Arrest "Jinx Girl of Gangland"

Margaret Collins, 27-year-old "jinx girl of gangland"—so-called because five of her sweethearts have died by gangland's guns—was arrested in Chicago, accused of stealing 2000 dresses in Cincinnati. She is shown here with a Chicago detective, who questioned her about recent Chicago gem robberies. Her murdered sweethearts were "Sonny" Schlig, "Dandy" John Sheely, John Phillips, "Jew" Bates and the famous Dion O'Banion.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL IS GIVEN LINGLE

Meanwhile Marksmen Scour the City for Gangsters

CHICAGO, June 12.—Alfred "Jack" Lingle, murdered by underworld gunmen who escapades he had followed for 18 years as a police reporter for the Chicago Tribune, was buried with military honors today while civil authorities sent their expert marksmen out to end, with bullets if necessary, the perennial beer wars which were climaxed on Monday by Lingle's assassination. The funeral procession for the star reporter, headed by an escort of motorcycle policemen and including men and women from all the walks of life which Lingle's career had touched, was moving through Garfield park on the west side when an announcement came from the detective bureau that the headnum roundup of the last 12 hours had put 655 men in jail.

Sharkey Has Weight Edge

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, June 12.—Jack Sharkey, who will seek to keep the heavy-weight championship of the world in this country when he meets Max Schmeling of Germany before 75,000 fight fans in this big stadium tonight, will have a nine-pound advantage in weight to help him in this most important battle of his career. The Bostonian showed up at stadium early this afternoon and weighed in before officials of the boxing commission, tipping the beam at 197. Schmeling, who showed up a quarter of an hour later, so that the contenders for the title did not meet, weighed in at 188. Both men were heavier than in their previous important bouts. The weather was rainy during the weighing in process.

CAPTAIN OF FAIRFAX IS EXAMINED

Refuses to Assume Responsibility For Fatal Collision

BOSTON, June 12.—Captain Archie H. Brooks of the steamer Fairfax today refused to hold himself or his officers in any way responsible for the collision in which his ship rammed and sank the tanker Pintis off Scituate Tuesday night with a loss of 47 lives. Testifying as the first witness before the federal court of inquiry investigating the crash, the master of the Fairfax declared: "I can't think of anything in the world that I could have done to avoid this collision."

Hits Rum Buyer

Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, author of the prohibition amendment, believes that the buyer of liquor deserves punishment as well as the seller. The supreme court recently held that the Volstead act does not make the buyer a lawbreaker, so Senator Sheppard is now sponsoring an amendment to make the buyer guilty and provide penalties for him.

CONTACT WITH POWER LINE PROVES FATAL

Accident Occurs as House Is Moved From Ranger

Enoch L. Kimbrough, 38 living three miles west of Eastland, lost his life at 6 o'clock this morning through contact with a power line while he was engaged in moving a house. The fatal accident occurred in the southern edge of Ranger at the Texas & Pacific railroad crossing. Two brothers and a brother-in-law witnessed the tragedy. W. C. Kimbrough risked his own life in an effort to save his brother. He seized a pair of leather gloves, doubled them and, taking hold of the live wire, shook the wire loose from Enoch Kimbrough's grasp. The three brothers—Enoch, W. C. and G. W. Kimbrough—and their brother-in-law, W. A. Evans, were engaged in moving a house from Ranger to Yellow Mound. As the house was too large to go through the viaduct, they took the old road and it was at the railroad crossing just as the Bankhead highway was being reached that the accident occurred. The body has been taken to Eastland.

Marriage Licenses Are Increasing

Marriage license sales for the month of June is showing a decided increase over former months of this year, but is running just about the same for the same period last year. From June 1 to 11, inclusive twelve licenses have been issued, and ten applications for license grants. For a like period in June last year, nineteen licenses had been issued. The law requiring application to be filed was not in effect last year.

ELEVATOR BURNS

OMAHA, Neb., June 12.—A Grain elevator and 150,000 bushels of wheat, corn and oats, were destroyed in a fire at Gibson, an Omaha suburb today. The loss was estimated at about $250,000. The elevator, owned by the Burlington railroad and operated by the Nebraska-Iowa Grain company, had a capacity of 40,000 bushels.

Lumber Company Is Burglarized

The Wilkerson Lumber company was entered sometime Tuesday night or Wednesday morning by a burglar or burglars who worked the combination on the safe, broke the cash drawer lock and obtained about $40 in cash, it was reported today. The intruders entered by way of a rear window.

POLITICIANS TO GATHER AT MANSKER LAKE

EASTLAND, June 12.—Mansker Lake, in the Blackwell pasture a few miles southeast of Eastland on the Eastland-Desdemona highway, is to be the scene of a big all-day picnic, barbecue, chicken dinner and political speaking Saturday. All of the candidates of Eastland and adjoining counties and those for district and state offices are cordially invited. Speaking by the candidates will begin at 10:00 a. m. The meeting is being sponsored by the citizens of Alameda and the Alameda string band. The program will last all day and into the evening.

TARIFF VOTE DUE AT TWO P. M. FRIDAY

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The final day of senate debate on the tariff bill was opened today, in an atmosphere of dramatic tension, by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, who attacked the pending Smoot-Hawley measure as "protection run perfectly wild." Preparing for the vote scheduled at 2 p. m. tomorrow, the Nebraskan obtained the floor before Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, was to announce his position on the pending measure. Reed has professed to be in doubt concerning his stand, although democrats say it is 100 to 1 he is for the measure. "From whatever standpoint it is considered, Norris told the crowded senate and galleries, 'this bill is indefensible.'"

Spectacular Water Carnival Will Be Part of Program at County Revue Here

Saturday evening's program at the Lake Cisco swimming pool, when the Eastland County Bathing Revue will be held, will be the first event of an ambitious character to be held at the lake this summer. In a manner it will inaugurate the summer season at the lake. The revue proper will take place at 8:30. Prior to that the crowds will be entertained with a water carnival including a variety of those contests which attract so much interest last season. Antics by "Jukes," water clown, and one of the highest paid entertainers in the game, will furnish fun for the spectators. There will be fancy diving exhibitions by the Texas state champion springboard diver. Some of these exhibitions will be seen for the first time in this section, and partake of danger enough to be thrilling. There will be several races as follows: 25-yard dash for boys under 15. 50-yard dash for boys over 16. 100-yard free for all. 100-yard dash for boys under 15. Night gown race. Egg and spoon races. Water polo by picked teams. Life Saving. An exhibition in Red Cross life saving by the three National Red Cross examiners in Cisco, Bill Curran, W. B. Statham and Tom Foley, will be given. This will be followed by "Jukes" own version of life saving. The pool has been drained and washed by the local fire department and refilled for the carnival. Seven millions of gallons of fresh water are now in the big water playground. Lake Cisco's swimming pool ranks among the three best in the United States and should rank first as far as clean, pure water is concerned. It and the Fluscheleer pool in San Francisco are almost identical in appearance and differ but little in size.

Accompany South American Cruise

Miss Catherine Cunningham and Miss Laura Lou Waring are leaving Friday for Beaumont to join an ocean cruise conducted by the Beaumont chamber of commerce. They will first go to the West Indies, where they will make several stops, from there to the Canal Zone and then to Mexico City and Vera Cruz. They will return to Cisco some time after July 1.

Home Remedies Are Offered Physicians

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Hundreds of home remedies to stop hiccoughing were telephone to emergency hospital physicians today as they continued their 80-hour battle, futile thus far, to stop the diaphragmatic spasms of Charles W. Reid, 32-year old blacksmith. The suggested treatments ranged from frequent sips of water to dosages of preservatives.

NO FURTHER THREAT IN REFINERY EMBERS

PORT ARTHUR, June 12.—Smouldering embers of the fire which might claim one life, sent 11 men to hospitals and caused large damage in the oil refineries of the Texas Company near here held no further threat today, officials said.

W. K. Holmes, general superintendent of the refinery, said today an investigation was under way to fix the origin of the flames. He refused to estimate the damage before these findings were complete. Starting from undetermined origin in one of the six "treating sections" of the plant, the fire had destroyed a complete refining unit and devastated an area eight blocks square. Damages was estimated at between $1,000,000 and $3,000,000. Leonard Hatch, company employee, died in a hospital here early today from burns received when three high-pressure tanks of oil and gas exploded in the terrific heat. Eleven other employees were seriously burned when sprayed with flaming oil and were being cared for in hospitals. Another score received slight burns and bruises. The pump and magnitude of the fire were impressive. Behind the mounted policemen marched a union musicians' band, companies of policemen, a band from the great lakes naval training station, where Lingle served during the war, a detachment of the Illinois naval reserves and several hundred city firemen in uniform. Pallbearers included Police Commissioner Russell, Harry Ash, first assistant attorney general, and staff members of Chicago newspapers.

ROTARIANS ENTERTAINED BY ELY TRIO

A program by three members of the Ely Orchestra family featured the meeting of the Cisco Rotary club at noon today. The trio consisted of J. B. Ely and his two daughters, Jewel, violinist, and Madeline, pianist. Mr. Ely played the cello. The program was without doubt one of the best of its kind that the club has ever heard and drew unstinted praise from the thousands many of whom declared that it was a revelation as to what Cisco possesses in the way of musical talent. Invitations to appear at other programs of the club and at other functions in which members of the club takes part will be extended Mr. Ely and his children, it was declared. At the business session the club voted to continue to meet in the private dining room in preference to going to the roof garden. Dr. D. Wright was in charge of the program for the day. Dr. E. Graham introduced Mr. Ely and his daughters. Among the guests present were J. B. Abney, president of the Beaumont chamber of commerce and the Texas division of the Chamber to Gulf highway association and Hilton Burk, secretary of the Beaumont chamber of commerce and secretary of the Beaumont association also. They were introduced by J. E. Brown, secretary of the Cisco chamber of commerce.

TEXAS REPUBLICANS ARE HOPEFUL

Texas republicans are hopeful. T. M. Kennerly of Houston is the republican legal adviser of the Noltz committee. He appeared before the committee at the Houston meeting and declared it was not altogether certain that we won't elect a governor in 1930. In 1928, we carried Texas for Hoover and that's just a start. I believe Texas will repeat in 1932.

In 1924, Senator Love and those who followed "their conscience" voted for Dr. George C. Butte for governor.

It goes without saying that the doctor gave Mrs. Ferguson, the democratic nominee, a merry chase and sleepless nights.

In 1928, Senator Love and the conscience-stricken voters of his faith landed in the republican column once more and the republican column electors won the count. Two hundred thousand democrats remained at home. They had been in the habit of voting in the primary election but never going to the polls general election day.

Now the war is on again. Butte may be the republican nominee for the office of governor. Now which faction of the democratic party will become conscience-stricken in the month of November, and execute a flying movement from the democratic reservation to the republican camp?

CONVENTION CITIES THIS YEAR

Democrats will hold their ratifying convention in the city of Galveston Sept. 9. As the democratic party is lawridden or controlled away down here in Texas, it will be useless for the convention to name a committee on platform and "principles." If a party pledge is worthless, then a platform pledge must be worthless. Texas republicans will hold their state convention in the city of San Angelo on the same date. All the signs indicate the adoption of a Creager state ticket and a Creager worded platform. The gentleman from Brownsville is in the republican saddle under the Lone Star skies.

A VINDICATED MAJOR

Justice demands mention of the fact that Major Jetch has been vindicated and now takes his place in the list of prophets, canonized and non-canonized, who read the minds of men and forecast their actions. Major Petch, away in advance of the meeting of the state committee, declared that Sherman Ross Sterling would not budge as a candidate, and that Governor Moody would not be a candidate for a third term. Of course, the major was pot-shot by friend and foe alike. He was given the decoration of a talking parrot by the governor. He was paraded in the public prints as a man of words and wind—idle words and whistling wind.

Now the major is triumphant. He predicted and his prediction came true to the letter. A place for the major of the hill country among the prophets of all the ages. He is a scold, a statesman, and a seer. He is a mind reader as well as a reader of the stars.

Likewise, he is a candidate for the fourth time for legislative honors in the county of Gillespie where the people fill their corn cribs, their smoke houses, their cellars, their barns and their silos, and only three

CRACKS IN THE DOME

By POLITICAL ANALYST

AUSTIN, June 12.—It's against the law to drink liquor in Mexico. At least with employees of the Texas railroad commission.

Pat M. Neff, former governor is chairman of the railroad commission. Other members are C. V. Terrell and Lon A. Smith.

Recently an order was issued to employees if the commission that drinking liquor during office hours or any other hours in Texas or out; or having liquor in one's home, or making homebrew or being around liquor is drunk will result in dismissal of the employee from the state service.

Reports have it that Adrian Pool, who is not an applicant for the job, may be given the five-and-a-half-year job on the state board of control. Mr. Pool is a candidate for re-election as representative from his district. He has been a close friend and adviser of Gov. Dan Moody. If appointed, it is being predicted he will accept the state job, though he has not discussed it with Gov. Moody and has not sought it.

The six year term began last January 1 when that of R. B. Walthall, Neff appointee, expired. The board is now made up of Walthall as a holdover; Roy I. Tennant, Ferguson appointee, and Claude D. Teer, Moody appointee. The new appointment was not to have been made until after election day. Gov. Moody got out of the campaign, so the appointment may be made any day now.

Memory of the illustrious educator, Dr. William Seneca Sutton of the school of education, former president of the University of Texas lives on.

Most appropriately, regents of the university at their last meeting set aside the rule requiring them to wait five years after the passing of a distinguished man to dedicate a building in his honor. They then named the new education building the William S. Sutton hall of education for the former president. This deserved compliment will find a warm echo in the hearts of all the thousands who came to know him and who knew him as they came under his teachings and kindly leadership and guidance in the university.

Mothers will be given a long-sought, long-deferred opportunity to study their job and its responsibilities, by the new Foundation for Child Welfare and Parent Education in the University of Texas. This is the message of Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, who is busily engaged in helping build the foundation to the capacity for the forward-looking work for which it was created by the university.

Highway Ass'n Officers Are Here

F. S. Abney, of Brownwood, president of the Canada to Gulf highway association, and Hilton Burk, also of Brownwood, secretary, were in Cisco this afternoon for a brief meeting with the Cisco chamber of commerce directors relative to the opportunity that has presented itself for securing federal designation of the north to south route.

The meeting began at the chamber of commerce at 1 o'clock.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—Ernie Schaaf, 21 years old, of Boston, scored an impressive victory over Tommy Loughran in 10 rounds at the Municipal stadium last night, ending the "battle of disputes" which arose from two previous bouts, in which each win a decision.

Babe Hunt, 196, Oklahoma, won from Carl Carter, New York.

Tarver Jury Fails to Reach Verdict

EASTLAND, June 12.—The 88th district court jury, which was deliberating on the Fred Tarver liquor case Wednesday, was discharged by Judge Been having failed to reach an agreement. This is the second liquor case on which Tarver has been tried in the courts here in which the jury failed to agree on a verdict.

Tiny Strip of Land in India Breeding Place of Trouble British Are Having

By WEBB MILLER

United Press Staff Correspondent FISHAWAR India, June 12.—(Delayed by censor)—A little strip of land between British India and Afghanistan, too small to be shown on most maps but possessing an estimated population of 2,500,000, is the breeding place of the innumerable troubles the British are encountering on the northwest frontier.

The land is unlike any other in the world. It is known as "independent territory" or tribal territory. Although it ranges in width only from 10 to 50 miles, it has never been conquered by any power, and still is the menace it was to the medieval traders.

Fierce, un governable tribes, like the Afridis, the Mahsuds, the Mohmands and the Wazirs, inhabit that territory preying from early times on the caravans which travelled through the passes of the Himalayas and Hindu-Kush, across the land, and on towards the west.

Conquest has been impractical for the British as well as for earlier governments because of several reasons, chiefly that the region is almost inaccessible, the land is unproductive, the cost of governing would not be repaid by revenues.

Gunman Who Shot Constable Sought

HARLINGEN, June 12.—County officers today sought the unknown gunman who shot and fatally wounded Mercedes Torres, deputy constable, from ambush.

Torres was parked at the side of the road near where he had some land under clearance. He was found unconscious by a passing motorist and brought to a local hospital where he died.

GIANTS HOPE TO SET NEW LOOP RECORD

With a 9-game winning streak intact, the New York Giants today hoped to set a National league season record for consecutive victories winning one more game from the Pittsburgh Pirates. Yesterday's 9 to 2 victory over the Pirates enabled the Giants to tie the record National league winning streaks of the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs and a victory today will tie them with the Philadelphia Athletics, who won 10 straight in the American league.

Sixteen hits, including Hel Ott's 15th homer of the season, behind effective pitching by Carl Hubbell, who chalked up his sixth victory, gave the Giants yesterday's game. The Cleveland Indians continued their sensational play in the American league, defeating the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 2, and advancing to within two games of the league lead.

Washington Wins

Washington defeated Chicago, 2 to 1, and held a one-half game lead over Cleveland for second place. Hadley held the Sox to two hits in seven innings but was relieved in the eighth after Chicago tied the score and Braxton received credit for the victory. Braxton drove in the winning run with a force out, which scored Hayes. Detroit scored 7 runs on three hits four walks, a sacrifice hit and an error, and defeated the New York Yankees, 13 to 7. Dazy Vance turned in a 4 hit pitching performance against the Cincinnati Reds and the Brooklyn Robins won, 2 to 1, retaining their 3 1-2 game lead in the National league. Pinch hitter Al Lopez drove in the winning run with a single in the ninth.

The Chicago Cubs pounded out 13 hits, while Charlie Root held Philadelphia to 8, and kept pace with the leaders, 6 to 2. Kiki Cuyler's homer with two on in the third clinched the game.

Rain prevented the St. Louis Cards and the Braves from playing at Boston and the Boston Red Sox-St. Louis Browns game was postponed because of wet grounds.

BUFFS CUT DOWN LEAD OF WICHITA

Whittling down Wichita Falls' lead in the Texas league, the Houston Buffs won a double header from Fort Worth Wednesday while the Spudders had to be satisfied with a single victory over San Antonio.

Houston defeated Fort Worth, 4 to 2, and 6 to 5. Judd, Buff pitcher, shot out the Cats in the first game by keeping their 11 hits well scattered. The Nightcap was hard fought, with the Buffs putting over the winning run in the seventh and last inning. A crowd of Fort Worth fans, irate at a decision, attacked Empire Bejanfant after the game but he reached the club house in safety.

Wichita Falls used only one of the nine innings to defeat San Antonio, 6 to 0. The Spudders scored all their six runs in the sixth inning while Milt Steengrafe, hurler, held the Indians to six well-distributed blows.

With Shavers, Beaumont center fielder, leading the attack with two home runs, the Exporters out-slugged Shreveport to win, 14 to 7. Three sport huriers were unable to halt the Shippers' barrage of hits.

Waco defeated Dallas, 11 to 7, when the Cubs scored five runs in the first half of the ninth inning to overcome a one run lead. Stuvengen, Cub first baseman, hit two home runs.

Mrs. Broyles Says Condition Has Greatly Improved Since Taking Orgatone (Argotane). "I haven't had a pain since I began taking Orgatone (Argotane) several weeks ago," said Mrs. J. N. Broyles, residing at 1108 Avenue J, Cisco, Texas, the other day. "I had a bad case of indigestion and stomach trouble that had worried me for the past several years," continued Mrs. Broyles, "and my nerves too, were in a bad state. I had no appetite and after eating anything my food would ferment in my stomach and cause gas to rise, and the pain was awful to bear—something like cramp colic, and I got to be weak and nervous from the case, and was in a general run-down condition and could hardly take interest in my housework or look after it with any satisfaction. "But it's quite different now. I took my first bottle of Orgatone (Argotane) several weeks ago" and I got much relief from it. I kept on taking the medicine and my condition has improved so much I don't have the gas and swelling at my stomach like I did before, my nerves are much quieter and the constipation is overcome, and I am feeling stronger and more able to look after things about the house than I was before I began using it." Genuine Argotone may be bought in Cisco at the Dean Drug Store.—Adv.

The Husband Hunter

BY RUTH DENNEY GROVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Natalie Converse, jealous of her husband's friendship with Bernadine Lamont, leaves him. Alan is consoled by his secretary, Phillipa West, who is seeking to make an advantageous marriage.

Natalie returns, and Alan realizes that he loves her, but the entanglement into which Phillipa has cleverly managed to get him prevents him from attempting a reconciliation. Phillipa refuses to release him.

Alan returns to his home when Natalie appeals to him in an emergency, but his chivalrous feeling for Phillipa keeps her standing between them. Natalie goes to Alan's office and there meets Bernadine. Her old jealousy flares up again and she quarrels bitterly with Alan.

Alan breaks in enthusiastically. Phillipa frowned and jerked her shoulders. "I wish you would think it over a little more," she said pettishly. "After all, you know, Alan, you've asked me to be your wife, and you haven't been any too thoughtful or considerate at times. You ought to think of me as well as Bobby."

Alan was conscious that she spoke the truth. He recalled how she neglected her in the hope that she would let him go. And perhaps he was asking her to assume too great a burden. But he wouldn't give up Bobby!

His lips set tight in resolve on that subject. They drove back home without further discussion of Bobby, though the little boy was uppermost in the minds of both.

Phillipa, misled by Alan's silence into thinking she had made a good start toward bringing Alan to her own view of the situation, decided to institute a campaign to discourage him from going through with the adoption.

And Alan made up his mind to say nothing about his plans to Phillipa. He felt guilty over his decision, but he had told her plainly how he felt toward Bobby, and he sensed that she meant to oppose him. He dreaded the undercover methods he feared she'd employ—the constant harping on the wrongs of his side of the question, and the unending flaunting of her rights.

He knew she could make him feel like a selfish monster, and he didn't want to feel that way. He wanted to be happy in the thought of having little Bobby as his own, legally; in teaching him to say "Daddy."

With a flare of resentment toward all women, he declared to himself—that he had a right to a little happiness at least. He would go ahead with his plans, and keep his mouth shut.

Thinking it over that night, after a somewhat cool parting with Phillipa, he began to wonder about her. Perhaps it was natural for a girl to want a chance to have children of her own before adopting any other, but Phillipa had seemed to love Bobby. And the poor little shaver—without a relative in the world. Why, any woman, with a mother's heart, would want him!

Alan was not certain he had seen Phillipa push the boy's hands away from her when he wanted to go with them as they were leaving the house, but he remembered the sharpness of her voice as she said: "It's time for you to go to bed; run along."

"Please take me with you," coming in a pitifully pleading voice still echoed in his ears. Nellie's sulky: "He won't sleep anyway, miss," he remembered too. But Phillipa had been firm.

"And I didn't go up to say good night to him when we got back," Alan reproached himself.

He awoke the next morning in a bad humor. He would see his lawyer at once.

Phillipa telephoned while he was at breakfast, to say she was coming down to do some shopping and that she wanted him to lunch with her. Her voice was sweetly coaxing.

Alan was seized with a desire to find out just how sincere she was. "I can't see you," he said brusquely. "I have an appointment with my lawyer."

"With your lawyer?" Phillipa repeated uneasily. "Yes; I'm going to adopt Bobby as soon as possible," Alan answered.

He heard a smothered gasp, and a bang as the telephone receiver was slammed in place.

A little later, when Phillipa called again to try to undo what her temper had done, Alan was on his way to his office. There he found a memo to call the Lamont home. Well, he would when he had opened his mail. But before he had completed that task, he received a caller that made him forget Phillipa.

"You smell of the sea," he said to the tall young man whom he had just greeted with friendly warmth. "Of the boat this morning?"

"No, several days ago," the young man answered. "Your mother too?"

"Yes, but she's gone up to Maine. I'm staying in the apartment for a week or two. I want you to come up tonight, Alan."

Alan considered. "Sorry, old man," he said finally. "I would have to duck an engagement, and I don't think I can." He hoped Geoffrey would accept his excuse, for he didn't want to talk about Natalie, and he saw no way to escape it with Geoffrey Norman.

that way, with an adopted child? You'd be sorry when . . .

"I couldn't love any child any more than I do Bobby," Alan retorted. "And the sooner I adopt him, the better I'll like it."

"But I won't . . ." Phillipa stopped herself this time, but she was on the verge of a furious outburst of temper. "You might have told me before," she said curtly. "It's a lot to ask. You know that, don't you?"

"I suppose it is," Alan agreed. "But when I think of Bobby, I wonder how anyone could fail to want him."

"Oh, well," Phillipa hedged, "no girl wants to settle down with a ready-made family, but if it means so much to you . . ."

"I knew you'd come through," Alan broke in enthusiastically. Phillipa frowned and jerked her shoulders. "I wish you would think it over a little more," she said pettishly.

"After all, you know, Alan, you've asked me to be your wife, and you haven't been any too thoughtful or considerate at times. You ought to think of me as well as Bobby."

Alan was conscious that she spoke the truth. He recalled how she neglected her in the hope that she would let him go. And perhaps he was asking her to assume too great a burden. But he wouldn't give up Bobby!

He heard a smothered gasp, and a bang as the telephone receiver was slammed in place.

if you're willing to do a great favor for me." Alan gave it. "All right," he said. "but I'll have to leave early." He was thinking that he would run up and say good night to Bobby to make up to the boy for his neglect of the night before.

Thinking of Bobby reminded him he was asked to telephone Phillipa. As soon as Geoffrey left, after cautioning him not to forget their engagement, he put in the call.

Phillipa answered, eager to be pleasant, but Alan ignored her invitation to lunch with her—he had forgotten it—and rather coldly informed her that he would not be up to the house for dinner. "I'll be up later to see Bobby; tell him, will you?" he added thoughtlessly.

"Bobby! Bobby! Bobby!" "And that's what I've missed two trains for," Phillipa stormed on her way upstairs to get her hat and bag. In the upper hall she came upon Bobby playing with some wooden Indians.

"Take those into the nursery," she said angrily; "and don't bring your toys into the hall again."

Bobby looked at her with mutiny plain on his baby face. "But my mama liked me," he said defensively.

Phillipa glared at him and passed on. "If I don't watch out I'll be slapping his face," she warned herself, as she snatched up the things she had earlier thrown on the bed.

She was leaving the house, when the telephone rang a second time. She flew to the instrument hopeful that Alan was calling to apologize.

BY NO MEANS

"ONE OF THE STANDARD MAKES"

EVERY so often someone refers to the leading tire companies as "the big four," and to their tires as "the standard makes."

Candidly we feel this is a grand "break" for the other three, but something of a hardship on Goodyear.

The fact is, Goodyear builds more tires than any other manufacturer — more than one-fourth of all the tires sold in America, the remainder being divided among some forty other companies.

Goodyear reached this position of world-leadership not by building tires that are "one of the standard makes," but by building tires that are emphatically and conspicuously super-standard!

There is only one reason why year after year "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind," and that is because year after year Goodyear Tires are better tires to ride on.

They are provably superior — super-standard — and the whole world knows it, which is why you should visit your nearest Goodyear Dealer without delay!

It is only natural that a product so conspicuously popular as Goodyear Tires should be widely copied, but, as is always the case, such attempts to copy its excellence have served only to emphasize the unique value of the original.

$2,000,000 SENT BY PLANES TO MIAMI BANKS

MIAMI, Fla., June 12.—The arrival of $2,000,000 in cash by airplane and several reassuring statements by state banking officers helped today to allay the uneasiness of depositors who had funds in five banks, which closed here yesterday.
 In addition to the plane shipment, $4,000,000 was expected by rail today in aid in restoring confidence.
 One of the banking officials insisted the situation was acute, and declared that the conditions which led to the closures would have adjusted themselves if there had not been unfavorable "talk," some of it by bankers themselves.
 Local bankers said they were confident normally would be restored promptly when the public understood the cause of the heavy run made on the institutions. They had the assurance of additional aid from the federal reserve if it were needed, they said.

CRITICISM OF BLAKE'S FATE IS CONDEMNED

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—The story of Robert Blake who was executed on a murder conviction at Huntsville, Texas, and whose last moments were vivified for thousands of playgoers in the play, "The Last Mile," was told the Lions club at Liberty, Mo., by J. Frank Norfleet, former Texas rancher, during a club luncheon. The Texan is visiting here.

Norfleet is credited with being instrumental in bringing Blake's arrest in connection with the fatal shooting of Fred Conner, Tulsa, Texas. Conner was a close friend of Norfleet and the latter said he traced the murder to Blake. Officers had almost abandoned investigations.

The Texas rancher deplored what he called "maudlin sympathy" for Blake, caused, he said, by the play which was taken from a magazine article written by the doomed man. "There was no maudlin sympathy for him expressed at the trial," Norfleet said. "He was dealt with fairly and his guilt established."
 "An Amarillo editor conceived the idea that Blake's mother, Mrs. Ella Blake, should receive some of the money pouring into the box office from the play. There was a great hubbub about the rights of that mother."
 The story of the executed man and his mother, Norfleet said, eventually led to sympathy and then to criticism of Norfleet for tracing down Blake.
 Those who criticized apparently forgot about the man he (Blake) murdered," Norfleet concluded. "It was an example of grossest ingratitude, that criticism."
