REPUBLICANS MEET

Cecil A. Lyn's Circular Address Chief Topic

Special to The Telegram. HILLSBORO, Texas, Nov. 1.-A meeting of re-organized republicans held here Monday night was presided over by the county chairman, Dr. F. M. Petts of Hubbard City. The principal subject considered was the circular address issued under date of the 9th ulto by Colonel Cecil A. Lyon, chairman of the state republican committee, to the colored voters of Texas in which it is claimed he makes a plea for the colored vote. It was the sense of this meeting that the negroes would sanction their own disfranchisement by voting Colonel Lyon's ticket.

By Associated Press.

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 1 .- Secretary Victor H. Metcalf of the department of commerce and labor arrived from Washington last night and will remain here with relatives until tomorrow, when he will proceed to San Francisco, where he will begin his inquiry into the action of the San Francisco board of education in excluding Japanese and other orientals from the regular schools and assigning them to a school set apart for orientals. Secretary Metcalf said:

"I am not at liberty to talk concerning my mission on the coast, except to say that the administration considers this subject one of gravest importance. Our treaty with Japan guarantees to that nation the same consideration and immunities that are guaranteed to the most favored nations, hence, the desire in Washington to learn officially of everything that has been done in San Francosco. cannot say just what methods I will pursue in conducting my investigations. I shall probably establish headquarters in San Francisco. As soon as my work is completed I shall return at once to Washington."

HEARST OFFERS REWARD

Says He Will Pay for Evidence of Election Frauds By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 .- Rewards totaling $50,000 were offered by William R. Hearst, democratic and Independence League candidate for governor, for evidence of election frauds on Tuesday night. These rewards were announced today by the state democratic committee. Both Mr. Hearst and Mr. Hughes, the republican nominee, continued their campaigns of up state counties. The weather in the localities traveled was unfavorable today, being cold, with snow falling. Mr. Hearst's voice has become almost entirely worn out, but he expects to address five meetings in Buffalo tonight. Mr. Hughes in a speech at Fulton today attacked Mr. Hearst's newspaper corporations, and declared that Hearst in these corporations had failed to pay their proper share of taxes.

A large number of the printed circulars bearing the name of William R. Hearst were sent out from democratic state headquarters. The two largest single rewards, $10,000 each, are offered for "information leading to the nviction of any member of the republican state committee for criminal complicity in election frauds," and for "information leading to the conviction of any member of any county committee for criminal complicity in election

In commenting on the report Postmaster Wilcox said it showed a prosperity thruout the country that exceeded anything known in the past.

BIG FINANCIAL DEAL PLANNED

Light and Traction Companies Involved in Organization

By Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 1.-As a result of a series of conferences now being held here, one of the most gigantic financial deals ever made in this section of the country will be put thru before the first of the year. Terms for leasing of the Cincinnati, Covington and Newport Light and Traction Company have been practically agreed upon and that property will probably soon pass into the control of the Columbia Company, a holding corporation formed under the laws of West Virginia.

This company will have a capital of $75,000,000, and will also purchase the control of the Union Gas and Electric Company of Cincinnati and the two Cleveland gas and electric properties and own outright many thousands of acres of oil and natural gas bearing lands in West Virginia. The aggregate capitalization of the subsidiary companies will amount to between $160,000,000 and $175,000,000.

OFFICERS BATTLE WITH DESPERADOES

Two Men Killed in Gun Fight in Washington State

By Associated Press. SPOKANE, Wash, Nov. 1.-A special to the Spokane Review from Pros-

There was a desperate battle near Kennewick yesterday between officers and burglars, who robbed two stores in that town Tuesday night. The officers were led by Sheriff A. G. McNeil of Prosser, who came on the robbers unaware in the bush. They were five or six in number and at once commenced firing. Marshall Michael Glover of Kennewick was instantly killed and Thomas Halsey, his deputy, was fatally wounded, Sheriff McNeil was shot twice, but not dangerously hurt. After being shot the sheriff emptied his gun at the robbers, killing one and finally capturing another. A gang of burglars is thought to have a rendezvous at Kennewick for the purpose of holding up a Northern Pacific train. The captured robber says he is Robert Layten, aged 16 years. He revealed the identity of the dead desperado, who proved to be Jacob Lake, recently a convict in the penitentiary at Walla Walla. Layten says his home was formerly in Florence, Colo.

STAMPEDE PONIES

Hundred Redskins Charge on Cavalrymen, but Offer No Battle Except Noise

Special to The Telegram. SHERIDAN, Wyo., Nov. 1.-A skirmish occurred today between a band of renegade Ute Indians and a troop of the Tenth cavalry on Bitter creek, according to word brought here by a special courier. The troops had captured fifty Ute ponies and frightened five herders. As the troopers were driving the ponies away 100 Utes, fully armed, surrounded the cavalrymen and the ponies, stampeding the ponies with revolver shots and native war whoops. The Indians recovered all their ponies but several were killed by stampede. The Indians did not fire at the soldiers and the soldiers desisted from attacking the Utes, as the Reds greatly outnumbered them. Another detachment of the Tenth cavalry that left Sheridan on Monday the troopers in an effort to stop their night ran across a wandering band of 100 Crow Indians under command of Chief Sweet Mouth. The troopers drove the Crows back to the Crow agency. The Crows denied any intention of joining the Utes.

Still another squad of the Tenth cavalry fell in with a band of Cheyenne Indians, who, on representation that they were hunting were allowed to go on in peace. Settlers charge that Indian guides employed by the federal troops are acting treacherously and leading the troops on false trails to keep the soldiers from overtaking the Utes. These settlers mention among the wily guides Woman's Dress, American

Horse and White Cow Bull. Some troopers of the Tenth cavalry marched all Tuesday night to capture a small band of Utes reported to be encamped on Bitter creek, but found no Indians at the designated place. Trainmen arriving tonight report that 100 Sioux are wandering fifty miles northwest of Sheridan. The Utes, it is said, make forced marches northward by night, hiding from the soldiers by day in the broken country thru which they are traveling. The Utes should soon arrive in Birney, it

$1,000,000 PRANK

Break in Bank of the Colorado River Which Inundated the Valley Finally Repaired

By Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 1.-The Salton Sea is to be doomed tomorrow. Officials of the Southern Pacific have announced that the last step has been taken and the Colorado river will be turned into its old course, and not any more water will flow into the great inland sea. The break in the bank of the Colorado river has been filled in with piles and stone and the last gap will be closed today. E. O. McCormack, assistant traffic director of the road, says there is no possibility of failure and that the river will be turned into its old channel.

The work of checking the flow of the river through the break in the bank has cost the Southern Pacific in the neighborhood of $1,00,000 and considerable damage to its tracks.

Corporation Surveyed

AMARILLO, Texas, Nov. 1.-Messrs.

Twitchell and Trigg, city engineers, have about completed surveys of the territory, which will be brought into the corporation limits. The original bounds of the corporation include only a small part of the territory now platted as town lots, and the actual resident part of the city has far outgrown the limits. This works a great hardship on the town in two ways. It impairs the revenues necessary to properly run the city government, for the taxes derived from this source are not sufficient to meet the demands of this rapidly growing city. Again the narrow bounds of the city make it impos.

sible for the authorities to cope with certain classes who live in the town, belief has remained, based as it is on many indications observed by old op-

Auditors and Attorneys Meet With Managers Here

A meeting of the general managers of the railways in the state was held in the parlors of Hotel Worth Thursday morning, there being present some of the auditors and general counsel of the various roads.

There is the general reticence about talking of the proceedings of the meeting and the only statement made is that there was a general discussion of matters which relate to the operation of the roads and there was at the morning session no discussion of any rate questions arising under the Hepburn rate bill.

After the recess at noon those who were in attendance went on the invitation of members of the club to Hermann Park, where they, as guests of the Panther Club, were treated to one of the characteristic feasts of the club. They are again in session Thursday

Those present were of the general managers: D. B. Keeler of the Fort Worth and Denver, who presided as the chairman; T. Fay of the Sunset, F. B. Drake of the Frisco, W. G. Van Vleck of the Texas and New Orleans, F. G. Pettibone of the Santa Fe, W. E. Green of the Cotton Belt, J. W. Everman of the Texas and Pacific and J. W. Lee, general superintendent of the Trinity and Brazos Valley. Among the attorneys were N. H. Lassiter of the Rock Island, C. H. Yoakum of the Frisco, J. S. Miller of the Katy and E. B. Perkins of the Cotton Belt. Messrs. Barry of the Houston and Texas Central, Wyatt of the Denver. Fyfe of the Cotton Belt and Terry of the Santa Fe were among the auditors present. J. B. "RESTRICT CHILI" SAYS WILLIAMS

School Children Exist on the Peppery Diet

Acting on the suggestion of Super-intendent W. D. Williams, regulations will probably be adopted in a few days estricting the sale of chili at the school uildings oftener than once or twice week. Mr. Williams finds that chili has been sold at the school houses every day and that the constant use of chill as a regular diet has a bad effect on the health of the children.

The superintendent has been visiting the schools at lunch hour and always buys his luncheons with the children. In this way he found that chili was being sold daily and also discovered that in many cases the food was not well prepared, was made from tough meat and poorly cooked.

At the high school building the lunches are provided by the domestic ience department, under the direction Miss Neal, who has charge of that It is probable that a nominal fee will be charged the venders of lunches, the fee to be turned into a fund for the benefit of the school at which it is

ASK A REFERENDUM

Propose Change of Route for Traction Tracks

Two petitions are being circulated asking that the franchise rights recently considered, be submitted to a referendum. One petition requests that the traction company be allowed to waive the rights acquired by that company to lay a street car track on Seventh streett, up Jones to Sixth, etc., and in lieu thereof be permitted to lay tracks on Seventh street from Main to Rusk and thence up Rusk to Sixth, to an intersection in the line. The second petition asks that the Chicago, Rock Island & Gulf Railway Company be empowered to build a steam railway track on Seventh street from its present yards at Sixth and Pecan streets, west to and along Seventh street to Rusk.

It is said that the traction company is willing to the change of route and that the Rock Island has agreed to lay the proposed tracks if the franchise is granted.

GREATER NEW YORK BOSSES TAKE OPPOSITE SIDES IN CAMPAIGN

BOSS CHARLES F. MURPHY AT HIS DESK IN TAMMANY HALL. Murphy is supporting Hearst, altho the latter has never shown any friendliness to the chief of Tammany Hall.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.-Not the least interesting feature of the present campaign for governor, as it is being carried on in Greater New York, is the rival attitudes of Charles F. Murphy, the big chief of Tammany Hall, and Pat McCarren, boss of Brooklyn democracy. Murphy is supporting Hearst and McCarren fighting him. While Charles F. Murphy was never quoted as saying "delighted" at the cartoons of himself in stripes when they were put forth by Mr. Hearst, he never took legal steps to have them suppressed. On Saturday, however, Mr. Murphy learned that a firm of advertising agents had made a contract to placard a nearly life-size carof Mr. Hearst and himself on the stations of the elevated and subway roads. In the cartoon Murphy is pictured in stripes and Hearst, with his hand upon his, is looking at him fondly and saying "He is good enough

Mr. Murphy, it is explained, didn't mind Mr. Hearst putting him in stripes so much, because at that time Mr. Murphy was showing up Hearst as an assassin, and thought it was horse and horse. Now, however, it is McCarren a Man of Deeds

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 .- One of the most luminous figures in the present exciting campaign is Patrick McCarren, boss of the Brooklyn democracy. He shines thru few words and large deeds.

His most recent contribution to the olitical excitement of the times was the bolting of Hearst, democratic and Independence League candidate for governor. Even in that momentous action McCarren did not talk much. He applied to Hearst some of the hardest words in the language and openly and forcibly announced that the Brooklyn democratic organization was "agin" the editor candidate. What Hearst has said in his papers in reply is another story McCarren's action caused great sur-

WOMAN IN THE CASE

The most remarkable thing about Blanch Walsh's appearance in Clyde Fitch's "Woman in the Case" at Greenwall's Wednesday night was that there was a large audience on hand to greet a strong dramatic attraction. It may have been possible that repeated hints in this column of The Telegram to the effect that the play would be of the sort not considered by church sewing circles in their study of the drama, had ome effect in increasing interest. It is certainly worthy of note that after The Telegram had repeatedly announced vette Guilbert didn't sing naughty songs any more, she had one of the smallest audiences of the year. Just why any one should delight in seeing a play which has for its story that of a widow who takes up life with a red-light district denizen in order to find out whether her husband killed himself or was murdered, can be explained only by most people's nunger for the morbid, if not the actually sug-

Claire Foster, who plays the opposite to Miss Walsh in "The Woman in the Case," does much for the elevation of the stage in showing how much champagne a woman can drink without getting woozy. When she gets on a genuine bun, she tells the story of now Rolfe, husband of the widow Miss

Walsh portrays, killed himself. Not to say that in the telling of Mrs. Rolfe's story there is any suggestion of the baldly indecent, but the value of the play other than to give Miss Walsh an opportunity of displaying her powers as an emotional actress, is hard to understand.

Miss Walsh was unusually effective in the role of Mrs. Rolfe. Her supporting company was strong, and the story of the play was told with firm, bold strokes such as Hugo might-have used. As to the advisability of putting on the stage what most people are content to study in the abstract, there is room for serious question. There were large audiences at both matinee and evening performances.

thing. Then why not begin feeling all prise. It was taking a regular party ! organization from a regular party candidate. Besides it seemed risky because of the strong Hearst following in Brooklyn. As a candidate for mayor a year ago Hearst and his fellow candidates on the municipal ownership ticket carried the city by a big majority over their republican and democratic opponents.

When the bolt was announced other men went up in the air, but McCarren kept his feet solidly on the ground. He is, as always, the most serene player in the game. Serenity is his specialty He wouldn't recognize worry if somebody showed him a picture of it.

On the night of a redhot election when things unexpectedly went wrong for their party the democratic leaders felt the need of a conference with Mc-Carren. Flying couriers finally found him peacefully sleeping in a hotel. Reading democratic defeat in the returns he had gone to bed. He went to headquarters, and in answer to the exclamations of the excited leaders he begged them to be calm.

"You know," he said, "that in a week you will feel all right over this I firms that do business with the city.

Cautiously Considering Demand By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.-The officials of the New York Central, Jersey Central and the Lackawanna Railroad, the three which have received demands from their trainmen for wage increases or readjustment of hours, or both, were cautious vesterday about discussing the situation. It was learned, however, that the expectation of the men that their demands would be met half way, or in a spirit of compromise, has not yet been realized. It is expected that there will be many conferences between the representatives of the men and the railway managers before the issues are sharply joined. The attitude of determination seemingly shown by the men to obtain what they have asked for will continue until a conclusion is attained.

FOUR MAGAZINES FOR THE PRICE OF ONE

Co-Operation in Advertising Makes it Possible-Half price offers are but combinaions of advertising. In a word, four magazines band together, use the same publicity and share the expenses. Four magazines working together reduce the cost of publicity about one-fourth of what it would be if taken up alone, The receipts are approximately the same as if the publicity were carried on independently. And who receives the benefits from this publicity club? The patron of the magazines, inasmuch as he secures a reduction in the subscription price made possible by economy. And thus the home can now secure three, four and five periodicals, which present-day needs require, for little more than the old-time price of a single magazine, that once was the solitary visitor to the family circle. For instdance, Combination No. 2. advertised by the Central Magazine Agency in our columns, offers the Cosmopolitan Magazine, $1.00; the Harper's Bazar, $1; the Home Magazine, $1,00, and the Reader Magazine, $3.00-total value, $6.00-all four for

THE TEXAS STATE CAPITOL

While Pennsylvania and other states are just awakening to the thoro manner in which they were robbed in the construction of their new capitol buildings, Texas can sit back in joyful contemplation of the fact that her big granite building was honestly constructed and every dollar invested fully accounted for. The story of the construction of the magnificent Texas capitol is an interesting one, as told in a recent number of the San Antonio Express, by M. H. McLaurin, ex-capitol commissioner. He says:

The construction of this building, at that time the seventh largest building in the world, involved many intricate features, which could not or were not fully set forth in the plans and specifications, and only by the most careful scrutiny of every detail as construction progressed mistakes were avoided, and the state secured a building which in point of durability and strength of construction is not surpassed by any modern structure of its size and purposes. This feature of our capitol building impressed all who visited it during its construction who were competent of judging. It impressed George Gould and Russell Sage, and inspired the latter to remark to the writer of this communication: "As a citizen of New York I would giadly exchange with Texas, if such were possible, our twenty-three million dollar building at Albany for this; we would lose some in ornament, but we would gain in utility, strength and durability."

The most important question which confronted the state's agents in our capitol construction was the stone of which it should be constructed. The contract was awarded for a very poor building material, known as Oatmanville limestone, located about nine miles from Austin. After the contractors had opened the stone quarries at that place at great expense, including miles of expensive railroad and switching tracks, the commissioners rejected the material delivered, as it had to come up to the sample selected, which fortunately for the state, was a fine one, and could not be obtained at these quarries in sufficient quantity for the proposed work. This came near recking the prospects of Texas securing a capitol building under the contract which had been made by the state. The contractors, thru Abner Taylor, their representative, offered to compromise with the state for work done to date, if their bond of a quarter of million dollars was released. In the discussion of this matter there was not a representative of the state's interest but insisted that our capitol should be constructed of the best native Texas material available, but the members of the state capitol board differed in considering the many propositions made by the contractors in their efforts to extricate themselves from a contract which they now clearly saw was going to cost them at least three times more than at first estimated, when it was pointed out to them that the hills around Austin could furnish every car load of stone required, which they soon found. after investigation and the expenditure of half a million dollars or more, was an impossibility.

It was known and considered by these Chicago contractors that granite was the only available Texas material which would comply with a strict construction of their contract, but in order to obtain the best terms possible for the adoption of granite, they presented a proposition to make our building of Indiana limestone. This stone would have fully complied with the crushing strength and conditions prescribed under the contract for the material to be used, but both of the commissioners and a majority of the capitol board considered this proposition, owing to the expense of transportation, merely a bluff to enforce terms and concessions in the final adoption of granite, and the Indiana stone proposition was accepted.

The contracts were prepared and submitted to the contractors. They turned them down, as was expected and they were forced to consider granite as the only available material, free from any sentimental love of a home product and state patriotism, which they had relied upon to vote down their Indiana stone proposi-

I have often since thought to whom is deserving the most credit in the final adoption of the best material on earth for our capitol building. Is it to nonest John Ireland and Lubbock, who insisted it should be granite or nothing, or to Swain, Walsh and Templeton, who were modern enough to meet the issue from a business point of view and allow no vantage of position to the is given that the administration entertains just exactly contractors by the bluff proposition they had made. his question, which was of vital interest to the welare of our capital building, was settled satisfactorily and perhaps all parties by the positions taken were a factor to its solution, together with the enhancement of land values which from this time kept pace with the increased cost of the building. To these circumstances are due the successful completion of our capitol. The actual cost of the building proper is known to a cent, as the law required a duplicate receipted voucher to be filed with the commissioners for every dollar paid out by the contractors on the actual construction of the building. These receipted vouchers filed with the commissioners, if I remember correctly, were something over three million, six hundred thousand dollars. They do not, however, included many miles of railroad constructed, and quarry expenses, which latter were eliminated from our office after entering into the granite contract,

POLITICAL ADDRESS

To the Democratic Voters of Tarrant County: It is deemed advisable to call your attention to existing political conditions in this county and to the importance of a full democratic vote in the coming

First, your attention is called to the fact that the enemies of democracy-not to say of good government -are making an annual effort to defeat W. P. Lane, one of our nominees for representative, and Jeff D. McLean, our nominee for county attorney, making nominations for no other offices, but confining their assault upon these two. The defeat of Mr. McLean being doubtless most desired, basing their hope upon the supposed dissatisfaction arising from Mr. McLean's efforts in enforcing the criminal laws against Sunday violations, gambling and trusts. Of course, in their literature and public utterances they do not raise these questions, but in private and where they deem advisable, they urge these matters, and are, by letter and otherwise, prosecuting along these lines one of the closest house to house campaigns that has ever been made in this county, and with much hope of success, relying upon the fact that a great many democrats will not go to the polls and taking comfort from the fact that their present nominee for county attorney against Mr. McLean ran ahead of Mr. Lattimore in the city four years ago, the country then saving Mr. Lattimore, as it must now save Mr. McLean.

Second, two years from now a President is to be elected and if coming events in politics, as elsewhere, cast their shadows, the democracy of this country will have within its own party lines in the selection of candidates as well as adoption of platform, the hardest fight in its history, and Tarrant county from her wealth, population and importance, should go into the state convention for the purpose of selecting delegates to the national convention with the largest representation the county ever had, hence, will be seen the importance of every democrat in Tarrant county going to the polls election day and voting and working for the nominees from governor down, and especially for Lane and McLean, for by this and this only can they certainly be elected, and by this and this only can Tarrant county certainly make her presence felt in the next state democratic convention.

In view of these matters, as chairman of the organized democracy of this county, I beg of every democratic voter that he do his duty in the coming election. B. P. AYRES, Chairman.

The above address from Chairman Ayres is a very timely one and should receive the careful consideration of every democratic voter in Tarrant county. The men who have been nominated for office in this county are the choice of the Tarrant county democracy, and it is the duty of every democrat to stand by demo-

Prior to the choice made by the democracy the individual is free to think and act for himself. But when he goes into a democratic primary and pledges himseif to abide by the action of that primary, then there is no other recourse but to abide by that pledge and support every democratic nominee from constable up.

The importance of getting out a full democratic vote should be thoroly understood and appreciated by the democracy of this county. The basis of Tarrant county's representation and voting strength in the next state campaign will be determined by the number of votes cast for Thomas M. Campbell for governor. It is very essential, then, that the democracy should come forth in all its strength next Tuesday and roll up a vote for the democratic nominees that will be the envy of every other county in the state of Texas.

The duty of Tarrant county democracy is very plain in this matter.

AMERICA AND THE MONROE DOCTRINE

Professor J. W. Burgess, the first incumbent of the Tl codore Roosevelt chair of American history and industries at Berlin, has created something of a mild furore by his declarations against the Monroe doctrine. As the address in question was delivered before the emperor of Germany and frequent allusions in it to President Roosevelt cause our German friends to construe it into a personal message to the emperor from the President, and it is being eagerly circulated by the Cermans. In his address Prof. Burgess said:

"In my first meeting with the President after my appointment to this professorship it pleased him to address me as an ambassador of peace, friendship and civilization. He gave proof thru this that he recognized and appreciated the great idea which his majesty, the highly gifted and magnanimous German emperor, gave to the world Jan. 1, 1905. It is the opinion of the Fresident, it is the opinion of my countrymen in general, that this idea is the most pregnant that has come forth in our time and that it gives evidence of the great sense of culture and extraordinary political wisdom of its mighty author. The execution of this idea makes it possible to suggest questions of the highest importance, which can scarcely be touched on in a diplomatic way, to the most fundamental examination and the most friendly consideration. There are, for example, two doctrines in the policy of the United States which are regarded as almost holy doctrines. the discussion of which may not even be proposed by a foreign power without risk of awakening hostility in the United States. These are the high protective tariff theory and the Monroe doctrine. Our politicians do not appear to have the least notion that both of these doctrines are almost obsolete and that the reconstruction of European states and their constitutions and the acceptance by the United States itself of its position as world power have made them appear nearly useless." Prof. Burgess said he regarded the discussion of the protective tariff diplomatically, between the United States and any foreign government, as futile, but the new ambassadors of peace and culture would be wholly free from limitations such as bound the diplo-

They would be able to speak from their own convictions without fear of being punished or recalled or what was still more important, without fear of disturbing or undermining friendships.

Prof. Burgess added:

"The best interests of the United States and the world would be advanced by a strong Teutonic tide of emigration to South America, by which the settlement that gigantic part of the centient by men capable of cultivating it would be secured." Since a copy of the address has been received at Washington, it is stated at the White House that Professor Burges is simply a private citizen holding official position under this government, and his expression concerning the Monroe doctrine was simply an expression of his own personal views. The assurance the opposite views to those expressed by the professor, who in an effort to please his audience appears to have entirely gone beyond the limit,

Now that a bagging shortage is showing up in Texas it may delay ginning of cotton to such an extent that ine railways can relieve some of the congestion that is existing at all shipping points. This congestion is itself pretty conclusive evidence that Texas is turning out one of those good old-fashioned bumper crops.

It is only about eighteen months now until some of the big foreign corporations doing business in Texas are going to come into bodily contact with the Texas alien land law. More than one big cattle company is face to face with that proposition.

There are many new laws now in process of incubation to be sprung at the coming session of the legislature, and the majority of them will be just as utterly worthless as many thousand efforts along the same line that have preceded them.

Tarrant county comes to the front with another increase in taxable values this year in excess of $3,-000,000, and this may be accepted as indisputable evidence that Tarrant county has made up her mind to stay right up at the head of the procession.

LIGHT IN DARKNESS

Did we think of the light and sunshine, Of the blessings left us still, When we sit and ponder darkly And blindly o'er life's ill. How should we dispel the shadows Of still and deep despair, And lessen the weight of anguish Which every heart must bear?

The clouds may rest on the present, And sorrow on days that are gone, But no night is so utterly cheerless That we may not look for the dawn: And there is no human being With so wholly dark a lot, But the heart, by turning the picture, May find some sunny spot.

For, as in the days of winter When the snowdrifts whiten the hill. Some birds in the air will flutter. And warble, to cheer us still; So, if we would hark to the music, Some hope with a starry wing. In the days of our darkest sorrow, Will sit in the heart and sing.

THE FIGHT IN TENNESSEE

There are some spots in the country where life rules the campaign. Tennessee is having the hottest battle for years, and republicans have hopes of electing their candidate for governor, General H. Clay Evens, the former pension commissioner. As the campaign draws to an end it is more evident that before it is concluded Evans will have gathered nearly all the moral forces together in an effort to defeat his democratic opponent, Representative M. R. Patterson of to this model city. I Memphis, He is speaking every day, and emphasizes the position of the republican platform on the temperance and race track issues, declaring against liquor and gambling in the strongest possible language. While Evans does not trim his republicanism in the slightest dogree in any of his speeches, he does not say anything to offend his democratic supporters, and the plan of the republican state committee is to keep matters in their present favorable condition. Mr. Patterson in his speeches endeavors to draw party lines, and in a measure he has succeeded. He ever and anon draws a picture of Force bills, and declares that the democracy of Tennessee is the best friend the temperance cause has ever had. While the republicans appear to be reaping a great benefit from the forces composing temperance and Christianity, the democrats have in the person of Senator Carmack, who is on the stump, a foe of the saloon and gambling element. In a speech the other day he said: "The entire state must rid itself of saloons and gambling. I had rather see the democratic party perish than to see it foster the liquor traffic and the gambling interests in Tennessee." Patterson has been attacking Governor Cox and the present state administration, and this may cost him

Every mother feels a great dread of the pain and danger attendant upon the most critical period of her life. Becoming a mother should be a source of joy to all, but the suffering and danger incident to the ordeal makes its anticipation one of misery. Mother's Friend is the only remedy which relieves women of the great pain and danger of maternity; this hour which is dreaded as woman's severest trial is not only made painless, but all the danger is avoided by its use. Those who use this remedy are no longer despondent or gloomy; nervousness, nausea and other distressing conditions are overcome, the system is made ready for the coming event, and the serious accidents so common to the critical hour are obviated by the use of Mother's Friend. "It is worth its weight in gold," says many who have used it. $1.00 per bottle at drug stores. here Spooks Congregate

Out at the J. C. Berneys', at Stop 6, on the Interurban, the spooks walked in all spookish glory Wednesday. A number of guests went out on the 7 o'clock car and were met at the gate by a pumpkin headed spook, whose features were aglow with a mysterious fire. All along the path to the house lone ghosts appeared to lead the way, only to disappear as the house came

A witch's cauldron contained a wonderful brew, and its contents was interpreted for love-lorn damsels and youths who sought for a resolution of their troubles.

Other fortune tests, eating apples, winding of the yarn, trips to distant points out of doors, kept all occupied with the business of the season. A luncheon of chicken salad, sandwiches and coffee was served. Those present were Misses McCormick of Dallas, Walker, Meek, Vesta Anderson, Bess Anderson, Yeates, Margaret and Amelia Mitchell, Nina and Lois Yeates, Maud Sawyer, Freida Downing, Margaret Berney, Nona Leach: Mr. and Mrs. Leach, Mr. and Mrs. Rawson: Mrs. Patterson: Messrs. Wilson, Anderson, Sykes, Scales, Fabian, Jones, Grant and Woodfrin.

As the guests departed, the way to the road was led by two waving phantoms, clad in black with heads of fearsome shape and gesture, which was most suggestice of the occasion.

St St St Mrs. J. C. Horn entertained the members of the Auxiliary of the Railway Mail Association Wednesday evening with a Halloween party, at which the husbands were welcome guests. The decorations were jack-o'-lanterns of many fantastic shapes, apples and other insignia of the merry season. An "animal fair" was held, each guest being provided with pasteboard, etc., of which they were to reproduce animals they fancied. For skill in reproducing managerie curiosities, a kerchief of wondrous shape went to Mr. Ray and a point lace handkerchief to Mrs. Rut-

"Simple Simon Simple"

While "Simple Simon Simple," Messrs. Nixon & Zimmerman's new cartoon musical extravaganza, which comes to Greenwall's opera house Saturday matinee and night, Nov. 3, is spoken of as a "Frenzied Fun Festival" by the New York Herald, the musical portion of the piece borders on the operatic. In fact two of the finales verge on grand opera, and were written by no less a man than Mr. Theodore Bendix, one of America's foremost composers and arrangers. Among the singing numbers may be mentioned an aria by Bert Howard with lyrics by Charles H. Brown, entitled "Juno."

As rendered by the tenor of the "Sim-

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few-People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty

Costs Nothing To Try. Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few utilize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose. Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present n the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system. Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic. It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh. All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges: they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, leasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but, on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lizenges to all nationts suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them: they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and altho in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets." TROUBLE

SYNOPSIS.

Florian Amidon, a rich young banker of Hazelhurst (a middle western American town) decides to take a day off from business and indulge in his favorite hobby, photography. He takes the afternoon train and after alighting at a junction, dozes off to sleep andwakes up in a Pullman car to find himself known as Eugene Brassfield, wealthy oil operator, New York clubman, engaged to an attractive young woman, and involved in a mass of business of which he is ignorant, while the year is five years later than the in which he started his journey. A clairvoyant to whom he applies for aid in solving his mystery is assisted by a hypnotist who puts Amidon in a trance, and while in that state his identity as Brassfield becomes normal. From conversations taken down in shorthand, during his hypnotic state, Amidon learns something of the busi-ness affairs of Brassfield, and with this meager help he is enabled to pre-serve something of Brassfield's position, the often sadly bewildered.

He finds himself involved in a complex electric traction deal, the details of which are unknown to him. He also learns that his victory in a suit involving valuable property hinges on happenings of a date prior to his existence as Eugene Brassfield.

Every morning, now, a box of flowers went up to Elizabeth, at the house with the white columns; and every evening Mr. Amidon bravely followed. The terror he felt of women was overpowered by the greater terror of losing this woman, and the fortitude and resolution he possessed in all other fields of action were returning to him. His violets and carnations she always wore for him, and all the roses except the red ones, which she put in vases and kept near her, but did not wear. She was ineffably kind and sweet, in a high and pure and far-off way fit for Olympus, but all the intimate little coquetries and tricks of charm with which she had at first received and disconcerted him were gone. She talked to him in that low voice of hers, but oftener she sat silent, and seemed to desire him to talk to her. Since that first night, he could not bring himself to act a part, further than to assume the name and place of Eugene Brassfield. He stood afar off, looked at his divinity and worshiped. He read to her her favorite books, and ventured somewhat, out of his exceptional knowledge, to expond themwhereat she looked away and listened with something of the astonishment with which she had received his disquisitions on poetry and art on that first unlucky evening. For the most part, however, he, too, was inclined to silences, in which he looked at Elizabeth in the happiness of a lover's wretchedness. The love she had given to Brassfield seemed to him based on the deceitful pretensions of that wretch, and in any case it was not his, and he felt repelled from accepting it.

May I?" He looked so pleadingly at her, holding the little hand in both of his, that it is no wonder her color rose. It was like the worshipful inception of a new courtship.

"I shall be invisible," said she, "all day-so you must wait. You haven't any time to bother with me, anyhow. Haven't you your platform to complete? A public man must attend to public matters first, and, anyhow, shall be denied to all my friends, and you must waft with the rest!" "It is hard to wait," he answered, "when you are so near."

she, "by endeavoring to be as beautiful as-as you used to describe me-at the reception. Good night! Good night!" He once more violated the Brassfield traditions; he simply raised her hand to his lips and kissed it. To do more, he felt, would spoil all. She went in, more nearly happy than at any time since his return, but sorely puzzled.

"I shall never understand him." she thought Mrs. Major Pumphrey, standing in line with Miss Scarlett and Mrs. Pumphrey's sister from Wisconsin: a procession of people coming in by twos and threes, and steered by attendants into rooms for doffing wraps; a chain of de-wrapped human beings circulating past the receiving line and listening to Mrs. Pumphrey's assurances that she was delighted to welcome them that she might have the pleasure of introducing them to her sisterand of course they knew Miss Scarlett; an Itaman harper who played ceaselessly among palms; a punch bowl presided over by Flossie Smith and Mrs. Alvord; a melange of black coats, pretty frocks and white arms and shoulders; a glare of lights; a hum like s hive's-in short, a reception. Such was the function to which Florian made his way, waiting until he could arrive concomitantly with the Waldron carriage so that he might hand the ladies therefrom, and receive from his divinity at little, uncertain pressure of the hand. Then came his respects to Mrs. Pumphrey. Amidon started as he recognized in the bright-haired second person in line his fairy of the balus-

"So delighted to see you here, Mr. Brassfield!" said Mrs. Pumphrey. "It gives me the opportunity of presenting you to — why, Daisy, where's your auntie gone? She was here just now!" "She was called away for a few moments," said Miss Scarlett. "Yes, 1 believe Mr. Brassfield and I have met" -this with an icy bow-"and please, Mr. Cox, don't go, until I have told you the end of the story!" And she went on vivaciously chatting to Billy, Cox, who had moored himself as close to her as the tide of guests sweeping by her would permit. Which current swept Mr. Amidon onward as he was in the act of assuring his hostess of his sense of loss in her sister's absence -until an eddy left him in a quiet corner, wher he found absorbing occupation in trying to imagine again as vividly as possible that pressure of the hand. Was it meant as an evidence of affection?-or did her foot slip, so that she clung to his hand to prevent a fall? This question seemed of the most transcendent importance to him, and he debated it mentally all the evening, as he talked the set conversation of such an occasion. He knew not one; but every one knew him; yet he had no difficulty in getting on, because there was no sense in any of the conversation. He could answer all the remarks regarding his new role of himself to anything serious. Bright eyes flashed meaning and soulful glances into his, as sweet lips said things which he could answer quite as well as if the context of the conversation had been as familiar to him as it was supposed to be. Platitudes, generalities, inanities; and inanities, platitudes and generalities in reply. Amidon looked the part of Brassfield sort, to look the part is quite enough. He found Elizabeth again, surrounded by a circle of admirers-men and women-an oasis of intelligence, it seemed to him as he listened, in a desert of twaddle. She smiled at him with her eyes, as he looked at her thru the press, and just as he had won to a place by her side, the tide was sent flooding into a large room where, it was announced, Professor Blatherwick and Madame le Claire were doing feats of occultism.

think, Mrs. Hunter?" Amidon looked across and saw-Mrs. Hunter, of Hazelhurst! It was she and her daughter from whom he had bashfully flown to the buffet, just before he alighted from the train at Elm Springs Junction. As he looked at her all the old life returned to him! He saw himself sitting with her and Minnie in the car, as she talked fashions to him and chatted her anticipations of the lovely time Minnie was to have with the family of Senator Fow-

Bearish Market on Yield and Condition-Slight Damage by Frost. Giles on Condition

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Nov. 1.-The market opened steady and a fairly strong undertone prevailed. While the trading was light, there seemed to pe a good demand , while the offerings were limited. The effect of weather news and the holiday in New Orleans caused a covering by shorts. For a time a slight advance was made, the high mark being 3 to 5 points above the opening, but the market began to decline and lost 25 points by the middle of the session. Local sentiment was bearish and the reports from the interior that farmers were inclined to hold for better prices, and continued frost reports had little effect on stimulating the bull sentiment. The report of the season's crop estimate made public yesterday by Neill Bros. was generally credited, and very little criticism is offered today.

The Journal of Commerce issued its final crop report today. It shows a decline during October of 7 points. making the condition of the unpicked crop 64.4 on the average date of the replies, which was Oct. 23. This decline seems a heavy one. It compares with 4.3 points for the corresponding period a year ago, and 6 points in 1903, while in 1904 the condition improved 1.6. The report places considerable stress on the deterioration of quality during October. All the important states show a falling off in condition of over 10 points except Louisiana, Georgia and Texas. Continuous rains which did considerable damage over the greater portion of the cotton belt were absen in Texas, and the condition in this

of Time The first local killing frost of the winter was reported to the Fort Worth weather bureau Thursday morning, it being the second earliest in the history of the weather bureau here for the past fourteen years. Reports from the nurserymen and farmers located near Fort Worth, however, indicate that there was no damage done in this vicinity owing to the moisture in the air. The thermometer went down to 32 degrees at the weather bureau, the coldest of the season. As the average date for the first killing frost in Fort Worth is Nov. 19. the season this year is about three weeks ahead of time, and is practically the coldest on record for this season of the year. The frost follows the coldest October that Fort Worth has ever experienced. The earliest killing frost that has been reported by the weather bureau in this city was on Oct. 22, 1898.

The heavy frost line extends northward from Fort Worth thru to the lake regions. The southern limit of the freezing conditions is given as Nashville, Fort Smith and Fort Worth. The reports from the cotton belt indicate clear and practically rainless weather in the twenty-four hours ending at 7 o'clock Thursday morn-

Range of temperatures as reported from Texas stations are as follows: Abilene 56 to 34, Amarillo 60 to 28, Corpus Christi 56 to 54, El Paso 68 to 46. Fort Worth 56 to 32, Galveston 52 to 50, Palestine 56 to 36, San An-

Small Primary Movement Gives Some Cattle Receipts Moderate .- . Steers Strength to Wheat Market-Corn Steady-Cows Active-Calves and Oats Still Bullish Steady-Hogs Steady By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 1.-Considerable strength was dispalyed in the grain market today. Wheat opened with a good undertone, and from all private reports the primary movement was small compared to last year. There was some profit taking, but the disposition to buy was shown all thru the Steers day. Foreign cables were off at the opening, but were more favorable at the close. Outside traders in the cash market were bullish, and the influence was felt in the pit. Corn was in fair demand and there was good buying in December and May stuff, especially in the latter month, by local operators. The close was firm with a strong undertone. December and May oats were taken at a slight advance from the opening quotations by a large western commission house. Otherwise there was little change in sight and the market closed feature-More strength was shown in the provision market than for several days. Pork made substantial gains on January offerings. Much of the strength developed on foreign houses buying lard. The receipts of hogs at the western markets were 29,000 less than at this time last year, and this also added a bull feeling to the local market. All offerings were well absorbed, which suggested investment in buying, and European advices were rather bullish as regards the provision situation,

HOW'S THIS FOR POTATO?

Hill County Produces an Enormous Yam Special to The Telegram.

HILLSBORO, Texas, Nov. 1.-Ed Patterson brought to town last week the largest sweet potato probably that has been dug in Hill county this year. It was of the vineless yam variety, weighed three and a quarter pounds was twenty-one inches long, nine and one-half inches around the largest part and five and one-half inches around his smallest part. The potato was raised in good black land on Cobb creek, about five miles southeast of the city. Mr. Patterson says that in planting his potatoes he cut and dropped them just the same as he did his Irish potatoes, and had a splendid yield.

disappointing cotton market to a large number of traders who looked for an improvement as a result of frosts and a stiff demand for actual cotton in the south. The market advanced 7 or 8 points and then began to lose the gain, showing pressure of some sort or other and those who had cotton at higher prices, sold out on the decline that ensued. There seems to be a very active demand, every point down from 10 to 15, but whether this was in an effort to stem the decline or whether due to legitimate buying, is not determined. Under these circumstances conservative interests were not disposed to sell short, but the market showed the absence of outside business and the pressure of hedge cotton from the south from present indications looks as tho there would be enough demand around 10 cents to prevent an open break from this level and trading operations on a scale down are likely to be success-G. DID NOT BUY TEXAS LAND

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.-H. W. Mc-Alyster, W. J. Orr and Philip L. Hollins, three members of the Federation of Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers of Manchester, England, arrived yesterday on the steamer Caronia on their way to visit the cotton belt. Mr. Mc-Alyster denied the report that they had purchased 40,000 acres of land near Brownsville, Texas, with which to make an attempt to grow their own cotton. "We were over here last March to see how cotton is planted and we are back to see how it is picked and prepared for market. We also intend to make a careful inquiry into the labor question," said Mr. McAlyster.

ENGAGEMENT TOLD

Pretty Department Store Romance Revealed at Party In the midst of a Halloween surprise party, given by the employes of the W. C. Stripling Dry Goods Company, in honor of John J. Woody, floor manager, came an additional surprise in the announcement of the engagement of C. K. Beyett, general business manager of the store, and Miss Kate Brown, manager of the lace department. The disclosure of the romance cama as a complete surprise to the forty employes of the store, who had gathered together earlier in the evening and, arrayed in fantastic costumes, proceeded to the residence of Mr. Woody, on Samuels avenue, for a Halloween surprise party.

In the midst of an evening full of enjoyment, Mr. Beyett suddenly arose and announced the happy news to all present. Congratulations immediately poured on the couple, who are num-bered among the most popular of the Stripling store.

The date of the wedding has not been set, but it is announced that it will be held in the near future. Mr. Beyett has been an employe of the W. C. Stripling Dry Goods Company for a period of five years, while Miss Brown has been there for a little over a year. Both are well known and very popular in Fort Worth and vicinity.

Combining as it did the nature of an announcement party and an old-fashioned Halloween party, the evening was voted by all present as one of the most enjoyable that they had ever had. The evening was spent in games customary to Halloween, in which every thing of the ghostly order was brought out, nor were the fortunes of the guests forgotten. Each guest was presented with a prophecy for the future, printed upon the back of a heartshaped card.

New Scientific Appliance, Always a Perfect Fit-Adjustable to Any Size Person-Easy, Comfortable, Never Slips, No Obnoxious Springs or Pads-Costs Less Than Many Common Trusses-Made for Men, Women or Children.

Sent on Trial

I have invented a rupture appliance that I can safely say, by thirty years' experience in the rupture business, is the only one that will absolutely hold the rupture and never slip, and yet is light, cool, comfortable, conforms to every movement of the body without chafing or hurting and costs less than many ordinary trusses. There are no springs or hard, lumpy pads, and yet

5 MAVERICKS BRANDED

Knights of Bovinia Meet on Holloween Night "

The Mystic Knights of Bovinia got down to business Wednesday night and did things. It was Halloween and there was no such thing as preventing fun from being mixed up with business, the result being that the meeting was the best since the reorganization Chief Ranch Boss W. D. Davis presided and all officers were present except the keeper of the branding iron and the keeper of the records. Attending the meeting besides these were about seventy-five ranch hands and mayerick rustlers.

The first action of the chief ranch boss was to order a round-up on the range, and the regalia of the order was donned and the hunt for mavericks on the streets was on. The routewas from the chief ranch to the Tourraine hotel, thence to Eighth street, thence to Main, up Main to Seventh, where the first maverick was found. He was taken in hand and, while he kicked like a three-year-old, he was escorted to the ranch and branded. Four others were captured during the round-up and all had the branding iron slapped on to them. Following the round-up considerable business was disposed of, the announcement being made that in the neighborhood of $900 had been collected for initiation fees and dues. The amount collected at the meeting Wednesday night was over $200. It was decided that a big drum be procured to be used in calling the cattle together. It is to be beaten from the top of the ranch house every Wednesday night, Bill Lowrey was appointed to get the drum with instructions not to give up a cent for it. The election of permanent officers will be held next Wednesday night, and twenty-two mavericks who took the first degree Wednesday night will be given a full dose and the finishing touches at the next round-up.

Plan by Southern Pacific to Invade Gould Territory

Special to The Telegram

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1 .- The current belief that the Southern Pacific railroad is preparing to invade Gould territory was made stronger when the Southern Pacific filed the charter of the Lake Charles and Northern railroad, with a capital of $700,000. Geo. W. Nott, president of the Citizens' Bank, is made president, J. A. Bell, lumberman of Lake Charles, vice president; Francis Martin and John McGraw, prominent business men, are the other directors. G. G. Moore, chief clerk to E. B.

Bossier, Webster and Clairborne. The terms of the charter indicate that the Southern Pacific proposes to construct a line thru the rich yellow pine timber country north of Lake Charles and it is believed that the Southern Pacific also proposes to build thru to Alexandria and thence on the west bank of the Red river to Shreveport. The terms of the charter also give the company authority to build a line northward thru the parishes of Rapides, Grant, Winn, Bienville and Claiborne, this being apparently a line other than the supposed Alexandria Shreveport line.

COLDEST OCTOBER ON LOCAL RECORDS

Low Wind Velocity During the Month Just Closed

The monthly report of the weather issued from the local weather bureau shows that the past month is the coldest October on record since the establishment of the office. Besides this the report shows that the past Octowas also remarkable for the fact that there were no thunderstorms reported at all, a rather unusual occurrence, as they generally precede the cold weather. Another remarkable thing about the month was the low wind velocity.

The average temperature during the past month as shown by the report was 61 degrees, which is six degrees under the normal of 67 degrees, Not only was the month a cold one in average, but the maximum and minimum temperatures were also low. The highest temperature that was reported during the month was but 86 degrees, while the thermometer has gone as high as 98 degrees in previous Octobers. The lowest report was 34 degrees, which is within three degrees of the lowest that was ever reported at this

In the line of rainfall the past October has also been deficient. The total rainfall for the month was but .91 of an inch, the second lowest on record. In 1894 the total fall was but .73 of an inch. The average rainfall for October the past 14 years is 3.03 inches, showing thus a deficit of 2.12 inches for this year. The heaviest rainfall for an October occurred in 1905, when 4.21. inches fell. Rain fell on four days only during the past month.

The wind for the past month has shown a deficiency incident to the cold weather and high barometer. The highest wind velocity for the month here was but 29 miles an hour, even tho the remainder of the gulf states were suffering from a series of hurricants, with high wind velocities. The prevailing wind was from the southwest.

The average velocity of the wind was ten miles per hour, with a total of 7,484 miles for the month. Light frost occurred on the 24th 25th, 28th and 30th of the month, with no heavy or killing frosts. Statistics for the entire year show that so far 1906 is short exactly one degree a day in temperature since the beginning of the year.

DANCE OF SPOOKS

Hobgoblins, Witches and Ghosts at Court House Last Night

Halloween was enjoyed by a large crowd at R. E. Lee camp, Sons of Veterans headquarters, Wednesday night at a Halloween function under the auspices of the Sons and Daughters of the Confederacy. The entertainment which was uncanny and ghostwas participated in enjoyed by a large crowd, the old soldiers of R. E. Lee camp, U. C. V., turning out in strong force to help the young people enjoy the evening. John A. Kee, commander of the Sons, opened the affair with an address of welcome and was followed by Commander E. W. Taylor of the veterans, both of whom made interesting talks.

Mrs. A. R. Howard of Palestine and Mrs. F. L. Jordan of Julia Jackson chapter, U. D. C., also made brief talks appropriate to the occasion. Following the address there was a phantom dance which included a grand march of the spooks, about thirty couple participating. There were long spooks, short spooks, thir spooks and fat spooks, the effect being uncanny and novel. Then came and other dances that carried one away back to other days. In the adjoining hall the fortune tellers and the witches held forth where a peep into the future was taken and where happy marriages were predicted at so much per head This feature of the entertainment was the most attractive of the whole, and a world of fun was extracted from it. he entertainment closed with a dance by plain clothes people, the spooks and hobgoblins having all vanished.

Special to The Telegram. NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1 .- Five persons were scalded to death by a column of escaping steam from a broken boiler drum in a sugar house near Va-

The scene of the tragedy, the Shell Hill plantation, is remote from telegraphic communication.

A hole two feet square burst in the boiler drum, which stood about twelve feet away from the sugar house. The escaping steam ploughed a trench about three feet deep in the ground until it struck the sugar house foundation of stone and cement, This obstruction deflected the column of steam and hot water upward so that it ripped a comparatively narrow hole in the sugar house, passing out at the roof about forty feet distant from the brok-

The sugar house was filled with steam When this boiling vapor had expended its force rescuers ran into the wrecked structure, finding the three men, the little girl and a negro still alive, but fatally burned and in intense suffering.

HEAVEN NO PLACE

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Nov. 1 .- Bachelors and spinsters who attended the afternoon session of the World New Thought federation eyed one another pathetically and went away sorrowing. If the edict laid down by one of the speakers, Professor Lanpher, psychologist and occult instructor, is accepted with sincerity, there undoubtedly will be a decided and immediate uplift along matrimonial lines. The professor divulged grave message. By logical deductions he led up to the climax. In so many words the conclusion was:

"Without the possession of paternal or maternal instincts and experience mmortality cannot be gained." Continuing, the professor revealed plainly that heaven has no abiding place for bachelors and old maids. He went on to advocate schools of love-the only diploma for which would be a marriage certificate.

"This is a world of live," he repeated, 'yet love is not taught in the public schools. There should be schools of love, and the young should be educated in love. The public schools of today educate only the animal instinct.

The audience aupplauded loudly, and one enthusiast was heard to exclaim: "What about the Chicago school board? "Is not woman an important a factor in the world's creation and being as man?" the professor asked. "It is the mother's voice and love that sways the world. By relegating woman to the subjective, man assuming the positive, we are relegating the mothers to the cemeteries. Woman should have equal voice in all things with man." Altho a practicing physician, Dr. Prat declared the harmony to be effected by the New Thought cult would do away entirely with sickness, and the doctors would have to go out of business. He declared by proper mental discipline even grief over death would be unknown, "Some time ago my little boy was killed by a street car," he gave as a practical example.

"Altho I loved that child better than my own life, I never felt one iota of anguish or shed one tear over his
