JAMAICA DEVASTATED BY EARTHQUAKE AND FIRE

RELIEF WORK UNDER WAY

By Associated Press.
LONDON, Jan. 16.—Cable communication has been restored within eight miles of Kingston. The latest information from Kingston said the fire was under control and the number of West Indian soldiers killed in the camp hospital was forty instead of thirty as previously reported. The colonial office this morning is besieged with inquiries asking for news of relatives or friends in Jamaica, but the officials have nothing further to communicate for the present, except that the official colonial office has every reason to believe the fatalities among Europeans at Kingston are light. The colonial office has instructed the government authorities in Jamaica to take all necessary steps to relieve the distress among the sufferers and the admiralty has ordered the cruiser Brilliant now at Bermuda and the cruiser Indefatigable at present at Trinidad to proceed forthwith to Jamaica and assist in relief work. They are both vessels of 3,600 tons and their combined crews amount to 650 men, which will enable them to land strong detachments for police duty in the devastated city.

Alarming Report at Boston

By Associated Press.
BOSTON, Jan. 16.—The United Fruit Company of this city received a cablegram from Jamaica today stating that several hundred persons were killed in Kingston. The message follows: "Merchants here and in Colon, have business relations with merchants in Kingston. The earthquake and fire, completely destroyed our office, completely destroyed by earthquake and fire. Several hundred killed. Myrtle bank, Constantine Springs hotel practically destroyed. The steamer Dewey sailed from this city for Jamaica today with a miscellaneous cargo of freight."

People Were Panic Stricken

People rushed wildly about following the first great tremor which lasted several minutes and succeeding shocks which came quickly but which were of lesser force, added to their terror. The crash of toppling houses added to the general fright and it was some time before the people recovered and set to work to rescue the unfortunate who had been caught in collapsed buildings. The general hospital was not seriously damaged by the earthquake and to that place the injured were taken as fast as they were recovered.

Notes of the Disaster

Sir James Sweetenham, governor of Jamaica, was exempt in taking measures to stop panic and disorder. He was assisted by Sir Alfred Jones, a visitor. Many persons made their way to the beach following the disaster, but their flight was orderly. The fire was under control late in the night. It was still burning in places along the coast, but the danger of its spreading was believed to be over. The Myrtle Bank hotel is a ruin as is the British military station and the camp hospital, where thirty colored soldiers were killed.

Anxiety Felt in Panama

PANAMA, Jan. 16.—Great anxiety attending the Jamaican earthquake is felt here. So far only meager reports have been received as cable communication with Jamaica is interrupted. Many persons here and in Colon, have business relations with merchants in Kingston.

EXCLUSION OF JAPANESE WOULD BE MODUM ACT

Special to The Telegram.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—"No congress could pass a Japanese exclusion act and no President would sign it, because it would be a hoodlum act," said David Starr Jordan, president of the Stanford university, addressing a meeting at Equity hall last night of socialists, by whom he had been invited to speak on the "Japanese problem." Jordan quoted President Roosevelt as saying that as a general rule, "I would for a nation to be a gentlemanly one in the immigration troubles that are in lawlessness, nor yet in the meetings denouncing the Japanese as a nation because they did not do the same Sunday school we attend." "It is all nonsense," he said, "that we should have to fight with Japan to see that she shall have the mastery of the Pacific. That country will have the mastery of the Pacific, which has the best goods in the world, and for the cheapest prices. The good will of Japan is the best asset a coast has and it is always best to be beaten in trade by hitting the customer over the head." He said that he believed Japan was sincerely desiring to stem the unskilled immigration to this country.

CORPSE CREMATED

By Associated Press.
RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 16.—The Seaboard Air Line "Florida Special," northbound, ran into an open switch one mile north of Raleigh early today. The boiler of the locomotive exploded and the train caught fire from a gas-line lamp. There were no fatalities. The body of John C. Durbin of Harrisburg, Pa., which was in the baggage car, was cremated.

EXPLOSION KILLS FIVE TRAIN MEN

Freight Engine Blows Up With Terrible Result

By Associated Press.
MORRISTOWN, Pa., Jan. 16.—The boiler of a Philadelphia and Reading freight engine exploded at Bridgeport, near here, today, killing five train men. All those killed reside at Allentown, Pa. The engineer of the train, J. D. Black, escaped. He was stunned by the explosion, but walked to Bridgeport station and boarded a train for Reading, where he said he would report the accident. The train came from Allentown and was bound for Philadelphia. The explosion is thought to have been due to low water in the boiler. All the men killed were on the engine. The dead are: CHARLES STEIN, conductor. JOHN NOBLECK, fireman. ROY SCHEIDER, brakeman. ELMER KANE, brakeman. UNKNOWN MAN in charge of car of live stock.

Large Dwelling Carried Away

Bursting of Dam Causes Disastrous Rise in River

By Associated Press.
PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 16.—Three hundred feet of the west bank of the Allegheny river at Springdale, Pa., washed away during the night as a result of the bursting of the government dam yesterday afternoon and the erosion continues. Today a large frame dwelling known as the Forniff house was carried down the river. Nine other dwellings and the Heidenkamp Mirror Company's plant are in imminent danger.

IS AGAIN ACTIVE

Manuel Silveira, Who Disappeared from Cuba, Well Up in World

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Manuel Silveira, formerly the Havana agent for J. M. Ceballos & Co. of this city, who left Cuba suddenly last October for Venezuela, according to the latest reports from Caracas, is active in business and is planning large enterprises. It is said that he has purchased a large ranch in the state of Guayana, having a herd of over fifteen thousand head of cattle. Large refrigerating plants have already been installed in Puerto Cabello, the idea being to ship meat from that port to England and the United States. Another enterprise in which Silveira is the chief promoter is the development of the San Bernardino coffee plantations. The advice also state that Silveira may be appointed to a high government office and that he is well received by society in the Venezuelan capital.

BOMB EXPLOSION

Midnight Blaze in St. Petersburg Bank Causes Fatalities

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A St. Petersburg dispatch published here today says the Municipal Credit Company's bank burst into flames at midnight after a loud explosion in the interior and that some persons are known to have been killed. Assassins Was Well Connected

By Associated Press.
ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 16.—Consternation has been caused in government circles by the discovery that the assassin of General von der Lamsitz was a small attorney belonging to a prominent personage connected with the government and a member of an aristocratic family.

DUCHESS OF MANCHESTER. This is a picture of the Duchess of Manchester, whose father, Eugene Zimmerman, the Cincinnati railroad man, declares is a living proof of the fallacy of the idea that the marriage of American girls with titled Englishmen is necessarily doomed to failure. He declares that his daughter is perfectly happy.

MESSAGE OF CAMPBELL

Recommends an Amendment to Anti-trust Law WANTS NEW LAWS Governor Says Small Taxpayer Does Not Get Justice and Suggests New Laws

Special to The Telegram.
AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 16.—Governor Campbell today submitted his message to the legislature. The message covers every scope of legislation which is to come up for consideration during this session of the legislature. The governor said among other things in the message: To the Senate and House of Representatives: Honest government, fidelity to the constitution and the lasting welfare of the state should be the aim of all. Upon those who value that freedom which is the birthright of every citizen, the duties and obligations of official station weigh most heavily. In the commission sought and accepted by the public servant are involved the responsibilities he voluntarily assumed, and the motives actuating him, as well as the measure of his patriotism, are determined by his conduct. The members of the present legislature and executive have been vested with well defined political power, this power comes by grant from the people and they have the right to expect that it will be exercised for their benefit and in obedience to their ascertained will. The will of the people is ascertained thru expression given at the ballot box and by the platform demonstrations of the political party entrusted with the administration of the affairs of government. The entire state administration and all members of the legislature with few exceptions were elected upon a platform announcing principles and containing pledges that are of binding force with every official worthy of a place in the Democratic household.

NEWS OF QUAKE VIA GALVESTON

Mexican Cable, The Working Badly Gives Facts

Special to The Telegram.
GALVESTON, Texas, Jan. 16.—The Mexican cable here appears to be working badly with direct connection with Kingston via Colon. The break is doubtless caused by the quake which caused a tremendous loss of life. It is reported that during the night an operator attempted to get news of the disaster thru. It was hard to make out the words coming "Fire, City between breaks. It is stated there are great crevices in the mountains in the vicinity of Kingston. Large hotels crumbled with the awfulness of the vibrations. Orange groves and coffee plantations were wrecked by the terrible of the quake. It is thought shipping suffered in but little, and out of the tidal wave following the quake of the stocks similar to that in San Francisco. It is further stated that the inhabitants fled to the hills beyond. Nothing definite about the loss is obtainable from this source as yet.

BERNHARDT MAY RETIRE BECAUSE OF ILLNESS

German Chancellor to Take Part in Electoral Campaign

By Associated Press.
BERLIN, Jan. 16.—Prince von Buelow, the German chancellor, it is stated here, has decided to take part in the election campaign. This is a step against all tradition and is brought about, it is said, because of the unfavorable signs so far as the government is concerned, in the election prospects. The chancellor is expected to take the stump on Saturday and will appear in behalf of the imperial government against that of the socialists and other opposition parties. The speech will be made to a select audience at a banquet, but it will be broadcast throughout the country. The move is supposed to have been inspired by the kaiser.

STOCK SUFFERING ON RANGE

By Associated Press.
GLENDIVE, Mont., Jan. 16.—The range conditions in the northern portion of Montana are said to be the worst in the history of the country. The range is covered with snow from a depth of ten to thirty feet. Stock in that country that are not supplied with food and shelter will be a total loss. Sheepmen will suffer for the heavy loss of their range cattle can be driven out to some extent. The temperature is about 30 degrees below zero.

MADE THREE BETS AND WON $1,950

Montana Telegraph Operator Made Big Killing

By Associated Press.
GREAT FALLS, Mont., Jan. 16.—After winning $2,000 in a local pool room on the results of the races at Oakland and Ascut, William Molden, a telegraph operator in the employ of the Postal Telegraph Company, was yesterday arrested on the charge of sending false messages. The pool room management alleges he was a party to a successful wire-tapping scheme. Molden commenced betting with $40 and made three bets which netted him $1,950. It was later learned by the manager of the pool room that false returns had been received over the wire, as the two horses on which Molden cashed his bets were not winners on the day's card. When arrested Molden declared he had done the betting for another man, a stranger, to whom he turned over the winnings and from whom he received $100 for his services. He was unable to describe this man. No other arrests have been made.

AERIAL CONGRESS

High Flyers Are Arranging For Big Celebration at Jamestown

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The details of the aeronautic congress to be held at the Jamestown exposition this summer were formulated at the meeting of the committee of aeronauts held last evening. The exhibition of models and other aerial paraphernalia, which is to be the most extensive ever shown will be placed in a separate building devoted exclusively to the subject, and will be in charge of Israel Ludlow. A committee of five, composed of Captain Homer W. Hedges, chairman; E. P. Thomas, A. M. Herring, Leo Stevens and E. Bronson, was appointed to make arrangements for the building. The question of racing was discussed and it was determined to hold a number of races of every conceivable variety in addition to other prize competitions in lines incidental to the sport.

North American Commercial Company Denies Truth of Charges

By Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 16.—At the office of the North American Commercial Company positive denial is made of charges preferred in Washington by Professor Elliott to the effect that the San Francisco company violated its lease by engaging in pelagic sealing in Alaskan waters. "The charge is false," said President H. E. Taylor. "The company never engaged in pelagic sealing. We sold our lease after competitive bidding and we adhered strictly to its terms. Only surplus male seals were killed, and this was done under the supervision of the Federal authorities."

JOHN MITCHELL A GREAT LEADER OF WORKING MEN

Sketch of Man at Head of the American Mine Workers

Large Following Hundreds of Thousands of Men Ready to Lay Down Picks at Word From Him

Special to The Telegram.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 16.—No man in the entire country has as large a single-minded following as John Mitchell, who will be re-elected president of the United Mine Workers of America by the convention now in session here. This little, quiet, soberly-clad man, for many years a coal miner, is one of America's most powerful potentates. The fuel supply of the country is at his mercy. A word from him and practically every coal miner of the country would lay down his pick and quit work. It is his greatest claim to honor that he has never abused the power conferred upon him by his fellow miners. Personally Mitchell is the most modest and unassuming of men. He has the subdued, studious air of a priest and all the patience of a philosopher. He has won and keeps the unchanging confidence of more than a quarter of a million of men, representing every race and tongue and every phase of religious and political belief—Irish Catholics, French Protestants, Greek Catholics, Italian anarchists, Republicans, Democrats—all are embraced in the greatest and most cosmopolitan of trade unions. Despite their differences, all agree upon one thing—that John Mitchell is the greatest leader they have ever had or are likely to have. Mitchell was not reared in luxury, and scarcely knows the meaning of the word. His father died while he was yet an infant, and his mother was killed—perhaps murdered—is the word—in one of those horrible mine accidents which the son is laboring so earnestly to prevent. She is an educated woman, and Mitchell has acquired—of the extent of his learning surpasses that of many university graduates—has been by the study of the Bible and is also of lowly birth, a child of commoners, and at eight years of age was the little mother of the smaller children of the family. She is an assuming as her husband and is rearing her children in the home atmosphere of a mining town, where the Mitchell was an unpretentious frame house. Last year when the miners' strike in the coal fields of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio, he was in the midst of his studies at the University of Pennsylvania. He is a man of great power, and his reports of the officials to the present convention show that the miners have a large and powerful following. Mitchell now has more than 100,000 members. One of these is Frank Robbins, manager of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, which operates large mines in western Pennsylvania and employs over 25,000 men. During the joint conference between the miners and operators last year, when war or peace depended upon the decision Robbins sided with the miners and declared their demands for an increase were just and right. For this he was ostracized by the other operators some of whom declared he would be ruined with the miners' union. Despite all threats and pleadings Robbins paid the advance asked and his mine continued in operation. That his "Robbins' policy" was successful and proved that it pays to accede to reasonable demands.

CURE TRADING

War Brewing Between the Stock and Produce Exchanges

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The Tribune today says that many speakers in the financial district have been expecting a declaration of war between the stock exchange and the produce exchange ever since the produce exchange's board of managers reported at the beginning of this month in favor of trading in mining and industrial stocks which are not on the stock exchange list and which have been trading extensively on the Broad street curb. The special committee appointed by the produce exchange to formulate rules for an increase of trading will make its report Feb. 1, but it is expected that the stocks to be recommended will embrace nearly all of those recognized on the curb. In commenting on this a high official of the stock exchange is quoted as saying: "If the produce exchange plan contemplated trading in practically all curb stocks, the stock exchange will cut off its produce exchange connections and force its members to resign as produce exchange members. If that does not suffice, we will move the curb to the stock exchange floor, cutting out the trading in worthless stocks. At present nine-tenths of the curb trading is for the benefit of stock exchange firms."

BETTER SERVICE

A Freight Car Clearing House Not a Pool Arranged

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Local officials of the American Railway Association said yesterday that the reports from Chicago that many of the large railroad systems of the country had agreed to a pooling arrangement for all their freight cars was premature. What is in contemplation, it was said, was the establishment of a freight car clearing house, with the object of increasing the efficiency of the car service, primarily by a more satisfactory distribution of freight cars to relieve the costly freight congestion. The railroads entering Chicago have already consented to the establishment of an experimental clearing house of this kind, but it is now under way to extend the adoption of this system much beyond the Chicago territory, to which it was originally intended to restrict it.

RESOLUTION ATTACKED

Members Rise to Personal Privilege

TALK OF PAPERS

McGregor Spoke in Support of the Duncan Resolution

Wednesday

Special to The Telegram.
AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 16.—The house of representatives was called to order at 10:30 o'clock and a number of routine matters were attended to before members of the house began to discuss the resolution to reports that have been published in Texas newspapers.

Representative Terrell of McLennan rose to a question of personal privilege and took exception to an article published in a Waco afternoon paper, saying he had not attempted to filibuster. He said that he desired to keep his record straight and that in six years not a vote of his had ever been questioned in his home county. He disclaimed any desire to delay matters in the house. Referring to the Bailey resolutions, Mr. Terrell said that he preferred the Duncan resolution to that of Kennedy.

Kennedy here raised the point that the speaker was out of order. Continuing Terrell said he wished the article in question and also the editorial in the Waco Times-Herald of recent date printed in the Journal. Kennedy then referred to a question of personal privilege and said that the reports printed in various papers that friends of Bailey were trying to smother the investigation were deliberate falsehoods.

Heall rose to a question of personal privilege and objected to newspaper reports regarding his part of the alleged denial of proceedings in the house. He said he had been grossly misrepresented and that he did not propose to be put in the attitude of an obstructionist. He said he was in favor of a fair, full and complete investigation of Mr. Bailey.

Representative Terrell of Cherokee rose to a question of personal privilege and said that the members of the house had no right to make a motion after the previous question had been called for and objected to the previous action of the house.

The Duncan resolution, providing for an investigation of Senator Bailey was called up at 11:25, and McGregor spoke in its support. Referring to the substitute Kennedy resolution he said that it conferred on the investigating committee no power to issue subpoenas, that the committee could only investigate such witnesses as presented themselves voluntarily to the committee.

Referring to the previous action of the members in criticizing the newspapers, he said he did not know why the members of the house should know the old adage, "By their works ye shall know them."

Referring again to the Kennedy resolution he said it remained him of the old jingle:

"Mother may I go out to swim?"
"Yes, if you don't get your clothes on a hickory limb,
But don't go near the water."

He denied that the Duncan resolution was a trial of the president. He said it was an investigation. "It is a grand jury hearing, with the grand jury stripped of its secret," he said.

Hunting, he said the charges against the attorney general were that he was "the receiver of stolen papers, that he had in his possession stolen documents." He is entitled to a defense before this body and the people of Texas. He denied that the shadow of Governor Hogg, the cheating in the galleries was ordered stopped by the chair.

McGregor said that Hogg stood ever in the calcium light of public opinion, and paid a tribute to Campbell.

Hamilton of Hunt asked if the courts of Texas permit the legislature to order the state and country to get evidence.

McGregor replied that the fundamental principle of law is that a committee with designated power could not go beyond that power and he favored a resolution that would give full power to sift the Bailey and Davidson matter to the bottom.

Frequently Interrupted
McGregor was frequently interrupted and objected, saying that the opposition was mincing and wanted to delay matters.

Love of Williamson was denied the question of personal privilege, while McGregor was talking.

Continuing McGregor asserted that if the truth were buried now it would surely be unearthed again in a few months or in a few years. He said the opposition got behind the federal constitution regarding election of a senator he would call attention to the oath of office which the senator swears to support the constitution. He said that he would not get behind the alleged issue that he was trying to defeat a democratic candidate.

He said the legislators could not go back to their constituents without an investigation.

"It is not legally and morally wrong," he said, "but wrong in fact when a man counts the cost when he is at stake." He said the Duncan resolution as adopted would honorate the legislature of trying to whitewash any one.

"Somebody is wrong in this matter," he said. "The attorney general makes one statement and your senator makes another in conflict. It is for you to decide which is right." He said that Wolfe of Grayson had the floor when the house took a recess for ten minutes shortly after noon.

House Adjourned
At 12:30 o'clock the house adjourned until 1:30 o'clock. The Duncan resolution that the attorney general required a half hour to prepare his papers.

Immediately after the opening of the house this morning a message was introduced providing for the teaching of agriculture in the public schools. Mark of Hamilton, was sworn in as reading clerk. The petition of 1,800 voters of Milan county against the re-election of Bailey was read at the request of Representative Duggan.

An invitation of the Daughters of Confederacy of Austin to participate in the celebration of the anniversary of the birth of General Robert E. Lee was read and accepted.

During the morning session of the house a bill was introduced by Wilson providing for the removal of blacklisting employees. In both the house and the senate a bill was introduced making attempted criminal assault a capital punishment.

In the senate today a resolution calling on the attorney general to exhibit to the senate all papers in his possession which are continuous with the resolution to exhibit papers and documents to the press. As adopted the resolution provides that all the senators may see the papers on application.

Senator Stanner said that he wanted to ask a question of personal privilege denied the report in certain papers that he was under the influence of liquor when he made the speech in the senate last Monday afternoon.

Senator Looney made a strong speech on the repeated attacks being made on Bailey. He also declared that in the proposed investigation he did not propose to whitewash the matter. He declared that God in heaven has decreed that Bailey will be re-elected.

Meeting of Committee
Immediately after the senate adjourned the senate investigation committee on the Bailey-Davidson matter met, Senator Stanner said that he wanted to ask a question of personal privilege denied the report in certain papers that he was under the influence of liquor when he made the speech in the senate last Monday afternoon.

Continuing Terrell said he wished the article in question and also the editorial in the Waco Times-Herald of recent date printed in the Journal. Kennedy then referred to a question of personal privilege and said that the reports printed in various papers that friends of Bailey were trying to smother the investigation were deliberate falsehoods.

Referring to the Bailey resolutions, Mr. Terrell said that he preferred the Duncan resolution to that of Kennedy.

Kennedy here raised the point that the speaker was out of order. Continuing Terrell said he wished the article in question and also the editorial in the Waco Times-Herald of recent date printed in the Journal. Kennedy then referred to a question of personal privilege and said that the reports printed in various papers that friends of Bailey were trying to smother the investigation were deliberate falsehoods.

Heall rose to a question of personal privilege and objected to newspaper reports regarding his part of the alleged denial of proceedings in the house. He said he had been grossly misrepresented and that he did not propose to be put in the attitude of an obstructionist. He said he was in favor of a fair, full and complete investigation of Mr. Bailey.

Representative Terrell of Cherokee rose to a question of personal privilege and said that the members of the house had no right to make a motion after the previous question had been called for and objected to the previous action of the house.

The Duncan resolution, providing for an investigation of Senator Bailey was called up at 11:25, and McGregor spoke in its support. Referring to the substitute Kennedy resolution he said that it conferred on the investigating committee no power to issue subpoenas, that the committee could only investigate such witnesses as presented themselves voluntarily to the committee.

Referring to the previous action of the members in criticizing the newspapers, he said he did not know why the members of the house should know the old adage, "By their works ye shall know them."

Referring again to the Kennedy resolution he said it remained him of the old jingle:

"Mother may I go out to swim?"
"Yes, if you don't get your clothes on a hickory limb,
But don't go near the water."

He denied that the Duncan resolution was a trial of the president. He said it was an investigation. "It is a grand jury hearing, with the grand jury stripped of its secret," he said.

Hunting, he said the charges against the attorney general were that he was "the receiver of stolen papers, that he had in his possession stolen documents." He is entitled to a defense before this body and the people of Texas. He denied that the shadow of Governor Hogg, the cheating in the galleries was ordered stopped by the chair.

McGregor said that Hogg stood ever in the calcium light of public opinion, and paid a tribute to Campbell.

Hamilton of Hunt asked if the courts of Texas permit the legislature to order the state and country to get evidence.

McGregor replied that the fundamental principle of law is that a committee with designated power could not go beyond that power and he favored a resolution that would give full power to sift the Bailey and Davidson matter to the bottom.

Frequently Interrupted
McGregor was frequently interrupted and objected, saying that the opposition was mincing and wanted to delay matters.

Love of Williamson was denied the question of personal privilege, while McGregor was talking.

Continuing McGregor asserted that if the truth were buried now it would surely be unearthed again in a few months or in a few years. He said the opposition got behind the federal constitution regarding election of a senator he would call attention to the oath of office which the senator swears to support the constitution. He said that he would not get behind the alleged issue that he was trying to defeat a democratic candidate.

He said the legislators could not go back to their constituents without an investigation.

"It is not legally and morally wrong," he said, "but wrong in fact when a man counts the cost when he is at stake." He said the Duncan resolution as adopted would honorate the legislature of trying to whitewash any one.

"Somebody is wrong in this matter," he said. "The attorney general makes one statement and your senator makes another in conflict. It is for you to decide which is right." He said that Wolfe of Grayson had the floor when the house took a recess for ten minutes shortly after noon.

House Adjourned
At 12:30 o'clock the house adjourned until 1:30 o'clock. The Duncan resolution that the attorney general required a half hour to prepare his papers.

Immediately after the opening of the house this morning a message was introduced providing for the teaching of agriculture in the public schools. Mark of Hamilton, was sworn in as reading clerk. The petition of 1,800 voters of Milan county against the re-election of Bailey was read at the request of Representative Duggan.

An invitation of the Daughters of Confederacy of Austin to participate in the celebration of the anniversary of the birth of General Robert E. Lee was read and accepted.

During the morning session of the house a bill was introduced by Wilson providing for the removal of blacklisting employees. In both the house and the senate a bill was introduced making attempted criminal assault a capital punishment.

In the senate today a resolution calling on the attorney general to exhibit to the senate all papers in his possession which are continuous with the resolution to exhibit papers and documents to the press. As adopted the resolution provides that all the senators may see the papers on application.

Senator Stanner said that he wanted to ask a question of personal privilege denied the report in certain papers that he was under the influence of liquor when he made the speech in the senate last Monday afternoon.

Senator Looney made a strong speech on the repeated attacks being made on Bailey. He also declared that in the proposed investigation he did not propose to whitewash the matter. He declared that God in heaven has decreed that Bailey will be re-elected.

Meeting of Committee
Immediately after the senate adjourned the senate investigation committee on the Bailey-Davidson matter met, Senator Stanner said that he wanted to ask a question of personal privilege denied the report in certain papers that he was under the influence of liquor when he made the speech in the senate last Monday afternoon.

Continuing Terrell said he wished the article in question and also the editorial in the Waco Times-Herald of recent date printed in the Journal. Kennedy then referred to a question of personal privilege and said that the reports printed in various papers that friends of Bailey were trying to smother the investigation were deliberate falsehoods.

Heall rose to a question of personal privilege and objected to newspaper reports regarding his part of the alleged denial of proceedings in the house. ## NEXT MEETING IS SET FOR AUSTIN

Assessors Plan Permanent Organization

MEET NEXT DECEMBER

Present Plans of Assessing Are Discussed and a Number of New Laws Suggested

At the session Wednesday afternoon the tax assessors decided to hold the next meeting on the second Monday in December of this year at Austin, Texas. The proceedings of the tax assessors Wednesday morning began with an address on assessments by Mr. Francis of Austin. It was largely a plea for individuality in assessments, one plea being "Do your full duty, for you are not going to be turned down for doing what is right."

Mr. Tilley told of the assessment plans of Tarrant county, giving full details of the manner of working the city property, and then took up the matter of assessments in the separate school tax district, following something of the plan as to the city, so all of the property in the special district will be properly appraised.

President White thought if the home was assessed at 40 per cent, for instance, it was a fair proportion of the burden of taxation even if other property was valued at two-thirds value. He favored the assessment of national banks at $1 for every dollar, capital and all.

Mr. De Wise of Lamar asked: "If we agree on a rate of assessment won't we be subject to criticism?"

Mr. Francis answered that "we are criticized anyway and much of that criticism comes from senators and representatives."

Mr. Hooth of Bexar county favored a state law levying a special small tax money loaned out, say 1 per cent. It would bring in much revenue, in his opinion.

List of Patrons
One assessor stated he had been helped in the matter of getting at special school district assessments by getting a list of the school patrons. It was stated by several that some of the fine black lands in the center of the state, owned by the state, should be rendered at $10 and $15 an acre.

The Stephens county assessor said the minimum in his county was $2 an acre and to objections to that he said no one had a right to own land that was not worth $2 an acre. After nearly two hours given over to discussion, Mr. Campbell of Stephens moved that they assess all property at 100 cents on the $1. Many favored that, but held it was impossible.

Several objected to going on record for the reason that it would imply they had not been doing their duty.

The Stephens county man's motion was tabled.

The committee on resolutions reported.

The resolutions favor changes in the tax laws to secure full rendition of money, notes or evidences of value for property, oppose raising the tax rate above 16 2-3 cents, and they will try to raise valuations so the state will get the same revenue, favoring compensation of 1 cent on each $10 of valuation for levying school tax. This was rejected.

Favoring an additional clause in notes that they are rendered for taxation, or failing, that the note should not be collectible thru the courts.

A resolution asking the legislature to amend the law so as to require the people to meet the assessors at stated places to facilitate taxation caused a division, but carried by 17 to 15.

A resolution was offered that the fees for assessing common school district taxes be donated to the school funds was defeated.

The Tarrant county assessment inventories was commended and the comptroller's office requested to furnish them to the assessors.

Stuart Francis of Travis was elected a committee to present the subject matter of the resolutions to the legislature and the assessors were requested to urge that each of their representatives and senators assist as much as possible to make the amendments to the laws.

A recess was taken to 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The state tax assessors in the afternoon of Tuesday formed the Tax Assessors' Association of Texas and adopted a constitution and by-laws.

A resolution was adopted providing for the reimbursement of Mr. White for the expenses incurred in bringing about the organization.

After an experience meeting the election of officers was held. Charles B. White of Fannin county was elected president, H. H. Jones, Tarrant president, and Lee Tilley of Tarrant elected secretary. B. F. Teague of the comptroller's department was elected an honorary member.

EVERY FARMER MAY HAVE STILL

Denatured Alcohol Can Be Produced on Any Homestead

Special to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 16.—The denatured alcohol bill is now in force. Under its provisions every farmer on the land can start his own still and convert the waste-products of his farm into alcohol without incurring the hostilities of the United States internal revenue officers.

It is evident that so far as agriculture is concerned the chief and perhaps only direct interest in the act is in respect of the materials which are to be used in the manufacture of industrial alcohol.

When the bill was under consideration a western senator said that he was opposed to the measure unless any farmer could have a still on his place assured that any farmer could. It became apparent, however, that the bill was not favorable to the operation of stills by farmers, partly because it would be unprofitable to produce less than ten proof gallons a day and partly because of the difficulty of meeting the regulations of the internal revenue service.

To overcome the objection was the object of the bill recently introduced by Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota. He believes that any farmer or number of farmers can distill their waste products into alcohol and so supply themselves with light, fuel and power at a low price and sell the surplus.

The use of denatured alcohol has reached large proportions in European countries and in Greece, according to a recent bulletin issued by the government, the revenues of that government are falling from the sale of petroleum to such an extent because of the use of alcohol that it is proposed to provide revenue to meet the war debt.

MANY ATTEND THE GOVERNOR'S BALL

Some Up State Legislators Wore Dress Suits

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 16.—Perhaps never before in the history of Texas was the crowd of visitors at an inaugural ball so great as they were last night at the capitol of Texas. The great building was brilliantly illuminated and many distinguished men and women from all parts of the Lone Star state added additional brilliancy to the occasion by their wit and personalities.

Whisper it softly, but there were a number of the forks of the creek statesmen who wore dress suits! Horr— To think of one of these assimilated statesmen meeting one of his constituents in that garb. One of the Texas representatives confidentially asked The Telegram correspondent not to mention his attire in writing up the costumes, "for if you did," he said, "my people out home would throw me in the creek."

There were private and public dress suits there by the score and the fellow who wore a wool hat and a number of broughams felt ill at ease until he had a chance to meet Governor Campbell. The new governor is a politician as everyone knows by this time. He remembers names and he says the right thing to put you at your ease and make you feel important.

Sam McMeans, the governor's partner in the practice of law, was a conspicuous figure on the ball room floor. Mr. Gore, now of Waco, and one of Campbell's managers, enjoyed the dancing and he met about as many ladies as the next man. Mr. Gore now wears glasses, which give him a distinguished appearance.

Trav. Dashiels, the new secretary of state, would make an impression any place he found it to his inclination to go. His long auburn hair, his portly presence and his altogether serious aspect, made him a noticeable figure on the ball room floor. Nathan Adams is in Austin and he, too, is enjoying the inaugural ceremonies.

According to a reputable Austinite there are forty carriages of all kinds in Austin. Each carriage last night had from four to eight "loads," as the

CALLED SESSION OF CITY COUNCIL

Meeting Was Held Tuesday Evening

MAYOR MADE A SPEECH

Alderman Cook Spoke and the Council Adopted Resolution Asking Mayor to Intervene

A dissection by Mayor Harris of the resolution introduced by Alderman Armstrong, an earnest speech by Alderman Cook for the recognition of the rights of the people to pass the proposition to change the fundamental law of the city; the adoption of the amended Armstrong resolution, which seeks to secure joint action between the two charter committees, were some of the acts of the city council at the called meeting held Tuesday evening.

Alderman Lehane and Maddox were absent. A resolution presented by Alderman Armstrong was read and Alderman Waggoner at once moved its adoption. The text of the resolution is: "Be it resolved by the city council of Fort Worth, That whereas, the mayor in his communication calling the meeting of the council at 7:30 p. m., Jan. 15, 1907, has indicated that it would be agreeable to him to have the question as to the charter proposed by the city council and the charter proposed by the citizens committee submitted to the people upon such terms as may be agreed to between the two committees; and

Whereas, The charter committee of the city council, and the city council itself, is very desirous of submitting the said question in such manner and in such manner only that no conflict may arise between the city council and the mayor or any committee thereof; and Whereas, The suggestion of the mayor is and would have been at all times agreeable to the city council; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the mayor be requested at once thru the city secretary to communicate with the citizens committee and undertake, if possible, to agree with the citizens committee on a day when the matter involved, to wit: the submission of the two charters, and the manner thereof, may be fairly and freely discussed and agreed on between the said citizens committee and the charter committee of the city council, and on notice reviewed by the city council charter committee all details be taken up and disposed of, and that upon the conclusion reached by the said two committees, the mayor be now requested to call a special meeting of the city council, if no regular meeting is close at hand, to undertake to effect such agreement and resolutions as may be by the two committees be passed upon.

On this connection the said council of the city of Fort Worth desires to say that to it the manner of submission is a matter of immateriality so long as the matter is fairly submitted and that their only desire now and always has been that the said matter be submitted only in such a fair manner as will get a fair expression upon the question of the charters propounded by the two committees.

Speech by Mayor

Before the motion was put the mayor said that the resolution be handed to him, that was done, and he fully studied it for a time and then addressed the city council with the following as a text:

He said that the resolution was a surprise to him, in that he had never even heard of it before it was read at the council meeting, and that he considered the several phases of the resolution as they presented themselves to him until he was completely at a loss as to what the mayor does not approve of and questions our legal right to do.

"Don't try to make a cat's paw out of me," he said, "I would like to know who wrote the resolution. Tell it right out. I know you said it, but who wrote it?" He concluded with much sarcastic comment on the seeming effort to try to use the mayor to have something done that he himself would not do at all, by a committee of its own.

Asked for Votes After the mayor had closed, Alderman Waggoner asked if the votes were in the room. The secretary got them and Alderman Waggoner stated that they read. On motion of Alderman Ward the votes were sustained by a vote of 7 to 1.

Alderman Waggoner moved that the Armstrong resolution be adopted first, amending it so that the name of the mayor be stricken out, where it appears, as being requested to conduct the negotiations, and the name of city council charter committee be substituted therefor.

CONSUMPTIVES CAMP IN WOODS

Peculiar Healing Power Possessed by the Pines

In the pine forests of Maine in the northeastern quarter, a famous specialist on consumption and kidney troubles, has a camp in the deep pine woods. With the oil of the white pine trees he is effecting cures that are attracting the attention of the world, and are so certain that a relapse is almost unknown. Patients so ill that they had to be carried into the pine woods on a litter have come out in a few months completely cured.

A well-known local physician who is familiar with this treatment says it is just as efficient in the home of the patient as it is in the pine woods. It has a peculiar healing power over affections of the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes, will break up a cold in twenty-four hours, and will cure any cough that is curable.

The treatment is very simple, consisting of the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine mixed with whisky and Glycerine in the following proportions: Virgin Oil of Pine (pure)..... 1/4 ounce Glycerine..... 2 ounces Good Whisky..... 8 ounces Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses every four hours in tepid water.

The ingredients can be secured from any good prescription druggist at small cost. Inquiry at the prescription department of one of the leading druggists elicited the information that the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine (pure) is not sold in half-ounce vials for dispensing. Each vial is securely sealed in a round tin case, with engraved wrapper showing the name of the Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)—plainly printed thereon. There are many rank imitations of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), which are not sold under various names, never accept these as a substitute for the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine as they will injure the system and never effect the desired result.

He dissected the resolution and asked questions of the construction, or intended construction, and commented on ambiguities, as they seemed to him, and then harked back to the proposition. Why not act thru a committee of the city council instead of trying to force the mayor and city secretary. He pointed out the ambiguous position in which it was sought to place him, he being not only the mayor, but against his will also, the chairman of the citizens committee.

On the question he said: "No one who had a legal idea within forty miles of his head would hold that your action of last Friday was in the least patriotic. Most of the city, who held that the action referred to was illegal. He insisted the council could have obtained the desired result by a resolution 'in the name of doing that you undertake to hand me a job.'"

If you want to confer with the citizens committee, in the light of truth and in a proper, fair, open manner, with the view of effecting an agreement on ambiguities, as they seemed to him, and then harked back to the proposition. Why not act thru a committee of the city council instead of trying to force the mayor and city secretary. He pointed out the ambiguous position in which it was sought to place him, he being not only the mayor, but against his will also, the chairman of the citizens committee.

After the mayor had closed, Alderman Waggoner asked if the votes were in the room. The secretary got them and Alderman Waggoner stated that they read. On motion of Alderman Ward the votes were sustained by a vote of 7 to 1.

Alderman Waggoner moved that the Armstrong resolution be adopted first, amending it so that the name of the mayor be stricken out, where it appears, as being requested to conduct the negotiations, and the name of city council charter committee be substituted therefor.

The Southwestern TELEGRAPH AND TELEPHONE CO.

LOCAL MANAGER'S OFFICE

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS AND OTHERS INTERESTED IN TELEPHONE SERVICE

The extraordinary growth of this city made it apparent, more than a year ago, that the building erected by this company, but a few years since, would be inadequate to care for the telephone service of Fort Worth.

Some eighteen months or more ago property was purchased at the corner of Throckmorton and Tenth streets, and, as soon as possible thereafter, the erection of a three-story fire-proof building was started. Long before the building was finished the work of installing a complete central office, with all its many and varied pieces of apparatus, was started and completed about the time the building was finished.

Owing to the nature of the business and the impossibility of stopping the service for any appreciable length of time, it was necessary to install a new plant, complete in every respect, and to connect all subscribers lines to it before the old plant could be abandoned.

It will readily be seen that in handling such a multiplicity of wires, considerable time and great care were required. Further than this it was almost a certainty that some errors would occur which would cause some annoyance to the subscriber. These, we believe, have been cleared up, and we feel that we have, today, a first-class plant.

It is our desire to furnish you with a telephone service second to none in the country and we feel that a better understanding by you of our apparatus, our office arrangements and our methods will lead to this result.

With this end in view you are cordially invited and requested to visit our exchange at the corner of Throckmorton and Tenth streets on Thursday, January 17, 1907, at any hour most convenient to you, between 2 and 10 p. m.

We shall be glad to have you bring your family and friends, and we especially request the attendance of ladies.

Competent employes will be in attendance to explain the various pieces of apparatus and their uses.

As we have about 6,000 subscribers, it will be impossible for us to entertain all in one day, therefore we have arranged to invite a limited number each day and continue the invitations until all have visited our exchange.

In closing, we wish to again earnestly request you to find time to visit us.

Yours very truly,
J. F. HENDERSON, Division Superintendent

BANKER'S DAUGHTER SPENDS THOUSANDS ON HER GOWNS

Answers Criticisms of Mrs. J. Phelps Stokes

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Because of reported interviews in which she was made to say that she spent $100 each for 190 gowns a year; $50 each for fifty pairs of shoes; $15,000 for lingerie, and $5,000 for winter furs, Miss Julia Morosini, daughter of Giovanni P. Morosini, Wall street banker and famous Italian patriot, was recently severely criticized by Mrs. J. Phelps Stokes, formerly Rose Pastor, the factory girl who married a millionaire.

At the recent horse show Miss Morosini was called the "chameleon girl" because of the remarkable variety of dresses she wore in one week. Most of her dresses were imported. One of the six was of gold and another of silver. Dressmakers declare that $1,000 would not be too high a value to place on them.

For this display Mrs. Stokes referred to Miss Morosini as a "moral pauper," on the ground that she produced nothing of her own, and that she was dependent on the generosity of her father, who she said was a miser.

"I make it a rule," she said, "to give of my means in proportion to what I enjoy. As I am not idle, that I do produce for others and that I am living according to the dictates of my judgment of the fitness of conditions is sufficient answer. I wish to take advantage of this occasion, however, to deny that I spend more than $125,000 a year for wearing apparel. I have not the slightest idea how much I do spend, but that figure is absurd."

"Every woman's dress is personal to herself," Miss Morosini continued. "I will freely admit that I believe in making myself as attractive thru dress as I can. It is every woman's duty if not her pleasure.

"I consider good taste in dress a matter of science. Clothes draw upon all of the works of nature for support. It is really wonderful to consider, from the depths of the earth we gather our jewels to adorn, from the forest and field we get our fabric and color and from the very heavens we gather the plumage for our heads.

"What do I consider a fair sum for a woman to devote to dress? It depends entirely upon the woman. I suppose the right figure is the one which is in fair proportion to her income, consistent with her status, including charity and in accord with good taste. That might be $50,000 or $500 a year."

The old banker, Miss Morosini's father, got his start in life and built his fortune with Jay Gould. Those who know the Morosinis well in Riverdale say that he will shower all manner of gifts upon his beautiful daughter. She is devoted to a few women friends, among them being the wife of George W. Perkins. Most of her time is devoted to her horse. She has a large stable and her reputation of being the most expert equestrienne in New York. Almost every morning she is to be seen driving a tandem or Roman team along the speedway.

ENTERTAINMENT OF CATTLEMEN

Regular Roundup of Bovinians Wednesday Night

The regular round-up of the Mystic Knights of Bovinia Wednesday night at the chief ranch house over the White Elephant will be the most important meeting held since the reorganization of the Bovinians. In connection with the business end of the round-up a committee from the Board of Trade will meet with the Bovinians to discuss a proposition to turn over to the Bovinians the matter of the entertainment of the cattlemen when they meet at Fort Worth in March, and in view of this conference of the two organizations, Chief March Boss W. D. Davis urges a general turn-out of the bulls.

Tuesday afternoon the entertainment committee of the Bovinians, Stuart Harrison, chairman, to which the entertainment of the cattlemen has been entrusted so far as the Bovinians are concerned, had a conference with the entertainment committee of the Board of Trade. At this conference the committee from the Bovinians made known that their organization wanted to be entrusted exclusively with the business of entertaining the cattlemen at the annual meeting in March and made the following proposition:

"That the Board of Trade collect no funds for entertainment purposes, but would issue a request to the business men and citizens generally of the city requesting them to become members of the Knights of Bovinia and pay into the treasury of the Bovinians the small amount of initiation fee and dues from which would be met all expenses for the entertainment of the visiting cattlemen.

The initiation fee and one year's dues of the Bovinians is only $7 and it was shown that if the people would become members of the organization and each pay this amount regularly there would be no need for the Board of Trade to bother about raising funds for the cattlemen's entertainment, and the business men of the city would not have to be called upon for contributions every time the cattlemen make here. The fixed charges for the entertainment of the cattlemen, which is for badges, hall rent, etc. is about $800, and to this the Bovinians desire to add other expenses, the total expense of which could be met out of the Bovinian membership fees and dues if the business men would join the organization. Besides the fun to be derived from a bull membership is more than worth the money.

After the submission of the proposition of the conference Tuesday the Board of Trade committee by a vote adopted a resolution indorsing the proposition from the Bovinians, the object of local gossip. It is said that she now has an antipathy for men, but in her girlhood she had the same romantic notions as her sister. She is devoted to a few women friends, among them being the wife of George W. Perkins. Most of her time is devoted to her horse. She has a large stable and her reputation of being the most expert equestrienne in New York. Almost every morning she is to be seen driving a tandem or Roman team along the speedway.

Have you a perfectly proportioned face? If so, your head and face will be divided according to the rules set down by modern artists. These men declare that the sculptors of ancient times produced a type of beauty which is not true to nature.

For instance, only idiots have both sides of the head developed alike. In nature, you never see a straight nose with a rounded chin. It is invariably angular.

The artists of today measure off the FITZGERALD, Ga., Jan. 16.—In the person of the Rev. J. T. Mann, retired clergyman and the author of several religious books, Fitzgerald has a citizen who was once hanged and who still lives to tell the tale. Accused of being a Confederate spy, he was strung up to a tree by union soldiers during the war, and was cut down by a union officer barely in time to save his life. In those few minutes he suffered all the terrible agonies of strangling and was rescued only after he had become unconscious.

Mr. Mann enlisted in the southern army at New Orleans and was sent to Barrancas, Fla., after volunteering to make a hazardous attempt to blow up the union fort located there. To better accomplish his purpose he enlisted in the federal forces at Barrancas and formed a close friendship with one of the officers. Patiently he awaited an opportunity to put his plans into execution and at last it came. He had spent the evening in the tent of the friendly officer and, unknown to the latter, had turned the hands of his watch forward an hour and a half, with the intention of having an alibi handy in case he should be discovered. Thus he really left the officer at 11 o'clock, while the latter supposed it was 12:30. Immediately he made an ineffectual attempt to blow up the magazine and shortly after-

Knocks Cigars From Men's Mouths

Following her usual tactics, Mrs. Nation has made a point to emphasize her arguments against smoking by seizing cigars in the mouths of passersby on the street. She is especially opposed to the smoking of cigars for every country and every class of people. Mrs. Nation has made no attempts to "smash" any of the saloons of the capital and declares that the smashing episodes are a thing of the past.

"The hatcher was all right as a weapon against the rum devil in Kansas," she said, "but here at the very heart of the most iniquitous and infamous government that ever existed, it would be useless. Absolute prohibition is the only remedy and I am going to keep after it until I get it."

Asked as to her opinion of the latest attempt of Governor Hoch of Kansas to enforce the prohibitory law in that state, Mrs. Nation shrugged her shoulders and said:

"Maybe he will, but he'll have to show me. Governor Hoch is a good man, but—"

That last word left the impression that Carrie hasn't much faith in the Kansas executive. But perhaps he will survive the shock.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—When an irresistible form, represented by Mrs. Carrie Nation of Kansas and Oklahoma, meets an immovable body, such as Theodore Roosevelt of Oyster Bay and Bloody Gulch, there are likely to be ructions in that immediate vicinity. This statement, put in terms of unnatural philosophy, represents a condition that today obtains in Washington. The famous smasher is now in the capital city and has announced an intention of camping here indefinitely. Furthermore, she says that when she has completed her investigations into the wickedness of this city, she intends to call on the President and give him a few explicit pointers on the conduct of the city government. Mr. Roosevelt says he'll be 4—that is, he won't see her. Carrie responds that he'll have to, so there. An enterprising fluid joy dispenser has been sent her by the city government. Washington gentlemen of sporting proclivities are putting up their money on the irresistible force or the immovable body, with odds of 2 to 1 on the former.

This isn't the first time that Carrie has been in Washington. About two years ago she hit town and during her stay kept no less than twenty-three secret service men exceedingly busy in preventing her from invading the white house for an interview with the President. After numerous vain attempts the Kansas smasher gave up her mission in disgust and until recently contented herself with writing letters to Mr. Roosevelt, telling him in words more forcible than polite that he as President is a lamentable and ignominious failure.

A Message for Cortelyou

Another gentleman who is busily engaged in dodging the lady from Kansas is Mr. Cortelyou, who as postmaster general excluded from the issue of Mrs. Nation's paper, the Hatcher, on the grounds of obscenity. Carrie is anxious to tell Mr. Cortelyou her honest opinion of him, and is at present desirous of receiving information and has ordered his subordinates to refuse admittance to Mrs. Nation. Mrs. Nation has delivered many lectures since coming here and always to crowded halls. Her utterances have been cheered to the echo and her vehemence and at times almost incendiary castigation have not once been challenged. She has spent much of her time in the slums and declares without hesitation that Washington is a more wicked city in the country, not even excepting Denver.

"That there is a great deal of truth in Mrs. Nation's statement, one familiar with conditions here, denies. Not long ago these dispatches told of the white slave traffic that is carried on here and that every man, even the wealthiest," he says, "and it is my ambition to serve my country."

Many republicans have opposed Guggenheim's candidacy for the silver trust or any other special interest, but to represent the people of Colorado. "An honorable ambition," he declares that he spent over $1,000,000 during the last campaign to accomplish this purpose.

Lard has been in existence a long time—so has indigestion

Human nature is hard to solve. People who are most particular about adapting the weight of their wearing apparel to the season and its conditions, who never think of going out in a storm without an umbrella and rubbers, who would not sit in a draft for a farm, will calmly sit at the table and stuff themselves with lard-soaked food and not realize for an instant that it is likely to give them a full-fledged case of indigestion and clog their whole inner machinery.

Lard is produced from hog-fats, sometimes impure, always indigestible, and there's a good day coming when no one will think of using it for cooking. Cottolele is the only rational frying and shortening medium in the world. It is made from refined vegetable oil and choice beef suet—everything about it is digestible and conducive to health.

It is a product of Nature.

It will make pure, palatable, healthful food, and food which anyone can eat and enjoy without the after-pangs of a disordered stomach.

Every good grocer sells Cottolele.

It comes only in sealed white pails with a red label and band. In the center of the label is our trade mark—a steer's head in cotton plant wreath.

Try Cottolele once and you'll never more be a friend to lard.

STREET CAR MEN WANT REFORMS

Sweeping Measure Prepared for Illinois Legislature

Special to The Telegram.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 16.—Representatives from all the unions of street car men of the state are holding a meeting here today to agree upon a reform bill which they intend to have introduced in the legislature. The proposed measure will provide that all electric cars shall be equipped with air brakes; that proper heating arrangements be made for the benefit of both passengers and motormen during the winter months; that no cars with running boards on the sides shall be allowed to be operated within the state, but that all cars shall have aisles thru the center; that all cars shall have a glass front or vestibule to protect the motorman from the elements; and that a heavy fine be provided for a violation of any of these statutes. The street car men will also ask the repeal of the fellow servant law, which provides that damages for death or injury cannot be recovered if it can be shown that the accident was caused in any way by the negligence of a fellow worker. A strict employers' liability act is demanded in place of this law.

Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The committee of seven appointed by the national reciprocal demurrage convention, which was held in Chicago recently for the purpose of devising a remedy for car shortage, is in Washington today, and will seek an audience with the President. He will be urged to send to congress a special message recommending the passage during the present session of a law providing for reciprocal demurrage. Victor H. Beckman, secretary of the Pacific Coast Lumbermen's Association, is chairman of the committee. Other members are H. H. Smith, of Detroit, secretary of the Michigan Manufacturers' Association; J. A. Van Hoose, of Memphis, president of the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association; E. M. Wasmuth, of Chicago, president of the National Hay and Grain Association; E. M. Wayne, Walter Bogie and C. I. Millard, of Chicago.

According to Chairman Beckman, it is the intention of the Pacific northwest lumbermen to attempt to put the mill properties, including the Northern Pacific and Great Northern roads, into the hands of a receiver.

Special to The Telegram.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 16.—It is stated here that Attorney General Davidson is securing evidence on the existence of an alleged drug trust in this city with a view of instituting proceedings against the men who are in control. A cut rate drug store, which recently opened up business in this city, has written the attorney general that the wholesale drug stores refuse to sell to him unless he will agree to sell at the price fixed by the other drug stores of this city. Future developments will show how serious the allegations are.

HIGHER EDUCATION IN TEXAS

With the most magnificent school fund endowment of any state in the union it is somewhat anomalous that a recent investigation should have shown that the provisions for the cause of higher education in this state are woefully short of those prevailing in other states that have been members of the union for about the same length of time as Texas.

The year selected for the comparison was 1903-04. Total income for higher institutions in Texas was $14,000—a sum less than that in any of the other states, except Virginia and North Carolina...

There is a somewhat wide impression prevailing that the amount of expenditures on higher education in Texas is excessive in comparison with the amount expended on the elementary schools.

There is an impression also that the proportion of teachers to students in Texas institutions is high.

instructors are 7 per cent of the student body, in North Carolina 10 1/2, in Virginia 11 per cent, in Kansas 12 per cent, in Missouri 12 per cent, in Nebraska 14 1/2 per cent, in California 16 per cent.

These are things that are causing the people of Texas to turn in the direction of higher education with a determination to bring all the Texas averages up to a higher level.

THE LIVE STOCK PROBLEM

"The chief problem of the live stock sanitary commission of Texas, at the present time is the eradication of the fever tick of cattle," says Dr. Joseph W. Parker in charge of the federal work at San Antonio.

"All the problems connected with tick eradication have been solved. Ticks have been eradicated on some of the large ranches, on farms, on open range, at a cost to the state and federal government surprisingly small when compared with the benefits arising from the accomplishment.

"Tuberculosis, the scourge of the dairy and breeding herds of the United States, especially among the herds of the older states, has found but little foothold in Texas.

"Hog cholera and swine plague scourges of the older states are rare; the outbreaks that have occurred have practically all been traced to hogs shipped in from other states, or that passed thru public stock yards, prohibiting hogs that had entered them from leaving except for immediate slaughter, and to prohibit the bringing of stock hogs into the state except under conditions that guarantee their freedom from disease and from exposure thereto.

THE LANHAM ADMINISTRATION

Governor Sam Lanham retires from the office of governor with a clean record. He was a better governor than many give him credit for. He guarded well the institutions of the state.

The greatest trouble with the Lanham administration appears to be that it lacked in the spirit of aggressiveness that some people in Texas were of the opinion should have been exhibited.

In the evening of his busy life, he desired to round out his political career by serving his people as governor, and he carried into the executive office at Austin the same conservatism and religious adherence to duty that marked his congressional career.

the machinery of state. He went there to give his people an honest and economical administration of state affairs and he succeeded in his undertaking.

As Senator Senter's spirits went down his lung power was augmented and he held the floor until the floor was prized from under him.

Governor Tom Campbell was sworn in as governor of Texas Tuesday, with a large contingent of east Texas friends present to witness the ceremony.

Senator Tillman's speech on the Brownsville affair and the race question generally a few days ago was chiefly remarkable for its incoherency.

President Roosevelt takes another shot at the negro troops connected with the Brownsville affair, and it is well calculated to make Senator Firecracker take to the tall timber.

Next Tuesday under the law the state legislature will be compelled to take a ballot for United States senator, and a vote must be taken every day until a senator is elected.

Easter comes very early this year, and it looks like Gentle Spring is trying to get ahead of the coming event by indulging in some practice that threatens to be disastrous to the Texas fruit crop.

The Fat Stock Show in March will be well worth the attention and patronage of every progressive stockman in Texas and the southwest.

IN TEXAS PRESS

Mr. Bell declared in the meeting, "I have been offered more than $50,000 for this," shaking the franchise given him by the city council, in his hand.

The franchise referred to above is one for the construction of a railway over certain streets in the city of El Paso. This franchise was given for nothing, and its holder now boasts he could sell it for $50,000.

The legislature is well under way and bills are introduced at a rapid rate every day. Later on some of these bills will become laws, and then the lawyers and courts will get hold of and knock out the laws—show they are unconstitutional, or couple it with some other law.

The legislature never fails to get in its work in the matter of bills, and if half the bills introduced should become laws there would be such conditions in Texas as have never been seen in any civilized country.

The Fort Worth Telegram suggests that the reason Dr. Butcher was inaugurated governor of Colorado in a church was because of the fact that he wanted to keep some of his supporters away. As it is notorious that the Rev. Dr. Butcher carried the unanimous votes of the Denver div keepers and saloon men, there is probably something more in the suggestion than a joke.

Of course. As the devil is said to fear holy water and avoid its vicinity, so it would be but natural for some of the Butcher supporters to shy at a church.

And now scientists have discovered that the blonde type of female beauty is passing away and that an hundred years there will not be a pure blonde even for the most enterprising museum man.

Scientists are always making some wonderful discovery that falls to pan out, and it is a pretty safe proposition that beautiful blonde women will be with us until the end of time.

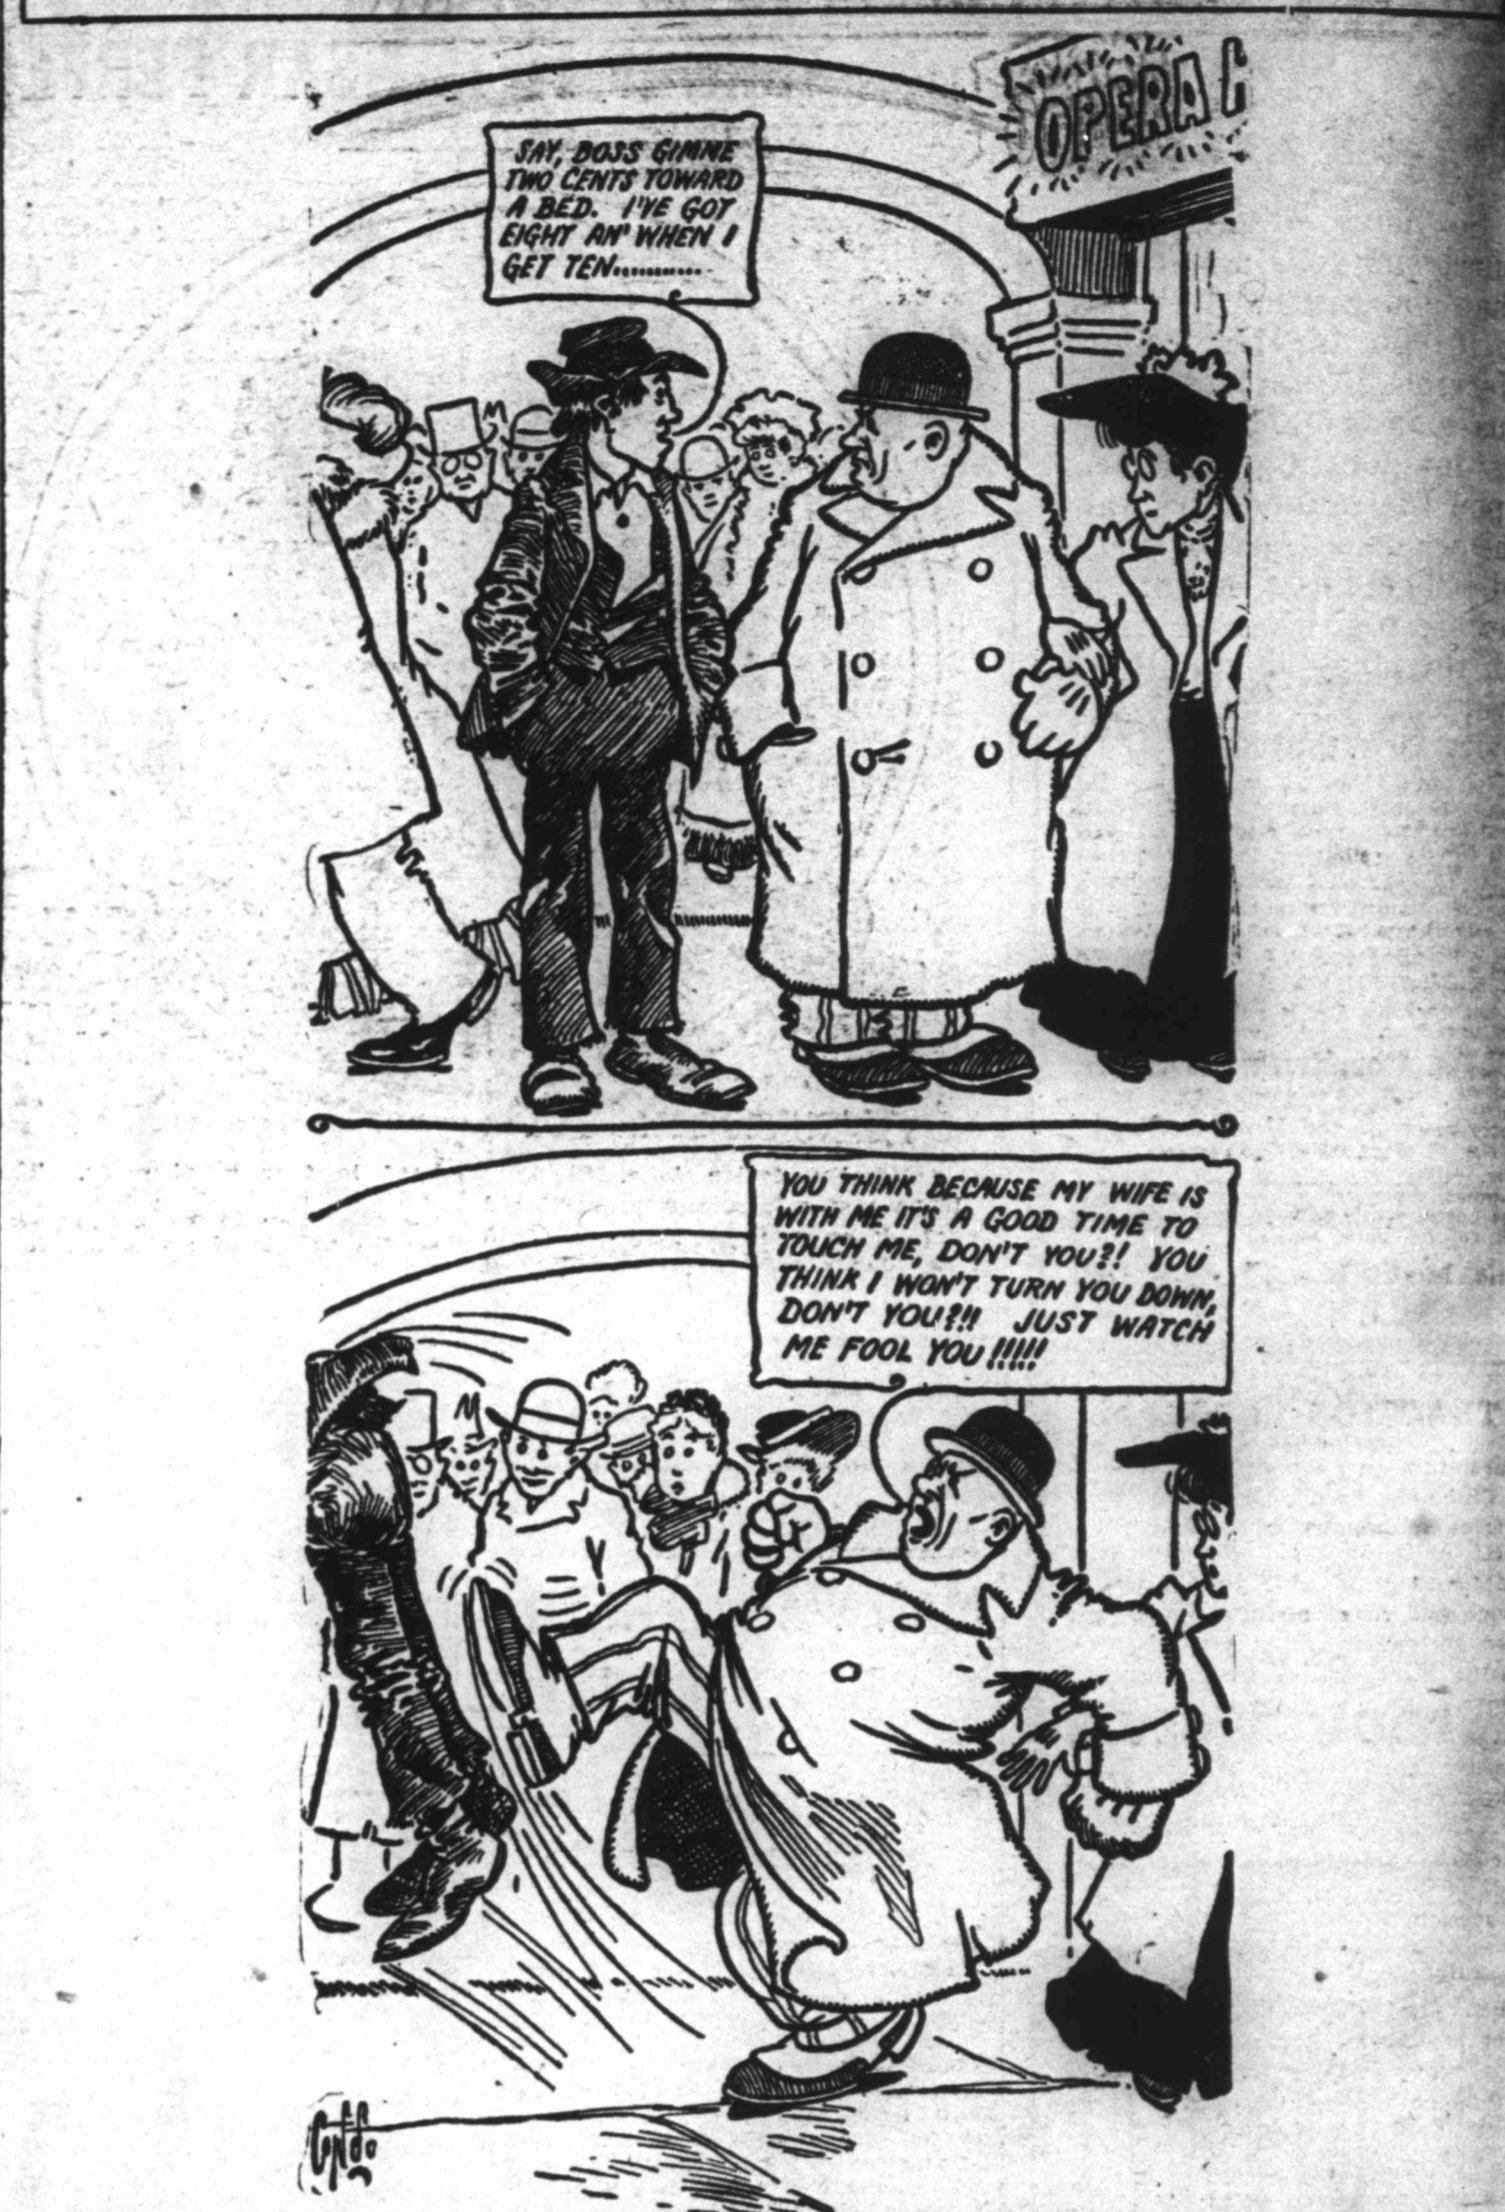

Senator Hudspeeth's proposal to require non-resident hunters to pay a ten dollar yearly license for the privilege of hunting is a reasonable suggestion and in line with the system practiced in other states.

The Hudspeeth proposition is a good one, for there is no reason why Texas should furnish free game and free sport for citizens of other states.

Of all the radical and revolutionary schemes against democracy is the "government ownership of railroads" proposition. We want none of it in ours.

Government ownership would be but another spoke in the wheel of centralization and it is for that reason that so many people oppose the suggestion.

far ranges, had him to round up a bunch of cattle, telling him they were his, but which proved to be the property of another, and the cattleman and the boy were arrested, tried and both convicted and given a term in the penitentiary for cattle theft. The boy escaped jail, secured a pistol and made his way to New Mexico. While on the road he met a stage with one lone passenger, whom he commanded to alight and hold up his horse. The money was done in proper regulation time. He took from the passenger a purse containing $150 and after counting the money, returned $75 to the passenger. He gave him a receipt for $75 and took his postoffice address and phoned from him with the assurance that as soon as he could do so he would restore to him the money taken, which in due time was, as promised, kept. He went to one of the northwestern territories and prospered and was elected sheriff, and subsequently was appointed a United States marshal and was held in high esteem by all the neighbors. He had at that time had a daughter 13 years old, and had come to the governor to surrender and serve out his sentence if he required it. Governor Hogg, after the man had finished relating the strange tale of adventure, ill fortune and success, said to him: "I wish to ask you one question: When you were courted your wife and asked her to marry you, did you tell her you were an escaped convict?" This being answered in the affirmative, the big governor replied: "Well, by golly, you shall not serve a day in the penitentiary. I will pardon you now." So he did, and a copy of the pardon is now in the secretary's office at the end of a tin, with all the facts set forth in it.

WORKING WOMEN, WHAT THEY SHOULD KNOW [Image of Mrs. Sadie Abbott and Mrs. Pree McKittrick] MRS. SADIE ABBOTT MRS. PREE MCKITTRICK Women for the most part spend their lives at home, and it is these women who are willing and ambitious that their homes shall be kept neat and pretty, their children well dressed and tidy, who do their own cooking, sweeping, dusting and often washing, ironing and sewing for the entire family, who call for our sympathy. Truly the work of such a woman is "never done" and it is any wonder that she breaks down at the end of a few years, the back begins to ache, there is a displacement, inflammation or ulceration of the abdominal organs, a female weakness is brought on, and the struggle of that wife and mother to continue her duties is pitiful. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, is the exact medicine a woman needs whose strength is overtaxed. It keeps the feminine organs in a strong and healthy condition. In preparing for childbirth and recuperating therefrom it is most efficient. It carries a woman safely through the change of life and in making her strong and well equate her to a good wife and mother. Mrs. Sadie Abbott, of Jeannette, Pa., writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham— I suffered severely with pain every month and also pain in my left side. My doctor prescribed for me but did me no good; a friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I wrote you in regard to my condition. I followed your advice and am a perfectly well woman. The pains have all disappeared and I cannot commend your medicine too highly. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

TRACTION PROGRAM Referendum on Proposed Settlement of Chicago's Street Car Troubles Special to The Telegram. CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—The immediate rehabilitation of Chicago's street car service and a referendum on the proposed settlement with the companies, was the traction program adopted last night by the city council. By a vote of 54 to 12 the aldermen passed a resolution, providing that a petition asking a referendum on the city railway and union traction ordinances be circulated by the mayor, heads of departments and members of the council. If the 8,000 voters sign the petition before Feb. 2 it is proposed that the council pass the ordinances to take effect provided a majority of the voters approve the settlement at the April election. One hundred thousand copies of the petition are to be distributed. If the petition does not receive the necessary number of signatures it will be taken for granted that the people prefer an immediate settlement to referendum delay and the program will then be to pass the ordinances at once. The work of rehabilitation will then begin immediately.

NEWS OF THE TEXAS RANGE Alfalfa Raising Special to The Telegram. HEREFORD, Texas, Jan. 11.—That alfalfa raising is a success in the Panhandle is evidenced by the beautiful 100-acre farm of Messrs. Gough & Irwin on their Tierra Blanca ranch, about six miles east of Hereford. There is the largest and best alfalfa farm in the Panhandle. It furnishes pasturage for a large number of cattle during the winter months. Alfalfa raising is a great opportunity to double the value of your land in a short time. It has proven a great success with farmers in this country. Cattle Quarantine Law Special to The Telegram. VERNON, Texas, Jan. 11.—Ten years ago the price of cattle in this portion of the state was very high and the price of land very low. The cattle syndicates went to work and lobbied a cattle quarantine law thru the Texas legislature, creating a trust in the business and forming a kind of legal agreement to keep out cattle owners above the line, which was very effective until the packeries got in on them below this line by erecting a large plant in Fort Worth and fixed the price of cattle so much that many want to go out of the range cattle industry. Then the boll weevil, chills and fever, wet weather, crab grass and other things in the east began to drive the people to this portion of the state, where cotton can be produced at a minimum cost. Now these syndicates desire to sell their land, which will bring them more than it will be worth to them to keep it, and run cattle on it. So the beef trust has bursted the trust to keep small farmers from this section, and now they have an elephant on their hands in the shape of a cattle quarantine law.

Special to The Telegram. KINGSVILLE, Texas, Jan. 11.—Owning a ranch of 1,000,000 acres twice as big as the state of Rhode Island, and as large as the entire state of Delaware, Mrs. H. M. King is one of the wealthiest women in the world. By the purchase of the Los Lovelock ranch, which is adjacent to her own ranch at Santa Gertrudes, Texas, Mrs. King becomes the largest ranch owner in the world. The Los Lovelock consists of 170,000 acres. Mrs. King has more than 100,000 head of beef cattle, and the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico Railroad thru her property contains more than a hundred miles. During the last year she has given away 65,000 acres—30,000 for the building of the railroad and 35,000 to the town of Kingsville, named after her husband. At one time it was estimated that it was fifty odd miles from her doorway to her front gate. Mrs. King's ranch, the Santa Gertrudes, is an enormous revenue producer. While most of her land is used for stock raising, practically all the portion of the state of the highest cultivation. In the last few years the land has increased in value from 15 to 20 cents an acre to $15 to $20. It is all in the arid part of the state, and the price of such land under cultivation is selling in Texas for $150 per acre. It is Mrs. King's plan to reclaim all of the grazing land in the arid portion of the state, to irrigate it, and rent and lease it to progressive and practical farmers.

Special to The Telegram. HAMLIN, Texas, Jan. 11.—This tick proposition has come to be a serious proposition in this section of the country. If people will only stop to think about the matter, this country properly belongs above the quarantine line, but owing to unfortunate circumstances the county has become infested, as have many other counties above the line, and now along comes the government and the state and positively demand that something be done, and it is up to the people to do or not to do. Only a few days ago Mr. Lane, the government quarantine inspector, comes along and says to the county agent, "What are you doing, and permit nothing to go into them without a bill of health," and the agent had to do as the inspector said, and the inspector then when his sworn duty required him to do.

GOES ON THE STAGE Governor's Son Has Historic Ability, With Paul Gilmore Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 16.—Fritz Lanham, son of Governor Lanham, who retired yesterday as private secretary of his father, has suddenly decided to go on the stage. Up to yesterday it had been the intention of young Mr. Lanham to go West, but yesterday he received a telegram from Paul Gilmore, the well known actor, who is now touring the state, offering Mr. Lanham a position in his company. Mr. Lanham accepted the engagement, and left last night for Houston, where he joins the Gilmore company for the remainder of the season. Mr. Lanham is possessed of considerable histrionic ability, and will no doubt prove a valuable member to the Gilmore company. Monk Gibson's Mother Lecturing Special to The Telegram. KERRVILLE, Texas, Jan. 16.—The mother of Monk Gibson, charged with the murder of the ondit family at Edin, is lecturing in this vicinity to raise funds to pay the expenses of her son. Her subject is "How to Raise Girls." She speaks exclusively to negro audiences. The negro ministers are co-operating with her, and she has good sized audiences, many, no doubt, their curiosity. She has succeeded in collecting quite a sum of money.

Special to The Telegram. RAN INTO BARBED WIRE FENCE ASPERMONT, Texas, Jan. 11.—While driving cattle and horses near the Fred Spencer farm Thursday night a bunch of hogs stampeded the stock. Caraway started in a gallop to head off the animals, when he ran into a barbed wire fence. The wire struck his left leg just below the knee, and in an oblique manner. The sharp barbs sawed thru the flesh and bone. Assistance was called and Drs. Baker and Stoker summoned. Altho the bone was saved thru, there was much flesh that was not severed, and the doctors say that barring unforeseen developments no amputation will be necessary. Mr. Caraway had just recovered from a broken leg when the last unfortunate accident occurred.

Special to The Telegram. CLARENDON, Texas, Jan. 11.—The V. V. Ranch in Bailey county, recently owned by W. H. Garrett, containing 35,844 acres, has been sold to E. E. McGill, a capitalist of Minneapolis, whose avowed purpose is to colonize it with farmers and stock farmers from the northwestern states. The price paid by Mr. McGill was approximately $5 per acre, and in the aggregate more than $100,000. This ranch, it is said, was bought by McGill to William Hurt of Virginia for $2.25 per acre, resold for Hurt to Garrett and associates for $4 per acre and again sold as mentioned above for $5 per acre.

Special to The Telegram. MUSKOGEE, I. T., Jan. 16.—The Muskogee Traffic Bureau will elect officers tomorrow night for the ensuing year. This organization has been in operation for the last twelve months and has grown to be one of the necessities of the city. In an estimate given out by its president today, 22,000 car loads of freight were handled for the year 1906 by merchants in the city. The bureau claims to have saved for the merchants at least $30,000 in 1906 and expects to do as well in 1907.

Special to The Telegram. SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 16.—Colonel Frank Grise, owner and manager of the Daily Express, is again seriously ill. The physicians say that his recovery is very improbable. In an editorial paragraph you advise against undue haste, as if the matter had not been agitated and discussed for nearly a year. What would you consider "ample time" to come to a conclusion on the subject? Nearly a year ago the city council, by resolution, proclaimed in favor of a commission form of government. The Board of Trade took similar action in March of last year. The civic leagues have discussed the subject at their meetings and not a single adverse expression has been had from any organization until the city council on Monday last inaugurated its most extraordinary procedure. Adverse criticism is always admissible when expressed in fairness. The press should be fair in its criticisms and advise to which it is entitled, and the confidence of those who look to it for advice and counsel. B. B. PADDOCK. Cartoons are usually more symbolic.

WILY DAN CUPID KNOCKS OUT JAMES EDWARD BRITT [Image of Wily Dan Cupid and James Edward Britt] NEVA AYMAR JIMMY DRYTT Wily Dan Cupid, the wily vaudeville champion of the world and known as the "Pride of San Francisco," has fallen a victim to the wiles of Cupid. He is engaged. The lady in the case is none other than Neva Aymar, the pretty vaudeville and leader of the "Reindeers," now touring the country. Every night during Miss Aymar's engagement in San Francisco recently James Edward was "on deck" in a box, and a bunch of flowers with a card bearing the initials "J. E. B." went over the footlights to the famous vaudeville beauty. James Edward is almost all in as a fighter, but he is there with a bunch of coin that would make Andrew Carnegie jealous. Incidentally, he owns a bunch of income-bearing flats.

SKIN DISEASES HUMORS IN THE BLOOD When the blood is pure, fresh and healthy, the skin will be soft, smooth and free from blemishes, but when some acid humor takes root in the circulation its presence is manifested by a skin eruption or disease. These humors get into the blood, generally because of an inactive or sluggish condition of the members of the body whose duty it is to collect and carry off the waste and refuse matter of the system. This waste matter is left to sour and ferment and soon the circulation becomes charged with the acid poison. The blood begins to throw off the humors and acids through the pores and glands of the skin, producing Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum and skin eruptions of various kinds. Eczema appears, usually with a slight redness of the skin followed by pustules from which there flows a sticky fluid that dries and forms a crust, and the itching is intense. It is generally on the back, breast, face, arms and legs, though other parts of the body may be affected. In Tetter the skin dries, cracks and bleeds; the acid in the blood dries up the natural oils of the skin, which are intended to keep it soft and pliant, causing a dry, feverish condition and giving it a hard, leathery appearance. Acne makes its appearance on the face in the form of pimples and black heads, while Psoriasis comes in scaly patches on different parts of the body. One of the worst forms of skin trouble is Salt Rheum; its favorite point of attack is the scalp, and it is also discreditable types of skin disease. The humor producing the trouble lies dormant in the blood, though the winter to break out and torment the sufferer with the return of Spring. The best treatment for all skin diseases is S. S. S. It neutralizes the acids and removes the humors so that the skin instead of being irritated and diseased, is nourished by a supply of fresh, healthy blood. External applications of salves, washes, lotions, etc., while they soothe the itching caused by skin affections, can never cure the trouble because they do not reach the blood. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation and forces out every particle of foreign matter and restores the blood to its normal, pure condition, thereby permanently curing every form of skin affection. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write. S. S. S. is for sale at all first class drug stores.

Plans Completed for Merger Under New Jersey Law

Special to The Telegram. JERSEY CITY, Jan. 16.—At a meeting of the directors of the United States Leather Company and the Central Leather Company here today, plans were completed for the merging of the two concerns, which will result in a practical control of the leather trade of the country. The merger was first considered at a meeting held on Dec. 17, 1904, but legal difficulties prevented its completion at that time. It is alleged that the Central Leather Company was formed for the purpose of acquiring the stock and business of the United States Leather Company and other smaller concerns.

THE WOMAN IN THE ALCOVE

By ANNA KATH ARNE GREEN

SYNOPSIS

The story begins with the engagement of Anson Durand and plain Miss Van Arsdale at a dance in New York. Shortly after their wedding Mrs. Fairbrother, wearing an enormous diamond, passes by and goes into an alcove. Durand follows her after Miss Van Arsdale is claimed for a dance. A few moments later Mrs. Fairbrother is discovered murdered and suspicion falls upon Durand. Her gloves found in the alcove, Durand and Durand states that Mrs. Fairbrother gave them to him although he did not know that the diamond was within the gloves when he placed them in the bag. Blood on his shirt bosom is also hard to explain. In the meantime Fairbrother is discovered in the mountains in the west, but too sick to even be apprised of the news. Before the inquest the diamond found in the gloves is pronounced to be a good imitation. The coroner's jury does not fix the blame of the murder and Durand is released. Durand is arrested by the police.

Perceiving very soon that his apprehensions in my regard were limited to a fear lest I should not feel at ease in my new home under the repressive presence of the man who had so intimidated that attract strangers, I threw aside all doubts of myself and met the advances of both father and daughter with that quiet confidence which my position there demanded. The result both gratified and grieved me. As a nurse entering on her first case of duty, I was not unacquainted with an ulterior object in view verging on the audacious and unseemable, and I was not without a certain interest in the little shaken in the conviction which had hitherto upheld me. I was therefore but poorly prepared to meet the order which awaited me when, a little later in the day, Mr. Grey called me into the adjoining room, and after saying that it would afford him great relief to go out for an hour or so, asked if I were afraid to be left alone with my patient. "No, sir," I began, but stopped in secret dismay. I had not hesitated on account of her condition; rather on account of my own. What if I should be led into betraying my feelings to the sick woman? I could not pray to probe her poor sick mind should prove stronger than my duty toward her. My tones were hesitating but Mr. Grey paid little heed; his mind was too fixed on what he wished to say himself. "Before I go," said he, "I have a request to make—I may as well say a caution give you. Do not, under any circumstances, either now or at any future time, carry or allow any one else to carry newspapers into Miss Grey's room. They are just now too alarming. There has been, as you know, a dreadful murder in this city. If she caught one glimpse of the headlines, or saw so much as the name of Fairbrother—well, which is a name she knows, the result might be very hurtful to her. She is not only extremely sensitive from her nervous temperament, woman. "I shall be careful."

It was such an effort for me to restrain myself from saying anything in the state of mind into which I had been thrown by his unexpected allusion to this subject to myself and it was with what I felt to be a glance of doubt that he added with decided emphasis: "You must consider this whole subject as a forbidden one in this family. Only cheerful topics are suitable for the sick room. If Miss Grey attempts to introduce any other, stop her. Do not let her talk about anything which will not be conducive to her speedy recovery. These are the only conditions I have to give you; all others must come from her physician. I made some reply with a little show of emotion as possible. It seemed to satisfy him, for his face cleared as he kindly observed: "You have a very trustworthy look for one so young. I shall rest easy while you are with her, and I shall expect you to be always with her when I am not. Every moment, mind, I pray is never to be left alone with gossiping servants. If a word is mentioned in her hearing about this crime which has so recently occurred, I shall feel forced, greatly as I should regret the fact, to blame you."

This was a heart stroke, but I kept up bravely, changing color perhaps, but not to such a marked degree as to arouse any deeper suspicion in his mind than that I had been wounded in my amour propre. "She shall be well guarded," said I. "You may trust me to keep from her all avoidable knowledge of this crime."

He bowed and I was about to leave his presence, when he detained me by remarking with what I felt to be a deep impression on me and would on her if she heard of it."

Talk of Locating a Manufactory in Fort Worth

Representatives of a company interested in Fort Worth as the location of a factory for the manufacture of artificial fuel have made arrangements to call upon Captain Faddock of the Board of Trade, but up to a late hour nothing had been heard of them. This will be the first visit of the men interested to Fort Worth, although they have carried on a correspondence with the Board of Trade in this city for some time relative to locating here. In their letters they claim that they have a paying proposition, and that they can manufacture the fuel at a good profit per ton out of shavings, sawdust and other refuse.

Contributions of Corporations He touches on corporation contributions to campaign funds. He declares that no corporation should be permitted to do business in this state...

He says that the failure of telephone and telegraph companies to make suitable connections at common points for the transmission of each other's messages has occasioned considerable annoyance to the people.

Touching on the subject of nepotism, the governor declares "that the efficiency of the public service is not only threatened, but positively impaired by the employment of public officers of means and family connections with other relatives at public expense."

Uniform Text Book Law

He recommends the enactment of a uniform text book law, not exempting any city from its operation; longer terms in the public schools of the state; more taxation for the support of the schools and tells of the importance of agricultural and industrial training in the schools.

THE BREEDING OF BETTER BABIES

How Cupid Once Won a Victory Over Science

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The discussion of methods of improving the human race by the delegates to the convention of the American Breeders' Association, now in session at Columbus, Ohio, recalls that a successful attempt was once made in this state to apply to a community of men and women the scientific rules which govern the selection of lower animals for breeding purposes. John Humphrey Noyes, a Congregational minister, was the originator of this novel scheme, and was expelled from the church for advocating what was then considered scientifically regulated promiscuity in marriage. He established his little colony under his guidance. For years his followers withstood persecution from without, only to fall victims of the wiles of Cupid, who paid no heed to "scientific regulation." In 1878 some twenty years after the establishment of the colony, the marriage was renounced and monogamy or celibacy substituted. The attempt at scientific man-breeding was at an end. The members of the colony separated into couples, regardless of the rules of selection laid down by Noyes. Cupid had won a victory over science.

Physicians who have kept track of the children born during the experiment declare that it was a pronounced success in producing physical and mental giants. During the last decade of the colony's existence under the Noyes regime sixty children were born, a majority of whom are still living. These children were cared for exclusively by their mothers until 18 months of age. From that time until they were 18 months old they received the care of their mothers only at night. At the latter age the infants were placed under trained nurses at the colony's nursery, and the maternal care ceased entirely. Under this treatment all but five of the sixty children lived to attain their majority, and the death rate among them is said to have been less than one-third of that in the country at large. Nearly all of the men are over six feet in height, broad-shouldered and strong-jointed, and the women are beautiful and well-proportioned. No case of degeneration has ever been known among them. Among the men are many physicians, lawyers, musicians and college professors, and without exception all are of a high grade of intellect and moral. Only one of the men is a common laborer. The late Dr. E. B. Foote, a well-known physician and author of many popular scientific works, was one of the enthusiastic defenders of the experiment and his scientific stipulations were advocated in many of his books. Shortly before his death he declared the Omeka experiment to have been a pronounced success and that it would some day be repeated on a large scale.

WORK OF THE BUREAU OF ANIMAL INDUSTRY

BY A. D. MELVIN, D. V. S. Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, Washington, D. C.

The year 1919 has been a busy one for the bureau of animal industry. The meat inspection has been greatly enlarged and improved, the task of eradicating the southern cattle tick has been taken up, good progress has been made in stamping out sheep scab and tick mange, the scientific investigation of important results in the work in dairying and animal breeding and feeding has been extended. The inspection of export animals for the promotion of export trade, and the inspection and quarantine of imported animals for safeguarding of our animals against imported contagion, have been continued.

The Meat Inspection

Of course most of this increase is due to the extension of the meat inspection under the new law of June 30, 1906. During the fiscal year ended on that date the inspection was conducted at 183 establishments in 150 cities. Now it covers more than six hundred establishments in 150 cities, and additions are being made to the list nearly every day.

Tick Eradication

A new line of work undertaken during the year is the effort to eradicate the southern cattle tick. On June, 1906, congress appropriated $2,500 for a beginning in this work in co-operation with state authorities. The season was short for effective work, yet the results so far accomplished are very gratifying and encouraging. They indicate that the eradication of the tick is entirely possible, and it is recognized as a large and difficult undertaking, one that will require hearty cooperation between Federal and state authorities and the people, and several years of energetic work. In some states the laws have been found inadequate, and in some there are no funds available for such work. It is hoped that these conditions will soon be remedied by the state legislatures.

Eradication of Contagious Diseases

The work of eradicating sheep scab and cattle mange in the west has been continued vigorously during the year, with the co-operation of state and territorial authorities. The proportion of infected sheep was only 5 1/2 per cent of those imported while in the previous year it was 7 1/2 per cent. In Arizona the conditions are decidedly improved, and the same is true of Idaho, Utah and Wyoming. The ratio of diseased sheep found in 1919 in the states named was but 1 in 43, as against 1 in 14 during 1918. From a survey of the entire field there is cause for the belief that sheep scab has been gradually brought under control. During the fiscal year 1919 the total number dipped was 12,396,976, of which 1,661,020 were redippings.

TEMPLE ANGRY AT THE TEXAS LEAGUE

TEMPLE, Texas, Jan. 16.—The action of the All-State Baseball League at its Dallas meeting last Sunday in awarding the eighth franchise to Ben Shelton, with the condition that a team be located in either Temple or Cleburne, will have little effect upon the baseball situation in this city, which is willing that the honor of being the eighth club, if such it may be called, shall go to Cleburne without the faintest shadow of a contest.

WOUND SCRATCH AND TEAR THE FLESH

Without Hands Were Tied—Wasted to a Skeleton—Awful Suffering for Over a Year—Grew Worse Under Doctors—Skin Now Clear.

"My little son, when about a year and a half old, began to have sores come out on his face. I had a physician treat him, but the sores grew worse. Then they began to come on his chest and arms, and then on his chest, worse than the others. Then I called on another physician. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad I had to tie his hands in his clothes at night to keep him from scratching himself and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk. My Aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. So great was her faith in it that she gave me a small piece of Soap to try and a tin of the Ointment. I took it home without any faith, but to please her I tried it, and it seemed to dry up the sores a little. I sent to the drug store and got a cake of the Soap and a box of the Ointment and followed the directions, and at the end of about two months the sores were all well. He has never had any more of any kind since."

WYOMING NOW SECOND TO MONTANA IN WOOL PRODUCTION

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 16.—The growth of the wool industry in Wyoming has been remarkable. A report just made shows that the first of January, 1919, there were 3,475,899 sheep, valued at $11,901,816. In 1918 there were 4,024,560, valued at $16,104,880, an increase of 548,861 in number and $4,202,964 in valuation. The year's reports were 114,459 sheep and lambs, valued at $6,124,895.75, or $51,843.75 more than in 1918. Wool exports were $2,849,750, valued at $7,253,225.50. The increase over 1918 was 1,045,800 pounds and the value $93,825. During the twelve months there were imported 309,597 sheep and 14,225 bucks, a total of 323,822, valued at $1,376,245.50. The exports of 1919 increased over one-third over those of 1918. Wyoming is second to Montana in point of wool production, which was nearly 50,000,000 pounds. There are at present 4,000,000 sheep on the ranges of Montana more than in Wyoming.

MANY FREAK LAWS FOR TENNESSEE

All Sorts of Legislation Proposed at Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 16.—Members of the Tennessee legislature have come to Nashville primed with all sorts of legislative ideas, ranging from a law taxing female dogs to a measure to prevent tipping hotel waiters. Senator Graham of Hickman county is the father of the former bill, which he brazenly admits has for its object the inauguration of an era of race suicide among Tennessee negroes. Senator Graham's plan has already been successfully tried "on the dog" in Sumner county and is said to have resulted in a great and desirable diminution in the canine crop. Most of the members are afraid of dog laws, however, and are willing that all the barking tribes should pursue their life and happiness without legislative interference. Possibly this fear is due to the remembrance of a famous session of the legislature several years ago, when a general law was passed. In the election following the rights and privileges of dogs were the chief issues, and only two of the members of the legislature who voted for the iniquitous measure were re-elected by their constituents. At the next session the dog law was repealed in all haste, and to this day even yellow curs of the most atrocious type are looked upon with respect by Tennessee legislators.

HILLSBORO, Texas, Jan. 16.—Tom Clark, a negro who has been living south of Hillsboro, has been arrested, charged with assault to murder his wife, who has been living in Itasca. The affair occurred in Itasca Sunday. The negro reported the affair to the officers, showing cuts with a razor.

AFTER BOY SENATOR

Mr. Beveridge Likely to Lose Out in Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 16.—That the election of a boy senator will be the most important in the history of the state now seems certain. A 2-cent passenger fare law, an extension of the provisions of the temperance law and reforms in the management of life insurance companies are being strenuously advocated by Governor Hanly, with the result that the railroad interests and liquor element and the life insurance managers have combined their strength for a bitter warfare with the administration forces. A general primary election law is demanded by the members of the United States Senator Beveridge, who fear that he cannot be re-elected without the aid of a primary law that will give him an equal number of votes with the selection of party leaders. It is declared that a powerful political machine, headed by Vice President Fairbanks, has been formed to bring about the nomination of Fairbanks for the Presidency, Congressman Hanly for governor and Governor Hanly as Beveridge's successor in the senate. State Chairman of the Democratic Party, the originator of this combination, and is to be rewarded with the French ambassadorship in case Fairbanks becomes President. Already this machine is said to be in absolute control of the party machinery of the state, and the supporters of Beveridge fear that he is doomed to retirement unless a primary election law is enacted during the present session.

TO PIPE GAS INTO FT. WORTH

Pittsburg Syndicate Is Now Working on Plan

BUSY SECURING LEASES

Oil Land West and Northwest of the City Is Now Being Prospected by Agents

There is a probability of Fort Worth getting a pipe line from the gas fields of Texas and it is said if plans now on foot materialize it will mean cheap gas for fuel and lighting purposes and probably a big oil refinery.

There has been in Fort Worth for some days a representative of a Pittsburg, Pa., syndicate sent to Texas for the purpose of securing lease for lands supposed to be oil and gas bearing and for some time operations have been carried on by this representative, who is making Fort Worth the headquarters of the interests he represents. There has been sent out from Fort Worth a force of men into the supposed oil and gas territory and already a large acreage in two or three counties has been leased by this syndicate.

Some months ago the Pennsylvania syndicate prospected Palo Pinto and Jack counties for oil, but kept what was being done quiet—so quiet that nobody knew anything of what was going on. When results were secured that justified the belief that that section was oil and gas bearing the representative who is now here was sent to Fort Worth and has for some time been working out of this city. It is said he now has ten or a dozen men in the field getting leases in Palo Pinto and Jack counties, and when a sufficient acreage has been leased to justify the work of drilling will begin all over the leased territory.

Should gas and oil be found in the leased territory in sufficient quantities, and it is believed by these people that it will be, the gas will be piped to Fort Worth and placed on the market for fuel and lighting purposes under a contract to be made with the city. If a contract can be made that will give consumers the long-talked-of cheap gas. If oil should be found in quantities to justify it, and these people have faith that it will be found, the oil also will be piped to Fort Worth, the purpose of that being to erect here a plant for refining the oil.

Some time ago there was published a statement that certain parties were securing land leases in Palo Pinto county for the purpose of "wildcating" for oil and gas, but the parties mentioned in that story have no connection with the Pittsburg syndicate that has its Texas representative located in Fort Worth. It is believed now that the work of the Pittsburg people leaked out and other parties, taking their cue from it, began securing leases for themselves or for some opposing interest in an attempt to shut out the Pittsburg syndicate. The Pittsburg people have gained no ground, however, and have already secured by lease enough territory to justify development work, which, it is said, will be commenced in the near future.

Funerals of the Two Men Killed Monday Night

The aged mother of Eugene Freeman, one of the men killed on the Fort Worth and Denver track Monday night, arrived in Fort Worth Tuesday evening on the Cotton Belt. She was accompanied by Mrs. Eugene C. Freeman, wife of the dead man. They were taken to the undertaking parlors of L. P. Robertson, where the body of the dead man was being held.

Wednesday morning under instructions from Mayor Harris, Chief Funeral Director H. Maddox bought transportation for the body from Fort Worth to Greenville and it was taken to the union station, but did not arrive in time to catch the 8:45 a. m. train and will be forwarded on the evening train, the mother and wife remaining here to accompany the body to Greenville, where it will be buried.

The remains of John C. Holford, the other man killed at the same time at Oakwood cemetery Tuesday afternoon. The funeral services were held at the parlors of the L. P. Robertson undertaking establishment.

AMUSEMENTS

The Squaw Man No play more full of human life, passion, emotion and keen interest has been presented on the stage than Edwino Milton Roy's latest effort, "The Squaw Man," which ran for over six months at Wallack's theatre, New York. Briefly, the plot deals with the adventures of a young English army officer, who for a sentimental reason saddles himself with a crime committed by his cousin, and makes his way to Wyoming, where he takes up cattle ranching. There he meets a girl, a native Indian, who marries the daughter of an Indian chief, and at once finds himself occupying the cellar in the wild social scale, for she has become a squaw man. The story tells in detail how his cousin dies and how the family lawyer comes to him and begs him to return at once to England and assume the title and position that are his right, of the mental struggle he undergoes, and how at last he refuses to desert his Indian wife. It tells further of how he decides to send his six-year-old son home to be trained for the higher position he is occupying, and how the Indian mother, heartbroken at the loss of her child, makes her way into the desert and shoots herself in grief at the coming parting. This rather unconventional ending leaves the way clear for the hero to return to his ancestral home and it offers a potential view of what will transpire there later.

"Everybody Works But Father" After a surfeit of dramas, comedies, pastoral plays, farces, farcical comedies and other like attractions, it is a relief to know that a big musical comedy is being put on at the Danbury play, and at the same time a new play at Greenwall's opera house Friday and Saturday nights with matinee Saturday, Jan. 18 and 19. This will come as an announcement is further intensified by the assurance that it is the one big musical comedy that has been promised the theatregoers here.

"The College Widow" The breezy and wholesome "College Widow" with its plethora of Adelsams, uttered by the most delightfully recognizable American comedienne, Greenwall's opera house Monday night, Jan. 21. This really splendid comedy, of the country to its crown, has long been said to be the strongest cast on the present tour.

At the Majestic Clayton and Jenkins and their pet donkey "Jaasper" are delighting large crowds this week at the Majestic theatre in their new play, "Dartmouth Circus." Clayton and Jenkins are quaint singing, dancing and wildy knockabout negroes, one being a comic circus rider of much equestrian skill. The donkey is a whole show by himself, as he is a very intelligent animal. It is indeed one of the funniest acts on the stage today. This trio has appeared in all the big cities in Europe and has scored a tremendous success everywhere. For an act of the donkey are highly entertaining to the children.

There are lots of other good things on the bill, including the comedy playlet, "Mandy Hawkins," by Danny Mann and wife; Francis Wood, hoop roller; the December troupe of Russian girls in military drabs; Memphis Kennedy in a black face act and Gil Brown, eccentric dancer.

Fort Worth Rink Tuesday being good weather for skating, the big rink enjoyed good crowds at both sessions, and the place is becoming more popular every day. The management requests all the skaters when down town shopping in the afternoon to come over to the big rink and make them a visit. Why not meet your friends there? We will guarantee you a good, clean, comfortable seat, and while waiting you have the pleasure of hearing a fine band and seeing them skate without costing you one cent. Roller polo is becoming very popular among the school children and the management has had several requests for games, the first to be played today at 4:30 p. m. The big five under the leadership of Captain Kennard are working hard and the popular captain says he will make good his statement that he will have the best team in the south.

EDITOR WRITES OF MAUDE FEALY

Remarkable Tribute to Actress—Who Is Coming Here

The unusual tribute of being made subject for the leading editorial was paid Miss Maude Fealy, America's most beautiful actress, soon to be seen in Fort Worth, at the time of her last visit to Denver a week ago. Miss Fealy is a Southern born girl who was raised in the West, but the fame of her beauty is not limited to any one section or even country, for her photograph took the prize for beauty over all competitors at the Paris Exposition.

The editorial about Miss Fealy and her new play appeared in the Denver Times, and was as follows: What do we go to the play for? Why do we read poetry, if we do read poetry? To get aptitudes which match the daily round as we see it off the stage? To hear gossip about well-known types or solve problems which will not solve?

Probably we go chiefly to be amused, and if we are not only amused, but taken out of ourselves into a clean, sweet, open space, where the air is fresh and pure, where the sun shines bright on beautiful dream children, so much the better.

Maude Fealy has just the play her devoted Denver friends could wish her to have, a play the leading retail druggist, Mr. Dashwood left Fort Worth about ten years ago at a time when conditions here were at the lowest ebb and now finds it difficult to find his way about the city without asking for directions, so great has been the change since he lived here.

"Never in my life have I seen such a wonderful change and improvement as has taken place in Fort Worth in the time that has elapsed since I conducted a drug store here. Why, I hardly recognized the town when I got off the train at the magnificent union passenger station. When I left here the best depot building was nothing but a ram-shackle frame structure. There were but seven buildings in Main and Houston streets over three stories high, and two of them were four-story structures. Your large number of five and seven-story buildings now make a fellow feel like he was in St. Louis or some other of the big towns up the country.

"The Illusion" of royal descent, treasured sacredly as part of her thought of the mother she had never seen, and how the frolic and frolic associations which teach the world's life all too soon, and left her still a child even after the years had brought her to womanhood and its responsibilities.

It was a unique conception and gives our well-beloved Denver girl just the opportunity she can use to the best advantage.

It required delicate handling to have fantastic notions of royal dignity cultivated in a boy, and to destroy the child heart. But this is done by making the faith in her princess heritage blind into her devout love for the mother she hungers for and tries to find in a treasured picture.

When she finds a living love beaming into her eyes, she finds a goodly child of her own, and her insistence on the dream slipped from her without a regret.

Someone who belonged to her and to whom she belonged was what the child craved, and when she found that close at hand she no longer felt all things must bend to proving her high lineage.

Meanwhile the hungry desire to keep herself worthy of her own people had held her in a sweet dignity, aloof from others in a lonely but beautiful world of childish fancies.

In such fashion it is made plausible that the audience can breathe the air of exquisite childhood while seeing the form of daintly, gracefully, queenly maidenhood.

Romantic lore demands chivalry, and the play gives it to us in the dearest sort of a way. The charter list consists of representative citizens of Fort Worth, who are taking up the work of the new lodge with much enthusiasm.

The Columbian Woodmen is the new branch of woodcraft, and is growing very popular on account of its modern social features and beautiful ritualistic work, and also its new and exclusive insurance plan. The next meeting will be held early in next week, at which time the officers will be installed.

The following officers were elected: Worthy consul, Thomas G. Rutledge; worthy secretary, A. A. Brown; worthy cardinal, R. S. Mayton; worthy clerk, H. S. Cox; worthy banker, I. J. Jacks; worthy physician, Dr. H. O. Brannon; worthy plot, L. A. Carlton; worthy herald, M. V. Owens; worthy guardsman, T. F. Johnson; worthy picket, J. Monroe Brown.
