Secretaries Get the Highest Pay; "And Why Not?" Asks Dr. Gregg

New York—Why does the secretary, that doc ex machina of the American business office, receive a higher average salary than all other classes of female office help? That this is true is indicated by a report just published by the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor as a guide to girls seeking office work.

The answer is very simple, according to Dr. John Robert Gregg, nationally known authority on business education, and founder of the system of shorthand which bears his name. "The secretary has proven that she 'can take it' by applying herself to the study of shorthand and other courses necessary to a successful career," he says. "The girl whose economic necessity compels her to work for a living will never get further than the switchboard, the office files and poorly-paid routine typing if she hasn't the spirit and ambition to prepare herself for a secretarial career. If she knows her shorthand circles and curves she will soon leave her unfortunate typist and file clerk sisters far behind."

The Women's Bureau survey showed that among 43,000 women employed at various office tasks in banks, advertising agencies, insurance companies, investment and mail order houses, public utilities and publishing firms, secretaries receive the highest average pay, file clerks the lowest. In all cities for every type of office work studied the average woman drew $99 a month. The average for secretaries was $156 a month, as against $81 for file clerks.

The Government study, the first of its kind ever made, "is a high tribute to the commercial teachers in our public schools and business colleges," declares Dr. Gregg. "Whatever criticism may be directed at present-day educational methods, it is apparent that education for business is in capable hands."

LEGISLATIVE ACTION INDICATES A NEW CONSTITUTION WILL BE PUT UP TO VOTERS OF TEXAS IN 1936

A new constitution for Texas will be submitted to the people at the general election of 1936 if a proposed amendment now before the Legislature is passed by both houses and approved by the electorate.

An auspicious start was accorded it last week when the House Committee on Constitutional Amendments returned it to this floor with a vote unanimous in favor of passage. The proposed amendment provides that the question of calling a constitutional convention be submitted to the people on August 24th of this year, and if the electorate so committed itself the convention would be held on October 7th, and would be composed of 150 delegates chosen on the present basis of representation in the House.

The new Constitution drafted by the convention would then be put before the people, to be ratified or rejected at the general election approximately a year later. Foregoing for a moment discussion as to whether the convention should be called, we assume that it should be and examine this suggested method of calling it.

The proposal has much to recommend it. In the first place, the question of a new Constitution for Texas would in effect be submitted to the people twice, first as to whether the convention should be called and second as to whether the Constitution it promulgated should be adopted; and certainly no fairer method of ascertaining the public will could be devised. Moreover, the fact that the question of calling the convention would not be voted on until August 24th, coupled with the fact that the new Constitution would not be submitted until approximately a year after the convention drafted it, offers ample time for the people to deliberate both proposals.

Balanced against these desirable features of the proposed amendment is one we think distinctly undesirable. One hundred and fifty delegates to a constitutional convention seem entirely pendence on government, too much sublime faith in every panacea and crazy nostrum that comes along. So perhaps Texas should make haste slowly with its new Constitution. At any rate, the people of Texas would find it profitable to devote considerable attention to this question during the next few months, whether or not the issue of devising a new document is submitted. For important changes are needed, and if a new Constitution is not to be promulgated within the near future, they must be effected through carefully framed amendments. —Texas Weekly.

NOTICE

For the past two months a number of people from the various communities of this county have complained to the County Commissioners and to the Commissioners' Court about the obstruction of the various roads of the county. In some instances tractors are being driven over the roads with cleats or lugs on them. It has also been reported that some farmers are obstructing the roads by turning their tractors in them and by letting their plows down before they get off the road. Complaints have come from one community that the roads are being obstructed with hoops, wire, cans, and other substances likely to damage automobiles and cause wrecks. Any one guilty of these obstructions is violating the law. Article 784 of the Texas Criminal Laws reads in part as follows: "Whoever shall willfully obstruct or injure or cause to be obstructed or injured in any manner whatsoever any public road or highway or any public bridge within this state shall be fined not to exceed $200.00."

Article 827 of the Criminal Laws of Texas reads in part as follows: "No person shall operate or run on any public highway any vehicle which has on its periphery any block, lug, stud, cleat, ridge, bead or any other protuberance of metal that shall project more than one-fourth inch beyond the tread or traction service of the tire. Whoever violates any provision of this act shall be fined not to exceed $200.00." We call this matter to the attention of the public believing that

We are in A New Automobile Era!

Cars built since 1931 have twice the power and speed of ten years ago!

Continental offers you better lubrication for modern cars —an *Alloyed Oil with twice the film strength of other oils!

It's hard to realize how improved cars of the '30s are over those we drove ten years ago. We are in a new automobile era! Power and speed have almost doubled in a decade, with little increase in motor size.

Increased power has brought enormous increases in bearing pressures and crankcase temperatures. In making motor parts that will stand up under these severe conditions, car manufacturers have turned to new alloy metals of extra strength and durability. For the same reason, you must have oil with enough extra oiliness and film strength to protect your motor under extreme pressures!

Yet motor oils generally have no more oiliness and film strength now than they had ten years ago. New refining methods have recently come into use to make oils free from carbon and sludge. But these new refining processes have actually lowered instead of increased oiliness and film strength!

There is one exception—Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. It, too, is free from carbon and sludge troubles, as its users know after millions of trouble-free miles of driving. But more important, Timken machine tests prove that the new Germ Process* puts into this oil 2 to 4 times the film strength of any straight mineral oil! That extra film strength protects your motor under the most extreme pressures and heat.

Germ Processing gives other valuable advantages. Because Germ Processed Oil penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, a "Hidden Quart" stays up in your motor and cuts down starting wear. Germ Processed Oil gives longer mileage with greater motor protection, as proved by the famous Indianapolis Destruction Test.

Plain mineral oils were all right ten years ago—today they are becoming obsolete. Say "O.K.—Drain"—fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and drive with the comfortable assurance that your oil meets your motor's needs!

THE TRACK MEET

By G. M. DAUGHERTY The annual county track meet is here again with more athletes entered than ever before.

Muleshoe holds the lead somewhat in both numbers and good athletes. Faulkner as dash man and Brewer as weight man, followed by a good combination of material, may cause some new records to be made.

Bula, possibly will follow in second place as they always have a good track team.

Circleback will probably make a show as well as Baileyboro; although Baileyboro team from all accounts seems to be shaping up very slowly.

A great deal of interest will be shown at the meet this year, as the whole preceding school session has been one of intense and friendly rivalry.

The county as a whole is very glad to have the privilege of holding the meet at Muleshoe because they always receive a hearty welcome from the merchants of the town and the entire school system.

It is the desire of all that this may be the largest and best track meet the county has ever had.

The women of Pompeii were in no way behind our belles in the art of correcting their natural defects. Lipstick and rouge were used liberally in those days. But also the men were well groomed and wasted much time on their appearance. They anointed themselves with fragrant balms and essences. There were dandies in Pompeii who in summer exchanged their heavy signet rings for light "summer rings."

SCORN NOT THE LOWLY LEFTOVER

Dab of This and That Often Makes Tasty Dish.

By EDITH M. BARBER

SOME housekeepers have a prejudice against leftovers. I do not share this feeling. I actually welcome them. Nothing is more fun than to find in the refrigerator a dab of this and a dab of that and to combine them with the help of a few eggs, some white sauce and a few bread crumbs, which may themselves be a leftover, and to evolve a completely new dish.

There are any number of dishes whose names suggest special delicacies and which can be made from leftovers. I am speaking of timbales and soufflés which demand a foundation of soft bread crumbs and milk or a white sauce combined with eggs and strained or minced, cooked vegetables, meat or fish. You may even use mixed vegetables or a combination of vegetables with the last pickings from the fowl or roast.

Then there are those scalloped dishes which may be made from any leftover materials placed in alternate layers with buttered crumbs in a greased baking dish. White sauce or tomato juice may be used to moisten them if you like, and I must not forget croquettes which have a very thick, well-seasoned white sauce for their base.

Be sure to chill your croquette mixture before you attempt to mold it into little pyramids or rolls which are then dipped in sifted dry bread crumbs, beaten eggs and crumbs again. I particularly like sweet or white potato croquettes because this is such a good use for mashed potatoes when you may have supplied too liberally. These are merely moistened with egg, seasoned with onion, salt and parsley, and you have some on hand before they are crumbed and fried in deep fat.

Meat Timbales.
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 cup milk
1 cup minced veal, chicken or ham
4 tablespoons butter
Salt, pepper
2 egg whites

Put the crumbs in the milk and cook until very soft. Add meat, butter and seasonings, fold in the beaten egg whites, and pour into buttered molds, filling not more than two thirds full. Set molds in pan of hot water and bake in a medium oven about one-half hour. Serve with white sauce, seasoned with mushrooms, vegetables or cheese.

Vegetables With Curry.
1 onion, minced
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
Salt, pepper
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1 cup milk
Leftover vegetables

Fry minced onion in butter, add four and seasonings. Add milk and stir until smooth and thick. Pour this sauce over diced vegetables and chopped parsley. Heat thoroughly and serve with boiled rice.

Baked Fish in Cheese Sauce.
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1/2 cup American cheese
1/2 cup chopped mushrooms
1 or more cups flaked fish
1/2 can shrimp
Salt, pepper, paprika

Melt butter, add flour, and when well blended add milk and stir until smooth and thick. Add the cheese, cut into small pieces, and melt. Arrange the mushrooms, flaked fish and shrimp in greased baking dish. Season and pour over cheese sauce. Bake in a moderate oven until thoroughly hot and brown on the top. Bread crumbs can be sprinkled over the top. The sides of the baking dish can be lined with leftover mashed potatoes and the creamed mixture poured in the center.

Dressing for Green Salads.
Livers of 2 chickens, boiled
Yolks of 2 hard cooked eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
3/4 teaspoon white pepper
3 tablespoons vinegar
1/2 cup olive oil
Chopped parsley
3/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Mash and mix to a paste the chicken livers and yolks. Add seasoning, pour in olive oil drop by drop, stirring until the consistency of this mayonnaise. Mix with salad and chopped parsley.

Renovate Scrap Basket
Shabby waste paper containers, whether made of wicker, metal or cardboard, may be given a new lease on life by applying a coat of colorful enamel. A modern decorative idea is to paint the lower half a different color from that of the upper half. Brown and tan, dark green and light green, or pastel shades such as light blue and lavender are good combinations. The inside may be painted light green, orange or bright vermilion.

Unpainted Furniture
Unpainted furniture, now available in astonishingly varied and attractive styles, may be left in natural finish and a few touches of color added. After lightly varnishing the surface and then rubbing it down with powdered pumice stone to get a wax-like gloss, the handles of chests of drawers, the tops of tables or the edges of bedsteads may be enameled in a bright color, such as blue, coral or Nile green.

"WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS"

Too many people never do but three things worth mentioning—be born, get married and die.

Lubbock Woman Is Married To Proxy For Man In Brazil

George H. Spencer, of Recife, Pernambuco, Brazil, has a wife, but he didn't marry her himself. He hired the job out, it being done by a proxy, having all the powers of an attorney to act in his behalf, and the ceremony was performed last week in Lubbock by County Judge E. L. Pitts.

Mrs. Ellie R. Robinson, now Spencer, is the bride, and all because it would have been months in Brazil, after she arrived there, according to the laws of that country.

Spencer's former roommate, Wylie Briscoe, employs a fine same company was authorized by Spencer to serve as groom in the proxy wedding.

In the marriage ceremony, rearranged to meet the emergency, asked Judge Pitts:

"Wylie Briscoe, with thee, acting for Mr. George H. Spencer of Recife, Pernambuco, Brazil, through a power of attorney, have this woman to be his wedded wife? Will thou, acting for him, promise to love her, comfort her, honor her and keep her, in sickness and in health and forsaking all others binding him to keep her only so long as she may live?"

"I will, and by legal authority given me I do so bind Mr. George H. Spencer."

Briscoe answered for the man.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer will be married in a church ceremony as soon as Mrs. Spencer arrives in Recife about April 21. She will sail from New York on April 6.

Her Reign A Success
NEW ORLEANS... Miss Barbara Bousden (above), is now hailed as one of the most beautiful Queens ever to rule over the annual New Orleans Mardi Gras, which has just come to a close after a week of gay festivities.

Community attended the Fat Stock show at Fort Worth this week.

Those who attended the all day singing convention at Littlefield last Sunday enjoyed it very much.

A lovely little daughter, Nita Jewel, was born to Rev. and Mrs. Moore, on March 13. She died Saturday morning at eight o'clock and was buried in the Sudan cemetery. Rev. Jolner officiated in the funeral service.—Reporter.

Georgia Negro Pulls Cotton Plow While Wife Holds Handles

Hitched to a plow, 63-year-old Hanson McCoy, a blind negro, near Albany, Ga., paused at the end of a long furrow, freshly turned, and commented:

"The Bible says we have to live by sweat of our brows, and that is what I am doing."

Guiding the plow was his wife, Sallie Anderson McCoy, who said she and her husband were teaming up now, as they had done for many years, to eke out a living from the soil.

McCoy smiled as he spoke and said he was working toward the day when he would no longer find it necessary to get his corn meal, salt pork, coffee and other foodstuffs from relief agencies.

Although blind for 30 years, he said it had been only during the last three years that he has had "to be on the county."

He is a man of medium size, but his wife says "he is a mighty powerful man." He has to pull a plow through land laced with grass roots.

His wife guides him by her voice. She said they had been offered a farm, but he rejected the offer because McCoy was willing to work and "I couldn't plow no mole."

Last year McCoy made a little money on his cotton. He is to plow one and one half acres for cotton this year. He also raised a good corn crop—a better crop, folks in the community say, than was grown by some other farmers.

McCoy and his wife live on land furnished them by Henry Helms, a farmer.

GUMMELT-LISTON

Last Sunday evening about five o'clock the new home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gummelt of the Fairview community, was the scene of a pretty home wedding when their daughter, Miss Evelyn, became the bride of John Henry Liston, also of Fairview.

The bride was dressed in ashes of roses crepe with silver trimmings and white accessories. The groom wore a conventional business suit of blue. Rev. H. F. Cole, pastor of the Fairview Baptist church, officiated.

Immediately following the ceremony, a delicately six o'clock dinner was served to the bridal party, and all relatives and friends present. A large beautifully decorated wedding cake made the centerpiece for the beautifully laden table.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Liston are favorites among the young people of Fairview and much happiness is wished for them by their many friends of that community where they will make their home for the present.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Malone, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard West, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hicks, Mrs. Faye Elrod, Wayne Wallace, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. McDonald.
