"Keepsakes"

By VANDA ANDERSON-CREECH
Editor

Have you ever wondered why you keep all those little things from the past? Isn't it fun to go through an old scrapbook or yearbook and recall events you thought you had forgotten?

Just a few weeks ago my daughter, Leah, and I were going through old annuals. She was involved in her thoughts while I was recapturing mine.

I still get a kick out of reading the personal messages. I read every one from my senior year and enjoyed it so. If only you were really as nice as those complimentary writings reflected. Well, those were the "good old days" indeed.

I had to search for the note from my late friend, Darylene Hargrove McCowen. She wrote on an inside page and the words brought tears. She ended it with "Don't forget little ole me." Those of you who knew her, realize she is an unforgettable person. After all these years, I still miss her.

The pictures brought back memories of wonderful friends and great experiences. Life-long friendships are a true accomplishment.

It is a wonder I ever compiled the information in the scrapbooks, but I'm sure glad I did. I must have had time on my hands, as I glued in each banquet corsage, name place, a decorative item depicting the theme, plus a photo. Now if I didn't have these reminders I would never recall all the fun we had making the decorations for the banquets and how proud we were of our creativity.

Another scrapbook has all the souvenirs from the band trip to the Indianapolis 500 Race. I included articles about the trip and how the band students were working to earn money for new uniforms, trip expenses, etc.

I am probably the only person who ever stayed in the tunnel under the track during the races. The cars were going so fast all you could see was a streak of color. How could you stand to see a car jump the fence and crash into the crowd? The tunnel seemed the safest place!

Wayne McDonald, the band director during that time, taught us some life-time lessons about responsibility, pride and just plain "class". He demanded respect and our very best efforts. I think many former band students would agree that he helped make us who we are today!

Chamber of Commerce Recognize CPISD Personnel

By VANDA ANDERSON-CREECH
Editor

The annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet was buzzing with folks placing bids for the popular silent auction. A delicious meal catered by Jean's Feed Barn followed directly.

Bob Pipes, Chamber of Commerce President, served as emcee and Charles Chesshir introduced each teacher, administrator and staff as Representative Jim Keffer presented them with a certificate. Present to accept their award were Mattie Faye Wilson, Margie Sowell, Charlou Cowan, Betty Barclay, Tom Barclay, Charlene Fleming and Cliffadean Hargrove. Those unable to attend were Mack McConal, Lynda Edington, Roy Richey and Jean McWilliams. Chesshir gave a brief description of their education, career and individual dedication.

An explanation of Classroom Cash was given by West Texas Utility employee Melissa Richards. The cash award from WTU was presented to Kim Woerner on behalf of the Buffalo Buddies by Margie Sowell, elementary principal. Cord Woerner, Kim Woerner and Teri Hunter organized the mentor program between 1st graders and high school athletes. The older students helped the younger ones with homework, celebrated birthdays and occasions and worked out together. The program proved beneficial for all.

Chesshir also introduced the keynote speaker, Carroll Tatom. Being a 50 year veteran of public education as a teacher, coach and administrator, Tatom delivered an informative and heart-touching tribute to the honorees. His humor and experience with students and the school system kept the audience captive.

A live auction of baked good by local cooks proved exciting with Donnel Clark as the auctioneer. The auction was successful with the top selling cake netting $115.

Steve Mack announced the winning bids on the silent auction and concluded the evening with a prayer.

TRIAD Outreach Coordinator Spoke At Recent Meeting

The Callahan County TRIAD/S.A.L.T. Advisory Council warmly welcomed Nancy Gresham of Austin as keynote speaker to their meeting, Wednesday, July 14.

Nancy is Outreach Coordinator of TRIAD, with Texas State Attorney General John Cornyn's office in Austin. She is with the Elder Law and Public Health Division.

The meeting was held at 3 p.m. at the Cross Plains Multi-Purpose Center. Nine members and three new members were in attendance.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Dr. Richard Chaffin then led in prayer.

Chairman Esther Kerr introduced Nancy Gresham, guest speaker for the day. Of the more than 100 TRIAD's in Texas only about 1/3 are currently active, stated Ms. Gresham. Attorney General Cornyn recently re-signed the Texas TRIAD agreement and is actively backing TRIAD. He pledged to facilitate crime prevention for seniors in the state of Texas.

The TRIAD in Hidalgo County needed funds so they persuaded their representative to propose (through the Commissioners Court) the existing bill which allowed counties to provide funds for crime fighting organizations to include crime prevention organizations. The result being that each county is now allotted $25,000 for crime prevention organizations funding to be used for prevention of crimes against the elderly in Texas. TRIAD is a crime prevention organization and can apply for some of the $25,000 if needed for funding.

Several scams are rampant against the elderly. Different types of checkbook and credit card fraud such as calling seniors and telling them the magnetic strip on their credit card is no longer good and to send it to them and they will send you a new one. Don't fall for this. It is just to get their hands on your credit card so they can defraud you by making purchases on your credit card.

Sheriff Posse Ranch Rodeo Sat.

Fifty area cowboys, working in ten, five men teams, will perform: Team Penning, Team Branding, Team Mugging, Team Roping and everybody's favorite, the Wild Cow Milking!

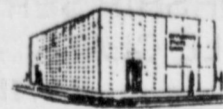

Local businesses sponsor these teams, and each team, bears its sponsor's name. The Callahan County Sheriff's Posse 1999 Ranch Rodeo Teams and Sponsors are as follows.

A man in Temple was called and told the caller was his bank and the bank was not Y2K programmed and unless he transferred his money to another bank, he would lose all his money. The man, instead of calling his bank to check, transferred his money. Of course, the scam artist disappeared along with the money, both never to be seen again. The man lost his $25,000, probably his life savings. Be ALERT and do not fall for these scams, stated Nancy Gresham.

She also said that elder abuse is on the rise. We need to learn to recognize it. The abuse is not just physical but verbal as well. As we can see by the two scam stories above, the abuse can also be financial. It may not be a stranger it could also be a relative. This happens quite often.

Ms. Gresham's presentation was interesting, innovative and very informative.

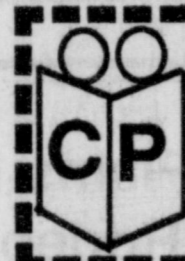

The TRIAD Organization is comprised of members of the local AARP chapters (representing the elderly), The International Association of Chiefs of Police and the tional Sheriffs Association. Coordinator of the Callahan County TRIAD/S.A.L.T. Advisory Council is Anita Mays. The other officers are as follows:

Chairman Esther Kerr; Co-Chairman Leonard Farmer and Secretary/Treasurer Kay Mosley.

The business meeting followed the speaker. Refreshments were served soon after the adjournment of the meeting.

HFI supports Texas Pediatric Hepatitis A Vaccination Mandate

Hepatitis Foundation International (HFI) commends the State of Texas for its recent passage of a new law mandating hepatitis A vaccination in 32 counties for children ages 2 to 5 years of age who attend day care and children born after September 1992 who attend public or private school.

This mandate follows a recommendation by the United States Centers for Disease Control and Prevention that children in Texas be routinely vaccinated against hepatitis A. As Texas has one of the highest rates of hepatitis A in the country -- with 16 cases per every 100,000 people -- HFI also urges the Texas Department of Health to extend this mandate soon to encompass all counties throughout the state.

Nationwide, the highest incidence of hepatitis A is among children 5-14 years old, with almost 30 percent of reported cases occurring among children younger than 15 years of age. Children are at high risk because they often come into close contact with other children in school and daycare settings. Although hepatitis A infection in very young children can be mild or asymptomatic, the virus is easily transmitted to older children and adults who will likely develop severe symptoms.

"SUMMERTIME SCENARIO"

School has been out for quite a few weeks now. You still haven't gotten tired yet of all the free time, ice cold watermelon, snowcones, popsicles, trips to the swimming pool and all those other summertime pleasures such as sleeping in. Then when it seems life just can't get any better, all too soon it's time to start back to school again.

Then you suddenly remember all those things you planned to do on summer vacation but haven't yet gotten around to.

Well, I guess we can save that for next summer. Something to look forward to in the future.

This summer though has been great fun. Nothings better in the summer than hotdogs cooked over the barbecue grill in the fresh air and eaten piping hot, with mustard, on a fresh bun with your favorite iced drink, and all the trimmings. Then roasted marshmallows to top it off.

Summers great, softball games, rodeos, fishing and all the rest. Vacations, family reunions, shopping trips and afternoon movies.

Lots to reminisce about as you begin shopping for new school clothes, school supplies and other fall necessities.

Lots of learning to do before next summer.

PIONEER NEWS

By PIONEER QUILTING CLUB

Friday, July 10, Samantha Hutton spent the night with her grandparents, Cowan and Laverne. She and her grandmother had great fun making crafts together. On Saturday, July 11 after attending the funeral for Vernon Phillips, the Hutton's and friends Leon and Jerry Shedd of Abilene ate dinner at Ophelia's. Sunday Cowan and Laverne attended the gospel meeting at Baird. Monday some of the Pioneer ladies met at Laverne's to discuss further plans for October and make some items for the Country Store. Those present were Lottie Sooter, Low Grider, Donna Pickett, Jean Fore, Frankie Smith, Betty Beggs, Trisha Hutton, Billie Freeman, Sandy Hutton and Trisha's son Anthony.

Tabitha Jordan and Mary Hutton visited Laverne on Friday. Larry Martineua was a dinner guest of Cowan and Laverne on Saturday. On Tuesday they made a business trip to Fort Worth.

J.D. and Sandy Hutton had a visit from Tabitha and Michael Jordan (their daughter and son-in-law) from Dallas which was a pleasant surprise. Shanna and Dodge have gone to Illinois to visit Ben, so J.D. and Sandy are a little lonesome.

Bobby and Roxie Nance visited over the weekend with Oliver and Frankie Smith. Jean Fore ate supper with the family Friday night.

The young people of Pioneer Baptist had a spaghetti supper at the church Sunday night. They are raising funds for a trip to Glen Rose. They will be seeing "The Promise."

Then they hope to go to Six Flags. Tonya Stover our youth director is doing a great job!

Jim and Marla Alexander and their children Jack, Will and Ashley visited James and Jean over the weekend. Jim, Marla and Jack went to ACU for Jack's freshman orientation. Will and Ashley enjoyed being with their grandparents.

D.P. and Jones made a quick trip to Missouri to get their grandson, Pate, he will visit for a few weeks. Skip Jones from Big Spring has been visiting also.

The community has a lot of "haying" going on. The peanuts are also looking good. We still need some rain for those peanuts and stock tanks. We were thankful for the amount we received two weeks ago.

Ophelia's restaurant is still the place to get a goooooo meal out here at Pioneer. Jolena's "Covered Wagon" vegetable and fruit stand is going strong. What a neat idea she put to work.

The "Forty Two" party had a good turn out Thursday night. They say they had fun and lots of good eats. If you like to play "42" or "dominoes" come on out to Pioneer July 29.

The Pioneer Community is surely saddened by the passing of its native sons, Vernon Phillips. He was so admired and respected by everyone. Our sympathy goes out to Glenda and family.

While Oliver Cromwell was Lord Protectorate of England in the 17th century, he sentenced a man to be executed at sundown when the evening curfew bell rang. They marched the young man out and the soldiers loaded their guns before his open eyes. Then they blindfolded him and waited for the bell. And they waited. Finally Cromwell sent someone to find out why the curfew bell had not rung. A short time later, they brought back a young woman with bleeding hands who explained that she was the fiancée of the young man to be executed. She had climbed to and into the belfry and held the bell clapper with her own hands to keep it from ringing. When Cromwell saw the young lady's wounded and bleeding hands, he said, "Your fiancée shall live, not die, for your sacrifice has saved him."

We all fit the profile of the man sentenced to die because we have all sinned, Romans 3:23, and the wages of sin is death, Romans 6:23. Illustrate it every way we can, however, and we never find an equal to the sacrifice of Jesus, the reason being that His was a sinless life, 1 Peter 1:19. Blood from His brow and His back, then His hands and His feet, then from His side as the spear pierced Him in His death -- this is the blood that He shed that we might live and not die. And so Paul also writes in Romans (6:23b), "...but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord."

So the Father looks at the wounded body of His Son, and because of His wounds, we live, as we accept His grace in faithful and loving response, Ephesians 2:8-10. Come share with us in worshipping the loving Father.

Old English Comedy At Dinner Theatre In Cisco

In early August, Cisco dinner theatre audiences will be treated to a helping of "merrie olde England" as the Cisco Junior College Hilton Dinner Theatre presents "Gammer Gurton's Needle" for a four-day run. The play is noteworthy as the second oldest comedy written in English, and the Cisco production uses a modern verse adaptation made popular by the Schulerburg playwright and publisher I.E. Clark.

Set in a small English village in the 1550s, the play is a classic "tempest in a teapot" concerning a missing needle and a mischievous lunatic named Diccon, who takes advantage of the loss to stir up trouble. The production features Daniel Macchietto as Diccon and Carolyn Ainsworth as Gammer Gurton. Sharing Gammer's consternation is her trio of servants: David Ainsworth as Hodge, Joanna Clark as Tyb and Brice Hail as Cocke. Additional participants in the mayhem include Summar Cabaniss as Gammer's neighbor Dame Chat, Kira Holleywood as Chat's servant Doll, Jeff Parker as the village curate Dr. Rat, Dustin McGee as the local magistrate Master Bailey and Ian Armstrong-Jobe as Master Bailey's aide Scapethrift. The production is directed by Lorrie Gann.

"Gammer Gurton's Needle" will be performed Thursday through Sunday, August 5-8, at the Conrad Hilton Community Center in downtown Cisco. Thursday through Saturday, performances are full dinner nights with ticket prices at $12. The Sunday performance is "dessert only" with ticket prices at $6. Dinner service begins at 7 p.m. Thursday through Saturday. Dessert service begins at 2 p.m. on Sunday. Make your reservations today by phoning (254) 442-2589, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Enjoy outdoor activities but protect against tick-borne diseases

Camping, hiking, backpacking, enjoying picnics and time outdoors—these are some of the best features of warm weather months. Ticks, along with the disease they may bring, are among the worst. A bite from an infected tick can cause illnesses such as Lyme disease, Rocky Mountain spotted fever or ehrlichiosis.

"In Texas, the Lone Star tick is the one likely to carry disease," said Julie Rawlings of the Infectious Disease Epidemiology and Surveillance Division at Texas Department of Health (TDH). While many tick species prefer attaching to an animal and staying there, this variety, common throughout the south and central United States, readily feeds of human blood.

The most frequently diagnosed tick-borne problem in the country, Lyme disease is a bacterial infection that can cause skin, joint, heart and nervous system problems. Named after the town of Lyme in Connecticut where it was first described in 1976, the disease initially causes flu-like symptoms such as fatigue, headache, fever, stiff neck and joint pain. Sometimes these symptoms come with skin lesions or rashes, usually around the site of the bite.

Treatment is with antibiotics. Untreated, however, the disease may severely damage joints, the heart and the nervous system.

In Texas, 580 reports from 1990 to 1998 met the current case definition of Lyme disease, with most of these in the north central part of the state. About 1,100 other cases are possibly Lyme disease. "Fortunately, only about 1 to 2 percent of ticks carry the Lyme disease bacterium," Rawlings said.

Rocky Mountain spotted fever can be deadly if not treated quickly. Symptoms resemble flu with headaches, muscle aches and high fever along with a rash. Symptoms of ehrlichiosis, which was first recognized about 12 years ago, also are flu-like. This disease can occasionally be fatal.

"The best prevention for any of these diseases is to avoid ticks," Rawlings said. She advises keeping fleas and ticks off your pets — they also can get Lyme disease — and discouraging unwanted animals such as rats, mice and stray dogs and cats from coming into the home environment.

To protect yourself from ticks:

- If you are in an area with ticks, check your body carefully for them every few hours. Ticks are small and easy to miss. They attach to any part of the body from head to toe.
- Wear light-colored clothes so ticks can be easily seen. Protect as much of your skin as possible from tick bites. Wear a hat, long-sleeved shirt and long pants tucked into boots or socks.
- Use insect-repellent containing DEET or permethrin (be sure to follow package directions).

If you do find a tick on your skin, remove it right away. "There are a lot of old wives' tales about removing ticks," Rawlings said. "Some say use petroleum jelly or touch the tick with a hot match. But those procedures are not the best."

To remove an attached tick, use tweezers to grasp the tick at the skin surface. If tweezers are not available, use a tissue to protect your fingers from possible exposure to the tick's body fluids. With a steady motion, gently pull the tick straight out. Do not crush the tick's body. Have patience; it may take time to remove the tick properly.

Live ticks may be submitted for identification and testing to the TDH Laboratory. "The ticks should be placed in a small container such as an old pill bottle with the cap tightly on," Rawlings said. "They should never be placed loose in an envelope." Call the TDH Laboratory at 512-458-7615 for information on proper ways to submit live ticks.

A vaccine to protect against Lyme disease is available for people from ages 15 to 70. Contact your health care provider for more information about the vaccine.

"If people have any flu-like symptoms — with or without a rash — after contact with a tick, they should get medical attention," Rawlings said.

COUNTY ROADS by Ginny Greene

A Small Town 4th...

The phone rang and rang. Jamming the receiver against my ear didn't make anyone answer.

Our neighborhood was in danger, and we knew hardly anyone in town, yet. Rushing water sledged the hill outside our house while my fingers shook, tracing the small town phone book columns.

It was somewhere around 10:30 p.m. Our last guests had just driven up the hill after our 4th of July celebration. The day stretched long and hot with pleasant hours of games and gabbing, lolling in lawn chairs, and petting sprawled dogs. We munched our way through a barbecue dinner until we got to the luscious blueberry cream pie brought by our neighbor down the road. She designed it like an American flag. Each stripe represented at least 700 calories.

After dark we set off fireworks in the street. It was fun; different from the magnificent shows of a big city. We watched our fireworks one at a time, pausing in between to enjoy other displays dotting the countryside.

As our friends drove away, My Keeper and I turned toward the house, smiling and tired.

BOO-O-O-O-M!!!!

A mighty roaring filled our ears. We couldn't place it. It rumbled and raged. The ground trembled. Peering toward the sound we saw a black "thing" in the darkness, thrust high up in the air like a cannon. Water gushed from it; tons and tons of water. Up the street, a neighbor, framed in lamplight, was hanging out the door, grabbing at something.

We figured out that the scene before us was an untamed river coursing down our hill, toward us, tearing up the road on its way. It veered some hundred feet from our home toward run-off low spots.

So I was on the phone, just now, trying to unscramble my brain and think of people I had met recently; someone who might be able to help.

Someone did finally answer the phone. It wasn't the right person, but a weekend emergency number was quickly found. A sleepy voice answered, and my explanation tumbled out in one fast sentence.

Seconds later a wild, reckless driver assailed the eroded hill, skidding all over the road and revving his engine mightily. A C-B radio in his car was shouting orders. It dawned on me - that emergency number was a near neighbor, lurching along his ravaged driveway and shinning up the steep road, risking life and limb to get to the site. Within minutes sirens wailed from both directions, and the emergency crews spent most of the night working to control the situation.

Dawn's early light revealed utility crews hovering around a busted 36" main water line lunging skyward.

It turns out the neighbor leaning out the door was grabbing one of her cats as it floated by, thrashing and meowing. After the water drained away, their mobile home was still pretty well anchored, but their big sport rig was poised over deep excavation as their dirt parking spot reduced to narrow pin-nacles under each tire.

The water-gouged site became a public attraction.

I called our friends. "You missed the finale," I explained, "but only by about two minutes."

We admitted that our small town put on the biggest July 4th display this city girl had ever seen.

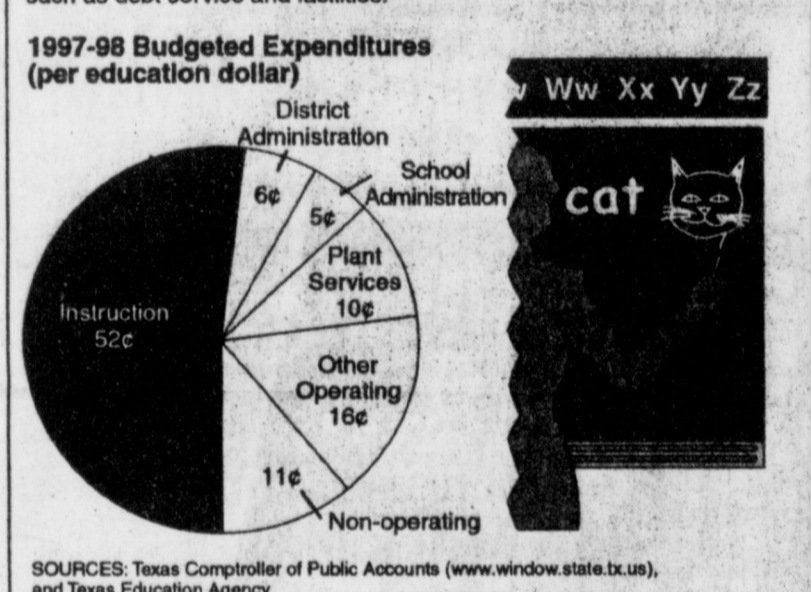

Confidential to the sharp-eyed reader: You are right. There is no such word as shy-delicate (see County Roads column "A Worm Story"). That was a typo. The word is shy-delicate. Look it up. I'm almost positive it's in the dictionary.

Keeping an eye on Texas

Only 52¢ of every education $1 goes to classroom instruction

Of the $21 billion in total annual educational expenditures in Texas, only about half is actually spent on classroom instruction. The rest pays for district and school administration; plant services such as maintenance and security; other operating expenditures such as transportation, food services, and extracurricular activities; and non-operating expenditures such as debt service and facilities.

Solving the Interest Rate Mystery

Interest rates can be more mysterious than a Stephen King thriller. If the prime rate is 5 percent, why does it cost 10 percent to borrow money?

Cracking the interest rate code starts with understanding two significant short-term rates: the federal funds rate and the prime rate. Short-term rates are most affected by the federal funds rate. Federal funds are funds, such as those in excess of reserve requirements, deposited by commercial banks at Federal Reserve Banks. On the flip side, banks that don't have enough funds to meet reserve requirements may have to borrow from other banks. They can borrow funds deposited by other banks at Federal Reserve Banks, and the amount of interest they pay is the federal funds rate. These borrowing transactions are generally overnight.

The federal funds rate is volatile because it's calculated on a day-to-day basis. Economic and technical factors influence its direction. By increasing or decreasing the federal funds target rate, the Fed can orchestrate the flow of money into the economy. A lower federal funds rate makes borrowing more attractive for banks and their customers, thereby increasing the flow of money into the economy. A higher federal funds rate tightens the flow. These moves by the Fed are generally cautious, avoiding knee-jerk reactions to breaking news of the economy. The federal funds rate is the benchmark for pricing other short-term securities.

The more widely publicized prime rate is the interest rate banks charge to their most credit-worthy customers, typically only blue chip corporations. Rates on loans to less credit-worthy customers (which generally include most individuals and businesses) are tied to prime rate.

Prime rate is determined by the market forces affecting a bank's cost of funds and the rates borrowers will accept. Because Fed funds are the source of funds to a bank, the prime rate set by a bank must be higher than the federal funds rate the bank pays. The difference, or spread, reflects the amount of risk the bank is willing to take in assuming a customer loan, plus a reasonable profit for the bank and its shareholders. When the Federal Reserve raises or lowers its rates, the prime rate follows.

The next time you're mystified by rates on short-term securities, remember these two clues: prime rate and federal funds rate.

62nd Anniversary Woody Reunion Held

According to Chuck Woody, this was the 62nd anniversary for the Woody family to gather together. The Woody reunion has been held in many places since 1936 when it first started. In October of 1936, everyone met at the home of Anthony and Mollie Woody in Cottonwood for their birthdays. This is when they decided to meet every year.

In March of 1937, everyone met at the home of Mallie (Woody) and W.P. Blankenship in Potosi to celebrate Tom Woody's birthday. In June of 1938 everyone met at Abilene State Park and it was at that reunion that it was decided to meet every year on the second Sunday in July. We have been meeting for 63 years straight!

There is always plenty of food, fun and fellowship when the Woody family gets together, and this year was no exception. There were 40 family and friends that met on Saturday night in the home of Ethel Champion and on Sunday there were 61 that met at the Cottonwood School House.

Every year loved ones pass away and this year Evalena Denny (granddaughter to Tom Woody) who was at the reunion last year, passed away a few weeks before this year's reunion.

New family members come either for the first time or for the first time in years, like James Wayne Woody grandson to Raymond Woody.

The Woody's are looking forward to next year's retreat and reunion.

Carlile-Frazier families gather in Cottonwood

The 1999 Carlile - Frazier reunion met July 17 and 18 at the Cottonwood Community Center with 118 people attending. We had lots of fun visiting, looking at family history and all pictures and reunion pictures made each year.

There were games of volleyball, Monopoly, horse racing and horse shoe pitching. Also, games of Bingo were played for a variety of prizes. There was a water balloon game for the kids. There were many winners in the guess the amount and name the gadget games. Chances were sold on six different items with money going to the reunion fund. About 25 great gifts were given as door prizes and gifts to the youngest boy and girl and the oldest man and woman were given prizes.

Those attending were as follows: From Abilene: Maranda Lee, Wanda Carlile and Cindy Profit; Albany: Alice Moon and Margaret Hill; Austin: Amanda Marina and Josephine; Breckenridge: Clifford and Lorene Green, Celly Green, Dwayne Green, Eric, Casey and Sarah Cooper; Brownfield: Wayne and Beth Mayo, Michael, Melanie and Miranda, Larry and Sandi Holcomb and P.J. Bonehead Club Sweeps Into Cross Plains

By BILL WHITAKER
Abilene Reporter-News

The Bonehead Club of Dallas visited Cross Plains the other day. Granted, it wasn't enough for the staff at Jean's Feed Barn to put up special lettering on the marquee out front. Still, the Kiwanis Club of Cross Plains meeting there Tuesday drew 13 guests — pretty good, considering the club's headcount of actual members came to only 10.

So it went this past topsy-turvy Tuesday when the Bonehead Club of Callas — a fixture in that megacity since 1919 — rolled into this dusty Callahan County town of a thousand or so folks. Cross Plains has received a yearly visit by the Bonehead Club since 1991 — regardless of whether anyone wanted them back.

The reason may involve 73-year-old Don Clark, who used to live in Dallas, served as livestock director for the State Fair of Texas and counted himself as one of the Bonehead Club. Although Don now lives in Cross Plains, his old compadres make an annual trek just to entertain Don and his fellow Kiwanians.

"Well, you know, it's the only Bonehead Club in the world," Don said, trying to explain why the club's visit to Cross Plains was a bona fide occasion. "It was stared by a bunch of CEOs to get rid of the tension they had in their jobs and they met only on Fridays. And they have no more than 57 members in the club, out of respect for Mr. Heinz and his 57 varieties."

"They have a lot of fun, but they refuse to do anything immoral, illegal or dirty," he said. "In other words, they can cut somebody down, but they can't use dirty words while doing it!"

Missing knives

Indeed, when several Bonehead Club members hammed it up for the benefit of the Kiwanis Club of Cross Plains, they sometimes got pointedly personal in their humor — at one point, even addressing somebody as "downright ugly" (specifically, me!) and referring to a local pastor as "crabby" just before invocation.

But it was supposedly all in fun — even when they quietly slipped silverware into people's pants pockets, the loudly claimed, to one and all, that a theft was in progress.

Of course, some of the jokes proved pretty stale, but that made their vigorous retelling all the more amazing. For instance, Ralph Black, who seemed to be running the show, told how the invisible man and the invisible woman got married and how "Their kids weren't much to look at, either."

That got a respectable laugh, as did some others, but finally 8-year-old Joshua Littleton of San Antonio, who knew stale jokes when he heard them, threw decorum to the wind, got up before everyone and told his own joke. It was about the devil coming to church on Sunday and scaring all but one of the congregation out of the hallowed place of worship.

"Say," the devil remarked to the one remaining worshipper in the church, "how come you're not scared of me?"

"Because," the man replied, "I've been married to your sister for 48 years."

That joke gets even better when you realize it was told by someone 8 years old whose great uncle is a Methodist pastor.

"I came 400 miles to tell that very chuckle," Bonehead member Bill Wray grouched afterward, "and now I can't tell it."

Being prepared

If the purpose of this group still seems murky, suffice it to say it's nothing truly mystical. For instance, one Bonehead ceremonial appearance comes at the end of the state fair in Dallas, when they formally close the event.

"The Bonehead Club discusses the problems of the day, state and national; in fact the world but not in a serious vein," co-founder A.T. Wilson wrote way back in 1921. "Intelligence is a taboo. Business and dull care is set aside. It is an hour, once a week, given to perfect relaxation."

And nonsense.

At one point during Tuesday's visit, Bonehead members showed off a sample Y2K preparation kit, including a candle "for watching the TV when the power goes off" and a newspaper for, quite naturally, "use in the outhouse."

Incidentally, Kiwanis were instructed to wear face masks plus surgical gloves on their right hands to avoid contamination when conversing and shaking hands with Bonehead Club members. However, when Joe Hanke took one look at those white surgical gloves, he remarked to retired newspaper editor Jack Scott: "You know, those things scare the heck out of me!"

Bill Whitaker, who found it difficult to eat chicken fingers at Jean's Feed Barn while wearing surgical gloves and a face mask, can be reached at (915) 676-6732 or whitakerb@abnews.com.

CROSS PLAINS CONTAMINATED!!! — Our fair city normally has one day annually that contamination is expected. As the Bonehead Club of Dallas had its annual excursion to visit the Cross Plains Kiwanis Club, July 13, was that day for 1999. Nonsense and fictional stories were the theme for the day. However, a surprise visit by Kiwanis Lt. Governor LaJuan Norvelle and Bill Whitaker of the Abilene Reporter-News, made the day bearable. Pictured above are Little Chief Landrum (from left), Big Chief Black, Lt. Gov. Norvelle and local Bonehead Don Clark. The public is invited to be a part of the local Kiwanis Club each Tuesday, 12 noon at Jean's Feed Barn.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We would like to extend our thank you and appreciation to all who helped to make the benefit garage sale for Kailey a big success.

We appreciate all of the donations that we have received. It is so wonderful to live in a community that is so caring. Thanks also to everyone for their prayers, phone calls and cards of encouragement.

Our insurance company has notified us that they will cover a portion of the surgery expenses.

Please continue to keep our family in your thoughts and prayers, as we have scheduled Kailey's implant surgery for August 4th in Houston. We are looking forward to the day when Kailey will be able to hear again.

Sincerely,
Eddie, Amy, Landon and Kailey Hart
