PANHANDLE CONSTRUCTION CO., LUBBOCK HAS CONTRACT GRAVITY AND PUMP WILL BE METHOD USED

Construction of a sewer system for Muleshoe was begun here Wednesday by the Panhandle Construction Co., Lubbock, they being the successful bidders on the contract. Homer Grant is in charge of the work being done. This work is being done under direction of PWA in connection with the city. Muleshoe municipal officials having received a loan of $17,600 from the federal government, also a grant of $14,600, necessitating a local expenditure of only $37,771 to complete contract.

A sewer system for Muleshoe has been greatly needed, especially in the

CONVENTION OF SINGERS MEET HERE SUNDAY

Plateau Songsters To Have All Day Meet Basket Dinner.

The Bailey County Singers' convention will be held in Muleshoe next Sunday at the High school auditorium, the program beginning promptly at 10:00 o'clock in the morning and lasting throughout the entire day. Extensive plans are being made by the committee on program and arrangements for the event and several thousand people are expected to attend. Not only will there be virtuoso singers here, but ordinary professionals and amateurs as well, and hundreds of people who can't sing, but enjoy it just the same. It is estimated there will be at least 50 experienced choristers and song-leaders here, several quartets, trios, soloists and song classes to take part in the swelling chorus of melody and tongue-trip the light, fantastic and serious serences of sacred song. An award of $10 is being offered by A. L. Carpenter for the best rendition by any aggregation of singers in this production.

A feature of the day will be a big basket dinner to be spread on the grounds at the noon hour. Everyone attending is requested to bring enough food, not only for themselves, but also for some of the visiting guests from a distance and for others who may not be able to prepare their own luncheon. It is understood, also, that the committee on arrangements is preparing some of the staple foodstuffs, such as meat and bread, to be added to the food brought by those attending. "Everything is propitious for a great day, according to members of the committee—a day of feasting, both for soul and body; food for mind and heart; mighty music in Muleshoe and fine food for fraternizing folks!"

Merchants' Awards Made At The Trades Day Here Monday

Notwithstanding cool weather acted as a deterrent in keeping many visitors from attending Trades day here last Monday, there was a good crowd present to trade and fraternize one with another, many of the women visitors taking advantage of the opportunity of doing Easter trading.

There was some buying and selling of household goods, harness, etc. on the vacant lots. Col. W. Cook giving free service as auctioneer.

Col. Cook also had charge of the Trades Day awards made late that afternoon, little Anna Burns Givens officiating at the big squirrel case. Mrs. W. H. Kistler, residing a few miles north of Muleshoe, received the first award of $10. The names of Auden Murrah, route 2, Muleshoe, C. R. Roubuck, Muleshoe; Mrs. Nancy Camp, route 1, Muleshoe; Mrs. M. A. Young, route 1, Muleshoe, J. M. Lane star route, Muleshoe, and Dick Copley, who recently returned from her home in Virginia, were also called for the first award; all of them being absent.

John W. Krupp, route 1, Muleshoe, was awarded the second honors of $2. Some difficulty was manifest in properly identifying this young man, it being stated he was one of the old time settlers of this area, and had been here so long he was variously identified as Ramsess II, Moses, Joshua and other notable characters of ancient history. The name of J. H. Hudson, Muleshoe was also called for the second award; but he was absent.

Miss Alida Short received the third award of $2. Names of Thelma Johnson, Muleshoe, and Juanita Moore, Muleshoe were also called.

Next Saturday the regular Trade Expansion day will be observed with suitable merchandise awards given.

C. of C. To Sponsor Baseball Club Here For Coming Season

That the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce will sponsor and assist financially in the organization and upkeep of a baseball club here, was the consensus of opinion expressed at the regular meeting held last Friday night at the Motheral cafe.

It was stated by proponents of the ball club that there were sufficient skilled players here to form a competitive team such as has been previously enjoyed by this town. Last year the local club won a large majority of the number of games played, rating second in a tournament held at Clovis, N. M., and it is thought a similar record may again be attained this season.

The first of last week a committee composed of Judge J. E. Adams, H. E. Schuster and Jess Osborn went to San Antonio to investigate the failure of about $2,500 in wages to be paid to workers on the North and South highways by the Resettlement administration. Mr. Osborn reporting the failure was caused by numerous small and sometimes very technical errors holding up payments, checks some dating back as far as November of last year. The difficulties were all straightened out, and Judge Adams reported effects are now arriving for these past due pay ment.

A committee composed of R. L. Brown, Virgil Bennett and Dr. A. R. Matthews was appointed to visit the Plainview stock show and report details of how 4-H boys might shift their cattle direct to central markets here ready for sale.

Cotton Adjustment of Sales Closes April 15 Says Vernon Martin

Cotton Adjuster Vernon Martin, for Bailey county, has now ready to make adjustments for farmers in this political subdivision, stating that early payments on the Cotton Adjustment plan (the difference between the average 19 cent spot and price 12 cents) are ready for consideration. It is required that all Cotton Sale certificate forms on cotton sold by producers be turned in at the local county agent's office in Muleshoe, by April 15.

Those who have not signed application papers for this payment are requested to call at the county agent's office at the earliest possible moment for such signatures.

Only cotton producers that received cotton tags last year are required to sign, Martin said. Those who can not call promptly and handle this matter in person are urged to immediately write the county agent's office asking to be supplied with necessary forms.

TERRACING vs. LEGUMES

Since there is so much legume growing done in this section, terracing may be used to take the place of such planning, thus using conservation for depletion purposes and $120 per acre federal funds obtained for such terracing, according to J. B. Waide, county farm agent.

In the matter a farmer may, in a few years, have his entire acreage terraced with little or any personal cost.

PREPARE FOR NCCC MEETING

Lawrence Hays, Amarillo, has been chosen general chairman of the committee to make preparations for the annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to be held at Amarillo, May 11-13.

Governor Allred will speak May 10.

81 Tons of Dust SIFT IS RICH Fall on Muleshoe

Believe it or not! but it is conservatively estimated by Albert Isaacs, city secretary, but more prominently known as Muleshoe's mathematical sleuth and data philosopher, that approximately 81 tons of dust settled over Muleshoe one day last week when a sandstorm came blowing in here from Kansas, Colorado or some other seaport section.

Sweeping up the dust settled on about three square feet of pavement which, before the dust was perfectly clean, it was found to weigh approximately one and three-quarters ounces which, according to the computation of the Muleshoe Einstein, would equal a spread of 285 pounds per acre, or 163,200 pounds per section. This computation doesn't count the overplus of drifts.

Other mathematically inclined folks are inclined to take these figures seriously, and Mr. Isaacs says he is not banking his future life on their absolute correctness to the nth degree, but for all general purposes this is about the amount of sand landing here in this one blow.

Many farmers last year claimed the silt imported here by Jupiter Pluvios and other astral deities by the wind motor system, was high as one-third of an inch on their land; that it was extremely fertile, and wherever it fell crop production was greatly enhanced both as to quantity and quality.

STALCUP TO DIE MAY 4

Virgil Stalcup's death sentence was recently upheld by the Court of Criminal Appeals, Austin, was sentenced to die in the electric chair at Huntsville, May 4, by Judge Clark Mullikin, of the 96th district court, Lubbock.

Stalcup was convicted of the killing of Sheriff W. B. Arthur, of Dickens county, in connection with the jailbreak of Clarence Brown, who is now serving a 99 year sentence in state penitentiary.

BAILEY COUNTY DIVIDED INTO THREE DISTRICTS FOR HANDLING OF SOIL CONSERVATION; ELECTIONS MAY

Flashing throughout the entire county the signal to begin the nation's New Deal soil conservation machine to working in expenditure of $470,000, some detailed information has been received in Bailey county by J. P. Waide as to proper procedure.

Last Saturday afternoon a meeting was held at Waide's office in the court house at which time Bailey county was divided into three sections for administrative purposes and a committee-man is to be elected Friday night to handle each section.

Farmers residing in community A, composed of West Camp, Progress, YL and Muleshoe school districts, will meet at West Camp school to elect a committee man for that district.

Farmers living in community B, composed of Longview, Fairview, Bala, Circleback and Enochs communities will meet at the Circleback school house for a similar election, all meetings beginning promptly at 8:00 o'clock p. m.

Who May Serve A person to be eligible as a committee-man must reside within the bounds of the district wherein he is elected, must derive the principal part of his income directly from farming, must not be a public officer-holder nor a candidate for any such office, must not actively solicit support for such office and must have no relatives now serving on the State board for this administration.

It is understood the old set-up of the AAA program is now entirely abolished, the new plan calling for an entirely new and different set-up.

A Base Acreage. Each participating farm is to have a "soil depleting base acreage"—the acreage of depleting crops planted in 1935, with modifications to meet "unusual situations."

Special soil depleting bases, corresponding to the base acreages set under the old AAA, are to be established for cotton, tobacco, peanuts, sugar, rice and flaxseed.

DAVIS, LEWIS AND MOELLER WERE RE-ELECTED FOR CITY COMMISSION IN MULESHOE FOR TWO MORE YRS.

The entire personnel of the former City Commission, including Tom H. Davis for mayor, Dr. A. E. Lewis and C. F. Moeller for commissioners, was almost unanimously reelected in the election held here last Tuesday, only a few scattering and probably intended complimentary votes being cast for any one else as a city official.

The balloting was very light, only 53 votes being cast, being less than one-third the total number of voters in Muleshoe.

Legion Spends $500 For Improvement of Muleshoe Cemetery

Approximately $500 has now been spent in improving and beautifying the Muleshoe cemetery, according to Curtis Taylor, this work being sponsored by members of the local American Legion Post.

This week the cemetery well was re-dug and deepened, now having about 20 feet of standing water in it. Six inch casing was run in the hole and a 4-inch pipe and cylinder installed. The windmill tower was lengthened to 10 feet and a new 10 foot head installed on the windmill, also a tower was built and a 55 barrel storage tank was installed.

About 800 feet of 2-inch pipe was laid throughout the cemetery in such manner as to reach every burial plot, and necessary hydrants located. A spot 100x200 feet was laid out to be planted to trees for grove purposes, several hundred trees having been ordered for this purpose. Also, a few tombstones have been reset.

It is planned to have a community working bee in the near future, at which time people of this section will be asked to come and assist in giving the burial plot a thorough cleaning of weeds and other accumulated debris, improve the drivesways and otherwise beautify the silent city. Date of the working will be announced in next week's issue of the journal.

Twenty per cent of all foreign cemetery coming to the United States is handled on the 150 miles of New York city docks.

300 Killed And 1,000 Injured In Storm Swept Area Sunday

As a fierce dust storm swept over the Panhandle-Plains area last Sunday death rode a relentless steed over the Southland in general, news reports of the Sunday storm telling of approximately 350 people killed and more than 1,000 others injured, also property damage running up into the millions of dollars.

Tupelo, Miss., and Gainsville, Ga., were the hardest hit towns in the destructive storm pathway, though the devastating swath of riled nature swept as far south in Texas as Brownsville on the Gulf coast.

During the storm at Muleshoe visibility was lowered to the point that lights were needed in homes for reading, and, while most of the wind sweeping across these prairies was high, yet there was sufficient low wind to move considerable loss dirt, though no crop damage of any kind has been reported.

DANGER FOR FEED STACKS

Reports have been received here from various surrounding sections where farmers have had stacks of feed burned entailing heavy losses.

It is a common practice among farmers to protect their feed from blowing off by passing a wire across the stack, which is a dangerous convenience unless the wire is insulated. In any event, the wire should be well grounded at both ends of the stack.

LOCATIONS ARE EXCHANGED

Last Saturday night the Bender Grocery & Market stock of goods was moved into the J. L. Taylor brick, formerly occupied by the Mission barber shop, and that part of the Taylor building occupied by O. N. Robinson, with his second hand store, was vacated. Mr. Robinson moving into the Sæetter building formerly occupied by Mr. Bender.

930 Auto Licenses Issued In Bailey Co. To April 1st

Automobile registrations in Bailey county up to April 1, beginning of the fiscal year were considerably less than for the previous year, there being 799 passenger cars registered this year against 964 for 1935; 85 commercial trucks this year against 115 for last year; 195 farm trucks this year against 195 for last year.

There were 400 cars transferred ownership during the past year. Up to April 1 there were 13 chauffeurs' licenses issued this year. There have been 1,822 auto driving permits issued this year in Bailey county.

Motorists who failed to obtain their 1936 car tags by April 1 must now pay a penalty for such delinquency, and to be caught driving a car on a public highway without a 1936 tag may cost up to as much as $200 in fine.

Instructions are the officials of the Department of Public Safety are going to enforce the auto law much more rigorously this year than ever before. According to L. O. Phares, director, who says there are probably 3,000,000 car licenses issued throughout the entire state. His assistants have instructions to "crack down" on any one who tries to slip a plate on their car, also for any careless or reckless driving of any kind.

Billy Dodson, won eighth place on senior calf; Johnny and Robert Stark, won second place on group of five calves, while Bailey county as a whole won seventh place on group of five calves from any one county, in competition with nearly 50 counties having similar exhibits.

No cured meat and very little canned meat was placed on exhibit from this county, hence no winnings expected on those lines.

There were about 160 calves, 250 sheep and 200 hogs on exhibit at the show. This is only the second year Bailey county boys have entered exhibits at this show.

OLD AGE PENSION COMMISSION NOW BUSY CHECKING 140,000 APPEALS FOR FEDERAL AND STATE MONEYS

Austin.—Knowing their business yet being courteous, our field workers must understand the viewpoint of the many aged citizens whose homes they enter," said Orville S. Carpenter, executive director of the Old Age Assistance Commission, this week in explaining the set-up.

Investigators have been calling at the homes of applicants for three weeks now. Some 140,000 aged have applied, and as there were 300,000 blanks distributed, many more applications are expected to be filed.

"We are sending men from the State Office to the 20 district offices and are holding schools for investigators. Our field workers must have a thorough understanding of their work."

"All investigators in a district meet with the men from the central office at the headquarters city of that district. Policies of the Commission, the law itself, and technical questions are explained to the assembled field workers."

"We have a humane purpose; we have good workers. The Commission is anxious for the aged of Texas to receive the most good possible from the old age assistance law," Mr. Carpenter declared.

"Applicants are cooperating with us and they realize we are doing everything we can to facilitate these investigations which the law requires," he added.

"Payment will start just as soon as investigators complete their work as required by law. We hope to complete all investigations and approve applications before July 1," the Executive Director said.

"Records of birth dates, property owned, cash in bank, residence and citizenship of the applicant is a naturalized citizen should be ready to show the investigators when they call during the next few weeks," Mr. Carpenter advised.

A paper's oath is not necessary to qualify for an old age pension, Carpenter said.

Baseball Training Starts Saturday, 2 Teams In Prospect

At a meeting of baseball fans and players held Tuesday afternoon Ty Young and Connie Gipton were chosen a committee to work with Gilbert Wollard, previously selected by the local Chamber of Commerce to work out a system of financing a baseball team here for the coming season.

It was decided training season would begin at the ball park here next Saturday afternoon under direction of Newby Moore, ace pitcher. Ten days or two week preliminary playing, coaching and conditioning of men will be had before the team is regularly organized and game schedules made, according to D. O. Smith who is taking an active part in the organization.

All players, both young and old, experienced and of little experience, are urged to take part in the training period, according to Moore who states the selection of players will not be made until after the preliminary training season has been finished. Officers of the club will also be elected at that time. It is thought there is sufficient good playing material here to form both a first and second string team of players.

SLEEP, OLD PIONEER!

By Will Carlton

When the Springtime touch is highest When the Summer eyes are brightest, Or the Autumn snags most drear, When the Winter's hair is lightest

Sleep, Old Pioneer, selection of the sheltering soil. Late enough you crept, You were weary of the toil Long before you did sleep, Well you paid for every blessing, Bought with grief each day of cheer; Nature's lips around you pressing, Sleep, Old Pioneer.

When the hill of toil was deepest, When the forest frown was deepest, For, but young, you hastened here; Came where solid hope was cheapest, Come—A Pioneer. Made the western jungles view Civilization's charms; Grasped a home for you and yours, From the lean tree arms, Toil had never cause to doubt you, Progress' path you helped to clear; But today forgets about you, And the world rides on without you, Sleep, Old Pioneer.

Little care the selfish throng Where your heart is hid, Though they thrive upon the strong, Re-olute work it did, But our memory eyes have found you And we hold you grandly dear; With no work-day woes to second you With the peace of God around you, Sleep old Pioneer.

75,000 Acres Leased For Oil Development In Roosevelt Co. N. M.

That there will be much oil activity in Roosevelt county during the remainder of this year is the consensus of opinion of citizens just across the line from Bailey county in the State of New Mexico.

It is generally conceded that five of the major oil companies now holding large leases in Roosevelt and Lea counties will soon begin activity toward proving the value of such leases for oil production. It is stated on authority that since January of this year approximately 75,000 acres of land has been leased for oil purposes in the southeast part of Roosevelt county.

Several locations are said to have already been spotted and one well drilled some months ago near Claudio, about 20 miles west of Elida, in that county, was plugged. Various unconfirmed rumors are out as to its final condition. One rumor is to the effect that the hole was ruined by a nitro blast; another that salt water stopped action, while still another is that the "pay" was found; but the hole temporarily abandoned to be opened later on when further development of the field has been made.

It is reported that abstractors of Roosevelt county are now unusually busy and that leasing probably of producing land is still being continued. Newspapers of towns located in that county report receiving large numbers of subscriptions from oil men of different types, absentee property owners of that county and other interested citizens who are anxious to keep in touch with any development to be inaugurated.

Otto Gets a Job

By SCOTT W. RYALL. © McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNS 49212.

OTTO JAEGER had arrived the night before from the penitentiary, his burglary sentence completed with time off for good behavior.

"I got fat, don't you think, Aunt Joe?" he asked, grinning broadly.

She transferred her stock of pencils and filled her hand.

"You do look kind of unshowered," she said approvingly. "I hope it did you some good besides your watch."

"Sure, sure," he said eagerly. "I learned carpentering. I'm a carpenter now."

"Gotta job?"

"Not yet. I'm lookin' around."

"Just in case you don't get a job right away and want to—well, talk about things, come see me."

He was still grinning absently.

"Talk about what, Aunt Joe?" he asked curiously. "Oh, yeah, the job. Sure. I'll talk it over."

The cheerfulness attending Otto's first search for work dimmed with the following days of weary tramping. The five dollars the warden had given him was long since gone as was some of the weight he had put on at the prison.

He did not hunt jobs but thought of his other burglaries. Idleness left him time to speculate on how much better he might have done if he'd been more careful about this, or thought of that.

It was only a step from speculation to execution and he did not think of seeing Aunt Joe and "talking things over."

But Aunt Joe had not forgotten. A week after he had again turned thief she met him on the street.

"Otto!" she called sharply as he was about to pass with only a nod, "how are you coming along?"

"All right, Aunt Joe," he said hastily. "Yeah, I'm doing fine."

"Working?"

"Uh-huh. I gotta job now. I'll see you some more, Aunt Joe."

"Wait a minute, Otto. Where you workin' now?"

"Over on—on Fourth avenue," he said almost angrily, and turned down the street.

But big, dumb Otto Jaeger, who was three steps and a jump toward a second prison term, had not deceived the old woman. She went directly to Captain Atkinson at the precinct station.

"Bring him in," said the captain curtly.

She met him on the street the next morning. He was frowning and weary. He had nearly been caught the night before and had to drop his loot in a vacant lot.

"Not now," he answered her invitation to meet a friend. "Later, this afternoon, maybe."

As last he gave in to her insistence but it was in sudden anger because she had not let him alone. In his pre-occupation, he did not notice where she had until they were on the steps of the precinct station.

He tried on the old woman in sudden fury as Captain Atkinson looked oddly down on him.

"Thanks, Aunt Joe," he said bitterly. "I'll remember this."

"Otto," the captain said in his close-lipped manner, "I hear you're out of work."

Otto met the other's gaze with something of restrained fright.

"We can use a handy man; clean-up work. How's eighteen a week?"

"Holy cats!" He was actually being offered a job? Twelve hours dodging police, then eight happy hours working for them. What a test life was! He was thinking: "I'm gonna take Aunt Joe to the sweetest cafeteria she ever seen and—buy all her pensils."

Bruno Hauptmann Electrocut Fri. For Lindbergh Murder

Bruno Hauptmann, convicted in New Jersey court of the murder of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's baby, was electrocuted Friday night, walking steadily to the death chair, making no confession nor any statement implicating any other person of the crime which has received world-wide notoriety.

Three times his sentence had been deferred, and would probably have been stayed again by the New Jersey governor had he the legal power to do so, but lacking that authority submission of Hauptmann to the electric chair was inevitable.

Much controversy has, during months gone by been indulged in by citizens all over the nation as to the validity of the charges, the genuineness of the trial, the nature and extent of Hauptmann's guilt of the crime with which he was charged.

Meanwhile, the story of the crime has not ended. Efforts have already been started looking toward further clearing of the mystery, more definitely establishing the court edict of Hauptmann's guilt or connecting others with the tragedy. Gov. Hoffman, of New Jersey, is taking a lead in the further inquisition, and it is contended from some sources the investigation may become of political significance in that state as elsewhere.

MULESHOE JOURNAL IS OFFICIALLY RECOGNIZED; ARTICLE REPRODUCED IN THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

The Muleshoe Journal "made" the Congressional Record in the April 2nd issue when an article entitled "Civilization Begins and Ends With The Plow," based on the statement of a former Texas governor, was published in full in the Appendix of the official organ of the U. S. Congress.

The article was published as an extension of the remarks of Congressman George H. Mahon, from this the 19th Congressional district of Texas, and following an address made by him on the floor of the House in behalf of the new Soil Conservation bill now being put into effect by the Federal government.

This article, which elaborated upon the idea of a "declaration of independence for farmers" was originally published a few weeks ago in the Muleshoe Journal. Comparatively few newspapers have the honor of having any of their editorials or feature articles given recognition in the Congressional Record, and so far as is known, this is the first reproduction in full of any article or address ever receiving such recognition by any newspaper or citizen in this Congressional district.

A letter received Tuesday by the Journal editor from Congressman Mahon, advising of the insertion, says such insertions in the Record are difficult to obtain and must be done by unanimous consent. Commenting upon the matter he said: "I do not know of any editorial from a West Texas newspaper having ever been inserted in the Congressional Record. Your editorial was so timely and so well written, I am sure there will be thousands of people who will read it with pleasure and with profit."

Congressman Mahon receives the Muleshoe Journal each week, advises that he reads it with much interest and profit, in return the Journal receives the regular issues of the Congressional Record the only copy of such publication coming to Bailey county. Daily issues of the Record are kept on file at this office and are available for perusal of any citizen interested in any discussion of this the highest law-making body of the nation.

Call Parley on Farm Imports

Increases Under Roosevelt Prompt Sioux City Meet April 14.

SIUOX CITY, IOWA.—Alarmed at importations of agricultural goods for consumption which have risen to a value of $1,105,000,000 under the Roosevelt administration, the chamber of commerce here has called a meeting of public western commercial and political leaders April 14, at the Martin hotel.

Invitations have been issued to Senators Louis J. Murphy and L. J. Dickinson of Iowa; J. Hamilton Lewis and William H. Dieterich of Illinois; Arthur Capper and George McGill of Kansas; Benson, Chairman, Clark, and Harry S. Truman of Missouri; Hendrick Shipstead and Elmer A. Benson of Minnesota; George W. Norris and Edward E. Burke of Nebraska; Lynn J. Frazier and Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, and Peter Norbeck and W. J. Bulow of South Dakota.

Governors Are Invited. Governors C. L. Herrington of Iowa, Henry Horner of Illinois, Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota, Guy B. Park of Missouri, E. C. Cochran of Nebraska, Walter Welford of North Dakota and Tom Berry of South Dakota, as well as all the representatives from the states named, have been invited. Acceptances are already pouring in.

"If the Middle West does not want to see a disastrous return of low prices on agricultural products this coming year, action must be taken immediately to curtail their importation and that of substitutes from foreign countries," J. C. Mullaney, president of the chamber of commerce, said. "We hope to pass resolutions condemning the importations of these products and their substitutes and asking tariffs be raised or quotas placed upon them."

Grain Imports Soar. Corn imports grew from 344,240 bushels in 1932 to 42,422,296 bushels in 1935 after crop reduction program took their toll. During the same time the annual imports of wheat grew from 10,626,529 bushels to 10,196,982 bushels; malt barley from none to 4,589,678 bushels; malt barley from none to 320,322,537 bushels (despite promises of the chamber of commerce that the American farmer was to get with wheat), and rye from none to 9,642,523. Meats, too, joined the general upswing in importations of goods raised on foreign farms. Hog importations leaped from 28,875 pounds in 1932 to 5,454,317 pounds in 1935; hams and bacon from 2,622,284 pounds to 5,217,335; cattle from 94,405 head to 364,623; fresh beef from 770,044 pounds to 8,584,114, and canned meats from 22,538,129 pounds to 76,633,292.

Small Income From AAA. Washington, D. C.—Cash income of farmers, as reported by the department of agriculture, was 553 million dollars for the month of January, 1936; this included only about one million in benefit payments. For the same month a year ago the farmers' income was 529 million dollars, of which 70 million was in benefit payments. The bulk of the increase was in farm products not under AAA control.

A Mystery of Relief. Fulton, N. Y.—In this community there are today one-third more persons employed than there were in the boom year 1929. The cost of relief here was $17,500 in 1929. In 1935 it was $351,473.98.

UNCLE SAM COUNTS LOSS. Washington, D. C.—The United States government, which holds mortgages on about 1,000,000 homes, has begun counting up its losses in the floods which have caused so much destruction in the East. Officials estimated that several hundred homes which had been financed by the Home Owners Loan corporation were badly damaged or swept away. Most of these cases represented total losses; no flood insurance was carried, because none had been obtainable.

Senator Says One Farmer Got $219,825 for Not Raising Hogs.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The federal government paid one hog producer $219,825 of the taxpayers' money for not raising 14,578 hogs, Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan declared, when he introduced a senate resolution denouncing from Secretary of Agriculture Wallace the names of all AAA beneficiaries who received in excess of $100,000 in any one year.

"These records are not open to inspection," Senator Vandenberg said. "I suppose it is the only existing secret disbursement of premiums, bonuses or subsidies. I know something about the average benefit payments; but the information is entirely abstract, and except as we know to what extent the general averages are weighted down by large individual payments it is impossible to interpret these statistics. I am not questioning the integrity of the disbursements. I am asking only for information bearing upon the public policy involved."

The senator said that the information would be valuable in connection with study of the new tax bill to raise $900,000,000 a year for benefit payments and $250,000,000 to pay off commitments under the now outlived farm program. The average crop-benefit in Iowa was under $400, Senator Vandenberg said, but an unnamed producer with hogs on 445 acres in another state received the $219,825 for not raising hogs.

He said that the average cotton contract was under $1,500, but one producer received $188,000 for not planting 7,000 acres; and that while the average wheat contract in Kansas was approximately $800, one producer received 65 checks totaling $78,638 in two years.

THE CRACKER BARREL

We think we know now what Harry Hopkins meant when he said that critics of New Deal relief spending would never understand the "finer things of life."

In Chicago, the head of a woman's shabby meat when he said that critics of a 75 cent dinner bill with a Taylor soup costing $6.00. She explained that the dinner bill "grated" on the women's nerves.

Those Senators who opposed the appropriation received from the Central and South Florida Water Conservation committee a case case of crisp Florida celery. Those who favored the appropriation got from Robert Klappel, an invitation to visit him at the George Washington, May flower and Flagler hotels—page Senator Black.

Devour Nest Companions
Many young birds of prey, such as the eagles and buzzards, will often kill and destroy their nest companions. A big hairy buzzard will pounce upon its smaller brother, quickly kill it, and afterwards make a meal of it, and later, when the parent returns with a plump young rabbit, she will seem surprised that her one remaining baby has no appetite.

LUCKY TO RAISE FLOCK OF POULTS

Old-Fashioned Methods Not Equal to Present Plan.

The subject of good luck in the poultry business was discussed on this page not long ago during public discussion it was pointed out that the most successful poultrymen are always the luckiest. That is not to say, however, that there are no instances where good luck plays the most prominent role. Such a case is to be found here: results are reared with hens.

So widespread is the belief in good luck that it has become a trade exception rather than the rule, asserts an authority in the Missouri Farmer. This is the successful poultryman who learns how to produce turkeys successfully under present-day conditions. Prior to the discovery that turkeys could be raised on a commercial scale the turkey population was heated straight for extinction, Turkey numbers in the United States had been reduced to the level of a few stragglers. Poultrymen are unable to produce them with eggs and unlimited range held to the erroneous opinion that these conditions were essential for their success.

Today, thousands of turkeys are produced in enormous flocks strictly confined to wire pens and, later, to small houses, where they are reared. And so expertly have turkey growers adapted modern methods to the turkey business that it is now a fact that the most successful turkey growers are also the luckiest, just like the case is with chicken raisers.

Because natural, or hen raising conditions, are essential in producing turkeys and artificial methods are so successful, the production of turkeys in small numbers—less than 100 per flock—probably should be discouraged. A large enough flock should be started that plenty of attention on the part of the attendant is financially justified and that applies to the use of good housing and equipment.

Sulphur Treatment Used to Control Coccidiosis

Experiments with sulphur in poultry disease control are attracting attention. The particular aim has been coccidiosis, a costly and common ailment. A writer in the Rural New Yorker, broiler flocks purged one day each with a mash containing 10 per cent sulphur. The results remained apparently free from coccidiosis, while untreated groups, also in close confinement, suffered heavily.

Only one successful in frequent purging or, as an alternate, the flock may be sulphurized. Three hundred pounds of sulphur raked into the top and some of spread over the ground, a new enclosure proved of apparent worth the past summer on the Maryland eastern shore. Pullets ranging from one to seven weeks of age from baby chicks to laying stage without loss attributable to coccidiosis, worms or paralysis. In contrast, cockerels from the same flock, which remained apparently free from coccidiosis, suffered heavy losses, also in close confinement, suffered heavily.

Pays to Feed Plenty

Sorting out a crop of farms on which the records showed the amount of feed consumed per hen was high, automatically revealed a group of farms on which the average amount of feed was obtained, despite Pennsylvania State college poultry experts. This study emphasizes, they say, that high egg production requires more feed that it pays to feed hens well. Pullets in reasonably heavy egg production must eat enough grain to maintain their body weight. A drop in production results. A mixture of one pound each of ground rolled oats and condensed milk before molting, fed to laying flocks daily may aid in maintaining feed consumption and consequently body weight. It should be fed in a crumby form.

Worming the Flock

Birds that are heavily infested with parasites are usually quite thin, there is a drawn appearance of the face and the neck. It means they are hungry. The birds are also sluggish and are invariably poor producers. When this condition appears in the flock, several tests should be made for worms. A testinal tract checked for worms. Worming a flock must be done carefully to prevent the birds going into a moult, and should have early attention.

Selection of Eggs for Size

Selection of eggs for egg size can be augmented immeasurably by using cockerels that hatched free of eggs. To obtain new material, it is well to select from the flocks that hatched from a minimum of 25 one.

BAILEY COUNTY DIVIDED INTO 3 DISTRICTS FOR HANDLING OF SOIL CONSERVATION PROGRAM

(Continued from page one) "Take a typical farm of 177 acres. Native pasture and the land around barn and house and lots cover a total of 15 acres, garden and orchard take up 2 acres. The remainder is normally divided between 40 acres in cotton, and 85 acres in feed, mostly grain sorghums and a little corn and cane, with 25 acres planted to sudan.

Since sudan is classified as a soil conserving crop the soil depleting base would be 125 acres in this case. The minimum requirement to qualify for a crop calls for at least 20% of the soil depleting crop to be diverted to soil conserving crops or soil building crop or practice. This means that in order to participate some cotton and feed land must be shifted to other uses. The maximum amount of cotton to be shifted would be 35% or 14 acres leaving 26 acres to plant in this case. On grain sorghums, cane and other feeds the maximum would be 15% or 13 acres. This would give a shifted acreage of 27 acres while the minimum would be 25 acres. Since the cotton base is small the producer could decide to shift only 12 acres leaving 28 acres to plant to cotton.

On the 25 acres diverted from soil depleting crops the producer can plant a soil conserving or soil building crop. The most common is sudan which may be pastured provided enough growth to protect the land is allowed to remain. It could not be harvested. If the producer wished he could terrace the diverted acreage and receive a maximum of $1000 per acre for a soil building practice.

The average for Bailey county for diverted acreage has not determined. However the average for Texas will be $8.40 per acre. This will be divided as follows: 37 1/2% to owner of land; 12 1/2% to owner of teams and tools; 50% to be divided according to each persons interest in crop

Baileyboro News

Mr. and Mrs. Guss Skinner, of Bula, were visitors in the L. P. Bynum home last week.

Mrs. J. E. Johnson and Mrs. W. O. McCrary and daughter, Marjorie, attended the Pioneers' program at Progress last Sunday.

Sunday in our district was a most entertaining day as we had thunder, lightning, hail, rain, snow and plenty of sleet. Those having north windows enjoyed new frozen lace curtains. Sunday school was broken up because of the severe looking cloud accompanied by strong wind, hail and sand.

The ladies W. M. U. met at the home of Mrs. W. T. Stanton, Monday afternoon. There were 10 members present and the meeting was very inspiring to all participating.

B. B. H. D. Club Our last meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Potet, Tuesday, March 31. It was called to order by the President Mrs. Susie Blackshear, and a second vice-president, Mrs. L. P. Bynum was elected.

We also discussed the quilt blocks, which all the clubs are working on and decided to make our blocks one inch square. We completed the plans for our carnival. The meeting was then turned over to our guest, Mrs. Johnnie Angel. We surprised Mrs. Angel with a silk shower and she was the recipient of many dainty and useful gifts. There were 13 members and six visitors present, as follows: Mesdames Ruth Clements, Olive Angel, Roy Pugh, Lee Bell, G. L. Blackshear, J. E. Potet, Faye Starkey, J. W. Malone, C. B. Wallace, W. O. McCrary, Curtis Moore, L. P. Bynum, and V. B. Mays. Visitors were Mesdames B. J. Robins, Lovella Apples, Faye Rogers, A. J. Smith and Mrs. J. E. Johnson, Lonnie Preston.

Our next meeting will be April 14 at 2:00 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Faye Starkey.

To Crown Sand Queen An entertainment will be given at the schoolhouse Friday night, April 10, under auspices of the B. B. home demonstration club, in connection with the crowning of a Sand King and queen. Voting boxes are at all different houses in Baileyboro and will be at the school house that night.

The price of one vote is one cent. Those having pioneer costumes are asked to wear them, the oldest to be awarded with a prize. There will be songs and talks on the program.

The Sand king and queen will be crowned before a court of ladies in waiting in a fitting background of beautiful decorations composed of tumble weeds. The price of admission for this gala occasion is one cent for each inch of foot length. Each woman furnishing a cake will be admitted free. Refreshments will be served to all, and all are invited--Reporter.
