MEN MADE LIVING SAIL

Dead Man Entered Navy in 1864-His Bravery Saved Lives of 450 During Hurricane at Samoa

Special to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 22 .-Commander Robert M. Brown, the hero of the great naval disaster of Apia, Samoa, is dead in the Garfield hospital in this city. He was the only American naval officer whose distinguished bravery was ever made the subject of an official communication in the official records of Germany.

It was Brown who ordered the crew of the Trenton aloft in the awful hurricane at Samoa and made it possible for the Trenton to escape a reef. The secretary of the navy in a letter to Rear Admiral Kimberly, dated April 27, 1889, paid this eulogy to Command-

"The flagship (Trenton) now without steam or rudder, her anchors dragging, drifted almost at the mercy of the gale along the edges of the eastern reef, at times not more than twenty feet from total destruction. Every endeavor was made to control her movements and her commanding officer states in his report that upon at least one occasion it was thru the excellent judgment of Lieutenant Brown that the ship cleared the reef and the 450 lives on board were saved."

The maneuver of Commander Brown was unprecedented in the history of seafaring. The navigating officer put the whole ship's company in the rigging and the men made a living sail. As it was the ship cleared the reef by about twelve feet.

The German government by a rising vote in the reichstag tendered a vote of thanks to Commander Brown. The West Virginia legislature two years afterward gave Commander Brown a gold sword in recognition of his heroism. The presentation was made at Commander Brown's old home, Morgantown, West Virginia,

Losing his ability to speak the English language the retaining ability to speak Italian in a whisper after recovering from a dangerous self-inflicted would in the throat, is the remarkable experience of a Fort Worth man reported in the December issue of the Medical Mirror, a publication which made its first appearance this month. The mirror is announced as the official journal of the students' medical society and the alumni so-ciety, medical department, of the Fort Worth University. The case of the patient in question is reported by George T. Thomas, assistant city physician, who in a story of the case says that the man, in Italian 38 years old, had been confined in the city prison on a charge of drunkenness and on refusing to work had been put in the dungeon. That night the assistant city physician was called on the information that the man had cut his throat, almost sever-ing the head from his body. The man's abdomen had also been pierced three times by a knife and the man was

Church Party Says It Is an Abuse of Power

Special to The Telegram.

PARIS, Dec. 22.—The passage of the amended separation law has brought forth a storm of denunciation by the clerical and liberal press, while the government organs express their gratification at the support accorded the measure by the citizens.

Groups which are at variance with the government's policy on other questions are the chief objectors. The church party denounces the new measure as an abuse of power and a report of Cardinal Richard is quoted saying that the law is certain to be vetoed by the pope as it is nothing more than a law of reprisal and altogether more unsatisfactory than the preceding measures which have been rejected by the vatican. Lefaro today refers to the government as cowardly bandidt manufacturers, manufacturing a new engine for the oppression of the defenseless in order to amuse the Jacobites. Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Ireland with other American prelates, are stated to have promised the pope to find the funds necessary to defray part of the living expenses of pupils, who, owing to the closing of seminaries in France, may decide to go to Rome to continue their education for the priesthood.

ONE DEAD ONE DYING

Fatal Midnight Shooting at Standard Theater

OFFICER VICTIM

John Nichols, Aged 40, Special Policeman, Instantly Killed and Prisoner Wounded

S A RESULT of a fatal shooting affray just before midnight last night, at the Standard L threater, 1301-1303 Rusk street, growing, it is said out of a too boisterous celebration of the Christmas holidays, John Nichols, aged 40, a special policeman, is dead and Barney Wise, a visitor in Fort Worth from Red River county, is a prisoner at the city jail, charged with the shooting. Wise himself is probably fatally wounded, a bullet from Nichols' revolver having pierced his body just below the ribs.

Nichols Killed Instantly

The shooting occurred five minutes before 12 o'clock, in the ticket office of the theater. So far as was learned, only three shots were fired. One was fired by Officer Nichols, which took effect in the abdomen of Wise. The wound was pronounced fatal by the attending physician.

Wise, it is declared, fired the first shot and the fatally wounded, Nichols succeeded in drawing his own pistol and firing the shot which passed thru Wise's abdomen. Nichol's directory address is given as 500 East Belknap street. Bystanders at the theater say he had been called to the office to quiet a disturbance just before the shooting, that only a few words passed between him and the two men, and then a shot rang

Frank DeBeque ran into the ticket office in which there were only three men. His statement is that Nichols was falling as he entered the door and was struggling to get out his pistol. DeBeque says he saw Wise fire once at Nichols after he entered the room, but the shot did not hit. DeBeque ran toward Nichols, but before he reached the dying policeman, the latter had fired and hit Wise. In the mean time, a man who had been with Wise made good his escape.

Christmas Celebration

Lying at the police station a half hour after the shooting and suffering greatly from the wound, Wise was barely able to tell his name and say he had worked four years for A. S. Cherry, who lives near Cuthand, Red River county.

Wise said that he and his companion, whose name he did not give, came to Fort Worth for a Christmas celebration. It was difficult, on account of Wise's condition, to get an intelli-

WOMAN CAUSE OF DURAND'S RECALL

Cleverly Arranged and Skillful Campaign

SATIRE OF LADY SUSAN

Wife of Walter Beaupre Townley Took Delight in Roasting All Who Were Friendly to Her Enemies

Special to The Telegram

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22-The secret of the peremptory recall of the right Hon. Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, from the British ambassadorship to Washington, is now believed to be the result of a cleverly arranged and skillfully directed campaign of satire by the brilliant and fascinating Lady Susan Townley, a favorite of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, and wife of Walter Beaupre Townley, until recently a counciller of the British embassy. Every evidence brought to bear upon the surprising and wholly unexpected withdrawal of Sir Mortimer from the diplomatic service of .his country, contains proof positive of a feminine intrigue prompted by trivial

Lady Mary Montague, the versatile Lady Susan waged a campaign which stopped not even at severe criticisms of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Her shafts of irony, directed generally toward Sir Mortimer and Lady. Durand, and indiscriminately at the United States senate, the house of representatives and American institutions generally, reached a climax when at a dinner party Lady Susan astounded her hearers by remarking that "The greatest circus in America is the white house entertainment."

Immediately upon the return of Lady Susan te England with her husband, following his recall in July, 1905, many of the leading English journals distinctly antagonistic to Sir Mortimer Durand. Much that was written concerning the British ambassador, and which was read here, was so outrageously unfair that diplomats were unanimous in declaring that Sir Mortimer was evidently the victim of a plot to ruin him diplomatically. Knowing that Lady Susan had enjoyed a grim humor in her ironic utterances regarding them, the Durands have thus far absolutely refrained from commenting upon her chatter.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt and Sir Mortimer Durand were not the only victims of the English woman's tongue. With caustic descriptions that were not received with favor, Lady Susan never hesitated to poke conversational fun at Secretary Taft, General Oliver, assistant secretary of war; General John W. Foster, former secretary of state; Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Senator Lodge Senator Hale and Vice President and Mrs. Fairbanks. The reason for her flings at these distinguished men is explained today as due to their strong and unwavering friendship for the Du-

Chews Tobacco After Long Fast-Work of Rescue Was Difficult

Epecial to The Telegram.

AKERSFIELD, Cal., Dec. 22 .-T. B. Hicks, the Edison Electric Company tunnel digger, has been released from the living tomb he has occupied for the past fifteen days. He was taken from his hole in the ground a few minutes after 5 o'clock this evening and removed to a more open and safer section of the rescue drift. Here he will be kept until 8:30 or 9 o'clock, when he will be rushed to the company's hospital at the end of the six-mile tunnel on the opposite side of the mountain. Daylight was broken thru to Hicks shortly after noon today, but he was not even permitted to enjoy it. Dr. Stinchfield, who had joined the work. ers in the forward end of the drift, was ready with a roll of surgeon gauze

to protect them from the light. He protested at first, but finally yielded and bound the tape about his head.

tied to the end of a long stick. This was passed thru the crevice in the granite and the miner was instructed by the doctor to bind his eyes in order

Then the long-looked for chew of tobacco was given him. Solid food had been given to Hicks yesterday, passed thru under the little tram car which has protected his body for the past two weeks. This apparently had been properly assimilated and Dr. Stinchfield considered that no harm could come from indulging the miner's craving for tobacco. The end of the stick on which the gauze had been pressed thru the crevice was sharpened and on it was impaled a miner's size chew of tobacco. Hicks was told it was coming. Carefully he felt for the stick and ran his hands down its length until the precious chew was reached. He thanked the miners over and over again. "Take your time boys," he called, "I am happy now. I have been in here for more than two weeks already and a few hours more or less won't hurt Asked if he thought he would be able to ride the old horse—a common property animal used by any and all of the miners in making the trips from the base of supplies, up to the hospital,

"I feel like I could ride a wild mule if I could only get out."

Rescue Work Slow Progress in the drift today was slower than it had been at any time since the work began. Less than an inch an hour was made. This was due to the treacherous looseness of the stone and sand, and the fact that the men were working almost directly above the entombed man. By 2:30 o'clock a large hole had been broken thru-probably a foot in diameter-and the exact size and shape of the space he occupied became known. It was found necessary to remove the debris from all sides of the little tram car. This again was a slow task, one that required much timbering and bracing in order to make it safe. By 4:30 a hole large enough to permit the removal of Hicks had been timbered up, but his egress was still barred by the rails of the tram road. Work of sawing them in two was begun at once. This again was slow, for the task of cutting thru large pieces of wrought steel with a ten-inch hack saw by hand is a la-

Sawed Thru Rails

Four times the saw had to be driven thru the rails, twice for each section, before the pieces could be removed When the first rail had been sawed in two another stop was necessary in order to timber beneath the tram car to prevent it from settling when the next rail had been cut. Next came the two-inch water pipe which runs the entire length of the main tunnel. This, too, barred egress and had to be sawed in two. It was 5 o'clock when the workers attacked the water pipe with the little saw. Its cutting thru was more rapid than had been the cutting of the steel rails and at 5:30 word was given that Hicks could come out. Willing hands stretched out to him as he squirmed toward the opening and he was literally dragged from the tomb he has occupied for fifteen days.

PARTIAL TAX RECEIPTS VALID

Attorney General Rules on Intangible Tax Law

Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 22 .- The attorney general this afternoon handed down an important ruling to all tax collectors over the state. It was in answer to a letter from John M. Gambrell, county judge of Caldwell county, in which the writer wanted to know if the tax collector is authorized to receive and receipt for taxes assessed against the tangible property of a railroad, without requiring payment at the same time of the taxes assessed against its franchise and intangible assets. The attorney general holds that the receipt may be issued in full payment of all taxes except the tax upon franchises and intangible assets of such railroad, in view of the fact that legality of the intangible assets law is being contested but that on the receipt it should be specifically stated that the receipt is issued on the condition that no right of the state or county shall thereby be effected in the event of the legality of the intangible assets tax law be sustained by the Women of Association Worked Twelve Years

On Thursday, Dec. 27, the new All Saints Hospital will be thrown open to the public for inspection, and on the following day it will become one of the hospitals of the city of Fort Worth, For twelve long years the All Saints Hospital Association, an association composed entirely of women, has struggled to build and open this hospital and their efforts are crowned

At times it has seemed to the women of the association that the attempt would have to be given up, but still a few members of the association continued the work and at last they have succeeded. It was not until recently that the association went into debt and now they felt that they could not afford to allow the building to go idle and consequently they decided that they would be forced to borrow a small sum with which to hold the opening. Money was offered many times to carry on the work, but not once would the ladies of the association accept anything which would put them in debt. If they didn't have the money they did not care to go any further than their cash on hand would carry

Lot Was Empty

The lot upon which the present building stands, on Eighth avenue, was purchased ten years ago, and remained idle for some time, or until a little more money was raised to start the work of building. From 1890 until 1900 the lot was empty, but in 1900 the work of putting up the building was started and the foundation was laid. The next year the first story was built, but the brick walls remained alone for four years, until in 1905 the work on the second story was started and the building was roofed over. On All Saints day, 1905, the first floor of the building was temperarily opened and one or two patients were taken care of, but the members of the association decided that without water and lighting facilities, it was not of any use to carry on the work, and it was decided to allow the building to go until it could be entirely fin-

Now the building is complete and the ladies of the association feel that they have succeeded in accomplishing a work which can do more good than anything else they could have done, and not one begrudges the time spent in carrying on the work.

Only One Hospital

When the plan was first broached Fort Worth had but the one hospital, St. Joseph's, and that was unable to carry on the work that was necessary. Since then, however, the Protestant sanitarium has been opened and also Dr. Thompson's sanitarium, but Fort necessities of the hospital service have been increased until today the four hospitals of the city are none too

Rooms in the hospital have been equipped by a number of people who are interested in the work. C. W. Post of Battle Creek, Mich., of Postum Cereal fame, has fitted up two rooms in the hospital, one in the name of his mother, Mrs. Carrie L. Post, of this city, and the other in honor of his wife, Mrs. C. W. Post. Another room has been equipped by Mrs. Sam H.

The children's ward has been equipped by Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Clark, and another room has been fitted up by H. G. Bury, in memory of Robert Bury. Still another room has been reserved and will be fitted up by the bricklayers union of the city of Fort Worth. One bed in the male ward has been presented by Edward Toogood and another bed by the brickiayers.

Active members of the association at the present time are: Mrs. George Beggs, president; Mrs. Will Davies, vice president; Mrs. Beard, second vice president; Mrs. John Bevan, secretary; Miss Amy Vickery, treasurer; Mmes. Streeter, F. A. Blair, Belden S. G. Dickerson, Sedwick, Crenshaw, S. Wemyss Smith, Phillips, Emma Nelson, J. D. Covert, Scoble, Edward Stephens, James Davies, Liszt, Misses Overstreet and Mary King.

The trustees of the association are H. G. Bury, R. Vickery, F. A. Blair, Davies, S. Wemyss Smith and Mmes. W. Davies and George Beggs.

Miss Miller Superintendent The general superintendent in charge of the hospital is Miss Miller, who came to Fort Worth from Bisyon, She was with Dr. Thompson in his sanitarium on Lamar street for a while. and resigned her work there in order to become superintendent of the All Saints Hospital.

In the selection of doctors for the hospital there will be a general staff of fourteen doctors and physicians, all having the same authority and with no one in a higher position than the other. In order to carry on the work. one of these doctors will be at the head of the work for a month at a time, changes being made every month and no doctor serving again until his turn comes. However, patients wishing their own physicians may have any one that they wish to send for, the list not being in any way confined to the fourteen doctors. It was the same association of women which opened the emergency hospital in the old medical college building about two years ago, where emergency cases were treated and taken care of without asking aid from the city at all. In fact the work was carried on without a single cent being received from the city of Fort Worth for the work that was done there. It was established at a time when there was a crying need for such a hospital in the city, there being no place in the center of the city where accident cases might be taken. The new hospital, which will be opened this week, was designed by S. Wemyss Smith and is 84x64 feet in extent. The first floor has separate wards for children and for male and female patients. There are bathrooms in connection with each ward and five private bathrooms on this floor, as well as the same number on the second floor. The dining room and kitchen with all their necessary equipment, are on the first floor as well. On the second floor is situated the operating room and all the necessary rooms dependent upon it. There are also six private rooms for patients wishing them and also for the patients who are seriously ill. A ward has also patients. On both floors there are wide corridors, running north and south, crossed by corridors of the same width running east and west,

Total cost of the building alone was $18,000, and with the cost of equipment and the original price of the building site, the cost has run much higher, almost every cent of which has been raised by the women of the association. Program for the opening of the building has been arranged and is quite extensive,

Y. M. C. A. TO OPEN

First Reception on Next Wednesday

Wednesday night the Y. M. C. A will open for the first time; there will follow a series of receptions lasting until New Year's night. The first reception will open for contributors. members, business men and ladies, and during the week of receptions special days or evenings will be an-nounced for certain people. New Year's day the reception will be for men only. but ladies of the women's clubs of the city will receive from 3 to 6 p. m. The new furniture is being arranged and the whole building being polished off, and work of all kinds being rushed to finish for the opening. Secretary Jones is very busy with the preparations and is being assisted by an efficient force of workers. During the reception week, Professor Childs, the physical director, will arrange for the emusement of those who care for gymnastic exercises and games. Several basket ball games will be played; also handball and indoor baseball, Altho everything will not be finished or in place, the visitors will be welcome just the same, and will find willing young men ready to answer questions and show them over the building.

The cafetiere will open Tuesday, Mr. Hughes has been secured to manage this important branch. In connection with this department, there are new ideas and original methods to be used. The chief aim in this department is to serve only the best. This will be done at all times and besides will be served at lowest cost to the members. Quality and efficiency are guaranteed by the management. Announcements of special features of the week will be made later. It is likely that some features in the form of entertainment will be added that have not yet been announced.

REAL ESTATE WAS OUIET

Week Before Christmas Recorded Few Realty Deals

Real estate during the past week has been very quiet, the Christmas holiday season driving all thoughts of buying and selling real estate out of the minds of the would-be purchasers. Several of the heavier interested real estate owners and speculators in the city have been away and this has caused a dull week.

However, there has never been a time when Fort Worth real estate was active the week before Christmas, and the same has been the rule this year The trade will probably be dull until along in the middle of January. Opening will also be delayed somewhat this year by the trades excursion, as almost all of the people interested in buying and selling will be among the participants in that excursion, and while there may be some talking of purchases and sales during the trip, it is not probable that anything will change hands, as the purchaser usually wishes to look over the site or building before buying.

The month so far has been a heavy one in real estate circles, a number of large deals with fine commissions gladdening the hearts of the real estate dealers. Commissions have been large at times and the real estate men have consequently been able to spend a good time thinking of the coming Christmas, probably the happiest that almost all of the real estate men here have ever had, if looked at from a monetary standpoint of profits made during the year.

MAIL SERVICE GROWTH

Schedule Just Issued Contains Niney-Six Pages

The rapid growth of this part of the country is illustrated by a comparison the schedule of mail as issued by the Eleventh division of the railway mail service six years ago and that of today. The last schedule issued contains ninety-six pages, while the issue of Feb. 15, 1898, had but forty pages. The pamphlet of today contains twice as many trains to the page that are carrying mail as the one of six years ago. A time table showing three trains a day each way takes the same room that the one showing one train a day does. In the case of the pamphlet of 1898 almost all the roads only had the one train a day. The increase in the number of trains is therefore more than the increase in the number of pages the schedule.

AN ALL SOUTHERN ELEVEN PICKED

Composed Chiefly of Men From Vanderbilt

Selection of an All-Southern football eleven for the 1906 season has been made by the Memphis Commercial Appeal, and as usual consists of Vanderbilt players, almost to the entire exclusion of other teams. However, an improvement is shown this year in considering the other colleges, as in the selection for 1905 the same paper picked the Vanderbilt team intact. This year one Mississippi and one Sewanes man are given positions. Choice of an All-Southern team is a difficult proposition on account of the distance separating the larger teams and the inability of teams like Texas and A. and M. to play enough games with the teams east of the Mississipp to give critics there, who are the only ones who could make an attempt to pick such a team, a chance to see just how they work. The Texas team of the past year was composed of several speedy players, and other schools had some good ones, and some of these should have received consideration in the picking. Parish is, however, the only one who was mentioned, and he is lined up with a number of other men from the other institutions besides Vanderbilt as substitutes.

The All-Southern football team as picked by the Commercial Appeal, an interesting team as it is perhaps the only one picked in the same district, is

J. B. Daniel of the real estate firm of Winters-Daniel Company of this city, has just returned from Amarillo, where he succeeded in selling the property known as the VVN ranch, in Bailey county, for the third time within a year. The sale of the property by William Hunt of Roanoke, Va., was reported in The Telegram of last Sunday, Mr. Hunt making a profit of $131,958 on the property which he had owned

The ranch comprises 85,844 acres and has been sold by W. H. Garrett and associates, who just purchased it a week ago at a profit of a dollar an acre. They bought the land for $4 an acre, paying $343,379 for it, and sold it again this week to E. E. McGill, a Minnesota capitalist, for approximately $5 an acre, getting over $400,000. It is the intention of the new owner of the property to colonize the land with farmers and stock raisers from the northern states. Within twenty-four hours after he purchased the land he was offered profit of $68,000 net on it, but he refused it, preferring to sell it in small sections himself.

The advance of value of property in that section of the country is amply illusted by this piece of property. A year ago it was purchased by William Hunt of Roanoke, Va., at $2.25 an acre. He sold it for $4 an acre and a week later it went for $5 an acre, and now little less than $6 an acre has been offered for it. All three sales were made thru the Winters-Daniel Com-

Chas. H. Yale's "Devil's Auction" Manager Charles H. Yale says the 'Devil's Auction," which comes to Greenwall's opera house Christmas day matinee and night, Dec. 25, is the best paying piece of theatrical property in America, and gives the following reasons to substantiate the claim:

First, it has been on the road continuously for twenty-four seasons. Second, it has always pleased its many thousands of patrons thruout the country.

Third, it has always been kept up to the times with novelties an innovations, making it each season a new performance, simply retaining the old name as a trade mark.

Fourth, it has never presented anything to offend and caters to the ladies and children. Fifth, the theater going public are always sure of enjoying a pleasant evening's entertainment and seeing what the management advertises. The one reason why everybody should see it this year is that the twenty-fifth edition of the "Devil's Auction" is new in its entirety.

Shepard's Moving Pictures

Wednesday matinee and night, Dec. 26, the Archie L. Shepard Moving Picture Company will offer an entirely new bill at Greenwall's opera house of large proportions as sweeping as it is varying in a wealth of magnificent subjects of equal merit. Pictures of great dramatic worth, splendidly acted by an imposing cast of merit, wherein expressive action of clear intent will interest, while the climaxes that are perfectly graded will hold the audience spellbound, containing a daring rescue, and a tremendous climax of sterling power. The comedy pictures are those only that are new, original and real laugh producers and are divertisements alternating with subjects that touch and hold the interest of all whether in travel, the drama, history, daily events, sports or in the realism of science, literature and art.

One of the performances which will be a novelty to the children as well as to the older folk is the phenomenal act of Marvelous Frank and Bob and their trick dog "Tip." This act abounds with humorous situations as well as showing the difficult feats that a little canine can be educated to do. The Rader brothers, assisted by four girls, called the little sunbeams, will entertain with some clever dances, choruses and imitation work. Myles McCarthy assisted by Miss Aida Woolcott, will present an original one-act comedy, entitled, "The Race Tout's Dream." Del-a-Phone, the celebrated sound and noise imitator, will have a varied program to present and Crouch and Richards will render difficut selections on the banjo. Joe Garzo, the contortionist, performances are always a delight. The little animal will turn somersaults, walk on his hind feet, balance himself on a stick held by one of the team. He also follows his masters in trying to accomplish some of their marvelous work, so well is he trained. The humorous side of the performance is cared for by Bob, who plays the part of a clown and is always making a mess of everything he undertakes. When he finally gets on to the ropes he proves that he is as good a performer as the dog, as he puts it. The closing feat will show Frank walking down a high pyramid of steps and then jumping from one to two steps without the aid of his crutch.

Rader Brothers and Four Sunbeams One of the greatest juvenile exhibitions in the country is that of the two Rader brothers and the four little girls, the dazzling sunbeams. Little John is a great imitator of girls and actresses, and to quote the expression of the matinee girl, is just too cute for anything. His brother is a fine vocalist and they double in some pretty dancing steps. One of John's best imitations is that of Sis Hopkins, After the brothers have entertained in their specialty they introduce the four sunbeams, Nellie Bright, Marie Albers, Irene Behring and Adele Henen. Then follows one of the prettiest juvenile stage creations of the season. Attired in costumes of white, the girls sing and dance with the assistance of John Rader, in girl costume, and his brother in the garb of a cavalier. This is a march chorus entitled "Cupid is Captain of the Army," and always makes a hit. "By the Light of the Honeymoon," one of the latest songs, will be introduced by the sextette, besides other selec-

Myles McCarthy, assisted by Miss Woolcott, will present a one-act come-dy, "The Race Tout's Dream," which is full of amusing situations and also shows to what means a follower of the races will resort in order to get money if he feels confident that he can make a winning. The story tells the adventures of a race track tout who is broke, but has a "good thing," and is in trouble in finding some one to place the money for him. Miss Woolcott comes to the aid and the "good thing" wins and all are happy. The comedy abounds with slang phrases and shows the wisdom of a real tout, Miss Woolcott is a handsome woman and never fails to attract much attention. A new sketch every other

Del-a-Phone

To Del-A-Phone belongs the credit of being the best imitator of all things in the vaudeville business. If there is cannot imitate it must be of recent origin. He barks like a dog, meows like a cat, sings and whistles like a bird, cackles like a hen, roars like a lion, buzzes like the noise from a planing mill, telephones to himself and hundreds of other things. Del-A-Phone at every performance will imitate anything that the audience asks for, should he overlook it in his regular reper-

Crouch and Richards

There is still plenty of melody in the banjo and Crouch and Richards know how to tickle the strings to produce the sweet strains of the old-time southern melodies. They do not confine their work to these selections alone, for they have mastered the difficult art of rendering the classics on the picked instrument. They are great favorites and should prove a popular attraction.

Joe Garzo

Joe Garzo, the human cricket, will show how many ways he can twist his body. One of his specialties is walking on his ear. He has recently returned from his native country of Spain and the other European countries, where he made a tremendous success. His particular form of amusement is to curl up like a ball and roll all over the stage.

Polo Games at Large Rink

The management of the Fort Worth skating rink announces that the celebrated polo team of Shreveport will arrive here Christmas morning to play three games with the team representing the Fort Worth rink, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Dec. 25, 26 and 27.

The Shreveport team has not met defeat this season, but Coach Kennard of the Fort Worth team, says his men will surely lower its colors here. "The Fort Worth team is practicing twice a day and getting in perfect condition. The boys are all very enthusiastic and declare they will make the Shreveport boys fight every inch of the ground." Manager Billy Laird, who played second rush on the champion Indianapolis team for several years, guarantees the Fort Worth people some of the best sport they have ever witnessed. Roller polo is a very scientific game and takes men with cool heads and excellent judgment to play it. Mr. Kennard is famous in polo circles and is being sought by all the

Groom Is Popular Deputy in District Clerk's Office

At 6:30 p. m. Sunday Mr. Clem Coble, deputy district clerk under John A. Martin, and one of the most popular young officials at the courthouse, will be united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Thurman at the home of the bride at Arlington. The wedding will be at the Presbyterian parsonage, the bride's father, Rev. Dr. Thurman, being the pastor in charge at Arlington, where the bride is highly esteemed for her many good qualities of both heart and mind. The wedding will be a quiet home affair, only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom being present. Mr. and Mrs. Coble will make their home at Arlington, where the groom was reared, but Mr. Coble will still hold his position in the clerk's office.

CALLS FARMERS FOR MEETING

Organization to Be Effected at Colorado City

permanent chairman of the farmers meeting held in Abilene on the 13th of December for the purpose of organizing a Farmers' Union composed entirely of men who lived on and worked farms, which was adjourned to some date and place to be fixed by the chairman. The Telegram was the only paper in the state that published the information that such a call would be made and stated that Colorado would probably be the place of meeting. There is said to be no doubt that the organization will be perfected this time, for the information has been received that since the last meeting the real farmers of west Texas have become very much worked up over the action of the visitors from Dallas at the last meeting and are determined that the organization shall be perfected. A large attendance is expected at the meeting at Colorado of the 17th of January. As chairman of the meeting held at Abilene, Texas, Dec. 13, to organize an actual farmers' organization, I am authorized to say to all who signed the call for that meeting that, as the meefing was not largely attended, owing to previous bad weather, and as there was some misunderstanding and much misinformation as to the object of the meeting, it was decided by vote of those in attendance that the meeting be adjourned to meet at Colorado City on Thursday, Jan. 17, 1907. In accordance with this action I hereby call upon all actual farmers who live upon the farm, and have no interest in any business or enterprise that is inimical to the interests of the farmers and who wish to join an actual farmers' organization, to meet at Colorado City on the above named date.

Amarillo to Expend

pecial to The Telegram. AMARILLO, Texas, Dec. 22.-Annexation and expansion in the shape of the petition for greater Amarillo net nothing but friends when it was ought up before the council yesterday afternoon. The measure, which has been the pet project of every city officer and the Amarillo Commercial Club, was presented for acceptance without a word of dissent from any citizen who might have opposed the passage and was enacted into an ordinance with less talk than might have been taken to order a new culvert. There was no need for talk. The petition, counting every man whose name did not appear on the document as voting against the passage of the measure, had a majority of more than three to one in favor of annexation. Many of the citizens whose names did not appear on the paper were railroad men whom the committee could not see in time, but who are really in favor of the measure. By the terms of the petition, Amarillo makes the greatest growth possible under the law at one step. One mile or a half mile from the center of the city in any direction is the limit of expansion allowed, and under this petition Amarillo expands that much in every direction. By this expansion the corporate limits has increased to nearly four times its former size. The town will be now about two miles square and will include nearly all of the original town sections. This does not by any means include all the town that has been platted, but it does include about all of the improved portion of Special to The Telegram. CHILDRESS, Texas, Dec. 22.-It is stated that household goods for nine-teen families were unloaded at Childress one day this week. A very good evidence that the great Childress country is rapidly settling up.

New Building at Goodnight

Special to The Telegram. GOODNIGHT, Texas, Dec. 22-Goodnight Industrial Institute laid the corner stone of its new administrative building yesterday with ceremonies appropriate to such an occasion. The program was one of unusual interest. Goodnight has been steadily forging to the front for the past few months and promises soon to become one of the most popular schools of learning in this section of Texas. Prominent among those who took active part in the ceremonies were John Veal of Amarillo, Rev. W. A. Tarnage of Dalhart, Rev. J. M. Dawson of Abilene, J. F. McDonald, president of the Canadian Academy, and J. J. Reynolds, president of Goodnight Institute.

Fifty-Three-Pound Pumpkin

Special to The Telegram ARCHER CITY, Texas, Dec. 22.-Mrs. DeMoss, accompanied by Mrs, Nelson, was in town Wednesday evening to exhibit a pumpkin which grew on her place, southeast of town. The pumpkin weighed fifty-three pounds. It is the largest ever seen in this country. The seed came from the Indian Territory and is not the common potato pumpkin.

Corn in Piles

Special to The Telegram MEMPHIS, Texas, Dec. 22.-A. F. Kerr returned yesterday from a visit to his son, Phil Kerr, at Chillicothe, Texas. Mr. Kerr speaks enthusiastically of the town of Chillicothe and the country surrounding it. He says they have immense piles of corn piled up in the town, ready for market, and that they have ginned some four or five thousand bales of cotton so far, and will gin and market more. He says the town is one of the most prosperous in Northwet Texas.

Cotton at Clarendon

Special to The Telegram. CLARENDON, Texas, Dec. 22.—Fred Weidman, the "first bale man," says he will get twenty 500-pound bales of cotton off of his place, there being at least five more in the field. He says experiments have proven to him that the tight land makes the best cotton, some of his tight land this year yield. ing more than a bale to the acre. He is pleased with cotton raising.

Telephone Plant Sold

Special to The Telegram. HEREFORD, Texas, Dec. 22.-After negotiations covering a period of more than three months, the Hereford Telephone plant has been sold to Claude J. Blain and associates of Trenton, Mo. Mr. Blain is a prominent attorney of Trenton and is president of the telephone company of that city, an institution which is valued at $150,000. Mr. Blain says cables will be placed in all parts of the city, so that wind and snow storms will not interfere in the least with the service of telephones.

2,195 Bales at Childress Special to The Telegram.

CHILDRESS, Texas, Dec. 22.—At the close of business yesterday the Childress gins had turned out 2,195 bales. Cotton is coming in quite brisk again, and with fair weather will put the number of bales above the 3,000 mark before Jan. 1. The gins in the various neighborhoods of the county are busy again. The Yell gin has ginned over 900 bales, the Carey gin about 400, the Kirkland gin 1,000. The cold wet weather damaged the cotton to some extent, but if pleasant weather should come cotton would some in to the gins and market.

New Bank at Groom Special to The Telegram.

AMARILLO, Texas, Dec. 22.-Grown, prosperous little town on the Rock Island, now has a bank with ample capital and backing for all the business. Groom is the center of a rap-idly developing farming country and is becoming a business point of con-siderable importance. Knorpp and Blasdell are the proprietors of the new institution. John W. Knorpp is an old-timer on the plains and is thoroly familiar with Panhandle business and conditions. Mr. Knorpp Sr. has been interested in Panhandle land and cattle for a number of years and still controls a large quantity of the land near Groom, which is now being turned into rich farms. Eugene S. Blasdell, the active member of the banking firm, has been in business for some time in Groom and enjoys the confidence of a wide business acquaintance in the Panhandle. The new institution supplies a real need in Groom and starts under most favorable circumstances. This will be the second bank to be started in Carson county. The Panhandle bank at Panhandle City, of which J. C. Paul is president, is one of the oldest financial institutions in the Panhandle.

Raising Jersey Cattle

Special to The Telegram. WELLINGTON, Texas, Dec. 22.-J. . Walker left yesterday for Waco, where he goes after a car load of registered Jersey cattle that he has bought from E. H. Russell, a prominent Jersey breeder near the above named city. Mr. Walker thinks that the time has arrived when Jersey cattle will prove more profitable in this country than any other breed on account of the rapidly growing demand for milch cows, as the country develops into an agricultural section.

County Seat Contest

Special to The Telegram. MIAMI, Texas, Dec. 22.—The county seat election in Wheeler county last Saturday resulted in a majority for removal to Wineeler. The election was close and the majority something like half a dozen votes. The commissioner's court at the canvass of the returns declared the election in favor of Mobetee, claiming that the officers of one box sealed up the tally sheets in the box with the ballots, and according to law no one is permitted to open this box except in case of contest and if a contest is not filed in sixty days the contents of the box are to be destroyed so the court declared its finding according to the returns before them. With this box it is claimed Wheeler had a majority, without it Mobetee. The latter, anticipating an altogether different finding by the commissioners has spoken for attornevs to carry the matter to court. This finding puts the other side in the Scientists are nowadays, if anything, more keen to solve the subtleties of the brain's functions. All that has been done, and great efforts have been made, have had but_inadequate results. The truth of the matter is. the brain is not well understood, and research seems to be practically baffled. comparison.

One of the things that is demonstrated is that the higher the intelligence of the creature the more the brain is convoluted; that is, the more folds there are in the brain. In the human brain an effort has been made to locate in these various folds the separate faculties of the mind and the seats of control for the various muscles. Some of this has been done in rather a general, theoretical way. Brain surgery has advanced to a point where persons can be deprived of a portion of their brain and still live. One old fallacy was that the weight of the brain invariably matched the intellect of the person; but, while some very gifted men have had very large brains, so have many persons of feeble mind, so the rule does not hold good. The secret of superiority seems to be in a brain quality which

Perhaps never in the history of North Fort Worth were turkeys so slentiful at this season of the year, and it has been a long time since the price was so low. Hundreds of them were on the local markets Saturday, and many were held over for the want of a market, even at the low price of I cents a pound.

Seven wagon loads were taken to the ountry late in the day for the want a market. One of the causes assigned for the very low prices preailing and the slow demand at this time is the fact that with very few exceptions, the birds are in very poor flesh, very few of them being in condition to bake for a Christmas dinner, with not time enough now in which to

TO CLEAN UP CITY

Sanitary Department Is Trying a New

The city health department has struck a new idea in the matter of cleaning up the city and that is to concentrate the entire sanitary force in each of the wards successively, dividing them into three districts, for there are three sanitary officers, and then make a close and active canvass, issuing notices to-stop doing the prohibited things, if they are necessary, or to clean up if the premises are not in apple pie order.

Over six thousand notices have been issued by the sanitary officers and the work of cleaning up is generally making good progress.

One advantage of the division of the wards into districts is that the work can be the much more rapidly done. and while the rapidity is attained there is also a better result for the inspection is as nearly as practicable simultaneously.

What Sulphur Does

For the Human Body in Health and Disease

COSTS NOTHING TO TRY The mention of sulphur will recall to many of us the early days when our mothers and grandmothers gave us our daily dose of sulphur and molasses every spring and fall.

It was the universal spring and fall "blood purifier," tonic and cureall, and, mind you, this old-fashioned remedy was not without merit. The idea was good, but the remedy was crude and unpalatable, and a large quantity had to be taken to get

Nowadays we get all the beneficial effects of sulphur in a palatable, concentrated form, so that a single grain is far more effective than a tablespoonful of the crude sulphur. In recent years research and experiment have proven that the best sulphur for medicinal use is that obtained from Calcium (Calcium Sulphide) and sold in drug stores under the name of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They are small chocolate coated pellets and contain the active medicinal principle of sulphur in a highly concentrated, ef-Few people are aware of the value of this form of sulphur in restoring and maintaining bodily vigor and health; sulphur acts directly on the liver and excretory organs and purifies and enriches the blood by the prompt elimination of waste material. Our grandmothers knew this when they dosed us with sulphur and molasses every spring and fall, but the crudity and impurity of ordinary flowers of sulphur were often worse than the disease, and cannot compare with the modern concentrated preparations of sulphur, of which Stuart's Calcium Wafers is undoubtedly the best and most widely used.

They are the natural antidote for liver and kidney troubles and cure constipation and purify the blood in a way that often surprises patient and physician alike. Dr. R. M. Wilkins, while experimenting with sulphur remedies, soon found that the sulphur from Calcium was superior to any other form. He says: "For liver, kidney and blood troubles, especially when resulting from constipation or malaria, I have been surprised at the results obtained from Stuart's Calcium Wafers. In patients suffering from boils and pimples and even deep-seated carbuncles, I have repeatedly seen them dry up and disappear in four or five days, leaving the skin clear and smooth. Although Stuart's Calcium Wafers is a proprietary article and sold by druggists and for that reason tabooed by many dang vet I know of nothing so safe and reliable for constipation, liver and kidney troubles and especially in all forms of skin diseases as this

At any rate people who are tired of pills, cathartics and so-called blood "purifiers" will find in Stuart's Calcium Wafers a far safer, more palatable and effective preparation. Send your name and address today

UNION STATION WAS CROWDED

General Local Holiday to Be Many People Leave for the Old

not in car load lots, but by the full train loads people surged thru the Texas and Pacific Union station and

Never in the history of railroads in Texas was there ever known such a movement of people as there was out of Fort Worth Saturday morning all thru the day and Saturday night; yet notwithstanding an army left on the different trains their going made no difference in the numbers of people on the streets and thronging the different stores. Where they all come from, the good Lord only know. It is not overestimating the crowd of people who went out on the different roads Saturday to put it at 20,000. No one who was not at the big Union passenger stations can form an idea of the crowds. Saturday night the Texas and Pacific passenger station was a sight worth going miles to see. Big people, little people, middle size people, white people, black people, yellow people, old people and young people were there in countless numbers and to get thru the crowd a man had to work harder than a field hand in harvest time.

All Roads Busy

The people who were on the move didn't go out on any particular road Saturday night; they went out on all the roads-north, south, east and west. It looked as the Fort Worth was the center of the universe and the people to populate the world were being sent out from this central point. It is understood that this is not going back to the old home in the old states period, but Saturday night the people were going to the old states, the new states, the territories and to points all over Texas. On one train, the southbound Katy, over 200 adult people were loaded and countless babies and children under fare paying age.

Babies Numerous

Talking about babies, the Texas and Pacific passenger station Saturday night looked like an incubator for the world. Where all the children that were there came from is something to guess about. Captain Will Scott, the well known former range captain, now a real estate man at Mineral Wells, was at the depot en route to San Antonio, and called a Telegram reporter's attention to the children. "Look at them," he said; "did you ever in your life see so many children at one time? Look over in that corner! There is thirty-two in that bunch, in yonder bunch there are twentyeight, over yonder is another bunch of twenty-four. A man has to be careful in walking; he will step on them; they are squatted around like covies of

"I made a count of the children under 10 years of age in this building awhile ago and counted 802, and then pissed a lot of them. No wonder land in Texas is going up, when there is such a crop of babies to be provided with farms when they grow up. They are not making any more land, but the people are-just look at the babies, will you. It beats the world. Captain Scott was not far wrong. There were babies galore, ranging rom the squawking youngster in arms o the tousle-haired boy of 10, all over the place. They were in swarms like bees; in covies like quail, and strung out on the benches like young turkies or a limb. Some were sprawled out on the hard floor asleep, others were Propped up against the sides of the room, others stretched out on the benches and others held in their mother's arms, while scores of them stood about walked about and run about like rabbits in a warren. There is no question now that the business of the railroads this year on account of the holiday excursions is the heaviest ever known in Texas. Ticket Agent Charlie Lusk says his sales up to this time are far ahead of what they ever have been during the

Considerable complaint has been expressed during the past couple of weeks on the condition that lower Houston street has been left in by the old Arlington Heights Traction Company. When the tracks were laid down Houston street, from Fifteenth to Front, enough of the paving was taken up to allow of the ties being laid, and then the street was left in that condition with a bump every couple of feet where a tie was put down. In some places an attempt was made to fill up the places with rocks, with the result that the rocks spread ail over the street for several blocks. Various property owners in that section are loud in their complaints as to the condition of the street, while every driver of a vehicle who has passed by there sees cause for complaint.

Next Number of the Y. P. S. C. E. Lyceum Course

Not only is the next number of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor lyceum course a novelty but the management asserts that it is one of the very best, if not the best, of the whole lyceum course. The date for the entertainment is

Dec. 26 and the nature is musical and reading. The music will be furnished by the "Italian Boys," a band of five talented young musicians. Their music is of a high class, it is claimed, and much of it is of the kind which is well known, as well as some which is distinctively Italian, that the peculiar gifts of the young musicians may be shown. Additionally they have with them, Elbert Foland, humorist, a reader and impersonator of rare ability. The entertainment will be given at the city

WHEN HENDRICKS ROASTED DAVIS

He Was Formerly a Fort Worth Reporter

Judge Henry G. Hendricks of Miami was in Fort Worth Saturday and left for home Saturday night to be with his family Christmas.

Judge Hendricks is an old time Fort Worth boy. He was born and raised here and at one time was one of the newspaper gang in Fort Worth. He was a good reporter and liked the work until he was sent out one night when he was the cub reporter on the old Gazette to report a speech of Methodist Jim Davis, who was setting the world afire for the people's party. Davis spoke in the old court house and in order to get a good report Harry got right up on the platform next to Davis. Davis was "put on" to who Hendricks was and all during the talk would lambast the Gazette, and pointing his long, bony ticket at Hendricks would say: "Put that down and put it in your old plutocrat rag, Mr. Gazefte report-

This made Hendricks not and he wanted to get even and with permission of the city editor embodied in his report of the speech a description of a "badger" fight at Cleburne in which Methodist Jim was said to have played an important part. When Harry went to the office next afternoon he was told by Editor Walter Malone that Methodist Jim had been around half a dozen times that morning howling for the fellow who wrote up that badger fight, and then told Harry he could take a lay off for a day or two and Harry took it. "I have never seen Methodist Jim but once since," said Judge Hendricks Saturday, and that was a short time ago in the Panhandle. I was introduced to him and when he heard my name he looked at me as sharp as he could and said "'Hendricks, Hendricks; seems to ne I've met you before.' "That old badger fight business flashed thru my mind in an instant and I believe Davis was thinking about the same thing. I had never been formally presented to Davis before and do not recognize my being at the court house that night as "meeting him," and quickly answered 'No, I have never met you before.' "

Judge Hendricks was elected judge the Thirty-first judicial district at the November election by a handsome majority over an estimable gentleman and good lawyer who had held the office for several terms.

HEAVY MAIL AT LOCAL OFFICE

Clerks Are Busy But Not Entirely Swamped

Rush of mail at the Fort Worth postoffice during the past few days has been enormous, but the clerks of the postoffice here have proved equal to the extra strain and the postoffice has not presented an extraordinarly crowded appearance, as the keyword of the employes has been "keep them moving," and business has been dispatched with as great a facility as pos-

Business began earlier than usual this year and has been consequently spread out over more days, altho the rush of Friday and Saturday has almost threatened to swamp the clerks and carriers. Every available hand has been used by Postmaster Lon Barkley in keeping up with the rush, and when there has been a chance for the passing of some unimportant task in order that a rush of business in another place might be avoided care has been taken to see that every one was working where the work would tell to the best advantage. Use of the extra carriers allowed by the department for emergency at this time of the year has aided in getting. the mail delivered everywhere, for as soon as a carrier was overladen and could not keep up with the work a substitute was given to help and the matter cleared up. In this way there has been no unnecessary and unavoidable delays as often occur in the Christmas mail at a postoffice. The opening of an additional stamp window in the money order department, while causing extra work for the money order clerks, has aided in the carrying on of business tremendously, as a large number of people have been accommodated by C. O. Elliott and the other clerks of the money order department, weighing and stamping packages for the senders. The chief mailing clerk of the postoffice dreads Christmas in the worst kind of a way, and when it is all over he is probably the most thankful man in the postoffice, as Christmas brings to him enough packages to load a whole string of wagons. The registered letter department is more rushed than any other part of the office, and the force at work in the Fort Worth office was doubled before additional men were put on anywhere else. The sending of registered letters begins earlier than in any other department, as it takes so much longer for a registered letter to get to its

Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 22.-A series of incidents connected with the visit to America of Lord Curzon, formerly viceroy of India, culminating in his departure for England on a different vessel from that taken by Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter and her daughters, the Countess of Suffolk and Mrs. Colin Campbell, has caused gossip here among social leaders that there has been an estrangement between the Leiters and Lord Curzon It is hinted too, that this difference is the outgrowth of the financial relations growing out of the settlement of Lady Curzon's estate and the disbursement of $1,750,000 marriage settlement. Today when it was learned that Lord Curzon sailed on a different vessel from that taken by his relatives, al no he had no other business in America but to arrange the details of the marriage settlement, the following incidents were recalled: The morning after Lord Curzon's arrival in Chicago Joe Leiter, his borther-in-law, left the city for a visit to his coal mines at Zeigler, Ill., not with-

A charming woman told me the other day that she wished everybody would agree to set aside Christmas for children and let grown folks go. "I wish we could agree to put all our money together and count all the children and then go about it systematically that every child in the world may have a happy time once a year

We grown folks expect too much from Christmas givers I suspect, and this has helped to make of the season a burden. I have been spending much of my time among the shoppers and have become a guide councillor and friend to numerous seekers for presents, especially men seekers.

Nearly everybody has a long list of people they really think enough of to give of their money time and work at this season. The nearer Christmas day comes the more my heart is fairly plugging with affectionate desires and remembrances. Is this not of itself the best result of the anniversary? I am happier standing around thinking of a dear girl that I think would like this trinket, or of a good mother who might be helped by some article speaking of comfort. Christmas will never be given over to children entirely while our hearts keep pegging away in loyal friendship and remembrance of those in and out

Christmas bells were hung in every imaginable place, and ivy and smilax turned the big colonial hall into a forest with Kriss Kingle as a ruler and

As tiny dames with powdered hair, and fairies with wonderful spangles, knights and soldiers, made their greetings, they at once joined in merry games. When all had appeared there was a march which closed by a fancy dance by Joyce Hudson. This was followed by a dance as "Night," a gay collection of stars marking the black tarlton skirts.

By the time these fancy steps were over a snow man appeared at the door, and he was at once beset by attacks of white confetti thrown by the energetic little hands who sought to demolish his crystal glory.

In the grille room were pretty Christmas trees, blazing with shining decorations, which delighed as the young folks enjoyed their supper of Christmas goodies. After supper, when dancing was well

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Walker occurred a beautiful but simple wedding last Thursday eventoilet accessories oftenest seen among ette, and wore a costume of white ing, when their only daughter, Kath-with palms, ferns and vines. The dining room was in red and green, the chandelier being draped with vines, and red ribbons radiating from ceiling to walls, where they terminated in wreaths of holly. Previous to the ceremony Miss Downing sang "Until Death" in her usual charming manner. Immediately after the bridal party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Hess, with violin obligato by Miss Warren. The Flower Song was softly played during the ceremony. The bride was beautiful in radium silk over taffeta, with trimmings of Chantilly lace and pearl bead passementerie. She carried a boquet of bride roses and valley

The bridesmaid, Miss Meek of Dundee, Scotland, was gowned in white crepe de chine, with lace trimmings, and carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations. Many handsome presents attested to the high esteem in which the young couple are held. The happy couple left last night for three weeks' trip to El Paso, Mexico and other western points. Mr. and Mrs. Newkirk will be at home at the Delaware after Jan. 15. Brookes-Loftin One of the most interesting society events of the week was the celebration of the Brookes-Lofton nuptials at the Tabernacle Christain church, on Thursday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, The bridal party entered to the beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, rendered by Miss Moore on the piano and Professor Claud Rosignol on the violin. The bridal party, ushered by Messrs. Luther Van Zandt and Antony J. Day, was led by little Miss Emily Witcher, gowned in pink silk batiste, accordeon plaited, carrying in her hand the calla lilly containing the wedding ring. Master Loftin Witcher accompanied the ring bearer, then Miss Nell Harriss of Tyler, maid of honor, in white chiffon, real lace and diamonds, with H. Witcher; Miss Lucile Cotten of Weatherford, in white crepe de chine and lace medallions, with Frank Sansom of Kansas City; Miss Mary Henderson, in white crepe de chine, trimmed in baby Irish lace, with Americus G. Johnson; the bride, Miss Lucy Loftin, in white chiffon satin over taffeta, on the arm of the matron of honor, Mrs. H. Witcher, in pink radium over chiffon, over taffeta; and the groom, on the arm of the best man, Dr. Martin E. Taber of Dal-

The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. E. Dubber in a verbeautiful and impressive manner, after which the bridal party retired to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin and repaired to the Hotel Touraine, where a wedding dinner was served. The color scheme of pink and white was beautifully carried out and a dainty box of wedding cake was prepared for each participant. The bride and groom departed for a honeymoon to be spent in New Orleans and Havana. The bride is the youngest daughter of the late William Pitt Loftin of Smith county, and has endeared herself to all her friends and acquaintances by her lovable character. The groom is the youngest son of the late Dr. William B. Brookes of Dallas. He is now a rising young business man ents of very many beautiful and cost-and admirers. They will be at home after Feb. 1 at Waco. Texas.

For the Teachers The following program will be rendered by the Euterpean, the Harmony, the Trio and the St. Cecelia Clubs next Thursday evening, complimentary to the visiting teachers. The Christian Tabernacle has been secured for the

* * * A College Dance The young folks home from college had a tremendously fine time Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Alexis C. Ford entertaining them and their friends at their new home, "Whipporwill Lodge," at stop 6 on the interurban. Miss Frances Harrison, Mrs. Ford's niece, who is attending Smith College, was the honoree. The colors and pennants of a number of the lead-. ing colleges thruout the country were used as decorations and it is whispered that the men gave exhibitions of certain vocal achievements by which their colleges are recognized in contests on diamond and gridiron. The guests of the evening were Misses Harrison, Adams Cantey, Thompson, Fakes, Stripling, Anne Stripling, Jennings, Wombwell, Mon-

> The football team of the Fort Worth high school has been working . hard during the past week in anticipation of the game which will be played with the team of the Dallas high school in Dallas on Christmas afternoon. Last licks for the game will be put in at the high school grounds Monday afternoon and on Tuesday morning the team will leave on a morning interurban car for Dallas, accompanied by a large number of the high school pupils with the intention of putting up the game of their lives against the Dallas aggregation and bringing home the victory to Fort Worth.

The Dallas team has been working hard during the past two weeks and has gotten over the chagrin caused by the decisive defeat at the hands of the Oklahoma City high school team and will try to win the game Thursday. The Dallas line-up has been considerably strengthened since the game with Oklahoma City on Thanksgiving day and will have a much heavier team in the field against the Fort Worth team than on the other occasions.

Sale of seats for the game in Dallas is reported to be very heavy and it is expected that the largest crowd that has ever witnessed a high school game in the state will be present to see the two rival schools play this game. The game Tuesday will be the first football game that has been played between the two high schools in eight years. Now that football relations have been resumed it is expected that the two teams will meet in baseball and track athletics in the spring. A dual track meet was held two years ago, but was omitted for some reason last spring.

ANSWER TO LANE

Chairman Storey Discusses the Car Shortage Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 22.—Chairman Storey of the railroad commission this afternoon addressed a letter to Frank K. Lane, member of the interstate commerce commission at Washington, regarding the car shortage proposition. It was in answer to a letter from Mr. Lane requesting some facts concerning the situation in Texas.

Judge Storey says that for the last few years business has outgrown the facilities furnished by the railroads for handling it. "Everywhere," said Judge Storey, "cars are being used as warehouses and often without demurrage or other extra charges that would tend to force a lease of cars at

He also suggests the building of more side tracks and other terminal facilities so as to promptly unload the cars. This would cure the crying evil of unreasonable delay at such

CONDUCTOR TELLS ANOTHER STORY

Says Porter Didn't Forget to Wake Senator Bailey

Special to The Telegram. BROWNWOOD, Texas, Dec. 22.-Captain Joe Ross, conductor on the Frisco from Brownwood to Fort Worth, tells an entirely different story to the one published in the state papers about Senator Bailey not being waked up before reaching Comanche on the occasion of his visit there this week. Captain Ross says the statement is absolutely false, no matter where it originated. He says: "I sent the porter to wake the passengers, numbered among whom was the distinguished statesman, before reaching the station of Hasse. Sent Him His Pass "After leaving Hasse I sent Mr. Bailey the pass on which he was riding and again the porter told him that the train was running fast and he would have to get up at once to get off at Comanche. When we arrived at Comanche six of the passengers bound for that place got off and I was waiting to see the seventh, which proved to be Mr. Bailey, off before giving the signal to the engineer, when a crowd of citizens of the town crowded onto the sleeper. The result was we were delayed just twelve minutes on account of the senator being a slow dresser. But the senator would have found himself speeding on teward Blanket had it not been for the citizens who crowded on the train.

"You see, it's not merely the delaying of one train. When the Record special was layed out twelve minutes at Comanche the northbound passenger was also delayed at Delaware, the meeting place for the two trains. I am not given to rushing into print, but want you to say that I don't appreciate getting the blame for things chargeable to another man."

Count Witte and Aided in Bring. ing About His Downfall

ecial to The Telegram. ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 22.learned, today shot and killed Count Alexis Ignatieff, former governor of Kieff, Podolia and Volhynia. Count Ignatieff, who was also a nember of the council of the empire and a close friend of the czar, was in the waiting room of the hall occupied by the nobles' assembly when a stranger appeared and approaching, with-out a word of warning, and whipped out a revolver, began firing. Before could be seized by the police six bullets had penetrated the count's body. He fell at the first shot and the assassin stood over him pouring in bullet after bullet. The revolver was of the rapid fire pattern with seven shots and when the police sprang at the man he turned the weapon upon himself. Before he could fire, however, he was seized and dis-

He was hurried at once to the office of the chief of police but there he refused to make any statement or to give his name. It is believed he is a member of the terrorists' organization and that he was merely acting as their agent in the killing. The causes leading up to the act are believed to be the action of the drumhead marshals who have been sending dozens of men to death with a re pretense of a trial,

Ignatieff has been a marked man several months. He was very se to General Trepoff and actively perated with that military autocrat in putting down the recent uprisings. He was also a bitter enemy itically of Count Witte and was inntial in bringing about that statesan's fall from power. At one time Ignatieff was a leader of the party, but a little more than ir ago he turned on his former ites and did everything in his

No New Developments in Wharton

Practically nothing new has developed in the Wharton jewelry robbery case. The woman who is held as a suspect is daily subjected to examination. Chief Maddox stated yesterda; that she had acknowledged that previously and at three different times she has been under arrest in connection with diamond thefts. It is probable that she will be transferred to the county Monday if there are no new developments on the charge of the theft of the laces and other things which were found in her trunk and which belonged to members of the Wharton household. These articles are valued at over $100, and if she is connected with the theft of the goods a case of theft of over $50 can be made. The woman, Mable Palmer, who is still held as a suspect, has retained an attorney and as soon as any definite charge is made he can enter on the

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.-"A Teddy Bear'.' as the gift of John D. Rockefeller, has been ordered sent to every child in the Model tenement on West Forty-secend street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues, as a remembrance of Christmas. It was learned today that Rockefeller and the Standard Oil Company send the gifts.

Ever since the Model Forty-second street tenement has been built John D. Rockefeller has been interested in its inmates and has shown this interest in a yearly Christmas present to the children in the place. One of the other and larger Christmas gifts of Rockefeller is the donation of $100,000 to the Presbyterian foreign nissions in the Soudan. James Stillman, president of the National City Bank, the great Rockefeller institution, has sent a check for $10,-000 as a Christmas gift to the Rev. Dr. Henry D. Seph Weldon the democratic party by a majority vote at the primary election, July 28, and the representative of the Fiftieth may be found in my seat in January, 1907, in the house of representatives trying to do my duty to the whole people of my district without prejudice, partiality or discrimination. Permitted by law so to do. Senator Bailey, upon his own motion, had his name placed upon the official ballot and was voted for by those praticipating in the democratic primary, at which time he had no opponent. The action of the primary was ratified by the state convention at Dallas, Aug. 14, following. His name did not appear on the official ballot at the general election in November because the law provides that United States senators must be elected by the legislature. For the last few years the democratic party has favored the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, hence the attempt to circumvent, some extent the action of congress in refusing to submit the necessary amendment. I have said that Senator Bailey had no opposition at the primary, and it is now only fair to say that at that date there were no charges pending against him, the same having been held to be without merit by leg-Islative investigation, and by such &ction the senator was exonerated and his course approved. I am now writing as tho the people are familiar with all the pros and cons relating to this controversy, and if they are not it is not my fault nor that of the press. H. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 22.the throes of a revolution at the time of the Jiminez raids, the defense in the extradition cases of Jose Arredondo et al. will lay bare the revolutionary junta's secrets in all parts of the country. Many records of the junta here will be introduced by the defense in the case now pending. The Mexican government claims that the Mexicans who raided Jiminez were simply a band of marauding highwaymen, while the deefnse claims that they were a part of a well organized revolution, the intention of which was to overthrow the Diaz government. If the latter contention sustained, the case becomes non-extraditable and the Mexicans cannot be taken back to Mexico for trial. There is in the courtroom now a great mass of revolutionary junta minutes, the records of those societies, to show how widespread the movement against the Diaz government.

HERE'S A CHANCE TO MAKE SOME MONEY FOR CHRISTMAS

Do you want to make some easy money for Christmas? The Telegram will give $3, $2 and $1 respectively to the most successful rebus-readers and verse-makers among its youthful readers who can read and put into rhyme the solution of the rebus herewith printed. The answer to the pictures printed makes a poem of twenty-four lines, and to the person sending the best answer the sum of $3 will be paid. To the next best $2, and to the third $1. The awards will be announced in Wednesday's Telegram. In making the awards the following points will be considered: Age of writer, neatness of answer, and, of course, correctness. The reason the age of the writer is asked, is to give the youthful readers of The Telegram first chance. Adults are not barred, and if you are a grown reader, merely mark your letter (Adult). Address all replies to Rebus Editor, The Telegram.

Here is the first part of "The Telegram" Christmas rebus. As a help to you, the announcement is made that this part, when correctly solved, forms the first four lines of a well known and most popular Christmas poem. Each of the five parts which will follow also consist of four lines of verse in the same meter, but they will NOT follow the wording nor plot of the familiar Christmas poem. Now see if you can read the first part of this rebus. It should make the other parts easier for you Between close contestants punctuation and neatness will count,

In this, the second part of the Christinas rebus, the verses depart from the wording and plot of "'Twas the Night Before" poem of golden memory. It reads as if the poem were started over again, and altho the same meter is maintained, it deals with peculiar conditions in the house, with comments thereon. There should be four lines in this part of the verse, rhyming in couplets. If you puzzle out the ending of one line it will help you to rhyme the next line. It all leads up to a strange adventure of Yuletide.

PART 3. This part of the Christmas rebus treats of the bedtime of the children of the household and whether or not they were preporeprly prepared for the advent of St. Nicholas. Remember, there should be four lines of verse in this part, rhyming in couplets, after the style of a Christmas poem you all have read, but the plot and words are different after you leave Part 1 of the rebus.

PART 4

Here are four more lines of the poem. Here is where the plot begins to thicken, like cream set in a cool place. It contains the first alarm of the arrival of a welcome visitor. These are all the hints you can have for this part, except that the lines rhyme in couplets all the way thru.

The above picture represents four more lines of the Christmas poem in the form of a rebus. In this part a catastrophe told of in the preceding part is exposed to the view of the household, and an examination is made of the injury done. Can you solve the picture and satisfy your own curiosity?

PART 6.

This part ends the rebus, and when you have solved this and the five preceding parts, you should have twenty-four lines of verse telling an adventure of the night before Christmas and the nappy ending. Now, what is

YULETIDE IN THE METROPOLIS

How a Great City Prepares For Christmas

FIERE are some 3,000,000 odd persons in that group of communities known as New York city. It is estimated that each of these persons spends PALISADE, Nev., Dec. 22.—Section
No. 2 of the Overland Limited, from $25 in excess of their ordinary living expenses before Christmas and per taining to Christmas. This makes a total of 75,000,000 of good American dollars. Just stop to think that in one city of this great commonwealth more than $75,000,000 change hands during the six weeks preceding Christ-mas. The sum is inconceivable, so far as our power of grasping what it really means is concerned, and if you had had the assignment of finding out how the New Yorkers prepare for their Christmas by spending this money you would realize why I felt at bepsiess when I tried to get at some tangible facts. Your average Westerner and Southerner are usually very much disappointed when they first come to New York. From everything they have read and heard they expect in some vague way something so tremendous, something so colossal to all the senses, that they can't understand, as they wander up and down the streets of little old New York (whereby the New Yorker means Manhattan Island), that this is the famed city which they approached with bated breath. It really doesn't seem to be so very much dif-ferent from those large sprawling cities of the West. But when you have lived in New York for a while and under-stand what its real life is—what is around it and what New York city means—you will understand why it is such a tremendous city, and why in hopelessly dazing to get at exact fact. First, you must understand that there is what is called New York proper or Manhattan Island. This is the original settlement where the good old Dutch made the beginning, and here is where our stupendous commerce with the world is carried on. This is the part of New York where the ships run in during the six months preceeding Christmas from all parts of the world laden with everything that your imagination can picture. Vast portions of the cargoes simply pass thru New York, which acts as a sort mercantile clearing house portions of these cargoes remain to be bought by those $75,000,000 which are expended before Christmas. From Germany come over 80 per cent of the toys and Christmas tree ornaments which are sold in this country. Every toy and ornament from Germany or Austria passes thru this port. You can always find the stamp "Made in Germany" somewhere on the toy you pur-onase. I asked the largest toy dealer in New York and probably on this con-tinent way he sent to Europe for these such an effort as I am making it is so

taings. He said that we could not begin to compete with the Germans: that they made toys so exceedingly cheap that in spite of high duties it was profitable to have them shipped over. In Nurnberg, he said, the entire population was engaged in the manufacture of toys, from the child up, and 70 per cent of the dolls and goods which are manufactured there are annually shipped to New York.

From France New York gets large cargoes of china and glass ware designed especially for its Christmas trade, and England sends over woolens and leather goods, and Ireland sends Every country on the globe contributes something for this monster city to purchase when its giving mood comes on. And all this stuff comes into the little Isle of Manhattan. The oranges and the raisins and the grapes which come from Italy and from Spain are taken in hand by the commission dealers, who purchase them as they are auctioned off at the boat as they are unloaded. Of course, the larger number of oranges and bananas and other

PRISON OFFICERS MEET IN DALLAS

Informal Conference on Prison Affairs

Special to The Telegram.

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 22,-Members of the new penitentiary board recently announced as appointees of Governorelect-Campbell, including W. F. Ramsey of Cleburne, J. W. Wright of Tyler and J. T. Mewshaw of Garland, met at the Oriental hotel in private conference this afternoon with J. R. Herring, superintendent of the penitentiaries; John H. Boyd of Waco, assistant superintendent at Rusk; R. H. Underwood of Holland, assistant superintendent at Huntsville; Benton McMillan of Whitewright, financial agent of the penitentiaries, and Sam Hawkins of Denton, penitentiary inspector.

These gentlemen conferred informally concerning penitentiary affairs in general and for the purpose of getting acquainted with each other. No official plans or policies could with propriety be considered, and the meeting was largely social. The tobe-officials of the penitentiaries do not expect to meet again until after their names shall have been sent to the state senate by Governor Campbell and confirmed by that body, and they are installed a their various offices.

South. They are received on the Jersey side of the city, from which New York is separated by the Hudson river. which along the Manhattan end of its course they call the North river. It is estimated that New York on Christmas day alone consumes 4,000,000 oranges. It eats 3,000,000 bananas and over 3,000,000 of apples. Its consumption of candy is estimated at over 1,-000,000 pounds, which would make a mound about a city square in diameter and three stories high. Its nuts, which come from all sections of this country and every country where nuts grow, amount to over 1,000,000 pounds on Christmas day alone, and in this estimate we have not considered that it continues to feast rather longer than other American cities. New York plays hard and works hard. It has abnormal vices and almost unearthly virtues. It is a city of tremendous potentialities and figures in every way you take it. Is there any other city of which you know which can dispose of 4,000,000 pounds of turkey in one day? These turkeys are carefully gathered up actually and in prospect months before Christmas time and are brought in by the commission people from all over the country. It is said that Armour practically controls the turkey supply. Cranberries go with turkeys as man with woman, and it is estimated that 100,500 quarts are sold for the New York Christmas dinner.

I tried to find out how much ham was purchased, but they could not give me the figures and they did not dare to estimate. In spite of the great quantities of beer and ale which are taken on Christmas day, together with cider, and wine men told me that it was very conservative to say that 600,-000 gallons of wine of every description is poured down the throats of New Yorkers on Christmas day. This wine has accumulated in the city for months and months in anticipation of its tremendous demand, and comes from California, from the various states of the union and from abroad. I was curious to know how many pounds of raisins are used, and was told that 600,000 pounds was last year's figure, and would be far overtopped this year. A poultry man who is particularly interested in chickens estimated the consumption of this variety of fowl at about 1,000,000 pounds. There were a great many other things I wished to know, but it was manifestly difficult to get the data even in approximate figures; but I was very curious about the consumption of cigars, and was told that at least 3,000,000 would be smoked Christmas day. My informant did not say just how many would be of the doubtful quality associated with the Christmas cigar, but he probably had some such idea in mind when he suggested that if you were to burn all these weeds at once the odor would asphyxiate an ordinary town of the interior of New York state. After you take into consideration just a few of these items and the enormous quantities that are used on Christmas day it is not difficult to understand that $75,-000,000 is not such a preposterous sum of money for New York to spend.

Of stores and establishments which would be of very great importance in other cities there is no end; it is simply impossible to count them. But there are thirty department stores scattered thru the various portions of the city, which, with their mail order trade and local trade, are estimated to do an aggregate Christmas business of $3,000,000 each. This includes all the sales beginning with October 1. This $90,000,000 worth of business is done in that division called Brooklyn, in Manhattan, in Harlem and in the Bronx. And this brings me to the fact that there are monumental department stores in this city which New Yorkers themselves have never heard of. When I was gathering the tangled skeins of this narrative I wandered up to the Bronx in my effort to get an apstore business. The Bronx is that part of the city where the rent is considered to be most reasonable-it is the section where the small, comfortable householder who has not great social ambition lives. You ride from fortyfive to sixty minutes on the elevated to get there. The subway probably clips this time off by fifteen or twenty minutes. Third avenue is its principal business street. On this street I found a large department store that in many ways is the equal of many in this city, It has been there longer than I have been in New York, yet I was not even aware that it was in existence. Down in Harlem, which separates it from the Island of Manhattan, is where the socitally ambitious of rather abbreviated means live. It's a pleasant section of New York, with broad streets and in spots a Teutonic geniality and leisureliness of habits that gives a distinctly local character as different from Manhattan as night is from day. The immigrant of Little Hungary or Little Italy, or the Ghetto or Germany, always aims to have a home in Harlem when his means permit. The Harlemites do their shopping on 125th street f they have any local pride.

The street is fully as busy as any shopping district down town. One could spend many minutes in Harlem, but there is much to see and to speak of in New York, and so you cross the river on one of those curious drawridges over which the elevated runs. You don't strike any particular business section on the island until you get down to Fifty-eighth street on the East lide but it isn't considered important, so one continues on the elevated road until one reaches Thirty-fourth and Sixth avenue to Fourteenth street is the shoppers' mecca. Here you will thru the influence of the latter that find the Bronxite and the Harlemite and the lady who lives in Fifth avenue palace rubbing elbows with the lady who does a turn at Keith & Proctor's. It's the shoppers' democracy. On Tweny-third street there is a square from Sixth avenue to the intersection of Fifth avenu and Broadway made fafruit come from Canilfornia and the | mous by Madison Square and the Flat- | the perfect man.

CLEVER SCHEME TO CHEAT RAILWAYS

Detective Has Requisition for Mrs. Thoddad

Special to The Telegram. CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 22:-Detective Howard C. Smith is en route to Chattanooga, armed with a requisition for Mrs. Thaddad, alias Mrs. T. Smith, who is wanted for a new and peculiar attempt at swindling. Mrs. Thaddad came here a short time ago for the ostensible purpose of selling Turkish rugs, silks and such like articles, bringing with her a large trunk filled with her wares. She fin ally announced that she was going to Chattanooga and ordered her trunk taken to the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad station Mrs. Thaddad purchased a ticket for Chattanooga and pointed out a trunk which she had checked as her own.

When she arrived in Chattanooga the trunk was turned over to her but she at once declared that it was not hers and that the one she had checked here contained rugs, silks and other things to the aggregate value of $2,700. She sued out an attachment which was levied on a baggage car belonging to the Cheapeake and Ohio. The railroad traced the woman back to her boarding house here, where her trunk was found. Mrs. Lowne also exhibited a letter from her enjoining secrecy concerning the trunk.

iron building, which has a corterie of semi-smart shops, Down on Fourteenth street from Sixth avenue to Broadway is where the East Side snops, and when the New Yorker speaks of the East Side he means those people who have not been so fortunate as himfelf in the matter of accumulating money. It is considered, generally speaking, unfashionable to ive on the East Side except for a certain stretch up town.

The real East Sider—the down East Sider who speaks English as she sounds to a foreigner-does his shopping on Grand street, which is away down in the old section of the city. amidst many busy factories and warenouses. But the real East Sider does not do very much Christmas shopping. for he is generally a Jow. Men who work down in the financial district of the island do a great deal of their belated shopping down on Lower Broadway, between the historic old city hall where Nathan Hale was hung, to about old Trinity church. There are also many shops with alluring price tags and signs in old Nassau street between Wall street and Park row. There always has been shopping on Fifth avenue, but it has been of such a character in pride that you were sure you would pay two prices for the value of one thing, altho what you buy with a Fifth avenue mark upon it is dependable. Lately it has grown to be more of a shopping street between Twentytaird street and Forty-second. Over in Brooklyn they do their shopping on Fulton street. Now there are subdivisions again in all these separate sections in which the New Yorker makes his Christmas preparations, but to go into them leads to paths ad infinitum. I have told about the main districts to give you an idea of the magnitude of New York's preparations. And how the New Yorker does prepare. Down in Wall street, to begin at the end of the island, they literally juggle the stocks so as to make some extra money to put in Jimmie's or Maudie's Christmas stocking. At the Battery people are waiting for their friends and their relatives whom they expect to land in this country in time to spend Christmas with them, in Mott street, where the yellow peril runs fake horrors for the delectation of the seeing New Yorkers on the tall automobiles and very genuine horrors for the other kind of seeing New Yorkers, they don't make any preparations for Christmas. Farther up, around Mulberry Bend, you come upon one section of Little Italy where they take Christmas very seriously, unless they have become acclimated to our way of taking it. Here they make it a fiesta of flowers and solemn devotion without gifts, for the Italian gives his gifts at Easter. Also somewhere about here is the great Ghetto, the largest and most important community of Jews in the world, where they do not recognize the holiday at all. When you get up in Little Hungary, where the Austrians and the Magyars have set up their coffee shops and their fragrant bakeries, you come upon a real center of Christmas preparations. Here is where the holiday is kept in its most genial and fullest fashion. And then, still further up, where your pure Teuton lives, you come to much industrious scrubbing and washing, and the land of delicatessen shops loo as if its denizens were cleaning for prize. This where on Christmas eve, you may see late at night, those many Christmas trees we saw over on the flat cars on the West Side all blazing with those many colored candles which the Standard Oil Company monopolize in manufacture. One day I count over 500 cars full of Christmas trees in the yard of the New York Central. This was only a portion of the trees shipped to this city. Almost all the Christmas trees New York gets come from Bath, Me. In describing how New York prepares for its Christmas one must never forget its ubiquitous street hawker. There seem to be millions of him. He is everywhere and everywhere is he driven in herds from one pavement to another by the police, And he will grow in numbers as the crowds grow. until on Christmas eve he will in bis proportion be just as numerous as the thousands, even millions of goodnatured people who throng the streets. To see the New York Christmas crowd is a sight one will never forget.

Up off the Bowery, in Pell street and

Local Man Donates to Baylor Female College

Special to The Telegram. BELTON, Texas, Dec. 22.-Friends of Baylor Female college here are rejoicing over a gift of $10,000 by Wil-Ham Reeves of Fort Worth toward the new chapel and recitation hall now under construction. This gift comes thru the Baptist education commission, of which Bay-lor college is a member. This commission embraces Baylor university at Waco and Baylor college at Belton and six other schools, which are endeavoring to raise this year $125,000 for the enlargement and equipment of the schools. About $45,000 was pledged at the recent Baptist convention. This last gift makes $55,000 already raised. Dr. S. P. Brooks and Dr. Jeff D. Ray are at present directing this campaign. It was largely this last gift was secured.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC STRIKE TROUBLES

Unless Firemen Recede General Tie-up Is Threatened

Special to The Telegram. HOUSTON, Texas, Dec. 22.-At noon Sunday every union fireman in the employ of the Southern Pacific, Atlantic system, are scheduled to go out on strike. The ultimatum sent today to Vice President and General Manager Thornwell Fay by Second Vice Grand Master Timothy Shea of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, giving the railroad until noon Sunday to accede to their demands. This afternoon Mr. Fay replied to the communication, stating in substance that the demands could not be granted, and advising Mr. Shea that the company had appealed to the interstate commerce commission and the commissioner of labor at Washington to take up and attempt to settle the matter. As far as can be ascertained, Mr. Shea has made no response to the letter from General Manager Fay, and it is expected that every union fireman from New Orleans to El Paso will descend from the engine cabs and walk out on a strike. There is a bare possibility that Mr. Shea, for the firemen, may decide to await intelligence from Washington, A strike of gigantic proportions looms ahead. The lines which would be affected are Morgan's Louisiana & Texas, the Iberia & Vermillion, the Louisiana Western, the Texas & New Orleans, and the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio railroads. Of these Mr. Fay is vice president and eneral manager, and of the latter two W G. Van Vleck is vice president and manager. E. B. Cushing is general superintendent of the Louisiana lines. The whole trouble has arisen over a three cornered contention in which the firemen claim the railroad company made an agreement with the engineers by which the firemen failed to get all the rights due them in seniority of promotion. The railroad company, in a statement issued by General Manager Fay, contended that the matter was purely one to be settled by the engineers and firemen, and the company could take no hand in the affair. The engineers maintained that the contract nselves and their firemen. Some time ago the firemen laid their grievance before the officers of the outhern Pacific with the result that they were informed that the company not and could not take any jurisdiction in the matter. It is asserted, nevertheless, by the firemen that the pany could right the grievance if it chose. Thus the matter stood for several weeks, during which the firemen attempted to get the company to take the matter up and bring about another contract. During the past few days the matter has assumed the stage of a crisis. Object to Players, Schedule and Coaches

Special to The Telegram. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 22 .-Yale's undergraduates think that their in athletic management. It was learned today that the faculty during the football season just closed interfered in two ways never attempted before. First it notified the captain that one or more certain players, altho technically eligible, should be removed from Second, it told the captain that certain coaches were objectionable to the faculty and they should be unable to appear at the Yale field during the season. The recommendation of the faculty was taken and both objectionable players and coaches disappeared from the field. Announcement was made today by the faculty that it was pleased with the way the undergraduates ran athletics last year and that it could be set down for certain that there will be no extended faculty investigation this winter into sports. The faculty members say that they have no idea of barring any sport now on the Yale calendar, altho they think that basket ball needs an overhauling. Their latest invasion of athletics was in the adoption of baseball schedule. They decided that no more games will be played with preparatory schools and that the eastern trip should be curtailed in length and number of games and they have refused to ratify the deciding game with Princeton, because the date conflicts with the annual Yale scholarship examinations.

Wage Increase Causes General Rejoicing

Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.-Doings of

It will be a truly holiday season for the President. He has notified the members of the cabinet that there will be no cabinet meeting next week unless something should occur to make it necessary. The almost unprecedented prosperity now prevailing will make it "Merry Christmas" thruout the length and breadth of the land. Thruout the past week thousands upon thousands of railroad men and employes of other large corporations have received wage increase. The weekly reports of the mercantile agencies issued today show that the Christmas trade has equalled or exceeded expectations in almost every line of trade. Few fixed events of importance are scheduled for the week, as is to be expected at the one season of the year given over by practically everyne to family celebration. During the latter part of the week here will be conferences of school eachers without number. The custom of holding the annual meetings of teachers during the Christmas holiday season has spread until it now prevails in nearly every state of the Union. Several of these educational gatherings will be of national interest, chief among them being the meetings of the Southern Educational Soclety at Springfield, Mass. The investigation determined on several weeks ago into the management and control of the Union and Southern Pacific properties of the Harriman system of railroads is scheduled to begin in New York city next Friday. E. H. Harriman and many other officials and others identified with the system have been subnenged as witnesses. A social event that will attract attention the last of the week will be the wedding at Providence next Saturday of Miss Madeline Ives Goddard, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Robert H. Ives Goddard, and Marquis Rene d'Andigne of France.

WEST TEXAS GROWING WITH PROSPEROUS TIMES

Pays for Land in Sorghum Special to The Telegram.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Dec. 22 .-Truck and fruit farmers in sections of the state peculiarly adapted to the growth of such things have often made small tracts of land produce far more in the value of the crop for one year than the land originally cost, and during the big cotton year of 1900, in north and east Texas, many purchasers of land were able to pay same out with the yield of that single crop, but of the accomplishments of a Tom Green county farmer in the production of sorghum here is a sample that will distance most any other section of the state. J. S. Dugan, a tenant on the farm of W. A. Guthrie, three miles south of San Angelo, planted ten acres in red top sorghum this year and has harvested a total of 120,000 bundles, weighing from 19 to 20 rounds, or in the aggregate of 200,000 pounds. This is the equivalent of 100 tons or an average of ten tons per acre. Figuring the sorghum at $6 per ton and ten tons per acre, the revenue of the crop per acre is shown to be $60, which is far in excess of cotton or any other ordinary drop that can be grown on the best black lands of north Texas. Estimating cotton at a bale per acre and the price at 10 cents per pound, the advantage would still be on the side of sorghum, for the cost of gathering and marketing cotton is heavier than that required in finally disposing of sorghum.

New School for Stamford

Special to The Telegram. STAMFORD, Texas, Dec. 22.-The school board of Stamford independent district is advertising for plans for their new school buildings. Bids are to be in by the first of the New Year. It is probable that it will not be a great while till the board will have the building in construction. The building is to cost $17,000.

He Will Raise Apples Special to The Telegram.

WEATHERFORD, Texas, Dec. 22.-G. Maddox has a place in the sand down southeast of town where he gives rein to that peculiar desire in the hearts of most all traveling men to be an agriculturalist, and his neighbors say he makes a pretty good nester. His reputation as a hog raiser has spread far over the land, and it is said that he is an expert on sweet potatoes and pumpkins, but just now his hobby is apples, and a right sensible hobby he is making it. The notion got into Mr. Maddox's head, in consequence of seeing other people's success at raising apples here, and as successfully as could be done in Arkansas, and after thoroly investigating as to the best varieties for this climate, he purchased 1,000 trees with which he is busy this week planting a twenty-acre orchard.

Charcoal Kills Bad Breath

Disagreeable Odor Arising From Indigestion or From Any Habit or Indulgence, Can Be Instantly Stopped

Sample Package Mailed Free

Other people notice your bad breath where you would not notice it at all. It is nauseating to other people to stand before them and while you are talking, give them a whiff or two of your bad breath. It usually comes from food fermenting on your stomach. Sometimes you have it in the morning -that awful sour, bilious, bad breath, You can stop that at once by swallowing one or two Stuart Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful gas and odor absorbers ever prepared. Sometimes your meals will reveal themselves in your breath to those who talk with you. "You've had onions," or "You've been eating cabbage," and all of a sudden you belch in the face of your friend. Charcoal is a wonderful absorber of odors, as every one knows. That is why Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are so quick to stop all gases and odors of odorous foods, or gas from indigestion.

Don't use breath perfumes. They never conceal the odor, and never absorb the gas that causes the odor. Besides the very fact of using them reveals the reason for their use. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges in the first place stop for good all sour brash and belching of gas, and make your breath pure. fresh and sweet, just after you've eaten. Then no one will turn his face away from you when you breathe or talk; your breath will be pure and fresh, and besides your food will taste so much better to you at your next meal. Just try it. Charcoal does other wonderful things, too. It carries away from your stomach and intestines, all the impurities there massed together and which causes the bad breath. Charcoal is a purifier as well as an absorber. Charcoal is now by far the best most easy and mild laxative known. A whole boxful will do no harm; in fact, the more you take the better. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made of pure willow charcoal and mixed with just a faint flavor of honey to make them palatable for you, but not too sweet. You just chew them like candy. They are absolutely harmless. Get a new, pure, sweet breath, freshen your stomach for your next meal, and keep the intestines in good working order. These two things are the secret of good health and long life. You can get all the charcoal necessary to do these wonderful but simple things by getting Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. We want you to test these little wonder workers yourself before you buy them. So send us your full name and address for a free sample of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. Then after you have tried the sample, and been convinced, go to your druggist and get a 25c box of them. You'll feel better all over, more comfortable, and "cleaner" inside.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 60 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Hood county farmers have bank accounts than ever before in the history of the county, and the prospects for a cash trade among merchants could not be better. The man who thinks the business season will be over when cotton is sold is sadly mistaken. Hood county is going on a cash basis, which means cash trade all the year.

Seek Oil Near Brownwood Special to The Telegram.

BROWNWOD, Texas, Dec. 22.-C. M. Parks, an expert oil operator from Pittsburg, Pa., is in the city tonight for the purpose of investigating the oil situation in the Brownwood country. Mr. Parks says his visit is merely to investigate and get wise to the true situation. The company with which he is associated is constantly on the lookout for new and undeveloped territory, and from what they can learn they are of the opinion that this is just the place they are after. Mr. Parks represented one of the strongest operating firms in Pennsylvania and should they decide to come here they will operate independent of local help. The deepest strata of sand that has been found here is about five feet, and according to Mr. Parks this depth is not sufficient to produce oil in paying quantities. However, he is inclined to believe like Captain Gearing that deeper sand will be discovered. He does not say what manner of report he will make to the company, but to judge from his talk it will not be unfavorable.

School Site Purchased

Special to The Telegram. WEATHERFORD, Texas, Dec. 22.-Father M. J. Kelley yesterday closed a deal for what is known as the Bruce property, at the eastern terminus of Vine street, on which will be located the big Catholic school, soon to be erected by Father Kelley and his associates. The site is ideal for a school. It is one of the highest and most healthy points in the city; is well out of the dust and noise of the business district; well drained and yet close in Special to The Telegram. MINERAL WELLS, Texas, Dec 22. -It seems that Oran and Graford will be on the line of the extension of the Northwestern, and both places are feeling the boom in a most substantial way. Both places are in a good section, some of the best farming lands in Palo Pinto county being in that locality.

Barstow Bank Organized Special to The Telegram.

BARSTOW, Texas, Dec. 22.-Citizens State Bank of Barstow has been organized with $20,000 capital. Of-Dyer, president; R. D. Gage, cashier of the Pecos Valley Bank, Pecos, first vice president; J. E. Starley, cashier. The directors are Colonel G. W. Dyer, R. D. Page, W. A. Hudson, T. B. Anderson, L. D. Boxley, J. E. Starley, W. L. Fuller, Burch Carson, C. E. Nichols, R. I. Carr and A. B. Bryant.

Lights for Brownwood Special to The Telegram.

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Dec. 22.—At a meeting of the city council last night the matter of lighting the streets came up for discussion and was ordered that the business district and principal streets of the town be lighted so people could see to travel either in vehicles or on foot. The matter of arrangements for lights was left to Alderman Hoskinson and Charles Giddens and they are to investigate the cost of both electric and gas lights. The council will probably adopt the cheaper of the two.

Compress for Brady

Special to The Telegram. BRADY, Texas, Dec. 22.—Brady has a cinch on one more enterprise of a most substantial character. Thomas Rell and associates have ordered a eqtton compress to be erected in this city. Mr. Bell says that the machinery has been purchased and by the middle of next June the new compress will be in running order.

Cotton Yield Good

Special to The Telegram. ABILENE, Texas, Dec. 22.-Z. Adam was in from his place in North Park today with cotton and says that he made more than twenty bales of the staple on twenty acres. He sold the first fourteen bales at 10-25 to 10-55 and hopes to get more than an average of ten cents for the whole

Electric Lights for Strawn

Special to The Telegram. STRAWN, Texas, Dec. 22.—Strawn is to have an electric light plant in operation within the next four weeks. Also an ice factory. This news is good for the live little Black Diamond City. One step at a time she pushes forward, until it will not be long before it will be in the first rank in importance between Weatherford and Abilene. It is already near that mark, the the date of its beginning to push forward is only a very few years in the past.

New Oil Mills Special to The Telegram. BROWNWOOD, Texas, Dec. 22.—G. H. Bencini says that companies have been organized for the purpose of erecting oil mills at Goldthwaite and Brady and applications for charters have been made today. The Goldthwaite company is composed of Winfield Scott, E. B. Harrold, C. H. Bencini and N. A. Perry, and they plan to interest local capital. The capital stock is $75,000, in shares of the value of $100 each. The company with W. D. Crothers of Brady is interested in the Brady mill. At both places the company has asked for certain concessions and Mr. Bencini says the mills will be built if they are granted.

Comanche Cotton Receipts Special to The Telegram.

COMANCHE, Texas, Dec. 22.-Up to date there have been received at the yards in Comanche this season 24,000 bales of cotton. This is a fine showing for the best small town in the state. At ten cents a pound this means that the farmers who have ceived one million two hundred thousand dollars for it.

OPPORTUNITIES

ON THE MAIN LINE OF T. & P. RAILROAD

First—The Slaughter Townsite Company, of Colorado, Texas, is offering in this sale 600 lots in the new town of Slaughter, Texas, at the uniform price of $40.00 each in four payments. 200 business lots, each are worth from $100.00 to $500.00 today.

Second—Our guarantee and proposition: Any person who purchases a lot or lots in this sale, and who on the day of the opening, can show that this Company has, in any way, shape, form or manner, in its literature or correspondence, misrepresented this proposition, we hereby absolutely guarantee to refund to such person the PRICE received by this Company for all lot or lots purchased by him or her in this sale.

THIS SALE IS TO CAUSE IMMIGRATION, which will be money for the Railroad for years to come. We positively make the assertion that there is not a lot in this town worth less than $100 today. This town will be opened on the similar plan as Enid and Ponco City, Okla., and Loraine and Westbrook, Texas. Lots that sold in these towns only a short time ago for $40.00 are worth today many times the amount paid for same is located in the Northeast portion of Midland County, Texas, on the main line of the Texas and Pacific Railroad, ten miles West of Stanton and ten miles East of Midland, just half way between the two towns, on the low lying uplands of Midland County. The surface of the townsite is almost level, and there is not a waste piece of land

The town of Slaughter has just been platted and contracts have been let for the construction of the following lines of business in said town: One livery stable, about six business houses, one cotton gin, one good lumber yard, one school and church house and one hotel.

Slaughter is sustained by as good diversified agricultural country as can be found on the globe and we venture the assertion, without fear of successful contradiction, that no town along the line of the Texas and Pacific Railroad has a greater portion of tillable lands surrounding it that will raise all the crops, (i. e.) corn, cotton, mile maize, kaffir corn, potatoes, watermelons and fruits of all kinds.

This is a Good Proposition and a Safe Investment. See our Pamphlet and investigate us. We pay telegrams both ways. With this proposition you buy this property at first cost and have the opportunity to make every dollar there is in the investment. Don't neglect the best proposition that has ever been offered you in West Texas.

Buy before it is too late or you will regret it. You take no chance in this sale. It is all to gain and nothing lose. Read carefully literature on town and country. We desire to say further to the homeseekers who are desirous of purchasing a farm, that we have just placed on the market 10,000 acres of land lying North and East of the townsite to be sold exclusively to the

This is known as the Slaughter Ranch. Also 12,000 head of blooded cattle to be sold to the farmers, who purchase land, at $2 per head bonus, and balance to be paid to suit purchaser.

XMAS SPIRIT AT PACKINGHOUSES

Holiday Sentiment Visible in Every Department

As an evidence of the universal permeation of the Christmas spirit no better demonstration may be found than at the North Fort Worth packing plants, which, in the strictest sense of the word, constitute a world within For the past week the stock yards have been an exceptionally animated scene and without doubt every individual who has been on Exchange avenue has noticed the difference and more keenly felt the approach of Christmas. In every office and in every stable the one topic has been Christmas trade and prices and the but recently porkers touched the blue canopy overhead in prices the steady stream of stock which continues over and up the long last march to the chutes beyond demonstrates that such mammoth concerns as Swift's and Armour's are but little affected by such fluctuations. Once inside the plant and the holiday spirit is equally as manifest. The youthful guide, clad in his long white coat, arouses from his lethargic state and hurries the group of interested spectators from one departrant to another with an occasional explanation, a muffled jargon of words, which properly interpreted would mean, "If don't hustle I won't get 'em out of nere before Christmas." The portly policeman who so zealously guards the big gate also seems to be inoculated with the holiday spirit and the you may have been repulsed with a gruff answer previously, today the "Yes, sir," or "No, sir," is prefaced with the bland smile of affability. The office boy_distributes the mail and invoices with a wonderful promptness and grace, but as he dexter usly fuggles his wire basket he imagines himself a grinning dusky-hued servant making his appearance with that indispensable Christmas luxury, the tur-

In the plant proper the spirit is ever he same. The hurculean darkey as he jabs his chife into the throat of a squealing porker, sings all the louder, for, as he xplains to his fellow workmen, "Man, substantially loves man Christmas nick-nacks," while the government inspector looks at the meat with one eye and with the other attempts to picture out the old folks at home seated around the festive Christmas board. As the saucy little maiden, with deft and nimble fingers ties up countless yards of sausage her mind is on a suitable frock for the Christmas dance or more probably "the" Christmas present and she does not seem to be at all aware of the fact that the foreman is doing his best to scowl while wondering if his department will have all orders ready for the Christmas delivery. And so it is with every employe. The chicken, duck and turkey pickers, thru clouds of feathers, catch lished the following: glimpses of Christmas revelry, fitting in with the same bits of lively song or whistle.

The young lad whose widowed mother is dependent upon him and his very moderate salary, forgets for the time being his impoverished circumstances and makes a mental note to the effect that his Christmas money shall purchase a useful gift for his mother, even in the face of some keen disappointment to himself. On the loading docks, the very atmosphere seems to hint of Christmas. I any reason of superior military value heated argument of a few days ago over which one was really earning his salary and together hurl boxes thru space with a supernatural strength which bodes no good to the packer who may possibly have been the least bit careless in the holiday rush.

Those big iron grays paw the ground and restlessly toss their noble heads in their anxiety to be off on their list delivery, for their return to the barn means a good bedding and care from the hostler and perhaps a delicious bran mash may be forthcoming in the way of a Christmas delicacy. In fact, each day witnesses a renewed strength, a more compact feeling of friendship and above all that perfect understanding between them who work and live regardless of salary, on the same plane. From the invoice clerk to the dock hand there exists an unspoken agreement to "work levelhanded in order that we may enjoy Christmas as other people do.

Commission Has Placed City on Cash Basis

HOUSTON, Texas, Dec. 22.-As a Christmas gift to the people of Houston, the city commission tonight announced the purchase of thirty-six acres of land adjoining the city for a magnificent park. The price was $45,-000 and the commission had the cash on hand to pay for the new breathing

In addition to converting it into a park, they will utilize part of the ground as a great reservoir for the storage of enough artesian water to last Houston half a year, thus solving the water supply as well as adding to the number of parks. The commission has placed the city on a cash basis, took up $14,000 worth of old bonds, paid the floating debt, paid cash for four miles of new breck pavement and as a Christmas gift presented the city with this park.

The earth revolves from west to east and humanity is swept in the opposite direction by the solar rays, which reach this planet. By reason of this movement the throngs of humanity descended from lofty plateaus of Asia and made their way across Europe till they came to the coean, which stopped them. "But as soon as the United States was discovered the forward march of humanity began again. The struggle which has begun between the United States and Japan is only a further evidence of this westward trend of humanity forever pushed onward by the solar rays. "This is why the Americans will be victorious over the Japanese, who will have to fight not only against Americans but against the forces of nature. That is the reason why the Russians, having undertaken to march against the sun, were hurled back upon their tracks."

ODD ITEMS FROM ALL OVER TEXAS

Hangs on Hairs

Special to The Telegram. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 22 .-The fate of the Mexican Arrendo, who confined in jail here, charged with being the leader of the Jiminez Mexican revolution, literally hangs by a hair, or more specifically, by a number of hairs, which adorn his countenance. The question of a beard will play an important part in the question of his extradition to Mexico, to be tried for the crimes of robbery, kidnaping and murder. The penalty, if convicted in any of the cases, is death by being shot. All witnesses who were present at the attack on Jiminez, and especially the city officers of the pueblo, who were kidnaped and robbed, describe the leader of the revolution as clean shaved. They are certainly in a position to know, for he made them stand and deliver at the point of a carbine handled none too carefully. The Arrendo confined in the jail in Bexar county has a full beard. In fact it is a flowing one. Exercising his constitutional right under the law, Arrendo refuses to submit himself to a barber. If he is identified by the witnesses brought here from Mexico it will be done with a full growth of whiskers on his face. Arrendo claims that he can prove that he has worn his chin whiskers for years, and at the same time he was supposed to be a clean-shaven revolutionist in Jiminez, he was on the right side of the Special to The Telegram. ITASCA, Texas, Dec. 22.-A very unusual sight was a drove of turkeys which Martin Brothers had collected under a shed near their store Friday, numbering 1,200. Special to The Telegram. SAN SABA, Texas, Dec. 22-Mr. Pitman, traveling for the wholesale house of Daniels Millinery Company of Dallas, had the misfortune to lose about a thousand dollars' worth of sample hats at the Red Bluff crossing one night this week, going from San Saba to Lometa. The hack was turned over and his goods were thrown into the river, a total loss.

Jumped Off Mountain Special to The Telegram. EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 22.-Falling

intoxication or in an epileptic fit, Red Foster, well known in this city, was found yesterday by Miguel Uribe, a Mexican sheep herder, at the foot of a precipice, and his find was reported to the police, with the result that Foster was last night brought to the city by City Sanitary Inspector Ed B. Stansell and Policeman Powell Roberts. He was only slightly injured, con-sidering the fall which he had, and was taken to his room, having refused proffers of medical aid. Uribe, by whom Foster was found, says that he first saw the latter about 8 o'clock yesterday morning. At that time the herd of sheep in charge of Uribe were at the foot of Mount Franklin, I next fight on the west side, on the mesa above El Paso. His attention was called when he saw some dark object come rolling and tumbling down the mountain side, and later walk upon its hands and knees. The sheep took fright at the object, and it was only after a chase of a mile or so that they were quieted. Later in the day, about 1 o'clock. the sheep herder returned to the spot where he had seen the object, believing that it had been a bear. He was greatly surprised to find a man lying prone upon the ground, but living. It is declared that Foster fell fully 300 feet down the side of the mountain, part of his fall being over a sheer preipice for a distance of probably thirty feet. The balance of the distance was covered in rolling thru the cacti and scrub brush. Many Deer Dying

Special to The Telegram. UVALDE, Texas, Dec. 22.-Haskell Lewis, a prominent ranchman of the that he has found the carcasses of several deer while riding over his ranch. Having heard that deer had died of "black tongue," he made an investigation and found that they had been killed by screw worms. Before the recent freeze worms were worse on stock than they had been known to be for years. The least stratch resulted in the worms getting in their work, and as a result stockmen lost heavily. In the case of the deer, Mr. Lewis said it was very apparent the flies had got in their work at the base of the horns, which were doubtless rubbed or raw from fighting or scraping on trees. In one instance, he was riding about in the pasture and saw a magnificent buck. The animal appeared to be sick and Mr. Lewis took after it and finally roped it. It proved to have worms in its head and was in bad shape. He tied the deer and doctored it, but the fright and exertion were more than it could stand, and it died. A good many deer are killed in this section and some hunters claim that it is a good thing that hunting s prohibited in the large pastures, for it gives the does a chance to raise their fawns and as the deer are constantly on the travel it gives the hunt-

CHRISTMAS AT THE COURT HOUSE

Holidays in Some Offices Begin on Monday

The Christmas holiday will virtually begin in court house circles Monday morning, the some of the offices will be kept open in order that emergency business may be transacted. The district courts will not be in session, the district clerk's office will be closed, there will be no session of the county court but the county clerk's office will be kept open and run on a short force in order that papers may be filed for record.

The two justices courts will be open ready for any criminal business that may develop-in fact these two courts will be open thruout the week. There will be nothing doing in the court of civil appeals during the week, consequently no opinions will be handed down next Saturday. Collector Bob Davis will keep the county collector's office open all day Monday ready to receive state, county and poll taxes and extends a cordial welcome to all to come up and pay before Christmas. The offices of the county superintendent and surveyor will be out of commission, but the sheriff's office

PETITION FOR A POSTOFFICE

North Fort Worth Wants Better Mail Service

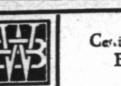

A petition has been circulated in North Fort Worth and a large number of signatures secured, asking the postoffice department to establish a postoffice in North Fort Worth. The petition has already been forwarded to Washington, with the required number

The rumor was current on the streets. Friday that a counter petition was being circulated, but so far as it can be learned very little efforts have been made to secure signatures. It was thought up to this time that the people in North Fort Worth were unanimous in their desire for a separate postoffice, in order that the mail may be handled more expenditiously, and the rumor Friday caused some surprise. It later developed, however, that the small opposition was from those who were under the impression that in the event a separate office is established that free mail delivery will cease. But according to the local authories, and the receipts at the sub-station, which now aggregate about $40,000 per year, the business and population both justify the maintenance of free delivery. The fact that by the postal regulations all mail matter must pass thru Fort Worth office before it can be sent to the sub-station at the stock yards, there to be taken out by the various carriers, must necessarily delay the receipt, as the dispatching of the mails. which it is claimed would be overcome by the establishment of an independ-

But as there is no probability of the suspension of the free delivery, and the locating of the postoffice is entirely in the hands of the postal authorities, it is thought that there will be no further opposi-

ER the coffee cups on a Demorning the Rev. Richard Macmillan and Miss Martha, his aunt, discussed a problem of conscience, that hard riddle which has busied so many tongues and pens and is known by the name of "tainted money." There was a certain rich man named Curtis Langdale, who had married some years ago a cousin of Macmillan's mother. The young clergyman had received various small favors from Langdale-presents at Christmas not only for himself, but for Aunt Martha and for Miss Amy Branford, to whom Macmillan was engaged. In particular there had been a check for $50 every Christmas for the last three years, since Macmillan had been pastor of the to called Sandstone church of Southfield, and this check was a contribution to the charity fund of the church,

About a year before the date of this narrative the attention of the Rev. Mr. Macmillan had been sharply called to the fact that Mr. Langdale was a very modern financier, whose chief delight and most recent form of profitable business consisted in half wrecking a bank thru connivance with some official thereof, buying control from the frightened stockholders and then putting the bank on its legs again-The knowledge of this truth so affected the Rev. Mr. Macmillan that he had a serious talk with Mr. Langdale that gentleman's office in New York and returned the last check for $50 on the ground that his church would be more blessed without it. On this ocescion Mr. Langdale, who had a genius for dissimulation, professed to sympathize with Mr. Macmillan's opinion. to be grateful for his friendly admonitions and in all ways very ready to serve him should occasion arise. And now the occasion, vaguely prophesied by Langdale, had really ome, and in such form that Macmilan knew not how to deal with it; for, in a certain sense, it was not his own conscience that should render the derision, nor was the sacrifice his. It was Amy Branford's. Amy had just celebrated her 21st birthday and was certanly enough to be a free moral agent. She had been left almost alone in the world by the death of her father two years ago and field, who were in narrow circumstances. Her father had left considerable property, but in such an involved condition that no income could be extracted from it, and the estate drew nearer and nearer to total extinction. Mr. Macmillan was the trustee of this property, and he had striven with all his power to save it. He believed himself to be a good business man; he had confidence in the policy which he had pursued in this matter, and yet, almost in the moment of victory, he found himself face to face with total defeat. Ready money-that was the only thing that could save the day. A few thousands in cash, not later than December 22, would put all right; the lack of it would mean irreparable disaster. It was the morning of Wednesday. December 23, and he had failed to raise the money. "Why don't you go to Mr. Langdale?" said Aunt Martha, and that remark had precipitated the discussion. Now, it happened that in the newspapers of that morning there was a particularly interesting story about Mr. Langdale, to the effect that he had begun his usual game upon the old Dey Street National bank, "I'll go and see Amy," said he. "If anything is to be done there is no He found Amy engaged in a snowball battle with her cousin's two little boys. The girl's cheeks were reddened with the exercise in the crisp air; her eyes shone with alluring fires; her lithe form quivered with delicate and accordant energies; the exquisite beauty of her youth seemed to transcend reality, and the man stood for some seconds unperceived, watching her with a thrill of wonder. But this divine enthere was a malign and sordid spell upon him working against the heavenly powers, for as she came forward to greet him he observed that the gown she wore was one that she had despaired of repairing a year ago. "Amy,, said he, breaking suddenly from the lighter talk, "I want you to read this," and he laid the newspaper article before her. "Not all of it. The gist in the first three paragraphs." She scanned them rapidly and then looked up at him. "Do you think this makes any difference?" she asked, timidly trying to read his face. "Perhaps it isn't true. Really, I can't believe that Mr. Langdale would do such a thing. And, besides, he wouldn't dare. He might be sent to prison."

He seized her little mittened hand in "Dear child." said he, "do you wish me to go to Mr. Langdale?"

"Why, Richard, not if you think it's wrong. But somenow I can't believe he's a bad man. He has such a fine face! Couldn't you-that is, don't you think that you could talk to him? He likes you so much! Don't you think you ought to stand by him now that his enemies are saying such hard things of him? Perhaps you might

"Precisely," said he laughing in a sort of nervous desperation. "That's just what Aunt Maria said. And I'm sure you both have exactly the same idea. Goodby, dearest. I'm going to

Shortly after 12 o'clock Macmillan arrived at the little office in New York which he had engaged for his convenence as trustee of Amy's tangled inheritance. Macmillan was a man who did not relish defeat or easily sucsumb. As one of his worst adversaries expressed it, he "had to be killed alf a dozen times before he would

A letter from the man who had thus lescribed him was waiting for him on this day, and as he read it he muttered. This kills me for the sixth time. It was Curtis Langdale's habit to hunch in his office between 12 and 1 As Macmillan approached the door of Langdale's private office he was surprised to meet a physician with whom he had a slight acquaintance, a nan of some distinction in the medical profession. Macmillan uttered a hasty word of salutation, but the other passhim without a glance.

Langdale's aversion to doctors was well known, and Macmillan had no hought that the visitor had come upon professional errand, but at sight of Langdale the incredible became probchle. An uncanny change had taken | not have been surprised to find a

Among the millions of the great city, with all their feverish desires and vast diversity of fortune, there was not a "Well, that's good news," said the man whose heart sang louder for joy. Macmillan was perfectly sure that the man was Dr. Haywood, but he supposed that Langdale was ashamed of having called in a physician after all the abuse which he had heaped upon the profession.

Macmillan turned to his real errand. But he had made scarcely more than beginning of the story when Langdale suddenly recurred to their last "You didn't approve of me then."

"What do you think of me

Macmillan would gladly have postooned the ordeal for a few minutes. He had decided to lay Amy's affairs before Langdale as a simple matter of dealing with an officer of a bank, to ask Langdale to consider it and give an answer on the following day and, having thus put off the decision, to lead the conversation to the precise point which Langdale had reached at

Before the two men could come together upon any common ground the arrival of important visitors broke off the session. Langdale excused himself courteously and gave his hand to

"I'm glad you came to see me," he "You've done me a considerable service.

"Well, I really don't see-" "You have, Richard you have ineed. And I won't forget it. I always keep you in mind at this time of year. Goodby, goodby.'

In a daze of disappointment, perplexity and self reproach Macmillan departed. He had bungled the interview in all ways. He had accomplished absolutely nothing for Amy, for Langdale, for his own conscience. The account of the occurrence which he gave to Amy had no clearness to his own intelligence, but seemed quite satisfactory to her. "You must see him again," she said. You have influenced him. He feels it and is grateful. Of course you can't know just what it was that you said that gave him light but I am sure that he saw a way to carry out his plans more honestly. That's what he meant when he spoke of your service

"Amy, that is absurd." "But, my dear Dick, is there any other possible explanation? Try to be reasonable. He said you had served him. How else could you have done

The next day was Thursday and business practically ceased for the week. There was really nothing of importance that Macmillan could do to avert the doom that would fall on Monday, yet he went to town about noon and forced himself to face several discouraging and useless interviews. At 3 o'clock he went to his little office, beaten and disheartened. There was a letter on the floor, and he recognized Langdale's envelope. It gave him a shock, but no real hope, for he had not even succeeded in telling Langdale what he wanted. He would place in the man's aspect. The lines | check for $50. HE FOUND AMY ENGAGED IN A SNOW

On Saturday morning Macmillan went to the city and spent an hour or more in his office. He was at work there and singing as he toiled when there came a tap at the door. Macmillan admited a young man, whom he presently recognized as a clerk of Langdale's. "Mr. Macmillan," said this man, without so much as a bow by way of greeting, "did you receive a letter with a check in it?" "Yes," answered Macmillan cheerily;

I received it Thursday afternoon." The visitor moistened his lips. "You haven't cashed it yet?" the delay." The incident passed from his mind immediately, for he was called to consider a matter of considerable gravity. This developed in the visit of a Mr. Gridley, one of the very few persons to whom Mr. Langdale told the truth. "Well, Gridley." said he when that gentleman had drifted noiselessly into the office, "have you looked him up?" "It's Dr. Hayward, all right," responded Gridley. "I took one of your boys up there to see him, and I've heard from Omaha. The cousin racket is a fake, and I don't suppose there's any doubt that somebody has got Hayward to make a report on your health, tho I can't find out wao it is"

"But I have," was the reply. needed the money right away." Indisputable Evidence. The young man sank down in a "I'm knocked out, I guess," he said

"Most men wouldn't write the last two ciphers at all," said the clerk, "but Mr. Langdale always does. So might have known what the amount was. I've overdrawn enough checks for him in the last three years."

"This is very important," he said. "Of course it shall be rectified, butbut I'm afraid I can't command the money immediately. I will explain, however, to Mr. Langdale on Monday, and" he added moved by the weariness and misery in the other's countenance, "I will put in a good word for

"It's kind of you to say so," responded the clerk. "My name is Tunbridge." He rose and stretched himself like a weary animal then moved stiffly toward the door. But Macmillan called him back and talked to him for a long time cheerfully, so that he went away in better spirits. This kindness was very ill requited, tho not willfully, for poor Tunbridge was wholly unaware that he had added to Macmillan's burden. The fact is, however, that he an egregious blind owl he had been. Surely the feeblest perceptive powers should have sufficed to inform him that the check had been sent in error. The whole tenor of the note which accompanied it was relevant of Lang-dale's design. He had maliciously renewed his contribution of $50 to Macmillan's charity fund in order to imply that he believed the clergyman had called upon him for the purpose of reminding him of it.

Macmillan had spent about $2,500 of the money in such a way that he could never get it back, and Amy would not be benefited one penny unless he should disburse about $1.500 more on Monday, and this, of course. he could not do. How he was to return the $2,500 to Langdale within a reasonable time he did not know. He had stolen it, in effect, for the simplest common sense should have kept him from such frantic haste. Monday would have served him quite as well as Thursday for the payments and would have given him opportunity to assure himself of the realty of Langdale's generosity.

Mr. and Mrs. Langdale returned from a Christmas visit on Monday morning, and the lady went on alone to their home in Larchmont, whence she telephoned to her husband at his office about 11 o'clock. The chief part of her message was that she had found some very pretty presents that had been sent by Miss Amy Branford and Miss Martha Macmillan. How did her husband account for this? Had he not told her of a quarrel with Mr. Macmillan a year ago ? Had he not advised her against sending anything to Miss Branford and Miss Macmillan? Langdale had neglected to tell his wife about Macmillan's call and had willfully concealed his own malign jest in the matter of the $50 check. Now therefore he disclosed the one and still hid the other.

"You'd better hustle around and get them something," said he, "something Langdale was waiting grimly wnen Hayward's presence was made known to him. He had prepared a greeting consisting of the single word "doctor." which he knew would startle Hayward more than any other utterable sound. The door opened. Hayward entered. Langdale drew breath to speak, but what was that word? The word, the word! He knew the meaning as well as ever in his life, but not the word. Phantoms of words galloped thru his brain, but of them all he could only catch a phrase that Gridley had used. and it was that which he uttered: "Perfectly ridiculous."

"I beg your pardon," said Hayward. Time-time was what Langdale needed-time in which to triumph over this enemy in his own brain, whose state must be concealed from this man at all costs.

"I was thinking about a man who is waiting to see me," said Langdale, and, to his own surprise, he now spoke sanely enough, "Would you mind stepping into this other room while I see what he wants? He's a minister and a relative of my wife's, and I don't like to keep him out there with the rabble." "Certainly," said Hayward and entered the adjoining room. Langdale sank into his chair and tried to bring the word "doctor" to his lips, but he had not succeeded when Macmillan entered "Mr. Langdale," said the clergyman, "I want to speak two words, one for myself and one for an unfortunate young man in your employ, a Mr Tunbridge. It appears that in drawing a check to my order he mistook the amount. He has had great trouble and is suffering from what I should call nervous prostration. Probably a little rest will bring him round all right, and if I may venture to speak in his behalf I would urge you to grant him a bit of a vacation, with perhaps a friendly word or two to start him on

"What did he do?" said Langdale. "He drew the check for $5,000-Langdale stopped him with a gesture. The door between the two rooms was open, and he dared not close it now, and doubly he dared not have Hayward hear this story. Rich lunatics throw away their money. That is why they are locked up by anxious relatives. If Hayward should report this to the Dey street crowd they would withdraw even the proposition which they made. And with that proposition Langdale was now content. He had seen the handwriting on the wall. A man who can't say "doctor" when he tries is in no state for a long and bitter warfare | testimonials, Doubtless Mr. Macmillan had remarked some change in Mr. Langdale of late. Doubtless he knew of Mr. Langdale's prejudice against doctors. If he stops this confounded scandal and goes away to Europe he'll be all right. How you ever persuaded him to do it I don't know." "I cannot understond it any more than you can," responded Macmillan.

HARLIE ROTHER, one of the veteran engineers of the Rock Island road, whose great engine pulls one of the of the line down thru the canons, the painted hills, toward El Paso, has seen a ghost. Not only has Rother seen the ghost but his fireman, Manuelo Yerba, has seen it; and not only once have they seen it, but almost every time the engine, drawing the heavily aden overland train, plunges southwestward across the Canon Pintado, New Mexico, have they seen it. But the fact that they have seen his ghost is the least unusual thing about it. The ghost itself is the strangest, weirdest, most unbelievable ghost that ever came back out of the past to frighten mortals. For this ghost the wraith of a railway wreck, not only does it startle the engineer and the fireman, but they declare in cold, sober earnest, that it frightens their engine. There are things in the southwest -especially in the weird, strangely colored, wild country that lies between the Bad Lands of Texas and the mountains that skirt the Rio Grande which cure skepticism. # THE GHOST WRECK OF THE RIO GRANDE

the veteran engineers of the Rock Island road, whose great engine pulls one of the fast trains over the final lap line down thru the canons, the ide mesas, the barren plains and ed hills, toward El Paso, has men a ghost. Not only has Rother seen ghost but his fireman, Manuelo erba, has seen it; and not only once lave they seen it, but almost every the engine, drawing the heavily overland train, plunges south-estward across the Canon Pintado, New Mexico, have they seen it. But the fact that they have seen is ghost is the least unusual thing it it. The ghost itself is the strangweirdest, most unbelievable ghost ever came back out of the past frighten mortals. For this ghost the wraith of a railway wreck, id not only does it startle the enineer and the fireman, but they deflare in cold, sober earnest, that it frightens their engine. There are things in the southwest -especially in the weird, strangely coled wild country that lies between the Bad Lands of Texas and the ountains that skirt the Rio Grande which cure skepticism. Men down that way will believe things without question which house reared and street imprisoned easterners would scoff at ountil they had lived in that country.

Engineer Doesn't Believe in Spooks Rother was born in New York, but has railroaded in the southwest ong enough to stand ready to believe at least anything he sees; and Manuelo Yerba was born and reared down there, and believes in all sorts of spirits and spooks, which Rother does not, Nevertheless, they both believe implicitly in the phantom railway wreck; and, furthermore, before Rothwould believe it, he searched the mack history of that part of the country, and discovered staggering evice in support of his story.

Rother and his big engine pick up of the overland trains at Santa early in the morning, while still passengers are slumbering in sleepers or the crowded tourist and drag the long train to El making fast time on the down grades. Rother and Manuelo, his firean, have been together for years m that division of the El Paso-Rock and line--even before the Rock Island connected up the short line roads and stretched a trans-continental road thru Kansas, Texas and New Had Reputation as Careful Man

To them there was but little romance in railroading. It was work with them -- hard work, careful work, with always the responsibility for scores of human lives resting upon neir shoulders. Rother was, and is, known as one of the most careful engineers in the business, which is why he was given such an important run, and that he took Manuelo with him from his old freight run to the cab of the magnificent passenger engine, in spite of the protests of certain authorities, who object to "greasers" in important positions, proves that there was something in Manuelo, Indeed, Manuelo Yerba was not of the com-"greaser" laboring type. His was mainly Spanish, and his mother's father had been an Amerlcan. Rother vouched for his nerve, his honesty and his intelligence, and train out of Santa Rosa, and beyond a few minor accidents, snow blockades, sand storms, and hot fournals, they never experienced anything unusual until in March of 1906.

Westward from Santa Rosa, the line of the road runs straight as an arrow toward the hills, rushing onward as if to leap straight into the mouth of some giant and be swallowed. A gaping cut in the red brown rocks opens, the train plunges straight in, and an instant later roars thru the cut and rolls out on the bridge over the beautiful Canon Pintado. Phantom Wreck Seen First in March Rother's train makes the plunge across the painted canon just at the moment when the first gray lights of dawn are beginning to reveal the sheer sides of the canon, and to touch as with luminous paints the tips of the hills. In March it is darker.

It was on a misty, threatening morning last March that Rother first saw the ghostly railway wreck. He and Manuelo were feeling in fine spirits. They were on Time, which was good, because snow storms and slides had delayed overland travel on most of the roads, and their road was making the most of getting their trains across on time. They had been too long on the line to spend much time admiring scenery, but on this morning, because of the mist, which was spreading in heavy curtains across the valleys. Rother was leaning forward, watching closely. The train, running fifty miles an hour, leaped into the gap of the mountains, and, slowing down a bit, rolled over the gorge, while Rother nursed his engine carefully around the curve that the jar might not disturb the sleeping passengers. The train whirled back eastward. Manuelo was shoveling coal. Rother was leaning forward, when suddenly he threw on the air, gripped his levers tight. whistled and started to reverse. He confesses that in spite of himself, he shut his eyes and waited for the crash. A second passed -- two seconds -- the train was slowing down, and Rother, wondering why his train was not in splinters, perhaps half way down the gorge, opening his eyes, beheld a straight, clear track ahead, and saw Manuelo gazing at him in astonish-

Freight Trains in Head-on Collision He quickly gathered speed again, calming his shaken nerves, and a few minutes later the train was rushing forward again.

"What was Manuelo, "A cow?" "No," said Rother, shortly. "Either 'm going crazy or I saw two freight trains ram together, head on, about 100 feet ahead of us, and we went without touching either of

That was the beginning of it. Rother and Manuelo decided to keep about the occurrence, and to tell the conductor that they came near hitting couple of calves in the cut, if he asked any questions. "I've seen mirages in the desert," he remarked to Manuelo, "but there is no railway within a hundred miles, and besides, mirages don't happen at daybreak." Both Men See Second Apparition It was nearly a month before the spectral railway wreck was seen again. This time both Rother and Manuelo saw it. The train had made the curve at fair speed, and was gathering headstretch of track downhill and eastward, when suddenly there appeared on the track ahead of them -- or, rather at a slight angle from their track-two freight trains which were running together head on, with Rother's train apparently about to swash into the wreckage of the two engines. Manuelo yelled and started to jump, but too late. Rother, his nerves steady as iron, made no move to reverse his engine, or put on the air. With face white and lips firm set, he sat at his post, and an instant later, without hecking his speed, sent his train straight thru the spectral wreck. For five minutes Manuelo knelt on

Manuelo shame-facedly hid his beads in his tunic and started shoveling Rother, turning upon his fireman. "Sancta Maria -- she know," said

OUR LAY SERMON

"Peace on earth, good will to men."

The very air we breathe is redolent with the good cheer of the holiday season, and the home of every citizen is the scene of preparation for the great annual event observed in commemoration of the coming to earth of its richest and most precious gift-Jesus Christ, the Son of God, the Light and Hope of the world. It is a season that is anticipated just a few weeks by the great American period of Thanksgivingwhen the nation bows its head and lifts up its voice in thanks to God for the season of prosperity He has youchsafed His people. From the devoutness of Thanksgiving we pass to the glad yuletide with hearts attuned to different sentiments and throbbing with the feeling that it is meet we should subscribe entirely to the grandeur of the sentiment—peace on earth, good-

Hard, indeed, is the heart that can remain callous upon such an occasion and unforgiving, indeed, is the spirit that can carry thru Christmas the feelings of malice that may have existed during all the year that has passed. It is an occasion when it is expected that all the good there is in an individual will come to the surface, and the day that has come to be regarded as the natal day of Our Lord shall be observed in the manner that would have found the most favor in His

 But as a Christian nation—as a people who evidently enjoy great favor in the sight of God, do we live fully up to our obligations in the premises and discharge those obligations in the manner that finds the most favor in His sight? Are we not too prone to make of His natal day a season of ribaldry, a time of intoxication, a day of worldly pleasure, an occasion of much feasting to the honor and glory of our own stomachs, and with too little observance of the real proprieties of the occasion?

Have we gone out in the highways and byways around and about us and in the slightest degree sought to bring happiness and joy into the homes that have been closed to such enjoyment? Have we taken into consideration that while we are preparing to feast and enjoy the good things of life during the holidays there is something lacking in the home of our humble and perhaps improvident neighbor? Have we figured on the possibility of hundreds of little children who can know no "Santa Claus" from the fact they are forced to believe he is too poor to visit all the homes in Fort Worth this year?

The Fort Worth Santa Claus too poor to visit all the homes in Fort Worth this year, when prosperity is so abundant thruout the land and plenty is smiling on every side. Fort Worth-the pride of the southwest -the produest city in all Texas, with her stately churches, her beautiful homes, her millions of bank deposits, her palatial business institutions-Fort Worth cannot afford to have Santa Claus pass the humblest domicile within her borders without a stop and a liberal delivery from his well filled pack.

The Fort Worth heart is the largest and tenderest of any heart in all Texas. That fact is daily attested by the manner in which charity is dealt out here with a lavish hand. And Fort Worth will live up to her every obligation upon this occasion. Fort Worth loves her poor. The fair hands of Fort Worth's noble women will point the way to Santa Claus. They will see that no home is neglected. They will persuade old Santa Claus that he is not too por to pass by any child in this city, and the little children as they prattle about the family hearthstones Christmas morning will realize that Santa Claus is a reality in Fort Worth and amply able to bring happiness and joy unto his own. Let us made this Christmas the greatest Christmas Fort Worth has ever known. Let us forever establish the fact that there is a Santa Claus and his permanent abiding place is in Fort Worth. Let us demonSanta Claus carries on his back when he starts down the chimney is big enough to carry a remembrance for all. Let us sit down to our Christmas dinner with a realization that it is Christmas in every Fort Worth nome, from the mansion of the nabob to the humblest cot that decorates a back alley. Let us celebrate the birthday of our Lord and Master by that form of good will we know He would have practiced if He were yet on earth, and each and every one of us will be the better for our action.

"Peace on earth; good will to men." When we get that sentiment firmly fixed in our hearts we will be thoroly prepared for the proper observance of Christmas.

NEWSPAPERS OPPOSE SENATOR BAILEY

The Houston Chronicle declares that 80 per cent of the newspapers of the state of Texas are opposed to Senator Bailey and if this is the case it may be accepted as a pretty good indication that 80 per cent of the people of Texas are against him. The press and the people stand very close together-especially the country press and the people. The Chronicle says:

The Waco Times-Herald, which was converted to the Bailey standard at Mart, has recently renounced Bailey and now boldly asserts that he should not be considered for re-election when the legislature meets The Temple Tribune has also espoused the people's side and announced itself as opposed to Mr. Bailey, and condemns him on his own confessions in the connec tion of borrowing money from H. Clay Pierce.

Other prominent papers that have joined the opposition recently are the Dallas News, Galveston News, and Greenville Banner. The San Antonio Exg press, which has heretofore been a champion of Mr. Pailey, has recently announced that the senator's reply to the attorney general makes an investigation by the state legislature a necessity.

In order that some idea may be gained as to the large number of papers in Texas that are opposing Senator Bailey, the following list has been compiled It will be noticed that the papers included are from every section of the state. It may also be stated in this connection that the number of papers still upholding Senator Bailey is probably less than twenty. The only four dailies of any consequence in the state that still adhere to his standard are the Houston Post, Austin Statesman and Fort Worth Record. Below is a list of 127 Texas papers that oppose Senator Bailey:

ANIMUS OF MEXICAN GOVERNMENT

The trial of the nine alleged Mexican revolutionists in progress at San Antonio is attracting considerable attention, from the fact the extradition proceedings involved are believed to represent a very determined. effort on the part of the Mexican government to get the men in its clutches in order that it may make 'good Mexicans" out of them. Every phase of the situation is being stubbornly contested, and the accused are putting up a fight for their rights which in reality appears to be a fight for their lives. The men are held under trivial charges, but back of it all is the very serious allegation of conspiracy to overthrow the Mexican government, and the celebrated raid on the town of Jiminez, which occurred on Sept. 28, is told in a graphic manner by Ismael Rodriguez, its mayor, in his testimony before the United States corn-

In his statement Mayor Rodriguez says that he had heard rumors of revolution and on the night of Sept. 25 he ordered the municipal police to be on watch. Later he was informed by a shepherd boy that a body of men had been seen near El Vallado ranch, which is in the near vicinity of the town of Jiminez. He says he made preparations to go out and capture these he was awakened and informed that a body of suspicious looking men were riding thru the plaza on horse-The mayor proceeded to at once hide himsel at the residence of his brother-in-law, where he was found and captured by five men about 8 o'clock the following morning. The five men he recognized as among those on trial. He was taken to the city hall by the raiders, where he was imprisoned with the city treasurer and others. Mayor Rodriguez says that while he was imprisoned he was informed he would have to give what money he had and a saddled horse as the price of his liberty. He gave the raiders $100 in cash and the strate to the children of Fort Worth that the pack old horse, but the animal was returned to him. "The whole story is that it is genuinely true.

day was spent in plendering," says the mayor, "the raiders saying they were going to move on Ciudad Porfirio Diaz the following day, where they would effect greater destruction." But the following day the federal forces arrived and there was an engagement. One of the federal soldiers and a raider were killed. The next day the raiders rounded up and killed a beef on the plaza and divided it among themselves. They informed him he was no longer mayor, and before disappearing cut all the telephone wires that entered the city. Before departing the raiders fired into a number of the houses and destroyed considerable prop-

The Mexicans charged with these heinous crimes allege their innocence. They declare they had no part or parcel in the Jiminez raid, and the sole animus of the Mexican government is to get them safely across the Rio Grande in order that it may end their checkered careers, because as citizens of these United States they are known to be opposed to the despotic form of government that is dealt out to their people at home by the iron hand of President Diaz. They believe they are just as certain to be shot as there is a sun in the heavens if they are ever carried across the boundary line, and there seems ample reason for their

There is no question but that Mexicans within the state of Texas and along the Rio Grande border are making trouble for the Mexican government. There s no doubt that there are many Mexican citzens in Texas who earnestly desire a change in the Mexican government, which is well known to be a republic in name only and one of the most complete despotisms that is in existence today. But there is another question involved, and that is the right of these men to oppose the Diaz government. It would seem that they ought to be allowed such a privilege as long as they are not caught in Mexico. Thinking people do not approve of the effort that is being made to have this government become a party to the movement having for its object the running down and punishment of the critics of the Diaz form of government. If Mexico can take such action, then England can with equal propriety demand the giving up of the men who criticise her government in Ireland, and Russia can come along and demand the return of every citizen who has left that country and who does not believe in the tactics employed by the czar.

Texans do not specially love the average Mexican citizen. But Texas is a great believer in the principles of justice and fair play. These miserable devils at San Antonio are miserable enough at best, without being given over bodily to those who would certainly destroy.

The joy of a child is the only perfect happiness in the world. And it is so easy to cause.

This is why Christmas, the day on which we all unite in giving joy to the children, is the nearest approach mankind can make to a foretaste of heaven, Let us remember that Christmas is supremely the day for the children, and that our own best joy must

The biennial bluff of the Texas railroads is a little ahead of time this December. There's going to be no new railway building during the term of the newly elected governor, is the old discredited gag. #### Believes That Conflict Between Countries Is Inevitable

(Copyright, 1906, by Hearst News Service.) Cable Special to The Telegram.

BY MARQUIS DE CASTELLANE PARIS, Dec. 22 .-- A country uneasy about its future, it is said, must go abroad to hear its reputation. Here is what is said in Europe, and especially in Paris, of the incidents that threaten to cause a serious conflict between the United States and Japan. It is said the aspirations of Japan would expand to as far as shedding the last drop of Japanese blood. It is said that if President Roosevelt a few years ago had announced in a resounding speech that, thanks to the opening of the Panama canal, the Pacific would become an American lake, the mikado would have disputed it, claiming it as a Japanese lake.

It is said, the peaceful occupation of California has begun; that in the last two years 15,477 Japanese have settled in San Francisco and by their insupportable competition snatched the means of existence from the small American shopkeepers.

It is said that the President Roosevelt's government may be cautious and polite in the extreme to the mikado, it is not possible for it to prevent the massacre of the Japs by the exasperated and famished Californians after the exclusion bill has been rejected at the opening of con-

Briefly, the general opinion in political circles on this side of the Atlantic is that a conflict between the whites of the states and the yellowskins of the Pacific is inevitable. In other words, there is a prospect of war between two powerful nations, one of which possesses a formidable army on land and the other one which is not worth mentioning Such are the events which certain signs seem to forecast; and this in a nearer future than many think. Don't forget that we live in the time of electricity, and that public events are impregnated with this fluid.

American citizens, this is what your European friends think of you. May your attention be awakened by these warnings, and may you not place an imprudent confidence in your good star.

Paris Academy of Medicine May Close as Result

(Copyright, 1906, by Hearst News Service.) Cable Special to The Telegram.

PARIS, Dec. 22.-- An extraordinary condition of affairs has been created at the Academy of Medicine here. The lecture hall has been closed and instruction temporarily suspended, owing to unruly behavior on the part of the students.

Disgraceful scenes have occurred, during which the students have hurled books, inkstands, and even pieces of plaster ripped from the walls at one of the professors, against whom they have a grievance. The professor, who is the cause of all this trouble, is M. Debove, and all he has done is to look unfavorably upon the candidature of another professor to a chair which has become vacant.

Not content with throwing things the students have pulled up the desks, smashed the benches, dragged the blackboards off the walls and battered down doors. So violent did they become on one occasion that the police had to be called in to restore order, and traffic on the Boulevard St. Michel was interrupted for several

As a result of this no lectures have been delivered at the academy for several days, and the dean of the college, M. Debove, says that if by Dec. 31, when the students are going to hold a general meeting, the matter is not peaceably settled the school will be closed for the season.

Such a measure would meet with much criticism from the large number of American students attending the academy, and who have had little or no part in the riots. The medical students of Paris are always been the most unruly element among the students of the capital. If I were Santa Claus I would know exactly what to give every boy and girl. I would give them Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. It's the greatest medicine in the world; a never-ceasing wonder. 35 cents. J. P. Brashear.

I believe that for a young man of twenty or twenty-five the best chances of happiness are to be born of a good English family and to study at Oxford, but for a young girl it is to be born American, with a father who has made his fortune in mines, railways or land speculation, and enter New York or Washington society under the wing of excellent sponsors."

To accomplish something it seems that we will have to send our young newspaper men to America to learn their profession. The world at large owes an enormous debt of gratitude to the much abused "yellow" American papers.

Coming, After Drama The theatrical managers of Berlin have suddenly discovered that America is producing dramas worth presenting. even to audiences as critically disposed as those in this city. Belasco's "Girl of the Golden West," and W .- V. Moody's "The Great Divide" are both to be seen on the stage here this win-

To preserve the interest for old German folklore and fairy tales among the young the city fathers of Berlin have thrown open the doors of the Rathause to hundreds of poor children who greatly enjoy the telling of fairy tales by famous actors and actresses. Christmas eve there is to be such a 'Maercheabend" (fairy tale evening) in the Rathause, where it is even possible the Kaiser may be present.

The idea is good enough, but may be most of the poor little ones would appreciate it still more if it was accompanied by a good Christmas meal, especially this year when all but the well-to-do have almost forgotten the taste of meat. Clemenceau Puzzling

Berliners are wondering whether M. Clemenceau, the French premier, is fishing for a Prussian order. The other day he said to a correspondent of the Kaiser's favorite paper, the Berliner Tageblatt: "If you will pardon me for saying so, you Germans have one fault, you treat us one moment in the most amia-

EVEN TEETH MAKE PRETTY FACE

A set of pearly-white, regular teeth will light up the plainest face, and modern dentistry has brought it withn the power of almost everyone to have presentable teeth.

The secret of the preservation of the teeth is absolute cleanliness. They should be brushed thoroly after eating, no matter how many times a day this may be. The best kind of a tooth wash is that which contains soap in some form, since soap is both cleansing and alkaline. A good wash can be made at home as follows: Equal parts of tincture of green soap, alcohol and water, add enough pure glycerine to sweeten to taste, and enough oil of wintergreen to flavor it, also a few drops of oil of Each tooth must be thought of as something to be cleaned in its entirety, front, back, sides and its juncture with the gum. Hard bristles are the best to select in a tooth brush, as they are the only kind that will keep the teeth perfectly clean.

If the teeth become yellow or show discolored spots, a little powdered pumice stone can be used. It should be slightly moistened, so that it can be rubbed on with an orange-wood stick. Hydrogen peroxide can be used without harm as a tooth bleach and also as an antiseptic mouth wash.

reduce the sleeping car rates in Texas. Under the decision the commission holds that sleeping cars are merely subordinates and agents of the railroad companies and therefore are the common carriers and within the jurisdiction of the commission. The commission also ordered that rates on sleeping cars in Texas be reduced 20 per cent from present rates. as was proposed in the notice of hearing to consider the proposition. . The commission also orders that the Pullman Company file with it a complete set of the company's tariffs and rate sheets. This order becomes effective Feb. 1, 1907. Commissioner Storey dissents from this decision. A complete text of the commission's decision follows: In pursuance of the hearing had in the above entitled cause and of due consideration given to the matter covered by the notice herein, to wit: Passenger circular No. 8, of date Nov. 5 1906, the railroad commission is of the opinion and finds as follows:

Service Contemplated

That providing and hauling by railroad companies operating lines of rail road in this state of what are known as sleeping cars is a service fully con templated by the laws of this state and that such sleeping cars are with in the meaning of article 4494 of revised statutes of Texas, reasonable and necessary facilities for the accommodation of the traveling public and patrons of such railroads and constitute a part of necessary equipment of raiload companies using same.

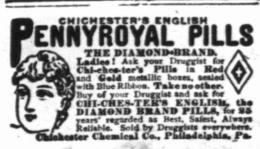

That the so-called sleeping car com panies operating in Texas are merely subordinates and agents of railroad companies, over whose lines their cars are operated. It is therefore ordered by the railroad commission of Texas: That the sleeping car service now afforded by the railroad companies operating lines of railroad in this state be continued, and that such present service be not hereafter curtailed, diminished or discontinued except upon application to and the obtaining of consent of the commission.

That the rates and charges to be assessed and collected by railroad companies operating lines of railroad in this state or their agents and those in direct charge of such cars, for the use by passengers or seats or berths or both seats and berths in such sleeping cars, shall be in amount 20 per cent less than the present published rates and charges contained in the tariff or rate book filed with this commission upon the hearing of this cause and entitled "Sleeping and Parlor Car Rates in Southwestern Division, the Pullman Co. revised October, 1903," and said to contain all published sleeping car rates between points in Texas. That all railroad companies over whose lines of railroad in Texas sleepng cars are now being operated shall on or before the date effective of this order file with this commission full and complete tariffs on the plan of said above described tariff or rate book showing the rates and charges made and to be applied in accordance with the terms and provisions of this order, provided that where lew sleeper routes are hereafter established be charged snall be authorized by this commission on the application of the railroad over which such sleepers are to be

That this order shall take effect and be in force on and after Feb. 1, 1907.

Market Opened at Decline and Trading Was Stagnant-Bank Statement Favorable

Special to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Operations in the stock markets today were of a very moderate character. The market opened dull and values made steady declines, Reading losing $3 per share before the session was very far advanced. Trading the last week in such securities as have shewn the most activity was very quiet. The fact that the holiday season is now on has created a languid market and little attention is being outlook is not encouraging for very active operations until the holiday season is over and matters begin to assume normal proportions. The majority of the trading the last week was merely for the purpose of evening up of outstanding contracts. The bank statement was more fa-

paid to the markets. The money situa-

How to Exercise the Bowels

OUR Intestines are lined inside with millions of suckers, that draw the Nutrition from food as it passes them. But, if the food passes too slowly, it decays before it gets through. Then the little suckers draw Poison from it instead of Nutrition. This Poison makes a Gas that injures your system more than the food should have nourished it.

The usual remedy for this delayed passage (called Constipation) is to take a big dose of Castor Oil.

This merely make slippery the passage for unloading the current cargo. It does not help the Cause of delay a trifle. It does slacken the Bowel-Muscles, and weakens them for their next task. Another remedy is to take a strong "Physic," like Salts, Calomel, Jalan, Phosphate of Sodium, Aperient Water, or any of these mixed.

What does the "Physic" do? It merely flushes-out the Bowels with waste of Digestive Juice, set flowing into the Intestines through the tiny suckers.

Cascarets are the only safe medicine for the bowels. They do not waste any precious fluid of the Bowels, as "Physics" do.

They do not relax the Intestines by greasing them inside like Castor Oil or Glycerine. They simply stimulate the Bowel-Muscles to do their work naturally, comfortably, and nutritiously.

They are put up in thin, flat, round-cornered Enamel boxes, so they can be carried in a man's vest pocket, or in a woman's purse, all the time, without bulk or trouble. The time to take a Cascaret is not only when you are Sick, but when you first suspect you need one. Price, 10c a box. Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC." All druggists.
