The whole sketch is an ingenious appeal to the sympathies of the audience ,and it gets a generous response. One of its strongest features is its simplicity. There is a dangerous approach to a problem of feelings when the situa-tion of a girl's exposing her father as a murderer to save her lover, is developed, but the author has skillfully avoided the danger by having the girl explain that her father is insane and committed the murder while "he was nutty."

There is material in "The Counsel for the Defense" from which a four. act drama might be written, but it would be hard work getting an adequate sustaining company for the Robyn's. They are in a class by themselves.

FOR SALVATION Ten Reasons Why the Un. saved Procrastinate

Rev. Joe English of Dallas preached a strong sermon at the Glenwood Baptist church Tuesday night, taking for his theme, "The Price of Delay or Procrastination." The preacher in following up this theme, gave the answer to ten reasons why some people do not turn from their sinful ways. He said in part:

"When we look upon an old-man in sin and know that he has but a few more days at most, we shudder and say, "Well, why don't the old man turn from his sins?" "We look upon a strong man in the meridian of life; we see the influence he exerts in the community; we behold his children walking in his footsteps and know that he is leading them astray, and we ask ourselves, 'Why does the man continue in sin?' "We look upon a young man with all the power and freshness of youth; with life's largest possibilities before him; we think how desirable that he should become a Christian and make the most of his powers to lift up and bless the world, 'Why does he delay?' "We look upon the child and think how good to begin life without a stain. To save an old man from sin is to save a soul from death; to save a child from sin seems to save a soul, plus a life of usefulness. God's invitation is always in the present tense-come now. Everyone expects some day to get right with God. I ask you, 'What are you waiting for?" "One man says 'I'm waiting till I am convinced.' Convinced of what? That you are a sinner and need salvation? Listen to the voice of your conscience. Does not its very smitings reprove you of sin? You know within yourself, my friend, that you have not kept the just and holy law of God. David said, 'I thought on my way, and turned my feet unto thy testimonies. I may haste and delayed not to keep thy commandments.' The Bible declares all men under sin, for 'there is not a just man on earth that doeth, good and sinneth not.' "The second man says 'I am waiting till I enjoy this world enough.' Jesus answers this objection by saying: 'What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" He that has the world, and not Christ, is poor indeed; and he that hath Christ, the none of the world, is rich indeed. "The third man says 'I am waiting for my friends.' 'He that loveth father and mother more than Me is not worthy of Me.' Turning to God is a personal and an individual matter. You do not need to be concerned about what others do. 'What is that to thee;

follow thou Me.' "The fourth says: 'I am waiting till the Christians are more consistent.' Every one of us shall give an account of himself to God. It is regrettable that there are so many faulty over whom the lost may stumble. But Mr. Wilson is a born actor of una man is not wise who falls over a deniable ability. He is favored with stumbling block that he sees. Better a fine stage presence, a magnetic mango around it, over it, or move it out of ner and an intelligent and expressive face that can at one moment depict the way. "The fifth says, I am waiting till touching pathos and at the next conthere is not so much to give up.' My vulse his auditors with heartiest friend, you have only your sins to give laughter. He also possesses the gift up. You are asked to give up darkness of a singing voice of remarkable power for light, to exchange death for life. To give up sin and accept this rightscribed by Mr. George P. Goodale, the eousness, you have only to give up celebrated dramatic critic of the Detroit Free Press. Mr. Goodale writes:

that which is injurious to you and take that which is a blessing. "The sixth says, 'I am waiting till I am better.' The business of Jesus Christ is to make you better. Come to him just like you are. If you seek to make yourself better you fail to se-cure the favor of God. "Another says, 'I am waiting for feeling. I would like to be a Christian, but I don't feel like it.' Who told you to feel like it? The Gospel is silent on that question. God says, 'Turn, ye, for why will ye die? Trust yourself to God and let your feelings take care of themselves.

"Number eight says, 'I am waiting till I am sure I can hold out.' Then you will never come. Until you do come to Christ, you will have nothing to hold out. Besides, the Lord has not taxed you with that responsibility. His Gospel to you is 'Let go, trust.' He will do the holding out, saying, 'Fear not, I am with thee.' 'I will hold thee with My right hand, and will give thee eternal life.'

"The ninth one says, 'I am waiting for God's time.' Then you are coming home tonight. For this is God's time. 'Come now, and let us reason together.' 'Today if ye will hear His name, harden not your heart.'

"The tenth says, 'I am waiting till I die.' Psalms xxix, 1, 'He that being often reproved and hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be cut off, and that without remedy. 'Too late, too late,' has been the cry of millions when they came to die."

INDIANS TO MEXICO

Being Crowded Further South, They Say

"The Indian is being crowded out of his country," said White Bread, chief of the Caddos, Wednesday, "and many of the different tribes will go to Mexico where there is more room.'

White Bread talked to a Telegram reporter thru R. W. Dunlap, a half breed Caddo, who acted as interpreter for a small party of Indians who were in Fort Worth on their way to Mexico. In the party were White Bread, chief of the Caddos; Spy Buck, chief of the Delawares; Earl Purdy, a Caddo; Joe Wneeler, Caddo, and R. W. Dunlap, Caddo, and interpreter.

"The Mexican government," said Dunlap, who speaks good English, "offers cheap lands to the Indians, and he surroundings there pleasant to my people than in the United States. The Indian can see his end in the territory and will get out as soon as possible. We are going to Mexico to look after lands for our people, and if the lands are such as are wanted there will be a general movement of members of the Civilized Tribes from the Indian Territory. The ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 17 .- After investigating the killing of Mile. Semonivia, the young Russian girl confined in the central prison of St. Petersburg, who was shot and killed by a sentry September 10 when she showed herself at the window of her cell overlooking the courtyard, the commander of the garrison in an order has thanked the soldier who killed the girl and has given him a reward of $5. In addition, the soldier who helenges to the Semothe soldier, who belongs to the Semo-niavski regiment, is upheld in the order of the day as an example to his comrades of the faithful performance of duty.

GETS FIVE DOLLARS

The testimony of the prisoners held in the central detention prison and that of the witnesses in behalf of the military authorities differ greatly. The prisoners claimed that the sentry fired without warning or provocation, while the sentry said that he ordered the girl to leave the window, where she and some of her companions were taunting members of the Semonlavski regiment with the part they had taken in the suppression of the revolt at Moscow. The authorities are threatening to close the universities of St. Petersburg and Kiev as well as the university at Moscow, because of the holding of revolutionary meetings in the buildings and the participation of nonstudents in the meetings. The educational councils have appealed to the students for the sake of the academic life of Russia to refrain from permitting such illegal gatherings.

INTERESTING CONTEST Heavy Cost of Unpaid Postage

One of the most curious contests ever before the public was conducted by many thousand persons under the offer of the Postum Cereal Co., Lud., of Battle Creek, Mich., for prizes of 31 boxes of gold and 300 greenbacks to those making the most words out of the letters Y-I-O-Grape-Nuts. The contest was started in February, 1906, and it was awranged to have the prizes awarded on April 39, 1906. When the public announcement appeared many persons began to form the words from these letters, sometimes the whole family being occupied evenings, a combination of amusement and education. After a while the lists began to come in to the Postum Office and before long the volume grew until it required wagons to carry the mail. Many of the contestants were thoughtless enough to send their lists with insufficient postage and for a period it cost the Company from twenty-five to fifty-eight and sixty dollars a day to pay the unpaid postage. Young ladies, generally those who had graduated from the high school, were employed to examine these lists and count the correct words. Webster's Dictionary was the standard and each list was very carefully corrected except those which fell below 8,000, for it soon became clear that nothing below that could win. Some of the lists required the work of a young lady for a solid week on each individual list. The work was done very carefully and accurately, but the Company had no idea, at the time the offer was made, that the people would respond so generally and they were compelled to fill every available space in the offices with these young lady examiners, and notwithstanding they worked steadily, it was impossible to complete the examination until Sept. 29, over six months after the prizes should have been awarded. This delay caused a great many inquiries and naturally created some dissatisfaction. It has been thought best to make this report in practically all the newspapers in the United States and many of the magazines in order to make clear to the people the conditions wrong medicine was administered by trained nurses, and a few cases where medicine intended for inhalation was swallowed, and in practically every case the carelessness of some one was responsible for the injury done. A strong movement has been started to secure publicity for the information included in the tabulation, in the hope that, by having their attention called to the great number of accidents that occur annually, parents will exercise greater care in keeping medicine and poisons out of the reach of children and also in taking medicine themselves, or administering it to others without being absolutely sure that they have the right medicine and are taking, or administering, the correct quantity, Certainly, this exhibit of the misuse of medicines should be sufficient to cause more care to be exercised in the future. Accidents cannot always be avoided, but many of them can be averted by the exercise of the proper forethought and intelligence on the part of the people.

GRAND ARMY MEN FIGHTING LYON

While Chairman Cecil Lyon, of the reghlar wing of the Republican party in Texas, is doing his level best to eliminate the negro and build up his party in respectability, incidentally maintaining his own grip on the plum tree, many of the Grand Army members of the state have cast their lot with the re-organized wing of the party and are making a warm fight on Lyon. At a meeting of the state executive committee of the Republican party held in San Antonio last May.

Chairman Lyon is alleged to have spoken sneeringly of the Grand Army men as "brevets" and since that time the old soldiers have been camping pretty closely on Chairman Lyon's trail. John H. Bolton, of San Antonio, is a Grand Army man, and also county chairman of the Republican party. Bolton recently received a communication from Chairman Lyon and gives out the following open letter in reply to the chairman's communication:

mittee, Sherman, Texas:

Since 1880, after a service of twenty years in the United States army, I have been a consistent Republican, never voted any other ticket, always believed in straight goods, have been honored by my Republican friends, in convention, unanimously, as their county chairman; have always tried to work in harmony with the party and should now be on the side of the socalled regulars, but for your gratuitous and uncalled for insult to my comrades and myself. When a gentleman, honored as you have been by the Republican party of this state, as no other has been honored before, can in a public meeting, over which you presided in this city. grossly and brutally insult us, the soldiers of the Grand Army of the Republic, by calling us crooks and disappointed officeholders an sarcastically dubbing us "the brevets," you forfeited the respect and fidelity you night have exacted, from every man, who was an honorable soldier in the war of the rebellion, that has any mannood left in him. As my comrade Dr. Whittaker. stated in his comment upon your unmanly talk, which as you stated was abridged on account of parliamentary rules, "we fought men with brainy heads and brave hearts," we are too old and too true to our colors to have anything to do with such who will designedly insult us: who forgot that the man who begat them wore the same uniform and served under the same flag with us. I can forgive a blow, but not a premeditated insult. Very respectfully, nlend a Havana theater upon the gover profit of $200,000, Palma discovered he had been beaten in one of the cattle deals, and to get even frustrated the theater deal.

This caused open enmity between the two men and according to the story, Silveira immediately began to plot revolution, in order to overthrow the Palma government. He seems to have succeeded admirably in his undertakings, but at the same time he has himself gone down in the crash and become a fugitive from justice. The intervention of the United States placed him in such a position that he had to proceed to make himself scarce, and he did this with a celerity that must win unqualified admiration.

It is pretty tough on this nation to have to spend a few more millions on Cuba in the settlement of a reity quarrel between individuals, but it is a condition that will have to be endured just as long as Cuba is the ward of this nation. There will be other Silveiras that will make themselves felt in the future.

The death of Rev. Sam P. Jones removes from the scene of his usefulness one of the most unique characters of the present day. He was a man who unquestionably did much good in the world, and whatever may have been his faults they were more than balanced by the real good accomplished. Many who did not admire his methods were forced to admit that his work was very effective. Sam P. Jones, the great Georgia evangelist, will be sadly missed for many years yet to come in the great work of the Master.

The New York state Republican committee is making serious complaint of the shortage of campaign contributions, and it is a good omen of Democratic success. If the Republicans are short of cash they will not be able to buy the number of votes they will need in their business.

Since the day Grover Cleveland left the White House he has never been able to see anything good in the Democratic party. He has never voted for its candidates, except when there were no others to vote for. When he ceased to be the "It" of the party, he thought the party ought to give up the ghost. But it didn't .--Texarkana Courier.

It is a very common thing for men to imagine themselves greater than the Democratic party, and the result is always the same. The party survives and the individual hits the earth.

Most people will agree with Mr. Crane. He said in his Houston speech. "A public man belongs to his party and his people, and he has no right to encumber himself with employment which subjects him to suspicion." -Austin Tribune.

Crane enunciated some very sound democratic doctrine and his logic was simply unanswerable. For that reason no effort has been made to answer it.

ADDRESS OF S. H. COWAN AT FOREIGN TRADE CONVENTION

you.

President Powerless

But what can the President do? Absolutely nothing, except what the law will permit him to do; and the law does not permit him to change the tariff schedule. Now what you have to do is to get the law amended. Originally the law contained a section which permitted reductions on tariff duties as a consideration for favorable trade arrangements with foreign countries, but somebody got a limitation in point of time put in that section. Now, by lapse of time it is no longer the law. Who did that? Not you: Your representatives probably did not do it purposely, but they were asleep while it was being done. Now you want to demand such an amendment in the law as to do business and protect you in the avenues of trade for your product, you should not be sacrificed to pile up fortunes for the manufacturers as is the case today. Congress must amend the law. If it is amended, the people will have to instruct congress to do it, and you are the people, at least you represent a very large proportion of them. But it is certain that if the farmers who are directly interested in this matter throughout the country will demand it, congress will so amend this law that it will enable the President of the United States to offer as a consideration to foreign countries such a reduction in the tariff as will enable him to secure similar concessions to this country to open the avenues of trade in your products, while yet affording ample protection to every manufacturing industry in this country.

But someone says: "O, you are striking at a general tarff revision and that cannot be obtained." My answer is that we are not striking at a general tariff revision. We are not saying whether it ought or ought not to be done. But we are striking at exactly what we want, and that is such modifications of the law that this government can offer to those foreign countries favorable trade relations with us a consideration in the form of a reduction in such of the tariff schedules as is necessary to open their markets to us. and yet not deal unfairly with any of the interests in this country. We can at least go that far. We can plan our demands upon that proposition of it, for it was a part of the very tariff law under which we trade today, but has expired by limitation. That ought notmore to lay us open to the charge of advocating a general tariff revision than it would against those who framed and passed the Dingley act.

But it may be said that there is danger of this resulting in taking off the tariff on live stock and the products thereof and on hides as well. That is not involved in the proposition. There is no party advocating free trade; there is no party advocating anything approaching free trade, and it would be the deathknell of any party in this country to undertake to destroy that meager and small protective tariff of 15 per cent on hides and 20 per cent on wool and about the equivalent of 15 per cent on live stock, when manufactured articles enjoy a protection much higheroften three or four times that amount; so there is no danger of any political party in this country taking that position. The fact is that the necessities of government in the way of needed revenue make a tariff a necessity, and while it is going around it may be laid down as a proposition that cannot be controverted that farmers and stock raisers of this country are going to demand at least some small consideration. and that is as much as they have got on the tariff already existing on any of their products.

What we shall demand is equitable, fair treatment, and that means that we be given access to the markets of those countries which most need our products, if guaranty of the purity and wholesomeness product and the healthy conditions of our animals, which should remove all prejudices and fear of the quality of what we offer to sell. While the live sto interests may have suffered from the agitation and the effect may require time to repair the damage the net result must be to greatly stimulate our train where the channels of trade are open to us, as as to afford the better opportunity to extend that trade.

With a President whose aim is to so conduct and administer the affairs of this country that the great producing interests shall have a fair and equal opportunity to prosper and with a secretary of agric devoted to the special interests of the farmer and th stock raiser, with a congress which has been aroused to the point of protecting the unorganized part of the community against the oppression resulting to the public from the favor which the law offers to organized and special interests, monoplies and trusts There has never been a more opportune time for the stock raisers and farings to point out what they need and demand what they ought to have. It has been said by certain political leaders that the way to secure to us a favorable opportunity to sell our pro in certain foreign countries is to make our tariff an prohibitory as to exclude them from our market altogether, or at all events to make it so burdenso to produce a tariff war, which it is claimed must ult mately result in such a compromise as to open th avenues of trade in those countries to us. This but the prating of him who speaks for the manuf turing interests, monopolles and trusts, whose powe to exact from you as consumers exorbitant prof from a high tariff, seeks through this pretense favor to you, to make these profits still higher and continue that condition which, while it enriches him. makes you poorer and postpones the day of relies for

A Reasonable Tariff System

Unless there be established a system of reas minimum as well as maximum tariffs, by what power or means could such a compromise be made as an end of a tariff war. Manifestly it could never end until the law of this country empowers the Pres of the United States to make concessions in ret for concessions made to us. We could not e those countries after further commercial anim are aroused to grant all the concessions while we make none. If we make any the law must be pas which will authorize it.

We must not be led'astray by such specious arguments: we should do now, what we must do in the end if relief is ever obtained, viz: pass laws which will enable this country to give a conside ration for trade agreements which will afford us a fair op tunity to trade with those countries, and that in volves the principle of reciprocity, and it may men that maximum and minimum tariffs be established to be applied according as the best interest of this country shall seem to demand.

At all events, your demand in the concrete should be that congress so modify the tariff taws as to empower the President of the United States to negotiate reasonable and fair trade agreements which will give you access to the markets of the world for the produ of the ranch and the farm.

If, after that amendment to the raw, it is found that no such reasonable and fair trade agreements can be made, then and not till then, let us see what virtue there is in retaliation or tariff war.

I would place these facts and arguments clearly before the people of this country: I would lay the upon every farmer's breakfast table: I would ask every United States senator and congressman to give them careful consideration and urge the live stock and farming interests to demand at the hands of their own senators and representatives relief. I would have the entire live stock and farming interests as one man, petition congress for such amendment of the law and appeal to the President of the United States to urge them in his next message to act. No half-way effort should be made. A united effort will bring results. a feeble effort will fail. If every farmer and stock raiser in this country will make it known that he proposes to vote against every candidate or congress who does not agree to lend his aid to the accomplis ment of these objects, there will be no congressman from farming and stock raising districts who does not

ACCIDENTS FROM USE OF MEDICINE

An interesting compliation showing the number of persons killed or injured from the use and misuse of medicines and poisons has just been issued in Chicago. compiled from newspaper clippings, and the figures given are almost startling.

During twelve months from July 1, 1905, to July 1, 1906, 2.048 accidents resulted from the misuse of medicines and poisons, and of these accidents 892 were fatal. Carbolic acid figured in 456 cases, of which 186 were fatal, and holds the undisputed first place among drugs and medicines of a poisonous nature as an agent of injury and death. It was involved in 22.26 per cent of all the cases recorded, and 20.85 per cent of all deaths. It was the cause of ten times as many accidents and nine times as many deaths as all of the hundreds of patent medicines in use in this country against which such a great hue and cry is being raised in some quarters

Of the 2.048 accident, 1,162 or 56.92 per cent of the whole number resulted in carelessness in handling poisons of various kinds, ranging from carbolic acid. to shoe polisa. The remaining $86 accident resulted from the misuse of medicines.

The newspaper clippings on which this tabulation (which is the first of its kind covering a full year) was based, show a great variety of accidents resulting from carelessness in the handling and use of poisons and medicines. As already stated carbolic acid leads with 456 accidents and 186 deaths; morphine is charged with 193 cases and 143 deaths; laudanum with 135 cases and 56 deaths; strychnine tablets with 95 cases and 70 deaths; arsenic with 60 cases and 27 deaths: chloroform with 51 cases and 30 deaths, and all patent medicines with 49 cases and 21 deaths.

In no single case does it appear that medicine of any kind caused death or injury when taken in the prescribed doses. It was only when directions were disregarded, or the medicine left within the reach of children, or used by mistake that accidents resulted. Medicines and polsons left within the reach of children were the cause of a large proportion of the accidents. some of which were chargeable to articles of daily household use. For instance, 17 accidents and 7 deaths were caused by fly poison being left where bables could get it; 14 children drank kerosene, and a large number drank gasoline, and in 10 cases children swallowed turpentine. Washing powder, bluing, washing soda, benzine, printers' ink, ant poison, polishing fluid, picture gilding and mosquito poison all contributed their quota of victims.

One baby was killed by putting in its mouth a poultice that had fallen from a boll on its father's neck, and another, sitting on its father's lap, found in his pocket some strychnine tablets which it ate, while the father dozed, with fatal results. Lye in some form was responsible for 57 accidents, mostly to children, and was fatal in 16 cases. One prominent physician went to his medicine chest in the night to get a cough syrup for himself, and took carbolic acid instead; another ician took three times the regular dose of acetan-ing extracts injured eight persons, and several per-cons were injured because a cook mistook arsenic for

JOHN H. BOLTON. Texas Democrats are very much amused at the fight that is now going on in Republican ranks in Texas, which has already resulted in splitting that organization wide open. With the two wings united there are not enough Republicans in Texas to make the situation interesting, and when the party is engaged in the Kilkenny goat act it becomes too insignificant for even serious consideration

TEXAS FARM LANDS INCREASE IN VALUE

In the five years following the 1900 census, the farm lands of Texas increased 40 per cent in value. Expressed, in dollars and cents this means that the farm lands and farm equipment in Texas increased $3.38 per acre in five years for all medium farms. The greatest increase was for vegetable farms or truck gardens, which increased in value $11.69 per acre for the entire state; next came fruit farms, which increased $11.30 per acre; tobacco, $6.78 per acre; sugar, $5.51; rice, $5.83; dairying, $5.83; general farming, $5.32; cotton, $5.11; hay and grain, $4.88; live stock, $2.64.

From every section of the state comes the same kind of report as to the rapid enhancement of all land values. The appreciation is not confined to any portion of the state, but east, west, north and south, Texas land is rapidly getting up to prices that are tempting many landholders to sell, and as a result large bodies of land that have been held for years in solid tracts are being cut and sold in any size tracts desired from five acres up, and the country is settling rapidly.

It will be readily noticed that in the figures quoted. which come from Washington, the greatest increase in value is accorded the fruit and trucking lands, and this should afford considerable encouragement for those enterprising citizens of the state who are engaged in practicing the art of diversification. They are not only making good money out of the practice itself, but they are enhancing the value of their holdings with a great deal of rapidity.

The compilation of these figures, however, does not include the unprecedented enhancement that has come to the land values of west Texas, and the Panhandle country. In those two sections of the state it is only during the past year that land has jumped to the point where it is now almost soaring in the clouds as compared with its former station. Land that sold in those sections at the time of the last census for $2 and $3 per acre, are now selling daily at from $15 to $20, and when Washington gives out its next estimate of the enhancement of Texas land values it, will be compelled to give the state on the whole a much higher an be obtained by such reasonable reduction in existing schedules of tariffs on manufactured articles that they sell as will enable the establishment of trade relations between this country and those whereby our live stock and products of live stock will have the freest and most extensive trade possible.

To this suggestion that if prices of cattle or other animals are advanced the consumer will have to pay it. the first answer is that if we had a market for that class of product known as the poor cuts of beef and the cheaper products, so as to equalize the profit on the whole, a better price for cattle doesn't mean necessarily a higher price for beef. As it is, the principal profit must be made by both wholesaler and retailer on the more desirable portions, whereas the trade with the densely populated areas of Europe would furnish an butlet for the cheaper products. The second answer is that the stock raiser and farmer are entitled to share in the prosperity of the country and to make a fair profit out of his capital and his labor, and should not be subject to the disadvantage of having the avenues of trade closed to his products in order that highly protected industries may make all the profit. Today the stock raiser and farmer are working harder and make less out of it than any other class fo equal labor, skill and capital.

While it is true that the difficulty in reaching foreign markets has not been due altogether to retaliatory tariffs, but has in part been due to sanitary regulations, some retaliatory in character and others for protection of health, yet we now have a stringent inspection law, the enforcement of which should act as a Feeders in Big Demand Special to The Telegram.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Oct. 17 .-Cattle for fattening for the northern markets are now in big demand. From 21/2 to 3 cents gross is being offered for this class of cattle, with few sellers. Every season thousands of cattle are fattened at the various oil mills winter shipment to the northern for markets. They are placed in pens within easy distance of the oil mills and are fed on cotton seed meal and hulls. This puts them in prime condition for market in very short order. Probably 10,000 head are fed along the International and Great Northern railway, pens being located at New Braunfels, San Marcos, Kyle, Austin and Taylor for the purpose. Buyers are now in this section obtaining the best cattle available where they can induce the owners to sell. As the range is in fine condition, the majority of ranchmen prefer not to sell. It is said Mr. Terrell has purchased the land as an investment and it will be cut up into small tracts and sold to German settlers, who are very eager to buy. Mr. Linney, it is understood, will purchase pasture lands west of San Antonio, where he will continue to engage in the cattle business. Lands in that section are much cheaper than in the vicinity of Victoria and well adapted to the production of range cattle. The land purchased by Mr. Terrell is located on the railroad between this city and Cuero and is as fine a body of agricultural land as can be found in Southwest Texas. It has become entirely too valuable to be longer devoted to grazing purposes.

It came at a time when the committeeman were taking turns in telling the others how hard it was to arouse interest in their districts because of the attention which the voters were giving to gathering the cotton crop Hardly had it been read when J. M Edwards of Tyler was on his feet with a counter resolution, which he offered as a substitute for the one presented by Mr. Cabeen.

Mr. Edwards' resolution declared that democrats had at all times the right to "consider, discuss and criticise the records and conduct of their representatives in congress and other public servants." - It declared this right to be fundamental and essential to the welfare of the rank and file of the party and could not be "abridged or stifled" by the committee or its chairman. Continuing it asserted that by the nomination or indorsement of Senator Bailey for re-election democrats were not precluded from further considering whether they desired his re-election and making known their will. It was set forth as a belief that an effort to discourage such action would impair the democratic organization and its prestige. In conclusion executive session. This motion carried by a vote of 14 to 6, the roll being called Result of Roll Call The roll call showed the following result: For an executive session—First dis-trict, S. I. Robinson, committeeman, proxy held by R. E. L. Saner of Dal-las, who cast the vote; Third district, D. H. Cabeen; Fifth district, Harry Carpenter; Ninth district, J. C. Adams; Sixteenth district William Masterson; Sixteenth district, William Masterson; Seventeenth district, E. F. Harris, com-mitteeman, had left the room earlier in the session and given his proxy to Chairman Carden, who cast the vota in favor of an executive session; Eighteenth district, C. E. Lane; Twenty-first district, W. R. Palmer; Twen-ty-third district, Thomas W. Dodd, commiteeman, was absent, but had sent his proxy to State Chairman Carden, who cast it in favor of an ex-ecutive session; Twenty-fourth dis-trict, F. O. Davis; Twenty-seventh district, R. H. Underwood; Twenty-eighth district, W. P. Sebastian; Thir-tieth district, Q. T. Moreland; Thirty-first district, W. S. Jameson. Total, fourteen.

Those voting against an executive session were: Silas Hare Jr. of Fourth district; George A. Robertson of Sixth district; James M. Edwards of Seventh district; E. H. Carter of Eighth district; C. M. proxy were: Charles Duncan of the Second district; T. H. Royder of the Twelfth district; W. J. Townsend Jr. of Thirteenth district; W. E. Pope of Fourteenth district; Dr. J. M. Johnson of Nineteenth district; Dan S. Vhessher of Twentieth district; J. W. Flournoy of Twenty-second district; W. W. Turney of Twenty-fifth district, Thomas Bell of Twenty-sixth district, and Sterling Buster of Twenty-ninth district. Total, eleven.

Robertson's Protest

When the result was made known George A. Robertson of Dallas, speaking to a question of personal privilege, declared that the committee had no right to hold an executive session and that he did not propose to be bound to secrecy by any act of the committee. He declared that the people of his district had a right to know all that he said and did and that he proposed to inform them of the proceedings.

Mr. Robertson was frequently interrupted by others, who made points of order, and finally the executive session was declared to be in progress while he was still speaking. Mr. Robertson and those who fought with him claimed that the gag rule was applied when the doors were closed on the newspaper men. Both sides agree in the statement that the Edwards substitute was voted down and that the one presented by Mr. Cabeen was adopted. They also agree that after this was done the ban of secrecy was removed. Therefore there are plenty of statements as to what transpired. It is admitted that the session was the liveliest of the kind which has been held in Texas in many years.

The debate at times elicited a good deal of feeling, but nothing that would border on anger. They were earnest but not angry. "The original resolution as presented by Messrs, Cabeen, Wallace, Saner and Palmer was adopted by a vote of 12 to 6. The state chairman, inasmuch as his own attitude in the matter was involved in the resolution, refrained from voting the proxies held from Mr. Harris of Galveston and Mr. Dodd of Laredo.

The following committeemen attended the meeting: W. R. Palmer of San Marcos, W. S. Jameson of Montague, C. W. Smithdeal of Hillsboro, W. P. Sc-bastian of Breckenridge, E. H. Carter of Center, F. C. Season's Crop Will Bring in Seven Millions

Special to The Telegram.

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Oct. 17 .-A slow rain fell over Ellis county Sunday, and Monday was cloudy, but the wind changed to the north late in the afternoon and last night all the clouds disappeared. Cotton picking was resumed Tuesday and is being pushed rapidly in every section of the county. The gins of the county were so far behind with their work that it was impossible for them to catch up in one day. They were running day and night, and if fair weather continues this rush will not be over for several weeks. The farmers of Ellis county have a right to rejoice and be glad this year. Their corn and grain crops were good and the cotton crop of the county is something enormous. The Telegram correspondent's estimate of the crop of the county, made some time ago, was 120,000 bales, but later reports gathered from different sections of the county indicate a crop exceeding 140,-000 bales. At an average price of $50 per bale this would mean the realization of $7,000,000 from this crop alone.
