Great Meeting in New York Is Enthusiastic

PRAISES AMERICA

Noted Statesman Overcome by Big Reception—Sounds Keynote of Issues

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Aug. 31.-Such a welcome as seldom in this country's history has been accorded to a private citizen was given to William Jennings Bryan at Madison Square last night in celebration of his return from a year's absence in foreign travel.

As the guest of the Commercial Traveler's Anti-Trust League, Mr. Bryan was greeted by more than 20,-000 persons, who filled the great structhe upper gallery. At the same time the streets and arenues outside the Garden were choked for blocks by other thousands who stood for hours for the privilege of even getting a glance at the distinguished visitor. The interior of the Garden was a waving sea of color. Every person in the audience had been provided with a miniature American flag, and every cheer from 20,000 throats was accentuated by the waving of 20,000 tiny staffs bearing the Stars and Stripes. When Chairman Tom L. Johnson in his introduction of Mr. Bryan referred the guest of the evening as "The first citizen, if not the first official of the land-not yet the first official," and Mr. Bryan rose, the great gathering broke out in unrestrained cheering, while the band played "Hail to the

So touched was Mr. Bryan by the welcome, that as he stood waiting for the cheers to subside, his eyes filled with tears and he strode nervously from side to side of the narrow plat-

"How can I thank you for this welcome home?" he said, "My heart would be ungrateful if it did not consecrate itself to your service. It was kind of Governor Folk to come here all the way from Missouri. It was kind of Tom Johnson, that example of the moral courage we so much need in this country, to lend his presence. "It was kind of you to fully recompense me in being absent. so long from my native land. I thank you. I return to the land of my birth more proud of my citizenship than ever be-

"Like all travelers who have visited other lands, I return with delight to the land of my birth, more proud of its people, with more confidence in its government and grateful to the kind providence that cast my lot in the United States. My national pride has been increased because of abundant evidence I have seen of altruistic interest taken in America by people of other countries. No other nation can show such a record of benevolence and disinterested friendship. My love for our form of government has been quickened, as I have visited castles and towers and peered into dark dungeons, and I am glad that our nation, profiting by the experience of the past and yet unhampered by traditions and unfettered by caste, has been permitted to form a new center of civilization on new soil and erect here a 'government of the people, by the people, and for the people.' I also return more deeply impressed than ever before with the responsibility which rests upon our nation as an exemplar among the nations, and more solicitous that we, avoiding the causes which have led other nations to decay, may present a higher ideal than has ever before been embodied in a national life and carry human progress to a higher plane than it has before "I desire, moreover, to acknowledge indebtedness to the American officials who have everywhere shown us all possible courtesy and kindness.

Senatorial Elections

"I return more convinced than before of the importance of a change in the method of electing United States senators. There is noticeable everywhere a distinct movement toward democracy in its broadest sense. In all the countries which I have visited there is a demand that the government be brought nearer to the people. In China constitution is under consideration. In Japan the people are demanding that the ministry, instead of being chosen by the emperor from among his particular friends, shall be selected parliament and be in harmony with the dominant sentiment; in India there is agitation in favor of a native congress; in Russia the czar has been compelled to recognize the popular voice in the establishment of a douma and throughout the country the movement manifests itself in various forms. In the United States this trend toward democracy has taken the form of a growing demand for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people. It must be difficult to overthrow the strategic advantage of this reform, for since every bill must receive the sanction of the senate as

Preparations for Franchise Election Complete

City Secretary Montgomery has all allot boxes for use in Saturday's franchise election ready and waiting to be taken to the several voting places. They are square bread boxes with a slit in the top and provided with padlock and two keys each. Over the word "Bread" is pasted a slip of white paper on which is printed the ward and number of the ballot sox. Four boxes are provided for each ward, so it is seen that Secretary Montgomery had to make over thirtysix bread boxes. New boxes have to be provided for each 'of these elections, as they must be kept locked for one year after the election. But the company asking for the francaise bears all expense of the election, so the city is not out any extra expense.

MOVING TO FORT WORTH

Cox Commission Company Will Make Headquarters Here

The Cox Commission company, with which the Factory Club has been corresponding for months, has leased two floors of the building at 1616 and 1618 Rusk street and is today moving into the quarters. This company has houses in Waco, Temple, San Angelo, Belton, Brownwood and Abilene. At present the headquarters are at Waco, but Mr. Cox states that as soon as he gets the house here in working order ne will purchase property and build a home here, making this city the headquarters of the firm. When this is done the twenty-five men who are kept on the road will travel out of Fort Worth, thus adding to the list of traveling salesmen making headquarters here. The company does a wholesale commission business, buying and selling in car load lots.

of the use of a street can be granted

by any power in this state. The state constitution, Sec. 26 (Bill of Rights)

provides "Perpetuities and monopolies are contrary to the genius of a free > of this proposition, but time and space Second. As to my personal observation and experience: I settled at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Adams street twenty-two years ago, that is in 1884. At that time Adams street was building up as a resident street and was becoming a rival of Lamar street, which was then the best resident street in the city. The Rosedale Street Railway Company to be operated by mules, desired to run a street car line over Adams street. The residents of Adams street, including myself, opposed the street car line on the ground that it would greatly

After they built the line of street railway and began operating, Hengerson street at once began to improve and is now perhaps the best residence street on he South side, as any one can see by going and looking at it. The Northern Texas Traction Company operates the line now on Henderson street, and it is about 400 feet from my place to that street car line. Now, if the franchise carries in the vote tomorrow, it will place a car line along Wheeler street and cross Pennsylvania avenue on to College avenue within about 75 or 100 feet of my property, and while I think the Henderson street car line has dou-We extract teeth absolutely without bled the value of my property I now in or no pay. It is useless for me to say that for these reasons I heartily favor the franchise on that particular route. Of course, this may be considered a purely selfish reason on my part of advocating the franchise, but it does not appeal to me more than to any other person who owns property on a street or adjacent to a street where the proposed car lines shall run. The street car lines in this city, regardless of what street railway company may build or operate them, doubles the value of the property on such streets or adjacent to same, and any one can determine this for himself in a short time by going along the streets where street cars run and observing as to the character of improvements and inquiring as to the value of the property on such streets, and then going along other streets equally as well located where there are no street car lines and observe the improvements on same and inquire of the value of property on same.

In order to be fair to the Northern Texas Traction Company, the citizens and voters should, in my judgment, bear in mind the fact that the Northern Texas Traction Company is the only street railway in the whole state of Texas which is subject to the Williams intangible franchise tax bill, which was passed by the last legisla-This condition was occasioned by the fact that the Traction company which owns the lines of street railway in this city, built an interurban line to Dallas and therefore, under the law, all the property of this company is subject to the intangible tax bill and the tax board at Austin has fixed the intangible franchise against the Northern Texas Traction Company at $254,-000; upon which sum this company will be required to pay taxes, both county, city and state, and this in addition to its ad valorem taxes on the value of its property.

10 CENTS WORTH OF ACID FATAL

Carpenter Ends Life by Poison in Drug Store

John T. Sandidge, a stranger in the city and a carpenter, killed himself yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock in the store of the Texas Drug company, 1407 Main street, by taking carbolic acid. The man lived but a few moments after taking the acid, falling to the floor after the first swallow.

According to C. D. Abshear, a clerk in the drug store. Sandidge walked into the place and asked for 10 cents worth of carbolic acid. The liquid less than half an ounce was put into a small bottle and handed to Sandidge. Before Mr. Abshear could interfere Sandidge turned the bottle to his mouth and gulped down the contents. The work of the acid was quick. Hardly had it entered his stomach before he dropped to the floor with a groan. Antidotes were hastily administered but to no avail. The unfortunate man suffered but little, as unconsciousness came with the fall to the floor. He died in a convulsion. The body of Sandidge was carried to Robertson's morgue and the papers found on the dead man were gone through. It was discovered he had a brother living in St. Louis. A telegram was sent to the Missouri city and this morning the following reply was received by Mr. Robertson: "Bury body. Money later. I notify executor. M. C. Sandidge.' It was revealed by papers found on Sandidge that he was evidently a mute. Friends who identified the body this morning asserted that Sandidge was a mute, but Mr. Abshear of the Texas Drug company declares that when Sandidge walked into the store and asked for the acid he talked as good as any one. The dead man carried a notebook in which was written many strange things. It showed that the man was either a mute or had been feigning, for on one page would be his written question and on the other the answer. On a big leather wallet taken from the body was found his name and the last place of residence-San Angelo. A ware was sent to San Angelo this morning and this reply was received: "John T. Sandidge left here three days ago for Childress. Nothing known of him here." It is understood that Sandidge had been taking in the lower section of the city several days before his death. Papers found on him go to substantiate this. Just why he took his life is not

The body lies at Robertson's morgue. It will be held until something more definite is heard from relatives of the dead man.

TALK WITH PROPRIETOR

Says Majority of Questionable Hotels Do Not Fear Police Interference Because of "Pull"

After today every policeman and detective in Fort Worth will carry orders to raid and close up every disorderly hotel and apartment house in the city whenever he deems it necessary. The order is sweeping. It says, "Shut up every shady hotel, flat, rooming house, private residence and place that appears to be violating the law." Chief of Police Maddox is back of the order and intends to see that it is carried out to the letter. When the story appeared exclusively in The Telegram Thursday afternoon regarding the order to be issued against questionable houses it created no little talk and Chief of Police Maddox answered many telephone calls from people wanting to know if he meant what he said.

To all he said: "Yes, I mean what say. These places that keep open house day and night and make a practice of operating a shady business have got to pack up and get out of the go-

A Telegram reporter was in conversation with the proprietor of a disorderly house in Lower Main street this morning. The talk was most interesting. The reporter learned lots. He thought he knew a little about the city's vice, but after leaving the man who was kind enough to voluntarily give the information he knew more than he had ever dreamed about. According to this man, the majority of the proprietors of the places of vice in the city have absolutely no fear of the Fort Worth police department. The following is what was told to the reporter by the man who operates an apartment house along questionable "The police will have a hard time in closing up such places in this good old town. There is nothing doing when it comes to a bunch of blue clothes and a heap of brass buttons closing like a clam things that don't look on the square.

"There are politicians in this burg that have a pull stronger than a dentist. They are 90 proof against 'pipers' and to show one up would be like trying to paint the rock of Gibraltar with school maiden's pencil. are in with the guys who have the houses to rent. The owner of the "crib" knows that if his tenant is put out of business by the coppers he will ve a vacant house on his hands. He goes to his political friend, hands him the 'duke' and the place is never bothered.

"As for mine, little boy, if they ever get after me I intend quitting. I am ot stuck on the business, anyhow. Twould be the best thing that ever happened for the town if all such joints were nailed up tight and fast. I could ell you of more than one life that has been sent down the helter-skelter on account of 'em. The quicker they get after me the better. It is probable that Chief of Police Maddox will personally conduct raids on several places unless they become frightened and "straighten up."

STOCKMEN AFTER FIRST BLOOD

. The live stock interests of Texas and the southwest are preparing to gain some benefit from the long campaign of education they inaugurated for the perfecting of the interstate commerce law which resuited in the adoption of the new railway rate bill. Texas and the southwest led in the big fight that was made all along the line for the needed reforms, and now that the law has been amended and the new provisions are in effect, a determined effort is being made to have the prime movers for reform come in for the first appreciable benefits.

The advance of three cents in cattle rates from all southwestern points put in by the various railways some time ago, is the first incubus that the live stock interests is seeking to have removed, and Judge S. H. Cowan of this city, the attorney for the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, has gone before the interstate commerce commission with a plea to have this increase summarily wiped out. While it appears at a cursory glance that three cents is a very small sum, yet as a matter of fact it involves an annual saving of $1,500,000 to the live stock interests, and of course the loss of just that much revenue to the railways if the stockmen succeed in their undertaking. As a matter of fact, the interstate commerce commission has already held this increase to be unreasonable, but at the time of that determination the tribunal was operating under the old law, which had so effectually shorn it of the power requisite to enforce its own decrees. The commission is asked to issue an order requiring the railways operating in southwestern territory to rescind their action in making this

And there is another matter that is also being pressed before the interstate commerce commission at this time, in the form of the celebrated $2 per car terminal charges that have been in effect at Chicago so long. Chicago seems to be the only market town in the country where these terminal charges are not absorbed in the usual bill of lading. But at that point it has been the rule for a number of years to collect a matter of $2 per car on every car of live stock shipped to that market, ostensibly as switching

The Texas stockmen have been bitterly resentful of this terminal charge since it was first instituted. Back during the days when A. P. Bush was the official head of the cattlemen's organization in this state, attorneys were employed and the matter of this terminal charge carried before the commission and into the courts of the country. And while repeated decisions have been obtained adverse to the railway contention of right and justice of this charge, the same handicap experienced by the commission in other cases in which it was incapable of enforcing its decrees, has operated to prevent a favorable issue in this

More than once straight intimations have been given out that the railways were willing to abrogate the charges upon the terms of a suggested compromise, Lut the stockmen were never willing to forgive them of alleged past sinning on the promise they would sin no more. The commission has held that the $2 terminal charges are excessive and intimated that $1 per car would have been ample pay for the service rendered. There is a little matter now of several million dollars involved in the excess charges, which competent attorneys have always contended the railcould be compelled to refund. It is said the railways have extended the olive branch more than once and intimated willingness to wipe out the terminal charges if the cattlemen would hold them guiltless in the matter of overcharges. But the snippers have all along taken the necessary steps to keep the claims or overcharges alive and in good standing, and now when they believe the interstate commerce commission is clothed with some real power and authority, steps are being taken for the proper protection of their interests. The commission is asked by Judge Cowan to reopen this case, hold new hearings and a decision and order issued for the protection of ship-

There are other matters also involved, which the stockmen and their legal representative will push before the commission. It is understood the members of the commission understand and appreciate the work dene by the stockmen for the perfecting of the law, and they are disposed to give them the benefit of the first inning. The indications are that the fights made before the commission during the past several years which resulted so nearly in barren victories for the stockmen, are all now to be reopened and fought harder than ever before by the live stock interests. There is a very general determination among the stockmen of the country to now have the long prayed

MARKETING THE COTTON CROP

The recent slump in cotton values will have a decided tendency to stiffen the tendency among Texas Ir ducers to carry out their original plan of warehousing their product and holding it for a better figure. The number of warehouses now under construction in different portions of the state serves to show the deep-seated determination that exists in this respect. In other states there is also a strong tendency to hold. The Atlanta Constitution, published at the home of President Harvie Jordan, says:

Do the cotton growers of the south intend this year to play into the hands of their enemies, the bears? Right now is the time for them to decide. The mar-Leting season is on. Will they exercise business judgment in the handling of the precious product which means so much, not only to them but to the entire south; or will they do as they have so often done in the past-dump their cotton indiscriminately upon the market and, by this dumping process, hammer down the price? Upon the exercise of ordinary business sense during the next two months will depend in large measure the prosperity not only of the farmers themselves but of the entire south. If, instead of rushing their cotton to market, as they have so often done in the past, they sell only as the legitimate demands of the spinners require, they will be able to practically dictate the

But if, on the other hand, they disregard this practical, common-sense warning; if, instead of holding back their cotton-or a goodly portion of it-they insist upon hurrying it to market, the inevitable result is a low price for the staple, to the delight and the profits of the bears, who are now busily engaged in the hammering-down process.

Every cotton farmer, large and small, should look the situation squarely in the face. No other class of producers on earth so completely hold their best interests in their own hands. They have a monopoly in the production of a staple which all the world needs. The world demand for cotton is steadily and surely increasing, and under the natural law of supply and demand the producers are entitled to prices giving a better return for their crop than is enjoyed by the producers of any other agricultural crop of this or any other country of the world. The only thing essential to insure this price is business-like marketing.

The cotton producer is better able this year than ever before to absolutely control the marketing of his crop. If he will sell sparingly-if he will hold back the bulk of his crop, selling gradually to meet the legitimate demands of the market-he will circumvent the machinations of the bears and will get a fine price for his product. He can do this, and every dictate of self-interest demands that he take full advantage of the opportunity.

The promem facing the cotton growers of Georgia and the south is a vital one. Its solution is in their hands. They can either command a good price, or they can sacrifice millions of dollars to the cotton bears. Which will they do?

It is for the farmers themselves to decide. In south Texas there has been a general disposition o market the crop as fast as it can be gotten ready, but the balance of the state seems to be strongly inclined toward holding.

THE LATE O'BRIEN MOORE

There died in Tucson, Arizona, a few days ago a cournalistic character well known in Texas in the person of Colonel O'Brien Moore, who is said to have begun his journalistic career on the Houston Post, and of which publication he was at one time the man-

O'Brien Moore was born in County Cork, Ireland, and was a nephew of the late Earl of Mountcashell, being a son of a younger son of the latter's predecessor, there being but two living persons between Colonel Moore and the earlship. He came to America when a young man and finally landed in Texas, and began newspaper work on the Houston Post under the late Colonel D. C. Jenkins. At one time he wielded considerable influence in Texas politics, and his work in this state attracted the attention of the St. Louis Republic, which offered him the position of

When Grover Cleveland was elected President and the Republic became the national organ of the demoeratic party, O'Brien Moore went to Washington as its special Washington correspondent. During both of Cleveland's administrations he was considered the greatest and best of the newspaper correspondents at the national capital, was the personal friend of the President and of a great array of democratic leaders. O'Brien Moore's dispatches to his paper were almost quoted as textbooks of democratic doctrine. He resigned his position at Washington at the close of the iast Cleveland administration, and went to Charleston, W. Va., where he was editor of the Charleston News until the outbreak of the war with Spain.

Raising a West Virginia regiment, he was commissioned its colonel, and saw active service during hostilities, serving with distinction. After the close of the war he came to Texas and established the El Paso News, which he conducted for a short time, and then went to Tucson, where he purchased the Citizen, which he was editing at the time of his death.

The immediate cause of Colonel Moore's death was heart trouble, and he passed away during the night in a deep sleep. His wife and little daughter were visiting in California at the time, and only his son was at home, but not in the room when he died. His father and grandfather were both generals in the British East India service, and he came from fighting stock. Colonel Moore is survived by a widow, who is a daugater of the late Col. D. C. Jenkins, and two children. His many friends throughout Texas are grieved to learn of his demise.

CAMPBELL WILL SWEEP CLEAN

There is a well defined supposition that Colonel Tom Campbell when he assumes the duties of governor at Austin next January is going to make a clean sweep of all appointive state officers, and there is much perturbation of spirit among the officeholders in consequence. The following interesting political gossip is from the San Antonio Gazette, which was an ardent Campbell supporter:

Campbell, and those all over the state, are urging the future governor to displace all the present state officials which he has the power of appointing and give a rew deal all around. Owing to the fact that practically all of them supported Bell, it is stated that Colonel Campbell is lending a ready ear and that probably few now serving by appointment of the governor will be retained.

This applies to the state institutions as well as to that of the secretary of state, commissioner of insurance and agriculture, adjutant general, purchasing agent, superintendent of the two state penitentiaries and various other offices.

The new broom will probably sweep so clean as to affect the position of the superintendency of the southwestern asylum here. Dr. Maxwell, the present superintendent, is a Lanham appointee.

It is understood that Dr. W. L. Barker, who was superintendent of the institution under Governor Hogg, will be an applicant at the proper time. Another physician is also being mentioned.

Purchasing Agent Anderson, who is a San Antonio man, may retain his position and will probably be the only man now holding office who will be so fortunate. Although Mr. Anderson was appointed by Governor Lanham and great pressure was brought to bear on him to force him into line for Bell for governor, he refused and gave Colonel Campbell loyal support. For adjutant general Colonel Henry Hutchins of the First Texas infantry and at present assistant secretary of state, is being mentioned and will be an applicant. Adjutant General Hulen will hardly succeed himself, as he was a Bell man. However, as he is a great rersonal friend of Senator Bailey and the latter's speech is supposed to have been a great help to Campbell, a good word for Hlen may come from that quarter.

It may have been a political crime for some of the Texas officeholders to have supported Judge Bell, but the people of Texas will not believe it. And yet-"To the victor belongs the spoils."

Colonel Ned Green, the reorganized republican candidate for governor of Texas, is going to experience some difficulty in getting his name on the official bailot to be voted upon at the November election. In fact, it looks like the Terrell election law is about to put Colonel Green out of the gubernatorial business altogether. And it is a great pity. There ought to be some method of permitting Green and Lyon to do the Kilkenny cat act.

Those New York railways which refused to naul cars containing Bryan banners and streamers only gave evidence of a smallness that was pitiful in its contemplation. Bryan does not need such things to maintain his hold on the hearts of the American people, and the railways cannot stifle public sentiment by resorting to such foolish and puerile tactics.

Colonel Tom Campbell will have to do something more than make a clean sweep of all appointive positions if he makes place for one-half of his friends and adherents who are clamoring for pie, Labor will make its customary display Labor day, and Fort Worth puts up a showing for organized labor that is not to be sneezed at.

The next legislature is booked to go up against Old Nepotism good and hard and also to land in the solar plexus of "the free pass evil." With a pocketful of passes and their sons as pages in the house some of the members will cut sorry figures fighting against these two evils.—Bonham Herald.

. Men who openly practice nepotism cannot be expected to exercise much zeal in an effort to stamp it out. Too many of our public officials are disposed to regard official position as a family affair. \diamond \diamond \diamond \diamond

It is announced that United States Senator Beveridge of Indiana will make a campaign in Texas for F. H. R. Green, nominee of the reorganized republicans, for governor. He will make the first speech in Dallas in about ten days.-Sherman Register.

The people of Texas will not take kindly to Republican Beveridge, for in this state nine-tenths of the voters take democracy straight.

* * * *

The demand for state lands continues large. This shows two things; there are many people coming to Texas from other states to buy lands, and hundreds | Not a sign of industry was visible in any direction, of farmers who have been here and know best of all what these lands are, and the very low prices at which they are being sold, are becoming large purchasers .-

Many people are finding happy and prosperous homes in Texas, and there is such a demand for land that it has a continual upward tendency. And all Texas land is a good investment at prevailing prices.

And now the professors come and say that the procosed spelling reform is nothing but nonsense, pure and simple; that a few arbitrary changes cannot possibly affect what has been the work of centuries. Reforms of any nature have always had to meet with opposition, and it seems that the spelling reform will be no exception to the rule.—Terrell Transcript, The spelling reform has the official sanction of the President, but it will progress slowly. There are other reforms more vital to the interests of the masses, and these are the ones that must first have attention. \diamond \diamond \diamond \diamond If there be those in Texas who still cling to the

UNREASONABLE

An Alabama bachelor paid $5 to join a matrimonia agency, and not hearing from the marrying firm again, entered a complaint at Washington that he had been swindled.

Overhearing the complaint a host of benedicts immediately asked:

"How were you swindled? You didn't get the wife." "FOR LOVE IS ALL"

Miss S- is a bachelor maid of some forty summers. She is unmarried, not because she has lacked proposals, but because she prefers single blessedness o pouring coffee and spanking babies. Of late she has devoted her time to working in the slums, chiefly among women and children.

A dreadful case was brought to her recently. A roman had been cruelly treated by her husband, and had finally been locked out in the street. The poor creature, ragged and disheveled, reported at the charty headquarters and begged for shelter.

Miss S- herself dressed her wounds, and then entered into a sympathetic conversation with the sufferer. The latter after recounting at length the injuries she had borne at the hands of her lord and master, asked a few questions in her turn.

"Live here?" she inquired. "No," answered Miss S——; "I spend only a certain time here every day. My home is on Fifth avenue." "You're married, ain't you?" "No, I am not married."

The woman opened her bruised eyes in amazement. "My!" she said sympathetically, "I'm awful sorry. 4 4 4 4

HOMEOPATHIC REMEDY

A professor of sciences, well known for his absentmindedness, was engaged in a deep controversy one day with a fellow student, when his wife hurriedly enered the room

"On, my dear," she cried, "I've swallowed a pin!"

"Don't worry about it, my dear," he said in a soothing tone; "it is of no consequence. Here"-he lumbled at his lapel-"nere is another pin."

. . . . ■ THE LIMIT OF LAZINESS.

In order temporarily to forget all about courts and legal tomes, Merritt Starr, a Minneapolis lawyer, went for a trip to West Virginia. In one of his rambles through the country Mr. Starr came upon a tumbledown cabin, in front of which, on a rudely constructed bench, sprawled a big negro lazily smoking his pipe. and Mr. Starr, curious to learn the system that enabled this darky to live in apparent indolence, opened conversation with him and finally asked:

"What do you do for a living?" The negro grinned as he pointed to a lean and nungry-looking hog in a patch of trees the other side

"Dar's my livin'," he replied.

"But you don't seem to raise anything with which to feed the animal," pursued Mr. Starr. "How does the hog get his living."

"Oh," said the darky, "the nog makes out on roots

"But," argued the lawyer, "that's a pretty slow process. You ought to have some good Illinois corn to feed him. It'll take a hog a long time to get fat on what he can pick up."

For a moment or two the negro seemed a bit dubious, but he quickly solved the problem to his own "Oh, well," said he, "what's time to a hog, any-

The Hon. Joseph Chamberlain is fond of relating ar incident that occurred while he and Lord Rosebery were returning from the theater one night.

While crossing the street they were accosted by a ragged boy who, after sweeping the mud from their path asked for alms.

Lord Rosebery was about to give the boy a coin when an idea struck him. "My boy," said Rosebery, "If you will hit that policeman a swat on the back with your muddy broom I will give you ten shillings." Prompt to the word the boy crept in back of the officer and raising his broom struck nim in the back, then turned and ran, but to the dismay of Rosebery the officer caught the boy after a chase of a few

Not wanting to leave the boy in a fix Rosebery tried to fix things up with the officer, but the worthy gentleman would not listen, and took them all three up to the station.

They were then taken before the judge of the station and after surveying them through his glasses he took down a book and turning to Chamberlain asked his name. "Hon. Joseph Chamberlain," was the reply and the judge smiled.

Rosebery responded also with his full title, "Lord Rosebery."

The boy was next and stepping to the front he drew himself up to his full height and waifed for the usual question, "Your name?"

"My name?" said the boy. "Well, Judge, I'm not the kind as what goes back on me pals. I'm the 'Duke

It will surprise many readers of The Telegram now that Meredith Nicholson, author of "The Ho of a Thousand Candles," which is now running series in The Telegram, is also a poet of rare skill and east book of his verses has just been issued by Bobbs-Merrill company of Indianapolis. Since En Field gave to the world "Little Boy Blue" no me beautiful poem of similar sentiment has been writt than the following one contained in Mr. Nicho book. It is entitled "She Gathers Roses."

O winter night, O muffling snows, From dolorous mountain summits blown! So wild the night, so bleak and cold, 'Twas far to send a child alone!

But from our own poor watch and ward, And our weak aims and needs and fears Her spirit fled and left behind The untouched harvest of her years.

Blessed are they, who, old and worn, Across the threshold creep at last. With many a lingering glance behind At the gray shadow-peopled past!

But thrice more blessed they who look Scarce through the door Time opens wide. Then back into the Father's arms, From earth's untranquil strivings hide.

A gated city, builded strong, That hath no need of stars or sun To light the beatific throng; Or whether in the home of spring

And whether Heaven indeed may be

The haven lie of flower and grass, O'er which the elect with tranquil mein Through a perpetual morning pass, I know not, yet however fair

May be God's hidden garden-lands,

I know that there, with happy heart, She gathers roses in her hands. The autumn gave her, and her eyes Knew never spring's enchantment sweet, Nor saw the mighty summer stars

Above the still earth throb and beat;

And yet she loved the light, and turned

In childish wonder toward its glow-She loved the light! and now has seen The light perpetual round her flow.

Kingdom of Heaven, toward which we pray, Whether alight of sun or star-Kingdom of Heaven toward which we years 'Tis there the little children are!

They keep for us, secure and sweet, Youth, unassailed by winter's rime, And are a hostage given to be Our shield against the wars of time,

And there amid the waves of peace. Through Christ's love-lighted garden-lands, She wanders with untroubled heart, And gathers roses in her hands.

"The Rajah of Bhong"

The company presenting the "Rajah funmakers and vocalists, and no better vehicle for their efforts to entertain could have been secured. The comedy element predominates the action of the piece from beginning to end, and as every male member of the cast is a comedian, fun fast and furious is the natural result. "A laugh in every line" is not an exaggeration in this instance, but the humor is natural and entirely free from the coarseness which sometimes mars productions of the musical comedy class. The female contingent made up of pretty girls who know now to sing and dance, is very much in evidence. The costumes worn by the chorus are gorgeous in the extreme, and the management claims that it is the most expensively dressed production ever "The Rajah of Bhong" comes to Greenwall's opera house Monday (La-

Structure at Waco

The new Cotton Belt bridge at Waco

will sustain a greater tonnage than any bridge this side of St. Louis. It will consist of three pin-connected spans, each 200 feet long. The approach, 50' feet, on the east side, will be a deck plate girder and all of the upper part of the bridge will be steel, resting on concrete masonry piers and abutments. The novelty in the 209 spans is the Pratt truss system, with curved top chords. The load the bridge is constructed to bear is two consolidated engines, 1,7711/2 tons each with tender loads, and a rolling load of ,000 pounds in the train, on each lineal foot of the bridge.

Colonel Michael L. Lynch, the chief engineer of the Cotton Belt system in Texas, who is supervising the work,

"Such loading is unusually heavy and very few bridges of like capacity have heretofore been built in the southwest. Owing to the great increase in weight of modern rolling stock and motive power, the Cotton Belt has adopted this type as its standard for all new bridges on its lines and as the new passenger station recently completed by our road in this city is intended to accommodate several other lines and will result in concentrating a heavy traffic across the river, President Britton decided upon such a structure for the Brazos river at the Waco crossing in place of the present structure, which it is intended to dismantle and remove after the completion of the new bridge." The foundations of the new bridge are being carried down by the pneumatic process, the workmen excavating within the caissons under sufficient pressure of compressed air to counteract the external water pressure in the river, which depends upon the fluctuations of the Brazos during the progress of the work, in which manner the bedrock of the river is reached and the rock excavated so as to carry the masonry foundations several feet into it in each case.

In this connection it may be said that Secretary of State Shannon always entertained the opinion that the republican party of Texas, of which Colonel Cecil Lyon is the head, is the official republican party of Texas, and the opinion he requested from the attorney general was to determine the legality of placing the ticket of the so-called "reorganized" republican party on the official ballot.

According to Mr. Hunter, everything about the trains will be entirely new, even the engines, which will be the heaviest ans strongest ever operated over the International lines. With these engines the schedule is expected to be reduced somewhat.

In addition to the sleepers, there will be a much larger observation car and the baggage car will be a combination one. In one end will be a cafe, a barber shop, bath rooms, and in order that even the most fastidious may not suffer a tailor will accompany each train and those who desire can have their trousers pressed over night. There will be many other comforts. The route is over the Iron Mountain, Texas and Pacific and International and Great Northern to Larede, thence to the City of Mexico via the

DIG UP MUMMY Preserved Human Body Found in Celiar of Hotel

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Aug. 31 .- What is suppihed to be a mummy was dug up in the cellar of the Mirror hotel today, and it is to be taken to the museum of arts to be examined. It has been buried so long apparently, and so much earth had formed about it that the Kearn Brothers, who recently bought the hotel, could not tell whether it was a preserved body or merely a clay or marble image intended for press agent uses. A remnant of a shroud still enveloped it and one of the extended hands held a little cup in the bottom of which were two gold pieces.

Pumice, as is well known, is of volcanic origin, says the London News, being a trachytic lava which has been rendered light by the escape of gases when in a molten state. It is found on most of the shores of the Tyrhenian most exclusively obtained from the little island of Lipari. Most of the volcanoes of Lipari have ejected pumaceous rocks, but the best stone is all the product of one mountain, Monto Chirica, nearly 2,000 feet in height, with its two accessory craters. The district in which the pumice is exca- ness. vated covers an area of three square miles. It has been calculated that about 1.000 hands are engaged in this industry, 600 of whom are employed in extricating the mineral. Pumice is brought to the surface in large blocks or in baskets, and is carried thus either to the neighboring vil. lage or to the seashore, to be taken there in boats. The supply is said to be practically inexhaustible. Pumice is used not merely four scouring and cleansing purposes, but also for polishing in numerous trades; hence the fact that the powdered pumice exported exceeds in weight the block pumice. I tween twenty and thirty merchants and engaged in the pumice trade on the Flanking it are a couple of tall Nankin jars, each bearing a sheaf of bulrushes which later might be replaced by branches of fir cones and copper beech or spires of hollyhock.

French and English Living The English, on the average, have one-third more to spend than the French, and, all things being equal, more money is earned in England than n France. Further, the cost of life in England is far less than it is in France. But in France successful housekeeping might say the passion-for economy. With a few francs the little Parisienne, who may be hungry many days dura hat and frock which many wealthy vomen might well envy. And it is with the table as it is with the toilette. Tennessee Pastor Also Preaches Against Politics

Special to The Telegran WINONA LAKE, Ind., Aug. 31.-Rev. Dr. George R. Stuart of Cleveland, Tenn., preached to 5,000 persons last night, the last sermon of the Bible conference, which has been in session for the last ten days. Dr. Stuart severely criticised the present state of American politics and the evening dress of women. His subject was "The World's Bid for a Man." He said in

"Many noble men have entered politics, but fewer aged politicians stand by the law of God, the law of their fathers and mothers. A few great statesmen in America have spurned the tricks of politics and administered their offices as a great trust from God. "Would to God the manhood of America would rise up and consign politicians to an everlasting retire-

Girl's Dress 5404 Simple dresses such as this one make the best possible models for everyday wear and in addition to being thoroughly comfortable and sensible, are in the height of style. In the illustration plaid French gingham is trimmed with banding of plain color, but the soft finished French piques of the season are exceedingly pretty for the design and there are also a great many Madras materials and others of a similar sort, while the still thinner lawns and batistes can be utilized if liked. Plaids are well liked for playtime wear, but plain white, blue and pink are always charming for afternoon gowns. The dress is made with walst and skirt portions. The waist consists of the fronts and the back, both of which are tucked, while the skirt is five gored and the two are joined by means of a belt. The trimming is quite novel and is arranged on indicated lines, being held in position by small

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

If you are going to a hotel in the height of the season do not ask for a hotel whose rates come well within your purse and without stretching the strings too tightly, for your hotel bills will be only part of your expenses. Never make the mistake of going to a hotel without sufficient to fee all the servants who serve you,

The question of fees is the most trying one to the ambitious sojourner at a hotel. The main point to remember is: When in doubt, tip. The people who serve you hold it in their power to make your stay happy or miserable, so dispense coins from the head waiter down to "buttons." If you are staying by the week, fee weekly; if by the day, fee as you go. The size of the tip depends upon the hotel, if you are not certain about this matter ask in a very quiet way an approachable person what is the correct thing in this particluar hotel. At the usual first-class hostelry a dollar a week to the waiter who serves you is sufficient, or 25 cents each dinner.

The head waiter who bows you so grandly to your place at table and brings your morning paper will expect at least a dollar a week if you are a party of three or four, and dollar a month if you are alone. Hand it to him with a pleasant word as you leave the dining room.

The chambermaid, too, never should be forgotten. Stick a bill to the pincushion occasionally just for luck. The boy who checks your hat and umbrella when it rains would like a dime. In a word-never, never, if you value your peace of mind, consider that your hotel bill includes all expenses in the notel, and, moreover, think not that money alone will insure good service. There are no more astute readers of uman nature than these same people who serve you, and none so appreciative of the true gentlewoman and gentleman. They serve with infinitely more pleasure and attentiveness those guests who know how to deal with them through dispensing modest tips than those who tip extravagantly, yet do not know when the steak is well broiled or the coffee bad. The main point to remember is, insist upon good service; make trouble if you are not properly cared for, and appreciate good treatment when you get it. Do not assist the servants in their work. They are there to do everything and will consider you "cheap," intent upon saving a tip, or inexperienced, if you make your own bed or reach half way across the table for the oil or pepper duster.

Resist an overweening desire to pass things to your neighbors at table. They will return your kind intentions by the stolid snubbing of the people who think you unduly anxious to make their acquaintance. In the better hotels a chaperone is

PAINS AMERICAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Miss Irene Crosby Is One of Thousands of Cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 31, 1906

How many women realize that it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely.

Thousands of American women, however, have found relief from all monthly inffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs these periods of their terrors. Miss Irene Crosby, of 313 Charlton

Street, East Savannah, Ga., writes: "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a true friend to woman. It has been of great benefit to me, curing me of irregular and painful periods when everything else had failed, and I gladly recommend it to other

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous rostration or the blues, should take mmediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pink-ham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising women free of charge. Thousands have been cured

As I looked off toward the little church I found two other actors appearing on the scene. A girl stood in a little opening of the wood, talking to a man. Her hands were thrust into the pockets of her covert coat; she wore a red tam-o'-shanter, that made a bright bit of color in the wood. They were not more than twenty feet away, but a wild growth of young maples lay between us, screening the wail. Their profiles were toward me, and the tones of the girl's voice reached me clearly, as she addressed her companion. He wore a clergyman's high waistcoat, and I assumed that he was the chaplain whom Bates had mentioned. I am not by nature an eavesdropper, but the girl was clearly making a plea of some kind, and the chaplain's stalwart figure awoke in me an antagonism that held me to the

"Certainly not, unless you want to -certainly not," said the chaplain. "You understand that I'm only giving ou his message. He thought "Not to write to me or to Sister Theresa!" interrupted the girl con-temptuously. "What a clever man he "And how unclever I am!" said the clergyman, laughing. "Well, I thank you for giving me the opportunity to present his message." She smiled, nodded and turned swifty toward the school. The chaplain looked after her for a few moments then walked away soberly toward the ake. He was a young fellow, cleanshaven and dark, and with a pair of shoulders that gave me a twinge of envy. I could not guess how great a factor that vigorous figure was to be in my own affairs. As I swung down from the wall and walked toward Glenarm House, my thoughts were not with the athletic chaplain, but with the girl, whose youth was, I reflected, marked by her short skirt, the unconcern with which her hands were thrust into the pockets of her coat, and the irresponsible tilt of the tam-'-shanter. There is something jaunty, a suggestion of spirit and independence in a tam-o'-shanter, particularly a red one. If the red tam-o'-shanter expressed, so to speak, the key-note of Agatha's, the proximity of the school was not so bad a thing after all. In high good humor and with a sharp appetite I went in to luncheon.

A TRIPLE CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

*About ten years ago my scalp beitching humors, crusts, etc., and extending down behind the ears. My hair came out in places also. I was greatly troubled; understood it was eczema. Tried various remedies, so called, withput effect. Saw your Cuticura advertisement, and got them at once. Applied them as to directions, etc., and after two weeks, I think, of use, was clear as a whistle.

"I have to state also that late last fall, October and November, 1904, I was suddenly afflicted with a bad eruption, painful and itching pustules over the lower part of the body. I suffered deadfully. In two months, under the skilful treatment of my doctor, conjoined with Cuticura Soap and Cuttcura Ointment, I found myself cured. "Six years ago my son was laid up with a severe cold, a hard cough, and finally painful eruption all over the body. I procured the Cuticura Remedies as soon as possible, and after his faithtwo weeks, as well as I can recall. He has never had a return of the illness, as far as I know.

"I have always been pleased to commend the Cuticura Remedies, and testify as to their efficacy. I am a veteran of the late Civil War, '61-'65, between seventy and eighty years of age. Yours truly, H. The Girl and the Canoe "The persimmons are off the place, Mr. Glenarm was very fond of

I had never seen a persimmon before, but I was in a mood for ex-The frost-broken rind was certainly forbidding, but the rich pulp brought a surprise of joy to my palate. Bates watched me with respectful satisfaction. His gravity was in no degree diminished by the presence of a neat strip of flesh-colored court-plaster over his right eye. A faint suggestion of arnica hung in the air. "This is a quiet life," I remarked, vishing to give him an opportunity to explain his encounter of the morning. "You are quite right, sir. As your grandfather used to say, it's a place "When nobody shoots at you through window," I suggested. "Such a thing is likely to happen to ny gentleman," he replied, "but not ikely to happen more than once, if you'll allow the philosophy."

He did not refer to his encounter with the caretaker, and I resolved to keep my knowledge of it to myself. always prefer to let a rascal hang himself, and here was a case, I reasoned, where, if Bates were disloyal to the duties Pickering had imposed upon him, the fact of his perfidy was bound to disclose itself eventually. Glancing around at him when he was off guard I surprised a look of utter dejection upon his face as he stood with folded arms behind my chair. He flushed and started, then put his hand to his forehead.

"I met with a slight accident this morning, sir. The hickory's very tough, sir. A piece of wood flew up and struck me.' "Too bad!" I said with sympathy.

You'd better rest a bit this after-"Thank you, sir; but it's a small matter-only, you might think it a ifte disfiguring." He struck a match for my cigarette, and I left, without looking at him again. But as I crossed the threshold of the library I formulated this note: Bates is a liar, for one thing, and a person with active enemies for another; watch him."

All things considered, the day was passing well enough. I picked up a ook, and threw myself on a comfortable divan to smoke and reflect before continuing my explorations. As I lay there. Bates brought me a telegram, a reply to my message to Pickering. It read: "Yours announcing arrival received and filed." It was certainly a queer business, couple of hours dreaming, and counted the candles in the great crystal chandelier until my eyes ached. Then I rose, took my cap, and was soon tramping off toward the lake. There were several small boats and naphtha launch in the boat house. I dropped a canoe into the water and paddled off toward the summer colony, whose gables and chimneys were plainly visible from the Glenarm

The Babbs-Merrill Co.

I landed and roamed idly over leafstrewn walks past nearly a hundred cottages, to whose windows and verandas the winter blinds gave a dreary and inhospitable air. There was, at one point, a casino, whose broad veranda hung over the edge of the lake. while beneath, on the water side, was a boat house. I had from this point a fine view of the lake, and I took advantage of it to fix in my mind the topography of the region. I could see the bold outlines of Glenarin House and its red-tile roofs; and the gray tower of the little chapel beyond the wall rose above the wood with a placid dignity. Above the trees everywhere hung the shadowy smoke of

I walked back to the wharf, where I had left my canoe, and was about to step into it when I saw, rocking at a similar landing place near by, another slight craft of the same type as my own, but painted dark maroon. I was sure the canoe had not been there when I landed. Possibly it belonged to Morgan, the caretaker. I walked over and examined it. I even lifted it slightly in the water to test its weight. The paddle lay on the dock beside me and it, too, I weighed critically, deciding that it was a trifle light for my own taste.

"Please-if you don't mind-" I turned to stand face to face with the girl in the red tam-o'-shanter. "I beg your pardon," I said, stepping away from the canoe.

She did not wear the covert coat of the morning, but a red knit jacket, buttoned tight about her. She was young with every emphasis of youth. A pair of dark blue eyes examined me with good-humored curiosity. She was on good terms with the sun-I rejoiced in the brown of her cheeks, so eloquent of companionship with the outdoor world-a certificate indeed of the favor of heaven. Show me, in October, a girl with a face of tan, whose hands have plied a paddle or driven a golfball or cast a fly beneath the blue arches of summer, and I will suffer her scorn in joy. She may vote me dull and refute my wisest word with laughter, for hers are the privileges of the sisterhood of Diana; and that soft bronze those daring fugitive freckles beneath her eyes, link her to times when Pan whistled upon his reed and all the days were long. She had approached silently and was enjoying, I felt sure, my discomfiture at being taken unawares. I had snatched off my cap and stood waiting beside the canoe, feeling, I must admit, a trifle guilty at being caught in the unwarrantable inspection of another person's property

-particularly a person so wholly pleasing to the eye. "Really, if you don't need that paddle any more-" I looked down and found to my annoyance that I held it in my handwas in fact leaning upon it with a cool air of proprietorship.

"Again I beg your pardon," I said. 'I hadn't expected-"

THREE WILLIES MIX POLITICS

Bryan, Hearst and Jerome Are It in New York

Special to The Telegram NEW YORK, Aug. 31.-The homecoming of Mr. Bryan, the New York governorship contest, and various other things, are getting mixed up in most remarkable shape in New York. The attitude of the Hearst men indicates plainly they are prepared to cut loose from Bryan, to take the position he has "goas over" to the conservatives, and to insist hereafter that Hearst is the running.

The plutocrats and things plutocratic are coming in for a poor showing just now. Mr. Bryan has refused the courtesy of a railroad president's private car, and the Bryan homefolks, headed by Mayor Jim Dahlman of Omaha, have expressed their dissatisfaction with the scheme of "toting Bryan around on a yacht; too plutocratic, don't you think?" Nobody wants to mix up with the poor plute. How Does Willy Stand?

The Nebraska delegation got face to face with some of the embarrassments early after its arrival from the bounding west. Somebody offered a resolution to pay a call, en masse o,n William R. Hearst. Mayor Dahlman suggested that this delegation was out to pay its respects to folks who are for Bryan right now; he didn't feel concerned about them that used to be for him. As there wasn't any evidence that Hearst was supporting Bryan at this juncture, and considerable to show that he wasn't, Mayor Jim didn't see why a call should be paid on And this view prevailed,

Additions to Terrell Asylum Are Now Completed

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Aug. 31.-The governor has been advised of the completion of the new additions to the North Texas Insane Asylum at Terrell, and that there is now ample room for the accommodation of all insane persons now languishing in the county jails throughout the state.

There had been considerable complaint for several years of the crowded condition of the three asylums in the state, which induced the legislature to make an adequate appropriation for the enlargement of the North Texas institution. It is now expected that this state of affairs will be relieved, provision having been made for both white and colored patients.

Charles Weir Says It & Best for Cat-

Charles Weir, an old-time cattle rustler in the southern section of Texas, passed through the city Tuesday on his return from a season's sojourn in the wilds of Colorado, and paid a visit to his old friend, Captain John Lytle, at the office of the Cattle Raiser's Association of Texas.

"My home is in Corpus Christi, and all my ranch interests are in that section, which I consider the best in Texas. Of course others may think that I am of that opinion because I live there, and that if I should go somewhere else and look over the range my opinion would not be as it is now. My reasons however are based upon such facts that will convince any reasonable man.

"While it gets dry down our way, as it does in other parts of Texas, we still have a character of vegetation that will keep cattle in pretty fair condition, which does not grow anywhere else except down in Southwest Texas. The chaparral itself contains within its leepest thickets much that is good for cattle, and it being so thick it keeps green all the year. The prickley pear will supply nourishment through the winter for many cattle, and has become so well known that it is now used by dairymen in feeding their milch stock. Besides this we have an equable climate and plenty of shelter for wintering stock.

"Our stock this year have been in good condition all the time, as we have never been without rain, and all things have worked to the end most desired -good grass.

"Our section has become the paraise of the truckman and farmer, and the amount of stuff that is shipped out throughout the year is enormous. There is hardly an acre of our county that is not productive and will sell for farming purposes along with any land used for that purpose in the state.

FLOOD FORGOTTEN

Citizens of Angelo Country Enjoying Prosperity

W. H. Shields returned from San Angelo, where he had gone to look into the condition of things since the flood and talked a little. "You may say that I never saw the Angelo country in better shape. All hought of the recent flood has passed from the minds of the people apparent ly, and nothing but pushing ahead seems to occupy the minds of the workers of that section alone. Cattle could not be in better shape and the country will surely go into the winter with as fine a crop of winter feed as has ever been known. In fact the market is all that makes the stockman kick, and it may probably turn out that after the poor stuff has been disposed of and the demand for feeders has begun in earnest the prices may

IN MITCHELL COUNTY

Ben Van Tuyl Says Conditions Never Were Better

Ben Van Tuyl, the big stock farmer from the shades of Mitchell county, announced his presence Tuesday and was welcomed with the usual cerenonies which attend his arrivals. "What's the matter with Mitchell She's all right," he exclaimed. "Cattle fat, grass never better and crops just as good as could be. You were out there, were you? Well, why did you not telephone me. I've a 'phone "You can just say that the stock in in every way and the only thing we cattlemen have to kick about is the market. Bound to have something to strike out, you know. "Yes, I have some cotton planted, and it is shoulder high now and as full of bolls as a thin cow is of ticks in the cross timbers. I have in cotton eighty acres, and I intend to put in terests of our section are just as good

1,000 before I get through. "Stock farming is the thing now, and as cotton produces about the best all round feed there is no reason why I should not raise some of it, especially now that we have an oil mill right at home, where we can have our cotton ginned and swap the seed for cake and

"Yes, the old town of Colorado is improving fast, and will soon be on a real sound financial basis, better even than at any time in the past. People are just pouring in from everywhere and buying lands for farming purposes and it will soon be a solid farm all around the town."

RAIN CAME IN TIME

Coleman County Now Sharing Prosperity

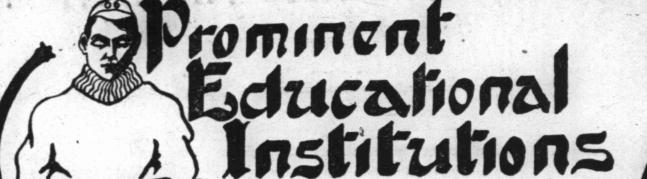

Lee Shields, from Santa Anna, was in visiting his brother Rome, and being asked replied: "Well, after suffering for a while with a drouth in the earlier part of the year, the rain came at last and now we have caught up with the rest of the country and can make just as good a showing as any of it. My range and cattle are all doing well and there never was such crops as we have. I am engaged in ranching and in other business enterprises such as banking, merchandising and city or rather town

"When the rain did come it sure did all in a hurry and plentiful. There is no better part of Texas than Coleman county, and the farmers seem to have come to the same conclusion, from the way in which they are buying the land up. The auditorium for the Feeders' and Breeders' Association will be a big thing, not alone for Texas, but for all the southwest, for it will encourage the breeders and stock farmers in an endeavor to put the best foot foremost. My business interests are all in good shape."

Cail Money Loans at 10 Per Cent-Rice Private Estimates Favor Bulls, But Trading Not Active-Market Holds Very Strong Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.-Tight money NEW YORK, Aug. 31.-The cotton as the bugaboo of the speculative trade was supplied with an abundance traternity today. The initial rate for of condition estimates today, most of call loans was 9 per cent, and this which were more bullish than otherwas soon increased to 10 per cent, wise. The Journal of Commerce summary came first and reported an averhe carrying of securities on margin a age deterioration for the month of 4.1ather expensive luxury, loans made today carry over until Tuesday, by per cent, the condition being placed at which time it is expected that the 77.6 per cent, as compared with 81.7 ituation will be relieved, as rumors last month. A prominent local firm ere current today to the effect that estimated the deterioration at 5.19 per $4,000,000 gold had been engaged for mport and the effect of the stringency cent, while Miss Giles stated that rewas not conspicuous on prices, but ports from the correspondents inditrading was restricted and the volume cated a decline of 3.8 per cent since business underwent a material her last report, making the average condition 78.9. While these figures, shrinkage, sales during the early hours being the lightest in the aggregate as before stated, were a little bullish, > so than expected. Shorts were not so eager to cover and the upward movement was not resumed at once as the unfavorable action of the foreign market caused a sympathetic decline here, prices on the first call being 5 to 6 points below yesterday's finals. But with three days intervening before the next session, there was little desire to sell and the market was rather dull. However, there was enough evening up by shorts to send prices up almost to yesterday's finals before the noon

The sharp flurry in the money market was a disturbing factor and during the afternoon when rates rose to 12 per cent liquidation and selling pressure appeared in a volume of sufficient proportion to cause a sharp break and the market closed barely steady with prices near the lowest, showing a net loss of 12 to 13 points. New Orleans Cotton Special to The Telegram. NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31.-Local cotton bulls were disappointed today, both by the general tenor of private condition reports and the opposition of the English trade to an upward price movement as reflected by Liverpool cables telling of the market's failure to respond to yesterday's American This as a matter of course checked bullish operations, but owing to fear of unfavorable developments during the holidays, bears were also afraid to put out new lines, and consequently the session was dull and void of features during the early hours. The undertone was at all times steady, however, and the covering of timid shorts enabled prices to recover the greater part of an initial loss of 8 points before mid-day. Tight money played havoc with bullish apprations during the after-noon and support was not adequate to offset the volume of long cotton thrown on the market during the final hour, and the close was steady with prices at a net loss of 7 to 8 points. THE TELEGRAM'S DAILY FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL REPORT

Wheat Liquidation Continuos-Prospect for Heavy Deliveries Weakens Prices

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 31.-Wheat trading today was very light and confined principally to changing from September to distant options on account of the prospect for heavy deliveries tomorrow with a contract stock of 8,000,000 bushels on hand to draw rom. There was only a limited demand for September, but early offerings were hardly adequate and with the help of a fairly steady foreign market and unfavorable Russian news. it was a comparatively easy matter to recover an initial loss of 1/ac to 1/4c and shove prices to a level 4c to %c above yesterday's finals. But on the advance quite a little September came on the market and an easier tone developed, the close being quiet with prices a shade lower to 'sc higher. they struck the talent as being less

Corn Corn receipts are increasing daily and the prospect is good for a heavy movement in the near future. The market feels the weight of the receipts and although prices held up well and even made slight gains during the day on a rather dull market, a recession occurred during the final hour, when liquidation of September longs became heavy and final figures showed a net loss of 1%c for September and a shade to %c for distant options.

Oats Oats trading was fairly active and the market had a good tone, although prices eased off late in the session in sympathy with the drop in corn prices, finals being at a net loss of

$50,000 LOST IN WRECK

Nine Cars of Merchandise and Steam

Wrecker Ditched Special to The Telegram. DENISON, Texas, Aug. 31.—At Hagerman, on Missouri, Kansas and Texas, Fort Worth division, a freight train went into a ditch and nine cars loaded with merchandise were almost destroyed. The train was hauled by engine No. 574 in charge of Conductor Douglass. A steam wrecker which went to the wreck jumped the track and went into a ditch and tore up 300 yards of track. The two trains in the ditch, it is said, will aggregate a loss of $50,-000. It is not known when the wreck will be cleared. All trains were detoured via Bells.

CLERKS RUSH FOR CASH

State Employes Lose No Time Getting Their Salaries Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 31.-There was a rush on the state treasury today by department clerks and other employes of the state for their salary for August, as today is pay day. This rush was due to the fact that the funds to the credit of the general revenue may become exhausted at any time and the clerks did not want to have their warrants registered.

Everybody was paid in cash and there is yet a small balance available, but State Treasurer Robbins says he does not know how long it will last. About $75,000 was paid out. Sales and leases for the month of August, as reported by State Treasurer Rob-16,995 bins, amounted to $154,362.

Only one load of cake-fed cattle appeared on offer, and as quality was lacking they were relegated to the grasser class for price-making. A six-car run of fat grassers, some of which were better feeders than killers, were sorted out for disposition in the two named classes. FOR MEAT LABELS

Local Packing Houses' Supply to Be Increased

A great increase in orders for United States meat inspection labels is expected at the Fort Worth packing houses after Oct. 1, when all meat, both for domestic and foreign consumption, must bear the stamp of government approval before being placed on the retail market. Owing to the new meat inspection law, the number of inspectors' labels used in the United States will be more than doubled, the increase being from 7,000,000 to fully 15,000,000 a month. Already the agricultural department has contracted with George E. Howard of Washington, the manufacturer, to supply 10,000,000 for the month of September, and after the law becomes effective this number will be increased to 15,000,000.

The government pays 65 cents the thousand for the labels, which means an expenditure of about $10,000 monthly to guarantee to buyers and consumers, both domestic and foreign, that the meat has been properly inspected by the special officers of the agricultural department

An Original Idea

The idea of these labels originated with Mr. Howard, and it has proved to be a clever one for the uses of the department, as well as a paying one for the manufacturer. The passage of the new meat inspection law undoubtedly meant a fortune for Mr. Howard and a marked growth for his unique industry. The business all goes to him. for his is the most satisfactory label for the purpose known, and already he is beginning to supply the countries of the world. The process of making the tag is patented, and so secret that so far there have been so successful imitators.

The label is a little gelatinous tag. It has come to be the official badge of good meat passed by United States inspectors, and after Oct. 1, one must be placed on every piece of meat as it is cut up in the slaughtering establishments. The inspector simply slaps the little tag on the piece of meat, and the heat and moisture of the freshly-killed meat makes it stick. In a short time the gelatine dissolves, the line threads rub off, and there is left nothing but the print of those blue letters in the meat. It can't be removed except by cutting it off. It is absolutely harm-

Off Connection with Pittsburg Special to The Telegram. PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 31.-Mrs.

William Thaw, the devoted mother of Harry Kendall Thaw, has decided to cut adrift from all connections in Pittsburg, where the Thaw millions were made, and with this purpose in view "Lyndhurst," the famous Thaw residence here, has been offered for

The rest of the property owned by Mrs. Thaw here also will be sold, the understanding among her friends being that Mrs. Thaw will retain only her Pennsylvania railroad bonds as souvenirs of Pittsburg.

One of her fashionable bits of property in Berhwood boulevard, near Lyndhurst, was sold yesterday for $40,-000 to a Pittsburg man, whose name has not been made public. Up until a short time ago Mrs. Thaw would not have sold this property for anything or any money. Now Lyndhurst, on which Mrs. Thaw spent $400,000, also is on the market. KITE FLYER INJURED

Boy of Twelve Drops Fifty Feet From Poof While flying a kite from the roof of a two-story house in West Weatherford street, Friday morning, Amos Howard, a 12-year-old boy, lost his balance and fell to the ground, a distance of some fifty feet. The lad's right arm was broken in the fall and his right faw bone fractured, he alighting with terrific force on his right side. He was picked up in an unconscious condition. Physicians were hastily summoned and it is thought the boy will recover from his injuries. When Amos fell from the roof he screamed and this brought his mother and older brother, who were just preparing to go to town to do some shop-

DEAD FINANCIER ACCUSED OF THEFT

Alleged That He Stole $65,000 Bank Funds

By Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.-The statement of Receiver Earle of the Real Estate Trust Company of this city that Frank K. Hipple, late president of the concern, had stolen securities valued at $65,000 and lending $5, 000,000 to Adolph Segal on insufficient security, amounted to as much as theft, created a profound sensation throughout the city today. The revelation is especially a cruel blow to many intimate friends, most of whom are prominent in the Presbyterian church, either clergymen or laymen.

So high was the estimation of the man who abhorred tobacco and liquor and refrained from reading Sunday newspapers. Not only various organizations in the Presbyterian church made the trust company a depository but hundreds of members of that denomination placed money in the company. A number of pastors who used the bank to care for their savings are especially heavy losers. Most of them refused to entertain the theory that Hipple ended his life, and it is difficult to make them believe his secret operations were irregular, as they are al

STRUCK BY ENGINE

W. R. Connors Struck While Sitting on Track

While sitting on a track in the east yards of the Texas and Pacific railway Thursday night about 11 o'clock, W. R. Connors, a young man living at Arlington, was struck by a switch engine and seriously injured. He was taken to Dr. Thompson's sanitarium on Lamar street and it was found that he had received a bad scalp wound on the right side of his head, his right arm had been broken at the shoulder and right hip and back badly bruised. The young man's parents at Arlington were notified and they are with him at the sanitarium now. Friday afternoon he was reported as looking better and it is thought that his injuries will not prove fatal. The accident occurred while Connors was talking with some of the men in the yards and sitting on the track near the company's pumping station. The noise of the pumps was such that he did not hear the rumble of a rapidly approaching switch engine until it was almost upon him. As he attempted to jump from his perilous position the engine struck him squarely on the right side, inflicting

the wounds mentioned above. NEGRO INJURED

Boards Slip from Hoist at Burton-

Peel Building John Hood, a negro employed at the Burton-Peel building, was severely injured Thursday while helping to raise bundle of flooring to one of the upper floors of the building. A large number of pieces of flooring are tied together and all drawn up at once by the hoisting engine. When one of the bundles was nearly up a number of boards slipped away from the rest and fell upon Hood, striking him on the back and shoulders. A physician was called and the man taken to his home, where it was found that the injuries are not serious. COTTON HEARING ON

Commerce Commission to Discuss Change of Rates

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 31.-A hearing of importance in the cotton production states and to cotton carrying railroads will be held here by the interstate commerce commission on Wednesday, Sept. 12. It will relate to the petition received by the commission for the authority to change the rates and report of cotton on less than thirty days' notice to the commission, which is provided for in the new interstate commerce act. Railroad officials say if the interstate commission insists upon the provision for thirty days' notice of change of rates, cotton shippers will easily adjust themselves to the situation. It will be necessary for the commission to issue an order as to the matter, but before doing so it has been decided to hear all sides of the question.

Four singles in the fifth inning, also Maloney error, helped the Panthers whip the Giants at Haines park Thursday, by a score of 8 to 3. Save for the fifth inning and the second, Clark's pitching was effective Merkel made good for the Panthers, although Dallas got eight scattered hits off his delivery. The last game of the present fourgame series is scheduled for 4:30 v'clock this afternoon. The Parthers are only 7 points ahead in the pennant race and will have to win today, or else Cleburne

Republican Congressional Convention .638 .454 Does Not Indorse Governor Special to The Telegram. GUTHRIE, Okla., Aug. 31.-It developed during the congressional convention here that the republicans of Kay county, in their recent county convention to select delegates, entered extensive discussions when the time consider resolutions. The McGuire machine fellows wanted o indorse McGuire and Frantz. They brought in such resolutions, expecting to pass them, but when it was shown to them that if they indorsed the administration of Governor Frantz that the convention would also indorse the administration of Governor Tom Ferguson, the McGuire fellows laid down and as a result the name of Frantz did not appear in their resolutions. The convention also refused to adopt resolutions indorsing the primary election system, the initiative and referendum and extending the prohibition clause in the statchood bill over the entire state. A majority of the convention wanted the prohibition and primary clauses adopted, but the Mc-Guire fellows pleaded with the delegates not to adopt them and Captain Reppeto, an ex-brother-in-law of Mc-Guire, made the statement that if the prohibition clause were adopted it would defeat McGuire by 5,000 votes in this district. Finally all three of the resolutions were voted down, through the assistance of the Baker-Barnes-Norton faction at Ponca City.

A feature of the convention was the

LITTLE CHECK ON POISON SALE

Telegram Reporter Discovers Deplorable Condition

ANYONE CAN PURCHASE

Opium and Cocaine Only Poisons About Which Law Has Placed Bar.

Acids Easy to Get

In view of the recent suicides that have occurred in the city by persons taking poison, an investigation was instituted Friday morning by a Telegram reporter to ascertain if there was any law restricting the sale of deadly drugs in the city of Fort Worth. in that it showed that almost any one could purchase life-destroying powders or liquids at the drug stores without fear of being checked through a rigid

There are only two drugs that are kept from the public by law. These are opium, its alkaloids, and cocaine and its alkaloids. To buy any of these a person must have a prescription from a physician. If they are sold otherwise it is in direct violation of one of the state's most rigid laws, Carbolic acid, strychnine, hydrochloric (muriatic) acid, sulphuric acid, arsenic, chloroform, chloral and many other drugs that kill can be bought as if they were harmless beverages. There is absolutely no restriction upon the sale of deadly drugs and a person suffering from a temporary derangement of the mind would have no trouble in purchasing enough poison to accomplish self-destruction.

Girl of 14 Bought Acid

One of the prominent down town druggists declared this morning that there should be a law against the sale of poisons. He asserted that all drug stores in Texas should be equipped with poison books—that is to have a kind of a register so that whenever a person bought a deadly drug it would be necessary to give his name, place of residence and for what purpose wanted, etc. This same gentleman related how one day last week a 14year-old girl, evidently bent upon taking her own life, came into the store and asked for 15 cents worth of carbolic acid, saying that her mother wanted it for a disinfectant. In a few hours the mother of the young girl called up and stated that she intended to prosecute who ever sold her girl the poison; that she (the girl) had arrived home with her lips, tongue and hands badly burned from the acid. It was the supposition of the drug-acid but her nerve failed when she realized what agony would be suffered before death came. Several druggists declared that there should be a law to protect the druggist and one to protect the public. If a person enters a drug store and asks for carbolic acid or strychnine they are seldom refused it, unless the clerk has positive knowledge that they intend using it criminally. In the drug store that Mrs. A. L. Crenshaw, who died several weeks ago from strychnine, purchased the acid, the clerk who waited upon her tried his utmost to persuade her not to buy it. She insisted, however, that she wanted it to kill rats with and of course got it. J. T. Sandidge, who killed himself yesterday afternoon in a lower Main street drug store, had no trouble in getting the carbolic acid which took his life. Almost any one can buy this poison without even being questioned.

Poison Book a Check

In many states in the union there is a law against the indiscriminate sale of deadly drugs. In Tennessee, Georgia, New York, Kentucky, Onio and several other states every drug store is required to have a poison book. Every person who buys the smallest amount of any poison is forced to register his name and his residence number before securing the stuff wanted. And then, too, he must have a prescription by a recognized physician. Several leading physicians of the ity, who request that their names be withheld, asserted to a Telegram reporter this morning that there should be a law in Texas regulating the sale poisons by all means and at all hazards They declared that many or were becoming "dope" fiends being able to secure easily drugs that give some relief to the nerves for a time and in the long run wreck one's entire system. As one physician said "There should be a sale regulating the sale of poisons. There is none, and many a poor soul would be living today if there had been. Make such a law and all the country will be bene-senate is not all that could be wished, it deserves a fair trial. "Rate regulation was absolutely necessary in that it furnishes some relief from the unbearable conditions which have existed, but we must not forget that the vesting of this enor-mous power in hands of the commission appointed by the President introduces a new danger. If an appointive board has the power to fix rates and can, by the exercise of power or decree, take hundreds of millions of dollars from the annual revenues of the railroads, will not the railroads feel that they have a large pecuniary interest in the election of a President friendly to the rallroads? Experience has demonstrated that municipal corruption is largely traceable to the fact that franchise corporations desire to control the city council and thus increase their dividends. If the man-The information gained was startling 'agers adopt the same policy sentiment in favor of ownership of railroads by the government is likely to increase as rapidly throughout the country as the sentiment in favor of municipal ownership has increased in the cities.

Public Ownership

"I have already reached the conclusion that the railroads partake so much of the nature of a monopoly that they must ultimately become public property and be managed by public officials in the interests of the whole community in accordance with the well-defined theory that public ownership is necessary where competition is impossible. I do not know that the country is ready for this legislation. I do not know that a majority of my own party favors it, but I believe that an increasing number of the members of all parties see in public ownership the sure remedy for discriminations between persons and politics and for the extortionate rates for the carrying of freight and passenger.

Equal Right to All "And who can suffer injury by just taxation, impartial laws and the application of the Jeffersonian doctrine of equal rights to all and special privileges to none? Only those whose ac-cumulations are stained with dishonesty and whose immoral methods have given them a distorted view of business, society and government, accumulating by conscious fraud more money than they can profitably use upon themselves, wisely distribute or safely leave to their children, these denounce as public enemies all who oppose their methods or throw a light upon their "Plutocracy is abhorrent to a republic. It is more despotic than monarchy, more heartless than aristocracy more selfish than bureaucracy. It preys upon the nation in time of peace and conspires against it in the hour of its calamity. Conscienceless, compassionless and devold of wisdom, it engist that the girl intended to take the ravels its votaries, while it impoverishes its victims. It is already sapping the strength of the nation, vulgarizing social life and making a mockery of morals. The time is ripe for its overthrow. Let us attack it boldly, making our appeal to the awakened conscience of the nation in the name of the counting room which it has defiled, in the name of business honor which i has sullied, in the name of the people whom it has oppresed, in the name of the homes which it has despoiled and in the name of religious upon which it has placed the stigma of hypocrisy.

Politics and Trusts

"The people see now what they should have seen before, namely, that no party can exterminate the trusts so long as it owes its political success to political campaign contributions secured through the trusts. Great corporations do not contribute their money to any party except for immunity expressly promised or clearly implied. The President has recommended legislation on this subject ,but so far his party has failed to respond. No important advance can be made until this baneful influence is eliminated. and I hope that the democratic party will not only challenge the republican party to bring forward effective legislation on this subject, but will set an example by refusing to receive campaign contributions from corporations and by opening the books so that every contributor of any considerable sum may be known to the public before the election. The great najority of corporations are engaged legitimate business and have nothing to fear from hostile legislation, and the officers should not be permitted to use the money of the stockholders to advance their own political opinions. Contributions should be individual, not orporate, and no party can afford to receive contributions even from individuals when the acceptance of these contributions secretly pledge the party to a course which it cannot openly avow. In other words, politics should be honest, and I mistake political conditions in America if they do not presage ovement in the conduct

Northern Texas Traction Co. Alone Asking Privileges

Withdrawal of W. O. Allen's appliation for a street railway franchise providing for building lines on the South side has left but two franchise applications to be voted on in the referendum election which takes place

Saturday. The only company asking franchises is the Northern Texas Traction Company, and of the two franchises asked one provides for lines in the down town district and the other on South side

In the general discussion of the South side franchise the request for a franchise in the down town district seems to have been generally over-For this reason the proposed route which has been frequently published in The Telegram is again printed. The right of way for a single and double track street car line, together with all necessary switches, sidetracks and turnouts over, along and upon the following streets and portions of streets.

"Beginning at the intersection of Houston and Tenth streets in said city at a point of connection with the present tracks of the Northern Texas Traction Company now laid at that point; thence in a southerly direction with double track, along and over Houston street to Fifteenth street; thence continuing along and over Houston street with a single track to Front street; thence in an easterly direction with a single track to Main street and connecting with the present tracks and lines of street railway of the Northern Texas Traction Company on Main street and on Front street, the track on Front street to be confined to the location of the present track on said street owned by the Northern Texas Traction Company as now laid between Main and Houston streets; with the right, however, to curve or change the location of the east and west ends of said line of track as now laid on Front street; between Main and Houston streets, a sufficient distance to make the proper onnections with the company's lines

Main street and its contemplated line on Houston street also. "Reginning at the intersection of Seventh and Main streets and conecting with the present street railway racks of the Northern Texas Traction ompany at that intersection, on Seventh street and Main street; thence in an easterly direction with a single track along and over to Jones street; thence in a northerly direction along and over the central portion of Jones street to Third street; thence in an central portion of Third street to Pecan street; thence in a northerly direction along and over the central portion of Pecan street to First street; thence in an easterly direction along and over the central portion of First street to Hampton street." Under the plan of the election the voter has no option in expressing his pinion as to whether or not the franchise would be given free, but must either vote in favor of the propositions against them in toto. Considerable opposition to gratuitous giving of franchises has jority, been raised among the civic organizations of the city.

Among the general public, especially in the down town business district, the franchise elections have excited practically no discussion, and repeated efforts by The Telegram to learn expressions of sentiment have been met with statements that lead to the conclusion Saturday's election will poll a very light vote. An economical plan in buying jewelry is to go to a store where there is absolutely no question about quality. When you buy here you don't pay any more than you would at an indifferent store, but you're certain about the quality. The Third Ward Civic Club met at its hall at Sixteenth and Elm streets Thursday night to discuss the granting of a franchise to the Northern Texas Traction Company for lines of several streets of the city. About twenty men were present. Two speakthe time of the meeting Judge J. E. Martin supporting the Traction company and A. H. McCarty opposing the grants. After the discussion a straw vote was taken to test the sentiment of those present and it resulted in a tie. This can hardly be taken to indicate the sentiment in the ward, however, as the number of voters present was so small. It is said that eighty qualified voters living in this ward are employes of the Northern Texas Traction Company and their votes are expected to help carry the ward by a large ma-

Want Street Opened

A petition has been circulated in the Third ward for several days past asking that Seventeenth street or Nineteenth street, or both, be opened to Chambers hill. Over 200 names have already been secured on the petition. It is said that these streets are much needed, as it is now inconvenient to reach the ward school from some directions and in fact the school cannot be seen more than 200 yards away in any direction, so poorly are the streets laid out. Opening Nineteenth street would give a driveway right past the building and afford a means of reaching many houses which are at present quite inaccessible. If this street is opened it will be necessary to build a two-span bridge over Chambers branch, which is now crossed by a rickety foot bridge for the use of school children and workmen coming toward the central part of the city to work. BOXBALL TOURNAMENT

Rival Teams in Contest at White City,

Rosen Heights A box ball tournament is now in progress at White City, and is exciting good deal of interest among visitors to that resort. The first of a sixgame series took place Thursday afternoon and the following scores were
