TROUBLE FOR THE RURAL ROUTE MEN

Postal Department Investigating Violation of Rules

Trouble, serious enough to threaten immediate discharge from their employment, threatens a number of rural free delivery mail carriers working out of Fort Worth, who are said to have replied to a letter received by them some time ago, bearing "United States Senate" as the place of origin, and an apparent fac-simile of Senator J. W. Bailey as signature.

The letter was a plain request for the rural carrier receiving it to prepare on a printed blank inclosed for the purpose a list of persons receiving mail on his route, their occupation and their political faith.

The envelope inclosed with the letter bears the following printed in the right-hand upper corner: "United States Senate, Official or Departmental Business, Free." In the upper left-hand corner where stamps are placed on envelopes for most mail, is an apparent fac-simile signature, "J. W. Bailey, U. S. S."

In other words, the envelope is what is commonly called an "official franked envelope."

"My Dear Sir: I have a large amount of congressional mail matter for distribution, such as seeds, farmers' bulletins and other government publications, and I desire to supply those to whom you deliver mail, with, therefore, greatly appreciate your kindness if you will give, on the inclosed sheets, the names, occupations and politics (so far as known) of the white voters, permanent residents, who live on your route."

"However, if for any reason you do not deem it proper to comply with this request, kindly hand this letter, with inclosures, to someone who is familiar with the names of those who will not object to having their names included in the distribution of the documents, etc., which have been provided by the government, and kindly return the inclosures to me in the right-hand upper corner of the envelope."

Three rural free delivery carriers of Fort Worth are said to have complied with the request and forwarded the lists asked on the blanks inclosed. These blanks, after giving the state, county, route number and the name of the carrier, have spaces for the name of each person on the route, his political faith, whether democrat, republican, populist, labor or if a soldier.

Two days ago there arrived in the Fort Worth postoffice a letter from Fourth Assistant Postmaster General DeGraw, asking if any rural carriers from Fort Worth had sent in any lists of names of persons living on their routes, requesting Postmaster Barkley to forward the names of such carriers, as they were needed for postal regulation which prohibits any rural mail carrier from giving to any person for any person a list of persons receiving mail on his route, under penalty of dismissal.

Most carriers know this rule by heart and it is familiar to every business man in the city. It is stated that the character of information is so stringent and specific that it even provides against any person in a rural carrier's family giving out any such information to anybody.

Postmaster Barkley is said to have forwarded to Washington the names of the three carriers reported to have filled out the lists as requested, and these carriers are now said to be wondering whether or not they have been sent these letters out in his name was not familiar enough with postal regulations to know that to comply with the request would likely mean loss of place to any carrier.

"Neither do I see why, even should the law permit us to give out this information, a giving out of this party should have anything to do with his right as a citizen to receive seeds or documents from the government."

"And still further, I do not understand why this class of political information comes under the head of 'official or departmental business' and should travel to Washington in a franked envelope."

"I understand that a prominent political leader of the republican party in this city, who is well known as the character of letters to rural carriers of Texas and that men who complied with the request, are equally liable to dismissal. I did not receive one of these republican letters I am not familiar with its contents, but I understand several such letters were received here."

TALE OF DASH TO THE POLE

Graphic Account of Peary's Attempts to Reach Pole

MUCH SUFFERING Food Supply Was Exhausted and Dogs Slaughtered. Vessel Was Strong

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A special from Sydney, N. S. W., to the World today gives some details of the hardships endured by Lieutenant Peary and his men in their futile dash for the North Pole. After reaching the most extreme Greenland settlement, it is said, seven Esquimaux and one hundred dogs were secured and then taken in the ice, the steamer Roosevelt drifted on thru the barrier of 82.7 degrees north, where winter quarters were taken, being the farthest north that winter quarters were ever taken in the history of Arctic expeditions.

Arrangements to secure the ship and make all comfortable was completed by Feb. 7, 1906, and on Monday with the Esquimaux and three teams of dogs Peary made his start for the Pole. Other parties went out in charge of Captain Bartlett, Dr. Wolfe, R. G. Maroin, John Park and Marion S. Peary.

Story of Suffering During the first part of the journey moderate weather prevailed and Peary made good speed. Before his return to his ship, 117 days later, however, conditions changed and terrible suffering from hunger and privation was endured. Undeterred, Peary pushed further forward into the Arctic night until he reached the highest point ever reached by any explorer, 87.08 North latitude, on Sept. 6, 1906.

Before he started on the return voyage, the food supply had almost given out. During his return Peary encountered a heavy snow storm which lasted a week and which drove the party out of its course. Peary immediately set out to recover his lost course but before he succeeded hunger threatened to drive the Esquimaux mad, and Peary was compelled to kill some of his dogs. The commander enjoyed the luxury of dog meat equally as well as his Esquimaux.

Ate Fourteen Dogs When Peary returned to the ship, only three dogs out of seventeen remained, fourteen having been eaten, skinned or and bear killed on the road. Esquimaux helped the famished men, A. S. Clark, one of the relief parties, also went astray and he was compelled to kill some of his dogs to provide food.

Clark, it appears, was unable to find his way back, but Peary luckily came across his tracks and went to Clark's rescue. Clark, it is stated, has not fully recovered from his trying experience. Other relief parties also suffered, but all went through the ordeal, with heroic fortitude. The explorers practically ran short of food and had to eat some of the dogs.

Home Coming Dangerous While the attempt to reach the Pole was attended with great danger, the home coming was even more perilous. After getting out of the ice the trip struggled on in most boisterous weather. Storm followed storm with ever increasing force. For sixty-eight days the steamer was at the mercy of the waves and during this time covered only 200 miles. Contact with the ice broke away and even her propeller and the stern post and also the rudder post and otherwise damaged her stern. A gale carried the foretop mast overboard with the fib boom and head gear and damaged the bow. After having trying to reach Victoria Harbor, where food was stored, the Roosevelt on Sept. 15 continued the voyage south. Admirably fine weather followed and then another storm came.

Vessel Was Strong Belief is expressed that if the ship had been less strongly constructed the party would have come to grief. After a battle with the elements for ten days, the vessel was saved with even coal having run short, an attempt was made to continue under sail. This failed. On Oct. 1 a hurricane started the jury rudder, which has been rigged and a few days later the rudder broke away and another had to be rigged.

Victory was reached on Oct. 11, where some wood was secured, but this soon gave out and fittings were used for fuel. At Haspedale, which was reached next, more food and few tons of coal were secured, the latter from the steamer Virginia Lake, thru the kindness of Mr. Faxon, her captain. This coal enabled the Boomer, which had now been battered so that she could only steam four knots an hour, to reach Steam Harbor.

NEGRO MAY DIE AT PALESTINE

Was Found Unconscious Saturday Morning

Special to The Telegram. PALESTINE, Texas, Nov. 17.—Chris Williams, colored, lies at the point of death in the county jail as the result of a beating received this morning from another negro. The doctors say he can only live a few hours. His skull is badly crushed as the result of repeated blows from a heavy fence-picket, which his assailant tore from a fence.

Tom Simpson and Will Williams, who are related to the injured negro, have been arrested charged with the crime. The negro was found in Steam street was sold by Reagan Houston, assignee of Sam Maverick, to W. A. Petty for $10,000.

THE HOUSEWIFE'S THANKSGIVING GREATEST LINEN SALE

STRICTLY SPEAKING A SALE PLANNED FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

One of the great annual events that characterizes the greatness and the progressiveness of this Stripling Store. Demonstrating how far-reaching are its efforts in your behalf. Bringing from the remotest linen countries of the world great assortments of fine and fancy linens, fancy sets, rare art linens; lowering the hitherto fancy price to the modest price within the reach of the purse of the economical but ambitious housewife, who knows that no matter how well the Thanksgiving meal is prepared, the turkey, the cranberries, the celery, all lack the appetizing look without the gloss and finish of the new linen.

$1.75 SATIN DAMASK LINEN $1.35—A high grade linen of extra finish, rich in design; a cloth not only recommended by its beauty, but for its serviceable wearing quality. This is another one we must limit the sale of one pattern to a customer, for we cannot duplicate it again for the price we offer $1.35

$1.25 IRISH TABLE LINEN 98c—Every thread a thread of pure flax, handsome in its snowy whiteness; suitable for the most elegant setting for Thanksgiving feast; patterns in dainty snow drop or French fleur de lis 98c

50c TABLE LINEN 40c—This is 64 inches wide, a full bleached Union Linen, looks as good as the pure linen; often sold as such, but not by Stripling. A good bargain you'll be pleased with 39c

50c IRISH LINEN TABLE CLOTH—64 inches wide, full bleached, our regular 50c quality. A sale price we could not duplicate at present market price of linen; only one pattern to customer of this 43c

75c GERMAN LINEN CREAM DAMASK FOR 50c—Never sold less than 75c the yard, extra heavy; think of a double woven pure linen damask for this price. We limit the sale of this to one pattern to a customer; the yard 50c

75c SILVER BLEACH LINEN FOR 50c—This is a fine soft satin finished Table Cloth; no need to sell this at the price we do, except our desire to make this the annual event of the year—one long to be remembered. We limit one pattern of this to a customer; sale price 59c

$1.00 TABLE LINEN FOR 75c—This we limit like the other bargains, to one pattern to a customer; such values could be sold by the bolt as easy as by the yard, but that is not our object—this is the Stripling Linen Sale. This linen is a 70-inch wide Irish Linen and every thread pure linen, full bleached, fine damask. In this we pick four patterns from regular stock, patterns that you will not be able to get less than $1.00 the yard after this sale, these being high-grade linens. We can offer you Napkins to match worth $3.00 a dozen for $2.69

$1.75 TABLE DAMASK—90 inches wide, a quality you seldom find in the ordinary store in elaborately wrought designs, a double woven damask, highest finish known to the makers' art, cloth worth $2.00 the yard in many stores. A Stripling price would be $1.75; tomorrow $1.59

Of course the choice is very desirable; first that come get rare pickings. They will be placed on two tables for selection.

A Smartness of Style In Coats and Textures

Too many to describe, but all have that well bred appearance that only the best tailoring and best fabrics can accomplish—a distinction that distinguishes them from the ordinary kind, placing them in a class by themselves—the cut and style demanded by well dressed women.

A Special Value Coat $4.98

Just the kind of tailoring in this that would place it among the $10.00 and $12.50 as good company; they come in fancy plaids and mixtures, very long, 50 inches, the popular length; double-breasted with black velvet collar, and we offer them in good assortment at $4.98

$12.50 for this Coat

We say this coat—the assortment is very large. Tailoring is of the cleverest kind, in fancy mixtures in all the wanted shades; also in new and popular plaids. They are all cut in the overcoat styles with patch pockets and velvet collars to match shades in coat. Coats that you'd have to compare with the higher grades at $15.00 and $18.00 value for a comparison of style or value; our special price $12.50

$16.50 for a Dressy Coat

And you'd pay $20.00 anywhere else, and the style has a newness that gives it those graceful lines only found in the finest tailored wear for women. Made of mode cloth, trimmed in straps of material and silk braid. A seven-eighths length, full back with stylish inlaid collar of velvet and braid; very serviceable and decidedly dressy.

The Marchioness Coat

Things distinctive originate with Wooltex makers. This is a coat of distinctive style and grace—a Wooltex masterpiece. A loose, full fashioned Coat, whose long lines and effective treatment of velvet trimmings give a very dashing effect $25.00 to $35.00

Wooltex Styles

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some peaches, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And this is certainly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to this end. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Slippery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., this same Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A lozesome Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this, ingenious and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Hollow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are set up in beautiful fibrographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

QUILL FROM THE BANK OF ENGLAND

Major Van Zandt Has Interesting Curio

A gray goose quill which has been used in the Bank of England is an ornament for the desk of Major K. M. Van Zandt, president of the North Fort Worth National Bank.

The story of the quill is this: When Robert L. Costan was in London, on his recent trip to Europe, he was escorted thru the Bank of England by the son and grandson of the Lord Mayor of Nottingham, who procured the necessary permit. In the room of the directors of the bank Mr. Costan saw that the old-fashioned quill was used and that led to the statement that he was an aide on the staff of General Van Zandt and that he would like to carry something from the bank as a souvenir for the general, who was president of one of the most important banks in Texas.

The quill was suggested, more particularly for the reason that one of the latest transactions in which that particular quill was used was to sign orders which transferred several million dollars from the English bank to banks in the United States.

The official who gave Mr. Costan the quill said: "This may have a special interest for you, for the reason that it has signed orders for the flight of a large number of your eagles back to their native shores."

Mr. Costan gave the quill to Major Van Zandt, mounted in a beautifully designed frame of dark wood, the quill itself being protected by a glass, and the result is a novel and appropriate desk ornament.

NORTH FORT WORTH

ISSUE BONDS FOR SEWERAGE SYSTEM

North Fort Worth May Order Census Taken

Altho the city council has not yet granted a franchise to build a sewerage system in North Fort Worth, the idea has not been abandoned. On the other hand, the city is going after a sewerage system and when the time is ripe it will act.

It is the desire that the city own and operate the system, and just at this time it is not in financial condition to do so. This does not mean that the city is financially unable, but that the amount of bonds now outstanding is all that the city can vote with the population accorded it at the last census. It will require a population of 10,000 people if the amount of the bonded indebtedness is increased, which would be necessary to secure funds with which to install such an enterprise. The present bonded indebtedness is only $123,000. These bonds were issued for the purpose of installing the waterworks system and erecting a public school building.

The revenue from the waterworks is ample to take care of the interest on the bonds and take up each one of them as it comes due and the school tax is ample to meet the requirements of the school bond interest and sinking fund. So there is really no extra burden of taxation on the people of North Fort Worth, they could readily carry the necessary bonds for the sewerage system, which would, if properly managed, also be self-sustaining. The obstacle in the way is in the fact that the city must have more people before it can legally issue more bonds.

However, it is thought that now there are at least the required number of people living within the corporate limits of North Fort Worth and it is likely that the city will order a census of the city taken early next year, so if the population is found to be sufficient the council will in all probability take the necessary steps to provide the city with a sewerage system.

Three of the members of the city council stated to a Telegram reporter that this course had been discussed privately, and that it seemed to meet the approval of the members of the council, and that leading citizens of the city also favored it.

A TAGGY PARTY

Miss Fanny Reed Won the Ladies' Prize

What resulted in a most enjoyable occasion in North Fort Worth social circles was a taggy party given Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen at 1411 Denver avenue.

The party was given in honor of Miss Ma. Maguar, and a large circle of her young friends were present. Prizes were offered for the "tackiest" young lady, and a "booby" prize for the gentlemen's prize. Miss Fannie Reed won the ladies' prize, while Mr. Burrows was awarded the "booby" prize.

All who attended reported a most jolly time.

WILL ENTERTAIN REAL ESTATE MEN

To Be Shown Factory Sites On the North Side

The North Fort Worth Commercial Club is making extensive preparations to entertain the Texas Real Estate and Industrial Association Nov. 28. The association will meet in Fort Worth on the day preceding and the North Fort Worth Commercial Club will co-operate with the Board of Trade in entertaining the visitors.

The association is not composed entirely of real estate dealers, but all railroads are represented and other industrial bodies.

The plans of the North Fort Worth Commercial Club are to have a sufficient number of street cars to take the entire delegation to North Fort Worth, where they will be banqueted. The visitors will be driven over the city in automobiles, shown thru the great packing plants and attention called to the many excellent factory sites around North Fort Worth.

Coming as it does during the carnival week, the association will also be entertained as the guests of the club at the carnival.

The club members were actively engaged Saturday afternoon making arrangements for this event. Secretary R. Hadaway was out among the club members collecting funds for the entertainment of the visitors, "and it is encouraging," said he, "to see how prompt the North Fort Worth citizenship is to respond to anything that is for the good of North Fort Worth."

The club will meet jointly with the Fort Worth Board of Trade Monday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of completing details. All the members are urged to be present.

VISITING KNIGHTS

Pythians of North Fort Worth Plan Entertainment

At its meeting Friday night, the North Fort Worth lodge Knights of Pythias voted to keep an "open house" to the visiting knights during the carnival week in Friday night, which will be the regular meeting night, a smoker and an informal reception will be given in honor of the visitors. The plans of the general entertainment of the visiting knights at all times during the week will be made in detail at the next meeting of the lodge next Friday night.

A large number of visiting members of that order is expected to visit the carnival, and it will be in keeping with the hospitality of the order to see that they are properly taken care of.

LODGES AT CARNIVAL

Some of Them Have Selected Days to Celebrate

The various lodges in North Fort Worth will prepare for special days at the big celebration from Nov. 26 to Dec. 1. Some of them have already selected the day, and the others will complete arrangements by the first of the coming week.

Some of the lodges have called special meetings to arrange programs for the occasion. The Commercial Club has invited every organization in North Fort Worth to participate in the

NOMINEES FOR QUEEN

Many Attractions for the Big Carnival

A COUNTRY STORE

Jake Schwarz Says Carnival Queens Get Married in Sixty Days

The voting in the election of the carnival queen will begin Monday. Several popular young ladies of North Fort Worth have been nominated, and others will be placed in the list of candidates Monday. Following is a list of candidates nominated Saturday afternoon:

Miss Ethel Calloway.
Miss Edith Calloway.
Miss Myrtle Williams.
Miss Mamie Elper.
Miss Maude Mitchell.
Miss Ruby Hays.
Miss Gertrude Smith.
Miss Clara Huddleston.

The voting will continue till Wednesday night. Voting boxes will be placed at each of the prominent business houses in North Fort Worth, and also at several places in Fort Worth. The votes will be counted each day and the standing of the candidates will be published each afternoon.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the carnival queen, and the race is expected to grow exciting before the close of the voting. At each voting box full instructions will be given as to casting the ballots. Jake Schwarz is the authority for the more important to North Fort Worth, and each of the prominent business houses in North Fort Worth, and also at several places in Fort Worth. The votes will be counted each day and the standing of the candidates will be published each afternoon.

The street cars will all soon be carrying large streamers advertising the event, many unique methods of advertising are to be started Monday.

One of the local organizations will organize a "country store" to be maintained during carnival week. Articles will only be obtained by drawing, and they must be carried away without having been wrapped. This usually provides much amusement.

The following is a partial list of the attractions:

The great wild west show with large band of Sioux Indians.
The Katzenjammer Kastle.
The girl with dreamy eyes.
The lake, something new.
Glass palace.
Automatic theater.
The plantation show.
Bible drama.
The Cascades.
The Venician theater.
The carry-us-all.
The Ferris wheel.
Comedies of all nations.
The thrilling spectacle—the high dive from a ladder 136 feet high into a tank of four feet of water.
The circus.
Performing elephants.
Two excellent bands.
Steam calliope.
The Alps.
Loves' journey, and several others.

HILL TALKS ABOUT A. & M. COLLEGE

Says State Should Make Liberal Appropriations

P. A. Hill, manager of the western department of Ottmans Brothers, importers of German Coach and Perchon stations, with offices at the stock yards, has just returned from a visit to the Agricultural and Mechanical College at College Station, where he had been to look over the college properties.

Mr. Hill's home was formerly in Lafayette, Ind., where one of the best appointed and managed agricultural and mechanical colleges in the country is located. In speaking of the Texas college Mr. Hill said:

"After looking over the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, I feel gratified to state that it compares favorably with others of like character I have visited in various states, with the exception of some details. Among these I will mention the fact that at the Texas college no provision was made to place a competent man in charge of the farming and agricultural department. From information obtained by reason of a lack of a head for these departments, they are not kept up to the high standard of the other departments.

"The present head of the department of animal husbandry and Professor Johnson of agricultural department are doing all in the premises that they are authorized to do, but the limited appropriation will not permit them to give adequate service to all branches. I think if it is expected of these gentlemen to do a very great amount of good service they should be given full authority, and the legislature should make the necessary appropriation to meet the demands.

"I was very favorably impressed with the military discipline and believe that the training the students receive there will be a lasting benefit to them. I am now a Texas and am interested in all Texas institutions, and would like to see the state make more liberal provisions for this worthy institution, that it may take the place it is entitled to among the best agricultural and mechanical colleges in the south.

"The location of the college is an ideal one. It takes the students away from the evil influences of the city, and permits them to concentrate their minds on their studies."

What Sulphur Does

For the Human Body in Health and Disease

COSTS NOTHING TO TRY

The mention of sulphur will recall to many of us the early days when our mothers and grandmothers gave us our daily dose of sulphur and molasses every spring and fall.

It was the universal spring and fall "blood purifier," tonic and cure-all, and, mind you, this old-fashioned remedy was not without merit.

The idea was good, but the remedy was crude and unpalatable, and a large quantity had to be taken to get any effect.

Nowadays we get all the beneficial effects of sulphur in a palatable, concentrated form, so that a single grain is far more effective than a tablespoonful of the crude sulphur.

In recent years research and experimentation have proven that the best sulphur for medicinal use is that obtained from Calcium Sulphate and sold in drug stores under the name of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They are small chocolate coated pellets and contain the active medicinal principle of sulphur in a highly concentrated, effective form.

Few people are aware of the value of this form of sulphur in restoring and maintaining bodily vigor and health; sulphur acts directly on the liver and excretory organs and purifies and enriches the blood by the prompt elimination of waste material.

Our grandmothers knew this when they dosed us with sulphur and molasses every spring and fall, but the crudity and impurity of ordinary sulphur of sulphur were often worse than the disease; and cannot compare with the modern concentrated preparations of sulphur, of which Stuart's Calcium Wafers is undoubtedly the best and most widely used.

They are the natural antidote for liver and kidney troubles and cure constipation, and purify the blood in a way that often surprises patient and physician alike.

Dr. R. M. Wilkins, while experimenting with sulphur remedies, soon found that the sulphur from Calcium was superior to any other form. He says: "For liver, kidney and blood troubles, especially when resulting from constipation, malaria, and other ailments, I am pleased at the results obtained from Stuart's Calcium Wafers. In patients suffering from boils and pimples and even deep-seated carbuncles, I have repeatedly seen them dry up and disappear in four or five days, leaving the skin clear and smooth. Although Stuart's Calcium Wafers is a proprietary article and sold by druggists and for that reason tabooed by many physicians, yet I know of nothing so safe and reliable for constipation, liver and kidney troubles and especially all forms of skin diseases as this remedy."

At any rate people who are tired of pills, cathartics and so-called blood purifiers will find in Stuart's Calcium Wafers, a far safer, more palatable and effective preparation.

Send your name and address today for a free trial package and see for yourself.

MEMBERS BUILD BAPTIST CHURCH

Rosen Heights Baptists Show Enterprise

The way to do things is to just simply do it. It may be true that "all things come to those who wait," but some times the waiting grows wearisome, and the results are then not altogether satisfactory.

The First Baptist church of Rosen Heights wanted a church building. They had been using the school house for meeting purposes, but the congregation was ambitious to have its own building. Had they waited long enough the church building might have been given them, but they didn't relish the waiting.

By energetic efforts on the part of the members of the congregation, a sufficient sum was soon gotten together to purchase a lot. Then other sums were raised from various sources, until it was deemed sufficient to start the agitation of erecting the building. The money on hand was insufficient to think of letting the building out by contract. But the enthusiastic members wanted a building, and did not want to wait longer. The money on hand, together with various other money promised was sufficient to place a portion of the material on the ground.

A meeting of the building committee was called and the situation discussed. It was decided to bring the matter up at the next church meeting. This was done and the situation explained. Various members of the church stated that they could saw lumber and nail on shingles, and it was proposed that the male members of the congregation do the work. This plan was adopted, and within a day or so material was being placed on the ground. H. B. Blankenship was selected to superintend the work, and every day sees further progress in the work, and Clerk E. P. Moore, Deacons Lockett, Roderick, Wynne and others are just as earnest as if they were getting the union wage scale. But the work is progressing satisfactorily, and within a few weeks the new building will be ready for occupancy.

GOOD RESCUE WORK

Of Eight Entombed Laborers Seven Are Taken Out Alive

TERRER HATTIE, Ind., Nov. 17.—Effective work on the part of a rescuing party saved seven of the lives of eight workmen entombed when a well in which they were at work caved in on them when they were at the bottom of the well.

They were covered by a drop of earth from the sides and top of the shaft.

One of the rescued will probably die and the other five are badly cut and crushed by the stones and earth carried down by the fall.

NEW FACTORY FOR WASHING MACHINES

Machine Washes and Dries Dishes in One Minute

A new manufacturing enterprise is being installed in North Fort Worth. The articles to be manufactured are the newly patented one-minute dish-washing machines. The new factory is located in Main street, near the North Fort Worth steam laundry. C. W. Darnell & Son are the proprietors of the new enterprise. Several skilled workmen will be required to start the work, and it is expected that as soon as the work is started the force will be greatly increased. The machinery is now being installed and the work of manufacturing the machines will be in progress within a few days.

It is claimed for the machines that they will thoroughly wash and dry dishes for a small lot in one minute's time, hence the name.

TYPEWRITING RECORD

Smith Took One Hundred and Fifty Nine Words in One Minute

A new typewriting record was established in this city Saturday afternoon by Howard Everidge and W. G. Smith in taking testimony of M. G. Harding in the Indian depositions claims. Everidge took 2,816 words by dictation and then read the same to Smith, who wrote it on the typewriter, paragraphing and numbering the questions, finishing the entire job in thirty minutes, including dictation to Everidge.

Following this work Smith was blindfolded and took 159 words by dictation in a single paragraph in a single minute. He made one mistake, but corrected himself without being told.

TYPEWRITING RECORD

Smith Took One Hundred and Fifty-nine Words in One Minute

A new typewriting record was established in this city Saturday afternoon by Howard Everidge and W. O. Smith in taking testimony of Mr. Harding in the Indian deprecation claims. Everidge took 2318 words by dictation and then read the same to Smith, who wrote it on the typewriter, paragraphing and numbering the questions, finishing the entire job in thirty minutes, including dictation to Everidge.

Following this work Smith was blindfolded and took 159 words by dictation in a single paragraph in a single minute. He made one mistake, but corrected himself without being told.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE PANHANDLE

New Building Association Special to The Telegram. AMARILLO, Texas, Nov. 17.—The organization of a building and loan association of Amarillo is now an assured fact. W. E. Williams of Beatrice, Neb., a man who has had over twenty years' experience in the building and loan business, will be at the head of the new enterprise. The object of the association will be to loan money to assist the members of the association in securing homes and enabling them to pay for the same in small monthly payments at a reasonable rate of interest. Mr. Williams was the organizer and promoter of the State Savings and Loan Association of Beatrice, Neb., now one of the largest institutions of its kind in the northwest.

To Build for Tenants Special to The Telegram. CHILDRESS, Texas, Nov. 17.—E. L. Biggerstaff of Estelina owns 640 acres of land three miles northeast of Childress, the greater part of which he expects to put in cultivation the coming year. He stated to Childress parties the other day that he would at once erect four tenant houses on the land and place four families in them so that the work of plowing the land could begin the first of the year. There are thousands of acres of land within a few miles of Childress that have never felt the touch of a plow, but when put in cultivation will benefit the town greatly.

Light for Childress Special to The Telegram. CHILDRESS, Texas, Nov. 17.—The city council met last Friday night and unanimously passed an ordinance granting Paul J. Robertson and his associates the right to operate an electric light and power plant in the city of Childress for the term of thirty years, with the proviso that the construction shall begin within thirty days and the plant be in operation within six months.

Improvements at Childress Special to The Telegram. CHILDRESS, Texas, Nov. 17.—The public improvements in Childress for the year will consist of a new railway shops, a Methodist church building, Masonic building, a public school building, electric power plant and the Commercial Club rooms. Some building in those.

Big Trout Cut Up Special to The Telegram. SEYMOUR, Texas, Nov. 17.—S. H. Graves of Shelton, Neb., who has bought 5,000 acres of the Hashknife ranch, has been here for some time, and the seed is now thrown out on a floor south of the house. The conveyor, however, will extend thru this pile and no extra labor will be required. The mill now has on hand between fifteen and eighteen hundred tons of seed. The management figures on getting between four and five thousand tons this season, which will provide for about a nine months' run. The mill's capacity will be thirty-five tons a day.

Wheat in Ford County Special to The Telegram. QUANA, Texas, Nov. 17.—J. L. Hunter, a prominent Ford county farmer, was in town this morning with wheat. Mr. Hunter says his crop will average twenty-one bushels an acre this year, some of it going as high as thirty-seven bushels. These Ford county farmers have still about twenty-five thousand bushels on hand, and getting the same price here as at Vernon and the roads being in our favor, it will be hauled here.

Corn from Clarendon Special to The Telegram. CLARENDON, Texas, Nov. 17.—Powell Trading Company will begin loading their twelfth car of corn for shipment today. The chronic grumblers who say this will never make a farming country now have to hunt something else to grow about. Corn is only 35 cents, and has to be shipped out to bring that. Cotton is coming in rapidly and the town gin put up over five hundred bales.

Twenty-Four Pound Turkey Special to The Telegram. QUANA, Texas, Nov. 17.—W. H. Perry bought a turkey yesterday that, after being dressed, weighed over twenty-four pounds. The gobler was not very fat, and if fattened a little more would easily have tipped the beam at thirty pounds and been fit for a Christmas present for the occupants of the White House.

DR. LOVE'S IDEA

He Will Again Work for Consumptives' Home

At the tuberculosis convention which has just closed in New York City, Dr. T. E. Smith of Austin, one among the few doctors from Texas in attendance, made a report on the establishment which would possibly facilitate the establishment of a state home for indigent consumptives in Texas. He said that he is strongly in favor of each state establishing such homes individually, that those afflicted may not be congregated in one section, that the climatic conditions might apparently prove an attraction for the afflicted.

HURT CITY

W. D. Williams Cites Grain and Flour Rates

MILLS SUFFERERS

Kansas City Flour Goes to Louisiana for 19c—Texas Product Pays 40c

Complaint has been made lately of the discrimination of railroad rates against the milling interests of this city, as keeping Fort Worth from springing ahead to her natural place as the first city in the southwest in that line. At least one flour mill man had decided this winter all ready to locate a new mill in Fort Worth, only to be frightened away when he had looked over the rates from here to points where he would ship.

William D. Williams has always been known as one of the most enthusiastic friends of Fort Worth in this particular line and he has been influential in bringing interested parties to this city and its companies also the handicap which is an absolute hindrance to the welfare of the city in this line. When seen Saturday Mr. Williams had the following to say about the matter:

"According to the officials tariffs, the Frisco railroad is now hauling both wheat and flour, in car load lots, from Kansas City to Fort Worth, to the trade centers of northern Louisiana, at Shreveport, Texarkana and Alexandria for a total charge of 19 cents in every hundred pounds, for the wheat to be unloaded in this city, carried into an elevator, mixed with other wheat, scoured, treated and manipulated until its identity is lost and which, at any time within six months, an equal number of car loads of any wheat the elevator has in its possession may be again loaded upon other cars, not the same as those in which the wheat was received, and these cars will be hauled on to the original destination in Louisiana, for a tariff rate of 19 cents per hundred pounds. But a Fort Worth flouring mill cannot ship into Fort Worth the same sort of Kansas City wheat, unless it has to pay freight on the wheat to Fort Worth at the rate of 26 cents per hundred and additional charge on the flour of 17 1/2 cents to Shreveport and Texarkana, or of 22 1/2 cents to Alexandria.

"This is to say the railroad will haul wheat from Kansas City to Fort Worth and 25 miles further, to Texarkana, for 19 cents, but if it stops the wheat in Fort Worth and saves a 25-mile haul, it will charge 26 cents more, or a total of 26 cents for the lesser service.

"This makes bread high in Fort Worth and drives flouring mills away to other places.

Texas Mills Suffer "Texas mills of any size are not able to do much of the full year on Texas wheat alone, and there is not a mill in Fort Worth that does not use all the Kansas wheat it can get for six months, or a total of 26 cents for the lesser service.

Wonder at Prejudice "In order to build a city, it has become necessary to have the permission of citizens to get it. It is not a matter of the railroad, but of the city itself. It is already built and continues to exist, it is necessary once more to have the permission of the citizens. Natural toll of the people, the expenditure of money, all these count for nothing as against the mandate of the citizens. And yet those same citizens wonder at the growing prejudice against the railroads of the country."

Sergeant Kitty "No one who has ever heard the two light operas, 'The Mocking Bird' and 'Sergeant Kitty' will deny that the music of these operas is truly beautiful. The Saturday matinee and the night performances and was as much of a success as ever.

ACTIVITY IN BUILDING

Much New Building on Lower Main Street

Y.M.C.A. COMPLETED

Triangle Building Will Soon Be Commenced—Will Cost $100,000

Building interests in Fort Worth and especially in the downtown district are as actively engaged now as at any previous time. Along lower Main street and also on Houston street building is going on almost everywhere.

Lower Main street is a revelation to the visitor to this city who has not been here for a year or so, with its increased number of buildings already finished and others that are going up almost every corner. Beginning with Tenth street, there is a block of the street caused by piles of building materials every few feet.

On upper Main street there is the new Ellison block which presents an imposing appearance and will add greatly in an impression on the visitor to Fort Worth who takes his way to the court house. The new building is three stories in height with a large basement and is 58x100 feet in extension. It is being built by T. B. Ellison for store and office purposes.

There will be five stores facing Main street, the corner one facing Weatherford also. On the second and third floors there will be forty office rooms. Work on the new building was started only five weeks ago and it is expected that it will be finished by the first of year. Cost of the new structure, which was designed by Sanguinet & Staats, and is being erected by Morgan & Evans, is about $40,000.

Moore's New Building

On the corner of Tenth and Main streets is the new three story brick building, which is the property of James Moore. This building is 50 by 95 feet in extent and is being built of light colored brick at a cost of $35,000. The ground floor will be utilized by two stores and the upper floors will contain apartments, with fourteen rooms on each floor. The construction work is under charge of B. F. Sargeant.

In the same block on the corner of Eleventh and Main streets is the new building which is being put up by E. S. Crowder at a cost of $15,000. The new building is to be three stories with two stores on the ground floor and thirty-seven rooms in the upper floors, which will be used for apartments. The building is 50 by 100 feet in extent.

On the southeast corner of Twelfth and Main streets Winfield Scott is building a fine new three story brick building 100 by 100 feet in extent, which will have five stores on the ground floor. The upper two floors will be fitted up as a hotel. This is one of the finest buildings being erected on Main street.

ed on Main street. Contractor for the work is E. Tomlinson.

Another building belonging to Winfield Scott is being erected on Main street between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets. It is also a three story brick, 50 foot frontage and 95 foot deep. The cost of the building when completed will be $25,000. The contractor in charge is J. W. O'Gwin.

On the corner of Fifteenth and Main streets a new building 25 by 95 feet, the property of James F. Moore, is having the finishing touches put on. The first floor is being fitted as a store, while offices and apartments occupy the other floors.

Newby's New Building

On the corner of Eleventh and Throckmorton streets is the new building belonging to W. G. Newby. This is 75 by 25 feet in extent and will be used for store purposes on the first floor, while the second floor will be used by a manufacturing plant of the city and the top floor will be used for lodge purposes. Cost of the building will be $20,000. The work is being done by B. F. Sargeant.

The most extensive buildings in the city which are going up at the present time are on the corner of Ninth and Houston streets, where the new Western National Bank building is rapidly nearing completion with its six stories, and the Saunders triangle will soon begin. The Saunders triangle will be a seven story structure and will cost about $100,000. It will be constructed of impervious semi-glazed light buff brick. The frontage on Houston street is 82 feet. The foundation for the building is now almost completed.

On the opposite corner of the Western National Bank, one of the most imposing structures in the city. Cost of this building will be about $125,000. The ground floor will be occupied by the Western National Bank and three of the remaining floors by the Rock Island general offices. There will be about eighty office rooms in the building, sixteen on the first floor. It will be finished in white granite, tiling with mahogany doors and tile floor.

On Sixth and Houston

Another new Houston street building is located near the corner of Sixth. This is a 26 foot frontage building belonging to James Welsh. It will cost about $7,000 and is two stories in height. The contractors are Heck & Ulander.

On Eighth and Monroe streets the Acme laundry is building a new addition to their plant which will double the size. New machinery will also be added which will double the capacity of the plant. It is expected that the new addition to this building when completed will give employment to about seventy-five additional people.

Another new building which is of importance to the city is that of the Y. M. C. A. on the corner of Texas and Monroe streets. The cost of the building which is rapidly being completed has been about $45,000. Possession of the building will be taken about the first of the coming month.

SENATORS STUDY INDIAN AFFAIRS

Fought for Reforms May Be Granted by Congress

Special to The Telegram.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Nov. 17.—The senatorial committee with all of its members present held a busy session here today and adjourned to meet at South McAlester Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

J. W. Zevely appeared before the committee and explained the manner of the leasing of land for oil purposes and showed the injustice in the rules and regulations governing the same prescribed by the secretary of the interior.

United States Indian Agent Kelsey stated to the committee that if the agency had more power, matters would be greatly facilitated in Indian Territory and would be of great benefit to the Indians as well as the white man.

Chief Porter of the Creeks appeared with a number of full-bloods who were members of the Creek Nation council. They all stated they did not want the restrictions taken off by the full-blood but favored removal of restrictions from the mixed bloods. Miss Alice M. Robertson, postmaster in this city, who has passed the fifty-two years of her life among the Creek Indians; her parents having been missionaries among the Creeks, in telling of the Creek full-blood and his simple but honest ways, her voice trembling with emotion, said "he was honest, trusting and a Christian, and would make a good citizen."

Chairman Clark stated that inasmuch as a special agent from the President's office was in town ready to take up the investigation of the charges filed by Webster Ballinger against Tammy Blaney and his secretary, the matter would be dropped by the committee.

While the senators would not make any statement, it is clear to those who were close to them while here that they already favor the removal of restrictions from the mixed blood-Indians of the five tribes.

BROKEN TROLLEY

Late Travelers Finished Journey on Foot

South side residents who had hurried to take the last car on the Henderson street line Saturday night were compelled after all to resume their journey homeward on foot in the dark and the rain and mud. At the corner near the Fort Worth university building the trolley wire snapped and dropped, not only breaking the circuit, but making necessary a piece of tedious repair work.

No injuries to person were sustained by the falling wire.

CONVENTION OF MAIL CLERKS HERE

Local Clerks Prepare for National Association

The first meeting of the clerks of the railway mail service of the eleventh division for entertainment of the national convention of the Railway Mail Clerks' Association and the United States Railway Mail Service Mutual Benefit Association, which will be held in this city next October, was held in the Federal building Saturday morning. The meeting was called by Superintendent S. M. Gaines.

About twenty-five clerks were present at the meeting, including Superintendent Gaines and several plans were discussed. Committees will be appointed at another meeting which will be held soon in order that the meeting may be a big success.

Those who will be credited delegates to the conventions of the two bodies and these with their wives and members of the associations who will attend as members only, will bring the total number of visitors here to close to 300. The last meeting was held in Chicago and Fort Worth was selected as the next meeting place after the presentation of the invitation of Superintendent Gaines to the delegates from this city, J. C. Horn and E. D. Kennedy. The delegates will be here as guests of the Eleventh division and as headquarters of this division Fort Worth is where the meeting will be held.

Was Robbed and Slugged and Thrown on Train

Special to The Telegram.

AMARILLO, Texas, Nov. 17.—It is believed that the former representative, Joseph W. Gordon of Eagle county, Colo., in the legislature, who disappeared from Denver Nov. 3 is in Amarillo. He wired friends in Pueblo that he was here penniless and under medical treatment. According to his statement he was slugged, chloroformed, robbed and thrown in a partly loaded Colorado and Southern car and carried to Texas before regaining consciousness.

Gordon had sold $5,500 worth of stock in the Wickliffe Mining Company of Denver, and was to take the evening train to Pueblo, where he was held up and robbed near the Union spot at Denver.

The Telegram correspondent has tried to locate him all day, he has been unsuccessful. The following message was received from Denver this evening: "Wm. McDermott left here evening train to Pueblo, when he was goes after Representative Joseph W. Gordon, who is in that city penniless."

President's Right to Discharge Soldiers Is Questioned

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Announcement was made today that Colonel Alexander S. Bacon and J. Douglas Wetmore, attorneys for the Afro-American counsel have been employed by the soldiers of Companies B, C and D of the Twenty-fifth Infantry who have been ordered discharged without honor from the United States army, to take steps for their reinstatement and to ascertain what rights they have if any, to protect them against the effect of President Roosevelt's order discharging them from future employment in the government service.

The statement is made that a number of persons, both white and black, have expressed their willingness to assist in bearing the expenses of the suit. Colonel Bacon is considered an expert in military law. Mr. Wetmore says he intends to have two bills introduced at the next session of congress on behalf of the Afro-American soldiers, one depriving the President and the secretary of war of the authority to discharge the soldiers without trials and the other for the reinstatement of the men discharged from the Twenty-fifth Infantry.

Calls were sent out yesterday for several meetings of the Ministerial Association of colored preachers, the Baptist ministers' meeting and the Clerical Union of Long Island Monday to take action on President Roosevelt's attitude toward the negro troops.

Report of Aged Senator's Resignation Confirmed

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The exclusive announcement this morning that Senator Thomas C. Platt, owing to his growing physical infirmities, recent marital troubles and other causes, would resign his seat in the United States senate on Jan. 1, was confirmed by the senator today in a telegram sent to E. H. Butler, proprietor of the Buffalo Evening News, the organ of the party in the western end of the state. In his telegram, which was printed in the newspaper, Senator Platt said: "Question of resignation, I will discuss hereafter. Am not considering it seriously now."

It was pointed out today that on account of his unrelenting antipathy to Governor Higgins, Senator Platt would take no step looking to resignation until Higgins retires from office. That is what his telegram means. Some of his best friends have urged him to resign at once and withdraw from the turmoil, but the aged senator has stubbornly refused. He agreed to quit on Jan. 1, when the legislature could move to elect his successor, but he absolutely refused to take a step that would admit of Governor Higgins appointing his successor. One of the first official papers that will come into the hands of Governor Hughes after he is sworn in will be the resignation of the senior senator from the state of New York.

HISTORY OF "THE CLANSMAN"

A Reconstruction Play That Has Swept Both North and South
"The Clansman," which comes to Greenwall's opera house Monday and Tuesday nights, matinee Tuesday, November 19 and 20, Thomas Dixon Jr.'s play of the reconstruction era and the Ku Klux Klan is undoubtedly the most important and sensational dramatic offering of this generation. After its whirlwind record both in the South and North, in which it has again brought the negro question sharply to the front, there will be keen anxiety to see it here. The play tells a story of love and hate in the crisis of the reconstruction period in the little town of Piedmont, S. C. Its hero is a young Southerner, Ben Cameron, who is deeply enamored of the daughter of a white radical leader, but who refuses to give up his Southern principles even to win her. In order to make head against the negroes and carpetbaggers Cameron organizes the local chapter of the Ku Klux Klan. He hunts down the black murderer of his little sister, terrorizes the bad negroes, and checks the designs of the mulatto lieutenant governor who presumes to aspire to the hand of the abolitionist's daughter. Among the striking scenes of the play are the auction of the old Cameron homestead for unpaid taxes; the ghostly cave of the Ku Klux Klan in which a black criminal is forced to confess his guilt before the assembled clansmen; and the final scene in the home of the mulatto Lynch, where the clansmen appear to save the mistaken Northerner and his daughter from the mulatto.

"The Clansman" reproduces not only the tragedy, but also the charm and romance of the South. The negro is not represented as all bad. On the contrary, there are both lovable and laughable darkey types, such as Eve, the black mammy, and Nelse, the "old-fashioned" do wah, all-wool-an'-ard-wide" body servant, contrasted with Aleck, the scalawag negro preacher and politician. The old-time rivalry of the South is shown at its best. Such figures as those of Dr. Cameron, who gave four sons to the Confederacy, Ben, the gallant young leader, and Nellie Graham with her sweet loyalty to an unrequited love, endear themselves to the hearts of all playgoers, with its well-drawn character types, its crisp dialogue, its leaving of wholesome comedy, and the tremendous power of its chief scenes. "The Clansman" form a delightful and satisfying entertainment entirely apart from its social and political implications. It is a pleasure to learn that it will be played here by the original company of established favorites and with a new scenic equipment which will add greatly to its charm. Among the chief actors in the big organization are Franklin Ritchie, Claire MacDowell, Albert Andrus, Maude Durand, Theodore Kehrwald, Charles Avery, Avery, John B. Cooke, James J. Gardner, Guy B. Hoffman and Joseph Sweeney, Charles Malles.

"The Girl and the Bandit"
One of the few young men who has succeeded in working himself up from the simple life, to success behind the footlights is George J. MacFarlane, who will be seen here in the new comic opera, "The Girl and the Bandit," which the Viola Gillette Opera Company will present here at Greenwall's Opera house Thursday night, November 22. The management is very proud of son Howard's "Shenandoah." "To Err Is Human," and was submitted to A. M. Palmer, who listened to several readings, suggested various alterations, but in the end decided the piece was too much on the order of "Denise," already known to the New York public. Negotiations went far enough, however, to encourage the authors to further effort. Palmer had been unreserved in his praise of the comedy situations in "To Err Is Human," and Mrs. Feigl's next offering was an out-and-out laugh provoker, and had a prosperous season on the road. It received no New York hearing, owing to a misunderstanding with the management of a Broadway house. It was years afterward that "Texas" was written. Here were detailed many of the writer's early experiences. She located all of the scenes on Buckhead ranch, where she was born and grew to womanhood, and the characters were drawn from men and women she had known.

"The Girl Patsy" is an entirely different line. It is a clever bit of character drawing, with scenes and situations located near New York. One of the dramatic personages is a hair-lipped man, who must have an interpreter to make known his needs. Other characters are novel. The cast includes June Madis, Grace Cahill, Lida Merab, Jane Tree, Marie Haynes, Alice Knowland, W. Clinton Hamilton, Morris Burr, John Sutherland, Francis Herbin, David Herbin, Harry C. Griffin, Chester Guver, Charles Soast, Mr. R. Schwerin, William Gough.

"Human Hearts"
Till we have reflected on it, we are scarcely aware how much the sum of human happiness is indebted to the stage. We acquire cheerfulness and vigor from mere association with our fellow men in the theater, and from the looks of happy expectancy radiating from our neighbor's countenances, inspired by the anticipation of prospective enjoyment of good, clean, wholesome drama, well acted and properly presented. Such, at least, is the idea brought forcibly to mind in gazing over an audience assembled to witness W. F. Nankeville's great production, "Human Hearts," which will be seen at Greenwall's opera house matinee and night, Nov. 24, aptly described as the "forever green success." "Human Hearts" is a play that invariably appeals to all that is best in man's nature, and uplifts him from the sordid care and petty worries of daily toil and trouble. The story of "Human Hearts" is clean, wholesome and intelligible to every one. There is no suggestion of vulgarity in any of its acts, but a story of convincing strength is told by the author in a manner that appeals irresistibly to all classes of theatergoers.

"The Girl Patsy"
The New York Commercial says of Jane Maudlin Feigl, the author of "The Girl Patsy," which will be seen at Greenwall's opera house Friday night, Nov. 23. Mrs. Feigl, a clever and handsome southern woman, was born in the great cattle country of Texas, on "Buckhead Ranch," Panola county. When a young girl she wrote verse and sold editorials and later continued her newspaper training, which was naturally of value to her in her future stage work. Her first play was inspired by Bronfound in four English girls who present a sensation as big, in its way, as "Fals." The bounding wire has its greatest exponent in "The Flying Dutchman;" the animal novelty is one of the greatest before the public and the remainder of the bill is filled with first class material. Mrs. Kecey, who was to appear this week, was taken suddenly ill at Birmingham and she and her husband had to cancel the rest of their engagement on the Majestic theater circuit. The Keceys will appear later on. However, at great expense to the management, and by use of the leading vaudeville, the Apollo Quartet of Chicago has been engaged to take the place of the Keceys. There is no higher class musical act on the stage than that furnished by the Apollo Quartet. The Madcaps These English girls are perfect whirlwinds. Whether they be dancing or whether they be tumbling, they work so fast that an audience becomes infused with the dash and high spirit of their performance. In their way, they are quite as much of a sensation as "Fals" or for that matter, the coming sons of the desert, the Eight Be-douin Arabs, who appear later in the season. The Madcaps is a high class specialty and was one of the principal

During this engagement the curtain will rise at 7:45 o'clock sharp. Carriages may be ordered at 11:15 o'clock. Auditors must be in their seats at rise of first curtain, as no one will be seated during the action of play.
Prices $2, $1.50, $1, 75c and 50c.
Tickets ordered by Mail will be promptly forwarded on receipt of remittance and Self-Addressed Envelope.

low comedy on the bounding wire. His cleverness has earned for him the vaudeville nickname of "the flying Dutchman." The act is convulsing and certain to make an instantaneous success with any audience. Mr. Ledegar heightens the extreme intricacy of his tricks on the wire by his funny make-up and his broken English.
Tony Ryder's Monkeys There is nothing very difficult about the training of a mere monkey of the common kind so well known thru the circuses and zoos of this country, but when one undertakes to "educate" a baboon of the African or Brazilian type, he has taken upon his hands a mountainous task and a dangerous one. Mr. Ryder's school of apes are well worth seeing, indeed they will be a revelation to persons who have never realized to what amazing lengths of training the human will has carried these savage simians.
The Wells Brothers The Wells Brothers will be found exceedingly pleasing, not only because of the fact that they are excellent musicians, but because of the very novel environment in which they introduce their respective talents. Scenic effects used in the act add fifty per cent to the impression that it usually produces.

Dolly Wells Miss Wells is a caricaturist of exceptional ability. Her performance is full of the qualities of novelty. She dashes charcoal cartoons of her drawing sheet with a rapidity that is little short of wonderful.

natural and lifelike in action, so human, moral and instructive in its entire fabric, that it would for ages ensure as a forceful and constant reminder of its grand and noble Christian lesson. It was Wagner's last work. It was his greatest. It will serve forever as a glorious monument to his immortal genius.

Olga Nethercole is an enthusiastic amateur dog fancier. On her farm in Norfolk, England, she raises English bull dogs and Scotch collies. She has an ambition to cross the Boston and English breed of bull dog, but at present the stringent laws about importing dogs into England stand in the way of her proposed experiment.

The unwonted enthusiasm aroused by Maxine Elliott's appearance in New York in Clyde Fitch's greatest play, "Her Own Way," is being duplicated this season by Jules Murry's new star, Miss Sylvia Lynden. The production will be seen here in the near future.

"Small in stature, but a giant in the art of laugh making." This is an apt description of the well known comedian, Arthur Dunn, who was seen to such excellent advantage recently in "The Runaways." This season Mr. Dunn will appear in an entirely new and original musical comedy, entitled

"The Little Joker," and will produce it on a scale of magnificence seldom attempted by traveling managers. "The Little Joker" will afford Mr. Dunn innumerable opportunities for the display of his many talents and will also serve to introduce a number of first-class artists and a score of pretty and prettily costumed girls. "The Little Joker" will be seen here at Greenwall's."

At Fort Worth Rink

A large and happy crowd of skaters enjoyed the sport at the Fort Worth skating rink, corner of Third and Rusk streets, Friday and Saturday evenings, there being more than seventy-five couples in attendance each night.

The race Friday night was a neck-and-neck one, Wilkes winning by a few yards.

Saturday afternoon was the children's jubilee, and large numbers of the little tots gladly availed themselves of the treat. The feature of the afternoon was the fancy skating of Master Renfro. This young skating artist is a mere child, yet does with grace and ease the most difficult stunts performed by professional skaters. Master Renfro is, indeed, quite a wonderful little chap, and elicited repeated applause from the large audience. After he had finished his exhibition yesterday afternoon, the management of the Fort Worth rink presented him with a

Sure Cure For Rupture

New Scientific Appliance, Always Perfect Fit—Adjustable to Any Size Person—Easy, Comfortable, Never Slips—No Obnoxious Springs or Pads—Costs Less Than Many Common Trusses—Made for Men, Women or Children

Send it On Approval—You Wear it. If You Are Not Satisfied, I Refund Your Money

I have invented a rupture appliance that I can safely say by thirty years' experience in the rupture business, is the only one that will absolutely hold the rupture and never slip and yet is cool, comfortable, conforms to every movement of the body without chafing or hurting and costs less than many ordinary trusses. I have put the price so low that any person, rich or poor, can buy, and I absolutely guarantee it. I make it to your order—send it to you—your wear it, and if it doesn't satisfy you send it back to me and I will refund your money. That is the fairest proposition ever made by a rupture specialist. The banks or the postmaster here in Marshall will tell you that is the way I do business—always absolutely on the square.

Here is what Mr. Jas. Britton, a prominent manufacturer of Bethlehem, Pa., writes:

"C. E. Brooks, Esq. Dear Sir:—I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact at times I did not know I had it on. It just adapted itself to the shape of the body and clung to the spot no matter what position I was in. It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture, if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They certainly would never regret it. My rupture is all healed up and nothing ever did it but your appliance."

"JAS. BRITTON."
If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my greatest success. Write me today and I will send you my book on Rupture and Its Cure, showing my appliance and giving you prices and names of people who have tried it and been cured. It is instant relief when all others fail. Remember I use no salves, no harness, no lies. Just a straight business deal at a reasonable price.

gold medal in its usual generous fashion.

The floor has again been refinished and the patrons have one and all agreed it is decidedly improved.

The management is determined to give the public the best rink in Texas, and the increasing patronage is substantial evidence of the appreciation of the patrons of every accommodation and courtesy.

A two-mile amateur race is announced for Monday evening, Nov. 19. This will be an extra feature and will take place promptly at 10 p. m.

TEACHERS PLAN FOR CONVENTION

Exhibit of School Work to Be Feature

The second regular meeting of the city teachers was held Saturday morning at the high school building. Nearly all of the teachers of the city were present.

The opening number of the program was a piano solo by Miss Mary Eubanks. It was heartily applauded by the audience.

Short talks by the principals, which were not completed at the last meeting, were resumed. All these talks showed the various schools doing well.

The State Teachers' Association convention to be held in Fort Worth during the Christmas holidays was discussed. Professor McGee told how strenuously the Fort Worth representatives worked at the San Antonio convention to bring the next meeting here. Professor McGee said that nothing could more stimulating to the educational interests of the city than to have a meeting of this association here.

Misses Delsens and Litsey followed with talks on the importance of making the most of the present association meeting. Judging from the enthusiasm of the speakers and the interest of the listeners, it is safe to predict that Fort Worth will do her part in the holiday meeting. One feature of the state association convention will be a reunion of Peabody students. Miss Helen Murdock sang a solo and was encored.

Professor J. E. Guysinger, director of manual training at the high school, read a paper on "Why Our Schools Should Have an Exhibit for the State Association." Professor Guysinger presented arguments in favor of preparing an exhibit. He said it would be beneficial to the teachers in giving them an idea of what is being done in the various schools. It will give them a bird's-eye view of the work of the city schools and will stimulate pride in the schools. Such an exhibition will be most interesting to the visiting teachers, but will be inspiring and helpful to the teachers from smaller towns. It will be a means of showing our appreciation of the visitors.

In addition to all this, the exhibit is worth having for the opportunity it affords to bring the work of the schools before the home people. The question of an exhibit was further discussed in a paper by Miss Lockheed and a talk by Miss Buchanan. Miss Lockheed spoke of the value of an exhibit in that it furnished an ideal for the child.

The teachers already are arranging for this exhibit of the city schools. The committee on the exhibit is showing and it will be an opportunity for the citizens to inform themselves in regard to the work of our schools. Professor Guysinger caused a laugh in the meeting by telling of a letter from the city teachers who thought that the manual training taught at the high school was the same as physical culture.

INTERESTING POINT

Is He Or Is He Not Under Bond?—A Novel Question

The first judicial order made by County Judge John L. Terrell after ascending to the bench Saturday morning was one that raises an interesting legal point. It was in the case of state of Texas vs. John Dennis.

Dennis was indicted by a former grand jury, under the new gambling law, and convicted of a riot at a gambling house, the punishment being assessed at the limit of a $500 fine and ninety days in jail. Dennis is now in the county jail, on a recognizance in the sum of $1,000.

Saturday morning Dennis and his attorney, J. S. Davis, appeared before Judge Terrell and filed a motion asking to withdraw his appeal and surrender himself (Dennis) to the court. The motion was granted by Judge Terrell and noted on the docket. There was no objection on the docket by Judge Terrell to the fact that the order granting permission to withdraw the appeal was re-

Tricked by Dyspepsia

The Doctor Couldn't Tell Where the Trouble Lay

"For the past seven years I have been a victim of dyspepsia and chronic constipation and have consulted the most noted specialists to be found on diseases of this character. None, however, seemed to locate the difficulty or give relief. In addition to this medical treatment, I have resorted to the use of many remedies and have given them faithful trial, but all to no purpose.

Upon the recommendation of a close friend I purchased a box of packets of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and in less than five days noticed that I was receiving more benefit than from any remedy I had used before. I continued to use the tablets after stomach for one month and by that time my stomach was in a healthy condition, capable of digesting anything which my increasing appetite demanded.

I have not experienced any return of my former trouble, though three months have elapsed since taking your remedy. We wish that you could see with your own eyes the countless other bonafide signed letters from grateful men and women all over the land who had suffered years of agony with dyspepsia, tried every known remedy and consulted eminent specialists without result, until they gave Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial. Like the doctor above, they couldn't locate the seat of the trouble.

Dyspepsia is a disease which has long baffled physicians. So difficult of location is this disease that cure seems next to miraculous. There is only one way to treat dyspepsia—to supply the elements which nature has ordained to perform the function and to cause them to enter the digestive organs, supplying the fluids which they lack. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets alone fill these requirements, as is shown by the fact that 4,000,000 physicians in the United States and Canada unite in recommending them to their patients for stomach disorders.

We do not claim to cure Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to cure anything but disordered conditions of the stomach and other digestive organs, but this they never fail to do. They work upon the inner lining of the stomach and intestines, stimulate the gastric glands and aid in the secretion of juices necessary to digestion.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. One box will frequently effect a perfect cure. If in doubt and wish more adequate proof send us your name and address and we will gladly mail you a sample package free. F. A. Stuart Co., 61 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

considered, making the case stand as it did before the order granting the withdrawal of the appeal and surrender of Dennis.

The purpose of Dennis in withdrawing the appeal and surrendering himself was to apply to a district judge for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that the law under which he was convicted is unconstitutional.

The status of the case now is that the county judge by refusing to grant a withdrawal of the appeal holds that defendant is still under his recognizance, and the case must go to the higher court, while Dennis holds that he has surrendered himself and is not under bond and will take no further steps to prosecute his appeal.

MANY INDICTMENTS

Grand Jury Reports and is Discharged

The grand jury made its report Friday afternoon and were discharged until Dec. 10. Forty-four bills of indictment were returned, thirty-one for felonies and thirteen for misdemeanors.

Of the felony charges six were for theft from the person, one for robbery, six for robbery with firearms, two for attempt to commit burglary, four for burglary, five for assault to murder and eight for forgery.

There was no indictment for murder. Of the thirteen misdemeanor indictments, one was for disturbing the peace, one for carrying a pistol, two for keeping a saloon open on Sunday, six for selling on Sunday, two for aggravated assault and one for selling liquor to a minor.

MANY BALL GAMES HERE NEXT SEASON

Season Will Open in South Texas

Plans for the baseball season here next year show that Fort Worth is to have a season such as has never been seen in this city before. The new league, according to Manager W. H. Ward, instead of being in Class C, as both the Texas and South Texas Leagues were last year, will apply to be admitted to class B, which includes leagues of much higher standing than the Texas League has been considered heretofore.

The plans at present call for a season of one hundred and forty games, seventy abroad and seventy at home, ten games being played with each team here and ten at the other places. The ten games will be divided into three series, two of three games each and one of four games, in case of an eight club league this will bring each of the other teams of the league to Fort Worth three times during the season. The season will open about April 20, a little earlier than has been the Texas League custom, and will close about the middle of September. The teams from the northern half of the state will open in the southern half in order to insure good weather. The northern teams will play a complete round of the southern cities before returning home, so that the season in Fort Worth will not open until after the first of May.

Property increased $11,000 During the Week
Real estate has continued the active strides that were taken on last week and during the week a number of important sales of property have been made. The sales that have been made are all of considerable size, although the present time that are awaiting the size of the record sale of last week.

Business interests are picking up and money seems to be ready for all deals that are contemplated, although there are a number of deals at the present time that are awaiting the final word for closing them up. A double deal that took place during the week was the purchase of twenty-one lots between Fifteenth and Thirtieth and Throckmorton streets and Jennings avenue early in the week by James F. Moore from Captain Daggett and the sale of the same property on Saturday to J. W. Sandig for $55,000, a gain of $11,000 during the week.

Thanksgiving Fur Sale

THE ANNUAL FUR EVENT

This store was never so attractive as now. With the new additions, all the departments are enlarged, and you shop with comfort and convenience. Then, too, the enlarged departments called for larger stocks; thus it affords greater opportunities to procure the most stylish apparel. Many folks are now buying Christmas gifts and holding them, because selections are greater and this special sale affords extraordinary saving. Furs are sold during this sale much under regular prices. BEAUTIFUL AND RELIABLE FURS are best bought here, since probably not more than one person out of a hundred is a real judge of quality. There are few jokes older than the one concerning the fur trade being a "skin" business. It's necessarily done largely on confidence. Every piece in this vast stock has been selected by a fur expert and is backed by our broad guarantee for quality. Our fur prices are fairly based at all times on actual intrinsic worth. Perhaps an that only the popular priced furs are mentioned in the sale. This does not exclude the finer ones from special pricings. Real furs, genuine mink, squirrel, red fox, black fox, white fox, lynx, kolinsky, marten, sable—all the stylish furs—$50.00 to $250.00 set.

NEW YORK RACING PASSION STRONG

$30,000,000 Is Contributed to Keep Game Going

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The racing season of 1906 Metropolitan tracks, which closed Thursday with the shift of Benning at Washington, was the most remarkable in history from the fact that the public flocked to the circus within New York in greater numbers than ever before and spent or bet more of its money than ever. It is estimated today the public contributed $30,000,000 to the various race track owners such as August Belmont, James R. Keene and Thomas Hitchcock, this figure being the more astounding because it does not include the money lost in betting.

According to the best figures obtainable 4,000,000 people paid admissions to the amount of $10,000,000 to the several local tracks since the season opened last spring. All this went to the racing associations.

The most conservative estimate places the expenditures of the 4,000,000 racegoers at $5 a day, or a total of $20,000,000. A great part of this immense sum also went to the racing associations, since most of it was spent at places within the tracks paying the associations for the privilege.

On the kick off Tulane sent the ball for a down into the Texas territory and Hamilton fumbled, giving Tulane the ball on Texas 10-yard line. In two downs they gained five yards, but the quarterback tossed the ball over the Texas goal line contrary to the rules, when a signal was given for a forward pass. The ball was given to Texas and brought to the 25-yard line for a kick off. On exchange kicks Texas gained three yards and by straight football and superior weight drove the ball over for a touchdown in twenty-seven minutes of play.

Captain Puckett kicked the goal.

The half closed with the ball in the possession of Texas on the forty-five yard line. Tulane lost the goal on a fumble, but held Texas for three downs, when Hamilton sent one thru the goal post from the thirty-yard line, making the score 10 to 0 after the kick-off. Texas was held for the third down when Hamilton punted a long one and the ball went thru over the Tulane goal line, where Gully secured it. The referee ruled that this was a safety, altho Gully did not attempt to advance the ball and some time was lost on account of Texas protesting the decision.

Coch Bachman of Texas allowed a number of substitutes to play in the second half, saving his men for the game with the Louisiana State University. Tulane also withdrew a number of her regular men and ran substitutes. Texas secured the ball on a punt on Texas' twenty-five yard line, where the ball had been driven on an exchange of kicks, and working their back field on straight football, carried the ball over for the second touchdown and the last score of the game, Puckett and the tally.

The Texans will remain here until tomorrow night, when they leave for Baton Rouge to play the Louisiana State University Monday.

Summary—Touchdowns, Rosa and Puckett; goals from touch-downs, Puckett 2, field goal, Hamilton; safety, Gully; total points, 18; referee, Halligan of Amherst; umpire, Watkins of Sewanee; timekeepers, Dr. Ivy of Tulane and W. A. Gilbert of Texas; linesman, Reese of Tulane; length of halves, twenty minutes each.

HAU'S JOB IS HELD

No Action Toward Dismissal Taken at University

Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—No action has been taken or will be taken looking to the removal of Professor Carl Hau from the faculty of the George Washington university on account of the charge of murder brought against him in Germany. This announcement was made emphatically today by Dr.

Charles W. Needham, president of the institution, who believes the young professor to be innocent.

Professor Hau's lectures on Roman law were to have begun early next month. During his absence it has been arranged that Professor Ernest C.

Lorenson, a close friend of Professor Hau, shall have charge of his classes.

Keystone II, a 3-year-old mare, owned by Lord Roseberry, heads the list of winning horses in England, with $60,325.

SPECIAL NOTICES

THE DOCTOR
Dr. Tommie shook his head. "I'm called," he said, "too late! The child I had will soon be dead! The angels now but we're dead! To wait it over across the stream! Where it with joy will wake, And live on the Carnation Cream! And Loughery's Angel Cake."

"I've been a doctor many years, I've lost many children young; I've soothed them and allayed their fears. While they in his's thread clung. The little man to his is a dream, The old man in life's bud, I've fed upon Carnation Cream And Doherty's Butter Nut."

"I've saved the infant with its smile; Dean's grip I did contest; The old with age who were senseless Lived thru the doctor's jest. My recipe is not a dream, Nor is the cereal rut, It reads to eat Carnation Cream And Doherty's Butter Nut."

Dr. Phillips was 86 years old.

ABOLISH THE SPONSORS?

Captain Paddock Says Too Much Society

VETERANS TALK

And Express Widely Varying Views on the Question of Sponsors

- Special to The Telegram. GULFPORT, Miss., Nov. 16.—Resolutions to dispense with the sponsors and maids of honor at reunions of United Confederate Veterans were adopted today by the United Daughters of the Confederacy in convention here. The resolutions were introduced by Mrs. Carrington Mason, president of the Sarah Law Chapter of Memphis, Tenn. She offered them, she said, in behalf of more consideration for the veterans. Resolutions, she said, apparently are no longer for the entertainment of the veterans, but rather for the maids of honor, the sponsors and maids of honor. The large sums raised by the hostesses, she said, are expended to give the veterans and maids of honor, hotels, while the veterans are lodged in vacant hotels and bedded on cots.

Several local veterans who read the Gulfport dispatch said that it would cut from the reunions one of the prettiest features, if the abolition of the sponsors and maids of honor became general. There was a bit of a lesson in chivalry in the custom and something of acknowledgement of the important part woman had played in the more trying parts of the war, for she had to stay at home and see to the welfare of the family while the husband or father was the front.

But those who had attended the reunions did recognize as a fact that there was a growing tendency to subordinate the purposes of the reunions to the purely social features, and for that reason it had become the conviction of many that the time would come when the purpose of the reunion would be lost to sight in the exaltation of the sponsor and maids of honor and the festivities which hinged about them.

Major Van Zandt, who has the honorary title of major general commanding this department of the U. C. V., was loath to say anything on the subject, but he knew that there was but one purpose, and that was to make more glorious and pleasant the annual reunions, but it had been brought to his attention that there was a growing disposition, some feared, that the reason for the existence of the United Confederate Veterans would be lost sight of by the subordination of the real objects of the existence of the United Confederate Veterans to the merely social features as exemplified in the balls and other functions of the reception and entertainment of the sponsors and her maids.

If there was a probability even of that then there was a reason for the Daughters at Gulfport taking the action they did for it was the purpose to perpetuate the truth of the history of the great struggle between the states and not merely make an occasion for social display.

It is held that it is one of the cases where the Daughters' organization must act, and that the camps of veterans cannot do other than they have done so willingly and cheerfully, elect the sponsors at the fitting times if the custom prevails. In all chivalric good faith the custom is accepted and admired. The veterans have acted with but one purpose, for the general good of the cause. If the Daughters think that the custom, pretty though it is, is best abrogated, that is the end of it for the survivors of the soldiers of the Southland will acquiesce in what the Daughters desire.

R. E. Goslin, who is one of the aides on General Van Zandt's staff, declined to express an opinion on the question for the reason that being on the staff such expressions properly came from the commanding officer and not from the subordinates, but he has heard some complaint of the subordination of the veterans meeting to the social features which have grown to be so prominent in that connection.

Approves of the Move. Captain B. B. Paddock is emphatic in his approval of the action taken at the Gulfport meeting. Talking of that action Saturday, he said: "I most cordially approve what the Daughters have done. It is eminently proper and it is something for which I have fought at the reunions, for I saw that the reunion was not a mere social function, and that was not the intended purpose. At Louisville I introduced a resolution, which was adopted, expressing the sentiments of the United Confederate Veterans on this subject, and it in its terms begged to advise the cities which might thereafter be the hosts of the veterans that the money raised to defray the cost of the reunions should not be spent in bunting and decorations and entertainments, but devoted to the benefit of those of the veterans who might attend."

"I even took the trouble to send a copy of that resolution to New Orleans and to the veterans, that it was not of no avail, as the result shows. There was a ball and by 9 o'clock the ball hall was so crowded with New Orleans people that not a single one of the veterans could have entered the hall if he had tried to do so. The next day the papers gave that affair was a warm one."

"This was the culmination and the sentiment was freely expressed that it was time to call a halt. There is a purpose in the annual reunions, and there was not in it there any reason for subordinating that purpose to the social features absolutely, and that is what it had come to be."

"You are too strongly express my cordial approval of the action of the United Daughters of the Confederacy at the Gulfport meeting in adopting the resolutions to do away with sponsors and maids of honor at the United Confederate reunions."

Says It is Inexpedient. W. P. Lane, who has been for years one of the most prominent figures in the organization and conduct of the affairs of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, has some strong views on the subject of the action taken by the Daughters at Gulfport and thinks it is unfortunatly expedient at this particular time.

Mr. Lane without abating interest in the cause generally, says that there can be no dissent from what is a fact that much of the life of the reunions has been in and thru the young people, who, being themselves related to the

Friend of Sick Women

Strange, that some sick women still hold off, from trying a medicine that half a century of use has proven of exceptional value in the treatment of female disease!

Strange that EVERY sick woman who has heard of it—Wine of Cardui—should not fly to the nearest drug-store and try a bottle.

So, in order that you, who doubt, shall doubt no longer, but be convinced by the testimony of a sister woman,—Mrs. Donaldson, the well-known Salvation Army worker,—a friend to all sick women, the following unsolicited letter from her is published, for you to read and ponder:—

MRS. J. DONALDSON, Captain Salvation Army, Jonesboro, Ark.

Jonesboro, Ark., July 13, 1906. For about eight years I have been a walking advertisement for Wine of Cardui. In 1895 and 1896 I suffered much with female trouble and irregularity. My limbs would swell until great ridges would form, out over my shoes. I was weak, with scarcely energy enough to do housework at all.

Having read much of the merits of Wine of Cardui for female complaint, I decided to try it and after taking 2 bottles was never troubled again.

Two years ago, I gave birth to an 8 1/2 pound baby girl and was only in labor half an hour.

This spring I gave birth to a 10 pound boy; was only in labor half an hour. I took Cardui during pregnancy both times, and am sure I owe my easy time to it. It is a real God-send to suffering women.

During change of life, four years ago, my mother, Mrs. G. W. Wadsworth, nearly died. She had from 16 to 24 cramping or sinking spells during a day and night, and many times we laid her down for dead. At last I persuaded her to take Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, which cured her.

In DeKalb, Ill., when I was in charge of the Army work there a young woman had taken cold and was irregular for six months. I recommended Cardui and after taking 3 bottles, she was entirely well. (See Miss Upson's letter below).

These are only a few instances where your medicine has been a real God-send to sick women. I am continually recommending it to others.

Praying God to abundantly bless you,

I remain,

Mrs. J. Donaldson.

MRS. G. W. WADSWORTH, Mother of Mrs. J. Donaldson.

Another hunting party left the city Saturday night for the Devil's River country and Edwards county, composed of W. Sneed, C. Simpson of Fort Worth, T. D. Wilson of Oklahoma, and J. Wilson of Thurber, Texas. The boys are contemplating shooting some deer, the special attention will be given to bears.

FOUR HOLD-UPS IN SAN ANTONIO

Negroes' Attacks Made in Early Part of Night

Special to The Telegram. SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 17.—The police are aroused to action over the four holdups which took place tonight, in each of which women were the victims. Several negroes, suspected of being implicated in the holdups were arrested and held for investigation. Holdups took place in various parts of the city between the hours of 8 and 10 p. m.

Miss Alice McVey was held up at the point of a pistol and robbed of her purse.

Mrs. S. D. Camp was struck over the head with a rock by a negro and her hand bag snatched from her arm.

Mrs. John Voepel was held up by a negro with a gun and her pocket-book taken.

Miss Elizabeth Ralt was accosted by a man but out ran him and her screams frightened him away.

DeKalb, Ill., Jan. 2, 1906. I am very much pleased to sit down and write you how much I thank God and you for Wine of Cardui. It saved my life, and I will never be through praising God for it. I was very sick with fever and never got it, just right. I was weak and hardly able to get up, and for six months I was in bad shape. I was pale and white, and the best doctor in DeKalb gave me up and said I would not get well. Mamma was almost crazy to think of it. At last on the advice of a lady friend, (Mrs. J. Donaldson, see letter above) Mamma gave me Wine of Cardui and after I had taken three

DOG FRISKS ON $650,000 LOT

Owner Refuses to Sell Favorite Pet's Playground

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—"I don't believe I will sell that lot. It's the only place Trixie, my little dog, has in which to exercise. He likes the open air and he's so used to that little garden patch. I think I will keep it for him."

This was the reply made by Miss Josephine J. Wendel, an elderly spinster, when she refused an offer of $650,000 for a vacant lot adjoining her home and fronting fifty feet on the west side of Fifth avenue between Thirty-ninth and Fortieth streets.

The real estate man who wanted the lot for a client who desired to erect a skyscraper could not understand a $650,000 playground for a dog, and went away fazed.

The real estate man had first offered $500,000 for the lot. Then he raised the price to $600,000. Next he said $650,000.

"I suppose I am really foolish to hold it unimproved," said Miss Wendel, "but I could not think of depriving Trixie of his breathing spot."

W. W. HAIR RUN DOWN BY HACK

Injuries Are Disfiguring and May Be Fatal

Special to The Telegram. TEMPLE, Texas, Nov. 17.—W. W. Hair, formerly district attorney and member of the law firm of Banks, Cox & Hair, was run down by a hack this afternoon, resulting in injuries that are disfiguring and may result fatally.

A BIG SUGAR YIELD

Cane Prospects as Fine as Ever Known in Texas

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 17.—Captain John B. Reagan of Rusk, assistant superintendent of penitentiaries, said when here that there are a present a shortage of convicts in the Iron Rock plant, due to the fact that 126 have been sent to the state plantation in Brazos county to cut sugar cane. He said the crop was now ready for harvest, and the penitentiary authorities will begin grinding in a short time.

It is expected that the crop this year will be one of the largest in the history of the state farm. It is impossible at present to estimate the amount of sugar and molasses that will be produced, but the yield will exceed $100,000.

NEGRO SOLDIERS GET DISCHARGES

Dismissal of Troops at El Reno Is Slow

Special to The Telegram. PORT RENO, Okla., Nov. 17.—Major Wallace of Fort Sam Houston, acting chief paymaster, accompanied by James McKay and R. R. Kelly, who arrived at Port Reno late yesterday, were engaged this morning in making out the rolls for the discharge of three companies of negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry.

As these rolls must contain a personal history of each soldier's army life it will require six or seven days to complete it. The soldiers will be paid off and discharged singly and probably the first dismissals will be made this afternoon.

NEW BLOOD IN LEGISLATURE

Many Young Men Elected to Office This Month MOSTLY IN SENATE

Many State University Graduates Are Included in the List

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 17.—The following will furnish a brief outline of some of the new members of the house in the next legislature. A good majority of them are lawyers, and most of them are native Texans. There are many graduates of the State University.

There are several elder statesmen, such as Judge James H. Robertson of Austin, Judge John M. Brown, Tyler, Judge Jenkins of Brownwood, Judge Wolfe of Sherman, John T. Brown of Houston and Captain McKinney of Huntsville.

The new members of the senate are mostly young fellows, and that body this session may be very lively.

Mr. Bowles of Collin T. E. Bowles of Nevada, Collin county, has been justice of the peace of precinct No. 7 for the last three terms and has made an exceptional officer. Not a single case from his court has ever been reversed by the higher court. He was born and raised in Georgia, being the son of a farmer. He has resided in Collin county for the last fourteen years. He is a local optionist, and is a consistent church worker. He is well acquainted with the needs of the people of Collin county.

Mr. Kindred of Colorado Judge J. C. Kindred of Colorado county, one of the oldest timers in his section of the state. He served his people in the Seventeenth legislature, and has been a resident of the county for the last forty years. He is an original blanket primary man, and his motto is, "The people should get in the saddle and stay there." He has a serious Confederate record, and is the father of the white man's primary which prevails in his county.

Mr. Briggs of Galveston Clay Stone Briggs of Galveston county is a lawyer, having received his early education in his native city, which is the greatest gulf port in the world. After finishing up with the schools in Galveston he attended the university of Texas and then spent a year in Harvard. He graduated from Yale in 1899, taking a prominent part with the student body while at "Old Eli." He was admitted to the practice of law at Galveston in 1897, and has been busy here as a lawyer ever since. This is the first public position he has ever held; the he was appointed assistant county attorney of Galveston county, he never served.

Mr. Wolfe of Grayson J. A. E. Wolfe of Sherman, Grayson county, is a Methodist minister, having first seen the light of day in Cooper county in 1856. His father came to Texas and settled in Denton county. Mr. Wolfe was educated at the University and graduated in the law class of 1878. He located in McKinney, where he practiced law until about 16 years of age, when he moved to Sherman and has resided ever since. He supported Colonel Campbell in his race for governor, and embraces the position taken by him during his campaign for the office. In 1879 he was married to Miss Sallie Hickman in Cooper county, Mo.

Mr. Pool of Victoria J. P. Pool, lawyer, of Victoria county, represents the counties of Victoria, Calhoun, Bee, Johnson and Refugio. He is 36 years of age, and was born and raised on a farm in Miami county, near Cameron. At the age of 15 he entered Baylor University, and later went to Marlin, where he read law in the office of Judge B. H. Rice. He graduated from the university law department in 1891 and has been practicing law ever since. He is associated with Judge J. L. Dupree.

1901 and took up the study of stenography and was very successful, being employed by the law firms of Benham, Franklin & McGowan, Ball & Fuller and Houston Bros. He quit the latter to accept the position of private secretary to President Frasier of the University. He is now a member of the law firm of Cooke, Cooke & Harris. His career in the university was a brilliant one, and aside from receiving many honors he earned $1,800 during his two years at study, sufficient to support his family and educate a sister.

He favors amending the election law so that a man who is not intelligent enough to make out his ballot should not be given the right of suffrage. He favors juvenile courts, and wants to pass a uniform negotiable instrument law such as is now in vogue in thirty states.

Mr. Walter of Gonzales C. K. Walter of Gonzales county, lawyer and 55 years of age. A native of Tennessee, and resided there until 1869, when he moved to Mississippi. He came to Texas in 1872 and settled in Wilson and Atascosa counties, until 1876, when he located in Gonzales, and has resided there ever since. He was admitted to the bar in 1888, and has held the position of city and county attorney. He is married and has a bright home, composed of a wife and six children.

He defeated the Hon. Yancey Holmes for re-election, announcing on the and against free passes.

Mr. Gilmore of Van Zandt C. E. Gilmore, aged 35 years. Born and reared in Van Zandt county, and represents the counties of Van Zandt, Kaufman and Rainey. He is an editor, one of the best in the business, being at the head of the Willis Point Chronicle. He has a wife and two children, who he says are worth a million dollars each. Like all great men, he was born in a log cabin, and was raised on the farm.

He wants better public highways, and will do all within his power to have the legislature to take judicial notice of this idea.

Mr. King of Nacogdoches Stephen M. King, lawyer and native Texan, representing Nacogdoches county. He is 28 years of age, and during the campaign he led his ticket in the county and is known as the "little black hawk."

Like C. E. Gilmore he was born in a log cabin on the farm, and will some day be a great man. He first opened his eyes to the light of day at Mount Enterprise, Rusk county, and his father and mother still reside on a farm near Garrison. He attended the Alexander Collegiate Institute at Jacksonville, and in 1905 he was married to Miss Maggie D. Lloyd, a bouncing baby girl has come to brighten their home.

He made quite a record for himself while a member of Company L, Seventh regiment of Infantry, United States army, during the unpleasantness with Spain. He is a democrat of the Hogg persuasion and is a platform man.

Mr. Jennings of Navasota Sam J. Jennings, merchant and farmer of Kerens, Navarro county. He is 40 years of age, and was born in Chickasaw county, Mississippi. He has been residing in Navarro county for the last twenty years. Besides being a farmer, he is interested in the National bank at Kerens, and is a business man. He wants a business-like legislature, without "hot air" and needless excuses, and would like to see lower freight rates in Texas. While he admits that the commission has charge of this part of the government, he wants to see the rates come down. He is opposed to free passes, and wants better life insurance laws, protecting home people.

29 years ago. He is a lawyer and at present is county attorney of Tyler county. His grandfather, William Hudson, came from Tennessee, and settled in Polk county in 1835. Thomas entered the University law department in 1900, and two years later located at Woodville, where he began the practice of law. He is married.

As to needed legislation, he wants to see the platform provisions carried out, and is a believer in the Hogg amendments. He represents the counties of Polk, Tyler, Hardin, Liberty and Chambers.

Jeff Strickland of Anderson Jeff Strickland, aged 23 years, and a native Texan, from Alder Branch, Anderson county, and at present a student in the State university. He announced against Alarm Clock Statesman Blount, causing the latter to withdraw. Mr. Strickland defeated his other opponent, carrying every precinct in his home box except one which was his own. This is his first public appearance, "stands" for the Hogg amendments and the blanket primary.

Mr. Orgain of Bastrop Will E. Orgain, lawyer, native Texan and 23 years of age, having been born and raised in Bastrop county, which county he will represent in the legislature. He is very popular in his home county, and is a bright young lawbreaker. He received his academic education at the Southwestern University at Georgetown, entering in 1899 and finishing in 1903. He then took three years in law at the State university, getting his degree this year. He should pay a bachelor's tax.

Mr. Jenkins of Brown C. H. Jenkins, lawyer, native Texan, aged 54 years, representing Brown and Coleman counties. He was born in Indiana, and moved to Brownwood in 1879. He is a native Texan and Texas will feel the effects of his labors in the coming legislature. He has some needed legislation in mind and it will be beneficial to his home county. He is one of the elder statesmen.

Mr. Giesen of Hays William Giesen of San Marcos, representing Hays and Comal counties. He was born in Germany 35 years ago and came to Texas in 1866, and settled in New Braunfels. In 1869 he moved to San Marcos and engaged in the mercantile business, along with the buying of cotton. He is now a cotton buyer. He was married in New Braunfels in 1870 and has raised a family of seven children. He has been twice elected mayor of San Marcos and has served in the city council for 23 years. He wants to see the state on a cash basis and in the favor of platform demands. He thinks capital and labor should be protected alike by the law.

Mr. McGregor of Harris T. H. McGregor, lawyer, aged 36 years, of Harris county. He was born in Lebanon, Texas, and was educated at Cumberland university. In 1893 he located in Springfield, Mo., and practiced law until three years ago, when he moved to Houston. While in Missouri he served four years as assistant district attorney. He is a married man and his friends say that he will make a good lawbreaker.

Mr. Gaines of Comanche E. C. Gaines, lawyer and native Texan, having been born in Comanche county, and has resided there for thirty years, which is his lifetime. He will represent that county in the next legislature. He is a married man, and is one of the most popular men in the section of the state. He told the press over there that he would leave his law alone and his people trusted him to the extent of his pocket, and he would do all he can to pass the planks in the shape of laws during the coming session.

John A. Mobley of Henderson John A. Mobley, lawyer and native Texan, having been born in Van Zandt county thirty-one years ago. He is now county attorney of Henderson county, this being his second term. He is married, and is a graduate of the law department of the state university, having finished in 1901. He thinks taxes should be equated in Texas. He is in favor of simplifying the criminal code. He is a good parliamentarian, and will likely be in the speakership contest in the thirty-first legislature.

H. B. Savage, editor of the Belton News. Was born in England in 1861. He came to America when quite young and often regrets that he did not come sooner. He began to work for himself when he was 9 years old by walking to the railroad six miles away to get the daily newspapers sold. He has been in the newspaper business ever since. He came to Texas twenty-two years ago and bought the Belton News and is not a millionaire yet. He has been in the Belton town council, and is now high in the circles with the Knights of Pythias. He is in favor of platform demands, and has some tax measures brewing.

Some words passed, and so started between Sullivan and Campbell, when Warren stepped in to assist his father-in-law. Campbell finally succeeded in getting the men from the store and shut the door. Securing a Winchester he stepped into the street and hostilities opened. The first shot from Sullivan and Warren lay dead and a negro bystander was fatally injured by a gunshot wound. Campbell had not been apprehended.

The value of the football rules thru-out the country is now beginning to be understood as the season is almost over. From almost every section of the country where the changes are thoroughly understood and the spirit of the reformation entered into, nothing but commendation is heard. Probably the most talked of and problematical play of the year is the forward pass, which is one of the most spectacular plays ever introduced into football, and when used by speedy teams like the Carlisle Indians and Princeton are reported to be, is a very valuable expedient in the repertoire of attack. In the game against Dartmouth the Princeton quarterback, Dilworth, passed the ball exactly seven times.

yards forward to an end, who continued down the field for a touchdown. The forward pass, however, is still in an experimental stage, altho being used every time there is a game. Results are varying, however, and it seems to still be left for a method of protecting the pass and not allowing an interception by the other side. Altho the forward pass is at utter variance with the traditional principles of Rugby football, the rules committee felt that something of that nature would be required to bring about the change desired in the play.

It is true that open football has often been asserted to be disastrous to the number of broken collar bones, but the results this year seem to be very satisfactory. Injuries have, of course, occurred, but the decrease in the number of victims has been almost as startling as was the list of last year's dead and wounded.

A meeting of eight or ten of the state underwriters with a number of the local fire insurance men was held in this city Saturday afternoon. Members of the insurance fraternity when asked about the meeting were very reticent and said there was merely a meeting for discussion and that nothing at all had been done except preliminary discussion of several matters. What the matters were was not given out.

Blacksmith Wounded by a Negro Employee

Special to The Telegram. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 17.—Joseph Pulitzer Jr., a son of the New York publisher, admitted today he had struck Hearst in the pit of the stomach Friday. Pulitzer said: Hearst if he believed the statements he had made during the campaign about Pulitzer Sr. were true, Hearst said he usually meant what he said. The blow was in conference. Employees of the Post-Dispatch interfered and Hearst left. Hearst denies that there was any trouble.

Special to The Telegram. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 17.—While skylarking with a negro employee, Stanley Przybylski, a blacksmith near Shredwell, Bexar county, was shot and seriously wounded this afternoon. The contents of an old army musket entered his stomach. Will Wilson, a negro, was arrested, but after explanation, was released.

Special to The Telegram. HILLSBORO, Texas, Nov. 17.—John Webb, an old resident of Aquilla, fell from a wagon and was killed Friday. P. Dias, the Mexican who fatally stabbed another Mexican at a fandango on the White ranch Oct. 23, has been indicted for murder.

Fort Worth Texas

FI. WORTH GOOD TURKEY MARKET

Season of 1906 Has Not Yet Opened

Fort Worth is one of the great turkey markets of the state and shipments of dressed turkeys from this city has become an established trade which annually runs up into the car loads.

The number of dressed turkeys shipped last season was fully 20,000, and there were several firms engaged in the business. The supplies of turkeys for this market come in from all of the adjacent counties, the some of the finest come from the northwestern part of Tarrant county and the adjoining parts of Wise and Parker counties. About six years ago the shipment of turkeys broken and frozen turkeys was initiated and the shipments that year went to about one car load. When turkeys are to be shipped any distance they are killed, so they will bleed freely, preferably by sticking them in the mouth with a long keen blade, the turkey being suspended the while by the feet. They are then dry pickled and nothing else is done in the way of preparing them for market except they are placed in vaults and frozen solid. After that they are packed in boxes, about 150 pounds weight in each, stored in refrigerating cars and sent to destination. Under ordinary conditions it will take about ten days to thaw out a well frozen turkey as they are prepared for market.

Turkeys were brought to Fort Worth freely last year. The prices were so high that most of the turkeys brought to this market were shipped out for there were times last season when turkeys retailed at 20 cents per pound, dressed. That price was the high water mark, the average being probably about 15 cents.

The turkeys which come to Fort Worth are generally well bred bronze turkeys with a wattle and are, as a rule, in fine condition as to fatness.

This season the shipping business has not commenced. There are times when the shippers have fifty or sixty persons, generally young negroes, picking the turkeys, which are killed by the expert killer. There is a sale for the dry picked turkeys, feathers, the quill feathers and the others being kept separate. There were times last year when fully twenty wagon loads of turkeys were driven up for sale at one time.

The season of 1906-07 is not yet opened, because the weather has been too warm to create a demand for turkeys, which are essentially a cold weather diet and then, additionally, they are not yet in proper condition as to fatness.

The prevailing prices for the live turkeys at this time is about 9 cents per pound and about 12 1/2 or 15c dressed, the difference in price being controlled by the condition of the fowl.

When the first successful shipments of turkeys was made from Fort Worth to San Francisco a sensation was created in the California city and the reports which came back asserted that it was impossible to supply the demand. There was a clamoring crowd around the cars, on the side tracks, and as soon as the turkeys were broken up they sold as fast as they could be delivered, retail, at prices which in instances ran up as high as $5 per pound. This price included the weighing, the heading, the feet and the entrails, for none of those were removed before sale to the consumers. Sales as low as 25c per pound were rare, the average being about 30c, which there was but little change during the season.

The turkeys, treated as they are in Fort Worth, arrive in perfect condition, and as the turkey is great north as well as on the Pacific coast, there is no danger of an excess of turkeys being offered the Fort Worth market.

Last spring was not a good one for turkey raising, for it was too wet and that is always detrimental, for the young turkey is one of the fool birds of the feathered creation. It will get in the rain and stand there until it drowns.

But there will be plenty of turkeys here for the Thanksgiving demands, and probably at prices which will warrant all to have a specimen of the national bird on his table for the national holiday of Thanksgiving.

Catarrh of the Stomach

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effective Cure for It

COSTS NOTHING TO TRY

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headache, loss of appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition. The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanson, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Aseptin Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected meal in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found fresh appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, Catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals. Send your name and address today for a free trial package and see for yourself. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 55 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

There's a Reason Buy Men's Clothes at a Mens Store

WHAT man likes to say "I bought this suit at a dry goods store." That's a fact. This is an age of specialists in business as well as in professions. As the case demands we select a corporation lawyer or a criminal lawyer. So it is with physical ills, we seek the eye and ear specialist or the lung specialist.

We Are Clothing Specialists

For a quarter of a Century we have concentrated our efforts upon Men's Wear and have become masters of that sole subject. For that reason we honestly believe we are in a position to serve you BETTER. Our great success would argue the truth of that statement and we solicit the opportunity to prove the same to you.

MANY OFFICERS ARE OUT OF JOBS

County Officials Were Sworn in Saturday

There is a complete change of the county administration, the new officers elected at the general election Nov. 6 taking charge and the old officers not elected going out. There were no fireworks on the occasion of the change of administrations, everything being regular and on the quiet, but there was a curious crowd present expecting, probably, a little something out of the ordinary, but it did not develop.

In the early morning County Judge-elect John L. Terrell took charge of his office and a little later R. E. Bratton was installed as justice of the peace as a successor to Charles T. Rowland; and a little later Bob Davis took charge of the county collector's office, and buckled down to business. It was 4 p. m. before Tom Wood, the new sheriff, showed up to take charge of the sheriff's office. John T. Honea and his crowd of has-beens were on hand to deliver the goods, but Wood was late in showing up. When he did come he grouped his deputies in the county clerk's office, where they were sworn in and given their permission to carry a six-shooter by County Clerk R. L. Rogers, and that was about his last official act.

The new sheriff was then taken in charge by the old sheriff, John T. Honea, and escorted to the sheriff's office, where he was given the right of way for two years with the possibility of four. In surrendering his paraphernalia of office and all there was in it to Sheriff Wood, Mr. Honea said: "Mr. Wood, I step out and you step in, and when you assume the duties of an office I have held for four years you take with you my best wishes. Should the time ever come when you need assistance from anyone you can always rely on John T. Honea. I will always give you my moral support on all occasions."

"I know you will, John," said the new sheriff, "for you have always done the square thing by me." And that ended the incident.

SEVEN FINE HORSES

The Wells-Fargo Express Company Has Fine Stable

Agents of the Wells-Fargo Express Company have recently brought to Fort Worth from Kansas for use in delivery seven horses above the average in size, appearance and the ability to do the work. They are crosses of the German coach and Percheron horses or German coach and Clydesdale horses. One of the number put to work hauling one of the wagons this week weighs nearly 1,700 pounds. Four of the horses were added to the stable the Fargo has here and three were shipped to other places for the company's use.

The Wells-Fargo has twenty fine horses in the stables at Fort Worth, but the recent additions are above the others in size, fitness and value for express wagon purposes.

GAME THANKSGIVING

Teams Meet for Benefit of Y. M. C. A. Building

Arrangements for the football game which will be played at Haines park on Thanksgiving day for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. building fund, are being completed and it is almost certain that the game will be played. The proceeds will be used for the furnishing of the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. building, which will be opened shortly after Thanksgiving. The game will be played between teams from Fort Worth and Dallas.

The Fort Worth Y. M. C. A. having no football team this year, some friends of the work have made up a team from among the Elk team of last year and elsewhere and will play a picked team from Dallas. The Fort Worth team is practicing every night and is expected to give a good account of itself on Thanksgiving day. Considerable interest is being shown by the people of the city and Secretary Evans has been and also the modus operandi of the national body.

MEET NEXT THURSDAY

Local Carpenters to Vote on Officers and Amendments to Constitution

The local union of carpenters will hold a special business meeting next Thursday night to give a good account of the purpose of voting on amendments to the general constitution recently introduced at the convention at Niagara Falls, and also to vote on the new national officers nominated at the same convention. In addition to the special business the regular routine work will be attended to.

INVITATION WAS LATE

Secretary to the Secretary Says He is Sorry

Word was received Saturday by President J. N. Winters of the Roosevelt Republican Club from the private secretary of Secretary of War Taft, stating that the invitation of the club which was extended to Secretary Taft arrived in Washington after the secretary had left. His secretary thanked the club in Secretary Taft's name and said that it would be impossible for Mr. Taft to stop in Fort Worth, although the message was received Secretary Taft had been in the city for an hour and gone again.

CHRISTMAS STAMPS

Local Office Receives a Large Shipment

A single shipment of over a million stamps was received at the Fort Worth postoffice Friday afternoon, in answer to an order in anticipation of the annual Christmas rush. In the shipment were 698,000 two-cent stamps, 300,000 one-cent stamps, 5,000 one-cent due stamps and 10,000 two-cent due stamps, a total of 1,013,000 stamps in the package. The total value of the stamps received was $17,210. Stamps in bulk like this lot come in one package in sheets of 100 stamps each. Even tho the number to count is thus reduced there were still 10,130 sheets to account for.

ICE MEN COMING HERE THIS WEEK

"Polite" Vaudeville at the Imperial Hall

The meeting of the Ice Manufacturers' Association, which will begin in this city Tuesday, will be largely attended and George Diehl, who has had so much of the burden of preparation for the event on his shoulders, is confident that with favorable weather the attendance will be a couple of hundred or more. Many of the delegates will be accompanied by ladies, and for the latter there will be a special reception at Hotel Worth from 3:30 to 6 p. m. Tuesday.

Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock and the business will be considered from then on until the afternoon recess. The meetings of the ice men will be held at imperial hall, Main and Sixth streets. Tuesday evening there will be an amusement session for the ice men and their ladies, who will be entertained at Imperial hall, and the committee of arrangements say that there will be that which will please all tastes. The refreshments will be served by C. E. Evans of the Delaware.

MEETING OF T. P. A.

Members Did Not Discuss Two Cent Rate

Post "J" of the T. P. A. held its regular meeting Saturday evening in the Board of Trade rooms, which was attended by but few of the members. The business was merely routine. It was expected that the matter of the application for a 2 cent a mile increase on the railways would be discussed, but that subject was not even broached.

The trouble with the man who holds the key to the situation is that he can't always find the keyhole.

BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION

Lady of Fifty Looks Like Sixteen

A Nashville lady found a way to beautify her complexion without use of drugs or face creams. "Before I began the use of Grape-Nuts," she writes, "I was convinced I could not live long. I was sick all the time; heart trouble, kidneys seriously affected, eyesight bad, sense of smell was gone and hearing very poor. "My family thought I had dropsy and could not get well, and only ate Grape-Nuts because I slept better afterwards. I did not dream I could be entirely cured, had quit all treatment and given up hope. "After spending a large sum of money and being under the best physicians for three years without relief, I commenced eating Grape-Nuts food three times a day, and now I am sound as a dollar, am in perfect health, fifty years old and my complexion is better than some girls at sixteen. "I cannot find words to express my thanks to the Postum Co. I have told hundreds of people what cured me. It was simple food that I could digest. "There's a reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. It sometimes amazes people what damage has been done by improper eating, not knowing any better way, a change to Grape-Nuts soon tells the story. GRADE CROSSING FATAL

Three Accidents in Thirty Days at Weatherford
Special to The Telegram.
WEATHERFORD, Texas, Nov. 17.—The bodies of John H. Clower, his wife and infant boy, victims of the grade crossing accident Thursday, were laid to rest in the city cemetery here Friday. The dead woman's father and brother arrived this morning from Grand Saline to be present at the funeral.
The crossing at which this accident happened has been considered a point of great danger, and the city council has urged the railway company to place a flagman there without avail. This is the third accident which has occurred at this point in the past thirty days. On one of these occasions a horse was killed outright, and the driver painfully, the not seriously hurt. On the other occasion a buggy was knocked off the track and badly damaged, the occupants escaping without injury.
It is learned here that the railway company officials have at last decided to employ a flagman for this crossing.

COTTON GIVEN BATH

Blaze Probably Caused By Passing Engine
Special to The Telegram.
WACO, Texas, Nov. 17.—Nearly 100 bales of cotton were given a bath in the Brazos river late yesterday afternoon, to put out the fire which was eating inward. The cotton caught fire while on a car of the Katy railroad, and with the high wind-burst rapidly. Realizing that it was useless to fight the blaze the car was quickly run to the Brazos and the cotton dumped in. It was insured. The blaze probably originated from a passing engine.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 17.—One resident and one locating party of surveyors, working under the general direction of Fred A. Jones, consulting engineer, and George A. Duren, assistant; twenty teams and thirty-five men, working under the general supervision of D. M. Pictou, manager of the contracting firm of Suderman & Dodson, comprise the working force now engaged in the construction of the interurban road between Dallas and Sherman.
"The permanent line of the interurban has been established as far as Howe and about half of the line between Sherman and Howe has been cross sectioned," stated Fred A. Jones yesterday. "The work is progressing rapidly and the road will be hurried to completion."

TEN SECTIONS BURN

Destructive Prairie Fire Reported from Albany
Special to The Telegram.
ALBANY, Texas, Nov. 17.—Quite a destructive fire broke out in the W. J. Cook pasture, on the Albany and Haskell road, Thursday evening, and burned about ten sections of Mr. Cook's pasture. A large number of people went out from Albany to fight the fire, and pasture men from all over the grass in finer in this county than for many years, and very dry at this time, hence it is almost impossible to stop a fire with the usual means adopted in such cases, when the wind is blowing very hard.
There are lots of good points about a man that we never suspect till we read his obituary.

NEWS, REVIEW AND COMMENT OF THE NEW BOOKS AND MAGAZINES

THE IMPERSONATOR

"The Impersonator" by Mary Inlay Taylor, author of "My Lady Clancarty" is one of the latest of Little, Brown & Co. In this book we have a society novel with a share of complication that holds the interest until the very end, that is, after one gets thru with the first seventy-five pages.

As the name indicates, the story deals with the impersonation of May Hadding, a Paris art student, by her friend and chum, Mary Lang. May Hadding is invited by her rich aunt in Washington to spend three months with her, but having no desire to go, persuades Mary Lang to go in her stead.

Mary is the daughter of an actress who died when she was young and does not know her father. Her supposed aunt, while rich, is stingy in regard to others and hence Mary cannot send the money May Hadding expects and demands.

While in Washington there are several characters who suspect her identity and it is the greatest interest in the book. The catastrophe comes when the real niece arrives and the aunt turns both out of doors. Mary has but one friend left and two days later she is called to the deathbed of Count Postecarova, an ambassador to Washington, who reveals his identity as her father and leaves her his title and a fortune. Then society, which had scorned her for two days, takes her back, she accepts her suit and all ends happily except for the scheming May Hadding, who does not get what she wants.

"The Impersonator" is decidedly clever in its plot, but as in most society novels there is very little depth. The plot is just complex enough to arouse an interest such as one finds in "Gratitude" and other books of George Barr McCutcheon.

Interest begins with simple comedy and almost comes to tragedy, but turns again into comedy as event after event follows. Characters are distinctly drawn, so distinctly that impressions are formed by other characters upon the first introduction.

This book is published at $1.50 by Little, Brown & Co., 254 Washington street, Boston.

BOOKS

Lilian Bell's Bachelors

Lilian Bell has just issued under the title "Why Men Remain Bachelors" a new book in her crisp and popular style (John Lane Co., The Bodley Head, New York). Among the other topics discussed by the author in this book, which, by the way, is dedicated to Dorothy Dix, are "The Luxury of Being Single," "Wanted a Career," "On the Joys of Self Pity," etc. Speaking of bachelors the author says: "If a man says to his wife, 'By the way, I met Grover today,' and then goes on smoking for a few moments before adding, 'Do you know, I believe old Grover would rather like to marry' his wife immediately thinks that her sister would not be a bad thing for him at all, even before she had time to answer her husband's remark. Whereas, had he said, 'I met old Grover today and asked him out for a walk, and he is crazy about golf and I want him to try our links!' she mentally invited two girls for the same time and decided that Grover would do nicely for either of them."

A Follower of Stevenson

The first sentence in Dr. Abbott's introduction to his "The Rambles of an Idler" might be employed as the text around which he has written his charming essays: "Speak the word idleness as harshly as you may, and it falls softly on the ear. Whipler work in your most serious tones, and still it is harsh." "The Rambles of an Idler" is a book of essays of a kind which are always welcome, because they exhibit a fine literary gift, coupled with habits of mildness and refinement. It needs a personal perusal of the book in hand to obtain an idea of its excellence. The seven papers on "Interpretative," "Patience," "Meditations," "Candor," "The Excellence of Misfortune," "Under the Oaks and Elsewhere," etc., might have been written by a fine hand as that of Robert Louis Stevenson.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A New Volume of Classics

Those who love the old story of flaming Troy, the clashing arms and sinking ships, of the royal widow of Carthage, so fair, so fond, and so unhappy, and of the man whom Fate drove from the Latin text of Vergil, both of which, the Latin text facing the English version, are included in the two volumes, just added to the Temple Greek and Latin Classics, which G. P. Putnam's Sons have recently published. Mr. Taylor's translation is an achievement to be proud of, conveying as it does a true sense of the grave and stately beauty of its great original. It is in Spenserian stanzas that move more slowly, and, so to say, ponderously than the golden verses of the Faerie Queene, yet move majestically and to a sonorous music of their own.

These Temple Greek and Latin Classics, containing in the case of each about the text and translation, face to face, are extraordinary books, and works of high praise are no more than due. Costing but $1, they combine comely binding, good paper, an excellent press work, with scrupulously scholarly editing.

Children's Books

The new juveniles announced by J. B. Lippincott Co. include the fairy stories "Bluebell and the Sleepy King," by Aubrey Hopwood and Seymour Hicks, and "Legend from Fairland," by Holme Lee; the boys' stories "The Boys of Briery Grange," by Fred Whishaw, "Tention!" by George Manville Fen, and "Foray and Fight," and "Jack Haydon's Quest," by John Finmore; the girls' stories "Dora: A High School Girl," by May Baldwin, "The Record Term," by Raymond Jacobs, and "The Hill-Top Girl," by Laura T. Knicker; and the book on outdoor games "The Book of Sports and Pastimes," by J. K. Benson. The same firm announces two interesting and instructive books of animal life for children by Douglas English, entitled "Wee Timorous Beesties" and "Beasties Courageous," each with more than a hundred illustrations from photographs.

A Sojourner in Yesterday

Did you love Yesterday so well That when at length its twilight came, You made your bed some grassy dell, Nor answered when you heard your name Your fellow-travelers called at day, Departing on their newer way? You did not choose to hear their call, But lingered on the road, and while the while faint and fainter their footfall Returned that day—and answered not, But tarried still; and still you stay, A sojourner in Yesterday.

Was Yesterday so fair to you, Or did you weary of the quest— The endless quest we still pursue? Oh, weary you weary—would you rest, For pilgrims, travel-worn and gray From dusty roads of Yesterday?—December Smart Set.

THE KEY

BY ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1906, by American-Journal-Examiner.

ALL that I craved belonged to me, God held the gifts and I the key.

He held them waiting my command, And yet I would not understand.

In petulance and discontent, Full many a wasted year was spent.

I cried, "How cruel is the fate That makes we work, and weep, and wait.

For things which make life worth living, Nor rob the Giver in the giving!

A little joy, a little wealth, Result for toil, abundant health;

A chance to do, a chance to be,"— And then I looked and saw the KEY!

Right in my heart I carried it, Divinely fashioned, formed to fit

The lock of God's great reservoir, Which holds the things I hungered for.

The key was LOVE; pure gold, acruet With glittering gems of faith and trust.

It fits all doors, it turns all locks, It leads the way thro' walls and rocks;

It lifts the bolt, unbars the gate, And shows us where life's treasures wait.

Oh, are there heights thy feet would press? Try LOVE, the key to all success.

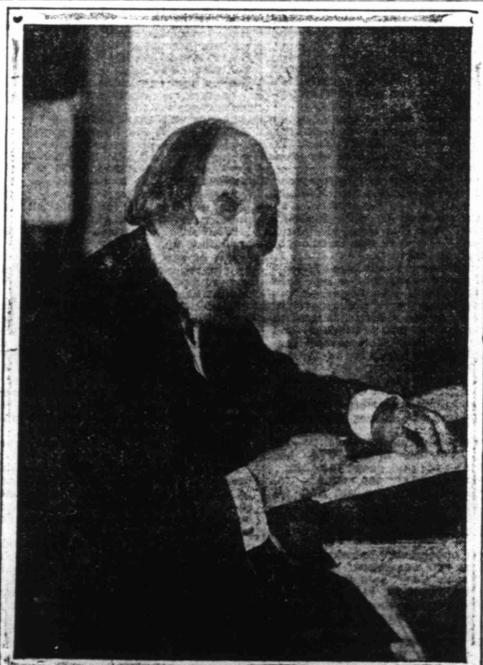

Child Labor Reform A Mother's Fight

(BY EDWARD EVERETT HALE.)

Dr. Edward Everett Hale, distinguished patriot, chaplain of the United States senate, America's grand old man has become active in the warfare now being waged against the evils of child labor. In a ringing appeal to mothers of the country, published in the Anti-Child Slavery League's official organ, the Woman's Home Companion for October, he says: "Looking with a wide range over this dear America of ours, I think the best and the happiest life for any boy is the wide range, open air life of the country, where he and his father and his mother are all united in plan, and in fact, in the daily life of home. In what I might almost call this natural system—the system which the American people have worked out for themselves wherever they were not closely cemented together, four points of the first importance in education are insured. First of all the boys and girls have the advantage of a great deal of life in the open air. This is essential to all good education. Second, boys and girls under this system have a great deal of intercourse with their fathers and mothers. This is very desirable in all education, and a failure here is a very serious failure. Third, the children of the neighborhood are brought together in their schools and, indeed, in all their active life. This is essential also, for together is one of the central words of real life. Many a fine man or woman is lost to the world because of shyness and other forms of inability which were really cultivated in youth. On the other hand, joy in society is natural to the human race, which for the purposes of such society has tongue and lips and ears. And, to add one more necessity in education, this system gives the great chance for health. Not to go farther, where we have so little space, a large life and constantly enlarging, a social life and a strong and happy life are well insured in such a system. Let us compare this with what is now almost a system; which takes possession of that sixth part of the children which have been alluded to. Suppose a little girl of 8 years old is taken into a shirt factory, where she is to spend ten hours a day, or perhaps eleven or twelve. Sunday is the only day, you might say, when she can look up at the sky or look round on God's world. It is the only day in which for any purpose worth considering she can run and play and exercise the hands and feet and arms and legs with which she was born. The chances are against her in the matter of using her tongue or her ears. The rule of the workshop probably forbid her talking or listening except to the instructions for the day's work. And it is hardly an even chance whether she knows her father and mother and her big brothers and sisters by sight. Anything which you and I would call home is gone. Or take the boy of 8 or 10 or 12 years, who is set to work in the factory. There are a great many days in the year when he must be up and report at the mill before daylight. Suppose no law forbids child labor; that mill may run twelve or more hours out of the twenty-four. Now look in your almanac and see how many days there are when there are not ten hours between sunrise and sunset. All those days the little fellow goes in the dark and comes back in the dark to the mill. He must be in the mill as soon as the power is turned on. If he is not there he loses the day's wages and he loses the day's wages, very likely, I cannot say precisely what he will do in the mill. Perhaps his business is to "carry waste." That is, he is to sweep up the waste from the cotton which has refused to be spun, to fill great baskets on wheels with it, and wheel those baskets from room to room till he comes to the dumping room. There he empties the baskets, and then he goes back to the place he started from. He does this for ten hours of the day, or for eleven hours or for twelve hours, as may be directed by the laws of the state in which he lives. If you want to see how such mill children look when they are at their work or after it, find the Woman's Home Companion and examine the pictures which we have printed for you there. Now, compare this girl in the shirt room, or the boy and girl in the factory, with your own boy and girl of any age between 7 and 15. In the first place, neither in the shirt room or in the factory has the boy or girl any chance for life in the open air. If their fathers or mothers mean to have them work in the mill or in the shop, they live as near the mill or the shop as they can. True, the mill is not a prison, but for the work hours it is very nearly a prison. The children cannot talk to each other, they cannot look out of the windows, they cannot stop while the machinery is working. This means that they have not the fun and joy which children ought to have in the beautiful world which the good God has made for them. Of this imprisonment you must let me speak very seriously, for it means something which ought to come very close to the hearts of every father and mother who reads these lines. It is not true that Nahum is any nearer to God when he takes down the bars to let the cattle into the pasture, or when he puts them up again, or when he climbs a tree to see if the wild cherries are ripe, or when he throws a stone

Dr. Edward Everett Hale, Chaplain of the United States Senate, who makes a stirring appeal in the Woman's Home Companion for a mother's fight against Child Labor

A New American Humorist

The work of Ellis Parker Butler as a humorous short story writer began first to attract attention when he wrote a typewriter story several years ago. Since then his quality has steadily improved and his recent effort "Pigs is Pigs" has been declared one of the funniest short stories ever written for an American magazine. Recently a volume of Butler's stories each complete in itself, but all connected, has been issued by Herbert B. Turner & Co. of Boston, under the title, "Perkins of Portland." Following are a few of the extracts, which show the delicious freshness of Butler's style:

Perkins Getting Next to a Thing "Get next to a thing, study it, learn to love it, then you will know how to boom it. Take Murdock's Soap. Perkins of Portland boomed it. He bought a cake. Used it. Used it on his hands, on his face, on his feet. Bought another cake—washed his cotton socks, washed his silk tie, washed his woolen underwear. Bought another cake—shaved with it, shampooed with it, ate it. Yes, sir, ate it. Pure soap—no adulteration. No taste of rosin, cottonseed—no taste of anything but soap, and lots of that. Spat out lather for a month! Every time I sneezed I blew a big soap-bubble—perspired little soap bubbles. Took soap for a year! Result? Greatest ad of the nineteenth century. Murdock's Soap is pure soap. If you don't believe it, bite it. Picture of negro biting a cake of soap on every bill board in U. S. A. Live niggers in all grocery windows biting cakes of Murdock's Soap. Result? Five hundred thousand copies of Murdock's sold the first year. I use no other."

Perkins on Poetry "I don't know a poem from a hymn into the chestnut tree to make the burs fall. He is no nearer to God than Hosea is, who is for ten hours of that same day wheeling cotton bales in the mill. But Nahum sees God a hundred times, and hears what he has to say a hundred times, while he drives the cows to pasture and takes down the bars and climbs the cherry tree or breaks open the chestnut burs, for once when for poor Micah in the midst of the clatter and dust and smell of the factory sees a pair of children. What you and I can do about it is this: We can recollect that what we were when we were 8 and 9 and 10 and 12 years old. We can ask ourselves whether it would have been a good thing for us to be shut up in the factory or a sewing room 206 days every year at that time of life. Every one of us knows that it would have been a bad thing. First—These are the growing years of life. You and I, we perhaps we were four inches taller every year than we were the year before. We did not earn any wages—no! But we were growing up strong and well because we could try ourselves in all sorts of life. We had good exercise. We had as much to eat of what was good for us to eat and we were happy. Second—We recollect again that we were a great deal with our fathers and mothers and brothers and sisters. We knew what the word home was, and that home is the dearest place in this world. Third—We do not talk about it a great deal, for it is too sacred a thing to be lightly talked about, but some of us, perhaps all of us, found out that God is our loving father; that he is very near to us and we are very near to him. We would not lose the memories and the help of what he has told us and we have told him for anything which you can offer us. Fourth—Most of us came out, when we were 16 years old, strong and well, ready to take part with the best men and women in the world, in the very best work of the world. I think myself that that would be a wise nation or a wise state which should make such laws that people shall not make money out of their children before they are 16 years old. I think it would be a good thing to devote those sixteen years wholly to the education of the children, to making them better men and women. Let boy and girl help in the home. The more work they do there the better. But let them be the companions of fathers or mothers as much as possible until they are 16. But here is one of the cases where I cannot say my own way. The custom is so general which permits fathers and mothers to "hire out" their children as the phrase is, that children shall not earn wages before they are sixteen. What can we do? We can say that they shall not be confined in factories

Perkins and Sin "An advertisement, like sin, does not end with the day, but goes on and down the mighty corridors of time. I'll take it for as good as anything in the verse line that Longfellow wrote."

Perkins' Rheumatic Specialty "Rheumatism is prevalent. It's most prevalent disease on the globe. The rich must have it; the poorest afford it; the young and the old are equally roll in it! Why man, rheumatism was made specially for O-n-o-n-o-forth water. There's millions and millions of cases of rheumatism, and down the oceans and oceans of Perkins' World famous O-n-o-n-o-forth water. Great? What will rheumatism? Nothing! What will no-to-so-on water cure? Nothing! There you are! The fit each one like a foot in a shoe. But it's partial. If you can think of a better disease, we'll cure it. Anything!"

Perkins on Advertising "Give me a good ad, and I'll sell you bullets for liver pills. Display 'Perkins' Bullets Kill the Disease' in all the magazines, and in a year every person with or without a liver would be in the town in which she lives. Paint it on 10,000 barns, and the inhabitants of these glorious states would be plugged up like Mark Twain's frog."

Perkins on Legislation "I do not think that there is one woman out of a million women who will read about the progress of child labor reform in Woman's Home Companion who does not know how she can act, whether on some particular workshop in the town in which she lives, or by giving information in some club or circle to which she belongs, or in circulating thru the press such information. The Woman's Home Companion will give her—by direct conversation or correspondence with some member of the legislature. This country is governed, and ought to be governed, by public opinion. And you and I, dear reader, must do our share to keep the public opinion good and just."

A Spool of Wire Speaks "Would you believe it if some one said to you: 'I have an attachment to my telephone that will repeat for me at my convenience, and as many times as I may desire, any message sent over the wire in my absence?' 'No,' you would politely answer: 'Is that so?' and set the speaker down as a pretentious inventor. Mr. F. Stearns, in a clear and convincing article, entitled 'A Spool of Wire Speaks,' published in the Technical World Magazine for December, vouches for the truth of the above statement. The telegraph is the name of this mechanical marvel. It is the invention of Poulsen, a Danish scientist. It is more wonderful in its operations than is even Edison's phonograph; for it does a startling variety of things. Should you telephone a man in his absence, a little bell will answer that connection has been made with the telephone at the other end. If at any time during this one-sided conversation, you should desire to recall any statement, you merely reverse the instrument, run it back to where the error occurred, and start again. This process destroys the first record. Many other equally startling facts concerning this latest scientific discovery are recorded by Mr. Stearns in his absorbing article."

THE DAYLIGHT STORE Seventh and Houston G. Y. SMITH, PROPRIETOR

DEAL IN RATTLESNAKES Reggie Marsten was a wonder. All his friends said so to one another, and the most surprising part was that none of them was able to explain just wherein Reggie was so wonderful, altho they felt more comfortable in the assertion after his little flyer in Rattlesnake shares. Now one cannot do a great deal on $1,000 a year--that is, if one has extravagant tastes, and Reggie had them. This was the reason he dabbed occasionally on Wall street, so comfortable in his recent engagement to Aline Vanderstucken made him more careful. "I've got to make a fortune," he mused, "and then I can find an idea, and an hour found him face to face with Reggie. "SOLD this far he was able to crowd within the sacred pale of society. People remembered she had been a footlight favorite, Reggie knew of these rebuffs, and aptly proceeded to level this weapon at the financier, at the same time professing his determination to buy heavily of Rattlesnake shares. In a nut shell, Reggie would get the Wainwrights into society, and in turn the financier would boost Rattlesnake, and Reggie would soar accordingly. "Then he went to tell Aline. "You see," he explained, "Rattlesnake makes go up and we make a lot of money." "But suppose they go down?" she said, wrinkling her nose. "But Reggie only laughed. "As a few weeks went on, people began to hear more of the Wainwrights, and their names appeared now and then in the papers, hers always coupled with that of Mr. Reginald Marsten. Aline disapproved of this, but then Reggie was trying so hard, and it was all for her. Rumors came to her, however, that Marsten was more uneasy. Mrs. Wainwright was an alluring woman still, and Reggie was ever wont to be a heart-breaker. Then the crash came. Rattlesnake had been going up a little, but very little, and one evening, after it had fallen again to the exact figure at which Reggie had bought, Aline was sitting at Sherry's with a party of friends when a couple entered and seated themselves near her. It was Reggie and Mrs. Wainwright, and she felt herself flush angrily. She spoke to him icily, and addressed herself to her private party. A half hour of this made her most uncomfortable, when suddenly the door opened and Wainwright came in, his face pale with rage. "Trouble! Trouble!" said the man next her, warningly. They could distinctly hear every word of Wainwright's, as he approached the table near them. "I will not make a scene," he said grimly. "Ethel, you will come home with me. As for you, sir," turning to Reggie, "never enter my house again." The next morning the man brought her Reggie's card, and after three insistent messages she received him coolly, frigidly, as becomes young women who have seen too much. Beside her lay a paper, telling in huge letters of the frightful slump in Rattlesnakes. "You've seen it?" said Reggie, blithely. "I saw you last night," she said. "It's all over."

Authors Should Date Their Work This is an open letter to authors and editors, calling their attention to a crying need and asking them to remedy an unsatisfactory condition. It is not addressed to all authors, but only to those who may hereafter gather into volumes articles and tales from the magazines. It is not addressed to all editors, but only to those who are responsible for the publication of collection of essays, of stories and of poems. It is a request that these contributions to periodical literature shall each of them be dated with the year of writing. When this gentle reader takes up a volume of essays recently issued and finds a reference to "the last century," he would like to be able to turn to the date of the particular essay containing this reference to discover whether it was originally written before or after the last day of December, 1906. When he is reading Matthew Arnold's discussion of Celtic influences he would like to know whether this article was written before or after Renan's discussion of the same subject. But Matthew Arnold did not date his articles nor did Renan. The latter's "Essais de Morale et de Critique" is now in its fifth edition; and only by a correction here and there in a foot-note can we guess that the first edition was published before 1860. Even more important is it that every separate contribution should be dated in any scholarly edition of a classic, ancient or modern. When we are reading the works of any one of the New England poets, for example, it is interesting to see at once that a certain lyric was written before the civil war or afterwards. In an edition of some "The Pit and the Pendulum" has a certain importance, if we happen also to be familiar with "The Iron Shroud" of William Mudford; and which was written first, "The Cask of Amontillado" or the "Grande-Bretagne" of Balzac, it may be noted, often dated his novels as M. Paul Bourget is now careful to do. It is satisfactory to find the date of the end of every one of Merimee's ironic tales; and it would be pleasant to find at the end of the "Paris Sketch-Book" and the "Irish Sketch-Book" the year when they were written--From "The Point of View," in the November Scribner.

OUR LAY SERMON

The saying, "I am 70 years young," is attributed to Oliver Wendell Holmes, and any who are at all familiar with the reading of front personal observation, with the characteristics of the general "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" will at once understand its meaning. Of a sunny nature and a happy, joyous temperament, he sang his way thru life, and was as young in his interests and his outlook upon life at the time of his death at 75 years of age as he was at his teens. His was life's best philosophy, the philosophy of the smile and the song.

An instance is recalled of a woman with whom a sunny nature was not a temperamental gift. Passing thru a sorrowful experience and facing a future that looked gloomy and unpromising, she at last determined that her mental attitude should be that which the poet has described in the words, "Meet the unseen with a song." And thus, regardless of her inward feeling of outward circumstances, she let no morning pass that she did not greet with happy, joyous song. Day by day her outlook grew brighter, while life began to take on new cheer. As the years rolled on, instead of heavy lines and marks of discontent coming in her face, there came those of genuine joyousness, while in her heart there was a perpetual spring of content.

The old saw, "A laugh is worth a hundred groans in any market," is the statement of a most profound truth. "Laugh and the world laughs with you, Weep and you weep alone. So run the lines of the old poem, also freighted with the same great truth—a truth having the sanction of all human experience.

To sing more and to sigh less means to find all life singing with one and the journey made more easy. It doesn't do any good to sit down and cry over spilled milk. It doesn't do any good to sigh over the days that have been. It doesn't do any good to wail over troubles and mistakes. But it does do good to remember that life's best philosophy is the philosophy of the smile and the song.—Denver News.

There are thousands of persons who annually worry themselves into the grave. There are thousands of others who wreck their lives and would be better off dead from the incessant habit of worrying over matters that in too many instances are of such trivial nature that they hardly deserve to be treated to a second thought.

"I worry over my business affairs," said a well known business man of this city to the writer a few days ago, "until I am almost incapacitated for business. I find the more I think and ponder over these little intricacies the worse the tangle becomes, and I am making a trip of about 400 miles today very largely for the purpose of gaining a clear head and getting ready to take up business cares tomorrow."

And there is no necessity for any man worrying over his business to the extent that he has to travel 400 miles on a Texas passenger train to gain a clear thinking apparatus.

When he leaves his business in the evening he should see that his business cares are placed on some convenient shelf until his return the following morning. In the sweet companionship of his wife and children he should forget that he has any business except to add to their happiness. He should shake off all the cares and vexations of the day, go home, give himself over to rest and recreation and the next morning will find him in much better shape to consider business problems than if he has spent the major portion of the night in pondering over how a certain end must be attained.

Our lives here on God's footstool are very largely what we undertake to make them. If we are seekers after sunshine we are going to find that the clouds will soon roll away. And when they roll away it is foolish to sit still and conjure up the sorrow that must come from the appearance of more clouds.

never appear in the guise of a sealer after trouble. There is trouble enough in store for every human being that will make its advent without solicitation to satisfy the most confirmed pessimist in the land. And instead of inviting trouble we should all learn to look always for happiness and contentment.

It may be true that if an earthquake was to come along we might all be swallowed up in the bowels of the earth. But there is no sense in sitting down and grieving over the remote possibility of that kind of a catastrophe.

THE TERROR OF THE RIO GRANDE

The people of the lower Rio Grande country in Texas are said to be in a condition of abject terror in consequence of the recent lawless actions of the Mexican element in that section, and it is whispered that this lawless Mexican element is being incited to its action by Republican officeholders, who are determined to hold their grip on the political situation regardless of the consequences. All along the lower Rio Grande border conditions have arisen that appear to be wholly intolerable, and a free people cannot be blamed to any great extent if they arise in their might and take what they have coming to them—the free government that is guaranteed them under the constitution and laws of our country.

The readers of The Telegram are familiar with the political outrages which began at Laredo, where the strong arm of the state had to be called into requisition for the protection of the people against organized political fraud and rascality. In Webb county it is said that more than 3,000 fraudulent poll tax receipts were issued for the purpose of enabling the Republican machine to maintain its grip upon the situation, and when the news of this flagrant abuse of the election laws of the state reached the ears of the officials at Austin and steps were taken to circumvent the conspirators, and punish them for their infraction of the law, the county court house was destroyed by fire and all the incriminating testimony went up in smoke.

Further down the Rio Grande in Starr county, it is alleged the Republican contingent armed itself and created so much terror that Democrats refrained from voting after the assassination of a district judge and indisputable evidence that personal conflict would result from any attempt to exercise the right of suffrage. The Republicans carried the election in Starr county by about 100 majority it is said, on the face of the returns, and it was feared that when the returns were canvassed and an attempt made to certify them there would be a serious clash between the opposing political factions. For this reason a small detachment of state rangers were started to Rio Grande City, the center of the disturbance, for the purpose of maintaining the peace and ferreting out the murderers of District Judge Welch, if possible.

While these rangers were en route to the scene of trouble they were ambushed by a superior body of Mexicans and a red-hot battle followed, resulting in the killing of four Mexicans and the arrest of two others. State troops had to be sent to the scene to overawe the lawless element, and the situation yet remains critical. One significant fact in connection with the outbreak of hostilities is the cry of "Death to the Gringos" which emanated from the attacking Mexicans. The term "Gringo" is an expression of contempt applied by Mexicans and Central Americans to citizens of the United States. While they claim citizenship in the United States, they show their contempt for American people and are striving to drive them out of that section.

These lawless Mexicans aver that all that portion of Texas was stolen from Mexico, and they never fail to show their hatred for Texans and white citizens generally when there is opportunity to do so with any degree of safety. It may be that the idea of these desperadoes is to make trouble ultimately between Mexico and the United States, or it may be that they are but the tools of designing politicians, as has been so freely charged. But be that as it may, political conditions in the lower Rio Grande country are extremely scandalous and the law appears to be debauched on every possible occasion. This state of affairs is breeding a contempt for the law that is sure to result in more serious complications.

There is a strong sentiment crystallizing thruout the state that the situation in the lower Rio Grande country must be dealt with in no compromising or temporizing manner, and a strong hand must deal out the justice demanded by an outraged law. There has been no love for the Mexican race in Texas since the days of Goliad and the Alamo, and these periodic outbreaks down on the Rio Grande but serve to intensify the old feeling. West Texas is aflame over the recent murder of a young white girl by a Mexican whose love she disdained, and it will not require much more to light the flame of popular resentment to such an extent that it will prove uncontrollable.

The Mexican criminal in Texas must be made to answer to the law just as is the case with all other criminals.

WORK PROGRESSING NICELY

Reports from West Texas, where the federal and state quarantine authorities are at work in an effort to overcome the fever tick in the border counties, indicate that very gratifying success is being met with. The cattlemen on the whole are lending their hearty co-operation to the plans which are being intelligently worked out.

This process of tick eradication is not an expensive one, and does not entail much physical labor. It simply means that a number of cross fences must be erected in the pastures, and thru a system of rotation, the ticks are starved out of business. When a pasture is cleaned it can be kept in that condition thru the admission within its confines of clean cattle only, and the work is kept up until gradually the entire pasture is clear of infection.

There are two facts that are operating to the advantage of this tick crusade in West Texas at this time. One is the fact that the plan adopted by the government originated right where it is now being enforced, and the other is the large losses that have occurred in West Texas this season from the depredations of the ticks. Never was there a more favorable time to enlist the co-operation of the cattlemen. It is estimated that at least $150,000 worth of cattle died in West Texas this season from the presence of these ticks, and the situation was brought home to the ranchmen in such a manner they could no longer close their eyes to the dangers involved.

Every effort is being made by the authorities to get the work well in hand. Camps have been established where the work is progressing and every detail is being carefully watched and worked out. With a continuance of the work it is believed the coming season will witness a wonderful change for the better in all the border counties, and it is expected the success attained in these experiments will be sufficient to stimulate effort in all the tick infested country. The ranchmen below the line are watching the situation with much interest, and the time is not far distant when there is going to be a general movement thruout the state looking to the eradication of the fever tick.

CAUSING HEAVY CATTLE LOSSES

There is strenuous complaint among the cattlemen who are now engaged in an effort to get their fat stuff off to market over the continued shortage of cars. A prominent ranchman of Colorado City who was here a few days ago said he drove a bunch of 500 steers from the plains, where they were on pasturage, to the Peos valley branch of the Santa Fe for shipment, and as his cars were not delivered, was forced to sell them after an annoying wait of several days at an actual loss of $3 per head. Naturally, he was quite resentful of a loss of $1,500 he was thus compelled to pocket, and the things he said concerning the railway company were not at all complimentary.

Reports from Hereford, Bovina, Canyon City and other plains shipping points indicate that the railway is more than 1,000 cars short of the supply actually needed to fill the orders that have been booked, and as the time is rapidly drawing near when shipping for this season must cease on account of bad weather and deterioration in the condition of the cattle, the situation is growing more and more acute. The railway people explain they are doing all in their power to relieve the congestion, but some how or other the cattlemen do not seem satisfied with the explanation. Some of them declare it is a common sight to witness the passage of stock cars loaded with wood, crossties and other material quite foreign to the purpose for which these cars were built, and express the opinion that the railways are not doing altogether the square thing in an effort to move the cattle.

One unfortunate feature of the situation is the large number of damage suits that are almost certain to grow out of these enforced delays. About three or four years ago similar conditions prevailed thruout the range country, and the resultant crop of damage suits has not yet been entirely harvested. The cattlemen say it is necessary to file these damage suits in order to recoup themselves from their actual losses, as well as to impress upon the railways the fact that cattle are a perishable product and have to be moved with celerity and dispatch.

There is still a great deal of fat stuff remaining in the range country to go to market, and the indications are that the movement will continue well up into the month of December. If cars could have been provided the bulk of it would now be over.

THAT REMINDS ME

An over-smart Bostonian moved to the country not long ago and purchased a farm. He was just getting settled down when a man with a book under his arm leaned over the fence and said:

"Just bought this land?" "Yes." "Very fine farm." "Yes, sir; very fine." "Must be worth around a thousand dollars?" "More than that; I paid $1,500 for it. Then there are indications of coal on it, too, which are alone worth another thousand." "You don't mean it?" "Yes, sir. And then the new branch railroad is going across one corner. I consider my farm worth $5,000." "Five thousand, eh?" "Yes, sir; I wouldn't take less. What are you putting down in that book?" "Oh, nothing much. You see I'm the tax assessor. Hope you'll stay some time. Good morning!"

MUSICAL TONE IMPROVED

An illiterate theatrical manager attended the rehearsal of one of his productions in which there was a scene indicative of the marching of a troop of soldiers. The troop was supposed to pass a window of the room in which the act was set and a band of music, heard in the distance, had to increase its volume of sound and then gradually to give a piano effect and to stop playing entirely. The band, for some reason or other, was not very successful in its efforts to create the desired illusion, and as the musicians would come to an open window their leader would shout: "Fort! fort!" as though he were saying "Forty." "Not at all like it," the manager declared. "Let me show you."

The musicians again began the march, and, as they reached the center of the stage the manager shouted: "Forty! forty!" Then he continued, as he sought to indicate piano effects: "Thirty! thirty! Now, twenty! twenty!"

THE FLIGHT OF TIME

Two darkies swapped mules. One of them was an old hand at the business, and in making the trade he represented his mule to be 7 years old.

This was in February. A few months later the other darky began to realize he had been swindled, and that the beast was fully 12 years old. So he went back to tell the swindler he had lied to him about the animal's age.

"You say," said the other fellow, "dat when you got de mule in February, he was 7 years old, and now it's June and he's 12 years old?" "Yes I do," was the angry response. "Well, sah, time sure do fly."

NO CHOICE

A bereaved farmer was visited by another farmer's wife in the first stages of his grief.

"Dan'l," said she, "so poor Mary's gone! Was she willin' to go?" The old man, noted for his literalness, returned: "Well, I don't know how willin' she was to go, but I do know she was obliged to."

FROM DIANA'S DIARY or, How Lovelorn Diana Dillpickles Found Romantic Stock Star to Citrus

IT WAS MY HERO, TREMAYNE MARLBROW, AND ALREADY MARRIED. STUNG again, and oh, what a blow! Have you ever built an idol in your heart and then seen that idol suddenly dashed to the ground and put into a thousand pieces like a tea cup dropped in a quick lunch? Well, that's Tremayne Marblebrow, the shine matinee star with the Glyceric Stock Company. This evening on my way home from work at Taffeta & Balbriggan's I had occasion to go for my ma and get a kimono which was being made by some dressmaker in a cheap furnished-rooms-for-light-housekeeping downtown. "Go right up stairs," says the landlady, and I done so. I followed the smell of frying onions and looked in the first open door I reached. There was a fat woman with a baby on her hip cooking something over an oil stove, and a man in negligee minding another kid and smoking a clap pipe. It was my "hero," Tremayne Marblebrow, and already married. This was his HOME! I turned and beat it away from there in a hurry, sickened at heart. (Finis.)

THE TELEGRAM AND THE TEXAS PRESS

PROTECTION OF THE BIRDS

There ought to be a just and reasonable protection extended all our Texas birds, but five years prohibition of quail shooting seems hardly reasonable. The man with the spotted pointer pup would only do his quail shooting on the sly.—Fort Worth Telegram.

There should be, as The Telegram suggests, reasonable protection extended to birds of all kinds, which can be done by a rigid enforcement of present laws, but, in this connection, it seems difficult to convince the public that quail are not entitled to extraordinary protection on the ground that they are great destroyers of boll weevil. Such is not the case, it having been amply demonstrated that quail rarely, if ever, eat boll weevil.—Houston Post.

SHOULD MAKE A HOME

There was a good editorial in the Bulletin Monday from The Fort Worth Telegram on making a home. That paper rightly urges every one to make a home. It could consistently have added that the best place to make a home is in the Brownwood country. Brownwood Bulletin.

THE PULLMAN CAR COMPANY

The Texas railway commission is getting in behind the Pullman Car Company, and notice is given of a hearing of the case on Nov. 27, which is two days before Thanksgiving day. The commission states that the Pullman company must cut its rates in Texas twenty per cent; in other words, instead of charging $2 for a lower berth, only $1.60 must be the price. The Fort Worth Telegram states that the rate should be cut to $1 and shows that the company eight years ago had a capital stock of $36,000,000, when a stock dividend of 50 per cent was declared and a distribution of 20 per cent was made. The Chicago Tribune says the company has earned $22,151,946 since August, 1898.—Cleburne Review.

BAILEY WAS ONLY INDORSED

The fact that Candidate Hearst ran considerably behind the democratic ticket in New York is pretty conclusive evidence that his nomination was a grave mistake. But the fact still remains that Hearst was the democratic nominee and as such was entitled to the full support of his party.—Fort Worth Telegram.

What about Joe Bailey in Texas? Was he not declared the nominee for United States senator by the late democratic state convention at Dallas?—Texarkana Texarkanian.

DRIFT OF POLITICS

MORAN WILL RUN AGAIN It is doubtful that even had the Democrats named a better candidate than John B. Moran, Hearst's imitator in New England, they could have defeated Curtis R. Gutt, Jr., the Republican candidate for governor. He is a tariff reformer, but ran on a "stand-pat" platform. They might have reduced his majority. Moran, not satisfied with the result of Tuesday's vote, has announced that he will be a candidate for governor next year. Massachusetts, it must be remembered, indulges in the luxury of an election for governor every year. Moran wants to get on the Presidential ticket somehow, and believes that if he could carry Massachusetts just before a Presidential election the Democrats of the country would demand that he take one of the places. Guld beat Moran by 32,041; his plurality in 1905 was 22,558. The total vote of the state was 412,060, against 391,321 in 1905.

BLAME CASTRO

"The storm," says the weather dispatcher, "has hit Venezuela." It's dollars to doughnuts President Castro had a hand in this wind, for he has been lying dormant most too long to comport with his reputation.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

One stubborn fact weighs more than a dozen theories. What's in a name? Every girl named Amy isn't amiable.

PUBLIC OPINION

AWAKENING OF THE CAPTAINS

There are many level-headed men among the manufacturers of the United States who have accumulated great fortunes thru the opportunity afforded them inside the tariff to plunder consumers in the home market. They perceive that the time has arrived when competition from within and without can no longer be successfully baffled by a resort to combination. The trusts are breaking down under the weight of publicity and moral enormity. The capacity for production in many lines of manufacture has outrun the production of goods and the plunder of consumers in a market protected against outside assault by tariff barriers. These things portend the beginning of the end of the false system of taxation, which has been used to build up favored industries at the expense of unfavored industry.—Philadelphia Record.

FRANCE TO ABOLISH DEATH PENALTY

The French cabinet has approved a measure providing for the abolition of the death penalty. At the approaching session parliament, it is understood, will enact this measure into law. Then capital punishment will cease in France. A few months ago the guillotine, the terrible instrument by which death had long been inflicted on condemned criminals, was abandoned, parliament refusing to make an appropriation for the public executioner. The advanced political elements in France have bitterly opposed the death penalty for any crime, and as M. Clemenceau, the new premier, is a statesman of the most advanced opinions, with marked leanings toward socialism, he has found no difficulty in coming into their views. There is also in France, as in the United States, a humanitarian element which objects to capital punishment on lofty, if not very practical, grounds. Their influence would not have been sufficient, however, to secure the abolition of the death penalty.—Baltimore Sun.

SOUTH LEFT OUT OF THE CABINET

The south has been practically without representation in the cabinet since Cleveland's last administration. The republican presidents have seldom found men of their party in the south whom they cared to trust with cabinet portfolios, at least very few southern republicans have been so honored. President Hayes, wishing to reconcile the south, made a Tennessee ex-Confederate, who had up to that time been a democrat, postmaster general; but republican administrations as a rule have ignored the south both in cabinet appointments and also in important diplomatic missions. When the personnel of the republican party in the south is considered it is not surprising that the President did not look to the ranks of his own party in this section for cabinet material. But one of the new men he has taken into the cabinet has not always been a republican. He was one of the bolters on the financial issue of 1896, and the President might have found an able southerner of the same description willing to take a place in his official family.—Nashville (Tenn.) Banner.

BY RAIL TO SIBERIA

With the incorporation in New Jersey of the Trans-Alaskan-Siberia Railway Company, with an authorized capital of $6,000,000, the first step toward the joining of the old and new worlds is taken, and the world in general will await with some interest the further progress of the scheme of the French, Russian and American syndicates which hope to carry the plans to a successful conclusion. The new incorporation is the result of a contract entered into by a special commission appointed by the czar of Russia and Loloq De Lobel in 1904. The main line is to start from Kamsk station on the Trans-Siberia Railway and to run easterly to the boundary of Amur province; thence to a point between Yakoutsik and Okatsik, thence to Bering strait with various branches. The main road will be about 3,750 miles long and the branch roads 2,250 miles. Alaska terminal will be at the mouth of Wales, Seward peninsula. Connection is to be made with the Bering strait. Of course, the construction will be enormous, running thru the most inhospitable regions of the world. The figures, and this $6,000,000 is a mere advance, are as follows: Capitalization.—Boston Advertiser.

HOUSEHOLD DEPARTMENT

DAILY KNITTING CHATS

BY LAURA LA RUE.

INFANT'S BATHROBE.

We shall chat today about something for a baby, a little chocoletted bathrobe. Every baby needs a bathrobe, but it is given to few to have so charming a one. The baby we have pictured delights in it, and he is no different from hundreds of others.

armholes. I never can understand what the women who are forever making baby jackets with tight, skimpy armholes can be thinking of. I think closing the bathrobe with ball tassels is a pretty idea. It is so much more sensible and serviceable than ribbon would be. The way the edges are finished is equally good. When baby wakes up from a nap or is just taken out of his bath he doesn't want to be bothered with scallops that catch on his toes. He wants a nice straight finish such as this garment has, and his mother wants it, too, for to her it means longer service and a continued good appearance.

Carl Rawdon entered. I was rejoiced to find his glance fall upon me, but suddenly his eyes met those of Miss Clive and his expression changed quickly. Barbara Clive paled slightly as she looked at him with a singular wistfulness.

When we were in our carriage that night Carl came and begged me to excuse him from attending the opera the next evening, as he meant to go over to Brooklyn on business. Consequently, I was very much angered by seeing him follow Barbara Clive to her box the following night.

Presently he and a friend, Paul Fielding, came over to chat for a little while. Carl made a strange request of me in that short while. It was that Barbara be allowed to see him at our hotel the following day at 11. This I consented to do, much as it hurt me to think that he was attracted to my friend.

For at least three weeks from that time Carl was very attentive to Barbara. Just about that time there was a small party in our rooms for dinner one evening. All but a few of them had gone when Carl came in from where he had been talking to Miss Clive. I had noticed that another man was with them shortly before that.

"Why have you left Barbara?" I said, coldly, keeping my face resolutely set in its expression.

"Because Barbara would much rather be alone," he answered.

Then she refused him! In my surprise I hardly knew what to say.

"What do you mean?" For heaven's sake, Carl, do not talk nonsense."

"I wish, Nell," he said, suddenly, in a tone that thrilled my heart. "I wish I knew what you mean. Lately I cannot understand you."

"What more do you want?" I asked.

"I have done everything I could for you and Barbara Clive. I do hope you will both be happy."

"Why, Elinor Hadley! What do you mean?" he cried excitedly. He rose, and while I put my face in my hands and began to sob, he paced the floor, in and out, in and out, as if he were thinking of something.

"I thought you knew everything. I knew Miss Clive long ago in her old home and became very much interested in her. In spite of her aunt's surveillance she was engaged to Paul Fielding. Suddenly she broke it off, I thought thru mere caprice, and I believed her thoroughly heartless, and I set out to go to see her. I never met her again until that night at the Chevylers' dinner. Now, it seems she never willingly gave Fielding up. It was all owing to a misunderstanding, and because her aunt's watchful eyes she had never found a chance to explain. This she confessed to me the evening I met her at dinner. I thought, Fielding, and arranged that they should meet next day. This I managed when she came to your hotel."

"And Fielding?" I gasped.

"Is in the other room now. They are planning to elope. And you thought I cared for her," he said, coming to me and holding out both hands. "Nell, you are the only woman who ever loved me over and over. Can you, will you give it to me?"

There was a moment's pause. Then with a wild joy in my heart I put out both hands and he took me in his arms.

Man and His Tailor It should not be overlooked that the shirt affects both the fit of the waistcoat and of the coat and that, therefore, it should be very carefully cut. Of the merits of the many devices intended to prevent the shirt bosom from bulging the wearer must judge for himself.

The correct white evening tie measures from one and a half to two and one-fourth inches, and is graduated in form. While both linen and silk are proper materials, cotton is softer, more pliant and yields a firmer, fuller knot, besides being lighter and cooler. If a silk tie be worn, it should harmonize in shade and pattern with the waistcoat. Cords, tiny detached figures, and embroidered ends all are correct, and a matter of individual preference. Lava ties have been discarded, as the fabric is too flimsy for graceful knotting. In choosing the evening tie, the shape of the collar worn must be considered. If be of the polo or stand-up type, the tie should be broad and adjusted straight across rather than pinched in the center. Contrariwise, if it be a wing-neck, the tie should be the favored by many men who cannot wear the other forms with comfort—the tie should be modified "batwing" snug of center and spreading of end.

In hats there are no radical changes, the silk hat being made of almost exactly the same block as the one of last autumn, and the derby also is practically unchanged. The New York hat, with its crown and brim, is still popular, and a half inch deep and two-inch brim. For those who prefer a soft hat there is the perennial Alpine, or "telescope" hat, and for the younger men the "fawn color." This hat will be more popular this season than ever before, and many men will wear it who do not care for the stiff derby.

For the ordinary business sack suits, single-breasted, there are three styles to choose from. Instead of the extreme length for the summer coat the autumn and winter coat is of medium and the corners slightly cut away or square at the bottom or almost square, with rounded corners.

The coat is shaped as was the fashion in the summer styles, and has two buttons. There is a tendency to cut the coat without a vent in the back.

In the double-breasted suit the length will also be reduced to the medium and in all other respects will remain the usual three-button garment in vogue during the summer. In the single-breasted suit there are two side pockets, a change pocket with flaps and an upper pocket without, while in the double-breasted coat the change pocket is not shown. With the possible exception of a two-button coat, which will not be worn to any extent, there are no extreme styles this season in the ordinary business suits.

Blobs—"How do you know you are in love with her?" "Oh, I feel like making such a fool of myself."

BE CHARITABLE to your horses as well as to yourself. You need not suffer from pains of any sort—your horses need not suffer. Try a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. It cures all pains. J. M. Roberts, Ballard, Mo., writes: "I have used your Liniment for ten years and find it to be the best I have ever used for man or beast." Sold by Covey & Martin.

A UNIVERSAL STYLE

BY ELLA K. DEARBORN. The present mode of dressing, for both men and women, has justly been severely criticized; women's clothing is restrictive of movement and not always graceful, and men's clothes are horribly awkward and inelegant.

Most people who have given the subject a serious thought admit this, but not one of the critics has suggested a better costume. It were better to go without clothing if climate permitted. But since, on the greater portion of the globe, one must from necessary wear clothing, it would be well for the human family if some costume might be devised that would be both healthful and graceful, and O happy day!—be a perpetual fashion.

The Grecian robes, while graceful (on some) would not be practical garments for either sex in the busy world of today. Fancy a man chasing a street car in a long flowing robe! Fancy a housewife in Grecian garments and you will see how impractical the ancient dress was and will understand that men's present mode of dress was an evolution from garments permitting freedom of movement, tho at a sacrifice to gracefulness.

The average woman loves the frills and ruffles, the dainty lucks and am-broideries, the luxurious frills of silken petticoats and the exquisite sheerness of the lingerie of today; she has no desire to do the ungraceful garments of men unless forced into them by labor that make clinging garments a source of danger.

When from choice or necessity a woman must do farm work she can wear a better advantage if she wears men's garments, reserving her own for dress-up occasions; most women farmers do this, but they are not un-feminine because of the change of dress.

The absence of flapping draperies, the presence of many pockets and the absolute freedom of movement are three desirable qualities to be considered in devising a new and universal garment of permanent fashion.

These three good qualities are combined in men's clothing, but these are so lacking in grace that few would want them to become the universal garment.

There is but little difference in the garments of Chinese men and women and, with the exception of their shoes, all wear very sensible clothing, and to unprejudiced eyes a Chinaman's costume is more graceful and much more elegant than the dress of an American. Their clothing is loose, comfortable and healthful.

Some one with a dry goods mind might hit upon a happy combination of Oriental-Occidental style and produce a perfect universal garment of perpetual fashion.

Cowper says: "We sacrifice to dress till household joys and comforts cease. Dress drains our cell and keeps our larder lean; puts out our fires and introduces hunger, frost and woe, where peace and hospitality might reign."

Timely Suggestions

Abrupt and unexpected changes in the weather are very apt to follow an Indian summer day.

At such a season of the year it is vitally important that the body be given proper protection—especially is thus true in the matter of underwear.

Heavy outside clothing is of practically no avail if the clothing next to the skin—if the underwear is not of the proper kind.

The rules of health demand at this season of the year, that the skin, in addition to being thoroughly protected, should also be allowed to breathe freely; thus keeping the body heat at a uniform temperature.

To combine these two most important features an underwear must be selected which is made of a material at once warm and absorbent.

Mentor Comfort Underwear

Is such a one, and to the famous Mentor material is due widespread reputation for healthfulness, combined with comfort. We are showing Mentor Comfort Underwear in Union and Two-piece Suits for the whole family. Remember, a word of advice in time is worth much useless advice when it's too late—now is the time to buy Mentor Comfort Underwear. It's priced no higher than the ordinary kind, though far superior in quality.

CHICAGO TO NEW YORK IN TEN HOURS

PROPOSED ROUTE OF THE PROJECTED ELECTRIC LINE.

FROM THE PROSPECTUS

"By far the largest revenue will be derived from its passenger business."

"The revenue which the line will derive from this source (possible government contracts for carrying mail) will amount to at least $2,000,000."

"Contracts with express companies can readily be secured."

"It is estimated the annual receipts from this population on the first section (between Chicago and Goshen, Ind.) will be $10 per capita."

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The oldest high finance merchants in Wall street are made to look like babes in toyland beside the imposing Napoleonic front of two young men from the west who have entered New York and are promoting a very extraordinary railroad enterprise.

They are known as Burr Brothers, and they are "fiscal agents" of the Chicago-New York Electric Air Line Railroad Company, which has placed stock on the market to sell direct to the public on the installment plan.

If Burr Brothers' statement may be taken as true this railroad is to be a public ownership enterprise with variations. That is, the public is to own the stock. It proposes to run a double track electric line for passenger and freight traffic from Chicago to New York, in a line drawn on the map as straight as it could be drawn with a rule, and it gives such modest hopes and dreams in its alluring full-page advertisements.

In the Sunday Papers

as transit from the Windy City to the metropolis in ten hours, on a route 130 miles shorter than the shortest steam line.

Wall street has been, figuratively, swept off its feet by the announcements of the new company which, considering the adjectives employed, read not unlike the literary efforts of the circus advance man.

The fiscal agents declare that the road can be built for $150,000,000. The public ownership feature comes in with a plan to do away with the antique and troublesome method of bonding the road to pay for its construction and, instead of a bond issue, it is planned to build the line out of the sale of the common stock, par value $100, advertised for sale now at $25 a share.

Many Are Buying

In an office in the Flatiron building, cluttered with stenographers' desks, the senior member of the Burr establishment was found and he was ready to answer questions concerning his enterprise. He said:

"While the main offices of the company are in Chicago, we are selling stock here. This is to be the greatest Chicago-New York Electric Air Line to be built by the investing public. No work will be done until we have the money from the public, so you see, we have a sort of public ownership plan. I have investigated the character of the men behind it and they are all right. The plan must be a good one, for there is great response from the public and the money is pouring in rapidly to us. How much? Well, I cannot say exactly. It is a very encouraging amount up to date."

Burr was shown the map of the proposed railroad as advertised. There was a straight line drawn from Chicago to New York, just missing such populous cities as Cleveland and Toledo.

It's Up to the Engineers

"Yes," said he promptly, "that's the route. It has been surveyed. I am not well informed as to how the engineers propose to get over the Allegheny mountains in a straight line, but they will do it."

"What are your plans for getting terminal rights in Chicago and New York for your passenger and freight traffic?"

"Well, I do not know exactly. But there never was a railroad built yet that did not get into a city that it wanted to enter."

And then he made this remarkable admission: "You reporters must not take the statements in our advertisements too seriously. These advertisements were written for the credulous public. You know we have to appeal to the unintelligent with big words. That goes with them. The receipts show it. When we get the funds in this way we will go ahead building the road."

Another extraordinary feature of the proposed line is the promise that the investors cannot lose. "No matter," says Burr's statement, "what the stock certificate is worth as stock, no matter what it is quoted in the market, the bearer thereof can step on a ten-hour train for New York and pay his or her friend's fare with it, or pay for freight to the amount of $100, and all for a certificate of stock that costs only $25 at the present moment."

Electric engineers in this city declared that the scheme is absurd. One declared that if such a road was built it would cost nearer $1,500,000,000 than $150,000,000.

FIRST 3-CENT FARE STREET CAR RUNS

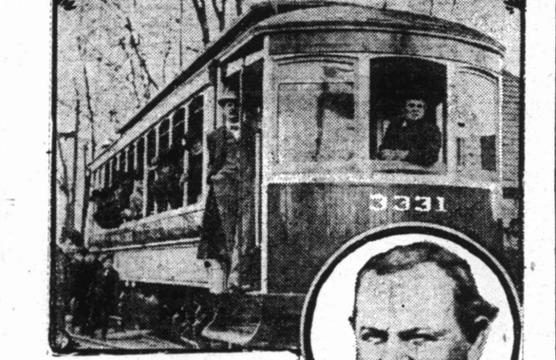

Special to The Telegram.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 12.—Five years of fight, unremitting and bitter, has resulted in the establishment of a 3-cent fare street railway line in this city. Mayor Tom H. Johnson led the people in the movement. He has been elected three times on that issue.

For year there has been dissatisfaction with 5-cent fares. A lower rate was charged in Toronto, Detroit, Washington and Columbus, and the people here insisted that they were entitled to the same. The secretary of the city was divided on the question of lower fares and municipal ownership. Johnson, one of the best posted men in the country on the subject, said to the supreme court that if the city could afford to carry passengers for 3 cents. Thousands signed a petition asking him to run for mayor. He accepted and 3-cent fare was made the slogan. That was in 1901.

The campaign was tremendous. Senator Hanna, then in the height of his power, led the opposition to Johnson. The street railway stockholders, with a capitalization of $30,000,000, used all their resources against him. All the public service corporations did likewise. The street railway company, which work night and day with unlimited money to defeat Johnson. The people had their minds set on street railway reform, however, and Johnson was elected. He was re-elected in 1903 and 1905. Each time there was the same issue and the same heavy fight against him.

Mayor Johnson sought to have the old company adopt 3-cent fare. The company declined, even though it was refused a renewal of important franchises that were about to expire. Johnson then encouraged the building of a competing line which would charge 3-cent fare. The plan was to have this company build on unoccupied streets and to turn over to it the franchises of the old company as rapidly as they expired.

Every step in the progress of the Threefer line was contested by the old company. Litigation has run the whole course from magistrate courts to the United States. Twenty-seven different injunctions were secured by the old company to tie up its rival.

Meantime the Threefer has gone ahead steadily. It has secured franchises over thirteen miles of streets. Double tracks have been laid to a length of over five miles. The first car over this line was placed in operation a year ago. Mayor Johnson was the motor man. Thousands thronged the route and cheered the car. Houses were decorated. Guns were fired. It was accepted as an indication that the people had won the fight.

chises over thirteen miles of streets. Double tracks have been laid to a length of over five miles. The first car over this line was placed in operation a year ago. Mayor Johnson was the motor man. Thousands thronged the route and cheered the car. Houses were decorated. Guns were fired. It was accepted as an indication that the people had won the fight.

In Crockett county was in town Friday and Saturday and left Monday morning with supplies for his ranch, which is located in Crockett and Reagan counties. Mr. Nix came from Hunt county to this section and has prospered in agricultural resources. Small game are plentiful in his section, he reports.

C. T. Turney, for many years a Texas cattleman, but who is now living at Mesquite Park, N. M., came in Tuesday night and was out at the fair early Wednesday morning. He admired the cattle and horses, but he said about the only thing he wanted to see was a good horse, as he was going into the hog business rather extensively now. New Mexico as well as Texas is developing her agricultural resources, and a cowboy who wants to be in the swim must raise hogs and farm some. He will go back about Sunday.

In Donley County Clarendon Banner-Stockman. Jim Christal is down from his ranch on the Canadian this week. He reports everything in the best of shape in his country, grass good and cattle going into the winter well fixed.

We understand that J. B. McClelland, agent, has sold the Rockwall county school lands in Donley and Gray counties to E. W. Owens, the Gray county ranchman and banker. The tract comprises some 17,000 acres and the total consideration was about $85,000 or $5 per acre.

That part of the land which lies in this county is near Jericho, and about eighteen miles from Clarendon. We are inclined to believe that Owens' intentions, but suppose that he will use it for ranch purposes, a great deal of it being rough grazing land, although there is much good agricultural land in the tract.

In Fisher County Roby Ban. Rufus Green met with a rather bad accident Wednesday evening. He was working on W. W. Barron's ranch, eight miles west of town, and was the only one on the ranch at the time of the mishap, which he reckons to have occurred about 4 o'clock. At that hour he was at the house talking over the telephone with parties in town. Immediately after this he got on his horse and rode into the pasture after a calf which he was trying to pen, when his horse, which he was riding at full speed, stepped into an old dog hole and fell. Evidently the horse fell on top of the rider, as his principal injuries indicate a severe smash up rather than hard fall. From the time of the accident until about dark the injured boy remained unconscious. About dark, however, he revived and made his way to the house and fortunately his horse standing at the gate. He went to the phone and tried to call up some one and advise them of his condition, but for some reason got no response. Finally to us, he was in urgent need of attention and that no one would return to the ranch that night, he mounted his horse and rode to the home of his father in Roby. Here he turned his horse into the lot and walking into the house briefly related what had happened. Within five minutes from the time he entered the house he became unconscious, and a doctor was immediately summoned. For some time the young man's condition was such as to cause the gravest apprehension, but by Thursday morning he was getting along nicely, and has continued to improve.

In Deaf Smith County Hereford Brand. Two train loads of live stock went out from this point this week as follows: T. D. Hunt, 10 cars cattle; J. H. Wilson, 4 cars cows; G. W. Robertson, 5 cars cows; Thompson & Thompson, 21 cars cattle; S. E. Howard, 8 cars cattle; J. P. Carr, 1 car sheep; H. R. Duff, 1 car sheep; J. E. Martin, 2 cars sheep. All the above stuff went to Chicago.

We learn from visitors from Frio that a right destructive fire broke out on the X I T near Frio and spread over a considerable space of territory before it was under control. The fire is thought to have originated from the sparks from an engine.

In Nolan County Sweetwater Reporter. W. F. McGaughy shipped two cars of calves and three of cows to market from Roscoe, Wednesday.

W. F. McGaughy went south this week on the hunt for fat cattle. He expects to ship 7 or 8 cars the last of the week.

Long, Bunton, Toland & Dulaney delivered to Mr. Lucas this week eleven cars of cattle, which were shipped from Longworth to Nebraska, Thursday.

E. B. McBurnett reports the sale of 130 cows and 52 calves to E. Boatright this week. The price received was $14 for dry cows and $19 for cows and calves. Mr. McBurnett has bought 50 2-year-old steers from W. F. McGaughy and is in the market for 50 steer yearlings.

WHEAT YIELDS IN INDIANA

These are reported by the Indiana Farmer:

From Fountain county comes a report that Charles McBroon thrashed 51 1-4 bushels average from his wheat field. Hiram Jay, Rush county, on 300 acres had an average of 32 1-2 bushels; two McGees brothers claim the same average yield on 110 acres, while W. A. Jones on 20 acres averaged 37 bushels, and Theodore Abercrombie on the same acreage got 38 bushels average, and W. D. Root, 4 40 acres averaged 34 bushels.

On the Ebersols farm near Centerville, Wayne county, a yield of 147 bushels of wheat was obtained from 2 acres 49 bushels per acre. Joseph Toslog in same vicinity got an average of over 45 bushels from 35 acres. Harvey Uley near Goshen got an average of 44 bushels from 13 acres, and John S. Jacobs, Clark county, harvested 512 bushels from 24 acres, or 33 and two-third bushels per acre.

COMBINATION HORSE

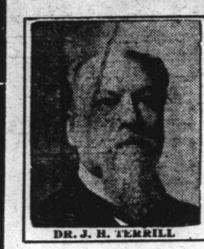

An exchange, speaking of the demand for a combination horse in the eastern cities, says:

"There is a wonderful demand in all the eastern cities for combination saddle and harness horses. Such horses bring big prices and are snapped up as quickly as they appear on the market. Riding, by the way, seems to be increasing in popularity, and especially among women, and it is a source of pleasure to know that in most cities women are adopting the cross saddle, which makes riding more healthful, more sensible and much safer. A combination horse which can be used under saddle and in harness also makes riding and driving possible to many who would not, otherwise, be able to enjoy both forms of recreation."

THERE IS NO REASON

why your baby should be thin and fretful during the night. Worms are the cause of thin, sickly babies. It is natural that a healthy baby should be fat and sleep well. If your baby does not retain its food, don't experiment with colic cures and other medicine, but try a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, and you will soon see your baby have color and laugh as it should. If You Were Going To Boil an Egg—

YOU wouldn't put a big pan of water on the stove, and wait for it to get hot, would you?

No, you would use a small sauce-pan.

For you know that the water in it would come to a boil in one-tenth the time it would take to heat the larger vessel.

For the same reason, Mrs. Housewife, you should have a Monarch Range.

Now, you know four-fifths of your cooking is done on the top of the range.

And if you use an ordinary steel range, the heavy cast-iron top absorbs or soaks up the heat.

So you must keep up a hotter fire—a more intense heat—to do your cooking.

And this hot fire soon spoils the stove—the fire-box linings—it opens up the seams and joints in the range where steel is riveted to steel, and where cast iron is bolted to steel.

So your range begins to develop air-leaks—to cook unevenly—and you waste fuel.

The range you need is one which has a light top—made of strong, durable metal, that conducts heat quickly and easily.

And that range is the Monarch.

The top of the Monarch and all of the frames that hold the range together are made of Malleable Iron.

And this explains why the Monarch burns so much less fuel in a year than any steel and cast-iron range.

It doesn't need such a hot fire for cooking because none of the heat is used for heating unnecessary metal.

So there is less wear and tear on the range generally, and a great saving in fuel.

Another good point about the Monarch top is the fact that it can be kept clean without stove-black. It turns a handsome steel-blue color with use, and always remains bright and polished.

The Duplex Draft is another feature no other range has—it admits air at both ends of the fire-box at the same time, so there is an even current of superheated air surrounding the oven.

With the Oven Thermometer you can always tell just how hot the oven is.

But come in and let us show you how good the Monarch Range is. We know that we can prove to you that it is money in your pocket to own a Monarch.

Some Strength Developed Early on Small Movement of Wheat—Corn Dull—Shipments Less

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Wheat—A little strength developed early on small movement in the northwest, although there was no indication from abroad.

Corn—Dullness prevailed early with the market working off on selling by a local operator as well as the crowd.

Oats—Declines took place in oats and there was free selling in May options and large liquidations by local speculators.

Provisions—Shipments of product for the week were so much under last year that, together with a promise for a larger crop, have had a depressing effect.

STOCKS

Wall Street Imbued with Confidence in Realization of Favorable Turn in Monetary Spheres

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—As was expected, a favorable bank statement was issued today, showing an increase in the reserve of $3,885,800, less United States increase of $3,399,825, and the consequent improvement in the monetary situation, both in Europe and America, stimulated the advocates of higher prices.

In view, then, of the betterment in the foreign and home money situation and the elimination of any apprehension of stringency, the bulls have a clear right of way for a campaign for higher prices.

The friends of stocks the last two weeks have evinced a remarkably cool determination to hold their own, and when the market advanced, they were not so easily dislodged.

The conservative view of things on the part of bulls was all along exhibited in their determination to keep fairly well within bounds, and confident of their ground, when the opponents of stock hammered here and there, the friends of better prices counterbalanced the knocker with timely bidding.

With the realization of their predictions in monetary spheres, the satisfactory London settlement, the decrease in call money rates from 20 to 4 1/2 per cent, the strong people in Wall Street are now more confident than ever, when some rampant ones put a little dynamite under a few issues—St. Paul, for instance, which, after being advanced in skyrocket fashion a dozen points over 17 1/2, held its own thereafter.

Yet, on the other hand, reactions are due after the sharp advances of late on account of the uncertainty and a determination of the remainder of the bear ranks to fight it out. After their persistent hammering, energetic efforts to surprise their adversaries are certainly to be expected.

Copper, Baltimore and Ohio, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Colorado Fuel and Iron, Canadian Pacific, Erie, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Union Pacific, Steel, common and preferred; Missouri, Kansas and Texas and Rock Island are issues that have been advanced at advances this morning.

An authority as reliable as Town Topics advises the purchase on moderate breaks in stocks to expect in Ohio and Pennsylvania, in anticipation of an extended rise due to follow important announcements.

Reactions are also on several of the standard issues because of the recent good gains even in the face of the conditions warranting better figures.

The legal complications confronting New York Central seem to be decreasing but issue today. The list throughout closed strong.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON. Futures lost 3 to 4 points after a fluctuation of 15 to 18—Some selling was aggressive.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12.—The chief topic here today after the covering of shorts was the estimate of the cotton crop. The consensus of opinion is that the market has been discounted to figures of 8,500,000 bales, and that figures in excess of those will throw the market there are, however, many leaders who assert their position even on figures as high as 8,500,000.

SOME FACTS ABOUT DENATURED ALCOHOL

Interest in free article alcohol increases with the approach of 1907, when the denatured alcohol law goes into effect. To give the public a good insight into the general opinion under the law in a practical operation, has been asked by this newspaper to write this most instructive general information upon it.

BY DAVID A. GATES, Special Agent of the United States Treasury Department

Inquiries received at the Internal Revenue Department indicate that the public is short on information on the product of the fermentable matter of sugar or starch. The alcohol of commerce is usually 138 proof—94 per cent pure and 8 per cent water. The minimum proof at which alcohol can be denatured at 180 degrees—that is, 90 per cent pure.

EDUCATION BILL

Opposing Sides Are the Anglican and Roman Churches BY LADY HENRY SOMERSET. (Copyright, 1909, by Hearst News Service.) LONDON, Nov. 17.—The dissension over the education bill has been the principal topic of the last few days. The lords have made mincemeat of the bill that was sent up to them from the house of commons. Never, probably, has any bill come from the lower house to the upper which has been more vigorously opposed.

strife has seldom raged over any single measure. Many of us who are strong liberals much regret the bill, which we feel would never have been presented in this form, but not keen for the want of wisdom in the educational policy of Mr. Balfour and the late government, which has fanned bitterness between churchmen and non-conformists into white heat. The non-conformist war cry is undenominationalism; but, personally, I have never been able to understand what that means, for if we take the apostle's creed it is concrete dogma, and its interpretation must be according to the doctrine held by the teacher.

It is quite obvious that so long as a national church exists that church desires to teach its own religion. On the other hand it is said that the rates should support ecclesiastical teaching if the rate-payer does not believe in it. Logically this can be perfectly met by an indorsement of the rate payer; then rates would be allotted. The interesting thing is to look to the future of the action of the lords.

How long will they be able to veto so arbitrarily the measures of the house of commons? That a second house is necessary and desirable is undoubted, but the reformation of the second house is inevitable. Meanwhile it is well known that whatever happens to the bill, the government will not go to the country on education, the church and the Roman church are too strong for them, and they would not risk shipwreck on so perilous a rock.

A QUEEN'S MAID

Queen Ena Has Trouble Securing Servants BY LADY HENRY SOMERSET. (Copyright, 1909, by Hearst News Service.) LONDON, Nov. 17.—Spanish etiquette forbids a foreigner to belong to the suite of the queen of Spain, and so the little English girl who has so lately ascended that throne is not allowed to have a single English woman in her retinue, and Queen Ena has had much difficulty in finding a Spanish maid who speaks English and who knows anything of the requirements of an English woman. High and low such an individual was sought, until Miss Bulteel, who is lady in waiting to her mother, Princess Henry of Battenberg, remembered that her sister-in-law had a Spanish girl named Frascida. Her mistress was just about to start for Mexico, but she was promptly communicated with by telegraph, and arrangements were made for little Frascida to start for Spain. The girl has lived the greater part of her life in London and has been lady's maid to some very well known English women.

TAMMANY OF ENGLAND

Progressive and Labor Party Received a Blow BY LADY HENRY SOMERSET. (Copyright, 1909, by Hearst News Service.) LONDON, Nov. 17.—The recent borough council elections show that the progressive and labor party have received a blow. The defeat was not altogether unexpected, and was the result of the opinion that has been abroad that money had been too freely spent. On the other hand, the moderate party is undoubtedly the party which takes out little interest in public management for the good of the people, and cares more for its own advantage. It is to a large extent the Tammany of England.

The issue is really monopoly vs. public control. Are the tramways to be private property? Is electrical power to be a huge trust? Are water companies to exist forever? These are the main questions around which the fight rages. The trouble has been well expressed when it is said that London should no longer be treated as a city, but as a state, and should be granted an administrative body with a far larger membership than that of the county council.

COMPANION FOR WIFE

Miss Batchelor Will Make America Her Home BY LADY LAMBETH. (Copyright, 1909, by Hearst News Service.) LONDON, Nov. 17.—Mr. Minor C. Keith of New York, who is engaged in huge enterprises in New York, London and Costa Rica, is taking to the Empire City as a companion for his wife a very charming English girl, Miss Corina Batchelor, who is very keen to see America's social life. She is entirely different from the average English girl. She is very witty, speaks German and French fluently, and is a wonderful musician. In fact she has often appeared at concerts with her beautiful sister, Mrs. Richard Ladeburg, who, before her marriage, was the finest cellist in the country. Mr. Keith, who is known in London by the alternative titles of "the Banana King" (he was the prime mover in the American fruit trust) and "the King of Costa Rica," married a niece of the last resident of that republic, where he is as "big a man" as the president himself. In the city, Mr. Keith is immensely popular in business circles. His pluck and integrity are proverbial.

The German Emperor's Voice

In the national museum at Washington, the congressional library in the same city, and in Harvard university there have been deposited metal records of the German emperor's voice, the starting point of what, it is proposed, shall be permanent phonetic archives. In the November Century, E. W. Scripture, who wrote interestingly for the Century of May, 1902, of "How the Voice Looks," will outline the plan of these proposed records, and tell how the first were obtained. The text of the records will also be given. The first brief essay by the emperor never before published, the second the beginning of a speech delivered by his majesty at the unveiling of a monument to Frederick the Great.
