TRAIN LOAD OF FLOUR

Big Shipment from a Fort Worth Mill
The first solid train load of flour ever shipped by a merchant mill out of Fort Worth was shipped by the Bewley Milling Company over the International and Great Northern Railroad south to points along the line of last road Friday.
The train consisted of nineteen cars, each car having a 30-ton load, making the grand total of the train 570 tons of flour. The train before it started was decorated with banners telling the story of the shipment and incidentally giving Fort Worth a big advertisement as the great milling center of Texas.
The flour is all of Texas grown

RACE WITH THE STORK

Son Was Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Chatterton
W. A. Chatterton, a Fort Worth traveling salesman, had a race with a stork Friday morning, arriving here after a twenty-five-mile drive from Justin in time to precede the arrival of a ten-pound son. This birth was at the Metropolitan hotel, the first one on record at that hostelry. Mr. Chatterton was at Gainesville and received a message of the approach of the stork but missed his train and the drive was necessary.

COMMITTEE WILL DISCUSS CHARTER

City Council Committee Has Done Nothing

The general charter committee will meet at the mayor's office in the city hall Friday evening, at which meeting the work of the revision committee will be presented for discussion.

After a long session that held until 11 o'clock Thursday evening, the work of the subcommittee was completed and Mayor Harris called a meeting of the general committee for Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

The plan of the charter committee contemplates the formation of a commission form of government of the city and the abandonment of the city council style of government. The plan which will go to the general committee provides for a commission of five electors, an executive head and four commissioners, at a salary of $1,000 each, for the commissioners and $3,000 for the mayor, or executive head.

The work is to be divided among the several commissioners, but all are to be responsible, to a degree at least, to the chief executive. Rigid control of the departments is provided for, that there will be harmonious as well as efficient service.

The gentlemen who are on the general committee are C. K. Lee, Thomas D. Ross, M. B. Harris, E. P. Maddox, M. M. Lydon, W. D. Harris, J. E. Weeden, G. C. Mountain, J. Williams, Ousley, Dr. J. L. Cooper, E. H. Carter, C. D. Reimers, Lee Stephens, J. E. Shanahan, E. C. Delmage, W. P. Lane, A. T. Baskin, William D. Williams, A. L. Matlock, Judge James Scott, W. M. Knight, Ben P. Ayers, J. Y. Hogsett, Thilman Smith, W. P. McLean, B. B. Faddock, B. M. Wyrick, J. W. Woodman, S. J. Hunter, C. W. Woodman, W. A. Hanger, J. W. Swayne, A. M. Carter, J. J. Jarvis and W. J. Bailey.

The city council charter committee has not held a meeting since its appointment, but there seems to be a growing belief that the city council committee will make provision for the election of all of the department heads by the people, but as some of the members of the committee say, there has not been a meeting of the committee, nor any consultation with one another, nor any action taken, it is pure speculation as to what the council charter will contain.

letter that is surprising to the Chronicle and to the people of Texas is that after such a confession or admission, he should have the effrontery to make an assertion: "Public office is an honor only when honorably sought and honorably filled. The infamy of the public servant who betrays the honor, the trust and the confidence of his people, will outlive his generation. I thank God that it has never been the fate of Texas to honor such, and I pray God it never shall."

"The time has now arrived when Senator Bailey cannot honorably represent the people of Texas. . . .
"Furthermore, let us further the honor and good name of Texas, wipe out the incident as soon as possible, elect some worthy man as United States senator and proceed to again put the state's political honor above all else.

DALLAS TIMES-HERALD

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 7.—Hugh N. Fitzgerald, in the Times-Herald today, says: "Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey's reply to the question of Attorney General Davidson will be found on another page. Its full text is given just as it came from the council room of the senator and his closest political friends and advisers. The admissions made by Senator Bailey concerning his relations with Henry Clay Pierce will be in the nature of a great shock to thousands of friends of the junior senator. The readers of the Times-Herald are urged to read this reply or defense word for word, line for line, weigh carefully every statement, every explanation, every allegation, every protest, and every appeal."

"The people should rule in Texas and elsewhere the people should sit as a jury in this case and should weigh the evidence and sift the grain from the chaff. The Times-Herald has read the Bailey defense and comment is unnecessary. The Times-Herald is a newspaper and not a law office. It plays fair and in the open and it never strikes from behind. It believes in giving an opponent a run for his money—a chance for his life. The other day this paper demanded the resignation of the attorney general in order to make a searching investigation of all the facts connected with the readmission of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company."

"It insisted that in justice to all concerned the people, the corporation and the individual involved—investigation was imperative demand of the hour in order that justice should be done, the guilty condemned and the innocent vindicated. The Times-Herald stands pat—new developments have not swerved it from the path of its conviction of what constitutes a fair deal. It is up to the Texas legislature and the lawmakers of the state, who will be sworn to guard the interests of the state and their rights in the premises, to have a duty, a sacred duty, to perform."

"Appoint a joint committee of the state senate, call the witnesses, demand all the evidence, dig up all the facts and then return a verdict in accordance with the law and evidence. It is a fair deal. Every man who should be of and for Texas regardless of friendship's ties or business entanglements, lack the nerve to take on this record along these lines, then remand the senatorial succession question back to the democrats of Texas and order a second primary. The bill was passed up to the people and the people are the master. The people never make mistakes. It is impossible; they are the masters of their own destiny. Keep the record straight; play the game according to the rules; give every man a fair deal. It is up to the men of the Thirtieth legislature; if they will not do it, the responsibility to the people, the democrats of Texas. This will be mainly the present writing must confess that this will be just, this will be charitable and this will be democratic."

North Fort Worth Notes and Personal James E. Buchanan has returned from a business trip to Waco.

Work on the First Baptist church is progressing satisfactorily. The work is being done by the members of the church.

James E. Buchanan and William R. Grant have formed a partnership and are preparing to open up a real estate office in North Fort Worth.

Rev. Dr. Malcom McGregor of Atlanta, Ga., is assisting Rev. N. Bell, pastor of the North Fort Worth Baptist church, in a series of revival meetings.

W. G. Hewitt has begun a new building on Central avenue, near the site of the burned building occupied by a grocery store and a butcher shop.

A guitar was found by the manager of one of the shows hidden under the tent, and it was turned over to the North Fort Worth police.

The revival services that are being conducted by Dr. McGregor of Atlanta, Ga., at the First Baptist church in North Fort Worth will continue indefinitely.

Dr. McGregor is a Scotchman possessed of a quiet wit and his sermons, which are much in the nature of conversational lectures, are greatly enjoyed by his audience.

THE JAPANESE PROBLEM

The state of Texas is soon going to be face to face with the Japanese problem, just as it confronts California and other Pacific coast states. And there is a diversity of opinion in Texas on this Japanese question, a portion of the state desiring to see large numbers of these people come in, while other sections consider them objectionable. During the month of November, 100 Japs entered the state thru the Eagle Pass port from Mexico, and the number is expected to be doubled during the present month. These immigrants were shipped direct to the United States from Japan thru Salina Cruz, Mexico, and seemed well supplied with American money upon their arrival. The figures given as the number of Japs entering at Eagle Pass are from the official reports made to L. C. Stewart, immigration inspector in charge of the Mexican border, who has official headquarters in San Antonio. The steamship line operating from Japan to Salina Cruz is offering lower rates than the lines entering San Francisco, and for the reason that this new gateway is the cheapest, the Japs are beginning to take that route. All who have so far applied for admission have been able to pass the financial and health tests and were readily admitted. None can speak the English language, but they learn it very rapidly. Reports to the immigration authorities indicate that these people are experiencing no difficulty in finding immediate employment.

The number of Japs coming into Texas across the Mexican border seems to be constantly increasing, and it is doubtless the result of some recent investigations made in the southern portion of the state by representatives of the Japanese government. These agents of the Japanese government seem to have been particularly attracted by the possibilities of the rice producing section of the state, and it is said many of the newcomers are turning in that direction. The people residing in that portion of the state are disposed to give them a cordial welcome, as they promise to solve the labor question in a most effectual manner, thru the elimination of both the Mexican and the laborer.

And the state of Texas is not particularly fond of Mexican labor at this time. The troubles that have occurred down on the lower Rio Grande border and happenings in some other sections of the state have caused a decided aversion to giving employment to Mexicans where other laborers can be obtained. But in many instances they have to be employed from the simple fact that no other material is available. Texas is developing industrially today perhaps faster than any other state in the union, and from every portion of the state there arises a Macedonian cry for help. There are thousands of acres in cotton that are yet a glistening white in Texas because there has not been sufficient labor available to gather the crop. In some sections of the state the indications are that cotton picking will be in progress until some time in the spring.

There are many thinking men, however, who look upon the Japs as a greater menace to labor than the heathen Chinese, and who are already advocating the principles of an exclusion act. They say that the Chinese only compete with day labor or in business where competition is the life of trade. The Japs, on the contrary, enter the mechanical trades, and in many instances have already displaced both American and British mechanics. This is particularly true of Mexico, and it is said that many of the largest ocean steamers in the Chinese trade are now under Japanese engineers, and every locomotive engine in both China and Japan is now operated by a Jap.

Texas immigration authorities are of the opinion that within the next twelve months at least a thousand Jap entries per month can be expected thru the Texas border towns alone. A number of large Japanese immigration companies have been formed in the city of Mexico, and they are importing Japs by the thousands into both Mexico and the United States.

ply. The Panhandle stuff measures up to every requirement of the situation, and it is there these men are finding just what they require.

Down in southwest Texas, where there are many vast colonization and development projects in vogue, the Jap laborer is being welcomed with open arms, for they are badly needed as day laborers. Since the head tax and the money clause of the immigration law are being enforced there are fewer Mexicans, and that insures a greater demand for the Japs.

SHOULD LIVE FOR TODAY

How much better to use some of the good things of life as we go along? To make our homes as cheery, and bright as possible now. Do not starve today, either body, mind or soul, thinking that poverty will knock at your door tomorrow. Don't hoard and scrimp thru all the best days of your life that you may be generous in your will. Life is uncertain, and it is better to make your children happy while under the parental roof, to call to that home every agency that will make their lives sweeter and better, than to deny them these that you may leave them a large account when you are gone. It will be too late for them to return kindness to you then. Don't keep the parlor shut up and live in the kitchen, unless you want the boys and girls to be anxious to leave you. Don't think they must not go anywhere but to Sunday school and prayer meeting; remember you were young yourself.—Caldwell News-Chronicle.

It is the man or woman who lives for today that gets the real essence of life. We do not mean by this that living today means the squandering of one's possessions, or the living beyond one's means. But we do mean that those who are engaged in the battle for life are entitled to enjoy some of the good things of life all along during the campaign.

There are thousands of men and women in Texas today who are exercising a commendable frugality in the effort to get on in the world and achieve a form of financial independence. When they reach the desired point they will be wise enough to turn in and begin to enjoy life as they should. But there are others who progress from frugality to parsimony, and who become so provident that their providence is alike painful to themselves and all who observe them. The man who gets up in the morning and fries bacon and eats the gravy for his breakfast and saves the bacon for his dinner will ultimately get on in the world. But there is no necessity for him keeping up the practice beyond the time that he can afford the straight bacon at each meal.

We can carry none of the things we acquire on earth beyond the brink of the grave, and nine times out of ten our posterity would be better off if it had to hustle for the necessities of life just as we have to do. The great men of both ancient and modern times are those who sprang from the depths without anything with the semblance of a silver spoon in their mouths.

Every man owes it to his family and himself to provide them with all the comforts and conveniences possible. The good wife should be recompensed for all the early years of privation she has endured, and her declining years should be made her brightest and happiest years. The many little things so coveted by the feminine heart—even the things that appear ridiculous in masculine eyes, should be provided in grateful recognition of the years she has given to you of her sweet young life, and the toil and travail that has followed the rearing of your brood. And the children should also have proper recognition and treatment. It is a duty every man owes to his family to provide that family with all the sunshine and enjoyment he can cast in their direction.

SENATOR BAILEY'S EXPLANATION

The long expected and greatly vaunted explanation from Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey concerning his connection with the readmission of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company into this state six years ago, after it had been ousted for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws, and the various sums of money he is alleged to have received in connection therewith, was given to the public this morning. The greatest feature of the document, however, is that it is an explanation that does not explain.

Senator Bailey admits that he received large sums of money from H. C. Pierce of the oil company just after its readmission into the state, but claims the money was received as a loan and afterward repaid.

The Telegram insists that this explanation is both a lame and an unsatisfactory one, from the fact that it discloses the fact that Senator Bailey as a servant of the people is in too close touch with public service corporations that are preying upon the people. That has been the Telegram's position since the beginning of the controversy, and while the paper has been sorely tried, it has remained steadfast to the great principle so well set forth by William J. Bryan to the effect that public servants shall not be permitted while in the service of the people to serve either the great trusts of the country or their agents, representatives or officers. The Telegram has stood to its principles and carefully refrained from any indulgence in personalities, and still remains steadfast in its original position that these things shall not be permitted.

The situation must now be passed up to the people of the state and the next legislature. They are the ones to say whether or not Senator Bailey has sinned beyond the point of forgiveness. The Dallas News, which has heretofore been neutral, in an editorial this morning says Bailey should be defeated for the very reasons advocated by The Telegram from the beginning and such now seems to be the drift of popular sentiment.

PANHANDLE CALVES FOR FEEDERS

Judge O. H. Nelson of Amarillo has returned from an extended trip thru the eastern corn belt states in the interest of the Panhandle calf and yearling as a feeding proposition. He visited the stock sale centers of Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, and did much to stimulate the good opinion the feeders of those sections already have of Panhandle feeder cattle such as are now produced in that section.

It was Dan W. Black, a great feeder of Lyndon, Ohio, who first signally demonstrated the fine qualities of this Panhandle range bred stuff. In 1901 he won the first prize at the great International Live Stock Show at Chicago with a bunch of Panhandle cattle that had been fed and finished for market at his feeding pens in Ohio. And since Dan Black captured that grand prize it has been no trouble to interest Ohio feeders in the Panhandle feeder proposition.

Thru all these eastern states in recent years feeding has become a very important industry and is constantly increasing in importance. The average corn belt feeder is a very careful and discriminating operator, and fully realizes that just the right kind of an animal must be obtained and properly handled in order to achieve the desired results. There was a time when they produced this class of cattle for themselves, but the great enhancement that has come to land values thruout the corn belt has so changed conditions that it is no longer profitable to breed and raise the cattle on the farms. It has grown too valuable to be devoted to grazing purposes, and the feeder has been

Some of the largest operators in the corn belt have learned to come to the Panhandle in person and select the stock they want directly from the ranges where it is produced. The smaller feeders, however, who are greatly in the majority, are compelled to depend on the Chicago market and the various auction sales that are conducted by enterprising dealers who ship large numbers of these cattle to common centers and auction them off in bunches to suit the buyers. Judge Nelson has done considerable work in developing this feature of the situation, and expects a greatly increased demand during the coming season.

The President's message to congress has the 'New Rooseveltian ring and flavor. It abounds in sensationalism and contains many surprises even for members of his own party. Democratic members of congress stoutly affirm that the President is still engaged in the nefarious practice of stealing democratic thunder and express great indignation over his action. The message on the whole is a very strong one.

The democratic members of congress declare that President Roosevelt's message contains just about all the timber that was used in the last three national democratic platforms, and if that is the case it stands greatly to the President's credit. He knew where to go for material that would not warp or split under the weight of republican endorsement.

Representative Gaines of Tennessee is to the front with a bill to raise the congressional salary to $7,500 per annum and actual expenses in making trips to and from Washington. And this goes to prove that there is at least one member of congress who knows what he is there for.

Representative Aldridge of Ellis county has withdrawn from the race for speaker of the next house, and this leaves the contest between Peeler of Austin and Love of Dallas, with the chances in favor of the Dallas man.

In making up your list of holiday presents this year, do not forget the poor. There are many people in Fort Worth who will experience none of the joys of the occasion unless charity knocks without ostentation at their humble abodes.

Fort Worth real estate has become a staple commodity, and the money now being invested in business property on the leading marts of commerce prove there is no feeling of apprehension as to the future of this city.

Six and seven-story buildings are going to be quite common in this city in the near future, unless there is miscarriage in many plans that are now being formulated.

IN TEXAS PRESS

A vigorous campaign has been inaugurated thruout the larger cities against the idle and vagrant element. The high tide of prosperity in Texas has brought with it work for every man within the borders of the state and no excuse remains for idleness. The man who doesn't work, doesn't want to, that's evident. He could render invaluable service crushing rock or manipulating a split log drag on the country roads.—Austin Tribune.

There is no excuse for vagrancy in Texas, for abundant work can be found for all willing hands. And the crusade that officers are inaugurating in various cities and towns is opportune and timely. All able-bodied loafers should be put to work.

Of the estimated cotton yield for 1906 of 12,450,000 bales Texas and Indian Territory are credited with 4,026,000 bales, or nearly one-third of the entire crop. At the present rate of development of Texas farming lands this state will in a few years produce at least one-third of the entire cotton crop of the south.—San Antonio Express.

The time is near at hand when the Texas cotton crop is going to prove a very unwieldy proposition unless arrangements are made to manufacture it at home. There ought to be hundreds of cotton mills under construction in Texas at this time.

There was one surprise after the tree had been shaken and the plums gathered. William P. Sebastian's name isn't in the list of winners. There is no better citizen, better democrat or better Texan than bluff Sebastian of Breckinridge.—Dallas Times-Herald.

The Fort Worth Telegram has discovered that the faint woman has vanished from the face of the earth. Don't mention it, for fear that style will come back, brother.—Bonham Herald.

No danger of that. Women find it no longer fashionable to faint, and some of them are learning to go gunning for mice just like a man.

A St. Louis nurse fired a pistol five times at a book agent who was trying to sell her books, but missed him every time. The public generally would like to have the job of training those bullets in the straight and narrow course to his death.—Austin Statesman.

It is not necessary to use firearms on a book agent. A firm and determined no will generally send them on their way in search of a new victim.

President Roosevelt asks for free trade for the Philippines with the United States. And why not? We hold the islands. They are American possessions, and why shouldn't the islanders be given American privileges? Why should selfish and powerful interests be permitted to defeat this all-American recommendation of the chief executive?—Dallas Times-Herald.

The President is very proud of his ability as a writer, and he dearly loves to write. Next to fighting we can well imagine that wielding the pen affords him his greatest happiness. Seemingly, whenever he ascertains anything, the impulse is irresistible to sit down and put it in black and white. When anything excites his interest, he immediately reaches for his pen and uncorks the ink well. And so we find his morning another tidal wave of interesting observations in the form of his annual message.—Houston Post.

The President's message is well worth reading, for it is a very able document. Theodore Roosevelt is one of the few really great men of the country, and his greatness is the direct result of his democratic proclivities.

TRAIT REMINDS ME

ONLY WAY HE COULD HELP The chief justice while presiding over the supreme court at Washington took the several justices of the court for a run down Chesapeake Bay. A stiff wind sprang up, and Justice Gray was getting decidedly the worst of it. As he leaned over the rail in great distress, the chief justice touched him on the shoulder and said in a tone of deepest sympathy: "Is there anything I can do for you, Gray?" "No, thank you," returned the sick justice, "unless your honor can overrule this motion."

MONEY TO BURN A well-known Philadelphia real estate man who occupies offices in a Chestnut street, building entered the elevator and was confronted with the customary Christmas box, and stepping up to it, remarked: "Money! Money! What good is money, anyway?" at the same time dropping a generous contribution.

"What good is it?" remarked the colored elevator boy. "Why, what are you going to do with all your money when you die?" "Why, I'm going to take it with me, of course."

Quick as a flash the boy replied, "I always thought you had money to burn."

IN TEMPTATION'S WAY "This is the first time you have been to prayer meeting in a long time, Erastus," said the pastor of a negro congregation. "I had to come," replied Erastus. "I needs strength-enin'. I see got a job whitewashin' a chicken coop and buildin' a fence around a watermelon patch."

VALUE OF CREMATION "Cremation is good," wrote the little girl in the examination, "because the person might only be in a swoon, and if he is burned he cannot recover."

A CHEAP THANKSGIVING DINNER Yvette Guilbert, the famous French actress, presided at a dinner in New York the festival of Thanksgiving.

"It is a pleasant festival," she said. "I am sorry that in France we have no such day of gratitude for the year's harvest. It is a great day with you. You have novels, tales, anecdotes and poems based upon it."

"An actor this morning told me a Thanksgiving anecdote. He said that a penniless young man entered a cheap restaurant one Thanksgiving day and said: "What do you charge for a plate of turkey?" "A quarter, sir," the waiter answered.

"Any charge for bread?" "No, sir." "Or for gravy?" "No." "Then bring me a large plate of bread and gravy."

SUSPICIOUS Senator Beveridge said the other day of a political statement that seemed to him suspicious: "It reminds me of an Indiana woman who, as she examined her Thanksgiving turkey, said to her little son: "Did the grocer tell you this turkey was quite fresh?"

"No'm," the boy answered. "He just said to hurry home with it as fast as I could."

OLIVER HERFORD'S WIT An editor was talking the other day in New York about the wit of Oliver Herford. "It is his unexpected quality," he said, "that makes Herford's wit so delightful."

"He sat in my office one afternoon when a young novelist entered. "Mr. Herford," said the novelist, eagerly, "I value your opinion very much. Now I want you to tell me candidly what you think of my new book."

"No, no," said Herford, hurriedly, "let us remain friends."

A BARGAIN IN CIGARS Martin Van Camp, a wholesale purveyor of Omaha, was talking the other day about buyers. "My salesmen," he said, "would always prefer to deal directly with heads of firms instead of with buyers. With the heads everything, always, is open and above board. But in the case of buyers, anything one does seems to smack of trickery and deceit."

"A certain New York buyer for a big firm ordered from a salesman of mine last week a large consignment of turkeys. The salesman, pleased with the order, took the buyer a box of 100 expensive cigars. It was an honorable enough performance, but the buyer, when the present was offered to him, got mad.

"Look out," he said, warningly. "None of that. You can't bribe me, you know."

"The salesman was vexed, but he put a good face on the matter. "Bribe you?" he exclaimed. "Why, man, you must be crazy. Who wants to bribe you? This was a simple little present, the same as I've made frequently to your employer. But if you won't have it as a present, why, buy it from me. Give me a quarter for it."

"The buyer's suspicions vanished. He searched his pockets. "I haven't got a quarter," he said. "I've got nothing less than this half dollar."

"And I," said the salesman, hoping after all that he wouldn't have to take the buyer's money, "and I haven't got a cent of change."

"But the buyer nevertheless thrust the half dollar on him. "Keep it all," he said, "and you can bring me another box on your next trip."

THE MAKING OF MAN

Before the beginning of years There came to the making of man Time, with a gift of tears; Grief, with a glass that ran; Pleasure, with pain for leaven; Summer, with flowers that fell; Remembrance fallen from heaven, And madness risen from hell; Strength without hands to smite; Love that endures for a breath; Night, the shadow of light, And life, the shadow of death.

And the high gods took in hand Fire and the falling of tears; And a measure of sliding sand From under the feet of the years; And froth and drift of the sea; And dust of the laboring cart; And bodies of things to be In the houses of death and birth, And wrought with weeping and laughter And fashioned with loathing and iver, With life before and after, For a day, and a night, and a morrow, That his strength might endure for a span, With travail and heavy sorrow, The holy spirit of man.

From the winds of the north and the south, They gathered up unto strife; They breathed upon his mouth, They filled his body with life; Eyesight and speech they wrought For the veils of the soul therein, A time for labor and thought, A time to serve and to sin; They gave him light in his ways, And love, and a space for delight, And beauty, and length of days, And night, and sleep in the night.

His speech is a burning fire; With his lips he travellith; In his heart is a blank desire, In his eyes foreknowledge of death; He weaves and is clothed with derision, Sows, and he shall not reap; His life is a watch or a vision Between a sleep and a sleep.

—Algernon Charles Swinburne.

DRIFT OF POLITICS

CULBERSON AND THE PRESIDENCY Since the Washington Post expressed the opinion that the democratic party might do worse than to nominate a southern man for President of the United States, and that Senator Culberson of Texas is Presidential timber, the Texas papers have been taking the matter seriously.

It appears to be assumed that by his advocacy of government ownership of railroads Mr. Bryan has eliminated himself as a democratic Presidential probability, and that the best way to get the party back to its safe moorings is to accept the suggestion of the Washington paper that "the democratic party has no secure lodgment except at the south," and that "the time has come for the south to assert herself as the head of the family."

Strongly supporting the suggestion of Senator Culberson as the democratic standard bearer in 1908, State Press of the Dallas News says: "One thing is certain with all men, and that is that Mr. Bryan, confessedly the leader of his party, having announced for the government ownership, his nomination would be taken as an indication that his party agrees with him. True, the platform of the party might ignore it, but the opposition—that is, the republican party—will not refuse to charge the party with deception in suppressing his honest views as expressed by its nominee on the subject. State Press confesses that he has never been favorable to the nomination of a southern democrat by the democrats for President, because he believed the time had not come when success could be obtained in that way. But he is now sincere in the view that the very best thing the party can do is to nominate a southern man, and, moreover, that Senator Culberson on account of his position on this question and on other questions, might well be made the nominee."

Senator Griggs of Houston has suggested John Sharp Williams of Mississippi as the man whom the south should put forward for the democratic nomination in 1908, while a great many other democratic leaders and democratic newspapers are still of the opinion that Governor Folk of Missouri is the man to win the battle for the democrats in the next national engagement. Mr. Folk won the governorship in Missouri when the republicans got nearly all the other offices, just as Mr. Hughes won the governorship of New York when he was the only candidate on his ticket elected, and similar causes operated for the election of each.

Circumstances have not favored a spectacular campaign for Mr. Culberson in Texas, but his record as governor of the state for two terms and as United States senator are all that a candidate for the Presidential office could desire. He has had the courage to emphasize his opposition to the socialist idea of government ownership of railroads as strongly since Mr. Bryan declared for it as before, and he is known to adhere to the principles of sound democracy, which obtained when the democratic party had the confidence of the people and won victories in the north as well as in the south.

As has been suggested, Senator Culberson as the nominee of the democratic party might not win the Presidency, but he would uphold and defend the principles of the party and gain for it greater respect and confidence than the wild, impracticable and socialist reformers, so-called, could ever command.—San Antonio Express.

WILL KEEP HIM BUSY There is one thing sure. If a man stays long enough in the cabinet, the President will give him enough different things to do to make him an all round public servant.—Columbus Dispatch.

WHAT THE RAILROADS IN TEXAS ARE DOING

Roby is to Build Own Line... Special to The Telegram. ROBY, Texas, Dec. 7.—Mr. Palmer of Crowley, La., met with the Citizens' Club last Friday night and offered the people a railroad proposition, but they did not see fit to accept it. The plan was to build a standard gauge motor line from some point and would build thru Roby, if the people would give a bonus of $50,000; provided the promoters could secure a strip of land one mile wide on each side of the proposed line for a part of the distance. If not the entire length of the line, the land so secured to be used for colonization purposes. They proposed to locate sixteen families to the mile on each side of the railroad. There were more reasons than one why the people did not consider his bonus proposition, his plans were too indefinite and further his people intend to build the same kind of road the people of Roby have planned to build and for which they have between $29,000 and $40,000 of stock subscribed. The people of Roby believe they can build a motor line just as well as Mr. Palmer and his associates, and instead of giving $50,000 bonus they would own that much stock in the road.

Headed for Wichita Falls... Special to The Telegram. WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Dec. 7.—There are still evidences of improvement, thrift and prosperity going on in Wichita Falls. The carpenters are all busy, the brick masons are at work on buildings, the sidewalks are going down and another brick building is going to go up right away. There is push and energy apparent on every hand. We are building the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railroad from this city to Oklahoma country. The Rock Island is headed this way from Chattanooga, in the Oklahoma country we are making the Wichita Falls soon to close up the gap between Oklahoma City and Byers, and the Wichita Valley between Stamford and Abilene. All these things mean for the upbuilding of a town, and with such a beginning Wichita Falls will build more rapidly in the future than it has in the past.

Wages Raised 10 Per Cent... Special to The Telegram. WEATHERFORD, Texas, Dec. 7.—About eighty per cent of the employees of the Weatherford, Mineral Wells and Northwestern Railway Company were rather agreeably surprised when they received their last month's pay a few days ago to find that their checks called for an average of 10 per cent more than they had been receiving. Some of the boys no doubt surmised that a mistake had been made or that they were receiving a little extra pay for overtime which they had overlooked. But upon comparing checks they decided that the same condition could not have prevailed thruout the service, and the crestle look of perplexity and astonishment was soon displaced by a broad smile of satisfaction and gratitude.

Place of Crossing Changed... Special to The Telegram. ALPINE, Texas, Dec. 7.—The Orient people have decided to change the place of crossing the Rio Grande to a point five miles lower down the river. The change was made because the company was unable to buy some land that was wanted for the townsite. But it has since been learned that they have bought 1,000 acres at the new point, which will soon be laid off in town lots and placed on the market. Judge Van Sickle, the company's attorney, has been instructed to sell the lands they had purchased at the old crossing.

Engineer's Escape Narrow... Special to The Telegram. BROWNWOOD, Texas, Dec. 7.—H. Alexander, engineer of the Santa Fe, and well known in Brownwood, had a close call in a very peculiar accident a day or two ago. He had stopped his engine to oil up and in stepping down from the cab with a torch

To Settle Concho Country... Special to The Telegram. SAN ANGELO, Texas, Dec. 7.—While in the city on Friday Mr. S. A. Kendig, the well known and popular passenger agent of the Santa Fe system, who has recently been promoted to the position of immigration agent for his lines, talked to a number of leading business men in regard to the work of bringing people and settling up the Concho country. Talking to a reporter Mr. Kendig stated that they are awaiting developments of the new year before laying out plans for the future, but they are ready and willing to co-operate in any movement looking to the material advancement and growth of the Concho country and the entire section adjacent to their line.

RHEUMATISM WORSE FROM YEAR TO YEAR

The cause of Rheumatism is an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought on by indigestion, chronic constipation, weak kidneys and a general sluggish condition of the entire system. The refuse and waste matter of the body is not carried out as nature intends, but is left to ferment and sour and generate uric acid, which is absorbed into the blood. The first evidence of Rheumatism is usually little wandering pains in the muscles and joints, or a tender, sensitive place on the flesh. These are often so slight that nothing is thought of them and they pass away; but with each recurrence the trouble becomes more severe, and from slight wandering pains and excited nerves, Rheumatism grows to be a painful and almost constant trouble. The longer the poison remains in the blood the firmer hold the trouble gets on the system. Each day the acid deposit is increasing and the disease grows worse from year to year. After awhile the joints become coated with a corrosive substance which seriously interferes with their working and movements. cures Rheumatism by going down into the blood and attacking the disease at its head. It neutralizes the poisons and acids and dissolves the salts and irritating deposits, making the blood stream pure, fresh and healthy. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, and is therefore a safe remedy. When the blood has been purified by S. S. S. the pains and aches pass away, and the cure is permanent. TWO MILLION ARE SLAVES

Amazing Figures On Evil of Child Labor CHILD LABOR BILL Thousands of Children Under Ten Years Are Toiling Their Lives Away

BY GILSON GARDNER Staff Correspondence The Telegram. WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 7.—How many children in the United States are held in industrial slavery? This is a question to which the attention of congress is to be directed this winter by Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana.

Sen. Beveridge

Can the strong arm of the federal government be persuaded to save the children? The senator from Indiana says that it can. His announcement, and the plan which he suggests, are the most radical propositions which have been brought before the country for many years. That the children have not been protected and that the state authorities, whose duty it is to protect them, have been bribed and corrupted, ap-

Some of the children are shown to be put to work when very young. In Pennsylvania, for example, where the boys are based on their hard coal mines, the census enumerators found 2,067 boys 10 years of age at work. In addition to these, there were 3,614 boys 11 years of age, 7,348 boys 12 years of age, 14,286 boys 14 years of age and 33,101 boys 15 years of age.

How does the child laborer fare? Pennsylvania is supposed to have statutes against child labor, and law officers to enforce them. But Pennsylvania has Mr. Baer of the Delaware & Lackawanna Railway, leading spirit of the coal trust, and commissioned by the Almighty, as Mr. Baer thinks to make the business pay. The consequence is Pennsylvania does not protect these children.

The remedy which is suggested by Senator Beveridge is very simple. He would make it illegal for anthracite coal to be broken up in the breaker houses to be shipped from one state to another. Thus Pennsylvania would have to either dispose of all its hard coal within its own boundaries, or the little breaker boys under 14 years of age must be taken out of the breakers and sent to school.

The same principle applies to the children employed, for example, in the cotton mills of Alabama. The census returns show that in that state there are 60,780 boys under 14 years of age and 28,748 girls under 14 years of age working, mostly in the cotton mills.

North Carolina also indulges in child slavery, employing more than half its children between 10 and 14 years of age. There were in that state in 1900, 62,445 boys and 25,541 girls employed in gainful occupations. In Indiana there were 16,101 boys so employed, and 2,809 girls.

As one moves west, conditions improve in the matter of child labor. In the section of the United States embracing the states from Washington on the north to California on the south, and coming east as far as Colorado and Utah, the proportion of boys between 10 and 14 engaged in gainful occupations is but 7 per cent. In Cotton Mills The census figures show that the largest number of young children and women employed is in the cotton mills. Second to these come the silk mill operatives. The hosiery and knitting mills employ a great many women and children, as do the shirt factories, the woolen mills, the glass factories, the paper mills, the leather working factories and the cigar and tobacco works. When Senator Beveridge will be able to force his legislative remedy in the teeth of the powerful moneyed interest which will be arrayed against him remains to be seen. Certain it is, that his fight will be a harder one than that put up by the beef trust.

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

BY ELLA WHEELER WILCOX. (Copyright, 1924, by American-Journal-Examiner.)

If you are discouraged, ill, unhappy, do not let the idea of suicide enter your mind.

Every day the newspapers report the attempt at self-destruction of some poor, mistaken human being.

I say the attempt, because no being ever succeeds in ending life. The man who commits suicide ends this one earthly phase of life, but he finds himself just as much alive and just as miserable as he was here.

He may not suffer with the bodily ailments, but he suffers with ten-fold the mental anguish when he realizes the irreversibility of life.

I know this statement will call forth many challenges for proof. I have not space or time to give my explanations here, but he who chooses to hunt for such proofs may find them.

There is a book I would like to recommend as full of valuable information on this subject. It is by E. C. Randall, an attorney at Buffalo, N. Y. It is called "Life's Progression."

Cling to Life

The facts given in this book are not obtained in a way that I can approve.

The methods by which they came re-suscitated, and many of them a human being, a being who subjects her will and mentality to the use of other influences, out of the body. It is always dangerous, it is always wrong, for the highest duty imposed on us is to retain and develop our own individuality and to leave the great law of concentration and discover God's truths in the right way.

This mind, which has been the instrument, this which "Life Progression" was written, received such valuable and important facts that I beg all my readers, especially any who are suicidally inclined, to obtain this book.

It contains more truth than is preached in all the churches of the world. Aside from the spiritual phase of suicide, it is extremely vulgar.

The drug and alcohol victim, the burglar and thief and assassin take to suicide easily. Who wishes to place himself in that class?

Then why seek the methods of exit from this earth selected by them and run the risk of falling into their company on the other side?

Then, too, at the moment the unfortunate conditions surrounding you may change.

Health is greatly a matter of will and common sense habits.

I have known a score of people declared to be hopelessly ill, invalids for life, to recover their health without the aid of doctors of medicine.

Things Change

The milk diet has cured thousands. Electricity and violet rays have cured thousands.

Twenty minutes a day given to active physical exercises have cured thousands.

Belief in health has cured thousands. So there is every chance of getting well, to recover their health without the aid of doctors of medicine.

As for poverty, the world is full of opportunities of wealth, and if you keep your eyes open, your heart open and your mind alert, the way will be shown you to find prosperity.

It all depends upon yourself.

If sorrow is yours, remember this, too, will pass away.

Busy yourself with the sorrows of others, and believe your own were sent for your self-development.

When you are tempted to commit suicide, remember the old saying, "There is a long time to be dead."

So stay alive here on earth until you are called.

Everything will be different, tomorrow.

Wait.

Mrs. S. D. Rainey has returned to Fort Worth after an absence of two years to Cleburne and Missouri. She is accompanied by her son, Wright Rainey.

Who among our girls wouldn't like to have an opera cloak, one that fluffed all over with chiffon ruffles, and was as bewitching with daintiness as could be? But, dear me, how few of us can afford it.

Let me tell you, girls, a secret. Although made of wool, and very, very much less expensive, the opera cloak in our picture is every whit as handsome as one made of chiffon. Indeed, I think it is lovelier and smarter still, altogether what my girl readers would want.

So let all have a good chat about it. First of all, there is the yoke, which everyone of you will agree is exactly the right shape. It is almost straight across the back for the slight curve in the outline, and the lines of the pattern, to keep it from looking ungainly. In the front the lines run gracefully to Mrs. Bright of Kentucky.

appearance of a lovely braided in fanciful design. It is prettily joined together with nothing of the effect of ordinary crochet work.

After the yoke is finished, the lining for the lower portions, and really the cape proper, is made. This, too, is of Shetland floss and in the lining color. It is made on a bigger Maltese pin, one fully twice as large as that used for the yoke, and the work is done quite closely, to give a substantial body.

Upon the foundation are fastened the flounces. They are made of zephyr Shetland on the larger Maltese pins, and of themselves fluff about in the way accordian pleated chiffon has. Words cannot describe how deliciously soft these little curls of daintiness are, particularly after the tiny edge that binds them together has been worked. I for one shall have one of these cloaks, and it is the wise little woman who does likewise.

men, and took an arm of each. They walked thru the crowd of people, stopping now and then to look back at the burning building.

"I shall have to go back," he explained. "I have some things to look after. You should go straight to bed. You can do nothing till morning. Then you can get another outfit. It's too bad—and a wedding journey, too!"

"But you will be here in the morning, will you not?" asked Day.

"Yes; we shall want to hear the whole story," said Mrs. Day. "Good-night," and she put out her hand. "I will thank you more in the morning," she added, as he touched it.

Day felt a touch on his arm.

"I beg your pardon," said Raddon, handing him a small packet made up of banknotes. "I beg your pardon, but I think your wife must have forgotten her diamonds."

Then, before Day could speak, he turned and went back into the crowd.

SHORT STORY

The Burglar

Perhaps it was love of adventure, but more likely it was dislike for work, that drove Dick Raddon to speculation. At least, he called it speculation. The police, who had him registered under three aliases, had a way of calling it burglary. Raddon was good looking, well dressed and of polished manner—a black sheep who made ill use of his advantages.

Dick had been against him in several ventures, when fate favored him by sending a honeymoon pair to the fashionable apartment house where he had been lurking. Raddon had visited their rooms. The rich contents of the bride's jewelry case were transferred to a handkerchief and the case replaced in the dresser. Raddon, elated over his success, started leisurely to return to his own room. His hand was on the doorknob when a cry of fire rang thru the house. Opening the door, he found the hallway filled with smoke and the air blistering hot. His only way of escape lay thru the suite occupied by the bride couple.

Noisily he hustled into the rooms, and shouting to arouse them, prepared to depart by means of the life rope coiled at the window. The lights were turned off and he slipped on a rug. Memory of days at the seashore flashed thru his mind. The bride gave a start and looked at him. There was no time for explanation.

The young woman, warned that there was time to save nothing, was turned to the ground, and insisted that her husband be next. After a long delay and with much difficulty he made his way to the door, and finding himself down to the crowd that swarmed in the streets.

The bridegroom caught him by the hand, and he said, "You have saved our lives," he said simply, "and I thank you. You are an old friend of my wife, I believe."

"Yes," put in the bride, "this is Mr. Raddon—and this is my husband, Mr. Ralph Day. But how did you happen to come to us?"

Raddon rested for a moment to gain his senses.

"Easy enough to explain if one were to explain it," he said, with an attempt at a laugh. "But you mustn't stand here. There's a hotel a little way around the corner; you had better go there. We can do no good for this place. It's done for. It isn't pleasant to lose one's clothes, but such things have to be born."

Mrs. Day placed herself between the

A CHAPTER ON EX-HUSBANDS

BY ELLA K. DEARBORN

The present status of marriage and divorce brings up some queer questions, and one of them is, how often a divorced couple re-marry each other.

Our writers on etiquette, who know the exact degree of warmth or frigidity, that should be accorded to an ex-husband or wife, when meeting socially or by chance, receives some other woman's advice, and yet this strange fact re-enters each day, and the other's past as much as possible.

But now, won't the social authorities please tell us if a woman should discriminate against her own ex-husband?

Unless you have been surprised by the re-marrying of a divorced couple, you have probably never given the question a thought.

It would seem that a couple who had endured enough unhappiness to land them in the divorce court would be only too glad to remain apart forever, and yet this strange fact remains—no matter how cruelly a man has treated his wife, nor how bitterly they may have upbraided each other, in many cases, after the divorce, he declares his undying love and seeks to marry her again.

It speaks well for the intelligence of the average divorcee, that she refuses to listen to his wooing, and makes the would-be double husband understand that she considers it less risky to marry some other woman's ex-husband. It would be at least a variation in misery, and the unknown has a strong attraction.

But when a couple are divorced, and he wins her to be his bride a second time, what happens?

Is this woman's second husband any better than her first?

Probably not, but she, for shame, must keep silent, and endure as best she may, all indignities shown her. A divorce will not make a man over, nor extract the triple meanness from his nature, nor will it change her, and a couple who take the second risk have more faith in them-

ROCK ISLAND BUYS CONTROL OF KATY

Moore Group of Financiers Have Won Out

The Telegram has from time to time of late given information of the progress of the battle for the control of the future destinies of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company, and the hints pointed to the fact that there was a well covered influence at work which was at least friendly to the Rock Island-Frisco combination. Many rumors have been printed as being that the J. J. Hill influence lives in the control of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas shares. The reports took such form that Mr. Hill felt called on for a specific denial and he signed a signed denial to one of the special railway papers of the country. Then it got into the general press.

Now comes the specific information from New York that the Rock Island forces have won in the battle and that the Katy has practically been sold to the Moore group of financiers. The dispatch says:

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Control has been obtained of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway by a group of financiers, the majority of whom are directly or indirectly identified with the Rock Island properties. This group, it is said, holds 150,000 shares of Missouri, Kansas and Texas stock, which were purchased not long ago both here and abroad. It is not the intention of these interests to link the Missouri, Kansas and Texas with the Rock Island, which has been separated in a parallel and competing line. On the contrary, it will be maintained as a separate system, controlled by separate interests. It is understood, however, that it probably will be merged with the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, which has practically been separated from the St. Louis and San Francisco system.

This plan for the consolidation of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas with the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, which is not yet officially admitted, finally explains the perplexing changes which have recently been made in the management of the latter road. A. J. Davidson, president of the company, who is also head of the Frisco system, resigned from the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, his place being taken by H. K. Miller. Simultaneously two other officials who were identified with the company left the Chicago and Eastern Illinois. It was explained at the time by the Rock Island interests that these changes were made with a view of totally separating the two systems. Mr. Davidson was to devote himself entirely to the Frisco development, while Mr. Miller was to do the same on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois. It was better, it was said, to have the two roads separate and even competing against each other.

It is acknowledged that the union of the Frisco and the Chicago and Eastern Illinois has been desired by both roads. As separate systems each will be enabled to obtain a greater percentage in the division of thru rates.

ARM WAS USELESS BEFORE

Little Anna May Crosson of Riverside Has Lost All Pain—First Night's Sleep in Ten Months

To say that the Hot Springs Doctors are creating excitement in Fort Worth and upholding their reputation as workers in more ways than one is stating it mildly. The show grounds at the corner of Fifth and Taylor are literally packed every night, thousands of people flocking to hear the wonderful lectures of the Great Anselme and witness the remarkable feats of healing which they perform every evening upon the stage.

Last evening J. R. Binion of 603 Jones street came upon the platform and had life restored to a paralyzed child by one application of the Hot Springs remedies. When Mr. Binion stepped upon the platform his arm was stiff and hung at his side. But after the demonstration he could bend the arm, and when the Great Anselme said to him, "Hit me," he struck the lecturer as vigorously as he could with an arm that had but a moment before been useless.

Little Anna May Crosson of Riverside who is being rapidly cured by Hot Springs treatment, was brought upon the platform by her father, who testified that in three days' time the Hot Springs remedies had removed the swelling and pain from her paralyzed limbs, and that she had enjoyed a night's sleep for the first time in ten months.

The Hot Springs Institute at 200 Houston street cannot accommodate all the people. From the time of opening at 8 o'clock in the morning until evening it is crowded with sufferers. They come not only from Fort Worth but also all over the state. The patients were present from Oklahoma and from New Mexico. The kindness of these great specialists and the cure they have made is rapidly spreading throughout the southwest.

COTTON MARKET NARROW, BEARISH "INTO SIGHT"

New Orleans Cotton
Special to The Telegram.
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7.—Aside from the news emanating from the interior spot markets throughout the morning, all features combined this morning to shove prices lower, and sentiment, now so susceptible to changes, became bearish. Consequently prices, after opening 2 to 4 points lower, eased off 12 points for March to 10.41.

Liverpool spot sales of 10,000 presented a factor of import, but could not counterbalance the discouraging cables that came from the English market.

After the market had sagged slightly, reported expectations of bearish insight figures influenced further price depressions. Forecasts in the morning compared expected figures of 587,000 to 597,000 for the week's into sight against 618,616 for corresponding week of 1928 and 598,856 for 1924.

In the early afternoon figures of into sight were as follows: 591,449 for the week and 633,825 since Sept. 1, against 621,830 for corresponding period last year and 6,839,892 for same period of the big harvest year, when the yield was 18,385.

During the morning hours the friends of cotton emphasized their anticipation of a bullish visible supply statement tonight. This, of course, in conjunction with the spot situation and the expanded and expanding ideas of the world's requirements of cotton resulted in checking the decline, regardless of a featureless, narrow market with outside trading dull, and evidence on all sides of the waiting policy of the hosts, pending the issuance of the important documents by the government Monday morning.

In the meanwhile, the students and apostles and prophets are busy in the same old fashioned way studying comparative statistics of the southland's chief product.

In the afternoon prices settled around 10.46 for January, 10.37 for January and 10.46 for March.

After 1 o'clock there was a sharp small advance of 3 to 5 points. Spot revision came in revised, milder and below unchanged, good middling up 1/4, middling fair and fair 1-1/2c up.

This revision had its effect upon the market, and within ten minutes of the close futures had advanced to a few points within yesterday's prices.

COTTON TIPS
New York rings sold freely.
Movements at interior towns are very large.
The expectation of a large into sight checking buying.

Clarkdale, Miss., buyers are paying as much for spots as they paid when the market was 40 points higher.

A fire at a cotton yard at Houston this morning destroyed about 1,000 bales of cotton, and resulted in a dispatch this morning.

T. A. McIntyre & Co.—We do not expect the market to show any activity or to see price fluctuations until the crop reports come out next week.

Bond & McCauley—We see nothing in the situation to lead us to change our opinion that cotton is a purchase on all spots.

Atwood, Violet & Co.—Spot markets in the south are bold their grip on the price and very liberal sales are noted without any concessions being made by the holders.

Carpenter, Baggett & Co.—The local trade is inclined to the bull side in anticipation of the ginners' figures being high under 10,000,000, while 10,000,000 has been the popular expectation.

John Mair & Co.—While a quick advance may be scored, it is possible that a decline may follow. We advertise our friends to stay out of the market until after the report.

E. E. Hutton & Co.—We rather look for a traders' market from now on, and before it is best to take a stand on it and buy it on every soft spot.

Gilbert & Clay—Speculative interest in the market appears to be about the lowest ebb and this disinterestedness bids fair to advance prices until impending events become crystallized.

Marshall, Spader & Co.—It would not be logical to expect an active market for the remainder of the week and we certainly anticipate no determined efforts to advance prices under existing conditions.

At the New York Cotton Exchange yesterday the board of managers instructed Superintendent King to remain on the floor after 3 p. m. and rigidly enforce the rule against trading after that hour.

Longshore & Co.—We are inclined to the view that any movement prior to the government report will result in a lower range of prices and we therefore prefer the short side of the market, also believing selling for a turn will prove profitable.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Cotton futures ruled easier in consequence of a lower Liverpool. This revision day in spots, stocks opened lower, but improved later with the easier call. Money rate from 3 1/2 to 12 per cent.

Wheat, corn and oats closed higher. Provisions declined. Cattle slow. Hogs firmer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Cables from Europe were not encouraging and the local stringency of monetary circles put a damper upon the market for the bulls. Consequently the bears took advantage of the opportunity to hammer stocks, which suffered losses, without any support of consequence. Call money ranged from 30 to 32 per cent with no relief immediately in sight.

Among the stocks that exhibit strong resistance were Atchafalaya, at 11 1/2, St. Paul, at 18 1/2, Union Pacific, at 18 1/2, New York Central, at 13 1/2, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, at 7 1/2, Steel common, at 4 1/2, and Pennsylvania, at 17 1/2.

President Ripley of the Atchafalaya, advises that November earnings will be as good as those of October.

Twenty-two roads will show the fourth week in November show an average gross increase of 8.58 per cent and net increase of 10.58 per cent. The Interstate commerce commission announces its intention to investigate the Harriman lines.

Before noon call money had declined one per cent and there was a reaction for the better in a good many issues.

Trading was nervous, hurried and of non-consequential character. Stocks improved considerably during the afternoon, transcending Thursday's established levels. Call money declined by 1/4 of one cent to 5 per cent.

Canadian Pacific shot up like a skyrocket 5 1/2 points to 19 1/2 and was bulled in spectacular fashion. The opening was 18 1/2, and that the gain for the day was immense.

WILL BE FREE
No Charge for Admittance at Saturday's Races.
Matinee races will be held at the Fort Worth Driving Club track, west of the City Park, on Saturday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. Entries for the races have been numerous and the meet promises to be one of the best of the season. The program, according to the new policy of the club, admittance will be free for the meeting. Among the races will be a buggy race, slow class, with an entry list open to all.

A special feature of the meeting will be the attempt of a "Lafayette" known paper, owned by Dr. Elderkin, to beat the half-mile record of the track, using a pace maker.

Entries for the two fastest races are as follows:

Pace, 1:16 class—Eva K. J. M. Knight owner; E. J. Knight owner; Grace C. W. L. Cooke owner; Ranche Queen, R. A. Gregory owner.

CATTLE MARKET SLOW; HOGS TEID UPWARD

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 7.—The grain markets here and in Liverpool were firm, prices resting 1/2 to 1/4c higher than the quotations established yesterday.

Liverpool wheat and corn cables signified equivalent advances to the extent above mentioned.

At noon December wheat ruled decidedly steady at 74 1/2c and May at 78 1/2c, at which time December and May deliveries of corn stood at 74 1/2c and 75 1/2c, with same month contracts for oats showing an advance over yesterday's level of 1/2c to 3/4c. December selling at 33 1/2c and May at 35 1/2c.

Provisions were sold down, due to liquidation for packers' accounts. January pork declined to $16.40, lard to $8.57 and ribs to $13.37.

The volume of business was ordinarily, with sentiment inclined to the bull side in this pit.

CITY NEWS BOYS VISIT CARNIVAL

The crowds at the North Fort Worth carnival this morning were not so large as on some preceding nights, but it was not lacking in fun and hilarity. The special feature of the night's program was the entertainment of the newsboys' day and one they will long remember. The entertainment was arranged and personally conducted by Mr. Adams invited the city boys on the Telegram and all the newsboys in the city to be the guests of the carnival company on this occasion.

The Northern Texas Traction Company provided street car transportation from the city to the grounds in North Fort Worth and returned. Adams met the entire crowd, about forty or fifty in all, at the office of the Traction company at Third and Main. Several went on a special car to the carnival. They were taken thru all the attractions and sent home after having one of the times of their lives. It was a jolly, good-humored crowd. The Telegram boys were distinguished by ribbon badges, which they wore on their caps. The managers of all the attractions were very courteous to the boys, and they were given full sway at each show. They saw the "Outlaw," the "Alps," the "Ghost Show," "Mamie," "Giggie Alley," "Crazy House," "Class Palace," "Arkansas Minstrel," the "Wild West Show," the "Big Snake," the "Alligators," the "Little Horse," the "Wild Animal Show" and the many other splendid amusement attractions furnished by the Cosmopolitan Company. There were many mystifying features to many of the shows that caused the little folks to gaze in silent wonder, and many of them will see real ghosts for many days.

At the Mamie show they saw the serpentine dance and "The Holy City," the feature of snow, and many other pleasing features, including "Fighting the Flames," a reproduction of the great San Francisco disaster.

The Alps of Switzerland was a show that was pleasing to the little fellows, who love the beautiful, and many watched in bewilderment the appearance of the Alpine glow as the day dawned over the Swiss mountains and the great cars and sent back to the beautiful city of Geneva. The Alps show describes a full cycle of climatic changes in the Alpine mountains from dawn till midnight, operated by delicate electrical machinery.

In the outdoor show was seen many many pictures depicting the great robberies, capture of moonshiners and similar attractions.

The evening's trip closed with witnessing the Wild West show, with its trick riding and roping, fancy shooting, Indian war dances and the fights between the cars and sent back to their homes, a happy, well pleased lot.

fore replying to the questions I have propounded to you in my communication of Nov. 30. You say: "I never had any business transactions of any kind with Waters-Pierce Oil Company, and I have never received one dollar from it on any account, and if any such vouchers, notes, checks or drafts exist, they are deliberate and criminal forgeries."

"I have stated that you received several sums of money from H. C. Pierce, formerly president of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, which amounts were charged upon the books of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company as expenses incurred with reference to the Texas anti-trust cases. You know whether or not you received money from Mr. Pierce, and I assume you have had opportunity to ascertain if sums are charged as indicated, and that you are now in a position to give the people of Texas the whole truth without the conditions named in your letter.

"If in a written communication to me you say you did not receive any of said sums of money from H. C. Pierce, I will under proper conditions to be prescribed by me, afford reasonable opportunity for the inspection of the papers in my possession.

Having become convinced that you had in your possession papers which were forgeries, and assuming for the purpose of the questions propounded that you desire to deal fairly with me and fairly with the public, it was my desire to specifically answer every one in your possession at this time, so that the public could judge of the completeness of my vindication, and have the question forever settled.

Your declaration is placed upon what you must have known. If you are familiar with the public prints, was an impossible condition. You must have known when that letter was written that I had stated in public speeches repeatedly that I had been employed by H. C. Pierce in many transactions as his attorney, for which service he paid me and you therefore imposed a condition which you knew was impossible of performance.

Davidson's Position

I had hoped that you did not wish to descend from the exalted position which you hold to engage in a political war against me and believe that you would not refuse to afford me an opportunity to examine papers supposed to be in your possession which I had denounced as forgeries. At a time when every effort of unscrupulous and designing enemies is being concentrated to blacken my character and reputation. If it be your purpose to use the power of your official position in an effort to destroy me by the use of papers which I know to be forgeries, if they reflect what I am informed thru your questions, the public prints and otherwise they purport to reflect, then as a manly man you should meet the issue squarely, and no longer prate about being filled with shame and sorrow concerning the existence of papers which I denounce as spurious and which you refuse to let me see.

Before concluding the references to your letter I want to state to you and to the public that your assumption that I have had an opportunity to ascertain if any sums of money are charged on the books of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company as expenses incurred with reference to the Texas anti-trust cases, or otherwise is wholly gratuitous. I have never examined what its books disclose. No discharged, discredited servant of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company has come to me with papers purporting to reflect the records of that company! I have had no access to such papers, and you are the only person of whom I have ever made any request in relation to them.

His Cause with the People

Before concluding this open and public letter I want to say to the people of Texas concerning my trauders, their motives and methods, that for the first time in the history of Texas politics the democrats of this state have been called upon to witness an effort, not to defeat a candidate before a democratic convention or democratic primary for a nomination, but a vicious, desperate and concerted effort to absolutely destroy a man who has served his state in congress faithfully and well for fifteen long years and whose service the true and loyal democrats of Texas have rewarded with a practically unanimous re-nomination. If it could with any show of truth be asserted that I had ever sacrificed the honor or neglected the interests of my constituents, or that I had ever been recreant to the great principles of the democratic party, I could then understand how democrats would feel impelled by a sense of duty to our state and party to contest with all their power and resources my candidacy for another nomination. Unable to cite a single instance wherein I have failed in the discharge of my duties to our people or to our party, and while confessing that my service has not only been approved by the people who elected me, but has commanded the cordial respect of my party associates in congress, my trauders cannot convince the democrats of Texas that this war on me is inspired by other than personal hatred or disappointed ambition.

While pretending to believe that I have been subjected to corporate influences, the most reckless of my accusers has not dared to specify a single vote which I have ever cast, or a single speech which I have ever made, to justify such criticism. I know besides, that the assaults upon my character and integrity have the cordial sympathy, if not the active assistance, of powerful interests whose special privileges I have resolutely opposed both as a member of the house of representatives in all my public utterances from this state. With an abiding faith, I appeal from the gross and bitter calumnies with which I have been assailed, to the integrity and patriotism of Texas democrats.

BIG COMPANY IS ORGANIZED

Has Capital Stock of Over Two Millions

By Associated Press.
PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 7.—The Cleveland and Sharon Traction Company, which was recently incorporated with a capital of $2,500,000, was organized yesterday at Sharon, Pa., by the election of the following officers: President, Francis B. Morgan, Cleveland, Ohio; vice president and secretary, John Blake, Brooklyn, N. Y.; treasurer, C. F. Clendenning, New York; assistant secretary and treasurer, P. F. Morgan, Cleveland, Ohio.

The company proposes to build a line from Middlefield, Ohio, to Sharon. At the former place it will connect with the Cleveland and Eastern line, giving a direct line from Sharon, Pa., to Cleveland. Within a short time the road will be extended to Pittsburg.

LONDON PAPERS ON THE MESSAGE

English Discuss Recent Message to Congress

BIG PROBLEM OF LABOR

Say President Sees Clearly Import of Conditions Which It is Impossible for Him to Control

Special to The Telegram.
LONDON, Dec. 7.—The dominant note of a majority of late editorials on the message of President Roosevelt is recognition of the movement of the immense conflicting forces which tax the government of the United States at the present time. The struggle between capital and labor, embodied in the movement in the trust problem and race antagonism as visualized by the anti-Japaneseism in the west and anti-negroism in the south are the features which attract the greatest notice here.

"Never in any recent period," it says, "were events so manifestly hurried men into fresh courses. In all Aryan nations industrial revolution is heaping up wealth into great accumulations. Capital and labor are organizing into hostile corporations. Military propositions challenge a fierce longing for peace and international unity.

"American confronts the same menace as Europe. The President speaks today as wrestling with forces which he can comprehend but cannot control. Mr. Roosevelt diagnoses the situation with a most startling clearness. In agile phrases he attempts to steer between revolt against the insolence of wealth and fear of anarchy and socialism.

Against Millionaires
Reviewing what is particularly described as the President's campaign against multi-millionaires, the News says it is indicative of recognition of a condition of unstable equilibrium. All the world, it says, recognizes the same motto and all would all be seeking after the cure. That problem and its remedy is going to provide for both Europe and America the keynote of peace in the twentieth century. The conservative Standard says:

"Moderate as are the President's aims, his reforms are changes which to many of his fellow-citizens will seem almost revolutionary."

Discussing the conflict between the federal and state government in reference to education, taxation, marriage laws, control of trusts and race antagonism, it says that far-sighted observers have long seen that the United States has outgrown its cradle and is face to face with insistent modern problems. It moves uneasily under the fetters of federalism laid upon it at its birth in deference to the historical necessities of the moment, yet the cordial sentiment of the most conservative people on either side of the doctrine of state rights, and if the economic and social reforms that Mr. Roosevelt desires depends upon a drastic reconstruction of the political system, the prospect of their realization appears somewhat remote.

Raise Grave Issue

The liberal Tribune, speaking of anti-Japanism, says:

"If Mr. Roosevelt were to attempt to carry out all the threats contained in his message he might raise a grave issue. The worst of this crisis is that it is but a symptom of the general uneasiness which the growth of Japanese influence is bringing in all representative communities within their sphere of expansion."

The Telegraph also dwells upon the great difficulty in which the federal administration is placed in attempting to force individual states to observe the nation's treaty obligations. It says that the Alliance for Pacific States will take the plainly expressed intention of the President to override the cherished preference of congress will force the weapon for him.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—President Pomeroy of the State Exchange, in commenting on Jacob Schiff's address at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, in which he admits that he has seen how exorbitant interest rates on call loans, said that he had heard that a number of banks and trust companies were in the habit of manipulating call money rates in the manner described by Mr. Schiff, but that he did not know whether or not the charges should court it. He declares there is no whitewash. Representative Cooke probably will lead the fight on the floor against Bailey. He will insist that the usefulness of Senator Bailey in the national congress is destroyed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Britanny and its most famous representatives in the world of art and literature formed the theme of an address delivered yesterday at Columbia University by Anatole Le Braz, one of the greatest authorities now living on the subject of everything pertaining to Brittany and Celtic lore.

Professor Le Braz is in this country in response to an urgent invitation from the Alliance for Pacific States, a series of lectures at Harvard, Yale, Columbia and Princeton. During his forthcoming stay in Washington he is to deliver a number of lectures at the House on the subject of Brittany.

TO REMAIN IN TEXAS

Senator Bailey Not Likely to Return Until After Holidays

By Associated Press.
AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 7.—Senator Bailey will remain over here today, having accepted an invitation to address the University of Texas law school. The address will be upon "Constitutional Law."

He says that he probably will not leave Texas until after the holidays, providing he hears that Mrs. Bailey's health is good, as it would hardly be worth while to return to congress for the few days remaining before the holiday adjournment.

It is his present intention to go from here to San Antonio to spend a couple of days with his friend Colonel J. North Fort Worth, and he may stop off at those places. From Fort Worth Senator Bailey will go to his home at Gainesville.

NECESSITY FOR ROAD IN NIGERIA

Winston Churchill Addresses Cotton Growers

By Associated Press.
MANCHESTER, England, Dec. 7.—In delivering an address last night at the banquet of the British Cotton Growers' Association, Winston Churchill, under secretary for the colonies, referred to the necessity of building a railroad in Nigeria to assist in the development of cotton growing. He said the day is not far distant when Great Britain will be forced to embark upon a great scheme for the amalgamation of the West African colonies of Sierra Leone, Gold Coast and the two Nigerias. The public will then wake up to the realization of their possessions in the West African empire.

STATION RESCUED SCHOONER'S CREW

Florence I. Lockwood Went on Williams Shoals

By Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8.—The Assataque life saving station reported today a three-masted schooner, Florence I. Lockwood, from Norfolk, for New York, with a cargo of lumber, was stranded on Williams shoals, off Assataque, Va., last night, and was today a total loss. Captain Taylor and his crew were rescued by the life savers.

The schooner went aground during a heavy gale, and was quickly pointed to pieces in a heavy sea. The schooner was 103 feet long, had a beam of 39 feet and a depth of 14 feet.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY FIRE IN FRISCO

By Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—The plant and stock of the Union Lumber Company, at Sixth and Hooper streets, was completely destroyed by fire early today. The flames were confined by hard work of the fire department to the premises of the company. The loss is estimated at over $200,000.

The Rev. Mr. Coldwater (vehemently)—No, sir; this country will never be fit to live in until it has more churches than dram shops. Alderman O'Donoghue—Well, who's hinderin' you from buildin' more churches?—New York Weekly.

Piles

Quickly and Painlessly—No Risk, No Danger

Special Package to Convince Sent Mail to All Who Write

It is sense is just as necessary as medicine in the affairs of everyday life. We are getting to know more about it. Not so long ago, it was used to make a cure for the medicine, and wind up the reader to go to drug buy a bottle. People want that kind of thing. They want a tangible proof. They try the remedy first and if it is to be what is claimed they are enough to go and buy it.

No Opium

In Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

This remedy is a favorite with the mothers of small children, as it contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given to a baby as confidently as to an adult.

It is pleasant to take, too, which is of much importance when medicine is to be given to small children.

As a cure for bad colds, croup, and whooping cough, it is unequalled and may be depended upon with the utmost confidence. Price 25c.; large size 50c.

ORBETT'S CONVERSATION

The big house that was expected never materialized. The people all thought that Walcott didn't have a chance. Choyinski when he saw the crowd demanded his 75 per cent of the receipts before going on.

With big John L. Sullivan in back of him and a lot of other friends, Choyinski entered the ring as confident as a bull terrier.

Walcott was prepared and cooched especially for Choyinski, and no sooner did the bell ring than Walcott was after him like a shot. Oh me, oh my! a crowd of seven rounds Choyinski resembled a piece of steak after him and stopped the affair.

It had made its way thru a sausage machine. The referee took matter on Walcott admitted after the fight that he had never been in such excellent condition before in his life.

SPORTING NOTES

Connie Mack has twelve pitchers on his staff.

Yale's football receipts for 1906 total $66,000.

Abe Attell, featherweight champion, has three fights on tap for the next two months.

The way of the "pug" is hard—Indiana and Iowa are reported to be ready to bar fighting.

In three years on the turf James R. Keene is credited with having pulled down $57,749 in purses.

All the world loves a winner. White Sox officials and players received 600 messages of congratulation and many were from strangers.

Ned Hanlon's purchase of Oriole park at Baltimore for $50,000 is the first step to make that city a National League member in the future.

In Central Park, New York, thirty-eight football teams battling for gridiron honors has been a common sight during the winter.

Some baseball players never do look at the future. There is that man Devlin marrying a millionaire's daughter. Now that excuse has he of asking for a raise in his salary.

Columbia students want football back again. A mass meeting was called and demand made of the college officials that the game be allowed next year.

As a record for a ground game, who's the matter with the Vanderbilt football game? It began in Nashville, Tenn., and ended in Indiana Territory.

What's a comfortable dividend? Garret's purchase of the New York Giants baseball company declared.

Another ball player is to become a magnate. "Old-time" Fred Green of the Boston Americans has purchased the New Haven club of the Connecticut League.

Tommy Murphy is anxious for a go with Young Corbett since McGovern's bump hand put him out of the game. Murphy had also come to life again and wants a fight with Battling Nelson.

W. H. Watkins says he will try once more to give Indianapolis a win. He has a record of 1907 he will quit the game. What's the use of getting discouraged with a few attempts?

Mordecai Brown, Chicago, star pitcher of the National League, and Cecil Ferguson of the Giants are in a basket ball league at the Terre Haute Y. M. C. Monte Cross is selling clothes at Wanamaker's.

What difference does that decision make which said betting at the Benavides track was illegal? Betting goes on just as merrily. Which shows you can break the law all you please as long as you don't get caught.

That "winner take all" clause in the McGovern-Corbett fight, will cause trouble. In states prohibiting prize fights it might cause the authorities to put the bout in that class.

In 1899 there were but three gasoline cars in New York city, and but few more in the state. Now there are 35,000 registered in the state and city and 1,333 auto factories in the United States employ a capital of $150,000,000.

Here is a record in baseball. Harry Ackers, known familiarly as "Rube," pitched in sixty-eight games in the Pacific Coast League and won fifty-three of them. Most anyone would stand for the "Rube" title if such a record were hitched to it.

Connie Mack says Ed Walsh of the White Sox is the greatest pitcher of the age. "When he is pitching," says Connie, "the opposing batters can hardly see the ball, and when they do hit the sphere it is generally a pop fly."

On the good ship White Sox, President Comiskey and a party of base-balls companions will soon cruise down the Mississippi and up White river, Arkansas. The armament is being kept secret, but spies say the boat is already equipped with several sixteen-quart guns and numerous smaller fires to rout General Chills.

Is the trading stamp period of baseball at hand? The Chicago White Sox get trophies and money to burn for winning the championship. Steinfield gets a diamond "stick" pin for leading the Cubs with the "stick" gift from President Murphy. Bonuses to pitchers who win a certain number of games are quite common. The next step may be trading stamps good for so much at the "lunch" counter in reward for base hits and runs.

The most successful sale of registered Hereford cattle occurring in the United States for five years took place at the Biemarck farm, formerly owned by W. Davis Jones, was the statement made by Charles Thomas, secretary of the Hereford Cattle Breeders' Association.

Mr. Jones has stood high with the Hereford breeders of Texas ever since he has been connected with the business and when he advertised to sell his entire herd out by auction sale, good prices were expected and men who were looking for good ones put in an early appearance at the sale. The crowds that viewed the cattle in the stalls and corals were unanimous in their opinion that the offering represented as good a lot of cattle as could be met with anywhere on earth.

During the sale Secretary Thomas, who had been visiting the herds of South America and England, made a statement that some of the individuals Mr. Jones offered could not be duplicated in any of the herds he had seen in his travels. Considering Mr. Thomas as well known good judgment, and the fact that he made a special trip to visit the herds of the great sections of the old country, where they originated, such a statement conveyed a grand tribute to Mr. Jones as a cattleman.

Mr. Mac Fletcher brought in the report yesterday morning from the A. J. Crawford sheep ranch that about 1,000 head of sheep had been lost on that ranch. The Crawford ranch is located about fifty or fifty-five miles northeast of Carlsbad.

A bunch of some two thousand sheep were found Friday of last week between Gap Wells and the Hundley area. They had jumped off into a deep snow drift in a huddled bunch, and a Mexican herder was found on top of the sheep.

A force of men went to work at once to dig the sheep out, and when the work was finally accomplished, it was found that the sheep were all dead. They had evidently been smothered to death.

On the same ranch Mr. Fletcher stated that other Mexican herders are reported missing.

This loss will fall as quite a severe blow to Mr. Crawford and all regret it exceedingly.

S. T. Hord, who was reported as being lost in the snow and probably frozen, having started out to drive the cows which were gathered only about 200 yards from the ranch house on Lone Tree, had not been found up to the time of this writing. Searching parties have been out nearly every day since the snow ceased to fall, and have visited every ranch, house, twenty miles of Lone Tree, but all efforts to locate Hord or his body have proved futile. Deputy Sheriff Holly Ray informed the Current that a party of fifteen mounted men were to go out yesterday and continue the search.

Buck Gibson has informed a Current reporter that the men on the Livingston ranch had rounded up and driven in a bunch of 12 horses, 80 head of cattle and that were huddled in the snow, and found a large number out of the bunch had been badly killed. Several of the horses toppled over as soon as they got hot.

Last Tuesday A. B. Jones sold to J. T. Joyner of Dawson county, 22 cows and one bull, the last of Mr. Jones' fine herd of Hereford cattle. Mr. Joyner has certainly secured a fine bunch of cattle, they having taken two prizes at the fall stock show last year.

Service was filed last Saturday and suit was filed against J. K. Zimmerman by Arthur R. Letts et al, for breach of contract. The plaintiffs are represented by law firm of Coward, Burney & Gore of Fort Worth, Texas. The nature of the suit is for the passing of title for about 4,000 acres of land, being all that part of the Shobe Bar ranch north of Red river, which the plaintiffs claimed to have an option on. It was stated that the contract, so it will be ready to expire on Sept. 20, 1906. The plaintiff alleges that he notified Mr. Zimmerman on Sept. 20, that he was ready and willing to take the land as provided in the option contract, but that Zimmerman refused to close the deal. In addition to the asking for title to the land the plaintiff also asks judgment for $267,500 damages by failure of defendant to comply with his option contract.

Service was not had in time to bring the case up for trial at this term of court, so it will have to come up at the next term. In a talk with D. A. Grundy, who is the local agent for Mr. Zimmerman, he stated that the suit will perhaps in no way interfere with the pending sale of the lands to W. H. Craven, Arthur Letts et al. Craven and his some Iowa associates whom he says he expected to assist him in handling the finances of so large a deal.

During the recent snow storm cattle suffered badly. The cattlemen awoke Tuesday morning to find his cattle all gone and his pasture full of his neighbors' from the north. We have heard of but little loss save from driving away. It will take considerable work to get them all gathered in again.

Reports coming in from the country indicate that the loss of hog is very heavy, there being more or less reports all over country. J. E. Bann reports the loss of 3 head Monday night, which is the heaviest loss he has yet heard of. George C. Wolf, who has lost two good shoats of the same kind.

Captain Charles Schreiner, wool commission merchant, sold the fall clip of Kerrville wool to Hallowell, Jones & McDonald of Boston. The clip bringing from 18 to 19 1/2 cents per pound. The shipment consisted of 700,000 pounds, being about a quarter of a million pounds short of the usual fall clip on account of the inability of ranchmen to secure shearers before it was too late to shear. This will enhance the spring clip, at which time this market will probably break the record for 12-month's wool, as sheep are in fine condition and the range excellent. The last of the big shipment went out Tuesday. Since that time Captain Schreiner has also sold and shipped 200,000 pounds of mohair to Willett & Company of Boston.

Kerrville is holding her record as one of the largest wool and mohair markets in America. The quantity of the staples shipped from this point ranks with the best in any section of the continent. Captain Schreiner, who has been in the wool commission business here for many years, has established a reliable standing among the wool factors of the east and has done much toward placing Kerrville wool in the high esteem in which they are held by spinners.

The Alpine Country

ALPINE, Texas, Dec. 5.—Alpine had the heaviest snow fall last week that has ever fallen here at this time of the year. It covered the ground to the depth of five inches. The men and farmers regard it as a blessing as it was a dry, light snow and the weather moderated rapidly.

W. T. Henderson sold to Jackson & Harmon 75 head of 3-year-old black mules for $33 1/3 per head.

J. A. Stoud bought 150 Galloway heifers and 12 registered bulls from Bill Jones of Jeff Davis county.

The stockmen are experiencing considerable difficulty in securing cars for transportation. The railroad companies are very slow in delivering cars and this is quite a hardship upon the stockmen who are holding cattle for shipment.

J. M. Rooney shipped two cars of cows and two cars of calves to New Orleans Tuesday night.

J. D. Jackson shipped 20 cars of steers to Fort Worth.

Our Hereford cattle man, Mr. John R. Lewis returned last night from San Angelo, where he had gone to attend an auction sale of Herefords. Mr. Lewis reports the sale as being a very successful one. One hundred and twenty head were auctioned off in five hours, at an average price of $157.52 per head. One prize winning cow selling for the neat sum of $700 and a show bull for $500. This was a dispersion sale of one of the best herds of Hereford cattle in Texas and the prices paid show a reawakening interest in the cattle business that is very gratifying to cattle breeders everywhere.

3D DEPOT MAY BE BUILT HERE

Two-story structure Planned for Seventh and Pecan Sts.

A SANTA FE MOVE

It Would Accommodate Rock Island, Denver, Brazos Valley and H. & T. C.

Serious consideration is being given to a plan which contemplates the building of another fine passenger station in Fort Worth and one that will be within a few blocks of all of the leading hotels and yet in a part of the city where there can be but little objection to the location of such a passenger station. If built on the lines as set forth in the blue prints that have been made the station will be unique in that it will be a two-story passenger station and the only one in the southwest. The story is made on the assertions of those who have seen the blue prints of the plan.

The long curve by which the Santa Fe comes into Fort Worth from the north, beginning away down in the Trinity bottom and ending only in passing thru the southern part of the city, passes over the western end of the Rock Island yards at Pecan and Seventh streets, thirty or forty feet above the track level of the Rock Island in the yards.

The plans as set forth in the blue prints is that a passenger station is to be erected at that place ample in size to accommodate all of the business which may come into it.

The viaduct which carries the Santa Fe tracks over Pecan street is ample in size for double tracks and is built in such manner that the question of size and style of construction was used has often been asked. The fact is plain that there will be no material alteration of the Santa Fe tracks necessary to enable it to get into the second story of such a station as has been considered and to provide accommodations for the Denver and Brazos Valley and the Houston and Texas Central if the present affiliation is preserved.

The Rock Island-Frisco passenger station would be served by a passenger station the level of the yards and the streets near adjoining, Pecan, Sixth, etc.

On a large scale and commensurate with the importance in the railway position of Fort Worth in Texas, looking into the future development of the passenger business of the lines which would use it, ornate in exterior and perfect in interior details, conforming to the demands of modern passenger station construction. If the plans for this talked-of station are carried to a completion, Fort Worth will be better equipped than any city of the southwest.

It is stated that the construction of the present Santa Fe passenger station in Jones street is of a character that will permit the ready adaptation of the building so that it could be used for the freight business of the Santa Fe here, and if so altered, it would not be a large matter of cost to convert the Santa Fe into a revenue producer for the Santa Fe, for the receipts from freight in and out of Fort Worth are large. But it is beyond reasonable doubt there is serious consideration being given to the matter of the joint passenger station for the Rock Island-Frisco roads, the Denver, Trinity and Brazos Valley, and the Santa Fe that will give a great impetus to property values in that part of the city when the details are released, and which will add greatly to the railway architecture of the city.

JAS. H. MADDOX AND W. J. GILVIN

Small Vote Polled at Democratic Primary

As indicated in The Telegram of Thursday the result of the democratic primary held that day was the success of W. J. Gilvin, the candidate for city tax assessor and collector, and James H. Maddox, candidate for city marshal.

The election was remarkable for the extreme quiet, in the sense that there was an absolute absence of all disorder.

As has been stated there was a great manifestation of interest in that there were more friends of the candidates at work at the polls, but that in fact was not reflected in the total vote cast, which is less than half the number of polls paid and exemptions issued, which make up the sum of the possible voters in the city.

The returns were received rapidly by Secretary Theodore Mack, in the county clerk's office, the first report being sent in by telephone and by 7:30 in the evening only about thirty minutes after the closing of the polls, the result was known. The ticket was a short one and easily counted, and of course the election officers could keep up with the count as it progressed.

There was but little scratching, though it is true that a number of voters exercised the privilege to vote as they pleased, some only voting for a candidate for a single office.

The total of the votes cast in the two contests show there was about an equal amount of scratching done in each instance, for the total vote cast in the marshal's race was 2,512, and in the assessor and collector's race 2,507, a difference of but five votes.

After the result was announced the newly nominated assessor and collector, W. J. Gilvin, took a party of friends to a downtown restaurant for a spread.

STOMACH SUFFERERS Squander Millions

In Search of Relief.

The world is full of disordered stomachs. It takes more of the money spent upon physicians and drugs goes in an attempt to cure the stomach. People are made to believe that in order to gain health they must doctor their stomachs and use cathartics. So the doctor gets his fee for the stomach treatment and the patient, and the physician, until the savings of a life time are exhausted and yet no cure.

Let's be reasonable. The sick stomach is in every case the result of over-eating, hurried mastication and improper choice of foods. The muscles fail to respond. They do not churn the food as they should. The glands no longer give out gastric juice to dissolve the food and render it capable of assimilation. The man has become a dyspeptic.

There is one sure way and only one to bring positive relief. Put into that stomach of yours the very elements that it lacks to get that food into liquid form. It takes pepsin, diastase, mucus and other ferments to accomplish this. The healthy stomach contains these elements. The dyspeptic stomach lacks part of the ferment. St. Paul's Dyspepsia Tablet is made up of just what the dyspeptic stomach lacks—nature's digestive juices.

St. Paul's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a medicine, not a drug, not a cathartic. They do not cure anybody of anything but Dyspepsia and indigestion, and such ailments as arise from poorly digested food.

While they digest the food the stomach recuperates. The mucous membrane is coming out of its stupor, the gastric juice is coming to the surface, the muscles are regaining their power. Every organ of the body takes on new life, the skin gains color, and the eyes are no longer tinged with yellow. You live.

Why doctor and why drug yourself? St. Paul's Dyspepsia Tablets will take care of your food while Nature cures you.

Try a box at your druggist's, 50 cents. Or, if you prefer a less trial package, before buying, send your name and address to—F. A. Stuart Co., 68 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

MAIN STREET PROPERTY

Mrs. Larimer Sold Two-Story Brick in Main Street

Another piece of Main street property has changed hands, the latest sale being that of a two-story brick building with lot between Eleventh and Twelfth streets to Frank J. Long. The building is located in the middle of the block, No. 1209 and 1211 Main street, and is 50x98 feet in extent.

The price paid for the property is one of the highest that has ever been paid for property that far down in Main street and exceeds the price paid by George and W. D. Reynolds Tuesday for Mrs. C. D. Brown's block between Ninth and Tenth streets, by $1,000. The property changing hands Thursday brought $51,500.

CONTRACT NOT LET

Manager of Knitting Mill in Fort Worth

John P. Heany, manager of the Hudson Valley Mills of Kingston, N. Y., who arrived in Fort Worth Tuesday for the purpose of making arrangements for the removal of the woolen mills to this city returned to Kingston Thursday night. While here Mr. Heany conferred with his lawyers and bankers and said that everything was progressing very favorably.

No action was taken on the matter of a contract for the erection of a building for the mill near Polytechnic college, as Mr. Heany's trip here was more in the nature of a trip of investigation. The contract, however, will be let within a few days in order that there will be no delay when the machinery arrives. While here Mr. Heany looked about the city for a location for the mill, but as yet has made no selection of a home.

WILL ORGANIZE CITY CHARITIES

Fort Worth Pastors Take Up Matter

The plan for a United Charities Association, which has been discussed for Fort Worth for over a year, is now about to be completed, as the matter has been taken in charge by the members of the Fort Worth Pastors' Association and a committee appointed to formulate plans for the association and report at the next meeting of the Pastors' Association.

The consolidation of charitable bodies into one association has done more for the cause where it has been tried than indiscriminate giving by any one who feels so inclined. By this means every case can be properly investigated and proper relief given in all cases, instead of having one case get attention from a number of people or institutions while another case will be neglected.

Most of the United Charities organization working thruout the country at the present time employ one person, usually a woman, to give her time to work of investigation and relief. The committee in charge of the plan has received considerable encouragement along the line suggested, and it is expected that there will be no trouble in completing the organization.

The committee of pastors in charge of the matter is composed of Rev. J. W. Caldwell of the Taylor Street Presbyterian church, Rev. J. F. Boyce of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, and Rev. H. F. Knickerbocker of the First Methodist church, south.

HERKIMER, N. Y., Dec. 6.—Gillette has confessed Grace Brown to be his daughter. To his counsel he said: "Yes; I did kill her." "She stood up at the end of the boat crying and said she and I to end it all."

"I took my tennis straps of my dress struck her twice." "She fell full length striking the sea and went overboard."

When Gillette told his story he had jumped into the water and swam to the court room knee. These were Gillette's prosecuting attorney and Turnkey Evans.

During the cross-examination District Attorney

"Did you not confess that you struck her when she came up the stairs?"

Gillette made a dramatic event of this part of this question. The district attorney, at the time that Gillette had he had witnessed the trial, to put in evidence as to the granting of a new habeas corpus for Mills, his junior cousin Grace Brown.

These were overheard by S. and Turnkey Evans, formed the district attorney.

Tells Lawyer that

Lawyer Mills had with the problem of permit Gillette to go and tell his story. He decided Gillette's story his case any worse and he called to have him the details of his story.

Gillette went over the fatal day as he had before, until he came where he had said the of the boat were thrown in a deliberate manner as the girl rose in the boat he struck her over the head and she died.

"You little wretch," said lawyer, "why did you tell me this before?"

Gillette was silent a lawyer left the cell.

When the trial was re-observed there was a Charles D. Thomas, his did not sit near any of the trial they seldom.

It is understood that district have been guilty the second degree Gillette would have made no move from life imprisonment, the urging of the documents, however, the lawyer to save the family from being disgraced by the electric chair.

A dispatch from Denver with which the paper learned that he had Frank Gillette, the mother a former Salvation Army declares her belief that his innocent of the crime of the parents wired to attorneys as follows: "I wish you to appeal the case and please let us know what is likely to come of the trial for our boy. We have influenced the jury in that another court will reverse the verdict."
