INTERVENTION WELCOMED BY LOYALIST AND REBEL

Move by Roosevelt Alone Can End the War

STILL FIGHTING

Government Forces Rejoice at Defeat of Insurgents, But Let Them Escape

HAVANA, Sept. 15.—The dominant note here today seems to be one of hopefulness over the letter of President Roosevelt to Minister Quesada, while a majority of the inhabitants are opposed to the relinquishment by the republic of any of its independence. It is at last realized that the only chance of a permanent peace lies in some kind of intervention by the United States.

Palma Weak

It is generally admitted that the Palma administration is weak, but there is but little faith in the leaders of the insurrection. The majority of them are looked upon as self-seeking politicians whose greatest desire is to get their hands in the public treasury.

Will Welcome Taft

There is a particularly confident feeling over the coming of Secretary Taft. Owing to his record in the Philippines he is regarded in a friendly light by the Cubans. So little is known of Mr. Bacon that the mention of his name excited no comment whatever. The Roosevelt letter and the visit of Taft are the chief topics of conversation in Havana.

The government announced today that there had been heavy fighting near Wajay, in which one thousand insurgents under Colonel Aebert and General Castillo, were whipped by General Rodriguez with a command of four hundred rurales. Wajay is twelve miles south of this city. The rurales claim to have killed eight and wounded twenty-three insurgents, but for some reason they did not follow up their success on the contrary they returned to Havana. His force is now encamped about ten miles from town.

Fighting at El Cano

After Rodriguez' return it was reported that there had been further fighting near El Cano, but there have been no details made public. Twice today there have been reports in circulation here of the capture of Cleburne but as the wires are cut in that direction it has been impossible to obtain either a denial or a confirmation.

Armed Train Cut Off

When last heard from Pino Guerra was advancing along the base of the Pinar del Rio mountains in the direction of Havana. A band of his men blew up a bridge at Taocotaco and the armed train, which was wanted to return to this city, went off. Nothing has been heard of it for two days, but that it has been captured is not believed.

Battleship on Way

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—Under order code orders the United States battleship Louisiana, Captain Albert Couden, and the Virginia, Captain Sten Schroeder, sailed from Newport this afternoon with only the commanding officers and the navy department knowing their destinations as they left the harbor.

Until after midnight of Friday the battleship was coaling at the naval station in Narragansett Bay with search lights, while the Alabama completed coaling under rush orders late yesterday afternoon. None of the commanding officers and the navy department know the movements of the battleships which have all told 150 officers, men and marines on board.

MANGLED BY GIN

HILL County Man Has Side and Arm Mangled

ITALY, Texas, Sept. 15.—Allen Warren received fatal injuries today in a fight with a gin at Masten, Hill county. His right arm and side were badly mangled, being caught in the gin saws. Physicians amputated the right arm. His side was so badly lacerated he found it impossible to close the wound by sewing. He lived but a few hours after the accident.

Lyon Faction of Republicans Hear Gray and Atwell

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 15.—Tonight the regular or Lyon Republicans are making merry in Dallas. It is the occasion of their formal opening of their campaign in Texas. In so far as the parade advertised for this evening is concerned, it was a "frost." A brass band, followed by about one dozen small boys bearing banners made up the parade, which marched through the principal streets, winding up at the Oriental hotel, where the leaders were serenaded. On the banners borne by the boys were such inscriptions as these:

MRS. ASTOR IMPROVES

Reported That Millionaire Woman Had Suffered Relapse

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—Inquiries prompted by a report that Mrs. William Waldorf Astor, who recently became ill and came here after having greatly improved in condition, had suffered a relapse and was in a serious condition, resulted in the official statement from the Astor home that Mrs. Astor had steadily improved since coming to Newport. She was able to take exercise today and spent some time on the veranda of the Astor cottage.

ESCAPES FROM JAWS OF DEATH

Woman Is Swept Upward Through Sea to Life

DIVED UNDER SCOW

Companions Drowned When Launch Capsizes and Res- cued Withold Names

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Two women and a man were drowned today in a mysterious accident in the lower bay, near Sandy Hook. The auxiliary steam yacht Sausage of Jamaica was capsized by collision with a passing scow in tow of a tug. Those who reached shore alive, three men and two women, refused for some time to tell their names or those of the persons drowned, but finally were persuaded to do so. One of the women escaped death by diving under the scow, whose under gates swept her up into one of the most miraculous adventures ever recorded.

The Drowned

MISS SAUNDERS of Boston.
UNKNOWN WOMAN, who wore glasses.
TALL, DARK - COMPLEXIONED MAN, name unknown.
The rescued:
Mabel Cook of No. 324 St. Nicholas avenue.
William Walter Wood.
Phillip Dood.
Klees.
Miss Fannie Day, No. 432 St. Nicholas avenue.

Most Remarkable Escape

The escape of Miss Day was the most remarkable ever recorded. When the launch was struck by the scow she dived to avoid the wreckage. It happened that the scow was one of the automatic dumping style, in which the bottom is released by a lever, drops down and outward in two parts and allows the load to slide into the ocean. The false or hinged bottom is forced back into place automatically by the pressure of the water.

Swept Under Scow

Apparently the load of the scow had not been dumped long. As Miss Day dived she was swept under the scow and was caught in the current formed by the gradually closing halves of the false bottom. This had the effect of practically pulling her up out of the ocean into the scow, and when the bottom finally closed she was safe. She was weak, ill and hysterical and was unable to climb up the sloping sides.

At Mercy of Waves

The launch engine broke down early Friday night and from that time until the survivors were picked up, clinging to the upshot boat, they were at the mercy of the waves. The water was unusually rough. Strong winds lashed the waves into whitecaps. To be out on the dangerous lower bay in any kind of a craft was foolhardy, but to brave the storm in such a launch was doubly so.

Eight in Party

The party of eight—four men and four women—left Sheephead Bay Friday night in a nineteen-foot launch, to go back to their homes in Jamaica or somewhere on Jamaica Bay. They were well out when the engine broke down. They cast anchor, but fearing that the little craft would overturn because of the heavy sea, they drifted in the anchor and decided to wait until they could get assistance.

STATE FILES ANSWER

Lumber Rate Suit Brought by Santa Fe Gets Attention

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 15.—The attorney general this afternoon on behalf of the railroad commission filed an answer in the case of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railway company pending in the Twenty-sixth district court. Suit was brought by the Santa Fe for the purpose of cancelling certain lumber rates from points on the Beaumont division of the road to Port Arthur and Sabine Pass. The state also filed pleas in abatement to have the suit dismissed as far as the Gulf, Beaumont and Great Northern and Gulf, Beaumont and Kansas City railways are concerned, which roads have been leased to Santa Fe.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 15.—H. Clay Pierce, head of the southern branch of the Standard Oil trust, projected himself into the limelight today as a reformer of men and during his three hours on the witness stand in the Gruet case the oil magnate told how he had spent nearly $7,000 trying to break the former secretary of the Waters-Pierce Oil company of habits of intemperance. Pierce claimed that he had been the savior of Gruet and told how on April 1, 1905, he had placed his former associate in the directory of the Waters-Pierce company in 1900, in procuring a license for the disposal of Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas to audit the accounts of a group of Tennessee corporations in which Pierce said he was interested to the extent of $18,000,000.

Bailey's Aid Recalled

The testimony of Pierce brought out his close relationship with the young statesman from Texas and was a reminder of the fact that Senator Bailey had rendered Pierce valuable services in 1900, in procuring a license for the Waters-Pierce Oil Company to do business in that state after its original license had been revoked for violation of the anti-trust statutes.

Policeman Jailed for Wounding Escaping Prisoner

End Finds Czar's Favorite in Peterhof Palace

General Treppoff died at the Palace at Peterhof tonight of angina pectoris. During the day it was rumored that he was ill and that he had been granted a month's leave of absence to recuperate. The positive announcement was also made that he would return to his post as governor of the palace at the end of his leave. The rumor that he was assassinated is officially denied.

After Premier's Life

Terrorists with an automobile have been for several days laying in wait for Premier Stolypin, who is now stopping at the Winter Palace. The car was a high power one and was occupied by three men.

Waited for Hurl Bomb

Yesterday a policeman became suspicious of the movements of the men in the car and he approached it to question the occupants. Before he could half them the chauffeur suddenly turned on the power and the car quickly disappeared. It is now the theory of the policemen that the men in the car were terrorists who were waiting to hurl a bomb at the premier whenever he should come out.

Sought Witte's Life

A dispatch from Wiesbaden, Germany, today gives the details of an attempt there to assassinate Count Witte. The would-be assassin gave the name of Rosenberg. He remained in waiting all morning outside the Coates hotel and when the latter appeared Rosenberg sprang forward as if to attack him. He was instantly seized by the police and overpowered.

Carried a Bomb

When a search was made a bomb and a revolver were found in the possession of the prisoner. He was hurried away to jail, but refused to make any statement.

CROWN VALUED AT $100,000 MISSING

Two Autoists Are Suspected of Stealing Jewel

PARIS, Sept. 15.—The crown of St. Michael, worth $100,000, has mysteriously disappeared from the ancient church, which stands on Mount St. Michael, the rocky islet off St. Malo, Brittany.

Suspicion, however, has fallen on two well dressed men who came to St. Malo in an automobile and dined expensively. They left their car by the roadside for some time and returned at night and it is suggested that during the interval the church was entered by the aid of an accomplice and the crown stolen.

New Pastel Plaids, a highly mercerized material, beautiful rich colorings; resembles the better silk plaids so much in vogue; it washes nicely; at 25¢

Mohairs at 50c—Here's a lot of fine Mohairs; think of it, at 50c; they are 62 inches wide, good colors every one of them; your choice of color includes greens, browns, reds and blacks.

Storm Serge and there's no better wearing material, and it's dressy for every day wear; colors here are black, navy or royal blues; the quality is the regular 75c quality, for 50¢

Plaids—Dark, rich Plaids, beautiful in their colorings, suitable for misses' skirts or ladies' or children's waists; they come in reds, blues, greens and grays; very stylish, 56 inches wide; for the dollar quality tomorrow 89¢

New Plaids keep peeping out from every corner in almost any material you wish. We offer chiffon weights in Taffeta Silks, Batiste, Clay Worsted, French Serges, Granites and Melrose at $1.00

that will interest you—interest your friends

In fact, it will be so interesting that every woman in Fort Worth will deem it her personal interest to come, for never in history has a store made such an effort to secure representative hats from the leading milliners of the world. It has been done for woman's sake; here she will find hats from the style leaders of the world, such as C. M. Phipps—considered New York's most exclusive milliner; or such names as Castle, Burgess or Gage or Chicago, New York and Paris, linked with the services of Mr. Coleman, the man milliner, whose hats are given daily preference over the imported Paris masterpieces.

$1.00 Hand Bags 50c

Here's a chance; you'll need a new Purse for fall. We were lucky to secure several hundred fine Leather Purses, with handles; some are lined, others have change purses inside; should sell for $1.00, all new; tomorrow at 50¢

Long Suede Gloves

That Gloves will go higher on account of cost of materials, but by a lucky placing of orders early last year this store will be able to fill here in great assortment, including old rose, cell or baby blue; new grays, rich reds, perfect tones of green, creams and pure white.

Gorgeously Beautiful—This Showing of Silks

This silk counter is gaining friends; already its sales are said to be the largest in the South, and why not? If we hear of a new silk in the big stores of the east, we take steps to bring it here. Gradually we have secured the best the world produces—"MONEYBAK," Doherty, Skinner and imported French Taffetas, Bonnet (Bonay) Silks.

NEW PLAID SILKS, rich in their gorgeously brilliant colorings to the softer tones, suiting the fancy as Fashion dictates, for this is a plaid season and every one will wear plaids. Scotland should be proud of these, for prettier were never shown at 69c and 98¢

75c WASH TAFFETAS, 50c—That's what we mean in every sense of the word; they will wash if you wash them as silks should be washed. Silks are not made to be washed with strong lyes or washing powders. The colors are pink, rose, soft greens, navy blues; 75c Silks for 50¢

$1.25 SILK RADIUM CREPE, 98c—Soft and clinging in its beautiful draping effects, the delicate beautiful evening shades, daylight colors and blacks are here in great assortment, including old rose, cell or baby blue; new grays, rich reds, perfect tones of green, creams and pure white.

SILKS THAT DON'T TEAR—In this day of silk making this seems almost unbelievable, but we have five of the leading best makes the world produces that will stand any test you put it to. We give a written guarantee with our guaranteed silks. Ask for these—MONEYBAK, DOHERTY, SHAMROCK, SKINNER OR BONNET (pronounced Bonay). Prices $1.25 to $1.75
$1.10 BLACK SILK TAFFETA for 89c—It is 36 inches wide, firmly woven, loom finished; also in the chiffon weight, highly finished, for waists and fancy wear.

29c For These Silks 29c

TOMORROW MORNING WE PLACE ON SPECIAL SALE a lot of 19-inch fancy Silks that sell regularly at 49c to 75c the yard. The colors are all in popular shades and include almost every known color. The Silks are medium weight 29¢

NO MORE UNKNOWN DEAD IN THE UNITED STATES ARMY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The finger print method of identification is to be applied to soldiers in the United States army, and a general order has just been issued putting it into practical effect on and after Sept. 1.

That this method of identification is infallible is the conclusion of the special board appointed to make the preliminary investigation. It has been mathematically figured that the chances of any two persons' finger prints being alike are one in 64 billions. Which means that if the population of the earth were forty times as great as it is today, one might look in vain for two people whose finger marks would be identical.

"Hereafter, it is said, there need be no such thing as 'unknown dead.' After a battle, when it is necessary to dump a lot of corpses into a trench and cover them with dirt, it will in future be the duty of the officers in charge to take a finger mark from the hand of the dead soldier and see that it is sealed in a tight bottle and buried with the remains. Then, at some later date, a comparison of the marks will make the identity of the killed a certainty.

It is a remarkable thing about these finger markings that they never change in pattern from infancy till death. The markings on the backs of the fingers are classified in four divisions as follows: Arches, loops, whorls and composite. These make a pattern which is more stable than the character, the marks, the disposition, or the physical body of the person. All these change. The body itself is said by physicians to undergo a complete change in the materials of which it is made up every seven years. All the minerals and organic substances are in that time replaced by new atoms and molecules. The character, disposition or the outward appearance of a person may be revolutionized; but he never can get rid of the pattern formed by the intricate traceries of the surface of his skin.

It will be quite a job to take the finger impressions of the 60,000 men in the army. And the task will be increased by the fact that the finger impressions are to be accompanied by further identification descriptions made on the Bertillon system, as well as by Bertillon photographs.

State headquarters during the campaign for governor at Dallas by both factions of the republican party in Texas.

Dr. Gray's Address

The address of Dr. Cary Gray, nominee for governor at the republican meeting tonight follows:

"Ladies and Gentlemen—Standing squarely on the platform of my party adopted at El Paso, I ask your consideration of Texas voters irrespective of past party alignment. Because I am a business man rather than an orator, I have concluded to minimize both time and space by committing to paper the ideas I think should be crystallized into the administrative and executive policies of the state of Texas.

Pabst Blue Ribbon

The cleanest beer and the richest beer and has no equal as a mild, healthful beverage. It is brewed only from Pabst eight-day malt, the choicest hops and pure water. Pabst eight-day malt, the perfect malt, contains all the food qualities of the finest barley in predigested form. It is this high food value and the Pabst exclusive process of brewing and thoroughly aging the beer, that gives Pabst Blue Ribbon Beers its rich, mellow flavor, its refreshing zest.

believe in republican tenets and those who believe in and practice the democratic faith. Our differences are taken with the best of fellowship, but my country and my brethren must agree with me that there have been certain governmental abuses in Texas that perhaps an equal party division might have prevented.

"To you, Mr. State Chairman, as the representative of the republican party of Texas, I beg to express my extreme gratitude for the honor that the party has conferred on me. I did not seek political preferment; it came unexpectedly. I am perhaps unworthy the honor, but the organization that is now being perfected in the state of Texas will ultimately bring to the fore a dominant republican party in this state, and to have been a humble collaborator to that end is honor enough for me and will be enough for any other man who labors in a similar direction.

Believes in Roosevelt

"I desire to say in conclusion that I believe in President Roosevelt. He has not only been a great statesman and himself the people's friend, and he has at his head the republican party continues to write the history of the union against free silver, free wool, free hides and free platform trade, for all of which our democratic friends stand."

Need of Two Parties

W. H. Atwell said:

"What is good for the nation and what results in national perfection and purity ought to be good for state affairs, and ought to result in state perfection. There is no reason in statement of the Democratic politicians that the Democratic party in this state purifies itself. They are all of one family and fundamentally they may be and there are little differences between them upon minor questions, but these little differences do not result in national perfection and motion to purify the whole body. If, therefore, the two parties in Texas were nearly equal I believe there would be no state of Democracy. There would be an enforcement of the state trust law. I believe there would be a punishment of grafting in local county affairs, and I believe platform promises and beliefs would be kept."

"The Democratic party of Texas is like an old toper, who swears off every two years. The platform of that party adopted at its Dallas convention last month promises the people that it will abolish free passes, that it will not raise the price of liquor, that it will amend the election law and abolish occupation taxes and do some other things. These are not new pledges. As often as Democracy has met for the last few years these same promises have been made to the people, but the beverage has been so pleasant and the dream of intoxication so sweet that the promises, like pie crust and toppers' resolutions, have always been broken.

Pokes Fun at Democrats

"This wonderful platform endorses the state administration for its 'faithfulness and efficiency.' This administration broke the platform pledges made to the people in 1904. I do not speak of Democracy as a party, but as a platform. I believe in the platform personally, because I am very fond of some of them, but it seems to me that the administration just closing has been one of the poorest business administrations that our state has suffered in some time. This remarkable platform, however, commends to the next legislature the passing of a law defining and prohibiting lobbying. This, of course, means that the lobbyist will be held to the same standard as the legislator. The platform also demands that the law be amended so as to hold the Terrill election law to simplify and perfect the same and to make it impossible for conventions to nominate candidates for office, and, mind you, this was a convention speaking to the legislative body which had just passed a Democratic election law. I suggest that there be added to the Democratic election law a proviso which would compel every Democratic candidate when he announces for office, to specify—

- "1. The office he wants.
- "2. The office he wouldn't mind filling.
- "3. The office he would not refuse, and
- "4. The office he would accept rather than join the ranks of the common people again. This, in addition to the percentage and first and second and third choice, would simplify the matter of Democratic office holding considerably and do away with a great many useless primaries and general elections which now cost the people vast sums of money."

HUNT FOR TRAIN ROBBERS

Daring Attempt Made to Hold Up a Train Near Peoria, Ill.

Special to The Telegram.

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 15.—It is believed by the posse searching that the man who attempted to hold up a train a mile from this city last night will be captured soon. This morning it was learned that three men had entered the city after leaving the train and had been definitely identified as the robbers. The man who sold the pistol is a notorious looking character. Later three answering the bandits' jeering shouts, they were held, and they found deserted on the other side of the Illinois river. Deputies are following this trail.

OYSTERS CAUSE TYPHOID

Physician Explains Cause of So Many Cases During the Month

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 15.—That the autumnal increase in the number of typhoid cases is caused by opening of the oyster season is the startling statement advanced by Dr. Herbert D. Peas of the New York state board of health.

"Expert authorities agree that the sudden swelling of the list of typhoid cases during September is directly due to the fact that at that time people begin to eat raw oysters, mussels and other shell fish," he said.

Several extensive epidemics have been definitely traced to eating oysters which have been fattened at the mouths of sewers or in their badly polluted waters."

Zinc Deposits Found

HERFORD, Texas, Sept. 15.—There is considerable excitement here over large deposits of zinc that have just been discovered in the western portion of Deaf Smith county. It is reported to be a big thing and extensive mining operations will at once be instituted.

BUT ONE BID FOR SCHOOL SIDEWALK

S. N. Brookshire Offers to Do Work at 13 1/2 Cent Rate

At the office of the city engineer Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock bids for the building of the Seventh ward fire hall, recently authorized by the city council, and bids for the laying of good cement sidewalks about the various city school buildings were opened. There was but one bid on the sidewalks and that was submitted by S. N. Brookshire at the rate of 13 1/2c per square foot. The understanding is that if any of this work is done, the contractor will be required to give the city one, two or three years' time on the payments. This is a precaution adopted by the school board to avoid any pressure being brought for payments when it might be inconvenient. There is a certainty that the cost of the very desirable improvement can be met out of the school funds within the limit with ease.

Mr. Brookshire's bid is for all of the work to be done, be it much or little, at the price stated. The specifications call for a first-class cement sidewalk, practically about the same grade as the Carnegie library pavement or that around the First Presbyterian church. The under work is of the best character used for such purposes and the surface that it may be hard and not peel off, is composed of one part cement and two of good sharp sand.

Fire Hall Bids

The bids submitted for the Seventh ward fire hall were five in number, but two of them were not accompanied by certified checks, though the terms of the bidding require this to be done. The tenders were invited on the building of the fire hall alone, no plumbing or electric wiring to be included. The bids and the bidders are as named:

Lusher & Rockett, check for $200 attached $5,262

Wm. Bryce, no check attached. 4,389

J. W. O. Gwin, no check attached 5,500

S. A. Tomlinson, check for $200 attached 4,326

Smith & Reilly, check for $500 attached 5,515

C. L. Moore, check for $200 attached 5,000

The sidewalk award will be made by the school board and the award for the building of the Seventh ward fire hall by the city council.

SCHOOL SIDEWALK DEATH CLAIMS

lashes of the knout. Such an order was synonymous to a death sentence, for few have been known to survive even fifty blows of the dreaded whip. The prisoner died as he was undergoing his punishment, but his fiancée, one Vera Sasuliche, a young and beautiful girl, sought out her lover's murderer in his own bureau and shot him.

Forced Out of Office

During the trial that ensued, popular sentiment was so keen in the girl's favor that she was exonerated, and General Treppoff was compelled to resign office. The large fortune that he has amassed during his public career was divided among his children. He was one of the richest men in Russia. He was also one of the most hated men in Russia. He was too long at the head of the political police to make, or hold friends.

Life Many Times Sought

Dozens of attempts had been made to assassinate him and when he was compelled to go through the streets of St. Petersburg he rode in a closed Red Cross ambulance. Although he laid no claims to statesmanship, Treppoff was a masterful man. He claimed to be only a vigilant protector of the

Fall Opening Monday—The Fair

Romanoff family which raised him to a high position and he had a remarkable ascendancy over the czar, which was based chiefly on his strong character. He passed hours daily with the czar at Peterhoff and made him a daily report of the situation throughout the empire. He held that the first duty of a servant was to uphold truth and suppress error.

Treppoff's Appearance

By the first he meant unquestioning obedience to authority and what he meant by suppressing error is best told by the crowded prisons. Governor General Treppoff kept pretty well to the palace. He was a man of about five feet ten inches tall and had light brown hair, with a tendency to baldness, and short beard and mustache and features of a rather handsome military kind, somewhat heavy and very firm. He was an inveterate cigarette smoker. Once Treppoff visited a prison where a lot of bomb throwers and revolutionists were herded. After a walk around, he turned to the officer in charge and said: "More than five hundred and not a human face among them."

PUBLIC NOW AFTER STOCKS

Interest in Market Grows at Astonishing Rate

ALL TRADERS BUSY

Sharp Break in Movement Predicted Before the End of September

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Public interest in the stock market is growing at an astonishing rate. Proof by the banking interests that the money situation is well in hand is attracting purchasers by the score. Brokers say that the buying of medium-priced stocks is increasing at a rapid rate. They say that customers are anxious to get deep into the market and that they will buy stocks for traders as fast as they can provide the money to do so.

The weakening tendency in the time money rate leads brokers to believe that within a few days the public interest in the market will be very large. In fact, some of the best bargains in the street are advising their professional traders to take profits on such stocks as make sensational movements, for they expect a sharp break before the end of September.

Break Expected This break is expected to be a purely sentimental one so far as news reasons may be advanced, but the technical position of the market will make it perfectly logical. The ore deal has proven such a speculative gold mine that some directors of the steel trust want it held back for a few weeks. The operators who are in on the big deal which is under way in regard to the Reading stock by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad want to make another big turn in Reading before the ore deal is announced, so that they may be in shape to take advantage of the speculation that is sure to follow the publication of the lease.

Cheap Money Coming International bankers say the public will be surprised at the cheapness of money in November and December. The volume of commodity calls for exchange purposes in those two months promises to be far above all previous records.

Bank exchanges throughout the country are growing at an astonishing rate. Wall street proposes to have its share right away.

In the Street Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Today's sales of stocks were 430,550 shares, against 324,178 the same day a year ago.

The total par value of bonds sold today was $1,821,000, against $1,238,000 the same day a year ago. Stocks continued their advance in Wall street today under the leadership of Reading, Distillers securities and Ice. All of these made new high record prices for the movement. Transactions in Reading were on a sensational scale. The dress rehearsal of the coal deal, which was given Friday frightened the shorts in the coals so thoroughly that there was a wild scramble for cover all day long. The bank statement was about what had been expected.

Marvelous yarns spun Some marvelous new yarns are being circulated in Wall street in regard to the Union and Southern Pacific dividends. Things which many persons have believed were impossible have been accomplished recently in high finance, so that it is unsafe to disbelieve anything, no matter how absurd it may appear on the surface. The following is given exactly as it is told in important circles. Whether it is true or false is known only to a few persons and they won't tell:

E. H. Harriman was compelled to declare the dividend of 5 per cent on Southern Pacific and 10 per cent on Union Pacific. E. C. Frick made him do it. Mr. Frick's press agent says so, and it must be true.

TELEPHONES FOR ALL THE SCHOOLS

School Board Decides Convenience Is Necessary

The school board has decided that the convenience justifies placing telephones in all of the public school buildings where they are not now installed. Heretofore in some of the buildings at least, it is said, teachers banded together and paid the cost. This is abrogated, if it was ever done. The old phone will be used.

No Word From Burnett Secretary J. T. Montgomery of the school board wrote to E. Burnett, who had been elected principal of the high school, and who drew two months' salary before he resigned, that the school board was unanimously of the opinion that he (Mr. Burnett) had not earned a cent of the salary which he drew; that he had rendered no service whatever to the city for it, and that the school board desired to hear from him about the matter. That was ten days ago and Saturday, responding to an inquiry, Secretary Montgomery said he had not yet received a reply to his letter. Mr. Burnett drew salary for July and August when the schools began in September and it was that two months' pay which caused the letter to be sent to him. He was placed on the yearly salary list like the superintendent and on that fact he based his demand for the payment of his salary monthly.

Negro Schools Delayed Because the buildings cannot be ready for the opening of the negro schools on the 17th inst., the date of the opening of those schools is postponed to the 24th inst.

Fat Stock Show Subscriptions Coming in Slowly

The accessions to membership in the National Breeders' and Feeders' Show, from the country, at the places outside of Fort Worth, are coming in slowly but steadily. Some of the letters remitting the subscription are filled with encouraging words and proffers of help. Take for example that of Joseph F. Green, of Gregory, Texas. He expresses a hearty sympathy with the movement and accompanies that with an offer to help the committee in its efforts to get the required out of town list. The vice president of the association are making a personal canvass in their home territories. Those workers and their postoffices are: Richard Walsh, Clarendon; J. E. Hughes, Dallas; Dr. W. G. FRY NOT A CANDIDATE

Will Not Seek Reappointment to Penitentiary Board

S. M. Fry, a member of the state penitentiary board, states that he will not be a candidate for reappointment. He has served under Governors Culbertson, Sayers and Lanham, his period of well done duty extending over twelve years of time. Mr. Fry says that the financial affairs of the penitentiaries are in excellent shape and that all of the state farms will give bountiful yields of corn, cotton and sugar this season. He is decidedly of the opinion that the state will not, and should not, sell the state railroad at Rusk.

Fiction Issue of The Telegram

Commencing Friday, September 21, 1906 every Friday issue of The Telegram for twelve weeks, will be known as the Fiction Number, and each of these numbers will contain four special pages of interesting, breezy, thrilling, romantic reading matter.

"DOUBLE TROUBLE"

By Herbert Quick

TO RUN EACH WEEK IN THE FRIDAY TELEGRAM

In one personality the hero is a quiet business man, a lover of books, proud of a Puritan conscience; in the other he is a breezy promoter of the middle west, loud, sporty, and rakish. When both careers cross paths there follows a series of mirth-making situations, farcical confusion. Through all runs a love story of bewitching tenderness.

PHILADELPHIA NORTH AMERICAN says:

"An up-to-date comedy-novel of manners, in which strange surprises are encountered at every turn."

PITTSBURG TIMES says:

"'Double Trouble' is a novel that sends the blood bounding through one's veins at exhilarating speed."

NEW YORK EVENING MAIL says:

"Novels of this kind have usually attempted the solution of psychological puzzles, or the linking of the spirit world with this; Mr. Quick is deliberately and most felicitously amusing. . . . The story's strong merit lies in its realism. It is absolutely true to the facts of the average American's daily life; everything that happens is the natural outcome of what has gone before."

PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER says:

"Full of interesting adventures, all told with good spirit, and the love portion is sure to be highly entertaining to readers. Here is an original novel in most respects, and it is a captivating one."

BROOKLYN EAGLE says:

"One of the books that help to lighten the dusty ways of the world—clever, amusing and sufficiently unlike anything else to make it worth while."

BUFFALO NEWS says:

"This altogether delightful and diverting novel is a flat contradiction of the saying that there is nothing new under the sun."

PORTLAND OREGONIAN says:

"Has a sparkle like the effervescence of champagne, and the most original plot of the season."

NEW YORK WORLD says:

"This romance of a dual personality is very cleverly told in a light-comedy vein, though there are points where it verges toward tragedy. Well done for Author Quick!"

PITTSBURG POST says:

"Alert with the hustle and nerve of the life that is not simple, but rather—exhilarating."

ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT says:

"Will fit into the requirements of a great variety of readers in a great variety of moods."

PHILADELPHIA ITEM says:

"'Double Trouble' is homely funny, and the action gallops along in dizzy style, the interest never wavering for one instant. . . . A bountiful feast of amusement."

BROOKLYN TIMES says:

"From comedy to farce the situations range. The pseudo-serious fashion in which the whole story is told, quite apart from the humor of the situations themselves, makes the book a delight."

PHILADELPHIA RECORD says:

"'Double Trouble' is designed as a mirth vehicle as well as a love coach, and its many humorous features will keep the reader awake to the very last line. There are too few healthy-toned novels like 'Double Trouble,' and Mr. Quick has achieved a notable literary success in this work."

Watch for This First Issue on Sept. 21st, Continuing for 12 Weeks

Every Friday issue of the paper will have a four-page color section filled with interesting fiction and reading matter for the home. "DOUBLE TROUBLE" will run as serial in the Friday issues. There will also be a Children's Page, a Woman's Page, and a solid page of Short Stories.

Ten Thousand Pounds of Dynamite Blown Up

Special to The Telegram. NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 15.—Early this morning a powder magazine located four miles north of this city and owned by the Keystone Powder and Manufacturing company in which is stored 10,000 pounds of dynamite, exploded. The report was heard forty miles from Nashville. Considerable damage was done to houses in the neighborhood. It is not known whether any one was killed. Incidentalism is

A FACT ABOUT THE "BLUES"

What is known as the "Blues" is seldom occasioned by actual existing external conditions, but in the great majority of cases by a disordered LIVER.

THIS IS A FACT which may be demonstrated by trying a course of

Tutt's Pills

They control and regulate the LIVER. They bring hope and buoyancy to the mind. They bring health and elasticity to the body. TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.

REMOVING FORT

Fifty Cars Required to Ship Commissary From Brownsville

Special to The Telegram. BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Sept. 15.—Fort Brown is being rapidly abandoned. All movable property is being shipped to San Antonio. Forty or fifty cars will be required to move the commissary and it is expected to be accomplished in about five weeks. All work on improvements has been stopped and the contract with F. J. Sargent for enlarging and extending the water mains has been cancelled. Brownsville citizens prefer the post being abandoned to having it harbor such murderous soldiers as the negroes of the Twenty-third Infantry, who recently made a raid and shot up the town. Lieutenant of Police Dominique, who was shot in the arm by these soldiers, has recovered from the amputation which necessarily followed.

TRANSFER ROAD

Hamilton and Dayton to Be Divided Among Magnates

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The World today prints a report that the syndicate of bankers which is holding the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad is now working on a plan by which a portion of it is to be turned over to the Lehigh Valley railroad and the remainder to the Morgan-Vanderbilt roads.

TEXAS TEAM BACK

Crackmen Do Well at Seagirt Considering Their Practice

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 15.—Adjutant General Hulen and other members of the Texas rifle team returned this morning from Seagirt, where they attended the national shoot. General Hulen stated that the team did ex-

GOT FIVE COONS

Farmers Tree and Kill Animals While on Hunting Trip

Special to The Telegram. PARIS, Texas, Sept. 15.—J. P. Warner and Frank Goforth, farmers south of town, near Clardy, killed five coons up the same tree a few days ago. There were six coons in the tree at the same time, but one of them got away. They saw a coon come out of a hole in a tall red oak tree. While shooting at it another coon came out of the hole, and then another, until six had come out. The farmers skinned the coons and carried the hides home.

LETTER WELCOMED

Roosevelt's Appeal Arouses Enthusiasm of Cubans

HAVANA, Sept. 15.—The letter of President Roosevelt to Senor de Quesada, Cuban minister, is the great topic today among the Cubans and foreigners alike. Far from considering the references to American intervention

Sore Lungs

We want everybody who has a hard cold in the chest to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Our long experience with it, over sixty years, tells us there is nothing its equal for coughs, colds in the chest, bronchitis, hoarseness, sore lungs, weak throats, and weak lungs. Ask your doctor about this.

HIS DEATH CERTAIN

Fort Worth Man Seized With Convulsions on Train

Special to The Telegram. DENTON, Texas, Sept. 15.—William Miller, about 60 years of age, has lain in the baggage room at the depot in the throes of death since yesterday, and physicians say there is no hope of his recovery. Miller came to Denton from Fort Worth, and was attacked with convulsions on the train. He was in an unconscious condition when taken off the train here. He has a son in Fort Worth, who is expected here to look after his father's condition.

THE GREAT AUTUMN STOCKS ARE HERE IN COMPLETE READINESS

WE TODAY show the new store exterior complete, but sorry to say, the interior and new floors are not ready to receive the immense stocks arriving. Our purchasing staff was instructed to buy stocks for the fall of a magnitude appropriate to the enlarged departments that the new store would afford the various lines. They obeyed both the letter and the spirit of their instructions. The larger stocks are ready for the larger store, but the larger store is not ready for the larger stocks. Our predicament is more easily understood than overcome. We must house and display these immense new stocks in our present all-to-crowded store. We must sell goods even more rapidly than if we enjoyed our larger quarters—WE MUST—there is no getting away from it, WE MUST move new fall merchandise, and rapidly, too. We will make the prices if the public will bear with us and brave the inconveniences of the crowded store. It's a most opportune time for out-of-town patrons to come and do their fall shopping. Our assortments are equal to the larger eastern cities and the prices are certainly lower. WE MUST—there is no getting away from it, WE MUST move new fall merchandise, and rapidly, too. We will make the prices if the public will bear with us and brave the inconveniences of the crowded store. It's a most opportune time for out-of-town patrons to come and do their fall shopping. Our assortments are equal to the larger eastern cities and the prices are certainly lower.

In a few weeks we will announce the complete readiness of the five retail floors, the largest floor space used by any retail store in Texas, also showing larger lines. We shall make The Store Ahead the waiting and meeting place for all shoppers that come to Fort Worth. We invite you now.

Tremendous Stocks New Fall Dress Goods, Silks and Velvets

You can count on an unusually big saving on every yard of Dress Goods and Silks you buy at "THE STORE AHEAD." Tremendous stocks were ordered in anticipation of the enlarged departments being ready to receive them. It is unnecessary to inform you that the enlarged departments are not ready, and we are crowded for room by the biggest stock of Woolens and Silk Dress Fabrics ever brought to this city. The assortment of weaves and patterns are the most lavish ever seen here. The quotations give a most comprehensive idea of the special pricings that prevail. Inspection alone can give you an adequate idea of the extent and variety of the stocks which represent the best efforts of the world's foremost mills.

A MOST EXTENSIVE SHOWING Women's Suits, Coats and Skirts

The showing instantly gives out the impression that this is a decidedly superior and exclusive collection. It is so big and so completely carried. But this is nothing unusual for this store—it has always been so, and now that this department is to occupy the entire fourth floor shortly, and buying was done in harmony with this move, this will be the largest ready-made floor in the South. A glance at the styles reveals that they are the newest, priced very low indeed. This is due to the fact that it will be ten days before moving to the new department. The crowded condition of this floor forces us to make sacrifices that will move quantities of goods.

- $9.95 A special lot of Ladies' fancy mixtures Norfolk style Suits, plaited skirts, the actual worth is $15.00; the lot will be sold at the little price of $9.95
- $14.95 The Prince Chap, Johnnie Jones, Pony Blouse; these are choice effects and are styles much sought in the east for a jaunty little suit; only $14.95
- $24.75 Handsome tailored Coat Suit, all late models, including Prince Chap, Pony Blouse effect; pretty fabrics in leading shades; excellent values at the price, $24.75
- $29.75 Elegant Chiffon Broadcloth Coat Suits, "Dre-call model," silk braid trimmed coat, full plaited skirt; this model can't be duplicated under $40.00; $29.75
- $4.98 The new Coat, fancy mixtures and plaids; the price we name is lower than same will be sold later in the season; regular $7.50 grades will sell $4.98
- $9.95 Ladies' Plaid Kersey Coats, also Covert Coats—are really worth $15.00; a good assortment of coat that will easily bring $10.00; lack of room makes the price $6.95
- $9.95 Ladies' Plaid Kersey Coats, also Covert Coats—are really worth $15.00; a god assortment of colors and sizes; it's a most unusual chance to buy a coat, $9.95

Magnificent Laces

If you would know the very latest European fashions, a visit to this lace store will reveal them all to the woman who needs but a frill for baby's frock, to the woman who is planning a creation that will dazzle a grand opera audience; to the season's debutantes; to women everywhere this shower of lace is most interesting. Real Irish Crochet, real hand run, Louis IV, Princess, Point Luxelle and Lierre, Duchesse and real Point; there's everything here, from the lower machine-made to the very fine hand-made laces. We invite inspection.

Autumn Millinery

It is not too early to talk authoritatively of what Fashion has decreed in the matter of fall and winter Millinery. We have the correct Hats and Hats from headquarters and we promise splendid happenings in the near future. This department will be elegantly located on the fifth floor. This line is nearly completed and so is also the passenger elevator. So look for the announcement—the lines of millinery shown will be in keeping with the enlarged department. Wait for our opening before you buy.

RETIICENT ON CUBAN TRIP

Taft, Bonaparte and Bacon Are Mum on Cuba SURPRISE IN MOVE

Roosevelt's Decision to Intervene Came Unexpectedly to All Quarters

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Secretary of War Taft and Acting Secretary of State Bacon will leave Washington tomorrow night for Key West, where they will arrive Tuesday morning.

Secretary Bonaparte of the navy department, who also took part in the conference, will be at his desk in Washington Monday morning ready to move such vessels of the Atlantic fleet as the President desires to send to Cuban waters.

Move Came as Surprise The move of sending Messrs. Taft and Bacon to the scene of hostilities came as a surprise. It was freely admitted before the conference that the two officials were going to Oyster Bay to discuss Cuban affairs and that the matter of intervention would come up, but there was no intimation of the President's original methods.

Secretaries Reticent When asked the truth of the report that Cuba was to be surrounded by American warships, Mr. Bonaparte smiled broadly.

Secretary Taft was about early this morning despite the fact that it was after midnight when he came back from Oyster Bay. He took an early train to Washington after refusing to discuss any phase of the Cuban situation.

DEFOLIATE COTTON REAL WEEVIL REMEDY?

A. and M. College Bulletin Offers Encouragement to Believers in Theory That Plant Which Sheds Leaves Is Practically Immune

Special to The Telegram.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Sept. 15.—Guarded as is the statement made by Prof. R. L. Bennett, the cotton specialist of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, there is much of promise in the report on a new kind of cotton, to which he makes reference in the following passages taken from one of the reports made on cotton growing.
"The rational of the statements will so plainly appear that no argument is needed to bring conviction to all minds. The salient part of the report is given in the following excerpts:
"A cotton that will fruit early and rapidly in the early period of its growth is recognized as necessary for a profitable yield in boll weevil infested districts. In addition to breeding making a good crop of bolls, shed its leaves and squares at about the time the weevils become so numerous as to stop further setting of bolls. On this idea we are able to report considerable progress. Four strains of cotton which we have propagated, shed their leaves and squares, and open all bolls by about Aug. 25, when planted April 10, leaving the weevils without food for about two months before frost. This new cotton, or defoliate cotton, is early and rapid in setting fruit, and small in size of plant. This season on upland it grew an average height of nearly thirty inches, although from July 14 to date the season has been rainy. The strains produced at the rate of 1,500 to 1,620 pounds of seed cotton per acre.

"The idea of breeding defoliate cotton is a new one, and just what the final success will be in breeding this such a cotton in the joint breeding work of the United States department of agriculture and Agricultural and Mechanical College another idea presented itself.

"Ordinary cotton continues to hold its foliage and grow squares and furnish food and egg places for weevils to multiply until hibernation or frost.
"The idea that presented itself was to deprive the weevils of their food by breeding cotton that would, after cotton to completely defoliate at a certain period of growth is yet unknown, but success, as reported thus far, is most promising. There is no doubt that a cotton can be produced that will defoliate almost completely, if not entirely, at a certain period of growth and any defoliation of both leaves and squares is an advantage in reducing the number of weevils to go into hibernation and to appear the following spring."

COTTON OUTLOOK IS DISCOURAGING

Reports of Damage From Weevils and Worms Continue

The cotton reports continue to be discouraging because of the increased ravages of the boll worms and, yet more, the boll weevil. At the Farmers' Union meeting held in this city Saturday practically all of those in attendance united in the declaration that cotton was in worse condition just now than it has been for years and that if the Tarrant county crops are to be taken as representative the crop will fall about three-fourths short of the average. There has been but little cotton marketed at Fort Worth for the reason that but little has been picked in the territory and, in fact, very little to pick because of the insect ravages. It is feared that the condition will grow worse and, as a fact, it cannot be bettered as long as the rains continue. The excessive moisture and the continued dry weather stimulate the growth, already too rank, and that helps in the continued development and the continued destructive work of the boll worm.
The rank growth causes the rotting of the cotton near the ground and gives good lurking places for the boll weevil. Hot dry weather is the only thing which can now help cotton to realize anything like a fair crop and, under the best conditions, there is certain to be a shortage of cotton in this part of the cotton growing region of Texas.
This autumn of conditions is made by a local firm of cotton factors in a weekly crop report sent out Saturday.
"Clear and hot the last day or two, but there has been considerable rain in various sections during early part of the week which was very unfavorable. Heavy washing rains occurred in Oklahoma are obscuring a report which is reported as having done considerable damage.
"Plant has a good stand, but is very rank. Later fruiting is not holding well.
"Complaints of wet weather, boll worms and weevils causing the plant to shed.
"Very little cotton picked as yet in our territory.
"Very little marketed on account of practically none being picked.
"Farmers are selling freely.
"Merchants are selling freely.
"Assuming that a normal crop is represented by 100 per cent, we estimate the percentages condition in north Texas and the territories at 75 per cent.
"It now looks like there will be 5 per cent more cotton raised in our territory this season than last."

20 INDICTMENTS BY GRAND JURY

Only One Capital Offense Included in First Lot

The grand jury of the Seventeenth district court, which was empaneled and charged by Judge Mike E. Smith Monday at 2 p. m., made its first report Saturday afternoon, returning twenty-four bills of indictment as a result of the first week's work.
The grand jury returned bills for assault to murder, burglary, forgery, assault to rob. There were two indictments against one man for theft over $50, making the number of indicted persons twenty. Of this number ten were already in jail as follows:
Will Thompson, theft of over $50.
J. B. Mariken, assault to rob.
Jim Miller, burglary.
Lewis Weaver, theft over $50.
Jeff Tackett, theft over $50; two cases.
Will Sweeney, burglary.
Joe Cox, theft from the person.
E. A. Morrison, theft over $50.
Ed Jacobs, forgery.
Warrants were issued immediately on the indictments by the district clerk and placed in the hands of the sheriff. Those on the prisoners in jail were served at once and later the following arrests were made:
W. W. Hawkins, criminal assault, committed to jail, no bail being allowed.
Any Field, assault to murder.
Morris, Fellestein, assault to murder. The two latter were released on bond.
The grand jury will reconvene Monday morning.

JUMPS OVERBOARD

Stow-Away Despondent When Ordered Departed Back to France

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—In despair because he was to be deported, and it is thought, because he could not have a chance in America to earn money to marry his sweetheart, Anton Grimon, a stow-away, 29 years of age, committed suicide by leaping from the French liner La Touraine, in full view of hundreds of cabin passengers as the big ship was nearing Fire Island this afternoon.
Grimon was discovered among the steerage passengers by the ship's officers today and was taken on deck to be examined. He said that he loved a girl in Havre, which was his home, and wanted to get to America in order that he might make money and wed her on his return. When they made him understand that he must be sent back he rushed to the rail and jumped overboard.

THREATENS TO LYNCH

Mob Collects When Girl is Assaulted by Man

SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM.
PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 15.—Lizzie Deane, a young girl, 17 years of age, was criminally assaulted here this afternoon at the city park by a stranger from Wheeling, who is now in the county jail. At least a dozen people heard the girl's screams, but could not reach her side in time to prevent the attack. Excitement is intense and a crowd collected in front of the jail, but no attempt was made at lynching.

WET INJURES GRAIN

Shipments Received Here Are of Poor Quality

A number of fairly large shipments of grain from the territories have been received here during the past week, and the bulk of it is found to be in a very poor condition. Excessive rains have visited the territories this season and the poor condition of these shipments may be partially accounted for by the fact that it was necessary to thrash and load the grain when it was damp and to some extent it has moulded while in storage and transit. No corn has arrived from the territories so far this season.
WELL WORTH TRYING.
W. H. Brown, the popular pension attorney, Pittfield, Vt., says: "Next to a pension, the best thing to get is Dr. King's New Life Pills." He writes: "They keep my family in splendid health. OVER 500 PUPILS AT POLYTECHNIC

Attendance at College Steadily Increasing

The capacity of chapels, dormitories and boarding houses is already being tested at Polytechnic college, and everything is thoroughly alive with new students and general college work. At the end of the first week 515 students had entered the various departments, and still they continue to arrive at the rate of a dozen or more new ones daily.
The young men have organized two strong basketball teams and some fast games of this live college sport may be expected to open up soon.
The contractor turned over the new artesian well to the college authorities this week and it is pronounced one of the best wells in Tarrant county. The well is 475 feet deep and has a very strong flow.
Many of the patrons enjoyed attending the formal opening of the kindergarten college at Polytechnic on last Wednesday and were highly pleased at the splendid system and new methods adopted by Misses Hawkins and Davis, the new teachers for this department.

CRUISER SENT TO CUBA

Cleveland Off For Island With 800 Marines on Board

SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM.
PORTSMOUTH, Va., Sept. 15.—The cruiser Cleveland got under way from Portsmouth navy yard this afternoon at 2:37 o'clock under sealed orders. There cannot be any doubt regarding the destination of the cruiser. She is bound for Cuban waters, but, of course, the exact destination remains in the dark. On board the cruiser when she sailed from the yard besides her regular crew, was a draft of enlisted men 800 in number. These were hurriedly assembled here and rushed aboard the cruiser today shortly before its departure.
The cruiser Tacoma will get away from the navy yard tomorrow morning. It was learned tonight that the ship wanted to get away at 10 p. m., but owing to the fact that numbers of men are on leave of absence the cruiser could not get away. Eighty marines attached to the marine barracks in the navy yard were examined by surgeons today for assignment on the Tacoma.

DECIDES AGAINST RAILROAD CLAIMS

Southern Lines Lose Out on Cotton Rate Case

SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 1.—The interstate commerce commission today made a decision adverse to the railroads on their petition for suspension of the thirty days' notice of changes in connection with cotton and lumber rates in the south. The roads occupied three days presenting the case in favor of their claim that they ought to be allowed to raise or lower rates on short notice, claiming that the uncertainty of carriage rates is necessary. The commission decides against the railroads at all points. In the first place the southern lines have refused, since the new law passed, the issuance of through bills of lading from interior points to foreign destinations, giving as a reason that the ocean carriers were unwilling to join in such billing lest by so doing they make themselves subject to the authority of the interstate commerce commission. The commission now holds that a true bill may be issued in such circumstances, naming the inland rate to the port and the ocean rate to the foreign destination, but not naming any through rate, and this will avoid the discussion over the ocean carrier.
Commissioner Putty told the railroad men that rates are now too high and must be reduced, and this ruling will force them to make extensive reductions, especially in rates to South Atlantic ports. It is estimated that many millions will be lopped off the revenues of the roads in certain districts by this adjustment to the new conditions.

HIS LIFE SAVED

Doctor Lifts Rib Pressing Against Man's Heart

SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM.
HINTON, Va., Sept. 15.—Quickly cutting into the side of the crushed railroad brakeman, Dr. Cooper today lifted away a broken rib that was pressing against the injured man's heart and stopping its action. The heart immediately resumed its beating. S. C. H. Cameron, a Chesapeake & Ohio employe, was the victim of the accident. He was crushed between two cars and his injuries are serious. However, Dr. Cooper's operation may save him.

FUNSTON TO CUBA

General Will Accompany Taft on Trip to Island

SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—General Funston has received hurry orders to join Secretary Taft on a mission to Cuba. He is now en route from Tacoma, Wash., and is expected to reach here in a few days.
His intimate knowledge of the Cuban situation and familiar acquaintance with Palma and the revolutionary leaders is the principal reason for his being called there.

WOMEN AFTER MORE FREEDOM

Sultan's Harem Takes on the Spirit of Progress

BY LADY HENRY SOMERSET. Cable Special to The Telegram. (Copyright, 1906, by Hearst News Service.) LONDON, Sept. 15.—One of the strangest signs of the modern movement toward freedom for women is its universal character. Echoes of it come to us from the farthest corners of the civilized world, and indeed from many places which yet can scarcely be reckoned as civilized. We hear of it from India, from Turkey, from Russia, from Finland, from Japan, from Sweden and Norway, from Australia and New Zealand, as well as from France, Germany and America, and here in England the question is prominently before us, and the demand is always for freedom, sometimes political, sometimes social or personal, but for freedom always.

Cable Special to The Telegram. (Copyright, 1906, by Hearst News Service.) BY MALCOLM CLARKE. BERLIN, Sept. 15.—A great agitation has been raised throughout Russia because a member of the defunct duma is threatened with the sentence of death by drum-head court martial. Deputy Onipko, accused of being a ringleader in the Cronstadt mutiny, was arrested with others concerned in the mutiny and awaits trial by a court which the people contend has no legal standing at all. They insist further that the person of a member of the duma, summoned by the czar himself, should be held sacred.

EDWARD'S HAT CAUSES ANGER, Little Gray Headgear Makes Kaiser Wrathful, DUDES CHAGRINED, Fresh Air Towers Are Planned for Relief of Berlin's Weary Populace, BY MALCOLM CLARKE. (Copyright, 1906, by Hearst News Service.) Cable Special to The Telegram. BERLIN, Sept. 15.—The kaiser is evidently not the only one who was offended at the headgear which King Edward wore when they met, a little soft gray felt hat with a black band. All the hatmakers and haberdashers of Marienbad, who had their stores stocked with Tyrolean hats are furious because they have been left with a whole supply on hand. The fact is that every time King Edward or, as he calls himself while traveling abroad, the Duke of Lancaster, has been at Marienbad, he has worn the national Tyrolean hat with its cock tail; just as he wears kilts when in Scotland, and as soon as he has shown himself in the street, all the dudes of the resort have hurried to imitate his example. It, therefore, caused general surprise when the kaiser emerged from his private car not wearing the expected hat, but a soft gray felt, and ill-looking affair; not a single one of which could be had in any of the stores.

Full Opening Monday—The Fair

THE THEATRE

"The Shoo-Fly Regiment"

In presenting the latest negro musical comedy "The Shoo-Fly Regiment," a real picture of negro life will be shown.

It is written as an entertainment, for amusement and pleasant thought of the negro life in the United States as it is known in every day life.

"A Pair of Country Kids" comes to Greenwall's opera house Wednesday, matinee and night, September 19 and from all reports received of this attraction, can guarantee all promises will be filled to the letter.

"Ikey and Abe" If clever artists, beautiful stage settings, pretty girls, dainty costumes and a bright witty play teeming with funny situations, counts for anything, then it is not surprising that Manager Edward R. Salter's newest musical comedy "Ikey and Abe" which will be seen here for the first time Thursday, matinee and night, September 20, at Greenwall's opera house, has been accorded such hearty support wherever presented.

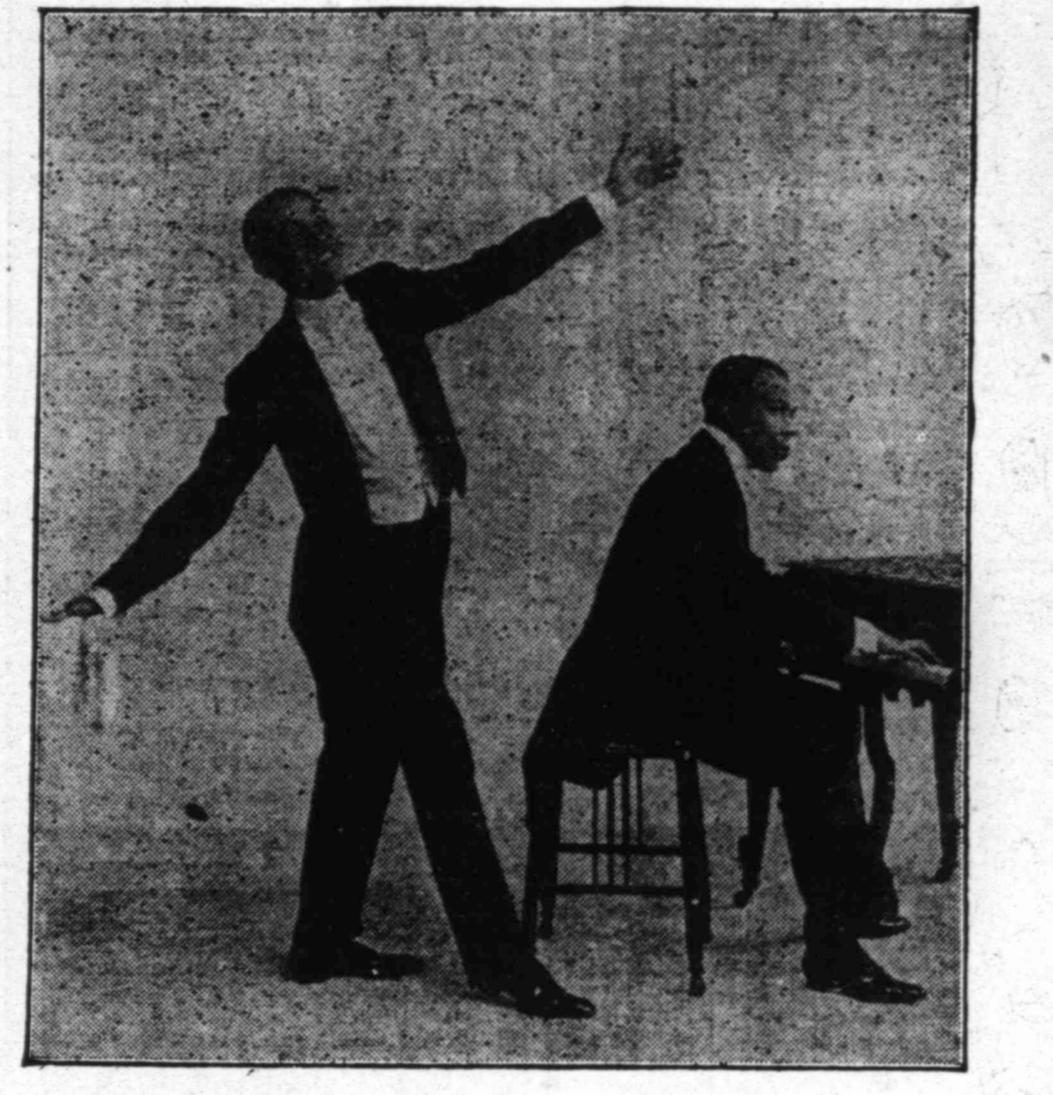

It is a merry jingle of the breeziest kind and is very aptly termed a "musical comedy." The presenting company is an unusually large one and contains a number of artists who have often contributed to the amusement of the local theatregoers in the past.

"His Highness, the Bey" "His Highness, the Bey" appears at Greenwall's opera house Friday and Saturday nights, Matinee Saturday, September 21 and 22.

Among the many features aside from the score of pretty girls, clever comedians, etc., may be mentioned the costumes worn by this company. Many thousands of dollars have been spent and the services of the best costumers, dressmakers and designers were engaged. The gowns of the handsome gowns worn it may be proper to mention a black silk velvet, so heavily trimmed with brilliants that it is positively dazzling to the eye; a heavy Battenberg lace creation; a pink silk crepe de chine elaborately trimmed with old point lace, and others too numerous to go into any lengthy details.

There are seventeen original musical numbers by Glen MacDonough and Victor Herbert in Julian Mitchell's great scenic spectacle "Wonderland." This attraction is one of the first of the high-grade offerings of the season, and will bring the original scenic equipment and will be headed by the principal comedian, Sam Chip, and in ple with her magnificent voice, Geo. L. Cox, Ethel Dovey, Leo Kendall, Mabel Addington and Justin Cooper are some whose names are familiar to theatregoers throughout the country, and the company comprises fifty people.

That cleverest German dialect comedian and golden voiced singer, Al. H. Wilson, who is making a great hit in Sidney R. Ellis' new play of picturesque Switzerland, "Metz in the Alps" tells this one: "At school, little Charlie, being one of the geography class, was deeply interested in learning the points of the compass. Said the teacher: 'You have in front of you the north; on your right the east; on your left the west. What have you behind you?' After a moment's reflection, Charlie exclaimed: 'A patch on my pants." And to make the information more binding, Charlie continued in a shamefaced manner: "I knew you'd see it, I told mamma you would."

The public has become familiar with the stories dealing with the mysterious robberies of the amateur cracksmen which baffled all detection and stirred all society—that is, fiction society—as no other thing that London has ever known. These strange crimes form a splendid subject for a vivid melodrama, and in the leading character as Raffles, Mr. Kent gives a delightful impersonation. It is a study from life that is practically faultless, being self-contained, alert and dramatic. "Raffles" is a drama of surprises. The finale comes as a complete surprise and sends one away talking about this feature of the play. Mr. Kent has the support of the strongest supporting company ever given him as a star.

For that hop, skip and jump of Yvette Guilbert and Albert Chevalier, which Liebster & Co. are pleased to term a tour, George C. Tyler has effected a new system of advance agency, the result of which will be watched with interest by showmen. The traditional seven-days-in-advance agent will have nothing to do with the case. The Western hemisphere—or, at least, a large section of it—is to be divided into three districts, and into each of them an agitator will be sent a month before the tour begins. John Harley will invade Texas and ply between Dallas and Oklahoma City. Eddie Freidberger has a pleasant little route that begins at Kansas City and ends at Winnipeg. To Hector Fuller Canada and the Middle West have been allotted. In forty days Mme. Guilbert and Chevalier will play forty engagements, assuming that they survive. In that period no less than 23,000 miles will be traveled, and before they return to their native shores they will know more about the geography of America than Rand & McNally.

REALISTIC STAGE DAGO DECEIVES REAL ITALIAN

In the middle of the gallery in a Philadelphia theater, the other evening witnessing a performance of "Simple Simon Simple," which is to be seen here soon, sat a dark-skinned son of Italy, whose daily vocation might have been anything from street venter, street cleaner, organ grinder or railroad trackman, intently watching the Tony de Bunski, the fruit seller in that play. Little Mose may have appealed to many, Simon to many, and Spiesberger to those who had to the female contingent, but up in that gallery there was one who thoroughly appreciated his performance from curtain to curtain.

"The Illusion of Beatrice," the new comedy by Martha Morton Conhelm in which John Cort will star Maude Fealy this season, will be produced by Max Figman, who will have charge of the rehearsals of all of Mr. Cort's attractions. For Miss Fealey's company, Mr. Cort has engaged Jack Webster, Harrington Reynolds, David E. Young, Ernest Trux, R. Morton, Blanche Douglas, Christensen Tabbs with Maurice Costello as stage director on tour.

Helen Holmes, who will be Max Figman's leading woman next season, is a charming San Francisco girl, whose first important professional work with the stock companies at the Columbia theater, Brooklyn, and Murray Hill, here, won her the ingenue part in "Barbara Frietche." She was selected to play "Kate Carnegie" in "The Bonnie Briar Bush," and then played "Molly" during the "Molly" tour in "The Virginian." Last season Miss Holmes interpreted the leading feminine role with Wright Lorimer in "The Shepherd King."

Negotiations are now in progress whereby John Cort expects to acquire the sole rights of "The Two Roses" for the Stewart Opera Company. The opera is founded on Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" adapted by Stanislaus Stange with score by Ludwig Englander and has met with great success during the Stewart company's summer season at Richester.

A splendid audience last night welcomed Neil Burgess at the Tulane theater, in his inimitable impersonation of Aunt Abby in "The Country Fair." The play, which gives a picture of country life, is by Charles Barnard, and was first presented here some fifteen years ago, making a tremendous hit. "The Country Fair" came here on several occasions, but Mr. Burgess' part was filled by Marie Bates, and scored a tremendous success with Dave Warfield in "The Auctioneer." The story of the play is so well known here that it need not be retold. Suffice to say that Abby Prue, a respectable old spinster, simple, kind and honest, is the center around which the entire plot turns, and one is amused at the courtship of Otis Tucker and Aunt Abby, thrilled by the woes of Taggs and Tim and enthused over the scene at the country fair, where Cold Molasses wins the race and pays off the mortgage on the farm. Mr. Burgess has not played in New Orleans for many years, but he has a host of friends and admirers here, and the reception given him last night was most enthusiastic. He makes his audiences laugh and cry, and interests and entertains them throughout the performance. His makeup is splendid. Bartley McCullum as Otis Tucker is a fine piece of character work, and William F. O'Sullivan, as Tim, plays the part well and leads a good quartet of singers. Miss Francesca Parker makes a big hit as Taggs, and Miss Muriel Wilbur is an attractive Sally Greenwood. The race scene, with its wonderful mechanical device, stirs the audience to great enthusiasm, and the curtain drops on what the audience pronounces a very enjoyable entertainment. "The Country Fair" will be held the entire week at the Tulane theater. —New Orleans Playmate.

OF INTEREST TO WIDEN HINTS BY MAY MANTON

5462 Fancy Blouse Waist, 38 to 40 bust.

Such a pretty waist as this one is always welcome. It is charmingly graceful as well as novel and it serves the double purpose of the separate blouse and waist for the entire gown. In the illustration crepe de chine is combined with taffeta, belt, epaulettes and cuffs and yoke of all-over lace and is trimmed with a pretty silk banding and center frills of Liberty silk. The combination of materials being a singularly effective one. The model, however, is one of the desirable ones that can be varied again and again. The frills could be of lace, of the material plaited or of almost anything that may be liked, while every fabric that is soft enough to drape with success can be utilized for the waist itself. The epaulettes give becoming breath to the shoulders and the sleeves are as attractive as they are novel, while the belt is absolutely new.

finished with deep over-laps. The sleeves are in two pieces each, in genuine coat style. The quantity of material required for the medium size (8 years) is 2 3/4 yards.

5461 Boy's Reefer Coat, 4 to 10 years.

27, 1 1/4 yards 44 or 1-3-8 yards 53 inches wide. The pattern 5461 is cut in sizes for boys of 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years of age.

Misses Kimono 5460 Every young girl requires a number of negligees and such a simple one as this involves the least possible labor in the making. In the illustration the material is dotted foulard with band of plain color, but lavas and batistes, cashmere, albatross and other light weight wools are quite appropriate as well. The feature of the garment is found in its general style and shape, and depends far more upon contrast of color than upon material. Plain hands on figured material or figured on plain always make a satisfactory effect and in them great variety is shown and some very attractive and eminently appropriate materials are to be found among such Japanese fabrics as cotton crepe and the many odd looking simple silks. The kimono is made with fronts and backs, which are tucked at the shoulders, and loose, flowing sleeves. These sleeves are faced to form the bands, but the neck and front edges are finished with a double band sewed to them and rolled over to form the collar.

SHORT STORY AN UNSIGNED LETTER

In a village in the interior of Russia a police raid was directed to the home of Paul Nekrasoff. It was a period of unrest. Reformers were sought with all the skill of the spies and the force of the soldiery and police. Nekrasoff had been abroad, he read much of English books and so was in the records as a plotter against the czar. The descent upon his cottage was secretly made and he was taken out at night, but to the great disgust of the police, neither Paul nor evidence of his guilt was found.

Home is not complete without the ever ready Box of Cascarets. Ten cents buys a small one at the Corner Drug Store. Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

which the spies had reported his house to be stored. The governor did not know that the girl had not the reformer while driving, that he had saved her at a time when the driver had been unseated and his horses attached to her sledge were plunging badly across the steps.

In silence she heard her father denounce the woman who had given the warning and that he would rather capture her than the fugitive himself. Alone in her room the girl was tortured by the deception she had practiced upon her father. Whether to confess and receive the penalty of his wrath or to hide her guilt was a problem that drove sleep from her eyes and filled her mind with doubt.

Late the next morning she ordered a servant to serve her room. Then, all doubts having been dissolved, she marched resolutely to her father's study. He turned from the documents that held his attention and drew her to the door. He had not time for a narrative she confessed her wrongdoing and expressed her willingness to bear the punishment he might choose to inflict.

THE COUNTERFEIT BANKNOTE

When the policeman left the shop he left Lady Hildegarde and Lady Modwena in tears. He had said that the five-pound note which had been changed for a strange gentleman the day before and later given in exchange to a strange lady, was forged. He had also said that they might expect a summons the next day.

What was to be done? Lady Hildegarde could think of but one thing and that was to send for Roger Seymour. But she must not let Lady Modwena know of it. That would not do, and so she secretly wrote a note to Seymour asking him to call on her in the little parlor over the shop at 4 that afternoon on important business.

Lady Modwena had also been thinking and she also sent a note, but hers was to Reginald Salter, whom she asked to meet her in the shop at 5.

For six months ever since her father, Lord Penfield, died, after having wasted his estate and run in debt until all that was left did not come near paying what was owed, the two girls, under assumed names, had been running the little tea shop, assisted by Annie White, their former maid.

Before the crash came Lady Hildegarde had to question the fidelity of Salter, the young attorney, and Lady Modwena was the promised bride of Roger Seymour, his bosom companion. But when they were left penniless and were forced to make their own living, the proud girls had broken the engagements and had refused to see the young man, ever since they had found them out in the little tea shop. Bravely they had determined to forget their love and face the realities of life alone.

THE GO BETWEEN

There was James Hoffman, strong, good to look upon, a man fit for friendship; Dick Williams, handsome and weak, and Jessie Fordham, loving and sweet. And James Hoffman was living a life because he cared for those two. He was trusted by Mr. and Mrs. Fordham who looked upon him as their future son-in-law, and he carried letters from Dick to Jessie and from Jessie to Dick, and if his conscience troubled him, he said: "I want her to be happy, no matter how it hurts me."

to seek his fortune, and it was Jim who had him, god-speed and promised to look after Jessie. It was Jim who received the long letters for the girl and secretly gave them to her. He never told her that he was slowly eating his heart out.

And one day a letter did not come, and he worried. He clumsily made all sorts of excuses for Dick. He told Jessie that there was surely a good reason for the delay, and he watched her anxiously, imagining that she was growing thin and pale.

Again no letter, and Jim sat in his apartments and became a forger for reason for the delay, and he watched her anxiously, imagining that she was growing thin and pale.

Unconsciously, Jim wrote his own love into the letter that he signed, "Always your loving Dick," and carried to Jessie. There were tears in the girl's eyes as she perused it and then said: "Ah, he never wrote such a beautiful letter before. I wonder why the writing is so shaky?"

"He has probably been ill and loves you so that he will not tell you about it," said Jim.

Again a small came, but no letter and again did dear old Jim spread his heart on paper and signed his friend's name, carrying the mistake to Jessie. "We can't go on like this," she said. "I believe you're the most honorable man in the world, Jim, and I'm only leading you to do things against your conscience in order to escape a blush myself."

He looked at her intently. "I know Dick didn't write this letter," she said. "The fact is, I've known you'll never forgive me if I tell you."

"You see—I've known all along why he didn't write. The sympathy between Dick and me was so great that he had enough for us to realize some weeks ago that we were not so fond of each other as we imagined; and we agreed to break it off."

"I thought that—that you might feel hurt, you see," she said, "after all your kindness any sympathy to Dick and me, to know that we had found we were really—not really in love; and so I asked him—"

"Jessie!" he cried. "You don't mean you—you care for me?"

"Oh," she exclaimed, "I show did you guess? I thought I chose my words so cleverly—only a woman could divine when she was loved!"

"You have divined it then?" he said, eagerly, seizing her hands.

"Of course I have," she whispered, turning her face up to be kissed.

THE DUPING OF WM. ARCHE

Wm. Archer, miser, was doubtful of the proper plan of action when a shabby man appeared at his door and pleaded for an interview. Mr. Archer went through life fearing that somebody would ask him for something. He was rich, and good to himself. But his riches, and those who passed for friends, knew him for a "tight wad."

"It will be to your profit, sir," whined the man. "Just let me tell you my story and you will see that there is money in it for you."

"Money," said Archer, and the creature in his forehead smothered out and he looked almost happy as he opened wide the door and escorted the visitor to a seat.

"It is like this, sir," said the stranger. "Thirty years ago I was gardener in this very place. I worked for a very rich old woman, and she trusted me. She was dreadfully afraid of thieves and more afraid of bursting banks. One day she showed me a chest and told me that it contained a fortune and that she had dreamed that burglars were going to enter the house and steal it. It was all in gold, she said, and amounted to more than $10,000. She said we must bury the money, and in the night she and I went to a place on these premises and buried the box safe and deep, sir."

Wool Dress Fabrics

Our fall showing of Dress Fabrics represents a collection of the season's new and popular weaves and colorings, which it is a pleasure for us to show. A look through and comparison of prices will be convincing that our claim to "sell it for less" is fully sustained.

48c Values for 39c

The new Wool Batiste that we show, for inexpensive gowns, is a pretty weave of medium weight, 36 inches wide, in the staple shades of green, gray, cardinal and blue. The value is 48c a yard; see them Monday, the price 39c.

65c Values for 55c

Serges are the much wanted fabrics this season. There's no weave that gives the same service at the same price. We will show you Monday a 36-inch Serge in all the staple shades, that's good 65c value, at the yard... 55¢

89c Values for 75c

In the popular Gray Plaid Skirtings we will show Monday 48-inch widths in light and dark gray combination plaids, also dark green and gray combinations; very stylish effects and the values are 89c. See them Monday... 75¢

$1.25 Values for $1.00

Our Monday showing of new and popular fabrics at the one dollar mark will embrace the new 48-inch Wool Tafeta, in all popular and staple shades; 48-inch heavy Cream Serge and 52-inch Gray Panama—a trio of much wanted fabrics; excellent $1.25 values; the price... $1.00

Plaid and Novelty Mohairs

Here is a bunch of Mohairs in a variety of plaids and novelty effects, 36 inches wide; just the thing for street suits and skirts, at little cost. The style, show and service are combined in this material; the price is only 48¢

Broadcloths, 75c, 88c, 98c

These Broadcloths are 52 inches in width. We have the three grades in the popular shades. Each grade is underpriced, at 98c, 88c and 75c.

READY-TO-WEAR

Suits, Skirts and Hats are constantly arriving, representing the season's newest and most wanted garments, and you will find them priced in keeping with our quick-turn policy, and it's no trouble to show them.

WILL PYTHIANS SELL HISTORIC TEMPLE?

Question of Disposing of First Structure of Kind Erected in World, to Be Decided by Local Lodges

The report of the joint committee of the nights of Pythian lodges which own the Pythian Temple and the unoccupied lot in the rear of the Temple, Queen City and Red Cross, have had the report of the joint committee submitted to the lodges. It is really two reports.

The first approves the plan for the use of the lot in the rear of the Temple fronting on Third street, twenty-five feet, and extending back 110 feet, next to the opera house, by putting thereon a three-story brick building to be done at a cost of about $10,000. The estimated revenue will be about $1,500 per year, which would much more than pay the interest and sinking fund.

The second report authorizes the joint trustees to place the whole property on the market, at a minimum price, if it is sold then it is the intention of the lodges to buy property in Throckmorton or some other street where there is not the same amount of traffic as there is in Main street, and build thereon a six-story foot building. A good lot in size, well located, has been offered the committee.

When the reports of the committee were submitted to Queen City last Monday evening they were made the special order for Monday evening, Sept. 24, and the keeper of records and seals was instructed to notify all of the members of the lodge that the question was pending.

Even if a satisfactory offer is made for the property there are a number of formalities which must be complied with before the property could be sold, so in effect the authority, if indorsed by both lodges, would give the trustees only the right to receive bids, the lodges having the right to accept or reject as they saw fit.

Sentiment Against Sale

There is a sentiment with many of the members against the sale of the building for the reason that it was the very first Pythian Temple ever built in the world, and while it is true that the old temple was torn down and replaced by the present structure, there is still the hallowedness of the long association with the idea that has an influence with many in prompting them to view with disfavor the plan of a sale.

Some do not find this reason for it—make objection that there is so much noise made by the cars and other passing traffic that the lodge work is at times interfered with. This objection applies with greater force in the summer time when the windows are opened, than in the winter, when many or all of them are closed. That is about the only objection made to the present site for use as a lodge room.

ARE DOWN-TOWN STREETS GETTING TOO SMALL?

Throngs of Saturday Night Shoppers Fill Space From Curb to Curb

Are Fort Worth's downtown streets getting too small? The question is not a flippant one. Everybody who has visited the Panther City knows its business thoroughfares are the straightest, longest and broadest possessed by any city in the state, but to the thoughtful person who spends a Saturday evening in the shopping district the idea cannot fail to suggest itself that within a few years the present streets will prove inadequate and the only logical result will be the spreading of the business district farther out on each side of Main, Houston, Throckmorton and Rusk.

The streets of Fort Worth by electric light early Saturday night present a sight worth seeing and on a stranger the impression would have been made that something unusual was going on in town. But there was nothing unusual about it. It was the usual Saturday night scene with some additions made as a result of the Texas & Pacific pay car having turned loose $50,000 among the employees of that road during the day.

From the courthouse at the head of Main street to the Texas & Pacific passenger station, nearly a mile, from just after dark until 10 o'clock, and after there was a crowding, pushing, crowding throng of people. So great was the crowd that they overflowed the sidewalks and spread out into the street nearly to the street car tracks. The scene was such as presented during carnival times, where the carnivals are held. It looked as if all Fort Worth were out in the open and taking in the sights.

A man from Dallas was standing on the corner of Main and Tenth street, and asked a Telegram reporter who was standing near him: "What's going on in Fort Worth tonight? Any fun?" "Anything unusual?" "No, why do you ask?" "What are all these people doing on the street?" "Trading; it's the regular every night scene in Fort Worth," said the reporter.

porter, and the Dallas man glared at him.

In front of the Metropolitan hotel a band of Salvation Army people were singing, preaching and praying, and there were other people there. Four blocks down Main street was another band of street evangelists dispensing the gospel to a big crowd, while thousands of people were stopping to look on.

Three blocks further down Main street, surrounded by a crowd of a hundred people, a man was kneeling on the sidewalk, praying like mad, while the bar of the saloon in front of which he was praying wasn't long enough for the crowd inside to line up, so they had to stand two deep the rear row reaching over the men in front to get their drinks.

At and around the Texas & Pacific passenger station there was a mob of people, some coming in on trains and others going out on trains. The streets were crowded with vehicles of all kinds, including taxicabs, buses, express wagons, automobiles and transfer wagons, and a man had to be a good preliminary engineer to get safely from one sidewalk to another.

Houston street was almost as lively as Main street. Every car from the south side came in loaded with people and emptied them into the street, and crowds on the streets. Even the cross streets were thronged with people—men, women and children.

On Rusk street, especially below Tenth, the scene presented was not far behind that on Main. At the corner of Tenth a woman street preacher with a voice that rang like the clanging of a bell, had a big congregation to hear her and just a block away a new negro skating rink had started up and there was a fearful crowd in and around it. The hamburger stand vendors were doing a rushing business and the tamale merchant was in his glory. The banana seller, the pop-corn and peanut vendors, were up to their ears in business at all the corners, and all over town business was booming.

"No other city in Texas could make such a showing as Fort Worth made Saturday night."

BANK OCCUPIES HOME
Farmers' and Mechanics' Now in Remodeled Quarters

The Farmers' and Mechanics' National bank will open Monday morning in its new quarters on the first floor of the Hoxie building, where convenient rooms with magnificent interior decorations have been fitted for its special use. The books and safe deposit boxes were removed Saturday after banking hours.

The work of remodeling the banking rooms was started last February, and many changes in the building proper have since been made. The old elevator entrance has been replaced by a broader one, with a much larger hallway. A new elevator, larger than the old one, now opens into this hall. By changing the entrance the bank room has been made broader, adding to the exterior appearance of the building as well.

The entire meeting of the Tarrant County Farmers' Union held Saturday morning and afternoon in Labor Temple was closed to the public and but a brief report of the deliberations was given out in the evening at adjournment. The report on the property accepted. R. H. Wilson of Smithfield was elected manager of the warehouse at a salary of $75 per month. His duties are to weigh and classify the cotton and to issue receipts for same. The charge for storage to members will be 15 cents a bale for the first month and 10 cents for each additional month.

The cause of this rush for naturalization is a new naturalization law that will soon become effective and if application for final papers is not made before the law becomes operative, first papers already taken out will not count.

The new law will go into effect Sept. 27 and its provisions are much more strict than the present law and a better showing will have to be made in order to get out final papers; besides the new law makes null and void all first papers taken out under the present law unless they have been perfected by taking out final papers before Sept. 27, 1911.

or fraction of a month. The manager will keep the books open to the inspection of all members at any time of the month. A board of five directors was appointed to carry out the campaign of the union, including the plans of the warehouse proposition. The blanket form of fire insurance as is in use over the state was adopted by the union. About forty members representing thirty unions were present throughout the meeting. Wilson will take charge at once, as there are some new changes in the arrangement of stalls which it will be necessary to make. A member of the union stated Saturday afternoon that he anticipated practically no movement in baled cotton to this city before Sept. 24. L. B. Neal, state organizer; Jeff D. Montgomery, former state organizer, and H. Bryant of Rendon were others who addressed the assembly.

Crop Outlook Gloomy

Considerable time was spent in the general discussion of the crop prospects for the season at hand and very unfavorable reports were made by many of those present. As the basic drawback it was agreed that excessive rains are to blame. This has been the wettest season in Texas and over the cotton belt generally within the last fourteen years and as an inevitable result of a wet July and early August, the boll weevils have come in large numbers in this section and have wrought serious damage in nearly every field. One farmer, a prominent planter in Tarrant county, stated that he could raise his two hands against the stalk of any plant in his field and fill his hands with boll weevils. In many places where the ground is low and wet the bolls have rotted and are filled with worms.

OLD PATENT FILED
Title Fifty-Two Years Old Comes to Light Here

There was filed in the county clerk's office Saturday for record the original title papers to 358 1/2 acres of land in Tarrant county, the instrument filed being a patent to the land granted May 8, 1874, by Richmond Coke, then governor of Texas. The patent was issued to E. L. Dohoney, assignee Enoch Johnson, and the land patented is located four miles south and west of Fort Worth.

The original uncorroborated certificate under which this land was patented to Dohoney by Governor Coke thirty-two years ago was issued to Enoch Johnson by the board of land commissioners of Travis county Aug. 21, 1854, a little over fifty-two years ago.

with excursionists from San Angelo, and the Concho country, for Galveston, and they kept getting on at every station for the island city. After a thirty-mile ride the trainmen called out Brownwood, twenty minutes for supper, and I raised a lunch counter. Every one was ruffling for something to eat. After getting aboard and seated a fellow said to me: "Hello, Stock Journal; scrouge over a little," and at the same time reached for a Journal, which I had lying across my lap. Said he: "I have not seen one in three weeks." Thinks I to myself: "I will get one dollar and a half out of you, I asked where he lived. He said: "Texas," and at the same time said: "Gimme er chaw terbacker." Said I: "You must have been practicing on 'Teddy's' short cut spelling." He only grunted and said no use to use four or five words when one will cover it all. He sat there and read for about thirty miles and that I was all I ever did get out of him. When his station was called he arose, walked out with the paper in his hand and never said good-by, or to thunders or anything else. I will bet the best coon skin in Parker county that he is two years in arrears for the Journal and was afraid I would pull out the sub list on him. We pulled into Lampasas at 11:40 and I soon found a room, and rolled into bed, wondering who that daggedest fellow was.

COLONEL POOLE ON THE WING AGAIN

I boarded the Frisco cars at Fort Worth Tuesday evening, Aug. 28, headed for Coleman to take in the fair and race there. Winfield Scott was on the train on his way home from Chicago, where he had been marketing several hundred fat cattle from Indian Territory and Kansas. He has between six and seven thousand more to go in September and October from Kansas and Montana. He and family are spending the summer at his ranch (Scotland), eighteen miles southwest of Fort Worth, on the Frisco road. He has 7,000 acres of this black land in this tract, 400 acres in cultivation. The railroad passes through it. He has spent a great deal of money on this home and ranch and it is a magnificent home in summer. He and his family spend the winters in Fort Worth and summers at Scotland. He raised several thousand bushels of grain and a large amount of other feedstuff this season. He finds a big string of beef cattle here every year. As the train was gliding along through his ranch he pointed out the grass, which was about knee high, and said "that is the best crop a man can raise in Texas. I made most all my money off the grass." He is a millionaire and thirty years ago he was a small rancher twenty-five miles southwest of Fort Worth. Now he has more money and property than he and his family can use during their natural lives if they should never do another lick of work. Yet he would not bustle out of every day, and he lives on the fat of the land. He had a big caw-shaw on the seat by him, saying: "That means good custard pie tomorrow."

I tarried that night in Brownwood and caught the Santa Fe cars next morning for Coleman. All along the route from Brownwood to Coleman, cotton, cane, June corn, milo maize, sweet potatoes and watermelons were in evidence in great shape. A great deal of the cotton is as high as a horse's back. We arrived in Coleman in time for dinner. A number of old-time friends greeted me with a hearty handshake. Captain John M. Elkins, Judge J. O. Woodward, Tom R. Brown, Louis Trammell, John D. Mann, Joe Dunn, Tom Austin, Judge I. L. Randall, R. L. Dunman, Ben H. Pittman, John F. Gordon, James Williams, Ben Bowen, Charley and Ned Thompson, Barton Brothers, Noah Armstrong, J. W. Cox, J. A. Jamison, J. Boog-Scott, I. T. Warnock, Mrs. R. H. Over-all are old timers in Coleman county. Judge D. Kin Elkins, who lives twenty miles north of Snyder, in Sevier county, is here on a visit to his son, Harmon, and Captain John M. Elkins, his brother. I knew the judge here long years ago. Time has not lightly on his shoulders. He looks almost as young as he did thirty years ago, when he lived here among us. He is still gay as a lark, but is now a devout Christian gentleman. He will be 75 years old his next birthday, and has seventy-two children, grand and great-grandchildren. He proposes to have a family reunion on his next birthday and have them all there on that occasion. Said he: "Yes, I am going to move out the yard fence to give them room and have a good old time among my kids."

On arriving here I learned that Frank Taylor was laid away to rest in the cemetery last Sunday evening, having died on Saturday. He was an old-timer here. He leaves a widow and three children to mourn his loss. He was financially well fixed, leaving about $100,000 worth of property in lands, cattle and bank stock.

The fat stock show and races opened up at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning. There was a very slim attendance, owing to so much rain. It poured down both Thursday and Friday, making the track very heavy. There were some cowboy-back race horses on hand from a distance, but made slow time, owing to the mud. No cattle were on the grounds. It is too hot with rain and

W. C. Gay had on the grounds three or four good colts I have seen in many moons. They were sired by the famous Texas Ranger stallion, owned by W. C. Gay. They are perfect beauties, registered trotting stock, and good color. Mr. Gay is raising some of the best horses in West Texas. John M. Elkins Jr. had on the track a two-year-old pacing filly, a perfect model of horseflesh. It takes the best of the older ones to pass her on the track. Johnny, as the boys all call him, is very proud of this filly. She is hard to beat in any country.

The stockmen all report grass knee deep all over the Coleman country and stock is in fine shape. There is the best season in the ground in this country I ever knew of rain and September. It is wet clean to the bottom. The farmers are a little blue over so much rain in July and August. Cotton is no spotted, bales and all. I saw several crops of cane that I think is fully eight feet high. Give old Coleman county ground, plenty of water and it will grow crops out of sight. Melons, June corn, sweet potatoes, cabbage and cucumbers were coming into town by the wagon load, all as cheap as dirt. The merchants all seem to be doing a rushing business and the people generally are very prosperous. Yes, old Coleman county is now strictly a farming country. Who would have believed this twenty-five years ago? I thought then that this country land is getting out of sight, from $20 to $40 per acre. While here I had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Zoe Dunman Ratliff of Kansas City, Mo., who is visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dunman. I am always glad to meet Miss Zoe. She is an elegant lady and looks as pretty and sweet as she did ten years ago before she was married. The Dunmans are among my best friends in Coleman county.

At 6 o'clock Saturday evening I again boarded the Santa Fe cars headed for Lampasas. There were thirteen cars, I think, all loaded down

OUR LAY SERMON

"TROY, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Arthur D. Reece, receiving teller of the Security Trust Company of this county, committed suicide tonight by taking poison. It is alleged that he was short in his accounts $20,000."—New York Times.

"And the wages of sin is death." Romans vi:23. Therefore Arthur D. Reece has received his account in full—and it was a stupendous sum. In this manner they who have disregarded the laws of God and man are rewarded by the evil impulse they have served, and usher themselves, unbidden, into the presence of their Maker—that Maker whose image they have defiled—and in answer to His reproachful eyes that question them wherefore they have usurped the Master's right, they can only bow their heads and whisper how their feet fled from the earthward where flourished the Poison-tree of sin whose seed they had so recklessly sown, and whose bitter fruit was ripe for the harvesting.

The teller's sin overtook him and to escape the taste of gall he drained a deadlier poison and hurried out upon the road which has never echoed a returning footstep—hastened to the tribunal where only the record of the righteous works avail. We do not know of him farther than the grave—we know that he died—and how, and when, and where, but it is no right of ours to judge of his reception at the portals of eternity—his entrance there is the secret of the angels. But this is ours, the knowledge that his evil deeds fell upon his own head and crushed his life out. Perhaps, too, the sin has fallen tenfold upon some other innocent one, perhaps a white-haired mother somewhere mourns in a double anguish for her son. Perhaps a triple widowed wife bows in the sepulchral home with her grief and shame for the husband who could not face the consequence of his crime and fled to the friendly grave. Death loses some of its dread appearance when life becomes longer insupportable, and those who dare not wait tomorrow's advent, who can neither go on nor look back into the Abyssinian darkness and stretch out their arms to it.

With frightened eyes turned backward to the paths their feet have walked they take hold on eternity. What a mortal throe must grip their hearts that they dare face God to place an uncleaned life in His palm. Young men, you who have the confidence of your fellow men, take heed of this man's fate, and save yourself from a similar one. You are safe so long as you do not take the first step on the wrong road. Once taken, that step must be multiplied, until before you realize the starting, you are far from the mountain height, and as you go a certain discovery stalks behind you, and sooner or later it will come upon your heels, then you will see ahead of you the cold stone of the prison and the door that leads from life. You must choose between these two measures, there is no other. You must be dragged with downcast eyes into the presence of those who trusted you and to whose trust you were false—must return to meet their scorn and accept your punishment, or you must let down the bars of life and step through on to the other side.

It is almost an equal choice. One is certain retribution and the other is full of a nameless dread. With one you are too familiar, while with the other you have no single clew to all its infinite mystery, and once there you must remain until the world shall pass away. Then shall we face our sins again and answer to the Father for our error. This is the Promise of the Holy Word and there can be no possible way of escaping the price of our transgressions. Today the hand of Justice is broad as the earth and there is no corner where the evil-doer may secrete himself for "Behold a whirlwind of the Lord has gone forth in fury, even a grievous whirlwind: it shall fall grievously on the head of the wicked." A few years ago the father of his brother could find a safe retreat beyond the washing sea, but in this day the wheels of inexorable justice roll swiftly and silently after him, and fly where'er he will he is relentlessly pursued and must at last surrender.

Yet this same man who with his own hand untied the knot of life and swung far out from the environments where his life began was one time straight and undefiled, but dark temptation came and with her subtle whisperings lured him from the moorings of right and honor, promising to make it all good when he should have accumulated a fortune of his own. But the fortune never came and his rope length was reached. Then he decided on the rash act and we know not the sorrow and travail of his heart, he did not stay to tell, but it must have been heavy with the driftwood of dead years. But the word of God is realized. He said "woe unto him that buildeth his house by unrighteousness, and his chambers by wrong; that useth his neighbor's service without wage, and giveth him not for his work."

Remember this, young man, with life spread fair before you, it is too late to reason when on some gray tomorrow the sun is slipping for the last time behind the dark rim in the West. Then your lamentations will sink in the ocean of useless tears, whose bed is carpeted with wrecks of vessels that once were fair.

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY

Advices from Austin indicate that the attorney general of Texas is still preparing to go after the Standard Oil and Waters-Pierce Oil Companies, and an anxious public is busy wondering what amount of preparation is actually necessary. It is known that the campaign has been in contemplation for practically the past year, and the dilatory tactics employed have not met with popular favor. While the Texas officials are consuming so much time in preparation, the attorney general of Missouri is busy and continues to achieve results. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch says:

When H. Clay Pierce finally reached the witness stand, after an evasion of court summons which has never been equaled in contemptuous disregard of the law, he contributed information of value to the public and to Attorney General Hadley, who is striving to smash the oil monopoly in this state. We may pass by as of no consequence Mr. Pierce's charge that an inexperienced agent had made agreements with the Standard Oil Company which resulted in the ousting of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company from Texas; but after its reorganization on account of this ousting he had obtained agreements with the Standard to respect the laws of all the states in which his company was doing business, but that despite this agreement the Standard had unwarrantably interfered in the affairs of the company—a company which the Standard absolutely controlled. The salient facts obtained are these:

- 1. The Standard owns a majority of the stock of the Waters-Pierce, the stock being held until 1904 in Mr. Pierce's name and subsequently in the name of M. M. Van Buren.
2. The Waters-Pierce Oil Company entered into an agreement with the Standard Oil Company of Indiana to divide the state of Missouri for trade purposes.
3. The Waters-Pierce Oil Company obtains all of its oil supply from the Standard Oil Company, having no other source of supply.
The Waters-Pierce Oil Company is a part of the Standard Oil Company, which owns a majority of its stock, controls its management and supplies it with oil. This ownership for years has been concealed under an apparent independent ownership and management and a different name. The Waters-Pierce Oil Company is a subordinate trading company, with its trade territory marked out so that it will not interfere with other subsidiary companies, all of which, with the Waters-Pierce, are merely arms of the Standard Oil octopus. Mr. Hadley is making excellent progress. The methods of monopoly are becoming clear through his persistent work in the courts.
What more does the attorney general of Texas need in his business than the facts already exhibited by the attorney general of Missouri? Is there any salient reason why the blow that is to be struck in Texas should be any longer delayed?

OUR FARMERS ARE PROSPEROUS

Secretary James Wilson, of the department of agriculture, has been studying a recent article by James J. Hill on the economic condition of the country, and says that Hill has outlined those conditions accurately. He draws some deductions of his own. Secretary Wilson says:

"With regard to the exhaustion of wood, coal and oil, the farmer will meet that. Congress has taken the first step in granting free alcohol, and this department is at work learning what can be done to develop its possibilities. Chemists are working in a big cannery in Illinois to learn how to produce alcohol cheaply from by-products of that business, and an expert has been sent to Europe to study and bring back supplies of seed for production of the big stock potato raised there for stock feed and alcohol. It is not the ordinary edible potato we know, but will give twice the alcohol per acre. Other experts are studying the uses of alcohol for heat and power. I have no uneasiness about the prospective lack of coal and oil.
"Is it true, as Mr. Hill says, that the British grow on an average of thirty bushels of wheat an acre to ours of less than fifteen. But we can get thirty if we adopt their methods. They fertilize for a root crop every four or five years, and then grow wheat the next year, and that only on the best land. They grow oats and barley on the poorer land. Wheat grew twenty to thirty bushels in Iowa fifty years ago; now little is grown because the farmers find that stock growing is more profitable. But the Iowa bluegrass lands can be turned up today and will produce as big wheat crops as ever.
"Is the Mississippi valley the farmer nowadays works altogether for corn, and his system of rotation is based on the requirements of the corn and live stock that he wishes to produce. There need be no fears as to the capacity of the soil to feed the population which Mr. Hill expects to see here. And I don't question his figures, either. We will have them. But we must have different farming methods.
"Mr. Hill's observations on the subject of farm help are correct. But it is hard to do much for the farmer at this point. Help is expensive and scarce. But better appliances make it produce more. A year ago, traveling in the Southwest, I saw this well illustrated. In Arkansas and Tennessee I would see a man cultivating behind a single horse that might weigh 800 or 900 pounds. Going to Oklahoma that man would be working with two horses. Up in the corn country of Kansas or Iowa he would have three or four 1,600 pound horses. In old times a man and two horses would handle a ten-foot harrow; now a man and four big horses drag a twenty-foot harrow."

Secretary Wilson says the farmers of this country are prosperous and will be amply able to feed the 400,000,000 people Mr. Hill expects as citizens of this great American republic.

WATTERSON ON BRYAN

When William J. Bryan addressed the people of Louisville a few days ago, Colonel Henry Watterson, editor of the Courier-Journal, and one of the greatest living Democrats, delivered the address of welcome and introduced Colonel Bryan to the audience. In the course of his remarks, the great editor said:

I recognize as our chieftain in this approaching conflict William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska. It costs me no sacrifice, either of personal preference or pride of opinion, to make this declaration. Mr. Bryan and I have not always agreed as to the means; we have never disagreed as to the end. The appeal to the moral nature of the people, which he has made with so much eloquence and power, I was making when he was a boy. He grew to manhood under my teaching. If at times I have raised the warning finger of the schoolmaster—even threatened the rod—he was big enough and old enough and good looking enough to stand it and to survive it, and has thrived in spite of it—maybe by reason of it, and in any event has quite outgrown it.

I, too, have lived and learned apace; and one of the things I have learned has been to look more to the objective point and less to non-essentials; in matters of difference to agree to disagree with my comrades and friends; on great occasions and in great affairs to send all minor differences to the rear to march abreast against the common enemy.

And it is interesting in this connection to consider some of the things Editor Watterson has said concerning Colonel Bryan during the past two years. On March 11, 1904, Editor Watterson said:

If ever a man started out deliberately to destroy a party, to recoup and revenge himself for two defeats, to make it impossible for his party to elect anybody, Mr. Bryan is doing this every day and hour.

And when Colonel Bryan was making his fight over the celebrated Bennett will, Editor Watterson said in the Courier-Journal:

Mr. Bryan may be a perfectly high-minded, disinterested man; but the spectacle of a party leader struggling with a widow for the larger part of her husband's estate—the will and all its appendant documents prepared by himself in his own house more than a thousand miles away from the testator's home—he is no blood relative, nor even an old friend—is an unsavory spectacle. With it before us—and along with it the fact that eight years ago Mr. Bryan was obscure and poor and that now he is rich and famous—we must decline to accept the characterization of the Lexington Gazette, his newspaper organ in Kentucky, that he is "the greatest general, the loftiest statesman, and the purest patriot who has adorned American politics since the formation of the government." Yet, on no other hypotheses, can any man justify his support of Mr. Bryan under existing conditions.

Texas corn twenty feet high and Texas cotton eleven feet high is the story now appearing in Texas papers. And we all know that Texas soil will do it when given just a half chance.

Judge Charles K. Bell has been elected to a far more important and honorable position than that of governor of Texas, and the last campaign has no unpleasant memories.

When it becomes necessary to land United States marines in the city of Havana, it is pretty good evidence that the Palma government is no longer able to cope with the revolutionary situation.

One more weed cutting will carry you through until frost. And as it is to be the last one of the season, do the work thoroughly and well.

Dallas is to have a new afternoon newspaper, notwithstanding the general impression that Dallas was very well fixed in that line.

Candidate Bryan has heard from the country precincts and is now of the opinion that government ownership will not go.

The man who is planting his surplus wealth in Fort Worth real estate is building wisely and well for the future.

The mails from Texas eastward have shown a very material increase since Colonel Tom Campbell took up a temporary residence in Arkansas.

THE TEXAS PRESS

Tom Taggart does not appear to have suffered any on account of Mr. Hearst's assault on him. The country has learned not to pay much attention to the effort of the Hearst papers to punish their owner's political opponents.—El Paso Times.

The Democratic party should be purged of the leadership of Tom Taggart. His connection with the party does not inspire the public with the proper degree of confidence and respect.

When Governor Campbell takes the executive chair one of the first things to command his attention should be the prices charged for text books in the public schools. Texas parents are paying from 25 to 50 per cent more than is paid for similar books in states where the American book trust does not dominate the school text book board.—Beaumont Journal.

There is considerable dissatisfaction with the text book law, and a strong probability that the next legislature will undertake its revision in several important essentials.

There is no question but that it will be a great deal cheaper for the government to regulate the real roads than it will be to purchase them. The Herald believes strict government control should be tried out fully before government ownership is given attention.—Denison Herald.

Government ownership of the railroads is a principle utterly repugnant to the teaching of Democracy. There is no more reason why the government should own the railroads than the grocery stores of the country.

The church workers of the city of Fort Worth have decided to take the census of the city to find out what the religious complexion of each citizen is. It is all right, but there are many whose religious complexion will be found to be mighty pale.—Denison Record and Chronicle.

And when the A. M. E. church is reached there will be found many whose complexion will appear very dark.

Senator Bailey should see that Henry Clay Pierce of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, is liberated.—Cleburne Review.

Senator Bailey will have his hands full if he seeks to exonerate the Waters-Pierce people. The state of Texas has a heavy account to settle with that corporation.

THE TELEGRAM AND THE TEXAS PRESS

WORK AHEAD OF CAMPBELL

Officeholders at Austin are considerably perturbed over the report that Colonel Tom Campbell is going to make a clean sweep when he assumes the duties of governor. And there are officeholders at Austin who will regard the election of Campbell as a great public calamity.—Fort Worth Telegram.

New men and new methods are needed at Austin. If Colonel Campbell puts the state on a good business basis he will have done a good work.—Denison Herald.

THE BARREL IN POLITICS

The barrel should be retired from Texas politics and the situation so changed that our important offices will not go to the highest bidder. Poor men are already complaining they cannot afford to offer for offices in Texas and that is a condition that is utterly repugnant to all ideas of democratic government. Think of one man spending $70,000 for the privilege of being governor of Texas for two years. It is almost sufficient to cause the people of the state to believe a great mistake was made in making a selection. William R. Hearst was severely criticised in Texas for his attempted purchase of the Presidency, but here we have the spectacle of the same principle that is being applied to Texas in state politics. It is a procedure that must be promptly remedied.—Fort Worth Telegram.

As yet no one has been able to suggest any method of curtailing the immense and growing expense involved in running for office. The fact that what the candidate himself spends is only a small part of the outlay would render any law limiting the expense absurdly ineffective.—San Antonio Express.

THE DIVISION OF TEXAS

This talk of dividing Texas is a dream of the politicians that will not know realization. The people of Texas are too proud of the magnitude and glories of their great state to ever permit dismemberment.—Fort Worth Telegram.

The Telegram is eminently correct. Texas is an empire and her people will never submit to taking from her any of her greatness.—Denison Herald.

ALL ARBITRARY PRICES ARE REMUNERATIVE

In fixing the price of cotton arbitrarily, the Southern producers have placed themselves in identically the same position as the interests they are continually engaged in fighting. Surely, it is just as unlawful to fix an arbitrary price for cotton as it is for any other produce.—Fort Worth Telegram.

There's where you show you fail to comprehend the situation. The cotton producer is not fixing an arbitrary price, but a remunerative price—and one that, but for speculators, would prevail. No producer of any article ought to be forced to take less than the cost of production for their products. That is what the cotton producer has been doing for a long time. He is tired of it and proposes to quit it. By co-operation he can succeed, the croakers to the contrary, notwithstanding.—Athens Review.

LOOK WELL TO THE BOYS

This will never do at all. More girls than boys are being born in San Antonio. Will somebody please tell the stork to quit overstocking the old maid market.—San Antonio Gazette.

The stork evidently knows its business. The boys now coming into the world are so generally worthless that the stock of girls is being increased as the real hope of the nation.—Fort Worth Telegram.

That will never work out right, we must have our proper number of boys; but take better care of them; boys are what we make them. The boys in Texas have the hardest lot of any class of people; look mothers close after the boys.—Glimmer Mirror.

THE IRISH

An exchange suggests that Mr. Bryan has offended the Irish by stopping at a hotel named Victoria. Well, the hotel is conducted by a man named Sweeney, and if that will not satisfy the Irish they are too all fired hard to please.—Houston Post.

PITTSBURG

Now that the railroads have found a way to shorten the distance between New York and Chicago, those towns will expect a way to be found to lengthen the distance between them and Pittsburg.—Houston Post.

UNITED STATES ARMY HAS PLAN FOR CAMPAIGN IN CUBA ON TAP

Special to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 15.—The United States will not tolerate civil war in Cuba. The Platt amendment was drafted with this in view, and our government maintains, and will exercise, its right to intervene and maintain peace in that island. Civil war will be regarded, under the Platt law, in the same light as pestilence, or the unsanitary conditions which might breed it. A high official of the state department said today that one would be as offensive to the United States as the other. Aside from any specifications in the Platt law, this is the view which President Roosevelt holds of our duties in the premises. The United States will maintain order among its immediate neighbors. All necessary steps to that end will be taken. It is not even necessary to "assume" a right of intervention in Cuba. By the express terms of the Platt law Cuban autonomy is conditioned on the continuation of good government and peaceful sanitary conditions. The United States will not interfere in Cuba until it is apparent that interference is necessary. The Palma administration will be given every opportunity to put down the insurrectionary disturbance. But as soon as it is apparent that the rural guards are disaffected, or not sufficiently numerous, the United States will embark regular and take charge of the campaign. The war department has a plan of campaign all worked out, and a word from President Roosevelt is all that is needed to start the troops on the move. President Roosevelt has asked that he be kept fully advised as to the trouble in Cuba. He will not act on hearsay information, and desires full reports from our consul and the Cuban embassy. It is possible also that a special agent will be secretly sent to Havana to secure information. Reports will be received from President Palma, and his judgment will be consulted in determining the gravity of the insurrectionary movement, and the best course to take in putting it down.

PEELER THROWS DOWN GAUNTLET

Writes Fort Worth Man He Will Be Speaker

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 15.—Colonel J. L. Peeler of this city, candidate for speaker, today wrote W. P. Lane of Fort Worth, who is one of his supporters, emphatically denying the rumor that the incoming administration had a candidate for speaker and offering to withdraw from the race if any person in Texas could get Colonel Campbell to express a preference. If there is any person in Texas not excepting anybody, who can get Colonel Campbell to express a preference, I will immediately withdraw from the race. "I mean what I say and here and now throw down the gauntlet to any gentleman who has persuaded himself to believe that he is the candidate of the incoming administration. No such political methods can start a band wagon in Texas and the truthfulness of my statement regarding the position of Colonel Campbell can be easily ascertained by any one telegraphing or writing him."

ABSTAINERS TO FORE

Formerly Ridiculed in England Now Win Public Plaudits (BY LADY HENRY SOMERSET.) Special Cable to The Telegram. (Copyright, 1908, by Hearst News Service.) LONDON, Sept. 15.—Abstainers from alcohol have so long been ridiculed in this country, looked upon as flabby faddists and foolish fanatics, that it is indeed a turn of the wheel of fortune to find themselves "on top" of the wave of public opinion. Sir Victor Horsley, Sir Frederick Treves and a number of leading scientists are now speaking with no uncertain sound. "Dietetic qualities of alcohol produce a harmful change in the nervous system," says Sir Victor Horsley. Dr. Sims Woodhead, professor of pathology in the university of Cambridge, speaking of the quantity of alcohol still administered in the many London hospitals, for pneumonia and typhoid cases, says: "At one time alcohol was looked upon almost as a specific in the treatment of what are now called infective fevers. That, however, is now an old story, for some years ago there was a great revolution against the alcohol treatment of typhoid fever, of inflammation of the lungs and of similar conditions, and it was recognized that not only could patients die from these diseases when alcohol was not prescribed, but that they actually did better without it. Dealing with the effect of alcohol on those blood corpuscles which may be called the "police" of the body, the great authority Delearde says: "The disease-producing organisms get into the tissues during the time the alcohol is holding back the leucocytes, and meeting with no resistance from them, they set up a severe attack of disease and the organisms obtain such a foothold that the leucocytes are never able to drive them out." These are the voices of men who have given mind and life to the action of drugs as impartially as though no opinion had ever before been offered. But some years ago when the superior fear to treat, and Dr. Emil Reich, the popular lecturer on Plato to fashionable audiences, is advocating "spirits and philosophy" as the panacea for all ills. "Teetotalers are not good fellows," he says. "They are self-satisfied, hypocritical and narrow-minded. I recommend Dr. Reich to study his subject from the other side, to spend a little time in seeking seriously the results of the drinking habits of our people, especially our women. He then, perhaps, would have before he made such rash and ill-considered statements to his select audiences, and give them their doses of philosophy with some less deleterious mixture."

DANES AS FARMERS

Co-operative System Found Successful in England (BY LADY HENRY SOMERSET.) Special Cable to The Telegram. (Copyright, 1908, by Hearst News Service.) LONDON, Sept. 15.—From East Anglia reports are coming of some successful ventures in co-operative farming. If it is true that many of the inhabitants of East Anglia are of Danish descent, the district ought indeed to take the lead in introducing into England the agricultural co-operation to which Denmark owes most of its financial prosperity. One most interesting feature in Danish co-operation is the way in which the grown up sons and daughters of farmers are educated together in agricultural colleges, where they are not only taught practically the management of the farm, poultry and dairy, but also the principles of agriculture, literature, science and philosophy, and to become in every sense of the word the cultured men and women we find them to be. Danish women particularly seem to have, more almost than any others, the art of combining skillful domestic management, and even actual house and household work, with intellectual and artistic culture, while they can well hold their own in all social matters.

LUNACY INCREASES

England Alarmed Over Growth in Insane Asylums (BY LADY HENRY SOMERSET.) Special Cable to The Telegram. (Copyright, 1908, by Hearst News Service.) LONDON, Sept. 15.—Most alarming statements have recently been made as to the increase of insanity in England, and several public bodies are seriously devoting their attention to the subject. The Lancashire Asylums board is considering the question whether steps ought not to be taken to prevent the propagation of the species by discharged lunatics. There are few questions of more importance to the community. That the increase is real and not apparent is vouched for by no less an authority than Dr. Forbes Winslow, who gives figures showing that whereas in 1869 there was one insane person in every 125 of the total population, at the present time there is one in every 285, which means that the proportion has nearly doubled. When the asylums board has collected the facts which may account for this alarming increase, it will perhaps be possible to judge to what extent alcoholism, chronic or acute, is responsible, and there is little doubt that it will prove to be very considerable.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Reading Again Market Leader—Heavy Buying Continues and Price Rises Addition 1/2 Points

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Reading again occupied the center of the stage on the stock exchange and its performance was highly pleasing to the bull crowd.

Indications point to the fact that the old bull pool has resumed operations in the stock and are making strenuous efforts to boost the price to the high level touched last January.

and should the furious buying which occurred yesterday and throughout the brief session today continue it will seem that their desire was in a fair way to be realized.

A block of 8,000 shares changed hands on the call, and while the initial gain was only fractional, the price rose by leaps and bounds until within a comparatively short time 4 1/2 points had been added to yesterday's gain, making the total for the two sessions 1 1/2 points, a phenomenal record, considering surrounding conditions and the lack of outside interest in the market.

Although attributed to the theory of rumors explanatory of the rise was again floated, but still without confirmation, and the consensus of opinion is that the market is being manipulated by the exception of some of the smaller coilers, particularly Baltimore and Ohio, which attracted good buyers at one time sold at a net gain of 7 1/2 points, and American Locomotive, which gained the same amount, the balance of the list was rather neglected and price changes were unimportant.

Although owing to the strength of the aforementioned issues a good tone was in evidence until after the appearance of the bank statement, which, while very favorable, showing an increase of $19,000,000 in the surplus reserve, caused some profit-taking, sending prices off from the best for the general list, the close being irregular.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The cotton market today was as quiet as the usual week-end session and although prices slumped sharply on the first call, recuperative powers were strong and the net loss was inconsequential.

NEW YORK COTTON

Market Exhibits Good Recuperative Powers—Foreign Weakness Causes Drop, But Prices Recover Loss

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The cotton market today was as quiet as the usual week-end session and although prices slumped sharply on the first call, recuperative powers were strong and the net loss was inconsequential.

The initial loss amounted to 5 to 8 points, being a response to the very unfavorable character of the cables regarding both spot cotton and contract prices, which dropped materially owing to the character of the visible statement, better weather news and freer offerings.

The Chronicle summarizes also more favorable than expected. The local tone was good at the outset and while considerable cotton was sold in an effort to force a further decline, it was bought back in a short time, when bears perceived that little attention was being paid to the foreign weakness.

Trading, however, was mostly professional, the evening up of short contracts being responsible for the recovery. The close was steady with prices at a net loss of 1 to 3 points.

Spot cotton prices unchanged at 9.80c for middling, with the market quiet.

Table with columns: New York Cotton, Open, High, Low, Close. Rows for various grades of cotton and dates.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15.—While trading was fully as light as usual on Saturday, the cotton market had a good tone today and bears were unable to achieve a signal victory, principally because of the week-end, which tended to restrict aggressive selling.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Wheat Bulls in Control at Close, Although Profits Derived Were Unimportant—Prices Advance

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 15.—The wheat market finished the week with bulls still in supremacy, although profits derived today were unimportant.

The market has behaved all the week as though oversold and the firmness today may be attributed to the same cause.

While there was more opposition to the advancing tendency a sufficient line of shorts was liquidated to push prices up 1/2 during the day, but bears were more aggressive in the final hour than at any other time, with the result that the principal portion of the gain was wiped out and the market closed steady with prices at a net gain of only 1/2.

Local receipts 38 cars, including 17 of contract grade, as compared with a total of 360 this day last year.

Corn trading was fully as light as usual in week-end sessions and under scattered liquidation of long contracts prices dropped 1/4, finals being at the lowest.

CATTLE AND HOGS

Market Review for the Week Cattle—Calves and hogs show increased receipts for the week over those for the preceding seven-day period, while decreases are shown in receipts of sheep and horses and mules.

The six days' total is 10,995 cattle, 9,409 calves, 5,674 hogs, 306 sheep, 433 horses and mules, compared with 14,300 cattle, 4,610 calves, 8,890 hogs, 173 sheep and 173 horses and mules for the corresponding week a year ago.

Extreme quietude has marked the course of the beef steer trade the last week, and but little change is noted in price values.

The supply of good beefs has not been ample enough for the demands of the trade, while the light fleshed class has more than met all requirements.

The only approach to well-conditioned steers has been the appearance of occasional loads of winter-fed cattle, and they have not in any cases sold better than the best straight cutters.

The top of the market for the week was made Monday by a load of 923-pound extra fat grassers. They brought $3.85.

The general price level on good feeders has been around $3.00. A few canner steers have sold from $2.25 to $2.50. Stockers and feeders have been more plentiful than during the previous week, and prices had a weaker tone, from the fact that packers have offered less competition on steers carrying a killing quality of flesh.

VIEWSON THE MARKET

Vivion Commission Company FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 15.—The cotton market was dull, and net changes small. Liverpool was worse than expected, probably on better weather, less activity among the spinners, increased offerings from the expectation of freer receipts next week.

The opening here was hardly as bad as expected, there being some demand at the decline, indicating the feeling that the market is not on the verge of a serious break.

The spinners' takings indicate a fairly good desire to buy and while receipts will likely increase demand is not likely to be slow to improve, unless prices are forced too high.

The weather is better than many have expected, but many complications continue to crop and it is not known how soon the weather will get bad again and put an end to prospects of a top crop, already bad in many sections.

The weekly movement was short of last year and unless there is an unexpectedly heavy increase next week the showing will not be so bearish as last year at this time receipts were increased.

A HOME OF COMFORT

The problem now before the American housewife is not how fine to furnish the home, but how comfortable. Almost every up-to-date magazine has articles on the home-furnishing—touching almost every station of life, from the home of those in the common walks to the upper classes. Yet every article puts the home-furnishing within the reach of all—the stately mansion furnished in the simple style of the peasant, so you can at a glance see the reason for the Mission style of furniture. In order to meet the increasing demand for this style of goods, we are enlarging our stock and are prepared to show everything. Ask to see the Fifth Floor of our building. It is a real exposition of the beautiful, and we are adding to it in an endeavor to make it much more attractive
