BROWNWOOD PAPER BOUGHT BY O'FLAHERTY

A. B. O'Flaherty, until April last publisher of the Cisco Daily News and the Cisco American, which he consolidated several years ago with the purchase of the Daily News, announced Saturday that he has purchased the Brownwood News, semi-weekly publication of Brownwood, to take charge Monday. Mr. O'Flaherty did not announce his plans with reference to the paper but stated that he has secured a building, now in process of construction, into which the plant will be moved from its present location as quickly as possible. He also said that he will continue to maintain his residence in Cisco until about the first of the year. Mr. O'Flaherty has been a citizen of Cisco for practically nine years, coming here in 1920. He has always taken an active part in civic matters while his newspaper policies have been distinguished by a progressive, constructive character. Coming to Cisco as publisher of the American, weekly, he purchased the Daily News a few years later and early placed the consolidation upon a strong and successful basis. The best wishes of Cisco people go with Mr. O'Flaherty to his new field.

SEEK CISCO ENTRIES IN FAIR PARADE

Seeking Cisco entries in the county fair parade Thursday, September 19, Alex Clarke and H. H. Johnston, of Eastland were visitors Saturday to this city. They announced that the parade will be run in three divisions, industrial, individual and civic with a first and second prize offered in each department. Local business men, private citizens or civic organizations are urged to send floats or decorated cars to participate in this parade. Very substantial prizes in cash are offered.

Swimming at Lake Cisco Still Open

Reports that the swimming pool at Lake Cisco has been drained and that the swimming season has closed there are incorrect, said manager Albert Hunt Saturday. The pool will be kept open for a long while yet, he said, and a large number of people are taking advantage of the opportunity to enjoy plunges there.

Does Lake Cover Buried Treasure?

EDITOR'S NOTE — Miss Trammell admits that quite a bit of fiction went into the following story to fill in the crevices that exist between the accounts given by old timers in Cisco whom she interviewed. Buried treasure is always an interesting subject. This story, frankly, is based on nothing stronger than tradition and Daily News readers are welcome to form their own opinions of its veracity. We have ours.

By LOUISE TRAMMELL.
The small caravan of three covered-wagons had halted. Their travel-stained occupants climbed wearily down and set about making a rough wooden box into which they laid a still figure. After a few formalities, the box was lowered into a shallow grave and the caravan resumed its long, plodding journey. The trip had been a hard one. With six wagons, this band of Mexicans had left California bringing a precious cargo of gold and silver that they had mined from the mountains. Quarrels had resulted in the death of three men; throughout Arizona and New Mexico the death toll had been heavy due to a fever that had beset them; and now in Texas, there was constant fear of the Indians. On, on, on. Nightfall found them at the top of a hill, with just below, a small valley and a tiny creek of clear water. Hastening down, they circled their wagons and made camp for the night. The wee hours of the morning were accompanied by blood curdling cries, a shower of arrows, and a rush of blood-thirsty Indians. The startled camp awoke to grasp rifles and pour out volleys of fire. The party was small, and defeat was inevitable. A young Mexican boy slipped into the water on fartherest from the affray, to drag from it a heavy box. Tugging and pulling, he succeeded in getting it to the bank of the stream where a narrow crevice afforded concealment for both the gold and the boy. Tales as to its significance are numerous, contradictory and uncertain. One relates of a train hold-up that occurred when Cisco still went by the name of Red Gap. The three bandits escaped with the loot and remained in hiding in these hills. Suffering from exposure, and gun-shot wounds received during the robbery, two of the men died, leaving the third to bury the money. The other story, featuring three bandits also, Mexicans, suggests that the loot was taken from a bank in a south Texas town. Followed closely by a posse, the robbers took refuge in the hills, burying the money before they were finally captured. But the proximity of these hills to Lake Cisco, the fact that the characters of both stories were Mexicans, and the fact that a creek-bed seems to have figured prominently in both instances, lends belief to the probability that these signs may have something to do with the lake treasure. Who knows but what another Mexican boy survived the massacre and witnessed the burial of the money? Then safely away in the hills, he carved this map to enable him to return. Who knows? But, just the same, the signs remain, revealing their secret to only him who has the key.

100 FARES ARE NECESSARY TO SECURE RATE

No Reservations Yet Made for Trip With Loboes

Likelihood that the arrangement for special round trip rates via the Texas & Pacific to El Paso for the annual intersectional clash between the Cisco Loboes and the El Paso high school eleven Sept. 28 will have to be cancelled was seen at the chamber of commerce Saturday. So far not a single reservation has been received either at the railway ticket office or the chamber of commerce. One hundred reservations are necessary to secure the extremely low round trip rate of $13.55. If the necessary 100 cannot be secured a rate of $18.50 will apply. At that rate, it is possible that enough fares may be secured to justify a special pullman. So far, however, such little interest has been shown that even this is doubtful. Those in charge of making arrangements for the trip must know definitely just what is needed by Sept. 22. This is little more than a week away and every person who wishes to secure accommodations is urged to get in touch immediately with the chamber of commerce. Reasonable Rates Very reasonable hotel rates have been provided for in the Gateway city. Adults may secure accommodations at $1.50 per day and children at $1. In addition to the football game the Southwest Range Stock show and round-up will be in progress at El Paso. This show opens on Sept. 27 and continues throughout the 29. The special train, if it is assured, will leave Cisco on Friday afternoon, arriving in El Paso Saturday morning. It will start its return trip Sunday afternoon arriving in Cisco about 10 o'clock Monday morning, so that practically one business day will be all the time lost.

Petition Now Being Circulated Endorses Movement to Shorten Distance Over Bankhead Highway

Endorsing the plan to construct a highway down the Texas and Pacific railroad from Millsap to Strawn, thus shortening the distance over the Bankhead from Fort Worth to Strawn about 18 miles, a petition is now being circulated among cities in Eastland and Callahan counties asking the state highway commission to grant such a designation. Hundreds of names are being signed to the petition. The petition was prepared and is being circulated by a committee of citizens from several towns along the route who are interested in better highways and particularly in improving traffic conditions along the Bankhead. The following copy of the petition explains the attitude of the signers and its purpose:

The session will be held at the Laguna with a luncheon to be served on the roof garden. The morning meeting will be purely social with the business session to take place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. M. D. Ussery, of Brownwood, is secretary.

ATTEMPT SAVE WALKER FROM CHAIR IS SEEN

Papers Incriminating "Whitey" Missing From Files

BORGER, Sept. 14.—District Attorney John A. Holmes, of Borger, may have been assassinated by a gangster seeking to save William J. (Whitey) Walker from death in the electric chair for the murder of the deputy sheriffs. This development was revealed by investigators today after it was discovered that death bed statements incriminating Walker in the two killings in 1927, are missing from the private legal files of Holmes. Holmes' death last year in a fire in his car in soothing home.

Meanwhile search for Holmes' assassin was given impetus with the arrival here of Range Hamer and Tom Hickman, man hunters, from the state police unit at Austin.

Presence of the Rangers has hope to Borger citizens that the slayer soon would be apprehended but this far authorities had few clues to work with. Gov. Moody announced at Austin that he had posted $1,000 reward for the capture and conviction of the assassin. Borger citizens subscribed $2,500 to the amount this morning. Contributions were still coming in and it was thought the reward eventually would total $5,000.

GREATEST MAN HUNT IS UNDER WAY

BORGER, Sept. 14.—The greatest manhunt since Borger was a struggling oil boom town was on here today for the assassin of District Attorney John A. Holmes, recognized enemy of gangsters and gunmen in this section of Texas. Police inclined to the view that it was because of Holmes' activities against rough characters in this oil boom town that he was shot down last night in the ward of his home. Five shots were fired at him from ambush, three of them finding their mark. He died as his wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. Donna B. Greene, ran to his aid. Today, Texas Rangers, city police and county officers combed the city in an effort to locate the assassin. Scores of suspicious characters were arrested and questioned, but thus far none had been found who could reveal the identity of the assassin.

TO AWAIT REPORT FROM RANGERS

AUSTIN, Sept. 14.—Conditions in Borger as determined by Capt. Frank Hamer and his aides to be reported to Gov. Moody will decide whether or not martial law will be declared in the Hutchinson county oil town, the governor said today. He indicated that should Capt. Hamer notify him martial law is needed that he would order it. Appointment of a successor of John A. Holmes to the office of district attorney will await developments in the case, the governor said.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

W. J. Hoffman, advertising manager of the Portland (Ore.) Oregonian, says: "I have been in the newspaper advertising business for 25 years and I have seen many changes in the industry."

Many new diversions are inviting the attention of the public mind. The movie is here; universal machines are just being introduced into the office. The reading of newspapers, magazines and grows greater and offers and the influence and effect of newspaper advertising is increasing all the while. The chief cause of all the new competitors in newspaper advertising and for the attention to be developed by newspaper advertising is the less newspaper advertising.

WHY WE DO IT Why We Want Thrills

By MEHRAN K. THOMPSON, Ph. D., Author of "The Springs of Human Action"

WHY WE ARE SUPERSTITIOUS

By Mehran K. Thompson, Ph. D., Author of "The Springs of Human Action" A few years ago I was at St. John's college, Oxford, England. One of the students I met there told me of a curious superstition. Pointing to a romantic lane across the beautiful lawn at the rear of the main building, he said, "No student would think of walking that lane on the night before the exam. If he does, he will be ploughed." "I took it to mean that it would fail in the examination," I said. "It is not dead. We are inclined to think that belief in magic and talismans is a relic of a savage and ignorant age. However, we are all more or less superstitious. You laugh at others for carrying a rabbit's foot, or hanging a horse shoe over the door and yet there is some superstition over which you feel a little 'queer.' Perhaps you don't mind starting an important business on Friday or on the thirteenth of the month but how about knocking on wood before telling your neighbor that you have escaped the flu, or the tax collector?"

That because two things happen at the same time or immediately following each other, we assume that they are necessarily connected. It is easy to confuse temporal connection with causal connection. A superstition is a mistaken relationship. For example, a black cat crosses your path or you break a mirror and you have had bad luck. You look very much like cause and effect because we take into account only those cases where the luck does follow and ignore the other cases in which the usual happens. The reason why we are superstitious is that we like to be lucky and assume that we sense it by some magic.

OUT OUR WAY

OIL NEWS OF SOUTHWEST

WICHITA, Kas., Sept. 14.—The Dexter, Kas., helium plant, will resume operation within the next 30 days, according to B. S. McDaniel, cashier of the Dexter bank. Equipment is being moved back into the plant. The opening of the new rich helium field five miles south of Dexter brought about the reopening of the plant. The Tree Oil company which opened the field, is drilling additional tests under contract with the Kentucky Nitrogen & Oxygen company, owners of the helium plant, to purchase the gas. No. 1-Brubaker, an 8,000,000-foot gasser, opened the new field. Last week Adams No. 1 came in as a 4,000,000-foot gasser from the sand at 11,042 to 1,086.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Sept. 14.—Caution was the general rule today in development of the new Ramsay pool southeast of here which broke into the limelight Thursday with a producer. No. 1-Trosper park. Coincident with the shutdown Thursday of the Oklahoma City field for a 30 day period, the Ramsay well blew in, opening up what operators believe to be a new pool. Exploitation of this new region was not favored. W. R. Ramsay, president of the Ramsay Petroleum company, said certain drilling obligations must be met first. The new producer was averaging around fifty barrels an hour Thursday and will be allowed to flow for another 24 hours. Operators in the Oklahoma City field were looking toward the Hall-Briscoe and Jack Shaffer No. 1-Childs Friday, which was due for a test. Plug was finished Thursday and there is a good showing of oil in the sand at 6,344 feet.

SEAN ANTONIO, Sept. 14.—The first convention of the Texas Petroleum Producers' association is to be held here Oct. 3, 4 and 5. Gov. Dan Moody and men prominent in the petroleum industry are on the program to speak.

AUSTIN, Sept. 14.—The month of August saw 415 new producers brought in in Texas, a decrease of 56 compared with July. August gassers totaled 55, an increase of 16 over July. Since Jan. 1, 3,457 producing wells and 318 gassers have been brought in. Wilbarger county oil fields reported the largest number of new producers in August with 38. Wichita county was second with 33, and Archer and Gray counties each had 30.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Sept. 14.—Three hours before the shutdown order of the state corporation commission went into effect in the Oklahoma City oil field, a new well produced itself. No. 1-Trosper of the Ramsay-Midkansas Oil company's blew in for an estimated flow of 700 barrels a day. Gas measuring 2,600,000 cubic feet, accompanied the flow. Controversy arose yesterday as to whether the well is an extension of the proven field or a new pool. Most operators are of the opinion that the new well would not come under the provisions of the 30 day shut down order of the Oklahoma City field which went into effect at 7 a. m. yesterday. Wells flowing water with oil will be allowed to flow one day each week. Drilling wells will proceed to production, flow 24 hours for gauge and clean out the holes. Then they will be shut down for the full period. The new producer is located seven miles north and seven miles east of the south field's discovery well. The sand was topped at 6,167 feet and penetrated about 10 feet. Production of the entire field Wednesday with more than 66,000 barrels being gauged. Prairie Oil & Gas completed its No. 1-Damant in North Sasakiwa sector of Seminole county with an average production of 1,250 barrels.

WICHITA, Sept. 14.—Empire Oil & Refining's Edwards No. 5-B in Greenwood county swabbed 500 barrels in its first test after being given a nitro shot of 260 quarts. Oil men figure the well at 500 barrels a day after the first head is swabbed. The Scully half section, Elbing pool, up to and including Aug. 31, produced 3,516,785 barrels of oil for the Phillips Petroleum company. It was learned here. The section is one of the largest oil producing properties in the history of Butler county, and has had very little publicity on operations in the pool. Only 32 of the 936 acres were found productive, which makes a gross recovery of 37,412 barrels per acre. The property has had nearly ten years of active operation and still is highly productive. During the first eight months of this year, it has produced 110,165 barrels of oil, or an average of 453 barrels a day. The property was purchased Jan. 1, 1920. According to reports, $1,000,000 was the price. Eleven wells were put down as producers, three turning out dry. Ten of the wells are pumping now.

HOUSTON, Sept. 14.—It is reported that two possible oil producing structures have been located by geophysical methods in Galveston county, one by the Gulf Production company near Friends Wood, and the other by the Humble Oil & Refining company, three miles south of Kemah. The Friends Wood-Pearl area long has been considered likely oil producing territory. Several wells were drilled near Pearl and at Friends Wood some years ago in which indications of oil were found. Pierre Junction, Houston's back door oil field, is supplying in interesting feature in Shaw-Texas Exploration's No. 2-Dooley which blew out Monday with a terrific gas

Managers Say That Loughran and Sharkey Will Be in Good Physical Trim for Heavyweight Battle Soon

By JOE SMITH
Manager of Tommy Loughran (Written for United Press)
HARVEY'S LAKE, Sept. 14.—For the first time, I am making a positive prediction that Tommy Loughran will win by a knockout when he meets Jack Sharkey at Yankee Stadium September 26. Tommy will win by a K. O. because in my opinion he will be in better physical condition for this battle than he has been for any bout in two years. Weighing 187, his natural weight, Loughran will have all his strength and hitting power.

Tommy will not lose in speed because of the increased poundage. He will be able to extend himself to the limit. Every heavyweight Loughran has fought in the last two years has been all in at the end of ten rounds, while Tommy has been strong. If Sharkey lasts past the tenth, Tommy will finish him before the fifteenth. Loughran now weighs around 150, with seven days of training carried 40 yards from the scrimmage line. It was Gorman's first down. Another pass similar to this placed the oval against the Lobo goal and four plunges at the line carried it over. Cisco scored one more touchdown, Chambliss taking the ball over in the fourth quarter.

RISING STAR DOWNED 43-0 BY EASTLAND

Versatile Attack Is Revealed by Maverick Eleven

By BOYCE HOUSE
The Eastland Mavericks were an irresistible machine that mowed the Rising Star Wildcats down, 43 to 0, Friday afternoon on the Eastland field. It was one of the biggest scores that has been rolled up in the last four or five seasons by an E. H. S. eleven and the several hundred present were impressed by the demonstration. For Rising Star had a nice team and played hard throughout but as long as the regulars were on the field, Eastland could not be stopped. It was only after Coach Gibson had sent in a parade of substitutes until the third stringers were in action that the Mavericks ceased scoring.

Conle Smith returned the kickoff 40 yards and in six plays the Mavericks had a touchdown. A pretty run over the goal line by Smith ended the march. As soon as Eastland obtained the ball again, they rushed down the field for another score. Smith went around right end to put the ball over. When the first quarter ended, Cheatham had just advanced the ball to the five yard line and when the second period started Allen plunged across. With the score 19-0, Gibson began sending in two and three men at a time and Rising Star stopped the Eastland attack before it had struck deep into Wildcat territory. But with the starting lineup returning when the second half opened, the locals lost no time, the culminating play being a 25-yard run on a reverse by Watson. This touchdown was followed very shortly by another. When the Rising Star punter was rushed, Eastland obtained the ball well down in the visitors' end of the field and Allen went over.

The following regulations for the annual Cisco County club golf tournament have been posted by the tournament committee, J. W. Love, chairman. A copy of the regulations is being sent to each member. The annual club championship tournament will soon be in full swing. This is your club, and you are obligated to take an active part in it, let us see how many we can get to take a part in this tournament. Commencing Saturday, September 14, all players who may desire to participate will have four days in which to qualify. In other words you will have Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to qualify in. All qualifying scores must be turned over to Mr. Mathews at the club house by Tuesday night, September 17. The first match play will be played either Friday or Saturday. Third match play will also have to be played Friday or Saturday, as it is desired to play the finals on Sunday, Sept. 22nd. There will be sixteen players in each flight. The players turning in the 16 lowest scores will be entitled to a place in the first flight.

On Tuesday night at the club house (the Calcutta pool will furnish plenty of interest for every one, as all players qualifying for the first flight will be sold at auction to the highest bidder. If you don't play golf, buy a player and if you do play golf buy a player anyway. All entrants will kindly register at the club locker room and pay the entrance fee of $1.00 to Mr. Mathews who will advise you regarding the rules of play, by which all players should be governed in their qualifying play. Monies received for entrance fee is to be used for buying prizes as there will be prizes for the winners and runner-up of all flights.

Trapper Catches Five More Wolves

CROSS PLAINS, Sept. 14.—Government Trapper E. Brumbelow, who has been working in this locality for the past two years, reports the recent capture of five more wolves, bringing the total capture to probably 50 of the wild dogs. Three were captured in August and two up to Tuesday of this week in September. They were caught in the neighborhood south and southwest of Cross Plains. The latter two animals are reported to have destroyed about 40 turkeys within the past few weeks. Mr. Alring, living in the locality where they were captured, reports the loss of eight turkeys, due to the depredations of these two wolves, and Mr. Clifton and another resident of that section state that altogether they have lost 13. The trapper states that these recent captures are wolves that have come in from the mountainous section of Callahan county.

Where can you duplicate the style, comfort and convenience of America's finest medium-priced automobile?

When today's Oakland All-American Six was proved by comparison with twenty other cars to be America's finest medium-priced automobile, many of the points in which it displayed superiority were features contributing to style, luxury, convenience and riding ease. Oakland combines a long wheelbase with a short turning radius—and this represents a tremendous advantage. The long wheelbase results in greater riding ease and permits the use of smarter, roomier bodies. The short turning radius gives greater handling ease. Oakland's bodies by Fisher represent another important advantage. Famous for their style leadership, they provide, in addition, such convenience and comfort features as drivers' seats adjustable as you drive, easily-regulated VV windshields and side cowl ventilators. Oakland owners take pride in the style, luxury and convenience of their cars—and in their performance and reliability as well. Come in and let us show you why this is true—and how, on every basis of comparison, today's Oakland is America's finest medium-priced automobile.

Facts Which Prove Oakland Supremacy

The following facts were obtained from a comparison of the Oakland All-American Six with 20 other medium-priced automobiles. All told, 378 individual comparisons were made. Of these Oakland proved to be distinctly superior in 451 or 51.37 per cent. The 20 cars combined were as best equal to Oakland on 282 or 43.50 per cent. And 13 of the 20 were higher-priced than Oakland.

FISHER BODY
Only Oakland and two other cars in the field offer bodies by Fisher. And one of the two is nearly $100 higher in price than Oakland. Of the 18 cars which have less-known bodies, 11 are priced above the All-American Six.

WHEELBASE
Only one car as low priced as Oakland has a wheelbase as long as Oakland's, which is 117 inches. That car requires a turning circle to the left of 42 feet as compared with Oakland's 36 feet. Six higher-priced cars have shorter wheelbases.

SPRING COVERS
Only Oakland in the entire field is equipped with spring covers, according to our data, which cover 19 of the 20 cars included in the field.

FOOT-CONTROLLED HEADLIGHTS
Only Oakland and one other car in the field offer this convenience. And the second car costs more than Oakland. Eleven more expensive cars fail to provide it.

CROSS-FLOW RADIATOR
Only Oakland in the entire field has the Cross-Flow Radiator or anything similar to it. All other cars use the down-flow radiator, this despite the fact that 13 of the 20 are higher-priced.

BUNGALOW SUGGESTING THE ENGLISH COTTAGE

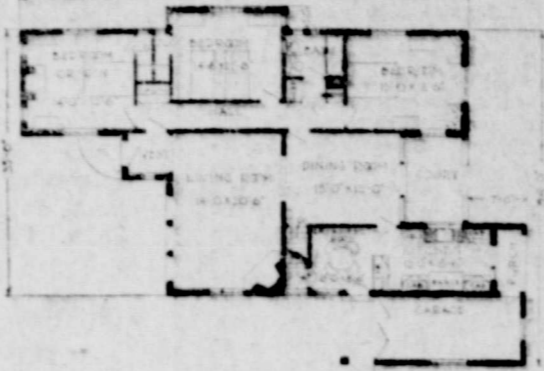

House No. 612

The old thatched cottages of England seem to be recalled by the design and treatment of this bungalow. The fitting eyebrow dormer in front and a larger one in the back give light and ventilation to the attic where an additional room can be provided if needed.

Face brick has been chosen as the material best adapted to carry out the beauty in the design. The wide range of colors available give to the builder his selection of colors that harmonize with the landscaping and at the same time the brick lend their permanence and strength to the home. Given a finish band—which means that every other brick is headed out—with mortar colored to contrast with the color of the brick, this home takes on an individuality of appearance that is charming.

Through a vestibule one enters either a hall on the left which leads to the bedrooms or the living room on the right. The bedrooms all are of good size and conveniently located near the bath. Each room has windows on three sides, insuring good ventilation and an abundance of light. A fireplace is provided in the front bedroom, which can be used as a library, or den in the event it is not needed for sleeping purposes. The living room has three casement windows across the front and a single, good-sized window on the side wall next to the fireplace which has been placed in the corner.

A large arched opening between the living and dining rooms gives the effect of one large room when viewed from either end. In the dining room, the window is of ample size to permit good daylight and opens onto a court which has been designed for the rear of the house. The breakfast room and kitchen adjoin and both are equipped with cabinets. The rear porch is as wide as the kitchen and opens directly into the attached garage. The garage can also be entered from the breakfast room.

The ceiling height of this home is 8 feet 4 inches and the central is 33,000 cubic feet. A 50-foot lot is ample to accommodate it, and if the garage is placed in the rear, a lot of 43 feet in width will suffice.

If you are interested in working drawings for House No. 612, the editor of this paper will gladly tell you where they may be obtained.

2 DEEP TESTS TO BE SUNK AT CROSS PLAINS

CROSS PLAINS, Sept. 14.—Oil and gas developments in the Cross Plains and adjacent fields is believed to be now venturing on a crowning era of the industry, which will doubtless reveal greater and more important discoveries than any that have been added to the local territory since the beginning of operation some six years ago.

It has been faithfully contended by all of the older and experienced operators in the local fields that vast pools of oil exist at a greater depth than has yet been reached by the drill, and that earlier discovery would have been made had the price of crude justified the expense of deep drilling.

Two standard derricks of unusual substantial structure and rigged with equipment for deep tests are reported ready to commence drilling. The nearest of these locations is on the Harve Vestal land a few miles north of Cross Plains. It will attract unusual interest until its completion, as it has for its goal a deeper test than was the Elmer Vestal, or first discovery well of the Cross Plains field. The latter well came in a gusher at a depth of 3,300 feet, and pipe has been placed on the ground of the new test to exceed a depth of 4,000 feet.

The other deep test mentioned is west of Cross Plains in the Ophir country and east of the famous Johnson well, which came in a gusher and created great excitement two years ago, but was abandoned on account of salt water. This test is equipped for a 4,500 foot depth.

In the proven surrounding semi-shallow fields, including new territory in the west field, Cliff Westerman, Wade McDaniel and Blake fields new producers are being completed with the passing of each week. Another good producer was discovered in a new section of the Blake field last week.

An auto wreck having revealed that he had been on a joy ride with two young women, William Quinn of Belfast killed himself rather than face his wife.

marrying your mother. You see, he wasn't a wealthy man, poor Charles; luck always went against him. And your mother was the only child of a very rich man.

Brent was sure of his last statement. Further investigation following his trip to Yonkers had revealed this to be true. He had no hesitation in declaring it.

"Charles," Helen whispered. "That is my father's name?"

"Yes, Charles Nellin." He considered it wise to avoid mentioning the name Owens. There might be a chance that Cunningham did not know that it was Nellin's. He didn't want Helen using it when she went to her grandfather.

"And the rest of it?" she demanded. "What is my name, Leonard?"

"Your name is Evangeline Helen Cunningham. I have always called you Helen because I preferred it to Evangeline. You were named for your mother."

Helen breathed it after him. She told herself she had never heard a more beautiful word. "Evangeline, Evangeline."

"How much nearer to me it brings my mother to know her name," she said to Brent.

He sighed. "You see," he said, "already, you will want to see her home, won't you?"

"Oh yes," Helen answered, swift in her understanding, "but that can't be come between us in any way."

"We shall see," Brent said gloomily. "But I want you to remember that your grandfather was my friend's enemy—your father's enemy. I can't enjoy the thought of giving you over to him. You won't need to," Helen promised. "I don't want his money, Leonard. How could I want it when he was unkind to my mother?"

"Well," Brent hedged, "he had his side of the case, I suppose. You see, I'm not an impartial judge. To me Charles Nellin is a real man, a true friend and my sympathy was entirely with him."

"What did my grandfather do to him?"

"Nothing, in a way. He refused to give his permission to Nellin's marriage with his daughter. He's as proud as the old Nick, but that was natural because Charles was only a poor chap—a musician, in fact. But he got the idea in his head that Cunningham was trying to take his wife away from him.

"I can't say whether he was justified or not, but he probably was. At any rate he left the country, and changed his name. It isn't so much what Cunningham did to him that matters. He had small opportunity to act against him. Charles kept out of his way. The marriage was an elopement, and afterward Charles never saw your grandfather again."

"And my mother? Did she go back?"

"Never. But Charles feared that she might, and it was this fear that drove him to Mexico. Your grandfather is guilty of having ruined his life. He made a vagabond of him. But your mother had more cause for bitterness. Her father refused her one and only appeal for aid—refused it cruelly. It was made for your sake, Helen, and it broke your mother's heart to know that you were to be left behind her in poverty. The letter she received from her father hastened her death."

"Oh my poor mother," Helen moaned.

"That is why I have no kind feeling for Cyril Cunningham," Brent commented acidly.

"I hate him!" Helen exclaimed. "I never want to see him!"

Brent waited a moment for her agitation to pass. "I'm afraid we can't either of us make that possible," he said earnestly, "unless we are to break a promise to your father."

"But I never promised!" Helen protested.

"I promised for you," Brent explained to her. "You see, dear, before your mother's death she begged Charles to take you back to America and appeal to her father once more to help you. I'm afraid she knew that poor Charles was scarcely the man to bring up a motherless girl and provide for her in a proper way. But Charles was too bitter to comply with her request. It preyed on his mind, however, and when he knew he was near death itself he sent for me and asked me to fulfill her wish."

"But you didn't," Helen interjected swiftly. "and I don't see why we should do it now."

"Your father gave me plenty of time," Brent soothed her. "He wanted to put it off as long as possible, and my assurance that I would give you a fitting education eased his mind about not sending you to your grandfather while you were a baby. No doubt he feared that you would be brought up to think him a scoundrel and he couldn't endure that, for he loved you very much, Helen."

"Poor daddy," Helen murmured tenderly.

"But I gave him my solemn promise that if you lived until you were grown, I would tell you about your parents and see that you fulfilled your mother's dying wish. You must not fail me, Helen."

"Is that what you meant when you spoke of the role I was being groomed for?" Helen asked him.

"When you said that I must obey your wishes in preference to my own?"

Her question was unexpected, but Leonard Brent was rarely caught off his guard. When he spoke it was with confidence in his ability to satisfy her and push his crooked scheme another foot ahead.

JOLSON-DAVEY LEE COMBINE HITS AGAIN

The tear in the voice of Al Jolson has lost none of its power in the new "daddy" picture, "Say It With Songs," which opens at the Palace today. The sob in the singer's throat still echoes in the hearts of his hearers and the pathos of his father love still sends handkerchiefs to their eyes. "Say It With Songs" has only a shade less drama and a shade less tragedy than "The Singing Fool," yet the story is in no way similar. There is the same strong bond of feeling between father and son and the same little lisp of "Sonny Boy," but the happenings to the two characters differ. Sonny Boy becomes a "Little Pal." Jolson is a radio singer, a radio jazz singer, in his newest and third picture. Justifiable homicide sends him to the penitentiary. His experience at the institution reminds you for an instant of "Wary River," but only for an instant. Marion Nixon makes a charming mother and wife. It is to the management's credit that the Palace bill is not cluttered this week with inane skits and tiresome future attractions advertising.
