By Associated Press. PARIS, Nov. 8 .- The hearing of the Castellane divorce suit case was resumed before Judge Ditte in the palace of justice this morning. Maitre Bonnett, counsel for Count Boni de Castellane, consumed less than an hour in concluding his argument for the count. He continued his criticism of Edmund Kelley, the American lawyer of the intess, and persisted in his demand the examination of witnesses, in der, he said, to permit the case being obed to the bottom. The counsel dded that in the event a divorce was granted, the count would ask for permission to see the children two days each week and a month during the summer, and that the countess be enjoined from taken the children to America without his consent. Maitre Cruppi, counsel for the countess, in his reply, charged the count's lawyers with seeking to divert attention from the issue at bar by making an unprecedented and baseless attack on Mr. Kelley, who, the counsel declared, enjoyed a high standing in the United States and in France, which was superfluous, he having been coun-

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 8.—The cause of one of the most dramatic shootings in Louisiana's recent history, when Judge George K. Favrot last night killed his life long associate, Dr. H. H. Aldrich, is still unknown early today.

The fact that Judge Favrot was the leading figure among the Louisiana democratic congressional nominees and was on Tuesday elected by a majority demonstrating an unusual popularity, and that both men are married and occupying some of the most respected positions at the state capital, and the circumstances that the street near which the shooting occurred was at the time filled with leading officials of the city, accompanied in some cases by their wives, made an unusual setting for the

Dr. Aldrich, the victim of the shots, had just left his office in this building. He was found lying in the corridor with his revolver sticking nose down in his watch pocket, and the butt hidden under his vest. Many members of thisforder are men who have served in the army, know all about the evil effects of excessive drinking from personal experience, and they realize that the abolition of the canteen is responsible for the increase of drunkenness among soldiers. Under present conditions, the soldier drinks at low resorts on the outskirts of army posts, without any restrictions whatever. With the canteen, as advocated by the Rechabites, he will drink under government supervision and restrictions, under which overindulgence is impossible. In addition, the Rechabites propose that the government, in framing the canteen law, should discri strongly in favor of beer, which has a very small percentage of alcohol, and light wines. It is believed that the soldier will be satisfied with these beverages obtained under favorable conditions, and that he will be less likely to indulge in vile and ardent liquors than at present.

The only information received from Rio Grande City concerning the murder was a telegram received by the governor from Judge Monroe of that place. Judge Monroe was at one time a member of the legislature from that district. The message merely advised the chief executive that Judge Welch had been murdered some time during Monday night by unknown parties.

There is a dog ordinance that will give the necessary relief, and the dog catcher is likely to be called upon to begin crusade against the troublesome canines. For the past year or two the matter is to be brought to the attention of the city council, and if the present law is not sufficient, it will receive the necessary remodeling.

HOLD LOVE BILL CONSTITUTIONAL

State Supreme Court Sustains Judge Brooks

PENALTIES EXCESSIVE

State Held to Be Entitled to Pro Rata Part of 1 Per Cent Assessment on Railroads' Gross Earnings

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 8 .- The supreme court Wednesday decided that the Love bill taxing railroads 1 per cent of their gross earnings was valid and that the state was entitled to the pro rata part of the tax from the date the act became effective to the end of the year, rendering judgment therefor The opinion was written by Associate Justice Brown and reverses the appellate court and sustains the trial court was was Judge Victor L. Brooks. The court further affirmed the trial court, holding that penalties were excessive and discriminatory, giving judgment for 6 per cent interest instead. The opinion is quite lengthy, covering twenty typewritten pages. It is understood that after the customary motions for rehearing are disposed of the railroads will appeal the case to the supreme court of the United States. In the very outset the court says there is no discrimination in classifying

the railroads for taxation; that they are classed together and the tax is equal and uniform and not in violation of the federal constitution, and is not violative of the fourteenth amendment of the constitution, as the tax is collected thru due process of law. Coming to the real issues of the case, that holds that the Maine case, Maine vs. Grand Trunk railway, 142 U. S., 217 is the prevailing view of the United States supreme court on the question and he declines to attempt to reconcile seeming conflicts in the decisions on the subject. Following this he applies that case to Texas, stating that in Maine it was called an excise tax, while the Texas law gave it no name, and that such omission matters not, and that it is an excise tax in Texas. Quoting from the Texas law, Judge Brown

"The language quoted is not appropriate for the lvv of a tax on the gross receipts of the railroads but is apt when used to levy a franchise or occupation tax. It is such as was in common use by previous legislatures of this state for like purposes. The view most favorable to the railroads is that the law is susceptible of the construction that the tax is levied upon the gross earnings of the corporations, but that interpretation would render the law void, and, as we have said, the courts will not apply that construction which would destroy the law when a constitutional purpose can fairly be derived from its terms."

Law Partly Retroactive In a very few words the court holds that the law was retroactive as to taxes prior to the date it became effective, July 17, and is void to that extent, but awards the taxes from that date to the end of the year. As to the raffroad's contention that because the legislature could not impose the tax for the expired portion of the year it could not do it for any part of the year 1905, the court says it is wrong and does not void the law as a whole. "But the court will give effect to it for that portion of the time which expired after it became effective; that is, the court will sustain the tax as far as the legislature had authority to impose it." San Antonio vs. Berry, 92 Tex., 325, is cited as con-

LAWTON, O. T., Nov. 8 .- Miss E. May Brown, the school ma'am in a district a few miles west of here, who recently had trouble in her school on account of the children practicing so much kissing, is again in trouble, but this time with the school board. With the close of the last week in October the board gave notice there would be a vacation for the pupils during the month of November in order that the children might assist their parents in gathering the cotton. Miss Brown objected to the school taking a vacation for a month and began circulating a petition among the patrons asking that the school continue without interruption. The school board claims that at the annual meeting of the school patrons last summer it was agreed that school should begin early in September and continue until November, when a vacation of four weeks should be taken for cotton picking, and after that there should be six months more of the term, This was not written in the young lady's contract and she refuses to abide by the sense of the patrons' meeting last summer.

CRAZED MAN DIES HORRIBLE DEATH

Suicides by Standing in Front

TRIES TO KILL HIS BOYS

Holds Them On the Track and Were Badly Injured-His Life Crushed Out Instantly

Special to The Telegram.

CHILDRESS, Texas, Nov. 8.-C. A. Parhan, a cotton buyer of Carey, committed suicide here yesterday in a horrible manner. He stood on the railtrain crush out his life. The man was evidently crazed, as he made a frantic effort to hold his two little boys on the track with him in order that they, too, might die under the wheels of the train. They struggled for their freedom.

The engineer of the train saw the man and the two boys on the track, but thought they would get off as the train approached nearer. However, he discovered too late that the man meant suicide and before he could throw on the air his engine rushed over the man, tearing his body almost into shreds and badly injuring the boys. Parhan had just separated from his wife. Not two hours before his death the agreement was reached between them that he should take the two boys and that she should keep the two girls. Leaving Carey the man started for Childress with the boys and was just entering this city when he decided upon self-destruction. It is thought that he was temporarily insane from the sorrow occasioned by the separation from his wife. The injured boys were taken to a Fort Worth hospital and the remains of the deceased were buried there,

RAILWAY PROMOTERS

Building of Carrizo Springs Line Is

Assured & George B. Jenkinson, a railway promoter of New York city, is in Texas in the interest of several railway projects. He is not a capitalist, but is in touch with men of money that his recommendations are valuable in the important essential of financing the projects he commends. The two most important Texas profects for which he is actively at work are the building of a road from Artesia on the International, about 100 miles south of San Antonio, northwestward to Carrizo Springs and ultimately to Spofford Junction, in that direction and from Artesia eastward toward and to Aransas Pass. The other project is for the building of a line from Henrietta to Archer City. In the latter several Dallas capitalists are associated with Mr. Jenkinson. The building of the Carrizo Springs line from Artesia westward was conditioned on the giving of a cash and land bonus by some of the interested property holders, among whom are the Tafts of Cincinnati, Ohio, Secretary of War Taft being a member of the family. The local paper at Carrizo Springs, the Javelene, is the authority for the assertion that the cash and land have both been pledged. INVITED TO "CLANSMAN"

Who will be the deputies in the office of sheriff, county clerk and county collector is a matter of some interest to many people, but the heads of departments are not yet disposed to make known all their appointments. Sheriff-elect Tom Wood was seen by a Telegram reporter and was asked for a list of his deputies, but said while he had about agreed on whom he would appoint, there was one that had not been fully agreed on and he would wait" until that point had been settled before making his list public. He authorized the statement, however, that W. M. Rea, former city marshal, would be his chief deputy. It is understood that there will be an entire new force in the sheriff's office, not one of the old deputies being retained. County Tax Collector R. M. (Bob) Davis, who will take charge Saturday, Nov. 17, has appointed James F. Prosser, formerly deputy county clerk, his chief deputy, Mr. Prosser having resigned his deputyship under Clerk R. L. Rogers over two weeks ago to ac-

J. W. SPRINGER TO BE SENATOR

Old Officials Are Preparing Fort Worth Friends Believe He Will Be Elected

> Special to The Telegram. DENVER, Colo., Nov. 8 .- Sufficient returns have been received to make certain the election of the entire republican state ticket and of sixty to seventy of the one hundred members of the legislature, insuring the election of a republican to succeed United States Senator Patterson. On advised returns republican pluralities in Denver appear to be about 10,000 and in the state 15,000 to 20,000.

Fort Worth friends of John W. Springer, formerly president of the National Live Stock Association, believe that this dispatch means he will be elected senator to succeed Patterson when the Colorado legislature meets. Springer is a republican and he has been prominently mentioned for the toga. He is a frequent visitor in Texas and is widely known among cattlemen of the state. In his selection the live stock interests would have a powerful champion at Washington.

PASSING OF THE RANGE CATTLE INDUSTRY

It requires no stretch of the imagination to picture the passing of the big ranches in Texas, for there is too much indisputable evidence to be seen daily of their going. There is hardly a week that passes without witnessing the dismemberment of some of these great landed principalities, and the cowman who has felt himself growing poorer year by year thru the constant depreciation in live stock values, has awakened to find himself rich thru the steady climbing in value of the land he has heretofore devoted to the grazing of cattle. Millions of acres that have heretofore been devoted to the production of cattle are rapidly coming under the dominion of the plow, and big syndicates are being formed in all the principal cities of the east for the purpose of buying these big Texas ranches and cutting them up into farms to be sold to actual settlers at a big profit over the original investment. But these syndicates are not the only ones making money out of the evolution of Texas. The man who owns the land is stacking up a bank account that he never dreamed possible at the time he acquired the land.

The famous X I T, or Capitol Syndicate ranch, located in the Panhandle, is now almost a memory. This land, embracing 2,000,000 acres, was originally valued at $1 per acre and given in exchange for the magnificent new capitol building. It was owned by Chicago people and used for ranching purposes until the settlement of the country created such a demand for the land that it had to be turned loose. The process of dismemberment has been going on for several years, but this winter all the remaining lands will be put on the market and sold to the people who are clamoring to buy. The X I T ranch will pass into history after this year. The almost equally famous L X ranch, also located in the Panhandle, has already been wiped out of existence. The celebrated Shoebar ranch and cattle, located in Hall county, have just been sold for a cool million in cash, and its grasses will soon have their roots turned to the withering rays of the sun Out in west Texas the wheat farmer has looked upon the grass lands in the vicinity of Alpine and decided they are good. The result is the largest wheat farm in the world, and a boom in real estate values that is making the trans-Pecos cattlemen rich beyond the

C. W. Post, the well known cereal man of Battle Creek, Mich., a few months ago bought several hundred thousand acres of ranch land out in the heart of the west Texas range country, and he is now out in that section nursing a dream that may seem somewhat Utopian. Post is a man of original ideas, and he has suddenly formed an idea that he must build an ideal or model western city. He has chosen as the site of this model city the center of the magnificent cattle range he has acquired and is now surveying for its location. It makes no difference to Mr. Post that the site of his model city is 100 miles from any railway. He says his city shall have railway facilities if he has to build a little matter of 100 miles himself. And all the land in the vicinity of the Post purchase is getting ready to turn its mellow side up to the sky. The cattle that are now grazing upon its succulent grasses must be hurried off to market to make room for that civillization that is said to begin and end with ine plow.

Down in south and southwest Texas where big ranches have been in vogue as far back as the Texas mil d runneth, and where it was thought they were firmly and irrevocably established, the benign influence of the almighty dollar is making itself felt in ruch an appreciable manner that every cattle king is has gone down before the discovery of artesian water and the possibilities of irrigation developed from the flowing wells of that section. The truck farmer is coming into possession of his own, and one of the the big Simmons ranch, located in Live Oak county. Dr. C. F. Simmons, a prominent proprietary medicine man of St. Louis, came down into Texas a few years ago and bought hundreds of thousands of acres of wild Texas range land almost for a song. He also purchased some cattle and started to ranching in the good old way incident to that section. But the eye of the man with the hoe was upon him and his worldly 1-ossessions were so coveted that there was no peace until the big Simmons ranch was carved up into 4,000 farms and placed upon the market. The last of these 4.(00 farms has just been sold and an army of restless and energetic men are busily at work preparing to put the land in cultivation pext season. Houses are being built, a town laid out, and a wonderful scene of activity is witnessed on every side. And Dr. C. F. Simmons is ahead just $500,000 of his original investment and feels that Texas has been wonderfully good to

But with all the rapid development in this direction and passing of the big ranches from the face of the earth, there is yet one mighty ranch down in the Corpus Christi country that has successfully resisted the onslaught of the speculator and the land seeker. The great King ranch, best known by its familiar appellation of "Santa Gertrudes," stands an unyielding obstacle to those who would convert its vast grazing preserves into fertile fields of agricultural products. This ranch is owned by Mrs. Harriet M. King, and managed by her son-in-law, Robert J. Kleburg, former president of the great Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas. It is the largest ranch in the world owned by a woman, embracing 1,100,000 acres, and the land is as fine and desirable as can be found in all the great state of Texas. And the syndicates are looking upon it with covetous eyes. Manager Kleburg has just turned down an offer of $9,500,000 spot cash for this great ranch with as much nonchalance as if such deals were an every day proposition. He is making this great ranch pay, and is producing a world of agricultural wealth on its fertile soil every year that passes

New York, Chicago and Holland capital is behind the movement to acquire possession of this great property, and the plan is to combine it with the great Kennedy, Lassiter and Driscoll ranches, bringing the total number of acres embodied in the deal to something more than two million. The plan is to purchase all this property, subdivide it and then sell it in small tracts to the men who want to make their homes in that section. The refusal of Manager Kleburg to sell has caused something of a stumbling block to appear in the path of the promoters, but the power of the almighty dollar is omnipotent when measured side by side with Texas ranch lands. There may be a temporary hitch in the proceedings, but in the end these great ranches are going to come under the civilizing influence of the plow.

The Long ranch, located in Fisher county, is among the large number of smaller ranches that have recently succumbed to the man with the hoe. This ranch is now the property of C. C. Magenheimer of Chicago, who purchased it for a cash consideration of $271,140. Already a new town has been laid out on this former ranch and dignified with the name of the son-in-law of the President of the United States. It is expected that Longworth will in time become a great western metropolis. The ranch lands around it have been divided up into farms of convenient size and the farmers are flocking to the scene in great numbers.

The big O'Keefe ranch adjoining the thriving town of Colorado City was placed on the market only a few months ago in small tracts for sale to farmers, and the bulk of ft has passed into their hands at prices ranging from $12.50 to $18 per acre. And the surprising part of the situation is that these lands now selling for such good prices are the same lands the cowmen have been insisting for years would never be worth more than $2 per acre. These are the lands that were only fit for raising hell and cattle on and some of them the purchaser has this year made enough cotton to pay his entire purchase price and his land is now

There is a reason for this, and it is found in the thin white line of an advancing civilization that is reflected in the cotton patches this year growing well up against the eastern border of New Mexico. The building of numbers of cotton gins away out in the heart of the range country, some of them 100 miles from any railway, and the wonderful development that has been attained in the artesian belt of southwest Texas. The people want these vacant lands for homes. They see they are capable of high agricultural development, and the prosperity there is in the country has provided the means for purchasing these lands. The purchasers have the money. They have given up the old fights they formerly made against the cowman, and are now trying the influence of the almighty dollar. The cowman appreciates the ring of the true metal, and he is giving place to the man with the hoe with a pleasant smile and wishing him all manner of success in his occupancy of the country. But it means the doom of the range cattle industry and the advent of stock farming pure and simple from one end of Texas to the other. There has been a gradual tendency in this direction now for several years and many of the leading ranchmen have been preparing for its coming. The dismemberment of these big ranches now constantly in progress seems to indicate the end of the range cattle industry in this state much so ner than has been generally expected.

BROWNSVILLE RIOTERS DISHONORABLY DIS-CHARGED

President Rooseevit has summarily ordered the dishonorable discharge of all the negro troops involved in the Brownsville riot and murders, together with their associates who refused to give the names of the men actually implicated. This action on the part of the President calls for the unqualified approval of the people generally, and it will doubtless be a lesson to lawess sodliery in the future. The executive order

White House, Washington, Nov. 6 .- The secretary of war: I have read thru General Garlington's report. dated Oct. 22, submitted to me by you. I direct that the recommendation of General Garlington be complied with and that at the same time the concluding portion of his report be published, with our sanction, as giving the reasons for the action.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT. Following is the concluding portion of General Garlington's report, which bears the recommendations that by direction of the President will be carried out at

"I recommend that orders be issued as soon as practical discharging without honor every man in companies B, C and D of the Twenty-fifth infantry, serving at Fort Brown, Texas, on the night of Aug. 13, 1906, and forever debarring them from re-enlistment in the army or navy of the United States, as well as from employment in any civil capacity under the government. In making this recommendation I recognize trambling upon his throne. Big ranch after big ranch I the fact that a number of the men who have no di- I the living.

rect knowledge as to the identity of the men who actually fired the shots on the night of Aug. 13, 1906; will assume this extreme penalty. "It has been established by careful investigation beyond reasonable doubt that the firing into the houses greatest developments of that nature was the fate of the citizens of Brownsville while the inhabitants thereof were pursuing their peaceful vocations or sleeping, and by which one citizen was killed and the chief of police so seriously wounded that he lost an arm, was done by enlisted men of the Twenty-fifth infantry, belonging to the battalion stationed at Fort Brown. After due opportunity and notice, the enlisted men of the Twenty-fifth have falled to tell all that it is reasonable to believe they know concerning the shooting.

"If they had done so; if they had been willing to relate all the circumstances, instances preliminary to the trouble, it is extremely probable that a clew sufficiently definite to lead to results would have been disclosed. They appear to stand together in a determination to resist the detection of the guilty, therefore they should stand together when the penalty falls.

"A forceful lesson should be given to the army at large, and especially to the non-commissioned officers, that their duty does not cease upon the drill ground, at the calling of company rolls, making check inspections and other duties of formal character, but that their responsbilities of office accompany them everywhere and at all times; that it is their duty to become thoroly acquainted with the individual members of their respective units to know their characteristics, to be able at all times to gauge their temper in order to discover the beginning of the discontent, of mutinous intentions and to anticipate any organized act of dishonor; that they must notify their officers at once of any such conditions. Moreover, the people of the Inited States, wherever they live, must feel assured that the men wearing the uniform of the army are their protectors and not midnight assassins or riotous disturbers of the peace of the community in which they may be stationed."

Now, let the army post at Fort Brown be re-established on a larger and grander scale than ever before, and the people of Texas will no longer say and think unutterable things concerning the President.

Oklahoma has started out on a career that seems to be full of genuine promise. Two more democratic United States senators seem to be in sight from the new state that has been claimed so strongly by the

The result of the elections held Tuesday were disappointing in some respects, but there still seems to be grounds for democracy feeling that it is well on the road to recovery.

In El Paso the lumber famine has become so acute that building operations have practically ceased. The famine is not the fault of the local lumber dealers or the manufacturers in east Texas, but is attributable to the inability of the railroads to furnish cars in which to transport the lumber. Instead of building equipment the railroads have been squandering their money in buying legislation and paying dividends on inflated stock and excessive bond issues.—Beaumont Journal

As a matter of fact, the extraordinary and unprecedented development of Texas is what is causing the railways so much trouble in providing proper shipping facilities. It caught them entirely unprepared. + 0 + +

The recommendation of the adjutant general that the ranger force be increased to its legal strength has behind it the potent recommendation of some very efficient service rendered by the rangers during the past year.—San Antonio Express.

The rangers have done some good work in Texas and are entitled to credit for all they have accomplished, but there are enough other peace officers in Texas to obviate any apparent necessity for an increase in the force.

The citizens of Texas in the several cities are makng a good fight for pure food supplies, and the state legislature could do no better thing for the state to add to the efficiency of such laws as are now in existence tending to greater care in placing such supplies upon the nome markets. There should be intelligence sufficient in the legisature for work.-San Antonio Linit.

All Texas needs a pure food law, and the next state legislature should promptly enact such a measure. The adulteration and preservatives that are being placed in the most common articles of food today are slowly but surely ruining the stomachs of thousands of Texas people. It is time to call a very abrupt halt,

Tarrant county has a commissioner who gives out sound advice on the question of good roads. If there were more like him it would be better for north Texas. He said, in a recent discussion of the bridge question: "We have passed the stage where we ought to spend money for makeshifts. I want to build roads that my children's children can use. I want the same kind of bridges" A mile of road built right and built to stay until the end is worth more than three miles built in a temporary style.-Denton Record and Chron-

Good roads can only be obtained thru the building of permanent roads. Temporary roads are a very poor makeshift and a constant source of trouble. It may require more time to make the roads permanent, but when it is done it settles a very vexatious problem.

* * * * An Ohio man writes the Commercial Club at Fort Worth to know if that town has electric street cars. Inasmuch as Fort Worth was the first Texas city to install the trolley, the inquiry moves Captain B. B. Paddock to say that the town needs advertising in the north. So it does, and so does Mineral Wells .- Mineral Wells Index.

All Texas needs more advertising, for the people of other states have formed very erroneous impressions concerning the greatest state in the union. Many misrepresentations are kept in circulation for the sole purpose of preventing immigration to Texas.

It is stated that the next legislature will be petitioned to enact a law prohibiting the killing of quail for a period of five years. The reason assigned is that the more quail the fewer boll weevils. If such be true the enactment will please the cotton grower, but doubtless be unpopular with the stylish young man with a $100 shotgun and a spotted pointer pup.-Karnes County News.

There ought to be a just and reasonable protection extended all our Texas birds, but five years prohibition of quail shooting seems hardly reasonable. The man with the spotted pointer pup would only do his quail shooting on the sly.

The farmer with the telephone, rural delivery, a windmill and his own light plant is ahead of the townsman, for he has all luxuries he cares for and don't have to pay much taxes, either. THE FESTIVITIES OF HALLOWEEN

No one objects to the harmless sport of gay and innocent childhood on the Halloween occasion. It is the spirit of malicious mischief that should be summarily curbed .- Fort Worth Telegram.

The phrenologist avers that it is easy to tell by their bumps. The bump of destructiveness is greatly developed in a boy, but if another bump could be put on the other side of his head with a club, the bump of destructiveness would be neutralized, don't you think? COCKRELL KEPT PRESIDENT WAITING

While the interstate commerce commission is busying itself with adjusting railroad rates and hurrying up traffic, there is one of its members who once upon a time held up a Presidential dinner because he had failed to post his schedule in a conspicuous place, and was, therefore, delayed in transit, thus serfously incommoding others.

Says the Denver Times:

"Ex-Senator Cockrell probably is the only man in Washington who ever kept President Roosevelt waiting at a dinner. It was one of the cabinet dinners that were given by the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Hitchcock three years ago. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt arrived in due time, as did all the other guests except Senator Cockrell.

"After a delay of almost an hour Mrs. Hitchcock invited her guests to the dining room and dispatched a messenger to the residence of Senator Cockrell to make inquiries. Great fear was felt that the Missourian had started and had fallen by the way, as the day was a cold and wintry one.

"The fact was, however, that the senator was sitting quietly at home when the messenger got there, clad in his dressing gown and slippers and congratulating himself that he could be indoors. He had put the date of the dinner in his calendar in large and attractive handwriting, but had forgotten to turn a leaf, and was, accordingly, a day behind time.

"No one appreciated the joke more than did the President, and the dinner that began in anxiety and apprenension ended in a big laugh at the dear old senator."

Up to Legislature

Special to The Telegram. CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 8. — With seventeen towns still to be heard from, the returns from Tuesday's state election indicate quite conclusively that the contest for governorship will have to be settled in the legislature, the republican candidate, Charles M. Floyd, having failed to secure a majority over the other two candidates.

The returns from 275 of the 292 wards and towns of the state give Floyd, republican, $9,946 for governor, Jameson, democrat, $7,138, Tetley, prohibition, 1,568, scattering 1,600. This is a republican loss from four years ago of 5,164. With the same ratio of loss in the missing towns, Floyd, the republican candidate, will fall short of a majority by at least 100 votes. The missing towns are very small and are located in the remote mountainous region of the state.

Vote Very Light

Special to The Telegram. COLEMAN, Texas, Nov. 8. - The election was very quiet and the vote extremely light. This box polled 222 votes, where it polled 600 in the primary. It is estimated that the vote at this box is more than an average of the vote thruout the county. Of course it was almost solidly democratic, there being but seven or eight republican votes and three socialist votes polled.

Republicans Run Ahead

Special to The Telegram. CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 8.-Majoriles for Congressman Mondell and all republican state candidates are from 5.000 to 6.000. Governor Brooks is runnin ahead of his ticket. The democrats will not have more than five members in the legislature. The reelection of United States Senator Warren is assured.

Goes Republican

Special to The Telegram. SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 8 .- Returns from most of the fifty-two counties in the state give Colonel H. Crawford, republican, for governor and the state ticket a majority of 25,750. Republicans have elected 112 members of the legislature, to the democrats 17.

PLAN A KINDERGARTEN Matron of Home Reports Forty Children and Nine Babies The establishment of the Kindergarten school at the Fort Worth Benevolent Home was the main subject for discussion at the regular monthly meeting of the woman's board held last Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. E. H. Carter, 402 Adams street. The Kindergarten was very successfully managed last year and the school of this winter will be operated along similar lines. The estimated expense of the kindergarten work is $30 a month and this sum it is hoped may be raised by contributions from persons interested in the work of charity being accomplished at the home.

Mrs. Easely, matron of the home. made her regular report to the board. which shows that she is now giving a comfortable home to forty children and nine babies in the nursery. In speaking of the work and the prospects for the year Wednesday, President Mrs. Carter said: "Our home is now in a very good condition and we appreciate the kindly interest shown the work we are doing by so many contributers. In the past we have received many donations from the various city schools in the way of necessary articles, the movement being led by the teachers and superintendents. If the school children are going to contribute toward the support of the home this year, we should ask that they contribute articles of immediate necessity, such as canned foods, fruit and money. Our children do not need so many supplies of clothing as much as we need provisions or money to meet the daily expenses.

"The home has just undergone a complete renovation and all of the rooms have been repapered and new curtains have been hung and several new carpets have been purchased for the halls and rooms."

The King-Dingee Wedding The Dingee home was filled Wednesday evening for the marriage of Miss Mary Dingee to W. B. King Jr. and among all the guests the thought deepest, the words heard on every hand, was admiration for a beautiful bride and good wishes for a union that promises to be one of those of which fulfill the ideals cherished universally The bride was very beautiful and the bridegroom the picture of young manhood as they came down the stairs at 8:30 o'clock, hour of the ceremony. Preceding the ceremony Miss Elizabeth Wells had sang "O Promise Me" to the accompaniment of Mrs. Lee Dingee who also played the wedding march. The aisle for the bridal procession was formed by white satin ribbons held by Miss Lizzie King, Miss Ethel Thomas, Henry Dingee and Hughes King. The Rev. J. B. French stood within a palm framed alcove in the parlor at the end of the ribboned aisle. The first of the attendants were Miss Bessie Wombwell and T. J. Caldwell. Miss Edna Pendleton and Willis Lea came next. The bridegroom and his best man, Gentry Browne, were followed by the bride and her sister, the matron of honor, Mrs. Jere Van Vandt. The congraulations that were showered upon the young people were of the kind good to hear. Love was sincere and hopes for the future were expressed with joyful assurance that all hope would be more than fulfilled. The bridal gown was brocaded satin tucked with applique panels of rose point. The yoke was of hand run baby Irish lace with a yoke finish of English point. The bridal veil was fastened with two small chrysanthemums and the bridal bouquet was of longpetaled blossoms of the same flower. Mrs. Van Zandt wore a gown of chiffon silk, tucked skirt and bodice with lace trimmings. Miss Wombwell's gown was of net with hand applique of English and Irish braids with graduated flounce. Miss Pendleton wore Paris muslin with tucked medallions set with Mecalin lace, the bodice of tucks and lace.

All the bouquets were of white carys-The decorations were elaborate. The reception hall had a palm alcove for the punch bowl and strands of smilax ran to the ceiling, entirely enclosing the stairway and forming green wall hangings. The parlor had beside the ceremonial corner, white carysanthemums in profusion and smilax frieze. A five-pointed star formed of the smilax encircled the chandelier at the ceiling. The dining room decorations pleased greatly with its many white chrysanthemums. The table had a pyramid of ferns and flowers, the smilax enclosing the table with the strands that ran from ceiling to chandelier and from chandelier to table. The white satin cloth was draped with folds of tulle with fern fronds caught in the folds. Around the ceiling ran a band of tiny electric bulbs and on the mantel the bulbs not only outlined the mantel, but were used to frame the photograph of an intimate friend of the family, Martin Casey, whose birthday was celebrated after the wedding guests had departed. The cutting of the wedding cake proved happily entertaining, the ring being found by Miss Hazel Hull and the thimble by the bridegroom. The presents displayed in the upper hall attracted much admiration, so parted Mr. Dingee celebrated the birthday of his friend, Martin Casey. The dining room was lit with innumerable Emerald lights and the table showed nothing but green. A supper fit for Irishmen was set before Mr. Casey and his friends, Paul Waples, W. T. Cargill, A. P. Foute, George C. Battle, J. G. Waples, A. f. Goetz, Ad Lea, J. C. Drendel and L. J. Wortham. The speeches, the wit, the comradeship made Mr. Casey forget the birthdays already past and his friends to remember that birthdays are only tallied against those unhonored and unsung. By this token the future holds an unbroken line of celebrations for Mr. Casey.

WEST TEXAS GROWING WITH PROSPEROUS TIMES

Special to The Telegram. BIG SPRINGS, Texas, Nov. 7.-J. W. Harmon returned from Dallas, where he purchased from the Murray Gin Company a complete and up-todate gin plant. The same will be four stands with seventy saws, and is the finest machinery that can be bought. The machinery will be installed on Mr. Harmon's place, ten miles north of town, about April 15, 1907. This will prove a great convenience to the residents of that section of the country and will enable them to have their cotton ginned without any waste of time. They also propose to have a cotton buyer stationed at the gin, thus enabling them to market their crop without any unnecessary trouble.

Hustling Boys

Special to The Telegram. HAMLIN, Texas, Nov. 7.-George, William, Wesley and Jack Lansford, sons of B. A. Lansford, were in from California Creek Wednesday. They came here about Nov. 1, 1905, and worked out, until time to begin a crop, making $768 dollars up to that time. Last spring they took land from T. B. Middleton, on California creek, five miles east of Hamlin, to make a crop on the halves. They finished cultivating their crop and sold the part belonging to them to Mr. Middleton for $930, then hired to Mr. Middleton to gather it by the hundredweight. They have just finished gathering it and have $407. These four boys have already made $1,337 this year and can easily make $400 or $500 more before time to start another crop. They have been in the country about twelve months now, and in that time have made $2,075, or $518.75 each. Still some people will say it is a hard matter to make money in West Texas.

Lake to Be Built

Special to The Telegram. THURBER, Texas, Nov. 7.-Colonel Tom W. Jordan of Thurber and his two sons, Edward M. and Thomas C., will soon begin the construction of an irrigation dam on their property near Thurber, by which a fine lake of water will be impounded, to be used in irrigating strawberries, fruits and vegetables. The dam will cost $1,500, forming a lake of ten acres fourteen feet deep. The boys have already had some of the engineering done. The use of the water for the growing berries will bring immense returns.

Sugar Beets Raised

Special to The Telegram. ABILENE, Texas, Nov. 7.-Some months ago a proposition was made the 25,000 Club of Abilene by a California sugar refinery to locate a plant here provided it could be demonstrated that the "sugar beet" could be raised in sufficient quantities to furnish ample supply. The matter was taken up by the club and some two bushels of beet seed secured for experimental pur-poses and distributed among the farmers of this immediate section. As a result of these experiments beets are shown at the West Texas Fair ranging in weight from five to eight pounds. Taking an average of four pounds to the square foot, an acre will produce 168,000 pounds, and at an average worth of $10 per ton will produce an average of $840 per acre. A test was made of the saccharine qualities of the beets gathered in September and it proved satisfactory to the refinery people. However, they asked for another shipment of beets in November, at which time they say that sugarproducing qualities of the beets are at

College for San Angelo

Special to The Telegram. SAN ANGELO, Texas, Nov. 7.-The directors of the Business Club and a committee from the West Texas conference held an informal meeting Thursday afternoon to discuss the proposition, or rather to initiate a movement for a Methodist college in San Angelo. No proposition was submitted by either side to the conference, but the consensus of opinion among those present that such a school as is in contemplation by the moving spirits in the matter will prove of incalculable benefit to San Angelo and this entire section of the state.

Successful Breeder

Special to The Telegram MINERAL WELLS, Texas, Nov. 7. J. G. King, who lives southwest of town, is a successful hog breeder. Mr. King has a thorobred Poland-China sow which has brought him three litters of pigs within the past twelve months, the total value of which amounts to $145. Of the first litter only two were raised. One of these Mr King this week sold for $37.50, 625 pounds at 6 cents. The other one he has still, but at the same price it is worth the same amount of money. These two are therefore worth $75. The second litter of eight pigs will now weigh 100 pounds each. At 6c per pound these would bring $48. The last litter of pigs, nine, will bring now, in open market, $2.50 each, or a total of $22.50. Thus it will be seen that the offspring of this sow represents a market value of $145, and Mr. King still keeps the sow.

Fine Cotton

Special to The Telegram. SAN ANGELO, Texas, Nov. 7, -President M. L. Mertz of the San Angelo National Bank, chaperoned a party of friends to the Loomis ranch and farm in Concho county for a day's outing recently, and brings back a glowing account of the cotton crop in just over the Tom Green county line. Mr. Mertz states that they were shown by Mr. Loomis one piece of eighty acres of cotton that has already yielded half a bale of cotton to the acre and still looks as if it had never been picked. A wager has been offered that a total of eighty-five bales of cotton will be taken from the patch, will be fully 100 bales. Late cotton was considerably injured by boll worms, and on the Loomis place, as well as other farms, from the electric storms during the summer.

Lynn County Has Gin Special to The Telegram.

TAHOKA, Texas, Nov. 7.—The first cotton gin built in Lynn county is now in operation. The first bale ever ginned in Lynn county was ginned last Thursday. Thus begins the reign of King Cotton on that part of the plains.

Potatoes in Demand Special to The Telegram.

MARATHON, Texas, Nov. 7 .- Wade Farley came in from his ranch Wednesday with a load of corn and potatoes. Talk of farming, we can raise anything we want here. These potatoes are equal to in every way the Colorado potatoes, and Wade says he is going to raise them right next year, as he has found ready sale for all he raises this year, about 4,100 pounds. These were raised from about an acre fo ground. Some weighed as much as two and a half pounds.

Hard to Beat

Special to The Telegram. ASPERMONT, Texas, Nov. 7 .- E. O. Watkins brought in this week some sweet potatoes which for size are hard to beat. We weighed two of the best ones, which tipped the scales at 121/2 pounds. Stonewall county is one of the best potato counties of Texas.

We won in Dallas as well.

Stamford Mill

Special to The Telegram. STAMFORD, Texas, Nov. 7 .- Stamford has one enterprise that is not much talked about, but when thought of in the proper light cannot help being recognized as one of the best and most useful in the city. We refer to our flour mill. This mill makes as good flour as can be had anywhere, as well as other things. It should be liberally patronized. There is not a better equipped mill in the state, according to the capacity. One thing the merchants should do is to urge the farmers to plant more wheat and recommend the use of the Stamford flour.

COUNTESS CASTELLANE WRITES SOME SIZZLING POSTAL CARDS

Says He Is a Disgusting Libertine," While He Pleads to Be Taken Back

Special to The Telegram.

PARIS, Nov. 8 .- The court room in the Palace of Justice occupied by the Tribunal of First Instance of the Seine, Judge Ditte presiding, was again crowded to the doors Wednesday when the hearing of the divorce suit brought by the Countess de Castellane (formerly Anna Gould) against her husband, Count Boni, was re-

Maitre Cruppi, of counsel for the countess, in resuming the presentation of her case, briefly reviewed the points he had covered last week, referring to the reckless fashion in which the count had spent millions of the countess' money, while allowing only a niggardly few hundred francs monthly for pin money, on one occasion actually refusing to increase her allowance to $200 a month. Counsel declared that the proof of the count's infidelity and cruelty contained in the thirteenth allegation made last week was sufficient to justify a divorce without summoning wit-

As an evidence of the countess' generosity, counsel cited the agreement of 1898, by which the count's father and mother were guaranteed a life income of $6,600 and $1,000 respectively, and again laid special stress on the countess' intention not to abandon the country of her adoption, but to rear her boys as French-

Pleads to Be Taken Back

Maitre Cruppi then plunged directly into the count's maneuvers, since the divorce proceedings were instituted, to regain his wife's affections. He said that after the failure of the attempt at arranging a reconciliation, Feb. 1, when the countess was granted the temporary custody of her children, Count Boni began a systematic campaign by writing the countess letters filled with avowals of sincere repentance, supplications for pardon, passionate words and professions of undying love. The count's letters were said to have described his life as being wrecked and said he was

The count's tone changed. The next day he sent to the countess a letter in which he upbraided her for being "a mad woman, actuated by hate and vengefulness," and saying that their children would some day reproach her for her "spitefulness."

But the count soon resumed writing lawyer, begging to be allowed to see her and predicting that he would soon die. The letters continued until the middle of September, when the count wrote that he would not long survive, pleading to see the countess and asking her to at least grant him a su-

Cruppi said the countess gave way to an impulse to assure a fitting existence for the father of her children. but she now stood on her rights.

There was a flutter of excitement just before counsel closed his summing up when he referred to a forgery in the possession of the other side designed "to blacken the character" of a prominent attorney and a man conspicuous in public life. But, Maitre Cruppi said, he would not pursue the matter unless compelled to do so and concluded with the claim that his case has been made out and a glowing appeal against calling witnesses, which he said would only bring disaster and ruin on others.

Maitre Cruppi made no concealment of the fact that the countess aided her husband in his electoral campaign last May. After the court had taken a recess, Maitre Bonnett of counsel for Count Boni began his reply by describing the dreams of luxury of a young American heiress when she married a French nobleman, resulting in making the life of extravagance on which she entered quite natural to her.

Brother Refuses Coin

Counsel then read affectionate letters written by the countess to the count, excusing her inability to furfunds because her brother, George, would not supply them. To show that the count made sacrifices, as well as his wife, Bonnett said that he sold his share of the ancestral forest of Bueny in order to make the first payment, $80,000, on the Malakoff avenue property. The divorce proceedings, counsel said, were due to the evil counsel of mischief makers, especially to the machinations of Edmond Kelly, the American lawyer, whose object was to obtain a big fee. Without adverse influences, counsel was sure, the countess would return to her husband. As for the tales of servants and chauffeurs, Maitre Bonnett said he classed such evidence, mere declarations not made under oath, as a comedy, and consequently he insisted on the examination of witnesses, which would permit the tribunal to judge of their credibility. Maitre Bonnett protested indignantly against the bitterness shown against his client in picturing him as the brutal jailer of his wife. Counsel

"The count has not been the brute he has been described to have been. He always has been a gallant gentleman, who has respectful affection for his wife. There has been nothing to shake or to destroy it. The count's only thought has been to give his wife the luxurious, queenly existence of which she dreamed. If he exceeded his aim, it is to his honor only. As a result of his laudable efforts he has been saddled with the task of paying $24,000 annually."

MARKET HOUSE PLAN IS VETOED

Mayor Harris Says the Ordinance Is Unlawful

BUGGY MAKERS COMING

Captain Paddock Won't Give Out the

Captain B. B. Paddock secretary of the Board of Trade, closed a deal on Wednesday that will give Fort Worth a buggy making establishment as soon as the new building which W. G. Newby is erecting on the corner of Eleventh and Throckmorton streets is completed. Representatives of the new company were here not long ago and told Captain Paddock what they required and what they were willing to pay for rent, and stated that if he could close a deal for such a property to do so in their name. They also showed their intentions of coming here by telling him to draw on them for the first month's rent in order to close the deal.

While he would not give out the name of the concern until he had heard from them again, Captain Paddock stated that they would employ about twenty-five men.

LOT SOLD FOR $4,000

Rock Island Petition Adds New Interest to Property

The northwest corner of Seventh and Grove streets was sold Thursday morning by James F. Moore to W. H. Smith and Jim Thrasher for $4,000. The sale was made thru Ligon, Dickinson & Company and calls for a lot 50 by 100 feet which is occupied at present by four shacks. The petition of the Rock Island for permission to run tracks on Seventh street has renewed interest in this section of the city, altho there have been but few sales there, all owners apparently holding on to their property to await developments.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty

Costs Nothing to Try Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few utilize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose. Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system. Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic. It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; It disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh. All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but, on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them, they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug store, and altho in some sense a patent preparation, yet I be-lieve I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Losenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets." COWAN'S HAT MADE A HIT

Chicago Paper Says It Is Feature of Horse Show

The high hat which Attorney S. H. Cowan of Fort Worth wore to the Chicago horse show seems to have made a hit with at least the newspaper men reporting that society event for Chicago newspapers. The Chicago Live Stock World refers to it in the following glowing terms;

The second day's session of the Chicago Horse Show was run off at the Coliseum yesterday afternoon and last night before a crowd that was long on enthusiasm.

The people that did go saw some very fine norses and some very fine horsemanship. They also beheld Judge Sam Cowan of Fort Worth, Texas, and his celebrated silk hat. This hat is the only one of its kind in captivity. Judge Cowan, who came all the way from Texas to occupy box 22, will positively wear the hat at each and every succeeding performance of the show. He is the attorney for most of the cattle growers' associations in the west.

The judge and his hat last night displaced Reginald Vanderbilt as the cynosure of all eyes, the observed of all observers and all that sort of thing. Reginald Vanderbilt, who, with the Baron Rosen, composed the principal added attraction on the opening night. was on hand last night, Mrs. Vanderbilt sat in her box till the last event

A few people left early and Sidney Love, one of the directors, established a norse show precedent by staying away from the entertainment till 10

Mr. Love saw the hat. He said he had lost one of the same style on Grover Cleveland's first election. "It isn't half as bad as it might have been," Judge Cowan confessed. 'I bought it at the same time that I tried to buy some of those wide ones see on the gentlemanly grooms in the ring. At the time I tried to buy it I didn't know they were worn exclusively by the grooms. Now that I know I am sorry the grooms can wear such stylish hats while us common folks are prevented from wearing those wide hats that would bring out all our good features."

GARFIELD FOR CABINET

There is to be Change in Roosevelt's Official Family

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 .- President

Special to The Telegram.

Roosevelt announced Wednesday two very important changes in the personnel of his official family. Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock is to resign on March 4, and James R. Garfield of Ohio, now commissioner of corporations in the department of commerce and labor, has been decided upon for the secretaryship. The President has selected Attorney General Moody to succeed Justice Brown in the supreme court of the United States. In announcing Mr. Hitchcock's resignation, the President says it was the secretary's desire to leave the cabinet a year ago. He was persuaded to remain and after he decided for the second time to resign, Mr. Roosevelt offered him the post of United States ambassador to France. Mr. Hitchcock declined this on the ground that he had seen eight years of continued labor in the interest of the government and needed a rest, and it was with regret that the President agreed to his departure from the cabinet. Mr. Garfield will be succeeded by the present assistant commissioner, Herbert Knox Smith. The presidential announcement included a statement that Commissioner William A. Richards of the land office would resign at the same time Secretary Hitchcock retires,

TROUBLE

SYNOPSIS.

Florian Amidon, a rich young banker of Hazelhurst (a middle western American town) decides to take a day off from business and indulge in his favorite hobby, photography. He takes the afternoon train and after alighting at a junction, dozes off to sleep andwakes up in a Pullman car to find himself known as Eugene Brassfield. wealthy oil operator, New York clubman, engaged to an attractive young woman, and involved in a mass of business of which he is ignorant, while the year is five years later than the one in which he started his journey. A clairvoyant to whom he applies for aid in solving his mystery is assisted by a hypnotist who puts Amidon in a trance, and while in that state nis identity as Brassfield becomes normal. From conversations taken down in shorthand, during his hypnotic state, Amidon learns something of the business affairs of Brassfield, and with this meager help he is enabled to pre-serve something of Brassfield's position, the often sadly bewildered.

He finds himself involved in a complex electric traction deal, the details of which are unknown to him. He also learns that his victory in a suit involving valuable property hinges on happenings of a date prior to his existence as Eugene Brassfield.

"Why do you call him by that name?" cried Elizabeth. "That is what Mrs. Hunter called him! One moment he told me he knew her and the next he denied it to her face. What is there in this matter of names?" Madame le Claire looked with a fixed and unwavering calmness at Miss Waldron and answered in a tone of perfect reassurance. "There is nothing in it which can't be easily explained. You have known

Mr. Brassfield a long time?" "Since I was seventeen. He did my aunt and me a great favor, which lifted us out of poverty-about some land we had, and oil discoveries-I went away soon after this, but he has always been very kind and good-un-

Elizabeth walked to the window and looked out for a long time, during which Madame le Claire regarded her fixedly and tried not to hate her. "Did he tell you much of his past?" "No, he said it was a very ordinary past, and that he would tell us all about t some time; and then the subject never came up again. I never really "Let me tell it to you," said Madame le Claire. "He was, all his life, a man of wealth and standing. He was a and letters. He was the pride of his town and his university. Then, all at once, six years ago, came on him one of those strange experiences of which I, thru my profession, am able to speak to you as one having knowledge. He became another man. His mind had drawn across it a dead line cutting off everything back of a certain date. Ho did not tell you of his life because he did not remember it himself." Elizabeth gasped and turned pale.

"This life of his-" she began. -was a life which was in every way better-which will add to your pride in him. But you must be prepared for some strange and unexpected things. Now for instance, a name-a name seems important; but what is it? This loss of personality-of self-consciousness relating to the past-it was a loss of name, of mode of life, of all memory, except certain blind, unconscious reflexes, in which the brain had no part. How the name of Brassfield was suggested to this new born personality of his no one can tell, he least of all, But-"

"Then his name-his name is-is Now here was a situation for a diplomat. To say that Brassfield was an assumed name, an alias, was to shock the girls' womanish conservatism to its very base, Madame le Claire proved herself a diplomat. "Why," said she, as if the matter were, after all, of no importance, "the name of Brassfield is his, legally, Judge Blodgett says, and morally. These business names, as distinguished from others, are quite common now. I am told-take mine, for instance. Eugene-Brassfield was not his name until five years ago, when this happened. He is really Florian Amidon, son of the chemist, Wilford Amidon, of whom, I have no doubt, you have read." The fact that the name of Wilford Amidon had never reached her ears did not occur to Elizabeth. Madame le Claire's choice of expression sounded like the announcement that Florian was a prince just throwing off his incognito. The subtle sophistry of this way of putting it found grateful harborage in Elizabeth's hungry soul, For moment she felt comforted. Then came back the thought that, after all, she had found out nothing of the matters she had come to search out.

"It is very strange," said she, "but, after all, it only adds to the mystery.

Why did he do these things? Did you make him do them? And why did he say that he knew Mrs. Hunter, and then deny it? And if he knew about his past when he said he knew her, did he not know it as well afterward? I cannot be blinded to these matters by a statement of things merely mysterious and strange. I must have-"My friend," said Madame le Claire,

"all these things will be explained, trust me. The person tapping at the outer door is Judge Blodgett with Mr. Amidon-with your future husband. Things will occur of which you should know, and which cannot take place if they know you are here. It will be most honorable for you to stay. Remain here and note well what happens, and you will get as much light on your troubles and on his-of some of which you do not yet know, which I do not understand, but which will be cleared up. You will say nothing, but watch and Before Miss Waldron could protest the other woman was gone. Florian and Judge Blodgett were brought into the middle room and seated with their faces from the portiere, behind which Elizabeth waited, wondering what she shoull do, feeling that she had the right to know, and obedient to the mesmerist's commands. Mr. Amidon began in medias res, too full of grim determination for any circumlocution. "Madame le Claire," said he, "re-doubtful and deadly battle. She sat close now and listened. "Ever since I came to myself," went on Amidon, "and thru your wonderful power found out about this life of mine here in Bellevale, the name of Miss Scarlett has come up from time to time as connected with it. I have always shrunk from having you find out what our-relations-have been, and the whole thing has been dark to me dark and forbidding. What wrong I—this man Brassfield—may have done her, I cannot know without your aid. I must know this now. If she has been wronged, she shall have reparation, as full as I can give."

"What do you mean," said Madame le Claire, and Elizabeth held her breath -"by full reparation?" "First let us know the wrong! If that exists, the reparation will be for Miss Scarlett and her advisers to

"Oh, it is too dreadful!" cried Madame le Claire, "And for that worst thing-the other night-I only am to blame! I put into you the character in which you have become weak and drawn aside by suggestions not natural to your own character. Can you ever forgive me?"

"I have never thought of blaming you!" he protested, "You? Why, no one ever had so good a friend; all the chance I have had to win happiness here, you gave me. I have lost thatby misfortune. Now help me to make things as near right as I can. Put me back into the world of Brassfield and let me know the worst that I-he-has done."

NEW YORK. CHICAGO BOSTON PHILADELPHIA

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The cotton market opened quiet and steady this morning at an advance of 5 points, which was somewhat lower than was generally expected. Good buying power gave a healthy undertone to things while both sides assumed a sort of waiting policy, pending, of course, the flash of the government's builetin of bales ginned to Nov. 1.

Liverpool's higher cables indicating reluctance on the part of the Engish operators to further discount in advance the statistical report, headed to eliminate any chance for a scalp before 1 o'clock. The conveyings of opinion seemed to be that the bulletin would show about 7,000,000 bales against 6,457,595 for corresponding period of last year.

December and March contracts opened at an advance of 5 points and speedily increased to 9.71 and 9.97 respectively, before Liverpool's close.

Trade started out actively this morning in dry goods spheres. New lines of underwear for the fall of 1907 were opened during the day. All lines of staple cotton held steady. Spot people here say that it is practically impossible to buy cotton in Atlantics of a grade better than middling. January options advanced after the spread of the government's figures of 9.90. December touched high level at 9.93, but dropped to 9.79. A half hour after the flash of the bureau's estimate, futures showed a net average gain of 20 points over yesterday's finals. The gain at the

New Orleans Cotton Special to The Telegram.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8-Contracts opened at the price level established yesterday. The tone was firm and healthy thruout the morning session, while the friends and enemies of the white top staple sat upon the fence and waited. The market was monotonous in as much as the advance was to be anticipated. The slow and simultaneous advances at both northern and southern exchanges evinced skittishness on both sides. Such was natural Professional opinion will necessarily be molded according to the report of the bureau. In the meanwhile the long sighted owls watched with keen interest, not only the magnificent prospects of a splendid yield of the southland's chief staple, but also the high basis of f. o. b. stuff as well as the strong demand for all grades of desirable cotton.

At noon while December hung around 9.72, shorts seemed to be entirely at sea and somewhat inclined to cover.

Spots were in good demand at full quotations. Receipts were 13,382, against 11,863 for corresponding day in

There was a general inclination to trim estimates of the bureau. At the flash of the government bureau's estimate of bales ginned to Nov. 1906-6,892,000 bales-December contracts which had advanced from 9.68 to 9.74, jumped at once to 9.94. then to 9.98, but later had slumped to 9.80. March offerings climbed readily to 10.17 but straightway slid to 10.09.

Liverpool Cotton Cable LIVERPOOL, Nov. 8.—There is reluctance on the part of the best posted here to believe in such a bearish census report as the American markets would indicate. Futures opened 5 higher than yes-

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.-Wheat opened easy at a loss of 1/3c in consequence of discouraging cables from the other side. December declined %c, noon level being 72%c. In view of the light demand for flour, the premium commanded for wheat, the lack of foreign business and the limited exports, there was a bearish tendency all day at the pit. There is no change in the crop situation and growing wheat is making good progress. Cash business in the United Kingdom amounted to 555,000 bushels. The live stock market continued strong today. The receipts were light. The run of cattle was unusually small, 1,750 head, including 250 calves, but the quality was generally good. There were only a few loads of good butcher stuff offered, but the demand both by the packing houses and cutside buyers was good, and the general market was active early. Hoge came on the market to the number of 1,000 head, with an active market. There wer no sheep and only a few horses.

Steers The few loads of steers were of medium finish, and were in fairly good demand, both by the packeries and outside buyers. Sales today were slow, but late sales of steers yesterday brought $3.50, and this was thought to be the ruling price today. There were a few loads of stockers and feeders, which wer also in strong demand.

CENSUS SUCCESSFUL

Many Additions to Church Membership Reported Every city church is reaping each week the benefits of the recent religious census in the way of additions to the church membership. Each pastor and many other workers of the churches are diligently following up the work of the census takers and by so doing they are reaching many who would not voluntarily apply for membership. H. B. Cerveny, one of the superintendents in the canvass, said Thursday: "It was never the idea of the several churches to announce the total number of church members. It is our idea to reach the non-church members and to extend to them a special invitation to become identified with some one church. There are many persons attending church in the city, some quite regularly, but they have never entered their letters or made application to a particular church. "The good of the census is to be seen on every hand, as all of the churches report many additions since the canvass. I think the census has proved to be a successful undertaking in every respect. As to the number of the canvassers, we had more respond than we had originally anticipated and this alone shows the interest taken in the city church work." FAMILY ABANDONED

Traction Company Says Tickets Will

Be Here Saturday Half fare tickets to school children for transportation on the lines of the Northern Texas Traction Company will go into use next Saturday. Books containing limited number of tickets will be sold to all persons actually in attendance in the city schools under two classes, students and children, granting concessions to all 17 years of age and under. A feature of the half fare rate of the Fort Worth Company is that no restriction is put on the day or the hour of the day on which the ticket is presented. The company has issued the following announcement: Beginning with Saturday, Nov. 10, 1906, the Northern Texas Traction Company will put into effect tickets for children upon the following conditions:

All children under 12 years of age will be carried on the cars upon presentation of a child's ticket. These tickets must be purchased at the main office of the company, 400 Main street, corner Third street, in strips of twenty tickets for fifty (50) cents. No tickets will be sold in less quantities and only in multiples of twenty. In order to obtain the advantage of this reduced rate a ticket must, in all cases, be presented to the conductor, as no cash fares for children will be accepted except for the full fare of five (5) cents. All students over 12 years and under

17 years of age who are in actual attendance at any school will be carried in the cars during the school year upon presentation of a student's ticket. These tickets come twenty in a book and the books must be purchased at the main office of the company, 400 Main street, corner Third street, for fifty (50) cents each, upon presentation to the ticket agent of a blank properly filled out by the principal of the school where such student is attending that the student is under 17 years of age and is a regular attendant at such school. This blank, properly filled out and signed by the principal of the school, will entitle the student to purchase one book containing twenty tickets. When the tickets of any book are used up the cover for same must be signed by the principal, which will entitle the student to purchase another book.

Blanks can be obtained at the main office of the company and principals of all schools are by this means notified that they can obtain these blanks in quantity to be given to students if they so desire.

Only one book will be sold to a student at a time and the books are good only for the student whose name appears on it. In case tickets are presented by a student other than the one to whom the book is issued, the same will be taken up and such student cannot again purchase any books, NORTHERN TEXAS TRACTION COMPANY.

IMPROVEMENTS IN THE INTER-URBAN SERVICE.

In order to accommedate the traveling public, the following improvements will be made in the schedule of the Interurban between Fort Worth and Dallas, beginning Monday, Nov. 12,

Dallas cars leaving Fort Worth at 7 a. m., 8 a. m., 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., 5 p. m., 6 p. m. and 7 p. m., will run express to Handley. These express cars will be marked "Express to Handley," and will make no stops between Fort Worth and Handley, except to take on passengers who wish to go beyond

Local Handley cars will leave Fort Wort on the above hours, namely, 7 a. m., 8 a. m., 9 a. m. and 4. p. m., 5 p. m., 6 p. m. and 7 p. m., following the regular Dallas cars, and will take on and let off passengers between Fort Worth and Handley. This does not apply to Saturday and Sunday. Local passengers are cautioned, therefore, not to get on the Dallas cars,

NEWS OF THE TEXAS RANGE

Mohair Headquarters Special to The Telegram

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 8 .- Arrangements have been made and completed by the American Mohair Growers' Association, who met in San Antonio Saturday, to make San Antonio headquarters for the trade of all the producers of mohair in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. A committee consisting of Henry Fink, of Leon Springs, and G. A. Hoerle of Comfort, was appointed to rent a large warehouse in San Antonio, in which the mohair will be stored. They will also accuraint the members of the association with the arrangements that have been made for getting a better price for mohair thru the association, According to present plans the mohair produced in this part of the country, and particularly in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, will be shipped to San Antonio and placed in the warehouse, to be owned by the association. Professional mohair sorters will there classify it according to quality. The expense for this work and for the use of the warehouse will be charged to the members without any margin of profit. When the mohair is sorted the better quality will be held and sold on demand to the buyers from the north and east, who visit San Antonio and this part of the country every season. The cheaper qualities will be shipped to New York to a commission merchant employed by the association. He will sell the mohair there to the best advantage. The plan of the association is to pay him a salary instead of working on the present system of allowing him to buy from the producers and sell when he can make a profit on account of the fluctuations of the market. The officers of the association say they expect in a short time to control 2,000, 000 pounds of clippings annually, and count as members all the mohair producers of this part of the United

'The price will be kept about 1c lower than the importer can afford to sell at," said G. A. Hoerly of Comfort, secretary and treasurer of the association, last evening. "In this manner the profit that has been made by the speculator and middleman will go to the producer. We expect to experience no difficulty in getting members when we will offer an opportpnity to procure from 3c to 4c a pound more for mohair."

At the meeting of members of the association Saturday in the office of the Secretary of the Fair Association. at the fair grounds, the following directors were elected: J. E. McCarty, Dublin; Henry Fink, Leon Springs; G. A. Hoerle, Comfort: S. O. Baker, Silver City, N. M.; J. J. Ford, Sonora; F. O. Landrum, Laguna; J. W. Garrett, Segovia. The officers who were elected on that day were J. E. McCarty, president; Henry Fink, vice president; G. A. Hoerle, secretary and treasurer. About twenty of the most prominent members of the association attended the meeting at which this action took place. They were much pleased with the work accomplished. A number of the members declared when the meeting adjourned that the hope they had cherised since they first became owners of ranches and goats had been realized. No delay will be allowed in the work. The committee will begin this morning to look for a suitable warehouse.

Schwing Sells Ranch

Special to The Telegram. ALPINE, Texas, Nov. 8. - Sam Schwing has sold his ranch and eattle, and will retire from the business. The ranch includes twenty-six sections and there are between 1,000 and 1,200 head of cattle and about fifty horses. Prices not known yet. L. W. Durrell returned yesterday from Dryden, where he has been surveying the King ranch, recently purchased by R. W. Prosser. The ranch includes thirty-two sections of patented land at $1 per acre and an equal number of leased sections. The cattle had been sold by the administrator shortly after Mr. King's death. H. L. Lackey has sold to J. B. Irving his ranch near Leoncito, which contains about twenty-five sections, the price for the ranch being about $5,000. In the sale are included the cattle at $15 a head, excepting about 300 head which Mr. Lackey reserves.

Another Sale

Special to The Telegram. SAN ANGELO, Texas, Nov. 8 .- It is learned on good authority that W. H. Funk of Styles has just sold his model ranch for $20,160 to J. H. Wilks of Ballinger. The deal was made by Parker, Ford & Shamblin of Styles and was closed by long distance telephone.

To Start a Hog Ranch

Special to The Telegram. SAN ANGELO, Texas, Nov. 8.-W. D. Currier, who recnetly sold his interest in the real estate business, will remain here until the first of the year, when he will move to the Lubbock country and start a hog ranch. He is now negotiating for a fine tract of land and will go into the business on quite an extensive scale. What W. D. knows about hogs would probably not fill many volumes, but if he puts into the business all the energy and good judgment he has always used in his real estate business, there is no doubt of his success.

Cattle Sold

Special to The Telegram. MEMPHIS, Texas, Nov. 8 .- John Jackson has sold his cattle to W. B. Sweatman to the number of 217 head, at $16 around. The cattle are among the best in this country. This puts Mr. Jackson out of the cattle business except a few steers. He sold his calves to J. M. Casper last summer, and they were delivered this week and shipped out to Kansas City. Mr. Jackson says he will retire from the cattle business for a time.

Long Ranch Sold

Special to The Telegram. SWEETWATER, Texas, Nov. 8 .- A deed was filed this week for record at Roby, from Sidney P. Allen and wife to C. C. Magenheimer, conveying the Long ranch for a recited consideration of $271,140. It is understood that this sale will in no manner affect the plans to colonize and sell off these lands. but it is rather in the interest and perfection of plans already made. Mr. Magenheimer lives in Chicago, is sail to be very wealthy man, and it is expected that his becoming thus interested in this section of Texas means much local development.

Encouraging Raisers

Fpecial to The Telegram. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 8.—The American Shorthorn Association is encouraging the Texas breeders in their contemplated invasion of Mexico for the purpose of substituting the registered bull for the grade animals that are being bought largely at present by the ranchmen down there. The Red-Polled cattle breeders of Texas are expecting an impetus to trade as a result of the experiments of A. G. Startz in crossing the Red Polled and the Hereford, which they claim means 100 per cent of hornless calves with white faces. The attention of the national association will be called to the ten LINER ADS Bring Results head on exhibition here by Mr. Startz, as it is claimed they are an improve-ment over the Polled Hereford. An Aberdeen Angus Association was organized by Texas breeders last spring. and as an evidence that they are not idle three breeders exhibiting "dadies" at the fair this year instead of only one as heretofore. It is but natural that Jersey breeders should be optimistic on the outlook for trade with Mexico. The owners of the largest Jersey herd in the United States, J. O. Terrell & Son, live in San Antonio, and it is thru their efforts largely that the prejudice of the Texas cattleman against the breed has been wiped out.

The Jersey as a milk and butter producer has made her a commercial success, and quite a number of cattlemen who raise beef breeds for profit also run a small herd of Jerseys for the dairy trade. The judging of the Shorthorns and Herefords was completed Friday and Saturday and the Red Polls, Black Polls, Jerseys and Holsteins will be finished up today and tomorrow.

Special to The Telegram. EAGLE PASS, Texas, Nov. 8 .- J. K. Burr, the well known Maverick county stockman, says that there will be but few big steers to go to market this spring. He thinks the number will not exceed 7,000 head from Maverick county and in the entire mesquite country the number will not exceed 30,000 head. PARIS, Texas, Nov. 8.—Twenty thousand bales of unpressed cotton are piled high on the platforms around the Transcontinental compress. So crowded has become the available floor space that two vacant lots in the vicinity of the compress have been rented and put into service. The railroads are unable to furnish cars fast enough to transport the cotton away to the seaports as rapidly as the press turns it out. A blockade, going and coming, has resulted.

Mr. Mather came here from Texas, where he inspected company property. News has been floating into Denver for some time to the effect that the Rock Island has secured the Colorado & Southern and that hereafter that road will be operated in confunction with the Rock Island and Frisco systems, both of which are controlled and dominated by the Yoakum syndicate. It is a well known fact that thus far Rock Island officials have not denied the stories. During the past month all high officials of the Rock Island have made "inspection" trips over the Colorado and Southern,

Many Immigrants Coming to State of Texas

Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 8 .- Carl Luetcke, of the real estate firm of Lutcke & Sneed of this city, has just returned from an extended trip to Germany, where he has been in the interest of a great colonization scheme for Texas. Mr. Luetcke, when seen yesterday, expressed himself as being delighted with the result of his trip. He left here on July 2, 1906, and sailed on the Castle of the North German Lloyd line and made the trip in seventeen days.

"The emigration to America from Germany," said Mr. Luetcke, "is something wonderful. They are coming to this country at the rate of 5,000 a week. On the vessel on which I was a passenger there were 1,300 German immigrants and colonists, and the best of them came to Galveston and will settle in various sections of Texas. The better class are being induced to come and settle up the fertile lands of this great state." Mr. Luetcke, who is a native of the Fatherland, declared that while for music and art, Germany is all right, for business and push, give him the United States. "After visiting my relatives and the different cities in Germany and attending to my business," said Mr.

Luetcke, "I became restless and longed to again be back in dear old Texas. Texas for me every time." Md. Luetcke, who is a member of the local lodge of Elks, declared that it was remarkable to see how many Elks he met while on his trip. It made him feel good to see members of the fraternity so far away from home. Mr. Luetcke declared that he will make another trip to Germany next year, when he will reap in a great measure the fruit of his present visit, altho he pro-

Anti-Saloon League Loses Another Liquor Suit .

Special to The Telegram. LAWTON, O. T., Nov. 8.-The Oklahoma Anti-Saloon League lost another liquor case in the district court here today and the loss came about thru a very novel procedure.

John Inman, a saloon man of Manitou, made application for a license to self liquor in his town. Property owners in a certain district objected and commissioners with a remonstrance against the issuance of the license, but they made the mistake of placing the name of Mrs. Inman in the remonstrance instead of that of John Inman. The commissioners took cognizance of the error, but granted a license to Inman. Attorneys for the remonstrants appealed the case to the district court and today Judge Gillette dismissed the appeal, thus sustaining the action of the commissioners.

DR. COOPER THE NEW PRESIDENT

Plan List of Property Available for Sites

Dr. J. L. Cooper will lead the Board of Trade for the coming year as president of the organization. A meeting of the new board of directors held in the board rooms on Wednesday afternoon and officers elected for the coming year. Dr. Cooper was placed in nomination by the retiring president, William Monnig, and was elected unanimously.

Other officers elected Wednesday were, first vice president, J. B. Burnsides; second vice president, F. M. Rogers; secretary, B. B. Paddock; treasurer, W. B. Harrison. All were chosen unanimously, the last two being re-elected. Upon taking the chair, Dr. Cooper briefly outlined his ideas for the work of the association, and said: "If we could work in a concentrated, united effort, with 1,000 of our citizens in a solid phalanx, somehow I believe our ideals would be brought to a termination in a much shorter time. It is not only a privilege to work for Fort Worth, but it should also be a pleasure. I intend to do all that I can for the city and I must have the aid, counsel, help, advice and friendship of every member of the Board of Trade and also the citizens of the city."

Dr. Cooper also made a proposition to the board of directors that met with the instant approval of all members, when he stated that he considered that it would be a good idea for the secretary to prepare a list of owners of sites which would be satisfactory to incoming houses, and then secure a statement from the owners as to the conditions under which they would erect buildings for new concerns or others, so that when a proposition was made to the secretary he could sit down at his desk and pull out a slip, show it to the representative of the new company and state that the contract for the property could be closed immediately. Dr. Cooper emphasized the fact that there are few places in Fort Worth at present and said that should a representative of a wholesale house come to this city and offer to start a business and ask for a location Captain Paddock would only be able to get as far as the door and then would not know which way to go. Upon motion Captain Paddock was instructed to secure such a list of prepositions from property owners.

F. M. Rogers reported for the committee in charge of raising the $20,000 fund for securing new business interests in the city and said that the committee was not going to shirk work at all in the matter. He also said that the press of the city had offered valuable assistance, and made a motion that a vote of thanks be extended to the newspapers for their aid, and at the same time Secretary Paddock was instructed to send a copy of the resolutions to each of the papers.

Communications were read from the secretaries of the Southwestern Immigration and Quarantine convention, which will be held at Nashville, and of the Trans-Mississippi Congress, which will be held at Kansas City, Nov. 20 to 23. The secretary and treasurer were instructed to secure the services of delegates to represent this city at these meetings. At the Nashville meeting there will be addresses by governors of a number of the southern states. The meeting there is called for the purpose of securing a share of the immigration into the United States to the south. The meeting will be attended largely by the immigration agents of the railroads, and it is expected that one or more of these men from Fort Worth will act as delegates.

This city is entitled to six delegates at the Kansas City meeting, and it is probable that a number will be secured from Fort Worth. The directors present at the meeting Wednesday were William Monnig, Dr. . L. Cooper, J. B. Burnside, F. M. Rogers, B. B. Paddock, Ed Want, F. W.

Axtell, George C. Mountcastle, L. P.

Robertson, W. G. Burton and J. E. W. C. Stripling and John King were the only directors absent.

At the Majestic A well known young man of the town who has quite a reputation as an amateur society entertainer in monologue and humorous hits, nearly caused Lew Wells, the monologue artist at the Majestic to lose his balance last night. He sent one of the ushers back to the stage door of the theater with a request that Mr. Wells come around to the front after the show Of course Wells always good natured and obliging, hurried into his street attire and hastened out to see who wanted him, altho he had not recognized the name on the card. When he arrived at the front, the young man backed him into a corner and said: "Mr. Wells, I was in the show just now and admired your act very much. Would you please repeat your stuff to me slowly so that I may take it down There is a great deal of it I cannot remember. Wells naturally looked surprised at this off-hand request and the young man hastened to explain:

"You see, Mr. Wells, I do a great deal of this kind of work at parties, private entertainments, etc., in society, you know and find it goes awfully well, especially with the ladies. And of course I am always on the lookout for something new-that's why I sent for you. And besides," he added, "I have a good friend who is a reporter on one of the papers and he will publish a lot of it so that it will be good advertising for you." Wells hesitated. The topic this time will be "From Brahmanism to Buddhism; the Protestant Reformation of the Orient.' The history of the ancient priestly religion of the Hindoos and of its evolution into the system named after Gautama, "the Buddha" accords a most astonishing example of historical parallelism when compared with the great Lutheran uprising in the Roman Catholic church. Contract to Sell the Kirby Tagging Roads to Yoakum John H. Kirby of Houston is an applicant before the railroad commission for authority to issue bonds on the Burr's Ferry, Brownwell and Chester Railway, which is to extend from Rockland, on the Southern Pacific, northward about seventy-two miles, where connections can be made with the Santa Fe and Kansas City Southern. This scheme is not to be confounded with the contract for the sale of what are known as the Kirby logging roads to the Yoakum syndicate, a contract which is held up by the intervention of the Maryland Trust Company, and which case is now pending in the federal court at Houston before Judge Burns. The sale price in the latter transaction is to be a million of dollars and if the Yoakum syndicate acquires control, as it undoubtedly will, the logging lines are to be developed into an important railroad system, that will run directly into the heart of the great long leaf pine regions of eastern Texas and western Louisiana.
