

ELECTRICITY CAN'T THINK - BUT YOU CAN!

Television sets need electricity to operate—but not the kind they get when the TV antenna falls across a high voltage line!

In the fringe reception areas especially, where the TV towers reach like countless fingers to the sky, a closer look will show that many of them are within falling reach of power lines.

While it is true that the antennas supported by pipe are guyed three or four ways, and that the self-supporting type of tower is supposed to withstand um-teen miles an hour winds, who can tell what stress they will take a few years after corrosion and decay have begun?

When a TV antenna falls on a power line, exactly what will happen is anybody's guess—the results are bound to be far from good! The TV set will probably be ruined, fire may break out, people may be electrocuted.

Many local codes prohibit the erection of antenna towers within falling reach of power lines. Other codes require an additional guy opposite the power line.

To protect life and property, select a safe location for your TV antenna. Warn tower erectors of any nearby lines. If the hazard has been overlooked and the installation is already completed with your antenna in falling reach of a power line, better consider having it moved to a safer location. Otherwise a sudden storm may suddenly interrupt a good TV program—and at the same time, interrupt your life in a dangerous and costly way!

Dr. J. B. Stephens, right, points out to Raymond Morgan, center, vice-president of the First State Bank of Bangs, and Vaughn Sparkman, left of the Soil Conservation Service, the depth to which moisture had penetrated on a spot of bare ground in his pasture, which was about seven inches. Morgan is holding an auger that was used to sample the depth of moisture under cover. It was found that moisture had penetrated to 44 inches under cover.

SCS District News

Brown-Mills District News.

Raymond Morgan, vice-president of the First State Bank of Bangs and Dr. J. B. Stephens, also of Bangs, report that they have received about seven inches of rain during the last series of storms. Morgan and Dr. Stephens, accompanied by Vaughn Sparkman and Walter Dickens, Soil Conservation Service technicians, made an inspection of Dr. Stephens' farm south east of Bangs to see what this seven inches of rain had done.

Digging in the pasture where there was some pretty good cover on the ground, it was found that the moisture had penetrated to a depth of 44 inches. Just a few feet away where the ground was bare it was found that the moisture had penetrated to a depth of seven inches. Morgan observed that after a few days of hot sun and dry wind the moisture in the bare areas would be gone. Moisture down 44 inches though would support plant growth for quite some time.

Digging in Dr. Stephens' grain field it was found that a surface crust had developed. The surface crust had sealed over the top of the soil and prevented the penetration of moisture. Here again it was found the moisture had penetrated about seven inches. Digging in his field, Dr. Stephens found that a plow pan has developed that is also hindering the penetration of moisture. Where there was some ridges or furrows that had held the moisture for a little while, it was found that it had penetrated to a depth of 30 inches. Dr. Stephens observed that in addition to terracing and contour farming he needed additional organic matter in his soil to prevent the surface crust and to condition the soil so it will take up moisture faster.

Dr. Stephens has requested assistance from the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District for help in developing a soil, water and plant conservation program for his fields and pastures. Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service will assist him in developing the program.

Grosvenor Conservation Group organizes. At their regular meeting on Thursday, May 19, the Grosvenor Conservation Group elected H. P. Morris as president. Wink Palmer was elected vice-president and Mrs. Gladney Smith was elected secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was held at the H. P. Morris home, north of Grosvenor. Members of the group, technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, G. G. Goss, supervisor of the Brown-Mills Conservation District, Zone 1, and Mrs. Goss enjoyed a feast of barbecued goat with all the trimmings. Approximately 15 district co-operators and their families were in attendance at the meeting.

It was reported that 300 acres of pasture pitting have been completed in the Grosvenor area and there are plans studied for an additional 400 acres to be pitted. Members of the group have been planning deferred grazing to give pitted areas a chance to establish a cover. Some grass planting has been done and others are planning to do some. Gladney Smith reports that Blue Panic Grass and Buffelgrass that he planted is up.

Cross Plains, Texas

Washington

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURRELLSON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C. — During the 1952 Presidential election, the Republicans and Democrats tried to outdo one another in promising to open up the gates to foreign immigration. Both parties advocated revision of the McCarran-Walter Act which earlier had placed restrictions on immigration.

When the Democrats were in control, the so-called DP Bill was enacted, which liberalized the entrance of Displaced Persons caused by the war. During the first session of the Congress when the Republicans were in control they passed the bill known as the Refugee Relief Act of 1953.

Now Mr. Eisenhower, the Republican President, and Mr. Adlai Stevenson, who is said to be the titular head of the Democratic Party, both recommend greatly liberalizing these acts. In fact, it appears that many of those in high places in both parties want to repeal the McCarran-Walter Act entirely.

Of course, the reason for these actions is obvious. Each of the parties wants to curry favor with the huge minority groups in the big cities, which have a tremendous influence in electing a President. Both sides are willing to play politics with this vital issue. They know it makes the difference in a national election.

No one can deny that in earlier days great talents came to the United States from foreign countries. Some of the greatest scientists, artists, musicians, etc., who have given great impetus to the cultural development of this nation were foreign-born. It should be remembered, however, that this was in an earlier day. As of today, the record will support the fact that these foreign elements are contributing in a large degree to the major crimes in this country. The subversive element, which would destroy the freedom and liberty they are privileged to enjoy, are not usually named Johnson, Jones and Smith. They are not the older stock of immigrants who have contributed great talents towards the development of our nation.

As I have in the past, I shall oppose efforts to weaken the McCarran-Walter Act and will oppose the liberalization of the Refugee Act, which would let in the dregs of humanity of Europe, while attempting to give refuge in this country to some decent people. We would be doing a greater service for our country by deporting some of these we have instead of bringing in more to add to the undesirable list found in the huge foreign elements in the big cities.

The House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill which would permit the Federal Government to assist local communities, through the proper organizations, to finance water projects costing not more than $10,000,000.

The local agency, such as irrigation and water districts, could secure federal loans up to $5 million with a 50-year pay-off period. Local interest would be required to finance the difference between $5 million and the total cost of the project up to $10 million. In the event the community organization can qualify, the Federal Government can grant money of the same amount which would be received for credit for flood control, fish and

Heads USO Drive

Watrous H. Irons, President of Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, has been named to serve as chairman for the Texas United Defense Fund. He served as Chairman for the successful campaign of 1954-55 and has accepted the position again for the 1955-56 campaign which will be launched this fall. Principal agency in the Texas United Defense Fund is the USO, which provides recreational activities for the men and women in the armed forces. Appointment of Mr. Irons as campaign chairman was made by Ben H. Wooten of Dallas, general chairman for Texas.

wildlife, irrigation, reclamation, etc. This legislation is more or less supplemental to the upstream flood prevention law now under the Department of Agriculture. The bill just passed by the House of Representatives would also make funds available to municipalities to capture water for domestic use under the same general rules, except that the loans would be interest-bearing.

It is entirely possible that some communities in the 17th Congressional District may be interested in exploring the possibilities should this measure be approved by the Senate and signed into law by the President. It does, however, require considerable responsibility on the part of the local interests who may undertake such a project.

"It has been said that the only thing harder than being able to hold your head up in adversity is being willing to bow it in prosperity."

Health Officer Warns Against Contaminated Foods And Water

Austin.—The summer season always brings an increase in the incidence of dysentery, diarrhea and enteritis, all of which are major menaces to the lives of small children, annually causing the death or illness of hundreds of Texas youngsters.

Dr. Henry Holle, Commissioner of Health, declares that the chief cause of these intestinal diseases are contaminated milk, water or food; allowing the child to get overheated or exhausted; excessive sugar in the infant's formula and foods that have been improperly refrigerated.

All foods should be clean and fresh and all left-overs should be refrigerated so as to avoid spoilage. The utmost care should be used in preparing the infant's formula which should, of course, be prescribed by a physician and his recommendations as to sanitation precautions and correct refrigeration should be implicitly followed.

The Commissioner of Health warned parents especially of the disease transmission by flies. Children in any home that is not free from flies are in danger of contracting dysentery or other intestinal diseases which may be fatal.

If dysentery or diarrhea symptoms appear in your child, call your doctor immediately, Dr. Holle advises. His treatment of the disease is your best insurance against fatal results, since such diseases are really a very serious threat to the child's life. Do not depend on home remedies for diarrhea or dysentery; consult a competent physician and let him start the safest and best treatment which medical science has available for combatting these diseases.

Visitors in the Frank Woody home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Woody and family of San Angelo and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shirley and children of Stephenville.

Don't argue with this baby!

All Chevrolet's competitors and most of the high-priced cars tried it recently in official NASCAR* trials—and took a licking!

Meet the champ! The new Chevrolet "Turbo-Fire V8"—the most modern V8 on the road today. Here's what happened—

Daytona Beach, NASCAR Acceleration Tests Over Measured Mile From Standing Start. Chevrolet captured the 4 top positions in its class! 8 of the first 11! And on a time basis Chevrolet beat every high-priced car, too—but one! But wait!—this is just the beginning!

Daytona Beach, NASCAR 2-Way Straightaway Running Over Measured Mile. Open to cars from 250 to 299 cu. in. displacement. Chevrolet captured 3 of the first 5 places!

Columbia, S. C. NASCAR 100-Mile Race on half-mile track. Very tight turns. Chevrolet finished first!

Daytona Beach, NASCAR Late Model Event. Chevrolet again finished first. Because of even tighter turns the driver chose to run the entire 150 laps in second gear! Yet no overheating or pit stops!

These facts you can't laugh off. Sales leader. Road leader. A crowning achievement of Chevrolet and General Motors. Try a Chevrolet . . . and live in a land of going-away where you win all the arguments! Soon, maybe?
