SKIPPER OF NAVY'S BIG NEW AIRSHIP WAS HERO OF SHENANDOAH CRASH

By ISRAEL KLEIN Science Editor, NEA Service AKRON, O., April 17.—Uncle Sam plans to take no chances with the operation of his queen of the air, the U. S. Akron, world's greatest dirigible.

That's why Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, U. S. N., has been named master of this great "dreadnaught of the skies" now nearing completion here.

Commander Rosendahl, who is only 39, is the dean of American airship officers and probably the leading operating officer in the airship branch of the navy.

He was navigating officer at the time, and third in command. When it was all over he came out surviving commanding officer, with Lieutenant Commander Zachary Lansdowne and Lieutenant Commander Hancock gone.

As it happened, Rosendahl had just left the control car and was moving toward the nose of the ship when the squall struck.

Cisco Red Sox to Cross Bats With Whiskered Tribe Under Floodlights

Manager D. E. Perry of the Cisco Red Sox announced Friday morning that he will start Charlie Bryan on the mound against the Bearded and Whiskered House of David team Friday night. The game will be the first night baseball game to be played in the Oil Belt. The House of David team carries with them the lighting system that was used for some time last year to light the Pittsburg National League park. Last night they defeated Abilene by the score of 7 to 4.

The Red Sox have been losing strong this season and have not lost one of the teams leading hitters. The outfield will be composed of Baker Glenn in left, W. B. Chapman in center and Coleman in right. Glenn is the fastest man on the squad and is one of the best hitters, batting in the cleanup position. Coleman is an Eastland lad that got a tryout with the Fort Worth Cats this spring. He has been hitting heavily this spring.

Armless Player Happy Frank McKeown, armless ball player of Stephenville, Texas, will be an added attraction at the Chesley ball park tonight prior to the game between the Cisco Red Sox and the House of David baseball team.

The program was carried out as previously arranged and the meeting was one of the best the association has ever held. More than 100 pecan men were in attendance.

INDIAN GOES STOICALLY TO HIS DEATH

McALESTER, Okla., April 17.—With a smile on his lips, E. S. "Choc" Hembree, Choctaw Indian, walked steadily to the electric chair here today where the state claimed his life for criminally assaulting a young Gainesville, Texas, school teacher.

The strong spirit which led him to joke with cell mates in the death house at the state penitentiary never deserted him. He had a smile for each of the 13 men to whom he bade a cheerful farewell.

Hembree was convicted of attacking Miss Leota Bosley, 23, near Loco, Oklahoma, on March 9, 1930, a teacher whose home was at Gainesville, Texas. She and Chad Thurman, her companion, were threatened with guns and a shot fired at Thurman, struck Miss Bosley in the side. She lay near death several days.

The Indian was never shaken in his contention of innocence. Although both Miss Bosley and Thurman identified him and his brother, Ay as their attackers. The brother is now free on $25,000 bond pending his appeal from a 25-year prison sentence. Hembree was convicted at Duncan last September.

DOING WONDERS.—O God, thou hast cast us off; O restore us again. Thou hast made the land to tremble; Thou hast showed thy people hard things; Thou hast given a banner to them that fear thee; that it may be displayed because of the truth.—Psalm 60: 1-4.

HOME RULE AMENDMENT SAFE IN HOUSE.

By a vote of 103 to 24 registered against it the Beck home rule amendment ran the gauntlet of its scant number of opponents and is certain to be sent to the senate where its champions anticipate the necessary number of votes for submission to the people. It would apply only to counties having a population of 60,000 or more. Under the 1930 census it could affect 13 counties. Counties adopting the home rule government would be given authority to merge the city on a vote of the city and county residents under the resolution.

It is estimated by Representative Beck, adoption of the resolution by the people and the economics it would affect would save county governments several hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. Two of the main points in its favor would be abolition of the fee system and removal of the burden of passing local bills from the legislature.

Representative Combs of Dallas declared the amendment the most forward step taken in two decades to better government in Texas and predicted its adoption would eliminate much of the duplication of efforts in city and county government. Furthermore, the amendment would permit appointment of all officers of the governing body except the judges and the county and district attorneys. Terms would be for four years. Now it is for the senate to act.

ON TRAIL OF A CALIFORNIA INDUSTRY.

California grape growers are "up in the air." Prohibition Director Woodcock has served notice the makers of grape concentrates fermentable into wine will be prosecuted whether it can be proved their product is sold "with intent that it become intoxicating in fact." One of the plants of the concentrates sellers in the city of New York was raided by agents of Andrew McCampbell, prohibition administrator, who seized 300 gallons of alleged wine.

Andrew McCampbell is a former Texan. He was in the government service before the coming of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act. After the dry season came in, McCampbell was a pro enforcement agent in Texas. It was said of him in those days that he could not be bought, bluffed or bulldozed. He was sent to New York to give his methods an acid test. Now he is a terror to the violators of prohibitions in the Knickerbocker commonwealth. McCampbell is a hard-headed, easy-going Scot-American. He was sent from the sticks to the big city and now the Manhattan Islanders are as well acquainted with Mac and his methods as Texans were in days of yore.

DECISIONS BY COURT OF LAST RESORT.

In a single day the supreme court of the United States disposed of 44 of the 72 cases which had piled up during a three weeks recess. Oil companies owing leases on the Texas university lands lost their long fight to avoid the payment of federal income taxes on income derived from the oil and gas leases. This case involved nearly $500,000 in income taxes. Had the court reversed the lower court decisions, other lease holders were ready to fight payment of additional taxes amounting to about $750,000.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Fred Upchurch of Texas points out that the decision will result in an indirect loss to the state of millions of dollars. That is, he holds that if the supreme court had held against the government the money would have been diverted from the federal to the state government. Another ruling holds valid the contracts among four large oil companies by which they license the use of patents for making gasoline by the cracking process. Other opinions held that hotel which receive musical compositions without permission of the copyright owners were guilty of violating the copyright law; that the laws of states which specified the crew railroads must provide were valid; that the states are prohibited from taxing corporations and business transacted outside their boundaries; that states cannot impose graduated privilege taxes on inter-state bus companies except where the tax is clearly compensation for the use of the highways and that land submerged in connection with hydro-electric power development may be taxed by the state. Texas lawmakers are grinding. These court of last resort rulings are appealing or should be, to the legislative mind.

OTHER OPINIONS

FEDERAL ROAD AID
What Washington calls "the greatest highway construction program in the nation's history" is moving forward at a rapidly accelerating pace. The work is being done to provide work for as many jobless men as possible.
This year the nation will beat the record of 1930 and that of 1929 when 25,000 miles of surfacing and 7,000 miles of grading were completed.
Federal sanction was given to the expenditure of $63,000,000 federal aid money during the first three months of this year as compared to $24,000,000 for the same period last year. Several states already have described their full quotas of federal aid and others—including Texas—have not about done so.

Eighty million dollars of emergency aid has been obligated by the federal government. The annual federal appropriation raised from $70,000,000 to $125,000,000.
It seems apparent that the states would match federal government even though the federal fund should double the present. There are few backward states and counties in this country when it comes to building good roads.
The nation has a long way to go to complete a connected system; but it is well on its way to that goal.—Aklens Reporter.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

There was a time not long ago when the United States of America was considered a sort of oasis in a desert of trade depression.

That has now passed and America, like other countries, has been reduced to seeking comfort in the decline of the inevitability of improvement.

We read many articles of statistical nature on the ebb and the flow of boom and depressions of years ago. The danger is now that if people are too well persuaded that periods of boom and slump are automatic, many may become indisposed to make the requisite effort to bring back normal times.

It therefore must be emphasized that though there might be a sense of inevitability about the rise and fall, it also would lie within human province to cut short the slump periods.

There is no question but that better days are certain. They are being established day by day.

Some people think that it has not been so much over production as unequal production and, worse still, unequal consumption.

To think and do business as usual, as many industries have done, will bring normal times back. As an example: Those large concerns who have met with the greatest success have been the concerns who have increased their newspaper advertising year by year, thereby increasing sales. This sales effort has kept them from feeling the effects of a slump. All businesses should do the same.
Let's advertise and do business as usual!

To that some cities an era of prosperity seems just "around the corner."

Some of them will catch it and be crowned with success, judging by the energy and enthusiasm displayed by their citizens.

The cities that are shining spots on the map are the ones whose entire citizenship work tirelessly towards that end.

Live cities are full of boosters. Boosters are the fellows who know the truth when they see it and then they busy and let others know it.

Sometimes a live city has a few knickers, but the people generally think the way the boosters think.

Boosters get going and keep going. Every new booster is a new unit that can be used in the building of a city.

Every dollar invested in the home city means a dollar, enlisted in the service of the city.

Wise awake people realize the possibilities of the home city and usually benefit by that knowledge.

In the Political Arena

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Roger Q. Flournoy is the secretary of the Texas Retail Grocers association. He does not take kindly to the proposed tobacco tax. He does not take kindly to nuisance taxes and insists that the lawmakers should bludgeon the proposal. His argument is interesting. Read it:

"The people of our state are already overtaxed, the merchants including the retail grocers and druggists, are overburdened with taxation, many of them owe large sums of money and their profits have been reduced to such a low margin that the proposed tax will not only absorb their present profits but will jeopardize and cripple very seriously the very life of the business institution represented."

From the Flournoy viewpoint, the farmer class is not the only class carrying a heavy load of taxation. This is one of his reasons:

"Tax money of the nuisance variety must only be paid by the dealer or consumer. In either event it will have the same effect on business conditions in every state. Where the nuisance tax has been tried out it has resulted in the illegitimate competition of out of the state dealers. In other words it creates what is commonly known as the bootlegger saloman of the merchandise upon which said state has levied a nuisance tax. This is unfair competition with the legitimate wholesalers and jobbers. The wholesaler, the jobber, the retailer and the consumer already pay their share of taxes to the eleemosynary institutions.

This is the advice of Secy. Flournoy:

"The only legitimate taxation is equal taxation and certainly no one will agree that the nuisance tax is an equal taxation. Statistics show that in the states where such taxes have been voted in the past they have been repealed by the succeeding legislature. I think this is a proposition that our legislators should consider seriously before it is imposed upon the merchants. Isn't there a recent decision by the supreme court of the United States "that the states are prohibited from taxing corporations and business transacted outside their boundaries?"

Bascom N. Timmons, a noted Washington correspondent, is a native Texan. He began his newspaper career in the Panhandle country and by easy stages he marched on to Washington where he created a place for himself in the ranks of national writers for the American press. This is his advice to the Texas senator:

"Texas can be redistricted so as to give it three new members of the legislature to which its population has been repaid by the succeeding legislature. I think this is a proportional voting strength in the new district, its three great cities to become purely urban, its rural districts be less dominated by heavy urban votes and the ranges of difference in population between the most populous and the least populous districts kept at 22,422 at the maximum and at 15,865 at a minimum."

He volunteers the information that these remarkable facts became known in Washington following a long study of Texas' 1930 population figures, upon which the redistricting by the Texas legislature is to be made. To get down to brass tacks Timmons says:

"The study revealed that the distribution of population in Texas is such that the state can be made gerrymander-proof. Not only can that familiar political monster, the gerrymander, be kicked beyond the Texas border, but the idea of congressional representative government, that each member of congress from the state shall speak for approximately the same number of people, can be achieved."

It goes without saying that the Metcalfe redistricting bill does not appeal to the Washington correspondent Timmons knows his Texas. He knows its history. He knows its needs and he is very proud of the rapid advancement of his native state. He is not a politician, however, and he is not a lawmaker with a legislative vote to cast "away down here in Texas."
Speaking of gerrymanders, the New York republicans control both branches of the legislature. By resolution they adopted a gerrymandering plan which ignored population entirely and made it possible in the election of 1932 to capture three democratic districts. As resolved by the republican lawmakers of New York there are districts carved out with a population of less than 225,000. These are republican districts. There are democratic districts carved out where the population goes in many instances the 300,000 mark. This is what the republican legislative masters of New York call "fair participation based upon justice and equity."
Texas has a legislature which is democratic. Now what is going to happen to the Metcalfe congressional redistricting bill?

THE ANSWER TO SUBSTITUTION IS ALWAYS "NO"

"MORE FOR YOUR MONEY"...but MORE WHAT?

How can any shopper know what she is getting when she accepts untried, unadvertised products?

In appearance, these substitutes may imitate products of recognized quality.

But quality goes deeper than a pretty label!

You may be told the imitation package "holds a little more" for the money.

Usually, it holds little more than disappointment!

Such substitutes are urged upon unsuspecting shoppers for just one reason.

There is more profit in selling them.

The merchant who tells you these imitations are "just as good" as brands you know, and commands his clerks to do likewise, is looking only at today's sales slips. Not at tomorrow's loyal patronage.

When a product is sold cheaper than one of recognized quality, you may be sure it is made cheaper. Then how can it be "just as good?"

Honest value is a product's only inlet to the advertising columns of this newspaper.

The packaged merchandise which you read of here has a reputation at stake.

It must make good to hold your confidence, and ours. False claims would be fatal.

Whenever you shop, ask for these standard, advertised brands. And get them. Always be warned by the words "just as good" that there is something better.

Let the names you know guide you to constant quality. To definite purity. To honest weight. To good products that give full value in return for the money you spend!
