Speech Class Presents One-Act Plays Here Tuesday Night, Feb. 4

A variety of three different types of one-act plays will be presented by the Speech Class of Cross Plains High School on Tuesday, February 4, at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend these performances at the High School auditorium. Admission will be 25 cents for students and 35 cents for adults.

Miss Jerry Koenig will serve as mistress of ceremonies to introduce each of the three plays.

The first play to be presented will be the mystery-comedy, "The Haunted Theatre." After standing idle for 18 months, the Grand Theatre is to be used by Lorna Carew to present her one-woman show. For the past five years, every artist who has used the theatre has been mysteriously killed there after the performance. Will tragedy strike again at the Grand Theatre? Who is the black cloaked figure that emerges from the closet of the dressing room?

The students who will participate in this play are: Rita Sipes, as Lorna Carew; John Baum, as Bob Ransome; her manager and fiancé; Jane Schaffner as Arbutus, Lorna's colored maid; Mary Gary as Dorothy Deane, a newspaper columnist who is bitter because her father committed suicide after being cheated out of the Grand Theatre; Jim Lewis as Mr. Weber, the present owner of the theatre; and Phil Harris as Gilbey, a stagehand who seems very curious.

The second drama of the evening will be the mystery play, "Drums in the Night." In the living room of David Perry's mansion, which has stood vacant for six months since David's death, is an Indian tom-tom. Is it in some way connected with David Perry's fortune, which has never been located since his death? When a group of David's friends gather there one evening, the tom-tom disappears, stolen by one of the group when the lights were turned out. Then the beating of the tom-tom, when the lights are again extinguished, leads to a strange solution of the riddle.

Students appearing in this play will be Blenda Brashear as Mona Perry, the niece of the late David Perry; Grady Scott as Dr. Markwood, the physician who attended David Perry; Cheryl Gray Morgan as Constance Markwood, the doctor's daughter; Ophelia Justice as Jessica Wayne, an elderly neighbor; Mary Gary as Amy Ellis, David Perry's housekeeper; Tommy Porter as Warren Butler, the owner of an antique shop who wants to buy some of David Perry's glassware; and Lynette Hutchins as Beth Halloway, Dr. Markwood's secretary.

The last play of the evening will be the one-act comedy, "Shock of His Life." If you knew this were your last hour on earth, what would you do? This is the problem that faces Mr. Maxwell, as he reads the terrible verdict. He has been to see his doctor for his yearly check-up, confident that he is brimming with health. But the message which his son, Wilbur, has written down when the doctor phoned indicates that Mr. Maxwell has only a few more moments to live.

What he doesn't know is that Wilbur has taken three different phone messages, but has written them all together as though they were one message. The appearance of two "red devils" further convinces Mr. Maxwell that his time has come. One laugh follows another as Mr. Maxwell finds his family strangely unsympathetic when they misunderstand his attempted explanation of his condition.

Taking part in "Shock of His Life" will be the following students: Perry Lee Jennings as Mr. Maxwell; Anita Baygh as Mrs. Maxwell; Jackie Dewbre as Connie, the elder daughter; Shannon Bryan as Betty Lou, the younger daughter; Bevelyn Foster as Wilbur, the cause of all the misunderstanding; and J. L. Cearley as Hercules, a pal of Wilbur's.

Mrs. E. L. Morgan is teacher of the class and director of the plays. The public is urged to attend the presentation of these three one-act plays for an evening of pleasant entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Dewbre, Jackie, Tom and Terry, were week end visitors with friends in McCamey and Bakersfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bishop and sons spent Sunday afternoon in Abilene visiting in the Frank Stevenson home.

Philosopher Is Puzzled By Argument Farm Program Be dropped Because It Won't Work

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on the Bayou apparently is trying to write thoughtfully this week, but we can't tell whether he succeeds or not.

Dear editor: Sometimes I get mixed up on the thinking that goes on in Washington, which is only natural, as I also get mixed up on the thinking that goes on out here on this Johnson grass farm.

For example, I was reading in a newspaper last night, for your information, I walked up to a newsstand in town and paid a nickel for it day before yesterday, where an agricultural expert, testifying before a Congressional committee in Washington, said "Last year it cost over three billion dollars to carry out the present farm price support and stabilization program. If this had brought a solution to our problem, it would have been a bargain. Instead, the problem is still with us."

As a result, he was in favor of abolishing the program. I don't understand this type of thinking, on the grounds that it runs counter to all other thinking that goes on in Washington and out here too.

For instance, take Foreign Aid. Last year we spent many times more than three billion dollars on foreign aid, but how many countries do you know of who don't need aid as much this year as last? If there ever was a problem that's still with us, after years of tackling it, it's foreign aid.

Or take national defense. We spend around 40 billion dollars a year on defense, but the problem is still with us, in a worse way than it ever was.

Or take education. Counting what the whole country spends, from the first grade through college, we must spend many a billion dollars a year on education, yet you don't even have to get off this farm out here to find a man who could stand some more, and it's my idea you can find plenty more without even coming this far, maybe without even leaving town, maybe without even leaving your block, maybe, will, there's no use in narrowing this down any further, ain't that what you say? You reckon that Washington expert wants to abolish schools because some people are still ignorant.

Trying to permanently solve the farm problem is like trying to permanently solve the problem of a new car. You can buy a brand new 1958 model today because your family is holding for one to maintain its social standing, but that won't solve your new car problem, unless you can abolish the calendar. Manufacturers are already working on plans for the 1959 model to make your 1958 model look old-fashioned, and anyway, I've never seen a car, new or old, that didn't cost money to run.

If you're going to abolish a program just because it hasn't solved the problems, you'll be faced with the job of abolishing churches, marriages, police departments, hospitals, schools, foreign aid, national defense, automobile mechanics, weather forecasting, radio, television, and possibly newspapers. We'd better change the subject.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Quilts Are Donated. Mrs. Worthy stated that two beautiful quilts will also be sold during the auction. They were donated to the local MOD by the members of the Cross Plains Sew and So Club and the Pioneer Home Demonstration Club.

While the Salk vaccine has materially reduced the number of victims suffering polio, Mrs. Worthy points out that there is still a real need for finances to carry on the worthwhile work of the National Foundation. Along with caring for a large number of unfortunate victims already struck by the dreaded disease, there is still much work to be done in research, so you are urged to attend the MOD program and give generously to this worthy cause.

Cross Plains has always led the county in support of this program and in speaking of this program Mrs. Worthy stated that she was sure that citizens of this community would rally to the call and retain their first place standing in the fight against infantile paralysis.

Remember the date—Thursday night, Feb. 6, at 7:30 o'clock at the school auditorium.

Noah Alexander Smedley, a resident of Callahan County for 52 years, and a resident of the Starr Rest Home in Merkel the past two years, celebrated his 100th birthday Friday, Jan. 17.

About 30 persons, including eight of his nine living children, attended a party in honor of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Smedley had 11 children, nine of whom are still living. Three of the sons are past 70 years of age, and the youngest will be 50 years old next August. There are 26 grandchildren and 38 great-grandchildren.

His six sons, Lonnie, Lester, Odie, Jimmie, Wylie and Robert were all at the birthday party, as were daughters, Mrs. Barney Gibbs and Mrs. Warren Price.

Employers Required to Provide W-2 Forms

Employers were reminded this week that their employees are entitled to receive two copies of a "Withholding Statement," Form W-2, on or before Friday, Jan. 31.

In making this announcement, A. E. Fogle, Jr., of Internal Revenue Service, Abilene, said, "This statement shows the total wages paid and the income tax and social security tax withheld, if any, during the calendar year of 1957."

Total wages shown on an employer's W-2 should include amounts received as sick pay from his employer, even though no tax has been withheld on such sick pay. Sick pay is not required to be shown separately.

Fogle stated that if it becomes necessary to correct a W-2 after it has been given to an employee, a corrected statement must be issued and marked "corrected by employer."
