GOING GREAT GUNS

This one was on the road to success right from the start. You get a new kind of solid simplicity blended with the economy and dependability you know you can count on from all the Chevrolet family. Beneath the hood . . . a frugal 4- or satiny 6-cylinder engine (there's a choice in most models) that's downright miserly on gas. Nine newsized different models . . . sedans, wagons, hardtop and convertible. Like to see and try one? It's easy . . . just follow the crowds.

If you're looking for sensibility at its Sunday best-drop in at your Chevrolet dealer's and join the celebration. It's Chevrolet's golden anniversary year, and this new Chevy II is making it a year to remember. Here's Body by Fisher comfort that makes many a full-size car wonder how it's done-room for six solid citizens, bag and baggage, in all sedans and two-seat wagons. And, thanks to new Mono-Plate rear springs, you get a remarkably smooth ride that rivals much higher priced cars.

"Now I haven't got anything against Alaska, if she wanted in the Union to help us share the debt burden that's her lookout, but you couldn't pay me enough to live there, and I'll tell you why. It's not because of the climate. Even if they changed the temperature up there and made it pleasant to live the year-round, still wouldn't be interested.

"The reason I wouldn't be interested is on account of the scientific ability of mankind. I don't trust it yet. I mean I don't trust it's aim, and when I say aim I mean its shooting aim. "That is, say Russia and the United States get into a pushbutton war, as most civilized people figure they will. All right, which is the shortest route for guided missiles between the secret launching pads of each country? Right over Alaska, of course. And how good is the aim of these missile scientists? Well, it ain't good enough to Mrs. Ben Odom, Mrs. Calvin make Alaska a safe place to be.
