Colder Weather for Week-End Promised by Weather Man

LIGHT SNOW FALLS TODAY IN PANHANDLE

Temperature Here Drops to 42 Degrees at 2 o'Clock

DALLAS, Feb. 13.—Winter visit to Texas again Friday on the wings of a light snow in the panhandle and cold rains over other parts of the state. United States weather bureau reports here at noon promised clear weather over the weekend. A thin blanket of snow covered the Panhandle Canyon following a rain yesterday. Ice-coated streets and highways where rain had hindered traffic. Temperature of 39, two degrees below the freezing point was recorded at Amarillo at 7 a. m. today. A light snowfall preceding the cold wave registered 24 of an inch. Other precipitation readings over the state were: El Paso .08; Abilene .04; Dallas .19; Palestine .60; Austin .32 and Del Rio .06. Skies at Austin and Houston were overcast and threatening but no precipitation had been registered shortly after noon.

Temperature in Cisco at noon today was 46 degrees above zero, representing a drop of six degrees from the reading at 7 o'clock this morning, according to the recording thermometer at the West Texas Utilities office here. At five minutes past 1 o'clock this afternoon, however, a sharp drop began with the reading at 43 degrees at 2 o'clock. Light, intermittent rain this morning registered slightly more than one-tenth of an inch.

E. Spencer, chapter chairman, Major Wood and Capt. Pick. #### Recipes of World Are Available to Cisco Women

The lack of variety in modern American home menus, has long constituted one indictment against the American housewife which they can offer little, if any, rebuttal. For many years, then inaccessibility of the American housewife to recipes and ingredients of new and original dishes, furnished her with a safe refuge to any charges within this line, and in many an American home, for many years one could guess with a surety, what a Wednesday night dinner would consist of and just how the Sunday leftovers would be served on Monday. With the remarkable development of transportation facilities and the super scientific development of canning and packing food products, she is able today to draw from her grocery shelves Russian caviar, Swiss cheese, Irish dressings, English sauces, Mexican chili, and the most famous food products of the four corners of the nation, as well as imported delicacies. The rapidity with which these items were made available to her.

CONCESSIONS ARE MADE BY HORSE RACE BILL SPONSORS

AUSTIN, Feb. 13.—Sponsors of the bill before the Texas legislature to legalize contribution horse racing had made a concession to its aroused opponents today, after a hearing last night before the house committee on state affairs. Whether the concession would mollify the opponents seemed doubtful. One delegation from Tarrant county announced it was still "unconditionally opposed" to passage of the bill as soon as Representative W. E. Pope, of Corpus Christi, had offered to submit the amendment. Pope did so after a hearing of more than two hours interrupted by frequent applause and laughter, and frequent pointing of conditions which opponents of the bill said would result at Arlington Downs if it passed. The amendments would specifically restrict to 30 days in each year the period in which "contests" might be conducted at any one place; and would do away with the blanket clause in the bill providing for repeal of laws not in conformity. The bill's opponents asserted that this repeal clause would have annulled every state law against gambling. Further hearings on the bill will be held to give members of the legislature opportunity to present their views.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK FAST TRAIN MADE

Block Signal System Saves Crack Limited Near Corsicana

DALLAS, Feb. 13.—Southern Pacific officials today were investigating an attempt last night to wreck the crack Dallas-Houston passenger train, the Owl, five miles west of Corsicana where two entire rails were torn from the roadbed. Only the block signal system used by the railroad saved the Owl. J. E. Bledsoe, division passenger agent here, was informed today. When the signal at the beginning of the block did not give the proper light the Owl stopped and its crew discovered the gap in the track.

Puzzled on How to Wear Medal

PARIS, Feb. 13.—The Countess of Neailles, the first woman to obtain the cravate of the Legion of Honor signifying her rank as commander, is non-plussed just how and where to wear the many decoration. The rank of commander in the Legion of Honor, never before conferred upon a woman, is denoted by a red ribbon around the neck from which dangles the insignia of the Legion of Honor. It looks nice upon the white dress-shirt of a man, but it has never been seen upon a woman. The Countess is a poet, but nevertheless a practical person. She is sufficiently feminine that she does not wish to mar the effect of her lovely neck with a giant cord which is too mannish to appear pretty upon the décollete of a woman. Several have suggested that she wear a red ribbon for the medal, on the left side of her gown, the ribbon being pinned near the shoulder. Precedent for this practice is cited, since Turks and Moslems, who wear robes somewhat similar to Occidental gowns, carry their decorations in this manner. In the daytime the problem of the Countess is solved, for she can wear the ordinary rosette in her coat, or in the lapel of her tailored suit.

DIVORCEE HELD IN SHOOTING OF BANK CLERK

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 13.—Eiton Noble, 23, bank clerk was in a critical condition today despite blood transfusions from his mother, Mrs. Mary Noble, and Mrs. Margaret Miller, 22, divorcee faces charges of assault to murder following a shooting last night beneath Mrs. Miller's bathroom window. Mrs. Miller told police that she fired a pistol six times from her window when she noticed someone peeping at her as she took a bath.

Cisco to Participate in Gas Conference

Cisco city officials will participate in the oil and gas conference on gas rates called by Mayor Hayden of Abilene, at Abilene next Wednesday. Mayor William on said today following receipt of an invitation from the Abilene mayor. Beyond stating that "in my judgment the thing that we will have to do is to try to map out a legislative program through which relief can be obtained, including the creation of a state utilities commission with powers and facilities sufficient to handle the situation," the Cisco mayor said that he considers it unwise to make a statement until the oil and gas conference has been held. He did announce, however, that he will accept the invitation of Supt. P. P. Shepard of the Cisco district of the West Texas Utilities company to select 100 representative gas consumers at random and compare their gas bill in January this year with their bills in January a year before in order to arrive at averages substantial for a basis of investigation. The results of this investigation will be announced in Sunday's Daily News the mayor promised. The consumers will be selected from the telephone directory and no one connected with the West Texas Utilities company will participate in the selections.

46 TOWNS ARE INVITED

ABILENE, Feb. 13.—Asserting a general dissatisfaction with gas rates exists in cities of the oil belt district served by the Community Natural Gas company, distributing subsidiary of the Lone Star Gas company, and that there appears to be too wide a margin between the price paid at the well and the price made to consumers, Mayor Thomas E. Hayden of Abilene yesterday issued a call to mayors and other officials of 46 towns and cities in the area to attend a conference here next Wednesday morning. The meeting, called for the purpose of considering a concerted campaign to bring about reduction in retail price, is set for 10 o'clock at the city hall.

The letters were addressed to mayors of Snyder, Colorado, Lorraine, Roscoe, Sweetwater, Trent, Merkel, Nolan, Roby, Hamlin, Anker, Plastero, Stamford, Haskell, Rule, Rochester, O'Brien, Knox City, Weinert Monday, Gore, Seymour, Red Springs, Vera, Benjamin, Truscott, Gilliland, Clyde, Baird, Putnam, Albany, Eastland, Moran, Strawn, Ranger, Buffalo Gap, Tuscola, Ovaio, Lawn, Winters, Ballinger, Talpa, Valera, Santa Anna, Brownwood and Cisco. With the exception of Cisco, all of the points are served by the Community Natural Gas company. The West Texas Utilities company distributes Lone Star gas in Cisco and Abilene.

Text of Letter

Text of the Hayden letter follows: "There is a general expression of dissatisfaction with the gas rates in the cities of the oil belt district served by the Community Natural Gas company and its subsidiaries. It seems that there is too wide a margin between the price paid at the well and the price delivered to the consumers, especially so since we are in the midst of the gas producing area. The price of other commodities has been reduced, while gas rates remain the same. In order to arrive at an equitable adjustment of rates and to form a plan of concerted action, if deemed advisable, I have called a meeting of all the mayors, city commissioners and city attorneys of Community Natural Gas company and its subsidiaries to be held in Abilene in the city hall on Wednesday, February 18 at 10 o'clock a. m. A special invitation is hereby extended to you, your commissioner and city attorney to attend this meeting. You will be expected to bring with you data concerning the situation in your city. I trust that you, your commissioner and city attorney can be with us. An early expression from you as to whether or not you can attend this meeting will be appreciated. At all points served directly by the Community Natural Gas company, the standard domestic gas rate is 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, less a 10 cent discount priv-

ROBBERY IS BELIEVED TO BE MOTIVE

Body, With Head Battered in, Found at Filling Station

LITTLE RIVER, Bell County, Texas, Feb. 13.—The body of Will C. Sanderford, 55, filling station operator was found in his station here this morning, his head battered in with a hammer or hatchet. Signs indicated that he had been killed instantly without recognizing his assailant. The body remained on the cot where he had been sleeping and only the left foot was hanging from the cot. Found by Neighbors. Neighbors, living about 100 yards away, went to the station early today to make purchases, finding the body. Sheriff Bigham said a window had been removed to provide entrance to the station for the invader. Sanderford apparently had undressed and gone to sleep. The doors were locked when the neighbors found the body the sheriff said. None of the neighbors had heard any noise during the night which might be connected with the killing. It is believed that robbery was the motive because the dead man's purse, containing all the money in the store, except a few pennies, and a shotgun which he borrowed from a neighbor for protection were known to be taken. The instrument with which Sanderford was killed has not been found. Officers were not able to tell whether money or merchandise had been taken from the small store as there was no way of checking its contents. Sanderford was married, his wife lives in Little River. Sheriff Bigham said that Sanderford operating the station at night spent most of his time there. The murdered man was the brother of Ghent Sanderford, well-known Eastland attorney. Ghent Sanderford left Eastland this morning for Little River to take charge of the body and assist in the investigation.

VETS' BILL IS FAVORED BY COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The house ways and means committee today formally ordered a favorable report to the house on the bill to increase the limit of loans on adjusted service certificates for World War veterans to 50 per cent. The vote was 17 to 4. Chairman Hawley, of the committee voted against the bill. The committee Thursday adopted a modified Bacharach proposal to increase the loan value of veterans' certificates to 50 per cent. The original plan was sponsored by Representative Bacharach, republican, New Jersey. The plan is estimated to cost between $600,000,000 and $700,000,000 Representative Ramseyer, republican, Iowa, said. The measure also would reduce the interest rate on loans to 4 1/2 per cent. The increase is from 2 1/2 to 30 per cent of the face value of all veterans' certificates. As approved by the committee, the measure would enable veterans to borrow more than twice as much money as under the existing law. It was indicated by Chairman Hawley that early House action would be requested. Mr. Ramseyer said the committee agreed unanimously on the plan and that a bill to carry out its provisions will be introduced Friday by Chairman Hawley and brought back to the committee for a favorable report. The measure does not limit the loans to the needy, as suggested by some administration followers. Chairman Hawley said it will be approximately six months after the proposal becomes law before all the applications for loans could be made. Representative Bacharach said the plan agreed on "positively would not require a special bond issue."

ONE INDICTED IN KIDNAPING AT REDWATER

TEXARKANA, Tex., Feb. 13.—Jeff Glascoe, 27, Texarkana, who has been held in jail since three days after the kidnaping and shooting December 7, of R. W. Hanks, cashier of the Redwater State bank, near here, was indicted on three charges today by the Bowie county grand jury in connection with the affair, climaxing more than two months investigation. Glascoe is in the Lamar county jail at Paris, where he has been held on a counterfeiting charge since his arrest by local police and federal agents three days after the Hanks abduction. DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

POWER OF THE WORD—For the word of God is quick and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.—Hebrews 4:12

PRAYER—Lord God, open Thy mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of Thy law.

UNDERNOURISHED STUDENTS.

With the outspoken approval of the school authorities members of the West Ward Parent-Teachers association are undertaking a movement to provide milk for undernourished children in the Cisco public schools.

True enough, it is hard to believe that there are youngsters attending Cisco public schools who go home from their studies to bare tables.

There are not many in this condition but the number of undernourished students is not the point to be considered. There should not be any.

CAPITALISTS AND TEXAS.

According to William C. Edwards at least 20 Texas counties are watching with much interest preliminary surveys of iron ore deposits long known to exist in that part of the state.

Geologists have been quietly at work in Upshur county for some time, supposedly acting for Eastern iron and steel men, making surveys and field tests in a number of ore beds and options on 250,000 acres in that and adjoining counties have been taken, according to dispatches from several nearby towns.

Depletion or richer ores in other sections of the United States is said to be a major reason for the present survey. Another contributing factor is believed to be the recently discovered proximity of huge stores of oil and gas furnishing the chief fuel so essential to development of the industry.

"How long shall Texas remain a backward state?" pointedly asks Peter Molyneux in his Texas Weekly. Eastern capitalist know a good thing when they see it.

SEN. TOM POLLARD'S LABOR BILL.

Senator Thomas Pollard has introduced a child labor measure. It provides for the prohibition of employment of children under 18 years of age in hazardous occupations.

which those under 18 years include mines, quarries or places of amusement for immoral purposes would be barred from employing minors.

years of age shall work are limited by the bill and a fine and jail penalty are provided for those firms permitting any such child to work or be on duty more than eight hours in any one calendar day or more than 48 hours in any calendar week.

There is a saving clause to the Pollard measure. Exceptions to the age minimum are in cases where the child's earnings are necessary for the support of a needy family.

THE ROAD HOG'S RECORD.

The "road hog" has been a nuisance ever since automobiles became common. We never quite realized what a real menace he is, however, until we saw an analysis of traffic accidents recently issued by the Travelers Insurance company.

Of more than 560,000 traffic accidents in 1930, the insurance officials found, 68 per cent were caused by drivers who were guilty of one of these three faults—refusing to give the right of way to the car that should have had it, exceeding the speed limit, or driving on the wrong side of the road.

Those are the three cardinal sins of the road hog. Last year they caused more than 384,000 accidents, in which nearly 16,000 lives were lost.

No more damning evidence of the high price we pay for boorishness on the highway could possibly be presented.

OTHER OPINIONS

ONE EFFECT OF TAXES

In the current issue of Nation's Business, Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the board of directors of Montgomery Ward & Company, has an article on taxation in which he points out, among other arresting facts, that "railroads of the United States pay 65 per cent of their gross earnings for taxes, whereas Canadian roads pay less than two per cent."

Mr. Strawn might have pointed out with equal pertinence that his illustration shows the direct relation which exists between taxes and all our economic activity. He might have asked: "How much larger could the tax burden become without confiscation?"

It is a common error to see the probable social benefits which a form of taxation may bestow without seeing its social consequences. And then when its social consequences are pointed out, it is quite as common an error to charge that in pointing out those consequences one is opposing the bestowal of those social benefits.

IN THE POLITICAL ARENA

By HUGH N. FITZGERALD Chicago. He became a leader of a young democracy, captured the position of city attorney of the municipality of Chicago. He won his place as a leader of the bar.

Time rolled on. He became one of the eloquent campaigners and real leaders of the Illinois democracy. He was a follower of Woodrow Wilson when Woodrow Wilson made his remarkable record as governor of New Jersey. He offered for United States senator. He won in a republican state and held office for six years.

He was defeated for re-election to the senate by Joseph Medill McCormick of Illinois. McCormick served six years and then the Charles S. Deneen, republican. Deneen served six years and then the widow of Joseph Medill McCormick wrested the republican primary nomination from the man who had defeated her husband for a second term.

senator. She had millions at her command. James Hamilton Lewis won the democratic primary nomination for senator. He made a campaign that started America. He defeated the widow McCormick by a 750,000 majority, the most amazing victory won by any democrat in the general elections of 1930.

This was his first visit to Austin. He was the guest of Gov. and Mrs. Sterling at the mansion. He slept in the bed of Sam Houston. By invitation of both bodies he addressed the legislature of Texas. Gov. Sterling accompanied him to the hall of the house of representatives.

MINGUS GIRLS PLAY QUEENS THIS EVENING

The Lobo queens this evening take some real competition in the contest of the Mingus high school girls who recently won the west Texas basketball tournament at Roby.

The game is called for 7:30. The Mingus team has not been defeated this year. At the Roby tournament it not only won the trophy but also took an additional honor by having scored the greatest number of points of any team in the state. Kinney, star forward of the Mingus team, was named all-state forward by the officials.

The Queens, who are making a grand bid for oil belt honors, suffered two defeats at the hands of rival teams this season. In defeating the Breckenridge basketball team they succumbed to Breckenridge in an encounter at Breckenridge. Their meeting with the Ellaville girls resulted in a defeat. Both of these defeats were sustained, however, after the loss of one of their players which necessitated a change in the lineup.

Friday evening the Queens will meet the Ellaville girls in a game at the local gymnasium. The result of the contest hinges upon the result of a second meeting between the teams and the girls are going through a strenuous period of preparation for the contest. Hence the contest with Mingus this evening, which means nothing so far as district standing is concerned, will give the Queen plenty to do as they are not to sustain another defeat.

Fishermen Rescued From Ice Floe in Lake Erie

After drifting helplessly for many hours on a huge ice floe in the open waters of Lake Erie, these men were rescued by Coast Guardsmen who went to their aid in the face of a blinding blizzard and 36-mile gale. Thirty-five, all fishermen who had ventured on the ice floe off Sturgeon Point, near Buffalo, New York, were saved by a crew from the nearby Coast Guard station, and here you see seven of the group after they had been taken ashore. Meanwhile other crews in ice skiffs, tugs and cruisers pushed into the blinding snowstorm in search of a second huge floe on which ten men were reported to have been stranded.

Frogs Fear Famed Aggie Cage Defense

FORT WORTH, Feb. 13.—Texas Christian's hope to remain near the top of the conference ladder depends upon the ability of the Frog forwards to break through the Farmers defense when the two teams meet on the Christian's court Friday night. No other conference team has been able consistently to penetrate the Aggie man-for-man defense, and as a consequence the Farmers have held their opponents to the lowest scores in the history of the Southwest conference. They have allowed their opponents only 12 field goals in the past three games.

Coach Schmidt has been working his men on "charity" shots this week, devoting extra practice sessions to the free throws and to offensive plays that he hopes will break through the Aggie defense. The Frogs have lost two conference games because of their inability to cash in on free shots.

The probable starting line-up for the Frogs will be Capt. Atkins and Green, guards; Sumner and McCullch, forwards; Dietzel, center. Robinson is suffering from a knee injury, but will probably see service, among with Brannon, guard.

The probable starting line-up for the Aggies will include Capt. Hoke, center; Valtman and Beard, guards; Bell and either Marcum or Moody at the forward posts.

day night, when they staged a gallant up-hill fight in the last half to overcome a seven-point lead and tie the Mustangs just before the game ended 31-31. In an extra five-minute session, however, the Pones ran away from the Texas team to score 10 points and win the game 41-33. Just before the regular game ended, Bull Elkins, Texas forward, shot a field goal that would have won the game, but Referee "Ziggy" Sears caught him traveling just before the shot and the goal did not count.

Aggies Meet Loop Leaders This Week

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 13.—With only a bare outside chance at the hands of the Baylor Beas Monday, Coach John Reid's Aggie cagers this week-end will depart for their annual invasion of North Texas to meet the two leading teams of the conference, the T. C. U. Horned Frogs and the S. M. U. Mustangs.

The A. & M. quintet will meet the Horned Toad team in Fort Worth Friday and the Pones in Dallas Saturday and the two-game invasion is expected to be the most difficult assignment of the conference race and the Frogs' running a close second with only two defeats charged against them. In order to continue in the E. S. Adrain in building east of running, the Maroon and White basketers must defeat both S. M. U. and T. C. U. since a loss in either game would mean almost certain elimination. They will likely be the underdogs in both contests and are generally accorded a better chance to down the Frogs than the Mustangs.

A powerful man-for-man defense which held opponents to six field goals and a total of 23 points in two consecutive games has been the feature of the A. & M. playing to date. Captain Elmer Hoke, Aggie had far all-conference honors at center, and Lester Veltman, guard, whose clever floorwork has earned him the title of the outstanding guard in the conference to date, have been the mainstays of the defense. Hoke has also been the outstanding offensive player of the team.

Aggie lineup against the Frogs and Mustangs will likely be Bell and either Marcum or Moody, forwards; Hoke, center; and Beard and Veltman, guards.

British Players Wed, End Golf Romance

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Herbert Charles Jolly, a likely British Ryder Cup team member, soon will be married to Miss Joan Katherine Naider. It is a golfing romance, since they met on a golf course.

Jolly applied recently for a marriage license at the Prince's Row Register Office, Westminster.

Jolly was born on Feb. 15, 1895, on the Guernsey Islands. In 1919 he was appointed professional at the Foxgrove club. He played for Great Britain in the 1927 Ryder Cup match and was also a member of the British side in the 1929 international match with France.

He holds the Foxgrove course record of 64. A creak and masher are his favorite clubs. Except for erratic putting at critical times, Jolly's golf is of championship style.

Miss Naider is a good golfer with a single figure handicap. If Jolly and his fiancée are married before June and Jolly is selected as one of the ten British professionals to journey to the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Jolly will spend their honeymoon in the United States.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

Is Workman Through?

"SONNY" WORKMAN was thrown and broke his left ankle when a horse swerved at the barrier at Hialeah the other day. The plucky little chap who was America's leading jockey in 1930 may not ride again.

Last season Sonny had a hard time trying to make his contract weight of 112 pounds in riding the horses of Cornelius V. Whitney. Everything he ate seemed to turn to fat. With a broken ankle he may pick up flesh that he will find too stubborn to be run off. The accident at Hialeah may mark the passing of a great little jockey.

A Great Race

ONE of Workman's races never will be forgotten. It was the Futurity last year in Maryland when the kid booted home Equipose through an ocean of slimy paste to head off Twenty Grand, the rival Whitney horse. He had to come from behind to do it, making up what looked to be an impossible distance by a rousing, lashing finish. It was rip-roaring, that race, and on the strength of it Equipose already has been established as favorite in the Kentucky Derby at a winter price of 6 to 1.

The torture that jockeys endure to make the weight is only one of the rigors of a riding career. The life of a jockey, regarded as a soft snap by many who are superficially interested in the turf, is really not a happy one. Such an existence becomes a series of nightmares when insidious pounds begin their sneaky attack upon the tissues.

The Cruelties

JOCKEYS arise in the dead of night to go to the tracks and exercise the horses just as the dawn is breaking. The crisp morning air awakens in him a hunger that he must fight. If he is inclined to pick up fat, his days are filled with scales and the haunting fear that half a pound he picked up in an unguarded moment will refuse to leave him. There is the worry that his heart one day will rebel under the punishment of running, running, running. His stomach screams for juicy steaks and sugary desserts, but he must chastise his stomach and bring it under subjection.

There is not letup. A week of idleness is to him a week of fretfulness and calisthenics. When he lies down to sleep the ghost of a great job of flesh haunts his bedchamber. He can feel it coming slowly, around his waist like a spare tire.

Cocktail inventors have devised no appetizer to compare with the aroma of coffee-making mingled with the smell of bacon cooking in the early morning at a race track. It makes a man glad that he is alive just to be able to eat and drink.

But the jockey must forego that. Not any of that for him! For there is danger to him even in a glass of water.

It's not much fun.

OLD EMPIRE'S GLORIES ROUSE ITALIAN PRIDE

By WEBB MILLER
United Press Staff Correspondent
ROME, Feb. 13. — Mussolini is carrying out extensive excavation of Roman Empire ruins in Italy to reawaken the pride of Italians in the marvelous achievements of their ancestors and to stir their patriotism.

The explorations are only one angle of the campaign to revive the glories of ancient Rome and re-arouse interest in its accomplishments.

Important finds of priceless art objects were made in Pompeii and Herculaneum within the last few weeks. They will arouse the wonder and admiration of the world when exhibited to the public.

Important Discoveries
The most important discovery of its kind in the history of archeology has been made in Pompeii. It is a complete service of 115 pieces of solid silver tableware of amazingly beautiful workmanship. The astonishing feature was the perfect state of preservation. Many of the pieces were actually as bright and polished as the day they were buried 1,551 years ago.

I was one of the few persons who have seen the service which has not yet been fully studied, through the courtesy of Prof. Amadeo Maiuri, superintendent of antiquities of the Naples district.

It is difficult to believe that many of the beautiful shining pieces had only recently been dug up 40 feet below the earth's surface after resting there more than 18 centuries.

Among the many gems is a solid silver casserole about eight inches in diameter, four inches deep and more than a quarter of an inch thick, with a wide handle upon which is portrayed hunting scenes in heavy relief. Professor Maiuri handed me the priceless object. It was as brilliant as the day it was carefully wrapped in woolen fabric in the year 79. The weight was surprising. Maiuri said the casserole had not been burished since discovered and only a few hands had touched it.

Modern Designs
Another piece which astonished archeologists is a large silver platter with the bust of a goddess in solid gold in the center. There is a large cake knife about 18 inches in length amazingly like modern cake knives in design. In a jewelry shop window today it would pass for modern manufacture. Most of the objects are in sets of four. Maiuri told me the uses of several of the pieces were not yet known. One set resembles the little low stands used today to keep hot dishes off the table. Another is like present day egg cups but much smaller. They may have been used for eating birds' eggs. There are sets of spoons, jugs and cups—some of the latter with intricate figures inlaid with gold.

Professor Maiuri said that this was the first time ancient silverware had been found in such a perfect state of preservation of a complete set had been found. The discovery was made in the cellar of a house in Pompeii just excavated. The entire set was in a large box with each piece wrapped in woolen fabric. This accounts for the astonishing preservation. Near the box was found a skeleton—perhaps a servant on guard, or one of the family who rushed to save the silverware on that morning of August 24, in the year 79, when Vesuvius started to erupt and finally buried Pompeii and Herculaneum.

New Excavations
I visited the new excavations which are in progress in Pompeii. Streets are being uncovered which show the wheel marks of carts and chariots worn into the stone blocks of the busy life of the dead city nearly 2,000 years ago. On the outside walls of some of the houses are scrawled the names of ancient Roman politicians appealing for votes in the elections which probably never occurred.

Extensive new sections of the nearby ancient city of Herculaneum buried more than 50 feet on the same day in 79, are being uncovered. Officials declared they are now convinced Herculaneum was a very large city and hitherto only the poorest fringe of the outskirts of Herculaneum had been revealed. The fresh diggings have unearthed more than 4,000 square yards of the city—about four times more than the world has previously seen. As the excavation proceeds, it is expected magnificent public buildings and a well developed Seventy houses of the modern city of Herculaneum, which is built over the buried town, have been

Threaten Scrap in Congress

Representative Cramton

Three principals in the bitter dispute in Congress over drought and unemployment relief, in which fisticuffs are threatened are pictured here. The conflict reached a climax when Senator T. H. Caraway of Arkansas, who has been assailed in the House of Representatives by Louis C. Cramton of Michigan and Allen T. Treadway of Massachusetts, after a Senate speech by Caraway, invited Cramton by telephone to meet him "any place and any time" when each could tell the other what he thought of him, face to face. Senator Caraway also made a speech on the floor of the senate in which he said he had tried to get a similar challenge to Treadway, but did not reach him.

demolished to make way for excavation. Many unique and superb art treasures have recently been found in Herculaneum. I was shown a marvelous marble statuette of a Hercules which will cause roars of laughter if it can be exhibited generally. The natural action and excited face of the jolly, bearded little giant is ludicrous.

"Galloping Dominoes"
Judging by a set of surgical instruments it is inferred a house just uncovered was a doctor's and two dice indicate he toyed with the "galloping dominoes." Partially unearthed at the edge of the fresh excavation was a bed. An official handed me a bit of carbonized fabric of the bed-clothes—the first time it had been touched since the occupant arose the day of the disaster.

I saw carbonized bread, dates, remnants resembling a pineapple or artichoke glass bottles, basins and kitchen utensils in the kitchen. One home apparently belonged to a wealthy ship-owner. It contained nautical ornaments, fine art works, lead pipe plumbing, marble floors and had a court-yard paved with beautiful var-colored marbles. Among the objects recently found is a remarkable realistic statuette of five dogs killing a deer. Another is a fine marble table with lions heads and paws for legs. The walls are painted with realistic scenes, including a bull-fight with paint nearly as bright as the day it was executed opposite the Teatro. Argentine.

Many buildings are being demolished in the process of excavation, and crowds watch the fascinating spectacle of fragments of the ancient Roman civilization being brought to light at Ostia, ancient marketplace at Rome on the seashore a dozen miles from Rome, a city being revealed which may be as historically important as Pompeii.

was not matched with corresponding information as to their proper use and serving. Many a housewife is forced to pass by with hungry eyes, in front of the grocery shelves, when she would like to serve but would not know how to prepare.

Last Alibi Eliminated
Cooking schools conducted by trained lecturers with a wealth of scientific background preparing them for their intimate acquaintance with the details of listing a business menu, and the proper methods of preparation of savory dishes and utilization of materials that might otherwise be wasted eliminates the last alibi of the American housewife to the charge of monotony in diet. Rada Sue Garrett who will appear in Cisco March 2 under the auspices of the Daily News and will conduct a practical cooking course of five lectures at some convenient auditorium for the women readers of the Daily News is one of the staunchest advocates of the varied diet. "With the wealth of recipes available from most famous chefs of the world, any woman aspiring to better cooking results can shortly achieve her aim," declares Rada Sue Garrett. "Especially enough, some of the most attractive dishes of the world's famous chefs are prepared from the least expensive ingredients. There is a subtle and essential knowledge in preparation, which must be carried out to the most minute detail, if proper results are to be obtained. These recipes represent the ultimate findings of generations of men and women who have devoted their every effort toward achieving perfection in given dishes. With proper knowledge, it is not essential that the American housewife double her weekly expenditure for food materials in order to more than double the attractiveness of the table she sets. Some of the simplest, homeliest items can be made into deliciously wealthy of the most finely appointed table, if properly prepared.

Practical Message
Rada Sue Garrett who has carried her practical message of the preparation and cooking of foods to hundreds of thousands of women in America during the past few years, will present to the Cisco housewives during her school, a comprehensive method of outlining varied and balanced menus for the family table, which cannot help but be reflected in the improved appetite and general health of the household circle.

ILLITERACY OF INDIANS WILL BE DETERMINED

AUSTIN, Feb. 3. — Opening of the first Indian illiteracy clinic ever held has been announced for the two-weeks period from March 12 to 22, ending at Dean T. H. Shelby of the University of Texas Division of Extension, who is secretary of the Texas committee on Illiteracy. This clinic is part of the program of the National Advisory committee on Illiteracy, and is a cooperative effort on the part of the committee and the Indian agents. It will be held on the Blackfoot reservation, Browning, Montana, with the Browning school district furnishing the buildings and equipment; the teachers will be volunteers from the Blackfoot boarding school and the Browning public schools.

This clinic is being held to find out how much an adult illiterate Indian can learn in an intensive course of that length of time. Dean Shelby said a week's conference in Washington, D. C., was called by Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, who is chairman of the committee, to work out plans for this clinic. Those attending the conference were Charles J. Rhoads, commissioner of Indian affairs; Dr. W. Carson Ryan, director of education of the Indian bureau; Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, of the National advisory committee; Forrest R. Stone, superintendent of the Blackfoot agency; and Douglas Gold, superintendent of the Browning school district.

In addition to a new book designed especially for adult beginning the Indians will have their own daily newspaper, prepared for this clinic, in which they will see their names in print, and in which will be given the news of their activities and achievements, all of which will be told in simple terms. Dean Shelby said: "It is expected that the news will stimulate their curiosity and will add to their vocabulary. The clinic will close with an Indian feast, instead of a school picnic. There will be a general distribution of gifts to all the students and special one for the most proficient."

Spaniards Doubt Stability of Regime After March Parliamentary Elections

By WILLIAM H. LANDER
United Press Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Feb. 13. — The determination of Premier Gen. Damazo Berenguer to hold parliamentary elections in March has diminished skepticism concerning his plans to restore constitutional government, but raised doubts as to the possibility of creating a stable regime in Spain.

The Socialists, Constitutionalists and other factions have decided not to participate in the voting because they demand various reforms which they hold necessary to give them a fair chance in the first general elections since 1923.

When Premier Damazo Berenguer came to power a year ago, nearly all Spain believed elections soon would be held. The matter was dropped for awhile, and when finally in the autumn of 1930 the Premier began to talk about holding elections, many people refused to take him seriously. A little later an electoral census was initiated, but still the general public remained unconvinced. Finally the Republicans and Socialists decided to take things into their own hands and see to it that Berenguer's election program be cancelled through a revolution. The December rebellion failed, but Berenguer's cabinet emerged less popular.

Various attempts were made to organize coalitions which might offer themselves to King Alfonso XIII as possible governments to supplant the Berenguer government, but all failed. Even Count Romanones, who had urged His Majesty to supplant Berenguer before holding the elections in order to smooth away the passions aroused in connection with the December outbreak, became reconciled and announced that he was willing that Berenguer preside over the elections.

Present circumstances are such, however, that even candidates for the chamber of deputies of the conservative party privately manifest their opinion that the new parliament will either be an innocuous body of staunch monarchists, or that it will be of such a nature that attacks will be made against the King, disorders will take place, and its dissolution rapidly will follow.

It can be impartially said that Spain is on the eve of its first parliamentary elections in eight years, but that the restoration of representative government still seems far away.

New Wind Tunnel to Test Airplanes

STRATFORD, Conn., Feb. 13. — A new type of wind tunnel for testing model airplanes to determine structural weaknesses—a vertical tunnel—has been constructed here under the direction of Professor D. E. Olshevsky of Yale university, the inventor.

The tunnel was constructed by the Sikorsky Aviation corporation at its plant here after Professor Olshevsky had convinced Igor Sikorsky, the Russian airplane builder, of its practicality.

Advantages of the vertical tunnel over the horizontal, according to the professor, are:

The vertical air stream results in an experimental section easily accessible and observable through 360 degrees.

Since direction of the wind and gusts coincide, any position around the airstream is perfectly identical from the standpoint of measuring balances.

The construction saves space and permits an observer to walk around the airstream without changing his relation to the observable object.

TRAIL OF TEARS PAGEANT MAY BE PRESENTED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 13.—A "Trail of Tears" pageant, depicting the trek of the Five Civilized Tribes from southeastern states to Indian territory may be staged in Oklahoma in 1933 when an Indian Centennial celebration is held.

The celebration will mark the 100th anniversary of removal of the Indian tribes by the federal government from Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Georgia. The centennial probably will be held in Muskogee, Okla.

Pageants depicting different chapters in the history of the Five Civilized Tribes are planned. Demonstrations of the different Indian arts, including painting, basket weaving and bead work, will be given.

Muskogee probably will be selected as the site for the Indian Centennial since it is the capital of the Five Civilized Tribes.

Several states already have accepted invitations to participate. Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, has informed the arrangements committee he would request the New York legislature to appropriate sufficient funds to arrange an exhibit.

Although only preliminary plans have been formulated it is expected members of the Seminole, Creek, Cherokee, Chickasaw and Choctaw tribes will leave their modern homes and live once again in shelters built in the same manner as a century ago.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—Have you ever wondered what became of Senator Robert J. Bulkley, who won such a surprising victory last November with a "dripping wet" campaign in supposedly dry Ohio? You can see him on the Senate floor, but you can't hear him. Like Dwight Morrow of New Jersey, he has been keeping quiet during his first couple of months here. Anyone who expected some hot speeches from Bulkley in favor of repealing the 18th amendment can consider himself disappointed. There haven't been any Bulkley speeches at all.

"The issue is being kept before the country," he explained when asked why he wasn't making wet speeches. "But we can't really do much here yet. We must elect some more fellows who run on sound platforms for repeal. You see, we're still a minority."

On Banking Committee

The Democratic senator for Ohio, meanwhile, has been active on an issue which he considers at least equally important and on which he qualifies as an expert. A member of the Senate banking and currency committee, he is serving on the Glass subcommittee which is investigating the national banking laws. While serving in the House—1911 to 1915—Bulkley helped write the Federal Reserve act and his examination of witnesses has demonstrated his broad knowledge of the subject. Discussing the investigation, Bulkley indicated why he considered the work of moment when wet speeches at a time when the wets are virtually powerless.

"There's nothing more important," he declared, "because the whole question of national prosperity is directly involved. We are trying to find out why 6,000 banks have failed in the last 10 years. We are going into the causes of the Wall Street crash. We are examining the operations of the Federal Reserve system and the comptroller of the currency. We want to know what changes should be made in the law and I think we can find some valuable remedies."

Makes Many Friends

Bulkley has been making many friends. Although he is a millionaire, he is the type of man who does. Both conservatives and progressives on the Republican side of the aisle speak well of him. He dresses plainly, sometimes almost slouchily, and talks genially and frankly to everyone. He has a chauffeur, but drives his own car, as he did when campaigning in Ohio last fall. He lives in a large house on lower 16th street with Mrs. Bulkley and a 12-year-old daughter, Katherine. The Bulkleys are popular in Washington society. The senator enjoys music; in Cleveland he was one of the sponsors of the Metropolitan Opera seasons.

He is on three Senate committees. Those besides banking and currency are manufactures and privileges and elections. Both are important, the latter especially when there's a question about a senator's right to a seat.

Speaking again of Bulkley and prohibition—the issue which first brought him before the country in a big way—Bulkley is one of that esthetic group which read the Wickersham report all the way through. And one who thought there were "many sensible things" in the report, but that the conclusions and recommendations looked silly when compared with the rest of it.

"I'm flatly for repeal," the senator says. "I wouldn't resist a revision that would let the federal government protect the dry states from smuggling across their borders, but the federal government shouldn't have the job of enforcing state laws internally."

"I think it is becoming more and more clear that this administration, with regard to enforcement, is just letting things ride. The Wickersham report, of course, was used as a stall. Neither the president or the Department of Justice is going to do a single thing to carry out the recommendations which the Wickersham commission made in the interest of better enforcement. The administration people in the Senate have been perfectly content to fiddle away with the Howell bill for the District of Columbia, which everybody knows can't become a law."

Can You See the Difference?

The new baseball which is expected to put a curb on cheap home runs in the major leagues is pictured above in the right hand of Emmett (Red) Ormsby, American League arbiter. The difference between it and the old ball, shown in Ormsby's left hand, lies in the thickness of the cover and the size of the thread used in the seam stitching. The cover of the new horsehide is thicker and contains heavier stitching. It is believed that pitchers will benefit by the change.
