WHERE 8 TRAVELERS VANISHED IN TAT PLANE

Above is one of the tri-motored passenger planes used by the Transcontinental Air Transport Service on its route over the southwest—a plane like the one which crashed with eight people killed after flying through a storm near Gallup, N. M. Below is a scene typical of the country in which the plane vanished—an unimproved desolate sandy desert, in which ship-wrecked air travelers might be marooned for days. Army, navy and civilian planes searched for the missing liner.

English Hairdressers in Arms as New York Millionaire Challenges Skill and Sends for Yankee Barber

By HENRY T. RUSSELL
United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Britannia rules the shears.

The embattled hairdressers of London, backed by indignant public opinion, have sharpened their shears to repulse the assault made on their art by William F. Kenny, New York multi-millionaire.

"Eccentric" was only one of the adjectives applied to Mr. Kenny's action in telephoning across the Atlantic for his barber to come posthaste and give him a "decent haircut."

The thing really has become serious. It's the implication that English haircuts aren't decent. A clamorous press has united behind the hairdressers (which is English for barbers) and the first impulse to hat the invading barber under the alien labor act has given place to a courageous resolve to let him come and show him up.

The challenge was flung yesterday at John Carter's "The Century Established Hairdressing Salon" (English for barber shop) of Fleet street.

If William F. Kenny's barber—or any other blighted Yankee barber—wants to come to England and joust with real hairdressers at shearing, shaving, trimming, singeing, massaging, shampooing or any other branch of the art, England is ready.

That is the challenge that came without hesitation when the United Press correspondent entered John Carter's and asked how about it.

Seven barbers rose as one and advanced, gesticulating with razors and shears. The correspondent retreated out of range and listened. He heard plenty.

"From G. B. Shaw to most of England's chief justices—" My father before me—" And peers and swells—" Memories of 100 years of honorable haircutting were evoked in the clamor.

Then the leading barber stillled the others and acted as spokesman.

"You mean to tell me we're not fit to clip a Yankee millionaire's hair?" he demanded. Then, with H's dropping all over the place, he formulated his demands and his challenge for any Yankee to meet a first class London hairdresser in a hairdressing contest.

"We'd like to know how the Yankee in question judges a haircut. What proof he knows the difference between a good and bad haircut? Furthermore what is the difference between a good and a bad haircut? What authority has he to say he couldn't get a good haircut in London?"

Peters and Family To Erect Building at Texas University

AUSTIN, Sept. 12.—Millel foundation of B'nai B'rith, has tendered to Texas university its work among students in continuation of religious training, and will erect a foundation building at the university. It was announced by Rabbi Jacob J. Weinstein, who has been sent here by the group to direct the work.

So far the Millel foundation, which correlates all religious and cultural organizations for Jewish students, has organized its work in universities of Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Cornell, West Virginia, California and Texas.

NO MENTION OF TWAIN ALLIANCE, Neb., Sept. 12.—An hour after a telegraphic report was received here from Omaha stating that he had been killed in an air-plane crash in the Nebraska metropolis, Chas. M. Fricke, railroad switchman, appeared on the Alliance streets to deny the report in person.

GOOD RAINS BRING END TO LONG DROUTH

Livestock Situation Is Relieved; Fall Gardens Planted

The week just passed has seen one of the longest drouths in this section in years brought definitely to an end with a series of general rains that replenished stock water and made fall gardens possible. Although the downpours came too late to relieve the cotton crop situation they were none the less welcome. Cotton, after all, is not so important in this section.

The livestock situation was the most serious here with many ranches out of water and the remainder with but limited supplies. Large numbers of animals were being shipped out to markets principally because their owners were unable to provide for them. Reports from American correspondents this week indicate that all sections of Eastland county received copious rains.

County Institute Will Be Oct. 17-18

Eastland County teachers institute will be in session this year on October 17 and 18 it was announced this week by Miss Beulah Speer, county superintendent, after the county school board had set the dates for the institute session at a meeting in the superintendent's office yesterday afternoon.

A full two-day program for the session is to be worked out by Miss Speer. She was authorized by the board to call the teachers together three times during this school year, after the two-day institute, if she deems it necessary for the work of the institute.

A uniform plan for opening the schools in this county which have the same length terms was reached when the county board set the opening dates for six, seven and eight months terms on October 21. These dates are according to the schedule arranged by the board.

Next year all common school district in the county will open on scheduled dates, in accordance with the schedule adopted by the county board yesterday. The nine months term schools will open next year on the first Monday in September the eight months term school on the third Monday in September and the six and seven months term schools on third Monday in October.

Floresville has shipped 25 to 30 carloads of roasting ears this season, according to the Floresville Chronicle.

September Estimate Shows Texas Cotton Crop 999,000 Bales Under Last Year Though U. S. Crop Gains

By RAYMOND BROOKS
Daily News Austin Correspondent

AUSTIN, Sept. 12.—The Texas cotton yield will be 999,000 bales under last year, while there will be a gain of 345,000 bales in the national crop, according to the September estimate of the U. S. crop bureau. This would indicate the national crop, outside Texas, will be 1,344,000 bales above last year's for the total national prospective yield of 14,983,000 bales.

The Texas crop condition was placed at 46 per cent, lowest in many years except for 1923, in 1921 and in 1918.

Abandonment has been extremely heavy, the report said, and for cotton picked so far, the yield has been 118 pounds of lint per acre. "One good general rain in Austin, resulting in the production of only one extra boll per stalk, would have made an additional half million bales or more," the report said.

The national crop this year has been estimated at 14,825,000 bales, and for Texas a crop of 4,107,000 bales. Last year Texas produced 5,106,000 bales.

Losses in Central Texas cotton have been the heaviest in recent years, the report issued by H. H. Schutz, statistician for Texas, said.

Lack of rain checked growth and caused shedding of bolls and squares. Losses from bollworm have been heavy, and other pests were active. Rain now will do more harm than good, the report said.

Ginnings for the state up to Sept. 1 totaled 512,000 bales. In West and West Central Texas, irrigated crops were fair to good, but leaf worms now are reported prevalent. Root rot was reported especially destructive this year, and crop pests worst in a decade.

Cooler, damp weather in north-east Texas has checked the shedding of bolls, it was said, though previous hot weather had caused the crop to deteriorate badly. Rain now would cause bolls to rot, but would give better size to the bolls not yet open, the report said.

The North Texas crop is opening prematurely and being gathered rapidly, the report said.

A late crop of bollies is possible in Northwest Texas, the estimate said. The section lacked sufficient moisture to mature the crop, and extreme heat severely cut into the possible yield. Rain still would benefit this section, the report said.

Late-planted East Texas cotton has poor prospects, the estimate said. Weevil damage has been extremely heavy.

South Texas crop conditions have been unfavorable, though in some sections, such as the Rio Grande valley of early crops, the yield is surpassing last year's. Abandonment in other areas has been large. Most of the South Texas cotton has been gathered.

The worst infestation in history of crop pests ravaged the fields of Southeast Texas. Much cotton was abandoned, for the first time, repeated poisonings have failed to save the fruit from insects.

PLANT GROWS MACHINES

The thistle plant, thistle-like crop of California, New York and Oregon, has the distinction of being grown solely for the manufacture of machines. The burrs of this plant are attached to a machine used to produce a fine nap in woolen cloth. Near San Jose, Calif., they are commercially cultivated, picked and dried. From here they are shipped to woolen mills and attached to the napping machines. The cloth to be napped is passed under the burrs and the burrs catch the surface of the fine cloth, pulling out the fine hairs. Eula Howell is shown here with an armful of the burrs and a closeup of one of them is shown in inset.

Things Were Dull and Eight Firemen Had New Uniforms

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The path of glory trod by volunteer firemen led up to the Mineola county jail Wednesday where eight of Glen Cove's most intrepid battlers of blazes sat behind bars.

They had confessed that things had been dull in the village for the last five years and so, yielding to an overwhelming desire to go into action with their unsearched uniforms, they had started a fire now and then.

Thus did authorities clear up the mystery of the blazes in four houses.

Grieved that authorities should jail them for holding practice in the early hours of the morning, the eight hood and ladder heroes hastened to point out they had been careful to ascertain that the houses were unoccupied before putting the torch to the buildings.

Once at the fire, the volunteers worked with steady efficiency, for the fire-fighting committee apparently bore in mind the limitations of the department's equipment while promoting conflagrations. Police arrested Edward Baker, Harry Francis, Thomas Moore, Adam Kant, Lawrence Kreyer, Raymond Sprague, Fred Downey and Norman Lang, all of whom were held for the grand jury on a charge of arson.

PANHANDLE OIL FIELD STUDIED BY SUPERVISOR

By RAYMOND BROOKS
Daily News Austin Correspondent
AUSTIN, Sept. 12.—A single oil and gas field in the Panhandle, as big as the whole state of Connecticut, whose potential production is yet virtually untapped, has been studied by R. D. Parker, chief state oil and gas supervisor, during the past week in connection with gas conservation rules.
This area produces much of the natural gas supply of the nation, and is tapped by four major gas pipelines. The Prairie oil interests have 110,000 acres under lease for gas only. The Empire interests own 70,000 acres in the 14-mile-square Burk Burnett ranch. Both these organizations have long pipelines from the Panhandle area, and the Lone Star and Upton interests also have lines out of the southern corner of the field.
The gas-bearing area far exceeds that on which oil is expected, but includes all the oil areas along the north fork of Red river. The potential and proven gas area is approximately 150 miles long, with an average width of 20 miles north and south. It runs through Wheeler and Gray counties, taking in Carson and much of Hutchinson and Potter, and spreads to a width of nearly 40 miles in parts of DeWitt, Oldham and Hartley counties.
Unconceivable future development of the Panhandle will be based on the rich oil and gas production of this known area, and potential future fields in Mr. Parker's opinion.
The 23,000 carloads of vegetables and fruits shipped out of the Valley this year netted growers more than $10,600,000, according to the Indiana News.

doleful Tragedy of a young Lady of Seventeen

MARY JANE was in tears.
"... and Grandma didn't hear the telephone," she sobbed.
"Not even when Jimmy called the second time! So Jimmy asked Helen Parks instead, and ... and ... now she's going to the dance with him."
"And no-nobody else has asked me!"
The tragedies of seventeen are dark and bitter. Disconsolate, Mary Jane buried her face in a pillow.
Mr. Mason looked down at the forlorn little figure on the couch sympathetically.
"You know," he said to his wife, "Grandma really doesn't hear as well as she used to. She needs an extension telephone in her room. I think I'll order one tomorrow."

Telephones where you need them can often prevent youthful woes—and be a source of pleasure to old folks, besides. They save time, patience, steps.

Few know that one or two additional instruments cost considerably less than the single telephone they now have!

By a wisely-placed "extension" or two, and perhaps a rearrangement of the equipment you already have, an expert telephone man can often double the convenience of your telephone service.

THE TOO TO HELP TON CROP

Sept. 12.—While the western cotton crop is being actively relieved in the northern half of the Arkansas the rain probably came to greatly benefit the crop there was some damage to the crop in the southern half of the state. It was announced Wednesday by the department of agriculture in its weekly weather report that the cotton in Texas was in parts of the north and west mostly poor elsewhere a continued complaints of shedding and premature opening of bolls. There was no material change in that state of conditions in that state. The progress ranged from fair to good, premature opening by cool wet weather. In Arkansas, the advance was in the west to very good in the eastern sections. Further decrease was noted in Louisiana. The change was noted in the west of the cotton crop east of the Mississippi. Further deterioration of dryness occurred in the western sections of the east while there was again a slight gain in some southeastern sections and only light falls in the dry sections of northern Arkansas. The crop now is largely at a standstill in the south. Reports of shedding are received while in North Carolina and Virginia progress was very good with harvest being in an advanced North Carolina. The picking and picking is being delayed by rainfall in the south and more southeastern portions of the belt. Good progress is being made in most other sections.

NEWS OF SOUTHWEST

Sept. 12.—With four in the sand coring and another oil production, the two oil fields within the next days should receive a material increase in output. At the present production is running around 100 barrels daily and the completion of these new possible projects should send this field well toward the 20,000-barrel mark.

Sept. 12.—The Mary Jane oil company (Hartmann & Co.) No. 1-Fitch, closed down for repairs to clean out a cave-in. It was again and is working 500 barrels a day. The Mary Jane is the center of the Golden Triangle of the Wright pool, and cause of the production. It started drilling eight months ago.

Sept. 12.—Emery company is to give its new No. 5-B in the south of the newly offshoot of Greenfield, a shot of nitro to production. Pay was topped today at 1,850 feet, and the well has naturally 45 barrels the first hour. Oil men figure well to be a 300 barrel producer.

Emery and Red Bank Oil company on the No. 1-Stuckey one-half mile east of the Robb pool in South Sedgwick county has a showing of oil in the well at 3,294 to 3,483 feet.

Only the World's Greatest Experience could produce a DUNLOP

CONSIDER these facts when you buy tires. Dunlop founded the pneumatic tire industry. Dunlop has had the world's greatest tire-building experience—41 years of it. Dunlop has pioneered many important tire improvements—was first to develop the straight-side tire—first to own its own rubber plantations—first to weave all its cord fabric in its own mills.

DUNLOP TIRES must be better. What road conditions do your tires meet? Must they resist long miles over smooth concrete? Dunlop engineers have developed the toughest, slowest-wearing tread compounds known. Do you drive over rough, rutty roads? Dunlop Tires are made only with expensive long-staple Egyptian cotton, woven into sturdy cable-twist fabric. Such a tire carcass resists even abuse. From raw materials to the finished product, Dunlop uses only the best materials... the most skilled labor and the most careful supervision. Judge for yourself... come in and see Dunlops.

with a world of romance ahead of her, she felt unbidden tears stealing into her eyes. But they were tears of joy.

Brent sensed that she was struggling to suppress her emotion. He took the wheel firmly in his left hand and laid the other over hers where they rested on her smart cord bag.

"Happy?" he asked softly.

"So happy I'm afraid," Helen answered.

"But my dear, if you only knew what your life really should be like I'm afraid you wouldn't be able to contain yourself. You have a right to a wonderful heritage, Helen."

Helen fixed her wide eyes upon him in silent interrogation. So much of her life had been filled with mystery and she had been so thoroughly drilled not to ask questions that she did not think to take advantage of the change in the man who had been responsible for her training, and voice her questions.

"But first," Brent went on, "before I tell you about that, I must explain to you, Helen, that I've been keeping something from you. Something about myself."

Helen caught her breath in sudden dismay. There was a solemn, heavy note in Brent's voice that frightened her.

"I've led you to believe that I your life, Helen, and I thought I could do it by making your will subservient to mine."

Helen continued to stare at him, all but speechless. "But Leonard..." she began, and stopped. Brent had cut her off. Besides, she was at a loss for words.

"But I can't go on with that," Brent avowed. "In fact I haven't been thinking along those lines for some time. You've noticed a change in me, haven't you?"

Helen nodded. "A great change," she said softly.

"There are two reasons for it," Brent told her. "First, there is my promise to you to tell you about your mother and father when you graduated from school."

"Frankly, I was struggling eternally with the temptation not to tell you at all and to let you believe that I was the only person you had to turn to when you left school. But that is impossible now, even had I decided to deceive you." He paused, and managed to look forlorn and troubled.

"Leonard!" Helen cried. "There isn't anyone but you!" Brent shook his head. "That is not all my dear," he said dejectedly. "I haven't even such right as I had before to lie to you. You see, I've met with bad luck on the market."

Helen broke in with a cry of sympathy but Brent's confession flowed on. "Oh, I haven't lost everything," he exclaimed with a touch of weariness. "But I've not enough left to live as I had planned, traveling about with you, keeping up the farce of being your guardian, while all the time..."

Milk Plant Boiler at Tyler Explodes

TEXARKANA, Sept. 12. - A boiler used for pasteurizing milk at the Southern Creameries plant here blew up Tuesday, the force of the explosion hurled the huge steel cylinder through the roof of the plant to the roof of a new building owned by the Episcopal church.

After striking the roof of the church building, which was unoccupied, the boiler crashed through the ceiling and one floor and finally landed in the basement. Damage to the church building and the Inn hotel, which was also hit in the boiler's flight through the air, will amount to several hundred dollars.

Roy Tatum, 28, and Wayne Cantant, 19, employees of the creamery, were in a room adjoining the boiler room when the explosion occurred and were severely scalded by boiling water. Their injuries are not considered serious.

CHILD TAUGHT TO THINK FOR HIMSELF NOW

EDITOR'S NOTE: Gone are the days when the hickory stick, dance cap, teacher's scowl made little Johnnie define a vowel. Miss E. Ruth Pyrtle, president of the national education association, reveals in the second of two interviews on American schools, 1929.

By E. W. WERKMAN
LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 12 — If your child thinks and thinks and thinks, don't be alarmed.

That's the probable and natural result of modern schooling, Miss E. Ruth Pyrtle, president of the National Education association, informed the United Press. "Training the child to think is the real objective of today's teacher," Miss Pyrtle said in discussing the growth of the little red school house to the educational plants housing 25,000,000 American children of today.

A score of years ago school children—and this isn't anything personal—just "think." Today they are trained to think, Miss Pyrtle stressed.

For instance, when you went to school the teacher may have held up the letter "A" on a big card, the class thought or think awhile and then echoed loud and long, "Aye," with variations in sharp or flats. Even possible the neighbor's boy yelled "B."

"What's a letter?"
Not so today, school beginners don't stop with just one letter. They don't even look at letters. Pshaw, what's a letter!

Point out the letter "X" and it may mean just another railroad crossing sign to today's schoolboy, but hold up a basket of eggs and he'll say eggs, nine times out of ten.

That's the difference. The modern school child thinks in words of the world around her. It's called "sight reading."

Young children may learn to read whole words, phrases and sentences before they can dissect words by letters, so that it isn't necessary for secretive parents to talk in pig latin at the dinner table, Miss Pyrtle revealed.

Then there's another angle, perhaps new-fangled since 1891. If young child should come home and reveal all facts of life before you have caught up with them, don't be surprised.
"Developing his initiative so that he will be wise and possess knowledge of the real world is the task of school," Miss Pyrtle said. And instead of the child trying to get out of the way of the teacher, it's vice versa now. "The teacher tries to get out of the way of the pupil today," Miss Pyrtle said, "and the child is given a chance to do his own thinking."

Once a Guardian.
"Less than a generation ago the teacher was the guardian of every set in the child's learning processes, but now education is more informal."

They even play at school these days, right there in the classroom. Arithmetic, for example, may be taught with play stories, where before you sat down for a half hour trying to figure out how much wall paper it took to cover the soiled patch in the parlor.

Or how long it would take to get to New York from San Francisco when you were just worried about getting over to the county seat.

"Those who would visit school after years of absence would be greatly surprised," Miss Pyrtle added, "but we continue to teach basic subjects and only the technique differs."

"There is a cultivation of a desire for education rather than a cramming of knowledge into the child."

Club's "Daddy"

About 27 years ago, A. B. Graham started at Springfield, O., the first movement toward the National Boys' and Girls' club. He began with 85 rural young folk whose interest in farming was lagging. At meetings Graham would extol the beauties of farm life and instruct the members in the art of correct farming. Today the club has an enrollment of more than 663,000, and Graham is recognized as the "daddy" of all the scattered units. He is now in charge of club work for the midwestern states of the Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"I wouldn't take a thousand dollars cash for the good Orgatone has done me," said Mrs. H. L. Laffoon, wife of a well known employee of the Webster Wholesale Grocery Co., and residing at 604 N. Parks, Breckenridge, Texas. "It may sound strange, but I had suffered with stomach and kidney trouble and a general run-down condition, until I got to the place where I felt like nothing would ever do me any good. Everything I ate soured on my stomach and made trouble for me, and in addition to the kidney trouble I was nervous and restless and unable to get a full night's rest. I just lived in misery all the time and couldn't get any relief."

"I have just finished my first bottle of Orgatone, and it's surprising the way I have improved considering that I haven't been entirely well before in six years. The pains in my back and kidneys are gone, my stomach is alright and I can eat anything I want and digest it. I have gained some in weight, and am able to do my work and feel good all the time. I want everybody to know what Orgatone did for me." Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Cisco, at the Dean Drug Store.—Adv.

Marion Textile Strike Is Ended and Workers Return to Jobs as Terms of Mills Are Agreed To MARION, N. C., Sept. 12.—The Marion textile strike is over and today 1,200 men and women prepared to return to their jobs in the mills of the Clinchfield and Marion Manufacturing companies. Strikers, in a noisy mass meeting last night, approved terms advanced by officials of the two mills, and union leaders declared themselves well satisfied with the outcome of the dispute which had kept the workers idle for nearly two months.

The settlement was on a basis of a reduction in working hours, non-discrimination against union workers, and recognition of a workers' grievance committee. The gains achieved, it was said by Labor leaders, compensated for the fact that the mill officials refused to recognize the union officially.

Under the agreement, a 55-hour week will be in force, as against the former 60-hour week, while the same piecework wage scale will remain.

Little Change in Business Mortality

AUSTIN, Sept. 12.—Very little change was recorded in the business mortality rate in Texas during August, according to figures compiled by Bernard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

The seasonal trend in the number of failures from July to August is not definite—in the past ten years, increases have occurred five times, while decreases were recorded in the other five," Mr. Nichols said. "Compared to July, therefore, the record is favorable, but in comparison to August of last year, the showing is rather poor.

During the month, 38 failures having liabilities of reported in the state to 28 bankruptcies of $251,000 in August were 41 insolvencies of $919,000 in the average failure liabilities of $16,000 in July.

COMMENTS ON GAS TAX.

"The gasoline tax is the giant of industry and it will swell up and burst wide open within three years after it gets unpopular." The prophet is W. S. Booten, chief tax collection officer of Tennessee, who should know his gas taxes. He suggested that the North American Gasoline Tax conference, at its annual meeting, discuss: "Is the gasoline tax starting to commit suicide?"

The situation would indicate that the three-year period of grace already has begun. Newspaper editors have been hurling ink at the gas tax whenever it has reached an unreasonable amount. Motorists and their organizations have said more than one mouthful against it. There is a general belief that a good thing has been overdone.

Mr. Booten said some counties and cities are imposing gas taxes of their own, but he didn't tell the whole story. Three states have a six-cent tax. An eight-cent rate has been proposed in two more. Other commonwealths are considering large increases.

It will cost about $450,000,000 to feed the giant this year. Here are a few comments: Gasoline users everywhere are beginning to "sit up and take notice" of just how they are being imposed upon and just how they are likely to be imposed upon still more unless they get busy with their protest and move to make it potent. Not only is the gas consumer being taxed unconscionably by the states, but the counties are taking a hand in the thing and the municipalities are beginning to nibble. What the end is to be, the Lord alone knows—and, unfortunately, He won't tell.—Atlanta (Ga.) Georgian.

Except for the half-dozen states which, in their original acts endorsing the gasoline tax, allotted a part of the income to other uses than road improvement, few gasoline tax diversion proposals have become law, but every year bills are being more urgently pressed, providing for allotments to the general tax fund, to schools and to park systems. This is a perversion of taxation logic.—Engineering News Record.

No one questions the justice of making motorists pay a fair share towards the upkeep and expansion of the highways but the speed with which taxes have increased makes it imperative that they look into the policies under which the money is expended and also keep up insistence for economy in administration.—Pittsburgh (Pa.) Post-Gazette.

The automobile using public has never objected to paying its fair share of highway costs. The steady increase in gas tax rates suggests, however, that some effort should be made to define what a fair share is.—Auto Trade Journal.

Watch the gasoline taxes; they lie the making of one of the

WHY WE GET HARD-BOILED

By Mehran K. Thompson, Ph. D., Author of "The Spring of Human Emotions."

We are hearing a good deal these days about the hard-boiled attitude of people in general and of young people in particular.

From being shocked at everything we have arrived at the point where nothing shocks us. What is the psychological explanation for getting hard-boiled?

The world is moving at such a rapid pace that we are living more, not to say faster, than our fathers. Greater prosperity and more luxuries and mechanical devices lead us to indulge in so many fancy experiences that the ordinary routine of life leaves us cold. Life is old stuff and kickless. We demand new and novel experiences, bigger and better thrills. As the dopamine fiend needs to increase his dose to get any kick out of it, so each experience must be a little more exciting than the last or there is an anti-climax and weary turn away in disgust. The net result is that we become hard-boiled and unresponsive.

People are a lot wiser than they appear to be. They are more sophisticated, with such a back-out ground it is difficult not to get hard-boiled. There are those who assume a hard-boiled appearance to conceal their baby muscles of arm and brain. They are conscious of being inferior and hence advertise themselves as bad eggs to impress you with their courage and strength. In the language of psychology this is called a defense mechanism.

Sometimes we get hard-boiled in self-defense. If you possess anything of value the human sponge will find you as fatally as the vulture spots his prey. Every rich man receives daily hundreds of appeals for money. If your fortune consists in beauty you will find that "beauty hath more thieves than wealth."

We get hard-boiled to protect ourselves from human parasites who live on soft-boiled eggs. Someone who lacks the qualities of a forceful personality, assume the hard-boiled attitude because it is supposed to be a mark of strength. Most of us get hard-boiled as the

Lettermen Back for Aggie Squad

MEMPHIS STATION, Sept. 12.—The weather today gave the Aggie gridiron aspirants a day of real football as they went through their early pre-season practice.

Long List of Likely Candidates Report to Coach Garrett as Grid Training Starts on Randolph Hill

A large group of likely prospects reported to Coach H. R. (Pop) Garrett this week when the whistle blew to start football practice over on the hill. Randolph anticipates its most successful season this year with an array of former high school stars affording plenty of competition for all places on the eleven. Among the old players returning is Banks, one of the stars of the eleven last year.

The conference schedule has already been arranged very satisfactorily to Cisco. It is:

October 12—Decatur Baptist college, here.

October 26—Texas Christian college, Terrell, here.

November 9—Weatherford college here.

November 23—Clifton college, there.

In case a conflict occurs with a high school game here during the season a change will be made to eliminate this, Coach Garrett said.

This schedule will be filled in with non-conference games most of which are yet to be matched. Those who have so far reported for practice are:

Banks, Randolph; Coats, Cisco; Thurman, Anson; Womack, Anson; Pippen, Haskell; Reeder, Amarillo; Williams, Girard; Winter, Matador; Potter, Randolph; Woody, Girard; backfield material; Perdue, Randolph; Coldwell, Cisco; L. Crist, Randolph; Beard, Randolph; J. Martin, Randolph; B. Martin, Snyder; Carroll, Snyder; Meadows, Cisco; Prickett, Haskell; Milton, Baird; W. Crist, Randolph; Reeder, Amarillo and Ringo, Randolph, all line material.

Members of last year's tenderfoot squad who reported are: Marshall of Floydada, fullback; Byron of Mineral Wells, Campbell of Caddo, Cooper of Temple and Rushing of Desdemona, halves; and McLeod of Lubbock, tackle. Marshall shows the most promise of these men up to date. He is big, can ram the line, punt 60 yards, and is improving on the defense.

Red Bennet of Slaton, another man who nearly lettered last year, was expected by Wednesday. He will make a strong bid for center.

Eight men showed up for the first workout. They are: Powell of Wichita Falls, Weiman of Port Arthur, Goodwin of Port Arthur, and Pearce of Comanche, Okla., halves; Rhodes of Port Arthur and Sanders of Taft, ends; Bean of Kirbyville, tackle; and Webb of Mineral Wells, guard.

All of the new candidates for backfield look fast and promising, the ends are long and rangy, and the two line aspirants have plenty of bulk and look good.

Coach Bridges laughed at rumors that the Cowboys would run away with the Texas conference flag.

"We ought to have a fair team," he said. "Nothing but hard work and superior team play will keep us in the race, however."

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's hero—General Alvin Crowder, right handed ace of the St. Louis Browns, who blanked the New York Yankees for the second successive time, 5 to 0. The Yanks have gone scoreless in four of the last five games with the Browns. Crowder allowed five hits.

The St. Louis Cardinals swept both games of a double header with the Boston Braves 11 to 4, and 7 to 1. Al Grabowski, Cardinal rookie hurler from Danville, fanned five in his initial major league effort.

With all the scoring packed into the first inning, the Philadelphia Athletics beat the Chicago White Sox 7 to 4 and moved to within four games of mathematical certainty of winning the pennant. Lefty Grove failed to last an inning.

The New York Giants cut the Pittsburgh second place lead to 4 1-2 games by taking both games of a double header, 2 to 1 and 10 to 5.

The Washington Senators slipped into a tie with Detroit for fifth place by virtue of a 5 to 2 victory over the Cleveland Indians. A three run rally in the eighth clinched the game.

Buck Newsome, late of Macon in the Sally league, made an auspicious major league debut but for the Brooklyn Dodgers dropped a 4 to 2 decision to the Cincinnati Reds. Newsome allowed five hits and two earned runs in seven innings and fanned five batters.

The Boston Red Sox came from behind to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 7 in ten innings. Reeves singled in the tenth, went to second on a bad throw and scored on Rothrock's single.

The veteran Art Nehf held the hard hitting Philadelphia Phillies to five scattered hits as the Chicago Cubs moved to within four games of mathematical certainty of winning the National league pennant by a 5 to 2 victory.

RICE ELEVEN FACING LOT OF HARD WORK

Meagher Hopes to Pull One Big Surprise This Season

HOUSTON, Sept. 12.—Jack Meagher, the smiling Irishman who used to play end for the Notre Dame Micks, and who this fall will serve his first season as head gridiron mentor at Rice institute here, is hoping that a lot of hard work can make up for a shortage of experienced football players.

According to virtually all the dopesters, the Rice institute Owls this fall will be cast in the role they have played a long time—the doctorm of the Southwest conference; but Meagher hopes to pull at least one big surprise before the season closes.

Rice institute supporters derive comfort from the fact that when Meagher coached at St. Edward's university, Austin, his teams invariably were noted for their fine form toward the far end of the campaign.

Nine lettermen form the nucleus about which Coach Meagher will form his team. They are:

Capt. Bush, Jones of Dallas, for the past two seasons one of the conference's outstanding guards. In training this past spring, Jones proved an ideal leader, working with a willingness that cheered the Rice coaching staff. Jones weighs around 175 pounds, is fast, and a fighter.

Billy Morgan of Denison, who will be used at guard or center. Morgan won his spurs in the S. M. U. game of last season. Despite the fact that the Mustangs overwhipped the Owls, Morgan played a whole of a defensive game.

Travis Allen of Yoakum, a big tackle who last season showed considerable promise. Meagher is expecting much of the Yoakum product.

George McCarbie, of Houston last season exhibited ability to snare passes. He should prove invaluable particularly if Meagher specializes on the open game, as now seems probable.

Bub Harder of Waco weighs only 150 pounds, but plays a smashing game at end.

GRID TABS

FARMINGDALE, L. I., Sept. 12.—Coach Chuk Meehan sent his New York university Violets through a fundamental drill ironing out flaws developed in scrimmaging. Four teams worked several plays to develop timing.

WEST POINT, Sept. 12.—Pending first scrimmage, Coach Biff Jones and his assistants sent the Army candidates through their paces in groups. Lieut. Johnny Stokes took charge of the centers.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Sept. 12.—Two more casualties developed in the Pennsylvania football camp here. Gene Kuen and Bill Beaumont, veteran guards, are both out. Kuhn has a dislocated knee and Beaumont suffered a battered stomach.

the best ends in the conference, but a bit too brittle.

"Red" Thomas of Mamaroneck, N. Y., will be used at guard or center.

Ross Kennedy of Sabinal plays in the backfield, and is quite adept at backing up the line.

Joe Stoppel of Cleveland, O., is back possessing considerable speed and elusiveness. He may be the Owls' ball-toting ace.

Some of the more promising prospects from last season's freshman team are:

Ralph Jones of Carmona. He is big, fast and hard-hitting. He captained the freshman team of 1928.

"Red" Mimos, 195-pound tackle from El Dorado, Ark. This freckle-faced boy appears to have the makings of a first class gridman.

Scotty Sawyer, little but hard-fighting end from Beaumont.

Coach Meagher will be assisted by Marvin Durrenberger, former St. Edward's star; and by "Pug" Daugherty and "Peanut" Schultz, former Illinois performers. Daugherty and Schultz will devote much of their time to the freshman team, which promises to be the strongest of history.

The Rice schedule:

Sept. 17—Loyola university at New Orleans.

Oct. 5—Som Houston Teachers college at Houston.

Oct. 12—Southwestern university at Houston.

Oct. 26—University of Texas at Austin.

Nov. 2—St. Edwards university at Houston.

Nov. 9—Texas Christian university at Ft. Worth.

Nov. 16—Texas A. & M. college at Houston.

Nov. 23—S. M. U. at Dallas.

Nov. 30—Baylor university at Houston.

TICKET SALE PLANNED FOR WORLD SERIES

50,000 Tickets for First Game Are Available

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—William Veck, the elongated prey of the apparent National league champions, today set in motion the machinery designed to distribute approximately 50,000 tickets to the more than 100,000 baseball fans in the middle west who desire to see the Athletics and the Cubs square off for the first battle in the world series at Wrigley field.

Veck and his associates are facing a difficult task. They have issued stringent regulations circulated to head off the scalpers and they have closed their office to the public until after the first two games are played here. Tickets will be issued, not in the order in which they are received, but by drawing, and each purchaser must sign an agreement binding himself not to resell the precious tickets. Notwithstanding these precautions, predictions are made freely that those possessing pastebards may exchange them for $50 per copy, even before anyone receives his numbered card.

Although the advance notice, published in all the Chicago papers, stipulates that no more than two tickets will be issued to one party, thousands probably will fall into the hands of speculators, for not since the days of the old chance machine, has Chicago's baseball fever been at such a high pitch. Cub fans waited three years for a pennant and now that they have one within their grasp they hope to make the most of their opportunity.

TAKE CARE HOME FANS FIRST

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 12.—With mail applications for series tickets opening today, Vice President John Shibe of the Athletics smoothed many an anxious Philadelphia fan with the announcement that "Every effort will be made to take care of Philadelphia fans first."

Word Which Started Hoover on a Hot Hunt for Big Navy Lobbyists Came From Quarterdeck of Navy

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent.
Copyright 1929 by United Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The word which started President Hoover on a hot hunt for those responsible for William B. Shearer's activities against naval limitations came from the quarter deck of the navy itself and out of the mouth of Rear Admiral Hilly Pollard Jones, the United Press learned today.

But Jones was not sparing in words of condemnation of Shearer's activities. He spoke in public and private, describing Shearer's presence as a "grievous insult" to the American navy.

When Shearer's suit for $250,000 was filed against the American Brown-Boveri company, the Newport News Drydock and Shipbuilding company and the Bethlehem Ship Building corporation, Jones spoke his mind into a channel leading directly to President Hoover's office.

DENIES SHE'LL WED ALLAN

Rumors that she is engaged to Allan Hoover, son of the president, are denied by Miss Alice Davis, above, but she admits that they "are very good friends." She and her father, Dwight F. New High Prices for Cotton Seen

AUSTIN, Sept. 12.—That the price of cotton will reach 20 cents per pound or higher was the estimate of George B. Terrell, state commissioner of agriculture in a statement issued yesterday. "The price should advance to new high levels," Commissioner Terrell said, "because the demand is much greater than the supply this year. Consumption and exports last year were 15,138,721 bales. This year we have in sight a crop of only slightly more than 14,600 bales, and the surplus is practically used up."

Great Forest Fire in Northwest

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 12.—Carrying terror before it and leaving nothing but destruction in its wake, flames roared over vast areas of Oregon and Washington today. The worst fire of the Pacific northwest is raging at Triangle lake, western Lake county, Ore., where every man, woman, child and creature fled before the singing, menacing flames of a forest fire burning out of control. Recruits are being sent from Spokane to reinforce the 350 men fighting the conflagration, which has already spread over 35,000 acres.

SESSION ON PENSION BILL SEEMS SURE

AUSTIN, Sept. 12.—With a quorum assured in the senate and house members signifying their willingness to serve without pay, a special session of the legislature to consider changes in the Confederate widows' pension bill seemed assured today.

Twenty-one senators, a quorum, had answered the letter of Senator W. A. Williamson asking them to attend a session to remedy the effects of the law passed at the last session which cuts off from pension all widows under 75 years of age. No senators have refused to attend.

In the house, 60 members have agreed to attend, and 10 have refused. Senator Williamson said. If further replies follow that ratio the desired quorum of 99 will be secured.

Possibility that Governor Moody might submit other topics than the pension if the session was called caused some concern among legislators. The governor has indicated he would seriously consider calling a special session immediately if a quorum could be secured, but has not said whether he would submit other topics for legislation.
