FINANCES OF CITY WORRY ALDERMEN

More Bonds May Be Issued in Near Future

The city council will meet, informally, in executive session in the mayor's office at the city hall Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of considering the general financial condition of the city. That is a serious matter and for that reason it is deemed best to hold the executive meeting that the general plans may be agreed on and then the results can be given out at the next regular meeting, which will be held Monday evening

There is a call for dispatch of financial ability to make both ends meet and measures of economy must be instituted and carried out, if a return to script payments of the claims on the city treasury are to be avoided. A large sum will be required to make what some of the aldermen hold are necessary improvements in the city water supply. Street improve-port are to be provided for and those things all require money. How to provide it is the problem which the council must consider. There may be a resort to a large sum in bonds which may be legally issued if the water works is saddled ments and other matters of vital im-with its due share of the city indebtedness. The taxable values of the city ar a little over twenty-seven millions and on the 5 per cent basis, the constitutional limit for the issuance of municipal bonded indebtedness, the city is entitled to a bond issue of about one million three hundred thousand dollars. That total is exceeded at this out there is a charge against the city proper for water works bonds which were distinctly issed as a lien on the water works and which, it is contended, can be legally eliminated so far as relates to the bonded indebtedness of the city proper.

If that elimination is made by the legislature, the city could issue additional bonds for general improvements to the amount of $345,000. This matter is receiving thoughtful

THAW JURY ONE OF PLUTOCRATS

Special Venire Contains Many Wealthy Men

TRIAL MAY BE SHORT

Will Be the Last Case to Be Tried by Recorder Goff, Who Goes to Criminal Bench

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 .- There exists a remarkable possibility in the case of Harry Kendall Thaw, who within a few weeks comes to trial for the murder of Stanford White. The possibility is that he may be adjudged guilty or innocent of the murder by a jury of millionaires. In the matter of wealth, the jury that considers his case may represent the sum of something like $20,000,000. One hundred men have been drawn on a special panel. They have been examined by the commissioner of jurors with a view to their ability to serve on a murder case. In the case where a panel is struck with a view to special fitness, the talesmen are examined as to their ability to sit in a case of ter, men of achievement and recognized mental force. Of course, the commissioner of jurors resorts to more than superficial observation looking only to a juror's general fitness and the idea of saving the county time and money by drawing men who will not be hopelessly un-great importance and an attempt is made to secure men of a high charac-

available. The result of the drawing of the present panel has, it is reported quite inadvertently brought many wealthy men upon it. Some are really very wealthy; others have fortunes that in modern days of enormous private wealth would be merely considered comfortable possessions.

But in any event it seems that f the first panel meets the demands Thaw will be tried by a silk-stocking jury. The choosing of such a jury has two public aspects-one that would recommend it and one that would oppose it.

There is not a spot on earth where the Thaw case has not been discussed where some person has not said: "Oh. his money will save him; where there is all that money, Thaw can never "Of course, he will not be electrocuted. The Thaw family will buy the chair." somebody said early in the case If the Thaw family could possibly have any such motive as attempting to swing upon the power of its vast wealth, the object would be very hard of attainment, it would seem, where the jurymen were themselves lords of On the other hand District Attorney

Jerome might have a big objection to such a jury on the ground of class sympathy. Would men of wealth be too prone to listen to the explanations of a mad act from the lips of a son of a wealthy

There will be many interesting figures in this trial, but as keenly interesting as any can be will be the two figures-the band of 100 talesmen out of which the twelve men will be picked to try Harry Thaw. It seems now assured that Recorder Goff will have this celebrated trial as the last chapter in his career as the chief of the criminal bench, for on Jan. 1 he moves to the position of supreme court judge. His term expires Dec. 31. Therefore, the Thaw case cannot be allowed to take more than twenty-seven days in the trial. As a matter of fact, it may be a very short trial, indeed. Things, however, have still to shape themselves before its brevity can be MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 17 .- Declaring their property rights in Vanderbilt University have never been transferred nor surrendered to any corporation outside of the Methodist church, the Memphis conference, one of the original founders of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Friday adopted a resolution "deprecating the controversy that has arisen as to the ownership of the institution, commending Bishop E. E. Against Chancellor Kirkland This last clause is aimed at Chancellor Kirkland, who has been the leader in the movement for a new charter, and who was the antagonist of Bishop Hoss before the commission appointed by the church to settle the mooted This great controversy has aroused Southern Methodism as not before in recent years. It has almost driven Bishop Charles B. Galloway into his grave, it has caused Bishop E. R. NEW OFFICIALS SWORN IN TODAY

Justice Bratton Gets a Marriage at Once

There was only a partial change in the county administration Saturday morning but the complete change was to be perfected Saturday afternoon. County Judge John L. Terrell entered upon the discharge of the duties of that office, relieving Judge Robert F. Milam, who will have a law office with Judge C. K. Bell in the Wheat building. Immediatery after being installed the new county judge met with the county commissioners in executive session, on what matters were not made known this morning.

Wore New Suit Richard E. Bratton, costumed in a brand new suit, was sworn in as successor to Justice of the Peace C. T. Rowland by County Clerk Rogers; made a speech and set up a box of cigars and was immediately handed a marriage license authorizing him to unite in marriage Ross Darden and Miss Laura Colthorpe, which he will do at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

County Collector Bob Davis took charge of his office early and at once put a gang of men to work cutting a doorway thru the partition into the present county treasurer's office. The treasurer's office will be moved across the hall into the room occupied by County Auditor McKenna, who will be given a room cut off from the vacated treasury quarters.

The new sheriff, Tom Wood, showed up at the court house, as did his chief deputy, W. M. Rea, but no transfer of the office was made up to noon. County Clerk-elect John A. Kee did not take charge this morning, desiring to give the retiring clerk full time to bring his records up to date, and there was a big force engaged at that work. The change was to be made this aft-

Rattle of the Machine R. Kipling, esq., poet, was struggling with his "Recessionat." He had writ-

"The tumult and the shouting dies." "That isn't grammatical," he muttered. "Let me see if I can't fix it better." Then he wrote:

The tumult with the shouting dies." "That's grammatical, perhaps," he said, "but I don't like it." He tried again:

"The tumult of the shouting dies." "A little better," he commented, "and yet it isn't exactly the way I'd like to have it go down to posterity." Struck by another idea he wrote it this way:

"The tumult (and the shouting) Holding this at arm's length he looked at it critically.

That is the way a copy "Shucks! reader, with a style card before him, might lick the blooming thing into shape. The trouble is," he continued, "that I've already decided on 'sacrifice,' to end the second line below, and the word 'dies' is the only one that rhymes with it that conveys the idea I'm trying to hammer out. When a man is paid by the word for his stuff he can afford to take his time, but I am losing money on that word. tumult-yea, the shouting!-dies.' Rot! 'The tumult stops. The shouting dies.' That would call for a red fire and a slow curtain. 'The tumult and the'dad-slam the billy-be-dad-dinged line to the gumdasted guttersnipes! I'll write it any way I blankety-blank please!" In compliance with this resolution, and realizing, furthermore, that there is practically no limit to the license under which a first class poet carries on his business, he allowed the line to stand as he had written it at first and proceeded to grind out the rest of the poem.-Chicago Tribune.

BUSHNELL'S LITTLE SCHOOL STUDIES

He was an expert with the slingshot, bow and arrow, fists; and was the boss all-around wrestler in the school. But learnin?

One time the teacher, Old Man Bruce, you remember, gave "Bub" one of those examples like this: "A has a piece of land, Half of A's land and 30 acres is twice as much as B's and one-third more than C's. How much land did each have?' "Bub" worked and perspired over his slate for two solid hours and then

Special to The Telegram. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 17 .- At the meeting of the Deep Waterways Association late last night resolutions were adopted protesting against any treaty made by the United States and Canada by which the amount of water to be taken from Lake Michigan for the use of the Chicago drainage canal shall be limited and authorizing the president of the association to appoint delegates to the national rivers and harbors congress to be held in Washington next month. President Cavanaugh called the first meeting of the board of governors for Dec. 6 at Washington. The convention closed with a banquet Friday night. Nathan Frank, chairman of the committee of entertainment, presided at the waterways banquet as toastmaster. He introduced Governor Deneen of Illinois, who spoke on "The Benefits to Illinois of Deep Waterways." Governor Blanchard of Louisiana responded to the toast, "The Outlet for the Lakes to the Gulf Waterways." Governor Folk of Missouri responded to the sentiment, "Missouri's Contribution to Canals," and Governor Jeff Davis of Arkansas took as his subject, "The Valley and the Waterways." The waterways convention elected officers as follows to serve two years: President, W. Kavanaugh, St. Louis; vice presidents, D. R. Fegan, Chicago, M. J. Sanders of New Orleans, S. M. Neally of Memphis, J. L. Hebron of Missisippi, Green Quarrels of Kansas City; secretary, W. F. Sanders, St. Louis; sergeant-at-arms, Thomas E. Hunter, Chicago.

AUDITOR A NUISANCE

So Think San Antonio Officials Who Got No Pay

Special to The Telegram. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 17.-There are a number of election officers in this county that are fighting mad. The sheriff is also riled. It is all because County Auditor Wiggins refused to approve a certain number of bills. The sheriff is allowed $2 each for delivering election supplies to the various polling places. In many instances the election officers called at the court house and got the boxes themselves. In such instances the auditor will not approve the sheriff's bill. Where more than two judges and two clerks served in precincts where less than 100 votes were cast the extra ones will get no pay. Heretofore everybody got pay. All this is galling on the sheriff and the clerks and they are wondering what a county auditor is for anyway.

Special to The Telegram. DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 17.-N. E. Horton, aged 48 years, was found dead at 9:30 o'clock last night about 150 yards from the Texas and Pacific depot in Eagle Ford. He had been to Dallas and was returning to his home. The last time he was seen alive was when he stopped at his brother's store, two and one half miles this side of Eagle Ford. His brother, F. M. Horton, who operates the Horton's store, said the dead man left his store about 8 o'clock and started for home. It is thought he was thrown from the wagon while it was passing over a rough place in the road and the wheels of the heavily loaded wagon passed over his body.

Altho she has been a hard worker all

"There was really not much of it," she said, "The women of the Pacific coast nominated me, and I wrote a letter of acceptance, then the newspapers got hold of it, and you can imagine the rest. The newspapers had a good deal of fun out of it before it was over." Mrs. Lockwood recently returned from the peace conference at Milan, which she attended as a delegate.

Methodist Conference Speaker Says It Is Moving to U. S.

Special to The Telegram. BROWNWOOD, Texas, Nov. 17 .- The Methodist conference missionary rally was largely attended Friday evening. Dr. Horace Bishop presided. Dr.

Bishop has been a member of the conference thirty-eight years, and hac been president twenty-seven years out of the thirty which he has been serving as a member of the church mission board. As a matter or item of church history, showing the good work being accomplished, it may be stated that this board has been largely instrumental in planting the Gospel and building congregations in every church in the conference from Fort Worth to Texline, and from Temple to Ballinger along the Santa Fe. Dr. Bishop's efficient services on this board and in other missions of usefulness in church work have been inestimable. Rev. J. H. Wiseman, treasurer of the board, read his report, showing that the last annual conference assessments were: For foreign missions $14 300, collections $14.281. Following this report came the report from Rev. M. H. Hotchkiss, secretary of the board. Dr. John R. Nelson was then introduced and spoke at length, reviewing the whole field for missionary work. He called attention to the influx of foreign population, from all of the nations of the earth, now entering the United States and said our own land was rapidly becoming a foreign country. He further stated that, according to the census of 1900, about one-third of our population was made up of foreigners and those of foreign extraction. Figuratively speaking, foreign mission fields were being brought thru our own gates and around our own fireside; that while this was a serious problem for church and state, it was nevertheless our great opportunity for sending the Bible to the remotest parts of the earth and converting the pagan world to Christianity.

UNIVERSAL BROTHERHOOD OF

Forty years have passed since the time that this great country of ours was shaken from center to circumference by fratricidal strife. The old things are rapidly passing away and new things are taking their place. The annual reunions of those who wore the blue and the gray are showing thinner marching lines with each annual event, and much of the old bitterness has passed from the hearts of men who can now grasp hands and stand shoulder to shoulder as brothers in citizenship and upholders of the same glorious flag. The south was sadly broken by that great conflict, but she has risen in far greater splendor than ever before and history does not recall a more rapid recovery from the pillage and carnage of war than was witnessed in the new south. Southern people are by nature the most chivalrous people on earth, but there is arising in the north a spirit of chivalry that threatens to make the south look well to its laurels. The Telegram has heretofore referred to the universally kind expressions that appeared in the northern papers concerning the death of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, but there is one that outshines all the others. Minnesota is a far northern state and constitutes a locality where blood is supposed to circulate coldly. But the following from the Minneapolis Bellman on the death of Mrs. Davis exceeds in tenderness anything that was penned in the south: "The Lost Cause," how remotely romantic the old phrase sounds in these bustling, material days of the republic. It suggests history so old that all the vitality has long since passed out of it, and it is hard to realize that it was fresh and new and meant a very great deal to many people only a few years ago; indeed, within the vivid recollection of some of us scarcely more than middle-aged. It has an old-fashioned, quaint flavor as of someticing that has long lain in sweet-smelling lavender. We associate it with thoughts of an ill-starred flag, followed to its finish by faithful and courageous soldiers clad in gray, battle bruised and pathetically ragged, but their honor untarnished; brave men conquered, but unafraid and unashamed; our brothers of the old, chivalrous south. The poor "Lost Cause," lost these forty years and more; we of the prosperous and victorious north can afford to do reverence to the beautiful ideal it typified and take pride in the American spirit which even if mistaken, still marched so valorously with Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson and gave battle for the principles it stood for. All hatred and strife; the soreness of combat and the bitterness of defeat are long since faded from the national heart. One flag alone floats over our country, but loyalty to the Stars and Stripes does not forbid pausing in our march of industrial achievement to salute the memory of that other flag which went down before it, as one may rightly and honorably pay tribute of deserved praise to a gallant but un-successful enemy. The days of the southern Confederacy seem so long gone that it startles us when a living tie breaks which conJefferson Davis, widow of the president of the Confederate States of America, who passed away, 80 years old, in New York city last week. Her death recalls chapters in American history waich seem very remote to those of us who merely read them and took no part in their stirring events. A wonderful woman, and a grand type of the highest and best in American wife and motherhood, went to her well-earned rest when Mrs. Jefferson

Davis died. What she endured and triumphed over in her lifetime can be but faintly imagined. She married Jefferson Davis just before he was sent to congress from the state of Mississippi; she saw him go to the Mexican war and met him on his return when he was severely wounded. She accompanied him to Washington, and remained there during his ten years as secretary of war. She was mistress of the executive mansion in Richmond during the bitter, dark days of the

She was his companion during a year of his imprisonment in Fortress Monroe; she went with him to Europe on his release from captivity; she returned to America when he did, and, until his death, in 1889, she was his constant and faithful companion. Thruout his notable career she was beside him, sharing his lot to its highest and most brilliant pinnacle and thence thru the evil days, the sorrow of disaster, defeat and downfall. She not only endured the tremendous vicissitudes of his public life, but the even more acute and heart-breaking sorrows of domestic affliction, for she was the mother of six children, all of whom, save one, she survived.

The years of care, sorrow, disappointment and regret; the anxious nights and sad, long, weary days which came to the lot of this American wife and mother were a test of endurance such as few are called upon to withstand. Yet she endured all, suffered all and lived out her full four-score of years, a triumphant example and an honor to her sex. Every true American, north and south, will glory in her indomitable soul and honor the memory of this brave lady who has gone to her just reward, for she was American by birth and lineage, her great-grandfather, Governor Howell of New Jersey, having been a friend of Washing-

The vanguard of the Confederacy marched gallantly to the front, flags flying and bands playing the strains of the "Bonnie Blue Flag," "Dixie," and "Maryland, My Maryland." It made a brave and martial snow and stirred the hearts of men. The rear guard of the "Lost Cause" marches to the solemn dirge of funeral music; it bears to their last resting place the remains of the widow of its president, an American woman, ennobled by suffering, sacred by reason of sorrows triamphantly endured. The last scene in the sad pageant is more glorious, more inspiring and more beautiful than the first, and. the nation does well to bare its reverent head in honor of it.

THE DAMAGE SUIT INDUSTRY

The Fort Worth Telegram quotes a Fort Worth judge as saying that the damage suits filed against public utility corporations aggregate a tremendous sum. This is doubtless true, and many of the suits are doubtless unjust and dishonest, and yet the "damsuit industry" will continue as long as the corporations so utterly regard the rights of their patrons. For instance, the writer and his daughter, both unwell, were recently forced to wait over thirty minutes in a waiting room with no fire, tho the morning was quite chilly, and finally boarded a coach which had no drinking water discoverable. This is not intended as a kick for ourself, but is noted merely as an instance of what thousands of people are being subjected to all over this country. When the railroads treat the people as something more than just a source of income, they will be entitled to and will receive more consideration from the people.-Boyd In-

It is not always the fault of the corporations that such conditions as that mentioned by the Boyd paper prevail. There are careless employes whose duty it is to look after such things and when these fail to do their duty the employing corporation is held to blame. Doubtless if the Boyd editor had taken the matter complained of up with the proper authorities steps would be promptly taken to prevent a repetition of the conditions complained of. And there would be satisfaction to the corporation authorities in knowing these facts. With thousands of people in their employ, they have no method of knowing whether or not employes are doing their duty except thru the complaints of their patrons. If there are no complaints the presumption is that there is perfect satisfaction.

The Telegram believes that all the public utility corporations should be compelled to toe the mark. But at the same time, The Telegram believes that litigation is an expedient that should be avoided when possible and only resorted to when other measures of relief have failed.

The men who are speculating heavily in West Texas ranch lands are getting values to the point where somebody is going to get hurt. There is much to recommend the west to those in search of cheap homes, but there are disadvantages to be overcome trials to be undergone, and land values in that section should not be put beyond the bounds of reason. The reaction will cause a stagnation it will take years to overcome.

That was a noteworthy achievement of the Houston Chronicle in issuing a splendid seventy-six page edition a few days ago, in commemoration of the great Houston carnival. There were 263 columns of advertising in this carnival edition of the Chronicle, and its circulation was in excess of 30,000 copies. It was a noteworthy achievement and but another evidence of the fact that the Texas afternoon press proposes to stay at the head of the Members of the next legislature should bear in mind that Texas is not paying her governor a decent salary and in the readjustment of the general situation, this fact should not be lost sight of. Make the official term of all county and state officers four years, rendering the officeholder for the term ineligible for re-election, and pay the governor of Texas an official salary of $10,000 per annum.

The Beggar at the Gate

The Texas railway commission is getting in behind the Pullman Car Company and notice is given of a hearing of the case Nov. 27, which is two days before Thanksgiving day. The commission states that the Pullman Company must cut its rates in Texas 20 per cent; in other words, instead of charging $2 for a lower berth, only $1.60 must be the price. The Fort Worth Telegram states that the rate should be cut to $1, and shows that the company eight years ago had a capital stock of $36,000,000, when a stock dividend of 50 per cent was declared and a distribution of 20 per cent was made. The Chicago Tribune says the company has earned $22,151,946 since August, 1898.—Cleburne Morning

There it goes again. The Pullman Car Company is a poor, struggling industry, too poor, in fact, to pay the wages of its porters, and yet iconoclastic newspapers are clamoring for a reduction of its rates. Colonel Jake Wolters of Houston, guardian of the sorely tried and poverty-stricken waif, should be given some consideration by his democratic fellow-citizens. Colonel Jake is a patriot, a democrat and a humanitarian, and these barbed arrows shot into his ward cause him great grief and excessive pain. It isn't fair, brothers of the Fourth Estate. Be kind to "the beggar at the gate,"-Dallas Times-Herald.

The Telegram Is Right

The state of Texas possesses sufficient taxable values to furnish all the revenue required for the proper maintenance of the state government and the tax rate should be placed where it will do the work. The present condition of affairs is a serious reflection on all Texas and should be promptly remedied .- Fort Worth Tele-

The Telegram is right on another question of great importance, and that is for four-year terms of office for state and county officials, and is at work at it. We hope that the papers of Texas will not delay the agitation of these matters, but get at them and induce the next legislature to take them up, and let common sense rule in these two vital questions. The Telegram is level-headed on most questions, and when it gets to work can do a great deal of good work.-Abilene Reporter.

0 0 0 What Are the Railways Hauling?

The northern cattle markets are ust beginning to realize there is a big shortage in the cattle supply. It is said St. Louis is already short 4,000 cars in comparison with last season, and the other markets are also showing a considerable deficiency. As soon as the fat stuff from the range country is all marketed prices are going to shoot skyward.—Fort Worth Tele-

By the way, what causes the shortage of cars complained of by the railroads every time a person wants to buy a ton of coal? The grain crop was short, the cotton crop is short, corn has not been gathered, no coal is being hauled, and now it is said there is a shortage in cattle. What are the railroads hauling, anyway?—Sherman Register.

No Excuse for Deficiency

A southern farmer heard that an onion field mulched with a thick layer of sawdust would need neither hoeing nor weeding, as weeds would not come thru the sawdust and the moisture would be retained in the ground. The thought appealed to the overworked man, but alas, there was no sawdust to be had in that region of the country. Perhaps cotton seed hulls would He had piles of them. Dallas county's representation in the state convention has been reduced from twenty to eleven, a falling off of nearly as much as in Denton county. The Denison Herald claims that Grayson county's delegation will be as large as ever. Denton county's delegation is cut half in two.—Denton News.

Tarrant county fared better than the most of the Texas counties, as we only lost two votes. We will have twelve votes in the next state convention, which will be one more than Dallas. . . .

A fine crop has been raised this year in some sections of west Texas. On this account a number of curbstone iand agents have tried to make a boom that section. A few farmers may be decrived, but they are apt to move again after one year's trial of that arid region.-Gainesville Messenger.

All of the above is very unfair to the west. That section has its disadvantages, just like every other portion of Texas, but for the past three years West Texas has made good crops, and the people of that section are prosperous and contented.

* * * The Mexican boll weevil is enlarging his field of operation, and is in North Texas, accompanied by his family. He follows the injunction to multiply, and is filling the earth with his kind. The only way to get ahead of him is to plant cotton early, and get the early maturing kind, and even then there is some risk.—Sherman Register,

The farmers of Texas are rapidly learning how to deal with the Mexican boll weevil, and the scene of his earliest triumphs is now witnessing his complete discomfiture. Early varieties of cotton and diversification are playing havoc with the boll weevil. * * *

When Hearst starts all those other newspapers, which a friend of his says he intends to do in twenty-three states, he will be in a position to do lots of good or the reverse. Let us hope that the yellow will be cut out entirely and that he will be content to be a common newspaper man and run no more for office.—Sherman Democrat.

Newspaper men generally make very unsuccessful candidates for office, as many of them can testify to their sorrow. The fact of the business is that newspaper men have no business offering for office. They usually occupy a more important position than could be conferred upon them by the suffrage of the people. * * *

There is not so much building here as in some of the boom towns, but if it takes booms to make us grow we prefer the steady growth that we have. The boom is like unto the mushroomflourisheth for a season, then withers with a deep brown taste in the mouth of the people who got a smack of the thing in a financial way. — Bonham

Texas towns cannot afford to dulge in the costly experience of a boom, for the reaction always proves hard to overcome. A good strong and healthy growth is the proposition that counts in the long run, and any disposition to boom should be summarily suppressed.

When the legislature passes the antipass law it is probable that some district judges and other officials will find it economical to remain at home and discharge their duties, instead of jaunting about on pleasure trips. Their saalries will go on just the same and expenses would continue to be incurred by the county even when the pass is prohibited, but it will make a difference when the said officials have to go down into their jeans and pay for railroad transportation. - Beaumont There is no more reason why a district judge should possess a railroad pass than any other individual, and many reasons why no district judge should possess a pass. There is an implied obligation that does not well comport with judicial honor and in-

At a meeting of the trustees of the Fort Worth public schools it was decided that the teachers must instruct the pupils how to read. The report scemed to be out that pupils in the fifth grade could not pronounce words of three syllables. The new method of teaching the word before spelling is thought to be the trouble. The trustees, hearing many complaints, called a meeting to take action on the matter.—Quanah Observer.

There is a deficiency in the present method of teaching in the public schools that is becoming painfully apparent to the patrons. When pupils in the fifth grade cannot read and pronounce common words intelligently, it is a strong admonition that the old methods were the best, \diamond \diamond \diamond

The total increase in taxable values in Texas for the present year amounted to $82,154,849. And two hundred and fifty thousand of this was from Red River county.—Clarksville Times. Senatorial Committee Hears Complaint at Restrictions

ALTHO FREE BONDED.

Chief Porter of Creeks, Heads Delegation to Protest Against Governmen's Attitude to Indians

Special to The Telegram. MUSKOGEE, I. T., Nov. 17 .- The senatorial investigation committee now in session here confined Friday's work to hearing arguments for the removal of restrictions now placed on Indian citizens by the interior department, and at the night session resumed the hearing of the charges laid by Webster Ballinger and others against the commission to the Five Civilized Tribes. A feature of the day was the appearance of members of the Creek Nation's legislation council, headed by their chief, General Pleasant Porter, who came to protest against the proposed removal. Thru them the committee learned that many of the fullbloods and other had been frequently victimized out of their holdings by fraud. On the removal of the restrictions this morning appeared Hon. Robert L. Owens, attorney of Muskogee and a Cherokee Indian by blood. The people had been promised something interesting in his address and they crowded into the Commercial Club rooms to hear him. Mr. Owens' positions were taken from both the legal and modal phases of the question made applicable to everyday conditions of the people. He did not represent his tribe, but only spoke for

He presented a legal phase new in the commission's hearings, that the government, when granting citizenship to the Indian, could retain no supervising control over him, and applied the same principal to all classes in the territory. He took for his position the decree of the government in abolishing slavery, wherein the citizenship had been made complete. His criticism of the interior department's red tape and regulations in handling the affairs of Indian Territory was the most pronounced the committee has heard during the trip, and with it charged that, while congress had legislated citizenship to the Indian, the department still held them in bondage as wards.

Rules Prevent Progress He cited the case of the Osages, the richest people in the world per capita, yet who have made no progress, because they are government wards. In laying his legal proposition he declared that the Indians had been emancipated from federal control and submitted cases to show that the general government or its functionaries have no right to reassert such control. In the congressional restrictions in the alienation of lands. Mr. Owens contended, the allottee possessed the right to assign such ownership the moment his citizenship became complete, and the equitable vendee may legally secure possession when the time limit was reached, laws and departmental ruling to the contrary notwithstanding. If this position is not correct, he contended, the government ties the citizen's hands while his pockets are being nicked.

The Indian was not legally incompetent, but really unskilled as to Those interested in maintainvalues. ing restrictions are large concerns, formed for business reasons, and the Indian, who is being made a victim of Washington red tape upon the theory that the government was devoloping him, had been robbed of his opportunity to find a competing market for his land. He charged that the recent republican defeat in this end of the new state was due solely to the bad management by the interior department of Indian affairs. He presented a proposition that Indian lands held for school purposes should pass to the state in lieu of abatement of taxes on Indian plaint, Infantile Eczema, which afflicted him for several months, commencing as the top of his head, and at last covering his whole body. His sufferings were untold and constant misery, in fact, there was nothing we would not have done to have given him relief. The family doctor seemed to be wholly incapable of coping with the case, and after various experiments of his, which resulted in no benefit to the child, we sent to Mazon, Ill., to a druggist and got a full set of the Cuticura Remedies and applied as per directions, and he began to improve immediately, and in about three or four days began to show a brighter spirit and really laughed, for the first time in a year. In about ninety days he was fully recovered, with the exception of a rough skin, which is gradually disappearing, and eventually will be replaced by a healthy one.

"Praise for the Cuticura Remedies has always been our greatest pleasure, and there is nothing too good that we could say in their favor, for they cer-tainly saved our baby's life, for he was the most awful sight that I ever beheld,

"Have you had your restrictions removed?" asked Senator Long. "No, sir," answered Mr. Owens. "I am as free a citizen as any man on this senate committee. I will not bow ray head in humiliation to the interior cepartment. I have never made and never make application for the removal of my restrictions."

He closed by asking that all restrictions be removed, save as to homesteads of full-bloods, under the theory that the interior department has no legal supervisory control over the citizen Indian; that the state would be injured by the system; that the grafter and government employes are being benefited by it.

Judge J. R. Thomas of Muskogee, formerly congressman from Illinois and more recently United States judge in this territory, supplemented what Mr. Owens had said, but went farther and Chief Pleasant Porter chief of all the Creeks, and a delegation from the House of Kings and House of Warriors, comprising the Creek congress, appeared. They spoke as the representatives of the full-bloods, mixedbloods and freedmen. Some of the deputation could speak no English, yet were well informed as to the prevailing laws, and did not hesitate to say their faith had been small in congress' intention to live up to them. This particularly referred to restrictions, and the whole Creek Nation wanted relief as to the prevailing conditions in property ownership.

The Indians laid much stress upon the aptitude of the Caucasion landgrafter, who seeks every advantage within legal limits to gain final ownership in the allotted lands. They told of one Indian who had been taken to Kansas City and made to sign away his rights for the price of a return ticket home. If it was not this method, they were made victims of the interest sharks, without any conception of contracts or business. J. Cooley Johnson, a freedman, who is a member of the House of Warriors, told of ten allottees who had sold their surplus of 120 acres each for about $1 per acre. All this occurred within six hours after they had received their allotments from the government. The entire deputation was a unit in asking the removal of no restrictions, some modification of the law of guardianship and the delivering of land titles to tribe members thru the chief, and not the Dawes commission.

Commission Complaint Heard At the night session, when the hearing was resumed on the charges against Commissioner Bixby and the commission, answers were submitted by both Bixby and Bear, the latter the commission's chief clerk, in which they denied the charges offered by Ballinger. P. B. Hopkins, a member of the constitutional convention and former attache of the Dawes commission, and Commissioner Bixby were examined at considerable length as to the commission's methods in making rolls as applying to the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations. Both denied that enrollments were made in a manner other than was prescribed by the laws and rulings of the interior department,

Ed. Andrews Sang "Last Rose of Summer"

County Judge Robert F. Milam sang "Farewell to All My Greatness" at a dinner at Miller's Cafe Friday, the dinner party being composed of county officials who for four years have been co-workers with the judge at the court house. He failed to incorporate in the song, however, the "long farewell" part of the quotation, which leads his friends to believe that he will be heard from again officially before many years roll

The dinner was an enjoyable affair, notwithstanding tears were shed by those whose official relations have been ruthlessly sundered by a cruel "twoterm" precedent and other things and it will long be cherished in memories' treasure box. The toasts were appropriate to the occasion, and the music was as sadly sweet as the song of the dying swan.

To "Alas! What Will Become of the County Now?" Judge Milam responded with so much feeling that even the waiters were on the verge of collapse. County Commissioner O. L. Sweet touched the harp lightly to "Parting Is Such Sweet Sorrow," and Ed Andrews, who is succeeded as county commissioner by T. P. Huffman, warbled "The Last Rose of Summer" in a high falsetto voice that almost cracked the rafters.

Those who attended the dinner were: County Judge R. F. Milam, County Commissioners D. H. Purvis, Ed Andrews, O. L. Sweet, J. A. Hiett and County Commissioner-elect T. P. Huffman, County Auditor C. J. McKenna, County Physician R. B. West, Chief Deputy County Clerk M. R. Chilcutt, Deputy County Clerk A. J. Beavers, B. M. Harding clerk of the probate court; Assistant County Attorneys W. H. MINE WRECKED, 2 DEAD Fatal Explosion Near Buck, I. T.,

Causes Heavy Loss

Special to The Telegram SOUTH MCALESTER, I. T., Nov. 17 -A message received from Richville at 8:30 o'clock last night says that ar. explosion in the McAlester Coal Mining Company mine at Buck killed two men and practically wrecked the mine.

The mine belonged to Pres Allen of St.

The miners who were killed were two shot firers, C. A. Withers and Sam McKinney, a negro. The mine, which s known as Buck No. 6, is badly dan:aged. The shaft was 650 feet deep. The cages and the ventilating apparatus were blown high in the air. For a while no one would go near the mine dreading another explosion.

The news of the disaster spread rapdly and the first man on the scene was Pres Allen, who operates the mine in connection with his father, the millonaire St. Louis capitalist. At present t is impossible to ascertain the extent f the damage.

From indications it seems that the mine is on fire from the explosion and that its costly timbers will be ruined, in addition to the damage wrought by the dynamite. The reason no others were killed was the fact that the shot firers always work alone and that there were no other men in the mine at the time of the explosion except the men now dead.

NEW DALLAS PASTOR

Rev. William Thompson, D. D., Coming from Nashville for Methodists Special to The Telegram.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 17 .-- It is understood among the official members of the First Methodist church of his city that their pastor, Rev. William E. Thompson, D. D., who has closed out his four years' ministry, will be transferred to the North Texas conference and stationed at the First church in Dallas. It is said that Bishop E. E. Hoss is insisting upon his accepting the position and that he had it under advisement. The appointments of the Memphis conference will not be read out before Monday and the slate may be broken before that time. Dr. Thompson is reputed to be one of the most brilliant young ministers in southern Methodism. He is a leader in the movement for civic reform and led the fight in this state and in Arkansas for an anti-race track statute, which was enacted by the legislatures of both states, but overthrown by the supreme court of this state. It was an issue in the recent election in Tennessee, forced there by Dr. Thompson. During his four years at the First church here he has been very conspicuous in the public eye. Dr. Thompson also led the fight for Bishop Hoss in the Vanderbilt University controversy in this conference, carrying the day by the almost unanimous adoption of his resolution. He is a very attractive man socially and rather distinguished looking personally.

from Zavalla county, where he with a party of friends, spent ten days hunting and fishing. They met with splendid success and report game in greater abundance than has been known for years. Speaking of his outing Mr. Cummings said:

"In the portion of Zavalla county where we hunted there are a number of ravines with here and there a water hole, to which the birds resort for water at certain times of the day. In walking up one of these ravines for a distance of not more than a mile one evening I flushed over 100 coveys of quail. The birds would only fly a few yards when disturbed and would settle down within easy gunshot.

Cast Special to The Telegram.

TEMPLE, Texas, Nov. 17 .- The commissioners' court of Bell county has completed the official count of the votes cast in the recent election and finally declared the result. A total of 2,160 votes were cast in the election, which was about one-third of those cast in the July primaries. The latter brought out only a little over a half vote, as the total voting strength of Bell county is between 9,000 and 10,000. The cost of holding the election amounted to $1,016.76, or about 50 cents for each vote cast. In the governor's race the following votes were polled: T. M. Campbell, democrat, 1,948; Carey A. Gray, republican, 97; J. W. Pearson, prohibition, 23; George C. Edwards, socialist, 12; A. S. Dowler, social labor, none: Alex W. Acheson, reorganized republican, 17.

Quail of both the blue and Bob White variety are as thick there as blackbirds in a cornfield and they have no fear of hunters. It is so easy to bag as many as the law allows that it looks like a sin to kill the birls. They flock to the water holes by the thousands and all that a hunter has to do is to take his stand by one of these water holes and wait for the birds to come to him to kill all that he wants or is allowed

Wall Street Imbued with Confidence in Realization of Favorable Turn in Monetary Spheres

Special to The Telegram, NEW YORK, Nov. 17 .- As was expected, a favorable bank statement was issued today, showing an increase in the reserve of $3,885,800, less United States increase of $3,399,825, and the consequent improvement in the monetary situation, both in Europe and America, stimulated the advocates of higher prices. A spirit of confidence pervaded Wall street today in even stronger mind than was in vogue Fri-

In view, then, of the betterment in the foreign and home money situation and the elimination of all apprehension of stringency, the bulls have a clear right of way for a campaign for much higher prices. Certainly the immediate circumstances are in their favor, and their stronghold will soon be further bettered by the turn in the currency movement to the south.

The friends of stocks the last two weeks have evinced a remarkably cool determination to hold their own, and even when the situation was somewhat beclouded with "scarce money" indications, stronger foundations were daily being laid for permanent improvements.

This conservative view of things on the part of bulls was all along exhibited in their determination to keep fairly well within bounds, and confident of their ground, when the opponents of stock hammered here and there, the friends of better prices counterbalanced the knocks with timely bidding. This explanation of their strategy comes home strikingly in the opening of stocks today.

With the realization of their predictions in monetary spheres, the satisfactory London settlement, the decrease in call money rates from 20 to 41/2 per cent, the strong people in Wall street simply bid up stocks to a reasonable level, except here and there, when some rampant ones put a little dynamite under a few issues-St. Paul. for instance-which, after being advanced in skyrocket fashion a dozen points over 171, held its own thereafter. Yet, on the other hand, reactions are due after the sharp advances of late on account of profit-taking and a determination of the remnant of the bear ranks to fight it out. After their persistent hammering, energetic efforts to surprise their adversaries are certainly to be expected. Copper, Baltimore and Ohio, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Colorado Fuel and Iron, Canadian Pacific, Erie, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Union Pacific, Steel, common and preferred; Missouri, Kansas and Texas and Rock Island are among the issues that An authority as reliable as Town

Regular Week-End Dullness Prevailed After Covering of Shorts-Futures Three or Four Points Better Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17-The selling by local traders here tended to counteract Liverpool's seemingly over-willingness to follow America's ideas. Immediately following the opening, shorts were forced to cover by New Orleans' advance, after the satisfaction of which demand the market assumed the usual week-end dullness, while the talent sat up and took notice. December opened at 10.25, slipped 2 points, advanced steadily to 10.35, and closed at 10.26-28. January opened at 10.26, an advance of one point, receded to 10.21, then climbed to 10.37, closing bid being 10.29, with curb selling at 28. May options show a net gain of 4 points over yesterday's established level, closing at 10.51-52, with range of fluctuation between 59 and 46. March options are 4 better, range showing 15 point fluctuation. Spots ruled steady at Friday's quotations, basis being 11 cents for middling. The week's net gain in futures and spots has made dizzy the doubting Thomases of both ranks, deterring the trade. A feeling of utter insecurity prevails. Janus looks in both directions, while the hosts of outside interests sit perched upon the fence dividing the territory of high and low values. The speculaters are watching with Argus eyes. And, meanwhile opinion must divide itself. Bulls have a keen weapon in the continued small offerings of spots in the southland, and the handsome premiums commanded for desirable grades of the staple. The friends of the chief product of Dixie also find a convincing argument in the recent expanded ideas of cotton requirements. The weather prognosticators are in the interim interpreting the indications for good and bad over the cotton belt to suit their fancy.

Bears, on the other hand, point with logic to the continued advance of cotton to an insecure position, and analyze the big discount in advance of the ginners' report, which is to be flashed Wednesday.

Right here it is worth while to point to the figures that were reported by the United States agricultural bureau, estimating 6,892,000 bales ginned up to Nov. 1. The next report will cover a period of twelve working days.

Now, there has been no closing down of gins, which give reason for expecting big figures. Nice figures would mean 155,000 bales per day, or 1,860,-000 bales increase. Add this to 6,892,-000 and the report would show 8,752,-000 bales ginned up to and including

NEW ORLEANS COTTON Futures Lost 3 to 4 Points After Fluctuation of 15 to 18-Some Selling Was Aggressive

Special to The Telegram, NEW ORLEANS, chief topic here today after the covering of shorts was the estimates of the next ginners'. The consensus of opinion is that the market has been discounted to figures of 8,500,000 bales, and that figures in excess of those will throw the market. There are, however, many leaders who assert their position even on figures as high as 8,650,000. Room traders were disappointed in the expected usual liquidation at the week-end close of an advancing mar-The market was nervous during the first part of the session. Aggressive selling put prices down 3 to 5 points before the close. Showers were general in the central and eastern states and the map points to further scattered showers in the belt over Sunday followed by clearing and colder weather Monday. Forecasts of large port receipts for Monday and news of freer selling by the interior, particularly Texas, softened futures in the fast hours. Some of the largest Texas buyers, however, state that cotton can only be drawn out by advanced limits. The recent heavy export business everywhere is liable to swell the movement. Saturday quietness ruled in the local spot markets with the principal features scarcity of good grades, high basis of 75 to 80 points on futures for Liverpool good middling fully main-

Spot support must become less pro-nounced in the near future, unless freshly provoked by a further advance in futures and the census report stands out therefore, more than ever as the one speculative influence of consequence.

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Nov. 17 .- Wheat-A little strength developed early on small movement in the northwest, altho there was no indication from abroad. Bearish operators made drives against the December as well as May options. The winter month was weak. The scalpers were also inclined to work on the bull side. The visible will show an increase of about 1,000,000 bushels, but the world's shipments are expected to show up smaller, while the spring wheat movement is likely to be hampered by blizzard weather. It is possible that small declines may be witnessed.

Corn-Dullness prevailed early with he market working off on selling by a local operator as well as the crowd, and met by scattered commission house buying. The market displayed heaviness and encouraged selling movements that were helped along by the weakness in the cash article. One or two local operators sold with considerable confidence and the market was soft enough to indicate lower prices. Oats-Declines took place in oats and there was free selling in May options and large liquidations by local speculators. The close was weak. Provisions-Shipments of product for the week were so much under last year that, together with a promise for a larger run of hogs next week, it brought about free selling of the futures with a heavy selling of ribs.

LIVERPOOL COTTON

Futures 2 to 81/2 Points Higher-Spot Sales 8,000 at 13 Point Advance.

Special to The Telegram. LIVERPOOL, Nov. 17.-Contracts due 2 to 3 points higher, opened steady at an average advance of about 1 point. The week-end quiet prevailed, yet near month options were emphatically strong in sympathy with the firm spot market. Sales were 8,000 les at 13 points advance, middling commanding 5.98d. Imports were 61,-

Weekly sales of spots were 54,000 bales, against 53,000 for corresponding week last year and 50,000 for same period of 1904. The total stock here amounts to only 339,000, against 685,-000 and 452,000, which fact puts an awful damper upon the expectation of Havre, Liverpool and Bremen merchants to cover their early commitments with to spinners without heavy

Imports for the week are 133,000, against 147,000 last year and 194,000 in 1904, and since Sept. 1, against 826,000 last year and 1,069,100 in 1904. These figures look dismal to the bears, of course, who half-heartedly point to the comparative figures of stocks afloat, viz: 493,000, against 345,000 last year and 417,000 in 1904. There was a small amount of weekend liquidation, which was expected and which, therefore, did not have any

The spot situation is the sustaining factor of the market here.

Crutchfield & Company-We prefer not to follow the advance any further

Atwood, Violett & Company-Naturally after this advance some substantial reaction should be in order, but as the advance has not been the work of any clique and is due entirely to the inability of spot interests to secure any amount of actual cotton in the south in line with contract prices they, therefore, have been driven to the contract market to protect them-

Carpenter, Baggott & Company—We think the movement will prove a dominating factor for a time and while prices may go higher we think in the unsettled condition a waiting policy will be conservative.

Dick Bros. & Company-The market has had a very sharp bulge in reaction from the present level.

Week-End Run Light-Active and Steady Market-Demand Good for Saturday Market

The receipts of live stock at the stock vards Saturday were light, even for a week-end market, with the exception of calves, which had a liberal run. The early opening found about sixty cars of live stock on the market, and notwithstanding the fact that Saturday is usually a dull and languid market, the offering all found an active demand at fairly steady prices with yesterday's markets. The packers were more eager to buy than is usually the case on Saturdays' and there were also a number of outside and country buyers on the markets picking up both butcher and feeder stuff, and the demand was good thruout the day's trading. The following are the receipts: Vand Pessinte

Steers The supply of cattle on the market was very light, only 1,000 being on sale. Some of these were delayed in Friday's shipments, but were on the market at the early opening. The bulk of cattle consisted of a few loads of steers and several loads of Texas grassers. The grass cows were generally weil finished, with a light sprinkling of feeders. All found an active outlet to jocal packers and both butcher and feeder buyers, at prices steady with Friday's market. Sales of steers: No. Ave. Price.

The supply of stockers and feeders was very small, only a few offerings on the market. The bulk of the offerings was of only a medium to poor quality, and the trading seemed to be left mostly to outside order buyers and the market was rather draggy.

Butcher Catttle Butcher stock composed the bulk of the supply of cattle offerings today. The offerings included a fair lot of good butcher cows, but the bulk was from common to medium quality. A few steers were sold as butcher stock. The demand was good, both by local packers and order buyers, as well as met an early clearance at fully steady prices. Sales of cows: 2.35 2.25 875 2.50 2.50 9... 775 1.75 6... 900 26... 826 45... 849 38... 866 2.65 Calves

The run of calves was liberal Saturday, there being 1,500 on the market. The offerings included a few choice light vealers, which were promptly taken by local packers, but the bulk of the offerings consisted of common to medium quality, running to heavy weights. On this stuff the clearances were slow, but found generally steady prices. Sales of calves:

NORTH FORT WORTH

Carnival Queen to Be Selected by Popular Vote

ELEPHANT'S BACK

WILL MARRY ON

A marriage ceremony on the back of an elephant will be one of the special feature occasions during the carnival week in North Fort Worth, which begins Monday, Nov. 26.

The Commercial Club has given out the statement that if any respectable white couple will consent to plight their troth on the back of one of the elephants which will be there with the Cosmopolitan Amusement Company, on some day during carnival week, that the license will be furnished, the services of the justice of the peace procured, and many valuable housekeeping presents will be furnished. The names of the contracting parties will be withheld until the day of the cercmony, thereby avoiding any annoyance to either party. This will be an opportunity of a life time, and those who desire to enroll their names may call on the management of the amusement company at the business office in Rosen Inn.

Election of Queen

The election of the queen of the carnival promises to be an interesting feature. The management is now getting a list of the girls of North Fort Worth who will agree to become candidates. Such as will consent may leave their names with the management. To the young lady who is elected queen, a handsome diamond ring will be given, in addition to the distinction of being crowned the queen of the carnival. To the one receiving the second highest number of votes will be given a ladies' gold watch, and the third will receive a handsome um-

The queen-elect may select six maids of honor, who will, together with the carnival queen, be given free entries to all the attractions each day thruout the entire week. The method of electing the queen will be to place several voting boxes at business houses, and the ballots may be cast at such convenient places, at the rate of a penny a vote. The votes will be counted each day, and the standing of the candidates printed in the papers. The voting will close Wednesday night, Nov. 28, and the coronation of the queen will be made the crowning event of Thursday night's program, following the election of the queen.

Orphans Will Attend

It is the intention of the management of the carnival company and the Commercial Club to extend an invitation to the orphan children of the to be present on one afternoon of the week, as guests of the Commercial Club and carnival company. Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 27, has been set aside as children's day, and special attention will be given the little fellows. The Commercial Club is preparing to get out some unique advertising tags, with attractive and catchy wording, to be worn by the people who are interested in the big celebration. The management of the carnival will offer to the lady who will select a name for the carnival street, what is usually termed the "pike," and that is selected by a committee, two tickets good for all attractions for the entire week. The names may be left with

WANT MILEAGE BASIS

Offer of Managers Not Acceptable to Unions Special to The Telegram.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 17 .-- An advance of 10 per cent in the wages of railroad employes the country over in lieu of all other demands, as proposed by the railroads' managers, will not be acceptable to the labor unions. Warren O. Stone, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said today that his organization will continue fighting for a mileage basis and eight hours. A general strike is not contemplated at this time, but the fight will be carried to a finish. Chief Stone holds that a general 10 per cent advance, while it would help some unions, would not be justice to others who are not so much concerned in wages as they are in the question of hours. recognition of the unions and a different basis of computing wages.

DEMAND LOWER RATES

Investigation of Oil Transportation Is Probable

The same interests which began the fight on the Standard Oil Company have made a demand on the railways of the country for a sweeping reduction in the transportation rates on oil equaling fully 40 per cent of the present rates, the demand being backed with the allegation that the present rates are excessive. At a meeting of the General Freight Association, held in Chicago for a week past, and which closed Friday evening, the oil rate reduction was refused and a compromise sought to be made effective by offering a 10 per cent reduction in rates. The of! shippers say they will take the case to the interstate commerce commission and will urge an investigation of all that pertains to the matter of oil transportation.

WILL DECIDE BY VOTE

Offer of Railway Managers Will Be Considered

It is stated that the question of accepting or rejecting the recent offer of the railway managers for an increase of 4 cents per hour for the switchmen is to be voted on by the members of the Switchmen's Union. If approved it becomes effective. If rejected the grand master will reopen negotiations with the railway managers.

SIGNS WITH DENVER

A. Weber to Quit Beaumont in the All Texas League

Special to The Telegram. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 17 .-A. Weber, pitcher and all-round player with the Beaumont team last year, who is wintering in San Antonio, will not play with the All Texas League next year. He has signed a contract with the Denver team of the Western League.

Gerald Hays will also be missed. He is enamored with the umpire's job which he held down for a portion of the season in the American Association and will report to that league for duty again next year. What will become of the other Beaumont players is a matter of speculation.

The lyceum extra of the Young Peo ple's Society of Christian Endeavor at the city hall Friday night was a great success and was attended by a large number of people. Mrs. Pearl Miles Reilly, as a reader, is exceedingly good, but she reaches her highest point in which she gave "A Murder Scene from Macbeth" and the sleep-walking scene from the same play. FOR SIXTEEN YEARS

How the Broadway Presbyterian Has Grown

Dr. Junius B. French, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian church, will deliver his sixteenth anniversary sermon Sunday morning at 11 a. m., and all members of the congregation are especially invited to attend the services. Special and appropriate music has been arranged by the choir. In the evening at 7:30 o'clock Dr. French will select a theme of special interest to the younger people.

Less than fifty regular members welcomed Dr. French into the Broadway church on Sunday Nov. 16, 1890, as their pastor, and the steady growth of the membership and congregation has been phenomenal, making the Broadway Presbyterian church second in point of size and strength in the Texas presbytery.

The old church building which had been used for several years was removed to a new location in the year 1900, after which the present handsome edifice was erected on the original site. Financially the Broadway Presbyterian is among the strongest in Fort Worth and like a few others, is entirely out of debt. The church has accomplished considerable in mission work, having established the Union Depot addition mission church, on which building there is still an obligation of a few hundred dollars. H. S. Anderson was elected the pastor's assistant last September and his intelligent and judicious management of his first work has won him respensible positions in other departments of the church, among them being the secretaryship of the board of decons. Mr. Anderson recently organized the Broadway Boys' Brigade, which has a large membership. Both Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are active workers in the Sunday schools and contributors to the Monthly Visitor. At the young people's rally Sunday evening Rev. Colby D. Hall of Waco, president of the Y. P. S. C. E. of Texas, will preach and the pastor will also address the rally.

Very few changes have been made in the original list of church officers and today it is as follows: Elders, J. W. Stitt, George T. Reynolds, W. W. Hovey, H. L. Willis, Dr. J. W. Hill, Donald Cowan, David Russell, D. C. Campbell, J. L. Stitt Sr. and C. L. Deacons, E. H. Carter, George B.

Johnson, D. B. Farnsworth, Dr. L. A. Suggs, F. H. Fry, J. J. Dillin, R. P. Smith, F. H. Campbell, James Thompson, B. G. Harris, J. A. Hillis and George Q. McGown. Trustees, E. G. Rall, O. R. Menefee, W. D. Reynolds, J. C. Ingram, L. C.

Bright, Tuneful and Captivating "Sergeant Kitty"

A military setting always lends itself readily to striking stage effects, brilliant costuming, dashing songs and brisk movement. "Sergeant Kitty" at Greenwall's opera house tonight, is a comic opera of this kind, with a French locale, a wealth of blazing colors and songs that linger in your memory. There is a pronounced plot, and the entire production is sparkling, clever and altogether one of the most pleasing operas that will be offered this season. One of the most commendable features of "Sergeant Kitty" is the tunefulness of the songs which are scattered thru the opera, which once heard are not soon forgotten; among them are "Strange Things Happen Every day," "The Girl He Left Behind Him," Love Laughs at the Locksmith" and "Oh, Kitty." Miss Helen Byron in the leading role is winsome, clever and possesses a beautiful voice. She is also a very clever actress. The supporting company is far above the average found in similar productions, in fact, it is rarely that so many clever principals are assembled together in one company.

"The Clansman" Jubilee The approaching visit of "The Clansman" to Greenwall's opera house Monday and Tuesday nights, with matiree Tuesday, Nov. 19 and 20, draws attention to the fact that it is everywhere regarded as the typical southern drama. The southern colony of New York City made the 500th performance of the play last summer a red-letter event. Among the distinguished guests invited were ex-Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, ex-Senator Lindsay of Kentucky, ex-Judge Roger A. Pryor, Major Edward Owen, Commander of the Confederate Veterans, and Dr. W. N. Polk, son of General-Bishop Polk, who was killed in battle in the civil war near Dalton, Ga. Men and women of southern birth completely filled the orchestra of the Grand opera house and applauded with great enthusiasm an address of welcome by the author of the play, Thomas Dixon

"The Girl and the Bandit"

Lovers of first-class comic opera will surely take advantage of the opportunity offered them and secure seats for the Viola Gillette Opera Company, which will present the newest and biggest success of recent years, Girl and the Bandit," which will be presented at Greenwall's opera house Thursday night, Nov. 22. The banquet ful and accomplished prima donna contralto, Viola Gillette, leads the list of comediennes and comedians, and is surrounded with a chorus of beauty show girls.

"The Girl Patsy"

"June Mathis and her wonderful hair" is a remark one hears after every performance of "The Girl Patsy." The audience seems delighted with little "Patsy" and admire the great mass of

At the Majestic

The splendid singer of the impossible name at the Majestic; the man who ressurrects famous men who have been dead for some time; the overwhelming fellow with the Brownie make-up; Courthope and Forrester with their gales of mirth-provoking comedy; the Indian Club trio, and little Dixie Harris have all been doing valient service at the vaudeville house and the result has been increased attendance.

The management seems to have the right idea of catering to the amusement palate, judging from the names of the attractions which they announce for the coming week's bill, including that sterling vaudeville couple, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kelcy in their new classic, Sister Mary From Tipperary."

But it is with deep regret that Manager Harris must announce his disappointment in not being able to present this act, owing to the illness of Mrs. Kelcy, which terminated their engagement in Birmingham, Ala. The Apollo Quartet has been engaged to take their place. It was only after an extra effort that the management was able to secure this strong attraction to take the place vacated thru Mrs. Kelcy's ill-

The rest of next week's bill includes the original four Madcaps, a sprightly singing, dancing and acrobatic quartet of English girls; Tony Ryder's very famous group of Australian, African and Brazilian monkeys; Charles Ledegar, the prince of German comedians on the bounding wire; the Wells Bros., two melodious singers and instrumentalists, and Dolly Wells, the clever lady

LODGE SMOKER

Interesting Meeting of the A. O. U. W.

Friday Night Alma lodge, A. O. U. W., held a very interesting meeting at the lodge room, in Fourth street, between Main and Houston streets, Friday night, all officers and a goodly number of members being present. There were other good talks made for the lodge in particular and the order in general. After the business meeting was closed the members adjourned to the anteroom, where an appetizing luncheon was served, followed by a smoker and more discussion of the amusement feature to be given thruout the winter months, which will tend to increase the attendance. A box of lunch was sent to the Salvation Army headquarters for the poor.

Next Friday night there will be another smoker after the regular business meeting and all members are expected to be present and assist in initiating new members and arranging for the new degree. The goat was brought out and limbered up and given an extra feed of can labels, which is expected to put him in fine form for the new members. All visiting members of the order are invited to be present and take part in the exercises and smoker.
