Synopsis of Additional Evidence Secured at Brownsville, Texas

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 .- The folowing is the message of the President to the senate regarding the discharge of three companies of the Twenty-fifth

To the Senate: In my message to the senate treating of the dismissal without honor of certain named members of the three companies of the Twentyfifth infantry, I gave the reports of the officers upon which the dismissal was based. These reports were made in accordance with the custom in such cases; for it would, of course, be impossible to preserve discipline in the army save by pursuing precisely the course that in this case was pursued. Inasmuch, however, as in the senate question was raised as to the sufficiency of the evidence, I deemed it wise to send Major Blockson and Assistant Attorney General Purdy to Brownsville to make a thoro investigation on the ground in reference to the matter. I herewith transfer Secretary Taft's report and the testimony taken under oath of the various witnesses examined in the course of the investigation. I also submit various exhibits including maps of Brownsville and Fort Brown, photographs of various buildings, a letter from Judge Parks to his wife, together with a bandoleer, thirty-three shells, seven ball cartridges, and four clips picked up in the streets of wnsville within a few hours after the shooting; three steel-jacketed bullets and some scraps of the casings of other bullets picked out of the houses nto walch they had been fired. A telegram from United States Commissioner R. B. Creager at Brownsvile announces that six addition bullets-like he others, from Springfield riflestaken from buildings in Brownsville, with supporting affidavits, have since been sent to the secretary of war.

Resume of the Outrage

It appears from the testimony that the night of the 13th of August, 106, several crimes were committed by ne person or persons in the city of wnsville, among these were the fol-

ted by somebody. As to the motive for the commission of the crimes, it appears that trouble of a more or less serious kind had occurred between individual memebers of the companies and individual citizens of Brownsville, culminating in complaints which resulted in the soldiers being confined within the limits of the garrison on the evening of the day in

The evidence, as will be seen, shows beyond any possibility of nonest question that some individuals among the colored trops whom I have dismissed committed the outrages mentioned, and that some or all of the other individuals whom I dismissed had knowledge of the deed and shielded from the law those who committed it.

Citizens Did Not Do It

The only motive suggested as possibly influencing any one else, was a desire to get rid of the colored troops, so strong that it impelled the citizens of Brownsville to shoot up their own houses, to kill one of their own number, to assault their own police, wounding the lieutenant, who had been an officer for twenty years-all with the purpose of discrediting the negro troops. The suggestion is on its face so ludierously impossible that it is difficult to treat it as honestly made. This theory supposes that the assailants succeeded in obtaining the uniform of the negro soldiers; that before starting on their errand they got over the fence of the fort unchallenged and without discovery by the negro troops, opened fire on the town from within the fort; that they blackened their faces so that at least fourteen eyewitnesses mistook them for negroes: that they disguised their voices so that at least six witnesses who heard them speok mistook their voices as being those of negroes. Theye were not Mexicans, for they were heard by various witnesses to speak in English. The weapons they used were Springfield rifles; for the ammunition which they used was that of the Springfield rifle and no other, and could not have been used in any gun in Texas in any part of the union or in Mexico, or in any other part of the world, save only in the Springfield rifle now used by the United States troops, including the negro troops in the garrison at Brownsvile and by no other persons save these troops-the weapon which had only been in use by the United States troops for some four or five months prior to the shooting in question and which is not in the possession of private citi

Cartridges Furnish Absolute Proof The cartridges used will go into one other rifle used in the United States when specialy chambered-the Winchester of the '95 model; but it vill rarely if ever go off when in it; and moreover, the bullets picked out of the buildings show the markings of the four so-called 'lands' which came from being fired thru the Springfield but not thru the Winchester, the latter showing six. The bullets which I herewith submit, which were found in the houses, could not, therefore, have been fired from the Winchester or any other sporting rifle, altho the cartridges might have been fired from a 'Krag, but the cartridges would not have gone into a Krag. Taking the shells and the bullets together, the proof is conclusive that the new Springfield rifle was the weapon used by the midnight assassing and could not by any possibility have been any other rifle of any kind in the world. This establishes the fact that the assailants were United States soldiers and would be conclusive on this point if not one soldier had been seen or heard by any residents in Brownsville on the night in question

Eye and Ear Witnesses Fourteen eyewitnesses, namely Chas. R. Chase, Amado Martinez, Mrs. Kate Leahy, Palermo Preciado, Ignacio Dominguez, Macedonio Ramirez, G. W. Rendall Jose Martinez, J. H. McDonald F. H. Sanborn, Herbert Elkins, Hale Odin, Mrs. Hale Odin and Judge Parks testified that they saw the assailants or some of them at varying distances and that they were negro troops, most of the witnesses giving their testimony in such shape that there is no possibility of their having been mistaken. Two other witnesses, Joseph Bodin and Genero Paddon, saw some of the assailants and testified that they were soldiers, the only soldiers in the neighborhood being the colored trops. Four witnesses, namely S. C. More Dr. Thorn, C. S. Canada and C. T. Hammond, testified to hearing the shooting and hearing the voices of the 1. . a who were doing it and that these voices were those of negroes, but did not actually see the men who were doing the shooting. About twenty-five other witnesses gave testimony corroborating to a greater or less degree that of those who saw the shots or heard them. The testimony of the eye and ear witnesses would establish beyond all possibility of contradiction the fact that the shooting was committed by ten or fifteen or more of the negro troops from the garrison and this testimony alone would be amply sufficient if not a cartridge or a bullet had been found; exactly as the bullets and cartridges that were found would have established the guilt of the troops even had not a single eyewitness seen them or other witnesses heard

Mexican Multi-Millionaire to Give Away $10,000,000

PLANS TO AID THE POOR

Philanthropist Says Only Fool Would Hoard His Wealth While Half the

World Starves

Special to The Telegram. CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 14.-Mexico has developed an Andrew Carnegie in Pedro Alvarado, the owner of the Palmillo mine in Parral, He declares he believes that the rich should divide with the poor and is more practical than Carnegie, in that he proposes to give away his wealth while he is alive in order that he may see what becomes of it. A few years ago Alvarado was a peon. Rich strikes in abandoned mines have made him a multi-millionaire and he does not know what to do with the money. His wealth is now estimated at $150,000,-000. A few weeks ago he visited Diaz personally and offered to pay off the Mexican national debt. President Diaz refused the offer. Alvarado will visit him again soon and renew the offer. Alvarado now announces that with. in the next thirty days he will distribute $10,000,000 among the poor of Mexico. He says he got his vast wealth from the earth, which is a part of Mexico, and he proposes that his countrymen shall share in his wealth. His plans in giving away the $10,-000,000 to the poor are of a practical nature. Instead of giving cash, which might be squandered, he will provide homes and land for the poor and equip them so they can earn their living at trades and on plantations. Every effort will be made to encourage industry instead of idleness. Alvarado promises to make 10,000 Mexicans independent, to educate as many children in the trades and to continue to give away a few millions each year for that purpose. He is planning a great school, where the Mexican children can learn the latest arts and trades and where advanced agriculture will be taught. He will request the assistance of some leading American educators in the educational venture.

"To erect monuments, establish libraries and endow universities is but to help the rich and their children,' says Alvarado. "That neither feeds the body, clothes the naked nor saves the souls of the deserving poor. I pro-pose to give away much of my wealth before I die, for none of it can I take with me when I die, and only a fool would hoard his wealth while half the world starves."

Mother With Babe in Arms Run Down and Killed

By Associated Press.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 14.—After having spent Sunday with relatives at East Lake, J. A. Baker, with his wife and two children, one a baby in its mother's arms, was hurrying to the union depot early this morning to catch a train to Henry Ellen, Ala., they left an East Lake electric train at First avenue and Twentieth street and were waiting for it to clear the crossing, as a trailer train rushed past it, split the switch, turned sharply on the diverging track on which Mrs. Baker stood, and ground her to death before the eyes of her husband and children. Her baby, which she carried in her arms, was run over also, but escaped fatal injury.

CROP DAMAGE FEARED

Oats and Wheat Are Both Very Green and Tender

Special to The Telegram. WACO, Texas, Jan. 14.—Unless there is a very decided change in the weather this week the results will be disastrous in many ways and the danage will be hard to estimate in central Texas. Already wheat and oats are green and tender and would be killed by a sudden and heavy freeze, while in some places volunteer oats are actually heading out. Fruit men say that buds are swelling and blooms will appear in a short time unless cold comes, and that a hard freeze would do a good deal of damage even now. Grass, which at one time was nicely cured and promised much winter feed, is growing again and will sour when it freezes. Shade trees are expected to put out soon, and altogether the situation is critical.

SCHOOL QUESTION OF IMPORTANCE

Funds Available Insufficient for Territory Needs

DIFFICULTIES IN WAY

Obstructions Which Hinder and Prevent Establishment of Day Schools in the New State

Special to The Telegram. MUSKOGEE, I. T., Jan. 14.—The most important question now before the people of the Indian Territory, soon to be a state, is the supplying of adequate school facilities. In speaking of the matter of schools for the future, Hon. John D. Benedict, superintendent of schools for the Indian Territory, and a member of the city school board in this city, said:

"Many difficulties arise and will continue to exist for years to come in this territory, to hinder and prevent the establishment of a first class system of district or day schools, among which may be enumerated the following: "First, nearly all the lands belong to the Indians and are non-taxable, so long as owned by them; second, every one of the eight hundred day school buildings have been erected by private, voluntary donations or subscriptions, and the majority of them are cheap box houses which cannot be kept comfortable in winter weather; third, no public funds of any kind have ever been available, either for building or furnishing country school houses in the territory, hence the majority of them are supplied with crude, home-made benches, and with but few if any school appliances; fourth, the territory is threaded with numerous streams, which are spanned by no bridges, oftentimes rendering it impossible for pupils to get to school. These difficulties seem destined to reard the progress of our rural schools for many years to come, for altho we are to have statehood, yet the new state will be powerless in the matter of taxing Indian lands, District schools and bridges cannot be built except by taxation, and Indian lands will continue to be non-taxable.

"For the ensuing year congress has given an appropriation of $150,000, together with the surplus court fees which have accumulated in the federal courts of the territory. These sums added to the tribal day school funds available will amount to about $350,-000, which will enable us to establish and maintain more than 800 day schools. We are compelled, however, for want of funds, to refuse many petitions for schools. That these 800 schools are not adequate to the needs of the rural districts may be readily seen when it is remembered that i the territory were divided into 800 districts of equal size, each district would contain more than thirty-eight square miles of land. Inasmuch as these conditions, whereby the people residing in the rural portions of this territory are left powerless in the matter of maintaining public schools, are the direct result of congressional legislation, it would seem that congress must provide means for maintaining these rural schools until it can enact such legislation as will enable the people to tax themselves in support. of common schools."

AT AUSTIN

sches Were b Bailey Men, Who Argued Against Investigation

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 14.—At 10:44 o'clock this morning the Bailey matter came up for consideration in the house of representatives. Representative Hume of Harris, secured the floor and talked in defense of Senator Bailey. He divided the house into three groups, first, those against Bailey; second, those who favor a sweeping investigation, and third, those who want a fair inquiry. Hume said he objected to rumors that "somebody else told somebody else about," and said believed that Bailey was entitled to the same courtesy as a free negro who is brought up on a charge. Hume claimed that the Spanish inquisition times had passed and said the legislature was here to do common justice to a common man. There was much applause accorded the speaker on his address.

He claimed that the international investigation embarrassed Campbell in his last election, and it followed Hogg to his grave. He claimed that a certain paper in the state that was induced to accept garbled reports of the international investigation, had recently taken garbled reports in the Bailey matter. He asserted that the international matter was still on record and had aroused unpleasant memories. He denied that the former Bailey investigation was a whitewash, and denied that Duncan was fighting for Bailey by his methods, and said: "If that be ndship, God deliver us from that kind of friendship."

"I came here because I was a Democrat," he continued. "I came here in-structed that I should vote for Mr. Bailey, and I came here thinking that I was a legislator, not a clerk. My office is just as big as Mr. Bailey's, and my principles are just the same as his. If you should want to investigate me would ask the same things as Senator Bailey. I will stand for one man against the whole world if I think he is being denied the constitutional

Continuing he said it was the friendship of Damon and Pythias that in-"Your constituents have nothing to do with you after you get here on this question, for the party has spoken. The people have no right to demand an investigation. It is for us to decide." He said he believed that the legislature has as much right to investigate Bailey and no more than it did to judge some jack rabbit out in some briar patch.

Resolution Unfair Hume claimed that the Duncan resolution was as fair as a rose with a serpent under it, and its tenor was like the milk of human kindness soured and that it was not even in good form and would not stand in a justice court. He said every man who signed the resolution will be held responsible hereafter and called attention to Duncan's story about the man looking for stolen property in another man's house and claimed that the real man would not let the investigator in without a search warrant. He claimed every one had in the house of his soul some room that no mortal must enter. (Applause.) He said that Bailey stood with open arms to welcome any lawful investiga-

Going on the theory that God only requires his people to do what they eve was right, he said that Bailey had done those things he had admit-ted because he honestly believed there was no wrong in them.

Hume wanted no investigation of Davidson and claimed the only charge brought against him was that he had forged a document and that was not denied. He opposed the part of the Duncan resolution regarding the committee going over the country to get evidence and compared it to Gulliver's travels and said the committee had no legal right to go outside the state. Hume closed his address at . 11:30-

Speech by McConnell

By unanimous agreement McConnell of Palo Pinto began speaking for the Bailey side after Hume finished. Mc-Connell aroused the first real enthuslasm of the morning, and was interrupted often by cheers of the Bailey men. McConnells' speech was eulo-gistic of Balley, Campbell, Hogg and Culberson, When he mentioned Duncan in complimentary terms the cheering was continuous. He criticised Duncan, however, for his stand for the sweeping investigation.

The former Daliasite told funny stories and kept the house and galleries in good humor. He stated that Duncan had after twenty-eight years again opposed the action of his party and attempted to defeat the purposes and the action of his party. He predicted that it would be twenty-eight thousand years again before Duncan would be

Judge Robertson raised the point of order that McConnell had not the right to impugn the motives of felow memin attacking Duncan's arguments Sat-urday. The speaker said he did not mean any offense to Duncan. Contin-uing he said that at the express wish of Bailey he had waived his wishes and canted an investigation under the cennedy resolution. House Adjourned

Representative Hamilton of Hunt asked if the speaker believed that an investigation could be taken like in any other court of the state and secure depositions outside the state at small expense, instead of having a portable committee at an enormous cost. McConnell thanked him for the suggestion. Cocke of Bexar at 12:25 o'clock moved that the house adjourn until 2 o'clock and the motion carried. Before the consideration of the Bailey matter a resolution was introduced to invest $500,000 or $1,000,000 of the school funds in the elemosinary insti-

Kennedy made a point of order that the half hour for resolutions had expired and Bryan of Taylor asked the unanimous consent of the house to take up the mileage and per diem bill. After Corporations

There has been quite a number of bills introduced at this session relative to the corporations doing bustness in this state, also the home corperations. One bill in particular has been introduced which is a platform demand, but if permitted to become a law may have a disastrous effect on corporations. It is the bill introduced in both branches of the legislature requiring corporations chartered under the laws of Texas to have at least 50 per cent of their capital stock paid up and the remaining 50 per cent to be paid within two years after the incorporation of the concern. This bill was up in the last legislature and it was defeated. It, also requires that corporations shall confine their place

Consider Resolution

Senate committee on privileges and elections will this afternoon at 2 o'clock take up and consider the senate resolution introduced by Senator Senter and signed by several other senators providing for an investigation of the charges against Attorney General Davidson and Senator Bailey. Both of these distinguished gentlemen have been invited to appear before the committee relative to the matter, and it is likely that General Davidson will appear and address the committee, but it has not as yet been disclosed whether or not Senator Bailey will avail himself of an opportunity to tell of his transactions with Henry Clay Pierce and the readmission of the -Waters-Pierce Oil Company into the state. From present indications it is more than likely that the resolution will be reported on favorably by the committee, and there is no doubt but that the resolution will be adopted in the senate, as a recent poll of the senate on this subject disclosed that 17 senators were for an investigation and 13 against an investigation.

FRENCH CHURCH

Cardinals and Bishops to Meet to Talk Matters Over

By Associated Press. PARIS, Jan. 14.-Having decided in advance to adhere to the recent papal encyclical, the work of the French Episcopal conference which meets tomorrow will be largely confined to discussing practical matters involved in the condemnation of the amended church and state separation law: and the benefit which can be obtained from the public meetings law of 1901. The church's resources will be appraised and cardinals and some of the bishops who are again in session, have virtualy resolved to recommend the establishment of a central fund in all dioceses.

HARRIS TELLS A STORY

Refused to Discuss Petition With Al derman chane-Neither Side Will Recede from Position Taken

The attitude of Mayor W. D. Harris and the city council, with Alderman Maddox eliminated, toward each other is still that of war over the proposed new charter for Fort Worth and the proposed election thereon. The situation is not only embarrassing, but bad, and can be no better described than by designating it as a deadlock with the key lost.

But as bad as it is, there is a rumor that it may become worse, Neither side up to this time giving any evidence that an inch would be yielded, Mayor Harris has already evidenced that he has a will of his own and a big lot of stiffening in his spinal column, and it is also charged that he has a lot of Scotch-Irish firmness thrown in. On the other hand his opponents in the council are chock full of fight and give no more evidence of backing down from their positions than the mayor does of weak-people—are not having a great deal to say in the newspapers, but they are talking quite a goood deal among themselves and the drift of the talk is: "There is no good reason why the antagonism in the council should exist." The mayor has ignored the special meeting called by members of the council and held Friday at 11 a. m.,

The third party in the fight-the and while the council attended the special meeting called by the mayor and held Saturday at 7:30 p. m., they virtually repudiated it by simply listening to the reading of a communication from the mayor and then adjourning without any action or even expression of any kind on the communication-it was just ignored; that's

Secret Caucus Sunday

The next move on the board was a caucus held by six members of the council Sunday afternoon at the city This caucus was held behind closed doors and newspaper men were not made wise to the meeting until it was over. The matter of requesting Mayor Harris to call another meeting was discussed, however, and as a result the following petition to the mayor was drawn up and signed:

Fort Worth, Texas, Jan. 14 .-Hon. W. D. Harris, Mayor of the understand from your communications to the city council that you are unwilling to submit to the voters the charter question, because, in your opinion, the election has not been called legally, and that you are unwilling to call the election ordered by the city council for the reason that, in your opinion, your veto has not been legally overridden. Desiring that the charter question should be submitted to the people, and not desiring to do anything in the matter which would bear the semblance of illegality, therefore we, the undersigned aldermen, respectfully request that Your Honor do at once call a special meeting of the city council for Monday evening at 5 o'clock, Jan. 14, if Your Honor's engagements will permit; if not, for the earliest possible day thereafter, the purpose of the call being that the council shall consider and act upon the communication of Your Honor, and shall further consider and act upon the matter of calling an election to submit to the people the charter question, concerning which action has heretofore been taken by the council. Respectfully submitted,

JOHN F. LEHANE, R. L. ARMSTRONG, B. L. WAGGOMAN, M. M. LYDON. W. H. WARD JAKE F. ZURN

The above communication was published Monday morning and taking a copy of it to Mayor Harris at 10 a. m. Monday, a Telegram reporter asked him what he would do in the premises, "I have heard of the petition," he said, "and know pretty well what the request is, but it has not been presented to me yet, and I prefer waiting until t has been before giving any answer as to what action I will take. I am from Georgia, where the streams are crooked and winding and are bridged at many places, and I have always made it a rule never to cross a bridge until I reached it, "However, this petition, as I understand it to be, reminds me of the story of a man who was traveling on a railroad train in Georgia, The train, after leaving the starting point, crossed a few miles out the Chickamauga river. "'What river is that, conductor?' the passenger asked.

"'The Chickamaugua,' answered the conductor. "A few miles on there was another bridge over a river. 'What river is this?'

"The Chickamauga." "A few miles further and there was another bridge. "'What river is this?' again asked the passenger. "The Chickamaugua, answered the conductor. "This happened several times more and in disgust the passenger nestled down in his seat and fell asleep. After sleeping several hours he awoke and on looking out of the car window he discovered the train was crossing another river; it was the Chatahoochee. Back into his seat he tumbled, thinking it was his old friend, muttering. "The same blamed old Chicka-

As The Telegram reporter left Mayor Harris he met Alderman John F. Lehane, who was just going to present the petition from the six aldermen to the mayor. The reporter waited until Alderman Lehane reappeared from the mayor's sanctum; and when he did show up his face had on it a look that almost made it unnecessary to ask him what was the result of his visit to the mayor. But the reporter did ask; "Did you present the mayor the pe-

"Yes," was the snappy answer.
"What did he say—will be call the meeting?"
"God knows; I don't. After he read it he got kinder pale in the face and kept quiet. I then asked him if he would call the meeting, and when and in a stony tone of voice and with a stony look in his eye, he informed me that he declined to discuss the matter with me in any shape, form or fashion; and that's all I know about it." Considered Petition

At 11:30 a. m. a Telegram reporter again called on Mayor Harris to learn what answer he would make to the request of the six aldermen for a special and said that he would not have his answer to the request for a specia meeting ready until some time later. "Have you made up your mind on calling or not calling the meeting?" asked the reporter.

"Really, I cannot afford to answer that question at this time," said the

"At what time will it be any use for me to come back to learn your determination in the premises?"
"Not earlier than 2 p. m. If I have decided on what I will do by that time I will let The Telegram know."

Confer with Committee Mayor Harris during the talk had with him Monday morning said:

"There is only one proper thing for the charter committee of the council to do in view of existing conditions, and that is to go to the citizens' committee, confer with them as to what kind of a charter shall be presented to the legislature; and if they cannot agree, let both sides prepare their charter and submit them to the voters of the city. The charter committee of the city council up to this time has kept aloof from the citizens' committee and appears to desire to have everything their own way regardless of anybody else."

When asked if the citizens' committee would consent to submit its proposed charter to a vote of the people before the legislative action was asked on it, the mayor said that he could not speak as to what a majority of the committee would consent to.

Referring to the last request of the council for a special meeting the mayor in substance said that the signers of the request for the meeting now realized that they were appearing in ah embarrassing light and that their contention was so untenable that they were seeking for an opportunity to appear to be right in the eyes of the public-to get out of a bad tangle. At 2 p. m. Monday, when The Telegram reporter called on Mayor Harris

he was informed that the meeteing requested by the six aldermen would be called and that notice of it would be duly given. "While I have decided to call the special meeting requested," said Mayor

Harris, "I have not yet decided at what hour or on what day I will call it for." In explanation of the delay in making an announcement on this matter Mayor Harris said he had been so busily engaged in other important mat-ters demanding his attention that he could not give the request the attention at this time he would like to give it. In the absence of any notice given Chief of Police Maddox to notify the aldermen of a meeting of the council for Monday it is not probable that there will be any special meeting until after Monday.

Only Dewey and Evans o Spanish War Fame in Service

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The first of eleven rear admirals who will be retired from the navy this year will leave active service on Wednesday. On that day Rear Admiral Charles D. Sigsbee goes on the retired list. Of the higher officers who made history in the war with Spain, only Admiral Dewey and Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans will be left in the service. Rear Admirals Sampson and Phillip are dead, Schley and Clark retired several years ago, Admiral McCalla retired last July and Hobson is in politics.

An Anthony on the Stage "Aunt Susan raised no objections," says Miss Guelma Baker of "The Um-

If Guelma Baker puts more than ordinary spirit into her soubrette part in "The Umpire," the musical comedy to be seen at Greenwall's opera house tonight and tomorrow matinee and night, Jan. 14 and 15, she has good family reasons for doing it. She is a grand-niece of the late Colonel Dan R. Anthony and of his famous sister, Susan B. Anthony. At the end of a long line of Anthonys she is ambitious to make the family blood tell upon the stage as well as in other fields of endeavor.

One might imagine that Susan B. Anthony, with her radical ideas, might have frowned upon the idea of the family being connected with the stage. "But she didn't," says Miss Baker. "She was a splendid woman, so good and kind. She believed in girls getting out and doing something. I used to see her often."

Miss Baker's grandmother, Mrs. Guelma Penn Anthony, was the oldest sister of a large family. She was named for the wife of William Penn and all of the Anthonys were Quakers. Miss Baker's father is George L. Baker, traveling passenger agent for the Santa Fe railroad, with headquarters at Chicago. Miss Baker was born in Rochester, N. Y., and her parents moved to San Diego, Cal., when she was quite

"I began to sing a little when I was about 10 years of age," she said. "My parents encouraged me and sent me east to study. I sang first in New York churches. About six years ago I was engaged to play juvenile parts with Mme, Modjeska. The first song I ever sang on the stage was as Balthazar, page to Don Pedro, in "Much Ado About Nothing."

"The Squaw Man"

When Edwin Milton Royle was looking for the locale of "The Squaw Man," which Liebler & Co. will present at Greenwall's opera house Wednesday and Thursday nights, with matinee Thursday, Jan. 16 and 17, the dramatist recalled to mind a beautiful park in Colorado, indelibly associated with the early history of the state and its pioneers. This valley lies between the Sangre de Cristo and Green Horn ranges and is from three to fifteen miles wide and fifty-five miles long. Today it is known as "The Valley of the Younger Sons." More than one old English family has "gone broke" in attempting to establish horse ranches here, and the place is peopled by the impecunious scions of an impoverished British nobility, and here on at least one of the three divisions of the continental divide may be found the manners and customs of old Eng-

"Everybody Works But Father" "Everybody Works But Father." which will be seen at Greenwall's opera house Friday and Saturday nights with Saturday matinee, Jan. 18 and 19, surpasses in beauty or scenic effects and catchiness of musical numbers anything that has ever been seen on the local stage.

* At the Majestic

While appearing at the Bijou theater several weeks ago, Danny Mann, who, with his wife, is appearing at the Majestic theater this week in a rural sketch entitled "Mandy Hawkins," received a letter from an anonyomus writer informing that actor that his sketch had aided in bringing a reconciliation with his wife after a separation of eight years. The letter was as follows:

"Your act has been the means of bringing together a man and wife who have been separated for eight years. A party in this hotel saw your act and then sent the woman tickets. After seeing the production she sent for her husband and made up."

The above should be sufficient testimony that a beautiful moral playlet put on the stage so admirably by Mr. and Mrs. Mann with a good wholesome tendency, can be played so conscientiously and truthfully to brong about a climax as above. It only goes to show that the stage has many good points and, in some respect, teaches a good lesson, just as telling as the precepts of the church. This delightful playlet is without doubt the finest piece of acting on the vaudeville stage today. The beautiful stage setting and electrical effects make it one to live in the memory of those who witness it. The touching finish to the performance with the village choir singing "Nearer My God to Thee" is excellent. Other acts on the bill are Clayton Jenkins & Jasper, the Dochemdorf troupe, Memphis Kennedy, Francis Wood and Gil Brown.

Fort Worth Rink Large crowds attended the big Fort Worth rink all last week, which goes to show that the public appreciates the good treatment its receives. The management states that the rink is cleaned throughout twice a day and ladies can come to see the skaters and feel assured that they can find a good clean comfortable seat.

Professor Cox and his celebrated band are playing the best music of their careers and are winning many compliments. The polo team represent-ing the big rink defeated Dallas at Dallas yesterday by the score of 7 to 3. Many pretty plays were made by both teams, but the Fort Worth boys are simply too much for Dallas. Captain Kennard played his usual fine game, but played in hard luck, as three of his goals came out. Bunn played his best game since the season opened and was very fast and steady. TRUST MAGNATE WILL WED ACTRESS

Makes Definite Answer to the Rumors

Special to The Telegram. PARIS. Jan. 14 .- "I will marry Miss man," was the definite statement made by Mr. Corey, president of the dillon dollar steel corporation.

By this statement all doubt as to the culmination of the remarkable romance that has astounded both America and Europe is set aside.

While friends of both the steel multimillionaire and of the beautiful actress have felt confident that they would be wedded, Mr. Corey has not, up till tolay, given the rumors the stamp of open word. Mr. Corey, altho he makes no secret of the approaching event to his intimates, refuses to discuss it, beyond the atement above, to the newspapers-He says he is not seeking notoriety. Just when the wedding will take e is not known, but it certain that Miss Gilman will not become a bride before a month or six

Mr. Corey has authorized the statement that he intends to return to America for a very short stay before he and Miss Gilman are married. Many believe that this flying trip has something to do with the beginning of the erection of the Fifth avemue home, which it is said will eclipse

Members of Third House Frightened Away in Arkansas

Special to The Telegram LITTLE ROCK, Ark. Jan. 14.-Owing to the conviction of Senator F. O. Butt, now serving a two years' term in prison for bribery, and the numerous indictments brought against other members of the last legislature, the Thirty-sixth Arkansas general assembly promises to be marked by an absolute and unprecedented freedom from corrupt influences. The anti-graft crusades waged in Missouri, Texas and other neighboring states have spread to this state and the people have demanded that their legislative representatives be above suspicion. As a result, the session which opened today is conspicuous thru the absence of the lobbyists representing private nterests and bids fair to remain so. With the "third house" eliminated the assembly will be free to consider questions of public interest and there is every prospect that many important

Pennsylvania Legislature Has a Big Job on Its Hands

Special to The Telegram, HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 14.-The Pennsylvania general assembly reconvened today after a recess of two weeks. A spirited debate is expected in connection with the recommendation made by Governor Pennypacker that the charges of graft, extravagance and dishonesty in the building of the new state capitol be investigated by the legislature. The building cost $13,500,-000, of which $9,000,000 was spent for decorations and furnishings, by the board of public grounds and buildings, Governor Pennypacker being himself a member of this body. He will retire from the office of governor tomorrow. The new capitol was one of the chief issues in the last campaign, the Democratic candidates declaring it to be a mighty monument to graft. Governor Pennypacker declares his confidence that a thoro investigation of the expenditures will result in a complete exoneration of the members of the public buildings board. The Republicans have a majority in both houses of the state assembly and the Democratic members allege that the proposed inquiry is for the purpose of "whitewashing" the Pennypacker administration.

Opening of Strengous Session of the General Assembly Special to The Telegram.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 14.-The thirty-second general assembly of Iowa convened today with every pronise of a strenuous session. The Republican members are divided into warring bodies-the Cummins or progressive faction, and the "stand-patters." The latter threaten to combine with the Democrats to defeat Senator J. P. Dolliver for re-election, but it is likely that when a vote is taken Dolliver will be returned without serious opposition. The chief subjects to be considered are a primary election measure insurance reform legislation and a 2-cent fare law. Governor Cummins favors all these proposed measures and will use his influence to secure their enaction into laws. It is also likely that the question of prohibiting capital punishment will be considered during the session. ROMANTIC WEDDING

Special to The Telegram, TEMPLE, Texas, Jan. 14 -- A romantic wedding, in which the principals were two well-known Temple young people, Frank H. Guild and Miss Ethel Little occurred here. On account of the young lady's tender age the consent of parents was withheld and the pair advised to wait until a more favorable time. This did not accord with their ideas of what was the correct thing to do, however, and the bride, who is still a pupil in the public schools, secured an early dismissal, joined the would-be groom and together they made a pilgrimage to Belton, where license was procured and District Judge Thurman performed the ceremony. They returned to this city and gently broke the news to the mother of the bride, who is Mrs. Ethel Little, a popular teacher in the public schools. Parental forgiveness was readily obtained.

CATARRH PREPARES

While Catarrh in its first stages FOR CONSUMPTION usually affects the head, it does not stop there if the trouble is allowed to run on. The contracting of a cold is generally the commencement of the unpleasant symptoms of ringing noises in the ears, nose stopped up, mucus dropping back into the throat, hawking and spitting, etc. The inner skin or mucous membrane of the body becomes inflamed and secretes an unhealthy matter which is absorbed into the blood, and Catarrh becomes a serious and dangerous blood disease. Every day the blood becomes more heavily loaded with these poisonous secretions, and as the poisoned blood constantly passes through the lungs they become diseased, and often Catarrh terminates in Consumption. Sprays, washes, inhalations and such treatment do no real good, because they do not reach the poison-laden blood, where the real trouble lies. The only way to cure Catarrh

NEGRO SOLDIERS TO PHILIPPINES The report that all the negro soldiers in the United States are to-be sent to the Philippines for service during the present year will strike the average observer as just about the proper thing under existing circumstances. But at the same time it must also strike the observer as a pretty nervy thing on the part of Theodore Roosevelt, president of these United States of America. The President just now is under fire from some of the most prominent leaders of his party, on account of his action in summarily dismissing the Brownsville culprits from service. There is an investigation pending of the President's right to do this, and pending that investigation the executive answer is the announcement that all negro troops are to be sent out of the United States. As commanden in chief of the United States army and navy, the President has the right to do this, and there is no doubt but that the order has been

When Roosevelt dined with Booker T. Washington, closed the Indianola postoffice and ordered the abandonment of Fort Brown he came in for some very caustic criticism. He was accused of being a lover of the negro race and disposed to encourage the possibility of social equity and people of the south were especially bitter in their comments. Indeed, it is said that with every recurring St. Valen-tine's day the President has been the recipient of innumerable pictures of negro babies in the form of comic valentines, and no effort has been spared to impress upon him the fact that the south looked witht disfavor upon his negro sentiments.

But this Brownsville matter has placed the President in a new light. No matter what the man's ideas may be on the race problem, he has shown he has a mind of his own and it will not brook dictation at the hands of those who may desire to make capital politically from his official acts. He has rebuked interference by taking extremely radical action, and action, too, that is certain to call down a storm of angry protest upon him. But after all, it is action that should have been taken in the beginning. There is not a section of the United States that is content to put up with and endure the lawlessness of negro soldiers. They are a constant source of friction and trouble without any form of justification. There is no reason for negro soldiers, and the best thing to do under the circumstances is for congress to repeal the law authorizing their enlistment and thus eliminate a factor that will always prove a disturbing ele-

TIME FOR OTHER THINGS.

There is a decided disposition among the people of Texas to turn deaf ears to continued political agitation and get busy about something else. And it is one of the most gratifying signs the times. It is true that some f our leading morning papers continue print page after page of the veriest I the annoyance of a car shortage.

rot of the most partisan type, but the people and the country press are earning better. The Arlington Journal

It is likely that this town, and in fact all towns in Texas, are talking Balley too much these times; we confess to doing our part of too much talking If we didn't talk it would just simply talk itself. But after all it is going to affect Arlington very little whether Balley is elected or defeated. It would be better for us to all be talking up a school tax, more school buildings, a few more brick store houses, brick pavements and graveled sidewalks and street crossings—these are things Arington ought to go after during the

The Telegram has been contending for some time that the people had a plenty of the Bailey matter, and that fact has been clearly established by the unanimity with which they have refrained from attending Bailey meetings or piling up a big vote for Bailey when the opportunity was extended. It is a safe proposition that 95 out of every 100 voters in Texas have their minds fully made up as to Senaor Bailey and his connection with the Waters-Pierce branch of the Standard Oil company. All the speaking, ranting and abuse that could be exploited in the state for the next twelve months would not affect the situation one particle, so far as the judgment of the people is concerned, and continued agitation can but add to the animosities already engendered. The people of Texas believe that Senator Bailey should be retired, and the thing to now do is to have the legislature investigate the matter to the very bottom, bring out all the facts and if the allegations set forth are clearly established, elect some good, loyal Democrat to the United States senate, and let Bailey continue to represent the Waters-Pierce Oil company in Texas if he desires. The people have enough and are wearily turning from politics to the more serious problem of getting their own households in order.

HIGH PRICE OF LUMBER.

There is serious complaint coming up from every section of the state concerning the high price of lumber and other building material, it being universally claimed that figures have gone so high that it is greatly impeding building operations and in some instances actually prohibiting them. In other cases builders are trying to solve the problem by finding some substitute, and this is what has given such a stimulus to the building of concrete houses in many localities. In West Texas and the Panhandle there is great complaint over the price of lumber, and the following from the Quanah Tribune-Chief is a fair sample of the newspaper notices of the situation: While our state officials are indusriously pursuing the oily octopus, they should not forget that the lumber trust is doing more to stop the upbuilding of Texas than all other agencies combined. Lumber in most West Texas towns is three times higher than it ought to be, and our people are entitled to some protection-from mills and wholesalers both. In West Texas and the Pannandle the price of lumber has always been high, on account of the long haul and high freight rates, and the people of those sections have always been greatly retarded in their building operations by this cause. And since the continued advances that have come with such unvarying regularity in the price of all classes of lumber, there are thousands of homes in those sections of the state that are now actually suffering for the improvements their owners do not feel able to undertake. The situation is working a great hardship on a live and progressive people who are doing so much for the upbuilding and development of a large section of our state, and if a remedy can be found it should be promptly applied.

When second-class boxing-a very inferior quality of lumber-gets to the point where it brings more than $25 per 1,000 feet, it brings about a condition of affairs that is extremely irksome. It even seriously interferes with the building of barns and sheds in those sections of the state where livestock are absolutely without protection, and it also prevents the building of many humble homes as well as the substantial improvement of many others already in existence.

Colonel J. L. Peeler, the Austin candidate of the house of representatives. confessed some time ago that he had spent $5,000 in an effort to be elected speaker. And this is but another evidence of the fact that as matters are shaping themselves a poor man stands little show for political honors in Texas. It is true Peeler was defeated, but the fact he spent that much money in trying to be speaker shows what a poor man is up against in this day and time.

Fort Worth's total rainfall for the year was forty inches, compared to El Paso's fifteen. El Paso has long been noted as an "irrigatin" center-of the kind that is not materially affected by the supply of water. Fort Worth is the great rain center, just as it is the center of all else and metropolis of the southwest.

S. W. T. Lanham is about to retire from the office of governor of Texas. For four years he has been the incumbent and his every act has shown fidelity to the people's interests and a high regard for his oath of office. There has been no noise, no playing to the galleries, but simply plain, practical, common-sense methods in the conduct of the public business. True, there has been the constant embarrassment of a treasury deficit, but this is directly chargeable to the legislative department of government. The people of Texas will hold in grateful remembrance the services of S. W. T. Waco Times-Herald

There is nothing connected with the Lanham administration to be ashamed of. It has been strictly business all the way thru.

MINERS GATHER IN INDIANAPOLIS

Diggers of Coal Want Mining Conditions Improved

Special to The Telegram. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 14.-Every train into Indianapolis today brings scores of miners to attend the eight-Workers of America, which will open tomorrow morning. While the meeting of the diggers of coal will not attract as much attention as did that of last year, many important matters will be considered by the delegation, The most vital question to be considered, at least from the standpoint of the miners, is how to prevent the terrible loss of life incident to mining the nation's coal. According to figures compiled by Secretary W. B. Lewis 2,097 men were killed in the mines of seventeen coal states during the last year, and 4,402 were seriously injured. One man was killed for every 175,000 tons of coal mined. More than 1,000 women were deprived of their husbands and 2,500 children were left fatherless. Unless conditions are improved thousands of men now working in the mines will be crushed to death during the year to come. According to the miners, most of these accidents could be prevented by proper precautions. Some time will be spent by the delegates in considering this matter and it is likely that some definite action will be taken, While the wage question will not be considered at the coming session except as it relates to isolated districts. it is said that plans will be made for a new interstate agreement between the operators and the miners. The present scale of the miners does not expire this year in many states, but it is believed that before the next convention some plan should be decided on for securing a conferenc with the operators. The officials declare that the organization is stronger than at any time in its history.

WOOL GROWERS

Annual Meeting of Idaho Association Being Held This Week

Special to The Telegram. BOISE CITY, Jan. 14.-A discussion of the car shortage, forest reserves, livestock sanitation and other matters of interest to sheep raisers, will be taken up at the annual meeting of the Idaho Wool Growers' Association. which opens a three days session this afternoon. The chief speaker at the opening session will be Major Frank Fenn, chief forester of the state of Idaho, who will read a paper dealing with the regulation of forest reserves. This is a matter in which the wool growers are vitally interested and it is probable that a spirited discussion will follow. Wednesday afternoon Dr. G. E. Noble will review the work of the Idaho livestock sanitary board. It Lanham as their chief executive .- Is likely that many amendments to the present sanitary law will be drafted for presentation to the state legislature. The car shortage question will also be taken up on Wednesday. The representatives of several railroads will be present and an attempt will be made to arrive at some arrangement which will prevent the congestion of cars. Most of the delegates will leave Wednesday evening for Salt Lake City, where the annual convention of the National Wool Growers' Association will be held, beginning Thursday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.-Representatives of many national, state and local commercial organizations met in the New Willard hotel this morning. in response to a call issued by the New York board of trade, for the purpose of forming a national association for the extension of foreign commerce. Measures for promoting the demand abroad for the products of American factories, farms and mines will be fully discussed by the delegates. Secretary Elihu Root will be one of the speakers and will give the convention the benefit of the information acquired by him on his recent tour of the Latin-American countries. President Roosevelt has promised to address the visitors at a banquet to be held at the Arlington hotel Wednesday evening. Speaker Cannon and Vice President Fairbanks have also been invited and will probably attend. Southern delegates have asked the convention to aid in securing a more equitable distribution of the flood of immigration, to the end that a portion of it may be diverted to southern

INDIANS LOSE POWER

LAWTON, O. T., Jan. 14.-The Apache and Comanche Indians, thru some superhuman and occult power, are able to divine with some measure of accuracy the date of the death of an invalid tribesman, and quite often a casket is purchased from an undertaker here two or three days before the unfortunate dies.

But an instance has been brought about that proves the Indians are not only losing their supernatural powers. but are growing dull and incomprehensible to another extreme. The sixmonths-old child of an Apache and his wife was taken seriously ill Mon-day. The buck hitched up the team of spotted ponies and they brought the child to a physician. Upon entering his office they took the blanket from the child and found that it was dead. The body was cold and the physician believes that the child was dead when the parents left home, for they drove only about five miles.

IN THE ALCOVE

By ANNA KATH ARINE GREEN

SYNOPSIS

The story begins with the engagement of Anson Durand and plain Miss Van Ardsdale at a dance in New York. Shortly after their troth is given, Mrs. Fairbrother, wearing an enormous diamond, passes by and goes into an alcove. Durand follows her after Miss Van Ardsdale is claimed for a dance. A few moments later Mrs. Fairbrother is discovered murdered and suspicion falls upon Durand. Her gloves are found in Miss Van Ardsdale's bag and Durand states that Mrs Fairbroth er gave them to him altho he did not know that the diamond was within the gloves when he placed them in the bag. Blood on his shirt bosom is also covered in the mountains in the west, but too sick to even be apprised of the news. Before the inquest the diamond found in the gloves is pronounced to be a good imitation. The coroner's jury does not fix the blame of the murder and yet does not acquit Durand. At the close of the inquest Durand is arrested by the police.

In the meantime Fairbrother is dis

Slowly the inspector inserted this scrap of paper between the folds of his pocketbook. He did not give me another look, tho I stood trembling before him. Was he in any way convinced or was he simply seeking for the most considerate way in which to dismiss me and my abominable theory? I could not gather his intentions from his expression, and was feeling very faint and heart-sick, when he suddenly turned upon me with the remark:

"A girl as ill as you say Miss Grey was must have had some very pressing matter on her mind to attempt to write and send a message under such difficulties. According to your idea, she had some notion of her father's designs and wished to warn Mrs. Fairbrother against them. But don't you see that such conduct as this would be preposterous, nay, unparalleled in persons of their distinction? You must find some other explanation for Miss Grey's seemingly mysterious action, and I an agent of crime other than one of England's most reputable

"So that Mr. Durand is shown the same consideration, I am content," I said. "It is the truth and the truth only I desire. I am willing to trust my cause with you.' He looked none too grateful for this confidence. Indeed, now that I look back on this scene. I do not wonder

"What do you want me to do?" he "Prove something. Prove that I am altogether wrong or altogether right. Or if proof is not possible, pray allow doing what I can myself to clear up the matter.'

that he shrank from the responsibility thus foisted upon him.

"You?"

There was apprehension, disapprobation, almost menace in his tone. I bore it with as steady and modest a glance as possible, saying, when I thought he was about to speak again:

"I will do nothing without your | followed. It coincided with the sanction. I realize the dangers of this inquiry, and the disgrace that would follow if our attempt was suspected before proof reached a point sufficient to justify it. It is not an open attack I meditate, but one-

Here I whispered in his ear for sev eral minutes. When I had finished he gave me a prolonged stare, then he laid his hand on my head. "You are a little wonder," he de clared. "But your ideas are very quix-otic, very. However," he added, suddenly growing grave, "something, I must admit, may be excused a young girl who finds herself forced to choose between the guilt of her lover and that of a man esteemed great by the world, but altogether removed from her and her natural sympathies." "You acknowledge, then, that it lies between these two?

"I see no third." I drew a breath of relief. "Don't deceive yourself, Miss Van Arsdale: it is not among the possibilities that Mr. Grey has had any connection with this crime. He is an eccentric man, that's all." "But-but-"I shall do my duty. I shall satisfy you and myself on certain points and if-" I hardly breathed-"there is the least doubt, I will see you again and-' The change he saw in me frightened away the end of his sentence. Turning upon me with some severity, he declared: "There are nine hundred and ninety-nine chances in a thousand that my next word to you will be to prepare yourself for Mr. Durand's arraignment and trial. But an infinitesimal chance remains to the contrary. If you choose to trust to it, I can only admire your pluck and the great confidence you show in your unfortu-

And with this half-hearted encouragement I was forced to be content, not only for that day, but for many days, when-

> CHAPTER XI The Inspector Astonishes Me

But before I proceed to relate what happened at the end of those two weeks, I must say a word or two in regard to what happened during them. Nothing happened to improve Mr. Durand's position, and nothing openly to compromise Mr. Grey's. Mr. Fairbrother, from whose testimony many of us hoped something would yet be gleaned calculated to give a turn to the suspicion now centered on one man, continued ill in New Mexico: and all that could be learned from him of any importance was contained in a short letter dictated from his hed in which he affirmed that the diamond, when it left him, was in a unique setting procured by himself in France: that he knew of no other jewel similarly mounted, and that if the false gem was set according to his own description, the probab that the imitation stone had been put in place of the real one under his wife's direction and in some workshop in New York, as she was not the woman to take the trouble to send abroad for anything she could get done in this country. The description

we all knew. This was something of a blow me. Public opinion would naturally flect that of the husband, and would require very strong evidence in deed to combat a logical supposition of this kind with one so forced and seemingly extravagant as that upon which my own theory was based. Yet truth often transcends imagination, and having confidence in the inspection integrity, I subdued my impatie for a week, almost for two, when my suspense and rapidly dread of some action being taken cut short by a message from the inspector, followed by his speedy presence in my uncle's house.

We have a little room on our floor, very snug and secluded, and in this room I received him. Seldom have I dreaded a meeting more and sel have I met with greater kindnes consideration. He was so kind that I feared he had only disappointing news to communicate, but his first words reassured me. He said:

"I have come to you on a matter of importance. We have found enough truth in the suppositions you advanced at our last interview to warrant us in the attempt you yourself proposed for the elucidation of this mystery. That this is the most risky and altogether the most unpleasant duty that I have encountered during my several years of service, I am willing to acknowledge to one so sensible and at the same time of so much modesty as yourself, This English gentleman has a reputation which lifts him far above any unworthy suspicion, and were it not for the favorable impression made upon us by Mr. Durand in a long talk we had with him last night, I would sooner resign my place than pursue this matter against him. Success would create a horror on both sides of the water unprecedented during my career, while failure would bring down ridicule on us which would destroy the prestige of the whole force. Do you see the difficulty, Miss Van Arsdale? We cannot even approach this haughty and highly reputable Englishman with questions without calling down on us the wrath of the whole English nation. We must be sure before we make a move, and for us to be sure where the evidence is all circumstantial. I know of no better plan than the one you were pleased to suggest, which, at the time,

I was pleased to call quixotic." Drawing a long breath I surveyed him timidly. Never had I so realized my presumption or experienced such a thrill of joy in my frightened yet elated heart. They believed in Anson's innocence and they trusted me. Insignificant as I was, it was to my exertions this great result was due. As I realized this, I felt my heart swell and my throat close. In despair of speaking I held out my hands, He took them kindly and seemed to be quite "Such a little, trembling, tear-filled

Meeting of Ahavath Zion Sunday Afternoon

WAS ORGANIZED

Formation of an auxiliary Young People's Society to the Ahavath Zion Society was perfected at a meeting held at the synagogue Sunday evening, to be known as the Young Sons and Daughters of Zion. The new society was organized with a membership of forty. The following officers were elected: President, L. Cohen; vice president, Miss Ray Dan; secretary, Dave K. Dan. Other officers will be elected at the meeting on next Sunday. The meeting of the Ahavath Zion Society was one of the most important that has ever been held, thirty-two new members being added to the society, bringing the total membership up to a little over a hundred. Addresses were made at the meeting by N. Mehl, president of the society, M. Dan and S. Konniman.

Report was also received from the committee in charge of the recent state convention here. Meting of the Ahavath Sholom congregation was held Sunday afternoon. It was the regular semi-monthly meeting of the congregation.

HENRY M. FURMAN MAY GO TO SENATE

Former Texas Prominent in Politics

Henry M. Furman, formerly a prominent member of the Fort Worth bar, who left Texas in the early 90s and located in Oklahoma, is a candidate for the United States senate to represent the new state as a Democrat, and those who are familiar with the political situation in that section of the United States that Roger Q. Mills said, "God in His infinite wisdom and mercy placed between Texas and Kansas," say that Mr. Furman has a good show to win the nomination of his party, which means an election, as the new state has proven itself strongly Democratic.

Henry Furman is southern bred and born and has not yet reached the sixtieth mile post in life, and is a man of both remarkable physical and mental vigor. He was born in Spartanburg district, South Carolina, where he received his education, and is intensely southern in all his prejudices, tho he belongs to the younger generation of the old south. He came to Texas when a young man and at once took a prominent position as a lawyer. At Fort Worth, which was his home up to the time he left for Oklahoma, he was regarded as the strongest criminal lawyer in North Texas, if not the strongest in the state. David B. Culberson, father of the senior senator from Texas, was said to be the only man of his day who surpassed Furman as a criminal lawyer. Furman was a powerful speaker, not only in the forum, but on the stump, and in 1886 he was a candidate for congress in the Fort Worth-Dallas district to succeed Olin Wellborn. That was a memorable campaign and had not R. E. Beckham of Fort Worth been brought out by his friends in order to prevent Furman getting the vote of Tarrant county, he would in all probability have been elected. At that time there was a dark lantern party in Fort Worth, made up of disgruntled Democrats, Republicans, and that element that afterward became Populists, and it was feared by orthodox Democrats that Furman was too close to that crowd. He was strong in the county, however-so strong that R. E. Beckham was about the only man who could beat him in Tarrant county. and Beckham was brought out. Beckham carried the county by a good majority and when the county convention met to select delegates Furman withdrew from the race. Notwithstanding his withdrawal Furman came very near getting the nomination. The congressional convention was held at Waxahachie, the candidates before it being Olin Wellborn and Barney Gibbs of Dallas county, and R. E. Beckham of Tarrant. Neither could get the nomination and after several days of deadlock a strong element in the convention wired to Furman to come to Waxahachie. He went down, but while a scheme was just about ripe to spring in his favor, the other fellows got wise, got together and agreed on Jo Abbot of Hillsboro as a compromise candidate, and nominated him before the Furman crowd could put their plan in operation.

If the suspicion that Furman while in Fort Worth had a fellow feeling for anything other than orthodox De mocracy had any foundation, that foundation has been demolished for in his announcement, the candidate for senator enunciates sentiments that would do credit to the most enthusiastic disciple of Thomas Jefferson, even in Texas. He says:

My Fellow Countrymen: I am hot the candidate of any section, of any favored interest or of any combination. I am depending alone upon the support of the people whose only interest in politics comes from their earnest desire to secure the blessings of good government. I do not want and would not have the office unless it comes to me as the unbought expression of the good will and confidence of the intelligent, liberty-loving and noble-hearted people among whom I live and who, I am proud to believe, are my friends. If in the Democratic primaries you should see fit to indorse others, I will bow to your will and loyally support the candidates of your choice. The office that I seek belongs alone to the people. You are to nominate two senators in the primaries. These two senators will afterward be elected by the legislature. According to the terms of the constitution of the United States, the senators must be elected by the legislatures. But in your primaries you can and will settle this contest your votes. Therefore, these places belong to you. They are yours to give or yours to withhold. These are the most important positions within your gift. The duties to be discharged require the highest order of intellect, courage and honor. It is for you to decide who can serve you best. If you see fit to honor me with your support and make me one of your senators, I will not only be proud of it as a manifestation of your confidence and good will, but I will dedicate my life to such a faithful discharge of the duties which it imposes as to hope to merit a continuance of your approval and support.

tempted to resume rehearsals such/a faintness seized me that I was compelled to stop. "My strength returned very slowly and I spent my time in lying down and worryinig till my mother persuaded me to try Grape-Nuts food for my breakfast. I confess I had but little hope that it would do me any good but made up my mind to give it a good tair trial. "I am more than glad that I did. It quickly brought back my lost strength, made by nerves strong and healthy again, and gave me increased health and weight. I always carry it with me now, as I find that some hotels do not keep it. TEXAS LEAGUE MET IN DALLAS SUNDAY | Colds

Number of Teams Has Not Been Decided on

Decision as to whether the Texas League will have six or eight clubs was postponed for two weeks at the meeting of the Texas League held here yesterday. Waco was represented in the meeting and asked for the privilege of being in the league, while of-fers were received from Cleburae and Temple to come in. Ben Shelton, well known in this league, was given the option upon the eighth franchise and allowed two weeks in which to find out whether Temple or Cleburne would offer inducements sufficient to warrant the placing of teams in either town. Temple was given the preference. The meeting of the managers was called at the Oriental hotel at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning by President W. Robbie of San Antonit, with the following present: W. H. Ward and

DeWitt Feegles of Fort Worth, J. W.

Gardner of Dallas, Claude Riley of

Houston, J. H. Mettenheimer of Austin, J. J. Maloney of Dallas and Cockrell of Galveston. W. R. Davidson representing Waco and Joe Hubbard representing Cleburne were present as visitors. At the morning meeting President Robbie reported that he had been in Temple and the people there were willing to go into the league if they ceald be given assurances that they would not be dropped without notice or cause. He said that the guarantee of $500 would probably be put up by local people there upon such promise from the league. W. R. Davidson said that he thought that Temple would give good support to a team if a proper leader in whom the people could have confidence were provided. The name of Ben Shelton, former manager of Cleburne, Corsicana and Temple, was mentioned and a telephone message sent to Shelton at Terrell to come to Dallas. While awaiting his coming the league took a recess. The meeting was again convened after the arrival tf Shelton. In the meantime Jo Hubbard, representing Cleburne, had arrived and made the proposition that the people there would give a park free and put up the $500 necessary if a manager were provided.

assistance was promised him in the way of players if he felt that the offer of one of the towns should be accepted. He was allowed two weeks in which to make his report, the next meeting of the league, which will be held in Waco on Sunday, Jan. 27, if Waco and one other team come into the league, otherwise the meeting will be held elsewhere. Selection of an official ball came up before the meeting and several different makes were submitted. It was decided that the various teams should use the different balls in their practice games and make a report to President Robbie before the opening of the season. The ball receiving the largest number of endorsements will be selected. Complaint was made that the firms supplying balls sent inferior specimens to this section of the country, support to the complaint being given in the fact that Texas League players, when going to other leagues, invariably made better batting averages after leaving. President Robbie stated that he would strictly enforce the provisions of the by-laws, especially the article restricting the salary limit of the various clubs to $1,500 monthly. Fines imposed by umpires will be strictly enforced also and the umpires supported in their actions.

MANY RECRUITED FROM FT. WORTH

This Year Parties Will Visit Smaller Towns

Report from the war department of the number of men enlisted in North Texas during the past year for the army, shows that Fort Worth exceeded all other stations in total number of men accepted. There were ninetysix men accepted from this recruiting office during the year, while Dallag was next, with eighty-eight men. Altogether 210 men were accepted from this section of the state, Fort Worth supplying almost half of them. The same district the year before supplied almost 400 men, a large percentage of whom came from the Dallas of-signal corps, 1. Total, 5. In the latter part of the year the offices at Sherman and Waco were discontinued and an office opened at Paris instead. It is planned during the coming year to send parties thru the state, visiting the different towns in north, east, central and west Texas, as far as Big Springs, and remain there for a short time in order to give opportunities to all parts of the state for enlistment. Greater activity will also be displayed in advertising.

BAILEY GAINS IN SENATE

Looney Introduced a Substitute Resolution

LINES ARE DRAWN

The Motion For Recess Was Defeated by a Vote of

15 to 14

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 14.-Quite a decided turn was taken in the senate this morning on the resolution to investigate Senator Bailey, which resolution had been set for this afternoon before the committee on privileges and election by the introduction by Senator Looney and fourteen other supporters of Senator Bailey of a substitute resolution for one offered last week by Senator Senter. The substitute provides for the appointment of a committee of seven to summon witnesses and hear testimony to "see if the investigation is necessary." Anti-Bailey men opposed the substitute. Senator Looney moved the previous question on the adoption of the substitute. This would cut off debate and brought Senator Senter to his feet. He asked Senator Looney if it was the purpose of the senate of Texas to put on a gag law on such an important matter as this?

Senator Looney replied that he did not want to see the senate go to pieces in its inception by creating factions. He said that everybody in the senate understood the substitute. This brought the anti-Bailey men to their feet protesting against such a procedure. Finally Looney withdrew his motion, which was a partial victory for the anti-Bailey men. Senator Senter then moved that the senate take a recess until 2 o'clock, when he would begin his speech against the substitute, but the senate refused by a vote of 14 to 15, anti-Bailey men voting to recess while the Bailey supporters voted against recessing. Thus the line was drawn as to who the Bailey supporters were. The vote was: For recess, Glasscock Green, Greer, Griggs, Grinnan, Holsey, Masterson, Mayfield, Murray, Paulus, Senter, Skinner Stokes and Veale 14; Chambers, Harbison, Harper, Hudspeth, Kellie, Looney, Meachum, Smith, Stone, Terrell Watson, Willacy 15. Senator Senter began his speech. He said it was the effort of the Bailey

supporters to prevent a full investigation of the charges. He declared that the Bailey organs in Texas have been threatening the legislature that if they investigate Bailey it will be at the peril of all platform demands, but the governor would not be drawn. He was still speaking when the recess until 2 o'clock was taken.

FALL TERM ENDED SATURDAY NIGHT

Happenings at Polytechnic Heights

The farewell reception given Saturday evening at the residence of J. H. Price under the auspices of the Epworth League marked the close of the winter term of Polytechnic College and following a well earned rest, on Sunday, the work of enrollment and matriculation for the spring term began Monday morning.

The outlook for the spring term is exceptionally flattering as the win-ter's term enrollment of 650 students is expected to be exceeded by fifty or more, as many now in correspondence concerning matriculation are not expected to arrive before Tuesday or Wednesday.

The athletic spirit among the boys is becoming more manifest and arrangements are now being made for another cross country run, a feature which was introduced last year by the P. C. boys for the first time in

Following a few days' lull, the basketball team is again hard at practice and the schedule will be played thru, including games with the Texas Baptist University at Dallas, the Decatur Baptist College at Decatur and the Fort Worth University. Interest is also being shown in the southwestern track meet which will be held this spring in St. Louis, and a likely lot of athletes will soon go into training in the hope of capturing some of the points at the meet. The fourth number on the college lyceum lecture course will be given Friday night, the attraction being a lecture by George Wendling. The new faculty is undergoing several changes and will not be ready to be announced

Special to The Telegram NEW YORK, Jan. 14.-There was a further improvement in the stock market at the opening, when practically all the list opened at a substantial advance. While trading in the early part of the session was rather indifferent and fluctuations were around rather narrow margins, tendency was to work values higher and the improvement continued until after the middle of the session. Confidence in American stocks was largely influenced by the addition to the surplus reserve. The important interests which are thought to be behind the rise in stocks gave added strength to St. Paul, and while quotations on The present season has been one of the board were very little higher and prosperity to both the producer and somewhat irregular, myst higher prices the manufacturer of cotton products, are looked for by those who claim to be on the inside. The indications for further improvements from the standpoint of the outside public were good, but the profession would only buy on sharp reactions. The development in Pennsylvania stocks has created a bearish sentiment in the foreign markets on American securities for the moment, which is likely to be the situation until the Pennsylvania situation is more fully explained. NEW YORK COTTON MAKES A DECLINE

Bearish Sentiment Dominated the New York Market

Special to The Telegram NEW YORK, Jan. 14.-Futures opened lower and remained slow and dull, quotations gradually working lower. The spot demand in Liverpool continued unabated. There is very little let up in the movement, and speculation by outside interests is reduced to a minimum. The hope for an immediate rally was only entertained for a brief period by the talent, and longs sold on every bulge. The values since early in the season have held up remarkably well in the face of a large crop yield, which is now quite evident that it will be for present season, second largest in history, the actual running bales will likely fall short of the government estimate at about half a million bales. This will place a shortage of the big crop of 1904 of one and a half mil-lion bales.

The production of good grades this season is limited. The damage by storms early in the season greatly damaged cotton, and choice grades thereby intensified by the demand of spinners. The world's demand now will easily consume 12,000,000 bales at good prices. If the cotton acreage is materially increased the present year and which is now quite likely from present indications, the magnitude of the crop will be used to depress values. The world is not yet ready for a 14,000,000 bale crop, which would have been the yield beyond a doubt had not the season been attended by destructive storms over the cotton belt in September, followed by early October frosts.

The Telegram's Complete Financial And Commercial Report

pointed Bulls

Special to The Telegram NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 14.—The fu-ture market opened 6 to 7 lower, and quotations were gradually marked down for the greater part of the early session. Shorts and exporters were buying on the declines. Spots were steady at %c lower, with a good demand at the decline. The future market was very nervous and unsettled the traders seeming to be afraid of New York. There was some hedged cotton selling at concessions but for the greater part of the day factors were holding out for hard quotations, March was taken by shorts at 10.06 and some New York traders were also buying in this market.

altho the so-called middleman has not reaped the usual benefits. Spot dealers and brokers have also lost heavily. Perhaps one reason for this is that the milis bought heavily early in the season, when the prevailing prices were low, and took on a good supply. The spot dealer, taking a bearish view of the situation, sold all his holdings. It was a fact well known to all operators that there was a large acreage planted, and that the indications were favorable for a very large yield, and even few statisticians and professionals forecast the advance that cotton made later in the season. This all played into the hands of the producers, who have received satisfactory prices for the staple, and the crop has been sold as fast as it was gathered. The spinners looked into the future, and seem to be about the only class of traders who forecast with any degree of accuracy the ultimate conditions, and contracted for large quantities for future delivery, obtaining it at a contract price that saved them much money as the season advanced While this method has been in vogue for years, and in the ordering course of the cotton business is perfectly safe for the dealer to make such a contract, even before the cotton is grown, because he can go into the future market and hedge against adverse movements, yet this is one of the times when such methods departed from the regular order. Early in the season it was not apparent that there would be any trouble to secure all the cotton needed and of the grades desired, as there was indications of a big crop, and the early offerings were of uniformly good grade. Later, however with the advent of destructive storms and unfavorable weather conditions, the staple began to show an inferior grade, and contract grades soon became very scarce. The approach of the end of the season shows no improvement. Exports have been large and American mill takings have been very large, but those who handled the raw cotton have experienced a very unprofitable season. The situation has been demoralizing to both the spot trade and to futures. The fluctuations have all been against the middlemen. Cotton values were down when the mills were buying heavily, and just when the rush for high grades put all values up, farmers were rushing all their holdings on the market, and this was followed by another decline to operate against those who paid high

The bullish sentiment which has attended the wheat market for some time, tho the prices for the past few weeks have been unreasonably low, was reflected in the opening quotations today. when May opened at 76%c, against Saturday's close at 76%c, and July opened at 76%c, against Saturday's closing bid of 76%c. The general conditions have changed very little within the past few weeks. The northwest receipts are still comparatively light, the the movement from local elevators and warehouses has begun. The demand for the export trade is still as strong as ever, but the offerings are yet very light. The world's shipments of wheat for the past week were 8,-627,000 bushels, against the previous week's shipment of 9,312,000 bushels, and 8,025,000 bushels last year. Corn maintained a strong undertone and a very strong position. The world's shipment shows a falling off comparing 3,470,000 against 4,314,000 the previous week and 5,551,000 bushels last year. Oats were firm at the opening at 1/40 up for May. Pit traders were eager to buy at quotations, but trading was comparatively light. Those who have stocks on hand are bulish and confidently expect a higher market before Provisions opened a few points up and maintained a firm tone. The loss

HEAVY RUN AT WEEK'S OPENING

200 Cars of Cattle Received-Prices Uneven and Lower

The week opened with a heavy run of cattle. The run was estimated at 200 cars. Steer supplies were liberal, b mostly grassers; quality fair. Trade opens steady, but rules generally 10c lower. Butcher stock supply liberal; quality medium. Trading was oven on a steady to 10c lower basis. Train of grass cows sell at $3.10. Calf run was made up of good quality light weight vealers. Receipts, 5,000. A liberal run of cattle was expected today and supplies came fully up to expectations. Early receipts were 139 cars of cattle, with about 35 cars back that would arrive before the market closed. Steers composed about half of the supply, the bulk of which were grassers. A few loads of fed cattle arrived but supplies included nothing choice. Grassers were from medium to good killing grades with a liberal number desirable for feeding purposes. On account of liberal runs north the trade opened with a draggy tone. Bids were lower and when sales of killing steers were made the trade ruled generally 10c lower from last week's close.

THE FAMOUS' Stock Reduction and CLEARANCE SALE

Of Men's, Women's, Youths', Misses and Children's Fine Fall and Winter Footwear

WILL BE THE GREATEST SHOE BARGAIN EVENT FORT WORTH HAS EVER KNOWN!

Commencing Monday, January 14, at 9 a. m., we will launch our $25,000 stock reduction and clearance sale! It will afford one and all an opportunity to buy fine fall and winter footwear that has not a parallel for value received in the annals of Fort Worth's Shoe selling!

The unseasonable weather conditions have kept our stocks up to a point where, NOW, radical price cutting must be enforced to REDUCE and CLEAR OUT—to make room for Spring Shoes which will soon be arriving in immense quantities. We've made the prices to do the work. Can you recall the time when you could buy REGULAR $5.00 SHOES FOR $2.95?, or REGULAR $3.00 SHOES FOR $1.65, or $2.50 SHOES FOR $1.45? Just exactly what this $25,000 STOCK REDUCTION AND CLEARING SALE WILL DO; offer you an opportunity to purchase stylish, dependable Footwear at prices that even big merchants usually have to pay for the same qualities! Can you really afford to—AND WILL YOU—ignore such a money-saving chance—one that seldom happens during a lifetime? Our inability to cancel the big orders that we have placed for Spring and Summer Shoes prohibits our discontinuing conducting the foremost Shoe store in Fort Worth after disposing of the great stocks we now have on hand—as previously announced. We shall continue selling the best Shoes for the least money right here at 709 Houston street, Fort Worth, Texas. HEREAFTER THIS BUSINESS WILL BE CONDUCTED ON A STRICTLY CASH BASIS. Money down when we buymoney down when we sell—no losses, no risks, no expensive bother-simply the Shoes exchanged for the eash -will enable us to greatly underself the credit-giving stores. Every pair of Shoes that we shall sell during this sale and in the future—as in the past—will be of that sterling standard in leathers and workmnahsip which has long since established THE FAMOUS as the most trustworthy place for the purchase of reliable, aristocratic

SPRING WEATHER IN FORT WORTH

Many Roses Blooming in the

The present spell of warm weather has started the grass in many places in the city and it is feared by cattle interests here that if the weather continues as it is at present that the grass on the range will start up and be hurt cold weather which may come in

A. J. Long, in speaking of the mat-ter, said that the grass had started in the lower and moist places in many localities and that if cold frosty weather comes now it will be almost sure to injure the grass on the range durng the coming season.

The beginning of winter saw the range in as good shape as it has been for years, the grass being in fine con-dition and also the cattle. Continued warm weather almost all the usual winter season has, however -changed that and mimost everything is about a ath ahead of time, a rather disasrous advance if a norther should set in. Not only is the grass out in many places, but several residents of the have had home-grown roses on table and in the house during the ast week. The rose bushes stopped after the cold weather just

first snots fired into the town were fired from within the fort; some of them at least from the upper galleries of the barracks. The testimony further shows that the troops then came out over the walls, some of them perhaps going thru the gate, and advanced a distance of 300 yards or thereabouts into the During this advance they shot into two hotels and into nine or ten other Three of the private houses into which they fired contained women and children. They deliberately killed Frank Natus, the bartender, shooting him down from a distance of about fifteen yards. They shot at a man and woman, Mr. and Mrs. Odin, and their little boy, as they stood in the window of the Miller hotel, the bullet going less than two inches from the head of the woman. They shot down the lieutenant of police, who was on horseback, killing his horse and wounding him so that his arm had to be amputated. They attempted to kill the two policemen who were his companions shooting one thru the hat. They shot at least eight bullets into the Cowen house, putting out a lighted lamp on the dining room table. Mrs. Cowen and her five children were in the house; they at once threw themselves prone on the floor and were not hit. They fired into the Starck house, the bullets going thru the mosquito bar of a bed from eighteen to twenty yond possibility of honest question. The careful examination of Mr. Purdy, assistant to the attorney general, resulted in merely strengthening the reports already made by the regular army authorities. The shooting, it appears, ocupied about ten minutes althout may have been some minutes more or less. It is out of the question that the fifteen or twenty men engaged in the assault could have gathered behind the wall of the fort, begun firing, some of them on the porches of the barracks, gone out into the town, fired in the rhood of 200 shots in the town, and then returned—the total time occupled from the time of the first shot to the time of their return being somewhere in the neighborhood of ten minutes-without many of their comrades knowing what they had done. I may add that these full details as established by the additional evidence taken since I last communicated with the senate make it likely that there were few if any soldiers dismissed who could have been ignorant of what occurred It is well nigh impossible that any of the non-commissioned officers who were at the barracks should not have

"Stands Pat" on Release of Troops The additional evidence thus taken thus renders it in my opinion impossible to question the conclusions upon which my order was based. I have gone most carefully over every issue of law and fact that has been raised, I am now satisfied that the effect of my order dismissing these men without honor was not to bar them from all civil employment under the government, and, therefore, that this part of the order which consisted of a declaration of this effect was lacking in validity, and I have directed that such portion be revoked. As to the rest of the order, dismissing the individuals in question without honor, and declaring the effect of such discharge under the law and regulations to be a bar to their future re-enlistment either in the army or the navy, there is no doubt of my constitutional and legal power.

The order was within my discretion, under the constitution and the laws and cannot be reviewed or reversed save by another executive order. The facts did not merely warrant the action I took-they rendered such action imperative unless I was to prove false to my sworn duty.

If anyone of the men discharged nereafter shows to my satisfaction that he is clear of guilt, or of shielding the guilty, I will take what action is warranted; but the circumstances I have above detailed must certainly put upon any such man the burden of thus clear-THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

RAILROAD SUITS CALL FOR MONEY

Representative Cox Will Ask Appropriation

Special to The Telegram AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 14.—Jefferson Davis Cox, flotorial representative from Dallas and Rockwall counties, will make a fight on the floor of the house for an appropriation to secure additional help for the railroad commission to defend the state's interest in the railroad injunction suits now pending in the federal court of the Western district of Texas. Mr. Cox wants an appropriation of five thousand dollars and both Commissioners Colquitt and Storey insist that it is absolutely needed unless the legislature wants to tie the hands of the state's agents. The matter at issue is the reduction of the passenger fare on the Houston and Texas Central railroad, which, of course, interests every railroad in the state. The reduction in fare was first favored by Commission. er Mayfield and endorsed by Commissioner Colquitt. Judge Storey, the third member of the commission, was not entirely in sympathy with the movement. Commissioner Colquitt will probably go before the committee on appropriations and fight thru the measure. He states that it will be impossible to carry on the suit unless money is forthcoming.

Weighing of Mail to Begin on February 1

Mail weighing in the Seventa division railway mail service will begin on Feb. 1 and wil continue for about two months thereafter. This will effect the fast mail train of the Frisco-Katy combination, which leaves St. Louis at 2:30 a. m. The Frisco has been carrying the mail on this train free of charge, as there has been no weighing since it was put on.

There is however, no danger of the train being taken off, as is reported, if the weighing does not prove satisfactory, as there is no doubt but that it will show a high enough amount to pay the road to continue the train. Reports have been circulated that the weighing was established especially for the train and that hitherto the train has been an xperiment.
