VOLSTEAD ACT TO BE BASIS OF CHARGES

Statement Follows Test of Alabama Statutes.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The federal government will not seek to take advantage of state laws which make buyers as well as sellers of liquor liable, Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran said today commenting on the successful test of Alabama's law affecting purchasers of intoxicants.

Major liquor offenders apprehended by federal officers will continue to be tried under the Volstead act, Doran said.

Georgia has a law under which possession of liquor legally acquired previous to adoption of the Eighteenth amendment has been held illegal. An appeal to the federal supreme court from this law proved unsuccessful.

Such laws, which they exceed the national prohibition act, are fully within the state's police powers, the supreme court has decided.

Encouraged by the Alabama decision, Sen. Sheppard, dem., Tex., prepared to ask the senate judiciary committee to act on his bill to incorporate the word "purchase" in the Volstead law along with the words "sale" and "possession."

Sheppard pointed out the number of recent court decisions holding the purchaser of liquor can be punished under existing state law. "They all add weight to my position," he said.

Unique Glass Tells Changes in the Weather

W. F. Walker, business secretary of the Cisco public school system, glanced at an inverted vial, thrust into the socket of one of these patent mucilage spreaders and filled with an uncrystallizing solution of what seemed to be epsom salts and plain water, and asserted unequivocally that the weather tomorrow would be generally fair and colder. It might be a bit cloudy in Cisco Saturday, he qualified, but generally speaking his prediction stood.

Mr. Walker asserts that the contraption he has rigged up is an infallible barometer, a relic of his chemistry days, recognized by the United States weather bureau as almost perfect in its predictions.

The weather glass which sits atop Mr. Walker's desk for all the world to see, reacts faithfully to the slightest change in weather conditions, he points out, but it takes an expert eye to decipher its reactions. It is made of a test tube and the liquid within is not what it first appears to be. The mixture consists of camphor gum, alcohol, water, potassium nitrate and potassium chlorate compounded after a set formula.

If fair weather is in prospect for the next day the liquid will be as clear as the water in Lake Cisco. If the prospect is for rain the liquid will be cloudy; cold is indicated by the formation of crystals at the bottom, the height of these crystals in the tube indicating the degree of cold; if a storm is on the way the crystals will form at the top, the depth to which they extend indicating the severity. Snowy weather is indicated by the formation of snowflakes throughout the liquid, says Mr. Walker.

The instrument has been in operation in Mr. Walker's office for several weeks and so far has been accurate in its predictions. Mr. Walker invites the public to view his handiwork.

Four Bullet Wounds in Body of Woman

E. E. Kelsey and wife, Kate, were found shot to death in their home at 518 South Madera street at Eastland this morning by officers who went to the place in response to reports from neighbors of the Kelseys' stating that there had been disturbances in the Kelsey home last night.

When the officers forced open the door of the building they found the dead bodies of Kelsey and his wife, Mrs. Kelsey, fully dressed in a house dress, was lying on the kitchenette floor.

Four bullet wounds were found in her body—one in the breast in the region of the heart, one in an arm, one in the side and one in a leg. There were four wounds on her arms. One bullet had penetrated the body and lodged in the wall.

She lay on her right side with her left arm over her head as if she had attempted to ward off a blow. Between the fingers of the right hand she held a partially smoked cigarette.

Kelsey lay five feet away just inside the living room. An open door in a partition wall separated the two rooms. He had been shot one time, the bullet having taken effect in his breast in the region of the heart. He lay on his back with a .32 calibre automatic pistol under his body. He was fully dressed. Kelsey is about 38 and his wife about 32 years old.

Bulldogs in House.

Two bull dogs belonging to the Kelseys and his wife before they were removed from the building, revealed no notes or letters that would throw any light on the tragedy.

The bodies are being held pending instruction from relatives. Justice of Peace Jim Steele stated that the inquest he is holding could not be completed before tomorrow.

Neatly Furnished.

The house was neatly furnished and in perfect order except for the bloodstains on the floor under the two bodies.

A gas heater in the front room was burning full blast when the officers entered the building. The electric lights were also on. Kelsey's body lay within a few inches of the stove. The intense heat in the closed house had caused the bodies to blacken to an extent. Copies of daily newspapers of Dec. 4, 5 and 6 were lying unfolded in the front yard.

Kelsey was indicted by the 91st district court grand jury this week on three counts charging him with violation of the liquor laws. He had been under bond to await the action of the grand jury.

Mrs. W. B. Shipman, a neighbor, living across the street from the Kelseys, told Justice of the Peace Jim Steele and Chief of Police Elmer Lawrence this morning that she heard two shots at the Kelsey home just after dark last night.

Kelsey and his wife had lived in this section for a number of years. He worked in the oil fields. Mrs. Kelsey had been married and divorced before she married Kelsey several years ago. The couple had no children. Kelsey, it is stated, has a brother who works at Huntsville.

Neighbors of the Kelseys this morning reported to the officers that the Kelseys had a "rowdy party" last night and Sheriff Foster, armed with a search warrant for the residence, took his deputies and went to search the home.

CHIANG QUILTS POST REPORT TO TOKYO SAYS

TOKYO, Dec. 6.—A Nippon Dempo agency dispatch from Nanking today said that Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, head of the nationalist government in China, has notified the executive council of the government that he was resigning.

The Nippon Dempo dispatch reporting Chiang's decision to resign followed reports of renewed rebel activity in the southern part of China, where the Kwang-sai forces have threatened to defeat national government troops at Canton.

It was recalled that the nationalist government narrowly averted a plot to overthrow Chiang's government early this week. It was launched at Pukow, where a mutiny was threatened.

The government's position had been growing steadily more serious, according to dispatches received here, especially in view of the Chinese-Russian dispute in Manchuria. Many observers were of the opinion that Chiang faced the most critical situation of his regime in keeping China peaceful during negotiations with the Soviet.

AIR MAIL LINE THROUGH CISCO IS IN PROSPECT

In a letter to the Cisco chamber of commerce, R. Q. Lee, of Cisco, congressman from the 17th district of Texas, says that the inauguration of an airmail line from Fort Worth to El Paso, as a part of a transcontinental line from Washington D. C. to the Pacific coast, is likely following a conference which he recently attended in the capital. Mr. Lee adds that an air mail stop will probably be located in this vicinity, perhaps at Cisco.

"Model Husband" Must Die in Chair

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—A "model husband" whose defense against a charge of choking a pretty stenographer to death was the insanity that comes from a whiskey flask, must die in the electric chair, by the verdict of a Chicago jury.

John Preston, 32-year old interior decorator, was found guilty of strangling Miss Agnes Johnson, 26, to death after assaulting her on a roadside near West Chicago on Oct. 13. A jury deliberated an hour and a half before returning its verdict, which carried the death penalty.

Preston, handsome and athletic, paled as he heard himself condemned to death, but appeared calm otherwise.

Send Congressman's Body to Lancaster

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Dec. 6.—The body of Congressman W. W. Grist, Pennsylvania, who died here last night will be sent to Lancaster immediately for burial, relatives announced.

Grist, the dean of Pennsylvania representatives, had been suffering from acute pneumonia.

Ventriloquist Has His Day

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 6.—Detectives James Aldi and Joseph Corrigan halted their automobile beside a man who was carrying a suspicious looking suitcase.

"Let's have a look at your bag," suggested Aldi.

The pedestrian protested, but the majesty of the law swept him aside and Corrigan threw open the bag.

"My God," he shouted, peering at the body of a boy, face down and fully clothed, "it's murder!"

Aldi, his brain working like lightning, seized the pedestrian and threw him in the police automobile. Corrigan gingerly placed the suit-case in the front seat and started for headquarters.

Just then a voice floated out of the suitcase:

"Hey, you dicks, leave my pappy alone. He ain't done nothing."

"I said the prisoner, who by this time was laughing himself to the verge of apoplexy, "am Phil Schaefer, the ventriloquist, and the young man in the bag is Jerry, my dummy. Jerry, I want you to meet Sherlock Holmes and S. S. Van Dyme. Talk to the detectives, Jerry."

Haiti Returns to Normalcy Today

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Dec. 6.—Haiti rapidly returned toward normal today under strict martial law invoked yesterday when three Americans were attacked in a riot growing out of a strike of customs office employees.

Although there still was considerable unrest, there was no indications of a renewal of yesterday's riots, which for the most part were confined to this city. The situation at Aux Cayes in the interior still was serious, however. A marine airplane pilot, after a reconnaissance over the town, reported that several thousand had gathered there.

Martial law, although nominally in effect since the treaty of 1915 when Haiti asked the United States to help establish a stable government, was ordered by Gen. Richard M. Catts, U. S. marine commander.

DISCUSS INTERPRETATION OF "BONE DRY" ACT.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 6.—Legal and reform circles of Alabama were engaged today in discussing a sweeping supreme court interpretation of the state's "bone dry" act.

The Alabama high tribunal, in brief, held the buyer of illicit liquor equally guilty with the seller.

Effect of this ruling, it appeared, will now subject defendants to possible jail sentences whereas the bulk of such cases heretofore have been dismissed with negligible fines.

The whole complexion of prohibition enforcement in the state is altered. The court not only proscribed purchased liquors, but even banned possession of them "by manufacture or gift."

"It is an offense" the opinion of Judge Virgil Boudin said, "to buy liquor or have it in possession. Receiving prohibited liquors into possession, having them in possession, whether by manufacture, gift or purchase, and whether held for sale or for personal use, is an offense under our law."

The opinion was handed down in the case of Jim Jinnright of Pike county, Alabama, who was convicted of violating the liquor laws of the state.

NEW DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

AUSTIN, Dec. 6.—T. B. Greenwood Jr. of Palestine has been appointed district attorney of the third judicial district by Gov. Dan Moody. He will succeed Earl P. Adams of Crockett, who recently was made a member of the state industrial accident board. Greenwood is a son of former Gov. T. M. Campbell's law partner.

Pittsburgh Blast Is Investigated

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6.—The county coroner, the Equitable Gas Co. and postal employees today investigated the explosion which wrecked the suburban Munhall post office yesterday, killing five persons and injuring more than 50 others.

Coroner W. J. McGregor, after interviewing witnesses and examining the wreckage believed that leaking gas which collected and exploded was responsible for the blast.

The dead were: Mrs. George Thackerell, 40, Munhall; Miss Josephine Muleare, 39, Bradock; John Vieltara, 50, Homestead; Edward Castara, 35, Whitaker Road; and May Selai, 14, Whitaker Road, Homestead.

Sullivan Is Not Afraid of Fight

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 6.—Patrick J. Sullivan, newly appointed sheriff from Wyoming, is not concerned over the fight said to be planned against his appointment in Washington.

"All me life I've been in fights," he said in characteristic Irish brogue. "I love a good fight. It's the Irish of me, I suppose."

Sullivan, who made a fortune in sheep and oil in Wyoming after coming to this county from Ireland when he was 24, was appointed by Governor Frank C. Emerson to succeed the late Senator Francis E. Warren.

The legality of the appointment has been questioned by some senators because the state law authorizes a vacancy to be filled by special election. The law was held ambiguous.

HE GAMBLED AND HE PAID THE PRICE. James C. Pauley, 36, and a reputed millionaire coal operator, is dead.

Police said that Pauley had killed his wife and then ended his own life. They said that Pauley was a heavy loser in recent stock market declines and in addition had been dependent because of ill health.

Well, he had a million and this did not seem to satisfy his longing to be the possessor of another million. He played and then he paid.

He snuffed out his own life, but why should the wife who did not play, have been made an unwilling partner in the tragedy? Five years of speculative stock gambling played havoc with millions and with the pockets of millions. It played havoc with the pockets of the wage workers and the pockets of the cities and towns of America.

It must be part of life's game. Men have gambled ever since the beginning of time. Men will gamble while time shall endure.

THE VALUE OF WATER. Only a few years ago, the people of Texas thought there was more water in the streams of the state than would ever have a practical value.

Yet today, there is very general recognition of the fact that water is becoming the most sought natural resource the state possesses.

The creation of the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District, to comprise the entire area of the water-shed of the Brazos river and its tributary streams, by the Forty-First Legislature, is a very distinct declaration by the State of Texas that the waters of this great river of Texas many important streams, should be conserved, stored and as carefully used, and the water used as carefully coordinated, that none be allowed to waste or pass into the Gulf without filling a mission of service to the people. It should be a matter of universal gratification by the citizens of Texas that this great Brazos river district has been created, giving to the people of the water-shed areas of all other Texas streams an object lesson and an incentive to conserve and turn to useful purposes the vast volume of water that has been annually wasting into the sea.

The Brazos river district will perform tremendous service for all Texas, and its purposes to store and use in the upper regions of the stream the water that has been causing loss and waste in the lower regions of the water-shed, will prove well worthy of emulation by other stream drainage areas.

MOSES FOR MEXICO. Sen. George H. Moses of New Hampshire is the Republican voice of New England. He is the statesman who classified the Volstead law as "jackass act." He is the statesman who branded Brax and his fellow senators as "sons of wild jackasses."

He is an ardent politician who is chairman of the senatorial committee directing the campaign in many states to return all the Republican senators who will stand for re-election to grab as many Democratic seats as possible. Now Washington says that Senator Moses will be the successor of Dwight Morrow as ambassador to the court of Calles. Moses is a newspaper publisher. He is one of the ablest editorial writers connected with the New England press. Now is Moses going to get the skids? Is he going to be sent out of the country for the good of the Republican party?

OUT OUR WAY

Walter Edge of New Jersey was the Republican senator, a dripping wet. Edge is a gentleman of great wealth. He loves to strut the social staff. He was sent as ambassador to France, thus paving the way for Dwight Morrow to become at some future time "the gentleman from New Jersey in the senate of the United States."

Edge, a wet Republican, is out of the picture. Moses, a wet Republican, may be pushed out of the picture and sent to Mexico where "the sons of wild asses" will not disturb him and this "jackass law" is without an advocate or friend at court.

Did You Ever Stop to Think? By EDSON R. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma.

That Texas is forging ahead. She has a winning gait. She is not only up to the minute, but a few jumps ahead.

Texas is a winner because her people realize that if they don't pull together they will have no pull anywhere.

Texas is a winner because everybody works and nobody shirks and her people know that it is better to be a winner than a wisher. No state ever was developed by wishes.

Texas is a winner because she is winning through cooperation and constructive efforts—with plenty of energy behind the effort.

Texas is a winner because her business men do not spend their time talking about the business outlook. They spend their time being on the outlook for business.

Texas is a winner because people and capital come where they are invited and stay where they are well treated. Texas treats everybody well.

Texas is a winner because it is a good state in which to live and make a living. What more could be desired?

Pet Parrot Is for Sale Now LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—Polly, Mrs. Mildred Beaumann's parrot, is for sale.

When the 54-year old seamstress caught her finger in her sewing machine, Polly mimicked her screams for 30 minutes so adroitly that neighbors paid no attention.

Then Polly began to weaken and someone detected the genuine agony in the human scream and called police. They had to take the sewing machine apart to release Mrs. Beaumann's finger.

New Tonic Stops Hair Falling Out and Banishes Every Gray Hair in Your Head

USE AT HOME LITTLE WHILE; NO TROUBLE

"My hair had been falling out in spots until it was mighty thin in spots and had turned gray too, so I bought one thing and then another but nothing helped me until I saw Lea's Hair Tonic advertisement. It is wonderful stuff, declared Albert Jantz, who, like many others here, is no longer gray or bothered with dandruff or falling hair.

"I didn't have faith in Lea's but gave it a trial anyhow and am glad I did for it works like magic. Results were astonishing and so perfect I recommended Lea's Hair Tonic to everybody and think gray-haired men are foolish not to use it. It makes a man look years younger and better groomed," continued Mr. Jantz, 2910 South J street, Tacoma, Wash.

Thousands of men pass up a drop or two of Lea's into their scalp with finger tips and are delighted beyond words at the youthful, improved appearance it brings to the hair. It doesn't strain or give a dyed appearance. It is a clear clean smelling liquid even the most fastidious people use with delight. One can defy their barber to detect the use of Lea's and gradually day by day the hair goes back to its youthful color. Then an occasional massaging keeps the hair and scalp in vigorous healthy condition and entirely free of gray or dandruff.

If the reader desires to try Lea's let them obtain a bottle at nearest drug store on positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back, or send dollar bill, check or stamp to Lea Hair Tonic Co., Brentwood, Md., a regular size bottle will be mailed to you.—Adv.

STATE MAKES XMAS GIFT TO CAR OWNERS. By RAYMOND BROOKS. Daily News Correspondent. AUSTIN, Dec. 6.—The state will make what appears to be a Christmas present to the car owners every county in Texas this season. In counties of average size, such as Potter, Taylor, Tom Green and Travis, this will amount to $100,000 or more. So far as the Christmas rush, installment-paying individuals is concerned, it will amount to an actual gift of many dollars' ease of the holiday burden.

Automobile license fees will be cut almost half for 1936. And to make it still easier, the time for paying them is extended to midnight of Feb. 1, 1936 without a penalty.

Most counties are permitting car owners to register cars during December as a matter of convenience. Counties will get the first 750,000 of money taken in and half of all the rest. This will mean that large counties will get less than in the past; average small counties will get the same as this year, and all the small counties will get more—more than ever before from registration fees. The county money will go to local purposes.

The state will take in about $13,000,000 less than for this year on registration fees. The four cent gasoline tax, instead of the old two-cent tax, is the answer. But this tax, collected by painless devices all through the year, will not be felt so keenly as the big saving in license fees will be appreciated.

Extremely light passenger cars will cost less than one-half as much to register for 1936 as for this year. Fees on moderately light cars will be just one-half their former rate. Heavier cars will range up to two-thirds their former registration cost. Fees in future will be based wholly on weight, instead of the dual weight-horsepower scale as at present.

WARTIME PALS FROM WYOMING SEEK SAME JOB

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 6.—Wyoming has the unique situation of having two soldiers, both seriously wounded during the same battle, contending for the same offer. Lt. Esmy, recently appointed assistant general of Wyoming, went to the front with the removal from the post of Lieut. Col. Walter F. Davis. Now Davis is contending for the removal in the courts.

The coincidence—Esmy and Davis were in the same brigade and the same division, the same battle of the Argonne in 1918. Esmy was the one who led the charge to relieve that in charge of the then Lieutenant Davis, Esmy's name called—"Hello, Rhudy!" turned and beheld Davis, and short time later Davis, now back on the front with his platoon, was shot in the leg, meanwhile Esmy had been shot twice in the leg and once in the shoulder. Esmy was sent to different hospital. By chance they met each other in Paris shortly after they had been released.

Esmy, while in Wyoming Esmy's name had received official notification that his son had been killed in France on Sept. 23, 1918. And Davis' wife, in coming received a message from Esmy informing her that her husband had been seriously wounded. This message was dated weeks before Davis had been released from hospital.

When the war over, they returned to Cheyenne. Esmy was appointed assistant general. Came a change in administration and Esmy was removed and Davis appointed in his place. Esmy became a militia man under Davis. Again a change in administration and out came Davis and Esmy was put in office. Now Davis files petition in the courts questioning the right of the governor to remove him from office.

DANGER WOMAN FEELS FINE NOW

After Taking Orgatone Her Family and Friends Are All Talking About Her Wonderful Recovery.

She has actually gained wonderful relief of all the troubles who have been benefited by Orgatone. "I have the most cause to be thankful," said Mrs. J. D. Smith, living at 323 Stevens street, Hanger, Texas, recently almost 20 years, continued to suffer from a nervous condition and her nervous and my entire system seemed to be giving away. I could form on my stomach, tight chest and cause my heart palpitate so much at times that it really alarmed. My kidneys were in bad shape too, as I would have severe pains in my back and would roll and toss practically all night long which of course meant that I didn't get the amount of rest that I needed. I suffered with sick spells and would have a shiver run down the top of my head that would almost drive me distracted. I think I was in just as bad a case as any woman could get in this world.

"I read about so many getting relief by taking Orgatone and I got and got a bottle and after taking it only a few days I began to feel better. I have taken a treatment about seven weeks and I am feeling like a different person entirely. My kidneys have stopped bothering me, I can sleep like a child at night. The pains in my head and dizzy spells are a thing of the past and I am being built up wonderfully. I am very grateful for what Orgatone has done for me as I'm feeling perfectly well now, better than in years and my family and everybody else who works me is talking about the great change Orgatone has made in me."

ODD BRIDAL CHARIOT. DETROIT, Dec. 6.—Newlyweds, descending from the altar, usually wear grand limousines at the curb and roll away to the bride's home in a further celebration. John Polucha and Helen Kazanarek, however, found a really decorated patrol wagon awaiting them when they emerged from the church. John is a detective and Helen formerly a police stenographer and they intended to be on the job even when getting married.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 6.—Phil Diann, 26, a gangster who has been operating on the fringe of the big shot racketeers and who boasted that he would settle with the killers of Frankie Marlow, died in a Brooklyn gutter early today, a victim of gangland tactics.

THE HI-LIFE In Which the News of Cisco High School is Presented MARY BETH LANGSTON, Editor

The speech arts club met Tuesday morning; all other students went to fourth period class to study. A rather impromptu program was given in assembly Wednesday. The numbers were introduced by Thelma Price. Mavis Holmesley sang "Sweeter Than Sweet" and "I'll Always Be in Love With You." Violet Potter danced; Jules Karkakis, Billy Murray, Haywood Kinsey, Statam Ricks, and George Groce gave some songs. They up the remaining time, each class gave a stunt after five minutes preparation.

The Latin club met Thursday morning in its regular meeting. The topics discussed had to do with the life and customs of the Roman people. The following members took part in the program: Billy Murray, Mildred Faye Farmer, Etta Brennan, and Pauline McClinton. The club practiced a medieval Christmas song written in Latin and a Latin version of "America the Beautiful." The club has a large and enthusiastic membership this year; officers are as follows: President, Arthur Wendt; vice president, Charles Spears; secretary, Sterling D. Fuller.

A debating tournament is being held at Colorado Saturday. 75 teams have been entered, four of which belong to Cisco. These teams—one girls' and three boys—are composed of Leona Miley and Mary Latch, Arch Spruill and Ben Miley, Billy Murray and Haywood Kinsey, and John McGrady and Floyd Malone. Miss Neely will be faculty sponsor for the teams on the trip. Mr. Hartfield is sponsoring the club this year.

Free entertainment is being furnished by the chamber of commerce and citizens of Colorado for the teams and their sponsors and friends. The current interscholastic league topic—"Resolved that the Sterling plan of financing a state system of highways in Texas should be adopted"—will be debated. The Cisco teams, who have been in preparation for more than a week, will be prepared to debate on both sides of the question. Other members of the club will not be able to attend, the contest because of the distance in transportation.

Report cards for the second six week period were handed out Wednesday afternoon. The honor roll is being determined as the cards return, so those who are late in getting their cards back will not get their names on the honor roll. It is being held by Friday afternoon. Mr. Hartfield announces that they are being returned very soon by most of the students.

"VIRGINIAN" AT PALACE HERE NOW

Audiences at the Palace theater will have the opportunity today to learn whether preview critics were correct when they said that "The Virginian" is "The Covered Wagon" of all-talking pictures. The Owen Wister classic of pioneer days on the Western cattle ranges has all the earmarks of an epic film. The manner in which it was acclaimed by previewers indicates that it will go high on the list of really greats.

The film, based on the novel by the same name which brought Owen Wister quick fame in the 90's, and which has since been termed the greatest American romance, enjoys the distinction of being the first all-outdoors play to be recorded on the audible film.

But its greatest claim to all-time honors lies in its general perfection in every department. There is a great cast—Gary Cooper, Walter Huston, Richard Arlen, Mary Brian, Eugene Pallette, Chester Conklin, E. H. Calvert, Helien Ware—a superb group of artists who have proved their worth on the stage and the talking screen. There is a masterful direction, by Richard Fleming, a genius in his art. There are gorgeous settings—the real out-of-doors of the pine-dotted cattle ranges of the old West. There is a terse drama, rich romances, rickling humor—and the theme is one which deals with an exact chapter in American pioneer days.

CLEVER SONGSTER HERE SUNDAY

It has always been a question whether Charlotte Greenwood, who plays the title role in "So Long Letty," the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production which is coming to the Palace theater next Sunday is a better singer than she is a clown.

The long Miss Greenwood has become world-famous for her clowning, her agility and strength, and her ability to step over chairs and sofas without difficulty. At the same time she is rated as one of the cleverest singers of the musical comedy stage and her radio appearances have added to her fame. Her rendition of "So Long Letty," one of the great song hits of the last generation, still stands untouched, as those who hear the Vitaphone version of this comedy-farce at the Palace theater will agree.

SAYS RESULTS WERE AMAZING

"I'm so happy over the wonderful results I got from Sargon. I want other women to know about this marvelous medicine."

MRS. WILLIE TAYLOR "I was in such a terribly rundown condition during the past year that my whole system seemed to give way. My main trouble was an inactive liver that kept me bilious and caused headaches and dizzy spells. I never did sleep well and dreaded to see night come."

"It's amazing the way Sargon restored my health. In three weeks my liver had been regulated perfectly and I was rid of all my ailments. My strength and energy came back, and housework that used to seem a burden is now really a pleasure. I sleep grand and get up feeling refreshed, ready to start the day with a smile."

"Sargon Pills keep my bowels regulated and my whole system is in splendid condition"—Mrs. Willie Taylor, 2714 Lawrence street, Dallas.

Lloyd Bacon directed this new Vitaphone version of the famous stage farce and the fine supporting cast includes Patsy Ruth Miller, Claude Gillingwater, Grant Withers, Bert Roach, Helen Foster, Marion Byron, William Coley and Harry Gribbon. Robert Lord and Arthur Caesar made the screen adaptation.

The Avenging Parrot

by Anne Claxton

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Mrs. Emma Hogarth, said to keep a money bag in her room on the second floor of Mrs. Rhodes boarding house, is charged with death between 11:45 and 12:15 Saturday night, June 29. Bonnie Dundee, "cub" detective, assists Lieut. Strawn, Emil Sevier, former boarder, whom Mrs. Hogarth accused of trying to rob her, is caught.

Cora Barker, theater pianist, thought to have had an affair with Sevier, is arrested as a material witness. Other boarders under suspicion are: Henry Dowd, Norman Paige, Walter Styles, practically a bandage, who had quarreled with Mrs. Hogarth; Bert Magnus, amateur scenario writer, and Daisy Shepherd, Jewel Briggs, stenographer, away for the week-end, is not quizzed.

Essays prepared in Mrs. Hogarth's trunk, Dundee learns that the Sally Graves who wrote her once in New York, June 2, Dundee concludes Griffin murdered both women and turns his attention to Dowd and Magnus, who have arrived in the Rhodes house since June 2.

An old envelope, which had held a rail ticket, with Dowd's name on it, shows Dowd left New York June 2. Sevier is captured. He insists he did not murder Mrs. Hogarth. When Dundee asks where he was hiding, he says "I'll die before I'll tell."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY led by Mr. Lawrence Sharp, who had been pompously "speaking Daisy Shepherd up and down the long parlor."

"Splendid, Cora! How about a prize for our waiting, before we were married," he boomed.

But Cora, to the surprise and consternation of everyone, swung into "The Prisoner's Song." With chin raised and nostrils flaring, she played on and on, with Bert Magnus bending protectively over her as he turned the sheets of music.

"Telephone, Jewel!" Mrs. Rhodes called in a loud whisper from the doorway, and Dundee gratefully made his escape to the front porch. He wandered up and down the porch for awhile, frowning, his hands thrust deep into his pockets. Poor Cora! She was at the breaking point.

Suddenly a rather good tenor was lifted in song:

"Please meet me tonight in the moonlight, please meet me tonight all alone. For I have a sad story to tell you—It's a story that's never been told."

Dundee strolled to the French window nearest the piano and peeped in. It was Bert Magnus singing.

"He's playing up magnificently," Dundee reflected, and felt a strong desire to shake Bert's hand.

Cora Barker must have felt some such impulse, though much stronger, for Dundee saw her turn and lift her face to Bert's—her great dark eyes swimming with tears.

When the dismal chant was finished there was a chorus of shivers and protests from the small audience, with an urgent request from Jewel, who had returned.

"Pity SAKS, Cora! Play something livelier for Bert to sing. And what a Rudy Calleo HE turned out to be! Come on now, something real sweet and drippy."

Cora, flashing a brilliant, indignant glance at the vivacious girl, softly struck the first notes of "Drink to me only with thine eyes," and Bert, after a whispered word with the pianist, the while his hand lay gently on her shoulder, began to sing, his voice vibrating with sincerity.

When the song was finished, Dundee, who still lounged against the window, saw Cora drop her face into her trembling hands, heard Bert say in a low, shaken voice:

"Thank you, dear. Won't you play another of the old ones?"

Bert-Corn shook her head as her hand groped for his. Rather hating himself for prying, Dundee listened as she gasped in a choked voice:

"Oh, Bert! You do like me a little, don't you? I've been so unhappy—"

"More than a little, Cora," Bert Magnus answered earnestly. "When all this trouble is over, and you are free to go where you on his trousers. "I suppose they'll get a full confession from him by morning and I and my 'bad penny' will be the joke of the police department."

He looked at his watch. It was 20 minutes past 2. As he tiptoed to the third floor hall he hoped the clamor of his telephone had awakened no one, but even if it had, and his connection with the Hogarth case became known, it could make little difference now, probably. He was relieved, however, when no door opened, either on the third floor or on the second, as he stole downstairs. The house was utterly still, and dark except for the weak little hazy shining dimly in the front downstairs hall. He let himself out as noiselessly as possible, feeling in his pocket to make sure the front door key which Mrs. Rhodes had given him was there.

Ten minutes later a uniformed policeman, who looked as triumphant as if he had effected the capture himself, single-handed, was ushering Dundee into a small room at police headquarters.

"Says he was on his way here to give himself up for questioning," the policeman whispered. "That's what they all say—when they get nailed within a mile of headquarters! There he is, sir! Looks like a tough baby, all right, don't he?"

And Dundee, after his first glance at Emil Sevier, wanted for the murder of Mrs. Emma Hogarth, was forced to agree.

CHAPTER XXXIV

His first sight of a murder suspect undergoing the pitiless third-degree at the hands of the police gave Bonnie Dundee, novice detective, no thrill. Curiously, his first emotion was a mixture of anger and pity. And then he remembered Mrs. Hogarth—as he had seen her alive and as he had seen her dead. If this was the man who had strangled her, creeping up behind a defenseless old woman, then even the third degree was too good for him.

Emil Sevier was crouching in an uncomfortable "straight" chair in the center of the small room, his hand-cuffed hands tightly clasped and the knuckles pressed against his bared teeth, so that he seemed more like a snarling dog worrying at a bone than a man.

Thin, rather short, olive-skinned, black-eyed, with longish black hair in tortured disorder, as if the manacled hands had been tearing at it in helpless rage. Directly above his head hung an unshaded, high-powered light in an eye-searing blue blub. The lids of his eyes were already red-rimmed, either from sleeplessness or from that pitiless glare of electricity. It was hard to imagine this tortured wretch as Cora Barker's lover.

Around the captured suspect were clustered nearly a dozen plainclothes detectives and three uniformed patrolmen, and planted wide-legged, truculent, menacing, before him was Sergeant Turner.

"I'm asking you again, Sevier, and I've got ways of making you sorry if you don't answer—where have you been hiding yourself since you killed and robbed Mrs. Hogarth?"

Sevier's teeth closed sharply over his knuckles before he lifted his head to answer, his eyes glaring hatred at his tormentor and accuser:

"I've told you I didn't kill Mrs. Hogarth, and I'll see you all in hell before I tell you where I've been since Saturday night. . . . This is what a guy gets," he added bitterly, "for coming forward like a man to give himself up for questioning."

Sergeant Turner's short laugh was like a bark. Then he thrust his head almost into Sevier's face, and you were headed in the direction!"

"Yeah, you gave your up! That's good for a laugh with me any time, that is! My men nabbed you five blocks away from headquarters—"

"I was going to give you up," Sevier insisted doggedly.

Bi-District High School Battles Absorbing Interest

CENTRAL AND WACO PLAY AT WACO TODAY

Breckenridge and Amarillo Have Spotlight Saturday.

This week marks the beginning of inter-district competition in Texas interscholastic football and interest today and tomorrow for four widely separated districts where eight district champion teams will go to bat for the right to progress to the state semi-finals next week.

This afternoon the Waco Tigers will again defend a 10 year reign at the Cotton Palace stadium, Waco, when they attempt to turn back an invading Central school Panther eleven from Waco. Waco has not been on the edge of a decade and evidence of strength that that victories in the Tigers achieved over the Central eleven and the Central teams, both of which conceded stronger and both which outplayed the Tigers. The players are given but a bare chance against such inspired play.

Denton-Marshall

The other bi-district contest on hand this afternoon will take place at Denton where the Denton team, enthusiastic over its first victory, will meet the Marshall Mavericks. The Mavericks have their district so regularly that it has developed into a custom. On basis of dope the Denton team is the stronger.

Monday's card will be headed by clash of the rough riding Breckenridge Buckaroos and the Amarillo Golden Sandies at Breckenridge. Sport followers declare that the two teams meet the cream of high school eleven in Texas this year in a sensational battle in its progress.

Powerful Offensives

Best, most powerful offensives in the district are said to be those of the Amarillo Golden Sandies and the Amarillo Mavericks. Amarillo reports, while having a slight margin in the line of the line, ridicule the Breckenridge assertions. So it may be concluded that the two clubs will be far apart in weight.

Powerful offensives in the district are said to be those of the Amarillo Golden Sandies and the Amarillo Mavericks. Amarillo reports, while having a slight margin in the line of the line, ridicule the Breckenridge assertions. So it may be concluded that the two clubs will be far apart in weight.

Sandy Aces

Clubs and Gibson are the Sandy Aces. These boys are stepping young demonstrators of the carrying division who have a fast charging, heavy line and a powerful backfield. They give the Buckaroos their greatest test of the year Saturday. If the Sandies forwards can stop them they open the way for their own Breckenridge win but question isn't answered by that an Amarillo victory, the first of the Sandstorms or any team in the district No. 1 will have won over the Old Belt contender, will not be surprising.

Then he flared: "What do you think I'd be hanging around here for, if I hadn't come back here of my own accord to give myself up? You cops were looking for me for three days and you didn't find me? And you'd never have laid a hand on me if I hadn't come back here of my own accord?"

"All right then, all right!" Sergeant Turner snarled. "You come back here to give yourself up for questioning—" and he mimicked Sevier's fear-cracked voice—"so suppose you loosen up and do a little answering. . . You ready to take down his confession, Brodie?"

He was too smart to be carrying it around with him," the detective sergeant answered, with poorly veiled contempt for the questioner.

She refused several times, the last occasion being Saturday night, at the Little Queen Theater. Once you tried alone—entering Mrs. Hogarth's room from your own room by means of a loosened board in the clothes closet. As Dundee spoke, very quietly, almost soothingly, the prisoner appeared to be shriveling up. But he obeyed Dundee; he did not speak. Only his eyes—held as if hypnotized—alternately denied, agreed, or pleaded.

"On Saturday you announced your intention of going to Chicago to look for a new job, having been fired as violinist for the Little Queen. Early in the evening you checked your bag at the parcel room of the station, and shortly before 11 o'clock you told every one good-by at the Rhodes House, bent on carrying out alone the scheme which you had planned for weeks. It was still too early for safety, however, so you managed to gain the shelter of the old greenhouse on the farm waited you hide your time, and there you awaited the new program for the Little Queen, which you had picked up in the lobby that evening—just as you are plotting that one now."

LOBOES START GRIND AGAIN NEXT MONDAY

The prisoner drew a shuddering breath and dropped the program with a gesture of fear and loathing. But before his trembling lips could form a lie, Dundee went on quietly, but relentlessly: "While you were waiting, Sevier, you smoked one of your favorite cigars, and put the stub in a flower pot. Here it is. I saw you without triumph," as the man's eyes widened.

"A few minutes before 42 o'clock, Sevier, you crept out of the greenhouse, crossed the driveway and climbed to the second story of the house by means of the rose trellis on the west side of the porch. The prisoner gazed stupidly at the ragged but almost healed scratch which zigzagged across the back of his right hand. But still he did not speak.

You had already possessed yourself of "Dusty" Rhodes' old tweed cap, and you were wearing it when you entered Mrs. Hogarth's room and killed her. . . No, wait!" he commanded sharply, as Sevier gasped for words. "When you left that room by the window you were still wearing the cap; but you had removed it once to insert one of the parrot's green feathers beneath the lining, so that 'Dusty' Rhodes might be accused of your crime. . . Keep your seat, Sevier!" he commanded sharply, as the prisoner struggled to his feet. Then, as Sevier sank back into his chair with strange docility, Dundee continued: "Dr. Weeks saw you running away from the Rhodes grounds, down the alley, at about a quarter after 12. Mrs. Hogarth was murdered in garth's room and killed her. . . No, wait!" he commanded sharply, as Sevier gasped for words. TO DECIDE ON PLEA OF IOWA THIS EVENING

By GEORGE KIRKSEY United Press Staff Correspondent CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 6.—Major league ownership of minor league clubs was assailed by Commissioner Kenesaw M. Charging that both parties were equally responsible, Judge Landis said that unless something was done to get back to individual ownership of minor league clubs, the entire baseball organization would be endangered.

CROSS COUNTRY FLIGHT IN 12 HOURS PLANNED

By FOSTER EATON

United Press Staff Correspondent

ATLANTA, Dec. 6.—Sometime next spring when the elements between Los Angeles and New York return to normalcy, Dolg Davis, crack Atlanta pilot, expects to fly the distance in about 12 hours.

The record, now held by Capt. Frank Hawks, is close to 17 hours. But that fact apparently offers little obstacle to the man who recently clipped three hours from the record of seven hours, 30 minutes for the trip from New York to Atlanta.

He used a Travelair "Mystery" ship—a bullet-like monoplane which looks like a bumblebee upside down, but which functions with unprecedented efficiency.

Davis won the cup for America's most meritorious flier of 1929 in the same projectile-like craft at the Cleveland air races. He was in New York early in November and wanted to enter it in an air race in Atlanta.

So he took breakfast in Gotham and lunch in Georgia, actually flying the 500 miles in four hours and 30 minutes through rain and fog. The entire trip required five hours with two stops of 15 minutes each for fuel.

So he took breakfast in Gotham and lunch in Georgia, actually flying the 500 miles in four hours and 30 minutes through rain and fog. The entire trip required five hours with two stops of 15 minutes each for fuel.

Davis believes his "Mystery" ship has greater possibilities than any similar craft extant, believes its highly developed maneuverability and excessive speed would make it an invulnerable fighting unit in time of war.

He told the United Press that shortly he expects to open its throttle somewhere in the vicinity of the ground, point its nose "absolutely straight up" and cut swiftly heavenward for one solid mile at an angle of 180 degrees.

Already he has climbed to 3,000 feet in that manner after a 250-mile an hour start. Present equipment of the plane, he said, does not permit more altitude because of gas tank adjustment, which he expects to alter.

The plane can take off at an angle greater than 45 degrees and hold it "all the way to the ceiling," Davis said. "I believe it is unquestionably the fastest climbing plane ever built."

It is an open cockpit affair and responds so swiftly to the controls that a sudden change of direction

Firewood Fuel for This Automobile

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 6.—An automobile that uses ordinary kindling wood for fuel instead of gasoline has just been tried out by the Swedish army with satisfactory results. The motor, equipped with a new style gas generator developed by two brothers Widegren, Swedish engineers, was mounted on a two and a half ton truck, manufactured by the Scania-Vabis Automobile Works, at Soedertelje.

On a test trip of 143 miles about 298 lbs. of firewood were used, as against the 13 gallons of gasoline required for the same distance. Maintaining an average speed of about 20 1-2 miles per hour, the truck completed the trip in some seven hours at a cost of about 75 cents, whereas the gasoline needed for this distance would have cost more than four dollars.

From a strategic point of view, the invention is of great importance, inasmuch as fire wood can be obtained in any part of Sweden. The new generator is now being installed also on the mail and passenger buses manufactured by the same company.
