CANDIDATE SCORED

Fight Waged Over Delegates' Votes—Hearst Called Brutal Driver of Men

SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM. CONVENTION HALL, Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 27.—When Onondago county had been reached on the roll call, Hearst had received 229 votes, or 3 more than necessary for nomination.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Convention Hall was packed last night at 7:55, when the twice postponed second session was called to order. The enthusiasm lacking yesterday was rampant. The committee on contested seats found itself divided, 26 to 21, regarding the twenty-one contests, involving sixty-three seats.

The majority report was regarded as a Hearst victory. The fifteen Murphy contestants in the five New York counties districts were given the place of the McClellan delegation. The Hearst men in Queens county were given seats and the Hearst count from up state also found favor in the eyes of the committee.

The minority report was presented by John B. Stanchfield, who said he was opposed to Hearst, but declared that if Hearst had come to the convention untrammelled by any ties, such as the Independence League, he would have been the nominee of the democrats without a dissenting voice.

Mr. Stanchfield advocated the nomination of Representative William Sulzer for governor, and the mention of the name provoked a considerable volume of applause. Senator Thomas F. Grady presented the majority report, inditing in a general defense of Tammany.

On the question of substituting the minority report for that of the majority a roll call was demanded by Mr. Stanchfield. This vote was regarded as a test of the Hearst strength.

The motion was lost by a vote of 244 to 142. The forecast the nomination of Hearst and there was a storm of cheers.

The majority report was then adopted viva voce. Lewis Nixon was elected unanimously as permanent chairman and at once called upon Congressman W. Bourke Keogh to submit the report of the committee on resolutions and platform.

Platform Adopted... The platform was adopted unanimously.

W. V. Cook of Albany county then took the platform to nominate William R. Hearst. Mr. Cook said: "Albany county wants to convince the people that bossism and corporate control have been driven out and that democracy will follow intelligent and competent leadership. The candidate must be in direct sympathy with the declarations of the platform and such a one alone can lead it to victory."

Can See His Finish... Senator Bailey can almost see his finish now. Just suppose H. Clay Pierce should have told it before the primary.—Palestine Herald.

Predicts Political Skidoo... Mr. Senator Bailey, it is up to you. That thirteen millions will have to be explained to the people, or it may result in a political "skidoo."—Belton News.

Truth Is Now Known... Sworn evidence of H. Clay Pierce shows that Joseph W. Bailey, United States senator from Texas, had turned over to him by Pierce $13,000,000 worth of property belonging to Pierce to control as he saw fit, and the evidence further shows that the Waters-Pierce Oil Company is a part of the Standard Oil. Everybody remembers the part Bailey played to reinstate the Waters-Pierce Company in Texas, and the splendid whitewashing that was done—the truth is now out.—Corsicana Democrat.

Some Enthusiasm Lacking... There is considerable local discussion over the reported revelations made in the testimony of H. Clay Pierce with reference to Senator Bailey's connection therewith. Senator Bailey has always been strong in the estimation of the people of this section, though there are those who have not been so very enthusiastic for the junior senator. It is presumed that he will be heard from in time, as the latest statements are rather too serious to be ignored.—Marlin Democrat.

All Texas Is Shocked... The whole country is shocked over the exposure of Senator Bailey, which was forced from Mr. Pierce on the witness stand Saturday, Sept. 15, and which appeared in the reports of the Associated Press Sunday morning. The

TEXAS PRESS ECHOES ON SENATOR BAILEY

THERE seems to be a disposition on the part of the Bailey lackeys to open fight on The Telegram on account of its opposition to the re-election of the senator, doubtless with the belief that if the fight can be transferred and centered on The Telegram, it will result in some easing of the situation so far as Bailey is concerned. Unfortunately for the plans of the schemers, while The Telegram was the first newspaper in the state to demand the retirement of Bailey, The Telegram has plenty of company.

Why Bailey should not be made to toe the mark, and answer for his dereliction. The people of Texas sacrificed just as great a popular idol when they commanded Roger Quarles Mills to doff the senatorial toga, because they believed he was no longer true to their interests, and there is no reason why Senator Joseph W. Bailey should not be made to do the same straight way.

sworn statement by Mr. Pierce that he turned over $13,000,000 in property to Senator Bailey, with power of attorney to conduct its affairs, as though it were his own property, is a staggering revelation. The people throughout the state await a statement from the Texas senator.—Tyler Courier.

Poor Man for Senator... Senator Bailey says if the voters of Texas do not approve of his actions they are at liberty to elect some other man. Thanks, Texas voters will take the matter under advisement, and if after due deliberation they think there is any man in the state as capable as Mr. Bailey they may decide to give him a show at this public office which has so many "private fee" accessories. Especially if we can find a poor man. Those luscious plums should be handed around.—Garland News.

People Did Not Understand... Testimony of H. Clay Pierce that Senator Joe Bailey was employed as attorney for the Waters-Pierce Oil Company while serving the people of Texas in the United States senate may necessitate some further explanation of

The Jesus of Democracy... It seems strange, not to say remarkable, that Joe Bailey always turns out to be the "Jesus of the Democratic party." On the government ownership of railroads question Joe started to oppose Bryan, but he thought again and decided not to do so, as it would make a "split" in the class of Democrats sometimes called the "safe and insane" wing of the Democratic party. Joe is a pretty smooth steersman, and he succeeds in working "his party" to a fare ye well; in fact, they don't know what he will do next.—Holland Progress.

The Idol Is Clay... J. W. Bailey has long been the idol of the people of Texas. Now things threaten to show conclusively that that idol is clay. Some years ago, while acting as attorney for the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, Bailey brought down on his head a fire of criticism from the people of the state. He was accused of being the hired tool of the trusts. This he indignantly denied, but never has brought forward any proof to corroborate his word. The people were willing to give him the benefit of the doubt and he was retained in favor by the farmers of the state. Shortly after the Waco incident in which he secured the reinstatement of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company in the state, he bought a ranch near Grapevine that was rather costly for a poor congressman. That deal whereby the Standard tentacle was permitted to return to Texas after being outlawed. It is indeed fortunate for Bailey that he secured an indorsement of his senatorial candidacy by the late primaries, and it is not altogether improbable that interesting proceedings may develop when the legislature meets in joint session next January to elect a United States senator.—Beaumont Journal.

Bailey Should Prosecute Pierce... Senator Bailey should prosecute H. Clay Pierce for perjury and then bring suit against him for defamation of character. On the perjury charge Attorney General Davidson has the evidence. In the city of Waco six years ago this Waters-Pierce Oil case was threshed out, but the action of the state convention did not settle it. The Waco Times-Herald is very close to Hon. Cullen F. Thomas. In his campaign for congress Mr. Thomas read winning letters. Robinson could scoop the state by getting those letters and reproducing the same for the benefit of the "rising generation" and some other people.—Dallas Times-Herald.

Government Ownership a Certainty at Fort Sam Houston... Special to The Telegram. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 27.—Although the republican party and its leaders have gone on record as opposed to government ownership of railroads, telephone and telegraph lines and other public utilities, a telephone line to be owned by the government is being constructed at Fort Sam Houston and the public lines have been ordered to remove their poles from the government property.

FUNSTON RETICENT

American General Refuses to Discuss Situation on Arrival at Havana

HAVANA, Sept. 27.—Subsistence supplies, the kind similar to those now used by the army in the Philippines and Porto Rico, will be used by the army in Cuba in event of intervention by the United States. Troops will be given the rations they have been accustomed to and not what anyone might suggest they ought to have for service in tropical countries. Strong life-sustaining rations will be given soldiers if they go to Cuba, just as good rations as the commissary delivers to them at stations in this country. No chances will be taken on creating discontent among the troops by denying to them proper things to eat to which they have been accustomed.

H. Harriman and New York friends are to get 40 per cent, the Santa Fe, Ripley, Santa Fe and Boston and New York people in control of the Santa Fe are to get 20 per cent, the remaining 40 per cent is to go to A. W. Foster and friends.

U. S. TROOPS SENT TO CUBA FOR ARMED INTERVENTION

So Alleges Liberal Leader Who Sees War Ahead
CAJOLING CLAIMED

Governor Munes Believes That American Efforts to Make Peace Will Fail

HAVANA, Sept. 27.—The protracted meeting of the National liberal party, of which Governor Munes is the leader, adjourned at an early hour this morning, after deciding to take part in the meeting of the moderate caucus for this afternoon.

National liberal representatives will probably attend the session of congress tomorrow.

Governor Munes said today that he did not believe any settlement could be reached by the American commissioners, who he added were merely cajoling the Cubans.

The shipping of American troops to Cuba, according to the governor, could mean that intervention was intended.

Hope for Peace
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Hope of peace in Cuba, revived among the army and navy officers in Washington by dispatches from Havana announcing Secretary Taft's plans for dealing with President Palma and other moderate leaders had caused them to consider treating with the insurgents. Many officers now say they believe the United States will be able to restore peace without sending a single American soldier to Cuba and this opinion seems to be gaining ground rapidly.

Preparations for any emergency which may arise in Cuba has not been abandoned in the least.

Fifty Ships for Transports
All commercial ships which might be used by the war department in sending troops to Cuba have been watched carefully by army officers and fifty ships can be drafted into service at an hour's notice should such action become necessary.

Marines leave for Cuba according to original plans, on the Brooklyn. It is expected, from League Island today, that a part of 1,500 marines ordered to Cuba.

The Prairie, which originally expected to sail from Boston today, will probably not be able to leave until tomorrow or Saturday.

Representative J. A. Hull, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, was at the war department today in conference with military secretary, Major General F. C. Anworth and Brigadier General J. Franklin Bell, chief of staff.

Mr. Hull is optimistic about the situation and said he believes a peaceful settlement of the difficulty will be effected.

OLD SOLDIERS MAY GET LOW RATES
Commission Decides It Has Power to Act

SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM.
AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 27.—The railroad commission today held that it has authority to call a hearing for the purpose of making special rates for the Confederate Veterans' reunion, which takes place in Dallas Oct. 25 and 26.

Commissioner Storey dissents. Commissioner Colquitt today addressed a letter to Major K. M. Van Zandt of Fort Worth, commander of the Confederate Veterans in Texas, in which he says he has received a letter from Colonel Milton Parker of Dallas regarding special rates and he has made a decision that the question be set down for hearing, proposing a $5 maximum rate for old soldiers.

Commissioner Storey subsequently wrote Major Van Zandt that the commission had no authority, at which time Commissioner Mayfield was absent. Mayfield is expected to return and he agrees with Colquitt that the commission has jurisdiction and a hearing will be held if Major Van Zandt so desires.

NEW CITIZENS MANY
One Hundred and Ten Take Out Naturalization Papers in One Day

SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM.
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 27.—In the county court today 110 foreigners took out their final naturalization papers. There is an especially great rush in San Antonio on account of its large foreign population. Of the total number becoming citizens more than half are Germans. The other nations represented are Mexico, Italy, France, Belgium, Ireland, Prussia, England and Austria.

Thursday was the last day that final naturalization papers could be taken out under the naturalization law, the new law going into effect Sept. 23. Where, however, aliens have already taken out their first papers they can come in later and perfect their citizenship by taking out the final papers, but from now on the new law makes it more difficult to get first papers than it was under the old law, the restrictions being more rigid and the cost greater on account of the amount of clerical work necessary.

Hereafter no alien can secure final papers unless he understands and can speak the English language and under the new law no anarchist or person who does not believe in organized government can become a naturalized citizen of the United States. Another change in the law is that final papers must be taken out within seven years after the declaration to become a citizen is made.

Since Sept. 17 there has been quite a rush at the district clerk's office to take out full naturalization papers. Some of those making application having lived in Fort Worth for twenty years. In one case the first papers of the applicant were taken out in Indiana thirty years ago. The total number of final papers issued since September up to noon Thursday, Sept. 27, was fifty-two, of which thirteen were issued Thursday morning as follows:

Harry Herbert, Russia. John Aechroth, Germany. John Achen, England. Henry Lucas, England. Edward Carlson, Sweden. Jacob A. Ross, Russia. Simon Ross, Russia. Paul Kelley, Ireland. Julius Boehm, Germany. Leon Darnsotter, Austria. I. L. Dreeben, Germany. G. Diatratti, Italy. H. G. Bury, England.

Of the fifty-two taking out naturalization papers during the last ten days the Russians lead by a good way, the subjects of King Edward VII. of Great Britain being second and the subjects of the emperor of Germany being third. Only one Roumanian is in the number, three Frenchmen and six Italians. There were three Austrians, two Swedes, but not one Norwegian. Of the Russians who took out papers nearly all of them were Hebrews.

OH, INGRATITUDE; THOU BASEST SIN
Susie McWillis Fined $5 and Lost Half Day's Work

Alas! the ingratitude of woman! Susie McWillis, colored, was arrested Wednesday afternoon while roundly abusing a fellow colored woman with all the strength of invective which the cuss-word vocabulary of the English language would permit and a few extra epithets peculiar to the Fort Worth negroes.

The officers were at loss at first to determine what was the cause of the unseemly disturbance which was bringing all of the inhabitants of Calhoun between Thirtieth and Fourteenth streets out of doors. Susie was sobbing and telling her story of the cussing could not be accounted for. The story ran thus: It seems that Susie and her friend both take in washing Tuesday afternoon, found them both with a load of work. Just for company's sake the other woman suggested that they pitch in together and do the washing. Then Susie brought her own washing out and looked eagerly toward the home of the other woman. A laughing face was told by the other woman that the latter has "troubles of her own." Susie's sense of humor was kept from her by the other woman's untruthful and ungrateful neighbor when the police interfered. Susie was fined $5 in the city court.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by "catarrh," which is many people's sufferer. Consumptives who are hopeless of getting well—who, if they had taken care of themselves, would now be well—will find relief in the foundation of Consumption. TULSA, I. T., Sept. 27.—One little kitten was the cause of a neighborhood row at Collinsville, which eventually resulted in a case in the commissioner's court here today. The warring parties were a man and his wife, named McDaniel, and a Doctor Moore, a dentist of the town.

A little kitten belonging to the little boy of Dr. Moore was roved by the little daughter of the McDaniels, who live across the street. It is alleged the doctor told the little girl she could have the kitten to play with when his child was thru with it, but the parents determined to get the kitten at once, by force of arms.

Doctor Shows Fight
First McDaniel made a sally into the doctor's yard, but apparently was not equal to the occasion. His wife then reinforced him. The doctor, being so defeated in his own yard, put the woman out by main force, not aiming, he says, to do the doctor bodily harm, but in the melee the woman received many bruises, which sadly disfigured her.

The McDaniels then swore out a warrant charging assault before the United States commissioner here and last night the defendant and plaintiffs, accompanied by the mayor and a large delegation of Collinsville people, came to Tulsa to see the matter out in court.

COTTON BELT CLOUDY
Weather Unfavorable to Fruitage of Crop
Light showers occurred in the southern portion of Texas Wednesday night and the same condition prevails Thursday. This is the result of a low barometric pressure, which has been noted for the past two days and which has increased with an alarming rate since the last report. Wind is from the east and general over the gulf states and to some extent the condition is similar in the rest of the south. Rain is reported from Louisiana, Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas, Illinois, District of Columbia and New York state.

The cold weather which was centered over the Rockies Wednesday, has moved to the eastward and is noted Thursday to be over the upper valley and the regions, causing a rise in the clear skies and low temperatures. Temp. from the cotton belt are still quite unimpaired, but conditions being cloudy and rainy. Unimportant changes in temperature have taken place since the last report, in the extreme northwest portion, where it is some cooler. Temperature reports are: Amarillo, 80 and 54; Spokane, 72 and 46; Chicago, 70 and 60; New York, 70 and 46; Knoxville, 80 and 58; St. Louis, 84 and 74, and Fort Worth, 78 and 68.

REPAIRING BRIDGE
Traction Company at Work on Sycamore Creek Near Polytechnic
The Northern Texas Traction Company has torn up and is reconstructing Sycamore creek on the Polytechnic College line and erecting in its stead a more substantial one.

In removing the work of the bridge it was found that two of the main sills had almost completely rotted and the work is being done to hold the loaded cars in passing over it. The wagon bridge across the creek along the side of the street railway bridge is thought to be in a safe condition, though it has not yet been officially inspected.

The car service on the Polytechnic line continues with a little interruption. Before taking up the rails across the creek a car was run over to the other side and passengers are transferred at the bridge. A large force of men are at work on the bridge and it will only be a short time until it will be completed.

CLAUDE GAMELL'S BODY IS FOUND
Remains of Fort Worth Man Are Recovered

SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM.
ENID, Okla., Sept. 27.—Another victim of the Dover wreck was found yesterday at Johnson Ford, about two miles east of the Cimarron bridge, where the wreck occurred. It proved to be that of Mail Clerk Claude Gamell of Fort Worth, Texas. He was identified by his badge, No. 8956, which he still wore, and by the keys for the mail pouches, which were found in his pockets. The body was badly decomposed and was wrapped in a tarp by an undertaker from Dover and taken to that place. Gamell's relatives were notified by telegraph and he was buried Thursday to take charge of the remains.

FROM A FORT WORTH MERCHANT

To The Telegram: Never has it been in my way to read so just a discussion of a public matter or man, where perfect fairness was aimed at, that was done in such an easy manner, with all the arguments summed up completely for the jury, without a waste word, as was done yesterday (Tuesday) on your editorial page. If Mr. Bailey has not seen it, for Heaven's sake send it to him. I am one of those who have not changed their mind about Mr. Bailey for more than five years and now think if the legislature sells out to him, I want to seek residence outside the state of Texas. Respectfully, G. Y. SMITH.

PALTRY PAY OF MINISTERS

Some one who has been doing some figuring on the situation has made the discovery that the average salary of ministers of the gospel has decreased ten per cent during the past ten years, and as a result there are many wretchedly paid ministers in the United States, who are dragging along and eking out an existence, such as they would not be content with in any other profession. And yet, in spite of the pitifully small financial remuneration that is accorded the average minister, the young men of the country continue to go into the pulpit. We hear much talk of the lack of preachers, but few actual instances of churches without pastors can be recalled. The explanation is simple. The men of God are not looking altogether to their fellow-men for remuneration in dollars and cents. The pay they receive is not in dollars and cents. It comprises a joy in service, a secret satisfaction is felt in obedience to a heavenly vision and the conscious entrance into many human lives with impulses toward the higher life.

To speak of the pay of preachers with only the thought of the money grudgingly bestowed by their respective congregations, would be to miss the chief reward of the calling. We must bear in mind the hour at the cradle, or the baptisms font, where the holy ambitions of fatherhood and motherhood are directed into definite channels; the marriage altar, where young lives are pointed to the true significance of the wedding vow; the bed of death, whither the minister is privileged to come and bring consolations of religion and the blessed hope of immortality.

Paltry pay will never depopulate the pulpit. It makes no difference that the cost of living has increased at the minister's house in the same proportion that it has mounted skyward at the domicile of the banker. It makes no difference that the actual necessities of life have reached the point where the preacher is forced to deny himself and family many of them, the work continues, and the true man of God murmurs not at the sore travail he is so often reduced to. He goes about the Master's business with the same cheerful alacrity that is always exhibited by the faithful, and looks and prays for better things.

If we compare the evangelical labor today with that of an earlier generation, we shall see in one sense that while the work of a man like Moody can never be repeated, in another sense it will always be repeated. The spirit of such effort will last, but its letters will crumble away. Historic and literary criticism and the revelations of material science have done away with the forms with which old revivalists' appeals were clothed, for the mind of man today, formed in the scientific reading of nature and the scientific interpretation of the Old and New Testaments, will look upon salvation and the Kingdom in a sense different from that presented by the old evangelists. But the appeal of the man of God to man sunk in selfishness and sin—that will fail. There is one voice for Luther's time, another for Edward's time, another for Finney and Spurgeon, another for Moody and Sankey, another for Gunnulius and Chapman—but the message is the same. The spiritual gift that rouses men from sin and sets their faces toward higher things will spring up and flourish as long as it is needed.

SENATOR BAILEY'S EXPLANATION

The long and anxiously expected public statement of Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey appeared Wednesday morning, and to say that it was disappointing is but to express the sentiment of Texas people very mildly. Friends and enemies of Senator Bailey had expected that there would be terse and vigorous refutation of the allegations made against the senator, but instead of receiving what they anticipated, they were regaled with an ethical discussion of Senator Bailey's right to practice law while serving as a United States senator.

It is true the senator serves up an admission from President Pierce of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, admitting that deception was practiced in gaining re-admission into the state of Texas, and this document is expected to establish Bailey's innocence. But the disappointing part of the program is that Bailey appears wedded to his idols and instead of breaking loose from the entangling alliances he has formed as an attorney and saying to the people of this state that he will assist as far as possible in undoing and punishing the fraud that was perpetrated upon them, he maintains sufficiently friendly relations with the man who perpetrated that fraud to give out an admission that fraud was actually perpetrated.

And Senator Bailey and his friends seem fostering the impression that he is to be vindicated on charges of graft. No charges of graft have been made against Senator Bailey. It has simply been alleged that as a paid and honored representative of the people he has formed business or professional engagements that serve to prevent him from continuing to represent the people in the manner he could represent them if the cloud of corporate influence did not lower so closely about him.

And Senator Bailey convicts himself on this count of the indictment in the so-called explanation he has just given to the public. In his discussion of professional ethics he admits all the people have charged against him, and there is but one thing for the people of Texas to do.

Senator Bailey says he has a right to engage in the practice of law while serving as United States senator, representing whom he pleases, and the thing for the people of Texas to do is to retire Senator Bailey from the senate and afford him proper opportunity to practice his very lucrative profession. Bailey evidently thinks he can serve two masters, but the people of this state who have so repeatedly honored him, are of a decidedly different opinion.

Mass meetings should be held thruout Texas and members of the state legislature re-instructed to vote against Joseph Weldon Bailey for the United States senate. His explanation does not explain.

THE PITCHFORK STATESMAN

Senator Benjamin F. Tillman, the celebrated South Carolina statesman, is to be a visitor to Texas during the next few weeks, and is to deliver a speech at the Dallas fair. The senator has many admirers in Texas, and thousands will go to Dallas to see him and hear some of the burning eloquence generally imputed to his forensic efforts. The following description of Tillman will be read with interest:

"It was on Aug. 6, 1885, when he was 38 years old, that he made his first appearance before the public of his state. A farmers' convention was in session in the town of Bennettsville, the county seat of Marlboro. Farmers and planters from all parts of the state were present, principally planters—well-bred, well-dressed 'South Carolina gentlemen.' The seasons were held in the court house, gaily decorated for the occasion with flowers and evergreens. Ladies and young people and ministers of the gospel came out to hear the orators." After the day's proceedings, receptions were held in the evenings by the citizens of Bennettsville to entertain the distinguished guests. At one of these it was rumored that on the morrow a green, gawky, sallow-faced, one-eyed fellow from the backwoods of Edgefield would speak, and that he was likely to say something out of the ordinary. Accordingly when the morrow arrived the court house was more than usually crowded with people who had come to enjoy the fun. That was the first speech Benjamin F. Tillman had ever made in his life, but from that day to this he has been the most conspicuous figure in South Carolina. The speech was published in a number of newspapers, and afterwards in pamphlet form and distributed among the farmers of the state. Tillman soon began to receive invitations from all parts of the state to deliver addresses, and he invariably repeated the substance of the Bennettsville speech. "If I could get a chance to speak to the people of South Carolina as I did to the farmers of Marlboro," he said one day, "there would be some fine somersaults in this old state." The chance came, and the somersaulting followed. He was lauded, he was condemned, he was ridiculed, but he always had a hearing and got into the headlines of the newspapers. But what was the issue he raised? Perhaps an incident of more recent times will afford the best illustration.

"I should like to ask Mr. President, what is before the senate?" said Senator Foraker one day as he arose in the senate for a "parliamentary inquiry" while Senator Tillman was making fierce attacks in a desultory way on a number of things and a number of men. "I am before the senate," fairly screamed Tillman.

But Senator Foraker, undaunted by the great roar of laughter that followed Tillman's characteristic answer, insisted on knowing upon what particular subject the senator was taking the floor. "No particular subject," replied Tillman in the same manner. "I am just making a few remarks on the general cussedness of the situation." And so it was Tillman before the state of South Carolina.

SOUNDS JUST LIKE BURTON

"The public seems to be morbid on this subject of a senator or representative practicing law for pay. It is and always has been a common practice for lawyers in congress to practice their profession. This apology might have been taken bodily from the brief filed in defense of J. Ralph Burton of Kansas. But it was not. It was uttered by the Hon. Joseph W. Bailey, senator from Texas and leader of the democratic minority in the senate of the United States. And it was offered in extenuation of the proved charges that while serving in the senate Mr. Bailey had grown wealthy as the attorney for the Standard Oil company; that he had brought about the reinstatement in Texas of the outlawed Waters-Pierce Oil company, a subsidiary company of the Standard Oil trust. Now, the public had come to expect from one of Mr. Bailey's intellectual equipment and impeccable assumptions a higher deal of public service than is indicated in his lame statement. Mr. Bailey, as an exceptionally influential member of the highest law-making body of the country, was in the paid employ of the greatest trust law breaker of the country. While drawing his salary as a United States senator he was also accepting a retainer from an organization which was the specific object of the government's prosecution. It is not asserted that this involved the direct violation of a statutory prohibition as in the case of Burton. But the moral equipment which cannot comprehend the two services assumed by Mr. Bailey were in diametric opposition is not worthy of further trust as a guardian of the people's interests. No specious reasoning and no amount of egotistic vanity can obliterate the patent fact that it was not the lawyer Bailey who was employed by Standard Oil, but the Senator Bailey, the influential politician, the popular hero of a great state, whose position, derived from the people, was the thing of value to the client. Senator Bailey must not lay the flattering unction to his soul that there is anything 'morbidity' in the people's demand that a public servant shall not engage his services to an enemy of the public welfare.—Kansas City Star.

If the Star thinks that apology needs a crutch, it will be amazed at the elaborate explanation just given out by Bailey, which is just about as weak an effort as was ever brought to light in Texas.

The movement on foot for a Tarrant memorial is one that should commend itself with much force to the progressive citizens of Fort Worth and Tarrant county, and those good people who are engaged in the task of providing it should receive liberal support and encouragement.

Conditions at Atlanta are such as to cause genuine dread thruout the southern states. If this race war idea is not summarily nipped in the bud the consequences will be fearful.

Alabama did not exhibit as much enthusiasm in the reception of William J. Bryan as was expected, and ultra-Bryan men are considerably wrought up over the apparent failure of boasted southern hospitality.

Killings are getting to be just a little bit too frequent in Fort Worth, and the good name of the city demands that every effort be made to reduce them to the minimum.

THE TEXAS PRESS

If Senator Culberson don't spend a little more of his vacation in Texas his people will finally conclude that he prefers to associate all the time with the people up north. Ex-Senator Mills did this way and finally got to be a stranger to the citizens of his home town, Corsicana. The rest of the story is known.—Tyler Courier.

Senator Culberson has nothing to fear at the hands of the people of Texas. He is a man who ably and conscientiously attends to his duties and has no corporate entanglements.

The report has gone forth that Colonel Campbell is not going to hand out any of the wedge shaped pieces of pie to any but those who tore their shirts a little for him in the late race. Is there anything wrong about his rewarding his friends? Was that not the very thing his opponents were going to do?—Bonham Herald.

To the victor belongs the spoils, and Colonel Campbell has a perfect right to appoint only his true and tried friends to office, provided it does not impair the public service.

Western lands have advanced to such a price that it is causing the pertinent inquiry to be made as to whether they will go still higher. Some think that there is every reason why they should continue to advance, but others think that they will depend on the seasons and the price of cotton for the next few years. As a rule where advances in anything create an unusual demand there is some reaction. Lands have not advanced too rapidly in the Brownwood country.—Brownwood Bulletin.

West Texas lands are none too high in value. They have been unreasonably low for a number of years, and the good people of that section are but just beginning to reap where they have so industriously sown.

All over Texas newspapers are voicing their protest against the re-election of Senator Bailey. Doubtless when the senator returns to Texas he will make a complete avowal of his side of the case and it remains to be seen whether he can justify himself. One thing is certain, the people of Texas will be satisfied with nothing short of an explanation that will leave no points unexplained.—San Antonio Gazette.

The promised explanation has been made and is chiefly remarkable for what it does not explain. Senator Bailey has not satisfied the people of Texas by any means.

The Georgetown-Fort Worth railroad is in the line of possibilities. More than that, it is a probability.—Georgetown Commercial.

Fort Worth will gladly welcome the new line and lead it every proper encouragement. This city must continue to be the railway center of the southwest.

Hon. Monta J. Moore of Cameron says the people are tired of the political injunctions in the Sixth district and the Post correspondent at Groesbeck forecasts the activity of the opposition to democracy. This he was ridiculed, but he always had a hearing and got into the headlines of the newspapers. But what was the issue he raised? Perhaps an incident of more recent times will afford the best illustration.

The republicans threaten to get very active in the Sixth district, and the best thing the democrats can do is to harmonize their differences and roll up the required majority for the party nominee.

Mr. Jot Gunter is no bigger than any other democrat in Texas and his denunciation of those who have criticized Mr. Bailey are of no more force and effect than those of any other democrat.—Athens Review.

Some of the Bailey defenders are making themselves very ridiculous by the spleen they are exhibiting toward those who are opposing Bailey. Calling honest democrats "curs" will not strengthen the Bailey cause.

The railroads announce there will be no more interstate transportation issued to newspaper men on advertising contracts. It is just as well; Texas is large enough for the Texas editor to sash around in anyway.—Dallas Times-Herald.

Texas newspapers do not have much time for interstate traveling, and the new rule will not work much of a hardship. Those who have to go can ride to the state line and finish the journey on foot.

If those who are trying to besmirch Hon. J. W. Bailey will come to Gainesville next Saturday they will see what his neighbors think of him.—Gainesville Messenger.

And if Bailey's neighbors will attend some of the numerous indignation meetings being held thruout the state they will see what the people of Texas are thinking.

THE CLOUD'S SILVER LINING With the new spelling, President's messages will be somewhat shorter hereafter.—Philadelphia Press.

EVERETT TRUE'S VACATION OUTBURSTS

No. 6

DRIFT OF POLITICS

BAILEY AND WATERS-PIERCE

J. W. Bailey has long been the idol of the people of Texas. Now things threaten to show conclusively that that idol is clay. Some years ago, while acting as attorney for the Waters-Pierce Oil Company Bailey brought down on his head a fire of criticism from the people of the state. He was accused of being a hired tool of the trusts. This he indignantly denied, but never brought forward any proof to corroborate his word. The people were willing to give him the benefit of the doubt and he was retained in favor by the farmers of the state. Shortly after the Waco incident in which he secured the re-instatement of the Waters-Pierce company in the state he bought a ranch near Grapevine that was rather costly for a poor congressman. That was not all for he bought lands in Kentucky that cost a small fortune and stocked them with horses that were not Texas "broncos." Texas was proud of the brash boy who represented her in congress and made him a United States senator. It was noticed that his political campaign never contained any special fight on any corporate greed and that the tariff, that old and venerable bogie of the politician, was the thing he used as a string on which to harp.

Not long ago Hearst attacked him through one of his publications and made accusations which Bailey indignantly denied but did not refute. Texas people stood for that all right and let Bailey dictate or try to dictate the policy and candidates in the recent campaign. In this he failed to succeed.

Now it transpires that H. C. Pierce, the Waters-Pierce oil man and the confessed tool and henchman of the Standard Oil Company, has been furnishing that same favorite son of the state of Texas with the sinews of war with which to fight poverty and acquire to himself wealth. The following excerpts from Pierce's testimony before the courts in a case where one of the employes of the company was suing for back salary, show conclusively that the junior Texas senator is at least an employe of the Standard people:

Pierce claimed that he had been "the savior" of Gruet, and told how, on April 1, 1905, he had placed his former associate in the directory of the Waters-Pierce at the disposal of Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas to audit the accounts of a group of Tennessee corporations in which Pierce said he was interested to the extent of $13,000,000.

The testimony of Pierce brought out his close relationship with the young statesman from Texas, and was a reminder of the fact that Senator Bailey had rendered Pierce valuable services in 1900 in procuring a license for the Waters-Pierce Oil Company to do business in that state after its original license had been revoked for violation of the anti-trust statutes.—Denton Record and Chronicle.

QUAKER REFLECTIONS

Even the gay deceiver can't hope to remain gay forever. About the hardest things some people do is their duty. Some people are merely opportunists, to be taken advantage of. If you would keep young take your trouble in homeopathic doses. The pessimist discards crumbs of comfort for fear they will make him choke. Great actors may be born, and not made; but you can't convince the press agent of it.

We never make fun of the grammatical errors of people who pay us compliments.—Philadelphia Record.

A COINCIDENCE

Strange coincidence that the two extremes—Mr. Bryan and the oyster—should be due the same day.—Buffalo News.

VERVET THAT RING

CLASP HANDS, YE NATIONS

Clasp hands, ye nations, and thank God The bitter tragedy is done! Corn shall be planted in the sod That vengeance long has trod upon. Clasp hands, ye foes, across the path By life blood dampened as by dew; The curtains of Almighty wrath Roll back and let the sunlight through!

In these long camps where armies lie Between the battle and despair, I think I hear a mighty sigh Rise up to heaven like a prayer; 'Giver of Peace, our lives are dear, And we have felt the pains of men; Thank God, the blessed end is here, And we may see our homes again!'

Peace! And the grass may grow once more Among the gullies and the stones Where War might still have festered o'er A continent of skulls and bones. Peace! And the fleets of commerce choose Safe paths on the untroubled deep, Where, buried in the crawling ooze, The navies of Misfortune sleep.

Clasp hands, ye nations, in the prayer That hell's fierce work for good be done; That such a trial by fire may bear New splendor to the Rising Sun; And that the peasants of the North Through suffering have found a way To summon Light and Freedom forth To strike the prison chains away! —Wallace Irwin in New York Globe.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Most people waste a lot of time telling their troubles. A woman's gift of gab is apt to cost her husband a good deal. Selfish persons are always admired—but it is self-admiration.

A man's hunger is never satisfied when he is compelled to eat his words. A woman's face may be an open book, but no man can read between the lines. Love may laugh at locksmiths, but gold and silver smiths give it the merry grin.

It's easy to convince a man that honesty is the best policy—for the other fellow. With the exception of a harmless mouse, the average woman isn't afraid of anything on earth.

It must be a lot of consolation to a widow to know that she looks better in black than in anything else. A good name is said to be better than great riches, but with the latter a girl may purchase a second hand title. Synopsis of Previous Installments

John Glenarm, a roving young engineer, is willed an estate near Anandale, Ind., by his grandfather, on condition that he live there a year, else it will revert to Marian Deveraux of New York, niece of the elder Glenarm's friend, Young Glenarm, returning to New York from Africa, is informed of the terms of his grandfather's will by Pickering, a lawyer, his former schoolmate, whom he greatly dislikes.

He accepts the term of his grandfather's will and starts for Indiana, accidentally meets his chum Lawrence Donovan, a fight with the latter's, and see there Pickering, accompanied by a young woman whose face impresses Glenarm.

While Glenarm is seated in his grandfather's house, the first evening of his arrival, a bullet whizzes by his head and flattens itself against the wall.

He accepts the terms of his grandfather's will and goes to Indiana. On the night of his first stay he is shot at while seated by the fireplace, but fails to discover his mysterious assailant. Next morning he takes a returning train to a village and returning sees a fight between his servant, Bates, and Morgan, a villager.

True, returning to the house, Glenarm hears voices and once while walking in the woods at night he comes across Morgan sounding the wall of his grandfather's estate with a hammer. After a parley, Morgan flings his hammer at Glenarm and the latter fires his revolver, but both miss. Glenarm becomes convinced that Morgan and Bates are rogues in league, and that it was Morgan who fired at him through the window the first night of his stay at his grandfather's house.

This belief is further strengthened when he, after a tour of his grandfather's house late at night, comes across Morgan and the two have a fierce revolver battle. Morgan is wounded and Glenarm learns next day, through Rev. Paul Stoddard, chaplain of St. Agatha's school nearby, that Morgan wishes word of his condition sent to Pickering.

Adjoining Glenarm's place is a fashionable school, conducted by Sister Theresa, of whom Marian Deveraux is a niece. At various times passing through the woods and about the place Glenarm falls in with Olivia Armstrong, a mischievous school girl, who is finally expelled from the school for her pranks. Glenarm is at the station the day he leaves and confuses her, unconsciously, with Marian Deveraux. The latter, carrying out the part of Olivia, challenges Glenarm to find her and after going to his room and pleading illness to his servant, drops out of the window, catches a train for Cincinnati and finds Marian Deveraux at the Armstrong home.

"Larry Donovan, I've been tempted to kill that fellow a dozen times! This thing is too damned complicated for me. I wish my lamented grandfather had left me something easy. To think of it—that fellow, after my treatment of him—my cursing and abusing him since I came here! Great Scott, man, I've been enjoying his bounty, I've been living on his money! And all the time he's been trusting in me, just because of his dog-like devotion to my grandfather's memory. Lord, I can't face the fellow again!"

"As I have said before, you're rather lacking at times in perceptivity. Your intelligence is marred by large opaque spots. Now that there's a woman in the case you're less sane than ever. Bah, these women! And now we've got to go to work."

"I'm sure, my own heart caught the wonder I was enraged and bitter. No wonder she had been anxious for me to avoid Pickering after daring me to follow her!"

We called a council of war for that night that we might view matters in the light of Pickering's letter. His assurance in ordering me to disclose to either of them the cause of my absence. On such a matter I knew I should get precious little sympathy from Larry, and I had, moreover, a feeling that I could not discuss Marian Deveraux with anyone; I even shrank from mentioning her name, though it rang like the call of bugles in my blood.

She was always before me—the charmed spirit of youth, linked to every foot of the earth, every gleam of the sun upon the water, every glory of the winter sunset. All the good impulses I had ever stifled were quickened to life by the thought of her. Amid the days' perplexities I started, sometimes, thinking I heard her voice, her girlish laughter, or saw her again coming toward me down the stairs, or holding against the light her fan with its golden butterflies. I really knew so little of her; I could associate her with no home, only with that last fling of the autumn upon the lake, the snow-driven woodland, that twilight hour at the organ in the chapel, those stolen moments at the Armstrongs'. I resented the pressure of the hour's affairs, and chafed at the necessity for talking of my perplexities with the good friends who were there to help. I wished to be alone, to yield to the sweet mood that the thought of her brought me. The doubt that crept through my mind as to any possibility of connivance between her and Pickering was as vague and fleeting as the shadow of a swallow's wing on a sunny meadow.

"You don't intend fighting the fact of your absence, do you?" demanded Larry, after a long silence.

"Of course not!" I replied quietly. "Pickering was right on my heels, and my absence was known to his men here. And it would not be square to my grandfather—who never harmed a flea, may his soul rest in blessed peace—to lie about it. They might nail me for perjury besides."

"Then the quicker we get ready for our sleigh the better. As I understand your attitude, you don't propose to move out until you've found where the sinner's hidden. Being a gallant gentleman and of a forgiving nature, you want to be sure that the lady who is now enticed to it gets all there is coming to her, and as you don't trust the executor, any further than a true Irishman trusts a British prime minister's promise, you're going to stand by to watch the hoodlum countess as that a correct analysis of your intentions?"

"That's as near one of my ideas as you're likely to get, Larry Donovan."

"And if he comes with the authorities—the sheriff and that sort of thing—we must prepare for such an emergency," interposed the chaplain.

"So much the worse for the sheriff and the rest of them!" I declared.

"I can't imagine, I really can't believe," began the chaplain, "that Miss Deveraux will want to be brought into this estate matter in any way. In fact, I have heard Sister Theresa say as much. I suppose there's no way of proving even the school is her property to a young woman, who has no claim on him—who doesn't want anything from him."

"I don't know, women! People don't throw legacies to birds these days. Of course she'll take it."

Then his eyes widened and met mine in a gaze that reflected the mystification of the school. The work from that of us, Stoddard turned from the fire suddenly:

"What's that? There's some one up stairs!"

Larry was already running toward the hall, and I heard him springing up the steps like a cat, while Stoddard and I followed.

"Where's Bates?" demanded the chaplain.

"I'll thank you for the answer," I replied.

Larry stood at the top of the stairs, holding a candle at arm's length in front of him, staring about as if he were looking for a ghost.

"We could hear quite distinctly some one walking on a stairway; the sounds that came from the door were not heard them on several previous occasions, without ever being able to trace their source."

"I don't know, suddenly leaving us with no hint of its whereabouts. I went directly to the rear of the house and found Bates putting the dishes away in the pantry."

"Where have you been?" I demanded.

"Here, sir, I have been clearing up the things," Glenarm. "Is there anything the matter, sir?"

"Nothing."

I joined the others in the library.

"Why didn't you tell me this feud long ago?" I asked.

In a grievous tone. "All it needed was a cheerful ghost, and now I believe it lack absolutely nothing. I'm increasingly glad I came. How often does it walk!"

"It's not on a schedule. Just now it's the wind in the tower probably; the wretched queer pranks up there sometimes."

"You'll have to do better than that, Glenarm," said Stoddard. "It's as still, outside as a country graveyard."

"Or the abode of the people of the fairy hills, the cheerfulest ghosts in the world," said Larry. "You little Saxons can't grasp the idea, of course."

But there was substance enough in our dangers without pursuing shadows. Certain things were planned that night. We determined to exercise every precaution to prevent a surprise from without, and we resolved upon a new and systematic sounding of walls in the night, taking our cue from the efforts made by Morgan and his ally in hiding places by this process. Flipping would undoubtedly arrive shortly, and we wished to have our movements as far as possible.

We resolved, too, upon a day patrol of the grounds and a night guard. The suggestion came, I believe, from Stoddard, whose interest in my affairs was only equalled by the fertility of his suggestions. One of us should remain abroad at night, ready to sound the alarm in case of attack. Bates should take his turn with the rest—Stoddard insisted on it.

Within two days we were, as Larry expressed it, on a war footing. We added a couple of shotguns and several revolvers to my own arsenal, and piled the library table with cartridge boxes. Bates, acting as quartermaster, brought in a stock of wagon loads of provisions. Stoddard assembled a remarkable collection of heavy sticks; he had more confidence in them, he said, than in powder, and he was, moreover, he explained, a priest might not with propriety bear arms.

It was a cheerful company of conspirators that gathered around the big hearth. Larry, always restless, preferred to stand at one side, an elbow on the mantel shelf, pipe in mouth, and Stoddard sought the big, great chair—and filled it. He and Larry understood each other at once, and Larry's stories, ranging in subject from underground experiences at Durban to adventures in Africa and always including endless conflicts with the Irish constabulary, delighted the big boyish clergyman.

Often, at some one's suggestion of a new idea, we ran off to explore the house again in search of the key to the Glenarm riddle, and always we came back to the library with that riddle still unsolved.

WHAT THE RAILROADS IN TEXAS ARE DOING

Double Passenger Service Special to The Telegram.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 27.—The movement for double passenger train service on the Southern Pacific west of San Antonio at an assured rate. The officials of the road state they are planning to inaugurate this service by installing an additional first class train Nov. 1. This increased service will be of vast advantage to that section of the state.

West Texas Business Special to The Telegram.

BIG SPRINGS, Texas, Sept. 27.—During the month of August the passenger trains on the Rio Grande division of the Texas and Pacific railway carried 65,000 passengers. August is generally considered one of the duller months in the year, and if this unprecedented passenger traffic increases the company will be compelled to put on more passenger trains.

Oklahoma Central Special to The Telegram.

PARIS, Texas, Sept. 27.—The committee in charge of obtaining the right of way for the Oklahoma Central railway has finished its work, and the contract will be signed just as soon as the officials of the company arrive here. Prices on some of the land needed were so high that condemnation proceedings will be resorted to. The railway officials are expected here in a few days.

Extension of Service Special to The Telegram.

PECOS, Texas, Sept. 27.—It is reliably reported that the Texas and Pacific Railway Company will extend the double daily passenger service that has heretofore been running west to Big Springs, as far as Toyah after Oct. 1. This change will give two passenger trains each way as far west as Toyah daily. It is rumored a third train may be put on to run as far west as Big Springs.

Changing Roadbed Special to The Telegram.

HEREFORD, Texas, Sept. 27.—Roadmaster J. H. Stinson of the Pecos Valley lines of the Santa Fe is here to inspect the big grade being constructed across the Sierra Blanca, just west of Hereford. The roadbed is being changed to a new grade at this point to avoid a sharp curve and heavy grades on both sides of the river. The work is progressing satisfactorily and will soon be completed.

Railroad From Bonham Special to The Telegram.

BONHAM, Texas, Sept. 27.—For some time there has been talk of a railroad from this city down Red river, and the report is that the line will be built to Arthur City. Surveys will be made in a few days, and it is reported that work of actual construction will soon be in progress. Such a line would penetrate one of the finest agricultural sections in the state.

Surveying to Brenham Special to The Telegram.

TAYLOR, Texas, Sept. 27.—Reports from the surveying party engaged in running the proposed line of railway from Taylor to Houston, via Brenham, are to the effect that the engineers have reached the Washington county line beyond Ding Doox, in Lee county, and will finish the survey into Brenham this week. Colonel R. M. Hoxie, the promoter of the enterprise, will then call a meeting of the central or executive committee, for the purpose of hearing the engineer's report and applying for a charter for the road.

Santa Fe Laying Track Special to The Telegram.

TULLA, Texas, Sept. 27.—Track laying on the extension of the Santa Fe from Canyon City to this point is progressing smoothly, and will be finished in a few days. The engine pulling the construction train was derailed a few days ago, and this brought about several days delay in operations, but the difficulty has been overcome and the work resumed. Stockmen have been informed by officials of the road that they would be ready to receive shipments of live stock from Tulla on Oct. 15, and coal will be shipped in before that date. From Tulla to Ploverview the track has been laid with great rapidity, as there are no big streams to cross and few obstacles to be met and overcome.

Rumors About Texas Central Special to The Telegram.

STAMFORD, Texas, Sept. 27.—There is a revival here of the old rumor that the Santa Fe is about to acquire possession of the Texas Central. There is a report rife that the Santa Fe will either own or control the Central within the next ninety days, and it can be traced directly to Central officials. The cancelling of contracts recently made with Abilene and other west Texas towns for an extension of the Santa Fe north from Brownwood, is believed to be responsible for the new rumors that are in circulation. The Central is now extending its tracks into this city, and it is believed if the

COFFEE WAS IT

People Slowly Learn the Facts.

"All my life I have been such a slave to coffee that the very aroma of it was enough to set my nerves quivering."

"I kept gradually losing my health but I used to say 'nonsense,' it don't hurt me. Slowly I was forced to admit the truth and the final result was that my whole nervous force was shattered."

"My heart became weak and uncertain in its action and that frightened me. Finally my physician told me about a year ago that I must stop drinking coffee or I could never expect to be well again."

"I was in despair, for the very thought of the medicines I had tried set me to weeping. I found Postum as a trial. So I got a package and carefully followed the directions, and what a delicious, nourishing, rich drink it was. Do you know I found it very easy to shift from the coffee to Postum and not mind the change at all. Almost immediately after I made the change I found myself better and as the days went by I kept on improving. My nerves grew sound and steady, I slept well and felt strong, and well balanced all the time. Now I am completely cured, with the old nervousness and sickness all gone. In every way I am well once more." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

It pays to give up the drink that acts on some like a poison, for health is the greatest fortune one can have. There's a reason.

Interurban to Sherman Special to The Telegram.

SHERMAN, Texas, Sept. 27.—Work was completed on the construction of the sixty-four miles of interurban track to connect this city with Dallas by the first of October. Several hundred men and teams will be put into the field and the project will be hastened as fast as men and material can be secured. The interurban will almost parallel the Houston and Texas Central, a half to three-quarters of a mile west of that road. It is proposed to have the line completed and in operation within one year.

Santa Fe Cut-Off Special to The Telegram.

EL PASO, Texas, Sept. 27.—A new piece of track recently completed in New Mexico is of more than temporary interest to the people of Texas, as it bears directly on the Santa Fe's Galveston cut-off. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe will just completed the gap between Sunnyside, on the Pecos river, and Vaughan, on the El Paso and Northeastern, a distance of about 270 miles. The track will be used by the freight trains, which are now being diverted to it. The Santa Fe is now ready to construct this new track to Galveston cut-off from New Mexico to Brownwood, a distance of 310 miles, and which is to be built in the very near future. The road completed the distance from San Francisco to Galveston will be 1,820 miles, against 2,133 via the Southern Pacific.

Abilene and Northern Work Special to The Telegram.

ABILENE, Texas, Sept. 27.—The Abilene and Northern railroad is preparing to be busy with temporary crossing will be made by the new road until the rush of fall business is over, and the first of the year the Texas and Pacific will raise its tracks the required thirteen feet and a permanent underground crossing of stone and cement will be put in. The road has arranged to begin work from this city. All the material necessary is ready on the ground for the northern end of the line and the rest will be hauled here over the Texas and Pacific. The road will be built out two or three miles within the next thirty days, and the construction train will then be brought to Abilene and placed regularly in commission. The Wichita Valley will be completed to Stamford by Oct. 1, and all energies will then be concentrated on construction between this city and Stamford.

Abilene Not Convinced Special to The Telegram.

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Sept. 27.—When Chief Engineer W. B. Storey of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe was here a day or two ago and gave out the information that the Galveston cut-off was abandoned, which confirmed the report sent out from Abilene a few days ago, our people were very much disappointed, as they believed the road would certainly be built either from Brownwood or Coleman. Now that the announcement is made that the road will not be built, our people look upon it as a big bluff, or just the way a railroad has of doing things. It seems a little strange that the Santa Fe would spend thousands of dollars on the survey and have actually located the road out of this place for a number of miles and then drop it. The building of the road has actually begun at several places toward the other end, and it is impossible for the people of Brownwood to regard it as a dead proposition. There is something of a belief that our people will soon receive a new proposition and the road will be built out of this city.

Survey to Lubbock Special to The Telegram.

LIEBKOW, Texas, Sept. 27.—Colonel Ransom, promoter of the proposed line of railway from Hereford to San Angelo, has been operating in this section of the country with a corps of surveyors, engaged in running preliminary line between those points. The party has gone on down the line, and expects to go through the towns of Tahoka and Lamesa, crossing the Texas and Pacific at Stanton, and thence to San Angelo. This is the second time the surveying has been made through Lubbock during the past two weeks, the first one running east and west, thus making Lubbock the crossing point.

Contract Signed Special to The Telegram.

FLOYDADA, Texas, Sept. 27.—The contract of the Floydada committee with the Santa Fe Railway Company has been signed and returned to the company. The company agrees to have its railway in operation through the county not later than Jan. 1, 1908, and no bonus is required except right of way and depot grounds. The company will complete the grade here within four months after the right of way has been secured. This insures the long expected railway connection, and our people are jubilant over the prospects and real estate of all kinds is booming.

Fight on Two-Cent Rate Special to The Telegram.

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 27.—Passenger officials are anticipating a fight on their hands in Texas with the next legislature on a general flat two-cent passenger rate for the entire state. Traffic men do not think the time ripe for such a cut in Texas and will do all possible to prevent it. Whatever cutting off there may be in free transportation would by no means compensate for the loss that would accrue from the proposed reduction in passenger receipts. A leading transportation official says:

"Were it likely that those who have been riding on free transportation would do as much traveling on paid tickets in the future such would still not swell passenger receipts enough for the roads to stand a two-cent rate in Texas. Those who have been getting free transportation and doing lots of traveling, should they be entirely cut off, would stay at home. They would not be so bright as to pay for their train passes. While the roads might save in economizing space on their trains by elimination of the free pass, bright as they are, they would not be greatly augmented."

CUT TO PIECES BY LAWN MOWER

Boy Actually Sliced by Fast Moving Blades

Special to The Telegram.
MUSKOGEE, I. T., Sept. 27.—Word was brought to this city today from Ficher Town, in the Cherokee Nation, that James, aged 9, and Sylvester, aged 10, sons of R. E. Getter, a farmer of that place, were playing with a lawn mower which he had just brought home. James, the younger of the two boys, sat down on the "rug" of the machine, which had been reversed when Sylvester gave the machine a sudden jerk.
 The blades of the machine literally began slashing the younger boy into pieces, one of the blades becoming imbedded into the flesh so deeply that it required the efforts of both the father and mother to remove it.

DIES AT 92 YEARS
Bell County Citizen Nearly Reaches Century Mark

Special to The Telegram.
BELTON, Texas, Sept. 27.—Yesterday morning above Nolanville, this county, occurred the funeral of Anderson Sutton, the oldest citizen in Bell county, 92 years old. He was born in Tennessee July 19, 1814, and moved to this county in 1851, having lived here ever since. Recently he celebrated a birthday anniversary at the home of his son Jesse, near No-lanville, at which 115 descendants were present, including sons, daughters, grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Other age records in his family at the time of their deaths were 107, 104, 112 and 90 years.

THE BREATH OF LIFE.
 It's a significant fact that the strongest animal of its size, the gorilla, also has the largest lungs. Powerful lungs means powerful creatures. How to keep the breathing organs right should be man's chiefest study. Like thousands of others, Mrs. Ora A.
 Stephens of Port Williams, O., has learned how to do this. She writes:
 "Three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery stopped my cough of two years and cured me of what my friends thought consumption. O, it's grand for throat and lung troubles." Guaranteed by James Walkup, Holland's Red Cross Pharmacy, Renfro Drug Co.,

FAMOUS DONKEY GOES OVER "THE DIVIDE"

Special to The Telegram.
SPOKANE, WASH., Sept. 21.—A marble shaft costing $250 is to be erected on the grave of "Bill," the only donkey in the world who was part owner in a gold mine worth $10,000,000, which he discovered himself.
 In the spring of 1884 gold was discovered on the Coeur d'Alene river in North Idaho. In the fall of the next year S. Kellogg, a veteran prospector, took "Bill" to camp at Murray and exhibited specimens of ore to Cooper & Peck of Spokane, his grubstakers, who pronounced them worthless. He then showed his specimens to Phil O'Rourke, who declared the ore to be of great value. Kellogg and O'Rourke were grubstaked by Goetz & Bauer of Spokane, but had not the money with which to purchase a pack mule, and left camp with their packs on their backs.
 The second day out of camp they came upon "Bill" straying about the hills laden with provisions and implements. They transferred their own equipment to "Bill" and then tramped on until they went into camp on Milo creek, three miles from the south fork of the Coeur d'Alene river.
 The donkey wandered away and O'Rourke went in search of it. He found it browsing on a hillside, where it had pawed up the moss, uncovering silver and lead ore. O'Rourke immediately staked out "Bunker Hill" claim.
 Cooper & Peck, the original owners of the donkey, on learning that it was through "Bill" that the mine had been found, put in a claim under the grub-staking law for an interest in the claim.
 The case was taken into court,
 where Judge Corman Buck rendered
 the following unique decision:
 "From the evidence of witnesses, the court is of the opinion that the Bunker Hill mine was discovered by the jacks, Phil O'Rourke and N. S.
 Kellogg, and, as the jacks was the property of plaintiffs, Cooper & Peck, they are entitled to a half interest in the Bunker Hill and a quarter interest in the Sullivan claims."
 In the case of the "Sullivan" claim

CALLS FOR TROOPS
Mexican Town Sends in Request to Hurry Soldiers

Special to The Telegram.
MONTEREY, Mexico, Sept. 27.—At an early hour this morning it is impossible to learn the cause for the call for troops at C. P. Diaz.
 It is known that the call was sent to General Blazquez at Saltillo. A request was made for a special train, but upon learning that the only available cars were box cars for the horses and coal cars for the men the general decided to remain over until 7 a. m.
 when the troops will leave on the northbound passenger train, arriving here about 9 a. m.
 The international trains are running according to schedule out of C. P.
 Diaz, so it is surmised that there is no strike difficulty; such a body of troops would not be called out to cope with a smuggling gang, therefore in the absence of any details the officials at C. P. Diaz refusing to have anything whatever to say as to the reason for calling out of the troops, no definite news is obtainable at this hour.

Incorporation to Be Discussed in Rosen Heights

President Gregory of the Citizens' League has issued a call to the people of Rosen Heights to meet at the school house Friday night, for the purpose of further considering the question of incorporation. At the meeting last Monday night several committees were appointed, among them being a committee to circulate a petition among the voters asking that an election be ordered. It is expected that this committee will make a report at the meeting Friday night, and other important matters will be considered. It is desired that a full attendance of the citizens be present.

Dr. Love has gone to Mabank on professional business.

The citizens are still talking electric lights and a school building. The plan proposed to construct a joint electric light plant with Polytechnic Heights is being considered. It is expected that active steps will be taken soon.

Patrons of the Arlington Heights public schools report that the school is starting out the year with the promise of a most successful year's work. The school is in charge of Miss Mollie Childress and Miss Anna Duke. The attendance is large and the enrollment is gradually increasing. Every body interested in the school is cooperating with the teachers, and are well pleased with the progress that is being made.

While being backed up by a switch engine, two empty box cars were derailed on the North Fort Worth Belt Line Wednesday afternoon. They went over an embankment and were considerably smashed up.

Robert Saunders has purchased a neat cottage home a few miles north of town.

Wanted—Second-hand furniture. Highest cash prices paid. Nash Furniture Company. New phone 627. Phone 1487, William Cameron & Co., North Ft. Worth, for prices on lumber.

The rain is interfering with the meeting at the tent of the First Baptist church. The services have been well attended, and considerable interest manifested in the meeting. The meeting is being conducted by the pastor, Rev. T. H. Sturges.

J. A. Baker and Mrs. Bertha McEntyre of Grapevine, Texas, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon in the office of County Clerk E. C. Rogers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. C. Sibley, deputy county clerk, and witnessed by but a few friends of the couple.

K. Rasler, formerly of Fort Worth, residing at Annie street and New York avenue, is reported critically ill at his home in Galveston.

Mrs. E. Leonard will leave this week for Austin, to join her husband in their new home. Mr. Leonard is telegraph operator in the office of the Associated Press.

Mrs. Plutt of Decatur is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Clyde Helm, on Diamond Hill.

GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE was the greatest general the world has ever known. Ballard's Snow Liniment is the greatest Liniment. Quickly cures all pains. It is within the reach of all. T. H. Pointer, Hempstead, Texas, writes: "This is to certify that Ballard's Snow Liniment has been used in my household for years and has been found to be an excellent Liniment for Rheumatic pains. I am never without it." Sold by Covey & Martin.

FRISCO EARNINGS SHOW LARGE GAIN

Prosperity of Southwest Largely Responsible

The tenth annual report of the Frisco system, for the year ending June 30 last, is a good one for the stockholders, for the gross and net earnings have increased in the face of large expenditures for betterments, and especially for terminals found necessary because of the increased business.

One of the largest expenditures in the latter account is that incurred at North St. Louis, where in conjunction with the Rock Island, nearly $750,000 has been expended and more money is yet needed. The new terminals will be in use by Oct. 1.

The industrial department reports the establishment of 361 new manufacturing plants on the line of the road, costing over $9,000,000, and employing over 193,000 men.

The almost unexampled prosperity of the southwest during the year gets the credit for the improved business of the Frisco. Some of the figures of the report follow:

Gross earnings (increase $2,088,416.80, or 10.7 per cent), $32,948,656.55; operating expenses (increase $1,248,516.27, or 6.5 per cent), $20,545,533.12; net earnings (increase $859,900.53, or 7.9 per cent), $11,901,123.44; other income, $1,632,659.89; total income, $13,133,783.33; taxes, $943,559.23; interest, rentals and other fixed charges, $8,881,088.47; total, $10,934,647.79; net income, after providing for all charges, being equal to 4 per cent on the first and second preferred stock ($21,000,000) and 5.06 per cent on the common stock ($29,000,000), $2,309,135.63; dividends paid, 4 per cent on first preferred and 2 per cent on second preferred stock, $3,174,212; balance or surplus carried to profit and loss (increase $1,605,007.29), $1,789,193.51; average mileage operated, 5,068 miles.

Including the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, the Frisco gross earnings amounted to $41,375,219.22; operating expenses, $27,116,022.07; net earnings, $14,859,197.15; total net income, $15,858,149.86; taxes, interest and dividends, $13,354,181.96; surplus carried to profit and loss, $1,827,058.78, an increase of $1,722,965.14 over the previous year.

TRAIN AGENTS TO QUIT

Sunset Lines Find Experiment Proves a Failure

After an exhaustive trial the train agents, who are supposed to relieve the conductors of all responsibility in the matter of passing on the regularity of tickets, are to be retired from the service of the Sunset and the change will be made by Oct. 1, in some instances, and in all by the first of the coming year. In practice over-zealous train agents have taken up tickets which were good and that caused trouble. The conductors regarded the presence of the agents as the presence of spies and that was not conducive to the feeling between the conductors and the train agents. Anyway the experiment is a failure and it is to end.

Day Laborers are Being Offered, It is Reported, $2 per Day for Work on the Main Line of the Trinity and Brazos Valley between Teague and Fort Worth

A survey is being run for the extension of the Mexican National via the Hidalgo and Northeastern, to Tucson on the Gulf coast. A drop of 5,000 feet from the high ground to the coast is necessary and therefore the engineering difficulties are great.

The Frisco is complaining of a shortage of crews on the runs between Fort Worth and Sherman, Hugo and Sapulpa.

Master Switchman F. T. Hawley, now in Texas, says that unless the demands of the switchmen for shorter hours of work and longer pay, are conceded there will be a record-breaking strike. Under contract the switchmen must give thirty days' notice of a demand for change in time of pay and that has been done in many cases or may be most cases. The demand is now for an eight-hour day instead of a ten-hour day and for graduated pay as follows: $8c and 42c per hour instead of 28, 30, 31 and 33 cents per hour. A committee appointed to meet and consult with the officials of the railroads in charge Thursday.

DELAY PROVES COSTLY

Judge Dismisses Case When Prosecution Fails to Appear

SAN MARCOS, Sept. 27.—District Judge Moore created a sensation among the lawyers here this morning when he dismissed a large damage suit against a railroad company for want of prosecution. The counsel for the plaintiff was tardy in appearing in the court room and Judge Moore, after waiting a while, announced the dismissal of the case. Quick action on the part of the late lawyer's friends induced Judge Moore to recall the case. He then proceeded to lecture all concerned, jury as well as attorney, on the importance of being on time in the court room, saying that it would cost the jurymen $5 a minute if they were late.

NEW ROAD TO BE BUILT

ATKIN, Texas, Sept. 27.—The attorney general today approved the charter of the Wichita Falls and Northern railway, at Wichita Falls, with a capital of $20,000. It is proposed to construct a line from Wichita Falls to Lawton, Okla., a distance of twenty miles. This is a Frisco proposition.

LETTER TO JIM C. WALTON

Dear Sir: You know, diamonds don't go by size. So with paint. We make paint, one gallon of which goes as far as two of another. You know it is true in diamonds; they don't go by the gallon, do they? If you're going to paint your house, you go first to your painter and say: "I'm going to paint your house, do you want the job?" and what'll it cost? If he happens to know, he'll say: "Depends on the paint. I can do it for somewhere about $100 or $200, whichever you like; $100 will make good job; $200 a poor one."

BUILDING NOT FOUND

Overcrowded Condition of School Not Yet Relieved

F. P. Hopkins, who was appointed at a recent meeting of the North Fort Worth school board to secure a suitable building for the overflow of pupils at the present building, reports that no definite arrangement has yet been made. Mr. Hopkins will continue his quest until he is successful in finding a suitable building.

It is imperative that something be done at once, as the overcrowded condition of the school is greatly hampering the school work, and conditions are presenting a rather hard proposition.

RINGLING SHOW COMING

Will Exhibit in Fort Worth in Two Weeks

Thursday, Oct. 11, is Ringling Brothers' circus day. The greatest show in the world will bring its wonders to us at last. For weeks circus has been in the air, and now the dream of day and night is to be realized. The eighty-five cars used to carry the immense aggregation will draw in here early Thursday morning, and it needs no prophet to foretell the crowds that will greet the splendid caravan.

This year the Ringling Brothers' great shows are almost twice as big as ever before, and that fact makes comparison with any other show impossible, and indicates tremendous size. The great tent will seat comfortably 14,000 people, and the menagerie canvas is the largest ever made, furnishing commodious room for the arrangement of 108 cages, lairs, dens and tanks. There are 650 horses with the huge shows, more than 200 of which are bred in the purple and highly educated. The zoological collection is incomparably the rarest in existence. It exhibits three giraffes, the last of their tribe; the only rhinoceros in captivity and the greatest herd of elephants in the world, forty in number. Twenty of these bulky beasts perform amazing tricks in the rings. This is the most instructive exhibition of animal training ever accomplished.

The pick and flower of the circus profession in Europe and America appear in the extraordinary ring program. Many of the acrobats, gymnasts, equestrians, riders, equilibrist, jugglers, athletes, contortionists, dancers, wire artists and myriad other feature performers are introduced by the Ringling Brothers in this country for the first time. The progressive policy of this famous amusement firm is illustrated this year in the production of a massively ornate and magnificently costumed spectacle, "The Field of the Cloth of Gold." Twelve hundred characters, more than twice the number ever used in a spectacle before, are to the east, and a ballet of 500 beauties and singing chorus of 200 add to the delightful charm of the enchanting scenes.

Twenty-five hundred delicately fashioned and classically correct costumes are worn in the varied and thrilling action, and the stage is larger than the combined stages of 100 theaters. A selected band of fifty soloists renders the specially composed music.
