COLORFUL BEAUTY WOVEN INTO SPANISH DESIGN

Simplicity has been the keynote in designing this house. The entire effect is simple and yet complete. For the Spanish house depends largely upon the rich color tones of the tile roof and the color of the face brick walls to achieve its dignity and beauty. Care taken in the selection of face brick with mortar joints to harmonize. Keeping in mind the color used in the roof, assures colorful individuality for this house.

Spanish houses emphasize the living room with a high vaulted ceiling and large windows. In this house, the living room is a wing broadside to the street, with windows at the rear overlooking the garden. The attractive balcony above the entrance adds a romantic touch and is further harmonized by the grille work used there and under the living room windows.

The large-sized hall just inside the entrance offers access to the living room, dining room, sun parlor, as well as to the stairs to the upper floor. The sun parlor lives up to its name in that three large windows are contained in the side wall and one window faces the front, next to the entrance.

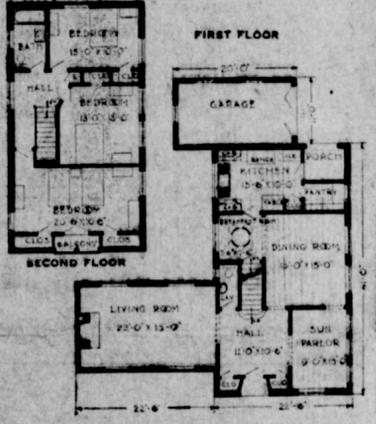

The dining room, breakfast room, kitchen and pantry are compactly arranged and convenient to each other. An arched opening between the dining and breakfast rooms gives the effect of a single room. The kitchen has a generous pantry in addition to china cabinets on each side of the sink which is located directly under a wide window. Access to the attached garage is gained from the rear porch.

A master's bedroom is on the second floor. This room extends across the front of the house and is designed for twin beds. Casement doors open from this room onto the balcony. The bath and the two other bedrooms are placed at the rear, near the head of the stairs from the first floor.

There is a full basement under the house, containing laundry, vegetable cellar, heater and coal bin, although only a partial basement may be built if preferred, as the rear porch is large enough to accommodate the laundry trays.

Placed on a 60-foot lot allowing enough space at one side for a driveway to the garage, the house is adaptable for all sections of the country. All that is needed to acclimate it to the north or south is suitable landscaping. The ceiling heights are 8 feet 6 inches for the first floor and 8 feet for the second floor, and the content is 34,000 cubic feet.

If you are interested in working drawings for House No. 645, the editor of this paper will gladly tell you where they may be obtained.

WILSON SEES OFFICIAL HAND IN HOMICIDE

Judge Says Berger Murder Is Texas' Worst Crime

AMARILLO, Sept. 21.—Federal Judge James C. Wilson of Fort Worth believes the murder of Johny Holmes, Berger district attorney, was the most serious crime in the history of Texas and that the hand that fired the fatal shot "either was the hand of an official or had official sanction."

Judge Wilson declared in connection with this statement that he spoke as a citizen and not as a federal judge. He said if the crime was of officialdom or had the sanction of officialdom, then it was "straight-out unadulterated anarchy and smacks of treason."

HAMER TELLS MOODY OF BORGER CRIME

AUSTIN, Sept. 21.—The worst organized crime exists at Borger, that Ranger Capt. Frank Hamer has experienced in 23 years service, he told Gov. Dan Moody in a conference at Dallas and Terrell yesterday.

Gov. Moody, who returned this morning, said that Capt. Hamer did not ask for martial law. "He just described conditions," said the governor. Asked if he is going to declare martial law, Gov. Moody indicated that there is no immediate plan to do so.

"I do not know if the officials can handle the situation there or not," said the governor.

Gov. Moody said that Capt. Hamer named a surprising list of officials who have either past criminal records or who have unsavory reputations. Hamer, he said, met him at Dallas, they rode together by automobile to Terrell, where Gov. Moody addressed the Northeast Texas Press association meeting.

Miss Catherine Cunningham Will Wear Colors of Cisco

Miss Catherine Ann Cunningham, daughter of J. S. Cunningham, will be Princess of Cisco at the coronation of the Queen of Cisco, Oct. 16 during the Coleman county fair. It was announced Saturday.

Miss Cunningham, who is a native of St. Mary's, W. Va., has lived in Cisco since 1921 and is well known here. She is a graduate of the Cisco high school of the class of 1922 and at present has charge of the insurance department of the E. P. Crawford Insurance & Real Estate agency.

One of Cisco's most accomplished young women her selection to represent Cisco at the Coleman coronation is a happy one.

Important witnesses in its effort to send Peacox to the electric chair. District Attorney Coyne said the state expected to rest its case Monday after calling one of two more witnesses. The defense is expected to complete its case by mid-week and young Peacox's fate, it is believed, will be in the jury's hands before the end of the week.

Demonstrator to Face Charges

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 21.—Reiterating his statement that he is responsible for the death of Helen Williams, who was killed in Wichita, Kas., recently when her parachute failed to open, Bert White, demonstrator for the Irving "Chute" company, today said he would return to Wichita next Tuesday to face fourth degree murder charges filed against him.

White and his flying companion, Elinor Smith landed here yesterday in their plane "Happy Landings," from which Miss Williams made her fatal leap.

White said he had given the girl minute instructions before she made the jump. An attachment suit for $2,990 has been filed against White's plane by Miss Williams' parents.

Peacock Case Waits Over the Week End

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Earl Francis Peacock, young radio technician, who killed his 20-year-old wife Dorothy Heinzeiman Peacock, and burned her body, today was spending what may be his last week-end in jail here.

When court adjourned yesterday until 10 a. m. Monday, the state had introduced virtually all of its evidence.

CIVIL STRIFE BREAKS OUT IN CHINA AGAIN

By RANDOLL GOULD
United Press Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI, Sept. 21.—A new civil war has broken out despite the belief that the current controversy between Nanking and Moscow would unite the Chinese in a common cause. The political antagonisms which have existed in China since the revolution flared up afresh.

Gen. Chang Fat-Kwei's fourth division, known as the "Ironsides" and clothed with troops of the national government in western Hupeh.

The national government immediately sent an order dismissing Gen. Chang from service for moving his troops without authority.

The "Ironsides" division, apparently, was being moved across country from Ichang for the possible purpose of reaching the Peiping-Bankow railway, which would enable Gen. Chang to take up a more strategic position against the troops of the central government.

It was understood here also that Gen. Chang intended to make an effort to form a juncture with the armies of Marshal Feng Hu-Hsiang, who has been at odds with the Nanking government ever since he was dismissed from his various posts with the national government.

BRING ALL THE FAMILY!

Featuring American Watches

An American Triumph!

THE leadership which America has won in the field of fine watch-making is in keeping with the supremacy she has achieved in motor car building, aviation, finance and other great avenues of endeavor.

To the craftsmanship of the old world, American watchmakers have added the scientific accuracy and finer designing skill of the new. In this way they have carried the modern watch to a new standard of perfection. They have added years to the service it will render. And they have given the world a new conception of beauty and good taste in watch design. All Americans may be proud of this accomplishment.

We are pleased to offer a very large showing of American watches.

MRS. COOLIDGE REBUKES WHITE HOUSE ROBBERS

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Souvenir hunters who despoil the White House, while being entertained there are rebuked by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge in her latest article in the October issue of the American Magazine, on sale yesterday.

Citing instances of how vandals tore tassels from curtains and even cut furniture coverings, purloined ash trays and other small objects, Mrs. Coolidge calls attention to the fact that the White House should be held in the highest regard by every American.

"To me the home of the presidents is sacred ground," says the former first lady, "hallowed by the memories of those men whom our country has chosen to the high office. To live in it is to live in a shrine and I never could understand the point of view of the souvenir hunters who took away mementoes to add to their strange collections. In the East room, the little tassels of the finishing braid on the edge of the brocaded hangings at the windows had been pulled off as high as the hand could reach and I was told that in times past, pieces of the material with which the furniture was covered had been cut out.

"On one occasion the butler misunderstood a direction given him by the president, and instead of placing some small silver ash trays in the Red parlor, he put them in the East room during visiting hours. When the mistake was discovered a short time later, two of the trays were missing."

Mrs. Coolidge tells of a tea given to a party of 100 professional men, at which a secret service man observed a guest putting a napkin in his pocket. Seeing that his act had been observed, he remarked with a wry smile, "Paper, isn't it?" but made no move to replace the linen. Mrs. Coolidge related the incident to breakfast guests shortly afterward.

"Don't you know what to do about that?" asked the guest. "I know several things to do."

LATEST PERSIAN HAT MODE

Smart hats are off the face—the forehead must be seen. Crowns are lower and much less severe. An indication of the direction the mode is taking is shown in the new importation from Mme. Agnes—always a prophet with Parisian hats—a model of black French felt with an extreme back, very drooping and full with insets of Satin Monstres. It is ideal for the black velvet or black satin frock—it may also be worn with ease with any fur-collared coat.

replied Mrs. Coolidge, "but what would you do?" "Why, send him a napkin ring," said the guest.

"For several days thereafter," writes Mrs. Coolidge, "I was sorely tempted to purchase and send to the collector a souvenir ring with a picture of the White House on it."

AL JOLSON STIRS CROWDS TO A FRENZY

Al Jolson's new picture, "Say It With Songs,"—Warner Bros. latest all-talking, all-singing Vitaphone special, at the Palace theatre now, is the story of a man who, by a trick of fate, loses loved cars, liberty and opportunity, suffers imprisonment and finds peace through his devotion to a child—and the child is played by Davey Lee.

"Say It With Songs" is an all-talking, all-singing Vitaphone picture, and Mr. Jolson sings a number of exceptional new songs and several unforgettable old ones.

The story concerns Joe Lane, a happy-go-lucky and improvident, but gifted song plunger, who, just on the verge of success as a recording and broadcasting artist, fights and accidentally kills his employer when he learns of the latter's unwelcome attentions to his wife. For this Joe goes to prison, leaving his wife to shift for herself and their child.

Believing that she has never been happy with him and realizing how his present punishment will punish her ever after, Joe forces her to divorce him and she later considers marriage with a former admirer, now a famous surgeon. The child is put into a school and being unhappy there, follows his father, who has come to visit him, and is injured by a truck. Only a specialist can help the child and Joe takes him to his former wife's suitor for help. All ends happily and a blaze of Jolsonesque melody, and everybody leaves the theatre in a glow of satisfaction. Others in the cast are Marian Nixon, Holmes Herbert, Kenneth Thompson and Fred Kohler.

The story is by Darryl, Frances Zanuck and Harvey Gates. The talking scenario is by Joseph Jackson and Lloyd Bacon directed. Jolson's songs include "Little Pal," "Why Can't You," "Used to You," "I'm In Seventh Heaven," "I'm Ka-ra-zy for You," "One Sweet Kiss," and "Back in Your Own Back Yard."

"What happened," he said quietly, tensely, "to my sister?"

CHAPTER XV

What'd you hit?"
The traffic officer rapped out question abruptly when he reached Helen's car. "Anybody hurt?"
No," Helen said faintly. "I ran a bank and broke through a window."
Helen fumbled in her bag and out the slip of paper. The officer examined it and made a note the number of the license plates her car.
He asked a few more questions.
Helen answered them as accurately as she could in her over-rushed condition.
Suddenly, while he jotted down
the answer she had given him, burst out with an appeal to be allowed to go on to the hospital.
"We'll be takin' a trip to the country first," he replied curtly.
But I want to do something for my girl!" Helen protested.
Plenty of time for that," he said, and stepped on the running board. "Can you drive all right?"
Helen nodded and started the car.
"It's only a few blocks," the officer said, "but I'm making a vigilant effort to face the city without whimpering."
Helen went through the next hour in a daze. Questions, questions, questions. They wearied her mind with the girl had hurt. Where was she
On the operating table?

"Please," she begged at last,
without answering the latest question put to her, "call up the hospital and find out how she is."
"We'll have to do that," the officer said, "but we can't do it before we can decide what to do about you. By your own admission, Miss Brent, you are guilty reckless driving."
"Then please do it at once,"
Helen entreated.
A few minutes later she breathed more freely. Word had come from the hospital that the girl was not fatally hurt.
"Let me go to see her," Helen pleaded.
This time she was not refused,
though an officer was sent to accompany her lest she be unable to drive safely.
At the hospital they were admitted into a ward where the girl, whose name they were told was Mrs. Ennis, lay unconscious upon a narrow cot.
Helen felt remorse as painful
as a block struck at her heart when she beheld that white, drawn face again. It seemed so small and pitiful—like a suffering child—and the brown hair lay in a babyish way on the pallid forehead that added to the impression of youthfulness.
Helen's eyes sought the nurse's face in mute appeal.
"She regained consciousness a few minutes," the nurse told her.
"Is she badly hurt?"
"We cannot know until Dr. Park-ley arrives. There are no broken bones. Our examination found no external injuries except few bruises."
Helen tore her gaze away from the girl's face and looked about
her.
"Haven't you a private room?"
she asked.
"There will be one available at eleven o'clock."
"I'd like to engage it," Helen said, "for Miss Ennis."
"You can make arrangements for it with Miss Sibley at the desk in the reception room," the nurse told her.
Helen hurried away to see about it. And when Dr. Parkley finished re-examining the patient Eva was moved into one of the best rooms in the hospital.
She was conscious now, though bewildered with her surroundings, she hadn't yet fully grasped the fact that she'd been hit and brought to a hospital.
She moaned feebly and called for her mother. Her helplessness rang scalding hot tears from Elen's eyes when they wheeled her into the private room and put her on the bed.

Helen had waited there in an agony of suspense to hear Dr.

Parkley's verdict. She had received it as soon as possible but there had been a period in which she felt forgotten. That feeling was swept away when the verdict came. It was favorable and Helen was relieved of the greatest fear she'd ever known—the fear of having caused the death of another human being.
She was eager to show her relief and gratitude to a kind fate, in every way she could. She engaged two private nurses for Eva and instructed that no expense be spared to assure her comfort.
The hospital authorities called up Bramblewood at Helen's request and received Mr. Cunningham's approval of what Helen and Brent had done. He asked to speak with Helen and she told him briefly what had happened.
"You're quite right, my dear, to do everything you can for the unfortunate girl," her grandfather said. "I'll be glad to see you."
"I had to have your authorization for the expenses," Helen explained. "because I haven't any credit here." She tried to laugh but her grandfather understood by the catch in her voice that she was high unstrung.
"I have established your credit," he said hastily.
"Oh, but I'll repay you," Helen promised; "Leonard..."
"Never mind Brent," Mr. Cuningham snapped. "Are you able to drive home or shall I send for you?"
"I'm all right," Helen assured him, "but I won't be home just yet. I'm going to Miss Ennis' mother and tell her what has happened."
"Nonsense; we will send someone else."
"No, no," Helen objected; "I must go myself."
"Very well, but I shall worry until you return."
Helen left the telephone to go back and sit beside Eva's bed until the girl was able to talk rationally to her. Her eyes searched the pain-swept face unceasingly for signs of an end to the girl's suffering.

Her presence puzzled Eva until Helen, reaching out and placing a hand lightly on one of hers, said with a real anguish of remorse,
"I hurt you, you know. And I'll be sorry all my life."
Eva essayed to smile.
"I'm afraid you can't go home for a while yet," Helen hurried on; "but I'm going to fetch your mother if you will tell me where you live."
Eva's eye filled with grateful tears. She forgot that Helen had caused her trouble. She wanted the comforting arms of her mother.
She gave Helen the address and Helen promised to be back as soon as possible.
Brent did not accompany Helen in her thoughts on the drive to the Ennis house. She resolutely put him aside to face the realization of having brought harm to an innocent person because of her indulgence of selfish feelings.

Her sense of guilt made her specially considerate when she was admitted by Mrs. Ennis into an old-fashioned house.
Helen was instantly impressed with the pleasant matronliness of Eva's mother, and with the odor of spicy cooking that permeated the house.
"How am I going to tell her?"
Helen asked herself in suddenly deepening reluctance to break her news.
"My name is Helen... Brent," she said when Mrs. Ennis moved forward a chair for her. "I have come on an unhappy errand."
Mrs. Ennis looked worried.
"You sit down," Helen said impulsively, motioning to the chair that was offered her.
Mrs. Ennis mechanically seated herself, feeling a premonition of trouble. "What is it?" she said quaveringly.

"It's about your daughter,"
Helen answered gently.
"Eva?" Mrs. Ennis cried; "what has happened to her? Oh, tell me, tell me!"
Helen could not stop to think of a way to soften the blow in the face of the mother's suspense.
"She's met with an accident," she said slowly "she isn't badly hurt, but she wants you."
"Where is she? Take me to her!"
"She's in the Good Shepherd Hospital," Helen replied. "I'll take you there at once, in my car."
"I'll get my things," Mrs. Ennis cried, turning toward the door to the hall.
Just as she reached it Helen heard the front door open and close again, and Mrs. Ennis cry:
"Bob! Bob! Eva's been hurt!"
"Mom!" It was a heartfelt protest, and it came straight to Helen and clawed at her conscience like a demon. She saw the mother go into a pair of masculine arms and cling there for a moment, sobbing uncontrollably.
"Tell me about it," she heard
the man called Bob say.
"I don't know how it happened; I'm going to the hospital.
There's a young lady in the sitting room who came for me.
You'll go with us too?"
Helen saw Mrs. Ennis release herself and hurry up the stairs.
A moment later she was facing Bob. He came across the room and stood quite close to her.
"What happened," he said quietly, tensely, "to my sister?"

Outperforming all other low-priced sixes

Not only is the Pontiac Big Six outperforming all other low-priced sixes. But, in addition, it is providing this unrivaled performance with amazing economy.

During 1928, a large public utilities corporation operated 996 automobiles of 33 different makes. And according to its own accurately recorded cost figures, its Pontiacs cost one cent less per mile to operate than any other low-priced six in the field at that time. Yet even that great record of economy is being surpassed by the Pontiac Big Six because of a number of refinements and advancements which this latest Pontiac includes.

Even with all its big car qualities—even with its big car power, pick-up and speed—the Pontiac Big Six offers you an actual dollars-and-cents saving. It gives you more of everything you want in an automobile. And does it—if you equal the average annual travel of 10,000 miles—at a saving of $100 or more per year.

at lower cost than ever

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

FASTER Today's Pontiac Big Six offers the highest top speed and the fastest acceleration to be found in any low-priced six. Proved by the "fifth wheel"—the most accurate speed measuring device known to automotive engineers.

SMOOTHER Because of the Harmonic Balancer which eliminates torsional crankshaft vibration—full pressure oiling which assures correct engine lubrication at any speed—crankcase ventilation which maintains the quality of engine oil—and many additional features.

MORE POWERFUL Sixty brake horsepower at 3,000 revolutions per minute. The greatest power offered by any car as low in price as Pontiac... developed at the moderate engine speed which assures dependability.

SAFER Because it carries two completely independent braking systems—internal-expanding four-wheel service brakes with non-squeak linings and a separate emergency brake acting on the transmission—because its bodies are of sturdy hardwood and steel construction—because it has full tread axles, front and rear.

MORE RELIABLE Because of its basic design, which includes moderate engine speed for any given road speed. Because of its greater smoothness which results in less wear and tear on mechanical parts. Because of the generous dimensions characteristic of all parts subject to stresses.

LONGER-LIVED Every Pontiac since the first has been famous for endurance and long life. And those features of design which gave early Pontiacs their unprecedented long life have been retained and emphasized in this greatest of all Pontiacs—today's Pontiac Big Six.

AYS COMPANY CARES NOTHING FOR WARSHIPS

ould Be Willing to Sacrifice Business for Peace

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Chas. Schwab, the steelmaster, told a senate sub-committee investigating big navy lobbying today that the Bethlehem Steel company would sacrifice its battle-ship business in the interest of peace.

The aging chairman of the Bethlehem board of directors said he had not heard of William B. Shearer, self-styled naval expert, who was sent to the Geneva disarmament conference in 1927 by shipbuilding companies, until two years ago.

Then, said Schwab, it was called to his attention that Shearer had represented the Bethlehem company and other interests at the par-

He insisted he had no idea his company was helping pay the salaries and expenses of a man who since claimed credit for helping to bring about collapse of the negotiations.

Schwab said he was concluding years of service to the steel company and now interested himself on the "high spots" of policy and that it was not strange he knew nothing of Shearer's employment.

Even E. G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel company, Schwab said, knew nothing of the incident until the parley had failed.

Care Less About There is no part of our business care less about than the building of battleships," Schwab said. For several minutes Schwab succeeded in leading his questioners to a casual discussion of business and ages.

"We are making money," Schwab said, "but not as much as I think we should be making, considering the capital invested. There is a considerable risk in so great a business."

Schwab told the committee he was 61 years old and Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, complimented him on his youthful appearance. The witness promptly returned the compliment.

Late Robinson and Schwab were cordial in their exchanges. Robinson's voice was raised and several sharp questions were asked in an effort to learn how Schwab happened to overlook Shearer's connection with his company.

FOUR SCHOOLS PERMITTED TO DELAY TERMS

Consolidation Plans Are Being Worked Out Now

Eleven schools of eight months terms are scheduled to open in Eastland county Monday under the new plan of uniform opening for all schools in the county of the same length terms which come under the general direction of the county school board and Miss Beulah Speer, county superintendent. Four schools of eight months terms have been granted special permits extending their dates of opening, Miss Beulah Speer announced. Scranton opening will be postponed two weeks, while consolidation details with the Haskell district are being worked out. George Hill and Griggs will not open Monday by reason of delay in arrangements since the new plan was adopted, and Okra has been granted a week's extension in opening partly because of delayed arrangements and partly because of the illness of the mother of one of the faculty members.

The faculties of the schools which will begin the 1929-1930 session Monday are announced as follows: Grapevine: Miss Dona Matthews. Yellow Mound: Ray Brannon and Miss Opal Hearn.

Flatwood: P. M. Andrews, superintendent; O. C. Keller, principal; Miss Ruth Conner, Mrs. Aline Horn.

Triumph: Miss Fannie Merle Boucher. Lone Star: George Bennett. Kokomo: W. J. Bulger and Miss Christine Murray.

Long Branch: Herman Jordan. Peak: Mrs. Cordie Dunn, principal; Miss Charlene Gray, and Miss Della Coffey. Dothan: Morris Ferrell, principal; Miss Fay Hattox and Miss Pearl Donaway.

Pleasant Hill: Miss Jewel Gentry and Miss Virgie McGowan. Mangum: Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Eldridge.

Consolidation Plans The consolidation plans for the Scranton and Haskell school districts were given attention Friday night at a county school board meeting in the office of the county superintendent at Eastland.

Under the consolidation arrangements between the two districts Haskell pupils will be transported daily by school bus to the Scranton school, Miss Beulah Speer, states. Haskell numbers a scholastic population of 30 this session.

A new bus, the second, has been added to the district under the consolidation plans. Eight motor buses and four automobiles are now used in the county for school pupil transportation.

These include two buses in the Alameda district, two at Colony, one at Flatwood, one at Cross Roads, and automobile transportation for Bullock (to Ranger), Bear Springs (to Carbon), Mountain (to Desdemona), and Tudor (to Strawn).

The majority of the Haskell board members favored the consolidation plan and 45 citizens of the community approved of the plan in a petition, Miss Speer states.

New Sanity Trial for McKenzie Likely as Superintendent of Hospital Believes He Is Sane

AUSTIN, Sept. 21.—Governor Moody said today that he has decided to commute the sentence of Pete McKenzie convicted slayer of Detective Chief Sam Street of San Antonio. A new sanity trial is now likely.

Request for the commutation came from Superintendent George Powell of the Terrell insane asylum where McKenzie has been placed since he was saved from electrocution by a sanity trial. Powell advised the governor that McKenzie is sane in his opinion and suggested a commutation so that he could be removed from the asylum and placed in the state penitentiary.

Replying Governor Moody said he had already passed on an application for commutation of sentence. He cited Powell articles, 928, 929, 930, 931 and 932, title 12 of the code of criminal procedure, these articles say that when a convict has been found insane and committed to an asylum if he becomes sane, the superintendent shall make affidavit to the district judge where the person was convicted and a new sanity trial then shall be ordered.

QUALITY OF THE EXHIBITS OUTSTANDING

Fiddlers Program and Square Dance Ends Festivities

Eastland county's biggest annual three-day fair and exposition was brought to a close last night at Eastland with an old fiddlers program and square dance. The activities were broadcast over the plaza from the open-air stage west of the courthouse.

The most remarkable fair in the history of the county from the standpoint of both farm products and home makers exhibits on the one hand and entertainment features on the other has just closed, and this despite the prolonged drought which was only broken recently in this section. Farm products have flourished in quality if not in quantity if the score made by the products exhibited is any measure. A high quality of products was evident at the various fairs, and the county exposition has drawn the best of these fair products for the women's department and agricultural department.

Scranton Wins Awards. Three important prizes were won by Scranton; first place for the grand prize, with a premium of $50, first place in the community agricultural booth division, and first in the community play contest, which was staged Friday night. Second place in each of these divisions went to Colony.

The grand prize premiums were awarded as follows, with the perfect score being 650 points: Scranton first with 630 points, $50; Colony second, with 560 points $35; Flatwood third with 490 points $20; and Bullock fourth with 402 points, $10.

Community agricultural booth division with a possible 1,000 points. Home demonstration club exhibit winners were North Star club, Rising Star, first; Grapevine club, second; Nimrod club, third; Scranton club, fourth.

Commendable historic efforts were put forth by six communities in the community play contest. "Trombone Head," by Scranton, was awarded first place. "Manned to a Sufraquette," presented by Colony captured second place, and Gorman took third place with the presentation of "With Courtship Under Difficulties." Flatwood won fourth with "Mrs. Stubbins' Book Agent." Bullock fifth with Brown's "Unlucky Day," and Alameda sixth with "High School Science." Each play was of one act which did not exceed 15 minutes for presentation, according to the contest rules.

Members who are not present at the morning service will be visited by committees already appointed. A large gathering was present Friday night in the basement of the church. After all plans for the service Sunday morning were matured the gathering enjoyed a social hour around the table where refreshments were served by the ladies of the church.

This drive, the committee points out, comes but once a year and it is hoped that the members will respond as readily as they have in the past.

There will be regular services at 7:30 p. m., the pastor preaching.

Storm center of the senate inquiry into "big navy" propaganda is William B. Shearer, above lobbyist representing shipbuilding interests. Shearer claimed that it was the navy department itself that supplied him with "confidential data" on the strength of the United States and foreign navies which he used as propaganda at the Geneva Arms Conference.

$512,000 THEFT IS CONFESSED BY MESSENGER

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Milton Alter, a 17-year old messenger boy, confessed today that he stole $512,000 in negotiable securities for a $1 profit—but at least he did have promise of $30,000 more.

The youth, who quit school for a $15 brokerage house messenger job because he wanted to become a major figure in the financial world named "Jack Rosen" the man who engineered the scheme and got the securities. Rosen has not been captured. Rosen gave the youth one dollar.

The boy disappeared suddenly yesterday after taking a check from his employers, R. V. Hiscoe & company, to the Guaranty Trust company and receiving the half million dollars in negotiable securities.

A few hours later he called Stewart C. Edwards, manager of the brokerage house and reported: "Hello. This is Milton Alter—the messenger boy that works for you, I'm on the corner of Roebling street and Broadway, Brooklyn they kidnaped me."

This morning, however, when taken before the lineup and then before police Commissioner Whalen he confessed he had taken the securities and added: "A man of the world told me there was easy money in this if a fellow knew his ropes."

FOUR SCHOOLS PERMITTED TO DELAY TERMS

Consolidation Plans Are Being Worked Out Now

Eleven schools of eight months terms are scheduled to open in Eastland county Monday under the new plan of uniform opening for all schools in the county of the same length terms which come under the general direction of the county school board and Miss Beulah Speer, county superintendent. Four schools of eight months terms have been granted special permits extending their dates of opening, Miss Beulah Speer announced. Scranton opening will be postponed two weeks, while consolidation details with the Haskell district are being worked out. George Hill and Griggs will not open Monday by reason of delay in arrangements since the new plan was adopted, and Okra has been granted a week's extension in opening partly because of delayed arrangements and partly because of the illness of the mother of one of the faculty members.

The faculties of the schools which will begin the 1929-1930 session Monday are announced as follows: Grapevine: Miss Dona Matthews. Yellow Mound: Ray Brannon and Miss Opal Hearn.

Flatwood: P. M. Andrews, superintendent; O. C. Keller, principal; Miss Ruth Conner, Mrs. Aline Horn.

Triumph: Miss Fannie Merle Boucher. Lone Star: George Bennett. Kokomo: W. J. Bulger and Miss Christine Murray.

Long Branch: Herman Jordan. Peak: Mrs. Cordie Dunn, principal; Miss Charlene Gray, and Miss Della Coffey. Dothan: Morris Ferrell, principal; Miss Fay Hattox and Miss Pearl Donaway.

Pleasant Hill: Miss Jewel Gentry and Miss Virgie McGowan. Mangum: Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Eldridge.

Consolidation Plans The consolidation plans for the Scranton and Haskell school districts were given attention Friday night at a county school board meeting in the office of the county superintendent at Eastland.

Under the consolidation arrangements between the two districts Haskell pupils will be transported daily by school bus to the Scranton school, Miss Beulah Speer, states. Haskell numbers a scholastic population of 30 this session.

A new bus, the second, has been added to the district under the consolidation plans. Eight motor buses and four automobiles are now used in the county for school pupil transportation.

These include two buses in the Alameda district, two at Colony, one at Flatwood, one at Cross Roads, and automobile transportation for Bullock (to Ranger), Bear Springs (to Carbon), Mountain (to Desdemona), and Tudor (to Strawn).

The majority of the Haskell board members favored the consolidation plan and 45 citizens of the community approved of the plan in a petition, Miss Speer states.

New Sanity Trial for McKenzie Likely as Superintendent of Hospital Believes He Is Sane

AUSTIN, Sept. 21.—Governor Moody said today that he has decided to commute the sentence of Pete McKenzie convicted slayer of Detective Chief Sam Street of San Antonio. A new sanity trial is now likely.

Request for the commutation came from Superintendent George Powell of the Terrell insane asylum where McKenzie has been placed since he was saved from electrocution by a sanity trial. Powell advised the governor that McKenzie is sane in his opinion and suggested a commutation so that he could be removed from the asylum and placed in the state penitentiary.

Replying Governor Moody said he had already passed on an application for commutation of sentence. He cited Powell articles, 928, 929, 930, 931 and 932, title 12 of the code of criminal procedure, these articles say that when a convict has been found insane and committed to an asylum if he becomes sane, the superintendent shall make affidavit to the district judge where the person was convicted and a new sanity trial then shall be ordered.

Bankhead Feed Mill, Important Cisco Industry, Proves a Boon to Farmers of This Territory

One of Cisco's most valuable home industries and one that is proving very successful in its efforts to provide farm necessities and at the same time solve the farmer's feed problems is the Bankhead Feed Mill which is built in connection with the cotton gin located at the corner of D Avenue and Twelfth street. The mill which is a comparatively recent establishment is managed by J. L. Thornton. It makes all its own feed and is equipped to handle and manufacture all kinds of dairy feed for feed and chicken feed, such as growing mash, laying mash, chick scratch, baby chick scratch, chick starter and fattening feed. The mill was formerly located in the warehouse near the Katy tracks which is now used as a storehouse. At that time, according to report, due to lack of machinery, the different grains were dumped on the floor and mixed with shovels. In the spring of 1928, the new mill was completed at a cost of between $4,500 and $5,000. The machinery alone cost about $3,500. All the grains used are purchased from community farmers. Four or five carloads are bought each week and stored in the mill. The amount there is at present of grain both manufactured and bought is valued around $5,000. Oyster shell, corn meal, alfalfa, pulverized buttermilk, bone meal, powdered charcoal, maize meal, cotton seed meal, and meat scraps are a few of the articles which are automatically knocked the screens to make the grain through. By means of spouts, each of the grains is carried in elevators where, hit by a fan, it is thrown into the cyclone and down through four spouts into respective bags. Of these four products, only the one, the scratch feed, is really valuable. In the case of grinding corn, all five products, bean meal, baby chick scratch, baby chick scratch No. 2 and steel cut chops can be utilized. The regulation of the screens makes possible the separation of all kinds of grains, mixed oats and wheat, etc. Besides their own manufactured grains, the mill handles flour, salt, poultry medicines, fly medicines, cotton seed products and most of Bewley's products. Feed stores at Putnam, Rising Star, and Cross Plains handle the Bankhead poultry feeds. All the machines are run by four General Electric motors with two starting boxes. Besides the manager, T. L. Thornton, five regular men are employed, with the occasional addition of another hand. H. N. Thompson, bookkeeper, Martin Parish, ginner and mill superintendent, Otto Hagerman, Charles Hegeman and Fink Watson. In addition to operating the mill, these six men also oversee the cotton gin, a primary link in the cottoner's trip from the farmer to the spinner. Most everyone knows the life of the cotton from the time it is planted in the spring until it is picked and baled to the gin. Separated from the burs and seeds, it is sent through several compresses where it is made into bales, and on to the mill after which the cloth is placed on the counters and shelves of stores to be hazled and fought over by bargain hunters. The Bankhead cotton gin is well equipped machinery in the approximate value of $2000 was installed this year. The girl she had struck lay motionless on the side of the road. The pitiful sight tore at Helen's heart. She gathered the crumpled young body into her arms, sobbing out her horror. The girl stirred and Helen gasped at the hope that she was no dead. She put her down again very gently out of the way of any car that might pass and ran up to her own car. A prayer of thankfulness escaped her lips when she got the motor started and managed to back down on the road. It required the utmost of her strength to get the crumpled machinery to the way side and still in a lifeless attitude that frightened Helen to the verge of hysterics. The drive that followed was a nightmare to the girl at the wheel. She controlled the car automatically, gripping the gear shift lever as though her hand were frozen to it and not daring to let herself glance at the figure beside her. When she came into Yonkers she was half paralyzed with the tenseness of the situation. "I can not get to the hospital," she wailed silently. "I can't! I can't!" People in cars that passed her looked at her curiously but she hailed no one until she was compelled to stop for traffic where an officer was on duty. She motioned to him when she looked at her and saw her slump the next instant as though she were fainting. But when he reached the side of the car she was fully conscious. "There's been an accident," she gasped. "Please help me get this girl to the hospital. I can't drive any farther!" Her breath died in a choking-

Why?

WHY we should vote AGAINST all four of the AMENDMENTS on October 11th. Because it gives too much power to a few men. It might be abused. If they have a proposition to sell the lake, why don't they tell the people about it? WHY keep it a secret? WHY don't they put the proposition, if they have one, up to the people in black and white? Then we can vote on it "yes" or "no." Other cities give this information to the voters. WHY change the city charter so they can do as they wish? WHY the appointment of 25 men? WHY should the property owners pay ninety per cent of the street paving when the public use the streets? WHY not let the charter remain as it is? Beware of high-sounding language, and be safe by voting AGAINST all of the proposed amendments. This ad paid for by a good bunch of taxpayers.—Adv.

Cisco Loboes Beat Strong Brady Crew 37 to 0 Saturday

TEAM HELD SCORELESS IN TWO QUARTERS

Five Touchdowns Run Across in Final Period of Game

Cisco Loboes met a hard fighting crew of Brady gridiron warriors at Brady yesterday afternoon after being held scoreless the first and third quarters and a long counter in the second period for five touchdowns to 37 to 0. Two intercepted passes accounted for as many touchdowns in the fourth quarter. Brady grew desperate in an attempt to score. Chambers took the field for the Loboes and stepped yards to the Brady goal line. He immediately afterward made the feat by intercepting a Brady 45-yard line and the oval across the goal. He made his first touchdown in the second period when Roy Chambers sliced off tackle for six and the chalk line. Bryan at the point after touchdown. This was the only kick was scored.

The half ended 7 to 0 and so the Loboes stood until the opening of the spectacular fourth quarter. Brady made the first of these period scores when he hit for two yards. Phippen ran his right end 15 yards for second of the series. Brady desperate and began to take to air. Chambers flashed up to intercept one of these flings and made 40 yards for a score. We did a similar thing a few minutes later, running 49 yards for point. Chick Bryan made the score in a two yard drive over the end.

Fighting Brownwood Lions Defeat Touted Ranger 12 to 7 in District's Most Startling Upset This Season

By BOYCE HOUSE

The Brownwood Lions fought harder and as a result the Ranger Bulldogs tasted a 12 to 7 defeat Friday afternoon in a conference battle on Howard Payne field at Brownwood.

Time after time, opportunity knocked but the old punch was lacking somehow on the part of the Bulldogs. They were off to a sluggish start and faced a six-point handicap at the end of the half. They came from behind in a manner that made their play look like the old-time form but fumbles and intercepted passes prevented them from overtaking the Lions after that second touchdown.

Fumbles didn't hurt Brownwood. In fact, a Brownwood fumble won the game. Woodward hurled a pass to Harris who was almost loose but Bumpers brought him down, after a 30-yard gain, with a terrific tackle that jarred the ball from Harris' grasp. Roy Taylor seized it and ran 32 yards for the score that won the game.

"Bull" Caraway, Ranger halfback, turned in a splendid game. He slipped down passes repeatedly, nailed the Lion backs and, on offense, made yardage through the line on numerous occasions.

Sixteen of Morrison's hopefuls are from Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, and Waco are next in line with three Mustang footballers from these cities.

East Texas has the largest representation of any other section of the state, while North Texas is close behind. South, west and central Texas furnish the 1929 edition of the Mustangs with about equal numbers.

FIRST NIGHT GAME.
GRAND FORSK, N. D., Sept. 21.—In the first night football game ever played in the northwest, North Dakota University, 1927 champion of the north central conference, opened its season here yesterday by defeating St. Mary's College of Winona, champion of the Minnesota conference, 14 to 7. A 60-yard march for a touchdown in the third quarter gave North Dakota the victory.

BRECK BEATS COMANCHE 11 BY 33-0 SCORE

A. Magness and Company Lumber to Easy Victory

While the proverbial worm was turning at Brownwood Friday afternoon and the championship hopes of the Ranger Bulldogs were being knocked cock-eyed, a massive Breckenridge Buckaroo outfit lumbered into action against a fighting Comanche high school eleven at Breckenridge, winning their first game of the season by a score of 33 to 0. A. Magness, et al, slaughtered the trim Comanche crew with apparent ease. Three Breckenridge stars were out of the line—B. Magness, David Graham and Capt. Troy Carey—but there was little need for them. There was a need for a couple of good linemen though the beefy Buckaroo forward wall showed the effects of some special attention from Shotwell and his coaching staff and kept the Comanche offensive smothered throughout the contest. Offensively this line showed weaknesses however, but weaknesses that are to be expected in a season starter and are likely to be corrected quickly.

It was the galaxy of backfield stars at the disposal of the Buckaroo mentors that absorbed attention. Whatever the team may lack otherwise it has no lack of these. Breckenridge according to observation Friday afternoon, can put two complete ball totting quartets on the field almost any number of which can punt and pass and run with a facility that makes watching any particular man a dangerous attitude for an opposing team.

Host of Men
Shotwell used a host of men throughout the game with the evident purpose of satisfying himself as to the merits of every member of his crew before picking a combination with which to trust the hopes of the 1929 edition of the Buckaroos.

Comanche brought a well balanced, well coached and fighting crew of more than average class B weight to the contest. The visitors made five downs, two on passes over the line, one on a penalty and two on sweeping end runs by a bareheaded youngster, captain of the team, whose never-say-die fighting spirit was a tale of heroism.

Breckenridge received the kickoff, made three listless stabs at the line and off-tackle and punted. A. Magness bracing the ball two-thirds the length of the field, Comanche was forced to punt and the Buckaroos gained 20 yards on the exchange.

Magness behind perfect interference raced off his left tackle for 30 yards. He shot a 15-yard pass to Pruitt to place the ball on the Comanche five yard line. Comanche on the next play was offside and the ball was advanced to the visitors' three yard line. Pruitt plunged it over and Magness kicked the point.

55 Yards to Touchdown
Shortly after the kick—if Breckenridge took possession of the ball and Magness snapped a bullet-like pass to Pruitt who gathered the ball off the fingers of a Comanche intercepter and raced 55 yards for a touchdown. Magness added the point on the quarter ended with the score 14 to 0.

Comanche made two first downs in a row before the close of this initial quarter, however, with 15-yard and 10-yard passes. With the opening of the second quarter, though, this scoring drive was stopped when Stapp, Lew and helpfully Buckaroo recruit who was sent in as a substitute, intercepted a Comanche pass on his 25-yard line and raced through the field untouched for a touchdown. Breckenridge brought the ball to the 15-yard line shortly afterward from which place Magness tossed the oval to Smalley for another score. Neither point after the last two touchdowns were made and the score as the half ended was 26 to 0.

A large number of substitutes went in for Breckenridge at the opening of the third quarter among them the 280 1-2-pound behemoth, known as Spain. During this period Comanche held the big Green scoreless, once standing like a stone wall against their own goal line and stopping the Buckaroo drive five separate times—surrendering one down on a penalty for fumbles.

A charging Buckaroo line, stung into action by this ignoble repulse

BIG DAM CHATTER

As a member of the press—that great institution which is called upon to extend more favors, to dispense more charity and to scratch more itching backs than any other under heaven—we rise solidly upon our hind legs in defense of our rights. We may be long suffering but there are limits to the suffering we can stand.

The occasion for this is lack of appreciation. The target is that august group known as the executive committee of Class A, district No. 2. The specific reason is the thoughtless failure of that group to recognize what the press, as done, is continuing to do and will continue to do in the matter of popularizing high school sports and placing them on a financial basis that is sound enough to insure the continuance of their benefits to the younger generation.

We are informed that this group of men, men who are supposed to know better, gathered themselves into executive conference at Abilene the other day, waved aside the generosity of the newspapers with a gesture a la Mussolini and declared that henceforth visiting newspapermen must pay their way to the games like the ordinary sports fan who goes to the field merely for the thrill it means to him and who contributes nothing but the price at the gate. Only one pass will be issued to an out of town newspaper, they decide.

Now some may think on reading this effusion that we are simply

BIG DAM CHATTER

Personally there is not a newspaperman but who is willing to contribute the price of a ticket to the cause. Very few of the tribe who toll over the free publicity that is ground out by the yard day after day to boost interest in football, basketball and similar sports draws more than an ordinary salary. Nevertheless, if it was merely a question of being pecked at the price of a ticket we honestly admit we would have no case.

But suppose we sports scribes should get our heads together as this august committee has done and with such a gesture as they have made say: "We shall henceforth allot only five inches of space per game in our columns."

The only recourse left to the school would be the advertising manager and advertising managers like the long green mighty well. It costs real money to print the columns of publicity that are expended in boosting these games. If a bill for the publicity given free on one important game were suddenly presented the committee that body would almost have apoplexy. They would recognize then what they propose to buy with a few paltry passes. Perhaps they would.

But the real fly in the ointment is not the effect on the local press. It is the effect that is exerted upon visiting newspapermen. Everyone likes appreciation and no newspaperman wielding power through his columns is going away from a town with a good taste in his mouth when he is given not the slightest recognition of his service.

We grant that the committee is right in its efforts to cut down the large number of passes. But it should not go to the extreme in the other direction and kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.

The press has had the largest part in placing high school sports in Texas upon the present high plane. It has exerted itself without cost to popularize them. The thousands of people who pour into our stadiums to witness present day clashes between football teams were brought there because a few newspapermen tolled over their typewriters day after day. The excellent coaching staffs that build teams and the excellent teams themselves are out there because the lowly sports writer tolled.

We don't claim all the credit nor even the larger share of it but we like appreciation and having that we are willing to work long hours overtime that the game may be made better and better, that true sportsmanship may flourish and that our schools may conduct their athletic activities with success.

We understand that the Cisco athletic association does not intend to enforce this rule but will continue to treat all visiting newspapermen with the courtesy for which the Big Dam city has been noted. If that is true we extend congratulations to local officials. Personally we'll be glad to pay our way to the home games but we demand that the fellow who toots our horn in our sister cities be treated with appreciation.

RANDOLPH HAS BRIGHT GRID OUTLOOK

youth by the name of Taylor. Badger football camp last week to add to the brightness of gridiron outlook for Randolph this season. Though he is only 140 Taylor seems to one of those big little men so valuable to a team that has plenty of huskies to open up the holes in a broken field. He is proving a triple threat artist.

The regular lineup for the Randolph squad this year seems to be composed about as follows:

Quarterback: Phippen, full; Bryan and Thurman; Ends: Pas Reeder, Ray Reeder, and Coldwell; Tackles: Crist, B. and Barton; Guards: Crist, B. and Melton; Centers: Melton, and Nicholson; Fullbacks: Melton, guard of last year, reported to team Saturday.

McMurry college, of Abilene, is the first opponent of the Badgers. With two victories over this crew and no defeats by it, the Randolph eleven invades Abilene Friday, September 27, for a game with the Indians at the West was fair.

The Cisco collegians will play their first conference game here October 12 meeting Decatur Baptist college. An in-between contest will be matched, Coach R. Garrett says.

CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST
 Avenue E at ninth. Acker C. Miller, pastor. Sunday school at 9:45—one minute late at 9:46. Morning worship at 11 o'clock with the sermon being the fifth in a series on the Minor Prophets; today, "Jonah, an Old Testament Missionary." The biggest thing about Jonah is not the name. Young people at 7 p. m. evening service at 8:00. The choir is good; the congregational singing always a feature at the services. We extend a most cordial welcome to all.

GRACE LUTHERAN CHURCH.
 Sunday school at 9:30. Let us be prompt. Both the morning and the night services will be topped today to give our members an opportunity to attend the mission-festival of the Lutheran church south of town, of which Rev. E. Steyer is pastor. H. PEMAN, pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
 Sunday school at 9:45. Every Sunday shows a nice increase in attendance now. See that your seats are occupied today. Preaching at 11:00 o'clock by T. T. Roberts. Let's have as good attendance as we did last Sunday for our Home Mission superintendent. Visitors are cordially invited to attend these services being conducted for Brother Steyer by visiting ministers.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
 Last Sunday morning the orchestra began playing at 9:30 and as a decided improvement. At 9:45 there were nearly twice as many present to begin the regular program on time. That is fine. Let us practice punctuality and promptness in our services. We have made a decided advance in this as well as other lines. We have made a jump forward in attendance last Sunday. All together let us forge forward in the Lord's work with increasing zeal. We have a great Bible school but we can make it greater with a little added work and regularity. Come fifteen minutes early. Our seating capacity is being taxed and we are pleased with the steady increase of our audiences at regular worship. It is a pleasure to preach to an audience that fills the house to wait upon the Lord. The morning sermon subject is, "What is Christianity?" the night service begins at 7:45 and the subject is, "The Prophet of God."

More than sixty young people met in their Endeavor services last Sunday evening and we are expecting a good increase this evening at 6:45. Our young people with their sponsors are doing a fine work. May their tribe increase. What a glorious time we had Wednesday night, first at the banquet then in the prayer-meeting. Would it not be a wonderful thing to have our auditorium crowded every Wednesday night for the mid-week service. Come at 7:45. We cordially invite all to attend our services. E. L. MILEY, minister.

Baptists Start Week of Training School

The First Baptist church announces a week's training and enrollment school for the young people beginning next Sunday afternoon. T. C. Gardner, state B. Y. P. U. secretary and one of the foremost leaders of young people in the south, will be here to conduct the school. His corps of workers will be assisted by local teachers. The school will open Sunday afternoon with a great association-wide rally of young people who will gather to hear an address by Mr. Gardner at the First Baptist church at 2:30. Mr. Gardner will speak again at the church at the evening service, and will open the school for classes Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

Who Is a Capitalist?

A CAPITALIST is one who accumulates beyond his consumption. It is said that a thrifty man will save 20 per cent of his earnings and that a tightwad will have 60 per cent.

In the pursuit of wealth men have endured hardships, exile, hunger and even death and very often, when it seems almost within their grasp, or even after it is accumulated, it takes wings and flies away. Money, which is by no means the greatest thing in the world, is the power which moves most men to their best endeavors. After it is accumulated, it should be carefully guarded and scientifically invested.
