Worry for Republicans

Coming Elections Are Making Leaders Sit Up Nights

NEW YORK CENTER

Victory of Hearst Would Be Body Blow for Republicans. Other Doubtful States

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The "off year" elections will take place on the 6th of next month, and their result will be watched as indications of what is going to happen in the presidential fight of 1908. As the campaign for the "off year" goes the Presidency. That has come to be a political axiom. It is based on the unbroken history of the past sixteen years. Thus the state elections take on a national significance.

In New York New York's campaign has taken on importance for similar reasons. As the New York state election, which will be held in 1908, the large number of votes cast by New York in the electoral college (thirty-six), always has given the state importance in the election. The result of a Presidential campaign. It is likewise a fairly close state, vacillating between the two great parties. As the congress campaigns are watched in the "off year," so New York state is regarded as a sort of political barometer.

Consequently the entire country is watching the Hearst-Hughes fight. If Hearst wins he becomes the logical candidate for President on the Democratic ticket two years later. And by the "off year" tradition he should be the winning candidate—the next President.

The national Republican party leaders are worried about New York. They do not feel at all certain that Hearst will not win. On the other hand, they are not particularly disturbed about the congressional campaign. They expect the present large Republican majority of 114 to continue down to the next session of 1908. But they affect to find real pleasure in this reduction on the plea that the majority has been "unwisely" making it difficult to maintain party discipline. This is a pleasant way to look at the matter, and the leaders will in fact be quite content if they pull thru with a working majority.

So the "off year" elections may carry a good and a bad omen. The Republicans may win in congress and in New York.

Pennsylvania Shakeup
Second in point of interest to New York will be the result of the Pennsylvania elections. It is a fight between the remains of the old Quay faction of Democrats and reformers called "Lincoln Republicans" on the one hand, and the new party called "Republican" on the other. Quay Republicanism has had some rough usage during the past few years, and it has looked lately as if the Democratic-reform combination might carry the state. But the result is in doubt, and additional aid which the "regular" Republicans have received from President Roosevelt and the national administration as represented by Senator Knox and Attorney General Moody, both of whom have been ordered out to take the stump.

So even old rock-ribbed Republican Pennsylvania is shaky, and in at least one congressional district Democratic reform candidates will displace Republican members in the Sixtieth congress. And there may be more.

If New York and Pennsylvania are won by any of the Democratic reform candidates, the Democrats would certainly set up a shout that their time was at hand.

toltering candidates. Right from the start the voters have been told that Roosevelt and the last session of congress as a whole. Roosevelt and the last session, the points round the ring, the people the finest bunch of legislation that has ever come out of a congressional hopper. Then they enumerated the rate bill, the demerol alcohol bill, the Panama canal bill, and all the other bills which T. R. put thru under the lash.

And in order to drive these points home, the managers of the congress campaign have had all the big men of the party on the stump, beginning with Speaker Cannon. This has helped the congress campaign, and, as before intimated, there is not much doubt that the Republicans will skin thru with a decent majority for the house.

Why Roosevelt is Interested
To say that President Roosevelt is taking a lively interest in the New York campaign is a libel on his faculty for enthusiasm. Picture the small boy witnessing a schoolyard scrap—the small boy with the privilege of doing, yelling, guffawing, and only restrained by force from hurling himself into the melee—and that is Roosevelt looking at the political doings in his native state.

It need be no secret that T. R. has been pulling that political wire of New York state for many months past. He has put his own men in at the organization of state and legislature, and has made himself responsible for the reformation of his party in his state.

And that is one reason why he does not like to see a young newspaper publisher rise up and knock the whey out of his handiwork.

TRAIN ROBBERS FOILED
If Robbery Was Purpose Nothing Was Gained
Special to The Telegram.
TULSA, I. T., Oct. 30.—An attempt was made to wreck the Midland Valley passenger train at Pole Cat creek, eight miles east of Tulsa, last night by placing an obstruction on the bridge. The engine with four coaches left the rails and narrowly escaped going into the water. Two coaches turned over a few feet south of the bridge. Two men at the bridge at the time were pursued by federal officers, who were on the train a long while, but they escaped. Robbery is believed to have been the object.

A PARLIAMENT OF THEIR OWN
Filipino Representatives With Legislative Powers
By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The President is preparing to redeem his promise made to the Philippine Island people, thru Secretary Taft, that they shall have a parliament of their own, conditioned upon good behavior for a term of two years and it is understood Secretary Taft himself will proceed to the Philippines next spring to witness the installation of a new form of representative government.

March 27, 1905, when the Philippine census was published, and, consequently, two years from that day, March 27, 1907, under the terms of the act of congress, the President will direct the Philippine commission to call a general election for the election of delegates to what will be known as the Philippine assembly.

This body is to take over all legislative powers heretofore exercised by the Philippine commission, in all that part of the archipelago not inhabited by Moros or other non-Christian tribes. The new assembly of legislative representatives is to be known as the Philippine assembly, the latter to consist not of less than fifty nor more than one hundred members. The present commission will be merged in the upper house.

FRISCO'S MAYOR TO STAY ABROAD?
Rumor Says Eugene Schmitz Will Not Return
IN MUNICIPAL MUDGLE
Wholesale Charges of Graft Against Administration and Friends of the Labor Leader

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 30.—Many persons believe that Eugene E. Schmitz, union labor mayor, who is in Europe on a leave of absence, never will return. Like an army in battle array, the opposing forces are lined up in San Francisco and the fight is on for the control of the municipality.

The mayor and eighteen supervisors are the governing power here. It has been openly charged that this governing power is corrupt, and that it has grown rich upon the graft from special privileges and bribes from corporations.

It is alleged specifically that $200,000 was received from the United Railroads for the overhead trolley franchise, when the people favored the underground trolleys; that every theater in the city is forced to pay one-third of its gross receipts for a license to do business; that the saloons and resorts of questionable character pay enormous taxes that never reach the city treasurer, and that the proposed purchase of the Bay City Water Company for $10,000,000 has in it a graft of $3,000,000 for the powers that be.

Ruef Controls the City
Abraham Ruef, graduate of the University of California, lawyer of large practice and republican boss of San Francisco, is the power behind the scenes, and the attorney of Mayor Schmitz, the power behind the throne and the brains of the administration, is in actual control of the city.

Cars Which Plunged Into Mud Must Be Freed Before Bodies Can Be Recovered
By Associated Press.
ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 30.—With all the recovered bodies identified and seven persons reported missing, the authorities and railroad officials today are certain the number killed on Sunday in the drawbridge disaster on the West Jersey & Seashore Electric Railroad, will not exceed sixty.

Fifty-two bodies have been claimed, two of those placed among the missing are known to be dead and five are still unaccounted for. These seven victims are believed to be wedged beneath the second passenger coach, which is held fast in the muddy bottom of thoroughfare. The ponderous trucks weighing about 100 tons are sunk deep into the mud. As a last resort it is suggested that the wreckers use dynamite to blow up the car, but this will not be done unless all other plans fail.

BAILEY AT BROWNWOOD
Senator J. W. Bailey Heard by Large Audience
Special to The Telegram.
BROWNWOOD, Texas, Oct. 30.—About 1,000 people enthusiastically received Senator J. W. Bailey here Monday afternoon. The senator spoke over two hours, during which he made frequent allusion to the recent earthquake. Among other things he said: "But while some good men have been deceived into believing they have been beguiled into repeating slanders, I have no word of bitter censure for them. I am willing to argue the question with them. But for those men who deliberately and sedately planned this attack upon my personal and official integrity I have but one answer. The man who says I am an honest man must look me in the face and bear me tell him he is a liar and a slanderer."

A corporation that is a trust commits the highest crime that can be committed against sound commercial principles. A trust ought to be hung higher than Haman and they ought to put the man who is in prison. That is my theory; that is the only way you can successfully punish them. Why, when you fine these trust officers, you are not fine enough. You take the amount of it out of your pocket and repay themselves. You will have to put the officers in jail; they are the highest crime that have been preaching that doctrine for ten years. While the highest crime against sound commercial principles is to be a trust, the next highest crime is to make an exclusive contract. Then what do you think about the consistency of men who criticize me for recommending a compromise with the company which had made an exclusive contract when they have compromise with railroads for giving rebates. Doesn't it look like there was more politics than law in that?"

"When you do not require my time and attention I intend to devote it for the purpose of accumulating a modest competence for old age. I do not think it becoming for a senator from Texas to spend his time in idleness or waste his substance. I do not strive for money because I love the money, but for the comfort it gives, not the luxury—that debases and weakens the character and enervates the soul. I only want money enough to get me out of age, when I send for the doctor, he will come promptly because he will know I am going to pay his bill. I only want money enough to get me out of age. Bailey goes into a store they will wait on her with alacrity because they will know she is going to pay for what she buys. I only want money enough to get me out of age and I leave it to you to say whether I am right or wrong."

"What is it they hope to gain who are attacking me? They do not pretend that they can defeat me for the senate. The utmost that they now expect the hope of doing is to cast fifteen or twenty votes against me in the legislature. They want to discredit me." At the close of the address, resolutions of support were adopted.

GEORGIA BELLE THE MALE HISTORIC TEXAS FLAG

Photograph of Joanna Trout-man in Austin Library

BANNER NOW MISSING

Was First Unfurled in 1836 and Led Georgia Company in Glorious
Battle for Liberty

Special to The Telegram.
AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 30.—A photograph of Joanna Troutman, was recently placed in the Texas state library by Mr. Wilcox of Georgetown. Mr. Wilcox is a great lover of Texas history, and a warm friend of the state library. It would be interesting to relate the finding of this photograph, but space forbids telling more than that it was obtained thru Mrs. Martha R. McNiece from Miss Joanna Vinson, who is a step-granddaughter of Mrs. Vinson (nee Miss Troutman). It is the only picture of Mrs. Vinson known to be in existence.
Mrs. Martha R. McNiece has written the following beautiful appreciation of Mrs. Vinson:
"At Elmwood, in Crawford county, Georgia, at one time considered one of the most extensive and magnificent plantations in the state, there lies peacefully sleeping in the family burial ground, in an unmarked grave, a woman who was considered the fairest of all Georgia's fair daughters, and who was connected by the ties of blood and family to the most prominent people of her native state, Joanna Troutman Pope Vinson. The family are nearly all dead and the old home has passed into the hands of strangers and is unfortunately falling into decay very rapidly."

"Vineville, Macon, Ga.,
"October 6, 1908."
"We consider this picture a perfect copy of the late photograph of Joanna Troutman Pope Vinson, of Georgia, who in the beauty and glory of her young womanhood made and donated the Lone Star Flag to the company of brave volunteers who went from Georgia to fight for the independence of Texas in the war with Mexico, and from which flag Texas derived the name of 'The Lone Star State.'"
"This excellent copy was made by N. M. Wilcox, photographer, Georgetown, Texas."
"MARTHA ROBERTSON MCNIECE,

FASTED FOUR YEARS

One of the strangest cases that have confronted the medical profession for some time is that of Mr. Henry Fred of Oaklandon, Indiana.
Some years ago, according to his statement, Mr. Fred began to have trouble with his stomach. As time went on his condition grew worse and soon became so that he could not keep down his food.
Doctors were consulted and various remedies were tried in vain. When speaking of his strange case Mr. Fred stated:
"Five different physicians treated me without the slightest benefit nor did the many medicines I took afford me any relief. I do not believe I have eaten a square meal in all the time I suffered from this dreadful affliction."
"A short time ago I heard of the wonderful results that were being effected with the new medicine sold by Cooper, the well known philanthropist, and bought one bottle as a trial. I have only taken about two-thirds of it and have received more benefit and relief in that short time than I did from five of the best doctors I could find and countless other remedies I have tried during the last four years."
"Now I can eat what I want with a relish and my digestion is perfect."
Cooper's New Discovery has done more for cases of stomach, kidney trouble, blood diseases, catarrh and deafness than any other medicine ever introduced in this country, and sells for one dollar per bottle.
Cooper's Quick Relief, the assistant remedy, is fifty cents.
Both are sold only at H. T. Pangburn & Co.'s drug store and it is said some remarkable results have been reported by persons who have used them.

MADDOX FOR CITY MARSHAL

James H. Maddox, the present city marshal, in this issue of The Telegram announces himself a candidate for reelection, subject to the action of the democratic party, primaries Dec. 6.
There is no man in Fort Worth better known than Jim Maddox. From his boyhood he has lived in Fort Worth and since reaching his majority his training has been such as to eminently qualify him for the position he now holds and for which he is a candidate for reelection. For four years he was chief field deputy sheriff under his brother, Walter Maddox, and he made good in that position. Later as city marshal he gave the city an administration that showed of what material he was made. As chief of the fire department he demonstrated his ability to handle men. He made good in that position.
Four years ago he was again called to the head of the city police, and his effective work up to this time is an earnest of what will be in the future. He has been and is yet a terror to crooks and his knowledge of their methods and of their personalities has enabled him to keep their depredations down to the minimum. That Maddox is more free from crime today than any of the large cities in Texas is due to Marshall Maddox' watchfulness and ability. And he has accomplished these good results with a comparatively small force of men.

"After the defeat and capture of Santa Anna at the battle of San Jacinto the silver service of the great Mexican commander, which was taken with other spoils of the great regard and appreciation of Texas for her sympathy and help in the cause of freedom, and the massive forks and tongs, which were among the collection of spoils, are still in the possession of her only surviving son, Henry Pope, of San Jacinto, Tex., being held by him as a highly cherished relic of the war."
"On the meeting of the first congress of the Republic of Texas the flag of the Lone Star was solemnly adopted as the emblem of the new republic, and the great seal and all other seals of office were required them as the coat of arms of Texas. General Memucan Hunt, the first minister from the Republic of Texas to the United States, was the first to recognize the flag of the Lone Star as belonging to Georgia. On his way to Washington he stopped at Milledgeville, then the capital of the state, and left with the flag, which he mentioned above, with instructions to the governor to send them to Miss Troutman, which request was immediately complied with, and she remained in her possession up to the time of her death. General J. B. Rush, an old and valued friend of Miss Troutman, sent her the flag all right with bullets, which had been captured in a cowardly attack on Gollad, and it is supposed her son still has it in his possession."
Stepmother of Justice Lamar
"Of Miss Troutman's girlhood comparatively little is known. She was born in Baldwin county, Georgia, February 15, 1820, and died at San Jacinto, Texas, in 1875. She was again married to W. G. Vinson twice a member of the Georgia legislature, and a man much respected and loved by the people of the state. Her husband she lived very happily until her death, which occurred at Elmwood July 23, 1879.
"The marriage of Miss Troutman to her second husband, W. G. Vinson, was a union of the most sympathetic nature that so endeared her to others, and she was essentially a homemaker, and the result at large knew but little of her great accomplishments and intellectual gifts, as she was in the home, and the affairs of the public. She sleeps peacefully beneath the shadow of the whispering elms and the sad, soft music of the Georgia pine, and the people of the state did her loyal part in making the destiny of a state."

She sleeps peacefully beneath the shadow of the whispering elms and the sad, soft music of the Georgia pine, and the people of the state did her loyal part in making the destiny of a state."

COMPARISON OF FARES
Professor Alex Hogg Draws Interesting Contrasts
Professor Alex Hogg of Fort Worth has made an interesting comparison of railroad fares in America and Europe in amplification of a recent newspaper article designed to show that fares in the United States are lower than they are in countries where the railroads are controlled by government ownership. Professor Hogg says:
"Comparison—rates—should be upon the same bases in the case of railroads upon the same conditions. These cases given are based upon the maximum fares in Europe. Upon the continent, where there are three classes of rates, it is estimated that about 10 per cent of the people travel first class, and at least one-half on second class and the balance on third class tickets, and it would not be correct to base the comparison upon the simple mileage.
Three cases of the comparison are inserted here:
From Chicago to Fort Worth, Texas, 1,109 miles, railroad fare and Pullman berth from Paris to Buffalo, 1,064 miles, $14.47, a difference of $15.07.
From Washington, D. C., to Buffalo, N. Y., 428 miles, $13.70. From Paris to Stuttgart, 422 miles, $13.18.
From St. Louis to Kansas City, 277 miles, $5.50. From Caradova to Madrid, 275 miles, $10.24.
Let other comparisons be taken. Comparative railroad and Pullman car rates in several countries. Rates in cents:
Countries— Class. Class. Class.
United Kingdom..... 4.42 3.20 1.94
France..... 3.86 2.88 2.08
United States..... 3.18 2.32 1.54
There are no second and third class rates in the United States.
Palace car rates:
Routes— Miles. Berth. Fare.
Paris to Rome..... 901 $12.75
New York to Chicago..... 912 5.06
London to Bristol..... 225 22.25
Boston to St. Louis..... 1,330 6.50
In England the Northeastern railway shows the following average receipts per ton, per mile, on all commodities 1.32c, on merchandise 2.44c, on all commodities about the same classes, 0.55c, or just one-fourth of the English railway.
It costs 25c a mile to move a ton of freight from the farm or factory to the railroad; it costs less than three-fourths of a cent a mile to transport thence to its destination. Our people—our farmers—do not seem to take in these facts.
The gross earnings of the American railroads (1907) were $1,900,846,897. Of this amount $775,321,415, or 40.8 per cent, went to the employees.
And here another comparison is appropriate:
American, England, Germany.
Labor..... Per cent. Per cent. Per cent.
Capital..... 23.4 35.2 35.2
In America labor, fuel and taxes absorb more than half of the gross earnings; capital less than one-fifth.
Comparisons in our country—in our states—should be made upon the basis of the condition of the country and the railroads. The railroads have increased nearly threefold in the last decade, and the roads have provided—have furnished—heavier engines, larger box cars, but they have not been able to furnish 90 to 100-pound steel rail and roadbed for these heavier engines and larger cars. A fair estimate of the necessary rolling stock for a mile of railroad would be about $5,000, while the roadbed and heavy steel rail would be from five to seven times this amount.
Again, steel rails cannot be gotten down as rapidly as heavier engines or larger cars can be purchased.
Betterments have been the watch cry of the Texas railroads. They have literally rebuilt their roads. They have spent in betterments in the last eight years $21,043,129.55, a sufficient amount to build over 1,000 miles of new road.
Investors, moneyed men, in connection with Texas managers of the railroads, if they could be left alone, would build even more railroads, and along with these would come factories, mills, churches and school houses.
The need of Texas is more railroads, and these regulated and controlled as all other property rights, by law.

PIEDRA BLANCA FIGHT

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 30.—John R. Bocker of 1024 San Pedro avenue, a well known ranchman of this city, returned from his ranch in Coahuila, Mexico, known as the Piedra Blanca, where he had had a fight with cattle thieves recently. One of the thieves was killed and the officers throught that part of the country was free from the hideout for the three thieves who escaped.
In telling of the occurrence last night, he said:
"October 14 one of our fence riders saw several men driving cattle from the pasture. The following day he reported the matter to his foreman and four men started out to trail the cattle. They saw a man on one of the seventy miles to a ranch about forty miles directly south of Sanderson, Texas, in Coahuila.
"On going into the ranch house they saw a man and asked them about the cattle. The men refused to tell anything about the cattle or to go to the pen with my men to examine the cattle. They were so suspiciously consented, however, and the eight men started for the pen where the cattle were.
"While they were walking toward the pen and about half way to it the four thieves drew their pistols and began to shoot. My men drew their guns and shot at the men. One of the men was killed and the other three were gone.
"None of my men were hurt. They killed the man who took them back to the ranch. There were about 100 head in the bunch.
"We are very seldom troubled with cattle thieves, and we do not seem to care now and will spare no effort to catch those who are still at large. I was at my ranch at the time the fight occurred, but was not in the battle."

OBJECT LESSON FOR TEXAS

The county of Spartanburg, in the state of South Carolina, has thirty-seven cotton mills within its limits, and the city of Spartanburg has less than 20,000 inhabitants, the most of whom are supported by cotton mills. Following is some data and what these manufacturing enterprises mean to Spartanburg: There are 37 cotton mills, 25 corporations engaged in cotton manufacture, and 23 mill villages. The amount invested in cotton mills August 1, 1906, was $2,450,365, as against $20,096,944 in the other forty counties. Number of spindles is 167,941. Number of looms, plain 9,426, automatic 9,611. There are 270 firms and corporations engaged in business in the city of Spartanburg and 298 in the county outside of the city. Railroads radiate in five directions from the city. The mileage is 101 miles, valued at $1,183,700. Another under construction. There are eight banking and trust companies in the city, with a combined capital and surplus of $1,085,165.44, and four banks in towns outside of Spartanburg, with capital of $67,500. The dividends from the cotton mills and the banks amount to $75,000, payable January and July. Spartanburg county has eleven cotton-oleo mills—no two mills owned by the same company—the largest number of mills in any one county in the United States. Three large fertilizer factories. Before the establishment of these mills Spartanburg was a small village. Here is one county in South Carolina that has twelve more cotton mills than are located in the entire state of Texas. This state has a population in excess of 3,000,000, produces more than 3,000,000 bales of cotton annually and manufactures all told about 30,000 bales. Is it any wonder that Texas is behind so many states in the union in many material things when such neglect as this is manifest in the development of practically all our industrial enterprises? There is plenty of oil money in Texas for the building of hundreds of cotton mills. Millions of dollars are being realized from the sale of big ranches and other land interests in the state and all this money must be reinvested or else grow rusty from non-use. Why not begin an active campaign for cotton mill building from one end of Texas to the other? Texas has the cotton. The columns of The Telegram tell daily of the magnificent yield in West Texas and the Panhandle, in many instances reaching a bale to the acre. And all Texas has made a fair cotton crop this year. This cotton must be manufactured. For want of manufacturing facilities in Texas millions of bales will be shipped out of the state to upbuild and enrich other manufacturing centers, when every pound of cotton produced in Texas should be manufactured in this state. And Fort Worth is a laggard in this respect. Talk does not build cotton mills. Here is a city of more than 50,000 inhabitants, daily talking of the necessity of encouraging the building of more factories here, and Fort Worth has no cotton mill. Located in the heart of the great cotton producing district, and the gateway thru which the product of West Texas and the Panhandle must pass out to market, this city affords an ideal location for several big cotton mills. The matter should not be longer delayed. Work on the mills promised this city should already be in progress. A PUBLIC NUISANCE: There is considerable complaint of the manner in which premises are littered up by the distributors of handbills and advertising matter used by business people who do not confine themselves to the only legitimate method of advertising, and some steps should be taken to relieve the average citizen from this crying nuisance. The sanitary officers of the city make per-ofical investigations of private premises and are quick to order those premises cleaned, but if there is any provision for the protection of the citizen from the circular and handbill distributor it must be a dead letter and rarely enforced. Premises are littered up with this kind of trash from one end of the city to the other, and if the owner does not exercise due diligence his surroundings will soon resemble one of the most unsightly preserves in tin can alley.

And there is another feature of the situation while we are on the subject that is worthy of immediate consideration. There is a practice indulged in by patent medicine men and the vendors of nostrums which consists of leaving splayed packages of their wares on the premises to be picked up by children. The effects of this procedure are well portrayed in the following extract from the Denton Record and Chronicle:

A lady living on one of the principal streets of Denton stated to a reporter yesterday that she was being worried by the practice some manufacturers and dealers in patent medicines have of distributing samples of their wares indiscriminately over the town. She has some small children and the distributors make a practice of throwing their samples in the yard and then walk away, leaving the attractive package to the investigating hands of little fellows who do not suspect evil and are liable to be poisoned by the "pretty" little pellets or other contents of the envelope. She stated that only a few days ago she found her small son and his playmates with a package containing five chocolate-coated tablets that were wanting to cure a cold in a miraculous manner and in record-breaking time. The little folks were proceeding to eat the tablets, thinking that they were a new kind of chocolate. The manufacturers or dealers who are responsible for such distribution ought to be criminally liable for any damage that may arise from such foolish scattering of drugs among small children. If the people of the city will make it a rule to strictly boycott such distributors and their wares the practice will be of short duration. The same might be well applied to the man who fills up the front yards of residences with flaming circulars and obnoxious gutter snipes. Take care not to trade with the man who does the distributing and he will soon stop his pestiferous practice.

UNITED STATES SENATOR IN JAIL

Senator Burton is in jail. Think of it! Think of what it means to have overcome the precedents in the public mind, the resources of influence, the technicalities of the law and the machinations of lawyers sufficiently to put a United States senator in jail "for the slow-moving finger of scorn to point at." Others as guilty as he? No sort of doubt about that. But he is in jail. He is behind the bars, a spectacle of warning to others of his kind. Burton in jail is a great object lesson of the even administration of justice. That is the main thing. Burton himself is not so much. Nor was his crime a great one measured in dollars and cents. But measured in the enormity of his treason to the people it was a high crime. This United States senator sold his influence as a senator to a get-rich-quick concern, against which a fraud order had been made by the postoffice department, and engaged to use that influence to re-voke the order. For this service he was paid a fee of $2,500. Where did Burton get the influence he thus bartered? It was given him by those who put him into his official relation. The people of Kansas gave him both position and influence and when he sold his influence he sold out the people of Kansas. It was thus decided by the highest court in the country. And Burton is in jail. Which is the main thing. Because— The long arm of justice, which is always long enough to reach down and drag the lowest felon up to jail, is proven to be long enough to reach up and drag the highest felon down to jail.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

The great majority of the people of Texas agree with Senator Culberson in his declaration against the idea of government ownership of the railroads and will line up on the proper side of the issue when it materializes and is made a public issue. It is a proposition that cannot find lodgment in Democratic hearts, from the fact that it is so completely at variance with true Democratic principles. And it is interesting to note what the leading railway men of the country think of the proposition. George Gould was in St. Louis a few days ago and expressed himself as follows on the matter of government ownership: "If the government believes it can manage our railroads better than we can and it wishes to operate them, I have no objections to selling the properties. I would sell to the government as willingly as to any individual or company, were the lines to be disposed of, although ours are good properties and are not on the market. This is how I feel as a railroad man in regard to the public ownership of carriers." "But as a private citizen I am opposed to the public ownership suggestion. The government could not manage the properties successfully. Private capital or enterprise is better equipped than the government for directing railroads and would realize satisfactory results against failures on the part of the government."

THE TEXAS PRESS

Cleburne is to have a new banking institution within the next few weeks, with a capital of $50,000. This is another evidence that Cleburne is growing. Johnson county needs development and without lots of money the results will not be what they should be.—Cleburne Review.

Cleburne and all Johnson county is growing. In fact, the entire state of Texas is coming to the front in such a manner as was never witnessed in the state before. Prosperity seems to have come to Texas to stay.

United States Senator Burton, that was, of Kansas commences his six months service in jail today. His crime was taking a corporation case against the United States while as yet he was senator.—San Antonio Light.

Burton's offense was that he "wanted to get rich too quick" and became the attorney for "questionable" corporations. If he had only served "legitimate" corporations he might still be an honored member of the United States senate.

Some folks are such excuses themselves that they are eternally finding an excuse to get out of labor. The word "dig" is the only means by which one can thrive. It's the motto thru life for those who wish to thrive and holds goods at death, for that is the cemetery sexton's slogan when he hears that a mortal has passed away.—Bonham Herald.

The man who expects to get on in this world must dig out continually. This thing of continually digging is what brings the expected success. No man can expect to succeed in this day and time who is not an accomplished digger.

The candidacy of the Fort Worth lady for congress is receiving more attention in the eastern press than at home. At home her chances are probably not considered worth mentioning.—San Antonio Express.

The Fort Worth lady candidate for congress doubtless has no expectations of winning a seat among the nation's lawmakers, but she is getting some good exercise from the running.

We are told that an army of office seekers are urging their claims for office under T. M. Campbell's administration. They are doubtless impressed that in these days a man is rarely ever given an office unless he goes after it with all of the resources at his command. Custom should be such as to make it improper for a citizen to appeal to the governor for an office. We are indeed sorry for Colonel Campbell, who must now turn down the application for office of many personal friends.—Tyler Courier.

Better be sorry for the other fellows, who want pie and can't get it. Colonel Campbell has obtained what he asked at the hands of the people and it is the thousands of "original" Campbell men who now have sympathy coming.

A farmer near Denison reports that he is growing fine tobacco. To enumerate the various crops that can be grown successfully around Denison would be to almost catalogue all the plants of the temperate zone. Why should we worry about boll weevil?—Denison Herald.

There is no necessity for worrying over the boll weevil, although many people go into hysterics long before the bug arrives in their vicinity. The same people would no doubt have spasms when they engage in tobacco culture to learn that tobacco worms are very bad in Kentucky.

The proposition to appoint a lady superintendent for the Confederate Home at Austin is just too absurd for anything. The old fellows, from the very nature of things, are fussers. When they cannot find other people to fuss with they are not too proud to fuss with one another. One of their old officers, who was noted more than forty years ago for carrying around a "stiff upper lip," would stand the best chance of getting along with the old fellows—the best soldiers the world ever saw.—Texarkana Courier.

The old vets who are taken into the home have reached an age where they are often prone to be petulant, and many of them require a firm hand in control. The firmness evinced toward them should be tempered with kindness. There are strong arguments that can be brought to bear in favor of a lady superintendent, but the plan is generally regarded as impracticable.

SQUEEZING THE CONSUMER

In these times of agricultural prosperity the haughty farmer dictates terms to the humble trader. The cotton growers are going to reduce their production and warehouse their crops, and if you want cotton you will have to ask nicely for it. The Mutual Protective Association of Bright Tobacco Growers of Virginia and North Carolina has resolved that it will hold its tobacco until the American Tobacco Company, which is practically the only buyer, is willing to pay a good price for the leaf. The buyers have concentrated themselves into one corporation, the producers will concentrate themselves into one association and prices will be advanced.—Philadelphia Record.

"DO NOT BE FRIGHTENED, LITTLE ONE," SAYS HE.

There was I behind the counter in Taffeta & Balbriggan's waiting for customers when a DELICIOUS tenor voice interrupted me, saying, "Ah, there, Gladys! Could you direct me to the neckwear department?" I then dropped the novel I was reading—it was "If She Only Knew; or, Birdie Bungstarter's Blind Love"—and turned. There stood the killingest guy. "Oh, sir," says I, "but how you startled me." I was that flustered I FOR-GOT to tell him my name wasn't Gladys. "Do not be frightened, Little One," says he, polite. "You see, I just blew in from the Smoky City and I've lost my way in this dump." Then I directed him, and "Is there anything else?" I says. "Nothing. Little Bright Eyes," says he, "except a few kind words and a pleasant smile." THE NERVE of him. Then he PASSED out of my life. And HIM from Pittsburg. I bet he's one of them millionaires. Be still, my beating heart, be still. (To be continued.)

THE TELEGRAM AND THE TEXAS PRESS

LOOK ON THE DIMPLE AND LIVE

Editor Robinson of the Waco Times-Herald has fallen on a victim of that dimple. Editor Robinson had never seen this particular dimple in operation. He went to Mart on Monday. He was opposed to United States senators taking cases from public service corporations, that is, for attempting to serve the people and the trusts. It was almost like an old camp-meeting conversation. Editor Robinson began speaking; finally, as the senator spoke on, he began to move all over. Finally Editor Robinson got up in the audience and stated that he was a converted man, and asked for absolution and immediately his sins were forgiven. There was shouting all over the hall. The Dallas Times-Herald said that this dimple would do the work. Now instead of standing with the Dallas Times-Herald et al, Editor Robinson will march on with the Houston Post, the Fort Worth Record and others, who have looked on that dimple and have received a promise of a new life.—Cleburne Review.

CREAMERIES IN TEXAS

Thousands of Texas people are compelled to patronize Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma creameries from the simple fact that Texas does not afford the necessary supply. And Texas should be selling dairy products in other states and territories.—Fort Worth Telegram.

EQUALIZE THE TAXES

The next legislature should make short work of that existing hole in the state treasury. With an increase of $75,000,000 in the taxable values of this state a depleted state treasury is little short of a crime. Make the taxable values yield the required revenues.—Fort Worth Telegram.

SENATOR BAILEY CHANGES FRONT

Now that Mr. Bailey has taken his position alongside Bryan, Campbell and Crane on the proposition that a senator or congressman should not take employment from any interest liable to be affected by legislation, and has clearly indicated hostility toward H. Clay Pierce, as he did at Mart yesterday, the esteemed Houston Chronicle, Dallas Times-Herald and Fort Worth Telegram can consistently bury the hatchet and turn their attention to the building up of grand old Texas.—Waco Times-Herald.

PATRIOTISM IN TEXAS

It is something of a misfortune that Texas is being called upon to furnish gray matter for other states in so many different directions, from the fact that so many able men are being taken from the state. But in their new locations they are standing advertisements of what this great state is able to produce and are doing men's parts in bringing their new surroundings up to the Texas standard. The time is not far distant when this great and glorious state will be the dominant factor in the affairs of this nation. That fact has already been seen and recognized in many quarters, and may account for the manner in which the call is being steadily extended for brain and enterprise such as we produce in Texas.—Fort Worth Telegram.

DRIFT OF POLITICS

MINNESOTA MAY PRESENT SURPRISE

Great was the surprise over the country in 1904 when it was announced that Roosevelt had carried Minnesota by 161,000 plurality, and that John A. Johnson, Democrat, had been elected governor. Local interests entered into the contest, and as Johnson was believed to be a fair man Republicans flocked to his aid in order to rebuke the bosses. Johnson has been renominated by the Democrats on a platform which indorses William J. Bryan, demands revision of the tariff and the election of United States senators by direct vote, and makes appeals for labor support. The Republicans had made their ticket early, placing at the head A. L. Cole. The conditions which gave Johnson his victory two years ago no longer exist. The normal Republican forces have rallied about the candidacy of Mr. Cole, and the great body of Republicans who supported Johnson two years ago are said to have returned to their own party. Whether this is true will be determined on election day. Minnesota is normally Republican. In 1902 the Republicans elected their governor by 54,456. In 1906, however, they carried the governorship by 2,254, and in 1908 the fusionists won the governorship by 29,184. The Swedes and Norwegians, who make up a good part of the population, are a very independent set politically.

ORGANIZED LABOR IN POLITICS

A new feature that enters into the present contest for members of congress, and one that affects the Pennsylvania delegation materially, is the attitude of organized labor. For years the late Senator Quay was enabled to handle the anthracite coal miners thru that expert, Captain John C. Delaney. Once only did the miners get away from Quay, and that was in Pattison's first term for governor. Now the American Federation of Labor has taken up the cudgel for the union men, and it threatens to leave at home Speaker Cannon, Nicholas Longworth, the President's son-in-law; Representative Sherman, of the congressional campaign committee; John Dalzell and a host of others—all because their votes and work in congress at the last session did not please President Gompers, of the A. F. of L. The man to whom has been intrusted the political execution of all these bigwig politicians is Thomas F. Tracey, of Boston. Mr. Tracey has for seven years been a member of the legislative committee of the A. F. of L., and has been located in Washington. He has frequently appeared before house and senate committees urging the passage of bills. He it is who will do the secret work, and Gompers will appear on the stump.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Count your joys and you will discount your sorrows. A shoemaker isn't necessarily greedy because he is always on the make. If a man can't make good at anything else he is apt to make good excuses. The more a girl pretends she doesn't want to be kissed the more willing she is. Most of the man's friends are willing to become his enemies on the least provocation. Appearances are seldom as deceitful as disapppearances. Rattling tongues are usually to be found in empty heads. Even the living skeleton has a thin chance of getting stout. Many a man's popularity is due to his lack of self-respect. She is a wise girl who knows enough not to pretend to know too much. A man saves his religion and his best suit of clothes for Sunday. It is easier to look over another's faults than it is to overlook them. People sometimes str up a lot of trouble by telling the truth when it would be policy to say nothing. The girls of a country town never forgive a young man of their set if he disgraces himself by marrying an out-of-town girl.—Chicago News.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

By HERBERT QUICK

Copyrighted, 1904, by THE BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

FLORIAN AMIDON, a rich young banker of Hazelburg (a middle western American town) decides to take a day off from business and indulge in his favorite hobby, photography. He takes the afternoon train for Hazelburg, and at a junction, does off to sleep and wakes up in a Pullman car to find himself known as Eugene Brassfield, wealthy but unknown to him. He is engaged to a beautiful young woman, and involved in a mass of business of which he is ignorant, while the train is five years later than the train in which he started his journey. A clairvoyant to whom he applies for aid in solving his mystery is assisted by a hypnotist who puts Amidon in a trance, and while in that state, his identity as Brassfield becomes normal. From conversations taken down in shorthand, during his hypnotic state, Amidon learns something of the business affairs of Brassfield, and with this meager help he is enabled to preserve something of Brassfield's position, but often at the expense of the public.

He finds himself involved in a complex electric traction deal, the details of which are unknown to him. He also learns that his wife, Gene, is leaving it all to me, and does ever show up here. That girl business—the strawberry blonde, you know—seems all lost sight of, and there ain't a cloud in the sky.

A clerk entered and informed Alvord that a man named Amidon wanted to speak to him at the telephone.

"Another debating society wants investigating," Alvord said. "Hello! This is headquarters. Yes, it's Alvord speaking to you. Oh, is it you, Brass? They said it was a man named Amidon. Wire's crossed, I s'pose. Worst telephone service I ever saw. All right, go ahead."

Here followed a long pause broken occasionally by "yes" and "I know,"

TALK OF INCORPORATION

Citizens of Glenwood Want Municipal Improvements

There is now considerable talk of incorporating Glenwood for municipal purposes, that certain public improvements may be made. Polytechnic Heights has already voted to incorporate as an independent school district, and it is now waiting for the county court to order an election to vote bonds that Polytechnic may erect a public school building. Glenwood has a frame school building, but it does not meet the demands of the increasing enrollment, and this has been one of the prime factors in bringing about the agitation of incorporation.

For some time an effort has been made to secure an electric light plant, that would give both Glenwood and Polytechnic Heights a good lighting system. Up to this time no definite arrangement has been made, but two parties have become interested, and a mass meeting of the citizens of Glenwood and Polytechnic Heights may be called within a few days to receive a proposition from these parties. It is the intention that the citizens own the electric plant, and that they establish and maintaining the plant.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

Has a dietetic value greatly beyond the conception of any one who has not used it. It will make your food of a delicious taste, a moist and keeping quality and a digestibility not to be obtained from any other baking powder or leavening agent.

But more important than all else, Dr. Price's Baking Powder carries only healthful qualities to the food.

As every housekeeper can understand, burnt alum and sulphuric acid—the ingredients of all alum and aluminum phosphates—must carry to the food acids injurious to health.

Avoid the alum powders—study the label

"Talk about stinky, close-fisted people," said a Houston street merchant, "I found one this morning that was the limit. I was coming down town and saw a little tobacco sack lying on the sidewalk with something in it. I thought some farmer had lost his pocketbook and picked it up. There was only a piece of chewing tobacco in it and a note which read: 'If I happen to lose this tobacco the finder will please return to my office in the Wheat building and receive reward.'"

At first I thought some one was trying to play a joke, but I decided to take the tobacco to the man's office and see what it meant. When I handed it to him he seemed pleased. He showed it in his pocket and remarked that tobacco cost more these days, and that a fellow had to be mighty careful if he ever intended to get ahead in this world. I reminded him that he had offered a reward, and what do you think he did? He offered me a chew of the tobacco."

Tonic After Typhoid

Mrs. Evelyn B. Barnard, of Kingston, N. Y., tells how Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey transformed her from weakness into strength after a terrible nine weeks' siege of typhoid fever. She regards this medicine as a life saver for her. The following are her own words:

"I regard Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a life-saver for me. I had been down nine weeks in the City Hospital with the terrible typhoid fever. When I was discharged, of course I was very weak and could hardly stand on my feet. I had read so much of your medicine and its cures that I resolved to give it a fair trial. I took three bottles of the stuff; in two weeks I was able to walk half a mile without tiring. I can really and truly say it saved me from a relapse. I still keep it in the house, as it is the only good medicine I have around me. I have used it in any kind of sickness. I hope you will publish this, that others may know where to find a medicine that really does much good. My very truly, Mrs. EVELYN B. BARNARD, Station R. Box 97, Kingston, N. Y., Oct. 25, '04."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

It is recognized everywhere as the unfailing specific for the cure of typhoid, cramps, dysentery, cholera, cholera morbus, stomach ache, congestion, neuritis, heart failure, fainting, weak stomach, malaria, chills, fevers, prostration and the hundred and one ills of summer. Demonstrated Value

The American Cigar Company has too big a business to maintain and too great a desire to make that business even greater than to foolishly hope to secure the patronage of the public on any other basis than strict merit.

Cigars guaranteed by our "A" (Triangle A) merit mark must be actually superior in quality to the cigars made by any other manufacturer. And on the demonstration of this depends our business success.

These brands demonstrate the better values we offer you:

PRICE OF LEATHER

London Authority Points to Increased Demand. Special to The Telegram. LONDON, Oct. 30.—Several reasons are put forward by the London Commercial Intelligence to explain the present scarcity of leather. The American supply is said to have been greatly reduced, owing to the fact that Americans themselves use most of the hides produced in addition, the famine in India is regarded as responsible for a shortage in the supply, while it is also suggested that the motor car has increased the demand for leather. As an example of the extent of the increase in price, it is stated that imported (American) leathers have advanced 10 to 12 1/2 per cent on common sorts, such as box-hide and oil-grain leather, and waxed splits for heavy boots and leggings from 20 to 25 per cent, and all bid fair to go still higher. The rise in American raw hides in the past five years has ranged from 35 to 66 per cent.

DOCTOR DESPAIRED

Anemic Women Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Anemia is just the doctor's name for bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mrs. Thomas J. McGann, of 17 Lincoln Place, Plainfield, N. J., who says: "In the spring of 1903 I did my usual house cleaning and soon afterward I began to have the most terrible headaches. My heart would beat so irregularly that it was painful and there came a morning when I could not get up. My doctor said I had anemia and he was surprised that I had continued to live in the condition I was in. I was confined to my bed for nearly two months, the doctor coming every day for the first few weeks, but I did not improve to amount to anything. Altogether I was sick for nearly two years. I was as weak as a rag, had headaches, irregular heart beats, loss of appetite, cramps in the limbs and was unable to get a good night's sleep. My legs and feet were so swollen that I feared they would burst."

LABOR TEMPLE NOTES

The local unions of the barbers and painters will meet in regular business sessions Tuesday night in Labor Temple.

TEXAS RANGE

Conditions Continue Good—No Losses Reported

Reports from ten districts of the range country sent in by inspectors prove a continuance of the good conditions that prevailed all the fall. The sleet and snow the first of the week covered by the reports make no mention of any losses by the cold weather in the Panhandle. The office of the Cattle Raisers' Association informs the Telegram that Captain John T. Lytle, the secretary, is improving fast; can sit up part of the time, and will go south to San Antonio and vicinity as soon as he is strong enough to travel.

AMUSEMENTS

As in his own statement, "The County Chairman" always just supplies the demand," but as the Hon. Jim Hackler, Maclyn Arbuckle, completely plays the part and his always ready political philosophy, which cannot be taken entirely as Hackler's, but more as Arbuckle, the one-time real politician, keeps his audience in continuous laughter and applause. Maclyn Arbuckle is a Texan by birth and he told his audience so Monday night between the third and fourth acts, as he briefly reviewed his political career in this state.

AMUSEMENTS

But the true comedian is Barry Maxwell as Sasfras Livingston, who, in darkie fashion, is the ardent supporter of the candidate and upon each meeting Sass announces the arrival of a new "infant" at his house, and of course has named it after the candidate for whom which is generally forthcoming.

AMUSEMENTS

Joe Whittaker, the Chicago drummer, with a duplex windmill pattern, blows into the town of Antioch, Ind., and while interrupting a political discussion in front of the town general store and postoffice, he is in turn switched by the entrance of the popular milliner, Miss Watkins. After much alleged betrayal on the part of the drummer, Miss Watkins leaves with him on their bridal tour to the city. He is a most enthusiastic salesman and she the real type of village coquette, who always shows the preference to her many "traveling gentlemen friends."

AMUSEMENTS

Judge Elias Rigby is heart-broken with his defeat to Tilford Wheeler in the race of the town of Antioch, Ind., served one term as justice of the peace in Antioch and with his record, together with support of the afternoon Patriot, he was thought by many of his town-folk to be impregnable as a candidate. But the love of his daughter for Wheeler, who as the junior partner of the firm, is the owner of the town, has won the opposition thru a play at the convention, lost the honors to him whose record was later exposed as being correct.

AMUSEMENTS

Tilford Wheeler makes a good student of politics under the county chairman, as his interest is always divided, and Hackler does all of the work.

AMUSEMENTS

"Chick" Elzy is a good orphan, who is adopted into the family of Mrs. Jefferson, a boarding house lady. The judge has not played fair with Chick as her guardian, but thru campaign investigation Jim Hackler uncovers the fraud of his withholding inheritance in Illinois property.

AMUSEMENTS

George Ade's success as a writer of rural comedy was largely due to his natural cultivated knowledge of the small townfolk. He knows intimately the old settler full of anti-bellum recollections and the storkish orator, who is a genuine town hero and always unquestionably informed on topics of the day; and Uncle Eck Milburn and Jefferson Briscoe respectively were natural in these roles.

AMUSEMENTS

"The County Chairman" made a hit with a large Fort Worth audience Monday night. The play was first produced in South Bend, Ind., about four years ago, and most of the leading characters are with it still.

AMUSEMENTS

Blanche Walsh in "The Woman in the Case"

Blanche Walsh, the most gifted of emotional and tragic actresses, comes to Greenwall's opera house Wednesday evening, Oct. 31, in her latest and greatest success, Clyde Fitch's "The Woman in the Case," the play with which she took New York by storm and which ran four months at the Herald Square theater and subsequently at five other leading metropolitan playhouses.

AMUSEMENTS

Murray and Mack

"Around the Town," a new comedy by a well-known writer, is the Murray and Mack offering for this coming season. It is claimed for it that no funnier series of comic sketches has yet been offered to the fun-loving public. "Around the Town" comes to Greenwall's opera house Thursday matinee and night, Nov. 1.

DAYLIGHT HOLD UP IN FT. WORTH

Rob Man Who Bought Drinks for Them

One of the merriest hold-ups that has occurred in Fort Worth in many a day occurred Monday afternoon about 5 o'clock in Miller's saloon in East Nineteenth street.

A man walked into the saloon to get a drink and invited two other men who were lounging in the place to have one also. After the drinks had been served the two men invited the stranger, who had been so kind as to buy them a drink, into a back room of the saloon, saying that a friendly game of dominoes would not be bad. The man consented and had hardly entered the room when one of the men pulled a six-shooter and demanded "hands up!" While the buyers of drinks stood with elevated palms his pockets were rifed of their contents and his money, some $30, was taken.

The two men made good their escape, breaking for liberty immediately after the robbery.

The matter was reported to the police, but no arrests have been made as yet, although it is expected hourly.

The police say that the robbery is one of the most daring that has taken place in their observation in a long time.

The man who was robbed failed to leave his name to the police when he reported the hold-up.

At the Majestic

Promise last week that this week's bill at the Majestic would be entirely different from any which preceded it this season was fulfilled Monday night with a program which offers surprising variation from even what regular patrons of the Majestic have come to regard as vaudeville.

Freshness characterizes the singing and dancing of the Haws sisters, and it is a freshness from which the bloom has not worn off—somewhat peachy as it were.

George Beane and Miss Edith Forrest in "A Woman's Way" do a comedy sketch which is really startling in its changes from the tragic to the grotesque and humorous. No single sketch at the Majestic this year has shown a greater gamut (fine old word that) of emotions, and both Beane and Forrest are topnotchers at gamutting. When Monday night's audience was not in an uproar of laughter it was holding its breath in anticipation of tragedy.

August Snowball has a melodious voice which gives real music to recitative coon songs. Most people could overtake the more of him than the program affords.

Martini and Maximilian expose the commoner feats of magic and get away with it. Their act is really greatly improved by more rapid movement and pantomime instead of verbal explanations.

The hit Monday evening was made by Will H. Fox in his famous satire "Paddywisk." Fox plays a grand piano with his nose, the heel of his shoe, blindfolded, or almost any other way, but his monologue is cleverer than his fingers and his wit is as bubbling and irrepressible as a seltzer highball. Monday night's audience seemed to think Fox good for an hour's entertainment.

The fastest number of the bill and the one which is a distinct departure in vaudeville programs is "The Lady and the Buccaneers," in which six girls and a clever youth figure.

"Twas a real pity Monday night's audience failed to demand a diagram with every joke for the lines and the business of "The Buccaneers" are so delicately clever the average audience is painfully slow by comparison. Arthur Wanzer as Bud, a stow-away, did land a half dozen or so on the crowd, but the whole covers of over the crowd's head without losing a feather.

The six girls who do the buccaners are shapely, graceful and clever, and the latest of them, the hour and a half apparently the only excuse for the slow reception their work got. Maybelle Palmer hopped on a baggageman in one of her scenes, and the other poses imaginable while Bud wheeled her around for a chorus or two, yet the crowd failed to warm up to a trick infinitely more pretty and clever than the overworked roller-chair stunt which Anna Held made a hit with four seasons ago.

Laurette Howe and Bud did a ridiculously funny take-off on the "Illustrated Song" feature of vaudeville programs in by-gone days, but it scarcely got a hand.

A wide awake audience ought to make this week's bill at the Majestic a 45-caliber success.

At Fort Worth Rink

As heretofore stated, the management of the Fort Worth skating rink, at the corner of Third and Rusk streets, is arranging a special entertainment for its hosts of patrons every night.

Tonight there will be a wheel-barrow and obstacle race, the participants meeting at 8:00. Many of the best skaters in the city have enlisted, and a delightful time is promised all those who attend the big rink.

Wednesday night the Bathbone Smothers, Fort Temple No. 5, of North Fort Worth, will give a benefit session, at which entertainment three handsome prizes will be awarded. There will also be the "long and short of it" on wheels.

From 10 to 12 o'clock tomorrow night there will be a ghost and phantom session, all participants being required to wear costumes consisting of sheets, pillow cases, etc. The skating enthusiasts are anticipating this event with much interest, as it will probably prove one of the most novel of the very unique entertainments provided by the management.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights two orbit monocyclists will amuse the patrons of the rink for a short while, in connection with many other interesting features.

The floor is now in good condition, and every comfort and convenience is being amply provided by the management. Monday night's entertainment of the public the best skating fun and the best rink at that.

A Health to the Bride and Bridegroom

Among the many proudest accomplishments of the late Mrs. Ray Saunders and C. D. Reimers marriage, which takes place this evening at 7 o'clock at the Broadway Presbyterian church, is the fact that the bride and groom were given by Mrs. J. J. Reimers Saturday evening to introduce to the bride and those of the bridal party the relatives who had journeyed from Rock Island in honor of the wedding.

The dining room and table was given over quite to La France roses, a huge bouquet of them being in the center of the table, small bouquets tied with pink tulle being placed at each man's place. The roses in baskets, with tulle entwined in the handles, were in bows, were the favors for the ladies.

Around the walls were hearts in pink, with roses as fragrant companions.

At the conclusion of the dinner the health of the bride and the groom was drunk in a loving cup that came from Nuremberg for a special event.

The guests were:

Raymond D. Reimers, C. A. Myers, Dr. Ray Saunders, W. B. Paddock, A. F. Luckett and Dr. and Mrs. Ban Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall, Mrs. T. B. Davis, Mrs. Fred W. Reimers, Miss Denkmann of Rock Island, Ill., Mrs. George W. Feder, Miss Robert Conner, Miss Elizabeth Tarlton, Miss Katherine Stripling, Miss Mary Harrison, Miss Mabel Slaughter, Miss Marie Baldwin.

The Wharton Home "Shadowed"

Mrs. A. B. Wharton's "phantom dance" Monday evening was no end of a feat, being as informative as it was a reception hall had no lights save the suggestive glow from dozens of pumpkins, lanterns, and candles, and a number of apples swinging to and fro with invitation for solving the future. Autumn leaves and all the accessories of the time being the elves are abroad were called upon for assistance in beautifying preparation.

The arrivals were well pillowcased and sheeted and after separations and greetings each man went in quest of a partner for the half dozen dances that preceded the removal of disguises.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gerry, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reynolds, Misses Pendleton, Humphreys, Jennings, Darter, Juanita Hollingsworth, Daniels, Elliott, Stripling, Anne Stripling, Mrs. C. Talbot, Stabler of Kentucky, Tarlton of Austin, Baldwin of Paris and Conner of Dallas; Dr. Chilton, Messrs. Moore, Hunter, Wilson, Naylor, Constan, Raymond Reimers, and Conner.

Big Tent Theater

Another large audience witnessed the production of "Life in New York" and everyone who saw the play at the Korak Wonder Company has given more for the money than any show that ever came to this city. Tonight the Korak Wonder Company will be seen in the great melodrama, "The Moonshiners," in four acts. Don't miss seeing the moonshiners at work at their stills, the capture of the revenue officer and his escape. Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock there will be given another free matinee for ladies only. Wednesday night the play will be "A Planter's Wife." Thursday night, "Jesse James." Friday night, "Was She to Blame?" and Saturday night, "A Hoosier Girl."

At Summit Avenue Rink

The youngster, Fred Dowd, easily won the race last night at the Summit Avenue rink, which was the second heat of the three-mile championship skating contest.

FRED DOWD.

Teague started off in the lead, but after a few rounds Dowd was right in behind him, quite able and ready. It seemed to overtake Teague whenever it seemed please him. After about a mile he was in the lead and he had covered, Dowd glided in ahead of Teague, and after that sailed away from his competitor, seemingly almost without effort. Teague appeared somewhat exhausted at the close of the race, but Dowd, on the other hand, looked as if he could easily skate to Dallas at the same speed. He maintained through the race. Dowd is undoubtedly the fastest skater ever seen in this city.

The St. Cecelia

The St. Cecelia Club had a number of new members for its meeting Monday evening, Nov. 2, in honor of Miss Anne Stripling's guests, Miss Stabler of Paducah, Ky., and Miss Scott of Tahlequah.

The club meetings today will be H. Penelope, who enjoys a social afternoon, the presence of Mrs. Boyd Clarke, with Mrs. John H. H. and Mrs. Frank Penderly as joint hostesses. The Arions practice in the evening.

Misses Louise and Callie Carter will entertain with a Halloween party Wednesday evening at their suburban home at Sagamore Hill on the Interurban.

The "Stitch in Time" Club will meet with Mrs. Hal Sellers Wednesday afternoon.

The Harmony Club will meet with Mrs. Belle Campbell, 433 Wheeler street, at the residence of Mrs. Boyd Clarke, with Mrs. John H. H. and Mrs. Frank Penderly as joint hostesses. The Arions practice in the evening.

Misses Louise and Callie Carter will entertain with a Halloween party Wednesday evening at their suburban home at Sagamore Hill on the Interurban.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

A number of the younger girls will give a skating masquerade at the Fort Worth rink next week.

The Young Ladies' Building Society will entertain with a social evening at the Young Ladies' Building Society.

FAMOUS SHIPS TO BE RETIRED

Texas and Olympia Now Out of Modern Class

Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The battleship Texas and the protected cruiser Olympia are going on the retired list. The Texas is to be used as a receiving ship and the Olympia will be utilized as a training ship.

That had official announcement of the placing of these two history-making warships of the United States navy on the retired list cannot prevent the surge of memory recalling the deeds done in the greater history-making of the later and greater United States navy.

The Texas, the namesake of the "Lone Star State," was one of those battle ships of the Schley squadron which fought the Spanish fleet July 3 at Santiago, Cuba. The Texas is one of the smaller and older battle ships, and yet it suffered more in that battle than all of the others in the squadron, for it was one of the foremost in the fray. The keel of the Texas was laid in 1889. Her main battery is two 12-inch and six 6-inch guns.

And the Olympia, the flagship of Dewey, in the battle of Manila, when the power of the Spanish monarch, long dominant in the Pacific near to Asiatic wars was forever broken, and the United States was forced to enter in a new field as a world power. The keel of the Olympia was laid in 1891. Her main battery is four 8-inch and ten 6-inch guns.

The Texas at Santiago, the Olympia at Manila. They will be revered memories as long as there is patriotism in the American breast, or as long as the deeds of daring men reap the reward of the admiration of those they fought to benefit.
