Water from flooded Turkey Creek which runs along west edge of Cross Plains crossing Highway 36, immediately west of the city limits. Water approximately 1 1/2 feet deep at the deepest stage. About 200 yards long.

Home of Elmer Baugh which stood about 2 feet deep in water. The house was unoccupied, but the furnishings were completely ruined. The flooded area covered about seven city blocks in the West edge of Cross Plains. Flood waters from Turkey Creek which is usually a dry stream.

By BENNY GLOVER "The biggest it has been in 34 years."

That was the statement uttered by many of the older residents of this area as they watched the rampaging waters of flooded Turkey Creek Sunday morning cover the entire creek bottom in the west edge of town and bringing destruction to several houses.

The history making event brought heartbreak and sorrow to Charlie Baugh, Elmer Baugh, J. W. "Pappy" Cox, A. A. Bertrand and Elmer Hamby whose houses, in the creek bottom were damaged by the flood waters. This excludes the loss of farm land and crops washed away and the fences flattened by the surging liquid. Both the city and state parks were heavily damaged by the water.

The home owned by J. W. "Pappy" Cox was possibly the most severely damaged of the entire group of flooded dwellings. Several pieces of small furniture were washed away by the flood waters reaching a depth of about four feet in his home. Virtually all of the building's furnishings were destroyed.

The flood waters reached a depth of about three feet in the home of Charlie Baugh, completely destroying the furnishings, and leaving behind a coating of mud on and in everything the water reached. This house is on the east edge of the flooded area.

A. A. Bertrand's house escaped damage as it was on higher ground. But Bertrand's combined cafe and station suffered extensive damage. The water's force knocked over a large refrigerator and ruined much of his other equipment. The water was approximately 20 inches deep in the store. The water lapped about a foot getting into his house, located on higher ground directly behind the cafe.

Elmer Baugh's house, although unoccupied, received severe damage and the furnishings were considered by Claude Baugh a total loss.

Elmer Hamby, living west of the creek, said the water got about four inches deep in the back room of his house, but his car, sitting in front of the house, was heavily damaged as water reached the cushions inside the auto before he could pull the vehicle to dry land. Eighteen thousand pounds of maize stored in a barn north of Hamby's house was ruined with damage estimated at $400.

The angry water reached the west and lower side of the McNeel supply yard on the south side of Highway 36. The flash flood damaged Highway 36 from the city limits on the east side to the Coleman-Ablene "Y" on the west.

Edward Pancake, assisted by Jackie Pancake and Joe Gary, launched his outboard motor boat in the street directly north of Fonia Worthy's business and evacuated Joe Ben Cox and Sidnev Cox from the rise of dry land on which they were marooned. A. A. Bertrand refused to leave his home at the invitation of Pancake.

Near disaster came to J. H. Reed of Dublin as his empty milk truck was swept off the highway and into some holes on the shoulder of the roadbed. Reed's truck leaned dangerously toward the ditch on the right side of the road, headed toward town, with the tires on the left side completely free of the ground. Reed left the truck and waded to dry land.

Reed was driving the truck belonging to The Wes-Central Milk Producers Association of Abilene. The truck was freed from its position by a wench truck owned by Jimmy Greathouse and operated by Roy Hagler.

Several other cars and trucks were almost swept to the side by the force of the water but managed to cross safely.

Long lines of traffic were tied up by the rampaging water. Deputy Sheriff Alex Shocklee, Brown County Sheriff Ray Masters and a crew of highway maintenance men slowly relieved the traffic tie-up.

Although only 3.6 inches of rain fell in the city of Cross Plains heavier precipitation was received in the area in which Turkey Creek has its source. According to Tommie Burl Conlee, he crossed the creek on Highway 36 about 7 a.m. and the creek had just begun to flow, but by 9 a.m. the entire bottom land on the west edge of town was covered by the flood water.

The water started receding about 11:15 a.m. and by 1 p.m. the highway was free of water. The owners of the flooded houses started their clean-up shortly afterward.

The event is history now but it will long be remembered by the residents of this area as the most destructive flood that Turkey Creek has produced in recent times.

Bufs Meet G'waite In Conference Game There Friday Night

A badly-crippled Buffalo team will journey to Goldthwaite Friday night, where they will meet the strong Goldthwaite Eagle eleven in their first District game of the season.

The Bufs will start the game without the services of three of their best players. Fullback Audrey Gary is in the hospital in Throckmorton, receiving treatment for a knee injury he received while warming up for the game there last Friday night. Charles Neeb, defensive halfback is in Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene where he is suffering from a brain concussion received in the Throckmorton game. John Baum, starting center will be out of the lineup, due to a badly-sprained ankle. He, too, suffered his injury at the Throckmorton.

James Alexander, head Buff Coach, stated that he wasn't sure what his team would look like by Friday, as the flu has also struck the squad. However, as The Review went to press only one starter, Darvel Hutchins, was down with it, and it was hoped that he would be up and able to play by Friday.

Alexander stated that the injuries suffered last Friday night made it necessary for him to "swap" positions of some of his starters again this week. Joe Gary, stalwart guard, has been moved to fullback, replacing Audrey and other changes will likely be necessary before Friday.

LIGHTNING STRIKES BROWN HOME EARLY SUNDAY A.M.

B. H. Brown who lives in the Northeast part of town has reported that some $75 worth of damage was done to the Brown home Sunday morning about 3 o'clock when lightning struck the television antenna and traveled inside the house to ruin the antenna rotor and scorch the walls in the living room where the television was located. Mrs. Brown had unplugged the television set only a short time before the lightning struck, which saved it from being damaged.

Telephone lines outside the Brown home were also knocked out by the lightning and some 30 feet of the cable were reported to have fallen in the street.

Mrs. Vellie McDonough returned Monday from Sweetwater where she was called on account of the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. J. R. Bagley who underwent surgery in Simmons Memorial Hospital Monday morning. She was reported in fair condition Monday afternoon.

BAYOU PHILOSOPHER WONDERS IF MANNED SPACE FLIGHT WILL BE JOKE ON SCIENTISTS

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on the Bayou seems to be undisturbed about the Russian satellite, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor: Last week it wasn't necessary to go out of your way at all to get hold of the main topic of discussion throughout the world—that satellite the Russians shot out into space, and while I haven't heard of anybody around here who has seen it, I'll admit if they're like me they haven't tried very hard.

If it's passing over my farm every 92 minutes, it's all right with me. There's no law against it. But I have been thinking. Now I understand some people in the United States are concerned over the fact Russia got a satellite up first, but it doesn't bother me. I figure we'll get one up before long.

The secret of a satellite is sort of like the secret of the bicycle—it's pretty generally known in scientific circles. But what does interest me is this. I feel sure we can get a small satellite up into space, and a little later on we can get a bigger one, then a still bigger one, and if we spend enough effort and money we can finally, I suppose, get a real rocket ship up in space, with a man on board, and I'm sure we ought to do it.

But I've been thinking, what a joke it would be on the scientists if after we spend several billion dollars, get the rocket ship up all right, and the man on board successfully sails it around through-out space for a few days and then radios back: "Well, I've been around the moon twice, I've traveled a hundred million miles in every direction I can think of from the earth, I've explored everything I can find out here, and while I hate to say this, I know you've spent a lot of money getting me and this rocket ship into outer space, BUT THERE AIN'T NOTHING OUT HERE. I can't find a blamed thing out here worth having, and you can see just as much of nothing as I can by looking straight up from where you're standing on earth. No trees, no rivers, no land, no people, just a lot of nothing and a million or so monotonous stars that sun-burn you if you get close. If it's all right with you, I'd like to come back down. I'd even enjoy arguing with my wife. Anything to get away from all this blank space."

Now I'm not saying this is what'll happen, we ought to go ahead and see anyway, but we ought to keep in the back of our mind that it's possible a twinkling star is sort of like a movie actress—it looks a lot better from a distance.

Flood Loss Is Heavy

Flood damage to homes and farm buildings and livestock, not to mention farm land, fences and crops, was reported to be heavy in the Turkey Creek watershed, here last Sunday morning, and old-timers all agree that it was the worst flood on the creek since April 23, 1923.

Some seven or eight city blocks, located in the west edge of the city, were inundated and damage was severe to homes in the flooded area.

Farm Losses

According to a survey made by technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, farm losses amounted to thousands of dollars, and damage to farm lands along the watershed was heavy.

Blanton Childers suffered the heaviest reported damage, it was said. He lost 110 head of sheep and one goat. Other farmers reporting livestock losses were: Calvin Ingram, three calves; A. L. Breeding, two sheep; M. E. Bowman, 33 goats, and Sam Ingram, 25 hogs.

Area Rain Gauges

The following gauges of the rain Sunday were reported:

Table with 2 columns: Gauge Name and Amount. Local gauge: 4.00, C. M. Garrett: 3.30, V. I. Spivey: 7.00, E. E. Weaver: 6.00, Earl Montgomery: 4.00, W. J. Wright: 2.75, Frank Spencer: 6.45.

Other Damage. Along with crop, soil and livestock losses, farmers and ranchers in this area lost many miles of fences, and damage to roads and bridges were extensive, it was reported. Approaches to the bridge on the old Cottonwood road were damaged and the west approach was washed out completely and the bridge was twisted out of position. A steel bridge spanning the creek near the W. J. Wright place in the Cross Cut community was washed out completely and was found downstream some 400 feet.

Crop damage was severe all along the watershed of Turkey Creek, but Claude and Claudell Joy were reported the heaviest losers when some 800 bundles of grain sorghum were washed out of their fields.

SCS technicians report that there are 63,400 acres of land in the Turkey Creek watershed, with 40,675 acres in rangeland and 22,725 in cropland, and they report that all cropland suffered to some extent while rangeland with a good cover of grass escaped with little or no damage.

Bufs Lose to Hounds By Score of 30-6

By BENNY GLOVER The Cross Plains Buffaloes, still plagued with the fumbleitis combined with a sorry 119 yards in penalties, went down in defeat to the Throckmorton Greyhounds, 30-6.

The game, played in Throckmorton last Friday, was all Greyhound with the exception of the first quarter, which ended 0-0, and a freak Buff touchdown in the third quarter.

The lone Buffalo TD came at the beginning of the third quarter and after the touchdown was made the clock still stood with 12 minutes remaining to be played in the quarter. Cross Plains kicked off to the Greyhounds and the ball scooted through the legs of a Throckmorton man and across the goal line. Darvel Hutchins was down-field fast and recovered the fumble in the end zone for the Buff tally. A fumble on the extra point try fooled the play; the Greyhounds led the Buffs, 12-6.

Throckmorton's game was helped by the Buffs as they lost four fumbles and had three passes intercepted. Two of the four lost fumbles were turned into touchdowns by the Greyhounds and one of the intercepted passes was returned for a tally. The locals also received more yards in penalties than they made rushing from the line of scrimmage. Neither side was able to chalk up an extra point.

The first quarter of the contest was a tight defensive game as neither team was able to score. But in the second quarter the Greyhounds capitalized on two Buff fumbles, both inside the Buff 20 yard line, to reach the promised land twice in that period. Throckmorton recovered a fumble on the Buffalo 19 early in the second quarter and seven plays later, Charles Hibbitts, Greyhound halfback, scored from two yards out. Later in the same period, a Buff fumble was recovered on the Cross Plains five and Throckmorton's quarterback, Jerry Grable, scored from one yard out. The Greyhounds led the Buffaloes 12-0 at halftime.

Morgan Rouse was buried in Santa Anna Sunday. He had lived in our community for years and moved to Santa Anna in 1930. He was born in Freestone County, October 4, 1872, and came to Callahan County in 1885. He farmed until his retirement. His wife is the former Rosa Coffey, who survives. Other survivors are one daughter, three sons, one sister and one brother. Morgan will be missed by everyone for he spent a large part of his 85 years in the Atwell community.

quartet. The four bandsmen featured were Billy Spencer, Paul Whitton, Jr., Pat Ford, and Carolyn Forbes.

In the third quarter came the most dazzling play of the entire night, as Darvel Hutchins pounced on the kickoff opening the second half of play in the end zone for the Buffs' six points. Hutchins was the Buff star of the night as he played a tremendous game both on offense and defense.

Throckmorton hit paydirt twice in the third quarter. Grable blasted over in the early minutes of the period from the one and later in the period he scampered around around right end for 10 yards and another tally. At this point Throckmorton led the locals 24-0.

Throckmorton's Grable again scored in the fourth quarter when he intercepted a Buff pass and rambled 30 yards on the return into the end zone. The final score read, Throckmorton 30 and Cross Plains 6. This defeat pinned three losses against two wins on the Buff record in non-conference action. Next week the Buffs meet the highly rated Goldthwaite Eagles in their first conference game.

Audrey Gary and Charles Neeb were injured in Throckmorton. Gary, powerful Buffalo fullback, injured his knee while warming up before the game and is not expected to see action again this season. He was left in the hospital in Throckmorton Friday night with his leg in traction.

Neeb, quarterback and end for the Buffaloes, received a brain concussion during the course of the game and it is doubtful if he will recover fully enough to permit him to resume play this season. The loss of these two fine starters will surely be felt by the Buffs.

Next week the Buffs journey to Goldthwaite to clash with the highly rated Eagles in their first conference contest. Game time is set for 7:30 p.m.

"I'm cooking dinner with my CLEAN, AUTOMATIC Electric RANGE"

Be Happy! Live Better — Electrically

and nothing is as COOL, FAST and SAFE as Electric Cooking —

As this modern kitchen clearly shows, today's trend is to electricity. And perhaps the best example of this is the electric range. Smart looking, convenient, insulated on all 6 sides (as are all electric ovens) you get even, steady heat for baking and roasting. No gaswork with electric surface units either. The heat you set is yours automatically every time. And the heat goes directly into the bottom of the pan, not up the sides and into your kitchen. But the thing you'll appreciate most is the way your electric range stays modern — year after year.

Social Security Payments Women, Explained

All women over 47 years of age, especially those nearing or past 62, are affected by the changes in the social security retirement age. The effective last November 1, 1954, the retirement age for women is now 62. M. Vaden Jr., field representative of the Abilene social security office said today.

Even though a wife elects the reduced benefit before age 65, this would be changed to the full widow's payment if her husband should die. Her election would not jeopardize or reduce her widow's benefit regardless of her age in case of her husband's death.

The wife or woman worker must make her own decision as to whether it's better to have the benefit now at the reduced rate or to get a higher benefit by waiting. While the social security office will furnish complete information and answer all questions of the women, it can't make the decision for them. Current employment of prospective employment of the woman or her husband, and health, are among the things that must be considered.

Local experience shows that most wives and insured women workers have elected to take the earlier benefits—"the bird in the hand"—rather than wait for the higher payments at 65.

The eligibility requirements for women workers also have been relaxed as a result of the age 62 provision. Eliminating the three years work requirement between 62 and 65 means that women can qualify with six less calendar quarters of covered work than before—so long as they have the minimum of six quarters of coverage.

This makes payments possible to many women who reached 65 after June 1954, and did not have enough work to qualify under the old law. For example, a woman worker who becomes 65 the first half of 1957 would have needed 12 quarters of work to qualify before the amendments. Now she needs only six quarters of work to be insured—only half as much.

College Station—Do you experience a feeling of pride as you scan the familiar sites in your community or is there restless dissatisfaction because you see so much that could be improved.

Rural folks all over Texas have been making this community evaluation and many have seen the need of improvement. In fact, over 800 neighborhoods have organized, set goals and have begun to achieve them. An estimated 2,000 small towns in Texas could benefit greatly by taking part in an organized community improvement program.

A leaflet recently released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, "My Community—How Does It Look," suggests some of the projects that organized communities in Texas can carry on which will result in more attractive, healthier and more prosperous places in which to live.

which to live. No list of goals could meet the needs of all because each community differs in its physical assets and opportunities. However, some good starting ideas such as church activities, fund raising projects, community centers, neighborly deeds and opportunities for youth, are discussed.

This leaflet can be a big help to any leader of organized community effort. It may be obtained from local county extension agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for L-347.

THE WONDROUS YEARS OF OUR TIME...

Man's use of petroleum — of oil and natural gas — began before the first records of history. But petroleum's full usefulness to man has been a matter of decades only.

They have been wondrous years, those decades. Years that saw automobiles built by the millions because gasoline was available as a cheap source of power. Years that saw the oceans dwindle under the high speed of great ships powered by oil. Years that saw the evolution of a more comfortable living in homes warmed by oil and natural gas. Years that saw rubber, fibers, paints and many other useful items of everyday living produced from petroleum's hydrocarbons. Years that saw the earth shrink under the wings of the airplane, and great wars decided by the availability of oil.

Thus, the oil industry has led the way into the wondrous years of our time. The industry, through foresight, ingenuity, research, and risk-taking, has found and produced the oil required in greater quantity each year, has conserved oil for the future, has devised the transportation systems that move oil economically, has built the refineries and plants that convert crude oil and natural gas to the hundreds of useful products needed by a growing United States.

The Humble Company, founded in 1917, has participated in petroleum's progress during four great decades, and has pioneered in the development of many current techniques for finding, producing and refining oil. This week, with the industry, Humble invites you to consider the variety and extent of oil's progress . . . Surely no other industry has contributed more to the making of modern America.
