RESIGNATIONS ANGER SPANISH

Crowds Gathered Carrying Red Banners

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 4 .- A Madrid special, published here today, says the Spanish capital is excited over the political crisis brought about by the resignation of the Spanish ministry yesterday. Noisy groups carrying red banners gathered in the evening in the neighborhood of the senate chamber and shouted threateningly. The police scattered the crowd, arresting several persons but the populace gathered again and their numbers constantly increased. As the evening advanced the crowds surged in the Puerto del Sol, outside the ministry of the interior. Many well known agitators were busy among the people and there was much angry talking.

A great force of police was out and the governor held troops in readiness. It was hoped, however, that the excitement would pass without a serious outbreak.

Lou Dillon Dope Case Up Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.-The famous Lou Dillon "dope" case will again be the principal subject of discussion at the regular meeting of the board of review of the National Trotting Association at the Murray Hill hotel today. Whether C. K. G. Billings' great trotting mare, Lou Dillon, was doped in the race with E. E. Smather's celebrated gelding, Major Delmar, is the question to be decided by the board. The race took place two years ago and was for the possession of the Memphis gold cup, which was won by Mr. Smathers. The first hearing of the case last winter caused one of the greatest racing scandals in recent years, but owing to the intercession of the courts the matter was not fully

MASONS MEET IN WACO TUESDAY

Hundreds Are Attending the Grand Lodge

WACO, Texas, Dec. 4.-The city filled up rapidly with Masons yesterday, and today there are hundreds of them here to attend the sessions of the grand lodge and grand chapter. Most of the grand officers arrived yesterday. Thomas P. Stone, who had charge of the matter of providing homes for the Masons, states that there are ample boarding places, and all incoming Masons may be assigned without difficulty.

The directors of the widows and orchans' home were in session yesterday and again this morning, the directors being as follows: Judge Anson Rainey of Dallas, Judge George W. Tyler of Belton, Judge J. L. Terrell of Terrell, Nat M. Washer of San Antonio, all past grand masters,

The following grand masters will be in attendance, most of them having arrived: Judge Anson Rainey, Dallas; W. S. Fly. Gonzales: J. L. Terrell, Terrell; S. R. Hamilton, Forney; Nat M. Washer. San Antonio: James, Foft Worth; A. W. Campbell, All officers of the Grand Royal Arch

MUSEMENTS

Tonight Miss Holland will be seen "The Lily and the Prince." Mildred Holland, whose, art has always represented the most cultured and ennobling ideals, and whose work has always stood for what is best and most enlightening in the drama, expects to reach the highest pinnacle of achievement in her characterization of Lolita, in Matthew Parry's romantic drama, "A Paradise of Lies," which will have its first presentation in this city at Greenwall's opera house Wednesday, matinee and night, Dec. 5. Manager Edward C. White has prepared an elaborate production on the same scale of magnificence for which the Mildred Holland presentations are noted.

"The Little Duchess"

Countess Olga Von Hatsfeldt, the charming little musical comedy star. who succeeded Anna Held in the title role of "The Little Duchess," and who is now on her second successful seais the same dainty Countess Olga who made a decided hit with "The Burgomaster," "The Storks" and other musical comedy productions of the same class. The beginning of her remarkable success dates back three years, when she appeared, unheralded, at Hammerstein's roof in New York city, in a summer show and bounded in one night into popular favor by her excellent singing, clever acting and refreshing beauty.

Since then the dainty Countess Olga has established herself as a star of the first magnitude, and has enjoyed that distinction for several years. Countess Olga and her clever company of fifty people come to Greenwall's opera house, Thursday and Friday night and matinee Friday, Dec.

Primrose Minstrels The attraction at Greenwall's opera ouse Saturday, matinee and night, Dec. 8, will be George Primrose and his big minstrel company, which is said to be the largest and most elaborate in the world. The opening first part is said to be the handsomest scenic interior ever put on the stage, being done in blue, gold and ivory. During this part all the latest comic songs, jokes and ballads will be rendered by a host of comedians, singers and dancers. The second part will contain nothing but scenes wherein negro life way down south will be depicted by song, story and dance. The closing number, entitled "The Evolution of the Negro," is said to be the most magnificent spectacular scene ever produced on any stage. The entire production was staged by George Primrose, who has been the originator and

Raymond Teal, merry minstrel, is very much the show at the Majestic this week. Teal blew in on the stage Monday night to an audience that packed the house from just behind Director Eppstein's chair to the rear wall of the gallery, and made his bow before most people were aware he was coming. On the average there has then arose and explained his position been one black face comedian at the Majestic every week since the season opened, with the result that each newcomer has to overcome all the good or bad impressions his predecessors made. Teal got all the way to the chorus of "Why Don't You Spend Something Besides the Evening," before the audience woke up to the fact that they had a real live one back of the footlights and from then on smiling Raymond had things his own way. Teal's stuff is nearly all new and the way he unfastens and takes off his talkalogue is decidedly fresh. Most of his fun is made out of "stuff and things" and a good deal of "Bull Durham." It would be hard to remember any of his jokes, except his four line stanza for a final encore about John Jones, which started out so daringly that everybody gasped and wound up so ludicrously they were all-convulsed, but what Teal says doesn't much matter. Everybody our boards of stewards thruout the in the crowd Monday night was laughing all the time he was out, which is what he gets his salary check for every Saturday night. But Teal modestly says he isn't the whole show, much as the audience may think so. Hal Davis and Inez McCauley do a one-act sketch, "The Unexpected," which moralists would consider very unethical. It involves the reprehensible conduct of a young woman who changes the name of a horse in her fiance's betting order and wins for him $50,000. Of course it's wrong to gamble and also bad form to ring in a dead one in another's betting slip, but Davis and Miss McCauley make it very funny and the audience cheers wildly when the bundle of stage money arrives from the betting ring. Here's the rest of this week's bill i tabloid form: Ogerita Arnold, soprano; knows now to sing and what to sing in order to fetch her audience. Has an Oriental-Gallic-Norse style of beauty that very much becomes a straw hat and white overalls. Was good for four encores

Could save theirs any time if playing the banjo would do it. Freddie does few imitations, but does them better than anybody else in his line. Ought to learn how to jolly his audience. Carlisle's Dog and Pony Circus— Will make children laugh and grown folks sit up and take notice. Has no monkey business, but is straight goods. The Great Francelias-Husky, very; spectacular, greatly; but too slow in action. Gives his spectators too much time to hold their broths before he pulls off his stunt. Tosses weights ranging from 30 to 300 pounds and does some delicate balancing which wasn't enough appreciated Monday night. Could improve opening of act by chalking up and doing some poses

It has been estimated that the total assessable valuation of the property within the corporate limits of North Fort Worth will easily be increased another 25 per cent next year. This is thought to be possible by reason of the many new buildings that have been built this year, as well as several commercial enterprises, which will be rendered for taxes for 1907. There is no portion of the town where new buildings may not be found. Residences valued from $1,000 to $12,000 have been erected since January, and without raising the present valuation the assessment tables are expected to show great

HIS WIFE FOLLOWED HIM Cal Leach Says the Assault Charge is a Mistake

Cal Leach, a well known Fort Worth negro, was locked up in the calaboose Tuesday about 11 a. m. and the charge of assault to murder was entered on the blotter. The police department had but little information on the subject, but Sergeant Newby stated that it was his understanding that Leach tried to cut his wife's throat.

Leach said that was absolutely untrue. His story runs that he remonstrated against her following him Monday night, and when she persisted in doing so, he picked up a chunk of wood and threw it at her, not intending to hit her, and it struck her on the side of the head, knocking her down. The case will go to the county.

THE STORY OF GRACE BROWN AS TOLD BY HER OWN MOTHER

BY MARLEN E, PEW. Special to The Telegram.

HERKIMER, N. Y., Dec. 4.-Long after the simple-minded folk of this mountain countryside have dismissed from their minds the details of the Gillette murder case, which now wholly absorbs them, men seeking true analysis of human emotions will turn to the old Herkimer court house.

Such student philosophers will find here, couched in the plain words of the untutored principals, a phase of woman's love for man and faithless man's cruelty to woman which Zola's passion, Hugo's heart appeal, Browning's complete devotion-the great masters of imagination, in fact-have failed to interpret.

The series of letters written by Grace Brown to Chester Gillette is already regarded as a classic. Writing from a heart buffeted between shameful woe and faithful love, the poor little factory girl, daughter of an obscure farmer, little knew the weight of her thrilling words. It did not require a judge nor jury to convict Gillette of a crime greater than the mere slaughter of a fellow creature. The death of "Billy" Brown at his hand was but a trivial incident compared with his crimes against the sacred forces of human nature. His despicable record is on file with that of the dead girl, showing him, a mere boy, as a sniveling, hypocritical, wholly heartless and selfish villain who, in the sheepskin of an honest suitor, resorted with precocious faculty to the ancient devices of the sly seductionist, prostituted woman's trust to gratify his animal nature, missed the whole truth of life's meaning, turned a slinking back to honest responsibility, knew no higher moral courage than self-protection.

While men and women, eminent in letters, speculate as to the greatness of "Billy" Brown, there is one woman, and perhaps only one, who really comprehends what the closing days of her illfated existence must have meant to her. That woman is the mother who loved her most of a family of nine children. This mother I sought and found in a little cottage. Her eyes were dry when she told me of her beloved girl, her fifth born. The storm was past and only the sea remained. After telling me some trivial facts of the dead girl's childhood, Mrs.

Brown said: "Grace went thru the district schoo and then began to assist my husband in his business. She kept his books for him, wrote his letters, and if he was ill or away, she would drive the milk to the station. She never com-Foltold us that she could earn $6 a week in Gillette's skirt factory. She could live with her sister and wanted to earn the money. My husband's business had not been very prosperous, and we finally consented to let her go. "For several months she sent whatever of her wages she did not spend for expenses to my husband. She was counted the cleverest skirt designer in the factory, but her wages were kept low. She entertained girl acquaintances at her sister's home and made many friends. Frequently she came home to her and found a boarding place with a respectable family. Some time later Grace wrote to me of Chester Gillette. She described him as a young man who had apparently taken a liking to her, and I could see that she was interested in him. She told me that he was a teacher in a Sunday school, that he was the nephew of the proprietor of the factory, that he came of good family, was educated in Oberlin College and said that she wanted us to see Grace. He asked her particularly about Chester Gillette and she told him that she was very fond of him, that he seemed to be of her. He asked her if he had indicated his intention to marry her. She said he had not proposed and did not conceal from her father her hope that he would do so. My husband made careful inquiry about the boy and heard him well spoken of. Under these circumstances, and having unbounded faith in Grace, we permitted the matter to go on.

"At last she wrote us that Gillette had proposed and that they were to be married. I was very happy for her and we all began to plan her trousseau. Later she came home. She seemed to be unhappy at times, and was evidently trying to conceal some unhappiness. Many times I cautioned WHERE THE TRIAL IS IN PROG-such perplexity as lovers often experi-

"During the weeks that she remained at home, now as we understand because Gillette wanted her out of the way, she wrote to him every day except four. In reply she received but seven letters. I told her that this was wrong. She insisted that he must have written, but that his letters went astray. So great was her faith in him that she wanted to have our mail directed to another postoffice. "With her wedding clothes she went away to meet Gillette and marry him. While we did not approve of this procedure. Grace explained that he was very busy and that he wanted a quiet wedding. Only in her trouble did she deceive us. "I am comforted, we are comforted, by feeling that our dear lost daughter did not die without having fulfilled a mission. I feel that she has proved what a great sacrifice a good woman will make for her love. While people may condemn her. I know that she was pure and sweet and good. Gillette was her first love and she was an easy victim of his cruel deception. If it is true that Grace's letters have gone all over the country in the newspapers believe they will do much good and perhaps my poor little girl could never have accomplished as much for the world as her letters will. We are Christian people and we believe that God works in ways that we cannot Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for more sickness and suffering than any other disease; therefore, when through neglect or other causes, kidney trouble is permitted to continue, many fatal results are sure to follow.

Your other organs may need attention—but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because as soon as your kidneys begin to get better they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable curative power has been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine, you should have the best.

Wilson, Conn., Feb. 18, 1906.

Dear Sirs: "A man could not be in any worse condition than I was with kidney and bladder troubles. I doctored with several good doctors and one physician told me I had Bright's Disease and that would not live over six months. Another told me it was gall stones. I had severe pains in my kidneys all the while, could not stoop over, would be dizzy, could not lie down without someone helped me up; my back was weak and pained thick as cream and it would scald me something dreadful. I had to get up many times in the night to urinate I took Swamp-Root and today I am a well man and never felt better. All of my troubles have gone and show no signs of returning. I take my oath that Swamp-Root put me where I am

EXILED INDIAN PROBABLY DYING Indians Think John Stink Is

a Ghost CAST OFF BY HIS PEOPLE

Members of Tribe Buried Him But He Came to Life and Now They Will Have Nothing to Do With Him

Special to The Telegram. · SOUTH McALESTER, I. T., Dec. 4 -News comes from Pawhuska, in the Osage nation, that John Stink, the ostracised man, is about to die. Of all living individuals Stink has perhaps the queerest and the most pa-

Twenty-five years ago he was one of the most prominent men in the Osage reservation. He was wealthy as Indians count wealth and was a councillor in the house of his people. One morning the Indians found Stink apparently dead in his tepee on Bird creek. His body was taken to the high hill at Pawhuska, where, after ceremonies befitting his place in the tribe, it was buried in a pile of looselyplaced stones. The Osages put food enough on his tomb to last him for two weeks and tethered his pony near by so that he might ride in case he got weary of his tramp to the happy hunting ground. But John was not dead; he was only the victim of a cataleptic fit. Some time during the night he came to himself, kicked down the stones of his loosely made grave and returned thru the sleeping Indian village to his home on Bird creek. The next morning when the Indians saw John on the street they fled in all directions, deeming him a ghost returned from the dead. From that day to this no Osage Indian has ever spoken to him. The tribe will not even allow him to wear a gally-colored blanket or the gorgeous turban, which among the Osages is symbolic of dignity. Several times John has built a house, but in each instance the Osages have torn it down because, as they explained, a demon did not need a house made with hands. The Osages are very firm in their belief in the evil nature of the poor ostracised Indian, "He has stood face to face with our fathers," they declare, "he has beheld things not fit for mortal eyes. He is a curse. If he were not evil why did the great spirit cast him out of the happy hunting grounds?" So in his 65th year John Stink is dying, absolutely cast off by his own people and cared for by an alien race. In case of his death the Indians will treat his body dead as they have treated him living. He will not be buried with any Indian ceremonies. nor will his bones be allowed to rest

COUNCIL WILL WRITE CHARTER

City Fathers Take Hand in Charter Making

PAVING TO RE REPAIRED

Business-like Session of City Council Monday Night-Mayor Sends Message on Railroad Crossings Your honor, a part of the duty which devolves on the city council of Fort Worth is to recommend changes in the organic law, as it sees it, that is, to suggest changes in the charter, if any are needed. It is a matter of public information that a self-constituted committee is now drafting a charter, in accord with its own ideas, and without any suggestion even of aid from the city council of Fort Worth. which might be supposed to know something about the matter. Therefore that the city may have a charter on which the people may have the chance to pass, at the same as the other proposed charter is submitted, for I understand it is to be submitted to a popular vote, I move that a commitee of five, consisting of Aldermen Armstrong, Lehane, Maddox, Lydon and Zurn, be appointed to draft a charter for the city." These were substantially the words

n which Alderman Waggoman made the motion which looks to the preparation of a new charter for the city, and experiences of the aldermen.

There was no debate on the proposition, and the matter seemed to go thru as if it was the expected instead of the unexpected. Must Repair Paving

Another action of the council at the neeting Monday night, in which there was and even greater unaminity, was the adoption of the motion of Alderman Waggoman that the city engineer and the city attorney be directed to formally notify the Parker-Washington Company, which laid the asphalt pavement on Houston street, that the street is in a disgraceful condition, and that it must be repaired at once, from the court house to the Texas and Pacific depot, or Front street, and that if the work was not satisfactorily done, at once, the city would proceed against the bondsmen of the company. That was more unanimous than the charter matter, for the reason that the mayor, before he put the motion, asked that he be permitted to go on record as being in favor of that motion, and if there was any way that it could be done he would like to be recorded as voting "aye." Alderman Harrold was sick and not at the meeting, but all of the other aldermen favored the motion. Alderman Lehane said he wanted to emphatically favor the motion, for he had been opposed to the whole pavement from beginning, and that its condition was a disgrace to the city.

Report on Crossings About the only matter of the business-like session of the city council which caused any debate Monday evening was the report on the message of the mayor regarding the condition of the railway crossings in the city. That debate took the form of trying to find the best way to remedy a difficulty, which all agreed existed. It was a question of methods merely, and not a lissent as to the need for the correction of an existing evil, as set forth in the message of the mayor. The city council was called to order promptly at 7:30 o'clock, and Alderman Harrold was excused for sick-The reading of the minutes was dis-The finance committee recommended the payment of the claim of the American La France Fire Engine Com-

further action if the terms are satis-John Collard was appointed as extra prison guard at the city jail. The street and alley committee recmmended that the city engineer be instructed to look into the matter of repairs at the corner of Fourteenth street and Chambers avenue, Passed.

A bill was allowed for final work on city well No. 13 amounting to $500. The opening and grading of West Thirteenth street went to the street and alley committee. The report states that the grading can be done at a cost of $300 and the graveling later, at a cost not exceeding $200. Referred to the finance com-ommended that the mayor and city engineer should be empowered to require the steam railways in the city to make and maintain road crossings. Many in Debate

Aldeman Lehane, Waggoman, Cook, Zurn, Maddox and Mayor Harris participated in the debate which followed, it being more of a discussion as to the best way to reach the difficulty, which it was granted existed, than any other difference of opinion. Mayor Harris favored permanent crossings, such as brick or asphalt, but it was pointed out that they were out of the question for any such purpose, for the passage of the neavy engines over them would soon pound them to pieces. Alderman Maddox stated that in conversation with a Denver railway man of much practical experience a suggestion was made that greatly impressed him, and that was that the crossings should be made of Ap-rap or broken stone with a neavy flooring of 2x4 oak planking between the rails and along the outer edges of the rail. It was left to the mayor to do the best that was possible, with the aid of the city engineer, some of the aldermen holding that fie mayor already had the necessary authority, but if there was any doubt on the subject it was the desire of the city council to invest him with all needful authority to secure the desired result.

they were unable to have the street in front of their places sprinkled and the contractor, T. C. Bushing, was directed to confer with them that the matter might be satisfactorily arranged.

Progress was reported in the matter of making brick crossings at Summit avenue and El Paso street. The proper officials are directed to make the proper evidences of indebtedness to Contractor Tomlinson for the cost of building the Seventh ward fire hall, $4,300, and for the extra work, masonry and excavations, $81.05.

Cases Decided

The city attorney reported that there were some new principles settled in favor of the city in the decision of the higher court in reversing the Mike Mansfield case, where the plaintiff had recovered from the city and he was of the opinion that the ultimate decision of the case might be in the city's favor. Mr. Orrick also reported that the C. H. Barker claim, a claim for damages for overflow, has been dismissed and he did not think, from what he had heard, the case would ever be face with serious difficulty in the matter of arranging the ordinances relating to fire limits and hack stands and wanted a special committee to aid them in fixing those ordinances as the council wished them to be. First a motion was made that special committee be raised, to whom that matter and that of getting bids for the printing of the new code be referred, but that was afterward modified so that the city attorney and the chief of police were directed to aid the codifiers in every way possible in getting the ordinances, in relation to those two matters in shape. It was stated that the city was still paying the man at the old dumping ground and a motion was made that the latter be discharged, but finally the whole question was referred to the health committee, with Numerous residents on South Jennings avenue asked that the council look after the condition of that thorofare between Myrtle and Moffett streets. It was represented that the parties who recently did grade work left a sink in which water now stands for a distance of 200 feet. This went to the city engineer. The Teachers' Association, which of the driving club, there will be no entrance fee charged to people wishing to witness the races. This will be the first racing meet that has been held at the track for some time. A meet was contemplated Thanksgiving day, but the bad weather prevented its being held and the rainy weather of the last few weeks has put the track in such a condition that it could not be used. However, work within the last few days has made a fine surface on the track it is expected that the races next Sat-

THE TEXAS SCHOOL FUND

No state in the umon has such an educational endorsement as the great state of Texas, and it is a fund that is not raised thru a system of taxation that rests as a burden upon the people. The Texas school fund was created by the early Texas fathers out of the great public domain of the state. When Texas entered the American union it was expressly stipulated that the new state should have the privilege of retaining all the vast body of land that had been wrested from Mexico thru the exercise of Texas valor, and the great bulk of this land was set aside as the nucleus of a public school and educational fund that was destined to become the wonder and envy of all other states. This land has been sold and is still being sold to the men who are making their homes in the state on long time and at a low rate of interest. These land sales and the money already received therefrom and invested in bonds of various kinds is what constitutes the present school fund of the state.

In Texas the schools are divided and conducted on two plans, one of which is the district system and the other the community system. The district system embodies those schools where districts are incorporated for school purposes, the state permitting districts to nanage their own affairs, levy additional school taxes and conduct the schools without interference or direct supervision by the county superintendent of education, such as is exercised where the community system is employed. The state distributes to each, however, its pro rata of the school fund, which is apportioned annually at so much per capita according to the total scholastic population of the state, the census being Whatsoever thou givest beside thyself is of no value in my sight, For I seek not thy gifts, but thee. Offer up thyself,

And thy gifts shall be accepted. I opened my Thomas a Kempis the other day to this verse, and it was a direct answer to a question which I had heard asked only a little while before. A woman, who had been most generous with money to her relatives, was despondent because the giving had resulted in little seeming good. Those she had sought to benefit were not grateful, nor were they benefited by her generosity, taking what she gave, with little thought of her goodness and with little sense of responsibility in the receiving. Like her, I had wondered why this should be, but at the same time I knew the woman had been generous from pride, rather than from love of her relatives; she had given because she knew they expected her to do so, knew that others thought her able to help her own, and that to refrain would brand her as close and miserly, and that poverty and ignorance of her relatives would reflect upon her.

But she had not given of herself, that is of her love to those upon whom her money favors were bestowed. And so there was no value in the gifts.

Her dollars carried nothing with them, but their own hard, cold value, and they fell upon hard, cold ground, and so there was no harvest. There is much such generosity in the world, and it is of little value to mankind.

Before you give anything to anybody read over the verse quoted above, and, unless you can give of yourself, or your love and sympathy, do not give your dollars and expect any benefit to others to result, or any happiness and satisfaction to yourself. -

Neither here or hereafter will your giving be rewarded, for "thyself, not thy gifts, are of value." Many a widow's mite has done more good in the world and brought greater results than millions flung down in frozen charity thru a sense of obligation to the world's opinion.

There are fathers today who are wondering why their sons have proven so ungrateful, and why their wives are not happy, when a fortune has been expended upon them.

But they gave their gifts, not themselves. Neither wife nor son felt the husband's and father's love and sympathy in what was bestowed. Their bills were paid and they were supplied with life's luxuries, but the giver was not given with the

The great creative power back of the universe wants us first and foremost; our sympathy, our love, our fellowship expressed toward one another; our faith, our trust, our service expressed in thought and feeling, and act, day by day, as we go thru life.

Then, and then only, do our gifts count: "Offer up thyself and thy gifts shall be accepted."

The discharged soldiers who disgraced their uniform by shooting into the houses of peaceful citzens of Brownsville and by committing unprovoked murder are to be clothed and cared for by sympathizers who are doubtless prompted by the same sort of mawkish sentiment that leads silly women to send flowers and notes to murderers confined in dungeon cells. It would be most unfortunate if misdirected sympathy should negative to any extent the good effect of the President's order mustering out of the army of men who had disgraced the uniform and who could not be trusted to uphold the character and standing of American soldiers.—San Antonio Express.

The people who are indulging in this unkind exhibition of sentiment are doing the people of Texas an injustice and the negro soldiers a great wrong. That they are guilty is established by the order of the President, and that they have received proper treatment is generally conceded. If our northern friends are feeling hysterical over the situation they might ease matters by sending some flowers to decorate the graves made by these men.

In this issue of the Statesman the management presents the personal views of a large number of the members of the forthcoming legislature which meets in this city in January. Judging from their letters, it is the opinion of the great bulk of the members that the subject of taxation and revenue problems generally will be the paramount issues that will confront the forthcoming session. While conceding the correctness of such a contention the Statesman would also urge upon the various members the importance of conservative and thoughtful action.-Austin Statesman.

There can be no more important matters before the next state legislature than those of revenue and taxation. Present conditions demand prompt and effective remedies, and this can only be accomplished thru careful and intelligent consideration.

The United States senate is always an interesting body. The terms of thirty of its members will expire on the 4th of March, 1907, and there is great political commotion in some of the states over the selection of successors to the men who are booked to step down Some of those whose names are as familiar to the people at large as are the signs on the street corners will come up for re-election. Among those whose terms will expire are Senators Morgan of Alabama, Frye of Maine, Cullom of Illinois, Tillman of South Carolina Elkins of West Virginia, Bailey of Texas, Clark of Montana, Dryden of New Jersey and Allee of Delaware. There are others who have not won spurs of national fame during their terms.

. . . . COLORADO POLITICAL SITUATION

Colorado has elected a full-fledged Methods preacher, the Rev. Henry A. Buchtel, republican, governor, and proposes to elect Simon Guggen one of the brothers who own the smelting trust United States senator to succeed Patterson. Buch is a poor man, while Guggenheim is one of the wealth iest men in the United States. It is declared that paid nearly all the expenses of the republican con in Colorado. Governor Buchtel is the head of the ver University, a Methodist institution. He went up the ticket to fill a vacancy about four weeks ago, to his own surprise was elected.

Most interesting in connection with the far-off ifornia returns is the fact that Hearstism is rel at home. Langdon, whom Hearst ran for go was lost in the shuffle, and Gillette, republican, won for governor.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO 59th CONGRESS IN SHORT SESSION to do away with the power of injunction; and therefore such careless use of the injunctive process tends to threaten its very existence, for if the American people ever become convinced that this process is habitually abused, whether in matters affecting labor or in matters affecting corporations, it will be well-nigh impossible to prevent its abolition."

The Negro Problem.

The negro problem is given considerable attention, after calling attention to the fact that no section of the country is free from faults, and that no section has occasion to jeer at the shortcomings of any other section, he turns to the subject of lynchings, and especially as applied to the negro of the south. He says the greatest existing cause for mob law the greatest existing cause for mob law is the perpetration by the blacks of the even worse than murder. He quotes the admonitions to the white people spoken by Gov. Candler, of Georgia, some years ago, and by Gov. Jelks, of Alabama, recently, and then says:

"Every colored man should realize that the worst enemy of blazzos is the says."

that the worst enemy of his race is the negro criminal, and above all the negro criminal who commits the dread-ful crime of rape; and it should be felt as in the highest degree an offense against the whole country, and against the colored race in particular, for a colored man to fail to help the officers of the law in busting down with all of the law in hunting down with all possible earnestness and zeal every such infamous offender. Moreover, in my judgment, the crime of rape should always be punished with death, as is the case with murder; assault with intent to commit rape should be made a capital crime, at least in the discretion of the court; and provision should be made by which the punishment may follow immediately upon the heels of the offense; while the trial should be so conducted that the victim need not be wantonly shamed while giving testimony, and that the least possible publicity shall be given to the details. The members of the white race on the other hand should understand that every lynching represents by just so much a loosening of the bands of civilization; that the spirit of lynching inevitably throws into prominence in the community all the foul and evil creatures who dwell therein. No man can take part in the torture of a human being without heaving. man being without having his own moral nature permanently lowered. Every lynching means just so much moral deterioration in all the children who have any knowledge of it, and therefore just so much additional trouble for the next generation of "Let justice be both sure and swift; but let it be justice under the law, and not the wild and crooked savagery

Need for Negro Education.

There is another matter which has direct bearing upon this matter of lynching and of the brutal crime which sometimes calls it forth and at other times merely furnishes the excuse for its existence. It is out of the question for our people as a whole permanently to rise by treading down any of their own number. Even those who them-selves for the moment profit by such maltreatment of their fellows will in the long run also suffer. No more shortsighted policy can be imagined than, in the fancied interest of one class, to prevent the education of another class. The free public school, the chance for each boy or girl to get a good elementary education, lies at the foundation of our whole political situation. In every community the poorest citizens, those who need the schools most, would be deprived of them if they only received school facilities proportionately to the taxes they paid. This is as true of one portion of our country as of apother. It is as true for the negro as for the white man chance for each boy or girl to get for the negro as for the white man, The white man, if he is wise, will decline to allow the negroes in a mass to grow to manhood and womanhood without education. Unquestionably education such as is obtained in our pub-lic schools does not do everything towards making a man a good citizen; but it does much. The lowest and most brutal criminals, those for instance the great majority men who have had as they are almost invariably men who own no property; for the man who puts money by out of his earnings, like the man who acquires education, is usually lifted above mere brutal criminality. Of course the best type of education for the colored ken as a whole, is such education as and Tuskegee; where the boys and girls, the young men and young wo-men, are trained industrially as well as in the ordinary public school branches. The graduates of these schools turn out well in the great majority of cases, and hardly any of them become criminals, While what little criminality there is never takes form of that brutal violence which invites lynch law. Every graduate of these schools—and for the matter of that every oher colored man or wo-man—who leads a life so useful and honorable as to win the good will and respect of those whites whose neighbor he or she is, thereby helps whole colored race as it can be helped in no other way; for next to the negro himself, the man who can do most to help the negro is his white neighbor who lives near him; and our steady effort should be to better the relations between the two. Great tho the benefit of these schools has been to their ple, it may well be questioned whether the benefit has not been at least as great to the white people among whom these colored pupils live after they

Capital and Labor. On the subject of capital and labor the president takes the agitators of class hatred to task and says "to preach hatred to the rich man, as such, to seek to mislead and inflame to mad ness honest men whose lives are hard and who have not the kind of mental training which will permit them to appreciate the danger in the doctrines preached is to commit a crime against the body politic and to be false to every worthy principle and tradition of American national life." Continuing on this subject he says:
"The plain people who think—the mechanics, farmers, merchants, workers with head or hand, the men to whom American traditions are dear. who love their country and try to act decently by their neighbors, owe it to themselves to remember that the most damaging blow that can be given pop-ular government is to elect an unworthy and sinister agitator platform of violence and hypocrisy. Whenever such an issue is raised in this country nothing can be gained by flinching from it, for in such case demfinching from it, for in such case democracy is itself on trial, popular selfgovernment under republican forms is itself on trial. The triumph of the mob is just as evil a thing as the triumph of the plutocracy, and to have escaped one danger avails nothing whatever if we sucuumb to the other.

In the end the honest man whether rich of poor, who earns his own living and tries to deal justly by his fellows, has as much to fear from the insincere and unworthy demagos, promising much and performing hothing, or else performing nothing but evil, who would set on the mob to plunder the rich, as from the drafty corruptionist, who, for his own ends, would permit the common people to be exploited by the very wealthy. If we ever let this government tall into the hands of men of either of these two classes, we shall show ourselves false to America's past.
Moreover, the demagos and corruptionist often work hand in hand. There Moreover, the demagog and corrup-tionist often work hand in hand. There are at this moment wealthy reaction-aries of such obtuse morality that they aries of such obtuse morality that they regard the public servant who prosecutes them when they violate the law, or who seeks to make them bear their proper share of the public burdens, as being even more objectionable than the violent agitator who hounds on the mob to piunder the rich. There is nothing to choose between such a reactionary and such an agitator; fundamentally they are alike in their selfish disregard of the rights of others; and it is natural that they should join in opposition to any movement of which the aim is fearlessly to do exact and even justice to all."

Railroad Employees' Hours. He asks for the passing of the bill limiting the number of hours of employment of railroad employes, and employment of railroad employes, and classes the measure as a very moderate one. He says the alm of all should be to steadily reduce the number of hours of labor, with as a goal the general introduction of an eight-hour day, but insists that on the Isthmus of Panama the conditions are so different from what they are here that the introduction of an eight-hour day on the canal would be absurd, and continues, "just about as absurd as it is, so far as the isthmus is concerned, where white labor cannot be employed, to bother as to whether the work is done by alien black men or alien yellow men."

Investigation of Disputes.

Investigation of Disputes.

The urges the enactment of a drastic child labor law for the District of Columbia and the territories, and a federal investigation of the subject of child and female labor throughout the country. He reviews the work of the commission appointed to investigate labor conditions in the coal fields of Pennsylvania in 1902, and refers to the wish of the commission "that the state and federal governments should provide the machinery for what may be called the compulsory investigation of controversies between employers and employes when they arise." After referring to the fact that a hill has already been introduced to this end he says:

would not have occurred had the parties to the dispute been required to appear before an unprejudiced body representing reasons for their contention. In most instances the dispute would doubtless be found to be due to a misunderstanding by each of the other's rights, aggravated by an unwillingness of either party to ac-cept as true the statements of the other as to the justice or injustice of the mat-ters in dispute. The exercise of a judicial spirit by a disinterested body representing the federal government, such as would be provided by a commission on conciliation and arbitration would tend to create an atmosphere of friendliness and conciliation between contending parties; and the giving each side an equal opportunity to present fully its case in the presence of the other would prevent many disputes from developing into serious strikes or lockouts, and in other cases, would enable the commission to persuade the concepting parties to sion to persuade the opposing parties to terms. "In this age of great corporate and labor combinations, neither employers nor employees should be left completely at the mercy of the stronger party to a dispute, regardless of the righteousness of their respective claims. The proposed measure would be in the line of securing recognition of the fact that in many strikes the public has itself an interest which cannot wisely be disregarded; an interest not merely of general convenience, for the question of a just and proper public policy must also be considered. In all legislation of this kind it is well to advance cautiously, testing each step by the actual results; the step proposed can surely be safely taken, for the decisions of the commission would not bind the parties in legal fashion, and yet would give a chance for public opinion to exert its full force for the right."

Control of Corporations.

A considerable portion of the message is devoted to the subject of federal control of corporations in what he refers to the passage at the last session of the rate, meat inspection and food laws, and says that all of these have already justified their enactment, but recommends the amendment of the meat inspection law so as to put dates on the labels of meat products, and also to place the cost of inspection on the packers rather than on the government. Continuing on this subject of the control of corporations by the federal government he says:
"It cannot too often be repeated that experience has conclusively shown the impossibility of securing by the actions of possibility of securing by the actions of hearly half a hundred different state legislatures anything but ineffective chaos in the way of dealing with the great corporations which do not operate exclusively within the limits of any one state. In some method, whether national license law of in other fashion, we must exercise, and that at an early we must exercise, and that at an early date, a far more complete control than at present over these great corporations—a control that will among other things prevent the evils of excessive overcapitalization, and that will compel the disclosures by each big corporation of its stockholders and of its properties and business, whether owned directly or thru subsidiary or affiliated corporations. This will tend to put a stop to the securing of inordinate profits by favored individuals at the expense whether of the general public, the stockholders, or the general public, the stockholders, or the wageworkers. Our effort should be the wageworkers. Our effort should be not so much to prevent consolidation as such, but so to supervise and control it as to see that it results in no harm to servative apologists for the misuse of wealth assail the effort to secure such control as a step toward socialism. As a matter of fact it is these reactionaries people. The reactionary or ultraconand ultraconservatives who are themand ultraconservatives who are them-selves most potent in increasing socialis-tic feeling. One of the most efficient methods of averting the consequences of a dangerous agitation, which is 30 per cent wrong, is to remedy the 20 per cent. of evil as to which the agitation is well founded. The best way to avert the very undesirable move for the governmental ownership of railways is to secure by undesirable move for the governmental ownership of railways is to secure by the government on behalf of the people as a whole such adequate control and regulation of the great interstate common carriers as will do away with the evils which give rise to the agitation against them. So the proper antidote to the dangerous and wicked agitation against the men of wealth as such is to secure by proper legislation and execu-tive action the abolition of the grave abuses which actually do obtain in con-nection with the business use of wealth under our present system—or rather no system—of failure to exercise any adequate control at all. Some persons speak as if the exercise of such governmental control would do away with the freedom of individual initiative and dwarf individual effort. This is not a fact. It would be a veritable calamity to fail to put a premium upon individual initiative, individual capacity and effort; upon the individual capacity and effort; upon the energy, character and foresight which it is so important to encourage in the individual. But as a matter of fact the deadening and degrading effect of pure socialism, and especially of its extreme form communism, and the destruction of individual character which they would bring about are in part achieved by the wholly unregulated competition which results in a single individual or corporation rising at the expense of all others until his or its rise effectually checks all competition and reduces former competi-competition and reduces former competi-tors to a position of utter inferiority and subordination. subordination.

'In enacting and enforcing such legislation as this congress already has to its credit, we are working on a coherent plan, with the steady endeavor to secure plan, with the steady endeavor to secure the needed reform by the joint action of the moderate men, the plain men who do not wish anything hysterical or dangerous, but who do intend to deal do not wish anything hysterical or dangerous, but who do intend to deal in resolute commonsense fashion with the real and great evils of the present system. The reactionaries and the violent extremists show symptoms of joining hands against us. Both assert, for instance, that if logical, we should go to government ownership of railroads and the like; the reactionaries, because on such an issue they think the people would stand with them, while the extremists care rather to preach discontent and agitation than to achieve solid results. As a matter of fact, our position is as remote from that of the impracticable or sinister visionary. We hold that the government should not conduct the business of the nation, but that it should exercise such supervision as will insure its being conducted in the interest of the nation. Our aim is, so far as may be, to secure, for all decent, hardworking men, equality of opportunity and equality of burden.

Combinations Are Necessary.

Combinations Are Necessary. "The actual working of our laws has shown that the effort to prohibit all combination, good or bad, is nozious where it is not ineffective. Combination it is not ineffective. Combination of capital like combination of labor is a necessary element of our present industrial system. It is not possible completely to prevent it; and if its were possible, such complete prevention would do damage to the body politic. What we need is not validy to prevent all combination, but to secure such rigorous and adequate control and supervision of the combinations as to prevent their injuring the public, or existing in such form as inevitably to threaten injury—for the mere fact that a combination has secured practically complete control of a necessary of life would under any circumstances show that such combination was to be presumed to be adverse to the pub-to be presumed to be adverse to the pub-lic interest. It is unfortunate that our present laws should forbid all combina-tions, instead of sharply discriminating between those combinations which do evil. Rebates, for instance, are as often due to the pressure of big shippers (as Rebates, for instance, are as often was shown in the investigation of the Standard Oil company and as has been shown since by the investigation of the shown since by the investigation of the tobacca and sugar trusts) as to the initiative of big railroads. Often railroads would like to combine for the purpose of preventing a big shipper from maintaining improper advantages at the expense of small shippers and of the general public. Such a combination, instead of being forbidden by law, should be favored. In other words, it should be permitted to railroads to make agreements, provided these agreements were sanctioned by the interstate commerce commission and were published. With these two conditions compiled with it is impossible to see what harm such a combination could do to the public at large. It is a public evil to have on the statute books a law incapable of full enforcement because both judges and juries realize that its both judges and juries realize that its full enforcement would destroy the business of the country; for the result is to make decent railroad men violators of the law against their will, and to put a premium on the behavior of the wilful wrongdoers. Such a result in turn tends wrongdoer into close association, and in the end to drag down the former to the latter's level; for the man who becomes latter's level; for the man who becomes a lawbreaker in one way unhappily tends to lose all respect for law and to be willing to break it in many ways. No more scathing condemnation could be visited upon a law than is contained in the words of the interstate commerce commission when, in commenting upon the fact that the numerous joint traffic associations do technically violate the law, they say: "The decision of the United States supreme court in the Transmississippi case and the Joint Traffic association case has produced no practical effect upon the railway operations of the country. Such associations, in fact, exist now as they did before these decisions, and with the same gen-eral effect. In justice to all parties, we ought probably to add that it is difficult to see how our interstate railways could be operated with due regard to the interest of the shipper and the railway without concerted action of the kind af-This means that the law as construed the supreme court is such that the business of the country cannot be conthat you give careful and early consideration to this subject, and if you find the

It was expected that the president would refer in some way to his belief in the necessity for the curbing of enor-mous fortunes, and he has done so by recommending legislation for both income and an inheritance tax. He believes the government should impose a graduated inheritance tax, and, if possible, a graduated income tax. He says: am well aware that such a subject as this needs long and careful study in order that the people may become familiar with what is proposed to be done, may clearly see the necessity of proceeding with wisdom and self-restraint, and may make up their minds just how far they are willing to go in the matter; while only trained legislators can work out the project in necessary detail. But feel that in the near future our nation al legislators should enact a law provid ing for a graduated inheritance tax by which a steadily increasing rate of duty should be put upon all moneys or other valuables coming by gift, bequest, or devise to any individual or corporation. t may be well to make the tax heavy is remote of kin. In any event, in my judgment the pro rata of the tax should crease very heavily with the increase the amount left to any one individual after a certain point has been reached and ambition, and a potent source of thrift and ambition is the desire on the part of the breadwinner to leave his chilren well off. This object can be attained by making the tax very small on moder ate amounts of property left; because the prime object should be to put a constantly increasing burden on the inheritance of those swollen fortunes which it is certainly of no benefit to this country to perpetuate.

There can be no question of the ethical propriety of the government thus determining the conditions upon which any gift or inheritance should be received. Exactly how far the inheritance tax would, as an incident, have the effect of limiting the transmission by devise or limiting the transmission by devise of gift of the enormous fortunes in question is not necessary at present to discuss. It is wise that progress in this direction should be gradual. At first a permanent national inheritance tax, while it might more substantial than any such tax has hitherto been, need not approximate, either in amount or in the extent of the increase by graduation, to what such a tax should ultimately be.

Inheritance Tax Constitutional. "This species of tax has again and again been imposed, altho only temporarily, by the national government. It was first imposed by the act of July 6, 1797, when the makers of the Constitution were alive and at the head of affairs. It was a graduated tax; the small in amount, the rate was increased with the amount left to any individual, exceptions being made in the case of certain close kin. A similar tax was again imposed by the act of July 1, 1862; a minimum sum of $1,000 in personal property being excepted from taxation, the tax then becoming progressive according to the remoteness of kin. The war-revenue act of June 13, 1898, provided for an inheritance tax on any sum exceeding the value of $10,000, the rate of tax increasing both in accordance with the amounts left and in ac-cordance with the legatee's remoteness of kin. The supreme court has held that the succession tax imposed at the time of the civil war was not a direct tax but of the civil war was not a direct tax but an impose of excise which was both constitutional and valid. More recently the court, in an opinion delivered by Mr. Justice White, which contained an exceedingly able and elaborate discussion of the powers of the congress to impose death duties, sustained the constitutionality of the inheritance tax feature of the

Is Income Tax Constitutional? "In its incidents, and apart from the main purpose of raising revenue, an income tax stands on an entirely differincome tax stands on an entirely different footing from an inheritance tax, because it involves no question of the perpetuation of fortunes swollen to an unhealthy size. The question is in its essence a question of the proper adjustment of burners to benefits. As the law now stands it is undoubtedly difficult to device a patient law. cult to devise a national income tax which shall be constitutional. But whether it is absolutely impossible is another question; and if possible it is most certainly desirable. The first purely income tax law was past by the congress in 1861, but the most important law deals come tax law was past by the congress in 1861, but the most important law deal-ing with the subject was that of 1894. This the court held to be unconstitu-tricate, delicate, and troablesome. The decision of the court was only reached by one majority. It is the law of the by one majority. It is the law of the land, and, of course, is excepted as such and loyally obeyed by all good eftizens. Nevertheless, the hesitation evidently felt by the court as a whole in coming folt by the court as a whole in coming to a conclusion, when considered together with the previous decisions on the subject, may perhaps indicate the possibility of devising a constitutional income-tax law which shall substantially accomplish the results aimed at. The difficulty of amending the constitution is so great that only real necessity can justify a resort thereto, Every effort should be made in dealing with this subject, as with the subject of the proper control by the national government over the use of corporate wealth in interstate business, to devise legislation which without such action shall attain the desired end; but if this fails, there will ultimately be no alfails, there will ultimately be no al ternative to a constitutional amendment."

He makes a strong plea for technical and industrial education for the masses, and while the federal government can do but little in this line, he asks that schools of this character be established in the District of Columbia as an example to the various states.

Agricultural Interests. He appeals for every encouragement He appeals for every encouragement that the congress can give to the agricultural interests of the country. He points to the good that is being done by the various forms of grange organizations, and says!

"Several factors must cooperate in the improvement of the farmer's condition. He must have the chance to be educated in the widest possible sense—in the sense which keeps ever in view the intimate relationship between the theory of education and the facts of life. In all education we should widen our aims. It is a good thing to produce a certain number of trained scholars and students; but the education superintended by the state must seek rather to produce a hundred good citizens than merely one scholar, and it must be turned now and then from the class book to the study of the great book of nature itself. This is especially true of the farmer, as has been pointed out again and again by all observers most competent to pass practical judgment on the problems of our country life. All students now realize that education must seek to train the executive powers of young people and to that education must seek to train the executive powers of young people and to confer more real significance upon the phrase "dignity of labor," and to prepare the pupils so that in addition to each developing in the highest degree his individual capacity for work, they may together help create a right public opinion, and show in many ways social and cooperative spirit. Organization has become necessary in the business world; and it has accomplished much for good and it has accomplished much for good in the world of labor. It is no less neces-sary for farmers. Such a movement as the grange movement is good in itself and is capable of a well-nigh infinite further extension for good so long as it is kept to its own legitimate business. The benefits to be derived by the association of farmers for mutual advantage are partly economic and partly sociological.

"Moreover, while in the long run voluntary effort will prove more efficacious than government assistance, while the farmers must primarily do most for themselves, yet the government can also do much. The department of agriculture has broken new ground in many directions, and year by year it finds how it can improve its methods and develop fresh usefulness. Its constant effort is to give the governmental assistance in the most effective way; that is, thru associations of farmers rather than to or thru individual farmers. It is also striving to coordinate its work with the agricultural departments of the several states, and so far as its own work is educational, to coordinate it with the work of other educational authorities. Agricultural education is necessarily based upon general education, but our agricultural educational institutions are wisely specializing themselves, making their course relate to the actual teaching of the agricultural and kindred sciences to young country people or young city people who wish to live in the country. "Great progress has already been made among farmers by the creation of farmers' institutes, of dairy associations, of breeders' associations, horti-cultural associations, and the like. A striking example of how the govern-ment and the farmers can cooperate is shown in connection with the menace offered to the cotton growers of the southern states by the advance of the boll weevil. The department is doing it can to organize the farmers in the threatened districts, just as it has been doing all it can to organize them in aid of its work to eradicate the cattle fever tick in the south. The depart-ment can and will cooperate with all

When home ties are loosened; when when home ties are loosened; when men and women cease to regard a worthy family life, with all its duties fully performed, and all its responsi-bilities lived up to, as the life best worth living; then evil days for the commonwealth are at hand. There are regions in our land, and classes of our population, where the birth rate has population, where the birth rate has sunk below the death rate, Surely it should need no demonstration to show that wilful sterility is, from the standpoint of the nation, from me standpoint of the human race, the one sin for which the penalty is national death, race death; a sin for which there is no atonement; a sin which is the more dreadful exactly in proportion as the men and women guilty thereof are in other respects, in char-acter, and bodily and mental powers, those whom for the sake of the state it would be well to see the fathers and mothers of many healthy children. well brought up in homes made happy by their presence. No man, no woman, can shirk the primary duties of life, whether for love of ease and pleasure, or for any other cause, and retain his or her self-respect. The president asks for the enactment into law of a shipping bill that will place American interests on the seas on a par with those of other countries, and urges especially that something be done that will establish direct steamship communication with South American ports. Currency Reform. Amendments to the present currency laws are asked for, and after showing that present laws are inadequate because of the wide fluctuation of interest of the wide fit charges, he says: mere statement of these facts shows that our present system is seriously defective. There is need of a change. Unfortunately, however, many of the proposed changes must be ruled from consideration because they are from consideration because they are complicated, are not easy of comprehension, and tend to disturb existing rights and interests. We must also rule out any plan which would materially impais the value of the United States two per cent bonds now pledged to secure circulation, the issue of which was made under conditions peculiarly creditable to the treasury. I do not press any special plan. Various do not press any special plan. Various plans have recently been proposed by expert committees of bankers. Among expert committees of bankers. Among the plans which are possibly feasible and which certainly should receive your consideration is that repeatedly brought to your attention by the present secretary of the treasury, the essential features of which have been approved by many prominent beauty. approved by many prominent bankers and business men. According to this plan national banks should be permitted to issue a specified proportion of their capital in notes of a given kind, the issue to be taxed at so high a rate as to drive the notes back when not wanted in legitimate trade. This plan would not permit the issue of currency to give banks additional profits, but to meet the emergency presented by times of stringency.

Need of Automatic System.

"I do not say that this is the right system. I only advance it to empha-size my belief that there is need for the adeption of some system which the adoption of some system which shall be automatic and open to all sound banks, so as to avoid all possibility of discrimination and favoritism. Such a plan would tend to prevent the spanes of high money and speculation which now obtain in the New York market; for at present there is too much currency at certain seasons of the year, and its accumulation at New York tempts bankers to lend it at low rates for absculative purposes; whereas at other times when the crops are bias moved there is urgent need for a large but temporary increase in the currency supply. It must never be forgetten that this question denoerns business men generally quite as much as bankers; especially is this true of stockmen, farmers and business men in the west; for at present at certain seasons of pecially is this true of stockmen, farmers and business men in the west; for at present at certain seasons of the year the difference in interest rates between the east and the west is from six to ten per cent., whereas in Canada the cervesponding difference is but two per cent. The land must, of course, guard the interests of western and southern bankers as carefully as it guards the interests of New York or Chicago bankers; and must be drawn from the standpoints of the farmer and the merchant no less than from the standpoints of the city banker and the country banker.

The law should be amended so as to specifically to provide that the funds derived from customs duties may be treated by the secretary of the treasury as he treats funds obtained under the internal revenue laws. There should be a considerable increase in bills of small denominations. Permission should be given banks, if necessary under settled restrictions, to retire their circulation to a larger amount than $1,000,000 a month."

He again asks for free trade with this country for the Philippines and in the same connection reviews the work done by this country in the islands, and says "If we have erred in the Philippines it has been in proceeding too rapidly in the direction of granting a large measure of self-government."

American citizenship should be conferred on the citizens of Porto Rico. The harbor of San Juan in Porto Rico should be dredged and improved. The expenses of the federal court of Porto Rico should be met from the federal treasury. The administration of the affairs of Porto Rico, together with those of the Philippines, Hawaii and our other insular possessions, should all be directinsular possessions, should all be directed under one executive department; by preference the department of state or the department of war.

Naturalization of Japs. President Roosevelt scores San Francisco and other Pacific coast cities for their treatment of the Japanese, and makes the following recommendations Our nation fronts on the Pacific, just as it fronts on the Atlantic. We hope to play a constantly growing part in the great ocean of the orient. We wish, as we ought to wish, for a great commercial development in our deal-ings with Asia; and it is out of the question that we should permanently have such development unless we freely and gladly extend to other nations the same measure of justice and good treatment which we expect to receive in return. It is only a very small body of our citizens that act badly. Where the federal government has power it will deal summarily with any such. Where the several states have power I earnestly ask that they also deal wisely and promptly with such conduct, or else this small body of wrong-doers may bring shame upon the great mass of their innocent and right-thinking fellows—that is, upon our nation as a whole. Good manners should be an international no less than an individual attribute. I ask fair treatment for the Japanese as I would ask fair treatment for Germans or Englishmen, Frenchmen, Russians or Italians. I ask it as due to humanity and civilization. I ask it as due to ourselves because we must act up-rightly toward all men. "I recommend to the congress that an act be passed specifically provding for the naturalization of Japaness who come here intending to become American citizens. One of the great embarrassments attending the performance of our international obligations is the fact that the statutes of the United States gov-ernment are entirely inadequate. They fall to give to the national government sufficiently ample power, through United States courts and by the use of the army and navy, to protect aliens in the rights secured to them under solemn reatles which are the law of the land. I therefore earnestly recommend the criminal and civil statutes of to as to enable the president, acting for the United States government, which is responsible in our international relations, to enforce the rights of aliens under treaties. Even as the law now is something can be done by the federal government toward this end, and in the government toward this end, and in the matter now before me affecting the Japanese, everything that it is in my power to do will be done, and all of the forces, military and civil, of the United States which I may lawfully employ will be so employed. There should, however, be no particle of doubt as to the power of the national government completely to perform and enforce its own obligations. perform and enforce its own obligations to other nations. The mob of a single city may at any time perform acts of lawless violence against some class of foreigners which would plunge us into less to make defense against the for-eign power thus assaulted, and if indeeign power thus assaulted, and if independent of this government it would never venture to perform or permit the performance of the acts complained of. The entire power and the whole duty to protect the offending city or the offending community lies in the hands of the United States government. It is unthinkable that we should continue a policy under which a given locality may be allowed to commit a crime against a friendly nation, and the United States government limited, not to preventing government limited, not to preventing the commission of the crime, but, in the last resort, to defending the people who have committed it against the conse-

The rebellion in Cuba and the incidents leading up to the establishment of the provisional government is reviewed, and the president says:
"When the election has been held and the new government inaugurated in peaceful and orderly fashion of the provi sional government will come to an end. I take this opportunity of expressing upon behalf of the American people, with all possible solemnity, our most earnest hope that the people of Cuba will realize the imperative need of prewill realize the imperative need of preserving justice and keeping order in the island. The United States wishes nothing of Cuba except that it shall prosper morally and materially, and wishes noth-ing of the Cubans save that they shall be able to preserve order among themselves and therefore to preserve their independence. If the elections become a farce, and if the insurrectionary habit becomes confirmed in the island, it is absolutely out of the question that the island should continue independent; and the United States, which has assumed the sporsorship before the civilized world the sporsorship that the sporsorship before the civilized world the sporsorship that the sporsors for Cuba's career as a nation, would again have to intervene and to see that the government was managed in such orderly fashion as to secure the safety of life and property. The path to be trodden by those who exercise self-government is always hard, and we should have every charity and patience with the Cubans as they tread this difficult parth I have the utmost sympathy with, and regard for, them; but I most earnestly adding them solemnly to weigh their responsibilities and to see that when their new government is started it shall run smoothly, and with freedom from fla-grant denial of right on the one hand and from insurrectionary disturbances on

The Army and Navy.

The message closes with a plea for the maintenance of the navy at its present standard, to do which he says would mean the building of one battleship each year. Of the present efficiency of the army and navy he says:
"The readiness and efficiency of both the army and navy in dealing with the re-cent sudden crisis in Cuba illustrates afresh their value to the nation. This readiness and efficiency would have been very much less had it not been for the existence of the general staff in the army and the general board in the navy; both are essential to the proper development and use of our military forces afloat and ashore. The troops that were sent to Cuba were handled flawlessly. It was Cuba were handled flawlessly. It was the swiftest mobilization and dispatch of troops over sea ever accomplished by our government. The expedition landed completely equipped and ready for immediate service, several of its organizations hardly remaining in Havana overnight before splitting up this detachments and going to their several posts. It was a fine demonstration of the valor and efficiency of the general staff. Similarly, it was owing in large part to the and efficiency of the general staff. Similarly, it was owing in large part to the general board that the navy was able at the outset to meet the Cuban crisis with such instant efficiency; ship after ship appearing on the shortest notice at any threatened point, while the marine corps in particular performed indispensable service. The army and navy war colleges are of incalculable value to the two services, and they cooperate with constantly increasing efficiency and importance.

"The congress has most wisely provided "The congress has most wisely provided for a national board for the promotion of rifle practise. Excellent results have already come from this law, but it does not go far enough. Our regular army is so small that in any great war we should have to trust mainly to volunteers; and in such event these volunteers should already know how to sheot; for if a soldier has the fighting edge, and ability to take care of himself in the open, his efficiency on the line of battle is almost directly proportionate to excellence in marksmanship. We should establish shooting galleries in all the large public and military schools, should maintain national target ranges in different parts of the country, and should in every way encourage the formation of rifle clubs thruout all parts of the land. The little republic of Switzerland offers us an excellent example in all matters connected with building up an efficient citizen soldiery.

New Orleans Cotton Special to The Telegram

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4 .- The expected reaction in cotton futures today became a reality at the opening of the market here, in consequence of conservative Liverpool's reluctance to follow America's slump of Mon-

In view of a better European market than was due, and more especially because of the large sales of spot cotton, aggregating 14,000 bales at the English market, futures here opened 5 to 9 points higher for December to May, inclusive, and the tendency was upward from the start. The market received further support by force of the favorable spot news, which stimulated buying of futures at the wide discount now existing between contracts and spots. The gain was consequently increased to about 12 to 16 points, and prices were maintained at such levels during the morning. In the early afternoon there was a gradual decline and by 1 o'clock the gains had melted away, prices showing a loss of 4 points for December and 5 for January, below closing quotations of Monday.

Thus was exhibited today the shifty sentiment of the professionals, whose quick changes coupled with the sharp tactics of the leading cotton lights have completely frightened away the hosts of outsiders. The public is accordingly standing aloof, awaiting the flash of the government's reports. Until Saturday, therefore, futures must depend chiefly upon the attitude of spot holders because the actual consumers of the staple are calling cotton at the decline. The movement of cotton is probably heavier than was predicted, port receipts thus far this week amounting to 220,000 bales, against 192,000 last week and 161,000 for the corresponding period of 1905. This influence, however, is pitted against the contention of the bulls that the actual supply of ginnable cotton will be found ultimately in deficit of the season's requirements.

Accordingly a general compromise between buyers and sellers of spots would have the affect of bringing grade cotton. about a diminution of the present heavy discount of contracts under

A dispatch from Montgomery, Ala., to Scales & Co. this morning says: The spot demand from spinners all over the globe has no precedent, as far as we know, and we have been in the business since 1878. Every spindle that can be run and where labor can be found to run it, is in operation.

Says the Times-Democrat editorially this morning: "There is, however, as yet no proof that the yield of spinnable American grown cotton will exceed the season's requirements. Cohsequently the situation now depends entirely upon the near future attitude of the southern spot markets.

"It is not at all improbable that during the week, as the estimate is digested, considerable long cotton will come out thru fear that the estimate by the government will be fully as bearish. We have long maintained that this is a large crop and see no reason to change our views."-N. O.

A prominent and prosperous cattleman and cotton producer of Colorado City said Monday afternoon: "I raised this season seventy bales of cotton on eighty acres. There are 5,000 bales now at Colorado City awaiting cars, and there are stacks of cotton all along the Texas & Pacific. We can't get cars. All had success in cotton out our way."

"The removal of an unofficial but influential estimate thru the publicaion of the Times-Democrat's figures of 12,450,000 bales as the actual growth less linters, etc., this season's erop tends to confirm in a measure the large crop ideas that previously existed in, and of which of late have been subjected to material curtailment, owing to the persistency with which recent estimates of ginnings by the government have fallen short of expectations."-N. The monetary situation at home is all that could be expected, with indications of ample funds within a week or two, and a continued easy money market immediately following, so that the friends of stocks are enthused with the hope of permanent improvements. Cattle Receipts Moderate - Tone : 15... 198 Steady-Hogs Active on 10c

There was a moderate run of live stock on the market at the early opening today, and while there was no reports from the railroads as to shipments in transit, the estimated receipts for the day were placed around the early week figures. The quality was some better than that of the preceding day's offerings, and in some lots were some choice grass stuff. The bulk of the offerings in cattle consisted of Texas grass stuff, from below the quarantine line. A liberal sprinkling of all classes was on the market, including two double decks of sheep, the first shipments to arrive in several days, and the first to find a ready market in some time. The demand from local packers and order buyers was good, and trading opened brisk, and early clearances were made at prices fully steady with Monday's close, Hogs were selling 10c higher for the best quality of offerings.

DECIDE AGAINST TRUST City Claimed Prices for Pipe Were Exorbitant

Special to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.-The supreme court of the United States Monday decided the cases of the city of Atlanta, Ga., against the so-called 'Pipe Line Trust" in favor of the city. The trial of the case as it was presented to the court was the Chattanooga Foundry and Pipe Works and South Pittsburg Pipe Company vs. the city of Atlanta, the case coming to this court in pursuance of an effort by the pipe manufacturers to secure a reversal of a decision by the circuit court of appeals which was unfavorable to them. The suit was instituted by the city ander the Sherman anti-trust law on the complaint that by the combination of the manufacturers the municipality has been compelled to pay an excess of $15,000 over a fair price on orders for pipe amounting to $56,000. The city asked damages in the sum of $45,000. or three times the amount of loss, but the court of appeals, affirming a decision by the circuit court for east Tennessee, allowed only $7,000. The essential violation of the law alleged was that all the pipe makers had so manipulated their bids as to throw the contracts to the Anniston Pipe and Foundry Company of Anniston, Ala., rendering that company's bids the lowest offered, notwithstanding they were still exorbitant.

An Enterprising Town Last year it was said that the largest amount ever stolen from the United States treasury was $40,000. The growing city of St. Louis has No. Ave. Price. No. Ave. Price. raised these figures to $60,000.—St. 17... 212 $6.17½ 49... 170 $6.15 Louis Post-Dispatch.

Prominent Cattleman Talks of Says Benefits of Canal Are Conditions

J. C. Sanderson, one of the most prominent cattle and sheepman of the Big Springs country, is in the city. He thinks the general conditions in that part of the state are as good as could be desired. There is a grave difference of opinion as to the extent of the injury, if any, done by the November freeze. From what he has seen and has been told he is inclined to the view that on rocky ground, or where there is sandy soil, the grass is but little. if any, injured. It is a pecularity of the west Texas grasses that as the fall comes on they cure themselves into natural hay, and that was true this year, with the luxuriant grass which resulted from the great rainfall of the year 1906. He is also somewhat inclined to think that it is hardly possible to have too much rain in that country, unless it should come almost as a flood, and that thought applies to this year, tho there are many who think the rain has been excessive. Perhaps that is because in instances, where the drainage is not of the best, the soil being clayey and close and the ground maybe flat, some of the rain water has stood and the grass has

Dan O. Lively, formerly of Fort Worth, more recently of Beaumont. but now in the wholesale grocery business in the canal zone, Isthmus of Panama, arrived in Fort Worth Tuesday morning, coming almost direct from the isthmus.

Mr. Lively looks fully as young and well as he did when a resident of Worth and says he is in the best of health and that his business is eminently satisfactory.

He lives in Papama, but has business houses both in that city and Colon. He left the day after President Roosevelt's visit, Nov. 21. He said there was but little to say about conditions down that way, but as to the canal, its construction and its benefits, he is decidedly optimistic. It is hard to over-estimate the advantages, he thinks, and the people of this country will much more fully realize that when the work is done and the greatest beneficiaries will be the people of the gulf states the it is a fact that all the country must reap the full reward of the fipancial sacrifices which are necessary to pay for digging the canal.

Companies Charge 15 and 16 Cents a Thousand

Special to The Telegram,

TULSA, I. T., Dec. 4.—With one gas company furnishing gas at 16c, another at 15c and the third to hear from, residents of Tulsa have no cause to complain when other towns would feel it cause to return thanks if gas could only be had at 30c.

Until a month ago the Osage-Oklahoma and People's Gas Companies had the field here, and were supplying gas at a net rate of 20c, with no prospects of a reduction in price soon. Then the Galbreath Gas Company, a home conbern, completed connections with its wells and by the terms of its franchise began furnishing gas at a flat rate of 16c, or 4c cheaper than the Consumers naturally took to the cheaper fuel, and it was generally believed that one or both of the old companies would soon go the Galbreath company one better. Today customers of the Osage-Oklahoma Company received notice with their monthly bills that the price had been reduced to 15c. The People's Gas Company has not given indications of what it will do, but it is anticipated that the company will also make a cut in price. It is very likely that Tulsa people will soon be burning gas as cheap as 10c with-

Helen Davis, having just returned rom a course of three years' study in Germany, is walking thru the forest on her birthday, when she meets her foster brother, Arthur, who has walked twelve miles from Hilltown, where he is teaching school. Together they wander thru the forest, as they used to do before she went abroad. As they come to the edge of the wood he reminds her of her promise to him before she went away. She draws back and says that she was young at that Helen goes to the village to pay a visit of charity to one of her rather's flock (her father being a preacher). She tells him to wait, but when she returns he is gone. She goes home and shows that she can do as she pleases with her father. Just after he leaves Arthur comes in with a poem he has written for her and reads it. She is delighted and starts to play Wagner's "Ninth Symphony." Arthur is so moved by the music that ne seizes her hand and covers it with kisses, whereupon she tells him she does not love him. Arthur leaves the house, altho he is expected to spend the Saturday and Sunday holiday there. After his arrival her father asks her not to play such frantic, heavy music, which has surprised the country people, coming especially from the home of minister. A storm comes up and Helen attempts to keep her thoughts from Arthur, who is undoubtedly out in if, by her music, but for no avail.

"I had thought of that myself," said Mr. Harrison. "It's the founder of the Eversons: there's a picture gallery in a hall back of there, with two whole rows of ancestors in it." "Why don't you adopt them?" asked Helen, mischievously.

"One can buy all the ancestors one wants to nowadays," laughed Mr. Harrison. "I thought I'd make something more interesting out of it. I'm not much of a judge of art, you know, but thought if I ever went abroad I'd buy some of the great paintings that one reads about-some of the old ancestors, you know." "I'm afraid you'd

As a matter of fact the mere mention of the subject opened a new kingdom to her, for she could not count the number of times she had sat before beautiful pictures and almost wept at the thought that she could never own one that was really worth looking at. ### SHORT STORY

A PERSONAL MATTER

The assertion that Mr. and Mrs. Cadwallader Tapscott seemed to be made for each other conveys but a feeble idea of that admirable but peautiful tranquility which settled down on their early married life. The Tapscotts seemed so indissolubly a unit that their friends had dubbed them the Siamese twins. They gloried n having no secrets, each being plessed with rather a jealous disposition. For this reason especially it had been deemed advisable on their wedding day to arrange their matters on an equitable basis.

The anniversary of their wedding lay was fast approaching when Mrs. 'apscott's acute sense told her a hange had come over her husband. About this same time Mr. Tapscott noticed a coolness in his wife's de-Entering the library before break-

Every Hemorrhoidal Ulcer is a Fertile Field for Cancer and Other Deadly Diseases

TRIAL PACKAGE FREE Constipation unchecked brings inflammation, inflammation begets piles and piles too often superinduce tumors of malignant nature. It is utmost folly to allow this condition to continue. If you have piles the veins of the rectum are congested, and the excessive straining of the abdominal walls to force a passage in many cases leads to rupture and cracking of the tissues. There is no greater suffering than this. If you are a sufferer from piles you know it. It is foolish to think that any amount of cathartics will relieve you. On the contrary purgatives are favorable to the production of hemorrhoids. Do not be deceived either by the illusion that an operation always cures. It sometimes does, but

There Is No Greater Torture Than Piles. wood his home. the agony of the operation is too great to warrant the experiment, except as a last resort. There is only one natural way to cure piles. There are medicaments which together heal the mucous membrane of the bowels and rectum and give it life. The Pyramid Drug Co. have prepared suppositories convenient for insertion into the affected part and containing the soothing, healing, invigorating medicines needed to effect a quick and permanent cure. That these do cure piles is proved by the voluntary testimonials of thousands. By every mail we get letters like "Wishing to give credit where credit is due, I feel it my duty to humanity -as well as yourselves to write you regarding your pile remedy. I have not finished my first box and am now well. After the first treatment of Pyramid Pile Cure, the soreness left, and the swellings have kept decreasing. I also used your pills and am feeling like myself again. Thanking you kindly, I am, yours truly, C. Crowley, 170 9th Ave., Seattle, Wash."

SURVEYORS J. J. GOODFELLOW, Fort Worth Tox

Young closed up a sale of 172,160 acres of land in Terrell county for the Boston syndicate. The purchaser, Leonard Hillis of Peoria, Ill., paid $1.25 per acre, or $215,200 net total for the immense body of land. Altho none but the commission man making the deal are known in this section, it is of interest to know that Mr. Young's commission alone amounted to over $10,000. When seen by a press representative Mr. Young said that he had been working on the big deal for the last six months. He arrived Tuesday from Boston and left Wednesday

morning for Ozona. Profit in Broom Corn

Special to The Telegram. ABILENE, Texas, Dec. 4.-Broom corn pays in this county. C. F. Howard of Nuget planted this year onethird of an acre in broom corn and had the Abilene broom factory to work up the product on the halves. He got thirty full-sized brooms and five small ones for his part, worth in all about $8.50. He says he did not expend more than two and a half days labor toward the making and harvesting of that broom corn, all told. Right alongside this broom corn he planted one-third of an acre in cotton, which produced extra well, but he says by the time all costs are counted in the broom corn yielded better returns on the investment.

May Start Compress

Special to The Telegram. BALLINGER, Texas, Dec. 4.-Efforts are being made to start the compress at Ballinger. This compress was constructed several years ago, but was never operated, owing to the fact that the compress at Brownwood could dc the work. Now it is found that so much cotton has been raised in West Texas that the compress in Brownwood finds it impossible to attend to all the compressing. The Ballinger compress would have been started before this had it not been impossible to secure labor to operate it. All laboring people were engaged in other

Cotton Over Bale an Acre

Special to The Telegram. BROWNWOOD, Texas, Dec. 4.-G. W. Rogers, a prosperous farmer living ten miles west of town, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Rogers, like all of his neighbors, was in a very happy frame of mind. He has already gathered eighteen bales from twenty-four acres of cotton, and he will gather ten more from this field, and the recent frost, he estimates, caught five bales, How is that for cotton yield? Mr. Rogers will market about $800 worth of oats, but he does not despise little things, as he carried several dollars Rock Island Officials Visited Graham back home yesterday from the sale

Good Corn But Poor Cotton Special to The Telegram. HASKELL, Texas, Dec. 4.-S. W. Wright, who lives west of Rule, was Haskell the other day and says that he made fine corn this year, but that his cotton was short. He lives in the section where the boll worm damaged the early cotton crop very seriously and the crop of bolls was kept green and growing so late that most of it was caught by the frost. So that the cotton yield is rather light in that part of the country. Fortunately the area damaged by the worms was not very large and in other portions of the county cotton is yielding from one-third to a bale an acre.

New Compress for Brownwood

Special to The Telegram. BROWNWOOD, Texas, Dec. 4.-A new compress is almost assured for Prownwood. Not a paper compress, but one that presses cotton like the one now in operation. A large cotton firm whose name we are not at liberty to mention, is behind the movement and local capital is enlisted. Confirmation of the report is hard to get because no one will talk, but it is learned upon pretty good authority that B. B. New Bank Organized Special to The Telegram. BARSTOW, Texas, Dec. 4.-At a meeting held Monday afternoon in the office of Starley & Hudson, Barstow's new bank was permanently organized with the exception of the election of officers, which was deferred to a subsequent meeting. Arrangements were made for a suitable building to house the new institution and nearly all the preliminary work carried thru. Those interested will meet again Monday afternoon at the office of Starley & Hudson, when the election will be held and the amount of capital stock made public. The new bank will be ready for business Jan. 2, 1907. Enlarging Hotel Special to The Telegram. SWEETWATER, Texas, Dec. 4.-One of the great enterprises of the town is that of the mineral well. These wells are noted far and near for the curative power of the water. They have effected cures often after the patient has tried numerous other healing waters. The Grogan hotel is crowded to its utmost capacity and the proprietor is forced to add more rooms to his building. He has now forty rooms and will at once com-mence the erection of ten more,

QUARTER MILLION RESIDENTS HERE

Meeting Completes Plan for Freight Bureau

At a meeting held in the interests of a freight bureau in the Board of Trade rooms Monday night, George C. Mountcastle, manager of the Rosenbaum Grain Company of this city, made the statement that if the railroads would give Fort Worth advantages such as they had given Kansas City, Fort Worth would have a quarter million people within three years, and that was these advantages that the freight bureau was going after.

The meeting Monday night was not heavily attended, but those who were there made up in earnestness and they started a plan for the raising of the $10,000 a year which was considered to be the amount that will be necessary to carry on the work, and a list was started. Further plans call for the starting of a committee Wednesday morning for the raising of this fund and the continuation of the work until the entire amount is raised. The committee on Thursday will be a different one from the Wednesday one, and a change will be made each day, leaving the matter in new hands to work where perhaps the others have failed. Captain Paddock will be a member of all the committees, how-

There were a dozen business men present at the meeting -Monday night and all expressed themselves as willing to carry on the work of making a freight bureau a success. Many rates which discriminate against the city of Fort Worth were quoted, the most apparent being where a northern window glass concern purchased their glass in California and had it shipped to their factory and then shipped here and could even then get it here cheaper than it would cost to ship the raw material from the same point as the factory, not including the freight on the window glass from California. Other rates, chiefly grain and flour rates, were shown and explanations urged from the railroads.

The committee which will start out Wednesday morning to seek subscriptions will be composed of Paul Waples, E. H. Carter and B. B. Paddock. On Thusday, John King, F. M. Rogers and B. B. Paddock will compose the committee. The following day Ben O. Smith, Oscar Wells and B. B. Paddock will go out. On Saturday there will be two committees, one in North Fort Worth and one in Fort Worth. Ireland Hampton and J. A. Stevenson will work in North Fort Worth, and George C. Mountcastle, W. G. Burton and B. B. Paddock in Fort With.

DEFENDS HIS SANITY

been the cause of much uneasiness in the Bedford neighborhood, was put on trial before Judge John L. Terrell Tuesday morning on a charge of insanity and the case is still on. Eastman conducted his own case and protested that he was sane, saying that this case was a job put up by his sons to keep him from getting married; that they would put on slippers and follow him around to find out what he was up to, and do all manner of things The defendant was given all the latitude possible in giving testimony, and in telling about his affairs he said he raised the finest laying chickens on earth; that he fed them on "High Life," and that got into their eggs, and that when the eggs hatched the chicks are of a kind that never quit laying. ### BEWLEY WILL BUILD

Another Three-Story Brick Structure for Houston Street

Plans are being drawn for the erection of a three-story brick building on Houston street, between Ninth and Tenth streets, on the twenty-five-foot vacant lot next to the new building erected by W. D. Reynolds and occupied by the William Henry Hardware Company. The new structure will be built by E. E. Bewley, the owner of the lot. It will be 25x100 feet in extent and will be erected soon.

This locality has been very active in a building way within the past year. The new Saunders triangle is just across the street and the Western National bank but a little ways up the street. Next to the lot where the new building will be erected is Reynolds building, mentioned above, while on the corner of Tenth and Houston George Reynolds has just finished a three-story brick, with 150 feet frontage. Behind this building James F. Moore is building a three-story brick facing Main street

PAFFRATH STARTS CHRISTMAS FUNDS

Would Aid Benevolent and Rescue Work of City

Plea for aid to benevolent and rescue work being conducted in Fort Worth, especially in view of the approaching Christmas season, is made by E. A. Paffrath in a letter to The Telegram, in which is also made announcement of contributions Mr. Paffrath has made toward starting the funds he suggests.

Fort Worth has many charitably inclined citizens and many who respond to every call made on their generosity, but it is doubtful if any so assiduously devote attention to finding worthy work which may be financially assisted as does Mr. Paffrath. His letter and the suggestions for Christmas funds it contains follows: To The Telegram.

I see in The Telegram of the 1st inst, an appeal to the public for aid, signed by Mrs. J. J. Jarvis, president, in behalf of the rescue home on the south side, west of St. Joseph's infirmary, a worthy cause, which is very commendable of Mrs. Jarvis. I understand this property was dedicated-to the county of Tarrant and the city of Fort Worth for the above purpose by Colonel Peter Smith, I also understand that the property on which is situated the Orphans' Home belongs o Tarrant county, Texas. Certainly the orphans are such as the result of no fault of their own. The inmates of the rescue home are such as the result of thoughtlessness in an unguarded moment, the result of our social system. So surely these two institutions are worthy and commendable and it does seem to us that in such prosperous times as these are. and as rich as Tarrant county is, and great as Fort Worth is, that surely no better investment could be made with the public money, nor no higher duty performed by these aforesaid two governments.

First. To the unfortunates referred to, the result of our social system; therefore, it seems to me that a sufficient amount of money should be appropriated to properly maintain these two institutions and take care of the present inmates and extend a hand of fellowship propelled by warm hearts to welcome to these institutions any unfortunate who will make an effort to return to the paths of righteousness and to take care of any and all orphans within our reach. It seems that our officials should felieve the good people in charge of these institutions from asking repeatedly aid for the proper care of each of the aforesaid institutions, so I appeal to said of-ficials in the name of all that is near and dear to them, here and hereafter, sary financial provisions for the proper maintenance of these institutions. In the days of our prosperity we should not live so far beneath our privilege as to forget the distress of less fortunate, struggling humanity. We should not allow icicles to form between us and the pulsation of the heart of suffering humanity, which might freeze us apart and prevent the flow of our sympathy out to them. For if we should allow icicles to form between the pulsations of the human heart and ours, some ice that would freeze them out from our sympathy would freeze us into our little bodies apart from humanity and we might become so cold that God's beautiful pure sunshine and sweetness could never reach our cold hearts. We should remain our money's master and use our money for the good of humanity, for at best, if we will think deeply within ourselves and reason high with the living God, we must realize that we are only trustees of our own estates, while we live, and as executors we should ponder long that we might acquit ourselves creditably when we are called upon to make our final settlement. Surely if our government finds it profitable to appropriate millions of dollars in reclaiming of the arid lands of the west, will it not be much more creditable and profitable to reclaim so far as we can thru local governments the victims of our social system-human souls-who surely and truly are the most precious things under the sun? Therefore it will be well in the name of Him whose birth we telebrate on the 25th of this month, whose entire life after maturity was spent in the appealing to the living God on high, in behalf of humanity. Therefore, let us use our influence for good that humanity may turn a new white leaf by being born in spirit thru God's wisdom, purity, love and goodness into a new eternal life on or before New Year's day.

I hereby create a fund for the benefit of the aforesaid rescue home by placing $10 in the Farmers and Mechanics National bank: I create another fund for the orphans' nome by placing $10 in the aforesaid bank; I create a further fund of $5 for the benefit of the rescue mission at 207 East Fifteenth street; I create a further fund by subscribing $5 to the Salvation Army of Fort Worth; I create a further fund by subscribing $5 for the Christian Volunteers of Fort Worth, Texas, and I create a further fund of $5 for Rev. I. Z. T. Morris for providing homes for orphans that he may

The aforesaid amounts have been deposited with the Farmers and Mechanics bank of Fort Worth, Texas, this day by me for the benefit of the aforesaid institutions to assist in taking proper care of the poor. This I give as a Christmas present, hoping that others may also see proper to do something to help others to help E. A. (PAT) PAFFRATH.

START GLASS FACTORY

Work Expected to Begin Before End of Ninety days' times has been allowed by the Texas Glass Company in the contract for the new glass factory at the stove foundry, which was let Monday. The contract, which was given to Woolverton & Co. of Albany, Ind., a firm with a great deal of experience in the building of glass factories, calls for a total expenditure of $38,800, in the erection of the factory complete. The main building of the new factory will cover a little over an acre of ground, while storage houses, etc., will be built over part of the remainder of the ten acres which the company has purchased near the stove foundry. Charter for the company was forwarded to Austin on Saturday, and calls for a capital stock of $50,000. which is all paid in. It is hoped by the management to get the new factory running within a very short time after the three months required to build the structure. Work will begin upon the excavation for the building before the end of the week, as the contractors and architects are upon the ground and ready to start as soon as possible.

The nicest thing about having mon-ey is that nobody ever cares then whether you pay your bills or not.

the lake in automobiles.

Nearly four years ago Mr.

went to Princeton to call on dent Cleveland. With him v ard R. Butler. As the bra to Princeton was crossing t at Stony Brook, Mr. Butler We once conceived the flooding all those marshes t ake for Princeton College." That seems a good idea, Mr. Carnegie. "You go ahead a survey made and report to will see what we can do." As a result the millionaire $400,000 for the consturction was immediately begun. To lake it was necessatry to the low lying meadow and sw consisting of about 300 acres part of which was covered timber and dense swamp grow basin and build a dam. T three and a half miles long a 500 to 1,000 feet wide. Its from three feet five inches feet. It will afford the studer fishing, canoeing, sailing, skahockey. There has been some discu to how the lake would be ma university and the resident town a splendid place for

as the university does not car sume the expense. It is expect today Mr. Carnegle will anno plans in that direction. He has by had the "Lake Carnegie Assortioned under the laws of New Will hold the lake and ad the affairs of the property.
