"The Difference in Anger and Disappointment"

By VANDA ANDERSON-CREECH

After revealing some innermost feelings about anger, I felt the need to clarify the difference between anger and disappointment. Sometimes what we determine as anger is really the emotional feeling of expectations not being met --DISAPPOINTMENT.

There is a thin line between these emotions when you reconsider. You may think you are hopping mad at someone or some situation, when you only anticipated certain results which you desired but did not convey.

This is another point of communication which most of us do not execute well. You shouldn't expect someone to read your mind, as every individual has different trains of thought. This is an example of not making it clear what you want and then being sadly disappointed.

If you made your request perfectly plain and the other party did not comply you could either be disappointed or angry.

Sometimes we set ourselves up for disappointment without realizing it. What our expectations of happiness or fulfillment are compared to another may be extremely different. So who is right?

That's a good question! Here is where compromise comes in. You have to develop open lines of communication and decide on a plan which will satisfy both sides. That is not so difficult if you are not too intimidated to talk about it.

Why not just go for it. What have you got to lose anyway? If you are already hurt and disappointed how much worse can it get?

Having given the difference in anger and disappointment quite a bit of thought, my feelings are primarily disappointment, which I incorrectly labeled ANGER. You will have to self-evaluate and see what you determine.

When you give 110 percent and expect everyone to match your participation; you are likely to arrive at disappointment.

If we would all abide by the Golden Rule of doing unto others as you would have them do unto to you, all conflicts in the world would be resolved. God's word makes it so plain and we make it so terribly difficult.

ATTENTION ATHLETES!

All student athletes who will be in grades 7 through 9 or did not participate last year, will need a physical.

You may pick up forms at the coaches' office or administration office. The medical history form should be completed and signed by a parent or guardian before the physical can be given.

VERNON PHILLIPS

Services were held Saturday for local man

Vernon Dale Phillips passed away on Wednesday, July 7, 1999, at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene. Services were held Saturday, July 10, 1999, at 11:00 a.m. at the Rising Star Church of Christ, with Jim Nash officiating, Charles Chesshir presenting the obituary and Jack Scott giving a tribute. Intemment was in the Pioneer Cemetery.

He was born February 9, 1933, on the family farm in Eastland County to Homer Secundus, Sr. and Nora Melton Phillips. He attended Pioneer and Cross Plains schools. While at Cross Plains High School, he was an outstanding athlete excelling in football--lettering all four years, making the all-district team and being chosen by the Abilene Reporter-News as an All Star Player of West Central Texas.

After graduating in 1952, Vernon worked for the telephone company in Turkey, Texas. Later, he moved to Cisco, where he met Glenda Boyd in February 1954, a student at Cisco Junior College. They married on January 2, 1955, at her family farm near Owens. During the first year of marriage, they lived in the Cross Plains area where he drove a milk truck and ran a hay baler for the public. Shortly thereafter their first son was born in November 1955, they went to the oilfields of West Texas. In 1957, they moved to Owens where he ran a welding shop at Brownwood. In November of 1957, they moved back to Cross Plains where they bought a farm, and he worked for Kizer Telephone Company. On the farm they raised peanuts, hay, cattle, and goats.

Deadline coming to close for "Mural Contest"

By RON RICCI Site Manager

As you have noticed the structure to hold the mural is in place on the north wall of the center. I have had some questions concerning the reasoning behind all that work, wood and cost. I will attempt to answer those questions here.

The brick wall has been in place for some 80+ years and all the mortar had washed away leaving the bricks held apart with mostly just sand. Some brick was just lying on top of the bricks below with nothing inbetween. Huge cracks, gaps and holes resulted leaving the wall unstable and weak. The restoration project just finished, helped shore it up by filling in the surface cracks and holes which added strength and permanence. The mural structure is anchored directly to the brick and should remain stable regardless of See MURAL page 3

- Vet News -Be on lookout for parasites on pets

in most of the country, summer is the time to be on the lookout for parasites--that is tough little ticks, fleas and other nasty pests which can cause serious skin problems for our pets.

These are some points to remember: (1) Scratching and itching can be year-round problems for many cats, dogs and birds, but skin diseases often get an extra boost about the time summer starts. (2) Some animals are affected more seriously than others. For example, fleas can be devastating to some very young dogs and cats, while other animals don't exhibit symptoms until after they mature. Also warm weather plant growth can revive allergies, particularly in humid climates, and parasites can make the allergic animal even more miserable.

Since scratching and itching are so common, why should you be especially concerned?

First, your suffering animal friend can become grouchy from the constant irritation. Gradually, it may become unhappy and foul smelling, a very unpleasant version of that friendly pet which was once so easy to love.

Second, many skin diseases can become virtually impossible to treat successfully if you don't get professional help before the problem reaches an advanced stage.

Third, painful skin lesions-often called "hot spots" occur when your pet continues to lick and chew any part of its body that is itching and burning. If allowed to go untreated, large areas (sometimes the width of two hands) may quickly develop that can eventually require drying lotions and antibiotics and even sedation and restraining devices to stop the agony your pet will experience.

What can you do to help your pet avoid suffering needlessly while also avoiding big bills for you?

Begin by watching carefully for any symptoms or pattern (such as scratching or irritability which may be caused by lack of sleep due to continuous itching) your watchfulness can help pinpoint the professional diagnosis that's a must for an early, effective and low cost treatment.

Another step to take is to control parasites which create the trouble. Products are available which are effective in killing ticks, fleas and other pests. Since some work better than others, get professional advice on products and usage before you spend your money.

Remember, de-fleaing or deticking your pet once or twice a season, or on a regular basis, isn't enough. The only real solution is to remove the pests from your pets environment, and this means controlling the sources in your home and yard. The good news is that once the insect population is under control, it's fairly easy to maintain a pest free environment.

The Library Board of Cross Plains Public Library met on Monday, July 12 in its regular monthly meeting. With this group things are happening. Volunteers are making progress with bar-coding the books, which has to be done for the computer check-out system.

New shelves for the tall children's books have left shelves free with which to extend the Howard Collection.

People are realizing that memorials are not the only gifts that will help the library. Cards will be sent for gifts for birthdays; anniversaries, holidays -- or just for remembrance.

Book reviews are planned for the near future.

The library is bursting at the seams with progress, and progress means better service to the community. Hopefully, all who received newsletters will return the survey soon to help the library board in making decisions for future developments. Please!!!

"SPRING--A GREAT DE-LIGHT"

I suppose without a doubt, that spring is my very favorite season. I most especially enjoyed spring this year. For one thing, we had some good rains which was a great improvement over last spring (1998).

Spring is a most enjoyable time. We were watching the birds at our birdfeeder and our birdbath, while sitting under the shade trees all spring. Such a cool, calm and relaxing time. We especially enjoyed the mornings thus occupied from 9:30 a.m. to 12 and 1 p.m. The little birds look so sweet. However, just like children, they sometimes quarrel among themselves. We have a squirrel who visits us some mornings also. We have observed Squirrely Joe cutting some pretty cute capers. Ver-r-rry interesting!

Spring is a great time for herb gardening also. We enjoy particularly the Lemon Balm. It's great fresh in tea, either hot or iced tea. It's great also dried and ground and used in tea or for other cooking. Try some in vegetables such as carrots, green beans etc. in place of margerine or butter. The lemon balm gives the vegetables a slight lemony flavor with just a hint of piquancy. Talk about a tantalizing taste and it's fat free also.

Fall is my next season of choice next to spring. An herb which does really well in the fall is sorrel. It grows somewhat like leaf lettuce except the leaves are much smaller, a lot darker green and come to a point. It has more than one use. It is quite tasty used on sandwiches in place of lettuce or mixed in salads with other greens. We also enjoy it chopped and mixed with tomato quarters, salt and olive oil. Sorrel has a very slight lemony taste.

Sorrel can also be chopped and added to fruit salad, gives it a real citrus flavor.

Another use for sorrel is as an ingredient in soup along with potatoes, chicken broth, shallots, carrots, English peas etc. Extremely delicious. The great thing about sorrel is it lives all winter. Sorrel loves cold weather and flourishes so you can also harvest it in the winter months as well as spring, summer and fall. We have 5 sorrel plants and it produces just about all the sorrel we need.

I sadly announce my resignation from the center as of Friday the 16th of July. My tenure has been fulfilling and satisfying. I have met many new acquaintances and made many life long friends and have grown personally more than I would have ever believed.

I also want to thank all of the businesses and organizations who have given support and money to the center during my tenure, for their contribution was no less important. I believe the next manager will do an excellent job with your support as you have supported me. Thanks a lot!!!

The artist sign painter who will do the mural application recommended this idea. Also you will remember we had two murals wash off two different walls in the past. Every precaution has been taken to prolong the life of the mural and wall by selecting the best base material and paint available. The only costs incurred have been the materials for the structure, paint, contest prize and artist commission. The labor to install the structure and paint was a personal contribution.

The contest is going well, remember the deadline is Friday the 16th at 1:00. We wish to encourage as many participants to enter their creations as soon as possible. Don't forget the $100 Savings Bond prize and bring your entry by the center Monday through Friday 9-1.

Rubbing ice to cool a strain, forn muscle, or sprain will lessen the pain. Quickly cooling the injury reduces swelling, bleeding into the tissue and, later, the bruising. This in turn speeds recovery. Simply move the ice pack gently over the injured area for 10 to 20 minutes. Reapply it every two hours for the next 32 to 48 hours. Never apply ice bags for more than 20 minutes at a time.

BREAKTHRU

By Bob Pipes, preacher Cross Plains Church of Christ 433 N. Main At 12th (254) 725-6117

Idon't remember when I first heard the word "cuckoo" -- perhaps when my mother told me that I was about "to drive her cuckoo"! My older brother (who was in the Air Force) bought us a cuckoo clock when he was stationed overseas once -- so we had this bird that would come out every hour on the hour and say "cuckoo," the number of times depending on the hour. I remember another of my brothers sleeping on the couch in the room with the cuckoo clock one night during the holidays one year. Every time the clock would cuckoo, he would mumble, "I'm going to wring that bird's neck." I didn't know that there was really such a thing as a cuckoo bird, much less that the bird really does "cuckoo," until I heard them for myself in Switzerland several years ago. And yes, we bought us a cuckoo clock while in Geneva, and it's still running, thanks to John Adams.

Now I learn that cuckoo birds lay their eggs in other birds' nests, leaving the responsibility of hatching them, then feeding the little cuckoos, to the other birds. Author John White relates "the comic-tragic sight of a pair of hedge sparrows, frantically darting to and from their nest to supply an enormous baby cuckoo with bits of food." "It amazed me," says White, "to see what power the cuckoo held to keep the sparrows on the move. His lusty cries could be heard for a quarter of a mile. The sparrows had grown thin and weary in their endless haste to cram food into his insatiable gullet." And imagine how little food (if any) that the little baby sparrows received...

Selfishness is hatched when one allows self to become a "cuckoo" in his/her heart. It results in divorces, broken homes, abused children — and many other disasters. James writes, "For where envy and self-seeking exist, confusion and every evil thing will be there," James 3:16 (NKJV). And among the works of the flesh, Paul includes "selfish ambitions," Galatians 5:20 (NKJV).

"So long as the cuckoo in the nest gets preference, the weak cries of the baby sparrows are less effective in securing food from their parents." And as long as the voice of self is heard above all else, "Christ in you" will have little chance to survive, much less grow. You'll be too busy feeding self. We need to "wring that bird's neck"!

Come learn with us more about the selfless Christ, and imitating Him in our lives -- our life-style.

By general consent the minutes of the last meeting were approved as

Don Gosnell, Chief of Police, met with the council to give the police report. He reported forty-seven calls for service, one forgery case, one sexual assault cause, forty-six citations with thirty-two warnings being given. Bob Hill, Municipal Judge, met with the council to give the judge's report. He reported forty-six citations, with twenty-two outstanding for June, twenty still outstanding for May and twelve still outstanding for April. He reported twenty-one reminder letters being sent out. By general consent the report was accepted as presented. Betty Cavanaugh met With the council to discuss the Community Center and the condition it was in when they used the center recently. She reported that the center was not clean, there were no cleaning supplies available and the mop that was there for use was very dirty. The council discussed the center at length and it was decided that the present cleaning lady is not able to do a satisfactory job because of the size of the building and instructed Debbie to contact her and inform her they will be hiring a new cleaning person for the center.

Steve Mack representative for the EDC, met with the council to discuss a couple of plans of the EDC. He informed the council that the new vet, Mr. Curtis D. Creach, Jr., was planning on coming to Cross Plains in July. His plan is to purchase 39 1/ 2 acres of property on Highway 36 and build a suitable building for his vet practice. He is currently getting bids on the building. He is working with the Council of Governments on a SBA loan. To do so, he will need 20 percent of the loan. He has asked the EDC to loan him $6,000 for five years at 6 1/2 percent interest. Jerry Cassle moved to accept the "Memo" with a change to the type of businesses that is prohibited to include any retail sales unless the item is manufactured on site. James Nichols seconded and motion carried.

Denise Coulter met with the council to update them on the renovation of the motel. She stated that the work is coming along very nicely, however, she did not have a tentative opening date, but felt like it would be in the very near future. She also stated that she had spoken with the lady who purchased the old Foster building and was told that this is a very busy time of year for the trophy business and that she is planning on beginning work on the building as soon as the season slows down. This should be very soon since school has let out for the summer and most activities are coming to a close.

Patsy Harlic, Trades Day Representative, met with the council to inform them that Trades Day has been set for September 4, 1999. She informed the council that TxDot requires the city to request the parade route since it will take place on a state highway. The council instructed Debbie to send a request to the state as soon as possible.

Mr. Fred Dill met with the council to discuss clean up. He informed the council that he and Tim Dill had purchased several older homes in Cross Plains for rental property and had an outside investor helping with the project. He also stated that the investor had stated to him that, "I will not invest another penny in Cross Plains until the City Council makes an effort to clean up the town." Mr. Dill told the council that he felt bad that this monkey fell on their backs, but asked that the City of Cross Plains begin some type of clean up for Cross Plains. A letter from Jean Vaughn was read requesting the speed limit on 10th Street and Avenue E be lowered to 10 MPH to avoid some close calls she has witnessed on these streets. James Nichols moved to table the discussion until next month, which will give Chief of Police Don Gosnell the opportunity to patrol this area to see if the traffic should be slowed to 10 MPH. Edwin Weiss seconded and the motion carried.

Debbie Gosnell informed the council that the printer she currently uses is not printing the monthly water bills as it should be. The council discussed the age of the printer and Edwin Weiss moved to allow Debbie to purchase a new printer. Joe Ingram seconded and motion carried.

James Nichols moved to pay the bills. Edwin Weiss seconded and motion carried.

Mayor Purvis discussed the clean up project which was brought up earlier in the meeting. He reminded the council and citizens that the City of Cross Plains does have a Nuisance Ordinance in place which restricts letting certain conditions exist inside the city limits of Cross Plains which would constitute a nuisance. The ordinance requires that an adjoining property owner sign a written complaint against the property owner who allows such a condition to exist. Mayor Purvis dissussed the fact that the city enforces the Ordinance once such complaint has been filed. It was pointed out that the entire City Council supports the Nuisance Ordinance and would like for each individual in Cross Plains to do their part in helping make Cross Plains not only a "Caring Community" but also a beautiful one. The city will continue to do its part in keeping the public property in a clean, safe and sanitary condition and sincerely requests that each citizen of Cross Plains do their part in making Cross Plains a beautiful place to live and to

Free vision screening offered at Wards Optical

Abilene, TX--Children and adults can have their vision screened for FREE during the Smart Sight Sale at the Optical Department in Wards at 4601 South First from noon to 4:00 p.m. on July 18th or any day after that until August Wards Optical's 150 locations nationwide accept the challenge to screen a total of 16,000 people. The purpose of the FREE Vision Screening is to encourage the public to practice preventative vision care and maintain good eyesight. No appointment is necessary to get a FREE Vision Screening.

A vision screening, though not a substitute for a comprehensive eye examination, may be a good first step in protecting eye health and preventing unnecessary blindness. Further visual evaluation and a comprehensive examination recommended when the vision screening indicates a possible

"Our goal is to find and help those who are walking around with 'unrecognized' vision problems," said Pam Shelley/Patient Care Manager. "Eye conditions not detected or treated early may worsen, contribute to children's learning problems, and potentially become more difficult to treat or lead to permanent vision loss."

A vision test, specifically designed for children, will be coupled with the traditional vision screening tools. The Lea Symbols Test was developed for children as young as three years, using symbols suggesting shapes which all children are familiar with.

For adults, the familiar E-chart (Snellen chart) is used to measure acuity or sharpness of distance vision and the Near Vision Card is used to measure the ability to check a wider segment of the population more effectively," said Dr. Michael Cohen, Director of Professional Services for Wards Optical. A vision screening can usually be performed in five to seven minutes .

Stenholm pleased with trade action against lamb imports

WASHINGTON, D.C .-- The Administration has announced a two tiered tariff schedule ranging from 9 % to 40% on imports of lamb meat from Australia and New Zealand effective July 22, 1999, according to Congressman Charlie Stenholm.

The Administration's decision followed an investigation by the U.S. International Trade Commission (ITC) which unanimously ruled in February that the unprecedented surge in lamb imports posed a serious threat of injury to the U.S. lamb Stenholm led the effort in the House of Representatives to give the domestic lamb industry a period to adjust to market disruption due to increased lamb meat imports. Thirty-one House Members co-signed a Stenholm letter to the President requesting trade restrictions on lamb as outlined by the American Sheep Industry Association.

In its investigation, the Commission found that imports of foreign lamb to the United States surged 50% between 1993 and 1998. Those imports consistently undercut the price of domestic product. The Commission's determination resulted from a petition filed in October 1998 by American lamb producers, feeders, and lamb companies, under Section 201 of the 1974 Trade Act.

Beginning July 22 of this year, a tariff-rate quota will apply for lamb meat in an amount equal to 31,851 metric tons in the first year. That amount is equal to imports of lamb meat during calendar year 1998. Increased rates of duty for imports within the tariff-rate quota amount will be 9% in the first year, 6% in the second year, and 3% in the third year. (Out of quota tariffs will be 40%, 32% and 24% respectively.) The Administration also promised lamb producers $100 million for domestic assistance programs over the next 3 years.

While the industry had requested a four-year adjustment period, the President has announced increased tariffs for only three

"With only three years of protection against imports, we must begin working immediately with USDA to implement the $100 million in domestic assistance promised by the President," said Stenholm. "The American sheep industry has a solid recovery plan ready to go, but strong import restrictions and domestic industry assistance are necessary for the plan to have a chance."

"P" words...

"You kids are weirdos!" 'Gramma," Peanut retorted, "Go write a hundred times, 'I will not call my grandchildren Weirdos!' Giggles and laughter filled the car. Sweet Pea ordered, "Go copy dictionary words of praise and kind-They doubled over with laughter. I try to teach my grandchildren manners, consideration, sticking up for each other. Infringements result in various punishments. One is yelling, but I don't like to talk about that.

One that works is sitting in the middle of the living room floor. No TV, no phone, no talking to sisters, just thinking. I never tell them, "Go to your room!" It's too much fun in there for kids these days.

Another is to look up "P" words in the dictionary. There are some fabulous words under "P", like punishment, picaresque, pugilistic, pellucid, pulchritudinous. This is the punishment that is a gift-for life. My youngest daughter hated this assignment, but, now in her twenties, she enjoys the memory, and the expansive vocabulary.

I can just picture her very verbal 2-year-old a few years from now, starting out with a crayon and words like pet, pen, pin, Pooh, and party. He'd move on to words like pickle, gillow, gaint, and gretzel, and end up with groud and gromoted and paycheck and the inevitable payment. After all that, his Mama would end up on a gedestal.

Sometimes, the punishment is an essay on the subject. One of the kids loves being punished this way too much. She fills a page and brings it to me, then goes to write another, and often even a third paper on something like, "It is wrong to try to sneak more cookies past my grandmother, before dinner." The worst is the writer's-crampinducing, mind-numbing "write this sentence a hundred times." It is usually something like "I will not call my sister Stupid ever again."

The page starts out with 12 or 13 lines written across from margin to margin. Then they re-define the problem and solve it like this: they start down the page, "I-I-I-I-I-I," then "will-will-will-will," followed by "not-not-not-not...

The lines slant, the writing gets either bigger or smaller, the margins grow wider. The pauses get longer and more frequent to shake out cramped fingers.

I show them how to hold the pencil and their hand so the flow is looser. They tell me that isn't natural, and they can't do it. I remind them to think of all the people before computers, even before typewriters, who had to write and write and write by hand.

Punkin and her sisters trade that askance glance that says Gramma's talking about the Jurassic age again.

Anyway, so we were bumping along into town, driving one of the kids to one of their summer activities, and the three of them were engaged in a combative argy-bargy about the brains in the family.

It was then I popped out with it. "My goodness, girls! You three are weirdos!"

Their eyes glittered with the pleasure of a vengeful thought as they pictured me bent over a paper and shaking cramps out of my hand on the 79th line.

I'm around to remind them about

Sometimes, like yesterday, they remind me.

I hope this means the message is sticking.

Telephone buddy system initiated for Callahan County

Through the Faith on Action program sponsored by Central Texas Opportunities, the Telephone Buddy System for Callahan County will be initiated. There are many people who could just use a friendly voice or kind words of encouragement, especially for those that are disabled or homebound. Many do not have family close by and are not able to associate with others.

Margaret Burkhart, director of volunteers for Central Texas Opportunities and Jeannie Chaney, Board President of Clyde Community Resource Center have coordinated efforts to establish the program for Callahan County. Shelley Holtz, VISTA volunteer for Callahan County will help to recruit and train volunteers. For anyone interested in either becoming a telephone buddy or being the recipient of a telephone buddy call, please contact Shelley Holtz at 915-625-4167 Ext 13 or Jeannie Chaney at 893-2395.
