Rain Report

Intermittent showers which were touched off in this area by the tropical storm Ella, fell over the Cross Plains area Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

S. F. "Fos" Bond, veteran observer here for the U. S. Weather Bureau, gauged .68 for the three-day total, but some sections of the Cross Plains area received much more moisture.

Frank Spencer, who resides about 10 miles west of town, reported that he measured over three inches during the three-day period.

The moisture will be a lifesaver for late peanut crops and will also aid winter pastures. Farmers and ranchers in this area are busy breaking grain stubble and preparing to sow fall grain and cover crops.

W. C. Rouse, 80, Is Buried At Atwell

W. C. Rouse, 80, was laid to final rest in the Atwell Cemetery Sunday, Sept. 7, following services at 2:30 p. m. in the First Baptist Church here. Rev. V. D. Walters, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mr. Rouse passed away Saturday at 1:30 a. m. in a rest home at Bangs where he had been a patient for several months. He had been in ill health for the past five years.

Born Oct. 10, 1877, in Freestone County, he moved to Callahan County with his mother, the late Mrs. William James Rouse, at the age of three. His father had died earlier in Freestone County. The family settled in the Atwell Community where he was married to Harriet Cave, 57 years ago. They lived in that community where he engaged in farming until his retirement some 13 years ago when they moved to Cross Plains.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Treasy Purvis of Cross Plains and Mrs. Faye Purvis of Gruver; two sons, Owen of Fort Worth and Melvin Rouse of Putnam; and a sister, Mrs. W. M. Tatom of Cross Plains. Also 11 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Serving as pallbearers were Clyde Lovelady, Bernice Fossler, Claude Foster, Delbert McWilliams, Dave Foster and Robert Brashear.

Oct. 5-11 Is Proclaimed Letter Writing Week

International Letter Writing Week will be celebrated in Cross Plains during the week of October 5 to 11, Postmaster F. R. Anderson announced today.

Twenty-one years ago, realizing the importance of written communication, the Post Office Department joined in the observance of an annual letter writing as a link between people throughout the world.

Postmaster Anderson explained that by participating in both International Letter Writing Week and National Letter Writing Week this worthwhile objective is promoted between all peoples everywhere.

"As we all know so well," Mr. Anderson said, "a personal letter is next to an actual visit, the most intimate means we have to communicate with our fellow human beings. Letters between our citizens and between peoples of different nations are a sure method of establishing friendly relationships and understanding."

"I urge all citizens of Cross Plains to join in this celebration of International Letter Writing Week. And at the same time, don't overlook your friends and relatives in America. Write them a letter too!"

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jones of Abilene visited in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Jones, over the week end.

Mrs. Max D. Lovett of San Angelo is here for a few days' visit with her mother, Mrs. A. C. Billingsley.

Oliver Freeman Loses Eye In Accident Saturday

Oliver Freeman who lives West of town suffered the loss of his right eye in an accident on his farm Saturday. He was repairing a tractor tire when the chisel he was using slipped and struck him in the eye.

He was carried to Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene and underwent surgery for the removal of the eye Sunday. He is reported to be getting along nicely and without complications, and is expected home in a few days.

Flood Control Meet Set At Cottonwood Tonight

Residents of the proposed Turkey Creek Water Control and Improvement district in Callahan County are reminded that a public meeting to explain the project will be held at the community center in Cottonwood tonight (Thursday) and directors of the district are anxious to have a large turn-out of interested citizens present.

Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, together with other guests will be present to lead in the discussion when the need and workings of the district will be explained.

Another meeting will be held here before resident landowners ballot on the district, Saturday, Sept. 27, it was said. Notice of the election appears on another page of this edition of the Review. Another election to be held in the Brown County section of the Turkey Creek watershed will also be held on the same date, and residents of that area are also invited to attend the Cottonwood meeting, which is scheduled to get underway at 8:00 o'clock.

Eula Baptist Church Wins State Award

Dallas—The Eula Baptist Church, near Clyde, has been named winner of the Town and Country Achievement Award sponsored by the Callahan Association, Baptist leaders said in Dallas.

The church is now competing with other associational winners in District 17 of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. Both district and associational winners will be recognized at the annual state convention in San Antonio, Nov. 3-6, when the first place state award will be made.

The Rev. Norman L. Crisp is pastor of the Eula Church, one of 414 Texas Baptist town and country churches participating in the competition this year.

The award is designed to stimulate interest in small-church work, to recognize outstanding achievements by pastors and churches, and to help Texas Baptists broaden their concept of Christian responsibility.

Achievement competition is divided into three categories with points given for projects which help build a better church, community and world.

The association is one of 125 geographical areas in which the BGCT promotes such work each year. The denomination includes one out of every six persons in the state, with 3,512 churches and 1,558,000 members in Texas.

Approximately two-thirds of the churches are classified as town and country congregations.

Winning pastors in each district will receive a parchment scroll and the church a metal plaque which may be displayed in a prominent position outside the building.

The top state award last year went to Pastor Carlos McLeod, and the First Baptist Church of Halfway, located near Plainview.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Smith were visiting in Fort Worth Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Garland Smith and baby and Miss Lynn Lee Smith.

Mrs. A. J. McCuin and Cynthia returned home Monday from Abilene where they had visited since Friday in the home of her brother, Myron Pumphrey.

City Election Called To Fill Council Post

The City Council, meeting in regular session at the city hall Monday night of this week, ordered a special election to be held Tuesday, Sept. 30, for the purpose of electing an alderman to serve out the unexpired term of Lloyd Bryan who resigned recently because government regulations forbid him to hold an elective office while serving as a full-time employee of the Post Office Department. His term will expire in April of next year.

According to state law governing city elections, candidates for the office must file on or before Monday, Sept. 22, in order to get their names on the ballot.

The election will be held in the city hall and polls will open at 8:00 a. m. and close at 7:00 p. m. Mrs. Mary Wagner will serve as election judge and will be assisted by Miss Missouri Strahan and Mrs. Eunice Starr as clerks.

Father of Local Man Dies At Cleveland Tuesday

Jesse Sheppard who resides five miles northwest of Cross Plains received a message Tuesday morning of the death of his father, G. F. Sheppard, 66, at Cleveland, Texas.

The Sheppard family left immediately for Cleveland to attend funeral rites for his father, details of which were not known here as the Review goes to press.

School Enrollment Continues to Climb

Paul Whitton, superintendent of schools here, stated this week that enrollment in the local schools gained five additional students during the first week of school to total 516. Enrollment in the high school gained one for a total of 181, and ward school registered four for an enrollment of 335 students.

Whitton stated that the schools were operating smoothly and officials are confident that this will be one of the best years in the history of the schools.

Former Baptist Minister Buried In Brownwood

Friends in Cross Plains will regret to learn of the death in Brownwood recently of Rev. J. H. Hunt, former pastor of the First Baptist Church here.

Rev. Hunt, a retired minister, died Sept. 1.

Survivors include his wife, the former Rose Weir; two brothers, two half-brothers and a sister.

Grosvenor Cemetery Meet To Be Held September 14

Mrs. H. P. Morris, secretary of the Grosvenor Cemetery Association, has asked that there will be a "get-together" at the Grosvenor Cemetery Sunday, Sept. 14. Basket lunches will be served at 1 o'clock so that all who attend church services will have a chance to enjoy the lunch.

According to Mrs. Morris, a short business meeting will be held following lunch and that is the only program planned. The remainder of the time will be spent in visiting with relatives and friends.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Junior Ford was released from the Rising Star Hospital Sunday, where he underwent treatment for several days for bronchial pneumonia.

Mrs. C. D. Baird is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bill Pope, since being released from the Rising Star Hospital Friday of last week after undergoing treatment for several days.

Ab Harris has been a patient in the Rising Star Hospital the past week where he underwent surgery.

Mrs. W. A. Payne is recovering nicely from a fractured hip in the Rising Star Hospital. She will return to Abilene this week for a check-up by a bone specialist who performed surgery on her hip several weeks ago.

E. E. Shelton was a patient at the Callahan County Hospital in Baird the past week where he underwent treatment.

Mrs. J. O. Martin returned home Saturday from the Rising Star Hospital where she was a patient for several days while undergoing treatment.

In a telephone call received here during the week end from relatives who are in Houston with Mrs. W. J. Cross who is a patient at the M. D. Anderson Hospital, they report her condition was much improved over what it was the first of the week and it is hoped now that she will be able to leave the hospital in the next two or three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Riley visited friends in Stephenville Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Montgomery and Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Montgomery were at the May Rest Home Saturday night and Sunday with Mrs. R. T. Montgomery who is seriously ill.

Work Started on New Quarters for WTU Co.

Workmen for the Mayes Lumber Co., here, started work Monday on an extensive remodeling program on the building belonging to S. N. Foster on North Main Street which, when completed will be occupied by the West Texas Utilities Co. offices.

The building is located one door north of the present offices of the company and will be the most modern structure in town when completed, it was said. The front will be all glass, angling back into the building from the north side to the south where the door will be located. The interior will be ultra modern, including a tile floor and celotex ceiling. There will not be any counters included in the fixtures. Patrons will transact their business at the desks of the cashier or manager.

Claude Mayes, contractor on the job, stated that the building will be ready for occupancy in 30 days.

Local Cemetery Needs Maintenance Funds

"The Cross Plains Cemetery Association needs money for maintenance." That's the word from Hugh McDermott, president of the organization.

He stated that the association has all bills paid to date but there is only sufficient funds available for one month of operation.

Everyone with loved ones interred in the cemetery are asked to check and see if they have given to the maintenance fund this year. If you haven't or if you wish to make an additional contribution, mail or take your money to Edwin Baum at the Citizens State Bank.

Baum, secretary-treasurer of the organization gave the following financial statement, as of Sept. 6:

Cash balance on hand	as of Sept. 6:

Now Is the Time to Plant Winter Legumes

Now is the time to plant winter legumes for best results.

Many co-operators with the Central Colorado, Lower and Middle Clear Fork Soil Conservation Districts have made definite plans to plant a legume on a part of their land this fall. A cover crop on the land will afford soil improvement and protection against wind and water erosion. Cover crops enable the soil to take in and hold more moisture, increase production of succeeding crops, furnish grazing for livestock and can be used as a cash crop by harvesting seed.

Adapted winter legumes are hairy vetch and Austrian Winter Peas or Dixie Wonder Peas. Hairy vetch drilled with small grain has good results and has prevented the soil from blowing on our sandy land. Austrian Winter Peas or Dixie Wonder Peas have been used successfully on heavier land. Winter peas should, for best results on heavy land, be planted in regular width rows or double rowed.

All legumes should be inoculated before planting. This is a special culture of bacteria which enables the plant to take nitrogen from the air and fix it in the soil.

Early seeding allows enough growth to be made to give good protection to the soil. These early plants are large enough to withstand the cold weather much better and in turn are more vigorous so as to begin their main growth earlier in the spring.

Land that is now seeded in peanuts, cotton or late planted grain sorghums probably can not be seeded early but successful plantings have been made through Dec. 15 in this section. If a legume can not be used, any of the small grains make cover to protect the land.

Most soils throughout this section that have been tested have been found low in phosphorus and frequently low in nitrogen. For this reason fertilizer should be used at the time of planting. Many farmers are getting good results by using 100 pounds of 13-39-0 fertilizer or its equivalent per acre.

Cost-sharing for the seeding of winter crops is offered through the Callahan County ASC in Baird. If further information is needed, contact personnel of your local Soil Conservation Service or the ASC office who are assisting with this program.

Billy Buzbee has the past week received his discharge from the U. S. Air Force and is spending a few days here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Buzbee, before entering Arlington State College.

Billy has been stationed at Carswell AFB in Fort Worth since returning from a tour of duty overseas.

Bufs Lose Opener to Baird, 16-8; To Play DeLeon Next

By BENNY GLOVER

The Cross Plains Buffaloes lost their grid opener, 16-8, to the Baird Bears at Baird Friday night, in a loosely played game.

Baird came back strong in the second half to break the halftime 0-0 deadlock with a touchdown in the third and fourth quarters and a touchback in the fourth. The Buffs managed their lone tally in the final minutes of the final period on a pass play that covered 70 yards.

The first Bear tally coming in the third quarter climaxed a 53 yard drive following a Buff punt which fell deep to the Baird 47. After two consecutive first downs, Baird had a first and ten on the Cross Plains 32. After picking up four yards on first down, the Bears received a 15 yard penalty for holding which moved the ball back to the Buffalo 43. Then Bear back Norman Smith hit Harvey Christensen, another Baird back, with a pass which covered 26 yards and was good for a first down on the Buff 17. Bear Dale Coley picked up two which put the ball on the Buff 15. Bear Quarterback Terry Joy hit end Taber Bearden with an aerial for 13 yards which moved the pigskin to the Buff two yard line. Three plays later, Smith smashed over the right side of the line into the promised land, for six points.

Smith tried another line smash for the points after touchdown but was stopped short by the right side of the Buff line. Score stood Baird 6 and the Buffs 0.

Dallas, again on the next play, rolled out to pass, and he found Buff end Gray Scott in the open on the Buff 44. Scott then outran the Bear defenders for 56 yards and six points for the Buffs. The pass and run covered a total of 70 yards. Vaughn powered his way through the right side of the line for the final two points. The final score stood Baird 16 and Cross Plains 8.

Baird moved from their own 30 to their 44 in five plays and that was the game.

The Buffs sported the highlight play of the first half. On the first play of the second quarter, Buff quarterback Vaughn skirred right end and rambled 47 yards to the Baird 10 before he was hauled down from behind. The Buffs moved the pigskin to the Bear five via a five yard penalty. On fourth down, the Buffs still needing five, there was a fumble and the Bears recovered on their own 21, to stop the threat.

The Buffs kept the Bears bottled up in their own end of the field for the first half via Bear fumbles, but the Buffs could not move the ball because of Buff fumbles and their inability to crack the Baird line. The only serious scoring threat in the first half was when the Buffs moved to the Baird five in the second quarter.

PHILOSOPHER ENDEAVORS TO THINK OF HIS WORLD-WIDE RESPONSIBILITIES, BUT FAILS

Editor's note: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on the Bayou tries some international thinking this week, but not very successfully.

Dear Editor:

I have no idea how it got here, it's hard to explain, like how some men get to Congress or how some women got married, but yesterday morning I was out here on my farm walking around not doing anything when I found a copy of a newspaper caught on a fence post and when I worked my way over to it and opened it up I discovered it was a copy of the London Daily Telegraph.

How a London paper got out here on my Johnson grass farm is beyond me, could have fallen out of an airplane or been dropped out of a car by some tourist, but if you think too hard on some things you get nowhere, most newspapers aren't made to think about, just to read, so I opened it up and read it, and what appealed to me was an editorial on the United States.

According to it, the internal stability of the United States is of paramount concern to her allies, and the paper went on to say that "the American people are not yet accustomed to thinking in terms of their world responsibilities." It argued we ought to.

Now I can go along with this British paper's concern with our internal stability, in a financial sort of way, but when it comes to thinking in terms of world responsibility, I don't see how we can swing it.

That is, after a man gets through thinking about his immediate responsibilities, then his city and county responsibilities, then his state and federal responsibilities, he hasn't got over ten or fifteen minutes left for the rest of the world. I know when I get to thinking for example about whether I ought to grow more of this or less of that, I ought to be thinking in terms of world responsibility, but actually what I'm thinking about is which one of 'em can I make the most money out of and how much will that lack in meeting my family responsibilities.

In fact, I could give more attention to my world responsibilities, would be glad to, if I could bring my family around to taking the same viewpoint. But the trouble with this country is that most families think they come first, whereas any world thinker knows English families ought to come first, or Egyptian families, or Indian families or any other kind. I recognize we've got responsibilities to other parts of the world, but just for once I'd like to find somebody in the other parts who figures he's got some responsibilities toward me.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Late in the third quarter the hosts started another drive following as short kick by Buff quarterback Bill Mayes as he was rushed badly. The Bears' drive originated from the Buff 35, and they drove to the Buff 5 in six plays before the local's defense halted them. The next play quarterback Mayes was caught behind the goal line and Baird had two more points on the touchback. Early in the fourth quarter the score read Baird 8 and Cross Plains 0.

Following the touchback, the Buffs kicked off from their own 20, and Baird returned the pigskin to the local's 47. In just three plays the Bears had another six points. In two plays, Ross Odell and Wayne Boyd, combined, got 14 yards and a first on the Buff 33. Odell then sped over right tackle for the final 33 and across the double stripe Smith skirred right end for the two points after touchdown, and the score read Baird 16, Cross Plains 0.

Cross Plains' score came with approximately a minute and a half remaining in the ball game. The Buffs took the ball first and ten on their own 26 following a Bear punt. Halfback Norman Vaughn fought forward for four which put the ball on the Buff 30. Reserve quarterback, Doug Dallas, rolled out to pass to end Bobby Golsen, but it fell incomplete at mid-field.

Dallas, again on the next play, rolled out to pass, and he found Buff end Gray Scott in the open on the Buff 44. Scott then outran the Bear defenders for 56 yards and six points for the Buffs. The pass and run covered a total of 70 yards. Vaughn powered his way through the right side of the line for the final two points. The final score stood Baird 16 and Cross Plains 8.

Baird moved from their own 30 to their 44 in five plays and that was the game.

The Buffs sported the highlight play of the first half. On the first play of the second quarter, Buff quarterback Vaughn skirred right end and rambled 47 yards to the Baird 10 before he was hauled down from behind. The Buffs moved the pigskin to the Bear five via a five yard penalty. On fourth down, the Buffs still needing five, there was a fumble and the Bears recovered on their own 21, to stop the threat.

The Buffs kept the Bears bottled up in their own end of the field for the first half via Bear fumbles, but the Buffs could not move the ball because of Buff fumbles and their inability to crack the Baird line. The only serious scoring threat in the first half was when the Buffs moved to the Baird five in the second quarter.

Play DeLeon Next

The Buffs tangle with the DeLeon Bears next Friday night at 8 o'clock at DeLeon. The Class AA Bears have a good average AA team, according to head coach Bill Gunn.

Radio and TV Plans for SW Conference Football

To celebrate its 25th year as sponsor of Southwest Conference football broadcasts, Humble Oil & Refining Company is adding a new feature to this fall's football presentations. It is a videotaped "Game of the Week" to be presented each Sunday afternoon during football season with Kern Tips narrating.

Announcement of this and other broadcast-telecast plans was made at a school for Southwest Conference announcers held in San Antonio.

Besides the 11 videotaped games, there will be 70 radio broadcasts and four live telecasts of Southwest Conference games.

The videotaped games will offer many of the advantages of live telecasting; in fact most viewers cannot distinguish between the two. Each game to be recorded on tape will be selected by Conference representatives and will be telecast at 5 p.m. (CST) the day after the game is played. It will be seen over a 28 station network in Texas and New Mexico. This program will give viewers a 45-minute version of the game as it would have been if telecast "live."

Live telecasts include the Baylor-Texas Tech game, Oct. 18; the SMU-Georgia Tech game, Oct. 25; the Rice-Army game, Nov. 8; and the TCU-Texas game, Nov. 15. These four games, selected by the Conference, will be telecast over a network of 24 TV stations.

More than 130 radio stations in Texas and New Mexico will be used for radio broadcasts of games played by the Southwest Conference, Texas Western and New Mexico University. These will originate from 25 stadiums in 16 states.

The announcers school was held in conjunction with the Southwest Football Officials' Association convention in San Antonio. As a part of the school, the announcers attended sessions of the convention.

Instructors were Texas University head coach Darrell Royall and Kern Tips, one of the nation's top sportscasters.

Among announcers attending were Ves Box, Eddie Barker and Eddie Hill of Dallas; Bob Walker of Wichita Falls; Alec Chesser of Houston; Jim Wiggins of San Antonio; Jack Dale of Lubbock; Dave Russell of Beaumont; John Phelan of El Paso; and Connie Alexander of Albuquerque, N. M.

Mrs. Charlie Taylor returned home Saturday from Zephyr, where she visited a few days with Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Tucker and son.

Mrs. Barnes, and her sister and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Coffey, all of Stephenville.

IT'S THE LAW . . .

The death of an intestate person (one who has made no will) may give rise to many problems regarding distribution of his separate estate. In the preceding column we investigated the manner of dividing the community estate upon the death of a husband or wife. Now we shall see that, where separate property is involved, a completely different set of rules applies in determining heirship and apportioning the estate among the rightful claimants.

It may be well to recall that the separate estate of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved. Now, here is a general idea as to how your separate property will be divided if you do not make a will with contrary provisions prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and if, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of previously deceased children, the children and their descendants immediately obtain a full (fee) title in two-thirds of the real estate involved. The surviving spouse receives a life interest in the remaining one-third of the real property, which passes on to the children and their descendants upon the death of the spouse.

The rule for distributing personal property—cash, stocks, bonds, furniture or any other items not constituting real estate—is different. Here the surviving spouse gets full ownership of one-third, and the children and their descendants inherit the balance.

Now suppose your husband or wife survives, but there are no surviving children or their descendants. In this case the surviving spouse inherits all of the personal property involved.

With regard to real estate, the survivor obtains full title to one-half, and the other half is divided between your mother and father, if both survive you. If only one of them survives, he or she receives only half of this portion, and the other half (or one-fourth of the entire real estate) will be divided among your brothers and sisters (and their descendants) who survive, then the one surviving brother and sisters and their descendants, then the one surviving parent inherits the full one-half.

Where no parent survives, but there are brothers and sisters and descendants, the full one-half is divided among these survivors.

And, if there are no parents or brothers and sisters (and their descendants) surviving, then the surviving husband or wife inherits all of the real estate.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Have You Had Your Salk Polio Vaccination?

Before the advent of the Salk polio vaccine, Texans prayed for a release from the ravages of paralytic polio for themselves and for their children.

The picture has changed a great deal since then. With the announcement that Dr. Jonas Salk had developed an effective vaccine for the prevention of polio. Parents swarmed to their doctors and clinics to have their children protected.

Since then the incidence of paralytic polio has fallen many-fold, and an apathetic state of mind has fallen on many Texans concerning the need for protecting themselves.

Many students have received their shots, resulting in a favorable vaccination picture among school children. As a result this year and last year has seen the pre-school age children with the highest attack rate of paralytic polio.

Who should be vaccinated? Everyone can benefit from polio vaccine inoculations, since the disease strikes all ages. However, the present goal is to vaccinate the most susceptible groups—from infants to age 40. Especially lax in receiving their shots are children under five and adults over 20.

The vaccine protects only those who have had the inoculations. The immunity of your friends and neighbors cannot protect you. Although the vaccine prevents paralytic polio from occurring, it does not eliminate the polio viruses that cause the disease. The viruses can remain in circulation in the population, and are passed from person to person by carriers.

You are not adequately protected unless you have all three shots, properly spaced. The second shot is given two to six weeks after the first, the third, seven to 12 months after the second. It is important that we have that third shot!

No vaccine ever has been 100 per cent effective, however, the Salk vaccine has proven 60 to 90 per cent effective. This is reason enough to get your shots now. The vaccine is in plentiful supply and inexpensive, so the decision is safe to the individual. No one is safe without the protection of the Salk polio vaccine.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

Austin—How best to educate Texas children and how to pay for it will be a key issue in the upcoming legislative session.

Problems were spotlighted when the Hale-Aikin Committee made its first report. Included were 12 recommendations for improvement or expansion of public education.

Several proposals reflect the concerns of the times. In an age of mounting traffic death tolls and almost universal availability of high-speed cars to teenagers, state-supported driver education was urged.

In the face of widespread reports of the superiority of educational systems in other countries, the committee recommended state aid for classes for the "academically gifted."

It also proposed increasing the school year from minimum 175 days to 180 days plus five days for teacher training.

Other proposals were to provide state support for (1) more principals,

(2) assistant superintendents in large districts, (3) pre-school teaching of children unable to speak English, (4) larger allowances for maintenance, (5) replacing school buses and paying drivers, (6) buses for city children living more than two miles from school, and (7) state and local guidance services.

It also suggested basing teacher-pupil ratios on current attendance rather than figures for the year before, and urged the setting aside of TV channels for future educational use.

Final decision on other recommendations was postponed until Sept. 15. These include raising the minimum pay for teachers $595 a year (from $3,205 to $3,800) and releasing state property taxes to allow for more local district collections.

Hale-Aikin committee is a 24-member study group of lawmakers and private citizens set up by the last Legislature to study public schools and make recommendations to the 1959 session. Grass-roots discussion has been going on for nearly a year in cities and counties over the state. Proposals being made now result from sifting and weighing of hundreds of ideas urged by educators and interested citizens.

Committee members are not blind to the likelihood of stiff legislative resistance to the additional money-spending called for by most of the proposals. Cost of the state minimum foundation program for the present school year is estimated at $349,415,000. H-A Committee's "enrichment" suggestions could add from $50,000,000 to $150,000,000 to that figure.

Most lawmakers already are feeling financially gloomy because of a predicted $140,000,000 gap between state revenue and cost of present program—without any kind of improvement anywhere.

One committee member suggested that, while all the proposals might not be put into effect right away, they could serve as a "pattern for years to come."

WHAT, NOT HOW—Greater emphasis on what to teach, rather than how to teach will be reflected by this year's college graduates majoring in education.

A law passed in 1955 requires future teachers, beginning with the 1959 grads, to have 40 per cent of their credits in subjects they will teach, 40 per cent in "cultural subjects, 20 per cent in education courses.

State Board of Education called attention to this change at its September meeting.

Board also hit a lick in its unrelenting battle against all plans to dip into principal of the permanent school fund for current expenses. Its resolution warned of possible "tragic consequences."

Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar was authorized to prepare recommendations for Texas participation in the newly passed federal aid to education program. Texas would be eligible for some $9,000,000 to bolster the training of teachers, scientists, mathematicians and other kindred purposes.

PHOTO FINISH—Race for Speaker of the House seems stalemated, with the likelihood that the winner will not be known until all 150 members convene and vote in all-out-barred showdown.

Both Rep. Joe Burkett of Kerrville and incumbent Speaker Waggoner Carr of Lubbock claim a majority. But each says he does not have permission from the signers to show all his pledge cards.

There are rumors that several House members, wanting to be agreeable, pledged support to both candidates, never dreaming that the contest would be so close as to bring a "judgment day."

If and when the two candidates sit down together and compare notes there may be a number of representatives with red faces. Some Speaker candidates have done just that in the past. Then they jointly telephoned the representatives whose pledge were "in question" . . . to settle the matter then and there.

FATTER WELFARE CHECKS—An across-the-board increase of $5 per person in checks to the aged, needy blind and disabled begins Oct. 1.

Gov. Price Daniel said the increase was made possible by liberalization of the Social Security Act during the last session of Congress.

Under the new formula, maximum monthly checks to the aged will be $63; for the disabled, $63.

WATER WELLS IN REVERSE—State Highway Department will try out a plan of digging wells to put water into the ground, rather than take it out.

Purpose is to drain the "wet weather lakes" which sometimes block highways for days or weeks at a time. Such lakes are not uncommon in the Plains area after a rainy spell has filled low places.

A side benefit of the plan, noted the Highway Commission Chairman, Marshall Formby, would be the recharging of underground reservoirs.

LABOR LAW ARENA—Another legislative slugfest, for which ammunition is already being stacked, is foreseen in the area of labor union regulation.

Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas, longtime champion of restrictive labor laws, has announced he has some more in mind. He said his proposals were prompted by abuses reported to him by union members.

Parkhouse said he would sponsor bills to: (1) provide state regulation of union pension funds, (2) prohibit union assessments for political campaigns, (3) require public disclosure of union spending, and (4) correct practices whereby, according to the senator, union leaders prevent some members from getting work.

Jerry Holleman, State AFL-CIO president, stated that organized labor would welcome state regulation of pension funds. The other proposals, Holleman said, are taken care of under existing law.

HOW MANY HORSES IN YOUR HOME?

... in terms of the amount of work you give electricity to do, perhaps 5 or 6. The electricity an average American family uses actually equals the work of a half-dozen powerful horses.

Hard to believe? Stop for a minute and think of all the ways you put electricity to work—and how often. Cooling, heating, cooking, cleaning, lighting, even entertaining.

Yet how little all this electricity costs! Nothing else your family buys adds up to such a value.

The horsepower equivalent in electric energy used for Electric Cooking (cost) the average W.T.U. family last year 34 a month—about $2.34 a month.

Electricity costs so little— you can afford to use more of it!

Texas are very much their fishing habits. From West Texas quite to the eastern part of the state, south, east, and north, fishermen go to the water to catch bass, panfish, and other game fish. Those in the east try the other side of the coin and catch crabs and oysters around Texas bays and streams. Proves to be true.

Can Fish Hear—See—Smell? Much has been written about the ability of fish to hear, see and smell. And, the topic is one that provokes considerable discussion among fishermen.

In a very concise statement on the subject, an out-of-state zoologist says that fish are quite capable of detecting noises. But their eyes don't seem to pick up details readily. However, their sense of smell is acute.

Finally, he says, "Fish not only have taste buds in their mouths but on much of the exterior of their bodies."

Standing on a dock in Lake Travis late one recent afternoon we saw several pound-size black bass surface to feed on food particles that had collected on the oil drums that supported the dock.

We got almost within touching distance of them and still didn't scare them away. Perhaps they were so intent on feeding that our presence didn't matter. Or maybe they just couldn't see us. If they saw us they certainly didn't scare.

On the other hand a loud noise that vibrated through the water did cause them to dive deep.

Anyway, the zoologist's claim that fish have taste buds on much of the exterior of their bodies is a new one to us. Had you heard that before?

To Keep Minnows Alive Have trouble keeping your minnows alive until you reach the old fishing hole and can drop your minnow bucket into the water? Well, here's a trick that may help.

Next time you buy your minnows ask the minnow man to give you a full tray of ice from his refrigerator. Drop about five squares of the ice into the minnow bucket. It will keep the water cool and also help preserve the life of your minnows with the oxygen it adds to the water.

Lay the remaining pieces of ice on top of the minnow bucket. As that ice melts it will drip inside and serve to keep the temperature of the water down.

falling into the water, or a spot where the flies are working.

Let it rest there a few seconds, then give it a mighty pop. Retrieve it a foot or two and let it rest again—if it does.

Not many bass, and no pan fish, can stand it.

If you want just pan fish, use smaller flies. Occasionally you'll get a bass, but you really can sack up the bream and sometimes crappie.

Try it!

New Methods Developed To Control Johnsongrass

Johnson grass is an aggressive perennial which infests over five million acres of cropland in Texas. It is difficult to control with normal cultivation methods and is quite a "pain in the neck" to many farmers.

Farmers long have used grazing, mowing, tillage, cultivation, rotary weeding and hoeing for the mass control of Johnson grass. Some have used, but usually have not accepted, pre-emergence chemical treatments, lateral application of chemicals and flaming for this purpose. These methods are effective for reducing stands when they are used persistently.

But the newest, cheapest and most effective method for Johnson grass control is spot-spraying. This practice was introduced by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in 1954 and was immediately popular as a supplement to cultural practices, particularly for scattered infestations in cotton.

Spot-spraying was used on 89,491 acres of infested cotton land in 133 Texas counties in 1956. Subsequent progress by the Texas station has increased the efficiency of the practice and extended its use.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Agricultural Extension Service recently released a bulletin entitled "Spot-Spraying Johnson Grass." The author is H. E. Rea, associate professor, Department of Agronomy, Texas A&M College.

This 14-page publication is loaded with information on Johnson grass as well as spot-spraying. It discusses such topics as development of Johnson grass, effect of farming practices, chemicals for spot-spraying, spot-sprayers and cost of spot-spraying.

The bulletin can be very helpful to anyone confronted with Johnson grass. It can be obtained from local county agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for Bulletin 902.
