YANK FLIERS IN THE LAND OF FLOWERS

American fliers, circling the globe at 5:25 Thursday afternoon swooped down on the calm waters of Kasumiguara, Japan, completing the last hop which in aviation circles is considered to comprise hazards that might frustrate their around-the-world flight, and are today resting in all the pomp which Japanese official arrangement can furnish them. Meantime, new engines are to be installed in their planes should inspection prove this is necessary, and Sunday morning may again find them in the air toward Asiatic mainland whence they will turn their eyes toward new conditions—flying over hot, unpopulated stretches but air channels considered to hold but few hazards.

For the inspection of their planes at Kasumiguara, the Japanese government has summoned the best aviation mechanics in naval service, and have placed these at the disposal of the American fliers.

Given Great Reception.

From the moment of their first contact with Japanese mainland the fliers have been given rousing ovations. Rural districts which for the most part are isolated from the outside world, have but little contact with world affairs, had heard of the coming of the American birdmen, and thousands dropped their labor in fields to rush to hill tops and open places where shouts and waves welcomed the fliers.

An unofficial reception by government department heads and the prince marked the climax in Japan's welcome to the aviators. The remainder of their stay in the Land of the Rising Sun will be devoted to much needed rest and a thorough inspection of their planes preparatory to the continuation of their journey.

These three gentlemen succeeded in appointing themselves as a committee to entertain the visiting lady members of the Chautauqua and from reports to the Journal, they are great entertainers and arrangements are being made already for their wives to be out of town next Chautauqua season.

PLAY GIVEN AT THE OKLAHOMA LANE SCHOOL HOUSE.

The play "At the End of the Rainbow" given by the Muleshoe High School students last week, was presented by them Monday night at the Oklahoma Lane school house to a well filled house. This play was one of the best given by local talent and was well worth the price of admission.

The Muleshoe Chautauqua has been going on all the week and we have had the pleasure of seeing some interesting programs and each number has been well attended.

FAMOUS FARM OWNER ATTENDS CONVENTION

BROWNWOOD, Texas, May 20.—S. A. Guy of Crosbyton, here with the delegation from that town, is the owner of the famous Caprock Jersey Farm, established at a cost of $500,000 and declared to be the finest in the United States.

TEN MOMENTOUS YEARS.

Ten years of perhaps the greatest economic stress endured by the United States since the foundation of the Republic span the period between Dec. 31, 1912, and Dec. 31, 1922. For this reason unusual interest attaches to the report of the Department of Commerce upon the principal forms of wealth of the Nation, covering this period. The first half of the 10-year period witnessed an unexampled industrial and financial expansion, due to this country's position as the only great neutral and therefore the principal supply agent for the countries engaged in the great war. The second half witnessed our entry in the great war, the accompanying inflation of trade prosperity, and the inevitable reaction that followed the Armistice. Deflation was almost totally accomplished during the period. The net result, as shown by the comparisons of the Department of Commerce report, was a gain of wealth for the Nation of 72.2 per cent, and a gain of per capita wealth of 49.6 per cent.

All classes of wealth but one were increased to make a national total of $320,803,862,000, as compared with $186,299,664,000 at the close of 1912. The single exception was livestock, which showed a decrease of 6.9 per cent, with figures of $6,250,000,000 in 1912, against $5,800,000,000 in 1922. This is explained largely by the terrific reduction in numbers of livestock occasioned by the extraordinary demands of the war, and is a condition that exists throughout the world.

America today is 72.2 per cent wealthier than 10 years ago. Our per capita wealth is $2,915. We are a fortunate Nation.—Star Telegram.

"QUESTION SHOP" GIVES ANSWER TO ANY TELEPHONED QUERY

Offering to answer any reasonable question telephoned to its office, a firm dealing in general information is said to have set up business in New York City. Subscribers to the service are permitted to put as many queries to the "question shop" as they desire. Each patron is given a code name and, it is reported, can receive aid from the station at any hour of the day or night. It is also claimed that eighty per cent of the queries do not require more than two minutes for an answer.

No Hero After All.—He had risked his life to rescue the fair maid from a watery grave, and, of course, her father was duly grateful.

"Young man," he said, "I can never thank you sufficiently for your heroic act. You incurred an awful risk in saving my only daughter."

"None what ever, sir," replied the amateur life-saver; "I am already married."—Chicago News.

BURKETT TO SPEAK HERE

Senator Joe Burkett, of Eastland, candidate for Governor of Texas, will be in Muleshoe Thursday evening, May 29th, at 1:30 to speak to the voters of Bailey county. His speaking schedule calls for Littlefield at 10 a. m., Muleshoe at 1:30 p. m., and Farwell at 4:30 p. m., all on Thursday the 29th, so all of Bailey county will have the opportunity of hearing and seeing a candidate for governor in Bailey county. This is the first time in the history of Bailey county a candidate for governor has been interested enough in the vote of the county to come and see us and solicit our support. We should lay aside our work for an hour on this date and come out and hear Senator Burkett and show him and other candidates as well that Bailey county is interested in the affairs of government of this great state, and by coming out it will be a greater inducement for other candidates to come to Bailey county. Remember the date, Thursday, May 29th, at 1:30 p. m.

FIRE LOSSES IN U. S. REACH $508,000,000.00

Fire losses in the United States last year amounted approximately to $508,000,000, or a greater total than in any year since the San Francisco disaster, said Harry A. Smith, president of the National Board of Underwriters, in a speech at the organization's convention in New York City Thursday.

CHI YOUTH IS KIDNAPPED AND SLAIN

CHICAGO, May 22.—Kidnapped and held for a $10,000 ransom and murdered when the kidnapers believed their plans were about to miscarry, the nude body of Robert Franks, 14-year-old son of Jacob Franks, millionaire Chicago manufacturer, was found in a swamp on the south side today with head crushed and the body stripped of all means of identification.

At the time the body was found the parents, unaware of the fate of their son, were awaiting a visit from the kidnapers in order to turn over the money to them, having followed the instructions of the abductors to the letter, even refraining from notifying the police.

Tonight one of the greatest man hunts in Chicago's history was under way with more than 5,000 policemen and detectives scouring the city in the search for the slayers. Despite the slim clues, it was reported that arrests were imminent.

MISS REITA LEE DODSON BITTEN BY DOG

Miss Reita Lee Dodson was very painfully bitten by a big dog at the C. R. Farrell home Monday, when the dog jumped on her and bit her through the shoulder and right arm. Dr. Matthews was rushed out to the scene of the accident and dressed the wound. The dog was killed and his head sent to Austin to the State Pasteur Institute for an examination to ascertain whether or not it had hydrophobia. Miss Dodson's many friends are anxiously awaiting the report. She is reported to be getting along nicely and the wound is healing up.

CHAIRMAN OF OUSLEY FORCE IS GRATIFIED

William H. Clark, chairman of the Ousley forces in Dallas which are seeking to secure the vice-presidential nomination for the former national commander of the American Legion, issued the following letter of appreciation to Bailey county people for their support:

ALVIN OUSLEY
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

Dallas, Texas, May 6, 1924.

Dear Sir: From the press of the state and our friends in your county, we learn that your county convention instructed its delegates to the state convention at Waco for Alvin Ousley of Dallas, for the Democratic nomination for the office of Vice President of the United States.

We take this opportunity of expressing through you to the Democrats of your county, our sincere thanks for this expression of confidence and friendship, and trust that you will request the Journal to express to the people our gratitude.

The movement for the nomination of Colonel Ousley was started in the East a short time ago and those who have the movement in charge in Texas are deeply gratified upon receiving the reports from the County Conventions of his native state. Mr. Ousley's candidacy for the nomination of Vice-President is in no way antagonistic to the candidacy of any one for president.

Thanking you, we are,
Sincerely yours,

BONUS BILL IS NOW LAW

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The bonus bill became a law when the senate by a vote of 59-26 overrode the Coolidge veto. The house overrode the veto Saturday.

Vote on the measure came a half hour after the bill was called up by Senator Curtis, of Kansas, Republican whip, all debate being dispensed with.

When the bill was called up, Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, anti-bonus leader, asked unanimous consent that the measure go over till Saturday. Senator Ashhurst, Arizona Democrat, objected and forced a vote.

NEW TAX BILL IS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, May 21.—A tax reduction bill endorsed by leaders of both parties and virtually every faction in the Senate and House, was moulded into final shape today.

Early approval of the unanimous agreement of the conferees on the differences between the Senate and House, reached today by both these branches of Congress was predicted, and the hope was expressed by Republicans that the bill would be signed by President Coolidge.

THE AMERICAN'S CREED.

"I believe in the United States of America and the principles of freedom, justice, equality and humanity upon which it was founded and for which American patriots have given their lives and fortunes. "I believe it is my duty towards my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws, and to defend it against all enemies."

DISCRETION IN GOVERNMENT

A college professor of political science and history says that the Teapot Dome Scandal is the product of a "Discretionary form of government." He reasons that the demands have been so great on our federal administrative officers that important functions of the government have been delegated to appointive heads of departments and more or less detached commissions authorized by law—creating a form of discretionary government.

Whatever may be blamed for the present scandal, it is deplorable and a remedy for the cause underlying it will have to be found.

We have before us every day in the dispatches from Washington ample evidence that discretion is a lost art in Washington, at least among those who have been involved in the oil scandal revelations.

If this is the natural consequence of "discretionary government," it is time that methods be changed at Washington.

It is true that in the earlier history of the republic, the important functions of government were much more constantly under the guidance of the president and congress. The pressure of government business rapidly became so great, with the development of the country, that it is now impossible for the chief executive to give the same careful attention to the details of his administration.

Apparently the government has lagged in its duty. It has not created machinery necessary to check up on the acts of this vast number of bureaus and commissions to which have been delegated authority formerly vested in elected officials.

The time is probably not far away when our governmental machinery will be drastically overhauled and reorganized. The sad part about it is that we seemed to have waited too long.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY.

By O. O. McIntyre.

New York going to work in the morning raises a monotone of a million tramping feet. It can be heard blocks away from the beaten paths. It is comparable somewhat to the incessant swish of the sea.

Workers fairly gush out of subways railroad terminals, elevated railways and surface cars. To most of them breakfast has been a glacial repast. They must fly away to be on time at the office. It is a rushing army that rarely smiles. All the varying shades of humanity are spotted in the patch-quilt of metropolitan life. There are slick and accurate men born to figures. Prim ladies who drip secretarial efficiency. Pretty stenographic fluffs who are interested in the luncheon date more than work.

Old men who feel themselves slipping but must carry on. Natty counting clerks and seedy types of the shipping room and back stairs. The most impressive thing is their aloofness. They plod along looking neither to the right or left. There is no talk. Lips appear sewn together in a firm line.

Withal it is an arduous and caskure profession. New Yorkers do not fear the job as do workers in other cities. To be fired is no disgrace. Nobody knows and there is another job around the corner. The future rarely stretches farther than two weeks ahead.

The high tide of the procession is on Forty Second Street around 8:30 o'clock. They walk westward to Fifth Avenue and scatter everywhere—to the garment district, big and little stores, office buildings and a hundred and one other places of employment.

It is all quite different at 6 in the evening when the workers sweep to their homes. It is the end of another day and the safety valve of restraint has popped. There is laughing, good natured elbowing and quick-stepping to the evening pleasures to come.

RADIO AND SCOFFERS.

To be able to sit at home on dreary days and hear a sermon from across the continent, a musical entertainment a couple of thousand miles away or an important address by the president of the United States, is a pleasure that can not be measured in terms of ordinary enjoyment.

Radio is truly the marvel of the age and its uses are broadening so that it has come to be an accepted means of communication.

There was a time when the scoffers laughed at the Wright Brothers for trying to fly without wings; when they ridiculed the idea of a buggy running down the street without a horse hitched in front of it; when they scorned the suggestion that anyone could communicate with another many miles away without the use of wires.

The scoffers are still having their inning. They haven't been convinced yet that radio is here to stay, but knowing their propensities to see only the dark side of every effort at progress, those of us who believe that modern inventions are the best ever conceived, will not be dismayed by their predictions of failure.

Radio is a wonderful invention and it will be improved immeasurably. There is no doubt about that. It will be perfected just as automobiles have been made more practical year by year.

MULESHOE TEXAS

Muleshoe, the county seat of Bailey County, Texas, has a population of about 250, is situated on the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway about 25 miles from the New Mexico line and was laid out at about the time of the outbreak of the European war and while it has made a steady growth, its development has doubtless been retarded by the fact that the country has either been in war or passing through an enormous depression during practically the entire time of the town's existence. Muleshoe is a new town but owing to the excellent farming and ranch country in which it is situated, it bids fair to become a large one as well. It has at this time one elevator, a cotton gin, a first class lumber yard and supply house, two garages, several mercantile concerns, a bank with resources aggregating $175,000.00, a practically new high school building and two churches.

The country tributary to Muleshoe borders on New Mexico and is just south of the Panhandle proper, about 200 miles west of the southern line of Oklahoma, fifty miles west of Plainview, Texas, about 90 miles southwest of Amarillo and about 35 miles east of Clovis. Owing to the fact that Bailey County in which Muleshoe is situated, joins New Mexico where land could be homesteaded until recently and did not have a railroad until about nine years ago and the further fact that the county was unorganized until about five years ago, the beautiful and fertile country has been overlooked and has never been advertised or boomed. The Muleshoe country now has good shipping facilities, schools, churches, roads, gardens and groves. As for shipping facilities as above mentioned, it is situated on the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway, being the main line of the Santa Fe between Los Angeles, California and Galveston, Texas; as for schools, as mentioned above, Muleshoe has a beautiful high school building, modern in every respect, just completed, there are numerous grade schools, well equipped, throughout the territory, one of which cost over ten thousand dollars; as for roads, Muleshoe is a terminal for three of the most important highways in the South and Southwest, being the Robt. E. Lee Highway, the F. F. F. Highway and the Roger Q. Mills Highway.

The country has an average rainfall of about 24 inches which falls mostly during the growing season. It is the best watered country anywhere, barring none; it being overlaid with pure sheet water or a strata of water bearing sand, which is known to be approximately 300 feet thick and which lies only from ten to eighty feet below the surface of the land. A great portion of the Muleshoe territory is overlaid by an enormous strata of water only from twenty to thirty feet beneath the surface. This body of land is being rapidly developed into fine irrigated farms, by pumping with crude oil engines and centrifugal pumps. Many of the pumps draw the water but about 35 feet and have a capacity of 1,500 gallons per minute, with no apparent effect on the supply and a plant this size is operated with only a 25-horsepower engine burning the cheapest of fuel oil, will irrigate successfully about a quarter section of land and will insure a bumper crop of anything grown in a temperate climate, and at a very low cost.

Owing to the fine uniform soil throughout the Muleshoe territory, which soil varies from a clay loam to a silty or sandy loam, from two to six feet deep and the shallow water for irrigation, almost any crop can be grown. Crops grown more successfully in this territory consist of kafra and sorghums, alfalfa, sudan, millet, beans, cantaloupes and all kinds of vegetables. Fruits of all kinds that flourish in a temperate climate can be raised in abundance and some fine orchards are just coming into their prime bearing age throughout the territory. Beautiful shade trees of all kinds, such as grace the streets in the residential section of Clovis and Amarillo, make a rapid growth in this territory owing to the abundance of water.

The Muleshoe territory has an altitude of 3,800 feet above sea level which gives it a most delightful climate and considering its excellent location and many natural advantages its development into a beautiful, thriving and prosperous valley, populated with happy and contented people of the nations' best stock, is assured.

ONCE WASTEFUL POTATO TOPS YIELD VALUABLE DYE

Once considered a nuisance, the problem of what to do with the tens of thousands of tons of potato tops is believed to have been solved by a Danish chemist's discovery that the waste may be utilized as dye. In harvesting the dye, the tops are cut when the plant is in flower. After withering for a day or two, the vegetable is bruised and pressed between huge rollers so as to extract the juice. In using "potato yellow" the articles to be dyed are steeped in the juice for several hours, after which time a fine, solid and permanent yellow color is given to them. If desired, the yellow may be changed to a beautiful green merely by plunging the garments in a bath of blue dye after they are thoroughly impregnated with the yellow.—Popular Mechanics.

THE ROAD TO JUNE.

By James J. Montague

Blossoms falling round about,
Robins in the trees,
Violets just opened out,
Bobbing in the breeze:
New-fledged froglings in the pond,
Piping loud and shrill;
In the orchard just beyond,
Chants the whip-poor-will.
May time, play time, up-and-tramp-away time,
Bird and leaf and blossom time—
all the world in tune,
Yonder, where the skies are bright,
View the world, the eyes alight,
Where the cherry-trees are white,
On the road to June.
Brooks are leaping, clear and cool,
'Neath a cloudless sky,
Trout are jumping in the pool,
Where the moths flit by.
Yonder in the rotting oak,
By the crumbling mill,
Mr. Flicker, stroke on stroke,
Plies his busy drill.
Spring time, wing time, birds-that-cheerily-sing-time,
Carpets of soft-woven green over hill and dune;
While it still is lovely May,
Leave behind the town today
Wander, wander, far away,
On the road to June!

MORAL COURAGE AND POPULARITY

"She has the courage of her convictions—that's what I like about her."

"She always had moral courage, even when she was a young girl."

"Today, she is the most beloved woman of her city," said another. "Because she is not afraid to stand up for what she believes to be right, and she is always nice about it and liberal in her attitude toward those who differ from her, everybody has a good word for her."

This conversation took place at a luncheon table in one of the fashionable homes of this city, the subject being a young woman whose home is in a neighboring city, but who is a frequent visitor here.

During the luncheon it was recalled that this young woman, who had been a member of a club of girls, the belles of this city fifteen years ago, had resigned from the club when its members began to play cards for money. She could not reconcile that practice with her own conscience. So she dropped out of a club, composed of her dearest friends.

Her whole life has been guided by the principle of her own conviction. And because at the same time she has held to the rule of live and let live, the very persons who differ from her admire and love her because she has the courage to stand by her colors.

It is a mistaken idea that in order to be liked and admired, you must be all things to all people, that you dare not have any convictions or principles of your own.

It's not the woman who agrees with everybody who is the most popular. It is not the woman who says "Yes" to everything who is trusted and wholeheartedly admired. Far more respect and liking is accorded the woman who is honest in the expressions of her opinion when occasion suggests it, who stands firmly on her own feet, and who is not afraid to say "No" in a nice way.

How spontaneously the rank and file of women admire one of their sex who has courage was demonstrated by the tremendous vote of confidence given Mrs. Frederick M. Paist when she was re-elected president of the Young Women's Christian association the third time. There was a woman who knew how to be firm, and at the same time gracious, and who tempered her exercise of authority with a sparkling wit.

To be sure, there are more ways than one of upholding your convictions. There are ways that are pleasant, and there are ways that offend.

The woman who accepts an invitation to bridge, or mah-jong, knowing that her hostess and many of the guests are accustomed to play for a stake, and who goes to the party there loudly to proclaim her disapproval, makes herself obnoxious.

With much better grace could she stand her ground by politely declining the invitation, pleading another engagement for that day, or in saying that she does not play the game.

In the days when wines were served at luncheon or dinner, it always struck me as an exhibition of poor taste when guests ostentatiously turned down their glasses, or remarked vociferously for the benefit of the table, "I've never taken a drink in my life." By the slightest gesture they could have indicated to the waiter what they did not care to have their glasses filled. Or, they could have left untouched their filled glasses. One can avoid doing a thing one believes to be wrong without making any commotion about it, when the occasion is a social one.

Yes, all the world loves heroes and heroines and courage is the stuff out of which they are made. The world looks up to men and women who, while not courting enemies, are not afraid to incur them.

Then, looking at this matter of sincerity from a subjective standpoint, men and women of courage are happier and healthier. Carrying water on both shoulders is a devastating effort. Sustaining a sham in both dreary and discouraging, enough to destroy anyone's tone.

The honest and brave of conviction, however, being self-inspired, are self-starting. Despite all the opposition they may encounter, they get much farther in this world.—Edith Johnson, in The Daily Oklahoman.

The sap in some of our Presidential timber is mostly in the head.—Columbia Record.
