JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 9.—Mrs. Catherine Stauffer, a widow, was found murdered in bed early today at Lambertville, a small village in Somerset county. There was a bullet hole in her head. When the neighbors arrived on the scene the man had gone.

Message to Governor

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 9.—Gov. Lanham this morning received the following telegram from D. W. Seabury at Rio Grande city: "Rangers were attacked tonight on road from Sam Fordyce by an armed body of Mexicans. A pitched battle followed. One of the assailants was killed and others wounded. No rangers were hurt. We must have a larger force at once. Captain McDonald and four rangers are here. Captain McDonald agrees to this request. Governor Lanham at once ordered the troop of cavalry from Corsicana to proceed at once to the scene of the trouble, and they were joined here by Adjutant General Hulen, who will take command. Colonel Townsend of the Third Infantry is also with the troop, which passed thru here at noon. It will reach Rio Grande city tomorrow night, going by rail as far as Sam Fordyce, and march overland twenty miles. The Austin cavalry troop has been ordered to be in readiness to leave at a moment's notice."

Car Load of Ammunition

A car load of ammunition left Austin destined for Sam Fordyce, with hurry up orders attached to it. It will be there ahead of the troops. The cavalry troops will get horses when they reach Sam Fordyce as all arrangements have been made for that purpose. The adjutant general's office has been the scene of great activity last night and up to noon today. Troops will be well provided for when they reach their destination. The situation is decidedly serious and getting worse hourly.

Martial Law Likely

Ranger Captains McDonald, Hughes and Brooks are now at Rio Grande City with good-sized squads of rangers and when the militia reaches there the force will be adequate to place the entire community under martial law. It will be martial law, sure enough. If the Mexicans act unruly a wholesale slaughter will follow and the town and section will be rid of its desperate characters.

ACKERT TELLS WHAT HE KNOWS

Waters-Pierce Manager Is Put On the Stand

Special to The Telegram. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 9.—Charles P. Ackert, 56 1/2 Vermont avenue, general manager of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, was the first witness examined yesterday afternoon in the counter suit instituted by the state of Missouri against the Waters-Pierce Oil Company.

Ackert said that the Waters-Pierce Oil Company did business in Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana and part of Indian Territory. St. Louis, he said, was the headquarters of the company for the Missouri district, Little Rock for Arkansas and Indian Territory and Dallas for the district including Oklahoma and Texas. The state has concluded its presentation of evidence and several witnesses for the defendant corporation will now be heard.

Jewell P. Lightfoot, assistant attorney general of Texas, is here to get pointers from the Missouri investigation Standard Oil methods. During the day Attorney General Hadley held a conference with the district attorney relative to the proceedings to be instituted by the federal government against the Standard Oil Company. Attorney Frank Kellogg of St. Paul, special attorney of the government in the Standard Oil cases, is expected to arrive in a few days.

C. P. Ackert, general manager of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, was on the stand all the afternoon testifying to the methods of business used by that company.

Attorney General Hadley objected to the form in which Attorney John D. Johnson for the defense put the questions to the witness as too leading, and was sustained.

HIGHLY ELATED OVER SHOWING

Are Prohibitionists at National Headquarters

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—The people at the prohibition national headquarters in this city were congratulating themselves today on the excellent showing which they assert the prohibitionists made in the different states Tuesday. A large number of dispatches have been received and Charles R. Jones, chairman of the national prohibition committee, said the total vote of the party in the different states will exceed $25,000, whereas the total for Swallow for President in 1904 was 257,412.

"At least three congressional candidates of the prohibition party," said Mr. Jones, "have been elected. They are Frank E. Fitch, Georgia; George C. Creary, Sixth, and Joseph E. Thopy, Nineteenth Pennsylvania districts. They were the prohibition fusion candidates.

In New York, Francis E. Gates, prohibition and independent candidate, was elected state senator, and in Washington George C. Cottrell, national grand chief templar, was elected state senator on the democratic ticket, backed by prohibitionists and independent in the district that gave Roosevelt 1,800 majority in 1904.

"In Illinois, the prohibitionists broke all records, the candidates for state treasurer, Allyn, receiving 45,000 votes and carrying over a dozen counties. At least six prohibitionists are reported elected to the legislature. In Missouri caucuses, the prohibitionists are credited with 30,000 votes for Allyn, who carries twenty-eight cities, despite his defeat for governor.

"The prohibition party polls 'a balance of power' vote in at least seven states—New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Maine, Illinois, Iowa and Kansas. Dispatches from the Oklahoma prohibition headquarters indicate that a large majority of the delegates elected to the constitutional convention are favorable to a prohibition clause in the organized 'law of the state.'

WILL MAINTAIN HIGH PRICES

This Is the Plan of Southern Cotton Association

Special to The Telegram. ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 9.—A movement designed to "maintain a profitable price for cotton against the conspiracies of Wall street" was inaugurated Thursday evening at a meeting of the executive committee of the Southern Cotton Association.

The method proposed for accomplishing this purpose is the formation of the "Southern Cotton Company," with an authorized capital of $10,000,000, to build warehouses, put up cotton at reasonable prices and otherwise endeavor to regulate the market.

The plan for the proposed buying and handling company was presented by a special committee consisting of Messrs. J. P. Allison of North Carolina, S. A. Witherspoon of Mississippi, F. L. Maxwell of Louisiana, E. D. Smith of South Carolina and J. A. Hickey of Texas. This charter provides for organization of a stock company with an authorized capital of $10,000,000 and an initial capital of perhaps $10,000,000.

It is proposed that affairs of the company shall be administered by a board of thirty-five directors, who shall estimate fair cotton prices and endeavor to have them maintained.

The management of the concern is to erect storage warehouses at principal buying and selling. The par value of the stock is to be $5 a share, opening membership to small as well as large planters, members of the Southern Cotton Association and others. Should the directors believe cotton to be worth more than the Wall street price, it will pay such prices, regardless of the so-called market value, and hold the product for a rise.

A company has just been chartered for tunnelling the straits of Bell Isle at Point Armour, where there is only one tunnel and across Newfoundland and Newfoundland. drawn and the front door closed, when other men count their gold, Mr. Losekamp counts his teeth. He has thousands in teeth, but the tears are close to the surface as he speaks of the mistake he made in not acquiring even more teeth.

"Why, I could have made a million and a half easy if I'd only put my capital into teeth. Once I could buy a tooth for two dollars and sell it for $5, reasonable profit, you see."

Indians get Wise Losekamp formerly bought dresses from the Indians, the dresses being decorated sometimes with 500 teeth. Any hunter with elk teeth in his possession was a purchaser in Losekamp. But he cannot buy them any more, and make a reasonable profit, for any Crow Indian nowadays knows the value of an elk tooth.

Losekamp is disposing of his teeth to a firm in the east at the rate of 400 and 500 a month. The firm makes them into watch fobs for members of the society of Elks. In Wyoming a jeweler has made a specialty of souvenir spoons, the handles of which are decorated with elk teeth. An elk tooth bracelet studded with diamonds is another Wyoming novelty.

Visitors desirous of inspecting Losekamp's teeth are accorded courteous treatment, and he is called upon to flash his teeth several times a week by strangers who have heard of their fame.

W.C. Stripling THE PRICE IS THE THING

ARE RATTLESNAKE BIT SCIENTISTS SAY

Special to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—There is a nake controversy at the Smithsonian institution. The point at issue is, "Has death ever resulted, in the case of a full grown man, from the bite of an American snake?"

The negative side of the question is taken by E. A. Schwarz, an eminent naturalist of the institution's staff, and by Dr. E. Reichenbach, a Philadelphia dentist, who, some years ago, prepared a treatise, under the auspices of the Smithsonian, upon the poisonous bites of North America, says a writer in the Washington Post. These gentlemen affirm that there is no sufficient instance of fatal results following a snake bite from an American reptile. On the other hand, Professor Leonard Stejneger, curator of the department of reptiles and batrachs in the National Museum, says that there are many such instances.

"Numerous cases of snake bite," said Dr. Schwarz, "have come under my personal observation. I have traveled extensively through the country, and seen in Florida and Texas have had opportunities of seeing for myself the effects of bites from the rattlesnakes of those regions, the largest and so-called 'deadliest' in this country. One of the cases happened in Florida. The man bitten by the rattlesnake was an officer, Captain James, I will call him, was an indulger in alcoholic stimulants to an inordinate degree, and

THE DEMOCRACY THAT HURTS

If Hearst is elected governor of New York, a few "Democratic" papers in Texas will turn their column rules as a sign of mourning. While others rejoice, they will be in sore distress.—Houston Chronicle.

The papers engaged in fighting Hearst in Texas are not Democratic to hurt. They are generally ring organs, with no higher object than to serve the interests they represent.—Fort Worth Telegram.

"Not Democratic to hurt," because they fight a man who claims the support of Democrats in New York while himself fighting the Democratic nominees in Illinois, Mississippi, Texas, California, and perhaps in other states.

Mr. Hearst is not a Democrat, has not been for two years, but on the contrary has persistently fought Democracy in every way. He was a candidate for mayor of New York against the regular Democratic nominee, fought the whole ticket, and has since urged independence in politics, and refused to be bound by the action of the Democratic party.

It would be interesting to learn what Democratic papers The Telegram characterizes as "ring organs," and explain what "rings" they represent.

The only ring we know of is the Houston "Ring" taken up by the papers mentioned.—Ablene Reporter.

And when was the Abilene Reporter qualified to pass upon the Democracy of William R. Hearst? It seems strange that if Hearst is not a democrat that he should have been nominated as the Democratic candidate for governor of New York and made the race as such.

Perhaps the esteemed Reporter is of the ilk that would gauge a man's democracy by his fealty to an individual, regardless of democratic principles or any thing else. Fealty to the individual is no test of Democracy. Democratic principles constitute something infinitely higher than individuality.

It will be known of all men that The Telegram has been preaching the real and bona fide democratic doctrine.

As to the "ring" papers, The Telegram did not have the Reporter in mind when the expression was penned. It was thinking of those so-called Democratic papers of this state who seek to control and dominate every election, and which lose sight of democratic principles in blind fealty to the individual.

SHORTAGE IN RANGE CATTLE

Texas cattlemen have been insisting for the past three years that a marked shortage existed in the range supply of cattle, and it is probable the claim would have long ago been established and better prices resulted but for the fact that so many of the big outfits have been engaged in the work of cleaning up and shipping out everything that would bear shipment.

The unprecedented manner in which the big ranches are being wiped out of existence is compelling the marketing of thousands of cattle that would have otherwise remained in the range country, and the enforced shipment of this class of stuff has resulted in keeping the market centers from showing the falling off in receipts that would have otherwise surely resulted.

It has come to light, however, that St. Louis, which has long been one of the leading eastern markets for Texas range cattle, is short this season about 4,000 cars, and Kansas City modestly confesses to a shortage of about 500 cars. In Chicago the receipts of range cattle for the year are 296,000, which is 15,000 short of last season at this time, and the Chicago receipts have been kept up by a constant stream of stuff from the Northwest, where the rule among the big cattlemen seems to be to make every effort to get out of business.

The fine condition of the northwestern stuff has caused it to bring good prices, the general average being about $10 per head higher than last season. Under such circumstances there has been a constant incentive to sell, and the indications are that the Northwest has been very thoroughly cleaned out.

If St. Louis, Kansas City and Chicago show such marked falling off in receipts this season when conditions have been favorable for extensive marketing, it is a pretty safe proposition that the decrease next season is going to be almost sensational. The fact of the business is that cattle are going to command very high figures next year, in the judgment of those who are keeping a close tab on the situation, from the very simple fact that there never before in the history of the range country has there been such a marked shortage in the supply.

Heretofore the producers have been the only people disposed to talk of the cattle shortage, but now when the stock yards people at all the market centers are joining in the chorus it may be set down as a fact that the country is face to face with a deficiency in the supply that is going to soon send prices skyward.

GETTING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

President Roosevelt sent his man, Ellihu Root, into New York charged with making campaign speeches for Hughes as the President's personal representative, and in his first speech Secretary Root shamefully charged Hearst with responsibility for the assassination of McKinley. A special from Washington to the Brooklyn Eagle says:

Ambrose Bierce, the author, today explained that he was the writer of the lines: The bullet that pierced Goebel's breast Cannot be found in all the West; Good reason: It is speeding here To stretch McKinley on his bier.

Major Bierce explains he was writing for the Hearst papers when Governor Goebel was killed. The bullet could not be found. Major Bierce was a friend of President McKinley, and he says, wrote the lines, not for the purpose of instigating assassination, but in prophecy that if such crimes as that against Goebel went unpunished, then the assassin's bullet would strike higher up. Twenty months later the prophecy was fulfilled, and McKinley was killed.

It was then, Major Bierce says, the enemies of Hearst dug up the lines, wrested them from their context and used them, just as Secretary Root did in his Utica speech, to make it appear Hearst papers incited McKinley's removal.

It was a dirty piece of political work to charge William R. Hearst with the crime that shocked this entire nation, and it is a piece of work the democracy of this nation will not soon forget. It is bad enough to have the President forget his exalted position and dabble in outside politics, but when it comes to the methods such as were employed in the New York campaign it is nothing short of shameful. And the surprising part of it is that the man who delights in standing as the apostle of the square deal should have been guilty of such a reprehensible procedure.

Such methods would naturally be expected to emanate from a ward heeler, but when the President of the United States descends to such a level it presents a spectacle that is positively revolting.

The campaign is over in New York and Hearst has been defeated, but that fact does not rob him of his right to a vindication. He has ample vindication in the statement made by the author of the lines quoted by Secretary Root, but that gentleman will hardly have the manhood to come forward and offer an apology for the cruel and malicious falsehood he spread concerning the nominees of the Democratic party.

FORECAST OF PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

President Roosevelt has completed the draft of his message to congress, which will be delivered upon the meeting of that body in December, and while every effort has been made to keep the contents of the message from being known, enough has leaked out to indicate that it will be highly sensational. The most important recommendations the President will make are as follows:

- National regulation and supervision of corporations engaged in interstate commerce by either act of congress or thru a constitutional amendment. National taxation of inheritance. Graduated taxation of incomes. National assistance to labor thru laws making eight hours a legal day for all government work save on the Panama canal. Limiting hours of labor of railroad employes. Authorizing thoro investigation of child and woman labor problems. Requiring in cases arising out of applications for writs of injunction in labor disputes that due notice be given to adverse parties before granting a writ, the hearing to be ex parte if the adverse party fails to appear at the time and place decreed. Explanation of the causes which compelled American intervention in Cuba and an announcement of the unselfish policy the United States will pursue with regard to the island. American citizenship of Porto Ricans. Removal of all duties save 25 per cent of the present trade on sugar and tobacco, on Philippine products, exempted duties to be removed entirely in 1909. Warning to the American people to accord to the Japanese and all other foreigners the rights which belong to them by treaty, and federal control of cases involving foreigners. Increase of the navy by construction of battleships and other craft which shall make the United States strong enough to guard itself and its interests at home and abroad. Increase of the artillery corps of the army and aplication of the principle of selection in the promotion of officers of the army and navy. The entire message is going to be bristling with surprises and will almost take the breath of the conservative element of the President's own party. It is probable that many of these recommendations will fall on deaf ears, but it is again going to be made manifest that Roosevelt is far in advance of his party on many of the most important questions of the day.

The northern cattle markets are just beginning to realize there is a big shortage in the cattle supply. It is said St. Louis is already short 4,000 cars in comparison with last season and the other markets are also showing a considerable deficiency. As soon as the fat stuff from the range country is all marketed prices are going to shoot skyward.

From the showing made by the reorganized Republicans in the election Tuesday it is apparent that there was a whole lot of energy wasted in the effort to obtain recognition on the official ballot. The result would have been the same without the recognition extended.

It is reported that Colonel W. E. Skinner may be selected to manage the next Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, and it would be a wise selection. Skinner is the father of the movement, and has had sufficient experience along those lines to render his services almost invaluable.

The manner of Hughes' election as governor of New York is now perfectly clear to the man of average comprehension. He made the landing on the style and shape of those whiskers.

Twenty-nine Democratic congressmen warning chairs that were formerly held down by Republicans is some gratification, even in face of the fact that so many Republicans appear wedded to their idols.

And now the Love tax bill has been declared constitutional. If this thing keeps up a method may yet be constitutionally devised to make the railways of Texas come up with the brunt of taxation.

It is absurd to say that the newspaper may not receive railroad transportation in exchange for advertising space and it is equally absurd to say that the railroads should not give transportation in exchange for advertising. It is purely a business transaction, to the mutual advantage of both the railroads and the newspapers and likewise to the benefit of the general public without being in any sense a discrimination against anybody.—San Antonio Express.

The newspapers have a perfect right to exchange advertising for railway transportation and the railways have the same right to exchange transportation for advertising. This is a matter that only affects the newspapers and the railways, and cannot be construed into anything that is unlawful.

Thomas B. Love was vindicated today in his taxation ideas by the supreme court of Texas. Thomas B. Love will be heard from at Austin this winter in the political life of Texas. He has his bitter, unrelenting enemies; he has his loyal friends. He was slandered by anonymous letter-writers who were stabbed by Lon V. Stephens of Missouri and bushwhackers and moral degenerators have made him stronger and all powerful in Texas.—Dallas Times-Herald.

Love is making good as a statesman and patriot, and the fact that he has enemies is but to his credit. The man in public life who does not incur opposition rarely amounts to much.

"The southern democracy points the way for the democratic party," says the New York Globe, a republican newspaper. Let us hope that it is true. That is to say, let us hope that the northern democracy will rehabilitate itself and get once again squarely in line with the time-honored principles of the democratic party.

In a national sense, the southern democracy stands today for equal and exact justice to all, special privileges for none. This is, of course, a glittering generality, but democrats will understand it to mean taxation for public purposes only, an honest and economical administration of the federal government and the enforcement of the law.—Houston Post.

In the south democracy means something. It stands for something more than a desire for office and submission to the interests that prey upon the people. The real democracy of this nation is found only in the south.

Governor Campbell has a safe majority over all opponents and the indications are that the entire democratic state ticket has been elected in Texas, with no danger that the majorities will be materially cut down by later returns from the back counties.—San Antonio Express.

Texas democrats turned out and voted very well when the size of the cotton crop is taken into consideration. The Campbell majority was not as large as it might have been, but it is enough to show that democracy in Texas is still rampant.

There has been a wonderful improvement in the character of the farm business throughout north Texas in the past five years. This indicates very forcibly the change that is taking place for the better among the farmers.—Denison Herald.

The farmers of Texas are enjoying an era of prosperity and they are taking advantage of the opportunity to improve their homes.

THE TELEGRAM AND THE TEXAS PRESS

CANNING FACTORIES IN TEXAS There are many points in Texas where canning plants could be made to pay, but for some reason or other the people seem to prefer to build up such institutions in other states.—Fort Worth Telegram.

WAVE OF THE OCTOPUS The next state legislature should pass a uniform text book bill that will fill all Texas. LOVE February the 29th, 1890, is the time. Dear Sir and Friend of Old: I'll give you a little more of my opinion or advice 'as you may call it. I shall lecture a little on love, being as it bears on my mind. I'll tell you my opinion of it; Doc Beeson's opinion on love: Love is like the devil, because it torments; like heaven because it wraps the soul in bliss; like salt because it is relishing; like pepper because it often sets on fire; like sugar because it is sweet; like a rope because it is the death of man; like a prison because it is miserable; like wine because it makes us happy; like a man because it is here today and gone tomorrow; like a woman because there is no getting away from it; like a snip because it carries one to the wished-for port; like a will-o'-the-wisp because it often leads one into a bog; like a fierce course because it often runs away with one; like the bite of a mad dog or a kiss of a pretty woman because they both make a man run mad; like a goose because it is silly; like a rabbit because there is nothing like it. In a word, it is like a ghost because it is like everything and like nothing. It is often talked about but never seen, touched or understood.

And so I'll end this tale and I want you to take pattern by it. Whenever you get in love think of Doc Beeson's lecture, for it is a good one. I want you to send me a lecture and argue the case as to whether I ought ever to marry or not, and then I'll send you another lecture. So no more at present. DR. BEESON.

VERVES THAT BRING

A DEAD ROSE O rose, who dares to name thee? No longer roseate now, nor soft nor sweet, But pale and hard and dry as stubble wheat—Kept seven years in a drawer, thy title shames thee.

The breeze that used to blow thee Between the hedgerow thorns, and take away An odor up the lane to last all day— If breathing now, unweetened would forego thee.

The dew that used to smite thee, And mix his glory in thy gorgeous urn Till beam appeared to bloom, and flower to beam, If shining now, with not a hue would light thee.

The dew that used to wet thee, And while first, grow incarnadined because It lay upon thee where the crimson was— If dropping now, would darken where it met thee.

The fly that lit upon thee To stretch the tendril of its tiny feet Along thy leaf's pure edges after heat— If lighting now, would coldly overrun thee.

The bee that once did suck thee And build thy perfumed ambers up his hive— And swoon in thee for joy, till scarce alive— If passing now, would blindly overlook thee.

The heart doth recognize thee, Alone, Alone! the heart doth smell thee sweet, Doth view thee fair, doth judge thee most complete, Perceiving all those changes that disguise thee.

Yes, and the heart doth owe thee More love, dead rose, than to any roses cold— Which Julia wears at dances, smiling bold— Lie still upon this heart which breaks below thee! —Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

TALKS OF THE CAR SHORTAGE

Officials Say the Roads Must Build More Cars

The shortage of freight cars on all Texas railroads was the subject of an informal meeting of railroad men at the Texas and Pacific passenger station Friday morning and the whole matter was threshed over by those who took part in it. They all held subordinate positions in the railroad world and do not like to be quoted when they talk about railroad affairs for obvious reasons. One of the party, who has been railroading in Texas for twenty years, said: "The whole trouble arises from the fact that the railroads of the country are short on rolling stock, and conditions during busy seasons are not going to be any better than they are now until the roads go to work and have more freight cars built. It has been the custom ever since I have been railroading for one road to depend on getting cars for its freight business on its ability to 'snake' the cars of other roads and holding them; but as all the roads are engaged in the same snaking business now, not much advantage is gained by anyone. 'The railroads were not prepared for the big increase of traffic this year in Texas and no doubt the same is true all over the country. There never was such a tonnage known in the history of railroads in Texas as there is now, and if you will notice you will see that there are very few new freight cars in service on Texas roads. The tonnage has outgrown the capacity of the cars and the only relief is for roads to build more cars and build them quickly. No one road can go to the relief of another, for all are in the same fix."

WILL COMPLETE LINE

Construction Hampered by Lack of Freight Cars

After the annual meeting of the Trinity and Brazos Valley road at the general offices at Fort Worth Thursday, General Manager Sweeney made the statement that it was the confident expectation of the management of the company that everything would be in readiness for the operation of the line into Houston by Jan. 1, 1907. Mr. Sweeney said: "All of the steel is laid but there is a large amount of work to be done in surfacing, ballasting and all of those little details which are so useful to bring a new track up to the standard established for the Brazos Valley. The shops at Teague are nearing completion and it is practically certain that that work will all be done by the middle of December. The completion of the road has been hampered in the final work by the delay in getting material and in that we are suffering in all probability from the car stringency, as are all others who are dependent on freight cars for the transportation of freight for their uses."

POLICY HOLDERS' CASE HEARD

Insurance People Are Again Before Courts

INSPECTOR ON THE STAND

Says He Spent About $800 to Get Ticket Elected—Says Money Was His Own

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Justice Dowling, in the New York state supreme court, Thursday heard arguments of counsel for the international policy holders committee and the New York Life Insurance Company in an attempt by a policy holder to prevent the trustees of the company from expending its funds in conducting a campaign to elect the administration ticket of trustees. Stephen Farley of this city was the policy holder who applied to the courts for an injunction to restrain an alleged waste in the company's funds, and for an accounting of the funds already expended to have been expended in the campaign. It is alleged in the complaint that the defendants caused to be printed 800,000 ballots similar to the official ballot, placed them in return envelopes and sent them to the agents of the company, with instructions to place on each ballot the number of a policy and to cross of the names of the candidates of the international committee's ticket. It is charged that this was done to secure return ballots in advance of the issue of the official ballot; that the postage stamps were so placed as to identify the envelopes when returned to the company, and that advances of many thousands of dollars were made to the agents to compensate them for their efforts to elect the administration ticket. Samuel Untermyer counsel for the policy holders committee appeared for Mr. Farley. He said that the trustees of the New York Life Insurance Company were taking advantage of the loopholes in the new law to defeat the purpose for which the law was passed. The defendants, he said, carefully omitted to say that the ticket not scratched was that of the administration ticket. He charged that the work of the subscribing members of the policy was done by the officials at the expense of the policy holders, and that it was done to steal the election. Mr. Untermyer displayed twenty-six of the ballots of which he complained, and said that thousands and thousands of policy holders had appealed to the committee to ask the courts to prevent a misuse of their funds. 800,000 Stamped Envelopes Mr. McIntosh then submitted affidavits from President Orr and Vice President Kingsley denying that the defendants had interfered in any way in the election of a ticket by the policy holders. The affidavit of Mr. Kingsley admitted that 800,000 official stamped and return envelopes had been printed and forwarded to the company's agents, but merely for the use of such policy holders as he might desire to facilitate their voting. An affidavit from the comptroller of the New York Life, from which the counsel read extracts, stated that no portion of the expense of sending out the tickets and envelopes complained of was borne by the company. Agency Inspector Russell, an affidavit, said he had spent between $500 and $800 in endeavoring to get the election ticket elected, but it was out of his own pocket. The affidavits of the cashiers in the different offices through the country were next submitted. They said that all were working in support of the administration ticket, because they believed in it and because no money had been paid

ANNUAL REPORT JUST ISSUED

Texas Schools for the Blind Make Fine Showing

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 9.—The forty-ninth annual report of the board of trustees and superintendent of the Texas Institution for the Blind for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1906, has just been received from the printers. The report shows that the institution this year is enjoying the largest attendance in its history. "During the year just closed," says Superintendent M. H. Brasher in his report, "we had a large increase in patronage. This increase amounted to 21 per cent over any previous year, there being nearly sixty more in actual attendance than formerly." Last year he had 287 children. Superintendent Brasher also declares that there are now a number of applications, and before the end of the present fiscal year there will probably be about fifty more students in attendance. Superintendent Brasher says: "According to the census of 1900 there were, approximately, 1,500 children in Texas eligible to scholarship in this institution. The enrollment this year, 1905-06, was 287. This is only about 19 per cent. Our 226 organized counties in the state only about one-third are represented by pupils. True, some of these are the grass counties and the ranch counties, and they are therefore sparsely settled, but there is no reason why so many children remain away." The report shows the per capita cost to the state to be 6 2/3 cents per meal. As to the boys' industrial department for the last fiscal year, the report shows that there was 9,750 brooms of all kinds, 251 mattresses of all kinds and sizes, 68 pillows made and renovated, 74 chairs bottomed with cane. There was $1,620.25 deposited in the treasury during the year from this department. Genius would be lots more useful if it were self-supporting.

 Declares She Will Look After Her Property

Special to The Telegram.
 BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Hettie Green, the richest woman in the world, is in Boston looking after her real estate and has turned real estate agent herself. She has quit agents who, she says, have failed to let many properties for years and has been out hustling for tenants herself. Property she did not think was paying enough she emptied. The operations did not take long, she simply said rent could be raised and that was enough. She did not advertise for tenants then, but went out and hunted for them. Few knew the benevolent old lady who offered them good property for rent in fashionable neighborhoods was the famous Mrs. Hettie Green of financial fame, but she stuck close to business, giving signed agreements as to rent in consideration of no repairs, painting or changes, one house being vacant eight years.

 Music, the poet has remarked, Has charms to soothe the savage breast.
 But modern science has embarked Upon a somewhat novel quest, And as we look for horticulture To civilize the human vulture.

The tending of the tender bud And watering of the infant leaf Eradicate a thirst for blood.
 And purify the common thief;
 The soul attitudinal to expect being Another's gore will shrink from shedding.

The trailing of the jessamine And guidance of the hollyhock Will rescue from the paths of sin
 The man who there once ran amuck;
 No naughty thought pollutes the cranium Of him who's nurtured the geranium.

No forger will forge again
 Who's watched the rose its leaves unfold;
 Wife breakers will from force abstain
 When they have sown the marigold;
 No one acquainted with the crocus Could condescend to hocus-pocus.

Thy name, great Flora, we all hail
 As healer of our social ills,
 Since thou canst help our natures frill
 By means of pinks and daffodils,

Easy Fudge—Boil together one cup medium brown sugar and one cup granulated, with half cup boiling water, till it threads or hardens in water. Do not stir while boiling. Have ready in granite pan or large dish one tablespoon butter and two of sweet cream, into which slowly pour the hot candy, beating all the time. Beat in a cool place till thick and then pour to the depth of one inch in a pan to harden. Makes a rich, creamy fudge. Any kind of nuts may be added just before putting to cool.

Maple Fudge—Break up two cups maple sugar and boil till it threads, with half cup of boiling water. Proceed as above, taking care to beat until just before it hardens.

Peanut Taffy—Boil together two cups granulated sugar, one tablespoon vinegar, tablespoon butter and one cup boiling water, without stirring. Have ready your kernels on buttered plate or tin pan and when the candy hardens in cool water pour over the peanuts. It will be clear and brittle—easy to break with a knife or small hammer when cold. Any other kind of nuts may be used.

Cream Dates—Carefully remove the seeds and fill with cream and powdered sugar. The cream must be stiff enough to form into small rolls, like date seeds. Dates may also be filled with easy fudge before it becomes too hard.

BOTTLED GRAPES
 Vine growers in France market fresh outdoor grapes all winter by a new and curious method. Bunches of grapes when ripe are cut so that a piece of the vine five or six inches long remains attached. A large number of wide-necked bottles filled with water are placed in horizontal rows in racks in a cellar, and the stems of the grapes hang outside. The grapes do not touch the water, but are supplied with water thru the stem. The low warm temperature of the cellar is favorable to the preservation of the fruit and water is supplied daily to the bottles to make up for the evaporation. Such grapes are expensive, but plenty of people are glad to pay a high price for them.—Country Life in America.

Banana Pudding—Four bananas, one ounce of butter, the yolks of three eggs, two ounces of loaf sugar, a little lemon juice, one tablespoon of cake crumbs, quarter of a pint of water and about three ounces of any kind of pastry. Roll out the pastry and line a deep dish, neatly with it. Put the yolks in a small sauce pan with a water and a squeeze of lemon juice. Let the sugar dissolve and then boil it for a few minutes. Beat the bananas, slice them and let them simmer in the syrup for ten minutes. Next either mash them smoothly with a fork or run them thru a sieve. Beat up the yolks and the eggs, melt the butter gently, then stir it into the yolks. Lastly, add the banana pulp and the sugar. Bake in a cake crumb to the yolks. Mix well together. Pour the mixture into the lined dish and bake in a quick oven for about twenty minutes, or until it feels lightly set in the center.

Baked Bananas—Six bananas, two ounces of butter, one ounce of caster sugar, half a lemon. Put the butter and sugar into a small enameled sauce pan and put it on the side of the stove for the sugar to dissolve slowly; then scrape into it the juice of half a lemon. Peel the bananas and lay them in a fireproof dish or dish pan. Pour over the butter, etc. Put the dish in the oven for about twenty minutes. Bake the bananas frequently with the butter. Serve them hot.

SUGGESTIONS
 The pulverized washing powders last much longer if used from a talcum powder shaker. A baking powder can which has holes punched thru the lid can be utilized for the purpose.
 Closely woven wool goods, like silk, should be loosely rolled around a pasteboard cylinder and covered with thin paper when laid away for a time. This will avoid the deep creases sure to accumulate from the weight of the folds. Silk will crack if left long in folds.
 A bowl of cold water placed inside will cool an overheated oven.
 Always quarter and core apples for cooking purposes, never slice them.
 When dishes are to be heated place them in tight hot water for a few minutes. This is less likely to crack the glass on the chins.
 When the chimney catches fire throw kitchen salt up the cavity, taking care to close all doors and windows to prevent a draught.
 Cold tea cleanses siltcloth or linoleum. After the application polish with a little turpentine or linseed oil.

BEWARE OF THE USE OF TIN
 Popular Science News says: Never make lemonade or other acidulated drinks in a tin bucket, nor allow them to stand in a bucket of tin, and in case of canned fruits or fish, immediately upon opening, turn the contents out upon an earthenware plate or into a dish that is made of earthenware or glass. Fruits in hermetically sealed cans if properly prepared generate no poison. As soon as opened the action of the acid on the tin, with the aid of the atmosphere begins, and in a short time the result is a poison. This brief treatment of the question should be remembered by every one and its instructions followed. The general press also should aid in disseminating this simple knowledge.

IN FORT WORTH
 Accidents Caused by Disregard of Rule of the Road

A disregard of a rule-of-the-road, a rule which is co-existent with the United States and which has the additional force of a special ordinance in Fort Worth, has caused so much annoyance that the particular attention of the police force is called to it by the city marshal and the men are directed to enforce it.

The rule is "Keep to the right," and if that rule were more generally recognized by the least of the motorists which have caused the injury of persons and the destruction of property in this city would have been avoided. The rule is so simple and of such long observance that it seems needless that anyone should be heedless of it, and that some of the accidents which are now occurring should be regarded as avoidable. There is no possibility of collisions, barring those which come under the absolutely unavoidable accident class, if the "keep to the right" rule is observed.

It is the most common thing to see, especially in Main street, where the traffic is greatest, wagons or carriages or buses with horns or bells, wrong side of the street, and the greatest offenders are women drivers or young drivers of express or city delivery wagons.

The rule is observed by many, but it is the disregard of the rule which has caused the confusion and the accidents in part of which complaint is made and which has prompted the issuance of the orders to the police to enforce the "keep to the right" rule.

Another rule or ordinance which is somewhat disregarded is that which prohibits persons from riding bicycles on the sidewalks. There is but little of this in the center part of the city, but in the business districts, in wet weather particularly the sidewalks are used freely by the bicycle riders.

Another city ordinance which is disregarded by some is that which regulates the running of automobiles over the city streets. In addition to the familiar requirements about the sound-bell, alarm or horn, or bell, which can be heard a stipulated distance, at least, each machine is required to have a license which is issued with that of the license issued.

There are a number of the locally owned automobiles which are daily run in the hall of the home where they are plainly displayed. The practice is to suspend them from the rear axle of the auto or fasten them to the back of the bodies of the vehicles so anyone can see them without difficulty.

DAILY KNITTING CHATS
 BY LAURA LA RUE

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY
 A QUESTION OF HONOR
 Fushimi swung to and fro on the gate, his eyes on the old man, but looked 7. His mother had died in the land of cherry blossoms and his father had brought him to America to learn the language and become educated. He had been left in the family of Colonel Burton, whom "Fushi" had remembered the smiling, young officer who had paid his small personal attention whenever such marked attention whenever his father had taken him to visit the legation at Tokio.

Now, altho his little oriental face was placid, his small eyes snapped, for he was now thinking of the stalwart army officer in a new light.

Fushi had had two strong sentiments. He adored "the lady with the fluffy yellow curls," and in his fanciful way had named her "The Lady Kiku," which signifies the Lady Chrysanthemum. Then there was "the lady with the white cap," her mother, whom he abhorred.

From the collection of oriental weapons in the hall of the home where Fushi now found himself, he had secretly secured a short, narrow Japanese sword, the use of which he knew so well, and with it concealed beneath his overcoat he waited at the gate.

The tall man, muffled in an overcoat, gave a glance at the house as he passed, but paid no attention to Fushi, who finally followed him.

At his own door the tall man pushed and glanced inquiringly at the little figure.

"What is it, Fushi?" he said.

"I have come to see the colonel," he replied.

"The colonel is honored. Enter," as the little oriental gravely accepted the invitation, a sudden glow dawned in the breast of Colonel Burton.

"Have you a message, Fushi?" Fushi inclined his head and, urbuttoning his overcoat, presented the short, cruel Japanese sword, and with a deep bow replied: "I bring it to you because you make the Lady Kiku cry. You hurt her feelings very much and Fushimi brings you the sword."

"Oh!" exclaimed the colonel in sudden enlightenment, "then you think she cares, Fushi?"

"It is the sword of my ancestors," he said gravely. "In my country men know vera well how to die."

"Why, Fushi, you don't mean that I am to kill myself? Is that for hurting her?"

Fushi nodded solemnly.

In the drawing room of "the lady with the white cap" the beautiful Lady Kiku sat weeping. She was beginning to doubt her suspicions—were they really her suspicions? Had not the pretty white lady, her mother, first suggested them and had she not followed the suggestion with an invitation that she leave her husband?

Now she was expecting her lawyer at three.

"Violent, dear," he cried, and a sob of joy escaped from her lips. "Violent, I will take all the blame, but please forgive me. She was nothing to me.

DEAR SIR: Believing that "ZEMO" saved my skin, I will gladly write you a testimonial. I suffered eight years from a terrible case of itching eczema of both areas. I tried eight different doctors, and every course of medicine I tried failed to give me any relief. The disease grew worse and spread to my neck, and I began to have great holes eaten in them. I soon became so bad that I was unable to work. My mother and I began to improve; in six weeks and one day the disease was cured. I am now as well as I can be. I have been cured of my skin disease, and I consider my quick recovery by using "ZEMO" a miracle. I have recommended "ZEMO" to all persons suffering from any itching skin disease. Yours gratefully, Mrs. Harvey Burks.

Flour Mill at Hereford
Special to The Telegram.
HEREFORD, Texas, Nov. 9.—Preparations are being made to erect a flouring mill here, and it is believed that the mill will be built in time to take care of the next wheat crop. Your correspondent called on L. R. Bradley, one of the proposed owners of the mill, this week and received the assurance that no change had been made in the plans. Mr. Bradley stated that he would have in due time to have the mill, elevators, etc. in order before the next crop. The company, as stated before, is composed of L. R. Bradley and W. Baird of this city and Bradenbaugh of Kansas City, either member of which is in a position to finance the enterprise alone. With this assurance before them, the farmers of Deaf Smith, Castro and surrounding counties should not be slow in extending the borders of their already large wheat fields. There is yet lots of time in which to sow wheat.

Fine Cotton County
Special to The Telegram.
CHILDRESS, Texas, Nov. 9.—Childress is the banner county in north-west Texas in the growing of cotton. Many fields in the county will make a yield of more than half a bale per acre. A. T. Leslie of this city was at the farm of W. D. Cope, five miles north of town, Friday of last week, and he says that the cotton on that farm will make more than a bale per acre. Another farmer says he has picked eight bales of cotton from the first picking, and is sure of as much more and would not be surprised if he got twenty bales off of the fifteen acres.

Texas Goobers
Special to The Telegram.
VERNON, Texas, Nov. 9.—George Mears, living out near Hereford, brought in last week two bunches of goobers that are the largest we have ever seen in Texas. He says that he has made fifty bushels of one-fourth of an acre. Any one desiring seed should see Mr. Mears, as they are fine.

Corn a Plenty
Special to The Telegram.
QUANAH, Texas, Nov. 9.—W. B. Abbott, who lives a few miles northwest of town, in the heart of the fertile land bounded by Groesbeck creek and Red river, tells us he is well stocked up on corn this winter, having over 5,000 bushels in the rick. His neighbor, L. C. Dray, however, has still 1,000 bushels more. Cotton is fine in his section, Mr. Abbott says, but he and his neighbors suffered severe loss from the ravages of the boll worms, as they had planted their cotton too thick. Wheat is all in and looking fine, and the acreage about double what it was last year.

Sold His Farm
Special to The Telegram.
CHILDRESS, Texas, Nov. 9.—J. C. Knight, who resides near Childress, sold his farm Tuesday. The farm consists of 640 acres of land nearly all of which can be put in cultivation. The buyers are Messrs. J. T. Slack of Gatesville and A. B. Graham of Turnersville, Coryell county.

BAPTISTS INVITED
Meeting of Church Workers Will Last Until Next Week
Special to The Telegram.
WACO, Texas, Nov. 9.—The Texas Baptist convention was called to order at 10 o'clock Thursday morning in Carroll chapel of Baylor University by President E. C. Buckner. There were probably two thousand delegates and visitors present.

Happiness in a Tablet
Perfect Health for Every One Procured at Small Cost
How many times have you sat down at your meals absolutely disgusted at the thought or sight of anything to eat?
How many times have you sat down at your meals without the trace of an appetite, but just because it was "time to eat"?
How many times have you felt a gnawing, unsatisfied "still-hungry" feeling in your stomach, even after you were through eating?
How many times have you felt that "rump lead" on your stomach after eating, whether your meal was well cooked or not?
And how many times have you suffered a whole lot of other things from your stomach that you couldn't explain, but that made you grouchy, miserable, out-of-sorts and generally sour on everybody and everything?
It is safe to say you couldn't tell. You don't keep track of those things, of course, but you know your stomach suffered them. You probably have had them for so long that they've become a habit with you, and you have come to the conclusion that you never will suffer them indefinitely and perhaps forever.

NOT AN ADMIRER
Representative Strickland Don't Like the Senator's Actions
Special to The Telegram.
PALESTINE, Texas, Nov. 8.—Representative J. J. Strickland was here Tuesday to cast his vote for democratic nominees. He came up from Austin, where he is taking a law course in the State University. The people of Palestine were anxious to know how he stood on the Bailey matter, and when asked what he was going to do when he got to legislative hall, and the matter of returning Bailey to the senate came up, he said that Bailey had the indorsement of the democrats of this county, and with that indorsement to guide him he would reluctantly vote for Mr. Bailey.

Sheep Suggestions
Provides warm quarters for the sheep where they can stand down if they wish to. Turnip with little bran are good to eat out the pasture. Keep the ram with flock for early lambs. It is always best to keep the ewes well fed in the winter after the lamb come, for by so doing the young ones will grow strong and robust and will be ready in the spring to take on fat at an early date for the market. A patch of sorghum sown as thickly as possible upon which the sheep can be turned in the fall will prove a big aid in fattening the animals. They will eat it all up down to the ground regardless of how large or high it may be.

The baby of a Maryland family had been thru a siege of chicken-pox. The infant's sister, a girl of 10 years, being met by the minister's wife one day, that good woman naturally inquired as to how the baby was getting on.

"He's some better, thank you," said the little girl, a shy and non-committal child.
"Very much better, I trust," said the minister's wife.
"Oh, he couldn't be very much better," responded the child, "because, you see, he's too little."—Harper's Weekly.

NELLIE BENNETT
WILL MARRY
Famous Woman Shot Tired of Living Alone

Special to The Telegram.
DENVER, Colo., Nov. 9.—Nellie Bennett, the most famous woman shot and shotgun expert in the west, has been vanquished at last. As usual, Cupid is at the bottom of it all. November 15 at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. A. M. Bennett at Gladstone, Okla., the marriage of Mrs. Nellie Bennett to W. A. Stewart of Prescott, Ariz., will take place.
Four years ago when Mrs. Bennett's husband died, she showed her mettle. She took a position with "Outdoor Life," a sportsman's magazine published in Denver, as traveling representative. A few months later she accepted a position with a leading paper company to shoot at all tournaments in connection with her work. She has been in every state and territory in the Union, as well as Canada and British Columbia. Probably no other woman shot in this country has had the experience of Mrs. Bennett. She has shot with the Goulet and Vanderbilts in New York and with the cowboys in Wyoming. She has been entertained in some of the finest homes in this country and has eaten many a supper with the relatives of the cowboys for hours with the little lonely stations in Kansas, and on baggage trucks for hours with the cowboys for company. She has been in hold-ups and round-ups, but thru it all, as one traveling man said, "no one ever saw Nellie Bennett out of humor or heard her make a kick."
Mrs. Bennett's collection of fine work she has been given her by different manufacturers, is equaled only by one other woman in this country—and that is Nellie Bennett with Buffalo Bill.

Seventy-one families, however, refused to answer the questions asked them, and 692 admitted no preference among churches. Many declared they belonged to the "big church."
A. H. Cross of Cleveland, who had charge of the work, declared that the figures compiled show that less than 5 per cent of Fort Wayne's inhabitants are indifferent to religious work. The report shows that Fort Wayne, which by the United States census has more churches per thousand of population than any other city in the state, has 14,775 churches, 8,615 Catholic, 27 Jewish, 24 Christian Science, 28 Spiritualist, 2 Mormon and 2 Quaker families.

Of the Protestant families 2,856 are Lutheran, 1,538 are Methodist, 903 Presbyterian, 479 Reformed Presbyterian and 214 United Brethren. The Ministers' Association, which inaugurated the census, expects to add

SON DIES, RESULT FATHER'S SUICIDE

Riley Parhan, the 7-year-old son of C. A. Parhan, who succumbed at Childress Monday, died in a local hospital Friday morning, from injuries received at the time of his father's suicide.

Parhan, who was evidently crazed as the result of a quarrel with his wife, started to town from his home, a few miles from Childress. Near the latter place the crazed father decided, it is supposed, to end his life and kill his children at the same time. An approaching passenger train offered opportunity and he stood on the track, holding by each hand one of his small sons until the track crushed out his own life and injured both the boys. The children were brought to a local hospital.

Previous to his suicide the elder Parhan had separated from his wife, she taking to town with her, a few miles from Childress. The two boys have been in the hospital here for several days, the mother has never come here. It is probable that the Denver railway, on which the accident occurred, will take charge of the burial of the boy. The other boy, Peter, 9 years old, will probably recover.

LEAD PENCILS MAKE NEW MARK

Will Hereafter Cost More Than Usual

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The wholesale rate on all lead pencils costing $3.50 or less a gross has gone up, according to announcements now being sent to stationers by domestic manufacturers, from five to twenty-five cents a gross. New price lists on some lines of foreign pencils are also being sent to dealers.

The reason given for the advance is the higher cost of labor and materials.

WRONG MAN ELECTED

Son, Tho Not a Candidate, Defeats His Father

BELTON, Texas, Nov. 9.—A novel feature of the election in this county was the election of J. L. Belch as justice of the peace at Holland over his father, W. J. Belch, whom he unknowingly opposed. The latter was the democratic nominee, but the initials of the son were printed instead of the father. Some detected the mistake and voted for W. J. Belch in the independent column. This case is perhaps unparalleled in the state.

RAILROADS ARE INDICTED

Federal Grand Jury to Investigate Rebates

Special to The Telegram. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 9.—Indictments have been found by the Federal grand jury, which convened in Minneapolis, Oct. 22, to investigate alleged freight rebates. In the case of the railroads the indictments contained 147 counts. The minimum penalty for conviction in each case is $1,000 and the maximum $20,000.

The list of corporations against which the indictments were returned, as given out by Assistant District Attorney Stewart and Dicey, who have the handling of the case, are as follows: The Great Northern Company, four indictments and about seventy-five counts; the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha, one indictment and fifty counts; Wisconsin Central railroad, one indictment and seventeen counts; Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad, one indictment and fifty counts.

The indictments against the railroads charge the giving of rebates, and under the head of receiving rebates the following true bills were returned: W. H. Foxworth, Wisconsin Central Company, Minneapolis; Symms Brooks Company of Duluth and the Duluth Railway Company, Minneapolis; and specific charges contained in the indictments were: Against the Great Northern Railway Company, two indictments for giving rebates to the Spencer Grain Company and one for giving rebates to the McCaughey-Dunsmuir Company.

The Omaha railroad, the Wisconsin Central and the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad were charged with favoring the Spencer Grain Company.

Besides the corporations indicted, indictments were returned against eleven individual officers of the railroad companies, but United States District Attorney Hopt said he would not consent to the names being given out for publication, owing to the fact that no service has yet been obtained on them. The general offense alleged in the railroad indictments is the absorption of grain elevator charges.

THREE FACTS For Sick Women To Consider
First.—That almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful periods, displacements of the female organs, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing-down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

Second.—The medicine that holds the record for the largest number of absolute cures of female illness is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can.

Third.—The great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time published by permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM
The aches and pains of Rheumatism are only symptoms which may be scattered or relieved with liniments, plasters, blisters, etc., or quieted with opiates. As soon as the treatment is left off, however, or there is any exposure to dampness, or an attack of indigestion, the nagging pains, sore muscles and tender places on the flesh return, and the sufferer finds that he has merely checked the symptoms, while the real cause remains in the system.

WATER POWER FOR ELECTRIC PLANT

O'Beirne Interested in Large Project at Berwyn

W. H. O'Beirne of Gainesville, who on Tuesday was elected "floater" from the One Hundred and Eighth district, which includes Tarrant as one of the counties making up the district, is in the city.

Mr. O'Beirne is the manager of the Gainesville electric light plant and it is his bid which is now before the electric light and water works committee of the city council, in which he proposes to run the city's electric light plant for a stipulated sum for the service rendered.

Mr. O'Beirne is prominent in the Washita Electric Company, which is developing the power at the falls of the Washita river near Berwyn, where the headquarters of the company are located.

The possibilities of the development of electric power at that place are almost unlimited and as such power can be successfully transmitted 200 miles or more the field opened up to the company is vast. The first installation will be of a plant which can develop 20,000 horsepower and already the company has contracts for the delivery of power at Ardmore, I. T., which obligates the company to be in practical operation by the last of next year, the contracts reading that they must supply power contracted for at Ardmore by Dec. 1, 1907.

There is a projected electric trolley line which will make a contract for its power with the Berwyn company that will run between Oklahoma City to Sulphur and in so doing will thru the great gravel beds of Tishomingo and the asphalt beds below Davis.

Fort Worth and Dallas, both large users of electric power, are only about 100 miles from these cities.

GROWTH OF LIVE STOCK BUSINESS

North Fort Worth Market Shows Increase

The statement of the comparative receipts and shipments of live stock for the month of October handled by the Fort Worth Stock Yards Company shows a great increase over last year, and also breaks all previous records at this market.

The fact that Fort Worth is one of the leading live stock markets of the country is becoming more widely known, and the breeders and shippers are taking advantage of the better prices that are offered here for all classes of marketable stock, than are offered at most of the older markets. This is bringing to Fort Worth heavy runs of stock, and the territory is gradually widening. Each year brings new shippers into the market, who have heretofore been going to the northern markets. The returns here have been uniformly satisfactory, and thus the receipts increase.

HOTTEST TOWN ON THE MAP

Temperature of 85 Degrees Recorded Saturday

EQUALS RECORD

Partly Cloudy Skies Promised, But No Change for Cooler Temperatures

Fort Worth is the warmest place on the weather map Saturday. At noon the official thermometer had reached 85 degrees, which was 3 degrees warmer than any other place in the country. It was also equal to the highest temperature recorded here during any of the last twelve November.

A few days more of the warm weather that Fort Worth has been having for the last few days will go a long way toward cutting down the deficiency in number of degrees that has been recorded at this office for the year. On the first of the month the records showed an average deficiency of a degree a day; while for the last week the temperature average has been a number of degrees above the normal of 57 for November. The average temperature of Friday was the highest that has yet been recorded, on account of the 85 degree mark which was reached.

Forecast for Fort Worth shows that partly cloudy conditions may be expected with about stationary temperature.

Texas temperatures as given on the map Saturday morning are as follows: Abilene, 78 to 58 degrees; Amarillo, 64 to 42 degrees; Corpus Christi, 76 to 62 degrees; El Paso, 80 to 42 degrees; Fort Worth, 85 to 62 degrees; Galveston, 76 to 68 degrees; Palestine, 82 to 60 degrees; San Antonio, 82 to 56 degrees.

Temperature ranges in other sections of the country were as follows: Atlanta, 74 to 56 degrees; Chicago, 52 to 36 degrees; Memphis, 76 to 60 degrees; New Orleans, 78 to 62 degrees; New York, 62 to 48 degrees; San Francisco, 68 to 54 degrees; Spokane, 58 to 48 degrees.
