at all times inclined toward a lower level, a fairly steady tone was maintained throughout the early session. The sharp decline in foreign prices caused a sympathetic slump here, opening prices being 5 to 7 points below yesterday's finals, while the loss was increased during the first few minutes to a net of 11 to 12 points, under selling engendered by the heavy Houston estimate and some bearish advices regarding the spot situation as a whole in Texas. Although the Journal of Commerce report regarding the Louisiana crop did not bear much weight on D sentiment as its deductions did not coincide with the generality of private reports from state authorities, bulls made an effort to hold the market and De owing to the magnanimity of the were for a time successful.

shorts, who covered at the decline, But later support was withdrawn and prices dropped 10 to 14 points, recovering the loss, later in the day when a rush to buy by professionals probably for the purpose of influencing Liverpool, set in and steadjed the market with the result that finals showed a net loss of only 3 to 4 points' Spot cotton prices lost 1-16c, middling being quoted at 9 5-16c. Wheat Prices Down-Corn and Oats Sell Higher-Trading Light in

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Nothing transpired during the day to break the monotony in the wheat pit and the session was as dull as its immediate predecessors, while fluctuations were confined to a still smaller range. There was nothing in the overnight developments to stir up any excitement and prices at the opening were practically unchanged, but the crowd seems to be ong and a leading operator unloaded a little from time to time, whenever any advancing tendency was noted, thus preventing any strength and causing ecusional recessions. This was the only feature and the close found prices unchanged to %c lower. Local receipts 84 cars as compared with 37 this day last year. Corn

Corn buying was in larger volume than for a long time past, but at that the market showed no great degree of animation. Covering of shorts in the September, owing to the continued light acceptations from the country, furnished a good part of the buying. The market was firm at all times. Finals showed a net gain of 1/2c for September and were unchanged for the other options Local receipts 170 cars as compared with 455 this day last year.

Oats Oats prices were elevated as a re-sult of strength in the corn pit, and some short covering. Closing figures showed a net gain of 4c. Local receipts 168 cars as compared with 188 this day last year. Provisions

CITY'S HEALTH IS EXCELLENT

From a health standpoint Fort 40....1,075 3.40 Worth as never in a better condition than just now. There are but few contagious diseases in the city and the 18.... 755 2.05 coming fall bids fair to be free from | 11.... 829 fevers and malarial nights.

Dr. Lyman Barber, city health physician, stated Wednesday that he was | 15.... 758 2.10 more than pleased with the present 39.... 764 2.25 good health of Fort Worth folk and that the city had passed through a 80.... 187 4.25 summer with comparatively little 13.... 165 sickness. There has been, said Dr., 17.... 196 Barber, less malaria in the city this summer than for many years past. However, there is some in the city now, many cases being reported daily. 16.... 306 As for fevers there were possibly fifteen or twenty cases of typhoid during the month just drawing to a close. Only ten have been reported to the health authorities, but Dr. Barber asserted that he was sure there were a number of cases concealed which could not be recorded.

The quick change in the weather has had much to do with the bringing on of malarial attacks within the past week. There is only one case of diphtheria in town. The work of cleaning the city of all germ-breeding material is veing pushed rapidly by Dr. Barber and his coworkers. Wednesday the chain gang spent in the Third ward clearing alleys of all rubbish and cutting down weeds. The workers will probably remain in this section of the city for several days as the conditions there 15c Lower-Sheep Steady Cattle receipts reached 2,000 head for the end of the first half of the week.

Steers Beef steers fit for the block were almost a minus quantity, and with the heavy marketing of yesterday late in the day, packers were not inclined to take hold readily. Three loads of 1,034 pound grass steers were among the first sold and as an index to the market were some weaker. Bidding on such of the steer supply as appeared of decent killing quality was weaker all round.

BARSTOW HAS WON FIGHT WITH SOIL

Has Succeeded in Proving Possibilities of Irrigation

Tuesday, on his way north for a trip combining business and pleasure, there passed through Fort Worth one of the men who deserve well of the western part of Texas. The man is George Barstow of Barstow, Ward county. For fourteen years or more he has labored to make that part of the plains country grow fruits and such vegetables as come early or very late and thus command remunerative prices, and he has succeeded. Now, after his years of patient endeavor, his expenditures of money, his trials and tribulations, he has a profitable industry which has done more than merely make the success of Mr. Barstow. It has demonstrated that west Texas is suited for more than stock grazing on the scale of one longnorn to about fifteen acres of grass. Grapes, which rival in luxuriance of yield the most favored spots in the valleys of Southern California, where the mountain slopes give as a reward for grape culture some of the best yields in the world, pears, plums, celery, cantaloupes, apples and so on through a long list, all have been grown to perfection ith returns which give ample reward for the time, money and labor expended. But Mr. Barstow's success means much more than the success that has come to him alone. It is a demonstration of possibilities which has prompted the settlement of many others in that part of the state and has direct-ed attention to the mirits of those west Texas lands which only needed water to make their inherent fertility apparent. And the water is there. A few feet down in the earth and the unfailing supply of artesian water comes to vivify the plain and then about anything which can be grown in the temperate clime where there is fertile soil is grown to great advan-

Many farmers are tempted, from the southern part of the state, to come to Fort Worth and so on out to the plains country, where the irrigation of the soil makes farming certain, and the climate is all that the most exacting could desire. They go out, too, well "fixed." They sell their high priced south Texas lands say at $40 to $60 an acre and buy land which costs them from $4 to $6 and so on up to $25 per acre, the great variance in price being due to locations. Considerable of the travel which goes through Fort Worth for the west is due to this cause, as well as to the homeseekers who come from other It may be that the efforts of the railway companies, which have been continuous for several years passed are now bearing fruit and those who buy the south Texas lands are the ones induced to come to the state by the advertising efforts of the railways of the southern parts of the state, such as the Southern Pacific and Frisco. which has an interest in the coast country, through several lines, which will eventually be connected with the main line at present only in the northern parts of the state. There is a steady flow of homeseekers into the southern or coast part of Texas and the purchase, by these new comers of the lands they find to suit them there, and an equally steady flow of the former farmers of that part of the state to the plains country and one of the truest of the pioneers in the region out toward the Pecos is George Barstow of Barstow, Texas, who demonstrated the possibilities of that country for the agriculturist as it was known to have advantages for the

Word Received From Scientist in the Jungle

Special to The Telegram. BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 29.-News from Prof. R. L. Garner, who is located 150 miles inland in the Jungles of Africa learning the language of moneys, and who has not been heard from for a year or more, was received today in a letter to his son, Harry E. Garner, of this city. In order to develop his theory that monkeys talk like human beings, the professor has built him a house about 150 miles inland from the port of Fernan-Vax, in the French Congo. He is the only white man within many miles of the spot. He is a great favorite with the natives, who call him "God of the Gun." In the letter just received the professor writes interestingly of his life in the jungle,

"I recently lost the dearest little girl monkey that I ever saw. I called her Dinkie. I bought her when she was about two days old and reared her by

could avoid it. "I learned more of the speech of monkeys from Dinkie than I ever learned from any other specimen. "If you will come here and sit down in my jungle you can hear some voices of animals without going into the jungle. I have stood here at my door perhaps a hundred times and shouted to chimpanzee and monkeys in the bush and had them answer me as often. Not an hour of the day passes that I fail to hear them talking in the forest as I sit here writing. "I have done little shooting for the last eighteen months, because there are no good plains nearby, and hunting in the forest is hard work. I have shot a good many of the wild peacock and hornbill toucan, because I needed them to eat."

philosopher as well as an investigator of the professor. Here are some quotations from the letter: "Bad health is a misfortune; bad luck is a misnomer. The latter is the apologic name of indifference or inability. "The man who tries to do things too big for him fails. He calls it bad luck, whereas it is only bad management, It

Negro Boys Discover Set of Costly Service Hidden in Woods

Special to The Telegram. PARIS, Texas, Aug. 29-A few nights ago the residence of J. M. Dodd, a banker at Grant. I. T., was burglarized. The burglar secured almost a full set of costly silver tableware. The silverware was found concealed in the woods on this side of the river, near Arthur City, by two little negroes. While the boys were in the field at work their dog ran a rabbit in a hollow tree, near a branch. The boys went to twist the rabbit out, and while climbing through some sprouts, close to the tree that had grown up around a green stump, they discovered the silverware, hidden away in the stump. The valuables had the name of the owner on them. It is supposed that the burglar had secreted them there until the excitement of the burglary should die out with the intention of calling for them later.

habits. I opened my traveling case and distributed its contents on the dressing table. I had carried through all my adventures a folding leather photograph-holder, containing portraits of my father and mother and of John Marshall Glenarm, my grandfather, and this I set up on the mantel in the little sitting room. I felt tonight as never before how alone I was in the world, and a need for companionship and sympathy stirred in me. It was with a new and curious interest that I peered into my grandfather's shrewd old eyes. "He used to come and go fitfully at my father's house, but my father had displeased him in various ways that I need not recite, and my father's death had left me with an estrangement which I had widened by my own acts. Now that I had reached Glenarm, my mind reverted to Pickering's estimate of the value of my grandfather's estate. Although John Marshall Glenarm was an eccentric man, he had been able to accumulate a large fortune; and vet I had allowed the executor to tell me that he had died comparatively poor. In so readily accepting the terms of the will and burying myself in a region of which I knew nothing, I had cut myself off from the usual channels of counsel. If I left the place to return to New York I should simply disinherit myself, At Glenarm I was, and there I must remain to the end of the year; I grew bitter against Pickering as I reflected upon the ease with which he had got rid of me. I had always satisfied myself that my wits were as keen as his, but I won-

Chapter V A RED TAM-O'-SHANTER. I looked out on the bright October morning with a renewed sense of isolation. Trees crowded about my windows, many of them still wearing their festal colors, scarlet and brown and gold, with the bright green of some sulking companion standing out here and there with startling vividness. I

The great library seemed larger than ever when I beheld it in the morning light. I opened one of the French windows and stepped out on a stone terrace, where I gained a fair view of the exterior of the house, which proved to be a modified Tudor, with battlements and two towers. One of the latter was only half-finished, and to and to other parts of the house the workmen's scaffolding still clung. Heaps of stone and piles of lumber were scattered about in great disorder. The house extended partly along the edge of a ravine, through which a slender creek ran toward the lake. The terrace became a broad balcony immediately outside the library, and beneath it the water bubbled pleasantly around heavy stone pillars. Two pretty rustic bridges spanned the ravine. one near the front entrance, the other at the rear. My grandfather had begun his house on a generous plan, but, buried as it was among the trees, it suffered from lack of perspective. However, on one side toward the lake was a fair meadow, broken by a water tower, and just beyond the west divid. ing wall I saw a little chapel; and still farther, in the same direction, the outlines of the buildings of St. Agatha's were vaguely perceptible in another strip of woodland. The thought of gentle nuns and school girls as neighbors amused me. All I asked was that they should keep to their own side of the wall.

I heard behind me the careful step of Bates.

"Good morning, Mr. Glenarm. I trust you rested quite well, sir." His figure was as austere, his tone is respectful and colorless as by night. The morningl ight gave him a pallid cast. He suffered my examination coolly enough: his eyes were, indeed, the best thing about him. "This is what Mr. Glenarm called

"I fear it wasn't provided, sir! As you see, Mr. Glenarm; the house is quite incomplete. My last master had not carried out all his plans." Bates did not smile. I fancied he never smiled, and I wondered whether John Marshall Glenarm had played upon the man's lack of humor. My grandfather had been possessed of a certain grim, ironical gift at jesting, and quite likely he had amused himself by experimenting upon his serv-

This I threw in to reassure myself rather than for his information. It was just as well. I reflected, to assert a little authority, even though the fellow undoubtedly represented Pickering and received orders from him. "In a day or two, or as soon as 1 have got used to the place, I shall settle down to work in the library. You

"There's two for the gates in the outer wall and one for the St. Agatha's gate; they're marked, as you see. And here's the hall door key and the boat house key that you asked for last night." After an hour spent in unpacking I went out into the grounds. I had thought it well to wire Pickering of my arrival, and I set out for Annandale to send him a telegram. My spirit lightened under the influences of the crisp air and cheering sunshine. What had seemed strange and shadowy at night was clear enough by I found the gate through which we had entered the grounds the night before without difficulty. The stone wall was assuredly no flimsy thing. It was built in a thoroughly workmanlike manner, and I mentally computed its cost with amazement. There were, I reflected, much more satisfactory ways of spending money than in building walls around Indiana forests. But the place was mine, or as good as mine, and there was no manner of use in quarreling with the whims of my dead grandfather. At the expiration of a year I could tear down the wall if I pleased; and as to the incomplete house, that I should sell or remodel to On the whole I settled into an amiable state of mind; my perplexity over the shot of the night before was passing away under the benign influences of blue sky and warm sunshine. A few farm folk passed me in the highway and gave me good morning in the fashion of the country, inspecting my knickerbockers at the same time with frank disapproval. I reached the lake and gazed out upon its quiet waters with satisfaction. At the foot of Annandale's main street was a dock where several small steam craft and a number of catboats were being dismantled for the winter. As I passed, a man approached the dock in a skiff, landed and tied his boat. He started toward the village at a quick pace, but turned eyed me with rustic direct-

All of the experience of the company in the vast ramifications of its telephone business, stretching from ocean to ocean and from the gulf to the great lakes and even over the border line into British North America, has been drawn on for the best of the ideas which could add to the perfections of this building, in its adaptability to use for a telephone exchange have been gathered here and the result will be when the Fort Worth telephone exchange is finished no city in the country will have its equal, or if not that, none its superior. There are larger telephone buildings, it is true, but none more absolutely modern in all of the details which go to make up the perfections of the new exchange and raise it to so high a level There is not a single thing in the new exchange which is not new in the sense that it has never been used before. Not even a screw is put in place which is not new and of the best for the purpose to which it is applied.

The old exchange further up on Throckmorton street, which was a model of its kind when finished only a few years ago, will not be drawn on for any material for the new exchange. When the new exchange is placed in use the old material will be shipped away to where it still car be used to advantage and the older exchange building sold.

Passersby on Jennings avenue have noticed the big lead covered cables being lowered into the man-hole near Jackson street and Jennings avenue. Each of those cables contain 800 wires, that is, 400 sets or pairs, for every telephone has two wires and so, each of those lead cables can supply the necessary wires for 400 telephones There are twenty-four of those cables, in the building, or will be when the cables are all in, and most of them are, or there will be, the possibilities of 9.600 telephones in this exchange. Plans for Giving Smoker at City Hall for Clerks and Members of Association Being Considered

When the regular meeting of the Fort Worth Retail Grocers and Butchers' Association was called to order by President Bergman Tuesday evening at 8:45 o'clock all of the officers were present except Vice President Hamman. The attendance of members was fairly large.

A complaint was made, and considered to an extent, relating to the alleged practices of some of the commission men in sales of fruit, especially the peaches in small baskets and the California fruits, all of which are high in price at this time of the year. The nature of the complaint was shortage in numbers, and the remedy suggested was the return of the short package to the seller. A smoker at which the clerks of the grocers and butchers will be made the chief guests, is to take place early in September. A complaint that one of the packing houses was selling to retailers was made by one of the north side mem-The motion of the treasurer to loan $1,000 of the surplus money of the association to one of the banks at 4 per cent interest was referred to the board of directors. Labor Day is to be observed as a half holiday by the members of the association.

The delivery question was considered at some length and it was concluded that each firm must meet the exigencies of its own cases, though there is a general desire to establish and maintain regular deliveries. A committee was appointed to bring agreement between the by-laws and the charter. Under the call of committees none vere prepared to report, except that part report was made by Harry Palmer, chairman of the committee on weights and measures. He said, among other things, complaint had been made that some of the commission houses "ran" the fruit, peaches, pears, plums, etc., threw out damaged or bad specimens but failed to make the deficit good, and the result was their packages when bought were short. specified counts of contents of pear boxes, showing a shortage of from 50 to 60 cents worth of fruit at cost price, and the same facts exist as to plums, peaches or other fruits sold in the small baskets. The remedy was to repack the baskets in the crates, all of which would show if they had been pened, return the entire package t he seller or charge back the shortage. The general advice was given to check in all weights of goods received.

Trouble with Ice Man

One of the north side members told of his experience with his ice man. He counted the blocks in the wagon before and after delivery and figured out a short delivery of 300 pounds in one 2,000-pound order. This was denied by the driver, "who," said the member, "soon after lost his job though not on my complaint. I simply changed my ice man," he replied, when asked what he did about it. Similar complaints were made of oil deliveries, and the only proper way to do, is the contention of the committee on weights and measures, i to check in all purchases of supplies. Chairman Tanner of the entertain ment committee reported that consid eration of a smoker, to be given early in September, probably at the city hall at which an attractive program woul be given and the smoker be an especia means of bringing a closer relation be tween the employers and clerks. Th old committee having in charge the suppression of the banana peddler Messrs, Adams, Colvin, Dingee, Bergman and Tanner, is continued and urged to act. Several of the members who had no received their stock were present an the stock was issued to them. These new members were admitted Ratliffe Chili Supply Company. E. Foucher & Sons, broom makers, . S. Mathis of Chambers Hill, grocer Treasurer Luther reported a balance on hand of $1,267.84, and that two banks had offered 4 per cent on any balance which might be left in the bank for a six months period. The matter was referred to the board of

Delays in Delivery

The discussion of the best method to get the delivery wagon work systematized brought out statements that some of the delivery wagon men were to blame for delays and two of the members told of their observations of the saloon-frequenting habits of som of the drivers. One stated that it wa the regular practice for the driver one of the wagons of a member of the association to stop next to his store where there is a saloon, both on hi morning and afternoon runs. He declined to put himself in the position o an informer, but stated that all of those kind of things should be looked into, for some delay about which complaint is made was there. Honesty and prompt attention to duty, Harry Adams said, had become absolute essentials for the clerk who wants to hold his The others soon found themselves

Ough! how they itch and sting all you can do to keep from scratching. You are cross and irritable. Every member of the family suffers - baby most of all. You're miserable and you let every body know it. Mother same way, and baby too. You've tried all sorts of "sure reliefs" - no good You're at your wits end—don't know what to do.

There's just one thing more worth trying — Littell's Liquid Sulphur. Get a 50 cent bottle of the druggist, follow the directions and note the result. It stops the itching instantly, baby falls into a restful slumber - peace reigns. Worth 50 cents? Yes, and more! Think of the peace of mind, not to mention the freedom from actual suffering. Buy a bottle and have it in the house handy.

Gentlemen: Last summer I had a very severe case of hives. I consulted seven or eight physicians, and tried everything that I had ever heard of being used in the treatment of hives. I was in a terrible condition, broken out all over in great red blotches, the itching was almost unbearable, and it was impossible for me to sleep; I was almost crazy. Finally a physician advised me to get a bottle of Littell's Liquid Sulphur and use it in the bath. I did so and am pleased to inform you that the first bath completely relieved the itching and enabled me to get a twelve hours' sleep.

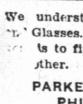

Sincerely yours.
